BEAVER BOARD
If you are building or going to complete some unfinished rooms, let us show you some colored samples, illustrating the beautiful color effects obtained by using this sanitary and durable board for walls and ceilings in all classes of buildings.
We carry a large stock in assorted sizes.

MAIL ORDERS
We solicit out of town orders which receive our personal attention. The length of time taken to fill orders is governed very largely by how busy we are in the department of our factory in which the particular goods are made. While we have exceptional facilities for promptly turning out goods, it is important to place orders as far ahead as possible. Orders are filled by us in the rotation in which they are received, and customers can always depend on our doing everything in reason to give prompt despatch.

CAMPBELLTON SCHOOL CLOSING LAST FRIDAY

Good Programme Rendered in Assembly Hall Before Large Audience.

THE LEADERS

The closing exercises at the Grammar and High Schools took place on Friday last before a large attendance of interested friends, parents of the pupils and general public.
After the morning lessons were over the scholars marched to the Assembly Hall, which was gaily decorated with flags and bunting, where the closing exercises were to be carried out. The principal, Mr. Jas. B. Carr, presided and he was supported on the platform by Rev. C. W. Squires, D.D., Rev. Hugh Miller, M. A., Rev. Mr. Higgins, His Honour Judge McLatchey, D. A. Stewart, Esq., M. L. A., Mr. M. Mowat, F. F. Matheson, Esq., Chairman of the School Trustees and The following program was then rendered, every item being well received and much appreciated by the audience.

Chorus Soldiers of Canada by School
Essay, Spirit of Christmas
Amanda Quinn
Reading, The Revenge
Muriel Stevens
Chorus Good Luck to the Boys of the Allies by School
Recitation, The Dead of Britain

Grant McBeath
Recitation, Handing Down
Evelyn Gallagher
Piano Duet, Hilarity March
Hazel and Amanda Quinn.
Recitation, Finding Him
Margaret Currie.
Chorus, Take Me Back to Canada
By School.

Rev. Hugh Miller then presented the High School Entrance certificates to twenty five scholars, accompanying each presentation with a hearty hand shake and a word of encouragement. Those receiving certificates were:—Isabell McNichol; Amanda Quinn; Murray Fairley; Viola McNaughton; Bessie Baird; Georgie MacDonald; Audrey McKenzie; Annie Wetmore; Ina Currie; Stella Bruce; Ruby MacDonald; Frances McPherson; Roy McLean; Gwendolyn Richards; Jean Jar-dine; Dorothy Haines; James Murray; Robert Campbell; John Travers; Ethel Comely; Jean Gillis; Alma McDavid; Percy Wyers.

The Lieut-Gov. medal was then presented by His Honour Judge McLatchey to Miss Isabell McNichol and the Gov.-General's medal to Miss Josephine Dickie by the Rev. Dr. Squires.
Lt.-Col. Mercereau was then noticed in the gathering and on being called to the platform was received with cheers. He said he had just inspected the Campbellton detachment of the 132nd battalion and he was proud of his command. If all the other towns get him recruits like these here, he would be indeed pleased. They were the best men in the Dominion. Although he was still inspector, he would like to leave a word with the children before he went away and that was "to prepare yourself". Don't fail to start soon enough to prepare. He paid a high tribute to the teachers for the painstaking work sometimes not very well appreciated, remarking that the future success of our country depended on the work of the teachers.

The gathering closed with the singing of the National anthem and the scholars dispersed for the Christmas holidays.

The schools will reopen on January 4th with one change in the teaching staff, Miss Fairley taking Miss Young's place in Grades IV. and V.

The pupils making the highest averages in their several grades are as follows:—

RESTIGOUCHE COUNTY LEADS THE PROVINCES

SUBSCRIPTIONS ASKED FOR BUGLES

Citizens are Asked to Remember This Object and Subscribe

The soldier boys are getting into shape rapidly, being greatly assisted by the bugle band, which is also making strides in its playing. The drums and bugles arrived last week and about $200.00 is required to pay for them.

Our citizens are asked to contribute to this worthy object. Subscriptions should be handed either to Capt. McKay or Lieuts. Archer or Mowat, and will be acknowledged each week through the Graphic.

Campbellton is giving three hundred men towards the regiment, let us also give them this band.

In Point of Numbers and Percentage of Population last Week.

NEW RECRUITS

At last we have received our due appreciation from the recruiting authorities and we are glad to say that the county of Restigouche leads the Maritime provinces in recruiting returns for the past week. This is a point in which we feel that the St. John papers do not give proper credit. When St. John enlists three or four men they (the newspapers) have a fit, while we poor benighted heathens on the north shore can only round up 24 in one day, and instead of giving us credit for the work we are doing, they put screaming headlines across the front page, "St. John leads the province". But when Campbellton receives a letter such as is given here below, we hear nothing but a strained silence from St. John.

Here is the letter of which we are proud:—

St. John, N. B., 20th Dec., 1915.
From Capt. L. P. D. Tilley,
Organizing Recruiting Officer,
To A. Mc G. McDonald,
Campbellton.

Restigouche county leads the Maritime Provinces in recruiting returns for last week. Your County has the highest number of recruits as well as the highest percentage per population. Warmest congratulations.

E. P. D. TILLEY, Capt.
Organizing Recruiting Officer
for N. B.

This position is not new, for since ever recruiting started we have led the province in the percentage of recruits according to population. It must be borne in mind that this work of enlistment is carried on here without all the economy, pomp and show which marks the modus operandi in St. John, and we believe that honour should be given where honour is due. Were the example of Restigouche held up properly before the slackers of St. John, there would be such an influx of recruits that the rest of the counties would be nowhere, and Restigouche would be the first one to try to beat the record and yet give all the praise where it was due.

The recruits now on the strength of the 132nd battalion here now number over two hundred, and a big effort will be made between now and New Years to raise the other hundred men, which will make our detachment over strength, including the recruits from Dal-housie, where there are now over thirty drilling.

The names of the enlisted men since our last issue are as follows:—

Lawrence Thomas, Campbellton.
Isadore A. Savio, Laceyville.
Geo. Deroche, Portage River.
Ernest F. Noble, Glenelvit.
Sam. Russell, Tracadie.
Victor Robichaud, Shippegan.
Maxime Gauvin, Shippegan.
Phillip Duguay, Shippegan.
Jerome Boudreau, Shippegan.
Barney Sewell, St. Anne de Rest.
Patrick Blaquiere, St. Alexis.
Arthur Johnson, Campbellton.
E. D. Trites, Campbellton.
James Munro, Campbellton.
Xavier Sewell, St. Anne de Rest.
Peter Isaac, St. Anne de Rest.
A. Caplin, St. Anne de Rest.
Leury Isaac, St. Anne de Rest.
Howard Kierstead, Glenoe.
Stanley Kierstead, Glenoe.
Amos C. Godin, Chatham.
Andrew Richard, Portage River.
Thomas Duhamel, Portage River.
Edward Martin, Campbellton.
Stephen Cormier, Campbellton.
Lawrence Harrell, Campbellton.
Octave P. Poirier, Campbellton.
John W. Starck, Campbellton.
K. Brundon, Campbellton.
G. H. Rydman, Campbellton.
K. A. Soderstrom, Campbellton.
Ed. Demeau, Robinsonville.
Anthony Johnson, Campbellton.
Gordon McNair, Nashes Creek.
Louis Guitart, Jacques River.
Chas. Juncas, Jacques River.

HER DREAMS CAME TRUE

Life Unbearable from Indigestion Health Restored by "Fruit-a-tives"

MELIE C. GAUDREAU
Roebon P.Q., Jan. 14th, 1915.
"I suffered for many years with terrible indigestion and constipation. I became thin and miserable. I had frequent dizzy spells and became so run down that I never thought I would get well again.
A neighbor advised me to try 'Fruit-a-tives'. I did so and to the surprise of my doctor, I began to improve and he advised me to go on with 'Fruit-a-tives'. I continued this medicine and all my indigestion and constipation was relieved. I consider that I owe my life to 'Fruit-a-tives' and I want to say to those who suffer from indigestion, constipation or headaches, try 'Fruit-a-tives'. Give this lovely fruit medicine a fair chance and you will get well the same as I did."

Why we Celebrate on December 25

Nobody knows whether that is the exact date on which Christ was born, or what people first celebrated the festival on that date. After the triumph of Christianity the prejudice of the early Christians against the celebration of birthdays as heathenish died out. Some time between 337 and 352 Pope Julius directed Saint Cyril to ascertain the correct date. He reported that the Western churches observed it on December 25, although other churches kept the day in January, April, May, March and September. Pope Julius was so satisfied with Saint Cyril's report that he set December 25 as Christmas Day, and our observance of that date has come down to us from that decision.

CONVENTION HELD AT NEW CARLISLE

Protestant Teachers Meet in County Conference. Reports Presented

On Dec. 3rd, the Protestant teachers from Maria to Paspebiac, met in County Conference at New Carlisle Academy.

Through the courtesy of Mr. Scoles, railway manager, special tickets were granted to the teachers.

Rev. J. M. Sutherland, Co. Inspector, paid the travelling expenses of the teachers.

The Conference assembled at 3 p. m. and listened to an address on "Nature Study," which was very instructive.

Mrs. Wm. MacWhirter of New Richmond Centre read a report of the Provincial Convention of Protestant Teachers, which was held in Westmount in October.

The evening session was also devoted to the consideration of "Nature Study". As particular attention is required on this subject by the new course of study, the teachers were anxious to learn all they could re, best methods of teaching it. Copious notes were taken. A very interesting feature of the conference was the exhibition of Nature Study specimens by Miss Rita Henderson and Miss Rita Cooke.

The work was beautifully done and very graphically described. Several of the teachers took part in the discussion concerning the best methods of teaching English, viz: Miss Blampin, teacher of the Academy, Miss S. E. Hall, Model teacher, New Carlisle; Miss Gertrude Cooke, Model teacher, New Richmond; and Mrs. Wm. MacWhirter.

The teachers in attendance were twenty-two in number, out of a possible twenty four, viz:

Miss Blampin, Academy, New Carlisle.
Miss S. E. Hall, Model, New Carlisle.
Miss Lena Briard, Primary, New Carlisle.

Miss Florence Sherar, Elem., New Carlisle.
Miss Taylor, Model, Paspebiac.
Miss Clara Cooke, Elem., Paspebiac.

Miss Gail, Elem., New Carlisle West.
Miss Rita Cooke, Elem., Cullen's Brook.
Miss Alma Briard, Elem., Caplin.

Miss Hilda Gallan, Elem., Black Cape.
Miss Ruby Steele, Elem., Black Cape.
Miss Ruth Kerr, Elem., Black Cape.

Miss Rita Henderson, Elem., New Richmond Centre.
Mrs. Wm. MacWhirter, Elem., New Richmond West.

Miss Annie McKenzie, Elem., New Richmond West.
Miss Bessie Montgomery, Elem., New Richmond West.
Miss Ruth Brash, Elem., Grand Caspédia.

Miss Lena Fallow, Elem., Grand Caspédia.
Miss M. G. Doherty, Elem., Maria.
Miss Winnie Chisholm, Elem., Maria.

Miss Gertrude S. Cooke, Model, New Richmond.
Miss Olive Bisson, Elem., New Carlisle.
The teachers are indebted to the people of New Carlisle for their kind hospitality.

The teachers returned for work the following week, having thoroughly enjoyed the conference, and with grateful feelings towards the genial Inspector for his successful planning of a large conference.

RESTIGOUCHE LIBERALS FORM ORGANIZATION

County Liberal Association Organized With John Harquail as President. Other Officers.

At the Liberal Convention held here Wednesday evening, Dec. 16th, it was decided to organize a County Liberal Association.

Pres.—John Harquail.
Vice-Presidents.—John C. McLean, Colborne; Thos. Hayes, Durham; John Dickie, Dalhousie parish; S. Blanchard, Dalhousie town; Jas. Drapcan, Balmoral; Alex. Levesque, Grimmer; Wm. Copeland, Eldon; John McBeath, Addington.

Sec. Treas.—M. A. Kelly.
President Harquail made a rousing address in which he asked for the active assistance of all liberals throughout the county for assistance in effecting a permanent organization, and after that was formed co-operation of all officers to carry on the work of the Association.

Santa Claus and Christmas Stockings

Saint Nicholas seems to have been the original of our Santa Claus. He was the Bishop of Myra about the year 300, and was very popular because of his good deeds and kindness, especially to children, whose patron saint he is supposed to be. An old legend says that he wished to bestow a gift surreptitiously upon an old nobleman who, though poor, did not want any one to know of his poverty. When the good Bishop reached the house he saw the old gentleman asleep by the fire, so he climbed to the top of the chimney and dropped his gift therein, thinking it would fall on the hearth. But it so happened that the money fell into one of the old gentleman's stockings, which his daughter had hung up to dry, where it was found and used as a dowry for his oldest daughter. And the old story says that Saint Nicholas never failed to put a gift in the stockings which were hung for him thereafter whenever a daughter of the house was to marry. When our Saint Nicholas comes around on Christmas Eve we look for gifts in our stockings.

The date of the Bishop's death, December 6, is observed in many countries, and the closeness of his feast to that of Christmas Day has probably confounded the two celebrations. Santa Claus seems to be the name by which the good spirit of Christmas is most generally known.

Why Do We Present Gifts?

It was the custom among the Romans to make gifts to each other at their winter festival and this custom also may have descended to us from antiquity. But Christians like to feel that it is because the Wise Men brought gifts to the Infant Jesus, and because of the gift of God to the world. Gifts to the poor seem from the earliest Bible times to have been an expression of a thankful heart. We bring Him gifts when we give to those who are in need.

CHRISTMAS IN NAVY.

How the Festive Season is Observed Aboard Ship.

Not Much Work is Done—Athletic Sports, Traditional Dinner and Evening Entertainment Features of Occasion.

Nowhere in all the world is the "spirit of Christmas" entered into more wholeheartedly than on board the ships of the United States navy. Observance of this chief of all national holidays varies, of course, in form with the location of the fleet at the time.

Into each of the continental "home ports" (headquarters of certain individual vessels) the big gray monsters come dropping in by twos and threes. In New York and Philadelphia, and Norfolk and Frisco, it looks almost like a naval review. According to long established custom, they are there to give the boys in blue a run on the beach ("liberty") as they call it in the service, and every man jack who is not actually undergoing punishment is allowed and encouraged to take his look at the bright lights—go anything else he likes as long as his money lasts but away from the ship in any event. This custom applies not alone to the enlisted men, but to the officers as well and, when Christmas morning dawns in a home port, there are not likely to be many more the regulations call for in the minimum.

The few "shipkeepers" cannot, under such circumstances, make a very successful effort toward merriment. Rear Admiral Samuel McGowan writes in the National Monthly, but what they lack in numbers they invariably make up in other ways, one of these ways being the complete satisfaction of the inner man.

Aboard and at sea, though, it is altogether different. Every soul on board, from the usually sedate flag officer and the more or less unapproachable first lieutenant, down to "Jimmy-legs" and the ship's cook and the messenger boy, voluntarily constitutes himself a committee of one to see the thing through in "old navy" fashion, and even King Neptune, when he comes on board on "crossing the line" to douse every voyager and land lubber, has a formidable rival in the "spirit of Christmas."

It matters not much whether the ship be anchored off Vera Cruz or plowing through the Pacific ocean, the distance from home and friends makes it incumbent on all to do their level best to make at least a brave try for "Merry Christmas."

Routine drills are entirely suspended, and, except for cleaning ship (cleanliness in the navy being deemed not only akin to, but actually neck and neck with godliness itself), not a lick of avoidable work is allowed to be done by anybody.

"All hands" are called, to be sure, on scheduled time, but many more men than usual are allowed to "sleep in," and, after the tiniest minimum of tidying up, preparations for the day's activities are gotten under way.

There is a varied athletic program that begins in the forenoon, and after an hour or so off for dinner at midday, continues well along toward sunset. Sailors are taught to be thorough. So they go at their potato races and pie-eating contests and tugs of war and jumping contests with the same fervor that they show when trying for a 13-inch turret gun record or stamping out a Caribbean revolution. There is no lack of interest. That can be depended on. And when call is sounded they are a fired lot.

Toward sunset the various contests have been completed (or not unusually called off "on account of darkness" as the baseball people say) and, after an early supper, a stage is rigged up on the quarter-deck and the crowning event of the entire celebration is on. Sometimes it is a minstrel show, another time a vaudeville performance, but without exception there is plenty of music and hear music, and no such entertainment would be complete without the inevitable and inimitable cakewalk. Some of the improvised costumes are fearfully and wonderfully made. But they are striking and, for the most part, very appropriate, while the prancing and gyrating of the cakewalkers themselves are well worth seeing. The program is a long one, but interest never lags for a moment—for American sailors are just as thorough at play as they are while at work.

SIR R. MBRIDE

OUT OF POLITICS

Hon. W. J. Bowser Becomes the Leader of B. C. Government.

Montreal, Dec. 20.—The Montreal Daily Star in its final edition prints a special Vancouver despatch announcing that Sir Richard McBride, for more than twelve years premier of British Columbia, has resigned from that position and from his seat in the legislature. He will be succeeded in the premiership and the leadership of the Conservative party by Hon. W. J. Bowser.

HOLIDAY AILMENTS

How to Avoid Condition Brought About by Overeating

Plenty of Vigorous Outdoor Exercise Will Help Digestive Organs Assimilate Food—Better Than Doctor's Prescription.

By IRENE WESTON.

So many people habitually feel more or less out-of-sorts for the few days following Christmas that Christmas ailments have come to be recognized as a necessary aftermath of the festivities.

Of course, the children will always overeat themselves; if they were not allowed to eat all sorts of indigestible things, they would feel they were being cheated out of half the joy of the gay Christmas season. As a matter of fact, it is not the children at all who make up the bulk of sufferers from Christmas ailments. It is the grown-ups, who, simply through carelessly neglecting to subscribe to one simple rule of health, frequently find themselves more or less unhappy inside, and more tired and run down physically at the end of the Christmas holidays than before them.

Of course, children do overeat themselves more often than grown people. They rejoice, however, in the possession of powers of recuperation which grown-ups, even in the prime of life, can only look back on with envy. Too much plum pudding, too many sausages with turkey, too many sweets between meals, may bring on a sharp digestive upset, but in a few hours all traces of it have disappeared, and the one-time sufferer is soon eager for more of the rich foods which caused him pain.

With grown people, after-Christmas ailments are not so much due to indigestion eating of indigestible foods as to an utter neglect of any precautions to adapt their systems to the new conditions which reign during the Christmas holidays.

Take the case of the average father of a family who leaves all office work behind. How does the change affect him? In the first place, the dull monotony of his days is broken in upon and his brain can relax from the high pressure of the office. This much, of course, is a change in the right direction. All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy physically as well as mentally. At the same time, however, staying at home has drawbacks of its own, for it means less exercise, which in its turn should suggest a cutting down of the food supplied to the body.

Too much food and too little exertion are almost certain to upset the digestion and clog up the various organs whose duty it is to separate the waste matters from the good in the food we eat and rid the body of those poisonous products.

The remedy is perfectly simple. There is no need to stint yourself of the good things of the table. Eat, drink and be merry, within fair moderation, of course. However, you must help your digestive organs by taking plenty of vigorous outdoor exercise.

A two hours' walk before the midday meal, a round of golf or some other outdoor game with the children in midafternoon, and a brisk two-mile walk in the half-hour before the evening meal will be found worth more than any amount of doctor's prescriptions directed towards relieving the first symptoms of indigestion, the mental irritability, disturbed sleep, sour taste in the mouth, loss of appetite, etc., which are such a common aftermath of the Christmas holidays.

THE RIGHT GIFT.

Remember This December, That love weighs more than gold! Help us spread the news to young and old; Friendship bought and sold Leaves the giver cold. The right gift, Is the bright gift, The kind thought and cheer; Send your loving heart, That's the greatest part. So will Christmas crown all the year!

GIVE "SYRUP OF FIGS" TO CONSTIPATED CHILD

Delicious "Fruit Laxative" will harm tender little stomach, liver and bowels.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing at once. When peevish, cross, listless, doesn't sleep, eat or not naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well playful child again. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups.

CHRISTMAS GREETINGS

At this festive season we desire in common with all good people to wish all the friends of the Graphic the old wish "A Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year". To our many subscribers and advertisers, we extend our best thanks for the many favours of the past year and trust to have a continued share of their patronage.

VACATES EDITORIAL CHAIR.

On December 31st, Mr. John G. MacColl, who has acted as editor of the Graphic since Jan. 1st, 1911, will vacate the editorial chair. During his four years connection with the Graphic we are sure Mr. MacColl has made many friends among our readers, who will regret his severance of ties thus created.

SOLDIERS NAMES.

In our last week's issue we published the list of the volunteers from this district as far as we were able to collect the names. If any of our readers know of names missed will they kindly forward same to this office or to Mr. John T. Reid, secretary of the Patriotic Fund. As we have not had a real correct list of those who have left here to serve their country, it is now earnestly desired to have this and we want to make it properly official. This list to be correct, should have the names of those enlisting in other towns, yet who claim Campbellton or other places in the district as their place of birth. We have a good reputation as a recruiting centre to keep up, and it is therefore necessary that we have every name on our official roll.

POSTAGE STAMPS.

Ever since the middle of April last we have been required to affix two postage stamps—a two and a one, or three one cent stamps, to every outgoing letter. Some months ago we pointed out the utter foolishness, or even childishness of such a course, when a 2 cent stamp should have been provided in the first place. The amount of time and energy purely wasted in tearing off, licking, and sticking two stamps instead of one, if devoted to some profitable purpose, throughout the whole of Canada since April last, would be worth thousands of dollars, and yet we are told to husband our resources during war times. Of course the Postmaster General does not require to put postage stamps on his letters and hence does not recognize the annoyance he has inflicted upon the long-suffering people of Canada.

The increase in the revenue owing to increased postage, has been very considerable and as there is no check taken of what portion of this could be counted on for a war tax and what part for general revenue, some person should have been at the head of the Department who would have some consideration for our people. The number of letters going through the Canadian mails has been enormously increased since the war began, owing to the large number of Canadian soldiers who have gone overseas, and Canadian postage stamps require to be affixed on letters going both ways, those coming to Canada being stamped on reaching the shores of Canada and the revenue therefrom going to the Postal Department, to help replenish the depleted Treasury (depleted before the war) and charged to the Canadian war appropriation.

It is rumored now that a three cent stamp will soon be issued. We hope this is true, but it should have been issued when the postage rates were first increased.

OTHERS WORKING

Some people do a good deal of talking regarding the various regiments engaged in this war and seem to be of the opinion that we Canadians are doing it all. We must remember that others are doing their part just as well as we are doing ours. Our correspondent writes:—

"Our little town, since the start of the war, has done—and is still doing—its share in recruiting and other departments, so it need only be expected that we have in our midst a number, hankfully small, of those stay-at-home critics who know all about it and how it should be done, etc., etc. Their vast knowledge is culled from some sensational evening paper which publishes none other than Canadian casualties and doings at the front. Their view is so circumscribed and contracted that they are of opinion that the Canadian troops have been and are still doing all the fighting. They have evidently never heard of those other regiments which have nobly upheld the traditions of their predecessors and whose ranks have been replenished over and over again. They seem to forget that every Canadian who has left our shores has gone of his own free will and with the full and avowed intention of doing his bit, and that he would have been satisfied with nothing less. If their ideas were the true and accepted views of the majority, would the authorities have decided to increase their quota to 300,000 had they represented the treatment of their first contingents, or had they been piqued at the casualties at the Dardanelles? Such small talk only comes from cold-footed stay-at-homes who think too much of their comfortable circumstances and who are of opinion that their sons or dependents are too good to wear the King's uniform. The only answer worthy of being given to their arguments is "Slacker, where is your uniform?"

With regard to the above letter we reproduce a cutting from the St. John Telegraph on this very subject:—

Military critics have many times expressed admiration for Great Britain's fighting men in this war. The manner in which a very small force struggled against heavy odds at Mons; the British stand at the Marne, at Ypres, at Neuve Chapelle and at Loos have never been surpassed. "Our own part in the war," says The Nation, "has been, if not the greatest, perhaps the most wonderful."

"Never have such British forces been in the field as stand there now. The heroic army of Mons is multiplied twenty-six times, and the new volunteer armies have shown as fine a spirit as the old professional army. No one doubts their courage, or has failed to commend it. The fact that Prussian lists give more prisoners than dead, and ours more dead than prisoners, is not without its significance."

RECRUITING MATTERS.

The other day we noticed that a certain town in New Brunswick sent a message to the Minister of Militia asking him to use his power and have a regiment quartered in their "busy little hamlet." The reply to their request was characteristic: "You can have all the men you can raise billeted in your own town." This reply should be made to all the towns in this province whose authorities are wire-pulling for all they are worth to have troops stationed in their midst but who don't want the trouble of raising the men themselves. The towns that desire to have soldiers quartered there should do as we have done here. In two weeks we raised 150 men for the 182nd battalion and on Monday of this week the recruiting officers signed on and fitted out twelve men for the infantry, one for the Heavy Battery and other two got papers out for enlistment. A good day's work surely. Work of this kind is recommended to any town in the province whether it be St. John, Fredericton, or any other city in the Maritime provinces and in recruiting matters we in Campbellton want them to know that we take off our hat to none of them, and so far have not found it necessary to get other towns to enlist the men for us to have the privilege of billeting them. Quit your scolding say we, and get busy with your own recruiting material. Be a little more patriotic than simply crusted with a thin veneer of sappy sentiment which usually shows itself in a frenzied rush to make a profit big or little out of supplies to the soldiers.

"To point a moral or adorn a tale," no better phrase could be used than "Buy your own cherries."

LETTER FROM THE FRONT.

Mr. Charles Cabot has received the following letter from his son Charles, who is a sergeant in the 55th Batt.

Bramshot Camp, Nov. 15th, 1915.

Dear Father and Mother:—

You all know that I landed safely or by this time you ought to know anyway. I would of called only when I seen Mrs. Wisted I thought I would give her the message. The boat sailed from Quebec at night. It was the Corsican, an Allan liner we sailed on. It was over 2 days before we lost the sight of land and Canada there was a lot sick and I was sick a little bit too but not very much. We certainly had one fine trip across. It was foggy for 2 days off Newfoundland, but after that we never had a foggy day. It only rained one day on the trip across.

The boat didn't roll hardly any on the way over. When we were 2 days from land we were 2 British torpedo boats came out and picked us up and escorted us to port. We landed at Plymouth and had to remain on the boat over night. The next morning it was just pouring rain and we had to take boat on two lighters and go a mile or so down the harbour to another town to take train to the camp. It was only about 20 miles ahead of us on the Italian liner was sunk by the German submarine, they thought it was a Crown Jewel and many other things, Canada? All the way over the band played popular songs and patriotic airs. Plymouth and Devonport are both together and they are very pretty places. We took the train at 11.00 o'clock and travelled 200 miles to this place. I have traveled a lot over Canada but I never saw such pretty valleys and fields in all my life. The hedges run around about what I would say 3 acres, just like the stone fences in Connecticut, Mass. On about 10 of these would be a little but where the man lives that works it and then after passing a number of these we would pass a great big stone mansion where the landowner lives. They say the landowner gets so much profit from the men who works the fields. This place has not got half the freedom of Canada when it comes to go out in the woods and shoot anything. The rich and poor are all different over here. The poor man don't get half a show at all like he does in Canada. They have an awful big species of cow over here, it looks like a buffalo and there are lots of them too. They raise goats, sheep and everything we do. After seeing such pretty fields and farms and so many miles of it, I wondered why they had to import so much food stuffs from Canada and United States. I have not been up to London yet. We are only 40 miles from there though. We are liable to go any day at all and when I do I will write at once and tell you all about the trip. While the weather is cold outside, we are warm in the huts, as we have a stove in each hut. 40 men sleep in a hut, and they supplied us with a mattress, 4 blankets and a bunk, so we are not too badly off. They have good sleeping quarters here but poor grub. We are being supplied with new clothes, shoes, socks as well. No snow over here at all. A bomb fell from an airplane (German) a few miles from here and killed 26 men, I heard they were Canadians. That is just a report, but still it might be so. I wish you could see some of the large search lights hunting for airplanes. I can't explain everything on paper, but some day I will tell you in a different way. I hope everything is going O. K. with you and do not worry about me, as I will write often. Now, as I am a long way from home as the song goes "give my love to everyone and all the boys from town", give them my best regards and tell them to put on the uniform and don't be a coward. This country feels the effects of the war and so would Canada only for the English fleet, I tell you. I guess I will close now and remain your affectionate son,

CHARLES.

Nov. 28th, 1915. As this is Sunday night and my night off duty, I thought I would celebrate the occasion by writing and telling you how the Campbellton boys in England are making out.

We are working quite hard, but are having a fairly good time. We are doing a lot of drill but we expect that, as we will need it when we go against "Bill's" trained men. I have had a couple of trips to London, and sure enjoyed some of the sights I saw there. On the first day of my arrival in the city, I went to the Tower of London, where I saw the Crown Jewels and many other things, which I had read about in history in my old school days. From there I went to Westminster Abbey by way of Tower Bridge, London Bridge and St. James, St. Paul's Cathedral, Madam Tussauds Museum of wax works and many other interesting things which space and time will not permit me to enumerate.

Saw all the Campbellton boys in the 26th Battalion and 6th C. M. E.'s before they left England. They sure were not sorry to get away. A bunch of us expect to go to Bramshot Camp, which is about one hundred miles from here, to see the boys in the 55th Battalion. We expect to go to Salisbury Plains shortly for target practice and I do not think it will be very long after that before we are called to do our "little bit". All the boys are impatient to get across to the firing line to complete the mission on which the start has already been made. The Campbellton boys in this battery are, Albert Payne, Armand Arsenau, Art. Campbell, (who is now a Corporal), Chas. Morris, Ed. Barclay and myself. They are all getting on fine and even though there are only a few of us, we try to keep up the reputation of the old home town. The one who is worrying the most among us, is "Gunner" Payne, and he is worrying because he won't be there to play hockey this winter.

Will have to ring off now as there is only about five minutes to "lights out" and I must lay down my "feather" bed, which consists of three boards and three blankets. Will drop you a line again when we get to France. Au revoir for now, Yours to Berlin, ART. LEBLANC, (Formerly of I. C. R. Freight Dept.)

The following letter has been received by Mrs. Albert LeTourneau, and is published to show that Mr. LeTourneau is not a deserter as has been reported about town and to the Government at Ottawa. D. Coy., 55th Battalion. Bramshot Camp. Liphook, Hants, Eng.

Dear Wife:— Just a few lines to let you know that we arrived alright. We got here about nine o'clock last night and had a very good trip. The weather was fine but I did not enjoy it very much as I was sick from Sunday morning until Saturday morning, not sea sick, but a sore throat, sore back and sore breast. I thought I was taking some bad sickness but I feel a little better today. Well, they tell me there is about 40,000 men here but I have not been round the camping ground yet. I tell you they gave us a great reception at one station, they had a dinner on the platform, meat and bread and tea for the whole Battalion ordered by the Mayors of the town. We were on the train all day and we had a good time and I tell you we saw some country. I suppose you heard we were sent, they heard it in England before we got there, but it was another steamer ahead of us that went down. Albert LeTourneau.

WINIFRED'S CHRISTMAS

Winifred's father had died six months ago. Christmas was coming, and there were only gloomy prospects.

"I have been thinking," Mrs. Lawson was saying, "that I could cut up father's ulster and make a coat for Jeremiah and something for Edward. Perhaps they would be pleased with that on Christmas morning. If we could only sell father's coach and old Josey."

"I wouldn't, mother," Winifred said. "And I wouldn't cut up the ulster. Jerry'll soon be big enough to wear the ulster, just as it is, and drive Josey and wait at the depot to carry passengers, just the way father used to."

So the ulster was not cut up nor were old Josey and the coach sold. Mother and daughter hoped something might turn up, that the greatest of holidays could be fittingly observed. But on the afternoon of the day before Christmas Mrs. Lawson and the little ones gave up all idea of Christmas gifts—Winifred alone held out.

It grew dark early that afternoon. As Mrs. Lawson was lighting the lamp and busying herself about the kitchen, Winifred crept up to the attic. There on a peg hung the great ulster, beside it hung the familiar old cap, and on the floor were the high rubber boots.

Winifred thrust her arms into the sleeves of the ulster. Her father had been a small man and she was large for her age. The garment was a perfect fit. She tossed the cap on her head. In a jiffy the rubber boots were on her feet. She crept clumsily down stairs and noiselessly out of the front door. Coming to the barn she pulled out the old coach and nervously hitched old Josey to it.

An hour later Mrs. Lawson called: "Winnie! Winnie! Is that you?" "Yes, mother dear," she replied, "it is I."

"But, Winnie, child, where have you been all this time? Oh, Winnie, how I have worried about you!"

Winifred's teeth chattered from the cold. "Oh, get something on your head, mother, and then help me to—There, mother, there is the Christmas-tree," she panted, coming up the steps and placing an evergreen in the kitchen. "And wait a minute."

Winifred ran back to the coach and began taking out bundle after bundle and handing them to her trembling mother. Last of all came a rocking-horse with flowing mane and tail.

"That's for Eddie," Winifred said. "I won't be the happiest child!"

"What does it all mean, Winnie?" "When I saw the coach drive in I all but fainted," said Winifred's mother. "You did look so like your father! But where does all this come from, Winnie?"

Winifred flung off the ulster. "Oh, mother dear, it all came to me in the loft after you told me to put away father's coat. I slipped the ulster on and it made me feel just like a man, and 'A man I'll be to-night,' I said to myself. It was cold driving to the depot. And wasn't it cold on blustery standing there! But in ten minutes the Pacific Express came in. The first passenger out was a tall man. He saw me on the coach, and asked me to drive him to 1230 Franklin Avenue. When we got to 1230 I jumped down and opened the coach door. My passenger got out and looked at me. I was shivering from the cold and from fright. He saw it and said 'I must come in and get warm. Oh, mother dear, that was the grandest house I ever saw. I was so overcome I couldn't talk. So he unbuckled my coat, and when he began to take it off he cried out 'Why, it's a girl!'"

"Then the whole family came. Then he took off my cap and my hair fell down, and the children clapped their hands and laughed and I—well I started to cry. I just couldn't help it. Then they asked me how it was I was driving the coach. And I told them the truth, mother.

"When I was warm and had lots of good things to eat, the gentleman's daughter put on her wraps, and she and her father hurried out to the coach and told me to drive to Manderson's. They bought all these things and had them sent out to the coach. Then they got in and I drove them home. The gentleman gave me this money. They wished me a Merry Christmas, and told me to hurry home to you, mother dear, and here I am."

Winifred flung her arms around her mother's neck and kissed her.

"I am so sorry you worried, dear, but do let's hurry and trim the tree and look at the things and sort them out and arrange them and—"

Winifred all but lost her breath in the excitement of it all.

"Oh, mother," she said at last, "I'm forgetting old Josey."

When the old horse was comfortable in her stall, Winifred patted her lovingly. "Merry Christmas, Josey!" she said softly. "We are going to have a Merry Christmas after all!"

When Winifred at last fell to sleep, it was to dream of lovely rooms and Christmas-trees and kind and loving faces, and Josey and the old Christmas coach.

NORTH SHORE MAN'S GREAT DISAPPOINTMENT

Was Assured of Command of 165th Acadian Batt., But was Passed Over.

Man With No Military Experience Appointed

For some time past it has been generally understood that Capt. A. T. LeBlanc of this town, who had been offered the appointment of Officer Commanding the 165 French Acadian Battalion would be the official choice for that position, but the committee which met at Moncton on Tuesday, December 14th, which had his positive acceptance of that position if appointed, failed to agree among themselves and recommended L. C. Daigle, local government official, for the responsible position, with rank of Lieutenant Colonel.

The appointee has never had militia experience and beyond being a very estimable gentleman, has no qualifications for the position.

On the other hand Capt. LeBlanc has had over fifteen years service in the active militia, serving first in the ranks and winning his promotion until he was gazetted Captain in the 73rd Battalion.

A representative of the Graphic called on Capt. LeBlanc and was given the following facts: At a committee meeting of Acadians held at Moncton some time ago when the matter of an Acadian Battalion was discussed, he had been asked to command same, and had stated that he would be willing to do this, provided he could so arrange his business. He was assured that he would have the first refusal of the post.

Upon returning home, he immediately began arranging his business so that he could take up his duties immediately appointment was made. Some time about the seventh or eighth of December, the chairman of the Acadian committee, at Moncton, called Capt. LeBlanc by phone and informed him that the Battalion had been authorized by the Hon. Minister of Militia and asked him if he was prepared to accept the appointment, and Capt. LeBlanc emphatically responded yes, and fully expected he would be recommended.

The next Capt. LeBlanc knew was when Mr. Daigle's appointment appeared in the public press.

TRIBUTES

Trees hang out their leafless branches In the cold midwinter air;

And upon them snowflakes nestle With a kind, protecting care;

While the sere grass in the meadow, Covering all earth's sleeping things,

Feels the warm and sure protection That each hovering snowflake brings.

Little wild things of the forest Patter safely to and fro

On the mantle that is lying Where the flowers used to grow.

Nature is a bounteous giver; Every season shows her care.

Ev'ry bird and beast and flower In her wise protection share.

Memories of the little Christ-child And his ministry divine,

With the brilliant holly branches And the evergreen entwine;

And, as Nature pays her tribute With these offerings, do we Bring our homage on Christ's birthday As we trim the Christmas tree.

Oh, this wonderful tree, with its branches wide,

Is always, is always blooming at Christmastide!

But not for us children did this tree grow,

With its strange, sweet fruit on each laden bough,

For those we love we have made with care

Each pretty thing you see hanging there.

May this wonderful tree, with its branches wide,

Bring joy to our friends at Christmastide!

For a voice is telling its boughs among Of a shepherd's watch and the angels' song,

Of a holy babe in the manger low— The beautiful story of long ago,

When a radiant star threw its beams so wide

To herald the blessed first Christmastide.

Then spread thy branches, wonderful tree,

And bring the pleasant thought to me Of him who came from his home above,

CONVENTION HELD AT ST. LEONARDS

P. Michaud Nominated to Contest Madawaska—Restigouche at Next Election

Special Train Carries Delegates From Restigouche

A special train from Campbellton left last Thursday for St. Leonards with over 250 delegates to the great liberal convention which was held there. The meeting was the most enthusiastic that had ever been held in Madawaska, and the gathering was so large that an overflow meeting had to be held in another hall, the speakers travelling from one hall to the other.

The meetings were presided over by B. R. Violette of St. Leonards and Wm. Currie of Campbellton.

On the call for nominations, Hon. C. H. LaBilloy moved and L. A. Dugal seconded the nomination of Pius Michaud as the standard bearer for the united counties of Madawaska and Restigouche. This was the unanimous finding of the convention and was received with great enthusiasm.

Speeches were delivered by the candidate, F. B. Carvell, M. P., Hon. C. H. LaBilloy, L. A. Dugal, A. T. LeBlanc, P. J. Veniot and others.

RED CROSS

Instead of sending socks, caps, mits, etc., to the Red Cross, Campbellton ladies are advised to forward them direct to some officers or men they know personally, whom they can trust to distribute them where most needed. Letters appearing in the press of late give the impression that Red Cross affairs are administered in such a way that supplies intended for our boys at the front never reach them.

There seems to be a hitch somewhere and in the meantime we suggest sending such articles direct as above. With reference to this the Transcript says:—

The appeal of Capt. Emmerson of the 6th C.M.R. for socks for the soldiers is accompanied by a statement that there is an abundance of socks at Red Cross headquarters in England for the hospitals, where they are least needed, but are not available for the men at the front who need them most. The thing to do to meet this need is to send socks through the Soldiers' Comforts' Association, addressed to the unit for which they are intended, or to send them direct, paying the charges. The 6th C. M. R. contains a large number of St. John and New Brunswick men, and up to the time it left Canada it had practically nothing to thank St. John for. The present appeal should meet with a prompt response. When we think of men enduring winter hardships in the trenches without sufficient foot covering, it gives our self-complacency a severe jolt.

The richest gift of his Father's love. He came to show us how to spread far and wide

The joys of the holy, sweet Christmas-tide.

TWO TOTS IN A TOY SHOP

Little Denny Was Almost Beyond Hope in the Eyes of His Older Sister, Aged Six.

She was six if she was a day; she had a little fat back in a little black coat and her wisps of red hair matched her red tam-o'shanter. In her firm hand she held a struggling boy about a year younger, and they were getting into the elevator at a big department store and making for "toys."

Children are not allowed, unaccompanied by guardians, in most large shops, but such was her air of responsibility, of decorum, that it would have been a bold floorwalker who dared to question her.

Nor, evidently, was it her first visit. The boy, still held in leash, ran in front and made straight for the space devoted to Santa Claus, his reindeer and his sleigh, piled with toys.

There was a background of fir and cedar and a huge Christmas tree, but the pair sat down before the fascinating old fellow in his red robe, his long white beard, holding his big whip, and from his face the small boy did not turn from worshipping in solemn adoration.

Across the room was a creche; also a wonderful and beautiful thing. The infant Jesus in the manger, the mother in her blue robes, St. Joseph, with his staff, the three kings resplendent. The children had been perfectly still for fifteen minutes looking at Santa Claus, when the little girl whispered to the boy. He squirmed, struggled, but she was too much for him. She dislodged him from his seat, dragged him to the creche, and with motherly, Irish piety, pressed him on his knees.

Reverently she described the holy group, then would incite devotion from a more human motive.

"See the cow, Denny; you mind the cow we used to milk last summer at the farm when we went on the fresh air? See the goat, Denny; you mind the goat in our alley? It's his pitcher." But Denny whined and pulled and pulled to be back again to his idol.

The little girl looked up. Her sigh was that given by every woman since the beginning, for every man for whose soul she holds herself responsible.

"Denny," she said, "Denny likes Santa Claus better than he likes God."

HOME MADE PRESENTS.
"I thought I'd be economical this year and make my Christmas presents myself, instead of buying them," said Mrs. Harlem; "so I bought a book of instructions and went ahead."

"How did you make out?" asked Mrs. Bronx.

"The materials footed up to $43.58, and I put in a month's hard sewing and cutting."

"How did that compare with last year?"

"Last year I bought all I wanted for $35."

First Christmas Card.
In December, 1844, Mr. W. A. Dobson sent the first Christmas card.

"CHRISTMAS PAST."
It was indeed a gracious time, and as we read of the revels and ceremonies, and find foolish belief in Christmas Past, we might regret what we have lost in this tamer and less picturesque age, if we did not know that never before in history was Christmas kept so truly and heartily in the spirit of the day as it is now.

We have dropped a good many rude and some pretty customs, but we have gained a broadening spirit of almost universal charity, a feeling of real brotherhood, that is perhaps none the less real than it is held in check in a good deal during the rest of the year.

Cultivating the Christmas Spirit.
"Alas!" sighed the moody man, "there is no gladness for me in this joyous season."

"Tut-tut!" said the optimist. "Surely there is a ray of sunshine for you, as there is for all of us if we but look for it."

"No," replied the moody one. "I have not a single friend, and no relatives with whom I am on speaking terms."

"Cheer up, then," advised the other, "with a shade of envy in his tone. 'Can't you be glad because you will not have to buy any Christmas presents?'"

THE TEN COMMANDMENTS FOR CHRISTMAS GIVING
By Harvey Peake.

THOU shalt love the giver of the gift, because he has sent the gift.

2. Thou shalt remember first the very young and the very old.

3. Thou shalt buy within thy means, remembering the spirit of the gift and not the value.

4. Thou shalt not become a party to the mere exchange of gifts. Let thy heart go with each and every greeting or present thou sendest out.

5. Thou shalt make such gifts as thy skill may warrant, inasmuch as the work of thy hands gives added value to the offering.

6. Thou shalt tie up no bitter remembrances with a gift, but only peace and good will.

7. Thou shalt have thy gifts ready several days before the time of delivery, that the immediate days before Christmas may be filled with peace and happiness, and not with turmoil and frenzy.

8. Thou shalt seek the abode of the poor and friendless with such wholesome gifts as may cheer and nourish their hungry bodies and hearts.

9. Thou shalt not gush over thy gifts. Thou shalt show thy gratitude in more sincere ways.

10. Thou shalt, at earliest opportunity, give written or verbal thanks for such kindnesses as thy friends may have bestowed upon thee at Christmas.

GASPE

The weather still keeps stormy and windy. A snow storm here on the 9th delayed the train eight hours. This is the beginning of rail road trouble on the Gaspe coast, but we can't grumble, for all well know that in other places with the snow storms such as we have, all trains would be held up much longer than on this line. Thanks to the man behind the throttle, we got our mail daily now or no snow.

The last steamer from this port, the S. S. Kinnouit, left on the 14th for New York, after loading pulp at the government wharf for the St. Lawrence Pulp & Paper Coy. This is the fourth steamer to take on pulp here this fall. The government wharf has been a busy spot this summer, over fifty thousand tons of coal and two thousand tons of sulphur have been unloaded from steamers here and shipped by rail to Chandler.

The government shed built on this wharf and completed in October is two hundred feet long and fifty wide, but we are sorry to say that the steel left the body of this building two weeks after completion. It certainly looks bad to see a government building posted to keep from falling down, but such only goes to show that the present government needs posts as stormy days are coming.

Mr. Herald Fitzpatrick left here on the sixth to visit friends and relatives in New York. Gaspe boys are certainly leaving the old town for other parts. Very few are left, but we hope to see them all back in the near future.

"The Girl of the Golden West", a western five real drama, was shown here in the Orpheum on the afternoon and evening of the eighth, the theatre being crowded for each show. We hope to see more of these dramas.

NEW RICHMOND, QUE.
The County of Bonaventure has only been surpassed by one county in the Province of Quebec in the amount contributed during the year to the Patriotic Fund (This of course does not include the towns and cities). In a recent letter received by R. H. Montgomery, Esq., of New Richmond, from the Hon. Herbert Ames, Hon. Secy. of the Patriotic Fund, and Hon. W. T. White, Hon. Treas. of the Fund, they spoke in terms of high appreciation of the effort made by the county. The amount raised during the year in Co. Bonaventure is $6,400.00.

In New Richmond, $550.00 was raised, originally for the Machine Gun Fund, later it was donated to the Patriotic Fund.

By private and municipal house to house collection $300.00 was donated to the Red Cross.

New Richmond and vicinity have not been behind in the matter of men. A number of our best men have nobly volunteered to the defence of the Empire. Several have been for months at the front, others are training in England, while later recruits are still in Canada.

PRIVATE E. LEVINE
KILLED IN ACTION

Member of 26th Battalion.—Leaves Wife and Four Children.

St. John, Dec. 7.—Mrs. Ida Levine, of 86 Pond street, received this morning an official despatch from Ottawa announcing the sad tidings that her husband, Private Edward Levine, of the 26th Battalion, was killed in action on the 20th of November. Mrs. Levine was overcome with grief. Private Levine leaves four small children (one other having died since he went overseas), the oldest being nine and the youngest two. He is also survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Levine, who reside with their daughter-in-law; two brothers, George of the 104th Battalion, and John of this city.

Private Levine was born in Bathurst, but came to St. John with his parents when he was only nine years old. Previous to his enlistment he was engaged in longshore work and was a capable young man, being only 28 years of age. He was in the 62nd Regt. for three years and was among the first to enlist in the ranks of the 26th battalion. Mrs. Levine received a letter only last Saturday from her husband, which was dated the 18th of November, only two days before he was killed. At the time of writing he was in the best of health and spirits and was anxious for any news from "old St. John."

This Book helped me improve my Farm.

It is the most valuable book I own and it cost me nothing.

It has saved me time, labor and money and I've got better looking, more durable and more serviceable buildings than I ever had before.

The first cost of concrete farm improvements is also the last cost. There's no after expense for paint or repairs—no danger from fire, rot or rust—no trouble of any kind. Besides they lower the insurance rate. If you haven't a copy of "What the Farmer can do with Concrete", send for one today. There's more than 150 pages of valuable building information, 52 practical plans, illustrated by diagrams and photographs, and dozens of other interesting facts.

Where We Get the Christmas Card

Christmas cards were first printed in London nearly seventy years ago, but did not become popular until fifty years ago.

The first Christmas card was only a visiting card on which was written the greeting, "A Merry Christmas," or "A Happy New Year." Show scenes, holly branches and robins appeared later on embossed cards, probably picturing English Christmas scenery, as the robin is known in England as the Christmas bird, and also as "The Saviour's bird," because of the legend of its red breast. This bird is still seen on Christmas cards, but not so often as formerly.

Black Cake

1 cupful brown sugar, 3 rounded tablespoonfuls butter, 1/2 cupful grated chocolate dissolved in a little hot water, the cup being filled up with milk, 1 1/2 cupfuls sifted flour, 1 level teaspoonful soda dissolved in a little hot water.

Bake in a sheet. Cut in small squares after icing. This cake keeps fresh a long time, and is better a day or two after baking than when just made.

There's a wonderful tree, a wonderful tree,
The happy children rejoice to see,
Spreading its branches year to year,
It comes from the forest to flourish here.

MOST WONDERFUL OF MANURES

(Toronto Globe.)

William Beecroft Bottomley, a graduate of Cambridge University, and for more than twenty years teacher of biology in King's College, which is affiliated to the University of London, and also in the Royal Veterinary College there, has become suddenly but legitimately famous by an important discovery for the enrichment of worn-out soils by the application of a new artificial method of fertilization. As a scientific and practical agriculturist, Mr. Bottomley has long been familiar with the results of the use of different fertilizers, and with the now well-established theory of the effect of treating the soil to applications of bacteria, the function of which is to make it possible for the plant to extract in the most effective and rapid way its nourishment from the soil. The plant needs both carbon and nitrogen in order to make rapid growth, and Mr. Bottomley's present position in the limelight of the world is due to his discovery of the utility of peat-moss as the best medium for the introduction into the soil of the bacteria that prepare it for becoming the means of enabling the plants to absorb free nitrogen from the air and turn it into nitrogen compounds for the plant to feed on.

In one of the experiments conducted in his own laboratory he took a handful of bacterized peat, "black and crumbly," which had been brought to this state by successive and careful applications of bacteria. Sterilized before the process goes too far, it is "watered" with a liquid containing millions of the bacteria known as "azotobacteria." A teaspoonful of this liquid in a cistern of water produces a liquid for watering the peat-produced humus. After the analogy of scientific nomenclature, the substance is called "humogen," a producer of the "humus," which contains the plant food under ordinary conditions.

Apart from scientific curiosity as to the reason why this particular sort of beneficent bacteria multiplies so rapidly in its new home, there are other and more utilitarian considerations suggested by Professor Bottomley's discovery. The deposits of peat in Ontario, and in some of the other provinces of Canada, are of great extent and considerable depth. After many experiments, carried on for the purpose of converting this curious substance into an economic fuel, have proved failures, this discovery opens up new vistas as to the value of peat. Some of the statements made by perfectly responsible persons seem calculated to make people sceptical, as, for example, that by this method of fertilization the grower of potatoes may produce a hundredweight in a window box. The possibilities are illimitable, and they should be tested with as little loss of time and on as extensive a scale as possible. Here is a most promising field for the chemists of the Ontario Agricultural College.

The above is of special interest to Gloucester County, as extensive deposits of peat are known to exist here, particularly on the island of Miscou.

This is another reason for having an Agricultural school at Bathurst—the development of this at present useless deposit of peat.

EAT REMAINS OF CANDLES

Christmas Services Among the Eskimos of Labrador—Part Most Enjoyed by the Children.

Somebody has said that when the world was being made the Creator gathered up all the waste material he had left over and made Labrador out of it. Some people say the Creator never intended it to be inhabited. But inhabited it is with a sturdy, taciturn band of Eskimos, who, thanks to the Moravian missionaries who have penetrated to that country, celebrate Christmas in their own peculiar way.

As service time in the church draws near all the inhabitants, old and young, the men on one side and the women on the other, are waiting in eager expectation. It is quite dark by four o'clock and the bell rings. All come trooping in clad in the best clothes they can muster.

No one stays at home from these services unless he is sick or lame, and whenever it is possible, sleighs are used to bring these disabled ones to church.

For the little children the happiest part of the services comes later when each child receives a lighted candle, symbolizing the light of the world. Each candle stands in a white turnip which serves as a candlestick. Most

A ROYAL PHYSICIAN

Queen Elizabeth of Belgium, who holds the degree of doctor of medicine, was born at Posenhofen, Germany, July 25, 1876. Elizabeth's father, Karl Theodore, Duke of Bavaria, was one of the most remarkable oculists of Europe and had an enormous practice. He gave his best efforts to the poor, and to that large number of persons "who have seen better days." A property and estate his mother had left him was utilized for a sanatorium where hundreds of persons, as guests, were treated with the utmost skill each year.

When the Duke found that his daughter wished to study medicine, he encouraged her to take her degree, and she studied and practised with him until her marriage with King Albert, on Oct. 11, 1900. One of the first charitable acts of the Princess when she reached Brussels was to found a dispensary for consumptives, and to this she gave her personal services.

WOMEN AND THE WAR

By Dominion Press Superintendent.
Every thoughtful student of recent events must reach the conclusion that Canada's womanhood has much reason to be proud of Canada's manhood. Not only because of its ready response to the call of arms, but the men of Canada have set before us a noble precedent to emulate. From Sir Robert Borden, our Premier, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, through all the ranks of the commercial, professional and labor classes they have laid aside political, racial, religious and other differences and have acted in spontaneous unity to aid our Empire in her hour of testing. Unity has been strength! What ever political affiliations, views on suffrage, educational and kindred matters, social congenialities, at such a time as this women should be one in our desire to help our country. A death struggle is being waged by the Empire's brave men in the interests of the vital things so dear to every British heart, and womanhood must allow essentials to absorb non-essentials, the major importance the minor matters.

We deplore the war, which will break up homes and bring bereavement and sorrow to myriads of women's hearts, leave children orphans and mothers widowed. But now that, because of the integrity of our statesmen and in the cause of true democracy, we are plunged into this awful war, we all want to help bear its burden. All want to give not only those who can give the costly gifts, but those whose gifts may have, per force of circumstances, to be of a more humble nature. And we shall not call it sacrifice to give of time, energy and money when many women have given their best in their own husbands, fathers, lovers and brothers. What is anything we can do compared with the giving of those women whose dear ones have gone or may go into the heat of modern warfare. Every true Canadian wants to share and to do all her strength or means may permit.

In the veins of some of us flows the blood of ancestors who sacrificed life, rank, everything in the interest of freedom: while the women of our ancestors were willing to give, suffer and bear hardships unknown to us; for British rights and liberties. Indeed, while noble men have gone forth to wage warfare women have perhaps borne the harder part in the awful waiting, suspense and anguish, and then the loneliness and bereavement throughout the long passing years!

Twentieth Century Canadian women will not show themselves unworthy of our noble mothers who went before. And while we join in the Dorcas endeavors and other work we will pray that the Heavenly Father may assuage the storm of war and hasten the prophetic time when the nations shall no longer learn war and peace shall reign!

BLANCHE JOHNSTON.

of the candles are made from deer tallow which the Eskimos bring to the missionaries. After the services the children eat not only the turnip, but what is left of the candle as well.

One year only about ten persons, mostly men, could come from the nearest island. The ice had been driven together, and rather than miss the Christmas service they had risked their lives in crossing over on that moving, heaving, broken ice to the mainland. Then they had to climb the mountains and walk through the deep snow until they reached the mission station after twenty-three hours of danger and a fearfully exhausting march through the snow.

How happy they were to be in time to celebrate the Christmas festival in the house of their God! About six days later, when the ice had formed, all the rest of the people came, but not so sad and downhearted. Like little children they told the missionaries their tale of sorrow. They described how sad they all had been when they found that it would be impossible to come to the mission station for the Christmas service.

DIG OUT THE ROOTS OF INSOMNIA

The trouble is that modern men and women often treat sleeplessness with a pill or powder—a drug far removed from the value of Hypon. The more you take the more you need—and finally normal sound sleep becomes utterly impossible.

Insomnia is an unnatural condition—a symptom of nerve disorder due to lowered vitality. Go to the root of the trouble.

Zoe-tic's tonic effect seems miraculous to those who have suffered and drugged and dragged themselves through sleepless days to sleepless nights. But there is no miracle in it—Zoe-tic just lets Nature do ITS work. And sleep and health always follow when Nature has its way.

Start taking Zoe-tic to-day—follow faithfully the directions and if in 2 weeks' time you can't report real progress toward natural health, return the unused portion of the bottle of Zoe-tic and we will refund your money without question.

Everywhere in Canada at the same price. One Dollar for a Generous Bottle. Compounded from food and tonic essences by The Zoe-tic Company, Montreal.

THICK, GLOSSY HAIR FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Girls! Try it! Hair gets soft, fluffy and beautiful—Get a 25 cent bottle of Danderine.

If you care for heavy hair that glitters with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine. Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff. You can not have also heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast. Surely get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store and just try it.

Between the Opera House and Royal Bank of Canada, Tuesday evening, a gold wrist watch. Finder will be rewarded by returning to A. H. English's store.

POLICE NEWS
During the past week there were only two arrests for drunkenness, but their cases have not yet been before the courts. The complaints against citizens who have not yet taken out dog taxes will be heard to-morrow. It is understood that there are about ten cases.

RAILWAY SCRAP
Last night a crowd of men who came down from the International made things lively at the I. C. R. depot before the departure of the suburban. On the way to Matapedia they cut up rather rough in the car, making a good deal of damage, continuing the good or bad work by making it hot for the station agent at Matapedia. The names of a number of the men are known and it is likely more will be heard of the matter.

A FEW LEFT
We still have a few copies of our Christmas edition which will be sent post paid to any address in Canada upon receipt of five cents.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT
Postmaster McKendrick, who is steward of the Overseas Tobacco Fund has received acknowledgement from the Bank of Commerce of his deposit of $8.90, the amount subscribed to this fund here.
