TUESDAY, APRIL 22.

FOR SHAME!

A sample of the "arguments" the Banner is utilizing in its frantic endeavors to secure the election of supporters of the discredited and promise-breaking Ross Government from Kent county may be gleaned from the following paragraph clipped from its

Mr. Davidson's career as warden of the county is recent enough to remem-ber that personally he was probably the "dearest," if he wasn't the most beloved, head the county council ever had. His prodigal use of the people's money during his regime augurs ill for legislative economy, the cry on which the Opposition are seeking to attain power at Toronto.

This paragraph is evidently concocted as a result of Mr. Davidson's candidature in the Conservative interests in East Kent.

What is there in it? Let the Banner speak for itself. In December, 1900, at the close of Mr. Davidson's regime as warden of the county the Banner said of him and his work:-

The past year's work has been characterized by progress, efficiency and economy, for which the warden (Mr. Davidson) has reason to be proud and his fellow commissioners also. Many tributes were paid to the warden on his good work in the chair by his fellow representatives.

It will be seen that the local Liberal ergan has given the lie to itself and placed itself in a very discreditable position. To concoct and publish such untruthful statements with the sole object of tarnishing a man's good reputation, simply because he is the representative of a political cause whose adoption would remove what little governmental pap comes its way, is something, we had hoped, would have been beneath even the low plane of political journalistic ethics which the Banner has adopted. Such tactics cannot fail to east it into disrepute with respectable people and will not bring any credit to the cause it champions. If this is a sample of the "arguments" upon which Ross must depend for election his chances are even poorer than we thought

As a matter of fact the Banner told the truth in 1900, when it was not influenced by political fears, and spoke of Mr. Davidson and his regime honestly as it found them. Notwithstanding the fact that the House of Refuge, opened the previous December, was put into formal operation that year; that the Moravian bridge was built, which necessitated an extra session; that the Faucher creek bridge was completed and the preparatory work and inspection of repairs to Kent bridge accomplished, besides many other permanent improvements of which the county has good reason to be proud, Mr. Davidson's was an economical and business-like regime. Personally, even with the large amount of extra work entailed, he drew less money from the county treasury than did his predecessors. The Banner's untruth is therefore specially disgusting. For shame!

TIME FOR A CHANGE.

Says the Mail and Empire:-There reed be no doubt as to the result of the contest. The universal opinion is, that thirty years is too long for any one body of men to rule, and as a consequence, a change is called for. The necessity for a change is made clear by the ballot box stuffing and other machine evils with which we have been visited. But the principle of rotation is ably set forth by Mr. J. W. Longley, the Liberal Attorney General of Nova Scotia, in an article he has written on the subject of long-term governments. Mr. Longley says that "changes of administration are necessary to a healthy develo ment of public sentiment." He adds:

"It is imposssible for any body of men to be in power for a continuous period without getting lax in their ideas of public duty. That is the innate tendency of mankind.

"Besides, long terms of office induce the members of a government to get a notion that they have not only a divine right to rule, but that instead of being servants and trustees, they are actually the masters and all favors are to come from them. This is ubversive of the whole theory of popular government, and it is in the interest of the people to have it clearly understood that governments are not heaven-appointed rulers, but mere instruments of power, subject to the will and control of the electorate."

ANOTHER CLERGYMAN SPEAKS.

Bathurst street Methodist church, To-

"Premier Ross is attempting by his so-called referendum to trade upon the ignorance of the voters of Ontario." "His so-called referendum is a fraud, trail to divert the attention of the people from those who are guilty of perfidy to their pledges."

A CONUNDRUM.

The following leading editorial in yesterday's issue of the Banner, given herewith in its entirety; probably means something :-

On reflection it appears that stupid ity, more than mendacity, led to The Planet's first offense. When, however, it persists in its misrepresenta-tion with a knowledge of the facts, it is both deprayed and dull.

It isn't often that The Planet, a bare-faced plagiarist and feeble echo of its intellectual betters, ventures on an assertion of its own, and the gestation and delivery must have oc-casioned this new-found friend of the prohibitionists much painful travail, to say nothing of the midwife's

As an increased fecundity might prove disastrous, The Planet should reverse the petition of the good Hannah of Holy Writ, and pray that the peril be averted.

guments, if you have any. Pardon us for mentioning it, but the Banner has not yet apologized to the Kent Prohibitionists for designat- MEYNELL'S ing their views "moonshine and rot."

It will be a Liberal-Conservative victory in Kent this time in the full sense of the words. So many honest Liberals are uniting with the Conservative cause.

Excuse us for smiling when the Banner gives the prohibitionists "friendly advice" on the Kent campaign. It should offer to lend them the services of Irish Jack, chairman of the local Liberal camp.

Fraser and Davidson are at work with a united party behind them. Rutherford was misled and McCully knifed, while Pardo's machine men are trying to cover up that division in the Liberal ranks. Why shouldn't we win?

If the Banner can restrain itself from its eloquent political campaign of calling "stupid and liar" at this great home journal and the Mail-Empire respectively, for a sufficient time to do so, we fancy many of the East Kent Liberal would be interested in listening while it explained its reason for the slighting remarks it passed upon Dr. McCully.

Wonder if that dissention in the West Kent Liberal ranks over the choice of a candidate, which the Banner informed the public was in existence, can be held in subjection tomorrow, while the machine gets the Pardo nomination through. The machine has had trouble enough in East Kent with George Johns, James Rutherford, Dr. McCully, and their sturdy, independent Liberal friends. The people seem to be getting restive under its tyranny.

Theatrical

The theatrical season of 1902's latter end overflows with novelties. One of the most hilarious successes of this half of the year is "Don't tell my wife," This is a gay farce by Howard Hall, who has already done much good work in the way of furnishing laughing material for the stage. "Don't tell my wife" is being presented by a company remarkable for potent names in rare merriment, notables ones being Arthur Deming, Harry Shunk, Kingsley Sisters, John E, Jenkins and Willard Lamoreaux. It is said that no company of the season is more fortunate in appropriate scenery and costumes. This viece has already had several big innings in other cities and has been stamped an unusualgly clever and surely funny conceit. Of course Comedian Deming is foremost in the fun. Deming is confessedly one of the very foremost of funsters boasted by the stage of this country to-day. In "Don't tell my wife," he has a part that is said to fit him like the proverbial glove.

LETTER BOX

GREAT BRITAIN'S INCREASED TAXATION.

To the Editor of The Planet Dear Sir,-The Chancellor of the Exchequer imposes a tax of three pence a hundred weight on grain and five pence a hundred weight on flour This appears to be strongly resented in Canada and the United States; while some of the leading papers have consulted "the man in the street."

Proposals for the increase of indirect taxation are naturally attractive to those who bear the burden of direct taxation, and amyteur chancel-lors of the exchequer are always ad-vocating the imposition of new or ad-tional duties on this, that and the other articles of general cossumption.

They almost invariably start from the assumption that people who are not liable to income tax escape the payment of their fair share toward the national revenue. Of course this is a preposterous fallacy, but it is one which has taken deep root in the minds of many income taxpayers. was glad to notice an able and lucid article on the subject by Mr. Morgar-

Browne in the New Liberal Review.

Taking the consumption, per head of the population, of dutiable articles such as cocoa, tea, sugar, tobacco, beer and spirits—he shows that the indi-rect taxation of the United Kingdom lies of more than 30 per cent. of the population do not exceed this figure—has to pay 16 per cent. of that income

It may be said that the poorer classes do not consume so much of some of the duitable commodities as the wealthier classes. This, if true, would only prove, however, the injustice of a system of taxation by which the prices of wheat are practically necessaries of life, are raised beyond the reach in average quantities of a section of the com-

As to direct taxation, the average amount paid by each taxpayer contributing to it is estimated by Mr. Morgan-Browne at £23-10 per annum. The payer of direct taxes also bears his share of indirect / taxation, and this being added makes his average contribution to the service of the state £31-10 per annum.

But even then the proportion of his income that he pays away in taxation, direct, or indirect, is on the average considerably less than half the 16 per cent. which comes out of the pocket of the laborer with £50 a year-in income in itself insufficient to maintain him and his family in health and decency ,let alone comfort, The aim of a sound system of taxation, is to insure, as Mr. Morgant-Brown points out, that every man shall contribute in proportion to his taxable capacity, that is, the income he has left after providing the prime necessities of existence.

By means of duties on such necessities the poorer classes are already overtaxed, if their means are consid-overtaxed, if their means are considered in comparison with the rest of the community.

The increase of the cost of the necessaries of life through additional taxation will therefore be a hardship and an injusting and will more considered. an injustice and will moreover, injure the whole body politic by the inevitable lowering of the standard of health and comfort of a large part of the population.

HALF A MAN.

When a man is sick and can only work half the time he is practically half a man. It requires his whole physical energy to do half a man's work.

In general the weak run down condition which cuts the strength and energy in half is due to disease of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. You could not expect a half starved man to work more starved man to work more than half the time. The condition of the man with weak stomach is

FOLLOWING NATURE

The Only Rational Method for the Cure of Lisease.

We Cannot go far Astray if we Adhere Closely to Nature's Means and Methods - Success Rewards Such Treatment. Rest, as an opportunity for rebuilding and recuperating worn out and tired parts of the body, is a fundamental principle of Nature. If our legs are tired standing or walking, we sit or ride, resting these so as to give Nature the opportunity to remove worn out and wasted tissues and replace it by new and healthy.

If our brain is tired and gives evi dence of it, we cease its operations, until Nature has completed her work of restoration, when we may proceed. Constant and continued use tires any organ of the body.

There should be intervals of rest after every prolonged effort. We think of this, and practice it in relation to almost every organ except the Stomach. The Stomach gets tired too, and very tired, yet we seldom recognize very tired, yet we sendom recognize its appeal for rest, and the consequent opportunity of Nature's restoration, until it is too late.

After Dyspepsia, Heartburn, Sour-Stomach, Bloating, Headache or Pal-itation of the Heart begins to oppose pitation of the Heart begins to oppress s severely, we stop and think.

us severely, we stop and think.

All these symptoms have been brought about by our failure to rest the Stomach.

But how can one rest the Stomach, and at the same time furnish the body with the needed nutrition? with the needed nutrition? Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets answer this question.

Two of these dainty Digestive Tablets taken immediately after each meal, will digest the food, all of it, with little or no assistance from the Stomach; thus giving it the needed rest, while the body receives its regular and satisfactory nutrition. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are com-pounded for this special purpose of resting the Stomach.

They go about the treatment and cure of Stomach troubles in Nature's way. It is the only way. That is why they have had such remarkable success. Try them.

THE BRITISH TOURIST.

He Was Pleasantly Surprised by the Train Boy's Attentions.

The British tourist sat in the car and gazed idly across the bleak prairies. He felt a slight touch and, looking around, found that a uniformed youth had deposited several ruddy oranges on the seat.

"He didn't wait for the money," remarked the tourist, gazing from the fruit to the rapidly retreating train

"He never does," said the fellow passenger, with a knowing smile,
"Oh, I see! It is one of the advantages of your great railroad system. Free fruit for its patrons."

The British tourist was just peeling the second orange when a dainty package of chocolate confectionery was de posited on his knee, "By Jove," he exclaimed enthusiastically, "this is delightful! When I return home, I shall writ excellence of American travel." In less than ten minutes he was the recipient of another package. It was a little box containing a black cigar and two matches. "No wonder you Americans like to travel," he said, biting the bitter end of the cigar. Then he found that a comic publication had found its way to his seat. "This is great!" he grinned. "I am going to tip the boy. Wait a moment." The train boy halted, and the tourist held out a dime. "What is that for?" asked the boy.

"For yourself." "You owe me a half, mister." "Owe? I thought you were giving these things away?"

"Not today. The half, please." "But why don't you take the money when you leave the stuff?" "Because we'd never sell it."

The tourist reluctantly handed over the coin. "Going to write about the excellence of American travel?" asked the fellow passenger.

"Not I," responded the British tourist. "I am going home and tell the na-tion about the train robberies over here!"-Exchange. DRS. Vitality of Hebrews. If the future population of the earth is to be estimated on the basis of race vitality, then there is no question but that the Hebrews will yet be in the majority. Statistics show that the average longevity of the Hebrew race is greater than that of any other. Their numbers must therefore be increasing relatively to every race, and they cer-tainly are. Whether it is due to the sanitary measures enjoined by their re-GOING EAST ligion or because of native vitality is for students of sociology to decide, but Daily, the fact still remains. Yet numbers are not always to control the destiny of the race, and it is to be suppose that fraternity and good sense are slowly wiping out race distinctions.

A Humble Apology.

"We feel that an apology is due," ex-plains the editor of the Spiketown Blizzard, "to the estimable young woman who teaches at the schoolhouse in District No. 5. Through the wretched blunder of a worthless tramp printer whom we trusted with the setting up of an item just as we were closing the forms for our last week's edition we forms for our last week's edition we were made to say that 'Miss Ruby Mc-Connell, the handsome and popular teacher in Riggs neighborhood, is the proud possessor of an elegant new black beard.' We wrote it 'black-board.' "—Chicago Tribune.

Maple City visitor yesterday.

Willie Houston and Tom Baxter Honored for the Saving of a Life.

Mayor Sulman Makes Presen. tation, accompanied by an Appropriate Address.

Willie Houston, son of Judge Ho ton, and Tom Baxter, son of W. R. Baxter, were honored last evening at Baxter, were honored last evening at the city council for saving the life of Virgil Perry, another lad. Last June, Houston and Baxter were in swimming back of Drader's mill. Virgil Perry was playing on some logs and fell into the river. Baxter noticed the little boy's danger and went to his assistance. The young rescuer had more than he could manage and there would have been a rescuer had more than he could manage and there would have been a double fatality had not Willie Houston noticed his comrade's danger and rushed to his assistance. The Royal Humane Society was communicated with and they forwarded a bronze medal for Baxter and a parchment contificate for Houston.

Last evening, before taking up the regular city business, the Mayor presented the two boys with their rewards of bravery.

"A very pleasant duty has again devolved upon me," said the Mayor, "and I am called upon to present two more of our city boys with badges of honor from the Royal Humane Society. I would ask Willie Houston and Thos. Baxter to come forward.

"We citizens of Chattam should be "We citizens of Chatham should be proud that we have so many boys who are brave. This makes the fourth oc-casion on which I have had the honor of presenting these badges of honor to Maple City boys. This speaks well for the younger generation of this city. A person who risks his life in a case of this kind deserves more credit than the soldier who risks his life on the field of battle. The soldier is on the battle field to take a life or lose one and is carried away by the excitement of war. In a case like the present, the boys took their lives in their hands and did their duty fearlessly. Boys, I sincerely congratulate you," was the hearty conclusion the Mayor gave to his kindly presentation speech. The boys accepted their tokens modestly and departed amid the applause of the aldermen.

and Got Marked up-Was Fined as a Drunk.

A bruised and badly battered individual faced Judge Houston at the police court this morning. The man said his name was Harry Ray and he pleaded guilty to being drunk yester-day afternoon. It was well on in the afternoon when P. C. Groves received harry call out officer proceeded thence, and near the G. T. R. track he met a man staggering along with his face "smashed and bloody." Officer Groves said he thought the fellow must have been struck by a locomotive, the way both eyes were bunged up and the liberalness with which his face was dyed with a liquid of a cardinal hue.

"What's the mafter with you?" asked the officer. "I stuck my face in a house up there, and had it pushed out," said the man with the altered countenance. The alterations were evidently all

J. B. Rankin, K, C., who appeared for the defence, asked that the cas be reduced to common assualt. He of-fered no evidence for the defence.

Judge Houston reduced the charge to one of common assualt and found Wise guilty.

Judge Houston lectured the prisoner severely. He said no man had a right to use the language he had used towards his daughter. If, as the prisoner claimed, he was held in respect by his neighbors, the Judge said thick consciences. There was no doubt that Wise had no right to act the way he did and could be sent to e Central Prison for three months Judge Houston, however, fined man and the fine was paid. Wise said he bore the girl no ill will for the prosecution and loved his family just as well as ever.

RIVER THAMES

Ghastly Find of two London Boys While They Were Out Fishing.

Suicide Theory Strongly Sub stantiated-Removed Clothes.

London, April 22.-The naked body of a man, apparently about 30 years old, was found shortly after 6 o'clock last night in the river at the foot of sideroad 8 and 9, London township, better known as the Asylum Side Road. The body has been identified, apparently beyond a doubt, as James Part, an attendant at the asylu.n. As far as known, no one saw him when he drowned in the waters of the south branch of the Thames. It is thought probable that the unfortunate fellow body was stark naked, and lying or its left side in shallow water close to the bank. The right shoulder and a small portion of the hip were projectcompletely submerged and the legs were slightly drawn up. On the bank the deceased's clothes were found scattered about in a line from the fence to the water's edge. The coat was near the fence, then came the vest, trousers, etc., as though the man had undressed as he walked to the river. The marks of bare feet were plainly to be seen, showing he had deliberately walked into the water. The river at that part passes, through the farm of Mr. Wellington Smith, part lot 9, con 3, Gore of London. County Constable O. Cannom also resides on a portion of that lot. It is about a mile and a half from

The boys did not disturb the body, but went at once to County Constable Cannom's house and reported their find. The constable proceeded to the scene, together with four or five others. They took the body from the water, and placed it upon a door. When removed from the water it was found that the body was covered with sediment, showing that it had been in the water for some hours. Mr. Can-nom telephoned to Coroner Ferguson, who instructed him to remove the body to Ferguson's morgue on King street. This was done, the clothes being gathered up and brought to the morgue along with the remains. Ep to the time the body was brought to Ferguson's it was not known who the unfortunate was. The coat was found to be a uniform, however, and from the buttons it was surmised that ceased was employed at the Asylum. letter found in one of the pockets was addressed to James Dart. Little else was found in the deceased's pockets. A telephone message to the Asylum brought the information that Dart had been missing for some hours. It was also stated that he had been somewhat melancholy for some time, and the suicide theory was at once

The management of the mills will be under the direction of Mr. W. M. McIntyre, lately mechanical sup-erintendent of the Laurentide Pulp Company, whose knowledge will be a strength to the new concern. The company, intends to manufacture chiefly for the export trade, and, is unusually well situated for the purpose. It has an ocean port for eight months right at its doors, and for the rest of the year can obtain access to the port of St. John at low rates. Its wood supply is close at hand, its mills being built at the mouth of the Little Cascapedia river, which flows through the limits; and the same river, with its clear and rocky bottom, provides a water supply suitable for making the finest grades of paper without fittering. Its stream has also, according to the test of ex-perts, sufficient power to run mills of double the capacity to be built. The trade which the company is entering is a prosperous one. Prices rule high.
The special advantages of the site at New Richmond guarantee a low cost of production. And there is every reason to anticipite good results.

"What in the world are you talking about, Josephine? Christmas! We can have Molly to dinner at any time, and what do you want a Christmas tree

"Why, Jack, what do you mean? For the presents for the children, of course, and then we could have a little party,

"Josephine! I really thought you were a sensible girl. If there's a piece of nonsense on the face of the earth, it's this row about Christmas-nothing but a scrap of Aryan sun worship left over! And the silly custom of giving presents is a relic of vassals paying tribute. I'm surprised that you' --"Oh, Jack"-she was almost crying-"don't you give presents at Christmas?

HE SPIED THE LUXURIOUS DRESSING GOWN. We made so much of it at home. Why, I couldn't bear not to celebrate, and this is our first anniversary since we were married too." "My dear, celebrate it anyway you like. If it's our first wedded Christmas, it won't be our last, you know. Go and get anything you like and have the bill sent to me, but don't count me in on any of these tiresome festivities. After a fellow's knocked about the world as I have, loaning down the Nile in Egypt, shooting elephants in Africa, hunting tigers in India, Christmas and other holidays don't mean anything his wife across the table. "Josephine, I really hope you are not going to be foolish. Go ahead, but I must really draw the line on these domestic roundups for myself. If you have Molly and the children, let me know in time, so I can go out to Tom Harcourt's stag party at West Chester. Remember we're due at the opera tonight." Josephine, her brain in a riot of anger and distress, sought the seclusion of her room, just as Molly was ashered in. "Put on your hat, Josie, and come lown town with me. I'm finishing up my shopping, and today's the last day I'm going to be caught in that mob. She makes me sick, but of course we've got to keep on the right side of her, as she's taken such a fancy to Harold."

"Look here, Molly," said Josephine suddenly, "do you really think it's any use to give presents?" "Josephine Torrington! What on earth is the matter with you? For a girl who always got about a cart load of presents every Christmas you ought to be ashamed of yourself! Jack has spoiled you, giving you so much. What have you got for him?" Josephine had an inspiration. She lumped up. "Molly, I'll go with you, I-I just emember what Jack wants." Jack Talbot was half way through his toilet on Christmas morning when he spied the luxurious dressing gown, fit for a nabob, that Josephine had laid out for him. "What the mischief-is this for me's I thought it was some newfangled dud of yours. What did you buy it for? I have about half a dozen of such things in some traps not yet unpack-

And poor Josephine, almost in hysterics, nearly cried her eyes out after Jack had gone to his club to see about a cob without giving her the wrappings of her finger. But, being a woman of spirit, she sat up later in the afternoon

Jack Talbot, and I'll settle with you for this!" A year, rolled around, and Christmas was again at hand, just six days off. Jack Talbot sat comfortably smoking in his office when the noon mail came in, and among the letters he spied the Allahabad postmark and the writing of Hugh Tracy. Breaking the seal, he Dear Old Man-You are a lucky fellow, and I congratulate you on your Christmas under your own vine and fig tree. I'm glad you've settled down, and since I cannot in person share your Christmas joys I have sent you as a present for

"Wonder if he's had the fever," mused Jack, after which he went down to the custom house. The bill rather staggered him. It's a long way from Allahabad to New York, and Hugh did not seem to have prepaid all the charges. Jack settled them and ordered the god sent to his office.

Before the week ended Talbot had received letters fairly bulging with Christmas from his friends in most of the inhabited portions of the globe, and by some curious coincidence they had all sent gifts to his wife.

Vinton De Witt sent a case of priceless embroideries from Persia, Tom Macy a stuffed tiger and a pair of boars' tusks from the heart of Africa, Major Norton jewels from an old Hindoo temple, Fred Bayliss a chest filled with rare bronzes, lacquer and inlaid work, and Gordon Taylor an array of rugs and tapestries that would make a collector turn green with envy. Suave officials presented him with due bills for goods that had come half way around the world, and other officials suggested that he settle with Uncle Sam for tariff rates, and so it came to pass that he spent most of the week before Christmas in the custom house settling with the appraisers and cursing the robbery of the transatlantic companies and the tariff rates of the United States.

On the evening before Christmas he was in his office footing up the bills when a idea came to him. He pulled out a private drawer and carefully compared the dates of all the letters. Then he looked at the accumulated amount of the bills, exactly $614.29. Again he thought harder than before. Slowly a light began to dawn on his in-

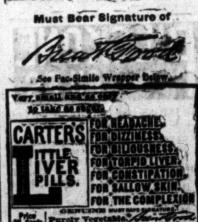

"By Jove, but it was clever!" he said. "And to think that I never suspected anything when I gave her all those addresses!" After which he put on his hat, went up town to a fashionable furrier's and bought a dream of s sealskin jacket.

"Got any-er-any engagements for tomorrow, Josephine?" he inquired that evening at dinner. His wife looked serenely across the table at him and arched her eyebrows delicately. "Tomorrow, dear? No. Why? Do thought I'd take a day off tomorrow. It was 10 o'clock the next morning when a van about the size of an apartment house drew up in front of the Talbot residence. An hour later, amid the gorgeous scenic effects of rugs, jewels, bronzes, ivories, Indian draperies and curios of the orient, Josephine looked artlessly into her husband's eyes and said:

"How perfectly ravishing they all are, my dear, and how nice to have them given to us by our friends, so they didn't cost anything!" Words failed Jack Talbot. He silently drew from its hiding place the sealskin jacket for his wife, and as she slipped into it and with a little feminine cry of delight felt its luxurious warmth she thought:

"Poor old Jack! But I had to do it."

Female Jesters Nothing better illustrates the dullless of society in the middle ages than the custom used by all high placed and wealthy persons of keeping a professional jester, nor was it confined to Christendom, for we read that Cortes found an individual of this profession at the court of Montezuma. Our modern clowns, though very different from the licensed jesters of old, owe to them, of course, their origin; but, so far as I know, the female jester, who was in vogue before the male, has no present representative.

We are told by Erasmus that in all the great inns on the continent there was in his time a female official of this description who enlivened the company as she waited at table by witticisms and repartee. It should be added, however, that she was generally young and pretty. So late as 1858 we read in Mrs. Hornby's "Travels" that she found a female jester at Constantinople who was exceedingly amusing.

Animals That Do Not Drink. Darwin states in his "Voyage of a Naturalist" that unless the guanacos, or wild llamas, of Patagonia drink salt water in many localities they must drink none at all. The large and interesting group of sloths are alike in never drinking. A parrot is said to have lived in the zoological gardens, Regent park, for fifty-two years without a drop of water.

Geology and Biology. Geology is the complement of biology. As soon as one has mastered the rudiments of botany and zoology and of the distribution of life forms in space the range of his thoughts should be extended to take in the orderly succession of life in past ages and the evolution of modern specialized plants and animals from the earlier generalized types.

A HUMAN WEDGE.

Halifax, N. S., April 20 .- A shocking accident occurred here this evening. Two men were killed and another fatally injured by an electric car. The dead are :-Mr. Gilroy and Charles Shortall, both young men, years of age, and unmarried. A third man, John Scott, is so badly injured that it is feared that his death will occur at any moment. The trio had been out driving, and they were returning to the city when the accident occurred. Their horses became frightened at an electric car on Windso street and dashed across the track, The wagon was u set and the three men were hurled in front of the rapidly moving car. The wheels ploughed through their bodies, They were through their bodies, They were jammed together so tightly that their bodies formed a human wedge and stopped the car. Gilrey and Shortall were dead when taken out. The car had to be jacked up before their bodies could be removed. The motorman and the conductors were arrested.

One of these offers covers the first year of production, and the other covers the first three years. Either offer, if accepted, would be sufficiently appropriate to assure the payment of the full dividend on the Preferred Stock, provide the amount required by the Charter for a Reserve Fund, and leave a balance sufficient to pay a large dividend on the Common Stock, if no unioreseen contingencies should arise. This does not include profits estimated from he sale of sulphite pulp or from the saw mill, which, it seems reasonable to suppose, would be sufficient to cover all unexpected contingencies.

OBJECTS OF THE COMPANY

The Atlantic Pulp and Paper Company, Limited, has been organized in order to take advantage of the unrivalled facilities for the manufacture of pulp and paper at New Richmond, on the Baie des Chaleurs, and by its charter, has powers of the fullest description. It is confidently believed that pulp and paper can be more economically manufactured there than any other place in America.

The essentials to the success of such a concern are:

57	SCIN	liais to the no-
	-	Cheap and unlimited pulp wood; Adequate water power cheaply developed; Pure water for the manufacturer;	ر د المصافقات المرافقات المرافقات
	٥.	I die	Mary 1
	4.	Cheap labor;
	5.	Low transportation charges;

6. Efficient management It will be seen that the facilities possessed by this Company assure a point of cheapness in the production of paper never attained before, while the situation of the mills on the Atlantic seaboard makes it possible to ship to all foreign ports by water without trans-shipment. As the Company proposes to confine itself almost exclusively to the export trade, it will readily be seen that this gives it further advantage over all other companies.

1. WOOD SUPPLY.-No paper mill in Canada has greater advantages in point of situation. Many companies do not own their own limits, being entirely dependent on outside purchases, and subject to fluctuations of supply and price. Other companies owning limits have to transport their wood from great distances by water or rail. The riton and Niagara Falls are bringing their pulpwood from Central Quebe Some prosperous paper companies even buy their pulp in the manufactured state. The mills of the Atlantic Pulp and Paper Company, Limited, willi be built about two miles from the limits, where there will also be a very large mill-pond capable of holding several million logs. The Little Cascapedia River flows from end to end through the center of the limits, and the large number of tributary streams does away with the greater part of the haulng usually entailed in getting out pulp wood, thereby greatly decreasing

2. WATER POWER .- Mr. George F. Hardy of New York, the foremost American authority on this subject, has made a thorough examination of the water power that can be developed on the Little Cascapedia River at a point immediately adjoining the proposed mill site, and his report shows that sufficient power can be developed to run mills of even greater capacity. This report can be seen at the office of the undersigned, or at any office of the National Trust Company, Limited.

3. WATER SUPPLY .- Pure and clean water is one of the most important factors in connection with pulp and paper-making. The bed of the Little Cascapedia River is rocky, and owing to its crystal-like clearness and purity the water in the river is suitable for making the finest grades of paper without the expense of filtering, which is almost invariably required

4. COST OF LABOR.—The labor employed in the mills and woods cost less than probably any/other American mill, as far as known, as competent men in this section of the country, on account of the cheapness of living,

5. TRANSPORTATION CHARGES.—The shipping facilities of this Company are certainly unequalled by any similar enterprise in Canada, the situation of the mills on the Baie des Chaleurs giving every possible advantage for export trade, which is probably the most profitable field. Arrangements can be made with Atlantic steamship lines to run steamers from New Richmond for eight months in the year, as required. During the winter months favorable winter rates have been arranged with the Railway Companies to St. John and Halifax. New Richmond being on the line of the Atlantic and Lake Superior Railway, which will be connected with the mills by a siding. 6. MANAGEMENT.—The Company has been fortunate in securing the services of Mr. Wm. M. McIntyre, formerly Mechanical Superintendent with the Laurentide Pulp Company, Limited, who will act as Manager of the construction and operation of the mills. Mr. McIntyre has had over twenty years' experience in pulp and paper-making, and is regarded as an authority on the manufacture of pulp and paper.

PROPERTIES

The properties and limits acquired by the Company contain about three hundred and two square miles, or one hundred and ninety-three thousand two hundred acres, more or less. The wood is principally spruce, and there is also a large quantity of cedar, pine, birch, balsam, balm of Gilead, and poplar. The Company has reports on this property made by five different expert Rangers, acting independently. Copies of these may be seen at any office of the National Trust Company, Limited, or at the office of the

When the brain is not affected and mind can discern between right and wrong, a duty to themselves, their friends and country loudly demands a marked de-cision—prompt and determined action when health is impaired and life is in.

It is the part of wisdom that true decision be made to-day; to-morrow may be too late. In thousands of may be too late. In thousands of cases the checking and banishment of disease depends upon instant action; an hour lost frequently means the snuffing out of some precious life.

Mr. McMillan only cost the city $40 more and he could also take care of Sulman and Morton parks. The Mayor said that the committee had done well to secure Mr. McMillan's services at the price paid. He was satisfied there was no better.

Ald, Mounteer, for the special committee, composed of the Parks and Cemetery committee, with Ald. Tay-lor and McCoig added, reported re the hogs impounded last fall on the Cemetery road. The committee said that after investigation, they were satisfied that the city had never made any agreement to keep the Cemetery road fence in repair. The committee didn't admit any liability, but as the amount was so small and a suit in the Division Court—couldn't be appealed against, the Committee recompealed against, the Committee recommended the payment of the $10 claimed by Mr. Barnes without admitting liability. The report was adopted.

Ald. Cowan didn't think the bill should be referred to Judge Bell for been a little trouble between the city and Mr. Northwood over the purchase of part of the property on St.George street. Judge Bell had just looked pers and sent in a bill "We know what he is," concluded Ald. Cowan.

Ald. Cowan moved that the account be referred to Finance committee. The Mayor said that was unneces sary as the account was already in Ald. Ald Waddell began to reply when Ald. Mounteer asked the alderman from over the creek to confine himself to the question under discussion. Ald. Waddell sat down after having occupied the floor for over 30 minutes. The Mayor said that he took a dirferent view of the matter from Ald.
Waddell. He had respect for Ald.
Waddell's pertinacity in keeping to his promises made during his election campaign. In the Mayor's opinion the license was high enough. One reason was that Chatham was out of the way and circuses had to come from St.
Thomas or London here and then go back again. As a business man, the Mayor opposed the license increase because circus days were the business man's best days with the exception of the Christmas trade. There was no more discussion and the matter dropped. The following accounts were pass-

MORNING WEDDING

A very quiet wedding was solemnized by Rev. Fr. Herman, at St. Joseph's church early this morning, when Miss N. O'Donnell, one of Chatham's popus lar young ladies, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Peter Ennett, a prosperous young farmer residing near Turnerville.

The ceremony was witnessed by few of the friends and relatives of the contracting parties only. Miss Maggie O'Donnell, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid, and P. J. Burns, of Dreaders, filled, the position of best man. After the ceremony the party proceeded to the Merrill House, where where they partock of the wedding breakfast. The happy young couple left at six o'clock for their future home in Turnerville.

Miss O'Donnell is well known in the a dress-making establishment opposite the market for the last three years. Her many friends in the city will join wishing the newly married couple much pleasure and prosperity in their future married life.

The dress-making business will be ontinued by Miss Maggie O'Donnell.
