TORONTO CHILD MURDER MYSTERY CLEARED UP

Soldier and Wife Arrested and Husband Admits Killing the Infant--Poverty His Excuse.

Toronto, Sept. 26.—(Special)—Alex. Martin, a private ing C. Company, Stanley Barracks, and a woman represented as his wife, have admitted to the police that they are the couple who killed their six months old boy Aug. 3rd, while boating.

The story is known as the Boats-worth mystery. The body of the child was found floating in the bay and investgation showed that a man and woman had hired the boat. The mystery continued until today when the grandmother of the woman told the chief of police about the missing child. This led to the arrest of the couple who admitted the charge. Poverty compelled them, they say, to rid themselves of the child.

Martin admits he killed the child with an car. Since then he enlisted with the militia. His wife was a waltress in a Kingston restaurant.

He paid a glowing tribute to the leader, R. L. Borden, and expressed pleasure in following so able a man.

Sydney, N. S., Sept. 26-(Special)-Your correspondent learns today that Marconi on his arrival here in two weeks time will not pay so much attention to the in stallation of new appliances as he will to the giving directions for the construction of a new station, the site for which has already been selected near the north head of Port Morien, some five or six miles east of the present location. The towers at Table Head will be dismantled and the station removed to North Head. It is understood the station will be exclusively land where the proposed new station in to be built, and it is understood that they will establish here a colony of employed and operators similar to that by the cable companies at Canso. It is also understood that under the new system towers are not necessary, at least, of the height used now nt Table Head. The erection of this proposed station will not, however, interfere with Mar-com's experimental work, while he is here, and during which he will attempt to communicate with the station in Italy as well as increase the efficiency of the service with Poldhu and trans-Atlantic liners equipped with his system.

The bride's dress was an exquisite co ation of ivory mousseline satin, beautiful lace and silver tissue. The full court train was composed entirely of lace silver tissue and chilion and fell gracefully from the shoulders, where it was caught with boy knots of silver and silver tassels. The vei was caught with a spray of orange blo soms. She carried an exquisite shower bou quet of white roses and lilies of the valley with gold clusps, a present from her elde brother. This held a set of gold markers the gift of her younger brother.

The bridesmaids looked charming i

BIBLE SOCIETY Report of Constitutional Change

At an important conference of the friends of the British & Foreign Bible Society in Toronto recently, the following draft of the constitution was agreed upon and was sent down to the auxiliaries for their approval. The object of the new association is the distribution of the Bible among the large number of foreigners who are coming into our country.

Agreed Upon.

Your committee recommend as follows:

1. The formation of a Canadian Bible Society for the entire Dominion of Canada, to embrace all the existing auxiliaries of the British and Foreign Bible Society in the Dominion, the said Canadian Bible Society in the Dominion, the said Canadian Bible Society to be itself an auxiliary to the British & Foreign Bible Society, and to be called "The Canadian Bible Society Auxiliary to the British & Foreign Bible Society."

2. That the auxiliaries of the British & Foreign Bible Society of Canada, entering into this arrangement, shall in the meantime carry on the work at present under their care. 3. That the general board shall be com

I had come up to the cottage unheeded by the worshippers. As far as I could gather there were not a dozen in all, who were evidently laboring men and their "But didst thou go to church when thou wives. I stayed only during the trial of one who was brought thither that morning, but I was told that the other cases were dismissed with great speed, as the justices had some appointment elsewhere which they wished to keep. The man who was tried while I was there was called James I reton, whose name, I was told, went much against him, seeing that Colonel I reton had been hanged by the king only a little time before.

He was only a young man, it may be of twenty-five years of age, and looked a harmless sort of fellow, although I saw by the look of quiet determination in his eyes that he was not one who would be easily turned aside from his purposes. He was a blackmith by trade, and one I judged of tremendous strength of arm and body. The indictment, brought against him was in these words:

"James I reton, you are accused of devil—"

"Tames I reton, you are accused of devil—"

"Tames I reton, you are accused of devil—"

The man replied that he did sindeed attend a meeting of godly people for praise and prayer, but that it was held in an outhouse nearly half a mile from the king's highway, and that there was not a dwelling house nearly half a mile from the king's highway, and that there was not a dwelling house near it.

But do you know that such a meeting is unlawful?" cried the magistrate.

'I find nothing in the word of God against it," replied the magistrate.

'I do not mean the word of God, of which you are ignorant," replied the magistrate. The word of God against it," replied the magistrate. The word of God against it," replied the magistrate. DEATHS

The 5th Royal Garrison Regiment band gave great satisfaction. They were always on hand when wanted, and did exactly what they were asked to do with the greatest cheerfulness. Bandmaster Coopers says they had an excellent time, and were thoroughly well looked after at the Alexandra. The people were all kind to them, and they hope to come again—a hope the citizens also entertain.

President R. B. Emerson is being joked about his "private car." He ordered a street car last night for the band. A crowd stood in the rain when it arrived. They wanted to ride home. The conductor barred the doorway and said: "This is Mr. Emerson's private car, for the band."

A tattered spread of wind buffed canvas has a deadly fascination. It is painted. The work is not art. It suggests the dream of a man in the throes of the delerium tremens. they hunger for it. THE DAIRY COW Instructive Talk by W. F Stephen of Qu bec, and Mr.

Robertson of Nappan. W. F. Stephen, of Springbrook Farm, Trout River (Que.), delivered at 3 o'dock an instructive lecture on the points desirable in a dairy cow. Four cows, representing the Holstein, Guernsey, Jersey and Ayrishire breeds, were shown.

(Mr. Stephen pointed out that the dairy exhibit was one of the most important in value to Canada, for in a single year it represented $50,000,000. As an exhibit, Cester; Brownstone, owned by D. C. Clinch and ridden by Mrs. Guy Hart, of lairy stock and products perhaps did not draw the largest crowds, but to the Canadian farmer dairying represented a good Halifax; Chie Clark's horse, ridden by dairy animal had a conformation differing from beef stock. In a desirable dairy cow horsewcmanship. 1 went to Mrs. Hartt, the second to 3. Coster and the third to Mrs. McKinnon. Mr. from beef stock. In a desirable daily cow there should be large mouth, indicating good digestive power, large nostrils, show-ing lung capacity, and not too long nor short nozzle. The forehead should be broad and the eye full. Too great length In a pony tandem competition, H. H. Learmont, Montreal, got first prize, and F. E. Came, St. Andrews, second. There of neck indicated a physical slackness. The shoulders of the well bred cow for dairyshoulders of the well bred cow for dairying purposes ought not to be of unusual heaviness. The spinel column should be strong and the levelness will be set well back. A weighty brisket is not found in the ideal dairy cow, nor too great a hollowness behind the elbow, which is indicative of bred procedures. The length from cative of lung weakness. The length from rib to loin bone should be generous, also the space between the ribs. In the well bred cow the depth is carried well back, bred cow the depth is carried well back, and there is not too great a shortness in the quarter. The bag wants to be carried well forward. It should not hang too deeply behind, and it is of importance to have it well balanced. In the real dairy
