57TH YEAR. NO. 22851 | THE LONDON ADVERTISER, LONDON, ONTARIO, TUESDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 26, 1920. 112 COLUMNS | PRICE THREE CENTS

WOMEN AND MANUFACTURERS WILL SEND PROTEST TO GOVT. OVER ACUTE HYDRO SHORTAGE

Meighen's Refusal To Stop Export of Power To the United States Brings Storm of Protest—Citizens Are Aroused Over Neglect of Their Rights by Ottawa.

Because the Meighen Government refuses to stop the export of power to the United States, although London and other Canadian cities have to curtail their lighting, forego electric heaters and experience a score of other inconveniences, women of the city have at last been aroused to action. They will be joined by the manufacturers of the city and by the Hydro-Electric Power Association in making a vigorous protest to Ottawa against the present condition of affairs.

Protests have been coming to the local public utilities commission ever since power has been restricted. These will be forwarded to the Government to show them the state of public opinion here. Other communications complaining about the present state of affairs are expected from representative women's organizations and these, too, will be sent to the Federal Government.

To Meet Soon.

A meeting of the Hydro-Electric Association will be held immediately to discuss the situation. No date has been set for the gathering. The Chamber of Commerce will act with the manufacturers in making a similar move.

The storm of indignation has been aroused as the result of the situation at Niagara Falls. The hydro system was receiving 15,000-horsepower from the Electrical Development Company under a contract which expired October 15. The development company was also supplying the United States with 18,000-horsepower under a contract which expired October 20. It refused to renew the contract with the hydro system, but renewed that with the United States.

Made an Appeal.

An appeal was made to the Dominion Government immediately. The crying necessity of more power in this part of Canada was pointed out and the commission offered to pay any reasonable price for the renewal of the contract. Although winter was coming on apace, and the people were faced with both a coal and power shortage, the Government refused to take action and permitted the company to continue the sale to a foreign country of power developed in Canada.

Citizens of all parties are thoroughly aroused over this neglect of their rights and they intend to do their utmost to bring about a change of heart on the part of the Government.

Shortage Is Felt.

Even today in London heavy power restrictions are in force because dull weather has made an added demand on the overburdened system. Street cars are running at half speed. Domestic circuits have been shut off since early morning. No light is available in many houses, where it is an absolute necessity on a dull day. The use of electric appliances is impossible except in limited hours at noon and after 6 o'clock, and this state of affairs is likely to continue unless the Dominion Government changes its attitude.

WOMEN'S VOTE BIG FACTOR IN "DRY" VICTORY

Local Temperance People Are Greatly Pleased With the Results of Referendum.

London temperance workers, without exception, today expressed entire satisfaction with the result of the temperance vote in the three prairie provinces and Nova Scotia. The difference between the result in British Columbia and in the other provinces was explained by Mrs. May R. Thornley as indicating that it was under pressure of the war that British Columbia first voted for prohibition. Now the British Columbians have reverted to their real viewpoint, which they temporarily relinquished under the stress of war necessity. The temperance forces had never been very hopeful about British Columbia. It had always been very difficult to get any temperance advance in British Columbia. But there never had been any serious doubt but that the other provinces would vote for prohibition.

Women Did It.

Mrs. Thornley thought that the women's vote had contributed largely to the result. Before the days of prohibition, it had always been considered that the enfranchisement of women would be a strong aid in securing prohibition. Foreigners without families had contributed to the victories of the anti-prohibitionists in the old days. The enfranchisement of native women threw the balance over to the side of the "dry" forces.

Prof. J. H. Bowman said the result of yesterday's vote was very gratifying. The liquor forces had not been very well organized. Now that the bars were gone he supposed they had no place to organize.

Meighen Strategy.

The temperance people rather shrewdly suspect that in bringing on the British Columbia vote first the Meighen Government hoped to influence opinion by the result in other provinces.

"The present Government, by its action in regard to Ontario, hasn't shown itself any great friend to temperance," he said. "All I can is that if the Dominion Government did seek to influence opinion by bringing on the British Columbia vote first, it got badly fooled, as the results of yesterday show."

Pretty Well Assured.

A. E. Silverwood inclined to the opinion that prohibition in Canada is now pretty well assured of permanent favor in the popular mind. He was not particularly surprised by the adverse vote in British Columbia, and on the other hand the vote was gratifying, as he expected it would be in the other provinces. He expected that Ontario would follow the example of the four dry provinces rather than that of British Columbia.

"The situation in British Columbia has always been a little different to that elsewhere," he said.

The Mayor's Opinion.

Chief of Police Robert Birrell expressed the opinion that the result of the vote in the three prairie provinces and Nova Scotia could be taken as an indication of what would probably happen in Ontario next spring. He believed beyond a doubt that the voting in the four provinces on Monday would have a greater bearing on the result in Ontario than would the turnover in British Columbia.

He pointed out that the class of people to be found in the three western provinces are practically the same as in Ontario. The steady going farmer and others of the same type spell the death warrant of liquor out west, and as this class makes up a great percentage of the population in Ontario the same result would follow here.

Mixed Population.

In British Columbia it was different, in that province there are many classes and many nationalities. The vote there could not be taken as a criterion indicating the ideals of Ontario.

"There is no doubt that Ontario will go 'bone dry' next spring," said the chief. "It will be a splendid thing too, as it will put an end to much of the illicit trade which has proven such a curse to the O. T. A. as it stands at the present time."

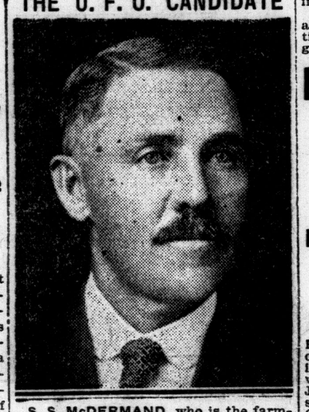

Other police officials expressed the opinion that "bone dry" legislation would be the finest thing that could happen to the province. There is a general feeling of satisfaction in police circles that the vote in the western provinces resulted in a victory for the "dry" forces.

The Chief's View.

There is not the slightest doubt that Ontario will follow the lead of the three prairie provinces and Nova Scotia by voting bone-dry next April, in the opinion of Mayor E. S. Little.

"I do not think there is any possibility that the decision of the people given on the provincial referendum will be reversed when it comes to a Dominion referendum. As out west some of the cities may favor the 'wets,' but as a whole the province will stay in the dry column."

Oil Is Reported Near Formosa

Farmer Made Strike While Drilling For a Well.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Formosa, Oct. 26.—There appears to be every indication that this district is in for an oil boom. Many farmers are leasing their land to those who wish to prospect. Most of the owners refuse flatly to consider selling. The "boom" has resulted from a discovery made by a farmer named Smith, living between Formosa and Teeswater. While drilling a well recently, when he was down 60 feet, fluid, which he believed was only dirty water, began to ooze through the ground. Later a sample was sent for analysis, and it is reported it was found to be of splendid quality.

FIFTEEN THOUSAND SOVIET PRISONERS TAKEN BY WRANGEL

Russian Reds Sustain Heavy Losses in South Russia.

Sebastopol, Crimea, Oct. 26.—Fifteen thousand Russian Bolshevik soldiers have been taken prisoner, and many cannon and large quantities of war material have been captured in raids carried out by Gen. Wrangel's army recently. An attack along the line running from Marioupol to Sineinikovo resulted in the capture of 10,000 men, and the remainder of the soviet prisoners were gathered in during rearguard actions while Gen. Wrangel's forces were being pursued by the enemy two weeks ago.

BONUS TO SHAREHOLDERS.

Montreal, Oct. 26.—The directors of the Royal Bank of Canada have declared a special bonus of 2 per cent, payable on December 15 to shareholders of record of November 30. This will make a total distribution of 14 per cent for the current year.

In speaking of the bonus, Sir Herbert Holt, president, stated that the Royal Bank had experienced the best year in its history in all departments of its business, and it was only right that the stockholders should share in the bank's prosperity.

CHARGES THAT MISS PANKHURST WROTE TO PREMIER LENINE

London, Oct. 26.—Sensational charges were made in Bow street police court today against a mysterious man of undivulged nationality who, the government attorney declared, had been acting between members of revolutionary circles in this country and the Russian revolutionalists.

The government attorney said that among letters found on the accused was one from Sylvia Pankhurst to Nikolai Lenine, premier of Soviet Russia, saying: "The situation is most acute, not ready for revolution yet." The accused declined to answer questions put to him. He was remanded for a week.

PASTOR'S SALARY HAS BECOME A PUBLIC JOKE

So Declares Walkerville Minister At the Baptist Convention.

REASONS FOR UNREST

Report On 'State of Religion' Not of Optimistic Character.

Brantford, Oct. 26.—Somewhat pessimistic was the report of "the state of religion," as submitted to the Baptist convention of Ontario and Quebec here this morning by Rev. H. McDiarmid, Walkerville. He declared that a great loss to the church had been caused by ministers leaving their charges.

"Short cuts" in training would cause many to give up their ministry in later years in disheartenment. Temperament was also responsible for unrest and with no clear cut objective in sight, a multiplicity of minor engagements would engage a pastor's time.

The individual church member has no conception of the burden placed upon a pastor's shoulders and mind. Mutual distrust would be the result of refusal to set forth undauntedly the true gospel. He paid a tribute to the noble but individual battles carried on by pastors, and urged co-operative work, advising appointment of a paid official to study religious conditions at present existing. He declared that the pastor's salary had become a public joke.

A lax system of receiving applicants for the church service existed, he said.

Rev. Joseph Janes, of Woodstock, sounded a note of encouragement and faith that the church had a future. He urged inspirational services throughout the winter for the quickening of the spiritual stronghold.

Rev. Dr. MacNeal, president, drew attention to the victory of the prohibition cause in four provinces, and the gathering rose and sang the Doxology.

DECLARES OTTAWA INSTITUTIONS NOT IN SAFE CONDITION

Dominion Fire Commissioner Appeals For Improved Equipment.

Ottawa, Oct. 26.—"I have it from Fire Chief Graham that with the exception of one or two hospitals, there is not a public institution in Ottawa which can be considered safe," declared J. Grove Smith, Dominion fire commissioner, in a speech before the Rotary Club of Ottawa yesterday.

Mr. Smith made this statement in the course of a plea to Rotarians to use their influence to obtain fire preventive equipment in local schools, hospitals, public houses and other institutions. He declared that local schools are not provided with more than a fair amount of fire safeguards, and he expressed a desire to impress upon the minds of all people the extreme advisability of helping to make fires impossible.

18-YEAR-OLD BOY SLAYS HIS FATHER

Says Parent's Treatment of Family Was Brutal.

Chicago, Oct. 26.—Emilio Nicoletti, 18 years old, son of Alex. Nicoletti, a coal dealer, shot and killed his father, while he slept last night because, Emilio said, "his brutal treatment of the family had become unbearable."

For years, according to Emilio, Alex. Nicoletti has been beating his wife, chasing her from the house and making her life miserable. As the older children grew up the father's temper became worse, the son declared. He would strike and kick them upon the slightest provocation. Day by day life in the little home became more intolerable.

Even the baby did not escape the ungovernable wrath of her father. If the child's crying disturbed Nicoletti, he would slap her. If she failed to stop he would trust her under the bed clothing to stifle her cries.

A few weeks ago, Nicoletti became enraged at his son David, 14. He chased him from the house and fired several shots at him as he ran, the children told police.

Last night he struck his wife repeatedly during one of his wrathful moods. Emilio watched him, seething inwardly. Shortly after the father went to bed, Emilio stepped softly into the room, and placed a gun to the father's temple.

JAPANESE POURING INTO SOUTH AMERICA

20,000 Coolies Contracted For in Brazil.

Buenos Aires, Oct. 26.—Japanese immigrants are flocking to the five largest republics of South America—Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Peru and Uruguay.

The Japanese colonization syndicate is delivering coolies into Brazil monthly on a contract calling for 20,000 within a specified time to work the coffee plantations of San Paulo State, where it is estimated there already are 60,000 Japanese. These mostly are of the lowest class of coolies gathered from the outlying Japanese islands.

In Peru and Chile some trades already are almost exclusively in the hands of the Japanese and coolies occupy whole sections in the Chilean nitrate ports, whence Japan has been shipping nitrate heavily three years.

This immigration has been facilitated by the recent Japanese subsidizing of two lines of Japanese steamers, one feeding Brazil from the east coast and the other from the west.

There has been a heavy increase in Japanese immigration into Argentina in the last three years, but the immigrants here are almost exclusively educated businessmen or skilled laborers.

WAS PAINFULLY INJURED.

Tavistock, Oct. 26.—Rev. A. D. Gischler, pastor of Zion Evangelical Church, was painfully injured while picking apples at the farm of W. Wagester in East Zorra. He was using an extension ladder in order to reach the top branches, when a limb broke and he fell to the ground. His wrist was dislocated and his body badly bruised.

RAILWAY BOARD NOT IN DUTY BOUND TO ACCEPT THE 'POLITE SUGGESTIONS' OF GOVERNMENT

Commissioners May or May Not Reconsider Recent Order With Respect to the Freight Rates — Not Considered Likely Administration Would Annul Order If Members of Board Declined To Amend It.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, Oct. 26.—If the railway commissioners decline to adopt the suggestions of the governor-in-council regarding the freight rates order, what is the Government to do? The general impression gathered from inquiries in semi-official circles this morning is that it can or will do very little. From indications gathered from the attitude at Winnipeg of Hon. F. P. Carvell, chairman of the board, the observations of the governor-in-council in the appeal are regarded more or less as "polite suggestions" to be adopted or not, as the board may see fit, and not in any case to involve immediate action on the board's part.

It is suggested by the governor-in-council that the board reconsider its order without having taken consideration for the needs of te Canadian Nationals. It is obviously in the discretion of the board in this respect to declare that even having no consideration for such needs, the board regards the new rates as just and reasonable. This especially in view of the fact that the governor-in-council appended to his judgment a statement purporting to show that even with the increases granted the Canadian Pacific would barely make both ends meet on operation.

The governor-in-council further suggested an early inquiry into the whole matter of discrimination. This may be taken as virtually an application and it will be for the board to set dates for such hearings, but there will be nothing immediate about that.

It, of course, is in the power of the governor-in-council, if he believes that his suggestions have been unduly disregarded, to reconsider and amend the order.

In the meantime, to all intents and purposes the action of te governor-in-council is of little avail, and its effect depends entirely on the decision of the board.

FINED FOR FAILURE TO COMPLY WITH STATISTICS ACT

Local Businessmen Disregarded Warnings Sent From Department.

Two local businessmen, Frederick Axtell, 378 Thames street, and G. M. Boyd, appearing for Gorman, Eckert Company, were fined $20 and costs in court today for failing to comply with the statistics act, which calls for a report of all business transactions during each year. The two firms neglected to return papers for the year 1919, despite several warnings from the department. The charges were laid and the prosecution was conducted by Joseph A. Schryburt, of the industrial census division, department of trades and commerce, Ottawa.

Mr. Schryburt explained to the magistrate that as his department was not a revenue collecting department, he did not wish to press for fines as much as he desired to teach delinquent merchants that they could not ignore the requests of the Government regarding a record of all business transactions during the year. He carefully explained that it had nothing to do with income, luxury, business or any other tax.

In the case of Frederick Axtell, he said that the schedule and three subsequent requests, the last of which was registered, were ignored. Through his lawyer, Axtell pleaded guilty, but an excuse was advanced which proved that there were extenuating circumstances, and the minimum amount was levied.

Mr. Boyd pleaded that there were certain parts of the form which could not possibly be filled out by his company, owing to the nature of their business. When the schedule had been sent into Ottawa without all the questions answered it had been returned as incomplete. The magistrate thought there was little excuse for ignoring the three different requests sent out by the department, but imposed the minimum penalty.

Two other cases were dismissed as the charges were withdrawn by Mr. Schryburt.

BROTHERHOOD RALLY.—The London brotherhoods will hold a rally in the Y. M. C. A. on Thursday evening, at which Rev. Dr. Peever and Rev. R. J. Campbell and other delegates to the world congress at Washington will give addresses.

300 HERE FOR W. I. CONVENTION

District Women To Consider Many Important Problems.

Delegates from all over Western Ontario have been registering at the Chamber of Commerce rooms today for the Women's Institute convention, which opened in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium this afternoon. It is thought that when the registration is complete as many as three hundred delegates will be present in the city. Among the official delegates registered are Mrs. George Edwards of Komoka, president of the Western Ontario division of the Ontario Women's Institutes; Mrs. James Patterson of Gadshill; Mrs. J. G. Davies of Thedford; Mrs. W. T. Meade of Blenheim; Mrs. A. H. Willsie of Belmont; Mrs. T. W. Sims of West Lorne; Mrs. Wood of Kerwood; Mrs. Malcolm Grey of Komoka; Mr. George Putnam of Toronto, superintendent of Women's Institutes of Ontario; Mrs. Alfred Watt, organizer of institutes in England; Miss Chapman and Miss Sutherland.

Mrs. J. H. Green of Toronto is also here for the convention with an exhibit of canned fruit and vegetables put up by Mrs. Greer and her sister, Mrs. Willard of Toronto, for the Ontario department of agriculture. These two women have for some years now been experimenting with the canning of fruit and vegetables. The work began under the stress of war-time economy, and has been continued. One great advance made has been the reduction of sugar needed by 50 per cent. Now jams and jellies are being made with 50 per cent less sugar, and it has been found that the fruit has a much better flavor when less sugar is used.

The doctor paid the fine; Lauzon was locked up.

STRAIGHT TICKET IS ELIMINATED IN N. Y. STATE

Voter Must Mark Cross Opposite Every Candidate He Favors.

OFFICIALS PREPARING

All Parties Will Make Every Effort To Bring Out Electors.

New York, Oct. 26.—By the Canadian Press.—While the several thousand candidates for various federal and state offices are devoting the last week of the election campaign to a whirlwind of oratory, election officials are busy preparing for the actual registration of the votes of Tuesday next.

A federal election in the United States is a vastly more complicated matter than a general election in Canada. In almost every district there are scores of different offices to be filled, and the United States voter who casts a ballot for each office must needs exercise a good deal of perseverance. Election day is a holiday throughout the United States, so that no voter can plead lack of time to make the various crosses. In previous elections the hard-boiled party man could avoid the toil of going through the yard or more of ballot by voting a "straight ticket," a place being provided for a cross which indicated his desire to cast his ballot for all candidates of one or other of the parties. In this election in New York and a number of other states a court ruling has made it necessary for the voter to put his cross opposite every name he wishes to vote for, and has thus eliminated this short-cut to the voter's duties.

The preparations for voting day are in charge of election superintendents and other municipal officers, and the arrangements vary according to the conditions prevailing in the various districts. In the rural districts the schoolhouses will be used as balloting places. In most of the cities stores and public buildings will be used, the arrangements in this respect being similar to those in Canadian elections.

WOMEN VOTERS ARE CAUSING ELECTION OFFICIALS TO WORRY

The participation of women voters in this election is giving the election officials a great deal of trauble.

Greater care is to be taken in the selection of polling places and provision must be made for a greatly in-

Here's a Fine State Of Affairs

Right Under the Nose of the Border Police, Too.

Windsor, Oct. 26.—That the drains and sanitary fixtures in Windsor's downtown public rest room were so badly clogged with empty whiskey flasks as to render the building useless and insanitary, was the startling information at last night's meeting of the council. For some time unknown to the council, the building has been closed because of this condition. It developed that the "rest room" has been used as a club by devotees of Bacchus, and that scores of "empties" have been left there as tokens of the joyful hours spent in the heart of the city's business district in spite of the activities of the rum sleuths.

BELGIAN BALLOON PASSES TORONTO

Pamphlet Is Found by Citizen of Queen City.

Toronto, Oct. 26.—Although owing to the clouds, it could not be seen the balloon "Belgica" of Belgium, which is taking part in the great international balloon race, passed over Toronto late yesterday. A printed greeting was dropped from the balloon and was found by A. W. Adams, at Lorne Park. The circular reads "This is a report from the balloon 'Belgica.' Lieut. Ernest Demuyter, pilot; Lieut. Mathieu Labrosse, aide, that left Birmingham, Ala., at 4:30 p.m. Saturday, October 23, in the international balloon race." It goes on to request the finder to inform the press where and when the slip is found, so that the country at large may follow the course of the balloon.

Mr. Adams has filled up the report and sent it to the Birmingham Age-Herald.

HAD THRILLING EXPERIENCE.

Windsor, Oct. 26.—(Canadian Press).—The balloon Goodyear II, one of the entries in the Gordon Bennett race, which landed near Amherstburg yesterday, is being packed ready for shipment back to Akron, Ohio. Ralph Upsom, pilot, and W. Vanorman, his companion, told a thrilling tale of hardships encountered since the start Saturday afternoon. Vanorman was completely exhausted when the balloon descended, while Upsom's nerves were considerably upset, neither of the men having had a wink of sleep since Saturday. They came down at Amherstburg because of a blinding snowstorm encountered at a height of 20,000 feet, after they had been blown across Lake Erie.

The two men are returning to Akron today and the balloon will follow by freight.

BALLOON AT PORT ROWAN.

Port Rowan, Oct. 25.—The balloon Kansas City II., which left Birmingham, Alabama, on Saturday in the international race, passed over this district this morning, about 7 o'clock, and was proceeding in a southeasterly direction.

Chicago, Oct. 26.—Army Balloon No. 1, piloted by Lieut. Richard E. Thompson, last of the balloons entered in the international race to report its descent, landed a few miles south of Charlotte, Mich., at 11:45 p.m. Sunday. Lieut. Thompson said on his arrival here last night he estimated they had traveled 622 miles.

LLOYD GEORGE'S NEW PLAN TO END MINERS' STRIKE BASED ON COAL VALUES AND PRODUCTION

Men Will Get Two Shillings a Day Increase—Price of Coal To Householder To Be Increased If Output Is Lessened —Formal Negotiations Between the Government and Miners' Executive Are Reopened This Morning.

London, Oct. 26.—Formal negotiations between the Government and the executive officers of the Miners' Federation in an effort to settle the coal strike was re-opened this morning, indicating that the informal discussions which had been in progress since Sunday had proved satisfactory, in some measure at least. The miners' executive body had previously been in conference over the Government's new proposals, and as a result of its deliberations it decided to begin formal negotiations.

It was reported from South Wales today that the miners' officials there had before them yesterday the Government's new formula on the wage question, which is said to be based upon coal values. The miners are to get two shillings a day increase, but the future selling price of coal will depend on production; that is, if production falls below a certain level the price of coal will be increased to the householder; otherwise present prices will be maintained. Under this plan the miners, while receiving more wages, would co-operate with the owner in preventing increased prices.

MACSWINEY'S FAMILY WILL RECEIVE BODY AFTER THE INQUEST

Government Not Likely To Interfere With Plans For Funeral.

MAKE DECISION TODAY

Deputations From Cork and Other Irish Cities To Attend Obsequies.

London, Oct. 26.—Announcement of plans for the removal to Ireland of the body of the late Terence MacSwiney, lord mayor of Cork, who died yesterday morning in Brixton Prison, were expected today. It was understood that final decision on the question of whether the body would be taken secretly to Cork or would be turned over to relatives here, was left to the administration at Dublin Castle.

Inquiries which have been made by members of the family to the Government regarding the arrangements for the funeral of Lord Mayor MacSwiney have been interpreted by Father Dominic, the late lord mayor's private chaplain, as an indication that there will be no interference with the family's plans, and that the body will be turned over to them immediately after the inquest. This, the home office states, will be held Wednesday morning.

Body Still in Prison.

Pending the inquest, the details of the arrangements for the funeral and the route to be taken in removing the body to Cork have been left undetermined. The body is still in the Brixton Prison mortuary, clothed in a coarse brown Franciscan habit.

It is reported from Dublin that all the members of the Daileireann or Irish Republican party, intend to come to London for the obsequies here. It is also stated that a bodyguard of 50 Irish Volunteers will attend the funeral party throughout the journey.

A deputation of 21 members of the corporation of Cork, headed by Deputy Mayor O'Callaghan, arrived this morning to attend the London services and accompany the funeral party to Cork. Ten members of the Cork harbor board

Wants Pastor's Girl, But Won't Spoil Romance

Man Gets Marriage License, Thinks of Other Man, Then Returns It.

Detroit, Oct. 26.—"I sure do want to marry that girl, but my conscience would not let me go out that door with this paper in my pocket," said a perplexed man to Marriage License Clerk Bert Maloney Monday, and he returned to the clerk a license he had taken out fifteen minutes before.

John Brown, aged 32, 357 Illinois street, who had taken out the license, then explained to the clerk that Miss Curly Brusie, aged 26, 271 Clinton street, named in the license, was engaged to wed another, and he did not want to spoil her romance.

"She's going to marry a preacher," Brown said. "I sure do want to marry her, but something just seemed to stop me from going out that door. I don't want to butt in and spoil no wedding, so you just keep this paper."

EMERGENCY POWER BILL TO MEET WITH STRONG OPPOSITION

London, Oct. 26.—Strong opposition to the government emergency power bill giving the administration far-reaching authority in the event of a general strike or of disorders, was anticipated in the House of Commons today. The measure entered the committee stage of consideration, and the government issued instructions for all supporters to be present at today's session of the House.

In the House of Comons last night a motion for the rejection of the bill offered by William C. Adamson, Labor leader, was defeated by a vote of 257 to 55, and the measure was passed to the second reading. Liberal and Labor leaders, including H. H. Asquith, former premier, J. H. Thomas and Mr. Adamson, Labor leaders, and John Robert Clynes, former food controller, made strong appeals to the government to withdraw the measure, which Mr. Adamson characterized as "panic legislation, which is always dangerous." Mr. Thomas based his appeal on the ground that emergency powers were needless, pointing out that although 1,000,000 workers were directly affected by the coal strike, and that a million more were indirectly interested, there had been no disorder.

Premier Lloyd George replied to these criticisms, and defended the bill, which he declared was not intended as an attack on trade unions, but absolutely necessary to "face the threats of railwaymen and the Triple Alliance to cripple our national life almost without notice.

Further consideration of the bill was prevented during the night session as leader of the Irish Nationalists, secured permission to begin the debate on events in Ireland. Mr. O'Connor discussed recent acts of reprisal in the island, but no new points were developed.

Much significance was attached to today's negotiations, especially in view of Premier Lloyd George's recent statement in the House of Commons that he was loath to call such a conference until a basis had been reached which looked as if it might lead to final negotiations.

The general belief expressed today was that such a basis had been reached.

RUSSIAN REDS RATIFY PACT WITH POLAND

Soviet Government Accepts Preliminary Peace Conditions.

London, Oct. 26.—Ratification of the preliminary peace treaty between Poland and Bolshevik Russia was voted by the all-Russian Soviet yesterday, according to a wireless dispatch from Moscow. George Tchitcherin, Bolshevik foreign minister, explained the pact, and declared Poland had refused assistance to Gen. Baron Wrangel, head of the anti-Bolshevik Government of South Russia. He also asserted Poland had agreed not to render aid to forces of reaction in Russia.

These agreements on the part of Poland, he said, were compromise measures which had been gained at the price of territorial concessions to the Polish Government.

Says Cheaper Milk Is Coming In A Few Weeks

Harold Fry Predicts Reduction in Prices—May Come On November 1, He Tells Milk Producers—Discusses the Situation Brought About by Action of the Powder Factories.

Milk, in all probability, will in the very near future join those commodities which are gradually breaking from the fetters of the high cost of living, according to Harold Fry, the principal speaker at a meeting of the Middlesex Milk Producers, in the county buildings last evening. Mr. Fry predicted that milk prices on the Toronto market would be lowered either at the beginning of November or the beginning of December.

Twice already, he stated, the ill-starred board of commerce attempted to order cheaper milk, but on both occasions was prevented by the Ontario Milk and Cream Producers' Association, which was able to prove that the prevailing prices were absolutely necessary for the good of the industry. The board of commerce had gone even as far as the drawing up of forms which would have put the order into effect.

A Direct Bearing.

Mr. Fry contended that the actions of the milk board in New York city had a direct bearing on the milk situation in Canada. He even went so far as to say that some milk product firms in Montreal had received orders from New York to reduce the price of milk to the producers. He also stated that before the plants of the Canadian Milk Products Company in this district had shut down the officers of the company had visited the companies in New York.

The shutting down of plants and the lowering of prices to the producer, the speaker claimed, was due chiefly to the huge stocks which the larger firms have on hand. For various causes, these firms could not find a market for their goods, while European firms were shipping large quantities into the United States.

Mr. Fry said he did not wish to reflect anything on the ability of the officials of the Canadian companies, but merely wanted to point out the necessity of closer co-operation by the producers.

Controls the Situation.

Before touching on the local situation Mr. Fry gave in great detail an interesting account of the workings and organization of the N. Y. Dairymen's League, which practically controls the milk situation in Greater New York. He characterized it as the most efficient milk producers' association in America, and said it was the most successful, both from the viewpoint of the producer and the consumer.

The league had a total of 80,000 members, and the milk it controlled was drawn from 40,000 farms located in New York State and the five surrounding states. It handled over 3,500,000 quarts daily. The league tended to equalize the price of milk bought and sold by its members. As some of its members transacted business in different districts were the prices were different, it accomplished its purpose of equalizing profits by pooling its resources, and then after the cost of marketing the milk had ben deducted the money was divided among the members.

No Action Taken.

No action was taken on the proposal to establish a co-operative distribution station in London, as it was decided to investigate the matter through the executive committee before an attempt is made to establish such an institution.

Dr. H. W. Hill of the Institute of Public Health spoke in favor of such a project, dealing with it from a consumer's point of view. He believed that such an organization would bring milk up to a proper standard, both in regard to purity and butter-fat. He said that London's milk supply was certainly not what it should be at the present time.

Although R. W. E. Burnaby, president of the U. F. O., was expected, he was not present at the meeting. W. E. Grieve, Stanley Shaw, A. E. Silverwood and Dr. Sherwood Fox spoke briefly.

WINTER THREATENS FAMINE IN POLAND

Food Situation Reported Far Worse This Year Than Last.

AREAS DEVASTATED

Horde of Refugees and Red Prisoners Provide Many Thousands To Feed.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—The food situation in Poland this winter will be even more acute than last year, when famine conditions prevailed, according to a report to Herbert Hoover, chairman of the American Relief Administration, from Dr. E. D. Durand, American food adviser to the Polish Government. The report, based on a careful personal survey, was made public from Mr. Hoover's office yesterday.

"The total requirements of bread grains for Poland," Dr. Durand's report states, "have been increased chiefly by the presence of approximately 300,000 refugees from the eastern districts, who are hardly likely to be able to return to their homes there for many months to come, and also by about 100,000 Bolshevik prisoners." This number has doubtless been augmented since the report was prepared, for within the past week further captures of 42,000 prisoners have been reported in the press dispatches.

Dr. Durand states that apart from the devastation wrought by the Bolshevik invasion, the crop of bread grains in Poland this year is less than last, but this is partly offset by increased production of barley, oats and potatoes.

In speaking of the effect of the Bolshevik invasion upon Poland's food supplies, Dr. Durand says: "For the most part the grain had already been cut before the Bolsheviks appeared; part of it was in shocks in the field, part in stacks and part in the barns. Very little had been threshed.

"It is understood not only that the Bolsheviks fed their armies while in Poland from this grain, but also that some at least was carried off to Russia, and that some was destroyed."

As to the requirements of Poland, Dr. Durand says that while statistics cannot yet be presented "it seems clear that in order to nourish the people of Poland even as well as last year—and they certainly had none to much—the government will have to import at least as much grain as last year, and probably considerably more. The imports last year consisted of 200,000 tons of flour, representing 240,000 tons of wheat, and about 20,000 tons of rye and other grains. It is probable that the minimum import requirements this year will be 300,000 tons of grains, or say 240,000 tons of flour."

"The seriousness of the problem of grain imports is enhanced by the weak financial position of Poland and the difficulty in exporting goods. "The bulk of the imported grain received by Poland in the two crop years 1918-1919 and 1919-1920, was obtained on credit furnished by the United States Government. Whether any credits can be expected from this source for the present year is doubtful," according to the report.

In referring to the relief measures necessary, Dr. Durand's report says: "The American Relief Administration European children's fund, which spent nearly $16,000,000 in Poland last year for feeding and clothing children, had expected to continue this service on a smaller scale this year, spending perhaps $5,000,000."

DRY MAJORITY IN SASKATCHEWAN CLOSE TO 10,000

Regina, Sask., Oct. 26.—Latest figures indicate that the "dry" majority polled yesterday in this province will run to nearly 10,000. The voting was exceptionally light, less than 50,000 of the 200,000 registered voters in the province visiting the polls.

Only one other city, Prince Albert, besides Regina, shows a wet majority while the constituency of Humboldt voted: Yes, 472; no, 504.

Regina City, complete, voted: Yes, 3,485; no, 3,714; majority for the wets, 329.

The latest returns available from other constituencies show: Yes, 21,027; no, 11,421.

"DRY" MAJORITY IN PRAIRIE PROVINCES WILL REACH 40,000

Only One-Third of Voters of Alberta Exercise Their Franchises.

Winnipeg, Oct. 26.—Three provinces in Western Canada—Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta — expressed strong views in the way of sterner temperance laws. With a heavy vote in the rural constituencies of Manitoba opposed to the liquor traffic, the majority in favor of "bone dry" prohibition will probably total 15,000. The city of Winnipeg turned in a "wet" majority of over 6,000, this being the feature of the Manitoba referendum.

In Saskatchewan the majority in favor of stopping the importation of liquor will run something over 10,000. Regina and Prince Albert were the only cities in Saskatchewan to turn in a "wet" majority.

Incomplete returns from Alberta late last night indicated that the "dry" vote will have a majority of over 15,000. Every city in the province, with the exception of Lethbridge, returned prohibition majorities.

In all three provinces there seemed to be considerable indifference on the part of citizens to vote. In Manitoba about 60 per cent of the voters exercised their rights, and in Saskatchewan about the same, while in Alberta it is estimated not more than 35 per cent of the voters visited the polls.

IMPORTATION CAN ...

Ottawa, Oct. 26.—By the Canadian Press.—Importation of liquor in the four provinces which voted "dry" yesterday will still be possible for a period of at least 60 days. Provision is made in the amendments to the Canada temperance act, passed last session for the issuance of the necessary proclamations by the Federal Government, but not before a period of 60 days has elapsed after the adoption by a province of the bone-dry principle.

INCREASES MAJORITY.

Halifax, N. S., Oct. 26.—Belated returns from outlying districts of the Province of Nova Scotia, received this morning, only served to swell the huge majority rolled up by the "dry" forces in yesterday's referendum on the question as to whether or not the importation of liquor for personal use was to be continued. While official figures will not be given out for some days, it is believed that they will show a majority of upwards of 30,000. Halifax city was the only centre giving a "wet" majority.

MANITOBA GOES "DRY" BY 15,000

Winnipeg Voted "Wet" by a Negative Majority of 6,392.

Winnipeg, Oct. 26.—With formidable affirmative majorities in virtually all of the rural constituencies Manitoba went on record in yesterday's referendum as favoring bone-dry prohibition, with a temperance plurality which final returns may show to be around 15,000.

Winnipeg, however, revealed itself as the stronghold for the "antis," the complete returns giving a negative majority of 6,392. The pronounced adverse vote in this city was the feature of the referendum. St. Boniface also registered a heavy wet vote. The sharp cleavage in opinion between the sentiment here and that of the rural areas was manifest.

MANSLAUGHER VERDICT IS RETURNED AGAINST MONTREAL MOTORIST

Montreal, Oct. 26.—A verdict of manslaughter was returned yesterday by the coroner's jury, holding Joseph Hebert criminally responsible for the death of Mrs. Grace McRobb. The victim was struck by Hebert's automobile on Saturday evening.

Mrs. McRobb had been married only two weeks, and was walking on Lafontaine street with her husband, her sister-in-law and her nephew when she was struck. According to evidence the party had just stepped down from the sidewalk on the left-hand side of the street, when the automobile ran into Mrs. McRobb.

POPE DISPLAYS REGRET.

Rome, Oct. 26.—Information relative to the death of Terence MacSwiney, lord mayor of Cork, was received at the Vatican from the Associated Press today, the news being communicated to Mgr. Cerretti, papal under-secretary of state, who was deeply impressed by the tidings. When Pope Benedict was informed of the death of the lord mayor he showed deep regret, and then knelt, remaining a long time in silent prayer.

MACSWINEY'S FAMILY

also are here, together with many persons prominent in the civic and commercial life of Cork and other Irish cities.

The members of the late lord mayor's family were continuing today their vigil over the body.

This noon the Irish Self-Determination League announced it had received definite word that the inquest would be held in Brixton Prison at 11:30 a.m. Wednesday. Solemn requiem mass will be sung at the Southwark Cathedral at 11 a.m. Thursday, the celebrant being Father O'Meara, the administrator of that cathedral. Absolution will be given by Archbishop Mannix, the Australian prelate, and Bishop Connor of Portsmouth.

Articles on the death of MacSwiney occupied much space in this morning's newspapers, regardless of their political views. Some of the journals refrained from commenting editorially, while others have written in accordance with their customary attitudes on the Irish question.

The Times, which is hostile to the Government's Irish policy and the Irish bill prepared by the cabinet, severely attacks the Government, especially in the matter of reprisals. Referring specifically to MacSwiney, the newspaper expresses the fear that the effects of his death will not be confined to the British Isles, but it recalls it has always maintained the Irish question was essentially British.

While asserting the lord mayor was a "misguided, but sincere, patriot dying for his convictions," the Morning Post says: "We cannot perceive what relation can exist between suicide and martyrdom. We cannot forget the many loyal servants of their country who have been shot down in the mere performance of their duty in Ireland and for whose memory there is no meritorious appeal nor fallacious sentimentality."

Telegraph Defends Government.

The Daily News says the Government imprisoned MacSwiney as a criminal and converted him into a martyr, and must bear responsibility for his death.

"Every day," the newspaper declares, "Ireland is being welded more surely and more irresistibly by the premier and his armies into a nation that will not be conquered. Irish nationalism will be given a stimulus almost incalculably effective by the lord mayor's death."

"The murder of MacSwiney by the Government," says the Herald, organ of labor, "was accomplished after slow torture for 74 days."

The Telegraph defends the Government and pleads in behalf of the "victims of the campaign of assassination in Ireland." It maintains that if MacSwiney had been released he would have taken up "the work of conspiracy where he laid it down." The responsibility which the Government elected to bear, the newspaper asserts, was that which in reality it was bound to assume.

"If justice had surrendered to the threat of suicide," remarks the Express, "law would have been mocked and order undone."

Buenos Ayres, Oct. 26.—Religious services in memory of Lord Mayor MacSwiney were held in this city last night. "Friends of Ireland" and sympathizers in the cause of the Irish joined in the ceremony.

FRENCH LAUD MacSWINEY.

Paris, Oct. 26.—Although declaring France must not interfere in questions relative to the interior policy of England, newspapers of this city, commenting upon the death of Terence MacSwiney, lord mayor of Cork, pay tribute to his courage.

"One can only bow down before the man who has died for his ideal," declares the Journal, and the Echo de Paris says: "The sacrifice made by MacSwiney will resound throughout the world as a heart-rending appeal of a suffering nation." Fears that the death of the lord mayor will aggravate the struggle between England and Ireland is expressed by the Figaro, but the newspaper believes Premier Lloyd George is not responsible for the "martyrdom of MacSwiney."

SOLDIERS OPEN FIRE ON CROWDS IN CORK STREET

Cork, Oct. 26.—Crowds along the Grand Parade, one of the principal thoroughfares of this city, were thrown into a panic last night, when several shots were fired from a military lorry and an accompanying armored car. So far as known, however, there were no casualties.

It appears the car had turned its searchlight on the Sinn Fein clubhouse, and a large number of people, led by curiosity, surrounded the machine. The occupants, fearing an attack, fired, and the crowds scattered through the streets in the business district in the city. Subsequently the streets were almost deserted. Soldiers, who were riding about the city in lorries, had previously stopped a number of private automobiles and searched them and their occupants for arms. It was reported one person was arrested.

Armed men flagged the afternoon mail train running from Cork northward today. The incident occurred at Blarney, and the men overawed the train crew with revolvers, searching compartments in various cars. Apparently they did not find what they were searching for and later allowed the train to proceed.

It is reported that a political prisoner incarcerated in Mountjoy prison is dead. The identity of the man was not announced.

TRIEST OCCUPIED BY ITALIAN SOLDIERS

D'Annunzio Failed To Make Landing As Expected.

Rome, Oct. 26.—The city of Triest was occupied by Italian troops Sunday, according to telegrams from that place to the Corrier d'Italia and the Idea Nazionale. A report had been circulated that a landing by Gabriele d'Annunzio was imminent, but this did not materialize, d'Annunzio telegraphing from Fiume a denial of any intention to land at Triest.

Gen. Caviglia assembled the officials of Triest and appealed to their patriotism, the dispatch added.

STOMACH TROUBLES ARE DUE TO ACIDITY

Tells Safe, Certain, Speedy Relief For Acid Indigestion.

So-called stomach troubles, such as indigestion, gas, sourness, stomach-ache and inability to retain food are in probably nine cases out of ten, simply evidence that excessive secretion of acid is taking place in the stomach, causing the formation of gas and acid indigestion.

Gas distends the stomach and causes that full, oppressive, burning feeling sometimes known as heartburn, while the acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach. The trouble lies entirely in the excess development or secretion of acid.

To stop or prevent this souring of the food contents of the stomach and to neutralize the acid, and make it bland and harmless, a teaspoonful of bisurated magnesia, a good and effective corrector of acid stomach, should be taken in a quarter of a glass of hot or cold water after eating or whenever gas, sourness or acidity is felt. This sweetens the stomach and neutralizes the acidity in a few moments and is a perfectly harmless and inexpensive remedy to use.

An antacid, such as bisurated magnesia which can be obtained from any druggist in either powder or tablet form enables the stomach to do its work properly without the aid of artificial digestents. Magnesia comes in several forms, so be certain to ask for and take only Bisurated Magnesia, which is especially prepared for the above purposes.—Advt.

WERE CONSTABLES OVER-ZEALOUS IN PINCHING SPEEDERS?

Many District Visitors to the Fair Were Served With Summonses.

Did the county constables in their zeal for tripping up careless motorists from a distance, overdo things a bit Western Fair week, by bringing to justice some Middlesex County farmers and villagers, who let their cars run a trifle too fast coming into the city?

There is a county council committee meeting in session in London today and incidentally between sessions outside the council chambers the Western Fair happened to be mentioned.

"There were a lot of people at the Western Fair this year who won't come back next year," was the observation by a county man.

"Did they object to the increase in the admission charges?" he was asked.

"Well, not much to that, but I'll bet you that one out of every five men who motored in, was pinched."

"But doesn't the county council appoint the county constables?" he was asked.

The answer was in the affirmative, but it was intimated that the constables had been over-zealous in their devotion to duty, and had taken the names of people who were noted as slow drivers and could ill-afford to pay fines for slightly exceeding the limit of progress through the speed-traps. Instances were given of county people whose names had been taken, but against whom prosecution had been dropped following local representations in protest.

Nearly all the prosecutions brought by the city police for violations of the speed regulations are against local people. The question naturally arises: Do tourists never break the provincial or local regulations, or are they given the benefit of possibly pardonable ignorance of local rules?

On the other hand, charges have been made informally and unofficially that the county police in both Elgin and Middlesex make a practice of "pinching" people from outside their own county. St. Thomas motorists complain of being trapped in Middlesex, and London motorists complain of the Elgin County speed-traps.

LITTLE PROGRESS IN DISPUTE OVER UPKEEP

Committees Are in Session at Courthouse to Adjust Matter.

The courthouse and jail maintenance committee of the county council made little progress this morning in handling the question of the long-drawn-out dispute between the city of London and the county of Middlesex over the balance claimed by the county as due from the city for upkeep and repairs of the County Buildings used in common by the two municipalities.

J. C. Elliott, ex-M. L. A., county solicitor, spent the morning with the committee, but when the committee adjourned at noon, there was no announcement to be made. It is generally admitted, however, that the county intends to take legal action against the city.

HEALTH CLINICS ARE PLANNED HERE

Academy of Medicine to Work in District Also.

The Western Ontario Academy of Medicine is taking the lead in Canada in the matter of establishing health clinics throughout the district which it represents. London will be the centre of an organization which will arrange clinics in the smaller towns and villages, in co-operation with county welfare associations, local practitioners and various local organizations.

It is probable that additional observational advantages for students of the Western Medical College will be afforded through these clinics which are shortly to be established. At the recent meeting here of the Western Ontario Academy of Medicine, the matter was referred to a special committee which will meet this week at the medical school.

CHARCOAL DEARER.—An increase in the price of charcoal, which now plays an important part in the fuel situation, has been made. The consumer from now on will have to pay 20 cents per bag for charcoal, or an increase of two cents over the old price. Since the war the price of charcoal has been doubled. The manufacturers give the high price of paper bags, twine and freight rates as the reason for the advance. Wholesalers have increased the price 30 cents on every dozen to the grocers, but the price to the consumers is only advanced 24 cents per dozen. An increase of 5 cents per bushel has also been tacked on to those who buy in bulk.

He also pleaded guilty to stealing a solid leather club bag containing some books from Mr. Mitchell, general supervisor of the bridge and building department of the G. T. R. Mr. Mitchell arrived in the city today to claim the bag.

Comber was arrested on Monday by Detective R. Nickle.

CHOIR CONCERT AT DORCHESTER ENJOYED

Real Chicken Supper Is Served to Singers Afterwards.

The chofir of Dundas Centre Methodist Church visited Dorchester last evening and put on a most successful concert in the Methodist Church, under the direction of J. Parnell Morris. Rev. Mr. Thompson was master of ceremonies, and introduced the guests of the evening. Solos were rendered by Miss Anna Cochrill, Misc Ferguson, Miss Corbin, Leon Adams and Walter Chalcraft; a duet by Mr. Morris and Miss Sochrill, a trio by Mr. Morris, Miss Cochrill and Mr. Chalcraft, and a male quartet number by Clay Gibson, James Gay, Lew Noble and Heber Gibson. Miss Pearl Godwin assisted at the organ.

When the concert was concluded adjournment was made to the banqueting room, where a chicken dinner awaited the choir. Rev. Mr. Thompson made an excellent toastmaster. Mr. Sandy, on behalf of the Dorchester choir, and Mr. Boyce, for the church trustees, moved a vote of thanks for the evening's enjoyment. Mr. Morris replied and called on Mr. Gay and Ben Noble to respond. Mr. Noble made a humorous speech, remarking how strange it was that chicken drew so many followers, and confided to his hearers that he always "had an eye for chicken." Motors were supplied by the church and choir members to convey the party to and from London.

COMMISSION WILL DRAFT A NEW SET OF PENITENTIARY RULES

Government-Appointed Body To Consider Prison Labor Products.

BENEFIT TO CONVICTS

Earnings Could Go To Men At End of Term or Help Families.

Ottawa, Oct. 26.—(By the Canadian Press).—Col. O. M. Biggar, K.C., W. F. Nickle, K. C., ex-member of Parliament for Kingston, and P. M. Draper, secretary of the Trades and Labor Congress of the Dominion, have been named a royal commission under the inquiries act to draft a new set of regulations for the penitentiaries of the Dominion. The need of this being done has been emphasized by recent developments at Kingston Penitentiary, but for some time past preliminary drafts of new regulations have been made by officials of the penitentiaries branch.

The commission will look also into the question of the possibilities of the utilization of prison labor for the making of articles required by the Government. In past years organized labor has been strongly opposed to any competition from prison labor, and it is still strongly adverse to the products of the penitentiaries being placed on the market in competition with the products of free labor. Little objection is now taken, however, to the Government utilizing prison labor for the making of goods required by the Government.

It is understood that the department of justice is inclined to the view that good would result if convicts could be given opportunity to earn some money during the terms of their imprisonment. In the case of married men earnings could be used for the support of families, while unmarried men would have something on which to make a fresh start at the end of their terms.

DEANERY DISCUSSES CHURCH EXTENSION

Committee Is Appointed To Report On Question of Apportionment.

Church extension in London in connection with the Anglican Church was the chief discussion at the semi-annual meeting of the East Middlesex deanery in session in St. Matthew's Church today.

That the work of the Church of the Redeemer is being hampered to a great extent because of a road not being opened east of Adelaide street as a continuance of Grosvenor was a complaint laid before the deanery. One member stated that more than 100 families who live in Knollwood Park are of English Church religion, and because there is not a road to shorten the distance these families go elsewhere. A long discussion followed, the outcome being to appoint shortly a committee of laymen to deal seriously with regard to several of the English Church missions in the city.

The basis of apportionment of the various churches was discussed, some claiming to have too large an apportionment. A committee will be appointed to consider the question and refer it back to a special meeting of the deanery before appealing to the general synod for alteration of the canon dealing with this.

Prior to the business session, Holy Communion was celebrated in St. Matthew's Church, being attended in a body by the deanery and W. A. members. Rural Dean A. A. Bice presided.

At the afternoon session, Henry Macklin gave a paper on church growth and R. E. Davis gave a short address on the Lambeth conference. Rev. John Morris dealt with parochial difficulties.

ODD FELLOWS TO HAVE FINE HALL

Walper House Will Be Remodeled and Auditorium Erected.

The Independent Order of Oddfellows expect to obtain possession of the Walper House, Talbot and Carling streets, which was formerly purchased by them the latter part of 1921. The lease on the building runs for four years, and the present occupants are reluctant to turn the premises over to the I. O. O. F. immediately. The trustees are meeting next week to make definite arrangements about what will be done. Much remodeling is necessary to make the building suitable. Plans have been drawn and the work will be started as soon as the present occupant vacates. A large auditorium will be erected alongside the building, where dancing and social events may be held. When the work is completed London will have one of the finest I. O. O. F. buildings in the country.

PAVING PLANT TENDERS ARE NOT YET CHECKED

Only Routine Business for No. 2 Committee Tonight.

No. 2 committee of the city council will have a fairly quiet session tonight. It was expected that tenders for a new paving plant would be considered, but City Engineer Brazier has not finished his comparison of them yet. They will be brought up at a later meeting.

Other civic meetings promise to keep the aldermen fairly busy throughout the week. No. 1 committee will hold its regular session Wednesday afternoon. The special committee to consider a new system of charges will meet that evening. The special committee of level crossings will meet Thursday, and the cost of living committee likely will meet before the end of the week.

FRUIT GROWERS ARE APPREHENSIVE

Beamsville Men Afraid British Labor Strike May Affect Market.

Beamsville, Oct. 26.—Fruit growers in this district are apprehensive regarding the present labor troubles in England. If they should continue the situation might prove disastrous to the overseas apple trade as well as for canned goods.

A few grapes are still to come off, but the big crop is all disposed of. With the cleaning up of Keiffer pears the coming week, the fruitmen will have practically finished their labors for this year. Large quantities of pears and apples are going into the canneries, which will be running pretty well on to the middle of December in some localities.

West Is Dissatisfied With Meighen Regime

J. C. Elliott, Ex-M. P. of West Middlesex, Tells of Steadily Growing Antagonism of the Farmers Toward Ottawa Policies—Lower Tariff Is Wanted All Through the Prairie Provinces.

Dissatisfaction with the Meighen Government throughout the west, but especially in the rural districts, is very general, according to J. C. Elliott, ex-M. L. A., who returned last week from Saskatchewan and Alberta, where he has extensive farming interests. In the cities one still finds a few supporters of the Tory or Unionist party, but out in the rural districts the names of Meighen and Borden are anathematized.

The farmers are strongly in favor of a low tariff, but what they are chiefly worrying over at the present moment is the price of wheat. Whether the price at which they will have to sell will remunerate them for the cost of production is a very real problem, according to Mr. Elliott.

Have Good Crops.

On the whole, the west enjoyed a good crop this year, but this just had to be, or many of the western farmers would have deserted their farms, so discouraged were they with the failures of preceding years, and the heavily-accruing debts which hung over their heads. This year, if a fair price for wheat prevails, the western farmer will pay off a very large proportion of his debts and still have enough left to enjoy a winter without worry.

But there is no assurance as to what the price of wheat will be. The Government by price-fixing in past years has held the price down. When the price was first fixed, it was considerably below the market quotation. If the Government had not fixed prices, during the war, wheat would very likely have gone up to $3 or $4. But the fixing of prices kept wheat down. Now, although the western farmer was not in favor of Government price control in the beginning, and does not favor Government price control on principal now, yet he feels it a great injustice that without any warning the Government should remove the artificial props from underneath the market suddenly and leave the wheat-grower to look out for himself.

Not Controlled Then.

During the war, when wheat prices were held down by Government control, there was no Government control on the price of binders, which increased annually about 25 per cent in price over the prices of each preceding year.

The farmer who has considerable help from his own family will not fare so badly as the farmer who has to employ all hired help at $7 a day. This was the union price demanded by the farm laborers for harvesting and threshing. A few farmers found it a good investment to purchase one or two "stookers," and an attachment for binders, which leaves the sheaves in a shock, thus dispensing with the labor of men to follow the binder and shock or "stook" the grain by hand.

Was Staking All.

After repeated crop failures, in whole or part, the western farmer was staking his all on this year's harvest. If it failed he was down and out; if it was a big harvest he might come out on top. The western farmer has risks to contend with that the eastern farmer does not experience. Frost may nip the young wheat; drought may prevent it maturing; hail may level it to the ground. And the one common enemy of both western and eastern farmers, the Hessian fly, is quite as active in the West as in the East.

The labor political movement is growing rapidly in western cities as well as in the East, but in the cities are also found the sole supporters of the Tory or reactionary parties in all the West. The Meighen government has no friends at all in the country, according to the way the farmers talk. But it is also true to a considerable extent that those who are united against the Meighen government are fairly well divided among themselves into Liberal and Farmer partisans. The Meighen government is trying to find hope in this, but it may be a vain hope. In many districts where no Conservative candidate would consider it worth while running, Liberals and Farmers may be opposing factions, but the western farmer is wide awake and alert, and there is every reason for believing that where the Conservatives decide to risk a battle, their opponents will unite and present a solid front against the reactionaries.

Expects "Dry" Win.

Speaking on the eve of the temperance referendum vote before any returns were in, Mr. Elliott expressed the opinion that the dry forces would win. It was a different issue, he said, to that which was voted on in British Columbia. The Pacific province voted in favor of government control. The Prairie Provinces were voting on the question of importation of liquor from outside territories.

On the political issue, Mr. Elliott was convinced that if the western farmers vote the way they talk, it will be a black and hopeless day for the Meighen government whenever it condescends to go before the people.

DEPOSITS INCREASE IN CANADIAN BANKS

Assets of Financial Institutions Well Over Three Billion Mark.

Ottawa, Oct. 26.—A healthy state of business conditions is reflected in the bank statement for September by the finance department today. The assets of the Canadian banks, which now stand well over the three billion mark, increased by approximately $70,000,000, as compared with August. Notice deposits increased by about $9,000,000, and demand deposits by about $37,000,000.

MISSION BANQUET.—An enthusiastic gathering of mission band workers of Dundas Centre Methodist Church was held Monday evening when a group of boys and girls assembled in the primary room for a banquet. Decorations emblematical of halloween lent an air of cheer and warmth to the gathering. Jack White and Fred Howe moved a vote of thanks. Mrs. (Dr.) Weekes, of the Ladies' Auxiliary, made a happy little speech. The program included: Piano numbers, Bonnie Banks, Jean McNaughton, Myrtle Pocock; solos, Annie Cahill and Aletta Pescott; recitation, Nora McNaughton; violin solo, Margaret Lettency, Miss Dorothy Cahill acted as accompanist. Mrs. Pescott presented prizes for those bringing in most members. Rev. Mr. Pescott occupied the chair.

TRAIN TEACHERS FOR SPECIAL WORK AT A CENTRAL INSTITUTION

Resolution Urging Governments To Provide Place Is Approved.

Ottawa, Oct. 26.—(By the Canadian Press).—Without a dissenting voice the interprovincial conference on technical education this morning passed a resolution, urging immediate action by the federal and the various provincial governments with the object of establishing and maintaining a central institution for the training of special teachers for vocational education. The resolution passed sets forth a general basis of co-operation between the federal and provincial governments for the provision and maintenance of the institution.

EDWARD JOHNSON, CANADA'S OWN CARUSO, COMES TO THE GRAND OPERA HOUSE TOMORROW NIGHT ONLY.

Edward Johnson, the tenor whose performances this last season were the sensation of the Chicago Opera Company, will be one of the featured stars at Grand Opera House tomorrow night only at 8:15. He is a native American of the finest artistic gifts and for the last eight years he has been the most celebrated tenor in Italy's leading opera houses. Abroad he sang under the name of Eduardo di Giovanni; he created practically every new tenor role in the modern Italian operas by Puccini, Montemezza and Pizzetti.

Mr. Johnson is a striking, alert figure, his conversation is animated and intensely interesting, for he has real ideas, not only on musical topics, but on matters in general. His Italian schooling has given him all the polish and graces, but has not robbed him of that wholesome unaffected nature that seems to be characteristically American.

NO CUT HERE IN PRICES OF "POP"

Local manufacturers of "pop" stated today that prices will not be reduced as a result of lower sugar quotations. In Hamilton yesterday manufactuerrs of pop stated they would cut their price from 10c per bottle to 5c per bottle if sugar prices went down.

Local hotelkeepers said lower prices would meet with approval from them, as they thought the prices were too high. It was thought at the beginning of the apple season that sweet cider would be cheaper owing to the large supplies of apples. Manufacturers said that would have no effect as the price of sweetening was too high.

CEREMONIES TO MARK RESERVOIR COMPLETION

Ceremonies to mark the completion of the Springbank reservoir addition are being planned by General Manager E. V. Buchanan of the Public Utilities Commission for a date about three weeks hence. Members of the commission and other civil officials will take part in the event, which will mean the addition of ten million gallons reserve to the city's drinking supply.

Fears were expressed by Mr. Buchanan today that frost might interfere with the remainder of the concrete work, but under favorable conditions it is expected that there will be no difficulty in completing the contract. The difficulty in obtaining cement has been one of the chief causes of delay. In spite of this, the work will be finished within the estimate of $100,000, Mr. Buchanan said. The original estimate was $140,000, but this was reduced, and it is now likely that the work will be done for even less.

LABOR OPPOSES EMERGENCY BILL

LONDON, Oct. 25.—(By the Canadian Associated Press.)—The emergency bill providing protection against public disorder was debated in the House of Commons tonight on a second reading and was referred to committee of the whole house, the labor motion for its rejection being defeated by a large majority.

This decision was followed by another debate on Irish reprisals for which the adjournment of the House was moved.

Answering questions on transport, the minister of transportation said that the miners' strike was costing the taxpayers on account of the railways, a loss of between £2,000,000 and £3,000,000 per week.

A. branches in Ontario, but so far without result. He is described as being a tall, dark complexioned man, and wore a brown suit.

CITY WILL FIGHT HIGHER PHONE RATES

Ald. F. E. Harley Is Going To Ottawa On Friday.

While Ald. F. E. Harley, as the city's representative on the committee opposing increased telephone rates, will go to a meeting in Montreal next Friday, it is not likely that London will be represented at a sitting of the Dominion railway board in Hamilton, November 4. Rumors that a sitting of the board would be held here have not been confirmed. Neither Mayor Little nor Ald. Harley have received notice of it.

If a sitting does take place here, ample evidence of the city's attitude toward increased rates will be given, the mayor assured The Advertiser today.

Ald. Harley pointed out that London, with Montreal, Quebec, Sherbrooke and Ottawa, is represented by capable counsel, and that all proceedings in connection with the rate increases will be carefully watched whether representatives of the cities are present or not. He thought the sitting in Hamilton might be held because that city had not joined the others in fighting the increase.

creased number of voters. In Jersey City barrels are to serve as ballot receptacles, because the ordinary boxes are expected to prove too small to hold the flood of ballots.

Governor Cox has declared he has advance information of a broadside to be fired into his camp by the Saturday Evening Post, and has in turn sharply criticized the Post for its attitude. This morning the Tribune, one of the most active Republican organs in New York, devotes a two-column space on its front page to an editorial in which attention is called to an alleged attempt by Governor Cox's newspaper to curry favor with the pro-Germans of the United States. The Tribune quotes extensively from the Cox paper, in which attacks were made on a number of Senator Harding's supporters, on the ground that in public utterances during the war they were unfriendly to Germany. Throughout the campaign the Tribune has dug persistently into the files of Governor Cox's paper and has reprinted extracts from editorials which might be looked ed upon as sympathetic to Germany.

Governor Cox closed his West Virginia campaign at Kenova today with another appeal for the league of nations. He repeated the arguments put forward in many other speeches and declared he was confident of the result of the election. The churches, labor and women were united in a movement for the league which was "sweeping the country" he said. He spoke at Portsmouth, Ohio, this afternoon, and will address an audience at Cincinnati tonight.

Senator Harding's camp was comparatively quiet today. The candidate received a few visitors and worked on his final speeches. Today was his last breathing spell, for he starts tomorrow on a speaking campaign through Ohio, which will last the remainder of the week.

BEING GOOD FELLOW BRINGS $200 FINE

Tony Kentrovitch Convicted of Selling Beer To His Friends.

When Tony Kentrovitch, a Russian, was fined $200 and costs in police court this morning for keeping liquor for sale contrary to section 40 of the O. T. A., he discovered that playing the role of a good fellow is sometimes an expensive pastime. He was convicted of selling beer to some of his fellow-countrymen, and although the magistrate was thoroughly convinced that he did not do it for profit, his worship had no other option than to levy a fine.

The charge was the outcome of a raid made on the Kentrovitch home by Sergt. Wm. McCullough and P. C. James Singleton on Friday last. The officers found Alex. Pasons, a friend of Kentrovitch, trying to escape through the front door with a bottle of ale beneath his coat, and two cases partly filled in the hall behind the door.

At first a charge was laid against Pasons for having liquor in a place other than a private residence, but this was withdrawn when Pasons turned King's evidence against his friend. Pasons swore that he had paid 50 cents for the bottle and that on different occasions he had purchased ale at the house at 40 and 50 cents a bottle.

J. Suschinsky of 70 William street, who claimed to be a frequenter of Kentrovitch's home, also swore that he had purchased beer and ale there on different occasions. He paid the same price as Pasons paid.

Sergt. McCullough and P. C. Singleton then told the story of the raid and of the discovery of the beer.

Kentrovitch admitted having the beer and having given some to his friends. He did not wish to give the beer to them, but when they asked for it he did not wish to refuse them. Personally, he said, he had never collected money for drinks, but that the men might have paid his wife.

In the absence of the accused's counsel, E. Meredith undertook the defence when the magistrate refused an adjournment. He said that if the magistrate felt bound to fine the prisoner for selling the liquor he should impose a minimum fine, as the liquor was not sold at a profit. The magistrate took a like view of the case and dealt as leniently as possible with Kentrovitch.

POLICE SAVE RABBI FROM IRATE JEWS

Poughkeepsie Mob Angered by Divorce, Suicide.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Oct. 26.—Rabbi Joseph Louwisch, principal of the Poughkeepsie Hebrew School, and numbered among the prominent Jews of Duchess County, is under police protection at his home today following a demonstration against him last night by people of his own race.

The suicide of his bride of a few months, who hung herself in the vicinity of Boston last week following a divorce obtained by Louwisch on the grounds that she was a Bolshevik and an advocate of free love, aroused sentiment against the rabbi.

His case will be considered some time today or tomorrow by the school authorities.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE.

New York, Oct. 26—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—Low-priced or speculative rails, especially those comprising the Southwestern group, also oils, steels and tobaccos, were the firm features at the opening of today's stock market. The more hopeful tenor of industrial advices from Great Britain induced moderate short covering. Gains in Texas and Pacific, St. Louis and Southern preferred, Bethlehem and United States Steels, Royal Dutch and Mexican and Pan-American Petroleums, ranged from large fractions to a full point. The only stock to display marked heaviness was Coca-Cola, which added 1⅜ points to yesterday's severe loss on suspension of the dividend.

1:30 p.m.—Oils became erratic during the noon hour, the cheaper issues strengthening, while high-priced shares forfeited part of their gains. Favorite industrials moved within very narrow limits, and United States Steel gave no intimation of any decided change at today's meeting of th directors.

CROWD GIVES CALDER QUITE ROUGH PASSAGE

Heckling Makes Premier Meighen's Meeting Lively At Winnipeg.

MEIGHEN ON DEFENSIVE

Premier Champions Record of Union Government At Opening Meeting.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 25.—(Canadian Press.)—The convention hall of the Industrial Bureau was filled tonight, when Isaac Pitblado, K.C., chairman of the Meighen meeting, called it to order. Probably 5,000 persons were present. Mr. Calder spoke of the appearance of Mr. Meighen in Winnipeg three years ago in the war election, and asked if the Government had not carried out its mandate. There were vociferous cries of "No" from various parts of the hall.

"That," said Mr. Calder, "is a matter which will bear discussion," and declared that from the election to the end of the war the Government bent every energy towards its fulfillment.

There were isolated shouts of "sugar," "Ross rifle," and "give the soldiers a square deal."

"I have never had any regret as to my own course in joining the Union Government, and I have no apology," said Mr. Calder.

There were further interruptions, and the chairman asked for a fair and attentive hearing for the speakers. This request was cheered by the majority of the audience.

Calder Proceeds.

Mr. Calder proceeded with his speech amid silence. He said there was nothing unique in the abuse which had been heaped on the Canadian Government. Such a situation had been general throughout the world.

"There were too many big things demanding our attention for us to bother playing politics and defending our course during the war," continued the minister.

"But that situation is changed. We have a new party and a new leader, and the time has come to play politics in the big sense. The time has come for the Government to go before the people and thresh out public questions."

Mr. Calder reviewed briefly the work of the Union Government during the war and after the armistice, when an entirely new problem arose. At the same time the spirit of union disappeared, and "ten times ten thousand critics arose" over the country, and the Government was the easiest thing hit. Mistakes made in dealing with settlement of soldiers back into civilian life were made largely because there were no paths to follow in the work. No other country in the world, he said, accomplished its demobilization more successfully. No belligerent nation had treated its men more fairly or more generously.

How About Australia?

"How about Australia?" came from the back of the hall.

Mr. Calder thought Australia had not done as well.

"In regard to pensions," said the speaker, "no country has gone so far as Canada." (Cheers).

One pledge of Union Government, said Mr. Calder, was that patronage would be abolished, and he claimed that patronage was practically extinct.

"What about Mallantyne?" came from the hall.

The civil service had been lifted out of politics. He did not say things were perfect, but a great reform had been undertaken. An elaborate plan of technical education had been undertaken. Construction of public highways had been lifted out of party politics. The housing situation had been dealt with by federal aid.

Chance of Saying.

"It's not going to be very long before the people of Canada have a chance of saying what their will is so far as this Government is concerned," said Mr. Calder.

There were cheers and someone said, "We're ready."

"I would like to make a confession," the speaker continued. "I was what was called a 'Grit of the Grits.' Today I have not the slightest desire to play the old game. There are some who hint that I have been a traitor to Liberalism and to Western Canada. That is not the way I see it. I am not a traitor to myself nor to my duty, and I am not a traitor to my country."

Mr. Calder said that at Moose Jaw tomorrow evening he would set out his tariff views.

Mr. Calder talked for 45 minutes. The prime minister followed him.

PREMIER MEIGHEN DEFENDS RECORD OF UNION GOVERNMENT

WINNIPEG, Oct. 25.—(Canadian Press.)—A defence of the Government's course over the last three years, an attack on what he termed the "political jig-dancing" of Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King in his present western tour, and a statement on the Government's tariff policy featured the address here tonight of Hon. Arthur Meighen, prime minister of Canada, in the opening meeting of his tour of the Western Provinces. He was preceded by Hon. J. A. Calder, who is to accompany the premier on his trip, and who reviewed briefly tonight what he considered some of the outstanding achievements of the Government in recent years.

"There must be," said Premier Meighen, "such a tariff as will make it pay Canadian industries to remain in Canada, and make it pay industries to grow and to make good within this country. Up to that point and not beyond that point, the tariff in Canada on any class of goods should go. I ask the people of Winnipeg, if you first of all decided that you must take account of the needs of industry and the need of keeping them in this country, can you possibly adopt a more restricted principle than that We do not intend to go further, there is no value whatever in a tariff which does less. I do not see how to find out what is necessary except by the most careful and through inquiry that can be made. That is the course of the Government is pursuing, and before the electors of this country are asked to decide between one course and the vagaries of our various oppositions they will have a definite tariff from us in black and white. By the principle I have defined, by the limits I have clearly set out, that tariff will be constructed.

Have Lower Scale.

"If I am asked whether it will be possible to have a lower scale than prevails today, or not, I say that must await the completion of the investigation. For myself, I would hope that in the final result it would be found not to be higher, and perhaps lower than it is now, but I believe the interest of Canadians of every class require that Canadian industries remain Canadian industries, and that Canadian industries and not America industries grow with the growth of Canada."

Mr. Meighen declared that the language of the leader of the Opposition "on the stump" was "even more reckless than his language in Parliament."

He defended the Government from Mr. King's charges that it had been autocratic in its methods, and asserted that the Opposition leader's words on the Grand Trunk bill constituted "a glaring example of incomprehensible inexactitude."

"The irresponsible utterances of the leader of the Opposition," said the premier, "are an illustration of how completely partisan blindness can paralyze the human mind."

Services to State.

The premier spoke in high terms of the services to the state rendered by Sir Robert Borden, and paid tribute to the memory of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who taught public men, he said, lessons of self-control, of cheerfulness of mind and heart, of kindliness of manner and of dignity of bearing.

Reviewing the record of the Government, the premier said that as trustees for the people they were proud to account "for every day and every hour of the conduct of our trust."

"The members of the Union Government," he went on, "both former Liberals and former Conservatives, believed that the bond of principle that bound its members and its followers together were more important and more vital than any difference that had parted them in other days. They believed there was a far wider gulf between them and those who had opposed them through the war than any variance of views on matters of lesser importance. A common ground was found, on that ground a platform was built, a platform upon which Liberal and Conservative could stand, because it embodies principles to which each had adhered and could still adhere."

Crerar in Opposition.

Of the men who joined the Union Government in 1917 only one—Mr. Crerar—was now in the Opposition, Mr. Meighen said, and he had left on the principle of tariff policy. There were seven former members of the Government consistently supporting the administration in the House of Commons now, and Mr. Meighen claimed they did not indicate "that avarice of office" had been the dominating spirit.

The leader of the Government dealt in some detail with Western speeches by the leader of the Opposition—"wild and wayward declamations of Mr. King," they were termed. Mr. Meighen asserted that Mr. King has no case when he charges the Government with using autocratic methods.

"The authority of Parliament over its executive is just as complete, just as final, just as supreme at this hour and has been at every moment of the last six years, as it ever has been in the history of Canada or any country on earth," he said. "There has never been a single day when Parliament could not, by a majority vote, have voted the Government from office or forced it to a general election."

Answers Criticisms.

The premier answered criticisms, which, he said, were made by Mr. King that the Government spent in shipbuilding money that was not voted by Parliament. Asserting that the auditor-general would not have passed a single check for which Parliament's authority had not been given, Mr. Meighen said Parliament passed in February, 1917, a supply bill for five hundred million dollars, out of which $25,000,000 was set aside for building ships. Announcement to this effect was made by Sir Robert Borden in March, 1918, and there was not criticism. For the following year $40,000,000 was specifically voted by Parliament and a further sum was voted last session for the same purpose. Every care was taken to get the construction done at the lowest possible cost, but the tender system was not workable, he claimed, as one or two ports would have got all the contracts and the work "had to be distributed through various firms or it would not have been done at all."

The premier quoted Mr. King as asserting that the acquisition of the Grand Trunk Railway was "a glaring example of autocratic control," and went on to say that Parliament had discussed the bill fully, and all members had the right to make amendments.

The proposal had been before the country for a year and five months, and had been freely discussed, so that there was no element of surprise. The premier defended the calling of the special session of 1919 to ratify the peace treaty, and, quoting Mr. King as saying a good part of last session was taken up with the new franchise bill, for which there was no need, he declared that in the discussion of the bill in Parliament the Liberal leader had admitted the bill's necessity.

Concrete Allegations.

"Whenever," the premier summed up, "the leader of the Opposition has condescended to come down from his ethereal wanderings and meaningless exhortations from the habit of prating platitudes with an evangelistic fervor, when he comes down from words to concrete allegations, he can be refuted in every case, just as easily and just as decisively as in the instances I have selected tonight."

The premier answered criticisms that the Government was reactionary and inactive by pointing to its policy of land settlement, its vocational training and re-establishment policy, the nationalization of nearly 20,000 miles of railway, the granting of the franchise to women, to the part taken by Canada in the peace treaty, the League of Nations and the framing of the labor conventions, its schemes of technical education, and its road and house construction.

Deals With Tariff.

The premier then proceeded to deal with the tariff. There were only two tariff principles, he said—protective and free trade. "I believe the protective principle can be abused," he said. "I certainly believe it can be too high. I believe it has been abused. I believe in places and at times it has been too high, but I don't believe it can be abolished. There are many who believe that there is little, if anything, to be lost, and very much to be gained by practically a prohibitive tariff. With that opinion the Government of Canada holds no sympathy, and against the prevalence of that opinion it will stand as firmly as against the prevalence of the opposite opinion, the theory of free trade. If we abandon the principle of protection we will pay a sure and heavy penalty, and every class will share in the calamity. We do not intend any system of shutting out imports. We must hold the level of our tariff down to the minimum that will maintain fair but active competition with industries outside."

The speaker declared that Mr. King was trying to get the free trade votes as well as the votes of those who expect a protective tariff.

"He says," declared the premier, "that he wants union with the farmers, and he says I am trying to keep them from uniting. In the name of common sense, what could I do to keep them from uniting? If the Farmers' party want 'to take account of the needs of industry' then I tell them they want a protective tariff, and they ought to get out in the open and say so. I say let them unite if they want to, and when they do let them tell us just where they all stand, and don't try to hold up two flags, and don't try to get votes on two utterly antagonistic policies. You can't mix salt and moonshine."

Definite Program.

Mr. Meighen stated that when Mr. King himself was in office the tariff on implements averaged 20.18 per cent. and now was 14.64 per cent. The average tariff was now scarcely 23 per cent on dutiable goods.

"The National Liberal and Conservative party," said its leader, "presents a definite program, a definite principle and unmistakably defines where it stands. We present the record of a long list of vigorous legislation. We hold out a program of reform really accomplished, unprecedented in the history of this country. I appeal to the citizens of Canada, east and west, who vision this country as one great unit and not a collection of sections; I appeal to all to measure forces and to look ahead, to have regard to performance and to principle and to know well where they are going. I ask you to consider as citizens of a great country whether it is better to adhere in reason and moderation to policies that have stood the test of forty years, that have been weighed in the balance of two great parties and have not been found wanting—whether it is better to put your trust in men who have stood true in the days of trial and through the night of tragedy and terror rather than to follow the uncertain vagaries of an orator who promises all things to all men.

Development Task.

"The big task of the next few years is the development of the resources of Canada. Constructive plans that bring real results in the development of our resources must be thought out and got under way, and policies consistent with these plans must be pursued. Do not let the west of this country get the idea that the east must remain the business centre, or even the manufacturing centre of this Dominion. A territory that has the coal and the ore and the mineral wealth of Western Canada is bound to become a great industrial land.

"There are those who continue to dote upon the old partisan hatreds, who would divide our politics into narrow groves of bigoted thought, who want a return to the old futile quarrels. These men do not take into account the new spirit created by the war. Do you believe that men and women are not profoundly affected when they see about the scars and sufferings of a scourged and bleeding world? Surely it should teach us to avoid harsh extreme, to avoid the rigid, narrow mould of partisanship which crushes and warps and blinds. Surely it should teach us to stand still firmly together while storms rage round, to march with care, to remember that experience is better than theory, that performance is better than promise, and to hold fast that which is good."

TAKING THE IN OUT OF INDIGESTION

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Are Nicely Balanced to Enable You to Eat What You Like Without Distress.

Indigestion is about the most universal complaint of mankind. And when the stomach is sour, gassy, bloated-like and you get that peculiar bilious taste in the mouth due to indigestion or dyspepsia there is nothing more relieving than one or two Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Many people are afraid of nearly all the good old savory dishes, the fried eggs, sausage, steak and onions and so on, as they usually experience the peculiar acidity which often follows such food. But Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets were designed to supply the stomach with the alkaline effect to offset the acid condition. For this reason many physicians recommend these tablets and you can get them in any drug store at 60 cents a box.

Nova Scotia, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta Join Bone Dry List.

Halifax, N. S., Oct. 25.—At midnight it was estimated that Nova Scotia had gone "bone-dry" by over 30,000 majority.

Incomplete returns received to 10 o'clock tonight indicated that Nova Scotia had voted overwhelmingly in favor of bone-dry prohibition, as a result of today's referendum on the question as to whether or not the importation of liquors for personal use should be continued. Halifax alone, of all the towns heard from, gave a wet majority.

The mining and industrial centres, which many had anticipated would vote wet, went dry by substantial majorities, and early indications were that the province as a whole would go dry by upwards of 15,000 majority. Apparently little interest was taken in the referendum, as an exceptionally small vote was cast. In Halifax City less than one-third of the qualified voters went to the polls. Early returns indicated an even smaller percentage of voters in the rural sections of the province.

MANITOBA BANS LIQUOR.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 25.—The province of Manitoba has voted out the liquor imports in the referendum taken today. Approximately 50 per cent of the whole electorate voted. The majority voted "yes" on the ballots, which will cause the cessation of the liquor supply of the province from interprovincial houses. The city of Winnipeg voted "wet" by around 5,800 majority, but this figure was killed by the vote outside its limits, there being few places besides Winnipeg that voted wet.

Dauphin, Brandon City, Provencher, are among the smaller places to go wet; St. Boniface was very largely so.

So far as tabulated the city of Winnipeg figures are:

Wet, 24,036; dry, 18.225. There are a few more polls to be counted.

CLOSE IN SASKATCHEWAN.

REGINA, Oct. 25. — Saskatchewan will go dry, but the final count will be a fairly close one. Contrary to expectations, Regina City went in the wet column with the figures, dry, 3,217; wet, 3,608.

The other principal cities in the province, Saskatoon and Moose Jaw, have voted dry by close majorities.

It is in the fifteen rural constituencies that the prohibition forces will secure their lead. Returns from many of the polling stations indicate that the wets will be about 7,000 short of a victory.

ALBERTA MAJORITY BIG.

EDMONTON, Alta., Oct. 25.—Returns compiled up to 9:30 tonight indicate that Alberta will go bone dry by a majority of from 15,000 to 20,000. All the cities have gone dry, according to the indications.

ORDER-IN-COUNCIL WILL FIX DATE FOR IMPORTS TO CEASE

OTTAWA, Oct. 25.—(By Canadian Press.)—An order-in-council is to be passed by the Dominion Government fixing the date after which importation of liquor into the provinces which went "bone-dry" today will be prohibited. Under an amendment to the Canadian temperance act, passed last year, it is provivdevd that after the prohibition of importation is declared to be in force liquor shall not be transported into any province, nor manufactured or sold for carriage into such province, and that liquor may be transported though a dry province only by common carriers, and that packages must not be broken during transit. The penalty is to be a fine of from $200 to $1,000 for a first offence, with inprisonment of three to six months in default of payment, and six to twelve months for any subsequent offence.

Inter-provincial trade in liquor has been permitted since last December, when the prohibition order-in-council, a war measure, was rescinded and importation permitted to the consumer. Now all importation into the dry provinces will be prohibited.

KILLED BY AUTO.

TORONTO, Oct. 25.—Frank Munshaw, five years old, was killed today by an automobile driven by Rev. William P. Fletcher, rural superintendent of the Ontario Sunday School Association. The boy darted out to the street so unexpectedly, the minister informed the police, that he could not avert the accident.

Mr. Fletcher was allowed to go.

SECOND HUNGER STRIKER DIES IN JAIL AT CORK

Joseph Murphy, Prominent Athlete and Member of Volunteers, Succumbs.

CORK, Oct. 25.—Joseph Murphy, one of the hunger strikers in Cork jail, died tonight. His death occurred at 8:35 p.m. He was 25 years of age and unmarried.

Murphy was a member of the Irish Volunteers, and was well known as an athlete.

RUM RUNNING GANG ALLEGED TO HAVE CLEARED $1,000,000

Centre of Activities Moved From Detroit River To the St. Clair.

SARNIA, Oct. 25.—Rum running scenes are rapidly shifting from the Detroit River to the St. Clair, according to information made public tonight and many men said to have been former operators along the Windsor river front are now reported to be operating here.

At the present time, it is said there is an organized gang of rum runners operating in Western Ontario, with headquarters in this city, which controls business in this section of the country, owning one of the fastest speed boats on the river, a motor truck and a fleet of automobiles. The gang, which is said to have cleaned up nearly $1,000,000, is believed to be headed by higher ups, who are prominent residents of Sarnia, Brantford, London and Port Huron.

Cleverly Organized.

According to information made public the gang has organized a company with Montreal as the shipping headquarters. The "moist goods" are shipped via motor cars from the Quebec city to Brantford. At this latter city the consignments are placed aboard a motor truck and the shipment is sent on to the Imperial City. In Sarnia the consignments are said to always arrive at the water front at a given spot between Corunna and Point Edward. The fast speed boat with her engine humming is anchored against the shore. The cargo is quickly transferred and so far as the company on this side of the border is concerned, there is nothing left but the dividing up of the money secured from the cargo that has been successfully run over the St. Clair River.

NO TRACE OF MAN MISSING FOR FOUR DAYS FROM HOME

ALVINSTON, Oct. 25.—Anxiety continues to grow in the minds of the friends of A. Shortt, farmer of Brooke Township, who has been missing from his home since Friday morning, as another day wanes without news of his whereabouts being secured.

During the day a rumor was current here that Shortt had been seen working on a farm at Shetland, but this report was later contradicted, and fears that he has committed suicide continue to grow. Mr. Shortt has been in poor health lately, never having properly recovered from an attack of influenza, which he suffered from last year, and his friends fear that in a temporary fit of depression he has done away with himself.

The investigation of a story told by a small boy that he had seen Mr. Shortt going toward the river, led to the river being dragged, but without result.

It is known that the missing man had for some time thought of going to Texas for the winter, and in the minds of his friends there is still the hope that news may yet reach them that he has gone south.

WEAK, NERVOUS CHILDREN QUICKLY GAIN STRENGTH UNDER FOLLOWING PLAN

Nervousness, just like weakness, is a family predisposition. We inherit tendencies to disease, just as we inherit physical resemblances. The strain of study, social duties, work at home—these all tend to make nervous troubles among children. No wonder that St. Vitus' Dance, Epilepsy, and constant headaches have become alarmingly common. Pale, nervous, listless young people are met everywhere.

It is nothing short of criminal for parents to neglect signs of weakness in their children. By ignoring the slightest symptom of nervous or mental strain, you may condemn your child to life-long invalidism. If any member of your family complains of headaches, fear of going into dark places, give them that wonderful tonic, "Ferrozone." Strength of body and mind, hardy nerves, ability to study with comfort, all the attributes of health quickly follow the use of Ferrozone. It establishes strength, color, endurance, vim—does this by filling the whole system with nourishment and tissue-forming materials.

It's because we know the enormous good that Ferrozone will do, because we are sure every child and even grown folks, will be permanently benefited, that we urge you to give it a trial. All dealers sell Ferrozone in 50c boxes, six for $2.50, or direct by mail from The Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

KING MAKES PLEA FOR UNITY AMONG PROGRESSIVE FORCES

Liberal Leader Addresses Two Meetings At Regina, Urging Farmers, Labor, Women's Organizations and Liberals To Get Together Against Reactionary Meighen.

REGINA, Oct. 25.—Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King addressed two meetings here tonight. Both were well attended. Assisting the Liberal leader were W. C. Kennedy, M.P., William Duff, M.P., and Hon. W. F. A. Turgeon, provincial attorney-general.

Mr. King made an appeal to his audiences to strive for a reunion of the progressive forces of the country against what he described as "the reactionary influences dominating the present Administration at Ottawa." These forces, which Mr. King stated have common grounds of agreement in their various platforms, publicly adopted, are the Liberal party, the Farmers of the West, the Labor organizations and the organized bodies among the women voters. He alleged that the present attempts to break up the progressive forces into various opposed groups were inspired by the backers of the National Liberal and Conservative party.

At noon Mr. King and the members of his party were entertained at the Assiniboia Club, together with Hon. W. M. Martin, premier of the province; the Hon Getorge Langley, minister of agriculture, and other members of the provincial cabinet. After the luncheon a round-table conference of those present was held, the subjects of discussion being the present relationship of various political forces in the West, with special reference to the movement back to the Liberal party of those members who supported the Union in the West in 1917.

BRIEF ILLNESS PROVES FATAL TO GREEK KING

Alexander Succumbs To Infection From Wounds—Attacked by Monkey.

ATHENS, Oct. 25.—King Alexander of Greece died this evening at 5:20. His death was due to wounds which he had received in an attack on him by a pet monkey early in October, the king being badly mutilated.

Throughout last night the heart action grew weaker, his general disability became more pronounced and pulmonary symptoms were intense. Breathing at times was most difficult and alarming, and at noon today it was announced that the king's condition was hopeless.

Alexander succeeded to the throne of Greece in June, 1917, when his father, King Constantine, abdicated in response to the demand of France, Great Britain and Russia, the three powers which had guaranteed the constitutional liberties of the Greek people. Alexander was the second son of Constantine, and at the time of his succession was not quite 24 years old. His elder brother, Crown Prince George, was considered ineligible for the throne because of alleged pro-German sympathies.

In any event, King Constantine nominated Alexander to succeed him. The fall of Constantine had been brought about through the agency of the French senator, M. Jennart, who went to Athens in June, 1917, as a representative of the three great powers, on the ground that this step would establish unity of feeling among the Greeks and greater security for the Entente forces then operating in the East. Constantine had been accused of pro-German sympathies, partly on account of his marriage to the Princess Sophie, sister of the then Emperor William of Germany, and it was charged that he had not acted honorably toward the Allies. Alexander, on the other hand, was reported to be free from pro-German proclivities. Constantine left Athens and took up his residence in Switzerland.

TRUE BILL IS FOUND AGAINST LORNE HELMER

Young Walsingham Farmer Must Stand Trial On Murder Charge.

COURT IS CROWDED

Mother, Wife and Child of Accused Are in Attendance.

[By Staff Reporter.]

SIMCOE, Oct. 25.—A true bill of murder was brought in against Lorne E. Helmer, a 19-year-old Walsingham Township farmer, by the grand jury sitting at the fall assizes which opened here this afternoon. Helmer will stand trial Tuesday for the murder of James A. Learn, alleged to have been committed on the Helmer farm, near Silver Hill, on July 13 last.

According to the evidence submitted, the aged victim was struck down by Helmer during an altercation regarding administration of the farm which terminated in a fatal fisticuff encounter between the accused and Learn. The body of Learn was discovered by the county police two weeks after the affray buried in a skunk burrow near the scene of his death.

Information supplied by Charles Helmer of Sparta, 15-year-old brother of the prisoner, led to the discovery. Charles swore that he saw the fight and that his brother later informed him that he had buried the body.

Lorne Helmer, who served overseas during the war, is defended by W. E. Kelly, K.C., Arthur Slaght, K.C., son of Crown Attorney T. R. Slaght, will conduct the prosecution, and Mr. Justice Kelly is presiding.

In addition to the wife and infant daughter of the accused, the latter being born since her father's arrest, Mrs. Helmer, Sen., mother of Lorne, and his brother Charles were present in the courtroom today.

The case has aroused widespread interest throughout Norfolk County, and scores of district residents of both sections packed the courtroom to capacity this afternoon in a vain effort to obtain a glimpse of the youthful prisoner, who was not brought from his cell in the jail below.

IRELAND LIKE VAST ARMED CAMP, BUT APPEARS PROSPEROUS

Windsor Man Tells His Impressions of the Emerald Isle.

WINDSOR, Oct. 25.—"Ireland has the appearance of a vast armed camp. Motor lorries protected in front and rear by armored cars, are a common scene in the streets of Dublin. The extreme Sinn Feiners are in control, and there seems to be no reasonable attempt to obtain a settlement of the problems there."

Summarized briefly, this is the condition of the Emerald Isle at the present time, according to Arthur Fitzgerald, well-known Windsor businessman, as he told of his recent trip to that country, before the local Rotary Club today.

"Although the Sinn Feiners are demanding complete independence, the general sentiment of the people is not so extreme," he said. "The people are in a very nervous state, from daily and nightly raids by the opposing factions for arms. The Sinn Feiners are arming their forces in this way, while the Government's Black and Tan police are confiscating all firearms."

Conditions generally in Ireland, Mr. Fitzgerald told his hearers, were otherwise apparently prosperous, with considerable building activity in Dublin and other large centres, and with money showing no evidence of being "tight."

LICENSE COMMISSIONERS SEE NO CAUSE FOR ANY IMMEDIATE ACTION

Friction Between Officials at the Border Admitted by Flavelle.

TORONTO, Oct. 25.—Chairman J. D. Flavelle of the Ontario License Board had a conference at the Parliament Buildings today with Attorney-General Raney on the Windsor situation.

"There is friction there, I believe, but we do not intend to interfere," said Mr. Flavelle, when asked what the Ontario License Board intended to do in reference to the dispute at Windsor between Rev. J. O. L. Spracklin, special officer to enforce the O. T. A., and Chief Inspector Mousseau of that place.

WAITING INSTRUCTIONS.

WINDSOR, Oct. 25.—Pending word from the license department at Toronto, the feud between Rev. J. O. L. Spracklin, "fighting parson" of the border, and License Inspector Mousseau, and between the minister and that section of border residents who are objecting to his tactics in rounding up rum-runners, remained unchanged tonight, with the exception of a hot denial issued by the minister-liquor agent, in which he declared stories in circulation as to his resignation were totally without foundation.

License Inspector Mousseau declared he had no further time to discuss the controversy in which he has become embroiled with the fighting parson, following his demand that the matter be brought under the authority of his office.

At The Theaters

AT THE GRAND.

A delightfully clean and entertaining bill at the Grand Opera House, which will be repeated again this afternoon and evening, delighted a capacity house last night. Beautiful Olive Thomas in "The Flapper" is the headliner, and kept the audience in shouts of laughter. From start to finish there is action and real fun in "The Flapper," and Miss Thomas made the most of an unlimited number of situations offering ideal opportunities for her talent. The role of the pretty but impish and altogether irresponsible "flapper" as taken by Miss Thomas made one thankful that he did not have the position of principal of a young girl's school. The scrapes that the flapper gets into, and the pranks she plays and her love affairs provide an evening's real comedy with laughs crowded into every second.

The production is beautifully staged, and the settings both in Orange Springs, the flapper's home town in the South and in the vicinity of New York, where she is sent to school are most picturesque. The boarding school, filled with young girls just teaching the budding point of life, romantic, adventurous, wistful, yet withal mischievous and full of pep, was unusually good. The humor throughout is of the variety that keeps one chuckling continuously and is never forced.

Interwoven into the plot is a robbery with real crooks who rob the girls' boarding school and lure the "flapper" away to New York by a mysterious telegram. In New York the comedy is changed to thrills and with detectives working on the case there are many interesting situations which are well worked out.

An added touch of interest in the whole piece is added by the recent tragic death of the beautiful little film favorite while in France.

A vaudeville feature that brought repeated encores last night was the musical work of Reeder and Armstrong. These boys can make a piano do anything but talk, and they were brought back time after time.

The bill includes a bright comic film, featuring Mr. and Mrs. Carter Haven, and a special news feature. The performance will be repeated this afternoon and evening.

JOHNSON RECITAL TOMORROW NIGHT.

London to Hear Greatest Living Tenor.

Talking with Edward Johnson, the opera tenor, an interviewer ventured the question: "Why did you drop completely out of the musical news when you sailed for Italy several years ago? Suddenly the public missed your name, but only a few in professional circles knew what had become of you, and apparently you did not want anyone to hear of your work; what was the idea?"

And then Mr. Johnson told him a few things that showed very clearly what kind of a man he is. First of all he said in his easy, frank manner: "You know that talk is the cheapest thing in the world, and the bigger, the cheaper. I had seen a dozen young singers headed for Italy at various times, and as each mounted the gangplank he or she gave forth a statement substantially like this: 'Keep your eye on me! I'm going abroad to get European prestige, and in a few years I'll be back to show America what I can do!' Well, little Eddie made up his mind long in advance that if he ever got the chance to go abroad he would sail away at midnight, and let the country forget him if it wanted to; and then, if he did make a name in European opera houses and America called him back he would come, but not before. I was so determined to lose my identity and escape musical correspondence that I changed my name as soon as I reached Italy; I turned into 'Eduardo Giovanni' and began my work absolutely unknown. I only wrote to a very few close friends at home, and even to them I said practically nothing of my progress. After a year or two things seemed to brighten and I was fortunate in securing a place at La Scala. I happened to be cast in an ideal role for me, and—well, suddenly I found myself a celebrity."

Mr. Johnson will undoubtedly create a sensation here as he did in Detroit last Thursday evening, when he was tendered the greatest ovation ever given a singer in that city. Mr. Johnson is to sing in Hamilton on this tour, and the house was entirely sold out the second day of the sale. Good seats are still to be obtained at the theatre, and it is hoped that London will not be behind in showing honor to this Canadian who has won such prestige for himself and his native land.

"THE BABES IN THE WOOD."

Mr. F. Stuart Whyte's new $30,000 pantomime "Babes in the Wood," will be presented at the Grand on Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings and Saturday matinee at 2:30, with a company of 40 people and most lavish scenic display. All other efforts of Mr. Whyte to present this popular form of entertained have been excelled in the present production of the great English pantomime. There are twelve scenes of remarkable splender, and the costumes are a marvel of beauty in medieval affects. The company contains the names of many persons prominent in musical productions in England, and the dancing will be a big feature performance. Besides the two little child stars, Dorothy McKay and May Strachan, are Charles Cardel and Harriette Fawn, who become popular with their Cockney delineations, and Victor Dyer and Thomas Ellis. Reginald Hunckes and Frank Gilliens, also clever English actors, have been engaged, and the Canadian Comedian, George H. Sumers, will play the most laughable part of Captain Kidd, the bold buccaneer, who quits the Spanish Main to go into real estate business. The principal boy this year will be Miss Mona Warren, a stately beauty with a magnificent voice, whom Mr. Whyte expects will charm Canadians by her splendid vocal abilities and winsome stage presence. The dancing will be supervised by Mme. Jean Van Vlissingen, who brings her talented troupe of dancing stars to interpret the terpsichorean interpolations. This glorious galaxy of beauty and talent is the master effort of this well-known producer to entertain his patrons. No one can afford to miss the pantomime this year, for it is an epoch-making pesentation in the theatre.

Seats now on sale. Secure them early.

THE ROYAL ENGLISH OPERA CO.

It is an interesting fact that Jefferson De Angelis, who will appear as Ko-Ko in the production of "The Mikado" when it is presented by the Royal English Opera Company during their engagement at the Grand for four days next Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings and special Wednesday matinee, was the second man to be seen in Gilbert's greatest comedy character, when the opera was first produced some thirty years ago. Mr. De Angelis was at that time in South Africa. The score of "The Mikado" had been sent to Cape Town about two months before the first performance was given in London. It was immediately put into rehearsal and the opening in the South African metropolis took place just three days after the initial performance at the Savoy Theatre, London. Mr. De Angelis was also the first Ko-Ko of the great Sullivan and Gilbert revival in New York, a few years ago—the Yum Yum at that time being Fritzie Sheff; the Poo Bah, De Wolf Hopper; the Pitti-Sing, Lulu Glaser; the Nanki-Poo, Andrew Mack and the Mikado, George Macfarlane. Other operas to be produced by the Royal English Opera Company on this tour are "H. M. S. Pinafore," "The Pirates of Penzance," "Gondoliers," "Trial by Jury," "The Chimes of Normandy" and "The Bohemian Girl." The seat sale opens Thursday. Mail orders now.

AT THE ALLEN.

When the western cowpunchers were in their glory, branding of cattle was a common occurrence, but never until "The Branding Iron" was flashed on the screen was the branding of a woman, as a sign that she was a man's property, shown. This powerful film drama held the interest of large audiences at the Allen Theatre yesterday until the last foot of film was run off.

Pierre Landis made the greatest mistake of his career as a lover when he allowed the seeds of distrust to enter his mind. He never stopped to reason out any matter, not even an affair of love. He was always quick to take action.

One day when he returned home from a jaunt on the trail and found that his wife had entertained the parson of the district, jealousy spurred him on to fury. He would not listen to the explanation that the minister's horse had picked up a pebble and was forced to halt. Instead he heated a branding iron, and with a curse on his lips put its cruel mark in the white flesh of his wife. His only remark was: "That will show the world that you belong to me."

Then enters into the story a third party, a man from down east, who conspires to win Joan, the branded one (Barbara Castleton), from her husband. Tense situations and thrills crowd one upon the other, but in the end husband and wife are reunited, he craving forgiveness for his mad act.

"Why Husbands Flirt," a Christie comedy, although replete with humor, is a picture which should be a lesson to newly-weds who can't stay home. Hubby was tired of living in but two places, namely, home and the office. He wanted to get out under the bright lights again. His desire got the best of him, and he went out "mashing." However, he picked the wrong girl, for she is a school chum of his wife, and after the two females show him that he is not "putting one over" on friend wife, he repents. From then on, strange women are the least of his thoughts.

An overture, Rubenstein's "Kamenoi Ostrow," by the Allen orchestra, is a feature of the program. Chester Outing Pictures and Allen's Canadian News complete a well-balanced performance, which will be repeated today and Wednesday.

AT LOEW'S THEATRE.

"A Cumberland Romance," an excellent photo dramatization of the novel "A Mountain Europa," by John Fox, is showing at Loew's Theatre today, having made its first appearance yesterday in company with an excellent vaudeville bill. Mary Miles Minter is the star, who lends great attraction to the picture by her delightful acting. She plays the part of a pretty maiden of the mountains, who though completely unsophisticated as to the ways of the city, is well versed in the life of her drunken brute father and his associates. Her homes is situated amid the most fascinating of mountain scenery, and into this environment fate sends a man from the city, the son of a wealthy father, who comes to the mountains prospecting. Between these two—the timid and illiterate mountain girl and the young man of the city—springs up a delightful comradeship, which finally they mistake for love.

The theme of the picture is to prove that two such absolutely different people, trained along such different lines, cannot possibly be mated happily. But it is not until the very moment of the wedding that the girl discovers her true lover of the mountain in a most sensational manner. But to tell would be to spoil the story.

The picture is staged well and possesses the charm of the mountains in its scenery.

Besides the picture, three very fine vaudeville acts are given. There is "Cunningham and Doretta," a pair of comic acrobats, one a veritable clown of clowns in his utter foolishness. There is Cook and Oatman, two singers, a man and woman, who made a decided hit if the hand-clapping bringing them back to the stage is any evidence. And lastly, there is "Mills and Smith," two absolutely silly creatures, who brought roars of laughs with every gesture and saying. They, too, were recalled by an audience convulsed.

A comedy film and news pictorials completed the program.

AT THE PATRICIA.

Master of mental mystery, Dr. Zell Hunt at the Patricia Theatre, before highly-pleased but considerably mystified audiences twice yesterday, demonstrated some of the little-known facts of mental science along lines of hypnotism and telepathy. So-called mind-reading acts on the stage are common enough, but Dr. Hunt is one of the few genuine mind-readers on the vaudeville circuits.

The card tricks with which he opened his performance would have been clever tricks for a magician, but alert and skeptical members of the audience who were asked to select cards were soon convinced that it was feats of genuine telepathy or thought-transference they were witnessing.

The hynotic part of the exhibition illustrated five different degrees of hypnotism, according to Dr. Hunt's classification, and some of the antics of the volunteer subjects who found their way to the platform were humorous in the extreme. Several of the subjects who offered themselves were pretty well convinced beforehand that they could not be hypnotized, and this added considerably to the height of the entertainment which followed.

An instructive free-and-easy talk by Dr. Hunt precedes the entertainment, and the importance of thought control, the cultivation of habits of right thinking and constructive, optimistic and confident mental attitudes is impressed upon the audience. Dr. Hunt will appear at the Patricia all this week, and will vary his program during the week with exhibitions of phrenological readings and character analysis.

An excellent picture program is offered in addition to Dr. Hunt's entertainment, and a very clever and beautiful roller-skating novelty act by Gere and Delaney.

The feature film is "The Deep Purple," a high-class story of mystery, love and adventure; a two-reel western drama; a really funny comedy, "A Gunshot Wedding," and news films.

VERY MUCH ALIVE.

The amount of new capital solicited for business enterprises in Great Britain during the first eight months of the current year has reached £294,509,849, or more than £50,000,000 in excess of the entire new capital issues for the year 1913, which established the previous high record.

The reduced amount in August is accounted for by the intervention of the holiday season. In the twelve months, ending August 31, 1920, the British public has been asked to subscribe £408,667,468 for the financing of English enterprises. Due allowance for the decreased purchasing power of the British pound must enter when comparison is made with the pre-war amount of new capital issues.

These huge figures show that the Motherland is very very much alive. With the world markets open as a result of the Germans being eliminated British firms are preparing for hitherto undreamed-of expansion. It is a pretty generally accepted axiom in the commercial world that the merchant or the firm who is prepared to supply good merchandise at reasonable prices will have no difficulty in obtaining business. Britain's steadily swelling trade figures, and especially those in the export column, show that British enterprise is being rewarded, and richly rewarded. In the meantime, England realizes that in order to maintain commercial world supremacy she must enlarge her facilities for transportation and a huge shipbuilding program is under way. It is significant of British enterprise also that Britain is leading the van in the development of aviation, and there is little doubt that the next decade is going to see marvellous strides made in this comparatively new branch of science. When one remembers the progress made in the automobile business in ten years it more easily realized what are the possibilities of aviation.

GROWTH OF THE GRAIN ELEVATOR.

The grain elevator system has grown enormously in Canada and developed rapidly in the last few years. This growth and development have so far been mainly confined to the Prairie Provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, but the system is attracting more and more attention in the other provinces, particularly in Ontario, where several wheat-growing and shipping centres, notably Toronto, are agitating for the erection of elevators. Nor is it only in numbers that the system has extended, but the increase in size has been such that some of the structures can fairly be termed mammoth, such, for instance, as those at the head of the lakes. There are, according to Hon. George Langley, minister of municipal affairs for Saskatchewan, no fewer than 3,600 elevators in the three provinces referred to, from 40 to 60 feet high and capable of storing from 20,000 to 30,000 bushels apiece on the average, a few reaching to twice the greatest enumerated capacity. In other words, upwards of 110,000,000 bushels of wheat can thus be stored at the one time. By the terms of the Canada grain act, the owners of the elevators, mostly private individuals or incorporated companies, are compelled to accept all grain offered by farmers, unless wet or unstorable with safety, hence the general and common use of the system. The elevators are all licensed by and are under the supervision of the Board of Grain Commissioners of Canada.

MR. POWERS AND THE HYDRO INQUIRY.

[Financial Post.]

Ample justification for the policy of the Drury Government in the investigation of the hydro radial projects of Sir Adam Beck and the Hydro-Electric Commission is indicated in the testimony already submitted. The preliminary cross-examination of Mr. Gaby by Mr. Robertson has led to admissions which were alone sufficient to show that the estimates put before the commission were not those voted upon by the municipalities and presented to the government early last summer with a demand for bond guarantees running into millions. If the project is to proceed one of the first steps must be to have the bylaws again submitted to the ratepayers. And it is to be seriously doubted whether this will ever be done, in view of the revelations being made as to operating costs, prospective profits, etc.

Had the inquiry not been held the credit of the government and of the Hydro-Electric Commission and of the municipalities would undoubtedly have been pledged, the money raised, the rights of way purchased, and the construction of the railways proceeded with upon estimated costs of construction and operation which were wrong.

Effective steps are being taken to put the real situation before the people of the province, although, of course, the newspaper supporters of the Beck program have done nothing to really analyze the evidence. At a U. F. O. meeting at Newmarket President A. A. Powers of the Farmers' Co-operative Company did not mince words in dealing with the situation, when he declared that "never had a public investigation been more quickly justified."

The Toronto Eastern estimated cost had been increased over $18,000 per mile, Mr. Powers submitted, or more than the entire cost per mile of the radial now running from Hamilton to Beamsville. The interest rate, it was now admitted, must be 6 per cent, as against 5 which the Hydro had the hardihood to submit to the municipalities and the government. Decreased operating expenses with increased earnings involved some astonishing figures, which, if they had been put forward by anybody but the Hydro, "would have been laughed to scorn by the newspaper twins of Melinda street."

Alleges "Flim-Flam" Methods.

The ratio of operating expenses to revenue had been reduced from 58.9 to 49.3, according to Mr. Gaby. The drop from 58 to 49 was 15 per cent. Mr. Gaby professed that it was due to increased passenger rates that were to be charged in comparison with those presented to the government and the municipalities. But "anybody with a respect for simple arithmetic could see what a flim-flam this was."

Mr. Gaby admitted that the Ontario railway act allowed a maximum of 2 cents per mile for passenger fares on Ontario electric railways. But "of course at the Hydro's bidding, the Legislature was to allow the Hydro to increase rates beyond the present law, and thus cause an increase of rates on every electric road operated under a provincial charter. Mr. Gaby said the estimated fare was raised from 2 to 2⅞ cents per mile, to come up to the London and Port Stanley, which, until Mr. Gaby spoke, thousands of people had believed was charging only a cent a mile. That was an increase of over 43 per cent over what was lawful when the bylaws were voted on. But the gross passenger earnings of the Toronto Eastern outside the city were only to increase 7.3 per cent—"which suggested that there was something fishy about the way either the first or the second estimates had been prepared."

On Basis of London System.

Mr. Gaby had admitted that if the operating ratio of the Toronto Eastern under the new estimates worked out at the 58.9 per cent represented to the government, there would be a deficit. He also admitted that if the interest were raised to 6 per cent, and the gross earnings remained where they were estimated to the government, there would be a deficit The London-Port Stanley line had been held up to the people as the model public ownership project. Its operating ratio, with increased passenger and freight rates, had gone up to 70. If the six-mile city end of the Toronto Eastern were run on the London and Port Stanley's proportion of expenses to earnings, and if it carried 11,000,000 passengers a year, there would be a deficit of $223,000.

The Toronto Eastern, said Mr. Powers, was the only road whose operating and revenue estimates had been presented to the Sutherland commission. But it was possible to judge of the mess that had been made of things from the construction estimates of the Toronto, Hamilton and St. Catharines line. With regard to the section of line between Hamilton and St. Catharines, the mere construction costs of 27½ miles had been raised to a point which exceeded, by over $10,000 per mile, the entire amount voted upon by the municipalities concerned for construction and equipment. On the most conservative computation, the line that was estimated to cost the municipalities $122,000 per mile was now to cost over $182,000 per mile. A retroactive law had been passed, since the vote, which compelled the municipalities each to shoulder a proportion of the liability.

Reckless Legislative Manipulation.

It had been shown at the inquiry, Mr. Powers said, that not one of the radial agreements accepted by the municipalities had fulfilled the law. They had first violated the law, and had then been shamelessly validated by "processes unknown to British legislatures until the Beck supremacy in Ontario."

When the facts really reached the people, Mr. Powers said, "they would recognize the unparalleled autocracy they had allowed to be set up in their midst—an autocracy that was as reckless of the established safeguards of responsible government as it was ruthless in its lordship over the municipalities whose unquestioning servant it loudly professed to be. The truth was that the late government was overawed by the body it had created. It passed legislation that would be unbelievable if it were not in cold print."

"Ontario has been the scene of an organized idolatry that had nothing to learn from Potsdam. Never before had it been a British law that a body, the creation of a legislature, could spend trust funds without regard to the purposes for which they had been subscribed."

Mr. Powers quoted from the act amending the power commission act, Section 4, Subsection 6b:

"All special funds and the income and all moneys and revenues which now are in or shall come into the hands of the commission, whether as agent, trustee, owner or otherwise, shall form one fund to be called 'General Fund,' and the commission shall have power from time to time to make any and all expenditures out of the said fund for the purposes and objects of the commission without regard to the special trusts or purposes under which the same or any part thereof may come to its hands."

Never before had a minister of the crown attempted to destroy responsible government by demanding that servants of the crown, hitherto holding office during pleasure only, should be independent of "any department or any minister." This had been done by Sir Adam Beck during the war, "and had been applauded by men who were vowed to be true to the responsible government for the inviolability for which Canadians were dying in thousands."

Never before had a servant of the crown been known openly to charge the King's Government with "effrontery" when that government merely asked for the details of proposed expenditures of public money to be submitted to it. This had been done by Sir Adam Beck.

Never had the King's Government "been threatened with a revolution if it did not keep its hands off an international question that was the subject of international treaty. This was done publicly last March by Sir Adam Beck in Toronto."

DOT AND DASH.

[Kingston Whig.]

A telegraph operator at Chicago has named his twin daughters Dot and Dash. This reminds us of a Frontenac farmer by the name of New who, some years ago, named his first child "Something" because it was something new, and the second child "Nothing," because it was nothing new.

PRICES AND THE PUBLIC.

[Brockville Recorder.]

The public which pays the bills, the economist who calculates how large those bills ought to be, and the manufacturer, wholesaler, other middlemen and the retailer who makes out the bills, have been engaged lately in heated discussions as to whether prices had really begun permanently to recede. Arguments on both sides of the question have been supported by many facts. Those who held that prices had passed their peak pointed to the fact that stores which had engaged in recent cut price sales had stated that lack of buying on the part of the public had forced them to lower prices in order to move stocks; that the public, in other words, had adopted the advice of the savings division of the United States treasury department and ceased buying until prices receded to more moderate levels. Those who urged that prices remain high pointed to the still existent shortage in supply of essentials, and predicted that any recessions from high prices must be temporary until supply had definitely and finally overtaken demand. In the meantime Current Affairs, the Boston mercantile weekly, which is regarded as authoritative on matters concerning the shoe and leather market, makes a definite prediction as to the future trend in the price of shoes. Current Affairs says:

"General opinion throughout the trade appears to be that the peak of leather and footwear prices has definitely been reached, and that from now on there will be at least a gradual decline. In other words, it looks as if everyone, from hide dealer to shoe retailer, would have to adjust himself to the new conditions arising from the refusal of consumers to buy any more footwear until they find where they are 'getting.'"

From Here and There

THE CHANGING ORDER.

[Philadelphia Public Ledger.]

Anyone who reads the newspapers is aware that strikes are not so fashionable as they were a year ago, either in the United States or in Europe. The British coal miners have in a few months abandoned one strike plan after another. They are eager for arbitration. Threats of an anthracite strike have been made in this state, but the miners' leaders are now seeking to have wage disputes settled "without the interruption of production." The fact is that labor and the employers alike have been learning some bitter lessons. Everybody loses in a strike. After idleness and hardship and loss on both sides, every great labor question is settled on a basis that would have been easily attainable through peaceful discussion.

WASTE OF FRUIT.

[Montreal Gazette.]

The dispatches say that in certain parts of the country hundreds of tons of apples and peaches are rotting, because of an insufficiency of cars and baskets. If this is the case, it is a serious indictment against all and sundry who have anything to do in the handling and shipping of the fruit. It has often been remarked that we get the "culls" of the fruit, while in London our rosy apples are in every shop window at a price considerably less than we pay for the inferior grades. Owing to the price, many of our own people are unable to enjoy a fruit of which it is said that "one a day will keep the doctor away." In view, alike of economic and dietetic considerations, the waste referred to should be made impossible in the future.

REMARKABLE DISCOVERY.

[Quebec Telegraph.]

Another wonderful discovery in electricity is announced from Copenhagen which is claimed is destined to make such a revolution in telegraphy that it will be possible to transmit messages either by wire or wireless at a speed of 600 words a minute, or many times faster than now possible. The new discovery is said to have been made by two Danish engineers named Rahbeck and Johnsen, the main features of which is based upon the fact, hitherto unknown, that by passing an electric current over certain surfaces, such, for instance as lithographic stone, a magnetic current of an absolutely new nature is engendered. A demonstration recently made at the Polytechnic Institution is said to have proved all that the inventors claim for their discovery. Should further tests confirm the results of the demonstration in question, the world of telegraphy is certainly on the eve of wonderful developments.

HOME-BUILDING AND LABOR.

[Architecture.]

It is labor in the guise of carpenters and masons and others who are making home-building for thousands impossible. There is an evident downward trend in the cost of materials, lumber, cement, brick, but labor stands pat, and those who might build are appalled by the cost of labor calculated in day's work. If labor worked with the zeal of honest craftsmen in honest work, the day's accomplishment in speed might offset the heavy toll in the cost per hour. But the conscience of labor in the mass seems to have become atrophied. It is no longer how much can he do, but how little; and the old pride in the good work, the self-respect that belonged with an honest day's work honestly done, and as fair as it could be done, no longer governs the lazy, the inefficient and the trouble-makers, who would live as the lilies of the field, are at par with men of real skill and special knowledge.

In figuring the cost of building any sort of a house in these days, one should begin with the cost of labor, and add to any estimate of before-war times anywhere from 30 to 40 cents an hour for every man employed, and remember also to deduct about the same ratio for inefficiency.

It is labor that must be awakened to the need of greater production within a given time, if wages are to be maintained and the work of rehabilitating the world, of making life easier for labor and for us all, is to be realized.

There are already signs that some wise heads are beginning to see light.

GERMANY'S TRADE PLANS.

[The Empire Mail.]

There seems to have been a tendency among some British exporting firms to cry "Wolf" too soon in connection with German "dumping." Every time an article of German origin is found in a foreign market, it should not be assumed that that market is being lost to British exporters. After all, the German must trade somewhere, if he is to be in a position to pay an indemity. The premature cry of "Wolf" is all the more regrettable because it may yet have to be used in earnest.

The German Government has changed. The Socialists no longer rule the roost, although, owing to their power (the Social Democrats are still the largest party in parliament), they have to be considered. Men like Hugo Stinnes have a say in matters, and there is a large section of plutocrats in Germany who hate the worker far more than they ever hated the English. These men have now a voice in the government. They are clever and unscrupulous. They have what is still "cheap labor" at their command (having regard to rates of exchange and world prices), and, should the mark again fall, will have command of extremely cheap labor. At present these great German combines are fettered by the chains of home and international politics, but their claws are not cut. To vary the metaphor, the great German machine stands more or less idle, but intact. The German exporter's brain is not idle, and he is formulating plans for recapturing his export trade of pre-war days, and getting a good share of the Britisher's as well. South America is his first objective, and the statistics of the number of German immigrants to the Latin-American republics since the armistice would be instructive. While present conditions continue, it is the Britisher's duty to get a firm foothold in these markets that are sure to be contested later, remembering that Germany's difficulties (and at present they are almost overwhelming) are England's opportunities.

CITY NOISES.

[New York Tribune.]

Everyone has a pet abhorrence in the noise line that seems to go to the heart of his being, whereas other noises roll off his soul unnoticed. For one person it is an old-fashioned truck clattering over cobble stones, for another the pneumatic riveter, for another the squawking motor horn. A correspondent who advocates sleigh bells for automobiles to replace horns is looking forward to a far ampler Utopia than this crowded town can ever be again. The automobile's sudden warning is necessary for the sake of the pedestrian quite as much as for the driver.

But if a town cannot be made empty of noise, it might at least be made less raucous than at present. Effort by the authorities would surely result in noise reduction. Voluntary effort by organizations might do even more. Automobile manufacturers and clubs could maintain an active campaign against noise. The muffler cut-out has gone. A new standard of effectiveness in mufflers could be established. The most raucous horns could be tempered. A scientific effort to achieve a signal capable of gradations and distinctly agreeable in its normal, minimum warning, could be begun. Most of all, drivers could be urged to use their warning signals sparingly. Unnecessary tooting is the worst offender among auto noises.

A MOVE AGAINST AUTO SPEEDERS.

[Worcester Telegram.]

There is nothing novel in the action of the state registrar of motor vehicles in taking away the licenses of 63 motorists in the state, other than that such deprivation came on a single day. In a statement following this wholesale attempt to regulate the reckless drivers, Mr. Goodwin, however, discloses the result of investigation of more than 100 fatal automobile accidents, and places the blame for most of them on one single factor—overspeeding. That this suspension of licenses is not a sporadic move, but the beginning of a campaign, is suggested by the statement that hereafter the registrar's office "will suspend licenses of drivers upon conviction." That may be a warning to the speeders. If a man arrested for over-speeding knows he will in all probability draw a fine from the court, and possibly a warning from the registrar, he will take the chance. If, however, he knows that conviction for over-speeding automatically suspends his driving license, he may think twice before "stepping on the gas." Many remedies have been suggested for this habit of mind which drives a death-dealing agency through crowded thoroughfares with no regard for the rights of others, which speeds past intersecting roads, which relies on speed, and speed only, to escape accident to the driver, and in some cases responsibility for accident. Revocation of driving licenses upon conviction for speeding, knowledge that such revocation will automatically follow, is mild punishment, but may reduce the number of accidents. At any rate, it is a step forward in a campaign against an increasing danger.

BALLADE OF FORGOTTEN WARS.

[Thomas Jeffries Betts, in Scribners'.]

Bayard quitted him valiantly.
Alexander and Kublai Khan
Led their hosts right skilfully,
Hamilcar, Hannibal, Charlemagne,
Attila, Alaric, Ghengis Khan—
Pray now, reader, can you say why
They conquered, or whom they overran?
Wars are remembered by those who die.

What was Parma's battle-cry?
And what was Scipio's slogan?
With what half truths did Pharoah lie,
As he battled off the African?
Right and wrong, in time's brief span,
Our combats fade dissolubly:
Gone are the empires that they began:
Wars are remembered by those who die.

God, on whose aid we all rely,
Jew and Gentile and Turkoman,
Hold 'gainst our prayers relentlessly
The lesson of strife since the world began:
Ere we join battle, van to van,
And the throaty cannot make reply,
Whisper this to each fighting man.
"Wars are remembered by those who die."

AMID THE LABOR UNREST.

"The late William Dean Howells," said a publisher, "was an incurable optimist.

"I called on Mr. Howells one day, and as I lit a cigarette I complained about the quality of the matches.

"This complaint brought on Mr. Howells' optimism beautifully. His eyes twinkled and he said:

"'Let us be grateful, in days like these, for something that doesn't strike.'"

OLD FRIENDS.

[Iris Tree.]

Give me my old coat again
That I have worn through many days of rain,
Whose hue is varied, ripened by the sun
To subtle patterns: give me one
Of my old books to read by firelight half asleep,
Whose effaced memories leave gaps of deep
Conjecture over thoughts that lie in rest
Beneath their placed linen. Let the blest
White hands of silence touch me, and the white
Cool hands of rivers soothing through the night;
Give me my old town again
That I have watched through ghostly scarves of rain,
Through fringes of pale lights, and let me see
Her streets that would into my brain so stealthily
That I hear yet the chant of them that roars
Along their blinded spectral corridors.
Give my old joy and wonder back again,
The adolescent loveliness of pain;
But let me touch them now; and know and bless
With this new love and dawning tenderness.

THE INITIAL EFFORT.

Teacher—Why did Noah build the ark?

Young America—I think it was the first attempt to solve the housing problem.

HARVEST HYMN.

[Charles Sangster.]

God of the Harvest, Thou, whose sun
Has ripened all the golden grain,
We bless Thee for Thy bounteous store,
The cup of plenty running o'er,
The sunshine and the rain!

The year laughs out for very joy,
Its silver treble echoing
Like a sweet anthem through the woods,
Till mellowed by the solitudes
It folds its glossy wing.

But our united voices blend
From day to day unwearedly;
Sure as the sun rolls up the morn,
Or twilight from the eve is born,
Our song ascends to Thee.

Where'er the various-tinted woods,
In all their autumn splendor dressed,
Impart their gold and purple dyes
To distant hills and farthest skies
Along the crimson West:

Across the smooth, extended plain,
By rushing stream and broad lagoon,
On shady height and sunny dale,
Wherever scuds the balmy gale
Or gleams the autumn moon:

From inland seas of yellow grain,
Where cheerful labor, heaven-blest,
With willing hands and keen-edged scythe,
And accents musically blythe,
Reveals its lordly crest:

From clover fields and meadows wide,
Where moves the richly-laden wain
To barns well stored with new-made hay,
Or where the flail at early day
Rolls out the ripened grain:

From meads and pastures on the hills
And in the mountain valleys deep,
Alive with beeves and sweet-breathed kine
Of famous Ayr or Devon's line,
And shepherd-guarded sheep:

The spirits of the golden year,
From crystal caves and grottoes dim
From forest depths and mossy sward
Myriad-tongued with one accord
Peal forth their harvest hymn.

THE WORST OF IT.

[Ohio State Journal.]

The discouraging thing about to a friend about an interested thing your own troubles is that it reminds him of his, and he has to tell about them, as if anybody cared.

THE CHANGELING.

[Clara Giffin.]

Homesick, and homesick, ah, sick am I for home,
To see the cliffs of Faery above the flying foam,
The winds go blowing westward, the blue skies turn grey,
But I must walk the sea-sand and watch the ships away.

Westward and westward go the ships,
And seaward and seaward the bright brook-water slips,
And the hunting horns of Faery ring clear every morn,
And I must hear them calling, yet wander here forlorn.

East the sun and west the moon, and overseas away
I would go a-faring by night and by day,
But round me and round me, and round me yet again,
Three times the spell was bound that holds me like a chain.

Brook water, tide water, river and sea,
As long as the waters flow I may not win free:
But still I walk the sea-sand and watch the ships go down
West into the sunset, the road to Merlin's town.

FREE SMOKES.

[Boston Transcript.]

"How many cigars does Sponger smoke a day?"

"Oh, any given number."

THE RED FROST CAME WITH HIS ARMIES.

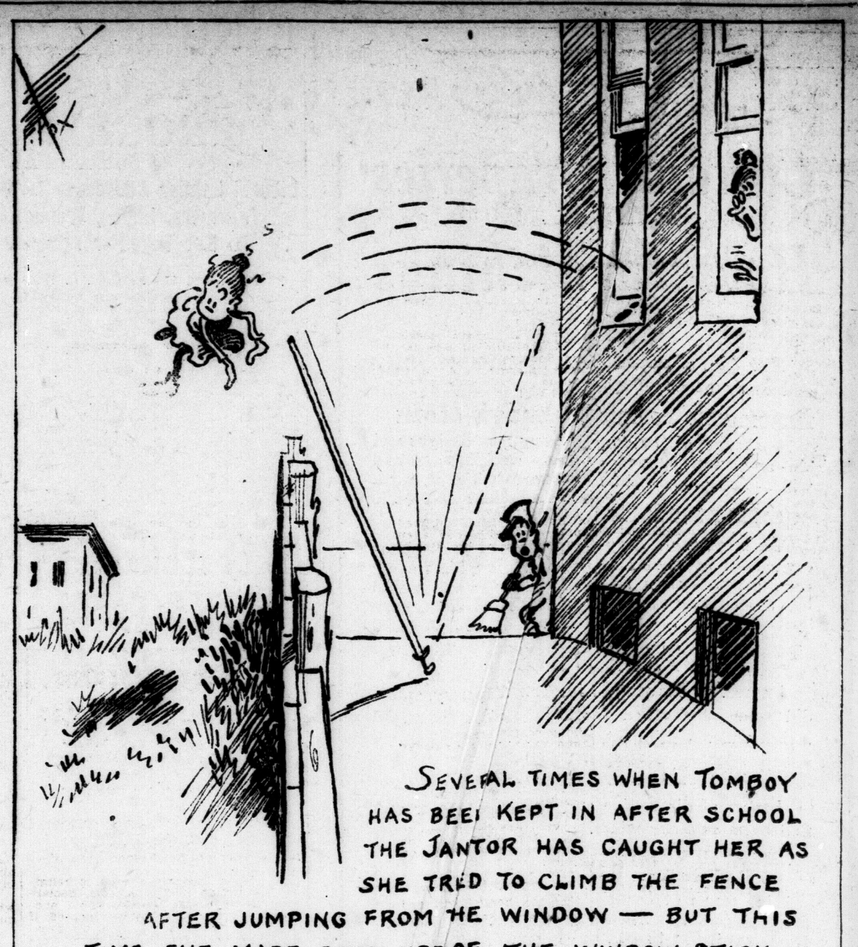

[Bliss Carmen.]

The red frost came with his armies
And camped by the sides of the sea
The maples and the oaks took on
His gorgeous livery.

They dyed their tents a madder
Alizarin and brown,
And dipped their banners in the sun
To give their joy renown.

And lo, when twilight sobered
Their dauntless cinnabars,
Along the outposts of the sea
The watch-fires of the stars!

And I for love of roving
Am listed with the King.
Because I knew the password,
"Joy is the only thing!"

And Hughey Podmor well aware that a large contrib to campaign funds by a constr company would be a matte immediate suspicion among opp of the government if it be- own. Such things had got cam trouble before this. It had peop of the things which had bee famous Honorable Harring- lan in jail—and others who were to Hughey Podmore knew all about that is period of political chaos. years ago he had been an yed young reporter with a large ation of newspaper sensations. ill at ferreting into hidden re- by unscrupulous methods had him a valuable man for a paper was willing to ignore certain honored traditions of the press. er editorial stimulus Hughey had somed forth among the flowers of journalistic profession as a yellow yxanthemum. "Mum" became the rd whenever Hughey showed him- f! His reputation finally had ostra- ed him into other fields of endeavor. Those had been the days! If only he nd Rives had been working together! f he had been managing Rives' cam- paigns there would have been no crude mistakes to land he "people's idol" behind the bars, aring or no Waring. He would have en that every dainty dish was properl cooked before it was set before the ple, its inner rawness safely covered, n up brown. With h an example of folly to warn hi it was no wonder that the Honorab Milton Waring had told Nickleb and Alderson he would have nothing do with their proposed campaign d contribution. Nickleby must have pretty strong connection even to da such an approach; evidently he ha felt pretty sure of himself to go ahea with the plan of his own initiative.

Nickleby believed that Ferguson had the money now. What would he say if he ew the facts—that the money was really in the hands of some perso unknown, some person perhaps w was interested in gathering evide that would upset the present government? There was only one thing for Mr. Podmore to do, now that his pet scheme had failed, and that s to keep quiet as to his own ass ions and stick to the three-handed me which he was supposed to be ying with Nickleby and his henchman, Alderson; for Nickleby was worth ing to.

Thus ran the reflections of Hughey Podmore as he lounged comfortably in a leather chair aboard the private car, "Obaska," and idly watched the endless flow of the Algoma wilderness pass the windows monotonously. The car had taken an inspection party west to the head of the lakes, but a wire from the vice-president was sending the president back to headquarters unexpectedly. Besides President Wade, Podmore and Taylor, the steward, the only person on board was Bob Cranston. Cranston was chief of the railroad's special service department. Taylor was busy in his kitchen, preparing dinner. Cranston and the president had the brass-railed observation platform at the rear of the car to themselves and were deep in earnest conversation; they had shut the door at their backs and the sound of their voices was lost in the roar of the wheels.

Hughey Podmore smiled cynically as he watched them. There was nothing in President Wade's fine strong profile to indicate the trend of talk. Both, in fact, were men who seldom allowed what they were thinking to reflect in their facial expressions too readily. Nevertheless the perspicacious Mr. Podmore could surmise the subject of conversation, or at any rate give a guess which was close enough to satisfy his own curiosity.

He amused himself by running over the list of possible topics. Wade was a big man in financial circles, a man of rugged and plain-spoken dealings who commanded the confidence of every associate and was respected even by his enemies. There were many matters of moment which he might have discussed with bankers or lawyers or statesmen, but which he would hardly attempt with a bull-necked bonehead like Cranston. Government railway bond issues, franchises and stock quotations were beyond that cheap stiff's depth. Probably Cranston was holding forth in regard to some petty theft which his crew of spotters had discovered, some ticket-scalping conductor—

Or there was old Nat Lawson's case in which Wade was interested; it was a topic that was often uppermost in the railway president's mind, as Podmore knew, and Hughey smiled inscrutably at the smoke curling from his cigarette. Old Nat, the founder and former president of the Interprovincial Loan and Savings Company, the honest old fool whom Nickleby had succeeded in overcoming by a trick, and whose shoes J. Cuthbert was now wearing! It would take more than the friendship of a Benjamin Wade, powerful though that was, to salvage Old Nat. That nanny-whiskered old galoot was sunk in too many fathoms of water ever to wade ashore. (He smiled at his poor pun). The missing power-of-attorney that had scuttled the Lawson supporters would continue missing for all time to come. Mr. J. Cuthbert Nickleby, the then genial secretary, had seen to that once for all: in fact, it had been a charred fragment of the document which Mr. Hugh Podmore had used as a card of introduction when he had had his first long and very interesting session with Friend Nickleby.

Some class to Nickleby all right. Here were methods which Mr. Podmore could understand and admire. It was because the minds of Messrs. Podmore and Nickleby ran in the same grooves that he had been able to unearth enough of Nickleby's very private plans to persuade that "rising young financier" that it was better to set another plate at the head table than to have the dishes smashed and Lucullus waylaid before he could reach the banqueting-hall.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Blanchard, Sarnia, a pretty wedding took place on September 29, when their eldest daughter, Eleanor, became the bride of Mr. Frederick Thomas Dowding, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Dowding of Arkona. The bride wore a gown of blue messaline silk and carried a bouquet of white roses. Miss Lilian Blanchard, her sister, attended the bride, while the bridegroom was attended by his brother, Mr. Harry Dowding. The Wedding March was played by Mrs. F. The bride, who was given away by her brother, Harold Smibert of Fanshawe, looked pretty in a gown of grey taffeta, wearing the groom's gift, a rope of pearls, with platinum clasp set with diamonds, and carrying a shower bouquet of Sunset roses.

After the ceremony the guests, numbering about thirty, repaired to the dining-room, where a wedding breakfast was served by a number of girl friends of the bride.

The bride and groom left later amid showers of confetti for Toronto and other eastern points, the bride traveling in a navy blue suit, with hat to match. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Evans will reside in Kitchener.

HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS' CLUB WILL BECOME ACTIVE ONCE MORE

Meeting Called Yesterday To Plan For Elections.

That the High School Girls' Club, disbanded since the Collegiate fire, is to be reorganized was decided at a meeting of the girls held yesterday afternoon. The meeting was called by Principal W. H. T. Mooney, who was very anxious that the club should be continued in spite of the difficulties, and was presided over by Miss McCamus. The chief business of yesterday's meeting was the laying of plans for the election of club officers in the near future.

This very fine club of girls was for three years one of the strongest institutions in connection with the high school, and both girls and teachers are glad that it is again to become active. The club will consist of girls from the middle and upper schools.

STRATFORD CANADIAN CLUB.

"The Girl of Today" was the subject of a highly entertaining address given in Stratford on Saturday afternoon by Miss Knox, principal of Havergal College, Toronto. The address was under the auspices of the Women's Canadian Club.

Miss Knox strongly advocated religious instruction in the schools, declaring that no young woman could succeed, no matter how highly educated, if she did not feel and believe in the presence of God. "If the children were taught a proverb a day, instead of 'Jack and Jill,' in later years they would find their education of real value to them," said the speaker.

She appealed to mothers, asking them to know with whom their daughters associated.

Following the address, luncheon was served.

Mrs. F. H. Thompson, president of the Women's Canadian Club, was in the chair.

PORT STANLEY I. O. D. E.

On Thursday next at 3 o'clock the Port Stanley I. O. D. E. will meet in their rooms, to hear Mrs. F. J. Greenaway, regent of the Lord Roberts Chapter of London, give an account of the national annual meeting held in Calgary in May last.

The officers of the newly-organized Municipal Chapter of St. Thomas will be present.

Bruce Taylor, M.A., D.D., LL.D., of Queen's University, this address also to be given at the Normal School.

The subject of Judge Norris' talk will be "Problems of the Court of Domestic Relation" and "The Women's Court," while Dr. Taylor will speak on "Home Life and Education."

The Women's Canadian Club will be hostesses at the civic supper given to the W. I. delegates at the McCormick factory tonight.

LONDON C. I. GIRLS IN ST. THOMAS.

The girls of the London Collegiate baseball and basketball team went to St. Thomas on Saturday at the challenge of the St. Thomas team, and won the game for London. The London girls were sorry, however, that as many as four of the St. Thomas players had the hard luck to leave the game before it was over on account of sprained ankles.

The St. Thomas girls met the London team on their arrival at the station and after donning middies and bloomers at the St. Thomas High School all started out on a hike for the Waterworks Park, where the baseball game was staged.

After the game was over the London girls joined in with the St. Thomas girls in some of their sports, and then around a fascinating camp fire had supper and exchanged school yells and speeches.

The London girls were much taken with a scheme of the St. Thomas girls, the adoption of a "little sister" of the first year by one of the girls of the senior years at high school. The older girls introduce the younger girl around and help to make the high school an enjoyable place for her.

G. W. V. A. TAG DAY.

The amount collected by the G. W. V. A. Women's Auxiliary during their Tag Day on Saturday was over $128. Seeing that there were only six taggers in all this amount seems excellent to them. All the returns were turned in to Mrs. Adams, secretary of the auxiliary.

ONE-CENT SHOW FOR HOSPITAL.

One of the most interesting gifts that have been handed over to the treasurere of the hospital fund was that recently carried in the chubby little hand of Miss Dorothy Hill, 442 Adelaide street, and amounted in all to 55 cents. This money was collected at the most unique of variety shows staged in the garage of a local doctor, who chanced to be conveniently away about his business, by a group of small maidens. One cent was charged for admission, and one cent for each performance staged within the garage.

When the doctor, who, by the way, is keenly interested in the Children's Hospital proposition, returned he was so delighted with the use which had been made of his garage in his absence that he accompanied the small girl to the secretary of the hospital committee and by adding 45 cents, made the donation a great big dollar.

UNIVERSITY WOMEN'S CLUB.

At a meeting of the executive of the University Women's Club, held yesterday, the study program of the club for the coming year was finally arranged, and will be submitted to a general meeting of the club shortly. This program centres around the social conditions affecting women, and will include a study of conditions affecting women in industry and the fields of education, women's professions and their advantages, the effects of the war on the economic standing of women, women's responsibility in the educational plans, the kind of training necessary for the different branches of occupation into which women may go, etc.

It is hoped that for the November meeting the club will secure some outside speaker who will present the year's work in an introductory way. Throughout the year the plan of the executive is that different club members will have their share in the presenting of different phases of the subject undertaken for study.

CORN ROAST AT SPRINGBANK.

The Collegiate Institute girls of the Upper School were entertained by the boys of that school on Friday last, when the boys staged a corn roast at Wonderland in their honor. The party, consisting of about 30 students in all, was chaperoned by Mrs. J. H. Dolan.

THE MARRIAGE OF ANNE

BY MAY CHRISTIE

(Copyright, 1920, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

XXXIX.—A Choice.

It was an unexpected blow! I had been robbed! At first the knowledge almost stunned me.

Fifteen hundred dollars! My worldly all!

"Without it Freddie and I can't afford to be married!" I said aloud, staring miserably at my white-faced reflection in the looking-glass.

What would Fred say?

Some thief had entered the place during the absence of the occupants, and had found the money.

Once more I made a thorough search.

It was in vain!

I felt distracted. What would my aunt say when she knew?

I'd had no earthly right to sell those bonds. My aunt had bought them for me.

Now I'd been punished.

It was curious that, in my deep distress and chagrin, my thoughts should turn to Saunders, and not to my affianced husband. Saunders would surely help me to recover the money if he only knew!

I started up to go to him. And then I recollected that he'd taken the same train up to town as Freddie had. He was to be in New York for at least five days.

I had his address. I would wire to him.

But here I could get no further. For how on earth could I explain the situation? I had assured him that I was in debt to the extent of a thousand dollar. This sum he generously had lent me. How then could I explain that I already had had fifteen hundred dollars in my possession?

"Oh, what a tangled web we weave, when first we practice to deceive," I quoted unoriginally. I had lied to him. I hated to confess that lie.

And then my errant thoughts returned to my fiance. Poor, disappointed Fred! I pictured his eager, expectant face awaiting me tomorrow afternoon.

I would arrive, empty-handed.

Oh, why on earth had I not urged him to return to the house-boat after leaving me near the Red Lion Inn? Then possibly he would have caught the thief. At any rate, his presence would have prevented the catastrophe.

The return of my aunt broke in on my moody thoughts.

"Hello, Anne, my child! Wherefore so moody and so sad?"

At that my fortitude gave way. I broke down and wept incoherently I told her of my trip to town, the cashing of the bonds, and subsequent robbery.

But—good heavens, child!—what did you want such a sum of money for? Why didn't you come to me, frankly, and state your case?"

"I—I wanted the money for a trousseau," I sobbed, fibbing again. I must shield Fred at any cost. Aunt would not approve of lending money to my fiance, that I knew.

"A trousseau! But I'd willingly have given you a trousseau—" Aunt broke off, and stared at me. A frown came to her forehead. "No, I wouldn't have given you a trousseau if you truly intended to marry that good-for-nothing Freddie! I can't agree to that, my dear. I can't countenance that marriage. He's not the type of man that ever would make you happy."

For a moment she seemed to have forgotten my loss.

I mopped my eyes.

"I—I love him, aunt. I—I'm going to marry him."

"Good gracious! When?"

"Tomorrow afternoon."

"I positively forbid it."

"I—I can't help that." A little wave of anger came to me. I was of age. Aunt must not treat me as a child.

"Listen to me, Anne. If you leave this house tomorrow to marry Fred Delaunay, you leave it for good and all! The man's a cad. He's only after you because he thinks that I'll support you both, for life! I'm willing to support you, but I absolutely refuse to support a lazy, worthless husband into the bargain. Understand that, please."

Never before had my aunt spoken so sharply to me. It was a bitter pill.

But I would endure it, for Fred's sake. Love endured all things—real love—the sort I had.

There was even a kind of exaltation in this martyrdom

"I must stick to the man I've chosen for a husband, aunt—no matter what you say." I held my head up proudly.

She gave a bitter little smile.

"When you tell him what I've just told you, he won't become your husband. So don't be melodramatic, Anne. It doesn't suit you."

She moved toward the door.

"As for the loss of the fifteen hundred dollars, I'm going straight to inform the local police. If you're a romantic little goose, I'm not!"

With that parting shot, she left me to my meditations.

Again I searched the houseboat, thoroughly. There was no trace of my lost property anywhere.

The police arrived within an hour. I told them the same story I had told to aunt.

"If we can't catch the thief ourselves, we'll put detectives on the job," they assured me, cheerily.

And hope revived

I did not speak to aunt again that night. I went early to bed. Tomorrow I was to meet Freddie. We would be married—yes—despite our big financial loss. I would go to work—a sort of fifty-fifty proposition in the matrimonial game. I would be a working partner, not a drone.

At breakfast aunt repeated her cutting observations of the night before. They carried very little weight with me.

The thousand dollars I'd borrowed from Neil Saunders on Fred's behalf—that would be invested wisely in this "business deal"—we would be married—everything would be all right.

At one o'clock I arrayed myself in my prettiest clothes, packed a couple of suitcases and a largish trunk, walked to the nearest shop, and telephoned to the station for a taxi.

In fifteen minutes the taxi arrived, and the driver helped me to carry the luggage out and put it in the vehicle.

My aunt watched proceedings, an inscrutable look upon her usually kindly face.

"If you go like this, Anne—against my express wishes—you don't return to me!" she said.

I nodded. I was furiously angry with her.

"Since you force me to a choice, I choose to marry the man I love, and leave you!" I retorted.

Tomorrow—Overheard.

[By Mildred Marshall]

ARABELLA.

Arabella, which is bestowed in all good faith by fond parents, only to be cut down directly to the more convenient Bella, is a name of great power and dignity. It comes from the "eagle" series of Icelandic names, which are responsible for many of the appellatives popular in English-speaking countries.

Arabella signifies "eagle heroine." The first lady to bear the name was the grand-daughter of William the Lion of Scotland, who married Robert de Quinci. Another Arabella was she, who, with her husband, John de Montpyneon, held the manor of Magdalen Laver in the Thirty-Ninth of Henry III.

The Normans, who made radical changes in all names that did not sound like French, cut Arabella down to Arbell. "My Lady Arbell" was the title of the unfortunate Arabella Stuart, whose history is familiar to all of us. It is chiefly due to this poor lady that Arabella gained such vogue and had such widespread usage in England.

Arabella's talismanic gem is the diamond. It promises her fearlessness, success, and, if set in gold and worn on the left hand, true and abiding love. Thursday is her lucky day, and 6 her lucky number. The violet is her flower.

TALKS ON HEALTH

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D., Noted Physician and Author

Some Big Little Things.

A A hotel patron contracted for a two weeks' stay at a hotel in Maine. The patron was a crank. Before the two weeks had expired he packed up and left, paying the regular rate for the time he had been a guest. He left because there were flies in the dining-room. The hotel proprietor thereupon sued to collect the full two weeks' hotel bill, and the supreme judicial court of Maine decided (Williams vs. Sweet, 110 Alt., 316) that the guest was justified in leaving, inasmuch as flies in the dining-room constitute a nuisance and are a menace to health. Maine is a dry state and justice is sober there.

A man purchased a railroad ticket and approached the baggage window to check his bag. The busy baggage clerk pushed oer a bad of valuation slips and removed from his mouth—where he held it like a bit in a horse's mouth—a pencil, dripping with saliva for the patron to use. The patron declined to touch the filthy pencil and asked for a clean one, whereupon the clerk bowled him out and informed him that the railroad wasn't supposed to furnish pencils for the public, anyway. Nor courtesy, either, the patron amended, and went away in search of a pencil he might safely use. Aside from the revolting thought of handling an object smeared with another's saliva, it is within the realm of possibility that the virus of syphilis might be present in the saliva of such a person, and it might readily invade the tissues of one using the pencil, if there happened to be a trifling scratch or fresh abrasion of any kind on the user's fingers.

In some of the most gorgeous and expensive soda fountains the washing of the glassware and spoons is a mere formality, notwithstanding any special ordinances. A mere dip in cold water is the extent of washing given in a busy hour. Out in the open air and sunlight this would be comparatively unimportant, in my own judgment—I'll take a chance with the common drinking cup almost anywhere outdoors. But indoors, where disease germs stand a better chance of surviving on objects away from the body, this sort of washing is dangerous to patronize and should be deemed a nuisance.

Soap and water washing should be the minimum precaution after each use of such utensils. Soap is sufficiently antiseptic in itself to take care of any syphilitic spirochetes or other germs which may yhe present on soda fountain ware. If thede were some assurance of the temperature of the water, a washing in boiling water might suffice, but even cold water with soap is safer.

Lunchrooms, dining-rooms and restaurants where flies are admitted on even terms with guests are unwholesome places to patronize. The presence of flies is proof of filthy conditions in the kitchen, the cellar or the rear area of such a place. Some of the conditions I have inspected in New York and New England eating places the past summer were simply frightful.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Another [illegible]

I believe I am [illegible] taking exception to your statement that one may eat any desired quantity of lemons with impunity. I am a dentist, and my experience is that raw lemons taken in the morning will in time ruin the teeth. The citric acid in lemons is strong enough to do considerable harm to the teeth if taken undiluted. Half a lemon in a tumbler of water is a far better way than taking the lemon raw. I like your department, as there are many subjects discussed which are real interesting. H. J. P.

Answer—In declaring that the eating f lemons is harmless I had in mind the general health. Your suggestion to dilute the lemon juice is really excellent.

Coffee or Whiskey.

In order to settle an argument, kindly advise which is the more harmful, coffee drinking or whiskey drinking. B likes a cup of coffee for breakfast and J says this is harmful. But J likes a glass of whiskey (when he can get it) and declares this is good for anybody. B. and J.

Answer—One or two cups of coffee a day rarely does anything but good to an adult. One glass of whiskey a day may produce serious liver or kidney disease.

LITTLE MR. IMPORTANCE.

(Part One.)

It all began with Rastus' mother. Rastus was the only little puppy in his family that had not been sold, and she was very proud of him, indeed, for she thought sure he was going to be a great show dog.

"My master likes you," she whispered to him when he was old enough to understand," and that means you are very good, for my master knows when a dog is good or not."

So Rastus grew up to a six-months-old puppy, feeling very important and proud of himself.

My, wasn't he delighted when he went off to a show and won a second prize! His master was delighted, too.

Now, you would expect that when a little dog was sold and sent away from its mother, it would feel unhappy. But when Rastus was sold to a man in another city, he was not the least bit unhappy, for he knew that a dog to be a show dog would have to go away from home. His mother was delighted, too, for she wanted her son to become famous. So off Rastus went to his new home.

My, didn't he put on airs when he arrived at the kennel where he was to live. He expected to have a nice run to himself and perhaps a velvet cushion to sleep on, so he was a trifle disappointed when he was put into the run with some other pups. The other pups stood in awe of Rastus. Pete and Tim, two pretty little puppies, much younger than Rastus, listened in wonder to the stories of the prizes he had won, for you see Rastus had won two other prizes besides the second at his first show. How high and mighty Rastus felt when his new master started to get him ready for the next show. He didn't feel so high and mighty though soon after, when he saw that Pete and Tim were getting ready to go, too.

"Just you wait," Rastus boasted. "I shall be sure to win first prize here. It's not much of a show, I guess."

Peter and Tim were too excited to answer, for they had never been to a show before, and they wondered what prizes they would win or if they would be lucky at all.

At the show Rastus put on so many airs, all the other dogs laughed at him. He wouldn't as much as look at Pete and Tim, who were benched nearby, for he felt so important, and thought it was not befitting for a gentleman like him to speak to pups that had never won a prize.

Poor Rastus! What shock was in store for him. Peter won first prize, Tim won second, and he only won third! What a fall that was to his pride. What a miserable little dog he was—and how he wished he hadn't been so boastful. We'll hear more about him tomorrow.

Cynthia Grey's Mail-Box

The world is always romantic if you have the three gifts needful to make it so—faith, and the sense of beauty, and the sense of humor.

Around the Grate Fire.

Dear Miss Grey,—The note was in with the patterns; the "gist" of it was that the patterns were smaller that I had expected, when I ordered them, and suggested that they be used for patching on other goods in applique stitch for nursery rugs or cot quilts—also I said that any of you could have the rough copy of crochet baby's bonnet for use of Mail-Box. PEAK.

Ans.—Thank you very much for the offer of your copy of the baby's bonnet, as so many are asking for it, it will be very useful. Am sorry your former note was mislaid.

Dear Miss Grey,—Here is another stranger coming to bother you for that wonderful stocking-foot pattern. I would also like the apron pattern sent in by E. T. C. H. Inclosed find mite for S. C. H. fund. Will sign my name, JANETTE.

Ans.—Welcome to the Mail-Box, Janette. I have forwarded you the S. F. P. and put your name on the list for the apron. Thanks for the dime.

Attention, Cinderella.

Dear Miss Grey,—Just a few lines this morning, as I would like that little girl's apron pattern which E.T.C.H. sent in. I am inclosing 10 cents for it in stamps and 15 cents for a little bit of purple petunia and sweet william seed which Cinderella offers to send in. Would you please send me Miami's address, as I lived in the town Miami for a year. Also two stamps for postage. Wishing the page every success, CLEMATIS.

Ans.—I am sorry, but I haven't Miami's address. As soon as the pattern is sent back and Cinderella sends the seeds I shall forward them to you. Thanks for the money, which has been turned in to the hospital fund.

Requests.

Dear Miss Grey,—I have written two letters to your Mail-Box and I saw neither one in print, and I also returned crochet patterns. So thought I would try again.

I would like to correspond with a girl my own age (16 years).

Would some of the boxites please send me some comic recitations and I will return as soon as I have them copied?

Please find inclosed 25 cents for S. C. H. fund. Best wishes, PUSSY FOOT.

Ans.—Thanks for the hospital mite, Pussy Foot. If the recitations are sent in I shall forward them to you.

Requests and Mites.

Dear Miss Grey,—I find your page very interesting as well as helpful. This time I come in quest of help. Could any of the readers supply me a pattern of a tam for a young lady? Head size 23 or 24 inches. I intend to make it of velvet. I inclose 10 cents for that wonderful stocking foot pattern. Hope to be of some help next time. PUMPKIN SWEET.

Ans.—Your request for a tam is referred to the boxies. Thanks for the dime. S. F. P. has been mailed.

Dear Miss Grey,—Please forward me your famous pattern. I inclose stamped and addressed envelope for same.

Inclosed find 25 cents for children's hospital. Thanking you in advance. MOTHER OF FIVE.

Ans.—Thank you for the hospital gift. The pattern has been mailed to you.

Dear Miss Grey,—I have never written to the Mail-Box before, but have received much help from it, and am always sorry when no letters appear as sometimes happens.

Now, I wonder if any of the boxites could tell me anything about the auto knitter. If it is at all like it is represented in the advertisements, and if it would pay to buy one to use to earn money in spare time? I would like to hear from someone who has used one, just what they think of it. Is it complicated or difficult to operate? Best wishes to Miss Grey and her noble band of correspondents. A MAIDEN OLD.

P. S.—Inclosed find 25 cents for the C. H. F.

Ans.—Welcome to the Mail-Box and thank you for the hospital mite.

Dear Cynthia Grey,—How are you today? We are having lovely weather here and I think it is a shame that we have to miss it all by going to school. I hope you enjoyed your Thanksgiving dinner. I certainly did mine. What is the matter with the boxites? The Mail-Box has been so small lately that I have had to look two or three times for it.

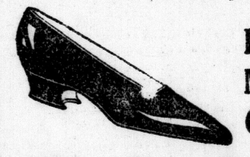

In the paper today I saw that I. T. C. H. had sent a pattern for an apron. A little while ago I asked for one. Do you know if this one was for me? I would like it awfully much.

I am just dying to go to another nutting party. I enjoyed the first one so much. Inclosed find a dime for hospital. BUSTER.

Ans.—I have forwarded you the pattern that I. T. C. H. so kindly sent in. Thank you for the hospital dime, Buster.

HEMS.

SEP 17

Hems are used as the finish of various edges and parts of garments, both outer and under. Narrow hems are used on the lower edges of peplums, dust ruffles, plaitings, neck and sleeves ruffling, top edges of garments, such as corset covers, chemises, and nightgowns. Handkerchiefs, table napkins, and table cloths are finished with a very narrow hem. Any edge to which lace or embroidery is to be added should be finished with a narrow hem. Table linen may be easily creased by being run through the narrow hemmer on the machine without thread and then sewed by hand.

Wide hems are appropriate for the lower edges of flounces and skirts, and front and lower edges of under and outer garments, for sheets and pillowcases. Towels or other articles which are hemstitched, have usually a medium hem, about an inch and a half. Individual taste must decide in special cases upon the width of hem suitable.

To lay a hem fold edge of cloth one-eighth inch deep to wrong side, then again the desired width, measuring at frequent intervals with a stiff cord notched at the accurate width, or for heavier materials or those that ravel badly, fold a quarter inch first to wrong side, crease and fold again the desired width. Hems on front edges of sheer materials are sometimes folded with both turnings the entire width.

A faced hem is used when garments need to be let down, or when the material is not long enough in the first making, or sometimes as decoration on the right side of the garment. Strips for facing should be cut exactly the right depth with straight edges, and the same grain of material as the garment itself; they should be joined except the final seam. For a simple facing the right side of the facing should then be placed to the right side of the garment, basted to within one inch each side of the point for the final join. Then this join should be made and the rest basted, the whole stitched, and facing turned to wrong side of garment, and the seam creased so a thread or two of the garment come below the edge, to prevent the facing from showing on the right side. The upper edge of the facing is basted and stitched just like a real hem.

O'Neil Just One Game Behind Mooney Gibson's Record Of 100 Consecutive Games Caugh

If Pennant Pursuit Had Been Stopped One Day Later, 100 Would Have Been the Mark — A Record For the American League.

[By Ernest J. Lanigan.]

If the Indians had delayed until the last day of the pennant pursuit to qualify for representation in the world's series, Stephen Francis O'Neill of Minooke, Pa., would have caught 100 consecutive games. The Speakerites, cinching the flag the day before the season was to end, Steve took a holiday on Sunday, October 3, and failed to be behind the bat for the Tribe in successive game No. 100.

To catch 99 straight games probably is an American League record, in the absence of any evidence to the contrary, and O'Neill could just as easily have made it 100 straight as not, for hard work does not tire him. However, he took a day off after the Indians had made sure they were going to get into the world's series, said day off being his first since June 20. From June 20 to October 2, inclusive, O'Neill caught every game for Cleveland—99 in all. Occasionally, not very often, Steve, in the closing stages of combats, surrendered the mask and mit to one of his underworked assistants—Leslie G. Nunamaker or Chester D. Thomas. Steve had help in catching 11 of these 99 games, Thomas relieving him twice and Nunamaker nine times.

In the 99 straight games caught by O'Neill, 43 bases were stolen on him and he turned back 44 men, besides catching seven gentlemen asleep at first, second or third. These slumberers were Bobby Roth, at first, on August 2; Ralph Perkins, at first, on August 6; Duffy Lewis, at first, on August 9; Cliff Brady, at first, on August 23, and at second, on August 24; Scott Perry, at second, on September 12, and Howard Ehmke, at third, on October 1.

It pays to have a reputation, and Steve's prowess in pegging to the bags made runners think twice before they started to steal on him, just as they think more than once when they start to pilfer on Ray Schalk. From August 25 to September 6, inclusive, a stretch of 11 games, no bases were stolen on O'Neill, and in that group of contests just two players tried to steal on nim —Frank Walker of the A's, on August 25, and Ty Cobb of the Tigers, on September 3. Each man aimed to beat his way to second, and each man was turned back. George Sisler of the Browns pinched a bag on Stephen Francis in the second game of September 6, after which the Cleveland receiver went five more games in succession without allowing any thefts.

Few Days Off.

In his stretch of 99 consecutive games, O'Neill had few off-days, when runners took liberties on him. One of these off-days was August 1, when the Senators stole four bases. Sam Rice twice went down to second on O'Neill and once made a clean steal of the plate on him—something which happens about once every two years.

The Yankees stole three bases on O'Neill on July 22, but on that afternoon Steve's throws cut down two of the Gothamites, so the day cannot be set down as a bad one for Steve. On August 21 the Red Sox burgled three times on O'Neill, and the White Sox did the same thing on September 23. In neither game did O'Neill make a successful throw.

O'Neill, as almost every fan in America knows, is a younger brother of Pitcher Mike and Catcher John O'Neill —the famous brother battery of the St. Louis Cardinals of 1901. Something that all enthusiasts do know about him, however, is that he always has been a catcher, has been nothing else.

Michael Joyce O'Neill, when Steve was quite young, decided that the proper place for him was behind the bat, and started drilling him in his work. When Steve was a sand-lotter, he caught and did nothing else, not being allowed to try his hand at any other position. It is doubtful if any other player in the country has done what O'Neill has done all his life—specialized in one position.

All of Steve's catching in the major leagues has been done for Cleveland. He belonged to the Athletics in 1911, went south with them, and sat on their bench when they opened the season in Boston. He never got into a game while an A, however, though he did get a little work in the bull-pen in the old Huntington avenue home of the Red Sox.

Killed Double-Steal.

One of Steve's 1920 feats was to kill off both sections of a double-steal. Said double-steal was launched by Tyrus Cobb and Donie Bush of the Tigers in the fourth inning of the game of May 4, in what has for years been called Jenningsville. The infielder was killed off at the plate, and the outfielder perished at second.

O'Neill, until recently, has not received proper recognition from the critics. The first real special story on Steve was written by the writer in 1916, and at that time we used to call the Minooka gentleman the most underpraised young backstop in the world. He's a wonderful receiver, but he is a terrible heart player.

However, Steve set up a new record this year for consecutive work behind the bat in the American League, and it will be some time before it is beaten.

At least, everybody thinks it's a new record.

Form City League Basketball at the Meeting Tonight

Six Teams Anticipated This Year—Plenty Material in Sight.

The reorganization of the City Basketball League will be undertaken at the Y. M. C. A. tomorrow night. Last year the city circuit played out a close double schedule, which developed some of the best basketball material the city has ever produced, and this year's organization should go still further.

Just how many teams will be included is not yet known, but at least six are anticipated to make the first entries. As with last year's schedule, this one will be a split program, too, thus giving more zest to the whole season.

A good many juniors this year are available who are fit for a step up, and this should more than make up for any loss in numbers caused by removal from the city.

Wrestling Starts.

A class of Russians are now formed to take up wrestling, and will commence mat work this week. Mr. Bailey, one of the cleverest amateur wrestlers in the city, will have charge of the class, and some great contests are looked for on the mat during the winter of 1921.

Athletic Banquet.

The Athletic Association will hold its banquet at the "Y" on Thursday night, commencing at 6:15. The old "Harriers," in the guise of the present association, have had a great season of meets at Queen's Park, and the performances have developed some splendid track men.

The presentation of prizes will be made at the banquet, and next season's program, which will be more ambitious than the season just closed, will be outlined.

Jawn Evers As Next Giants' Pilot

Evers

The regularity with which McGraw got into trouble near the last of the season outside the Polo Grounds and from things happening since the season closed, rumor is pretty well fortified in asserting that McGraw will not lead the Giants next year, but will content himself with the vice-president's duties. Evers would be the logical successor and may be the answer to his acquisition by the New York Nationals. As vice-president, McGraw can take on the job of dousing the lights on Broadway without it demoralizing the Giant players.

London Thistles Hold Annual Meeting Friday

North Enders Meet Week Earlier Than Usual This Year.

The London Thistles will hold their annual meeting on Friday night, October 29. This is a week earlier than it was held last year, but apparently the north enders are not taking any chances of a frost spell catching them unprepared.

Presidents I. Taylor, A. E. Barbour and George (Mooney) Gibson are the men for whom successors have to be found unless more than one term should be decided upon.

LONDON CURLERS START WEEKLY EUCHRE TONIGHT

The London Curling Club commence their weekly euchre tourneys tonight at the Lyle street club house. Last year's play brought forth some very keen competition, and there are still a lot who remain unconvinced.

The play opens tonight at 7:45 sharp.

WINNIPEG REPORTER WORKS IN AEROPLANE

Winnipeg, Man., Oct. 25.—When five bandits bound and gagged the teller and robbed the Union Bank branch at Winkler, Man., the other day, they cut all telegraph and telephone wires, and so were responsible for what is said to have been the first use of an aeroplane in Canada for routine reporting. The Manitoba Free Press, on receipt of word of the robbery, dispatched a reporter to Winkler, a distance of 74 miles, in a machine hastily chartered by telephone. The journey was made in 42 minutes.

ROMANCE CULMINATES.

New York, Oct. 21.—The wedding here last week of Mrs. Elizabeth Blottner, widow of Morris Blottner, and Edward Remsen Teller of Montvale, N.H., was the culmination of a romance that began when each was 15 years old. Fifty-seven years ago, when both attained their 18th year, their engagement was announced. Then a venomous letter-writer caused a quarrel and the marriage was cancelled. Twenty years later they learned the facts. Two years ago Teller became a widower, and Mrs. Blottner's first husband died a year ago.

POLICE CLERK DISMISSED.

WINDSOR, Oct. 25.—The dismissal of Assistant Police Court Clerk Warlow by Acting Chief of Police Wills today, was followed tonight by rumors at the city hall that a thorough probe of the administration of the police department would again be made, following the return to the city of Mayor Winter. For the past three months, it is alleged, approximately $19,000 of the city's money collected in fines, has remained deposited in the safe at police headquarters, instead of being placed in a local bank.

LOOKAT WHO'S HERE

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Negotiations practically have been completed for the Dempsey-Carpentier fight, according to Jack Kearns, manager of the world's champion.

A meeting tomorrow or Wednesday is expected to put the finishing touches to a series of conferences that have been held between the managers of the two principals, Tex Rickard, New York promoter, and Charles B. Cochrane, the London promoter, who holds Carpentier's contract.

The negotiations have not reached the point of selecting a site or a date for the premier battle of the year. Carpentier probably will sign for the fight before returning to France next week. The final details would be arranged then.

However, it is believed that Madison Square Garden will get the fight, and it may be staged before the end of this year, if the New York Boxing Commission will change its mind about not permitting a big fight before the new year.

Tex Rickard, who seems to have the battle cinched, would not talk today.

"We have been discussing it," he said, "but until there is something more definite, I have nothing to say."

THREE GREEN MARES BETTERED 2:04 ON BIG LINE THIS YEAR

Galli Curci, One of Best, Sold For $85 in Chicago Auction.

In some respects the season of the big line, which closed last week, has been quite the most remarkable of any in the history of the sport. No fewer than three so-called green mares trotted faster than 2:04, and nothing like that is on the books of any other summer and fall.

Outstanding among these performances is that of Galli Curci, that took a record of 2:03¾, on a day when conditions were at least one second slow, and some think even more than that. It was in a trial against the watch that Galli Curci started to beat 2:30¼, so there was little comment until she had passed the half in 1:02 and hustled to the next pole in 204 seconds. The head wind, cold and strong, caught her in the stretch, but she came on gamely, her last quarter in 31½ seconds.

She Sold at $85 at Auction.

Three years ago, when she was a two-year-old, the filly only brought $85 at auction in Chicago. Last year she showed some trot, took a matinee mark of 2:23¾, and this season was turned over to Mart Wilson, one of the famous Indianapolis reinsmen. She came fast and did a mile in 2:05¼, after which she was sold for a fancy figure. Fred Cline, who owns her, has been identified with more pacers than trotters, and has made several trips to the Michigan half-mile tracks.

Galli Curci calls attention to another son of Peter the Great, as she is by Peter Montgomery, whose dam is that great Wilton mare, The Widow. The dam of the mare, Flash medium, by Ashland P. Medium, whose dam was bred in Michigan, so this state gets into her pedigree through Pilot Medium twice and Masterlode once.

No hint has been dropped of the future of Galli Curci, but if she winters well it is certain that Cline will stake her from somewhere to breakfast. Just how she will race remains to be seen.

A Pair of Fleet Mares.

In the first heat of the Transylvania, which was won by Peter Manning in 2:03, My Choice had the pole and fought it out with Murphy's star trotter to the stretch, where Peter Manning showed ability to move away. My Choice hung on and finished second, timed separately in 2:03¼.

My Choice is by Silliko, bred by the Maddens, and out of Mattie, by Ashland Wilkes, which stallion was grandsire of the dam of Galli Curci. My Choice was driven by Ramey Macey, and many are the favorable remarks made about her. The Maddens bob up with one every so often.

Walter Cox started Lucille Bingen, a mare by Bingen, out of Lucille Marlow, by Prodigal, to beat 2:08¼, and she stepped the mile in 2:03¾. She was at the half in 1:04¼, and the three-quarters in 1:30½, some thinking that with better rating she might have trotted in 2:02.

Lucille Bingen had a three-year-old record of 2:08¾, then was put to breeding, raised four foals, and being barren this year was sent back to training. With current allowances she would figure among the greenies.

WIFE IS FIGHTER.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—Samuel Letraunik, known on the vaudeville stage as Senator Francis Murphy, said "his heart went out to any man who would dare place a finger upon his wife with menacing design," when answering a charge of cruelty preferred by his better half in a separation suit recently. "She has a fiery and uncontrollable temper; is in excellent physical condition; is my superior in combat," he said in defence. "What an idiot I would be, knowing all these things, to commit the alleged violent assaults."

CARUSO POOR FAN.

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 24.—Enrico Caruso, the famous tenor, did not know Brooklyn had won the National League pennant and thought Babe Ruth was a singer, but confessed he had never heard "her" sing. "What is her voice?" he asked the reporter recently when asked what he thought of Babe's performance this year.

Three Shifts in Western Line For St. Mikes' Game

Dyer May Not Be Able To Play Tomorrow in Toronto — Western Drills in Interference Plays — Practice Today.

Western University had an hour's stiff practice yesterday afternoon and unlimbered some of the sore spots from the Toronto game Saturday. Every man on the squad was able to romp around as usual, with the exception of Dyer, the Purple and White's star linesman, and his ankle is still too sore to put weight on.

In all probability Dyer will not be able to make the trip to Toronto tomorrow for the clash with St. Mike's, but against the St. Mike's line his absence will not be felt so much as it would against the heavier line of Varsity II.s, and for this game a week from Saturday Dyer will be fit.

Three shifts were made in the Western line by Coach Brock during the hour of practice, half of which was spent in interference for and against, and the other half in signal work. The Purple and White squad have certainly gained in confidence since their victory over Varsity on the week-end, shown yesterday in the precision with which they tackled everything, and also a smoothing off of some rough angles.

Little needs to be done with the back division. Cowley, Traynor and Cline have shown in the last two games that they are almost impregnable and pretty near proof against fumbles. Traynor has apparently taken a few ounces off his punts, which makes the wings look faster than they did here against St. Mike's.

Five interference penalties here showed that St. Mike's have a penchant for this form of play, and some interference which the fans caught and the referee didn't, made the fans slightly suspicious that not all of them were unintentional. In the game here these plays sort of cramped Western line's style of defence, but having been drilled against this form of attack they'll probably look more solid tomorrow.

Another stiff drill will be held at 4 p.m. today, probably with firsts against seconds for a short while, and then a general run through the whole bag of tricks.

Public Utilities To Meet Picked Team From City Soccer League

Executive Decides To Award Medals To Cup Tie Champions and Pats, Runners-Up.

At last night's soccer meeting it was decided to stage a game between Public Utilities and a representative team from the City League on Carling Heights pitch on Saturday afternoon.

Public Utilities will take to the field with their usual line, while the representative team looks good enough on paper to give the cup ties series winner a real battle.

It was decided by the executive to order medals immediately for the Utilities, champions, and the Princess Pats, runners-up in the cup ties. Pats are leaving the city, according to present plans, on November 7, and it is desired to present them with medals before they leave.

The line-up of the representative team will be: Reserves, Jewkes, W. O. R.; Herring, W. O. R.; Allday, Trunks; Adamson, A. and N.; Wilson, Perkins, G. W. V. A.; Astels, Trunks; Marshall, G. W. V. A.; Oliver, Pats; Lownie, G. T. R.; Haber, Pats; Armstrong, centre; Stockley, Trunks; Ball, W. O. R.

CHATHAM COUNCIL WILL NOT CONFER WITH GAS COMPANY

Refusal of Company To Withdraw Demand For Higher Rates Cause.

CHATHAM, Oct. 25.—The city council in session tonight, indorsed the action of the gas committee in refusing to meet the Chatham Gas Company for a conference on the gas situation, unless the company withdraws its notice to increase the rates. The company in a communication to the council practically refused to withdraw the notice, so that a conference is unlikely. The city solicitor is preparing an injunction to restrain the company from charging the increased rates.

During the discussion, Mayor Brisco said that during the recent meeting of gas producers in this city, Samuel Wyer, an eminent gas expert, had made some statements that would help Chatham in the fight against higher rates. The mayor said "Mr. Wyer stated that sulphur gas such as is used in Chatham is an inferior gas, and yet the gas company wants to charge as much for it as for gas of good quality. He also stated that in the gas fields of the United States, which have been in existence longer than the Tilbury fields, the supply has decreased 17 per cent in two years, and the Union Gas Company maintain they will only be able to supply 60 per cent of the amount last year.

The speaker also pointed out that there is more heat in gas in winter than in summer, and if such is not the case there is something wrong with the appliances of the distribution systems. The capping of walls on account of water was unnecessary, according to Mr. Wyer, who said the wells should be pumped, whereas in the Tilbury fields many wells are capped. The fact that it was impossible to distribute gas efficiency through a system built for artificial gas without a complete overhauling of the system, was also pointed out by Mr. Wyer, which is a good point for Chatham, as the distribution plant here for gas was installed originally for artificial gas.

Bylaws authorizing the raising of $25,000 under the municipal housing act of 1920, and to authorize the borrowing of $60,000 for the use of the water commission, were passed.

A grant of $250 was made to the Social Service Council to assist in the maintenance of the executive officer.

Alderman Reeve reported that the bill regarding the manager form of civic government would be in readiness to be presented at the next meeting of the Legislature.

PETROLEA PASTOR GETS CALL TO ALMONT, ONT.

PETROLEA, Oct. 25.—Word was received Saturday that the Presbyterian Church at Almonte, Ont., has issued a hearty and unanimous call to Rev. J. D. McCrae, B.A., B.D., of Petrolea, to become its pastor. The stipend offered is $2,000 per annum with free manse and one month's holiday. Mr. McCrae has been pastor at Petrolea for more than four years. It is not known definitely yet whether he will accept the call.

FINED $2,000.

WINDSOR, Oct. 25.—Pleading guilty to selling liquor illegally, N. Bellepercheve was fined $2,000 and sentenced to one month in Sandwich County jail by Magistrate Miers in Windsor police court today. A plea for leniency made by Special Liquor Officer Connor, who preferred the charge, based on the ground that the accused man's wife was confined to her bed, seriously ill, failed to move the court.

BOLSHEVIKS OPEN SCHOOLS.

Moscow, Oct. 24.—The Soviet is taking measures to spread education in the southern Russian towns.

In Rostoff and Nakhitchevan, 57 schools have been opened for 15,000 pupils. Since September 1, 1,150 other schools have been started.

HOTEL OXFORD, FORMER O'NEIL HOUSE, WOODSTOCK, CHANGES OWNERSHIP

WOODSTOCK, Oct. 25.—The Hotel Oxford, one of the oldest and best hotels in Woodstock, has changed hands. M. H. Shibley, wh has been proprietor for the last three years, gives up charge of the premises on November 10, and the hostelry will pass into the hands of another well-known hotel man, whose identity for the present is not made known. The Hotel Oxford is known to travelers from all parts of Canada and the United States. It was built by James O'Neill, father of "Tip" O'Neal, at one time one of the greatest ball players in the big leagues. At that time it was known as the O'Neill House. Following Mr. O'Neill's death the house has been run by James Miller, Charles Pyne, Arnold Shore, George Forbes and the present owner. Mr. Shibley, before he took up the hotel business, had spent about 25 years on the road as a shoe traveler. And it is his intention to open a retail shoe store here.

Davis Dingwall, one of East Zorra's pioneers, died in Seattle yesterday. The deceased belonged to one of the oldest families of Oxford, and had himself been a resident of East Zorra for 60 years when he removed a few years ago to the West to be with relatives.

Preliminary arrangements are under way for a celebration here on the anniversary of Armistice Day, the G. W. V. A., city council and board of trade have appointed committees to carry out the details of the proposed celebration.

Stolen Car Recovered.

When he went for the car it had mysteriously disappeared, the police were communicated with and an hour later Wm. Carnell, a young man living in Norwich, was arrested. He had taken the car which he had appropriated in Norwich, to a local garage for gasoline. The proprietor identified the car and notified the police.

The church choir in the evening was ably assisted by some members of the Methodist choir. The offerings amounted to over $100. In connection with the jubilee the congregation is holding a supper and concert in the town hall on Tuesday evening, which, it is expected, will be largely attended.

WINDSOR COUNCIL WILL NOT COMPROMISE WITH GAS COMPANY

No Action Will Be Taken Without Consulting Other Municipalities.

WINDSOR, Oct. 25.—That, instead of accepting a compromise with the gas-producing or distributing companies, Windsor confer with other municipalities threatened with an increased rate by the Union Natural Gas Company, was the decision made at tonight's meeting of the city council.

This action was determined upon when it became known that representatives of the Windsor Gas Company, which acts in the capacity of local distributing agency, has offered to make a settlement on a basis of 50 cents per 1,000 cubic feet in Windsor, and 75 cents for a similar amount in the summer, as compared with the original demand in an ultimatum of last July for a boost from 30 cents to $1 per 1,000 cubic feet.

Several aldermen who have inquired into the natural gas supply situation in Western Ontario intimated their belief that a settlement would have to be made on the basis of an increase to probably 35 cents and 50 cents per 1,000 cubic feet.

That Windsor would receive the preference or be discriminated against in comparison with other municipalities, according to the terms it gave the company, had also been promised by the Windsor Gas Company, aldermen stated. The council decided, however, to "stand pat" in the fight to remain loyal to the other municipalities in the Natural Gas Consumers' Association of Western Ontario and consult them before coming to any understanding with the company.

GIRLS TAKE LOW HEELS.

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—Local shoe dealers are facing a revolution. Girls and women, they report, have abandoned high heels for boys' shoes. Many stores are overstocked with fancy footwear and in vain the salesman try to wheedle women into buying the latest fashions.

Constipation
IT is never necessary to take strong calomel or harsh castor oil to relieve constipation. Try a combination of simple herbs with pepsin, sold by druggists under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin. It is a mild, gentle medicine so safe that thousands of mothers give it to tiny babies, and yet effective enough to relieve the most chronic constipation in grownups. The formula is on the package. A sixty-cent bottle lasts an average family many months, and is guaranteed to do as claimed or your money will be refunded. Eight million bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin were sold in drug stores last year!
If you would like to test Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin free of charge before buying it in the regular way of your druggist, send your name and address to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 19 Front St., Bridgeburg, Ont., and a free trial bottle will be sent you promptly, postpaid.

POINTS WILL DECIDE SARNIA-PETROLEA GROUP OF O. R. F. U.

Hard Oils Have Twenty-One Point Lead To Overcome At Home.

SARNIA, Oct. 25.—The western district of the intermediate series of the O. R. F. U. will be staged by points. The local club got Secretary H. H. McKee on long distance today, and were assured that the agreement arrived at between the two clubs at the start of the season would stand with games to count. The proposition drawn at the last meeting of the Ontario Union, only applied to the two senior teams of Toronto. This means that Petrolea has a twenty-one-point lead to overcome in that place next Saturday.

The S. C. I. with their O. R. F. U. season opening a week from Saturday have at last got down to business. They are putting their team into the City League race to keep in shape, and Jack Newton has been putting them through their paces. They will likely meet St. Thomas here in the first game. With two victories over Petrolea to their credit, this season, the Sarnia intermediates are out to accomplish next Saturday something that no team has been able to do and defeat a Petrolea O. R. F. U. team in Petrolea. Commencing tomorrow night practices will be held every night. While some of the players are carrying bruises over Saturday's game, Karn and Harding came out of the melee unscathed. Signal practice and conditioning will constitute the main program of work mapped out by Coach Karn.

A Girls' City Basketball League will be formed at the Y.W.C.A. roms on King street at a meeting, to be held this evening at 7:30.

Last year's league was a great success, and an increase in the number of entries may be justly looked for. Only team representatives will attend tonight's meeting, and those wishing to enter the league are asked not to overlook the notice.

Woman's Pluck Saves Husband From Robbers

HAMILTON, Oct. 25.—A plucky woman is Mrs. William Barr of Vinemount, Ont. Two Italians had gained access to the Barr residence on the pretence that they wished to use the telephone, and had cut the telephone wires, and with a revolver pointed at Mr. Barr's head were proceeding to tie him to a chair preparatory to robbing him of his money, when Mrs. Barr went to her husband's assistance. The combined attack of husband and wife proved too much for the would-be robbers, and they were forced to beat a hasty retreat without having secured any booty.

Officials Await News of Latter—One Lands At Amherstburg, Ont.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 25.—With six of the seven balloons entered in the international races for the Gordon Bennett trophy down, officials anxiously awaited news from Armory No. 1, piloted by Lieut. Richard Thompson, with Lieut. Harold Weeks as aide. Since the hop-off in Birmingham Saturday nothing has been heard from this entry. It was regarded as probable that Lieut. Thompson has found a favorable current of air and pursued it without passing near any place of communication.

COMMON ASSAULT JURY'S VERDICT IN TRIBE VS. POLLOCK

Fall Assizes Opened At St. Thomas Docket Is Small.

JAIL BREAKING CASES

Several Serious Charges Laid Against Roberts and Chapelle.

ST. THOMAS, Oct. 25.—The list of civil cases to be heard by Justice Rose at the fall assizes, which opened this afternoon, was unusually light, there being only two new actions entered and one brought over from last assizes.

Before the business on the docket was proceeded with, an application was made by Sheriff Cameron, London, through his counsel, for an interpleader order in the suit of the Royal Bank of Canada against the London and Western Trusts, administrators of W. B. Shields and John J. Shields of Brooke, Lambton County, and Annie C. Shields of Brooke against the Royal Bank of Canada and Donald M. Cameron, sheriff of the county of Middlesex, in which goods of the claimant, Annie C. Shields, had been seized on an execution of the Royal Bank.

The Royal Bank, one of the respondents, affirmed, and Annie C. Shields, the claimant, denied that certain goods and chattels seized and taken into execution by the sheriff of Middlesex in a judgment recovered by the Royal Bank in an action brought against the London and Western Trusts Company, administrator of the estate of W. B. Shields and John J. Shields.

His lordship postponed the trial until the next nonjury sittings of St. Thomas, the sheriff to remain in possession and not to sell in the meantime.

King vs. Pollock.

A true bill was returned by the grand jury, of which ex-Mayor Chant is foreman, against W. Pollock for an assault against and wounding of Reuben Tribe of Bayham about a week ago. The hearing developed no sensation, nor did the assault result in any serious marks being left on Mr. Tribe. So far as the evidence was given by his daughter, Tribe received a couple of blows on the side of the face. He afterwards dressed himself and went to see a doctor. Since then the old gentleman is as hale and hearty as ever, and the doctor who attended him testified as to his present healthy condition. The row arose over the comparatively young wife of Tribe, whom Tribe found fault with for being too often in Pollock's company. Tribe is about 80 years old and has made three ventures in the matrimonial market, with a record of being the father of 27 children.

Pollock denied having beaten the old gentleman, as alleged, but the jury, after being out for a short time, brought in a verdict of guilty of common assault.

Rex vs. Roberts.

True bills were returned against Roy Roberts on a charge of wounding Turnkey Grant in an attempt to get away from prison and for attempting to escape from jail a couple of weeks ago. Half a dozen serious charges have been preferred against Roy Roberts and Hanley Chappelle. The criminal list will take up the better part of the week.

HANNA REFUSES TO RETRACT HIS RECENT ORDER

Declares Railway Employees Will Be "Fired" On Entering Politics.

WINNIPEG, Man., Oct. 25.—(By Canadian Press.)—In a statement given out here today, D. B. Hanna, president of the Candian National Railways, declares that Canadian National Railway employees cannot accept nomination for any political office, and if any should do so they automatically cease to be employees of the road.

In the statement Mr. Hanna outlines the reason for this decision, which has aroused a storm of protest on the part of the employees of the railway, who claim that such an order deprives them of their political rights.

Officials representing railway employees stated today, in regard to Mr. Hanna's statement, that they would await definite action on the part of the company. The men intend to take no steps for the moment, but will do so immediately word is received that an employee has been dismissed as a result of the company's stand.

FLYING SQUADRON OF RUM RUNNERS MAKES TRIP, SAYS REPORT

Six Motor Cars Rush Across Province To Border, Is Rumor.

TORONTO, Oct. 25.—Six motor cars left Toronto after midnight Sunday night with 240 cases of whiskey for Windsor, according to information given the local police and Ontario license department today. To insure the safe delivery of the liquor to the rum-runners at the border a motor car with two men in it went ahead of the cars containing the bottled stuff, and an empty car trailed at the rear of the procession, according to the story, so that if any of the laden cars failed in its duty one of the empty cars would take up the burden and keep the whiskey going. The authorities are trying to find out how much truth there is in the story.

EXPECTS PEACE BETWEEN INSPECTORS MOUSSEAU, SPRACKLIN

TORONTO, Oct. 25.—It was stated tonight after a lengthy conference in the provincial secretary's office here on the rum-running situation on the river border of Essex County and the differences which have arisen between M. N. Mousseau, resident license inspector in Essex, and Rev. J. O. L. Sprackling, special license inspector, that the Government and Ontario Board of License Commissioners have hopes of fixing up all the difficulties and that Mr. Mousseau might not resign, as he was reported to have threatened to do.

Mr. Mousseau will be called to Toronto for a conference and Mr. Spracklin will also be advised.

Provincial Secretary Nixon, Chairman J. D. Flavelle of the Ontario License Board, and J. A. Ayearst, chief inspector, attended the conference.

NOT TO BE SCARED, FIGHTING PARSON ISSUES A DEFI

Prepared To Stay in the Game —Ready For a Fight.

WINDSOR, Oct. 25.—Discussing tonight the recent attempt to blow up the speed boat sent him for chasing rum smugglers on the Detroit River, Rev. J. O. L. Spracklin declared "they can't scare me out of this game. I'm here to stay in spite of the campaign of intimidation that is being waged against me. I have no definite suspicion against the man or men responsible for this attempt, but I'll leave it to the people to judge for themselves just who is anxious for my removal."

The attempt to wreck the boat was made while it was undergoing repairs in a Detroit drydock after having been badly damaged on the first night it was placed in use. A naked wire had been placed leading from the engine to a pool of gasoline purposely placed in the bottom of the boat. When the engine was started the boat was wrapped in flames when a spark ignited the petrol.

Referring to the charges and writs served on him, the fighting parson issued the following defi: "Tell them to send their writs along, anything from 10 cents to $10,000 and I'll fight them."

Doctor Is Fined.

George Farron, who made himself drunk with potations of undiluted alcohol, paid a fine of $10 and costs in police court this morning, and a local physician who gave him the "script" for the alcohol was assessed $50 and costs, $55.50 in all.

Commenting on the case, Magistrate Arnold stated that doctors should make a distinction between new and real patients who really need alcoholic stimulant and the old soaks who are continually seeking new means of obtaining the liquid refreshment that is denied them.

ST. THOMAS WILL OPPOSE DAY OFF FOR CITY FIREMEN

Elgin Farms Changing Hands At Exceptionally High Prices.

$200,000 DAM

Water Board Decides To Dam Kettle Creek For Water Supply.

ST. THOMAS, Oct. 25.—The members of No. 3 committee at its regular meeting tonight unanimously agreed to cooperate with London, Brantford and other cities in the united protest to be made to the Legislature at its next session against the one-day-in-seven section provided for the firemen departments throughout the province. A report came from Chief Henderson that the only optional course they would consider in lieu of that concession would be the granting to them of the same wages paid policemen and 15 days' holidays every year.

To Look Into the Dark Ways.

A committee was named to investigate the dark places of the city and have lights installed at Ross street subway, Horton market and Elmina street.

Making the Men Work.

Ald. Middleton was in favor of compelling the firemen to remain out of the hall at night and making them work all spare time, except the one day off.

Complaints had come in of there having been two tons of coal so far burned this fall.

Ald. Meehan suggested that action be taken just as soon as the notice will expire of removing the old ramshackle buildings in the west end of the city.

High-Priced Farms.

William Ashton, Malahide, has sold his 250-acre farm on the ninth concession of that township for $35,000. The purchaser is John A. Cameron, reeve of Blenheim.

Albert Percy has bought the Arthur Brown place, south of Dunboyne, 100 acres, for $15,000, and W. T. Hare has sold 84 acres, north of Aylmer, for $18,000.

Dislocated Her Shoulder.

Tripping on the carpet when entering Alma Presbyterian Church yesterday, Mrs. Robert Parker, Barwick street, fell and dislocated her shoulder. She was taken to her home, and the injury was reduced.

Want a Guarantee.

Mayor Little and Ald. John Bridge have sent a mandate to Mayor Brinkman to ride with the London men on Tuesday in an aeroplane. The mayor of St. Thomas is reluctant to commit himself until he is assured that the party is not going to Windsor by way of Walkerville.

End of Burglaries.

The police look for an end of burglarizing in the city since the arrest of Vincent Strong, Chicago, Sunday by the London police. The finding of the property of W. T. Winder, Metcalfe street, in possession of Strong has suggested to the local police that Strong has made more ventures than one in St. Thomas, and that he may have an associate in the business who is working as a fence for the disposal of the property stolen, both in St. Thomas and London. Including that of Mr. Winder, seven burglaries have been reported to the police within a week.

Dam Worth $200,000.

The water board at a meeting today arranged for the erection of a large dam to conserve the water supply of the city, at an approximate cost of $200,000. The commissioners were directed by Expert Engineer Lea of Montreal to give a preference to the results that would come out of the damming of Kettle Creek rather than the scheme proposed of bringing water from Lake Erie, the expense of which would probably reach $500,000. A supply of 300,000,000 gallons would be had from the dam scheme, which would be in addition to that now conserved by the works. The board suggested that an advisory committee be appointed from the city council, the board of trade and trades and labor council to co-operate with the water commissioners.

Policeman Recalls Resignation.

Constable Small of the local police staff, who sent in his resignation to the commission a couple of weeks ago, has decided to remain on the force, and has recalled his intention to quit. The commission at its meeting will consider the appointment of two additional patrolmen.

Mrs. Duncan Released.

Mrs. Mary Ann Duncan, who was sent up because she was unable to pay a fine of $15 on a charge of intoxication, a few days ago, was released today, the fine having been paid by some friends of the unfortunate woman.

Sudden Death of H. Nash.

Harry Nash, an old ex-employee of the M. C. R., residing at 335 Forest avenue, died suddenly when walking with his two daughters under the subway on Ross street tonight. He left home with the Misses Nash to visit some relatives on John street, and fell into their arms while passing under the subway. His death was due to heart disease. Mr. Nash was an old imperial pensioner, and came from England several years ago. He was a member of Chester Lodge, S. O. E., and was in his 75th year.

RAILWAY WORKERS TO CHALLENGE ORDER FORBIDDING POLITICS

OTTAWA, Oct. 25.—"The workers will look to the Government itself for the protection of their rights to take part in the government," said Mr. Tom Moore, president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, in an interview last night regarding the order just issued by the president of the Canadian National Railways forbidding employees of that organization from taking part in politics or holding public office.

Mr. Moore's pinion is that it is drastic, and a development which cannot go unchallenged. He stated that, contrary to the assertion of Senator Gideon Robertson, that it was a matter for the Canadian National president and not the Government to deal with, it was up to the Government to gain redress of what he considers the countenancing of the taking away of political rights and the destruction of the principle of democratic gvernment. The order continues to cause widespread comment in labor circle, and it is more than likely that the question will be brought to Ottawa for action.

BOLSHEVIKI OCCUPY CAPITAL OF BOKHARA

BOMBAY, India, Oct. 25.—Advices have reached India to the effect that a Bolshevik envoy has occupied the palace of the Emir of Bokhara, and that the Emir and the Governor of Guzar have fled to Afganistan with 500 followers. Fighting is reported to be in progress at Karki. Many casualties occurred at the palace as a result of an explosion which occurred while the Bolsheviki were removing the Emir's supplies of munitions.

Bokhara is a vassal state of Russia situated in Central Asia. The city of Bokhara is an important commercial centre.

IRISH SYMPATHIZERS LAY MURDER CHARGE AGAINST BRITISH GOVT.

More Than Ten Thousand Attend Mass Meetings in New York.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Irish sympathizers numbering more than ten thousand attended mass meetings here tonight, protesting against what they termed the "murder by the Imperialistic Government of Great Britain" of Lord Mayor Terence MacSwiney of Cork.

Dudley Field Malone, Farmer-Labor party candidate for governor of New York; Walter E. Holloway of Philadelphia, and several Irish women, speaking to a great crowd in Columbus Circle, criticized the Government at Washington and the Republican and Democratic national candidates "for refusal to intervene in the cause of Ireland."

Flags of the Irish Republic and of the United States and buttons bearing the photograph of Mayor MacSwiney were distributed in the crowd, which booed and hissed every mention of the British Government and Mr. Lloyd George, while references to MacSwiney as "one of the greatest martyrs in history," and the Irish Republic were greeted with prolonged applause.

A young man in the crowd said he was an Englishman and belittled remarks made by one of the speakers, and was severely beaten before he was rescued by policemen.

Resolutions adopted by the Friends of Irish Freedom in another meeting protested against the "murder in Brixton prison of Terence MacSwiney" and declared: "We charge Lloyd George with the commission of this most heinous crime."

GREENWOOD TO INQUIRE.

LONDON, Oct. 25.—Sir Hamar Greenwood, chief secretary for Ireland, replying to a question in the House of Commons by T. P. O'Connor concerning public charges that servants of the crown were wounding or flogging men in Ireland, said he had no convincing evidence of such things taking place, but he would make inquiries.

Mr. O'Connor had referred to a reported speech of Governor Cox, the Democratic presidential candidate in the United States, denouncing frightfulness in Ireland. Sir Hamar said he had seen the alleged speech and that Governor Cox obviously had obtained his information from those hostile to the British Empire and to Anglo-Saxon relations. The chief secretary added that he did not believe the world accepted the malignant untruths suggested in Mr. O'Connor's question.

MORE REPRISALS; FACTORY IS BURNED

BANDON, Ireland, Oct. 25. — More reprisals occurred here last evening, when men said to be soldiers burned a large hosiery factory. Hundreds of terrified townspeople again remained throughout the night in the outlying country districts.

GOVT. IS BEATEN DECLARES GAZETTE

LONDON, Oct. 25.—(By Canadian Associated Press.)—Comments in the London press on the death of Terence MacSwiney, lord mayor of Cork, whose death in Brixton jail was reported today following 74 days of hunger-strike, are as follows this evening:

Evening Standard (Coalitionist)—"In contempt of nature and in defiance of his own priests, the lord mayor persisted in his design of suicide. The responsibility is his, so far as it does not lie with those who gave him countenance. It cannot be said in any measure to rest with the Government, who merely declared that under no circumstances could he be released. His death was as truly a case of self-murder as if he had opened a vein on the first night of his incarceration."

Westminster Gazette (Independent Liberal)—"The Government may urge a thousand reasons to prove it could do nothing but what it did do. Nevertheless it has been beaten by Lord Mayor MacSwiney. Englishmen have never failed in generous respect for those who resist them to the death. They know that the death of this man is no victory for them."

His colleagues carried high-power rifles.

You Can't Escape

Tooth troubles if you leave a film

All statements approved by authorities

You should try this new method of teeth cleaning. Try it ten days without cost. It combats the film which dims the teeth and causes most tooth troubles.

See and feel the results. To millions they are bringing cleaner, safer, whiter teeth.

The tooth wrecker

Film is the great tooth wrecker. A viscous film clings to the teeth, enters crevices and stays. The ordinary tooth paste does not end it. Old ways of brushing leave much of it intact. And very few people have escaped the troubles which it causes.

It is the film-coat that discolors, not the teeth. Film is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea—a disease now alarmingly common.

A new dental era

Dental science has now found ways to combat that film. The methods have been amply proved by years of careful tests. Now millions employ them. Leading dentists everywhere advise them.

The methods are combined in a dentifrice called Pepsodent. And, to let all know how much it means, a ten-day tube is being sent to all who ask.

Five desired effects

Pepsodent brings five desired effects. It combats the teeth's great enemies as nothing has done before.

One ingredient is pepsin. Another multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva, to digest starch deposits that cling. The saliva's alkalinity is multiplied also. That to neutralize the acids which cause tooth decay.

Two factors directly attack the film. One of them keeps teeth so highly polished that film cannot easily adhere. Every application repeats these results.

Send the coupon for the 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear.

What you see and feel will be a revelation and the book we send will explain how each effect is natural and necessary. It is important that you know this. Cut out the coupon now.

Women of Middle Age

Owing to modern methods of living not one woman in a thousand approaches this perfectly natural change in her life without experiencing a train of very annoying and sometimes painful symptoms. Those dreadful hot flashes, smothering spells, fainting spells, nervous troubles and irregularities are symptoms that should have prompt attention. These two letters prove what a successful remedy Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is for women at this time of life.

These Two Women Helped During Change of Life.

Taunton, Mass.—"I could not eat or sleep for six months, had fainting spells and could not walk without help for three months, caused by female trouble. My cousin, who was a doctor, told me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it helped me greatly. Then during the Change of Life I used the same remedy. I am seventy years old now and am able to do my own housework and walk one mile to church every Sunday morning and evening. I am recommending the Vegetable Compound to my friends having the same troubles as I had. Your remedy is the best on earth. I cannot find words to express my gratitude for it."—Mrs. Susan C. Staples, 157 B School St., Taunton, Mass.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I want to let you know what good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me. I had organic troubles and am going through the Change of Life. I was taken with a pain in my side and a bad headache. I could not lie down, could not eat or sleep. I suffered something terrible and the doctor's medicine did me no good at all—my pains got worse instead of better. I began taking the Vegetable Compound and felt a change from the first. Now I feel fine and advise any one going through the Change of Life to try it, for it cured me after I had given up all hopes of getting better. I will tell any one who writes to me the good it has done me."—Mrs. Margaret Danz, 743 N. 25th St., Philadelphia, Pa.

EMBARGO UPON BOND IMPORTS WILL CONTINUE

Drayton Also Announces That Committee Victory Bond Sale Continues.

TORONTO, Oct. 25.—The "embargo" against the importation of securities from overseas and the sale of Victory bonds by the market committee will be continued for some time yet, according to Sir Henry Drayton, minister of finance, who had a conference here this afternoon with several hundred leaders of finance on these two questions.

As to the embargo, the minister intimated that it might be discontinued by February next, if not earlier, and with reference to the Victory bonds, he said he would like them to continue in the hands of the market committee a little longer.

Sir Henry Drayton issued a statement at the conclusion of the conference, which was private. In his statement he said:

"We have had a nice frank talk on the general financial situation, at which were represented bankers, bond brokers, stock brokers, life insurance companies and other insurance companies, mortgage companies and trust companies, at which the whole financial situation was fully gone into and it was determined that, in view of the absolute national necessity that the wheat crop be properly financed and the necessity of keeping in Canada the money necessary to carry on essential Canadian business, that the present embargo on the purchase of securities held overseas be continued. The discussion was long and open to all. On becoming fully aware of the national necessities the different dealers determined to forego the profits that the purchase of these outside securities would yield.

"We have to see that the farmers are able to market their wheat. No man with the interests of the country at heart would want to imperil the marketing of the wheat crop, and you know the amount of money this will require, and you know the amount of inflation that exists in this and every country, and why add to that inflation?"

HYDRO TO DROP LONDON-GUELPH RADIAL SCHEME

Gaby Intimates That Line Through Stratford Now Abandoned.

PUBLIC MUST DECIDE

Engineer Says Commission Would Make Estimates If Demand Arose.

TORONTO, Oct. 25.—Abandonment of the projected London-Stratford-Guelph radial railway line has been practically determined upon by the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission, according to an intimation made by Chief Engineer F. A. Gaby today before the royal commission investigating the radial railway schemes. Mr. Gaby said there was a possibility that the hydro commission would include in its list of proposed lines a route from Port Credit to London, or from Port Credit to Guelph, or from London to Kitchener, Galt or Guelph. However, these were matters for the public in the districts in question to decide for themselves, Mr. Gaby said.

If Public Asks.

If the public asked for these services, the hydro commission would make estimates upon them and determine whether they could be operated with profit. He intimated that the prospects were not very bright for the Port Credit to Guelph line, as this would be more or less a duplication of the Toronto-Guelph service. Mr. Gaby said he thought that the service from London to Toronto was demanded, and if so the route would probably be to Kitchener and Guelph, and from there to Toronto. Municipal bylaws along certain portions of this route, he said, had already been favored by the electors, but, so far as Mr. Gaby could see, the original idea was off, and it would be open for any new route to take in Stratford, Kitchener, Galt or Guelph, on the way to Toronto, or perhaps to cut directly across country to Hamilton. The latter would be the shortest route, in Mr. Gaby's opinion.

Riding Habits.

A good deal of the time at today's sitting of the commission of inquiry was taken up in discussion between R. S. Robertson, counsel for the non-hydro municipalities, and Chief Engineer Gaby of the hydro-electric commission on the matter of the riding habits of possible patrons of the radials. Mr. Robertson closely questioned the hydro engineer on the latter's estimates, and took the ground that Mr. Gaby was altogether too optimistic in his figures.

The inquiry will be resumed tomorrow.

WHO WOULD PAY SHOT?

TORONTO, Oct. 25.—A sesion of the hydro radial commission was largely taken up in an attack by R. S. Robertson, counsel for the "anti" municipalities on the proposed division of the bonded indebtedness for the construction of the radials between the rural and urban sections. Counsel instanced in the case of the Hamilton, Galt and Elmira Line that the rural population of 10,543 assumed a per capita debt of $154, as against a per capita debt in the urban sections with 70,743 population of only $70 per capita. Chief Engineer Gaby argued that the greater part of the cost of construction was in the ownships that they would benefit by increased population. He also pointed to the large majorities they have cast for the bylaw.

Instancing one section, Ancaster, Mr. Robertson said the people assumed an indebtedness of $800 based on the population who would use the line, and that it would be cheaper for them to buy an automobile.

The hydro engineer argued that the presence of a fast radial service would benefit them even if they did not use it, and that the interest would be paid by the whole line and not in sections.

The hydro engineer pointed to the large majorities cast in favor of the radial project in these places. Mr. Robertson argued that the total vote cast was small. Mr. Gaby said it was larger than other votes on many by-laws in the district.

"Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home that will darken grey hair and make it soft and glossy. To a half pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Orlex Compound and ¼ ounce of glycerine.

These ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a grey-haired person look twenty years younger. It does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off."—Advt.

SMALL TOTS GIVEN POISONED CAKE BY STRANGE WOMAN

Two Sarnia Children Had Narrow Escape From Death.

INQUIRY OPENED

Rat Poison Found in Portion of Cake Given the Children.

SARNIA, Oct. 25.—The local authorities opened an inquiry tonight into the poisoning of Margaret Cowley, 4-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Cowley, Maxwell street, and Leila Causley, 5-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Causley, residing on the same street, who had a narrow escape from death by poisoning during the week when they ate portions of cakes given them, it is said, by a woman about 30 years of age, which it was later discovered contained rat poison.

When one of the little girls had consumed a portion of the cake she was noticed by her mother and asked what she was eating. In response she ran over and showed the cake, remarking that it had some "funny stuff on it." Examination revealed that it was rat poison. A physician was hurriedly summoned and antidotes given to counteract the effects of the poison. Barring serious after-effects the girls are now out of danger.

INGERSOLL SCHOOL BOARD REFUSES TEACHERS' INCREASE

INGERSOLL, Oct. 25.—Acting on the recommendation of the teachers' committee the board of education tonight decided to refuse the demand made by the teachers of the public schools that they be given an immediate increase in salary of $200 and a yearly increase thereafter of $50 till the maximum of $1,200 was reached. The committee, in making the recommendation, gave as its reason the fact that an increase of 15 per cent was granted at the beginning of this year, which, it was understood, was to stand for the year.

The board also received a communication from the teachers of the high school, asking that the salary of Principal Shales be increased by $500, and that the heads of departments receive an increase of $300 each. The letter was referred to the teachers' committee.

IF KIDNEYS AND BLADDER BOTHER

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys and Neutralize Irritating Acids.

Kidney and Bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in avoiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs, which then act normally again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink, which quickly relieves bladder trouble.

SIMCOE HOUSE GUTTED BY FIRE; DAMAGE $2,000

[Special to The Advertiser.]

SIMCOE, Oct. 25.—The home of Herbert Barber, Main street, was totally gutted late this afternoon by a fire of unknown origin. Only two chairs and a table were saved, so intense was the heat and so rapidly did the flames gain headway. The firemen did good work in preventing the spread of the fire, but their utmost efforts were unavailing. Mr. and Mrs. Barber were out when the fire started, and, as there was no fire in the stove, the cause of the blaze cannot be determined. The damage is estimated at $2,000, partly covered by insurance.

SIXTEEN-YEAR-OLD BOY FACES TRIAL ON CHARGE OF RAPE

Justice Kelly Expresses Opinion That Grand Juries Will Continue.

SIMCOE, Oct. 25.—Somewhat to the surprise of the large crowd which packed the courtroom here today, the grand jury returned a true bill against Stanley Carpenter, a 16-year-old Windham youth, who will as a result have to stand trial on a charge of rape. The lad has already spent several weeks in jail, his people being unable to provide the bail required by the crown.

D. Robb Tisdale, chairman of the grand jury, is son of the late Col. Tisdale of Simcoe.

Mr. Justice Kelly, who is presiding at the assizes, in his charge to the grand jury, expressed the opinion that the adverse criticisms launched against grand juries would have little effect on their function or custom. Grand jurors are selected, he said, because they are considered of special intelligence and capability.

The Steinhoff damage case against the L. E. and N. Railway Company, progressed while the grand jury was considering the criminal charges. About 20 of the witnesses called were heard. So cleverly did a little daughter of Mr. Steinhoff occupy the witness box that suppressed applause from the audience went without rebuke.

OPINION ON PAYMENT OF BONDS EXPECTED

Word From Premier Drury May Reach Here by Week-End.

Definite expression of opinion as to whether the payment of principal on street railway bonds can be discontinued is expected from Attorney-General W. E. Raney by the end of the week as the result of an interview which John Colbert, president of the street railway employees' union, and J. G. Hethersall had with him Monday.

The delegates also interviewed Premier Drury and the members of the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board. No assurance was given as to what would be done with the part of the September surplus which was held back to meet possible deficits in ensuing months.

FIRST MORMON TEMPLE ON BRITISH SOIL STANDS IN SOUTHWEST ALBERTA

Typically Grecian in Architecture—It Is Said To Symbolize To Members of Latter Day Saints' Church the Permanence of Their Institution in Canada.

Lethbridge, Alta, Oct. 25.—(Canadian Press).—Set upon a hill, the highest point in the town of Cardston, in the extreme southwest of Alberta, stands, like the Acropolis of ancient Athens, a Mormon temple, the first such structure to be erected on British soil.

Typically Grecian in architecture, it symbolizes to the members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints in the Dominion the permanence of the church in Canada. The Mormons have come to stay.

Six years ago last August the first sod was turned. Year by year the imposing $1,250,000 structure has risen until today it stands almost completed, ready for the final dedication by the highest officials of the church, a ceremony which will likely take place in May or June of next year. Interior decoration, which has already made the temple famous throughout the length and breadth of the continent, is still progressing, and it will be spring before the final touches are made.

There has been nothing of hurry to get the job finished; modern contracting methods for beating the time limit didn't enter into the undertaking; the temple has been accomplished somewhat as the ancients must have constructed the pyramids.

Once the temple is completed, dedicated, and turned over to the corps of temple officials for the special rites and ceremonies for which it was constructed, it will be sacred ground. No gentile will be allowed to set foot within its portals, and only members of the church who can carry a certificate from their bishop showing themselves to be in good standing in every particular, will be allowed to take part in the ceremonies within its walls.

Surrounding the temple and lifting it up, is a great square within a retaining wall 235 feet square. Within are being developed beautiful artificial gardens in the centre of which the temple stands, rearing its topmost point 110 feet in the air. It is not so much, however, on the exterior of the structure, which is constructed of Nelson granite bearing eight dollars in gold to the ton, that expenditure has been lavished as on the interior, where the finest of woods, paintings and rugs vie with each other to lend a tone of quiet magnificence absorbing the interest of the visitor.

Everything within the temple symbolizes something. In the very centre on the ground floor there is the great baptistry with its baptismal font supported on the backs of twelve life-sized oxen done by the famous sculptor, Torleif Knaphus. Ascending by easy stages as one circles the building come the creation room, indicating the beginning of the world, its walls beautifully panelled by vague pictures portraying the first seven days. From this one passes into the room representing the Garden of Eden, the world before sin, where an atmosphere of peace and plenty pervades. Next comes the world after the serpent of sin had done its work. There magnificent paintings portray the struggles of the world—the wolf stalks its prey, the lamb, the cougar tears down the antelope, while the viper fascinates the tropical bird. A splendid painting of Chief Mountain forms the main background in this room. Passing from this one comes to the celestial room at the very top of the temple. For this an enormous rug is now being woven in Brussels, Belgium, at a cost of $8,000, while a heavy veil costing $2,500 will form the entrance. Off the celestial room are smaller rooms done in the finest woods procurable. These are used for marriages and for the typical Mormon ceremony of "sealing the dead."

Throughout all these rooms, special woods are used in decorating. The Garden of Eden is done in what is claimed to be the finest bird's eye maple on the continent. There is African and American walnut, redwood from South America, ebony and rosewood, while in every room are splendid borders of inlaid work which took months of time on the part of several cabinet-makers to complete.

What is the purpose of the temple?

The Latter Day Saints claim to be a branch of the House of Israel, and as such are a temple-building people, and eight temples, including the one at Cardston and one at Lake (Laie), Hawaiian Islands, have been built. The ninth has been decided upon, and will be built at Mesa, Arizona.

In these temples officiate members of the priesthood, specially called and set apart by high officials of the church at Salt Lake City for the highest ordinances of the gospel as believed and practiced by the Mormon people. First among these ceremonies is baptism for the dead, Mormonism holding that those who have died without knowledge of the Supreme Being may be given an opportunity to exercise faith and to repent through the baptism of a living relative in his name. Thus, each Mormon family sets great store by its genealogy, and great efforts are made to trace it in order that ancestors, even four or five centuries back, may receive the benefit through being represented in baptism by a present day member of the family. Celestial marriage is the other important ordinance for which the temple stands. The Latter Day Saints assert that God's design regarding the union of the sexes in holy wedlock is an eternal one, never intended to have its termination at death. Thus marriages for life and eternity are made in the temple. Marriages of Mormon couples made in the usual way outside the temple are for life only, and almost every young couple makes an effort at some time early in their married life to visit the temple and be sealed to each other for the next world.

Heretofore members of the Mormon Church in Canada have been compelled to visit Salt Lake City or some other point where a temple had been erected to have these ceremonies, and several other minor ordinances performed. Ever since 1880, when Charles Ora Card, with a few families came overland from Utah at the command of the president of the church to establish a colony in Canada, settling on Lees Creek and founding the town of Cardston, the people of the church in Canada have been forced to go back to the United States for these ceremonies. But now the church is 10,000 strong in Alberta. The people have prospered, and several fine towns have been built up by them, of which Cardston, Raymond and Magrath are the chief. The highest department of the church in Canada as yet is the "stake," a district presided over by a president and his two councillors. There are now two stakes in Alberta, the original Alberta stake, with President E. J. Wood at its head, centering on Cardston, and the Taylor stake, named after Apostle John W. Taylor, said to be the father of the Mormon colonies in Canada, centering on Raymond, with President H. S. Allen as head. The church, however, is spreading in this province, and a third stake is likely to be created shortly, centering on Lethbridge.

Bishops, chosen from among the elder men, take the part of ministers and pastors in other churches. Bishops, however, do not give all their time to the church; generally they are prosper-cus businessmen or farmers. The Mormons are essentially an agricultural people, and most of their members in Alberta depend on farming and ranching. They were the first irrigationists to come to Canada, the establishment of the Lethbridge irrigation project in 1900 being the signal for a big trek from Utah to Southern Alberta.

Not all the million and a quarter dollars spent in the erection of the temple to the Most High in Cardston is being contributed by the Mormons of Alberta. Indeed, the greater part of the money was furnished by the central council, of which President Heber J. Grant is now head. This money came from Mormons in every part of the continent through tithing, which is a matter on which all Mormons lay great stress. However, many thousand dollars were contributed by the members of the church in Canada, while much of the rough labor on the temple was contributed by members without pay. Even now, members of the church in Alberta are contributing funds for the erection of the ninth temple at Mesa, Ariz.

Cardston, the Temple City, as it is now known. The construction there of the first temple on British soil, marks it as the centre of Mormonism in the conlimye ps, onmDr. z'yo enloshrdloli Dominion. It promises to show very considerable growth in the few years following dedication next spring, for it is the history of the temple towns in Mormon communities that the older people, when they quit active business, flock to these towns, build themselves homes and settle down close to the temple where they can carry out the various ordinances of the church which they probably neglected in their busier years.

INSTITUTE OF MINING AND METALLURGY TO MEET AT WINNIPEG

Delegates From All Provinces of Canada And United States.

Winnipeg, Oct. 25.—With delegates in attendance from all the provinces of the Dominion and also from the United States, one of the most important conferences of the year will convene here Monday next, October 25, with the opening of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy convention.

This is the annual conference of the institute, and representatives of gold, copper, nickel, steel, iron and silver mining corporations, as well as delegates from the coal mining companies of both east and west will be here. The asbestos, gypsum, building stone and other mineral industries will be represented also.

This is the first time the institute has ever held its convention in Winnipeg and it shows that Manitoba's great natural resources have not only attracted the favorable attention of all the mining men of Canada, but has also proven Mantioba's right to be included among the leading mineral producing provinces of Canada.

The proceedings will last three days. Papers on the coal resources of the west, its transportation, etc., will be read by leading coal authorities. Illustrated lectures and papers showing Manitoba's great copper fields in The Pas country, the discovery of and work done to date on the Mandy and Flin Flon copper mines of the north, Herb Lake gold fields, the Rice Lake gold area, Manitoba's deposits of gypsum, marble, building stone, oil, etc., will also be given by men who stand at the head of their professions. It is expected that many of the delegates will take time while here to make trips into the mining fields of Northern Manitoba.

The Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy was established over twenty years ago and has a membership of over 1,500.

FIFTY BORDER ROADS MAKE BOOT-LEGGING EASY

Plattsburg Alleged Centre of Illicit Liquor Traffic From Montreal.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—(By Canadian Press.)—The town of Plattsburg, on Lake Champlain at the Canadian border, about 60 miles from Montreal, is today the scene of one of the most extensive bootlegging campaigns in the United States, according to the New York World, whose investigator has been up that way getting a general idea of "hootch" conditions.

So flagrant and widespread is the violation of the prohibition law and, infinitely more serious for the offenders, the law against smuggling, that a prominent citizen of Plattsburg, in position to know, told the World reporter that it was conservative to estimate that every night 100 cases of bonded Canadian whiskey and gin are brought into the United States through that town.

The fact that this choice stock can be bought at Montreal for from $2.50 to $4 a quart, and can be sold at from $6 to $15 a quart in the United States, explains why a number of Plattsburg youths who have hitherto lived most impecuniously are now sporting natty clothing and silk shirts and are carrying always from $50 to $1,000 in cash, the investigator says.

One man admitted to the World reporter that before prohibition became effective he had earned $18 a week as a teamster. Now, he boasted, his income ranges from $50 to $150 a week. And, aside from risking arrest and imprisonment, he asserted, he lived an entirely happy, care-free life. He explained, however, that as a precaution, he pretended to work at a soft job.

"How do they get away with this bootlegging?"

The World says the answer is simple, and offers this explanation:

"There are at least fifty roads from Canada leading into the United States through Plattsburg, and there are only about fifteen United States customs officials to guard these fifty or more bootlegging trails.

"Then, in addition to the fifty or more thoroughfare, some of them mere cow paths through the woods, there is Lake Champlain.

"Yet, in spite of the obvious difficulty in trapping the crafty and even desperate characters who ply the trade, customs officials in and about Plattsburg have been averaging four arrests a week. The prisoners are arraigned before a United States commissioner, and are usually charged with smuggling. Occasionally the charge of violating the Volstead act is added.

"When the men are brought to trial before a federal judge, however, as a rule they plead guilty, and are dismissed upon payment of a fine of $500 to $1,000. This, according to one of the bootleggers, is not a severe penalty, as the 'gang' can easily raise as much as $20,000 if necessary."

Plattsburg has a population of 15,000.

Deceased, whose maiden name was Annie Fraser, was the eldest daughter of the late Wm. Fraser, contractor of Paris. She was born and educated here and had resided in Paris all her life. Wheat And Oats Advance On The Local Market

Grain Prices Expected To Be Firm—Offerings Are Small and Demand Active—Pears Are Slow At $1.25 Per Bushel.

Wheat made another advance on the market today, and is now selling at $2 10@2 15 per bushel and $3 50@3 53 per cwt. Although several loads were offered, the demand has not been as active for some time. Local dealers are bidding against one another, and this is responsible for the jump. It is expected that prices will be very firm.

Oats also advanced to $1 80 and $1 90 per cwt. Bushel quotations are now 61¼c and 64¾c. Supplies small, and the demand active. Only one load sold at the lower price this morning, and this was of poor quality.

Pears came down to $1 25 per bushel. One farmer received $1 75 per bushel for his load, but the grade was excellent. There is little demand for them.

Grapes were in demand, but the prices did not change. The quality during the last few days has been the best of the season.

Celery was easier with the slow demand, and brought from 60c to $1 per dozen.

Winnipeg, Oct. 26.—October wheat opened ½c to ¼c lower, at $2 26½@2 26¼; November 1c down at $2 20½; December ¼c to ½c lower at $2 05¾@2 05½, and May ½c higher at $2 11½.

Oats opened ¼c lower for October at 67¾; December ⅛c higher to ⅛c lower at 61⅝@62⅜c.

Barley opened ⅞c lower for October at $1 15⅛.

Flax 1c down for December at $2 76.

Chicago, Oct. 26.—Moderate strength developed in the wheat market today, owing in some degree to hopeful progress toward a settlement of the British coal strike. An upward tendency in hog values tended also to lift grain prices, including wheat. Besides, offerings were light. Opening quotations, which ranged from ⅛c to 1⅜c higher, with December at $2 00½@2 01, and March at $1 93½@1 04½, were followed by further gains and then a fair reaction.

Corn paralleled the action of wheat. After opening ⅛c to ½c higher, including December at 80⅛@80⅝c, the market hardened still more and then sagged somewhat.

Oats were governed by the course of other cereals, starting a shade to ⅛c up for December at 53¼@53⅜c, and continuing to show firmness.

Heals Inflamed Nostrils, Stops Catarrhal Discharge, Cures Colds Quickly

Poor remedies have given Catarrh the reputation of being incurable. But it is curable, easily and quickly, if the right method is employed. Snuffing a powder or ointment up the nose won't cure Catarrh, neither will tablets, douching, or stomach medicines cure. These treatments fail because they only affect local condition, they do not remove the cause, which is germ life established in the lungs, bronchial tubes, and nasal passages. Ordinary remedies do not reach these remote parts, but Catarrhozone does, for it is breathed through the inhaler into every air cell in the lungs, into every air passage in the head and throat. No matter where the Catarrh is Catarrhozone will reach it. It kills the germs, heals sore spots, clears the nose and throat instantly. Universally used; pleasant and clean; guaranteed to cure or money refunded.

Don't be an object of aversion to everyone you meet—get Catarrhozone today and use it regularly; it will cure your Catarrh, Bronchitis, Throat Trouble, spitting and gagging. Large size lasts two months; price $1.00; smaller size, 50 cents; sample size, 25 cents; at all dealers.

Team Work

IT doesn't need an emergency to prove the value of your telephone service. But emergencies often demonstrate the team work that makes the telephone so vital to your welfare.

In Ottawa, not long ago, a lady working about the gas range in her kitchen, touched the loose sleeve of her dress to the fire, and in a moment was wrapped in flames. Rushing to the telephone, she had strength only to take down the receiver and cry "help."

"Central" heard the cry. She quickly told her supervisor, who consulted "Information," and found that there was a telephone in the house next door. The neighbor was called and rushing in, put out the fire in time to save a life!

Similar examples of resourcefulness, alertness and intelligence might be cited, from many cities, in which prompt action of telephone operators saved precious lives and property.

Our constant aim is to keep the standard of telephone service up to a point that will meet the call of any emergency, and at the same time give our subscribers complete satisfaction in the ordinary requirements of every day.

The more you know about the Telephone the better it will serve you

CAPTURES WOLF.

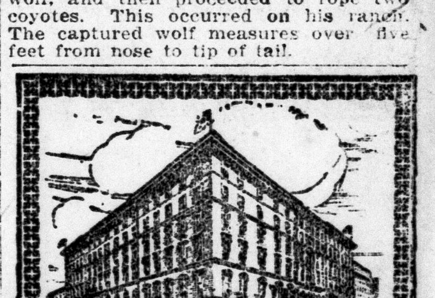

Lethbridge, Alta., Oct. 25.—To the credit of Jim Meeks goes the capture of a wolf at Raymond through his accuracy with his lasso. Mr. Meeks saw a band of about 25 coyotes and wolves, and he gave chase on horseback with two hounds.

With his second throw he roped a wolf, and then proceeded to rope two coyotes. This occurred on his ranch. The captured wolf measures over five feet from nose to tip of tail.

ORNITHOLOGIST WILL WORK IN MANITOBA

Winnipeg, Man., Oct. 25.—The Federal Government has sent Hayes Lloyd of Ottawa, ornithologist for the Dominion parks branch, to Manitoba, to investigate certain wild fowl breeding areas which the authorities have in view.

Interviewed here, Mr. Lloyd stated that the Provincial Government has already a number of sanctuaries established but, for the preservation of the wild fowl and birds, it was necessary for the Federal Government to establish additional areas. With the country becoming settled, breeding grounds once suitable for the birds had become farm lands. It was the intention of the Government to secure a number of areas before they also became units of the industry of the province.

WHOSE MONEY IS IT?

Chicago, Oct. 25.—Local internal revenue officers are investigating the presence of $2,250,000, which has been discovered in the Federal Building vaults, with no record of its source. It is believed the money was collected as income taxes and was not recorded in the books.

ARMLESS AVIATOR.

San Francisco, Oct. 25.—When Loxia C. Thornton of Fresno lost both arms in a railroad accident he would have scouted the suggestion that a pair of wings would in some measure take their place. Now, however, Thornton made such an excellent test flight at Varney field at Redwood City that he was commended to the Aero Club of America for a pilot's license. Thornton handles his control with the hooks.

SMALL CHANGE SHORTAGE.

PARIS, Oct. 24.—The small change crisis still remains very acute in France despite the issue of 50 centime and 1 and 2 franc notes, and it has been definitely decided to issue bronze tokens, the first of which will be placed on the market in October.

The Paris Chamber of Commerce has issued 40,000,000 francs worth of small notes, but many have become soiled and torn, and a large amount of the issue has found its way into the provinces, where, technically, it has no value. Silver change has disappeared.

SCOUTS MAKE TRIP.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—Carrying a letter from Mayor Hylan to the Mayor of San Francisco, two local assistant Boy Scout masters, Milton Weinstein, 22, and Seymour Grauer, 19, have started from New York to San Francisco with only $50 between them. The young transcontinental travelers will walk the entire distance, working on farms for subsistence. They expect to reach the Pacific coast in about four and one-half months.

THRASHED HIS WIFE.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—Mrs. Daniel Moolik is in the hospital and Daniel Moolik faces a charge of assault, all because of a chicken dinner which did not materialize. According to the police, Moolik admits he thrashed his wife with the buckle end of a strap when she refused to cook a chicken for his Sunday dinner.

NO MORAL REASON FOR DISCOUNT RATE BETWEEN COUNTRIES

"An Atrocious Thing" Elbert Hubbard II. Tells Ad Club Members.

GIVES FATHER'S STORY

Canadian Dollar Worth Hundred Cents in East Aurora Settlement.

"I think it is an atrocious thing with these two great peoples that the money of one is discounted by the other one at times. There is no moral reason in the world for it," Elbert Hubbard, II., declared in an address to the Advertising Club last night. "Of course, there is the balance of trade," he continued. "It exists and it always will exist until we wipe out that imaginary boundary line that keeps us apart."

The Roycrofters at East Aurora recognize no difference in the currencies of the countries, he stated, and Canadian money is good for one hundred cents on the dollar with them at any time.

The story of Elbert Hubbard I. and the establishment of the Roycroft colony at East Aurora, N. Y., was interestingly related by the son. He modestly explained that he was making no attempt to fill the place of his noted sire, but as his son was merely trying to carry on the work and ideals to the best of his ability. "The Pursuit of an Ideal" was the subject on which he was asked to speak.

Ideals Intangible.

Ideals are intangible, he said. They are the hopes we strive for and seldom attain. Life should consist and did consist of chasing an ideal. Without ideals and the hope of a brighter future he did not doubt but that we would all die of dry rot. Just now the world was striving for universal peace, which he believed would never be attained. He took this view, not because he was pessimistic, but because nations were made of men, and so long as money was power and power was the plaything of men there would continue to be trouble.

The story of the founder of the Roycrofters was new to most of the listeners. Elbert Hubbard, Sen., at the age of 36, gave up a lucrative business in Buffalo "to experiment with ideals," as he explained to his mother in a letter. He said that he believed at that time he and his father were the only two men in the United States who had all the money they wanted.

His literary efforts had been spurned by several editors. To satisfy his ambitions he started a magazine of his own, "The Philistine," in June, 1895. He planned to print only two or three numbers of this.

Admit Failure.

The publication was continued for a year, however, and by that time there were so many readers that it was decided not to discontinue it, as to do so would be to admit failure, which Hubbard never did during his whole life. This was the beginning of the Roycroft crafts. The growth from that time was the result of evolution, and not a well-developed idea.

Books were printed. Then furniture, which had been made for their own use, was sold, replaced and sold again. Some of the boys in the shops proved adepts at working in leather, and this soon developed into an industry. Each of six other industries was prompted by necessity.

Worker With Workers.

The speaker described his father as a worker with his workers and possessing many friends because he knew how to be a friend. His death on the ill-fated Lusitania had seemed like a fatal blow to the Roycroft colony, but it had kept going and now was more prosperous than ever. Elbert Hubbard I. could ask no greater monument this this, he thought.

Two musical numbers of the program were greatly enjoyed. Miss Clois Terry, who is rapidly gaining fame in Canadian musical circles, made a most favorable impression with two solos. Harry Carson was also well received. They were accompanied by F. L. Willgoose.

John Cottam, president of the club, was elected its representative on the juvenile court committee. J. B. Hay was unanimously appointed to the position of secretary. W. C. Brent of Brent-Noxon Company, spoke briefly in support of the new hotel project. A number of members were appointed to assist in the coming Navy League campaign.

MAYORS MAY COME TO CITY BY AEROPLANE

Mayor E. S. Little has invited Mayor Frank Brinkman of St. Thomas and Mayor Brisco of Chatham to come to London by aeroplane. Telegrams to this effect were sent to them last night. If they will accept, Capt. Porter, who is in charge of one of the planes which are here this week, will be dispatched to the two cities to bring the officials here.

LONDONER PROMOTED.

Owen Ferguson, formerly a clerk in the L. and P. S. R. freight office, who went to Windsor to take a position as junior clerk with the G. T. R., has been promoted to chief clerk there.

GETS WORD OF BIRTH IN CHINA DAY LATER

Cablegram Received by London Clergyman From Daughter in Mission Field.

Although the birth occurred in China but a day previous, Rev. F. A. Steven, 598 Princess avenue, received word on Monday that he was a grandparent. A cablegram received yesterday announced the birth of a baby to Mr. and Mrs. Harris of the China Inland Mission at Lanchou, China. Mr. Harris was at Sining, eight days' journey farther west, on the border of Thibet, where he was preaching in Chinese and Arabic to Mohammedans at the time.

Mrs. Harris (nee Steven) attended London Normal School and taught school in this district. Mr. Harris was a native of Kelso, Washington. Both were students at the Moody Bible Institute, Chicago. Mrs. Harris has been at Lanchou three years.

FINGER AMPUTATED.

Michael Sheedy, 498 Grey street, had the fore-finger of his left hand amputated while at work at the McClary Manufacturing Company's on Monday afternoon. He was removed to Victoria Hospital at 3 o'clock, were he is reported to be progressing favorably.

POLITICAL PLATFORM FOR G. A. U. V. TO BE UP AT NEXT SESSION

Coal Situation, Housing Problems Will Be Considered—No Fireworks Monday.

Arrangements for a meeting of the Grand Army of United Veterans for Friday, October 29, at 288½ Dundas street, were made at an executive meeting of the organization in their new rooms above the Grand Theatre last night.

A definite political platform for the association will be proposed. Further information from headquarters at Toronto in reference to what candidates will be backed by them will be sought by the local executive prior to the general meeting. The coal situation and numerous housing commission problems will also be threshed out.

It was expected that there would be fireworks at the executive meeting owing to certain conditions which have been prevalent among members for some time, and the press were excluded. F. B. Lavender, secretary of the association, stated to The Advertiser that the fireworks had failed to materialize.

ORANGEMEN CELEBRATE.

The local Loyal Orange lodges will celebrate "The Gunpowder Plot" by attendance at divine services at Dundas Centre Methodist Church on Sunday next. The annual oyster supper will be held in the Adelaide Street Hall on Friday, November 5.

STOCK SOLD WELL AT MOSSLEY SALE

W. W. Scott Is Moving In To London to Reside.

Mossley, Oct. 25.—One of the most successful clearing auction sales of the season was conducted by Messrs. Rose & Shaw for W. W. Scott of Mossley.

There were fully 500 buyers present from a radius of twelve miles. The cattle consisted of Grade Holsteins of extra quality. The nine head of milch cows, including three 2-year-old heifers, averaged $133.33 each, and four yearling heifers averaged $73.50. The best priced cows were a new milker and springer, topping the sale at $180 and $172.50, respectively.

Horses also sold well. A 6-year-old mare sold for $220, and a 2-year-old filly $151. Utility Barred Rock yearling hens sold in lots of 42, at $2.75 each, and cockerels at $4.

The implements, hay and grain and pigs sold well. The total receipts of the sale were $5,650.

Mr. Scott has disposed of his farm of 75 acres and is moving to London on March 1, and will reside on Oxford street.

SMASH NUMBER THREE SEES PRICES SLASHED ON ALL

Stoves and Ranges

That means that on every stove, heater, gas stove, or combination range, you receive a straight discount of 30 per cent off. Comparative prices show you the old war-time price. Indeed so low are we selling them that several merchants throughout the country are threatening some action to stop us. Club Plan purchasers receive a discount off regular prices of 20 per cent. See the "Treasure" demonstrated by an expert.

To Give This Sale More Life, the D. Moore Co. of Hamilton, Sent Along An Expert Cook To Demonstrate the Many Advantages of the Treasure Combination Range

Demonstrations Create More Than Passing Interest

There's always something real interesting in a demonstration. It shows that the manufacturer holds a great interest in his product and willingness to spend a little money to show its many advantages.

London is now a city where the combination range has a distinct place in all homes. What with power shortage, at times low gas pressure, the "Treasure" coal, wood and gas range fills the long-felt want.

Take Hamilton, for instance. There are over 2,000 "Treasures" in daily use. Stop a moment, think of the advantage of having but one stove all the year round.

The "Treasure," with tea shelves, minus the high warming closet, but in all ways the same as illustration, sold regularly in the old way at $142, but Smash No. 3 places it at only $100

MADE IN CANADA

Pretty Nice, This Treasure is

You'd find this out the first time you use it. Suppose you had one today. It's not really cold enough to light the furnace—a range would give sufficient heat to keep the house comfortable. Naturally you would start the "Treasure" going on the coal or wood end. Later on, when you had the furnace, you could then use the gas part, or, if desired, both at once, for, you know, the "Treasure" gives you four holes for coal and four for gas, yet it occupies but the space of the ordinary range.

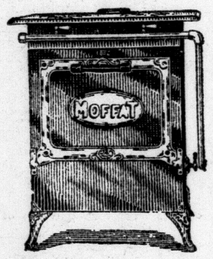

Another practical feature is that the large oven in the Treasure cooks with either coal or gas—indeed, both at the same time, if you wish. Moreover, the patented drilled burner saves 20 per cent of your gas bill. Solid cast iron, to the extent of 600 pounds gives you a stove that means years and years of service. After all, this Treasure proposition is going to give you something to think about. At least, you are going to attend the demonstration. Yes, it has the great big firebox, equipped with duplex grates.
