The Middlesex branch of the Women's Institute held its January meeting at the home of Mrs. J. A. McDonald, twelve members being present. It was decided to send $15 to the I. O. D. E. for the children's hospital in London, and $15 to the Armenian fund. In December the society sent $20 to the Red Cross, to be used to buy comforts for the sick soldiers; $20 to the Strathroy Hospital, and $15 to the Navy League, and 42 pairs of socks and one sweater to the soldiers at Byron. This used up all the money the society had on hand for patriotic purposes. The February meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. D. Johnson.

The Canada Trust Company's Eighteenth Annual Report

The financial statement, published on page three, reflects the prosperity and growth of the Canada Trust Company. The profits for the year slightly exceeded those of 1918, although Dominion, Provincial and other taxes were over $7,000 greater than for the previous year.

The reserve fund was augmented by $25,000, thus bringing it to $625,000—equal to 62½ per cent of the paid-up capital of $1,000,000.

The great portion of the company's assets is composed of first mortgage securities, which increased in volume in a gratifying manner during 1919. At the new year the Canada Trust Company opened in the Canada Trust Building at 14 King street east. The company reports a bright prospect for future business are quite encouraging.

A bond department has been established at this branch for the purpose of buying and selling high-grade bonds of government and municipal issues. Mr. J. Ross Mitchell, formerly with the Dominion Securities Corporation, is manager of this department.

The services of a corporate executor are, each year, finding greater favor with thinking men, who not only provide for their loved ones' future, but who also choose a permanent, experienced, impartial trust company to fulfill their wishes and to properly manage their estates.

The following directors have been elected for the ensuing year: T. G. Meredith, K.C., president; F. R. Eccles, M.D., L.L.D., vice-president; J. Brown, M.D., L.L.D., vice-president; George H. The Huron & Erie Statement Has Unique Features

Year of Expansion Reflected in the 66th Annual Report Published on Page Three.

A particular feature is the increase in currency or Canadian debentures. This corporation has always been very successful in securing funds in this country, but the fact that its Canadian debenture business raised from $5,215,130 to $6,326,129—an increase of $1,110,999—under conditions which prevailed in the investment market during 1919, will be regarded as remarkable in financial circles.

Further, an increase of over $349,000 in savings deposits is worthy of special mention.

The reserve fund was strengthened to the extent of $200,000—the paid-up capital and reserve now amounting to $8,000,000.

Assets were increased during the year from $18,207,750 to $20,435,520—a gain of $2,227,770—the greatest in the corporation's history.

The Huron & Erie is steadily extending its business. A third London branch was opened to the public in August last. A Toronto branch, under the capable management of J. M. McWhinney, opened for business in the Canada Trust Building at 14 King street east, on January 2. A new branch is shortly to be established in Chatham, and in Winnipeg, where the two companies have outgrown their present offices.

The directors for the year are: T. G. Meredith, K.C., president; Hume Cronyn, first vice-president; F. R. Eccles, second vice-president; and Messrs. George T. Brown, F. R. Eccles, M.D., L.L.D., Robert Fox, H. J. Gates, A. H. M. Graydon, Philip Pocock.

APPLES LIVE LONG IN CHILLY CELLAR

Care in Packing Essential To Save Fruit From Inroads of Decay.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Feb. 11.—The best way to keep apples is not to use them. Someone has liberated the foregoing facetious remark as a short, effective method for making the apple supply last. However, it is not satisfactory; the apples are likely to decay. It is something of a problem for the majority of housewives to keep winter apples. The average consumer in the city pays no more attention to keeping his apple supply than he does potatoes, although as a matter of fact, apples when properly cared for are much better late in the season if attention is given.

As everyone knows who has tried it, even sound winter apples left in a warm room or in a cellar near a furnace soon lose flavor and decay. The result is that many householders lay in no apple supply, but depend on buying in small lots from the store, paying, of course, the long price. As a rule, apples obtained from stores in mid-winter are inferior. Ordinarily apples can be readily obtained in lots of a few bushels from growers early in the season at a price much under what they are realized at later on.

Here is the recipe, and while there are many others, this ranks as one of the best and simplest. Get good, sound apples. That is the first necessity. No apple will keep long that has begun to show signs of decay. Get apples that are not ripened beyond the normal point for the season, for as a matter of fact, as a storage man will explain, once an apple begins to ripen, chemical processes are set up that cannot be readily checked.

How To Care for Fruit.

Handle the apples carefully. Some people handle apples as they would potatoes and rub them. Do not do this. Do not keep handle apples as you would eggs and be particular that there is no bruising.

Provide barrels in which to put the apples, or boxes will do. Now lay a rather thick course of paper, newspapers are excellent, in the bottom of the barrel or box, letting the papers extend up the side. Then put in a course of apples, one tier deep, and no deeper. Arrange around carefully. Do not drop them into the barrel, put them in carefully; an apple bruised is an apple ready to rot.

Put a course of papers over this tier of apples precisely as was put over the bottom of the barrel, although it need not be so thick. The four thicknesses are sufficient. Let the paper extend up the side of the barrel as described in starting the tier. Put on another tier of apples, repeating paper course and apple tiers until the barrel or box, as the case may be, is within two inches of the top. Then mat down a mass of papers tightly over the top. Lay the barrel head on to find them firm or any weight that will cover the top. It is a good plan to throw a piece of tarp or heavy cloth over the top as the final touch. That completes the process of packing.

The next important thing is temperature. About every house now-ads has a fruit cellar. It makes a good place to store the packed apples. Never put them in the part of the cellar heated by the furnace. The fruit will ripen prematurely, rot and will be only the trouble for the pains. It is apparent from the description of the method that the purpose is to pack the apples away from the air. The closer they are kept from the air the better and then the longer they will remain firm, crisp, red in their flavor and there will be very little rot. Regulate the temperature by opening or closing the outside window, keeping them from freezing by a narrow margin.

COMMANDER OF REDS THREATENS TO FIRE ON BRITISH SHIPS

CONSTANTINOPLE, Feb. 13.—Gen. Uborevitch, the 28-year-old Bolshevik commander at Odessa, has threatened to open fire on the British warships there within three days if they remain in the harbor, according to a message received here from Rear Admiral N. A. McCully, commanding the United States naval forces operating in Russian waters.

The message was sent after the American officer had conferred with Gen. Uborevitch, who expressed surprise that the British had fired on his troops.

Gen. Uborevitch, the message reports, said he understood that the British had made a treaty with the Bolshevik Government. He declared merchant ships would be welcome at Odessa for commercial purposes.

The general stated that he suppressed a feeling immediately upon his arrival that he will be carried in the new service.

INFLAMMATORY RHEUMATISM CURED BY B. B. B.

Rheumatism is a constitutional disease, caused by the uric acid in the blood. It manifests itself by pain and lameness attacking the muscles and joints of the body, which often swell and become hot and inflamed.

Anyone who has suffered month after month, and perhaps year after year, with rheumatism, and who has tried remedy after remedy, but who has not found relief, and without success, should not give up hope.

Burdock Blood Bitters, by invigorating the digestive organs and eliminating the uric acid from the system, will give prompt and permanent relief.

Mrs. D. Barry, Purbrook, Ont., writes: "I feel it my duty to let you know of the great benefit my husband derived from using your Burdock Blood Bitters. He has been suffering for the past two years with inflammatory rheumatism. He tried many medicines but to no better. A friend advised him to take B. B. B. He did so, and after taking five bottles he felt like a new man, and was able to go to work the same as ever."

Burdock Blood Bitters has been on the market for over 40 years. Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

HEALTHY CHILDREN ARE HAPPY CHILDREN

The well child is always a happy child — is a baby's nature to be happy and contented. Mothers, if your little ones are cross and peevish and cry a great deal they are not well — they are in need of medicine — something that will set their bowels and stomach in order, for nine-tenths of all childhood ailments arise from a disordered state of the bowels and stomach. Such a medicine is Baby's Own Tablets. They are a mild but thorough laxative which regulate the bowels, sweeten the stomach, and thus drive out constipation, colic, indigestion, break up colds and simple fevers and make the baby healthy and happy. Concerning them, Mrs. Albert Hamel, Pierreville, Que., writes: "Baby's Own Tablets are the best medicine I know of for little ones. They relieved my little girl from constipation when nothing else would and I can strongly recommend them to other mothers." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

ABSENCE OF FLOWERS ANOTHER CAUSE OF EUROPEAN STRUGGLE

Declares J. A. Taylor, St. Thomas, At Horticultural Meeting Here.

Thursday evening the London Horticultural Society held a social and educational evening in the public library, nearly a hundred of enthusiastic horticulturists being present. W. E. Saunders, president of the society, presided and introduced the speakers.

Mr. Dale of Hyman street, dealt with water lilies, how to make a lily pond and the best varieties to keep. C. E. German spoke on iris Germanica, the best varieties and how and when to treat them.

Mr. J. A. Taylor, president of St. Thomas Horticultural Society, and Public School Inspector J. A. Taylor, of St. Thomas, were the main speakers. Mr. Taylor brought out one more cause for the recent war, which he stated was the absence of flowers in Prussia. He gave as his authority, General von der Goltz, who had sold Prussia was bordered on the north by the Baltic Sea, across the country, which is cloudy, foggy and not adapted to flowers as some of the other European countries are. This has its effect on the people, who are influenced by climate.

"Flowerless has a mellowing influence on the mind," he said, "and to the singing of hymns at our Sunday services, preparing the mind for the coming of the Lord."

During the evening, Mr. Saunders gave a report of the Ontario Horticultural Society, which was held in Toronto last week.

The London Horticultural Society expected about 1,000 members joined, and great efforts are being made to increase the number to nearly 3,000. The St. Thomas society boasts of 2,000 members and has for its objective this year 3,000.

NUXATED IRON IS USED BY OVER 3,000,000 PEOPLE ANNUALLY TO HELP BUILD UP THEIR HEALTH STRENGTH AND ENDURANCE

Look around at the men and women you meet in a single day. One glance is enough to tell the ones with plenty of rich, red blood, strength and physical energy to back up their mental power and make them a success, in whatever they undertake.

Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly physician of Bellevue Hospital (Outdoor Dept.), New York, and the Westchester County Hospital, says that to help make strong, keen, red-blooded Americans there is nothing so valuable as organic iron—Nuxated Iron, it often increases the strength and endurance of weak, nervous, rundown people in two weeks' time. It is conservatively estimated that Nuxated Iron is now being used by over three million people annually, and it has been used and endorsed by such men as Ignace Jan Paderewski, Premier of Poland and Master Pianist; United States Judge G. W. Atkinson of the Court of Claims of Washington; also former Health Commissioner Wm. R. Keen of Chicago, and others. Nuxated Iron is dispensed by all good druggists everywhere.

Underfurnish rather than overfurnish. Size, shape, material, and price of every article and select such things as are easy to handle and to clean. Because every woman's beauty in her kitchen appointments and have it uniform. Blue is cheerful, but grey—well, it is just grey, serviceable perhaps, and does not show washing, but it has no character. Heat metal solder, therefore avoid.

Don't you think that when meals served by community kitchen are 75 cents to $1.25 each there are not many of us who can easily afford to patronize them except on special occasions? I may not be as well informed they would only add to the already too many of us who are poor.

I wonder how many readers use a power washing machine? I have used one for over four years and don't know how I should get along without it. It has given me practically no trouble.

Often start and finish washing in one hour—a fair-sized family. When hired help is scarce and there is too much to do, I often think there would be fewer hospital bills to pay, and much sickness and pain avoided.

I am a new reader, but I am finding so many helpful hints in the Mail-Box that I too, am saving the Page Box for reference. Am I including "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine"?

I enjoy reading the Mail-Box corner very much, with its many helpful hints. Would you please send me the stock-in-trade pattern? I am enclosing $1 for the Sick Children's Hospital fund.

PURCHASING KITCHEN EQUIPMENT.

As an old housekeeper speaking to a new recruit I would say, buy wisely and before you buy your kitchen equipment utensils with soldered handles, and such fads as three-in-ones. Choose wisely and long enough to protect the hands from burn. For use upon stoves, select flat bottom utensils, wide enough to prevent loss of heat from the flame. There should be two frying pans, a small one for cooking a small quantity, which may be of sheet iron or aluminum, and a large one of iron. It has been found that every kitchen needs a heat in a certain kind of ware, and that this also has to be considered. General opinion seems to favor the following list:

Agate for bowls, pitchers, and saucepans for simple stewing or boiling. Steel for teakettle and roasting pan. Block Tin for colanders, small pans, or cake pans.

Porcelain for custard cups, bakers, or pudding dishes.

Glass for food receptacles, and the pyrex dishes for adding more heat.

Aluminum for double boilers and deep saucepans. It wears well, is light and durable, but tarnishes easily, especially if it is brought into contact with a strong alkali such as washing soda.

A glass receptacle needs no label and occasions no loss of time in the search for its contents, as often happens when wood is stored in tin cans or boxes.

Again may I say, buy wisely and well as not many at first, so that you will not be overwhelmed by the market; buy new things as they appear on the market; make sure that you can and make sure that you will suit to your own particular needs.

"ORANGE LILY SAVED MY LIFE."

These words or expressions having the same meaning are contained in hundreds of the letters I have received during the past year. Many were from women who had suffered agonies from falling of womb; others from women who had escaped dangerous surgical operations, as the tumors and ulcers had been removed by the action of Orange Lily; and others who had suffered from suppressed menstruation, leucorrhoea, painful periods, etc. For all these and the other troubles known in general as Women's Disorders, Orange Lily furnishes a positive, scientific, never-failing, cure. It is applied direct to the suffering organs, and its operation is certain and beneficial. As a trial actually proves its merit, I hereby offer to send, absolutely free, a box worth 4c, sufficient for ten days' treatment, to every suffering woman who will write for it. Inclose 3 stamps. Supporting Earl Williams is one of the strongest casts ever assembled in one picture.

OLIVE THOMAS IN "THE SPITE BRIDE," AT THE MAJESTIC, LAST HALF NEXT WEEK.
Romance, that something that we all crave, must not be overdone. Only small doses, that is the unalloyed component of a successful photoplay, and that is what makes Olive Thomas' picture, "The Spite Bride," such a success. You will see when you enjoy the production at the Majestic Thursday, Friday and Saturday next week.

Presented at the Majestic this afternoon and evening will be Alice Brady's wonderful picture of the New York Cabaret, "Redhead," Charlie Chaplin's great comedy, "The Fireman," together with a number of added film attractions. On the double matinee this afternoon the extra added feature will be Charles Ray, in his splendid comedy feature, "The Girl Dodger."

Another Broadway stage play has been converted into a screen vehicle for Marguerite Clark. Following her recent success in "Widow by Proxy," also a former stage comedy, she is being presented in "Luck in Pawn," Marvin Taylor's light dramatic success, and will be seen at the Grand Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. The picture is described as a comedy of the type that Miss Clark has always succeeded in making extremely entertaining and sparkling on the screen. It concerns the fortunes of a little country girl who aspires to be an artist and seeks the advice of a noted painter as to the merit of her work, only to be told that her talents along artistic lines are extremely limited.

A special feature of the program will be an Ernest Truex comedy entitled "Too Good to Be True." Kinograms, Topics of the Day and the Photo Review will also be shown on the same bill.

FAMOUS TALKING MACHINE RECORD ARTISTS COMING TO LONDON.

The opportunity to hear personally singers and artists who one has heard for years only through the medium of "His Master's Voice" records, is an experience of a rare kind. Unlike the artists of the opera or concert stage, their appearance before the public is a rarity, for although they all have experience as concert artists or on the stage, they have become even more famous through their records. There are eight members who compose this concert party, and they will appear in person at the Majestic Theatre on Thursday, March 4.

FARMER FATALLY BURNED

Council Bluffs, Ia., Feb. 13.—Charles Sanford, 32, Buckingham, Conn., farmer, was fatally burned when oil-soaked clothes he had worn while fixing an automobile caught fire as he was putting wood in the stove at the home of his fiancée, Miss Margaret Woodworth. The hands of the girl, who was to be a bride tomorrow, were badly burned as she attempted to save Sanford.

OSTRICH LAYS 4-LB. EGG

Pasadena, Cal., Feb. 13.—With an egg weighing four pounds—enough for a meal for eight persons—Martha Washington, a veteran egg producer at an ostrich farm here, has opened the season. She is the most reliable egg-layer among the more than 300 ostriches at the farm, and for many years has been the first each season to lay an egg.

The average profit from an acre of Maine blueberry land is said to be about $100, and as no fertilizer or cultivation is necessary, these berries are a quick and profitable crop. This is one of Washington county's big industries. For instance, the whole section from Porcupine Mountain to the East Machias line is practically all blueberry land. Several factories are devoting full time to the canning of the berries.

LOEW'S THEATRE OPENS MONDAY NEXT

LONDON'S $500,000 PLAYHOUSE ALL IN READINESS FOR FORMAL OPENING MONDAY EVENING

LOEW'S THEATRE LARGEST IN COMPARISON WITH POPULATION ON CONTINENT OF N. AMERICA; BEAUTIFUL NEW AMUSEMENT PALACE FOR CITY

REMARKABLE CAREER OF MARCUS LOEW; ROSE FROM NEWSBOY TO MAGNATE

Lad of New York Tenements, by Industry and Genius, Advances Until He Established and Headed One of World's Greatest Theatrical Enterprises.

INTERIOR OF LOEW'S NEW THEATRE SURPASSES IN DESIGN, FINISH AND COMFORT THE MOST OPTIMISTIC EXPECTATIONS OF LONDONERS

Half Million Dollar Vaudeville and Feature Photoplay Will Open Doors For London's Public Monday, 16th.

Marcus Loew's new $500,000 vaudeville and feature photoplay theatre will throw open its doors to the people of London and vicinity on Monday night, February 16. On the same day London will also go on record as having the largest theatre on the North American continent in comparison with the population of other cities. A delve deep into the annals of theatredom has failed to bring to light any vaudeville theatre as large located in any city with the population near the size of that of London.

Adding a Link.

Adding a new link to the gigantic Loew chain is an occasion promising a most exciting, pleasurable and interesting evening. For weeks in advance the entire working force of the New York offices of the Marcus Loew Vaudeville Enterprises are planning the most unusual events. Actors and actresses of proven, and the most famous of screen artists, manifest the greatest interest, and in many cases have been known to try to cancel their engagements to be "among those present." The Loew chain now involves the four directions of the North American continent, having now and in process of construction over two hundred theatres, of which the Loew's London Theatre is the latest addition to the chain.

The stage itself is equipped with gorgeous scenery, wonderful mechanical effects, high-class modern furniture; in fact, everything to make it equal and possibly surpass any of the stages of other theatres located in the largest cities of the universe. Due to this magnificent progress has also occurred in the Canadian field, for, in addition to the present Loew chain of theatres, which consist of two in Montreal, one in Hamilton, one in Toronto, with two others under construction, one in Ottawa, there will be added to this circuit about ten more first-class theatres, throughout the Dominion.

Loew's London Theatre, like all of the theatres operated by this immense and gigantic organization, has been built with the intention to extend to its patrons every comfort and convenience. Remarkable and scientific ventilation systems have been installed. A novel seating plan is one of the features of this new temple of entertainment, for every patron will be enabled to fully enjoy the performance presented on the stage, regardless of where he or she may be seated.

The auditorium, or theatre proper, will comfortably accommodate 2000 people. The chairs are roomy and comfortable. Another remarkable feature is the splendid supply of exits, all within easy access of all seats. Thus the danger from fire has been literally eradicated. The entire structure is a work of art and is surely the most magnificent playhouse in the Dominion.

It compares favorably with the great European palaces of enchantment, that have won universal fame for their lavish beauty and noteworthy architecture. In fact, it is an institution of which the people of London and vicinity can be justly proud. Furthermore, it is an edifice that adds greatly to the beauty of this fair city.

Marcus Loew—The Man.

The story of Marcus Loew comprises the most interesting page from the book of life. It reads like a bit of fiction, penned by a writer with remarkably creative ability. But nevertheless it is true, and a striking example of perseverance.

Not so many years ago Mr. Loew evolved the plan of popular-priced entertainment, whereby everyone would be afforded the opportunity of enjoying wholesome amusement, regardless of the size of their purse. At his first theatre he offered vaudeville and plays, which proved to be the most popular form of entertainment in America.

Realizing that one man could not control or manage an enterprise which was rapidly growing, Mr. Loew succeeded in surrounding himself with men who had also shown creative genius in the art of the theatre. Today these men are the heads of the various departments that are required to operate a circuit of theatres, which is second to none in the world. In addition to these executives, there are hundreds of other people in Mr. Loew's organization, whose duties are to handle the million and one details that require attention, in order to keep the wheels of this vast machine turning.

Mr. Loew is the type of man who has not permitted his success to "turn his head." Anyone who has had the fortune to meet him can readily appreciate the reason for his fast climb in the theatrical realm. He is a man admired, respected and genuinely liked by all with whom he comes in contact.

Marcus Loew is now considered a captain of industry, for in a comparatively few years he has become the head of one of the world's greatest enterprises. In addition to this, he has recently purchased the stock of one of the foremost motion picture-producing and distributing concerns, who have been acknowledged as the manufacturers of the greatest screen plays, and who number among their stars some of the world's greatest talent. In view of this, Mr. Loew will now have first choice of the best film products, which naturally will be shown at his theatres first. Thus the patrons of his many theatres will be assured of the best entertainment that money can buy.

Loew's Slogans.

The foremost thought in the mind of Marcus Loew and his vast army of employees is "Courtesy." This is the secret of the great success of the Loew Theatres. Patrons will always find everyone connected with any of Mr. Loew's theatres courteous and willing to help at all times. It is their aim to make your visit as pleasant as possible, and obey any wish expressed, that is possible to fulfill.

Loew's innovations are an important factor. The Loew Theatres are always offering something new and different, away from beaten paths. Whether it be for your amusement or comfort, you will find many innovations at Loew's new theatre.

There are several kinds of entertainment in the world of theatricals that one of money are spent to produce the big screen productions of today, and that many months are required in the making. But it has not occurred to many that the costliest production, which might represent an outlay of $100,000 or more, can be ruined in a very few minutes by improper presentation. But the Loew method of presentation makes this absolutely impossible, for Mr. Loew's theatres are equipped with the most modern machinery, operated by experienced projectionists, who always make it a rule to obtain the best results.

It is a well-known fact that vast Too great emphasis cannot be given to the important fact that Mr. Loew work, by unusual foresight, and by close attention to not only the needs, but the demands of the people. Mr. Loew makes a study of all this, and his success has been the result, to an extent, at least, of actually anticipating the needs of the people and with confidence that the moving picture filled a definite need in our advanced civilization as a force and power of tremendous value. His judgment has been Ventilation System the Latest Effort in Scientific Control of Comfort and Health.

While gazing at the rather bare but dignified front of Loew's Theatre on Dundas street before the great sign was put into place, and at the rough boards that hid from view the mysteries that lay within during the weeks of construction, little could the people of London guess of the delicate beauties and the splendors that were being wrought within by a multitude of artists working day and night. Regardless of the height that their expectations may have reached a pleasant surprise awaits everyone who will be fortunate enough to attend Monday's performance.

When the boards are torn away and the long lobby, with its high arched ceilings, and its ground marble-polished floors that lead up a slight incline to the theatre itself, is revealed to the public, even those with the most fastidious aesthetic tastes will be delighted. The lighting is accomplished by eight or ten drop lights in inverted chandeliers suspended on chains, that throw a soft light indirectly over the walls and ceiling.

The walls and ceiling of the long lobby are finished in grey and gold with hangings of rose-colored velvet. The dome ceiling of the vestibule is covered with leaf gold, from which hangs an alabaster-globed drop light. At frequent intervals throughout the whole length of the lobby, and on each side are huge mirrors that are divided into small panes, forming a resemblance to a casement window. The loaded designed art glass, both in the casement sash and in the ticket booths, are of an unusually chaste design.

Two ticket booths, one equipped with two selling windows, and with a third for emergency, situated in the vestibule, and one which is really a box office in the lobby, will serve the people with tickets. They are arranged so that no one will need to stand in the cold while seeking to gain admittance. They are built of walnut and plate glass.

Through swinging glass doors one gains admittance into the auditorium of the theatre, and finds as he passes within that the beauties of the lobby have only been preparing him for the real treat—the fairytale beauties of the great, sweet smelling, airy interior. It is hardly correct to call the decorations fairytale, because they are more nobly artistic than that term would imply.

It is hard to express in cold type the first impression that strikes one as he enters, for so many thoughts and impressions crowd themselves upon him as he gazes around. It may be the wonderfully rich simplicity, it may be the splendid blending of decorations and colors, the liberal arrangements of accommodations, or the substantial appearance of all, with the absolute lack of gingerbread effects so often noticed. One almost breathes from the stage into the mouth of a huge trumpet, for the ceiling slopes up and back without a break from the stage until it is crowned with a huge dome. One almost instantly grasps the idea for this; it aids in the carrying of the sounds from the stage to the very rear of the house. But the minds that conceived the building did not leave the carrying of sounds to the mere shape of the rooms, for the many panels of the walls, covered with rich, warm, more than a decorative purpose, for they are scientifically arranged to absorb all sounds and so prevent confusing echoes. A remarkable and up-to-date sounding board that intensifies all sounds will enable those who sit in the rear to hear as easily as those in the front rows.

The walls and ceiling of the auditorium are finished in ivory, gold and Rose de Barre. Mural paintings abound, but are not overdone. They consist of architectural and floral designs, rather than the sometimes objectionable figure designs. A chaste, made by the management that at one time difficulty was experienced in getting some of the paintings through the customs because the officials doubted that they were to be used for decorative purposes, but suspected that they were works of art.

The panels are covered with a thick rose-colored plush, and the floor of the boxes are covered with a rich plush carpet that sinks beneath one's feet. The hangings and draperies are of the decorative color scheme of gold. The scenery masking of the stage is blue, decorated with peacocks and vases of flowers. The great dome crowning the ceiling is laid with gold leaf.

The lighting depends chiefly on a great chandelier hanging from the center of the ceiling, and a row of gold-amber art glass, secured in a gold-finished frame. A subdued light is thrown indirectly from it over the whole house. Assisting this main feature in the lighting are several smaller ambuasts, a row of hidden lights where the ceiling joins the wall, that cast a light over the ceiling, and at intervals along both side walls are rose-shaded fixtures.

The seating capacity of the house will be 2,000, all of which will be contained in the boxes. A row of brass-railled boxes extend from the rear on each side to the centre of the house, and then a row across the auditorium divides the back half of the seating arrangement from the front half. The seats in the orchestra are all leather upholstered, and are of mahogany finish. The uprights are in gold, following the color scheme of the house. One noticeable feature is the absence of posts. A full and unobstructed view of the stage is possible from any part of the house.

The ventilation system is the pride of the management. It is the latest that science has created for the purpose of guarding the public health, and because of the prevalence of sickness at the present time is more than of unusual interest. The system of arrangement in the ceiling immediately in front of the stage, heated air is forced down to the floor under great pressure. Pushing back through the house it carries all impurities with it through the rear of the theatre. It is possible by this system to change the air in the building every six minutes, and thus keeping the air moving while the show is in progress, giving an ample supply of fresh air throughout the house at all times.

The women patrons of Loew's will be delighted with the arrangements made for their comfort. A climb up a thickly-carpeted stairs on the right carries them to a daintily-furnished restroom. The ivory wickered furniture, upholstered in blue cretonne, is a delight to the eye. The walls are finished in stippled blue, hung with English prints framed in old gold. A heavy blue rug carpets the floor and oiled-colored

FURNITURE OF ENDURING FINENESS AND BEAUTY SELECTED FROM THE ONTARIO TO ADORN LOEW'S NEW PLAYHOUSE

IN keeping with the beautiful interior decoration and appointments in the new Loew Theatre, furniture of lasting durability, finish and beauty was necessary to carry out the "homely and comfy" atmosphere desired.

It was in this respect Ontario Furniture Company were consulted, and the fact that an inspection of our stock resulted in our furniture being selected as the proper and fitting acquisition to the "house beautiful."

All of us enjoy ourselves more thoroughly in a cozy, homelike theatre—the same in our home—all of us like to have cozy homes—a place of our own, invitingly attractive, outfitted with good-looking, substantial furniture. We want to be proud of our home—have in it such pieces as make for charm, beauty and comfort—a haven for our family and friends.

If your home isn't such—the kind you can be proud of—now surely is a most opportune time to make it so.

Very likely it needs but a piece or two, possibly a new suite, to give it that completeness. Down here in our big store you can find during our annual February Sale hundreds of exceptional values, especially in view of the increasing cost of good furniture, just the pieces your home needs—offered at ten to forty per cent reduction.

FOR the living-room, where the family spends most of its time at home, you want pieces that give comfort primarily and then add charm and attraction—so we offer suites of mahogany and cane richly upholstered in tapestries and velour; overstuffed tapestry sets; three-piece duofold combinations; rockers of a score different patterns, upholstered and plain; easy chairs; floor lamps and other articles. For the bedroom we offer your choice of suites or single pieces of the latest designs in the distinctive period styles. Your dining-room, where guests gather, you would prefer to have look artistic and yet radiate cordiality as well as comfort—so we have for you such suites—in all desired woods and period patterns. Kitchen utilities—articles to conserve the housewife's energy—such as kitchen cabinets, ranges of various kinds and other pieces—are also here in wide variety. No matter what your home may require, here you will find it at a substantial saving.

Choose Your Store With the Same Careful Discrimination You Use in Selecting Your Furniture

Never has there been a time when the store where you buy your furniture is of such importance as now. Manufacturers everywhere are flooded with orders. Furniture is being rushed through production as rapidly as possible, and as a consequence some of it is not up to the high standard this store has established. But in spite of present conditions we have maintained our high standard of excellence, for we will never allow any merchandise to get into our stocks that is not quality-built through and through. By careful, painstaking buying, by rigidly insisting on fine workmanship, excellent finish and selected materials we can still offer our patrons furniture that is fit to grace any home at a moderate price.

Our Annual February Clearance Should Be of Especial Interest To You At This Time

Heavy buying has characterized our sale thus far—people have realized its big opportunities for savings in furniture. Our stock, though, still is very complete because of the fact that we were well prepared for it. But no sale with the response this one has received can continue to offer a complete stock any great length of time. So we urge that you come in at your very first opportunity while you can find high-grade, fully-guaranteed furniture of distinctive design and substantial construction in wide variety. Thus you will avoid the disappointment of not getting just what you want.

Remember, every piece of furniture is reduced. This sale is genuine in every detail—its values truly big, considering present costs and certain increases in future prices—its reductions absolutely true, from 10 to 40 per cent on every piece exactly as represented. Buy your furniture now and save!

BEST MOTION PICTURE MACHINES TO BE USED IN LOEW'S THEATRE; POWER'S PROJECTOR INSTALLED

Finest of Mechanical Appliances That Money Could Procure Will Be Utilized.

In no other detail has Loew's, Inc., so clearly indicated that its newest enterprise, Loew's London Theatre, is to be the very finest that money and experience could create, as has been shown in the selection of Power's Projector. Owing to the vast sums involved in the film industry which has resulted in widespread publicity regarding the manufacture of films, little attention as a rule is given by the audience to the mechanical means through which the picture is thrown upon the screen. Quickly enough, of course, the audience knows when the picture is not being properly shown and if it is not clear and distinct, the critical audience of today will lose no time in finding a means to indicate its disapproval. For this reason Loew's, Inc., determined that Loew's London Theatre should have the finest motion picture machine that experience could select and money pay for. It is an axiom of the great film industry that "the better is better than it projects" and those who have admired the exterior, and in time will have the pleasure of seeing the interior of Loew's London Theatre, which today ranks as one of the finest on the American Continent, may have full confidence that the projection machine in every respect equals the architecture and furnishings of this splendid building. The motion picture machine selected, Power's Projector, manufactured by the Nicholas Power Company, New York city, can be found in the largest and finest theatres throughout the world. In the United States and Canada they have been used by thousands of the leading houses, and in the United Kingdom over 4,000 machines have been sold and installed by one great supply house. In international contests Power's Projectors have frequently won against the field of the world's leading manufacturers of motion picture machines, and in such a test was recently selected by the royal family of Spain for its private use. When Eastman of Kodak fame was developing the film and Edison was devising the motion picture camera, which is today the model almost unchallenged of the camera in general use, it was Power's Projector which was selected as the motion picture projector. It may be of interest to the reader to know that the first real motion picture machine was used in 1894, and the film industry, which now ranks fifth in the world's industries, is not quite twenty-five years old. In that twenty-five years the world has seen many great changes and momentous events, but none of them has had a greater influence upon the minds of men. Those who have a keen recollection of the tremendous consequences of the World War may question this statement, but an invention which in the lifetime of a man of twenty-five has grown from practical non-existence to an importance that makes it a keen rival of the printing press, may well believe that the motion picture industry justly excites comments that sometimes appear exaggerated.

Passed Fire Requirements.

Power's Projector, used in Loew's London Theatre, of course has passed the rigid fire requirements of London, Ont., and large cities in the United States and Canada. The safety devices used on the Power's Projector are too complicated to describe in an article of this nature, but it will be an evidence of the care taken by Loew's, Inc., to protect its patrons from fire risk, when we learn that the American Museum of Safety has awarded a number of medals of honor to the Nicholas Power Company for the safety devices on the Power's machines.

The motion picture projector prints the picture on the screen, and its importance may be illustrated by this quotation from a circular recently issued by Loew's, Inc.: "A photoplay production which may cost $10,000 or more to produce and requires many months in the making, can be quickly ruined by improper presentation, but the Loew method of presentation makes this absolutely impossible." It will be obvious that Loew's, Inc., considered the selection of the motion picture machine of utmost importance, and in selecting Power's Projector have done so with but one purpose in mind, that the patrons of Loew's London Theatre should be fully satisfied in every detail.

HOW LOEW THEATRES EQUIP THEIR STAFF WITH THE UNIFORMS

Russell Company Designs All Uniforms For Company's Employees.

Another highly important factor of the theatre is its general appearance. Although the building itself is a work of art, other details are apt to be neglected, and one important detail that must be considered is the proper dress for the attendants—the uniforms. Loew's London Theatre has given this matter careful consideration, and the result is that the male employees are all equipped with neat, conservative uniforms that will designate their official capacities.

When Marcus Loew announces that he will open a theatre, the matter of uniforms immediately is attended to. The Russell Uniform Company, of 1600 Broadway, New York city, who furnished the uniforms for Loew's London Theatre, and many others of the Loew chain, are notified that Loew, Inc., contemplates opening another theatre, and they then furnish sketches of various designs, which are approved by Mr. Loew. Forty-eight hours after the sketch has been approved the uniforms have been delivered to the theatre for which they were ordered. This is likewise true in the case of Loew's London Theatre, for the Russell Uniform Company had only 48 hours to complete and deliver the uniforms. This was accomplished without any difficulty.

The Russell Uniform Company have succeeded in establishing a national reputation for themselves, in a comparatively few years. Not only are they the makers of all uniforms for all of Marcus Loew's theatres, but they also number among their many patrons the greatest commercial institutions in Canada and the United States. Furthermore, they are outfitters for clubs, military academies, police, fire and post office departments, and numerous other branches of industry.

BEAUTIFUL FRAMES TO CONTAIN PHOTOS OF THE LOEW ARTISTS

Notable Artistic Policy Which Will Be Feature of Lobby.

Merchants and owners of large stores, where every commodity is offered for sale, have come to the conclusion that without a proper and lavish display in their shop windows or show-rooms, their wares would not be in demand, and that business would almost be at a standstill.

This is likewise true of the theatre. Without the proper display on the exterior of the building, or in the lobby, prospective patrons would be in a quandary as to what the entertainment consisted of.

Inasmuch as Loew's London Theatre is the finest and most modern equipped theatre in Canada, this important factor has received just consideration, and the outcome is that this theatre of amusement is furnished with a generous and handsome amount of magnificent hand-carved frames, that will contain the photographs of artists who are to appear, and also portraits of the leading screen stars who will appear in their newest film offerings.

A PEEK BEHIND THE FILM BOOTH OF LOEW'S HOUSE

This Explains Methods Used in the Projection of Photoplays.

ROOMS OF MYSTERY

Every Precaution Is Taken Against Accident—Nothing That Could Burn Around.

Very few of the theatre-going public are acquainted with the methods used to obtain the best results in the projection of a photoplay. In fact, the greater majority of the public have never seen the interior of a motion picture booth, and the necessary machinery required to properly project a film. To most "film fans" this is a deep mystery. The management of Loew's London Theatre believes this a most opportune time to shed a little light on this particularly interesting subject.

To begin with, the projection room of Loew's cannot be located by anyone unless they have been told of its whereabouts. In the rear of the auditorium, high above the upper floor, are a few holes in the wall that would be overlooked by the average person as having no significance, but this is really the projection room. These holes have been bored through wall of fire-proof brick, to permit the rays of light to shine on the screen, a great distance away. This is one of the many innovations that abound in the construction of Loew's London Theatre.

Behind the holes, a little trip behind these "holes," first we come into a spacious room, and the room, which we see is a massive machine, tilted in a peculiar position. Then we suddenly see another "hole." We could not see another "hole," but this is really the feature of today consists of five, six or seven "reels" and a projector can only run one reel at a time. Then we are told that while one machine is in operation the other is ready to project the next reel, which eliminates the breaking up of the film, as in the days of yore. "Ah!" say we, "quite a clever idea."

This interesting disclosure having wrought up our curiosity to a high intensity, our eyes began to roam about, and we noticed a peculiar electrical device on the floor which we learned is called a rheostat. Inquiring as to the functions of this instrument, we were advised that it controls the amperage of electrical current. Then we took another look around the room, and noticed that it did not contain an article that could be destroyed by fire. The wall facing the street contained three immense windows that allowed for proper ventilation. We also learned from our guide that in the event of an emergency, and a strip of film did catch on fire, nothing would happen to the theatre, but the smoke would pour out through the ceiling ventilators and the windows. We could not, however, imagine how a fire could possibly originate, as everything was built of either steel, brick, asbestos or tile. We readily assured ourselves that when our official visit is over, and we have come members of the audience, we could enjoy the performance with ease, for in our mind the possibility of fire in Loew's London Theatre is absolutely eradicated.

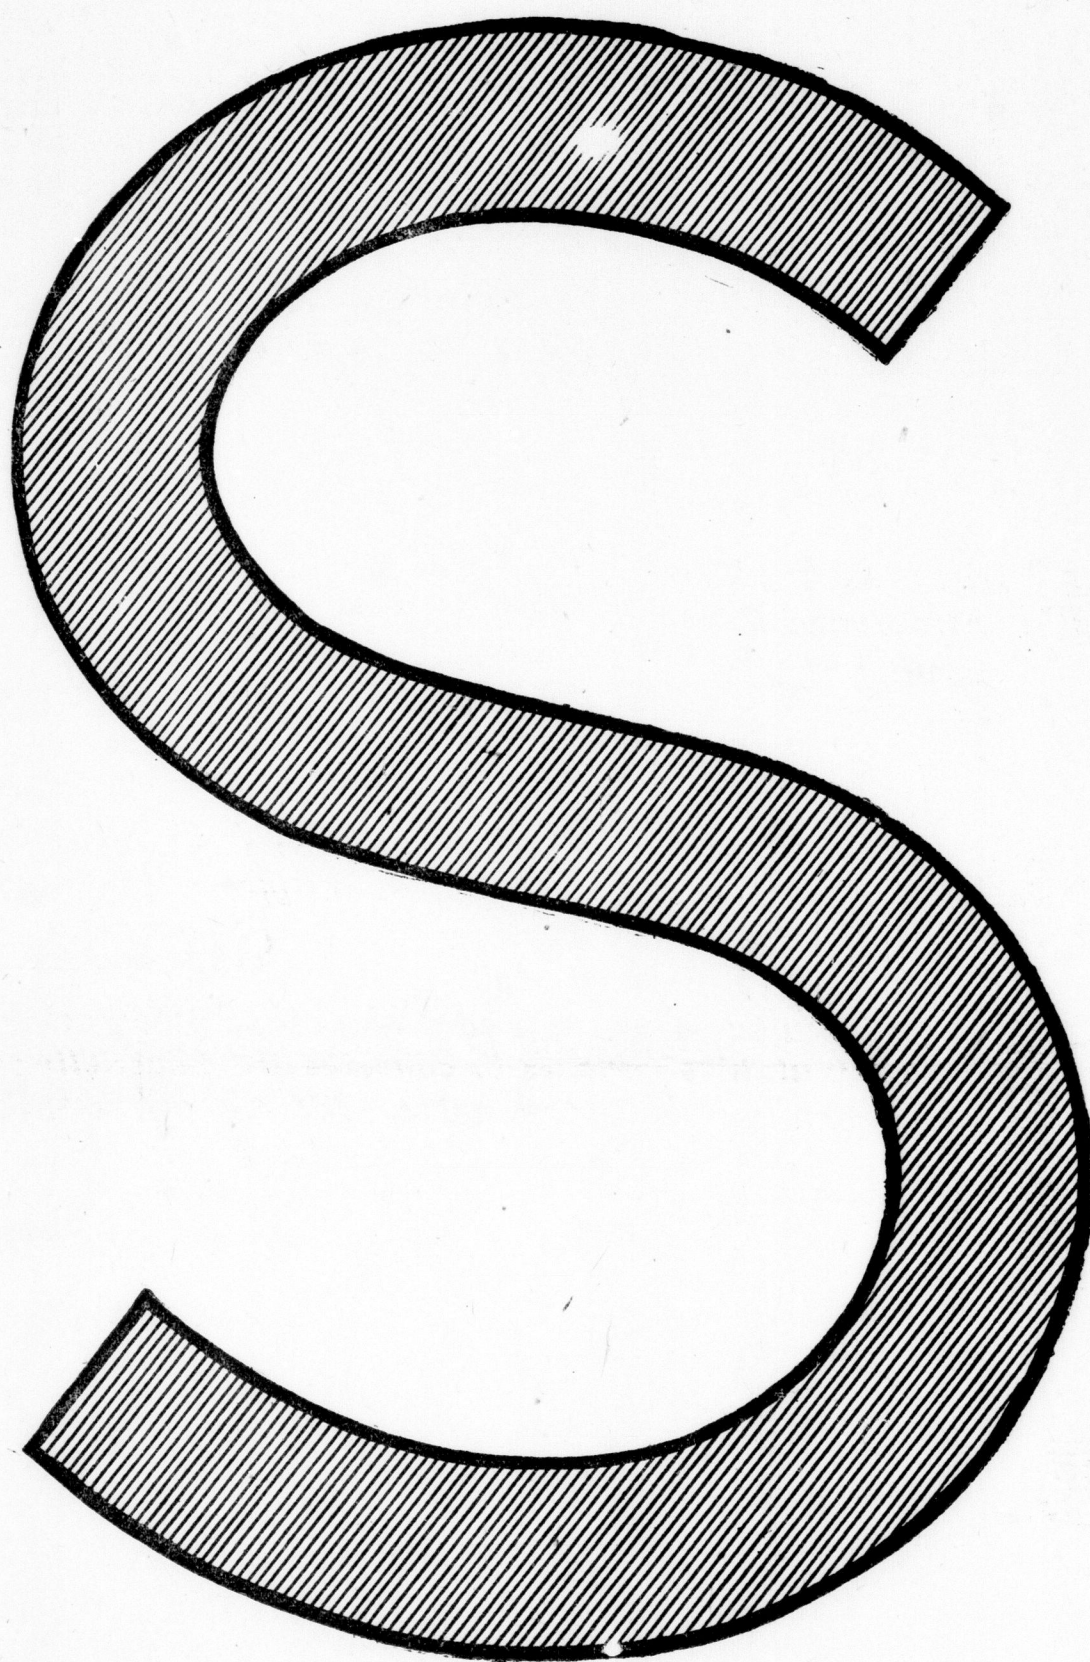

"So?" said our guide, as he led us to a room adjoining the booth of mystery. "This is where all film is handled. That is, after each reel has been shown, it must be rewound, so that it can again be projected. The men who are in this room are always kept, thus insuring the highest degree of safety." Again we looked about, and we noticed but failed to discover anything that could possibly burn.

As we slowly walked along, we soon found ourselves in a little room, adjoining the other, where the operator or projectionist, and his assistant keep their personal belongings, such as hats, coats, sweaters, etc. We were led to understand that these articles were kept in this room only, while the operator was on duty in the booth. We felt that if all public institutions made use of these precautions, our fire department could resign.

One of our party looked at his watch. "My!" he exclaimed. "It's late, and my wife will be all upset." Then he smiled. "But," he continued, "when she hears where I have been, and she learns all that I have learned, I'll bet I get two portions of anything I ask for at dinner tonight." We nodded, and led by him, we left the theatre and proceeded to our homes.

The theatre is approximately 156 feet long by 100 feet wide and 72 feet high and would contain 486,000 cubic feet of space. The apparatus provided is sufficient to completely change the air in the entire space of one hour.

The equipment consists of two 72-inch Sheldon multi-blade disk fans mounted on a single shaft, which are supported by a cast-iron work stand. The fans are driven by a 10-hp motor mounted on a base in front of the proscenium arch, and the fans are so arranged that they can be operated at three speeds, and so that the air can be either sucked into the auditorium or blown out of the building through the exhaust air duct of the building.

from whom I was to ascertain the real truth of a rumor that he was to invest two million dollars in a gigantic shipbuilding plant in the Baltic Sea. My first papers, however, did not miss this time, and planted a fat, two-column leading article on their front pages. My false information was, however, of the type of the "old man's" lips that would make even William Hohenzollern, for mer German emperor, look commonplace if he had been so stupid as to get away with it. Now, for the third time, the afternoon I found myself still headlining a performance of failure.

My place was, however, over the faces of the copy-readers clustered around the "throne" and the minds of all the staff present were working on the question: "What is he up to?"

magnificently sustained and with the result already of supplying agencies of fascination and value for the enlightenment of all the people, high and low, and in whatever station of life.

Surely such a man is a benefactor. In the study of Marcus Loew the fact that he was once a newsboy, has in itself beside it an element of charm. It shows, and shows very interestingly, the opportunity for advancement and financial independence where hard work is joined with judgment and good judgment is linked with foresight and service to the people rounding it all up.

Mr. Loew's genius in getting right at the hearts of the people, has in a sense been the result of his hardships, which have made him a close student of underlying conditions which interest the great mass of the people.

It is an interesting commentary in the career of Mr. Loew that the very tenement in which he was born has been torn down by his own workmen to make room for one of his new theatres.

WALLACE REID
"The Lottery Man"

That lightning chap of filmdom, who will be seen in a breezy, rapid-fire comedy next Thursday, Friday and Saturday at Loew's atres at 5th street and avenue B, New York.

Like most boys of his age, born in tenements, Mr. Loew early saw the attractions of the theatre, and we find him at the tender age of seven at the old National Theatre investing a well-earned dime to see a "melodrama" with plenty of red, white and blue, that is always present here.

His Early Struggles Covered With Success.

When school closed in the summer he peddled lemons with an old man who drove a cart for the saloon trade, though the boy still kept his mornings and his late afternoons for selling papers. Then, Mr. Loew was nine, he left school for good, and except for some lessons with a private tutor, who endeavored himself to the extent of $2 per month from each pupil, that was all the schooling he ever had.

He went to work for a map-printing concern, pulling the sheets from under the coloring blocks. The pay was 35 cents a day. He was there for a year; then the spirit of industrial unrest broke loose in the place; the boys struck for 40 cents a day, and were quietly locked out by the proprietor. Loew was ten years old and out of a job.

So he went into another partnership, this time in the printing business with a man some years older than he. First they set up a little hand press and printed visiting cards, and then a their trade increased they installed a foot press and finally started a weekly paper of eight pages, called the "East Side Advertiser."

Loew was a weakly boy, small for his age, and hardly fit for the slightest physical labor. So instead of running the press he was editor, copy reader, proof reader, manager, subscription agent, advertising solicitor and writer of advertisements. Also in his spare partner set up the type and ran the press, supplying the power with his own feet.

The "Advertiser" had a surprising success. The circulation grew steadily and toward the last it touched 500 copies. Loew hustled around among ice cream stores, clothing stores and novelty shops of the East Side and cornered enough advertising to make the sheet pay well. Finally he inaugurated a system of six months' contracts with advertisers and after a few weeks' work he had contracts for all the advertisements that could be squeezed into the paper for half a year in advance.

That was where the trouble started. For the partnership was paying $12 a piece per week to the two members of the firm and the senior partner was so pleased with himself that he married

MARCUS LOEW, head of the continent-wide chain of amusement houses, whose newest link in the chain will open its doors to London and vicinity on Monday evening, February 16.

Immediately, and Loew, who had nothing to do, now that the contacts were slighted, except to improve his literary style and work in a few lines of news in the "Advertiser's" columns became an eyesore to the senior partner's young bride.

She could not see why he should sit around and write and her husband was breaking his back over the press and really earning some money. She came up to the office one day and said so. She said other things, too, about his poverty and she wound up with the cruelest taunt an angry woman can find—His own physical insignificance, and the boy, who was only 11, and full of a boy's sensitiveness and hot pride, left the shop and told the pair they could have the paper and welcome to all they had.

Then he worked in a drygoods store at Grand and Allen streets, the pay was only $4 per week, but it was sure. He waited on customers, ran errands between times and worked until midnight six days in the week. Then when he was twelve he went to work in a factory for handling furs and making dress trimmings. There was no recreation in one of the picture places and bill him as an extra attraction. The actor proposed "Pippa's Lover" for a starter, and some little things from "Pippa Passes" as encores. Loew thought they ought to have something more up to date, so they compromised on "Gunga Din."

Gradually he worked his way through the plant, for he had an inquiring mind and he learned every trick of the trade. At one time he was a weaver of dress goods; then at sixteen he was made the chief of the factory's fur department.

Presently he took the few hundred dollars he had saved and started in the fur business for himself. He was eighteen then. At nineteen he failed. His debts were $5,000, and his stock brought little over $5,000. There remained debts of $1,800, for which, after the bankruptcy proceedings he was not legally liable.

Opportunity Knocked: Marcus Re-sponded. Opportunity did not come to Loew in any strange or blustering way, but in his daily work, once because he paid his debts out of plain, old-fashioned honesty, once because he had indulged in a piece of old-fashioned softness of heart.

It was like this: One of the largest of his creditors at the time of his failure was a fur dealer.

A few months later, when the fur dealer was desperately pressed in his turn, Loew called on him and told him that he had come to pay him the balance of his debt. The young man had a place as a fur salesman, was making $100 per week out of it and was paying up to the last dollar the obligations from which he had been legally released. The creditor thought it was like finding money. The two became fast friends, and the man never forgot the outcome of the affair.

By the time he was 23 Loew had paid there was no work at hand around the picture places, so, since the man could neither sing, nor dance, nor comfort, it was decided to let him do a recitation in one of the picture places and bill him as an extra attraction. The actor proposed "Pippa's Lover" for a starter, and some little things from "Pippa Passes" as encores. Loew thought they ought to have something more up to date, so they compromised on "Gunga Din."

Some Interesting Sidelights on Mr. Loew.

The audience did not go wild about

"Gunga Din," but they did rather seem to cotton to "Mandalay" when that was produced the second week. The man stayed four weeks at one house and was then moved to another. So Loew kept him moving and raised his salary besides, which was not a difficult thing to do. Today, by the way, he is a well-known actor, and names pretty much his own figure to the managers.

So Loew entered the field where he made his great success, the field of pictures and vaudeville. With those first experiments in vaudeville, he pushed on rapidly, feeling his way as he went. Soon he had extra attractions in the shape of performers bodily present, instead of being pictured on the white screen. In all of his store shows the success was enormous. For it was just that touch of human personality in the picture house that was needed to make people at home there.

Within a few months Loew saw what he was coming to if he wanted to play the big game, and, as no other game interested him, he plunged again. For he kept giving his store shows better and better vaudeville acts as time went on, and he soon found that he had reached the limit of development for the 5-cent houses could not take in enough money to pay the stage people he needed. There was only one thing to do to give his shows in large theatres where he could charge a low admission and still have large gross returns.

It took courage to make his first venture in that line. The theatre was the old Coney Corner in Brooklyn, at Pearl and Willoughby streets. The place had been run for years as a burlesque house of a low type and was finally closed by the police. With such a record nobody wanted it, and the house had stood vacant for two years when Loew bought it, plunging almost to the limit of his credit to put the bargain through.

For years he had been fighting along with the other moving picture men to prove that cheap amusements need not be vicious or even degrading, but the battle was not won yet, and the old Coney Corner, with its evil associations, looked like a hopeless handicap.

His Faith in Himself.

But Loew drove ahead with it. He spent hundreds for paint and carpenter work, toning up the appearance of the old theatre; then he spent thousands in toning up its reputation. He hired Antonia Morio, the Italian tragedian, to appear there in repertoire of Shakespeare and other classical plays of unquestioned birth, and he was there in dragging school teachers and other reputable citizens to the place to see his performances and praise the revival of dramatic art which had burst upon Brooklyn. The name of the theatre he had changed, of course, and he washed out its reputation by four months of tragedy, but it was expensive laundry work. Morio had two companies supporting him, one playing in English and the other in Italian, and while salaries were not high, neither were the box office receipts. At a time when he needed every dollar Loew lost $3,000 on his tragedy season, and he counted the money well spent. When he finally opened the house with pictures and vaudeville at 10 cents for every seat, the first large theatre of the kind in America, his first day's receipts were 10 cents.

Business picked up, however, and he netted a profit of something over $80,000 for his year in the house.

That gave him the cue for the development of a new amusement system and he began adding to his list large theatres and selling off his small store shows.

The rejuvenated theatre in Brooklyn he opened in 1908, and in the same year he took over Blaney's Lincoln Square Theatre, which had fallen and closed, then he took the old Harlem Casino, remodeled it in fire-proof construction and opened it on his new plan.

This was the beginning and the foundation for the huge Loew enterprise of a continent-wide chain of amusement houses of today.

London is not the last link in the chain, for several more palatial amusement houses are planned for Canada and the United States. A building appropriation of $30,000,000 will provide many more cities on the continent with beautiful theatres in the very near future.

Furnishing the Home
Artistically

MURRAY-KAY COMPANY, LIMITED, TORONTO,
SUPPLIED THE FURNISHINGS FOR LOEW'S MAGNIFICENT LONDON THEATRE.

The art of home furnishing is not merely purchasing economically—that, of course, must be always kept in mind. But above all, one must strive to secure an effect in keeping with the proper spirit for the room. For instance, particularly graceful effects are most suited for the living-room, while a more formal, bolder effect is appropriate for the library. A definite color scheme must be decided upon and that plan adhered to consistently. The draperies, furniture, rugs, carpets, decorating and fixtures must be carefully selected so that they all combine in producing a well-balanced, pleasing ensemble.

Murray-Kay Company, Limited, of Toronto, specialize in artistic home furnishings. We have experts who are familiar with every kind of furnishing. These experts are informed on any inclination of the vogue and so can advise such things as are fitting and proper.

Constantly in contact with the market conditions, they are often able to inform customers of the probability of certain price advances beforehand, and so enable timely purchases.

Should you desire a certain effect—say a blue room—our experts will plan and produce your idea in a beautiful way. Or, if you are undecided, they will devise an original effect and submit it as a suggestion for your consideration.

Murray-Kay Company, Limited, Toronto, furnished the stage drapes, reed furniture and carpets for Loew's magnificent new London theatre, and its appearance is representative of the result of the careful planning of our specialists and of the quality of Murray-Kay merchandise.

Whether you desire a plain living-room effect, a beautiful library, or simply a children's playroom, or whether you wish a house designed from kitchen to garret, let us offer you suggestions. Our suggestions are free and we are always pleased to give them.

Laugh and the world laughs with you, weep and you weep alone, said the gifted Ella Wheeler Wilcox. I am proud to say that in my theatres the crowds can both laugh and weep together as the scenes and emotions of the films shift. Hearty laughter, virtuous tears, express the emotions of a sympathetic people; all the family united in my theatres.

BEAUTIFUL, VIVACIOUS STAR, ENID BENNETT, FOR OPENING DAYS AT LOEW'S THEATRE

Five All-Star Vaudeville Acts,
Fatty Arbuckle and Loew's Pathe Weekly.

"Stepping Out," which will be the feature photoplay offering for the first three days of the opening week at Loew's, featuring that beautiful little screen favorite, Enid Bennett, is from a story from the pen of C. Gardner Sullivan, based on the universal illustration of men and women to sometimes step out of their sphere into one they believe is more to be desired.

The outcome of the comedy drama might indicate that the writer had in mind when he gave the title to the story the old proverb, "watch your step."

It concerns a little woman who finds her greatest happiness in consecrating her life to her husband, and husband who accepts her sacrifices as his right, and due and graciously regards her as a servant in his house.

How these reverse dispositions are balanced and a happy companionship effected, is the mission of the play. The picture was directed by Fred Niblo under the supervision of Thomas H. Ince. Niles Welch is Miss Bennett's leading man.

THE VAUDEVILLE.
Five feature vaudeville acts, with a tip-roaring Fatty Arbuckle comedy, "The Garage," and Loew's Pathe Weekly will complete the opening program for the first half. That popular musical comedy star, Isabelle d'Armond will top the vaudeville bill in a merry mélange of mirth and melody that is titled "The Demi-Tasse Revue." Miss d'Armond has been one of the biggest hits over the circuit this season. She is a singer, dancer and gets over a hodge-podge of nonsense with a vim. Miss d'Armond is ably assisted in her offering by an excellent company of artists, Charles Nevin and Ada Gordon will offer a sparkling little skit, "A Follad Romance." Clever costuming, original songs, dances and comedy dialogue will make this a merry little spot in the program. Mack and Salle, who are billed as Artistic Purveyors of amusing Originalities, have a rapid-fire offering of song, dance and nonsense. Zuhm and Davis will provide additional mirth-provoking antics, while the Five Avallons will close the show with an offering of difficult feats on the wire. Their act has proven a sensation throughout the circuit. Many air-raising stunts are featured on the wire by these five entertainers.

Loew's Concert Orchestra will also expense a program of exceptional merit for the opening week. The opening night should be a gala affair. Seats for this event have been completely sold out and standing room only will be available.

300,000 BATTLE TO WIN HUSBAND
In "The Lottery Man," Starring Wallace Reid, at Loew's Theatre, Last Three Days Next Week.

Wally Reid is beset by a mob of women in his latest screen comedy—a riot of hilarious comedy. Across the public square shot a torn and bleeding man, five hundred frantic women in hot pursuit. His shirt was ripped to shreds, his face cut, and in his eyes was the wild look of the hunted creature. He sprang nimbly upon a platform above the heads of his pursuers. They gave an exultant cry as they saw him approach the two cylinders in which his fate was concealed.

"Stepping Out"

The Beautiful Star of Screenland Who Will Be Seen in a Charming Play of Domestic Life at Loew's Theatre Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday Next.

A husky young female leaped up beside him and started to draw the fatal papers from the glass. With fascinated eyes—
But this isn't one of those French detective stories. It's just to give a faint idea of the wild predicament into which Wallace Reid's rashness precipitated him in his latest Paramount-Artcraft picture, "The Lottery Man," to be presented at Loew's Theatre the last half of next week. The athletic young star has the role of Jack Wright, who, to pay a debt of honor and to make a fortune for his devoted little mother, volunteered to raffle himself off as a husband for a dollar a chance. He repented of his bargain when he fell in love with a pretty girl, but it was too late. The mad feminine rush had started. To win the girl and the fortune too requires all of Mr. Reid's quick wit and nimbleness, and results in one of the most hilariously entertaining films in which the popular star has yet appeared.

The Vaudeville.
The Royal Lyceum Japs, marvelous and sensational Oriental wonder workers from the land of rice and sun, in an extraordinary routine of feats of acrobatics and feats of daring, will be the headline vaudeville attraction for the last of the week. There are five speedy little Japs in the troupe, and their work has been a sensation this past season. Eugene Emmett, styled the Irish Nightingale, in a song of feering, the possessor of a splendid voice, will be one of the bright spots of the bill. Burke and Burke will offer a neat little farce-comedy skit, with a merry mélange of song, dance and comedy. "A Western Flirtation," or "Eighteen Minutes in a Laugh Factory," Jack Blair and Florence Crystal will be seen in a novel and sparkling comedy sketch. "The Reporter." Mason and Bailey, styled Two Dark Spots of Joy, offer a snappy act of comedy, song and dance.

A side-splitting comedy from the Mack Sennett studio, entitled "Up in Alf's Place," will provide the comedy film offering, and Loew's Weekly will herald world current events. Altogether a tip-top bill of amusement for the last half.

There will be a complete change of program every Monday and Thursday. Performance will be continuous from 1 to 11 p.m., and seats are not reserved. Reservations have been made for the opening performance only. All seats for the matinee will be 15 cents, with the exception of Saturdays and holidays. Evenings, 35 cents.

Many of the stars in the New York party will offer something in the way of entertainment, and Manager Lake promises something real in the way of surprise when the curtain goes up on the first performance on Monday night.

Many of the executives from Loew's New York office are in town for the occasion, and Loew's London opening promises to eclipse any previous affair in all respects.

Special entertainments will be arranged by the Loew's management for the visitors during their stay. A motor trip through the city will in all probability be one of the events arranged.

That real honest-to-goodness actor, Charlie Ray, will grace the screen at Loew's in one of his latest releases, "Crooked Straight," March 1, 2 and 3.

Little Mary Miles Minter, one of the sweethearts of the screen, comes to Loew's Theatre Feb. 25, 27 and 28 in "Anne of Green Gables."

Some of the film attractions to be seen at the new Loew Theatre in the near future are "The Fear Market," starring Alice Brady; "The Virtuous Vamp," with Constance Talmadge; "Erstwhile Susan," featuring Constance Binney; "John Petticoats," with rough and ready Bill Hart as the star; "Stronger Than Death," with the famous emotional actress, Mme. Nazimova; "More Deadly Than the Male," with Ethel Clayton as the star, and "The Beauty Market," featuring Katherine MacDonald.

MASON & RISCH PIANO SCORES AGAIN

Mason & Risch Pianos Selected For Loew's New Theatre.

In keeping with the magnificent theatre about to be opened, it is only natural that the directors of Loew's London Theatre, Limited, should choose for one of their main properties—the pianos—instruments in keeping with the other appointments of this theatre.

After consulting with their musical director, and taking also the opinion of the general public—who have by their patronage made one piano the outstanding musical instrument of Western Ontario—they unhesitatingly decided upon Mason & Risch Pianos.

It was then that Mr. Moore of the New York purchasing department of Loew's, Limited, made arrangements with the local branch of this well-known piano house to use exclusively in London's new theatre two magnificent uprights and one Mason & Risch baby grand piano.

By the purchase of these instruments the Mason & Risch Company are placed in the position of being able to state that practically every large public place in the city uses for their musical instrument either an upright or grand piano or phonograph supplied from one of the factories of Mason & Risch. These instruments include: Dayton & McCormick Dancing Academy, grand piano and Mason & Risch phonograph; Grand Opera House, two pianos; Y. M. C. A. Auditorium, one piano and one Winter Garden, Mason & Risch grand; Byron Sanatorium, one piano and one player; "Princess Fats" Barracks, one piano; Loew's Theatre, one grand and two uprights.

The present manager, Mr. C. L. Gray, took charge of this branch of the firm ten years ago this month, and has seen the same grow from one selling a moderate number of pianos per year to the firm's largest retail branch, of which there are some twenty selling hundreds of instruments per year in London and the surrounding district.

After the purchase of the firm's present location, which has been enlarged several times, this space is yet too small, and it is their intention in the spring to build a four-story extension, to house at the year of their warehouses, in order to partially take care of their ever-extending business.

In addition to manufacturing high-grade pianos, Mason & Risch also manufacture their own phonograph, which has now firmly established itself upon the market. His Master's Voice Records, Victor Victrolas and Columbia Gramophones are also carried in stock.

Their sheet music and small goods department is in charge of Mr. C. Irwin, one of the finest in Ontario, with a stock always on hand to fill the requirements of conservatories, music teachers and bandmen, and popular music for those who care for the music of the day.

The Mason & Risch piano represents all that is best of human endeavor in piano construction on broadest and most advanced ideas. It is a recognized art product appealing to the cultured musical taste. It has won the highest attainable place in the estimation of those who have carefully studied it. Not only musicians, but all those who are ready to acknowledge marked superiority, have recognized its unsurpassed quality and voluntarily paid it its just and deserved praise. This result has been accomplished because the Mason & Risch is a wonderful and original creation, imitating no other piano, but possessing many features entirely its own.

Since their great triumph of 1873, when Mason & Risch pianos were awarded two diplomas and a gold medal at Toronto Exhibition, it has ranked as Canada's Premier Instrument. The extraordinary growth of the Mason & Risch business can to some extent be realized by the fact that in several single months in recent years the sales have exceeded those of any year in the decade of 1890-1900. This unprecedented success carried with it not only the extension of our factory, but the necessity of an eight-story head office, a magnificent building situated at Yonge and Sherbourne streets, Toronto. In addition, branch stores have been opened in the principal cities of Canada, thereby enabling the purchaser of a Mason & Risch piano to receive courteous treatment direct from the Mason & Risch firm, regardless of where he is located in Canada. Purchasing a Mason & Risch piano through one of our many branch stores, the customer saves the middleman's or dealer's profit.

Among the forty thousand purchasers of the Mason & Risch piano are the names of the world's greatest musicians, artists, schools, conservatories and convents.

Numerous diplomas and medals have been received over all competitors both at home and abroad since 1871. Here is a record of a long unbroken series of brilliant triumphs. The Mason & Risch piano today is the embodiment of all that is best in the art of pianoforte construction. A few of the names of the great ones of the earth—musicians—who have written to us in a complimentary strain, after having examined our pianos, are Liszt, world's greatest composer; Arthur Schnitzler, Orville Harbord, Giuseppe Campanari, Madame Marsella, Sembrich, Joseph Sheehan, Herbert Sachs-Hirsch, Arturo Tibaldi, Madame Charlotte Maconda, Walter Damrosch, David Bispham, Madame Yvonne de Treville, Dan Beddoe, Nahan Franko, Marie Dressler, Madame Rosa Oblitzka, Mediana, Johnna, Gadecki, Madame Lillian Nordica, Alice Neilson, Mary Hallock, Albert Spaulding, Dr. Fery Lukic.

In addition to having agencies in every town in Canada the firm own and operate the following branch warehouses from which customers may purchase Mason & Risch pianos and phonographs—direct from factory to home—shorn of the middleman's profit, and convenient terms of payment may be arranged upon any instrument sold by this house.

Duplicates of the instruments sold Loew's Theatre are now upon exhibition at the firm's London warehouses, 248 Dundas street, where Mr. Thomas Mitchell, the well-known blind concert pianist, Saturday afternoon and evening, will be glad to demonstrate their wonderful tone to any interested parties.

NEW USES FOUND FOR WINE GRAPES

California To Supplant Fruit From Abroad With Own Product.

Washington, Feb. 13.—Grapes from the wine sections of California are likely to find a number of outlets never thought of while the making and selling of wine was permitted in the United States. Several such outlets were indicated by experiences during the vintage of 1919, according to the specialists of the United States department of agriculture who recently visited the wine grape regions.

The problem, however, is still a big one. Not only are uses and markets to be found for the product of 175,000 acres of wine vineyards, but for the considerable portions of table and raisin varieties that formerly were made into brandy.

The leading variety of raisin grape, Alexandria, usually has a heavy second crop, which matures too late for drying, and this was formerly used in brandy-making. Of the leading shipping grape, the Flame Tokay, only the best clusters are usually shipped for table purposes, and the inferior clusters were converted into brandy. Now other markets must be found for the culls of raisin and table grapes.

During the past season there was a very heavy demand at high prices for anything that could be called grapes. Only a few growers, therefore, attempted experiments in finding new uses, and these few experiments were incomplete, but they indicate probably satisfactory results when they are more fully tried.

Many Shipments to East.—At least 4,000 cars of fresh wine grapes were shipped into the eastern states and made into so-called non-alcoholic wines and grape syrup. A large gallonage of unfermented juices was made a large percentage being pasteurized and put up in 50-gallon barrels. Much of this has already been shipped east.

Considerable work was done in sun-drying and dehydrating wine grapes, and the product found a ready market at prices much higher than those paid for raisins.

Important grape varieties that have been imported and tested by the United States department of agriculture have paved the way for some new features of the grape industry. Among them are a number of varieties of shipping and storage grapes that are considered superior in every way to the varieties heretofore grown in this country. Some of them ripen at the same time as varieties now grown, some earlier and some later, thus offering the opportunity for greatly extending the grape marketing and consuming season.

In addition a much larger demand for table grapes can be created than has existed up to this time, because the new varieties have superior eating qualities. One of these is annually imported from Europe in considerable quantities in the late winter, and sold at high prices. It thrives so well in California that it could be sold at prices considerably under those of the imported product and still net the grower a good profit.

The work of the department of agriculture has shown also how to fruit the Ohanes, the best keeping variety of all storage grapes. This should make it possible, with California-grown Ohanes packed in redwood sawdust, to supplant large importations of Ohanes and other Almerian grapes packed in cork dust.

The department of agriculture has also demonstrated that currant grapes can be grown in this country by grafting on resistant stocks and girdling the vines while they are in bloom. From 4,000 to 8,500 acres of these grapes would be needed to produce the 34,000,000 pounds of dried currants imported annually during the decade previous to the war. In some districts where raisin varieties are so late in ripening that they cannot be dried, the currant varieties ripen early enough to be dried and put away before the first rains come. In districts where the raisin varieties succeed, currants, it appears probable, can be grown as an advance crop and cured and stored by the time the raisin grapes are ripe, thus furnishing a longer and more profitable period of employment for the labor that must be kept in raisin vineyards.

In the distinct dry wine districts, where many of the vineyards are on phylloxera-resistant stocks, re-grafting can be done with other varieties. If vines are not grafted too near or below the ground, where there are vineyard plantings of resistant stock they can be grafted to such varieties as are found most desirable.

THE HEATING:

which is accomplished in two ways, by direct steam radiation, concealed for the most part in the walls and different parts of the theatre, and by warmed fresh air.

THE VENTILATION:

which involves some of the most advanced ideas in theatre ventilation. The air is changed approximately every five to seven minutes; fresh air is brought from the roof of the theatre, screened, heated and propelled into the building by a complete fan system, motor driven. The same system is used during the summer months, but in place of the air being heated, it is cooled, thereby making the theatre a very enjoyable place, no matter what the temperature may be outside.

THE PLUMBING:

consisting of the latest designs in every detail. The wash basins and drinking fountains are of china, with faucets and bubblers of an improved and up-to-date type. The toilets are all earthenware, operated by seat action; the urinals are porcelain, with automatic tank supply.

THE ELECTRIC LIGHTING AND POWER WIRING:

which, in addition to the lighting of the main auditorium, includes special devices of the latest design for theatrical lighting, consisting of a modern switchboard of the Dead Front Type and Dimmer Banks for controlling the lights in the auditorium and stage, so that any part of the house can be dimmed from full-on to dark, and any scenic effect that may be wanted can be had by the operation of special devices on the stage and in the lantern booth, including stereopticon lantern and spotlights.

THE SPENCER VACUUM CLEANING SYSTEM:

which carries all dirt, debris, etc., to a receiver in the basement, where a simple device has been arranged for emptying and disposing of the matter.

THE FIRE PROTECTION:

which consists of a complete system of Automatic Sprinklers on the stage and in the dressing-rooms, and a water curtain, which prevents the fire from getting from the stage to the main auditorium. In the main auditorium, stand pipes have been installed with hose attached and the latest device in quick-opening valves.

Life Filled With Big Chances, Says Wally Reid

Star of the Lottery Man Has Taken All Sorts of Chances in His Life, But the Odds Were Against Him in His Latest Picture.

The fellow who said only one big chance came to every man had the wrong idea. Life is crammed full of big chances. Who knows but what you'll be run over by a steam roller the next time you cross the street. Columbus took a chance and discovered America. Steve Brodie took another and became a bartender. The kaiser risked his all on one throw—and look at him!

I've been taking them all my life. At eighteen I left a Montana ranch to go east and become a newspaperman. Six months later the editor took a chance and fired me. My father was glad of it. He had always wanted me to be an actor. I broke into one of the sketches in motion pictures, and here I am, riding wild horses, mixing it up with bory "extras," and otherwise jeopardizing my classic features in the interests of art.

But the other day I consider that I took the biggest chance of my life. In making the big scene for "The Lottery Man," the director suggested that I rush pell-mell through a crowd of some two thousand women "extras," all of whom had been coached beforehand to grab me, tear off my shirt, tackle me around the knees, scratch, punch, and generally ruin me in every way possible. According to the story, I'm the prize in a big marriage lottery. I've promised to marry the woman with the lucky coupon, and 300,000 of them have been sold. The mob I run through are a few of the candidates on hand to see that justice is done at the drawing. I started my mad rush, and they carried out their instructions to the letter. I finally escaped with my life, but left half my wardrobe, a portion of my left ear, and my foolish notions about the "weaker sex" behind. I'll believe all the stories about the famous Russian Women's Battalion of Death now, and Kipling, with his "female of the species is more deadly than the male" gets my vote.

Now, I'm not a poker fiend or a Wall Street speculator or strong for the ponies. But that picture has started me thinking lately about the lines of chance. Here's the general layout: As Jack Wright in the film, I've fallen in love with a pretty girl after starting this lottery. I try to have it stopped, but it's too late. So I do the next best thing. I rush out and buy up all the coupons my limited funds will allow. My devoted mother does the same. So does the girl. And a friend plunges to the extent of 50,000 tickets. But the lottery is won by a homey old maid who has exactly one money chance. Of course, I get the girl eventually, but it's only by a trick. Now, what would happen in real life?

I used to study a branch of algebra called permutations and combinations when I was in prep school that tells you how to figure all these things out. If you understand the formulae involved, you can set up any kind of a raffle you like, and you can't go wrong, because you can reckon out to the dot just how many chances you have to sell to make money. I know. I used to manage lots of them when I was a youngster.

Well, when you come to figure out what chance a single coupon in a 300,000-ticket lottery, like the one in "The Lottery Man," has of winning the prize, it sets your brain in a whirl. I used up all the stationery in our cosy little California bungalow, and the final result is up in the ten millions. So Lizzie was a pretty lucky old maid! Then there's the "lottery man's" friend, who plunged to the extent of 50,000 chances. He didn't have as much show as you'd think. About 500,000 to 1 was what I doped out for him.

The mother has about one chance in two million, and the girl—well, the picture fixes it—she doesn't have to enter into the mad scramble to win the prize. The prize comes willingly to her. So it all works out very beautifully and all according to my theory that every man has his "only girl." But the cynics will smirk and say, "That's only in the movies. Real life is different."

Perhaps. Did you even stop to analyze your chances of getting a "straight flush" in poker? According to my reckoning it's 5,260 to 1—provided all the players are gentlemen. That's the trouble with some of these wild-eyed cranks who spend half a lifetime trying to break the bank at Monte Carlo. They labor for years dopping out an unbeatable system, using all the science and higher mathematics they can stuff into their heads. Then they take all the money they can scrape together and risk it on the roulette wheels or other games of chance, playing this private, patented system of theirs. One in ten thousand beats the game consistently. Even in his case, it's not the system; it's dumb luck.

Don't you suppose the canny owners of those Palaces of Chance at Monte Carlo have figured out ahead of time just what possibility there is of a player sending them to the poorhouse? All they need is pencil and paper and two formulae. That's what eventually passed laws forbidding lotteries, you know. The people running the game had all the better of it, and the folks who bought tickets had about as much chance as the kaiser has of getting a testimonial dinner from the American Legion.

They used to be quite the rage. States would run them to get funds for buying land or making improvements. The Louisiana Lottery has a place in all the history books. Even the scientific colleges considered it a perfectly legitimate means of raising money. Princeton University engineered a famous one, and many of her graduates—ministers included—can thank the chance-taking instinct of the American people for their education. But when it comes to marriage—

The poets and fiction writers tell us that there is "the one girl in the world" to be on the job and recognize her when she comes along. I'm inclined to string along with them. I'm prejudiced. I've found her, and we're very happy together. But I won't deny that you can discover a number of folks—married ones among them—who will tell you that the "one girl" idea is all bunk. They say it's purely a matter of chance, propinquity, and moonlight, and any man can get along swimmingly as the husband of any reasonably nice girl. That idea, in my opinion, is the reason why divorce lawyers own limousines and Reno is big city.

The way it works out in "The Lottery Man" is exactly true to life. A young man makes all sorts of rash statements about "marriage is a lottery." "I love them all," and "any pretty girl is good enough for me." Then "she" comes along, and, just like Jack Wright in the picture, he overthrows all his previous notions in one fell swoop and rushes out to win that lady or bust! And it doesn't make much difference to him whether she's light or dark, rich or penniless, a likely candidate for Mr. Ziegfeld's Polles or as homely as Sis Hopkins. That's one thing that can't be figured out by higher mathematics. The wise pros. can tell you all about poker and lotteries and Monte Carlo. But when it comes to love, every man is "on his own," and the heart, not the head, is the best little guide. I've been successfully through it, and I know.

IMPORTED GLASS FOR NEW LOEW THEATRE

All the leaded and plate glass installed in the new theatre was supplied from Hobbs Manufacturing Company, Limited, and imported direct from Belgium.

The leaded glass, as supplied, is of special design, and Architect Lamb of New York City made special designs to carry out the general color scheme of the theatre, which work was executed here in London.

MAKING THE BABY LAUGH SOME JOB

Making the baby laugh is no easy task for a director of motion pictures. Youngsters that seem to fairly bubble with merriment will frequently turn the most stolid stoics when the lights are turned on and the camera man is ready to turn his crank. Then it is up to the director to make the baby laugh.

Fred Niblo, my husband and director, was formerly a monopolist in vaudeville and earned the reputation of being one of the best laugh provokers on the American stage. There was never a grown-up on whose face he could not provoke a smile. But when it comes to making babies laugh before the camera, Mr. Niblo says it is the hardest work of his acting career. They have no appreciation of the old mother-in-law gag and don't catch the "why did the chicken cross the street" stuff. My new Paramount picture, Mr. Niblo had an especially stoical baby and was compelled to resort to all kinds of monkeyshines to provoke a laugh; a string and a bunch of sleigh bells he resorted to from the prop room would not please the child.

It's a funny thing about these babies. You pick one that smiles all over its face and think life is going to be one continuous joy during the photographing of the picture, then the little youngster will get on his dignity and his funnybone becomes as calloused as the conscience of a Paris Anache. Mr. Niblo has done everything to standing on his head to provoke a laugh and failed.

Woe unto the comedian that would try to make a hit with an audience of babies. Then here is the reverse. You may pick a baby with an especially sober mien for a scene, and the now-city of filmland will delight him. He great hopes were crushed to earth. The youngster set up a howl—that was the way it was used to getting what it wanted. He must have been making a baby laugh but you are somewhat up against it to make a surging baby look sad, without resorting to methods that would be cruel.

Mr. Niblo had a bright idea recently when he thought he would get some colored stick candy to spring suddenly on the infant. He was sure that a ment and some hot ashes fell from his pipe on his hand. He howled with pain. That stubborn youngster just laughed right out loud and the camera men were so surprised they didn't turn the crank. But Mr. Niblo had discovered the child's weakness and by letting a property man pound him over the head with a stuffed club he got one of the best laughs you ever saw on a youngster's face.

But you may be sure that the one thing in a continuity that is going to send a chill down the back of a director, is the notation, "make the baby laugh".

MISS D'ARMOND ON HOW TO SECURE AND
KEEP A COMPLEXION

Pointers From Pretty Star
Who Will Be At Loew's—
Next Week.

Have you begun to wonder what has become of the girl who is petite and dainty and sweet, who is not an undulating giantess of snaky figure, but who represents lovely sturdiness of a kind that has charmed and will charm through all the ages?

Does this present-day fad of making yourself over to be something the realist-poster-cubist school and its descendants dream after a Scotch woodcock, plus a Welsh rabbit, leave your despairing lest the girl-real girl be going out of style, and the dreaded "something-just-as-good" be coming in to take her place?

Be of good cheer. "Girl-real girl" exists, in spite of all the cut-off-the-same-pattern evidence to the contrary. She exists, for I have seen and talked to her. Isabelle D'Armond, one of the charming lights of vaudeville, is petite and dainty and sweet, and very, very clever—clever enough to understand her type and not depart therefrom, and sweet enough to flit through your brain to the tune of the dear old refrain.

"Dainty, little, dimpled darling. Fairer than the new-blown rose, Pure and modest as the buds of spring-time. Sweetest flower that blows; Lighter like the softest music. Hazy, smiling eyes of blue— Ah, to know you is to love you, sweetheart."

Miss D'Armond's Method. All of which applies to dainty Miss D'Armond, except that her eyes are softly brown, with the pure blue whites that betoken clear, sane, good health. Even under her make-up, Miss D'Armond's skin showed clear and demurely, her facial contours were firm and rounded, with no sagging lines at chin or throat or eyes. No athlete in the prime of condition ever had firmer flesh and more satin skin. And this is not the result of chance, for Miss D'Armond knows just how to achieve these results.

"I don't believe in soap, or even water, for the face," said she. "Water makes wrinkles, especially when its use is followed by that of a linen or damask towel. I use a bath towel to dry my face when I wash it once a week. Are you shocked at that? Please don't be, for I am sure I keep my face clean. Cold cream and plenty of it—that's my means for cleansing and keeping the flesh firm; and then I always rub up—up under the chin, up from the sagging wrinkles that like to cut a path from nostril to lip-corners, and up under the eyes with light strokes. Cold cream packed firmly under the eyes at night keeps away the tiny network of wrinkles that it is so hard to avoid. And tiny strips of court plaster at the outer corners of the eyes and across the furrows that come between the brows, smooth them out. "And now, listen to the party I have with myself once a week: On Sundays, generally, I wash my face, and it is quite a process for only one day of the week I use water on my face. First, a good washing with warm water and castle soap, then a thorough steaming, followed by a witch hazel rub; next a dash or two of cold water, and finally my old friend, cold cream again."

With Miss D'Armond's firm, satiny skin and clear facial contours to recommend her treatment, I add my endorsement for her theory; and if the girl who is too fat, or whose skin shows a tendency to sag or wrinkle, will try it, surely she will bless pretty Isabelle D'Armond as double chin and sallow skin vanish and clear skin and firm flesh take their place.

"You go abroad so much," said I, "with a London season only a few weeks ahead, tell me just how you think our girls compare with those of other countries, won't you?"

"Oh, Canadian girls are the prettiest of all," said this dainty American, with the glowing enthusiasm she brings to whatever demands her attention. "Canadian girls are well groomed, well bred and have a fine outdoor swing when they walk—that is if they walk naturally and not just a la mode. But fat threatens girls—sweets and comfort and petting and pampering do that. I am very careful about not getting fat—and I take simple precautions besides plenty of exercise in the walking line. "Let me tell you about my anti-fat methods—a glass of hot water the first thing in the morning, and then a simple breakfast beginning with acid fruit. Plenty of hot water and acid fruit keep the system clean and sweet. No potatoes, no bread—though unbuttered toast is harmless—few sweets, no fats and no water at meals—that is a diet that is not a hardship to endure. And then always stand after meals. That is not a fad—it's a fact in the thinning process. I am not recommending anything that I have not tried myself, and I am determined not to be a victim of the white woman's burden—fat."

The great brown eyes looked at me earnestly, the merry mouth was ready to tremble into its infectious little crooked smile—one of the gayest, most heart-reaching smiles I have seen—and suddenly one of dainty Isabelle D'Armond's greatest beauty secrets revealed itself to me: it is this—her unselfish interest in all that goes on around her—her genuine admiration of other women, her sweet, sane oneness with all of life.

FIND PETRIFIED CATS
BENEATH OLD FLOOR

Foughkeeps, Feb. 14.—While repairing the floor of the Academy of Music of Beacon carpenters found the bodies of two cats that had become petrified. Fifty years ago, at the time the floor was laid, the cats must have run under it. The carpenters, unknowingly, had walled them in.

They evidently had attacked each other, as one had an ear chewed off. The bodies are as hard as flint, but brittle, and no parts are missing except the chewed ear.

shades subdue the lights. To the left of the entrance and also upstairs is a smoking-room for the men.

The stage is large and equipped with the most modern appliances, which make it the equal of any on the continent. The drops are numerous and beautifully painted. They are operated by a multitude of ropes, and the heaviest can be raised or lowered by one man working with one hand—an operation usually requiring the work of three men. The lighting is controlled by a dimmer, a huge machine weighing nearly one thousand pounds. By this machine it is possible to secure 140 different degrees of light.

Another outstanding feature of the stage is the passage that runs across the width of it, and which is divided by a solid brick wall from the stage. By using this passage, one is enabled to pass from one side of the stage to the other without reflections being shown on the drops. The dressing rooms for the use of the actors are located off of this passage. Nothing has been spared by the management that would add to the beauty of the playhouse. All London will be enthralled with its many wonders of beauty. A glimpse of the interior is worth the price of admission alone.

STRONG MEN MADE ON SIMPLE FARE.

The Spanish peasant works every day and dances half the night, yet eats only black bread, onion, and watermelon. The Smyrna porter eats only fruit and sour olive, yet he weighs in with his load of 100 pounds. The Roman soldiers, who built such wonderful roads and carried a weight of armor and baggage that would crush the average farmhand, lived on coarse brown bread and sour wine. They were temperate in diet and regular and constant in exercise.

KEEPING CUT FLOWERS FRESH.

Most cut flowers can be kept in good condition for several weeks by cutting off about half an inch of the stems under the surface of the water after the water is changed each day. This underwater cutting prevents little plugs of air from entering the little ducts through which the water rises in the stems, and assures a steady upward flow. A wad of wet newspaper packed into the bottom of the vase will help bulbous flowers.

Surgeon Removes
100 Lbs. Fat From Chicago Musician

Chicago, Feb. 13.—Through one of the most unusual surgical operations on record, Paul Biese, well-known musician, and one of Chicago's heaviest men, is 100 pounds lighter. The operation was performed by Dr. Max Thorck, who removed 100 pounds of skin and fat from Biese's abdomen.

"The operation was of a plastic nature," said Dr. Thorck. "It will be impossible for the excess fat to return. With its removal the skin was cut away and tightened so that fat cannot longer grow about the girth."

Biese will later have fat removed from his neck and face. He will be completely recovered in two weeks, Dr. Thorck said.

Ever lovable Billie Burke will be the screen attraction at Loew's Theatre, March 3, 5 and 10, in her latest screen release, "The Misleading Widow."

BORN WITH BULLET IN SHOULDER

Gadsden, Ala., Feb. 13.—After suffering a 22-calibre rifle bullet being imbedded in its shoulder before birth, the week-old child of Mrs. Alice Martin will live, physicians say. The mother is dead from effects of the bullet which the infant carries in its shoulder.

Mrs. Martin was handling the rifle when it was accidentally discharged, the bullet entering the abdomen. In an effort to save her life, a Caesarian operation became necessary. Mrs. Martin died two days later, but the child is in good health, and the bullet will not be removed, it is stated.

BANKER'S MISTAKE.

Lancaster, Pa., Feb. 13.—An error in writing a check by a clerk of the Peerless Building and Loan Association of Philadelphia some time ago, gave Piero Stafferi $1,400, instead of $14.90 for his five shares of stock, and Piero, highly elated at the boom market, bought a home here.

Today the loan company obtained an injunction restraining him from selling or mortgaging the house, and has filed a bill asking for the return of the overdrawn money.

WILSON DISPLEASED BECAUSE PHYSICIAN PUBLISHED DIAGRAMS

Dr. Grayson, Executive's Private Medical Adviser, Refuses To Comment On Article.

Washington, Feb. 13.—President Wilson is deeply displeased over the publishing of the diagnosis of his case, it was learned from his intimate friends today. Friends of the president declared that the publishing of the diagnosis is bound to leave a doubt in the mind of the public as to the president's future capabilities, which is entirely unfounded, and it is understood that this is the view the president takes himself.

At no time since his illness has the president been incapacitated and his friends fear that the action taken by Dr. Grayson of Baltimore may arouse new rumors which are baseless.

Published Without Consent.
The diagnosis was published without the consent of the president, which action, friends of the president said, borders on the unethical. It is known that Dr. Grayson has kept a complete history of the president's case, but it has been withheld because the president did not desire to have his ailments laid before the public.

Great interest was created here today by the copyrighted article in the Baltimore Sun, which declared that Dr. Young had announced that President Wilson's illness was due to cerebral thrombosis—a blood clot on the brain.

Grayson Is Silent.
Dr. Grayson, the president's physician, who called Dr. Young into consultation, refused to comment on the statements.

Dr. Grayson stated that he would not even look at Dr. Young's statement. There was no denial of Dr. Young's statement, but it was learned that he had sought to revise his interview, but found that it had been published.

TUNGSTEN IN CHINA IS FREE FOR ASKING

Large Deposits Are Reported
As Going To Waste in Many Districts.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—Ambitious Americans desiring to become owners of tungsten mines without paying anything for them may do so by going to China, according to advice received by the department of commerce from Vice-Consul Chas. E. Kline at Shanghai.

According to his report, at the present time, with few exceptions, the mines are not owned by private companies or by the government, and anyone may employ men to work them. The discovery of tungsten mines in China has been recent. The principal districts in which the mineral is found are the provinces of Hunan, in the northern part of China in Hangchow and its vicinity, Nankangshien, Taiyu, Kaiyung, Heifung, Luking and Chukiang districts. The districts mentioned above are only those in which operations are now being carried on, there being other large areas in which tungsten deposits are found, which have not as yet been opened.

Mined By Farmers.
Chinese tungsten in the form of wolframite occurs either as sands or pebbles in the streams or in small veins in the granite rocks. The former deposits are sometimes accompanied by cassiterite or magnetite, or both, usually mixed with quartz sands, the latter in the form of veins ranging in thickness from a fraction of an inch to two or three inches.

Although both kinds of deposits are found in many widely scattered regions, they are never found in any particular area. For this reason and also because the industry is of very recent origin in China, no modern scientific methods have been made to explore this field.

Industry Growing.
The principal method of mining is the use of rakes, tongs and pans, which are used for washing the stream ore, and sometimes black powder is used for extracting the valuable content of the ore.

With the exception of a few places in Hunan and Kwangtung, nearly all the mining is carried on by farmers who work during their spare time after the farming work is completed. But during the early part of 1918 the industry had grown to such an extent that many farmers suspended their farm work and devoted themselves entirely to tungsten mining.

The concentrates offered on the market are rather impure and usually have to be reconstructed for export purposes. The farmers take their concentrates to the local market, where they dispose of them to local dealers at the best price obtainable.

Hurry To Export.
The local dealers, in turn, sell them to licensed collectors from the ports. The port dealer has to pay a tax to the government, and after shipping the concentrates to his own port, he is under obligation to export them within a certain period, usually three months.

According to the statistical abstracts of the year 1918, as prepared by the Chinese maritime customs, the total exports of tungsten ore amounted to 10,365 short tons. However, the total production for the year 1918 exceeded this figure, there being large quantities left in the mining districts which could not be sold owing to cessation of hostilities in Europe.

Wart Higher Price.
The working of the deposits continued until February, 1919, when the operators saw that the returns would not even pay their workmen. It is stated that the mining operations cannot be resumed unless the market price is high enough to pay each workman 20 taels per day for his labor.

The market prices since the outbreak of the war were as follows: Wartime prices 800 to 1,000 taels per ton; November, 1918 to January, 1919, 500 taels per ton; from January, 1919 to August, 1919, there was no market in Shanghai or Hongkong; only a few transactions having taken place in Canton and Swatow at prices varying from 350 to 500 taels per ton.

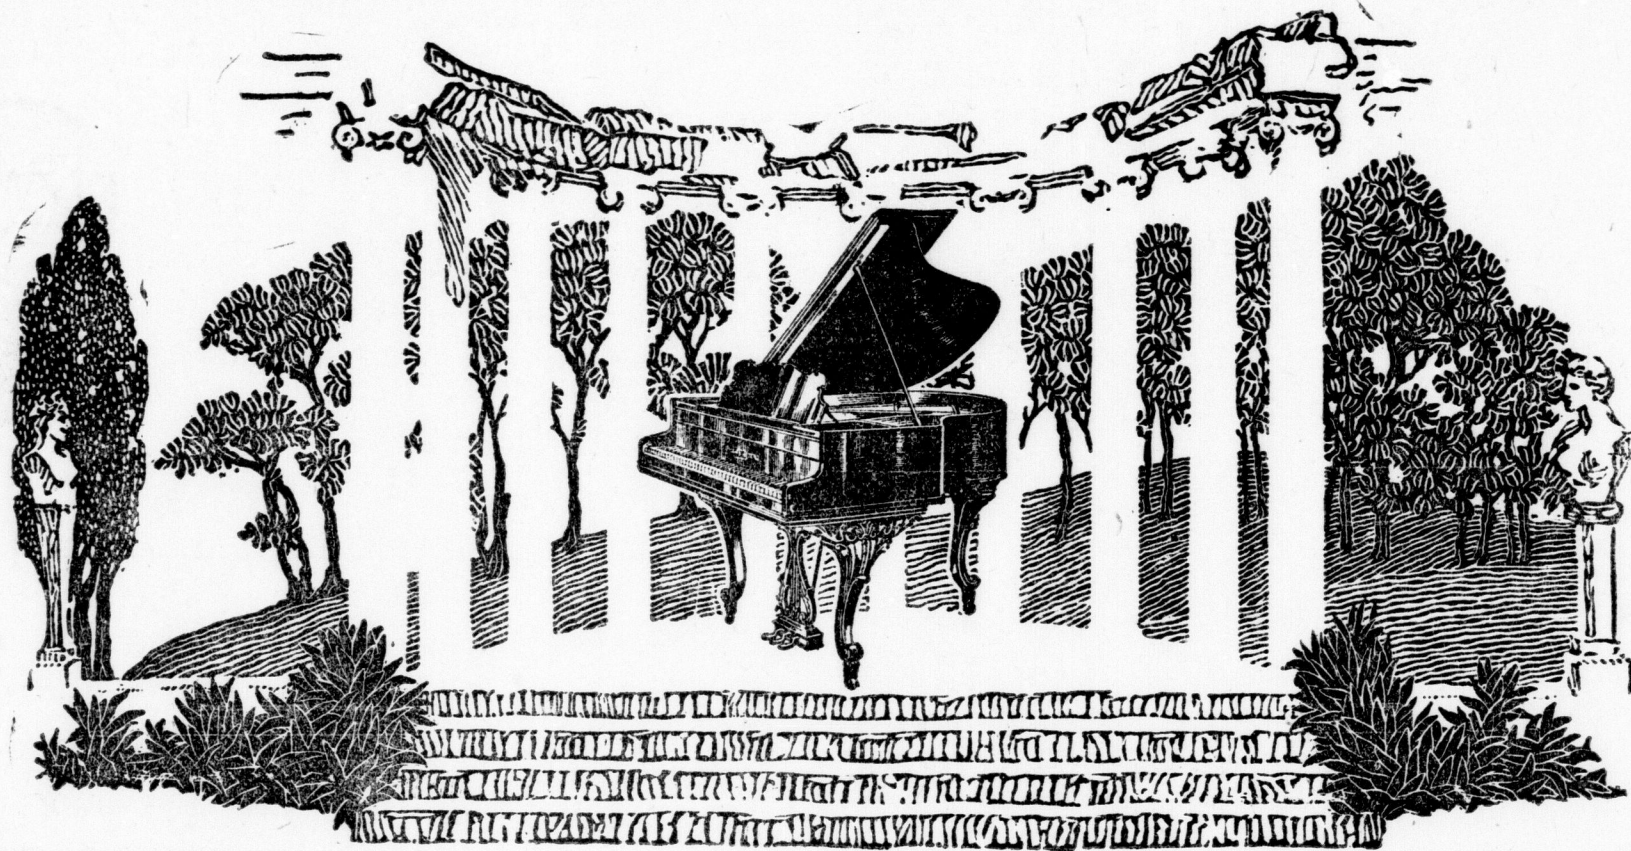

MULES BREAK COASTING RECORD; SLIDE 500 FEET

Chillitheo, Feb. 12.—A record was made in local coasting annals when Jeff and Jerry, two draft mules owned by a local wholesale grocery firm, tobogganed 500 feet down an icy hill road.

The Ross County Tuberculosis Sanatorium on Bellview hill, west of Chillitheo, was running short of provisions, because delivery wagons were unable to make the trip up the ice-covered road.

A driver for the firm said that Jeff and Jerry, the trusty mules, could make the ascent. Midway up the slope they began to slide, and to keep the wagon and its contents from going over the bank the driver unharnessed the mules.

Jeff and Jerry sat down and slid to the bottom of the hill. A horse on the top near by decided to imitate the mules, but slid into a fence.

ADIRONDACKS TRIED AS BLUE FOX FARM

Wet and Cold Weather Kills
Two Litters Raised in Captivity.

KEESEVILLE, N.Y., Feb. 12.—The blue fox, which in beauty of fur is one of the richly endowed members of the fox family, is a native of the Pribilof Islands in the Bering Sea, near Alaska. It is not really blue, as blue is usually pictured in the mind, but a delicate slate-grey—a color which is much prized among furriers and gives the pelts a high value. Ordinary prices for blue fox skins range from $40 to $60, while those that are extra prime and carefully handled bring considerably more.

The opportunities for profit in the domestication of blue foxes have led to the establishment within recent years of blue fox fur farms on a number of small islands of the coast of Alaska, and also on the mainland. The islands form excellent natural locations for blue fox farms for various reasons. In the first place there is no large outlay necessary for fencing, as the islands are surrounded by the sea, and since the water does not freeze over in the winter the foxes cannot escape to the mainland.

Feed on Sea Life.
Furthermore, a considerable amount of food for the foxes may be obtained from the sea—food which is largely well-supplied, such as crabs, fish along the shore, and fish washed up on the beach. Other natural food is also found on the islands.

Under favorable conditions blue foxes thrive and multiply in captivity, and can be raised with rather more satisfaction than the other species of foxes, as they are more tractable and easily managed.

Artificial dens for hiding places should be provided, in which the foxes may remain secluded at will. The usual food given them includes fresh, dried and cured horse meat, cooked cornmeal and middlings, mush, fish and canned salmon.

They breed once a year, the young being born about the end of May.

The litter comprises from three to ten cubs. It has been found wise practice to provide food more abundantly from June to August, as during that period the care of their young makes it necessary for the old foxes to be better fed than at other times.

Raise Foxes in East.
In order to try the feasibility of raising blue foxes under eastern conditions, ten of the animals were brought from the Pribilof Islands to the experimental fur farm maintained by the United States biological survey near Keeseville, Essex County, New York. For the most part the animals have done well, although for several years they refused to breed.

Last spring, however, for the first time, one pair had a litter of ten, and another had six. Owing to the very wet weather prevalent in May, one of the litter of ten were drowned and others were so drenched that they died of pneumonia, although they were brought into the house and every effort made to raise them.

For protection the other litter was placed in a woodchuck's hole in the ground, but the weather was so very cold and damp that they too, died of cold. An attempt was then made to bring them up in milk in the house, but they finally all died of ophthalmia, a disease of the eyes resulting from the cold and from the wet dirt getting into their eyes when just opening.

However, Harold W. Fugh, superintendent of the experimental farm, is not discouraged, and is expecting another shipment of blue foxes.

HUGE DRYGOODS COMBINE FORMED

Capitalization of $750,000—

Officers.

Richmond, Va., Feb. 12.—Formation of a great mercantile corporation, planned to be capitalized at three-quarters of a billion dollars, was announced here today by officers of the Southern Wholesale Drygoods Association. The combination is said to have purchased within the past few weeks approximately 1,000 stores.

Holdings of the corporation were announced by the Southern Wholesale Drygoods Association, which includes the Montgomery-Ward Company, the United Candy Company, and the Meridian-Dunlop Company.

George J. Wheeling, of the United Cigar Stores, the United Stores Corporation of New York, and James B. Duke, of the American Tobacco Company, are said to be the backers of the new corporation, for which an application for a charter with an initial capitalization of $750,000,000 has been filed in Delaware.

In addition to the numerous retail stores, it was said the corporation had acquired a number of well-known textile mills, the names of which were not announced.

EVANGELIST CALLS ARMY "RIFFRAFF"

Lancaster, Pa., Clergymen
End Rev. H. V. Stough's Contract.

Lancaster, Pa., Feb. 12.—Rev. H. V. Stough, of Winston, Ill., an evangelist, who is accused of having declared in one of his sermons that many men of the American army were "riffraff" and "scum and riffraff," left here today after being relieved of his four weeks' contract in an evangelizing tour of co-operating clergymen. Local clergymen men forced the issue, as they took exception to the following remarks attributed to the evangelist:

"When the draft law came into operation every class of society from the best homes in America, through all grades of society, down to the riffraff and the scum were included. In the name of patriotism Christian parents permitted their girls to dance in the arms of these men because they wore the khaki, not realizing that khaki does not change character."

Rev. Mr. Stough acknowledged making the statement to a committee of the local American Legion post. He said it was ill-timed, and made an apology for it. He declared his heart was loyal to the flag and the nation.

HUSBANDS IN THE WAY

Dallas, Tex., Feb. 12.—The woman's point of view in the matter of present day tendencies to shorten the working week was presented by a widow in court in connection with a matrimonial suit. She said she had broken her engagement to marry the man concerned in the case on the ground that he was a coal miner. "He would only be at his work 30 hours a week," she said, "and I was afraid he would be in my way the rest of the time."

RAILWAYMEN AGREE TO CONSIDER PLAN PROPOSED BY WILSON

Brotherhood Representatives
Mum As To Offer.

FOR JUSTICE TO ALL
President Believed To Have Refused General Increase
With Counter Proposal.

NEGOTIATIONS SUSPENDED.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—Negotiations of the union railroad employees for wage increases have been practically suspended until the railroad properties return to the hands of their owners March 1. It is likely that the union will send to President Wilson tomorrow their reply to President Wilson's statement made to railroad labor representatives this morning.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 13.—President Wilson today made a proposal to the representatives of the railroad brotherhoods for a settlement of their wage demands, and the men agreed to give it consideration.

Secretary Tumulty declined to say whether the president had refused specifically the wage demands, saying that "everyone wants to settle the strike," and that the brotherhood chiefs should have an opportunity to consider the president's suggestion or proposal without outside interference.

DETROIT, Feb. 13.—Any proposal President Wilson has made to representatives of the railroad brotherhoods in an effort to adjust their wage demands will receive "earnest consideration" by officers of the United Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees and Shop Laborers, President Allen Barker said today.

expected to issue a statement later in the day.

Meantime there was no intimation whether the president had offered a substitute for an increase in wages in the nature of a continuation of the fight on the high cost of living, or whether he asked the workers to delay pressing their demands until the railroad was returned to the private owners on March 1.

Wilson Read Statement.
Besides Mr. Jewell and Mr. Shea, E. J. Manion, president of the Order of the White House, and read a statement which he had prepared after a study of the report on the wage negotiations presented to him by Director-General Walker D. Hines. The conference lasted about fifteen minutes. The president was in his wheel-chair.

Mr. Shea immediately notified the other union officials who have been conferring with Director-General Hines, advising them to call a conference to consider the president's statement. He indicated that the conference would be continued tomorrow. He said there was no disposition on the part of the union men to act hastily, and that they desired to make a complete examination of the president's statement before reaching a decision.

The president's proposal, whatever it was, was not expected to stay the strike of the maintenance of way employees called for next Tuesday.

The president's statement, the Government's policy was "based on justice to the union leaders," the Director-General Hines at the last conference with them. Mr. Hines was understood to have told the men that with the return of the roads to private control under the railroad bill, an impartial tribunal for consideration of their demands would be created.

It is believed Mr. Hines suggested to the president that if an increase in pay were granted the men the roads would seek an increase in freight rates, which would mean increased cost of living. This argument was presented to the union leaders on several occasions by the director-general. It was said at the railroad administration office, inasmuch as the union are strongly pressing for a reduction in living costs, officials said there was reason to believe that the president had employed this in his answer to the union spokesmen.

Decision Unalterable.
The president's decision was declared to be "unalterable."

He said the Government's policy was "based on justice to all interests." Officials at the White House said it was "a decision containing a proposal."

From this it was assumed that the president had refused to grant general wage increases, but had made a counter proposal to the men.

Secretary Tumulty declined to say whether the president had refused specifically the wage demands, saying that "everyone wants to settle the strike," and that the brotherhood chiefs should have an opportunity to consider the president's suggestion or proposal without outside interference.

DETROIT, Feb. 13.—Any proposal President Wilson has made to representatives of the railroad brotherhoods in an effort to adjust their wage demands will receive "earnest consideration" by officers of the United Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees and Shop Laborers, President Allen Barker said today.

Blind Man's Mite Spurs Workers To Greater Effort

Forward Movement Campaign in Brantford is Given Impetus.

BRANTFORD, Feb. 13.—Is there a larger subscription in the whole Canadian campaign than the gift by Wellington Street Methodist workers yesterday by an old blind man who supports his blind wife by peddling butter-milk who gave from his small store the sum of $25?

This old man's "mite" gave a new face to the whole canvass. Wellington street workers made a strong effort to reach as many persons as possible yesterday and with this $25 as a spear-head to their attack they reached the $7,000 in their $50,000 campaign. The remainder is easily within sight. All denominations reported today that they would go over the top.

SAYS ACCIDENT AT IROQUOIS FALLS HAS BEEN EXAGGERATED

TORONTO, Feb. 13.—The following dispatch was received from R. A. McMunn of the Abitibi Pulp and Paper Company, Limited, Iroquois Falls, this evening by the Canadian Press in answer to a query as to the mill incident at Iroquois Falls.

"Replying to your telegram, reports of mill accident have been greatly exaggerated. The facts are that in removing a portion of the cofferdam from the front of the sluice gate, a section of the cofferdam became caught in the sluice gate, kinking the gate and drowning four men. The plant production is only partially reduced, and full production will be reached by Tuesday night or Wednesday morning, as repairs are already under way."

About Your Own Vigor Sent Free To Men

MR. READER:

There is something I have to offer you absolutely for nothing. It is a little private book of special information about the legitimate uses and unusual abuses of many vigor, about the preservation of many strength, and its possible loss. It is a pocket compendium of 12 pages, and is worth $2.00. I am very pleased to send it to you absolutely free of charge, in a plain, sealed envelope, if you are young or elderly, single or married, for it.

Over a million of these books have been thus sent in application all over the world, and my free offer first appeared. Publishers are charged as much as $2 for books on sex subjects while 2 books of "Vitality" are sent free.

Therefore, reader, if you would like a great fund of inside information, stating directly to the subject of many vigor, all put in perfectly plain, easy-to-read language, with many hints that you can surely apply to your own self, no matter how strong you may be, or how nervous or run-down you may have been, then know the facts about this particular subject, then to you without a single word, then fill in the coupon below, send it to me and receive my book, sealed, by return mail. In one part of this little publication I describe a mechanical extension of my own, which I call the SANDEN Vitalizer, something which you will find as an aid to the restoration of lost or wanting strength; but you are not asked to get one of these appliances unless you decide for yourself that you want one.

The book is complete, and there is nothing you are wanted to buy or pay, either now or in the future. Therefore, please send your name and address today. SANDEN, Author.

MR. SANDEN: The quality which rules the world today, the friend there never was, is in the sphere of the human race when real sturdy methods, mostly clear and simple, are counted for as much as they do now. This free minute, no matter what your name, whether you are 50 or 80 you must be either active in the race or out of it. It is, undoubtedly the fellow who passes up the strongest in the human strength, and it is the fellow who, while he is strong, is also the fellow who is in most demand and most sought after by women and men in his community. Always be sure he realizes that mechanical interests in fitness, which only an abundant vigor and mental health can excite. I believe the only way to get a complete picture of the human strength of man's strength, no matter what his past fitness may have been, is to read the book I am offering you.

As to the SANDEN Vitalizer, previously mentioned, will say it is a little mechanical appliance, weighing but a few ounces, which you wear at night. This Vitalizer generates and sends forth a certain soft, penetrating force which I call Vitality. It apparently drives this Vitality into your nerves, blood, muscles and organs as you sleep. It is acting on the nervous system—or, at least, so users say. Men write that it takes pain out of the back and restores vitality in 10 days. Remember, the general information of the free book is independent of this Vitalizer, and you are not expected to get one of these little appliances unless you want to. You can write me later as to that. If you are desirous of special attachments, my Vitalizer is used by women as well as men for rheumatism, kidney, liver, stomach, bladder disorders, etc. If you live in or near this city, I should be most pleased to have you call in person at my office, where you may see and test the very machine of the Vitalizer free of charge. Satisfaction guaranteed in every case. Or, if inconvenient to call, do not fail to write for the free booklet.

TO GET FREE BOOK PLEASE USE COUPON

POSTER DENIES THAT DRURY HAD SOLDIERS ARRESTED IN 1916

Milton, Ont., Feb. 13.—Posters were prominently posted in this town today, headed "A False Report" denying a statement which had been made supposedly in the interest of Edward J. Stephenson, the returned soldier, who is opposing Premier E. C. Drury in the election, to the effect that in 1916 when the 76th Battalion were in training at Barrie, Mr. Drury had two members of the battalion arrested for trespassing on his farm. The denial, as given in the posters, is from the statement of Judge Vance of Barrie. The Great War Veterans' Association

HE COULD HARDLY WALK TO HIS WORK

TILL HE USED DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Now Stating That He Is Completely Cured, John Richard Recommends All Sufferers from Rheumatism To Use the Dodd's Remedies.

Ringwood, Ont., Feb. 13.—(Special).—After being crippled with Rheumatism so that he could hardly walk to his work, Mr. John Richard, a well-known resident of this place, says he is again as well as ever he was in his life. He states that the credit for his cure goes to Dodd's Kidney Pills and Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

"I suffered greatly from Rheumatism and Lumbago," Mr. Richard says, in telling his story. "I had cramps in my muscles and specks before my eyes."

"I was so bad with Rheumatism I could hardly walk to my work."

"I took six boxes each of Dodd's Kidney Pills and Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, and they cured me completely."

"I recommend Dodd's remedies to all who suffer."

Dodd's Kidney Pills act directly on the kidneys. By strengthening the kidneys they enable them to strain all the impurities, all the uric acid, out of the blood.

Rheumatism is caused by uric acid in the blood. Crystallizing at the joints, it causes those excruciating pains so many people know. The natural remedy is to take the uric acid out of the blood by using Dodd's Kidney Pills.

ALLIES TELL DUTCH THAT EX-KAISER IS MENACE TO PEACE

Holland Asked To Not Create Greater Trouble For World.

LONDON, Feb. 13.—The supreme council today agreed on a note to Jugoslavia regarding Rume, which it is intimating plainly, informs the Jugoslavs that some agreement must be reached soon if quiet is to be expected in the Adriatic. Premier Nitti of Italy is reported to be satisfied with the note prepared today.

Not Called to Confer.

Although M. Trumbach, the Jugoslav foreign minister, is in London, he was not called into the conference today. The council's vote will probably be handed to him tomorrow.

So far as can be ascertained the council will make no concession from the last proposal sent to the Jugoslavs.

Notes to Holland.

Notes to Holland and Germany, the former emphasizing the unanimous view of the Allies that the presence of the former German emperor in Holland is a danger to the peace of Europe and appealing to Holland not to create greater difficulties by insisting on his right of asylum, and the latter dealing with the Allied extradition demands, have been completed and will be dispatched immediately.

The council considered the question of not making public the text of the notes until replies had been received, but nothing definite was decided.

The council referred the vexing question of the non-delivery of coal by Germany, as provided in the peace treaty, to the reparations committee. It is expected that the Turkish question will be discussed tomorrow.

DIXON TELLS JURY CROWN BUILT CASE OF PAPER BRICKS

Winnipeg, Man., Feb. 13.—With a courtroom crowded to capacity, P. J. Dixon, M. L. A., charged with sedition, began a forcible address to the jury today in a strong endeavor to show that the crown case is a mere "built up case of seditious intent out of painted paper bricks," that was entirely irrelevant to the matter with which he was charged. He went to considerable length to explain another interpretation of his words during the strike than that placed upon them by the crown. He also cited various noted philosophers and expounders of opinions and policies who, because of their opinion were sentenced to death or subjected to imprisonment or other ignominy.

The Mutual Idea "Wins Out"

By C. M. Bowman

THE Ontario Mutual, now the Mutual Life Assurance Company of Canada, opened its doors half a century ago in the town of Waterloo under the control and management of the most remarkable group of men who ever attempted to organize a life assurance company in this or any other country. I use the term, "most remarkable group of men" advisedly for the following reasons:

Not one of them occupied any position of prominence in business or financial circles.

Not one of them possessed any training or experience in the intricacies of life insurance.

In addition, they organized the company and commenced doing business without a dollar of capital at a time when the business of life insurance was little understood by the people of Canada.

But this group of men in their extraordinary vision—in their deep sense of the responsibility resting upon them as trustees—and in the close and careful attention given by them to the affairs of the company, furnished the capital with which has been laid the solid foundation upon which the Mutual Life rests to-day, with its assets of over $38,000,000, all belonging to the policyholders of the company.

It may be said that "some companies achieve new business; others have new business thrust upon them."

In the latter class is the Mutual of Canada. The reputation built up during half a century is to-day drawing business like a magnet. If there was ever any doubt as to the value of life insurance the war and the plague that followed dispelled it—and business has poured in like a deluge, largely due to the fact that this conservative but up-to-date organization had the great asset of a well established reputation.

DEATH OF PIONEER MILLER.
MILWAUKEE, Feb. 13.—Death claimed a pioneer resident in the person of James Smith, who died today at the family residence, Thomas street south, after an illness of about ten days. He had been a resident of Ingersoll for upwards of sixty years. He first engaged in the milling business here about 1860, and for many years he conducted an extensive business. He was wonderfully active up to the last. He was born in Monroeville, Scotland, and came to this country when he was seven years of age. His daughters are Mrs. H. A. Wright, Kincaid John, Robert and Harry, Ingersoll, and James, of Chicago.

MUCH SUFFERING DUE TO THIN BLOOD

Rich, Red Blood Necessary to Health and Strength.

If more people knew how many ill and pains are caused by thin, watery blood a great deal of suffering would be avoided. Men and women often suffer for long periods from stomach trouble, headache, palpitation of the heart, and nervous complaints such as neurasthenia, without suspecting that anaemia or bloodlessness is the cause. The blood gives practically every part of the body, carrying oxygen and nourishment. The efficient action of every organ is directly dependent upon the quality of the nourishment it gets from the blood. If the blood is thin it becomes weak in nourishment and health fails. The best way to keep the blood rich and red and thus enjoy good health is through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. At the first sign of weakness, these pills should be taken and good robust health will soon follow. The statement of Mrs. J. J. Murray, Corborton, Ont., shows the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in cases of this kind. She says: "A few years ago my daughter, Lillie, was in a very badly rundown condition. She was pale, thin, and scarcely able to go about. The least exertion made her heart palpitate so violently that we were actually afraid one of these spells might carry her off. She slept so badly that often she would lie awake until morning. Treatment did not seem to help her and we were almost in despair when a friend advised the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. A few weeks' use of this medicine showed a decided improvement, and a further use of the pills fully restored her to health, and she has since been a strong, healthy girl. Some time later I was taken ill myself, being badly rundown from household care. A doctor was called in, but his medicine did not seem to bring back my strength, and remembering what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills had done for my daughter, I decided to drop the doctor's medicine and try them. The results that followed were like those in my daughter's case, and through the use of the pills, I was soon a well woman. I am glad to give my experience in the hope that some other sufferer may find the way to health."
You can procure Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine, or they will be sent you by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing direct to The Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

RANEY SCORES BETTING HOUSES, LIBERTY LEAGUE

Drury Also Terms Opposing Efforts As Cowardly Campaign.

CHALLENGES STATEMENT

Raney Takes Exception To Assertion Regarding Repressive Legislation.

MOUNT FOREST, Ont., Feb. 13.—Premier E. C. Drury and Attorney-General W. E. Raney had a busy time here today. This afternoon they were guests at a non-political luncheon given by the Mount Forest Board of Trade.

Both spoke thereat.
Tonight the two ministers addressed about 1,000 people in the town hall. Their reception throughout the day was exceedingly hearty, and the gathering tonight was peculiarly a friendly one. Not only farmers attended the meeting, but many residents of the town were present.

Interest in the by-election in East Wellington is growing from day to day. Premier Drury said he believed that a deliberate campaign was being carried on to defeat Hon. Mr. Raney. The slogan of the campaigners was: "He can't be elected." The premier characterized it as a cowardly campaign.

Read League Letter.
"We know from whence it came," he declared. Hon. Mr. Drury read the letter which had been sent out by the Citizens' Liberty League, urging the defeat of the attorney-general and asking for $20,000 with which to carry the fight against him. This letter, which was first made public by Hon. Mr. Raney, was read at his opening meeting in the East Wellington election campaign, meant, according to the premier, that any money were to be used to defeat Mr. Raney in East Wellington.

Hon. Mr. Raney also referred to the Liberty League letter. He challenged the statement attributed to I. F. Hellmuth, M.C., about him, that he (Mr. Raney) was an "advocate of everything in the nature of repressive and restrictive legislation."
"If Mr. Hellmuth knew the facts he would know that such a statement was false," said the attorney-general. "If Mr. Hellmuth or any other Liberty Leaguers had taken the time to read any of the arguments I have made on this subject, and there have been several, they would know that not only was I not opposed to the thoroughbred horse or horse racing, but I have not made any arguments against betting as such," Mr. Raney said. "My opposition, professional as well as personal, was and is to the commercialization of the race track betting house business under the protection of the criminal code for the benefit of certain selected individuals who happened to have enough influence in parliament to put over that kind of legislation."

Profits of Race Tracks.
Mr. Raney dealt with the profits of the race tracks in Canada as brought out by the official investigation. He would not have brought race track matters into the election had not the Liberty League letter forced him to do so, he declared. The league had given him an opportunity of discussing with the people a national scandal.

Continuing, Mr. Raney said: "If the people want common betting houses on race tracks next door to their universities they are entitled to have it so, but I am certain that they do not want any such thing. In fact, no one in Canada wants the present system, but the beneficiaries of it."
Referring to his having been called a bigot on the temperance question, Mr. Raney declared that "he had advocated the repeal of the old liquor license system, and had been a warm advocate of the Ontario temperance act. He called attention to the overwhelming vote cast for the retention of the Ontario temperance act, as an evidence that he was not alone in his prohibition views."

"If I become the representative of East Wellington," said Mr. Raney in conclusion, "I shall be not only the attorney-general of Ontario, but I shall be the representative of East Wellington in just the same sense and with just the same responsibility that I would be if I were resident among you. I am not looking for a contest. I am anxious to avoid a contest, because we are on the eve of a session, and the labor preparing for it is very great."

FEWER DEATHS AT TORONTO FROM FLU; NURSES NEEDED YET

All Organizations Assisting in Fight, Undermanned.

TORONTO, Feb. 13.—Fourteen deaths from influenza and pneumonia were reported in this city today, as against twenty-five yesterday. The call for volunteer nurses was not so great today as it was earlier in the week, but twenty-four calls for nurses in the homes received a response of only thirteen. All the organizations of flu are undermanned and are appealing for volunteer nurses to assist in fighting the epidemic.
Hamilton had three deaths from influenza today. There were ten deaths from the disease in Hamilton yesterday. Two hundred and twenty-eight cases were reported today.
In Waterloo a death occurred today which appeared to have been the result of a citizen attending the funeral of his brother, the victim of influenza. At North Bay the doctors think that the crest of the epidemic has been passed.
Fewer cases were reported there today than for several days past.

ADVERTISING CLUB WILL DEFER ITS LADIES' NIGHT

Until Present Epidemic Shall Have Abated.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the London Advertising Club yesterday it was unanimously decided to comply with the request of the health authorities to cancel the meeting arranged for February 25 and hold the annual ladies' night on some future date when the epidemic of colds and other sickness shall have abated.

A strong committee was appointed to make arrangements for an attractive program to be staged on the club's ladies' night as the culmination of a proposed series of meetings of interest to manufacturers, retailers and consumers alike.

The following active members were appointed to co-operate on the plans: Messrs. McCallum, Philip, Spry, Muir, St. Lawrence, Biggs, Brockman, Jarman, Reid, A. M. Smith, Wenige and Yull.
The committee in charge of the on-to-Indianapolis trip to be held at the time of the annual convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World next June, reported through Chairman H. J. McCallum that already several members had signified their intention of attending, and it is expected that a large contingent will go from London to the Hoosier capital.

CHILD KILLED WHEN KICKED BY HORSE

KINGSTON, Feb. 13.—The four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Wellington Beane of the village of Yarker met a tragic death this afternoon. The youngster was in the yard with some horses. One of the animals ran close to the boy, and kicked him on the head, and he died instantly. A doctor was summoned, and on his arrival he found the mother sitting on the floor holding the body of her dead child in one arm, and her eight-months-old child in the other. Mrs. Beane was formerly Miss Lilly Scott, school teacher of this city.

PATENT YOUR INVENTIONS
An interesting and encouraging thing about these fortune producing inventions is that most of them are of ordinary or minor value in themselves. If you have a notion that you must invent a big thing to make money, get rid of it at once. Many of the Patents that have made their inventors millionaires are those which contained very few entirely new ideas. The simplest ideas have earned fortunes for their patentees. The safety razor, the sanitary drinking cup, the hump hairpin, the demountable tire rim—any of these could have been invented by a man of average ability. In your every day life, at home, at your office, in your shop you handle any number of articles that are subject to improvement. If you can think of a way of improving some article or process already in use, or if you can invent a new useful device or process or article of manufacture, you are on the road to fortune. Dennison made a fortune from a single shipping-tag. Prepare now to meet the demands of industry in All Fields for New Ideas and New Inventions. Before sending your invention to any attorney or manufacturer or disclosing your invention, write for our free blank form PROOF OF CONCEPTION in order to protect your invention and secure your rights.
WE ADVERTISE our Clients Inventions Free in INDUSTRIAL CANADA, which is the Official Magazine of the Canadian Manufacturers Association. It pays to have Shipman's Service. Ask for our new Booklet "Patent Protection".
Send Model, Sketch and description of any new inventions you have for Free Opinion as to Patentability. This Certificate of Patentability, together with our blank form "Proof of Conception" will protect the inventor and serve as proof of the invention until the case can be filed in The Patent Office.

The FRANKLIN SEDAN

The most constructive element in the automobile world today is the Franklin Sedan. It is revolutionizing car manufacturers' claims on one hand and car buyers' demands on the other.

- For eighteen years Franklin Cars have been light and flexibly built instead of heavy and rigid.
- They have been giving comfort instead of riding strain.
- They have been economical instead of wasteful.
- They have been free for all-year use instead of restricted to seasons.
- They have been direct air cooled instead of indirectly air cooled with water.
- They have been dependable in summer instead of prone to boil.
- They have been safe in winter instead of liable to freeze.

For the past five years these differences have been emphasized in particular by the Franklin Sedan—the first enclosed car, and the only one today, to afford greater road range than the average open car.

Its ability to cover distances in a day without exhausting its driver and passengers—a revelation to the owners of ordinary cars; its disregard for road conditions at every season of the year; its indifference to temperature; all unite with its exclusive Sedan features to give the Franklin Sedan the fastest growing sale of any fine enclosed car.

The Franklin Sedan is distinguished by its Wide Observation Windows giving unobstructed outlook, two Wide Doors increasing riding view and making access easy, the Slanting V-Shaped Windshield giving broadest driving vision, the Sloping French-style Hood.

With the Franklin it is easy to convince those who know other cars. Their previous experience makes them quick to grasp the differences in Franklin performance which make possible—

25 miles to the gallon of gasoline
12,500 miles to the set of tires
50% slower yearly depreciation

The more skeptical, experienced and hard-headed you are on what a motor car can do, the more pleased you will be to give you a Franklin demonstration over any road you say.

NEW YORK MARKET WEAK AT OPENING, BUT RALLIES LATER

Oils and Shippings Led Recovery and Made Substantial Gains.

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—Stocks were subjected to additional price impairment in the first hour of today's unsettled dealings, but rallied sharply later, when demand loans eased to 6 per cent, and foreign exchange dis-

It was generally assumed that the primary reason for the morning's decline was the heavy volume from out of town over the holiday. Offerings of this character were more obvious than in the past, and proceeded from greater apprehension and prospecting the attitude of the railroad board.

The rally was led by, and assumed most substantial proportions in, oils and shippings. Where extreme gains were made, the latter part of the day was the greater part of their recovery. The oil market, however, was the first to rally, and in the final hour, quotations were recorded in the stock exchange taking the form of a temporary settlement of differences between the railroad workers and the government.

As for the oil market, however, there were indications that the price of oil was being supported of a itself particularly in rails and seasons. Industrial, those issues reflecting an oversold condition.

Shorts were badly punished in General Motors and Crucible Steel, the former recovering 10 points, the latter an additional 24 points, while Crucible Steel recovered all of its 11 point decline. The same amounted to 1,375,000 shares.

CORN STRONGER IN CHICAGO; FARMERS REFUSE TO SELL

CHICAGO, Feb. 13.—Corn developed fresh strength today largely as a result of farmers' persistent refusal to sell. The market closed higher, with May, $1.22 1/2 to $1.23, and July, $1.23 1/2 to $1.24. Oats gained 3/4 to 1 1/2, and provisions the outcome ranged from 12 1/2 to 15 to advance.

Prices in the corn market showed an upward slant as soon as trading began, and the bulls were temporarily routed by speculative selling based on the prospect of new York stocks. The effect was noticeable. Reports that the small corn receipts had on the seaboard were not sufficient to check the rally.

Independent strength was shown by the oats market. Leading contracts advanced 1/2 to 3/4, and the market closed at a level which became prevalent that there would be no hard strike.

Provisions averaged lower with hogs, although it was said cash demand for hogs had improved. The grain quotations were as follows: Wheat—No. 1 northern, $2.80; No. 2 northern, $2.77; No. 3 northern, $2.74; No. 4 northern, $2.71; No. 5 northern, $2.68; No. 6 northern, $2.65; No. 7 northern, $2.62; No. 8 northern, $2.59; No. 9 northern, $2.56; No. 10 northern, $2.53; No. 11 northern, $2.50; No. 12 northern, $2.47; No. 13 northern, $2.44; No. 14 northern, $2.41; No. 15 northern, $2.38; No. 16 northern, $2.35; No. 17 northern, $2.32; No. 18 northern, $2.29; No. 19 northern, $2.26; No. 20 northern, $2.23; No. 21 northern, $2.20; No. 22 northern, $2.17; No. 23 northern, $2.14; No. 24 northern, $2.11; No. 25 northern, $2.08; No. 26 northern, $2.05; No. 27 northern, $2.02; No. 28 northern, $1.99; No. 29 northern, $1.96; No. 30 northern, $1.93; No. 31 northern, $1.90; No. 32 northern, $1.87; No. 33 northern, $1.84; No. 34 northern, $1.81; No. 35 northern, $1.78; No. 36 northern, $1.75; No. 37 northern, $1.72; No. 38 northern, $1.69; No. 39 northern, $1.66; No. 40 northern, $1.63; No. 41 northern, $1.60; No. 42 northern, $1.57; No. 43 northern, $1.54; No. 44 northern, $1.51; No. 45 northern, $1.48; No. 46 northern, $1.45; No. 47 northern, $1.42; No. 48 northern, $1.39; No. 49 northern, $1.36; No. 50 northern, $1.33; No. 51 northern, $1.30; No. 52 northern, $1.27; No. 53 northern, $1.24; No. 54 northern, $1.21; No. 55 northern, $1.18; No. 56 northern, $1.15; No. 57 northern, $1.12; No. 58 northern, $1.09; No. 59 northern, $1.06; No. 60 northern, $1.03; No. 61 northern, $1.00; No. 62 northern, $0.97; No. 63 northern, $0.94; No. 64 northern, $0.91; No. 65 northern, $0.88; No. 66 northern, $0.85; No. 67 northern, $0.82; No. 68 northern, $0.79; No. 69 northern, $0.76; No. 70 northern, $0.73; No. 71 northern, $0.70; No. 72 northern, $0.67; No. 73 northern, $0.64; No. 74 northern, $0.61; No. 75 northern, $0.58; No. 76 northern, $0.55; No. 77 northern, $0.52; No. 78 northern, $0.49; No. 79 northern, $0.46; No. 80 northern, $0.43; No. 81 northern, $0.40; No. 82 northern, $0.37; No. 83 northern, $0.34; No. 84 northern, $0.31; No. 85 northern, $0.28; No. 86 northern, $0.25; No. 87 northern, $0.22; No. 88 northern, $0.19; No. 89 northern, $0.16; No. 90 northern, $0.13; No. 91 northern, $0.10; No. 92 northern, $0.07; No. 93 northern, $0.04; No. 94 northern, $0.01; No. 95 northern, $0.00; No. 96 northern, $0.00; No. 97 northern, $0.00; No. 98 northern, $0.00; No. 99 northern, $0.00; No. 100 northern, $0.00.

CANADA OUT TO HOLD VOTE IN NATIONS LEAGUE

Ottawa Sends Renewed Urgent Representations To Imperial Authorities.

LENROOT RESERVATIONS

Strong Objection To Proposal in United States Senate As To Vote.

OTTAWA, Feb. 13.—(Canadian Press)—Renewed, urgent representations were, it is understood, made to the imperial authorities today against agreement to any peace treaty reservations which will affect the status or voting power of Canada in the League of Nations. The proposed reservations before the United States Senate are particularly in view and especially reservations proposed by Senator Lenroot.

The Lenroot resolution has been under discussion by the cabinet from time to time, and a number of compromises, it is said, have previously been forwarded to the imperial government. It is understood, however, that the meeting of the cabinet was the situation which would be created should the Lenroot resolution be adopted and decision was reached to make further representations.

Representation. Canada's right to direct representation in the assembly of the League of Nations and to be counted as a full-fledged member of the league was secured only after a long fight at the Paris peace conference. In official circles here there is the strongest objection to any modification of the League of Nations covenant, which will in any way affect Canada's status or voting power.

Remain in League. The suggestion has been made that should Canadian voting power be removed the question would have to be considered whether Canada would or would not remain a member of the league at all. This, however, is a phase of the situation which has not been officially considered.

Emphasis is laid in official circles on the point that there is no desire to interfere in matters of peculiarly American concern. While there is no official announcement to this effect it is understood that the Canadian Government in regard to the voting power has the support of the four overseas governments, likewise counted among the original members of the League of Nations. These are Australia, South Africa, New Zealand and India.

DISCUSSED AT WASHINGTON. WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—Press dispatches saying that Canada had asked Great Britain not to accept the treaty reservation reported by the Republican element in the United States Senate with regard to the voting power of the British Empire caused some discussion in Washington today, but there is no evidence that it would stir senators on the majority side to modify the reservation. The Democrats declared it would help their fight for a modification, however, while the irreconcilable opponents of ratification asserted that it would operate in the end to make acceptance of the treaty more doubtful.

Two modified drafts of the article 10 reservation to the peace treaty were laid before Republican senators today by Senator Hitchcock. Democratic opponents of the reservation declared that the Republicans found preferable. It was indicated, however, that there was little hope of either being accepted, although a formal reply was withheld until tomorrow.

CHARGE OF FIRST DEGREE MURDER FOR CHATHAM RESIDENT

Mrs. Favre in New York Court.

IS HELD WITHOUT BAIL

Says She Was Daughter of Samuel J. Sutherland, Lumber Merchant in That City.

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—Mrs. Emily Margaret Favre, formerly of Chatham, Ont., who shot and killed her 12-year-old daughter last week at their room in a hotel here, was held without bail for the grand jury today charged with murder in the first degree.

Her attorney's request that she be transferred to the tombs in a taxicab was refused, and she had to make the trip in the jail van from the Prison, where many fashionably dressed women friends have been visiting her, bringing fruit and delicacies.

Mrs. Favre told police officials that she was born in Chatham, and that her father was Samuel J. Sutherland, who was in the lumber business in that city. Fourteen years ago, she was married at Chatham to Seymour Favre of New Orleans.

He took her to New Orleans, where, two years later, her baby was born, and about the same time she was divorced from Favre. Her father left her a good income when he died, and she had also received financial help from a brother. Unsuccessful investments caused the depletion of her income, and led her to kill the little girl, intending afterward to kill herself.

SOLDIER BURIED, BUT WIFE NOT NOTIFIED

HAMILTON, Feb. 13.—Judge Snider, who is investigating charges of mistreatment of returned soldiers in the Hospital for the Insane here, said today that evidence had been produced showing that there were only thirty nurses, though fifty were needed. Among the complaints heard was that of a soldier's widow, whose husband was buried from the institution without any notice of his death having been given to her.

THE DOMINION LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY HAD AN EXCEPTION. ALLY GOOD YEAR.

The annual report of the Dominion Life Assurance Company, published elsewhere in this issue, reveals the remarkable fact that its ratio of actual to expected mortality was only 87 per cent. A saving of 62 per cent of the mortality provided for in its premiums will mean very large additions to the surplus funds of this popular Canadian company. Another remarkable feature of the report is the great increase in its new business, the policies issued and revived exceeding those of the previous year by 87 per cent. The interest rate was again high—7.4 per cent. Expenses were light in view of the large amount of business added. Reserves, too, show a splendid increase, from $3,959,391 to $4,497,783. Taken altogether the report gives evidence of 1919 having been one of the best years in the history of the Dominion Life.

LABOR IS THE SCARCEST COMMODITY ON THE MARKET

DETROIT, Feb. 13.—No man need be idle in Detroit if he is able to do a day's work, and he need not be experienced at that. Common labor is the scarcest commodity in the market, and six dollars a day is not too high a price to pay for it. By actual count of advertisements in daily newspapers today, 340 men are wanted in this city for manual labor, and there are but few to be had. Bank clerks, too, are in demand, and large financial institutions are advertising for messengers, currency clerks and junior clerks, but it is in the automobile industry that the demand is greatest. Help of every kind, particularly experienced mechanics, is needed.

CANADA IS EXERCISING GREAT CARE TO KEEP OUT INFERIOR CLASS

Many Deportations Are Reported From Dominion Ports.

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—Many immigrants are arriving daily in New York bound for Canada, and while it rests with the steamship companies to see that they get through to the border by rail, the United States authorities frequently find it necessary to make inspections and delay suspects at Ellis Island. The expense of this inspection and of escorting the Canada-bound immigrants to the border is borne by the steamship companies.

Canadian officials here today said that Canada is taking more precaution since the war than before in the matter of excluding all undesirable aliens. Agents have been sent to European ports to educate the people there upon the qualifications required to pass into the Dominion, the aim being to halt undesirable before they buy their tickets.

Attain Similar Results. Acting Commissioner Uhl, in charge of Ellis Island station, said today that similar results are now being attained by the United States regulations since the war, which require that all immigrants shall procure passports from their home governments and that these shall be viced by the American consul at port of embarkation prior to sailing.

Scores Fail to Pass. In spite, however, of every precaution on the part of the United States, scores of immigrants arrive daily who fail to pass, and deportations have been numerous since the infow of immigrants started up following the war. A great many deportations are due to failure to pass the literacy test. A dozen young women who came to New York to marry soldier sweethearts have failed in this test, but a bill now before Congress will correct that particular trouble.

There are many deportations from Canada through New York. A trainload of undesirable arrived this week from Montreal, and Ellis Island officials were asked to see that these were placed on outgoing steamers safely.

RANEY FOR HIGHER SUCCESSION DUTIES TO PROVIDE FUNDS

Tells Mount Forest Audience New Revenue Needed.

MOUNT FOREST, Feb. 13.—Speaking before the board of trade here today in connection with the campaign in the East Wellington by-election, Hon. W. B. Raney, attorney-general, made it clear that in his opinion the only method in which Ontario could increase its revenue to keep pace with expenditures was by higher succession duty laws.

"This being the situation the province must do two things," declared the attorney-general, "it must economize and it must look for new sources of revenue, because however much we may economize, the public service must be maintained and the money must be found."

Money, he said, must be found to provide for the $300,000 deficit of the University of Toronto and the Government's good roads program.
