

RUSSIA, IN REVOLT, SEEKS PEACE

MAXIMALISTS DEPOSE KERENSKY--WILL QUIT WAR

By Courier Leased Wire. London, Nov. 8.—The Maximalists have obtained control of Petrograd and issued a proclamation saying the new Government will propose immediate peace, the semi-official news agency announces. The Maximalists were assisted by the Petrograd garrison, which made possible a coup d'etat without bloodshed. Leon Trotzky, president of the Central executive committee of the Petrograd Council of Soldiers' and Workmen's delegates, issued a declaration to the effect that the provisional government was no longer in existence and that some of its members had been arrested. The preliminary parliament has been dissolved. An Exchange Telegraph despatch from Petrograd says a strong detachment of troops of the Soldiers' and Workmen's Delegates occupied the Baltic Railway station and that the government commandeered all motor cars, confining the troops to the barracks. The Russian news agency, which, as reported last night was seized by the Maximalists, sends the following from Petrograd, dated 9.50 p.m. "The day brought certain changes in the general situation in the capital. The Maximalist movement made fresh and fairly appreciable progress, but no disorders have taken place. "Towards five o'clock in the afternoon the military revolutionary committee of the Soldiers' and Workmen's Delegates issued a proclamation stating that Petrograd was in its hands, thanks to the assistance of the garrison which enabled the coup d'etat to be brought about without bloodshed. "The proclamation declares that the new government will propose an immediate and just peace, will hand the land to the peasants and will summon the constituent assembly.

HERTLING IN PERIL OF SHIP WRECK

German Political Crisis As Acute as Ever; No Abatement

By Courier Leased Wire. London, Nov. 8.—The German political crisis is represented as being as acute as ever in special dispatches from Amsterdam. Some say that Count von Hertling's chancellorship is in danger of immediate shipwreck. The refusal of Herr Friedberg, leader of the National Liberal party, to accept the vice-presidency of the Prussian ministry and the alleged certainty that Dr. Helfferich is to be retained as vice-chancellor, are regarded as matters impossible of settlement. Count von Hertling is reported to have succumbed to military and junker influence. The Berliner Tageblatt refers to the reactionary forces opposing the nomination of Progressive leaders. The Koelnische Zeitung blames the Progressives and Socialists for re-awakening of the crisis, and says that the prospect for a political truce has quite disappeared. Renew Augleich. Amsterdam, Nov. 8.—The Vossische Zeitung of Berlin says that Budapest newspapers announce that the Austro-Hungarian Ausgleich will be renewed provisionally for two years. The Ausgleich is a compromise reached between the monarchies of Austria and Hungary in 1867 by which each possesses a separate parliament united under a common emperor. The agreement is renewed every ten years. In 1907 a new Ausgleich was perfected, taking the form of a treaty instead of a commercial and customs alliance. This expires during the present month.

Fusion Meeting Fails in Purpose; Deadlock When Vote Was Taken

SHIP BUILDING HAS PRIORITY OVER ALL IN U.S.

America Fully Awakes to Importance of Tonnage in the War MISSION OVERSEAS U. S. Commission To Allied Conference Has Returned to London

By Courier Leased Wire. London, Nov. 8.—The special American commission to the allied conference arrived in London last night. It is headed by Col. E. M. House, as special commissioner, with the honorary rank of special ambassador. "We had a pleasant and uneventful voyage," Col. House told the Associated Press. "The weather was fair. There were no submarines. It was best vacation I have had in two years."

The members of the mission held a conference to-day with Col. House presiding. The meeting lasted an hour. Col. House outlined a tentative program for the next few days, calling for a series of conferences with British officials. Each member of the mission will discuss his particular work with British officials in charge of similar activities in England.

Admiral Benson had an early call to visit the war office during the day. "I am impatient to see with my own eyes the great efforts England is making towards solving the shipping problem," said Mr. Bainbridge Colby, American shipping board representative on the mission, "and with this end in view will pay an early visit to the great shipyards. America is now fully awake to the importance of tonnage in this war and is carrying out a program of unparalleled magnitude. Shipbuilding now takes priority over all other work in our country."

Names of W. F. Cockshutt and M. M. MacBride Went Before Union Gathering and Eleven Votes Were Cast For Each--Liberals Sought to Block Nomination--Resolution on War Profiteering

After three hours of session, a deadlock was reached at last night's union meeting. Two names were placed before the gathering, those of W. F. Cockshutt and M. M. MacBride, and eleven votes were cast for each candidate, the other ballots being returned blank. The name of Mr. Lloyd Harris was not proposed. The sensation of the evening was sprung when M. W. McEwen, John Muir and others among the Liberal delegates, opposed the nomination of candidates, declaring the meeting to have been called purely for a get-together convention to discuss the situation. The point was over-ruled by a large majority, who established clearly that the meeting had been called by the Liberal Association for the purpose of selecting, if possible, a fusion candidate, and as a result the majority of the Liberal delegates cast no ballot. The meeting endorsed the Union Government platform, and agreed to select only a candidate who would do the same, one prepared to take energetic action for regulation of food prices and supply, and one removed from any suspicion of war profiteering. The clause proved a contentious point, a number confusing profiteering with profits, and endeavoring to convict almost every citizen of the Dominion of one branch of profiteering or another. The resolution was finally carried with the significance of excess profiteering made expressly clear.

On the motion of W. S. Brewster, Ald. H. J. Symons took the chair, and explained briefly the purpose of the meeting, that of selecting a candidate with the purpose of winning the war at heart.

Upon the suggestion of A. E. Watts, the names of the delegates were taken, M. W. McEwen officiating as secretary.

On the suggestion of Mr. John Muir, Mr. McEwen read the resolution passed by the Liberal association last Saturday.

M. W. McEwen, speaking to the resolution explained the Liberal association's claim for another endeavor to get the various parties together, and told of a plan which he thought would be avoided wherever possible. The government had on their hands a very difficult proposition, and no one could foretell how much trouble might result from the enforcing of the military service act. Hence the government required as much support as possible. Too great effort in the way of "raising things," the speaker considered however, could be avoided as it was resented by many. Anyone entitled to vote was entitled to nominate a candidate. The Liberals favoring a union government had had a hard row to hoe.

That some such move as the present had not been taken before, the speaker considered unfortunate. The present meeting was gathered absolutely with open minds on the part of all its members.

W. S. Brewster expressed appreciation of Mr. McEwen's words, and told of a visit to Ottawa, where he had been in touch with union ministers and others familiar with the political situation through the Dominion, who related that the union government would have no walk-over. If union was sustained, its supporters must get together in all instances, or the other side, the anti-conscriptorists, might yet carry the day.

The speaker emphasized the reality of the union government. He did not consider that the Liberals had made all the sacrifices, and that those in the government at the present time were there with a sincere desire to help. The fact could not be concealed.

that a strong feeling against conscription existed in the Dominion. The first step in selecting a candidate should be determining a platform acceptable to all.

H. J. Clement considered the present meeting one unique in the city's annals. Union must be recognized as a whole, not in part. The first foremost and paramount duty of all was to meet the needs of the war. Mr. Clement, seconded by R. Long, introduced the following resolution:

The Candidate. It is agreed that this joint meeting of representatives from the following parties of the constituency of Brantford, namely, the Liberal party, the Independent Labor party, and the Conservative party that any candidate for the constituency of Brantford for the Dominion House must agree to be bound and subscribe to the following conditions.

(1) Such candidate must agree to endorse the platform of the present Union Government as announced by Sir Robert Borden.

(2) The candidate must agree to support and if necessary introduce such measure or measures as may be required to bring about an effective regulation of the prices and supply of food, fuel and other necessities of life used by the working classes of the Dominion of Canada on an equitable basis at prices which the working classes are able to pay for the same.

(3) Such candidate shall not be or hereafter become either directly or indirectly interested or connected with any business or contract whereby such candidate shall gain any excessive profit now known as profits by reason of the war, it being the intention of this condition that such candidate should be entirely removed from the suspicion of being interested in what is commonly called "war profiteering." To Endorse Union. A. G. Brown suggested that the

NOTHING WILL HALT BRITISH "FIRE ROLLER"

Slow and Steady Gain Recorded by Allied Moving Barrage

SAYS GERMAN CRITIC Teuton Artillery Inferior in Numbers to that of the British

By Courier Leased Wire. Copenhagen, Nov. 8.—Unwilling testimony of the irresistible might of the British offensive in Flanders is given by Lieut-General von Ardenne, the military critic of the Berliner Tageblatt of Berlin, who sends from the Flanders front a graphic picture of the difficulties of the German defense. No way, he says, has been devised to prevent the "fire roller" as the Germans term the moving barrage, from making slow and steady gains. He reports the German losses as very heavy, if an attempt is made to hold the front line trenches in force, while a thin line adds to the speed of the British advance.

"The sufferings of the defenders in the front line," General von Ardenne writes, "composed of shell holes almost filled with water, are such that the men must be relieved every two days, instead of every week or every ten days, as last year. The infantry now spends two days on the firing line, two in support and two in reserve until relieved. "The German artillery is so numerically inferior to the British that (Continued on Page Three)

AGREEMENT OF AMERICA AND JAPAN

Generally Favored in Old Land—German Intrigue Caused Mistrust

By Courier Leased Wire. London, Nov. 8.—Details of the Japanese-American agreement are displayed prominently in today's newspapers, but editorial comment restricted to a few papers. The point emphasized in Germany's agency in past misunderstandings and suspicions between the two nations. Gratification is expressed that the period of mistrust has ended.

The Chronicle says the agreement is a considerable diplomatic event in which Britain, as a special ally of Japan, will take particular satisfaction. "The Morning Post believes that the agreement is of first importance for the future of the Pacific and the world."

Both papers express pleasure over the arrangements regarding China and they remark that the aims announced concerning China are identical with Great Britain.

The Post urges Japan to go to Russia's aid, both militarily and industrially.

Liberty Loan. Washington, Nov. 8.—America responded to the call for a second Liberty war loan by subscribing $4,617,532,300, an over-subscription by fifty-four per cent of the three billion dollars asked and only $383,000,000 less than the $5,000,000,000 maximum fixed by the treasury.

Tabulations completed last night showed that every federal reserve district exceeded its quota and 9,400,000 persons subscribed in the big war financing operation.

TRIBUNALS SIT TODAY
Exemption Boards Through City and County Hold First Session

Nine military service tribunals throughout Brant County, four of which are located in the city, commenced their sittings this morning when the first applicants for exemption from service made personal and oral appeals. The tribunals opened early and before 10 o'clock draftees began to file in to have their cases examined.
In some cases decision was deferred, in others, absolutely refused and in a few granted. Careful inquiry was made into each case, and a thorough investigation was made of each claim. Disability, indispensability and domestic situations that required their presence at home were brought forward most frequently.
The rush of applicants was not very heavy this morning, but the numbers are expected to increase tomorrow and Saturday, after which written applications will come up for consideration.
The military representatives were on hand and while they did not take a very active part, represented the military authorities.

CHINESE BANDITS FIRED ON U. S. SHIP
American Gunboat Dalos, Slightly Damaged on Yangtse Kiang

By Courier Leased Wire
Pekin, Nov. 8.—The American gunboat Dalos was fired upon yesterday by Chinese bandits on the Yangtse Kiang, near Chung-King, in the Province of Sze-Chuan. The gunboat was damaged slightly.

The Dalos, of 190 tons, is one of a number of small gunboats which have been in Chinese waters for some time. In June the Dalos, Monacacy, Samar, Quiros and Villalobos were interned in the harbor of Shanghai by the Chinese Government. They were released subsequently when China broke off diplomatic relations with Germany. Ching-King is about 800 miles up the Yangtse Kiang from Shanghai.

FRENCH INFLECT LOSSES ON ENEMY
Two Surprise Attacks on the German Trenches Made Last Night

By Courier Leased Wire
Paris, Nov. 8.—During the night we made two surprise attacks, one on the enemy trenches east of Rheims, the other in the Woivre, east of Nottilly, and brought back prisoners," says today's official statement. "In Upper Alsace the attack which we made yesterday on the German positions at Schoenholz, it is now learned, caused the enemy to suffer heavy losses. The number of prisoners captured by us has reached 121, of whom two are officers. Important materials, which we have thus far not been able to enumerate, fell into our hands. "There is nothing to report from the remainder of the front."

"The Minister has directed me to communicate returning officers and poll clerks, persons commanding the confidence of the community should be given to all political parties including labor and that women should be recognized by appointment to such offices as considering the nature of the duties to be performed as likely to be acceptable to them and unlikely to subject them to unpleasantness."

PARIS HAD RED CROSS DANCE

Formal Opening of Y.M.C.A.
Building Takes Place
Tomorrow
(From our own Correspondent)
Last evening the L.O.V. club held held an informal dance in the fire hall. The room was prettily decorated with red, white and blue bunting and flags of the allies. The Beattie orchestra rendered splendid music throughout the evening. At the close, a very dainty repast was served by a bevy of young ladies. The patronesses were Mrs. John Harold, Mrs. J. P. Nunan, Mrs. C. B. Robinson, Mrs. T. Scott Davidson and Mrs. Foley. Proceeds were for Red Cross and patriotic purposes.

To-morrow evening the formal opening of the new Young Women's Christian Association will be held.
The building will be open at seven o'clock to allow the citizens to go through same, and the program will commence at 8. Addresses will be given by the ministers. For some time the Y. W. C. A. has been a long felt want in town, and it is to be hoped that the citizens will turn out to-morrow evening and show their appreciation of the Penman Co. in erecting such a building. The building has been handed over to a gift to the Y. W. C. A. Miss Tench, the secretary, is now in charge.
Yesterday afternoon the Woman's Guild of St. James' Church, held their annual meeting in the Parish Hall. The Secretary, Miss Parson, read a most gratifying report of the work done during the past year, which showed the society to be in a flourishing condition. The following officers have been elected for the ensuing year. Hon. President, Mrs.
R. J. Sehon-Adams; President,
Mrs. Chas. Tate; Vice-President,
Mrs. Geo. Tate; Secretary, Mrs. W.
O. Oliver; Treasurer, Miss Parson.

Nothing Will Hold
it is seldom relieved and as it cannot die in owing to the boggy terrain it must fire without cover. The conditions in the shell holes are such that the men falling into the centre of them are lost unless assisted. Horses break into the morrass, because it is impossible to extricate them. German counter-attacks by small detachments in single file. The loss is slight if the manoeuvre succeeds.
The Germans otherwise are anxious concerning an advance from Dixmude, where the road emerges from the inundated region. The Germans maintain a concentric artillery fire on the road, but von Ardenne thinks that an attempt to advance is not improbable.

SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Lesson VI.—Fourth Quarter, For
Nov. 11, 1917.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Neh. i, 1-11—Memory Verse, 11—Golden Text, I John iii, 22—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D.
M. Stearns.

The name Ezra signifies "help," as in I Sam. vii, 12, margin, where we find the meaning of Ebenezer given as "the stone of help," and in the book of Ezra we saw how marvelously the Lord did help. For many years, more than forty,
Isa. xli, 13, has been to me a strong message from God, "I, the Lord thy God, will hold thy right hand, saying unto thee, Fear not, I will help thee."
Nehemiah signifies "the comfort of Jehovah," and in the book of Ezra
we saw how marvelously the Lord did
help. For many years, more than forty,
Isa. xli, 13, has been to me a strong
message from God, "I, the Lord thy God, will hold thy right hand, saying
unto thee, Fear not, I will help thee."

Note in the prayer of our lesson the confession of sin and unworthiness which we all and always have reason to plead, even though, if we are true believers, we may say, as he did,
"We are Thy servants and Thy people, whom Thou hast redeemed by Thy great power and Thy strong hand" (verse 10). It is continually true that unless we honor God and magnify Him by a consistent life, a life of peace and joy and victory over besetting sins, we are bringing reproach upon His name, but not many lay it to heart, as Nehemiah did, not remembering that we are here in Christ's stead to praise Him in some measure as He did the Father.
Nehemiah's reminding God that they were His people and His servants makes us think of Isa. lxiii, 6, 7, margin, where we are called the Lord's remembrances and told to take no rest and give Him no rest until He shall have made Jerusalem to praise on the earth. This will be the time of abiding comfort for Israel when God shall take away the rebuke of His people from off all the earth, and they shall not see evil any more (Isa. xxv, 8, 9; Zeph. iii, 14, 15). Few in these days seem to know or care that God has chosen Jerusalem to put His name there, that Israel shall yet blossom and bud and fill the face of the earth with fruit and that all nations shall go up from year to year to worship the King, the Lord of hosts, at Jerusalem, and the kingdom shall be the Lord's (Isa.
xxvii, 6; Jer. iii, 17, 18; Zech. xiv, 16; Obad. 21).

In lesson verse 5 note his reverent adoration of God and compare Jer. x, 6, 7, 10; xxiii, 17; Ez. xxxiv, 6, 7; Acts iv, 24, and be encouraged to trust more fully the God of heaven and earth, the living God, who giveth us richly all things to enjoy (I Tim. vi, 17). See how Nehemiah says again and again
"My God" and "Our God" (ii, 8, 12, 18;
iv, 20; vi, 19, reminding us of Devid's "our own God" (Ps. lxxvii, 9), and of Thomas' "My Lord and my God" (John xx, 28). Day and night he continued to confess before God the sins of his people, taking his place with them as one of them, excusing nothing, palliating nothing (verses 6, 7). This is the only way of blessing (Prov. xxviii, 13; I John i, 9). He reminded God of His words to Moses, rested on the word of God and pleaded His faithfulness (verses 8, 9). This also did David in Ps. cxli, 40.

Having poured out his soul on behalf of his people, he asked a special favor on his own behalf, and yet it was for their sakes as his benefactor (verse 11).
For this special personal favor he waited patiently month after month, though the distress at Jerusalem made it seem as if he needed an immediate answer. He had the ear of the King of kings for months before he found the opportunity to make request of Artaxerxes (compare I, I, and II, 1).
Blessed are those who have learned to rest in the Lord and wait patiently for Him (Ps. xxxvii, 7). Our attitude should always be expectant, but patient, not trying to make occasional or opportunities, but trusting God to do that, and then obedient to I Sam. x, 7.

Austria grows more hopeful of an

THE SITUATION.
 By far the most serious war news which has come over The Courier leased wire for some time, is the announcement to-day that Kerensky has been deposed and that the Maximalists have control of Russia. One of their first steps it is said, will be to propose a separate peace and in any event it may be taken for granted that the Russian soldiers are likely to throw up their hands along the entire front, thus enabling the release of hundreds of thousands of Germans for the other fields of action. Russia has failed and it may be that the solution will come by allowing the Japs to take charge of the situation there.
 The British successes continue in Palestine.
 Two German commanders and their staffs were taken by the Canadians in the Passchendaele battle and also over four hundred other prisoners.
 Still the Italians retreat. It is said that the arrival of Allied forces has strengthened their morale, but there can be no doubt that treachery has been at work and the end may not be yet.
 The official record of British vessels sunk last week is the smallest yet recorded since the commencement of unrestricted submarine warfare. The figures were eight of over 1,600 tons and four under that figure.

THE UNION GOVERNMENT PLANS.
 For those who have forgotten, or didn't note sufficiently at the time, the Union Government platform, The Courier herewith furnishes a summary of the same.
 "1. The vigorous prosecution of the war, the maintenance of Canada's efforts by the provision of necessary reinforcements, the immediate enforcement of the Military Service Act and the most thorough co-operation with the Governments of the United Kingdom and of the other Dominions in all matters relating to the war.
 "2. Civil service reform with a view to extending the principle of the present Civil Service Act to the outside service and thus to abolish patronage, to make appointments to the public service upon the sole standard of merit. The Civil Service Commission has already been directed to make a report to the Prime Minister as to the necessary steps for that purpose. Such arrangements will be subject to the existing regulations which give preference in appointments to returned soldiers who are duly qualified.
 "3. Extension of the franchise to women, with suitable provisions for enabling married women to determine their nationality and to obtain naturalization, notwithstanding marriage.
 "4. Adequate taxation of war profits and increased taxation of incomes, as necessitated by the continuance of the war.
 "5. A strong and progressive policy of immigration and colonization, accompanied by suitable provisions to induce settlement upon the land to encourage increased agricultural production and to aid in the development of agricultural resources.
 "6. Effective arrangements for demobilization, for the care and vocational training of returned soldiers for assistance in enabling them to settle upon the land and for adequate pensions to those who have been disabled and to the dependents of those who have fallen.
 "7. The development of transportation facilities: the co-operative management of the various railway systems so as to secure the widest and most effective use of existing railway facilities; the encouragement and development of the ship-building industry and the establishment of steamship lines upon both oceans and upon the Great Lakes; co-operation with the various Provincial Governments for the improvement of highways, the investigation of the possibilities of air service for important national purposes.
 "8. The reduction of public expenditure, the avoidance of waste and the encouragement of thrift.
 "9. Effective measures to prevent excessive profits, to prohibit hoarding and to prevent combination for the increase of prices and thus reduce the cost of living.
 "10. The encouragement of co-operation among those engaged in agricultural production, with a view to diminishing the cost of production and marketing so that the price paid to the producer may conform more closely to that paid by the consumer.
 "11. The general development of all the varied resources of Canada and their conservation and utilization to the best advantage of the people with the co-operation and assistance of the State in every reasonable way for that purpose.
 "12. Adequate consideration of the needs of the industrial population; the maintenance of good relations between employers and employees, and such conditions of employment as will assure suitable standards of living among the laboring classes.
 "The policy of the Government will also aim at a truer understanding and comprehension between the various communities, both east and west, and the development of a national spirit of united effort among our people as the trustees of a great heritage."

THE UNION GATHERING.
 The most surprising thing in connection with the gathering together last evening of representatives of the Conservative, Liberal and Independent Labor parties was the fact that the Liberal delegates took the astonishing ground that the meeting was not for the purpose of naming a candidate.
 In order that there may be no misapprehension on this score, The Courier herewith republishes the resolution passed at the Liberal convention.
 "We having regard to the policy announced by the Union Government and feeling that the co-operation of all its supporters is vital to its success, a committee be appointed: W. D. Wiley, Robert Greenwood, J. J. Kelly, John Muir, A. Houghting, George E. Cooke, C. L. Messecar, M. McCormick, J. C. Biggar and M. W. McEwen with Dr. Wiley as convenor, with authority to confer with a committee of like number from the Conservatives of Brantford, together with an equitable representation from such other organized political associations supporting Union Government, for the PURPOSE OF SELECTING A CANDIDATE in support of Union Government favorable to all parties, and that this committee report to an adjourned meeting of this convention to be held on Saturday evening, November 10th, at 8 p.m., and that the secretary be instructed to send copy of this resolution to Mr. W. F. Cockshutt, the secretary of the Brantford Conservative Association, the secretary of the Independent Labor party, the secretary of the Brantford Trades and Labor Council, the secretary of the Great War Veterans' Association, and to this press."

In accordance with the above, the Liberal secretary sent a communication to the three parties named, and also notified the Labor Council and the War Veterans' Association of what had been done.
 Yet forthwith, at the meeting Messrs. Muir, McEwen and other Liberal delegates stated that they did not understand that they were there for any such purpose. If not, then, of course, the whole thing was a delusion and a snare. However, the majority at the gathering took the very proper stand that the resolution meant what it said and went ahead accordingly.
 Another surprising feature was the claim of Mr. McEwen, spokesman for the Liberal delegates, that he did not know whether "equitable" meant ten men. The Conservative delegates very properly took the stand that it did and that Labor had as much right to ten men as either of the other parties. The general sentiment of the community will without doubt endorse this contention.
 Notwithstanding the words before quoted, "for the purpose of selecting a candidate," the Liberal delegates also refused to place anyone in nomination and the bulk of them failed to mark their ballots at all. The outcome was a vote of fifty-fifty for Messrs. Cockshutt and MacBride and there the matter stands with the chairman, as The Courier understands it, in the position of calling another meeting as he sees fit.
 Mr. W. F. Cockshutt, one of the Labor representatives, on motion of Mr. Brewster, occupied the position named and he did so in a clear-headed and impartial manner.
 A resolution was very suitably adopted, protesting against war profiteers becoming candidates.
 The situation as it at present stands is this:
 1. At a win-the-war convention, Mr. W. F. Cockshutt received a nomination.
 2. He was not personally consulted as he should have been as retiring member, with regard to any union convention if such were desired, but at a Liberal convention the suggestion was made for such a step.
 3. In order to facilitate matters Mr. Cockshutt on Tuesday night last handed in his resignation as candidate, and Mr. MacBride, Independent Labor, took a like course.
 4. At the convention of last night the Liberal delegates took the stand that it was not the intention to name a candidate. The Conservative and Labor delegates very properly adopted a contrary stand and proceeded with the business for which the Liberals had asked the convention.
 It will thus be seen that the Conservatives and the Laborites took a manly and open attitude throughout and that a blocking process was attempted by the very party which instituted the move.
 The public will form their own conclusions in the matter.

FUSION MEETING FAILED IN PURPOSE

 down" queried Mr. Kelly. "This seems to be the only question."
 "We are a unionist gathering here, and so should all support union," declared Mr. Brewster.
 "If not, we have no right to vote as union men," declared Mr. Muir. "If we are in favor of the union platform, let us pledge ourselves to it; if not, let us differ from it."
 Mr. Ryerson explained that the labor party, while prepared to support the war, wanted a candidate with a free hand.
 "We are already here for winning the war," declared Mr. Stinchcombe. The main purpose before the meeting, declared Mr. Calbeck, was to ascertain whether every man present was in favor of the platform.
 "If not, let us differ from it," said Mr. Muir. "I am not here to go ahead and say so," observed Mr. Muir.
 Remove Borden's Name.
 Capt. Cornelius asked that Premier Borden's name be removed from the resolution and that a slight union government be endorsed.
 Mr. Harrupp supported the last speaker, being prepared to endorse union government and winning the war.
 Support Union Government.
 Mr. Brewster's motion was amended to read as follows, and carried by a standing vote:
 "That the members of this meeting pledge themselves to support union government in order to bring the war to a successful close."
 The meeting passed to consideration of Mr. Clement's resolution, and Mr. Symons suggested that the resolution passed, be substituted for the first clause of the resolution.
 Mr. Brewster explained that his resolution pledged the meeting only to support union government, and did not pledge candidate to any platform.
 Mr. McEwen took objection to the clause relating to war profits, and Mr. Symons suggested that the clause be amended, and stating that it had not been introduced with any purpose of bringing the committee together. He suggested that the resolution be withdrawn.
 Mr. Reville summarized the platform of the union government.
 Mr. Symons personally endorsed the union platform, although expressing a doubt as to whether it might be carried out. He hoped that the members of the meeting would stand by the union platform after election.
 Clause 1 of Mr. Clement's resolution was unanimously carried.
 Clause 2, ditto.
 Clause 3, created discussion.
 A man who was a real war profiteer, observed Mr. Symons, taking huge profits when Britain was unable to pay for her munitions, was a traitor to his country.
 Mr. Edwards declared this clause a most contentious one and that the meeting would endorse no "war profiteer." He moved that the clause be struck out.
 Capt. Cornelius moved in amendment that the clause be left in.
 "The men at the front to-day did not go for $1.10 a day," he declared. "The man who makes a dollar in munition speculation ought to be damnably ashamed of himself."
 "The clause is not to be accepted for this meeting," declared Mr. Clement. "He must support union in its entirety if at all."
 Profits and Profiteering.
 Excess profits from the war were shared by almost all, declared Mr. Rose, who defined the stopping of profiteering as one of the reasons for the organization of the labor party.
 "Who is there to-day not making some excess profits," demanded Mr. Hess.
 "I, sir," declared Capt. Cornelius, "Mr. Cook has ended the farming classes from any charge of war profiteering. He considered the clause in the resolution a contentious one. "It is not a question of profit, but of undue profit," declared Mr. Stinchcombe.
 "If the other fellow is fool enough to give high prices for what he buys, he is equally to blame," declared Mr. Cooke.
 "Any patriotic man should be contented with a legitimate profit," declared Mr. Shearer.
 "Ald. Kelly said in the clause under discussion a blow at a certain individual, whom he considered should be responsible to the people, and not to the meeting."
 Mr. Brown moved the adoption of the clause.
 "When we select a candidate," observed Capt. Cornelius, "he must come here and sign his name to this resolution."
 Not All Profiteers.
 Mr. Muir defended many hundreds of munition makers from a charge of profiteering, declaring that they had gone into the business from patriotic motives purely.
 Mr. Brewster had made some war profits.
 Mr. Brewster: "I stand by the excessive profits resolution."
 "It is up to the government to see the manufacturers do not rob the public," Mr. Muir said. "That clause is so broad it disqualifies too many." Many firms, he declared, had lost money in the munition business.
 "Do you think we can't get a man in Brantford to run at a salary of $25,000.00 with clean fingers?" demanded Capt. Cornelius.
 "This clause would disqualify any man who works in a munition factory," declared Mr. McEwen. "That clause is not inserted in the resolution to bring us together."
 Mr. Stinchcombe differed with the last speaker. The idea was to bar the big profiteer. Munition workers were not that.
 Mr. Weeks styled the clause in question too technical.
 Mr. Scace declared that too much clearly called for the purpose of selecting a candidate.

 Mr. Brown supported the last speaker's contentions.
 Mr. Muir refused to take responsibility by voting upon any candidate. He thought the meeting merely of a "get together" nature.
 The war situation to-day, he declared, was more serious than ever before, and the people in a more serious frame of mind. A contest in the riding was to be avoided, if possible but the speaker refused to vote on the selection of a candidate.
 "Then what are we here for?" demanded Mr. Brewster.
 Mr. Calbeck agreed with Mr. Muir in a desire to avoid a contest, but favored the nomination of a candidate.
 "This resolution originated at the Liberal convention" observed Mr. Reville, "and the meeting was called to nominate a union candidate."
 "What is your objection to a convention?" queried Mr. McEwen.
 "We are here for a specific purpose," replied Mr. Reville, "and on your initiative."
 "If we do not nominate a candidate, all our labor has been in vain" observed Mr. Brown. "If the Liberals are hedging, why all right."
 The issue, declared Ald. Kelly, was the people's not that of 31 men.
 "Is not that a true copy of your letter?" demanded Mr. Reville.
 "I understand the purpose of the meeting to be the forming of a union convention" observed Mr. Bigger.
 "If a candidate were nominated and not approved by the political parties, would all those present vote for the union nominee?" asked Mr. McCormick.
 The labor party, replied Ald. Symons would not be bound to such a decision.
 "If we select a candidate" declared Mr. Ryerson, "I believe our party will not turn him down. I want to see politics abandoned entirely."
 The vote for nomination of a candidate carried, with 19 hands, 8 showing in opposition.
 W. F. Cockshutt.
 Mr. Brewster nominated W. F. Cockshutt, who for 6 years past represented the riding most adequately, supported union government on all occasions, and had been active in every patriotic movement. Under such circumstances he failed to see a better candidate for union government, an able man, a good speaker one who was poorer because of the war and a member of one of the city's oldest families. Mr. Cockshutt had made nothing out of the war, he had time and talent to devote to the union government, and he would not be a partizan, for during the war his entire energies and efforts lay toward the winning of the war. He knew no good reason for turning Mr. Cockshutt out or for opposing his nomination, except by those desirous of naming someone of different political stripe.
 Mr. Clement seconded the nomination.

meanings were being taken out of the clause, which referred to excessive profits only.
 "We are endeavoring to name a man without the votes of the electors," explained Ald. Symons. "We must be careful that that man is not a profiteer."
 Mr. Cooke demanded to know the exact purpose of the clause.
 It was perfectly plain to all, declared Mr. Clement; it referred to excessive war profits, and barred any one making such.
 "Who is to determine what profits are excessive?" asked Mr. McEwen.
 "Let us insert in the resolution over and above six per cent," suggested Mr. Brown.
 "Can't you name one man who has not made excess profits?" demanded Mr. Harrupp.
 Mr. Edwards withdrew his amendment, and clause 3 passed, with the qualification of "excessive profits."
 Messrs. Hess and Cooke opposed the clause.
 The resolution in full was then passed.
 Ald. Symons called for the nomination of Liberals and Labor.
 Mr. McEwen inquired whether that was the purpose of the meeting.
 Ald. Symons replied in the affirmative, reading the resolution of the Liberal Association.
 "Let your secretary read the letter sent him," insisted Mr. McEwen.
 Mr. Harrupp refused to do so, stating that the letter was private property.
 Mr. Stinchcombe inquired why the secretary of the labor party only was interrogated.
 Mr. Ryerson read the letter sent to the Conservative Association, which expressed the purpose of the meeting as being to take action with regard to a candidate.
 Mr. Harrupp then consented to read his letter.
 Mr. McEwen submitted that the number of representatives the Labor party was to send to the meeting was not clearly defined. "An equitable representation" was the term used.
 Mr. Reville stated that each party had been called upon to name ten men. Labor had as much right to the ten as either of the others.
 "If Mr. McEwen is right," observed Mr. Brewster, "we are here for no purpose; we can do nothing at this meeting."
 "Mr. Harris stated that he wanted labor well represented, did he not?" queried Mr. Harrupp.
 "I found not hear his speech," replied Mr. McEwen.
 "Strange," observed Mr. Harrupp. "I was close to you."
 Ald. Symons declared that the labor party was sitting in numbers and came to the meeting to talk and act man to man.
 What's Next?
 "It is up to the Liberal party to say what we are here for," said Mr. Brewster. "They called us here."
 "Are there any candidates now in the field for Government honors?" asked Mr. Muir. "Mr. Cockshutt has withdrawn; Mr. Harris is not yet a candidate. Have the labor men a candidate?"
 Mr. A. G. Brown read a letter from Mr. M. MacBride, expressing his withdrawal from the labor candidacy to further the selection of a fusion candidate.
 Capt. Cornelius read a letter from the president of the G.W.V.A., appealing to all returned soldiers for support of candidates pledged to conscription and the winning of the war.
 "That's the spirit of the War Veterans," he declared. "We are an independent band, to raise up Canada to be a cleaner place to live in, as it was in the past." He appealed to the meeting to select a candidate pledged to the winning of the war.
 Want Convention.
 Mr. McEwen considered that the selection of a candidate should not rest with 30 men, and moved that a convention of qualified electors be held on Wednesday, November 14.
 "Will Mr. McEwen point out how we would know who were entitled to vote and who not, at such a moment" queried Mr. Stinchcombe. "The party that goes there first would elect a candidate," observed Mr. Crowley.
 Mr. Ryerson expressed his opinion that the meeting should nominate a candidate, report back to their respective parties and later hold a public meeting for ratification of the nominee.
 Mr. McEwen amended his resolution to call a convention of two representatives for each party from each subdivision of the city and county. Mr. Cooke seconded the motion.
 "As I understand it," said Mr. Reville, "we are here for a set object defined in the resolution passed by the Liberal convention as 'for the purpose of selecting a candidate in support of Union Government.' Either that means what it says or it doesn't. I think it does and that we should go ahead."
 Mr. Harrupp moved in amendment that the meeting nominate a candidate.
 Proposed Nomination.
 Mr. Hess declared himself as unwilling to nominate a candidate at the meeting, a power which rested with the public.
 Mr. Greenwood endorsed the latter's remarks, endorsing Mr. McEwen's motion. He considered the percentage of farmers present unfairly small.
 If 30 men could not select a candidate neither could a gathering of 2 representatives from each subdivision, observed Mr. Harrupp, who declared that the meeting had been

RELIEF PROMISED.

Relief for the coal shortage to towns and cities on the Lake Erie and Northern Railway is promised by a Hamilton company who operate tug boats and scows on the Great Lakes. Mayor Bowby this morning received a communication from this company stating that it was prepared to transport 2,000 tons of coal each week from the United States to Port Dover. A tug boat and scows would be used, and two trips would be made each week. The route would be from Erie Pa. to Port Dover and unloading equipment would be erected at the Canadian port. Efforts have been put forth to secure regular deliveries at American lake ports, but the routing is under the control of the U. S. Fuel Administration and difficulties have been met with from this source. Mayor Bowby's cooperation is desired to overcome this difficulty.

PRESENTATION.

On Saturday evening the employees of the local G.T.R. system gathered to express their regret at losing their Agent, Mr. G. A. Bond, who has accepted the position of Freight Agent at Black Rock Terminals. Mr. Geo. Clarke on behalf of the employees read a very appropriate address expressing regret felt by all in losing a man who will always hold the esteem and good fellowship of all who come in contact with him. Mr. E. Statham representing the Yard Staff presented Mr. Bond with a club bag suitably engraved; followed by Mr. Duncan representing the shed and teamsters presenting an elegant smoking set, pipe and tobacco included. The gift of a gold headed umbrella by the office staff brought the presentation to a close, at which Mr. Bond in a few well chosen remarks expressed his appreciation of their generous expression of regret at his departure. The singing of "He's a Jolly Good Fellow" followed by three cheers and a tiger brought the evening to an end.

OUR MOTOR PUMPER.

Time worth money? Ask the fire and light committee of the city council. According to the Hamilton Spectator a delay of three months in ordering the motor pumper for the fire department cost an additional $900. Hamilton has purchased a pumper similar to the one ordered by Brantford three months later. The Hamilton truck has arrived and was tested yesterday. Chief D. J. Lewis and Ald. Wiley chairman of the fire and light committee, in the Ambitious City looking over the test. The Spectator says: "That the city of Brantford paid just $900 more than Hamilton for a motor pumper is about as the same as the one recently added to the fire department equipment was asserted by Controller F. M. Wright to-day. Brantford bought a pumper three months after our order was placed," said the controller. "The price had jumped $900 and Brantford was glad to get it, even at advanced figure." The Brantford pumper has not yet been delivered, but Ald. Dr. Wiley, chairman of the Brantford fire, police and jail committee and Chief Lewis will inspect the local apparatus when it is given its final test this afternoon at the foot of John street.

CHILD WELFARE.

The Child Welfare exhibit in the Empire building came to a close last evening, and Mr. Jones and Miss Powers of the Provincial Health Department have left for Woodstock, where they will conduct a similar exhibit. The success achieved here was most gratifying to the officials, and bids well for the tour which is being undertaken through Ontario, Brantford being the first city to be visited. Mothers flocked in hundreds with their children to the exhibit yesterday, and the Children's Aid Society is to be congratulated for its suggestion to the Provincial Government. The judges in the baby contests concluded their work, awarding prizes as follows: Boys, 12 to 18 months, Melvin Robertson, Albert Belshaw. Girls, 12 to 18 months, Jean Parkinson, Doris Co burn. Soldiers' boys, 6 to 18 months, Ivan Gullen, Albert Carey. Soldiers' girls, 6 to 18 months, Herta Kelly, Margaret Hunt.

Livingston acting on one of the tribunals. His Worship will be engaged in judging the applicants for exemption in the mornings, and will turn his efforts in the afternoon toward handing down decisions regarding criminals. His judicial abilities apparently be given a good opportunity.

PRESENCE OF MIND.

Commendable presence of mind displayed by Mrs. Syrett, when a basket of goods became ignited in her home at 90 Dundas street yesterday afternoon at half past two, undoubtedly avoided a serious blaze. The clothes became ignited through too close proximity to a stove, and burst into flames. The workday caught fire but Mrs. Syrett picked up the burning clothes and carried them outside, badly burning herself on the hands and arms. Action was owing to her timely action, was slight.

COMMENDS VETERANS.

Chief of Police Chas. Slemm has written the city council commending the three returned soldiers, Messrs. Jarvis, F. R. Tomlin and T. H. In the fracas that followed, Mr. Simpson suffered a broken leg, and the Chief recommends that he be remunerated by the city fathers for the time lost as a result.

In view of the fact that I believe it is the intention of the Independent Labor party to meet in conference with the Liberals and Conservatives with the object of endeavoring to agree on a candidate who will be acceptable to all, I have much pleasure in agreeing to the suggestion of your executive that I leave the acceptance of your nomination in abeyance until such time as the above conference has had every possible opportunity of arriving at a more satisfactory arrangement. I sincerely hope that the Labor party will prove at this conference that they are imbued with a real "win-the-war" spirit and that all parties may be able to unite on a true democratic platform and that Canada's watchword may be "evolution" and not "revolution." WANT PICTURES OF ALL SOLDIERS

Records Office to Preserve History of War in Photograph

The officer in charge Canadian war records announces that it is desired to compile a complete history in photograph of the Canadians' share in the war, in the same way that all other belligerent countries are compiling similar records.

It is particularly desired to obtain photographs of all officers, N. C. O's and men who have served or are now serving in the Overseas Military forces of Canada, and it is requested that an appeal should be made in this end through these columns.

All officers and other ranks serving overseas may find it difficult to send in their photographs and their relatives are therefore especially appealed to, and in their photographs for them.

By preference the photographs should be unmounted and printed on bromide paper in order to ensure permanence. Each photograph should be accompanied by a concise record, not exceeding two or three hundred words, some of the subjects, military career, including date of enlistment, promotions, distinction, and so on, as this will greatly assist in obtaining a full and accurate record of all concerned.

In addition it is desired to collect all photographs dealing with the mobilization; training and departure of troops; together with pictures illustrating reviews, sports, presentations, etc. Any photograph of this nature is regarded as a document of historical importance, and it is hoped that the possessors of all such photographs will deem it their duty to send either the originals or copies, which will be ultimately placed in the permanent public archives of the Dominion.

All photographs, which will be acknowledged, should be addressed to the Officer in charge Canadian war records, which will be ultimately placed in the permanent public archives of the Dominion.

Sporting Comment

Among men who wager a tiny bit here and a tiny bit there, a $2 bill is looked upon as an infernal jinx. When the wives are away to the summering water places and poor hubby is at home—with the gang—playing ye goode olde "draw" poker a $2 bill is about as welcome as a tarantula in a Pullman sleeper. Nobody wants to see, much less handle, a $2 bill.

Men on the race track tear the corners off of them with the remark that they are extracting the jinx's stinger.

They told Charley Herzog about that superstition going out on the train to Chicago after the Giants had made it two-all in the world's series. "I'm a contrary cuss. I'm going through this train and weed out every two-dollar bill that I can find. Two unlucky? Nonsense! Why, haven't we just won two straight after being out of it? Two will be our lucky number."

And true to his word, Herzog took up every two-dollar bill that he could lay his hands on. Charley wasn't afraid of the jinx, and the jinx wasn't afraid of Charley, for the Giants lost two straight runs, and scored only two runs in the last struggle for baseball supremacy.

Gorizia, which has again been occupied by the Teutons, was captured by the Italians on Aug. 9, 1916. The Italians took about 20,000 prisoners in the city. It is a town of 31,000 inhabitants on the Isonzo halfway, down the present Austro-German front of attack between Tolmino and the sea. It is strongly situated among hills of great defensive value.

WOMEN TRAITORS
By Courier Leased Wire
New York, Nov. 8.—Asserting that a concerted pro-German propaganda is behind persistent efforts to interfere with the National Housewives' League co-operation with the government's food conservation plans, a warning was issued here to-day by Mrs. Julian Heath, the league president, to the women of the United States against "women alien enemies," advising them to treat every woman who discourages food conservation "as a traitor to this country."

The announcement says that "persistent and constant communications" are being sent to Mrs. Heath criticizing the government's food plans, and that agents are sent to league meetings to break them up by talking peace to the women.

Women! It's Cheap! Use Lemon Juice and Make Lotion

To keep your skin and complexion naturally soft, white and clear at all times you simply must use a lotion or cream every day. But choose the one that is best and costs the least.

The juice of two fresh lemons strained into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white makes a whole quarter pint of the most remarkable beauty lotion at about the cost one must pay for a small jar of the ordinary cold creams. Care should be taken to strain the lemon juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan, and is the ideal skin softener, smoothening and beautifier.

Just try this lotion! Make up a quarter pint of this sweetly fragrant cream and massage it into the face, neck, arms and hands. It should naturally help to whiten, soften, freshen and bring out the hidden roses and beauty of any skin.

Your druggist will sell three ounces of orchard white at little cost and any grocer will supply the lemons.

OUR CHUM BATTALION

(By F. J. Sleath.)

We had been out in rest billets more than a week, living among a peaceful farming population almost out of sound of the guns, but there was something lacking from the full enjoyment of the unwonted calm, and subtle undercurrent of disquiet permeated the battalion. It was not because we had left many of our best behind us in a front of Hooge, or that the memory of those late September days still weighed on us. We had been too long in the Ypres salient not to have grown accustomed to the horrors of the rough and tumble trench battles which the salient periodically witnessed. It was simply the unsettled doubtfulness which enters every heart when some unsuspected change takes place, when some long cherished institution is removed, or when beyond our sphere of acquaintances for our chum battalion had left the brigade, and we looked forward with doubt to the new order of things.

The British Army has many traditions and many immemorial customs, but it clings to none more jealously than its regimental friendships. Every British regiment has been to some other regiment as its own particular "chum" unit. How the association arose may be beyond the cognisance of the men of the regiment. It is sufficient for them that it exists. And the fact of its existence is so real that members of chum-regiments have only to meet to welcome each other as the firmest of friends, even though they had never met before. The present war has furnished numerous illustrations of the workings of these regimental friendships and nothing has been so remarkable as the manner in which all the duties and courtesies pertaining to the connection have been discharged by the men of the new division into the thirtieth and fortieth battalion. And from this attitude—that of men who before the war knew nothing about their regiment's traditions and associations—some idea may be gathered of the reality and strength of the bonds between chum-battalions of the old regular army.

In our case there was more than a traditional friendship between us and our chum-battalion. The regimental association had originated far back in the Peninsular War, but bonds had been overlaid by the more immediate ties of personal friendship and mutual appreciation. We had been together in the loop of the canal in front of Mons, and in subsequent retreat scattered host of "Mids" and "Jocks" had hung together and fought their way back to the main armies. At Le Cateau the "Mids" had lost half their battalion from German shellfire while grimly holding on to ground whose occupation was necessary to our safety; and though there was little left of our old establishments when the retreat was over the new drafts which joined us came out fired by the stories of our mutual sacrifices, and together we fought our way forward until the Ypres positions were held, flank to flank, for over a year. In rest billets we held everything in common, our messes and canteens were free to each other, and a "Jock" never lacked drink or smoke while a "Mid" possessed the necessary commodities. And in the trench area we were as one unit, with identical interests; and in many bloody little "stunts" and bombing forays which we undertook together, the tie of blood-brotherhood between us was cemented more strongly.

On the 25th of September the "Mids" stood by in support while we went over the top. They helped our broken men back to safety and guarded our abandoned kits from the hand of the spoiler—soldiers alone can appreciate this service to the full. And so much did we feel ourselves indebted to them, that, a few days later, when we were in trouble C. Company volunteered to a man to go to their support. Our company lost its captain and many of its effectives and the combined strength of these two regiments so reduced were immediately sent out on long rest to recuperate. The "Mids" lined the road to give us a send off, and "Good Luck Jock! You've earned your rest," and many another friendly exclamation more than repaid us for our losses.

They were to follow us a week later, and we expected to share our rest together, but they brought with them the rumor of their impending departure, and a few days later they had gone.

It was the time when the old and the new units of the British army were being intermingled in order that the experience of the line battalions might coalesce with the freshness of the Kitchener Expedition and make one homogeneous, efficient military machine. But no knowledge of military expediency could lessen the regret at the breaking of our close association, nor restore to us the assurance of strength which we drew from the sense of their tried friendship. We were jealous of the power that was being taken from us. We feared that the old fighting division might decline in war-like prowess, and the thought tempered all our jollity at the farewell "smokers" in which every mess indulged. The ghost of sorrow sat down with us at all our feasts, and their Colonel broke down and cried, when at our last inter-regimental concert, he rose to say "good-bye" and wish us God-speed. Yet we turned out bravely to see them off. Our pipe band played them down to the station, and we cheered and cheered till we could cheer no longer. But we returned to our rest billets in silence, restless and troubled, as men who have suddenly realized that the strength of their youth has diminished and with it has gone much of the joy of their existence.

Who was our loss, however proved the British army's gain. We were left alone the sole regular battalion of the brigade, but we spent our strength in mothering the new units through that trying period of transition, inspired by the knowledge that our battalion was facing the same task and relying on us to keep the name of the old brigade and old division untarnished. We are still a crack division. The leaven of experience has permeated throughout all the British forces. But when Jock and 'Mid' meet each other at depots and rest camps down the line, the "Old division" is still the division which included their regiments as associated units, and they long for the day when fighting side by side once again they will add fresh triumphs to its name.

SAGE AND SULPHUR DARKENS GRAY HAIR

Brush this through faded, streaked locks and they become dark, glossy, youthful.

Almost everyone knows that Sage and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, at a small cost.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair as it does it so naturally and evenly. You do not use a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the other application of two, your hair becomes beautiful dark, glossy and attractive.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire dark hair and a youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

AUSTRIA IMPOVERISHED
By Courier Leased Wire
Washington, Nov. 8.—Swiss monetary experts, in despatches received here, call attention to the desperate financial situation in Austria. Recently Dr. Weyerler, president of the Hungarian Cabinet, declared that the circulation of notes of the Imperial bank had reached fifteen and a half billion crowns in September, and is now probably seventeen billions. The metal reserve for this circulation is only between 350,000,000 and 400,000,000.

The Austrian crown is quoted at only 38 in foreign countries, and has depreciated still more in the interior of the empire. In this situation, the Swiss experts say, Austria would not be long in suing for a separate peace were she not dominated by Germany.

FILM LETS.
Marguerite Clark is taking a short vacation at her home in Rye while Director J. Searle Dawley, who was responsible for the Paramount star's alarming conduct in Greenwich, Conn., is now spending his so-called leisure in endeavoring to placate the inhabitants of that still starved community. Under Mr. Dawley's guidance Miss Clark succeeded in smashing up a large portion of the scenery of Greenwich village and several of the oldest inhabitants, who were away at the time, had great difficulty in recognizing the town when they returned. All this aroused a certain amount of resentment which Mr. Dawley is now seeking to counteract.

Director Robert Vignola is gradually being reinstated in the estimation of Pauline Frederick. It will be remembered that it was he who superintended the fatal burning of the Paramount star in her recent picture and that he necessarily suffered considerably in popularity from the near-deceased. However, with the intimated Miss Frederick that the only disagreeable thing she would have to do in her next picture was to "burgle" the contents of a political plot from a desk, her opinion of the director began to rise. When he was subsequently able to inform Miss Frederick that she could wear her latest and most startling gowns, together with quarts of her favorite jewelry, the rehabilitation of Mr. Vignola was complete.

"Wah! Wah! Towasasuak! All around the water is jump and roar and go white! And where Spider goes he not remember at all. Long tam he not remember nothing. By and by when him get his sense back he is lying half on the land and half in the water. Him look and all the water is muddy, and him not see this thing with long horns any more, and he hear thunders roaring.

After that they say Spider travel like anybody else. Ahmek remembers only this far.

The group around the fire broke up without Ralph's having had a chance to get into communication with Nahya. She baffled every attempt he made. When he saw her leading her mother into the teepee he thought he would not see her again until morning.

"Nahya!" he cried. "Aren't you going to speak to me? You promised!"

She turned with her inscrutable face. "I am coming back," she said. "Wait for me." She paused for an instant and added: "St. Jean, you stay up, too. We three will talk."

Ralph angrily bit his lip. So it appeared she was still bent on keeping him at arm's length.

He wanted no third at their talk.

CHAPTER IX.

Nahya's Story.

St. Jean Bateese, Nahya, and Ralph sat by the fire. The flames threw strong, changeable lights up into the three unlike faces; the first brown, the second ruddy white, the third ruddy white. The fire held each pair of eyes steadily; it was too disconcerting to look at each other.

Nahya, in the middle, sat on her heels, with her head a little lowered and her hands clasped loosely in her lap. Ralph was reminded, with a little pain at his heart, of a picture of Mary Magdalen that he had seen. Throughout the telling of her long story she scarcely ever changed her position.

There was a long silence before anybody spoke. When it became oppressive St. Jean started to tell the story of the making of the world, but Nahya silenced him.

"St. Jean," she said, "I have been thinking much what to do. Now I know. Often the doctor was angry against me because I did not tell him all about me. Now I will tell him. I think he is not so greedy for gold as other white men. I think when I tell him all he will go away and forget what he has seen."

It sounded like a death-warrant to Ralph.

"Nahya—" he began.

"Wait till I have told you," she said.

She was silent for a space, looking down at her hands and searching, it would seem, for the right words to begin. She told her story in a low-pitched, toneless voice that concealing all, suggested all.

When in certain parts of the story her voice threatened to shake; she paused until she could control it. Nahya had no fine English phrases; therein lay the power of her talk; its bare crudeness went deeper than paths.

"When I was a little girl," she began, "I go to the mission school at Cariboo Lake. The nun's school. I am there four winters.

"They teach me to speak English and French; to read and write and number; to sew and cook and keep house like white people. I am the smartest girl in the school, they say. I like to learn in books; the other children hate books.

"When visitors come the nuns send me to say my lessons in the parlor. I not like the other girls. They stupid and foolish, I think. They not like me, either. I different from them.

"At Cariboo Lake are plenty white people. I like them. I like how white people live with nice ways. I like to sit in a chair with meals and have a white cloth on the table and china dishes. All the time I think of the white people, their own country outside. I am crazy to go here and see all that is to be seen.

"There was a boy at that school two years more older than me. He is half white like me. He does not like books, but I look at him and know he feels the same like me inside. I would like to be friends with him. But the nuns do not let

LADIES' BLOUSE.

By Anabel Worthington.

The trend of fashion in waists is toward the peplum blouse just at present, and No. 5385 is one of the simplest kind of designs that can be found. It is slashed at the front and is put on over the head. The side seams of the blouse are also slashed as far as the waistline, giving an opportunity to repeat the trimming note. A broad collar which extends to the edge of the shoulders is square in front and rounded at the back. The front and back of the waist are slashed to shoulder straps, giving a soft effect which is most becoming to the majority of women. The blouse is held in at the waistline by a broad elastic run through a casing. The small front view shows how the peplum may be cut off at the waistline so that a plain slip-on waist is the result.

The blouse pattern No. 5385 is cut in sizes 36 to 42 inches bust measure. The 36 inch size requires 2 3/4 yards 36 inch material with 3/4 yard banding.

the boys and the girls speak together.

"But I look at him and he look at me, and at night when all are asleep I go out of the dormitory as soft as a lynx, and he is wait for me in the vegetable garden. We talk together. He is like my brother. He tell me he is going to run away from that school and go outside. I feel bad. I want to go, too.

"When I come back in the house a nun wake up and catch me. They make awful trouble. They say I had girl. They lock me up and give me only bread and water.

"I am mad because they call me a bad and look sour at me. Because I think before that they did love me. I know I am not bad, but I will not say anything. They say I am hard-hearted. I am not hard. I am soft. All the time when I am alone I cry. But I will not let them see me cry.

"Long time I am locked up. It is near spring when I am let out. The boy is gone from the school. I am changed. I hate that school now. I want to run away.

"I act very good now, so I get a chance to run away. The nuns say I am reformed, and they smile again. They not know what is inside me. By and by they begin to let me go out by myself. Because I am one of the biggest girls they send me to the store for tea and sugar.

"There is a white man in the French outfit store, and he is kind to me. He give me things for myself out of the store, and I think he is a good man. I tell him I want to go outside so bad, and he say he will take me when he goes in the summer.

"I am so glad I meet a man. I not think any bad, because he is an old man with gray hair, and he say he will take me to see his daughters that he got outside. Me, I am not yet sixteen years old.

"So when the ice go out of the lake and they say the first York boat will leave Grier's Point soon as it is light next morning, he tell me, and in the night I get out of my bed. There is a man sleeping beside the door, but I crawl under all the beds like a weasel and I get out.

"All the way I run to Grier's Point. It is five miles. Soon it is day, and they push off the boat. I am so excited, I am we-ti-go, crazy. But I am still.

"Soon I find I make a mistake. That white man is no good. There are many people going on the York boat, and with so many I am safe. (Continued in Friday's Issue.)

Good Night Stories

By Gladys A. ...

THE GARDEN OF THE SKY.

One day last summer Linda tied on her little blue bonnet and with Jrnie, her old rag doll, in her arms, went out into the meadow.

"Oh, you beautiful daisies! Where did you come from?" cried Linda, and she gathered her arms full of the beautiful white blossoms and sat down to make a chain.

A tiny laugh sounded at her foot and Linda saw a dear little Blossom Fairy smiling at her from a daisy cup.

"Don't you know where we come from?" asked Blossom Fairy, and Linda shook her head. "Then we'll have to show you," laughed Blossom Fairy. Out of every daisy cup there popped a Blossom Fairy, until the whole meadow seemed a sea of tiny faces and they sang:

Weave us a chain of daisies white And away through the air we'll fly.

Into the hand were daisies bright Bloom in the garden of the sky! Linda laughed and, twining the daisy chain round her waist, she was gently lifted into the air by the Blossom Fairies and sailed up into the clouds.

Tiny Elf in artists with pallets and brushes were busily tinting the clouds the colors of the rainbow. Linda had often wondered how the clouds found their wonderful hues, and she was glad she had learned. Far ahead a tiny star peeped at them from over the hills, and out from behind the darkest cloud there floated a silver boat bearing a beautiful lady. Linda was told this was the Lady of the Moon. The boat drew near and Lady Moon invited Linda to take a sail.

"I'm going to take a look at my star blossoms," said Lady Moon, and Linda soon saw a beautiful garden filled with stars, she say:

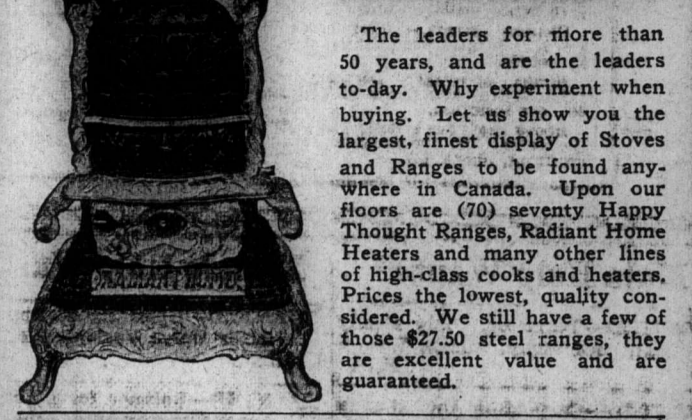

Dripping along, they gathered the lovely silver blossoms until the silver boat could hold no more. Lady Moon steered over the meadow, and with a merry laugh the Blossom Fairies tipped the silver boat, and the star daisies fell to the meadow below. They nodded and smiled as Linda tumbled down beside them.

Linda opened her eyes. Sure enough, the meadow was filled with beautiful white daisies that looked just like tiny stars. Over the hills peeped the sun, casting his light over all like a golden smile. A bird twittered in the tree nearby, and Linda jumped up and hunted everywhere for the Blossom Fairies. Even Lady Moon had dropped out of sight.

"Well, Jane, I guess the daisies must come from the Garden of the Sky and Lady Moon must be the 'Queen of the Daisies,'" Linda whispered to her rag doll.

Gathering her arms full of daisies and twining the chain around her bonnet, Linda went home to tell mamma about her adventure in the skies in the wings of a happy dream.

WHY SOME MARRIED MEN ENVY BACHELORS.

How can women love "things" so much more than their husbands do, they will lash their husbands on as a heartless man lashes on his tired horse, just for the sake of things? Of course if a woman doesn't love her husband that's another situation altogether. But thousands of women who honestly think they love their husbands with all their hearts just do this.

Four Out of Five Wouldn't Marry Again

I heard an interesting and true story the other day of five married men who were off on a hunting trip and fell somehow to discussing whether, if they had to do it over again, they would marry and would marry the same woman. Four out of the five said they would not marry at all. And the reasons those four men gave were all variations on the theme I have brought up. One had a wife who wanted to get into society and who would not let him live the simple, natural life he loved. The wife of another was determined to bring up his children in a way which he hated—all ostentation and luxury and snobbishness. The other two simply shrank from the constant struggle which wives determined to keep up appearances and have everything their neighbors had (and a little more) imposed upon them.

HAIG.

We hear a lot of other men who've done artistic fighting, but Haig, who's won, again, again, is unknown at this writing. He doesn't hand out Haigish news to eager-eyed reporters, nor yet submit to interviews which might be called rip-snorters. He doesn't hunt the "feature" gent, or leave his post forsaken to face a kodak in a tent and have his picture taken. I know not if he's short or tall, I've never seen his photo; but whether he is large or small, he's getting William's goat, oh! Some colonels view the hall of fame and think it El Dorado, but he who plays the mighty game is always in the shadow. I know not how he wears his beard, or who may be his tailor, but more and more his strokes are feared, and Wilhelm's growing paler. I've seen no pictures of his wife, or of his sons and daughters, or of his ancient home in Fife, beside some storied waters. The grand stand looks for him in vain, no gallery has known him, but when the Prussians plant their slain, they cuss him and bemoan him. With him there's no such word as can't, no obstacles affrighting; great man! like our own silent Grant, he fights and keeps on fighting.

LT. E. W. PATTEN IS KILLED IN ACTION

Young St. George Officer Gave up Life of Great Promise for Empire

Lieut. Edgar W. Patten is officially reported killed in action, according to a message received on Saturday by his father, Mr. Chas. G. Patten, of St. George.

Lieut. Patten enlisted with the 215th Battalion, Second Brants, in March, 1916, he trained at Niagara Camp in the summer of that year and having obtained a commission as lieutenant was sent over to England in a draft in October. After taking courses at the Military School at Scarborough and Shorncliffe, he was attached to the 8th Reserve Battalion and in July last was transferred to the 68th Battalion for active service in France.

Lieut. Patten was educated in the St. George schools and in the Brantford Collegiate Institute; he was a brilliant student and on entering Toronto University stood first in the Province in mathematics. He maintained his position at the head of his class throughout his whole university course, and graduated as gold medalist in mathematics. On leaving the university he at once enlisted and now in the service of his country he has made the supreme sacrifice. Most unassuming and retiring in disposition, he possesses a personality which endeared him to all who enjoyed his acquaintance or friendship and general respect will be felt that a life of so great promise has been cut off at its very beginning. Many school mates and other friends in Brantford join in sincere sympathy with his father and mother and all other relatives in St. George.

CALDER SPEAKS

Ottawa, Oct. Nov. 8.—Hon. J. A. Calder, Minister of Immigration and Colonization, who has been in the West looking after the organization of Union Government forces, arrived in the Capital this morning. To a Limited, Mr. Calder expressed himself as being well satisfied with recent developments west of the great lakes.

Questioned as to the number of opposition candidates likely to take the field, Mr. Calder said he could not undertake to make a definite statement, but he did not think the opponents of Union Government would carry more than 10 or 12 seats in the four western provinces.
