LONDON GOSSIP.

LONDON, June 15th, 1917.
CAIUS AND THE WAVE.

From time to time Jacob Epstein's work as a sculptor has made a great deal of talk, but not more than seems likely to be occasioned by his exemption from military service upon the score of his genius. It has raised in a direct form a question which has troubled many since the war began, without finding a wholly satisfactory answer. Probably in no war since the world began have so many young men of the highest promise, many even of high achievement—poets, painters, men of letters, scholars, men of science—gone to their deaths and left the world in many respects the poorer. Should they have been permitted to go, or should they have been retained to minister by their work to the delight of their own and possibly future generations? At least one may be glad to think that they themselves had no doubt as to the answer. The younger men of ability and genius who made the great sacrifice—one may take Rupert Brooke as an example, though there were many more—after all left behind them something of more ultimate value to the world than any conceivable work they could have given it in any form of art. One does not look for any rival to their inspiring example in the best imaginable products of Epstein or in the film records of Charlie Chaplin.

THE HEALTH MINISTRY.

The favourable consideration the Cabinet is giving to the idea of constituting a Ministry of Health is subject to the important qualification that before any definite step is taken the insurance, health, and friendly societies shall have been found on enquiry to be favourably disposed towards that course. As the approved societies are widely thought to be lukewarm on the matter—to put it no more strongly—this may mean a decided delay in settling a point which those who have studied it most closely think to be of great urgency. While officials haggle, the children die; and though it is obvious that any system which may be set up will disturb a number of vested interests, these would not be allowed to stand in the way if the problem were openly discussed. The method now adopted, however, will give every chance to the vested interests without the public being a whit the wiser; and that is a condition of things which will need a very strong determination on the part of the promoters of a Ministry of Health to overcome, so powerful is the inertia in such a case.

DEATH OF MAJOR REDMOND.

Major William Redmond, whose death in action adds the tenth name to the House of Commons roll of honor, was a gallant, fearless, generous-hearted Irish gentleman. His bitterest political opponents liked him above all for his humor—no one could match him in the House of Commons for real impromptu witicism—but also for his downright honesty of purpose. Willie Redmond, as his friends at Westminster always called him, had the long record of 34 years as a Nationalist Member of Parliament. He was a little more than a youth when he entered Parliament, and he had taken a part in many stirring scenes and incidents in the long course of Irish Nationalist politics. When the war broke out he, in spite of his 53 years, joined the army and set a fine example of patriotism to his countrymen. He was convinced of the righteousness of the war, and his attitude did a great deal to win round public opinion in the direction of trying to reconcile Irish differences. His greatest Parliamentary achievement was the speech which he delivered on March 7 last, during leave of absence from the front. Speaking straight from his heart, and with a natural eloquence, he appealed for a new and friendlier era between the two countries, pleading with the Government to seize the opportunity to make Ireland happy and contented. The speech made a profound impression, which was accentuated by the remark that that might be the last occasion on which he would speak in the House of Commons. There is little doubt that his last great effort on the floor of the House did something to set in motion the present attempt to solve the Irish difficulty by means of a Convention of Irishmen. The death of Willie Redmond may still further encourage Irishmen to forget their old strifes, and build up new and friendly relationships on a durable basis of common sacrifice.

ANOTHER BANNED PLAY.

Three plays which were formerly banned by the Censor are now running at the West End of London theatres, namely Ibsen's "Ghosts," Brax's "Damaged Goods," and "The Three Daughters of M. Dupont." I now hear that Gladys Cooper has obtained permission to produce at the Playhouse a fourth hitherto forbidden play, "The Yellow Ticket," by Michael Morton, part author of the very different and wholly delightful comedy, "Remnant." Morton's work is made available to the public by the recent changes in Russia. It is a powerful emotional drama, dealing with Russian police espionage, and the distresses of a heroine who is grossly persecuted because of her Jewish birth. The part of the heroine—the girl with the yellow ticket—is a fine one.

FOOD PRICES.

Parliamentary members' postbags contain just now more correspondence about food prices than on any other subject. From all over the country come letters urging members to press the Government to take action to check what the public evidently regards as the undue and preventable inflation of prices; and it is these protests which have led to the demand for a day to discuss the subject. The Cabinet, I believe, has had the matter under consideration, but the problem is encompassed with difficulties which have still to be surmounted before steps can be usefully taken. Ministers are well informed of the dissatisfaction that exists and of the widespread suspicions of "profiteering" entertained by consumers. London members discussed the whole question last week and resolved to seek an irrevocable with the Prime Minister to place before him two proposals. The Government, they will urge, should (1) be empowered (1) to examine both stocks and books of all parties from the producer or importer through the middlemen to the smallest retailers, and (2) to ascertain how far the increasingly high prices are due to profiteering or other avoidable causes, and take drastic measures to effect an immediate remedy.

MORE PATROL WOMEN WANTED.

There is immediate need for 10,000 women to do police patrol work in all parts of the country. Mrs. Carlen, who is head of the whole women patrol organisation, told a women's meeting that in Central London alone, where four hundred women patrols are employed, there is a demand for one thousand, while the present number is ten thousand. The idea is to employ the London patrols in those districts of special difficulty where they are already doing invaluable work. I hear that at last the Commission of Works has consented to the appointment of six women park-keepers in the Metropolitan area. Three of these will be selected from the women police and three from the women patrols. Their appointments will be signed by the King, and they will have the same powers as the men, including the power of arrest.

RESUMPTION OF RACING.

The Cabinet, I learn, has now arrived at a definite decision to permit the resumption of horse-racing on a limited scale. An announcement to this effect is anticipated on an early date. Members belonging to all political parties, meeting at the House of Commons, resolved to press for "an early resumption of racing" on the lines agreed to between Sir Albert Stanley and the Jockey Club on February 6. A deputation consisting of Admiral Sir H. Meux, Colonel Hall Walker, Denison Pender, John O'Connor, and T. London, was appointed to lay this decision before the Prime Minister, and also to request the Government to issue a statement making clear to the public "the essential relation of racing to horse breeding and to the supply of light horses for the Army."

Our Baseball Column.

PLAGIARISED AND OTHERWISE.

THE BELLS.

(A rainy day verse in the Sport Department, with apologies to Edgar Allan Poe.)
Hear the telephonic bells,
Drated bells!
What a world of bother to the sporting editor
Foretells!
How they tinkle, tinkle, tinkle!
As fans ask "If there's a game?"
"If the grounds have stood the sprinkle?"
"If the sun's rays soon will twinkle?"
For the question's 'er the same.
There it goes. Well, well!
Ain't it? Yes, it's H—!
Oh, that tintinnabulation that so ceaselessly goes swell
From that telephonic bell, bell, bell—
On the sport ed's roll-top desk; yes, I wish it
Was in—Hellepont.

NEXT GAMES.

The much-looked forward to Wanderer-B.I.S. game had to be postponed owing to the inclement weather conditions yesterday. It will now be played the week after next, as the preliminaries for Mount Cashel for the cup presented by Mr. H. D. Reid must be played next week. The games will be:

Tuesday Night.
Wanderers—Red Lions.
Thursday Night.
Cubs—B. I. S.

As a rule a pitcher is not a good hitter, but the rule does not hold good in the case of Max Carey. He can hit a batter almost every game he pitches. A certain young lady who professed to be a baseball fan but knew much less of the game than she believed she knew, was present at the Travellers—City game on Wednesday afternoon, in which the pitcher for the visitors was being hit almost every time he shot a ball over the plate. Leaning over toward her escort she exclaimed, "Isn't Halg wonderful! He hits their bats no matter where they put them." "Please give your decision on the following: Man on first base. Batter hits to first baseman, who touches first before runner gets there. In the meantime the man on first starts for second and stops half way between. The first baseman makes a return throw to the second baseman, who touches the second before the runner arrives at the base and then throws the ball back to the pitcher. Meanwhile the runner who is between first and second reaches second and stays there. Does that man need to be touched to be called out?" "Kindly give answer in your column to settle dispute.—J. V."

Runner was not forced and he had to be tagged to be retired. Force out ceased to exist after out was made at first base. This same play occurred in one of the games last year, and the above was the "Chief" Chessman's ruling on it.

The way some catchers throw to second base you'd think second base was in centre field.

Lewis Regains Title.

"Strangler" Ed Lewis, of Kentucky, regained his title of world's heavyweight wrestling champion, catch-as-catch-can style, when he defeated Waldek Zbyszko, two straight falls out of three in the tournament recently at the Braves' Field, Boston. Zbyszko won the first fall in 57 minutes, 45 seconds, weakening his opponent with the toe hold.

Waldek wrestled in his bare feet, as usual with him, but when the men came out for the second, Lewis insisted that Zbyszko put on his shoes. It was claimed that their absence rendered the securing of the toe hold more difficult for Lewis. His opponent finally yielded the point, and on went the shoes.

Lewis did a lot of the forcing in this round, and applied the toe hold most viciously. While Waldek succeeded in breaking these holds after fierce tussels about the matting, which threatened to part his foot from the rest of his frame, he was repeatedly trapped. After about 10 minutes as Lewis came down he landed on Zbyszko's right arm, injuring it. They continued working, however, and about the 24 minute period Lewis shot Waldek through the ropes and out onto the field.

Zbyszko landed with a thud which half knocked the breath out of him, but on being pulled to his feet tore back into the ring. He had not recovered from the fall, and was immediately nailed by Lewis, who lifted him high and then slammed him to the canvas. It was several minutes before he could get up.

Waldek was carried off the field, and after an extra 20 minutes rest period allowed him through the courtesy of Lewis, he came back to the ring, and Zbyszko was all in, however, and a few minutes later his manager threw up the sponge.

Cyclone Burns and Gardini, the Italian champion, wrestled a 3-minute draw without either scoring a fall.

The Cold Storage Plant

A large set of Toledo scales for weighing fish was installed at the Cold Storage plant this morning. Up to noon to-day only a few quintals of fish were delivered at the floating stage near the Long Bridge. The company purchased their first dog fish this morning. While it is not yet definitely decided if this practice will be continued, we are informed that the company will purchase the same from their regular customers when buying codfish, and on no account will they buy that kind of fish from others. The price paid for dogfish will not exceed three-quarter cents a pound for the present. Another ten ton car of turbot is expected to-day from Trinity. Work is progressing rapidly on the building and visitors are struck with the cleanliness of the floors and recesses on which the fish is handled before being placed in the freezing rooms. While the officials are most obliging, visitors should not expect to be shown through the plant during the rush hours.

St. Bon's Re-Union.

The St. Bonaventure's Re-union will take place to-morrow morning at 8 o'clock. His Grace the Archbishop will preside and two Bishops will also be present. The occasion will further be marked by the attendance of many of the teachers attending the school in town and of a number of returned soldiers and volunteers.

TWO STEAMERS FOR THE SHIP-BUILDING CO.

We understand that the whaler Hawk has been purchased by the Hr. Grace Shipbuilding Co. and will proceed to the second city immediately, under command of Capt. Simonsen. The Co. have also purchased a new steamer off the stocks in Nova Scotia, which is five hundred tons and will also be employed in the business connected with the company.

Fatal Accident at Bell Island.

DENIS POWER, OF BAY ROBERTS, KILLED.
EAST WABANA, to-day. Special to Evening Telegram.
Sad accident occurred in No. 1 Slope of Dominion plant this morning in which Denis Power, of Bay Roberts was killed. Power was engaged driving the air hoist and must have left his position at throttle to make repairs while engine was in motion, his clothes evidently got caught in the winding rope which carried him over the drum crushing him to death.—Cor.

Boy Stole Watch.

A ten year old school boy was arrested last night for larceny. A silver watch in an automobile attracted his attention and he went and "lifted" it, the ticker being found in his possession. The lad appeared before court to-day and pleaded guilty. His counsel, Mr. R. T. McGrath, begged the leniency of the court, for his young client, pointing out that it was his first offence. After considering the circumstances Judge Morris ordered that the father enter into a bond of $100 or the future good behaviour of his son; also the lad was cautioned by the Judge that if he committed the offence again he would be birched.

The Crisis in Germany

The eyes of the world are on Berlin. The German ministry seems tottering to its fall. Bethmann, the pilot, and no unskilful one, who has guided the ship of state through troubled waters for three years of war, may be already dropped, though the Emperor, in contrast with his treatment of a much greater man which evoked the famous Punch cartoon, is this time reluctant to cast the pilot-boat adrift. Experienced diplomats among the Allies will follow the struggle that is beginning with keen interest and almost bated breath, but its finer points need not confuse the ordinary man. Two truths stand out that are plain to all to see. Germany is beaten and Germany is beginning to realize it. That is the first truth. The second is that the trouble in the Reichstag is the beginning of the internal conflict that must come as the inevitable consequence of that realization. It will not be without its dangers to the Allies. There has been so much talk everywhere of late about war aims, and all of it concerned with abstract principles, which are good enough in themselves but hardly suitable for use as the terms themselves, that the impression has almost been created that Germany has only to confess herself in the wrong, profess ideals of human and national conduct exactly congruent with those of the Allies, and the war will be over: there will be nothing more to fight about. But there will be a great deal more, and the danger will not be so great after all. We have only to look at a few of the concrete demands of the Allies—relinquishment of Alsace and Lorraine, indemnity to Belgium, restoration of Serbia and Rumania and a few other items—to see that no party in Germany will concede them. Not that is, until the German army is crushed, and that is a process of which nothing that happens in Germany or out of it must be allowed to prevent the completion. It is not Bethmann but Hindenburg who must be vanquished before peace can be. One message says that the intervention of the Crown Prince caused the Chancellor's resignation. That is a pity, for it obscures the real issue. No self-respecting minister, whatever his position, would remain participant in a quarrel in which young Nincompoop was allowed to put in his oar. But it is another indication of the steady ranging of powerful parties against the Prussian Junkers over differences more numerous than the leading ones of peace terms and electoral reforms. To-morrow's debate will open the ball. But we must remember that it will be held in the Reichstag and that the imposing body is little more than a debating society, controlled at will by the Bundesrat and the Emperor. If before its issue is made clear it involves a transference of such control to the place where it rightly belongs, the axe will be laid at the root of the tree, in other words, the throne of William Hohenzollern. Let us hope so at any rate.

We are asked to draw the attention of our readers to the message from Mr. Reeve, of the Newfoundland War Contingent Association in London, to the Colonial Secretary, stating that the British authorities absolutely forbid the transmission of private parcels of any sort to men who are prisoners of war in Germany. The last lot of private parcels attempted to be sent in contravention of this order were returned. The authorities have very good reasons for the order, which we need not specify. The point to be noted is that it is useless to disobey it. Our prisoners are well provided with all necessary comforts by the Association, which sends them parcels regularly, and not the slightest anxiety need be felt on that score by their relatives and friends here.

Sweden's protest to America is most welcome. Next week a form of pressure upon Germany will go into effect which may well prove completely decisive. Since the war began neutral countries contiguous to Germany, Holland, Norway, Sweden, Denmark and Switzerland—have done most lucrative business with her, exporting every kind of necessary supplies to her in return for gold or a few commodities superfluous to Germany, and making good their own deficiency through trade with America. Their trade figures and those of the United States have given eloquent proof of the practice, which refutes their protestations to the contrary. America will now put an end to it by the simple expedient of sending to these neutrals only so much as she considers they require for their own needs. This will automatically stop the exports to Germany and Germany will be hit terribly hard. In fact she may be hit a knockout blow. Of course the neutrals protest, and Sweden has only followed a milder lead by Holland. She charges America with inconsistency in doing what, as a neutral, she protested against Britain's doing previously. As a matter of fact she is not, but in any case it is an argument that the different methods adopted by a country which changes from neutrality to belligerence are to be taxed as inconsistencies. Nobody worries about that, however. The encouraging feature of it is the proof, in the unanimity and warmth of Sweden's outcry, of the extent to which Germany and her neutral ally know they will suffer from America's salutary action.

For French Red Cross

To-night in Bannerman Park a concert will be given in aid of the French Red Cross. The C. L. B. and C. C. C. Bands will attend and will render attractive programs and ices and other refreshments will also be sold. An entrance fee of ten cents will be charged and additional seating accommodation has been provided. It is hoped all who can will attend and help out this very worthy object. To-morrow there will be a flower day for the same object. Young ladies will sell flowers throughout the city to all passers-by, much as emblems have been sold on tag days previously. The need of the French Red Cross is very great and all who possibly can spare a contribution will have the satisfaction of knowing that the money will go to a most worthy object.

Lieut. W. Grace Prisoner of War.

Mr. P. J. Grace has received a letter from his gallant brother, Lieut. Wm. Grace, who was wounded and taken prisoner in the last big battle in which the Nfd. Regiment took part on April 14th last. He writes from Ruhr, Mulheim, where he is in hospital. He was wounded in the back by shrapnel and was found by the Germans unconscious. After regaining consciousness he was taken behind the lines and his wounds gave him much pain for the few days he was there. Then he was removed to hospital, where he says his wounds are healing well and he expects shortly to be discharged from hospital and sent to a concentration camp. While on the battlefield he saw Lieut. Andrew Clouston when captured by the Germans. Both are now in the same hospital. They are treated well, he says, but are not allowed extras. Anything in the confectionery line is considered a luxury and will not be given them. The prisoners are permitted to write two letters a month and a post-card every Sunday. The foregoing reassuring news of the young soldiers and heroes must indeed be consoling to their families and we can only pray for their early release.

A Cheap Costume.

A considerable amount of civil business was disposed of in the Central District Court this forenoon, many people being summoned for debt. An interesting case was heard in which the proprietor of a cash and credit store and a domestic were the plaintiff and defendant, respectively. The latter bargained on a $16 costume, payable by instalments of $1 weekly. After paying $3 she refused to pay more, although she wore the suit until she was tired of it, hence the action for the recovery of the balance of the full amount agreed upon. The defendant produced the costume in court to-day, as she bitterly remarked that it was of no further use to her and the plaintiff could take it if he wanted it, but insisted that she was not going to pay any more money on it. The condition of the costume would certainly not do credit to any wardrobe and the plaintiff thought the agreement should be fulfilled. This contention was upheld by the Court and judgment was given in favor of the plaintiff for $13, the amount sued for.

TO-DAY'S Messages.

10.00 A.M.

TURKISH VERSION.

CONSTANTINOPLE, via London, To-day. An official statement issued from Turkish headquarters says that two enemy airplanes flew over Constantinople on Tuesday night and dropped bombs, causing insignificant damage.

THE MESOPOTAMIA AFTERMATH.

LONDON, To-day. The announcement of the resignation of R. Austen Chamberlain, Secretary for India, which is the first fruit of the Mesopotamia Commission's report, lent a dramatic touch to the debate on that report in Parliament to-day. It was also announced that Baron Harding, former Viceroy of India and now Under Secretary for Foreign Affairs, had thrice offered to resign but that Balfour, Foreign Secretary, declined to accept his resignation. Nothing is known as to whether other resignations are pending, but it is considered quite possible that further developments may occur on the return of the King to the capital. It is understood that Premier Lloyd George and Chamberlain's colleagues have done their best to persuade him to withdraw his resignation but without avail. Great sympathy is felt for Chamberlain, who is regarded as a victim of the peculiar Indian administrative system. Chamberlain made the announcement himself in the House in a speech defending his position as affected by the Commission's report. Chamberlain warmly defended himself and others named in the report against the newspaper charges of gambling in the lives of soldiers for political considerations. He argued that they would not have given orders for the advance unless the military advisers had recommended it as the proper course.

A LITTLE RUMPUSS IN ARIZONA.

BISBEE, Arizona, To-day. More than 1,000 industrial workers of the world were deported from Bisbee to-day aboard 24 cattle cars, and to-night are speeding towards New Mexico. Their announced destination is Colombo. A special train carrying them left Warren, four miles from Bisbee, at noon. The men were driven from the City by Deputy Sheriffs and about 2,000 armed men, members of an organization known as the Citizens' Protective League. Two men were killed during the work of deportation.

2.00 P. M.

LITTLE WILLIE GAINS AN AUDIENCE.

COPENHAGEN, To-day. A despatch to the Politiken from Berlin reports that the German Crown Prince had an audience on Thursday morning with representatives of all the political parties, including the Socialists. He had a long conference with Herr Von Payre, Progressive, Dr. Gustava Stresemann, Westarp, Conservative, and declared divide (?) Socialists.

FRENCH OFFICIAL.

PARIS, To-day. During the night artillery fighting was particularly active in the region of St. Quentin, Dupanthon and on the two banks of the Meuse, says an official War Office statement to-day. The communication adds that enemy attacks east of the Mantyres salient near the Vidalet Wood at Hill 302 and the Courieres Wood failed under our fire.

BATTLEPLANES IN CELEBRATION.

PARIS, To-day. One hundred and fifty battleplanes in fottias will take part in the celebration of the fall of the Bastille to-morrow in Paris. This is one of the most important aerial squadrons in the French service. It will fly over the marching route of the troops during the ceremonies.

FIGHTING BEGUN OUTSIDE PEKING.

LONDON, To-day. A despatch from Tien Sien says that fighting began outside of Peking yesterday. Tien Sien, Republican Headquarters here, says that owing to General Chang Hsun's refusal to mediate they intended to attack the forbidden city at the first opportunity. Hereafter they have been reluctant to do so owing to the proximity of Chang Hsun's residence to the legation quarters. Chang Hsun has artillery and the Republicans fear that in the event of their entering Peking, Chang Hsun will fire into the legation. Wang Tah Sig, the new Foreign Minister, went to Peking to-day, apparently to negotiate with the Foreign Legations regarding the situation. The Republicans say that with their 60,000 troops in and around Peking they could promptly overcome Chang Hsun's resistance where there is no fear that he would savagely attack foreign property generally.

FINNISH INDEPENDENCE.

PETROGRAD, To-day. The Finnish Diet on Thursday passed the second reading of a Bill virtually establishing Finnish independence. The introduction of the Bill has created a serious crisis here and N. C. Theidse, President of the Council of Workmen's and Soldiers' delegates, has gone to Helsingfors in an effort to settle the differences. An indication of the seriousness of the situation was a late sitting of the Petrograd Cabinet and the decision of Premier Lvoff to summon back to the Capital Ministers who are now with the Army. The Premier and other Ministers belonging to the Cabinet Party refuse, however, to allow Finland to determine her relations with Russia, insisting that she must wait until the meeting of the constituent assembly. The comment of newspapers in Petrograd is sharp. The Retch declares it is impossible for Russia to tolerate Finland's move. The Birzh Evia hints at armed interference, saying that Russia is now about to make a last attempt towards a peaceful settlement.

THE RUSSIAN POSITION.

PETROGRAD, To-day. Now that Hallez is in Russian possession the eyes of General Korniloff's cavalry Cossacks are turned toward the railway centre of Stry, a town of 30,000 inhabitants, and a junction of the line from Lemberg to Lawoczne and a branch line to Chodorow. Military writers describing the defensive say its chief strength is on the east and northeast but weaker on the south. There is widespread expectation of an important counter attack on the northern front.

ASKS MEXICAN GOVT. TO DECLARE BENEVOLENT NEUTRALITY.

MEXICO CITY, To-day. El Universal, which has been conducting a campaign in favour of the Allies, will request editorially to-morrow that the Government declare a policy of benevolent neutrality toward the Allies as soon as possible.

LIFE BUOY PICKED UP.—A message to the Marine and Fisheries Department this morning stated that a lifebuoy, marked "T.P.R." had been picked up at Petty Hr.

Patrol Ship Torpedoed by Austrain Sub.

ONE LIFE LOST — GUNNER MURRAY, R.N.R., TELLS GLOWINGLY OF RESERVIST McNAMARA'S DEVOTION TO DUTY.

Writing to a friend in the city Reservist Harry Murray, who was chief gunner on a patrol ship, gives a brief account of the thrilling experience the crew had recently when the ship was torpedoed. He says: "I was in my room, sitting down, playing with my cat, when suddenly I was thrown on my face out the door. I picked myself up and rushed to where my gun was on the quarter deck. My second hand, Reservist Frank McNamara, a mere boy, was there, as it was his ward and when I did so all to look forward and when I did so all I could see was foam and water. It was then no use standing by the gun as all hands were making for the boats." Continuing, Gunner Murray tells how he and his little mate were up to their waists in water getting forward to the boats, one of which had been blown up. He says none of the able seamen could lower a boat, but young McNamara with his (Murray's) assistance did. Murray intimates that those, who were below when the ship was shelled, came in their boat, including two firemen, second engineer, donkeyman, a trimmer and carpenter. The Captain and those who were on deck at the time went in another boat. The donkeyman was badly scalded, the carpenter was in a dying condition. During the night while adrift in the lifeboat the poor fellow succumbed and Murray wrapped his oil coat around the body. The next morning the submarine, an Austrian, chased after and came alongside of the little craft. The Captain and Gunner were asked for by the Captain of the undersea boat. Gunner Murray, who was typically disguised, replied that the poor fellow was killed, as he glanced towards the dead body of the trimmer in the boat. The Austrian then moved away but kept her gun on the boat for some time, later disappearing from view. The second night spent in the boat was a trying experience and all hands were pretty well used up, though Murray states the Reservists were in good spirits up to the following morning when picked up by a trawler and brought into Malta. Gunner Murray finishes his letter by stating that the entire crew lost all their belongings and humorously remarking that the "tin fish" are no good.

Mr. A. H. Allen, who for eleven years has been organist of the C. E. Cathedral and has resigned his post to proceed to England, was last night presented with an address and purse of gold by the choir and a number of parishioners and friends. ADDRESS:
To Alfred H. Allen, Esq.
Dear Sir,—We beg leave to approach you on the eve of your departure from our midst to extend our sincere regrets at the severance of the ties that have bound us for the past eleven years.
During the period of your connection with our Cathedral you have given yourself whole heartedly to the cause that is dear both to you and to us—the Art of Sacred Music. Your efforts for the spread and uplift of Classic Music—only in the Cathedral but in the whole community—have been untiring and the results widespread.
We ask you to accept the accompanying gift from the Choir, Congregation and other friends as a slight token of our esteem.
We wish you Godspeed and success in your future sphere of life and assure you of our grateful remembrance of our many kindnesses.

Madame's Classes.

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

A most interesting scheme came to my attention the other day. It was put into practice in a city some distance from here and whether there is anything of the sort in this city, I don't know. But I think there should be and that is partly why I am writing this.

A woman who used to live in our neighbourhood was visiting here recently and appeared at one of our little social functions in such a smart pretty little frock that we all commented upon it. When she lived here she used to have quite a little trouble with her clothes. She is clever with her needle but not quite clever enough to turn out a perfectly right gown. She made it and she didn't make it. "Did you make it yourself?" we asked.

"I did and I didn't," she said. And then she told us about the scheme.

It seems that in the city where she now lives a French dressmaker has opened a new kind of classes. At least they are new to me. Perhaps you have heard of them before.

There must be six members in the class and each pays a dollar and a half for a day's class. The six members come to Madame's establishment, each bringing with her material for something she wants to make. Madame then plans each garment and supervises the cutting and fitting.

Madame Supervises.

The women themselves do the work under Madame's supervision. In the rooms are several machines for the class's use, and as I understand it, one sewing girl who will assist (for extra payment) if desired.

"It is perfectly wonderful," said our old neighbour, "what we can get done. One woman brought a dress and a blouse and got them blocked out so that she could finish them at home. And another got a silk suit started. I think she is going to go one more day. There are so many of us who can sew well enough but who can't plan a really smart dress or get the lines just right. I think it's a wonderful scheme."

Her Gowns Were The Real Testimonial.

Her tribute to Madame's scheme was enthusiastic enough but the contrast between the gown she wore and the gowns she used to wear was even more of a testimonial.

To any potential Madame, or to any energetic group of women who can persuade some clever dressmaker to become a Madame I pass along this idea. So far as I know it isn't copyrighted.

river water at the ratio of 16 to 1. The free coinage of gasoline to this country has become so prevalent that this ratio varies from 16 to 1 to 1 to 16, with the result that thousands of automobile owners have to stop on the public highway and swab out the carburetor with a sponge. It is extremely annoying to a conscientious tourist to stop at a wayside garage and pay 20 cents a gallon for gasoline, and then discover a little later that he might just as well have turned in at the town pump.

The price of gasoline is controlled by a board of directors who do not ride in anything but steam yachts, and is sold in large quantities to people who have not paid a grocery bill since the Spanish-American war. This price varies from week to week, and for some time has been varying upward in a series of heart-rending leaps. But we are so constituted as a people that we cannot get along without meat and flour and underwear easier than gasoline, which enables us to visit relatives who do not own a car and trade joy rides for room and board.

Your Boys and Girls.

If plans are laid out with care and much of the dainty stitching is done at home a layette adequate and satisfactorily distinctive may be provided at a really moderate cost.

The first requirement is soft, fine materials; the second, skillful hand needlework, for machine stitching on the garments for a tiny baby seems almost a sacrilege.

Really fine needlework is essential—hemming exquisitely even, pin tucking done with 150 cotton and stitches almost invisibly tiny, gathers whipped to perfect evenness and facings and casings less than a quarter of an inch wide sent into minute openings. For occasions when the baby is taken down stairs to be shown to interested relatives there may be two special dresses, made of sheer French nainsook with trimming of real val. lace, which may be had in quarter yard width.

These gala frocks will be made in yoke style, and will be finished at the edge with a lace-edged petticoat, also of French nainsook, for wear between the sheer frock and the flannel skirt.

When the baby is carried out for an airing he will wear a coat of white silk or wool material, interlined part way down to make it thoroughly warm, and lined with silk of course.

GASOLENE.
Gasolene is a thin, watery fluid which is drunk as a beverage by motor cars. Some cars are heavier drinkers than others and are unable to get ten miles from a filling station without developing a raging thirst, after which they are traded off to somebody who has never owned an automobile in any form.

Gasolene comes in several grades, any one of which will run an automobile down hill in a very satisfactory manner. Low-test gasolene is the most popular, as it costs less and can be told from kerosene at once by setting a match to it. Every few days some fearless hired girl tries to start the kitchen fire with gasolene and discovers that it will burn with great rapidity. Nobody has ever set fire to a five-gallon can of low-test gasolene without regretting the act and retiring from the scene by piecemeal.

Gasolene is sold in large quantities to people who have not paid a grocery bill since the Spanish-American War.

Gasolene is also used for cooking purposes, being inserted by hand in a stove. Many people prefer the electric heater to the gasolene stove, which has to be taken to the plumber every once in a while and be fitted with a bright new stomach.

Gasolene is composed of Pennsylvania crude oil and plain-unfermented

A Strange Request.

One of the strangest stories in the history of journalism is that related of Emsley Carr by Mr. Simoffs, in his newly-published book, "The Street of Ink."

Mr. Carr is editor of News of the World, and he once had running in his paper a serial, in one instalment of which the heroine was represented as having taken to her bed, and being at the point of death.

A day or two after this instalment appeared Mr. Carr was waited upon in his office by a gentleman who, in a state of great agitation, informed him that his daughter had by some strange freak of imagination linked up her life with that of the heroine of the story.

"She is not a strong girl," explained the caller with emotion, "and she has also taken to her bed, and her life is hanging by a thread. I am a physician, and I give you my professional word that if in your coming issue the heroine dies, my daughter will die, too. I ask you—may, I implore you—therefore, to let your heroine live on."

Mr. Emsley Carr tersely summarized the result of the interview by saying:

"The lady is now the happy mother of a large family."

He "Played the Game."

London Daily Chronicle: Lawn tennis players will read with emotion some words we are allowed to quote from a letter written by Mr. R. B. Powell, so well-known in the lawn tennis world shortly before he fell in battle. After recalling his great games, and the tour he had under Wallis Myers' leadership, he said: "For the present I shall try and play the game 'over there' and, so long as the effort be worthy, one's individual fate is of very small moment." Wimbledon's superb lawns will never more be traversed by Wilding Kenneth Powell, R. B. Powell, and many another who have "played the game over there."

A sheer muslin dress is sufficiently trimmed with many trunks and ruffles made of the same material as the dress.

The Gas Range!

The Gas Range means comfort for the housewife; shorter kitchen hours for her, and a cleaner kitchen. It is a great mistake to think that cooking with gas is expensive.

Whenever a woman becomes used to gas for cooking, thoughts of a coal or wood stove fill her with gloom. A gas range is so much easier to operate, so efficient for all kinds of cooking, and so much cleaner, that the idea of going back to the old style methods is decidedly unpleasant. Yet in winter many housewives think they must use a coal or wood stove, because there is no other way of heating the kitchen. THERE IS ANOTHER WAY AND IT IS FAR BETTER THAN THE OLD. ## Out of the Trenches For A Rest.

PTE. SMITH WRITES.
Mr. and Mrs. M. Smith, of Signal Hill Road, are in receipt of two letters from their son Private Patrick, of "Ours," who has two brothers at present fighting with His Majesty's Forces, Michael, of the Durham Light Infantry, and James, his young brother, a Naval Reservist at present on board H.M.S. "Paddy" states that he is out of the trenches for a rest and "is in a nice little village clear of shell fire and with no whizzbangs to wake you up at night." He concludes with the following lines of poetry:
"When this awful war is over
I'll come home to you again,
With the help of Him that's ruler
Of all nations and all men."
"Now, mother, dear, these words I'll write
To tell you what is true,
That when I am into the fight
I will remember you."
"Remember me to all at home
And tell them not to fret,
For we are still out fighting,
And will beat the Germans yet."
"Now mother, dear, its getting dark,
And I must finish up
With these few lines I'm writing,
"I'll close with best of luck."

No Eggs, Milk or Butter

The following recipe shows how an appetizing, wholesome cake can be made without expensive ingredients.

EGGLESS, MILKLESS, BUTTERLESS CAKE
1 cup brown sugar 1 teaspoon nutmeg
1 1/4 cups water 1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup seeded raisins 1/2 teaspoon salt
2 ounces citron 2 cups flour

Consider These Facts.

Chicago Tribune: Consider the facts: It can be fairly said that destroyer flotilla went abroad improperly clothed; that we found the Navy could not go to sea because it did not have trained men to man the small guns. The Navy was not only short of men, but had no training camps to put them in when enlisted, and in a war which began in early April, has not got them now in mid-June. In mid-June the nation has not been able to mobilize its national guard because it has no place to put it. It has not yet selected camps for its conscript army. The regular army has not been able in two months to recruit to war strength. All we have been able to do is to get some officers' training camps started, and we are so short of instructors that we not only have trouble in training the new men but in maintaining ordinary discipline. Of modern equipment we have none and have small prospects of getting it much under a year. The moral—plain for any one who will give the facts a moment's consideration—is that it is impossible to prepare for war after war has come. At present, so far from helping our Allies, we are entirely dependent upon them for our defence.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT.—The Presentation Nuns wish to express their deepest gratitude to Mrs. Dr. Mitchell, officers and Ladies of the Association, also to their many kind friends and benefactors who so generously contributed to making the Garden Party, in aid of the Building Fund, such a success.
The German hosts are slowly losing, retreating inch by inch; positions of their careful choosing, and which they thought a cinch, have from their warriors been wrested, by allied sword and gun; by Haig P o p Hindenberg's been bested, he'll soon be on the run. Yet Kaiser Bill is busy spinning, when'er he has the chance, tall yarns of how his men are winning, among the hills of France. The more the kaiser's men are beaten, the more he waves his hat. "Just watch our moosey retreatin'!" he yells; "get wise to that! Such strategy's beyond all praising, the foe it must confound; by strokes of genius amazing, we've lost ten miles of ground!" How long will patient Germans the kaiser's fairy tale, while they strive on, with stomachs hollow, to raise for Bill more kale? Upon his word they have been leaning, and never found it right. He told them that his submarining would shortly end the fight. He told them Hindenberg would quickly back Britain off the scene; he told them fibs so thin and sickly they'd fool no horse marine. With Bill defeat's a thing of glory, and soup becomes champagne; how long will Germans stand his story, and still be counted sane?

War News.

Messages Received Previous to 9 A. M.

CONFIRMED.

PETROGRAD, July 12.

The official announcement that Kaluzs was made to-day, coupled with the statement that the occupation was effected after a sanguinary battle.

A RUMOUR.

AMSTERDAM, July 12.

A rumour has reached Holland that the entire German Government will resign with the Imperial Chancellor Von Bethmann Hollweg, the main committee of the Reichstag having refused to vote the war credit unless the Government declares its policy regarding peace and reform which the Government declined to do. An imperial proclamation is considered imminent. The Vossische Zeitung and Lokal Anzeiger, both of Berlin, agree that the Chancellor resigned owing to a letter from the Centre Clerical Party, declaring that the conclusion of peace would be rendered more difficult if he remained office.

A telegram from Berlin to-day says it was the intervention of the Crown Prince that caused the Chancellor to resign.

THE PLenary SESSION.

LONDON, June 12.

The plenary session of the Reichstag which was to have opened early in the week will sit on Friday. The Exchange Telegraph Co.'s Copenhagen correspondent cables the report that a great political debate will be begun on Saturday, and that the liberal peace formula declaring Germany is fighting a defensive war, is expected to command a large majority.

AIR RAIDS.

LONDON, July 12.

British naval air planes last night carried out raids on military objects in and near five towns in Flanders, says a statement to-night by the Admiralty. Fires and explosions were caused by several tons of bombs, dropped by the raiders. The statement reads: Bombing raids were carried out last night by naval machines on Varsenaar, St. Denis, Westrem, Ghillebe and Ostend. Railway lines, electric power station, and siding at Zarron were attacked by gun fire. Bombs were also dropped on a train near St. Denis, Western. Fire was caused by the bombs dropped near Ostend power station, and a heavy explosion also was caused at Varsenaar railway dump, followed by an intense conflagration which was still burning a half hour later. Several tons of bombs were dropped. All our machines returned safely.

INDIGNATION IN SWEDEN.

STOCKHOLM, July 12.

General resentment and indignation have been aroused in Sweden by the news in a despatch from Washington giving what is termed "an official report to the Government on Sweden's exports and imports." The report for which the authority is not named declares in brief that Sweden exported to Germany great quantities of materials for making munitions, including especially iron ore, ferro-sulphur, zinc and wood pulp and imported iron ore from America to replace the surplus exported. Even the newspapers most friendly to America join in the chorus of indignation and condemnation of those charges. The papers call attention to America's attitude regarding export and arraign what they term the Government's inconsistency. They declare that America repeatedly protested to England against precisely the same policy which Washington threatens now to adopt against Sweden.

DECISION NOT YET REACHED.

AMSTERDAM, July 12.

A Berlin despatch says the Reichstag inter-party committee concluded its deliberations with regard to the text of the joint resolution on the question of peace which is to be moved in the Reichstag. The National Liberal members of the committee requested that their party be given an opportunity to come to a decision regarding the resolution, but this decision has not yet been reached.

PATRICK O'BRIEN DEAD.

DUBLIN, July 12.

Patrick O'Brien, who has represented Kilkenny in the Commons since 1895, died in a private hospital here to-day. He was a Nationalist and whip to the Irish party.

AUSTEN CHAMBERLAIN RESIGNS.

LONDON, July 12.

J. Austin Chamberlain, Secretary for India has resigned. He resigned as a result of the revelations of the Commission which recently reported after the investigation of the first British Mesopotamian expedition. Chamberlain was one of the group of Civil and Military officials on which fell the most scathing criticism. The report found the India office in London was responsible for the policy pursued although the report attached less blame to Chamberlain's part in the enterprise than to that of others concerned. It was announced yesterday that all the officers involved had ceased to exercise any function in connection with the Government and that a judicial enquiry into their conduct would be made.

DISCUSSING WAR AIMS.

LONDON, July 12.

Lord Robert Cecil, Under Secretary for Foreign Affairs, announced in the House of Commons this afternoon that the British Government had informed the Russian Government of its willingness to enter into a discussion looking to possible revision of the war aims of the Allies. The British Government, he said, was in consultation with the Allied Powers as to the general form in which the discussion could most conveniently take place.

PEKING SURROUNDED.

LONDON, July 12.

Peking is surrounded with 60,000 Republican troops with 70 heavy guns says an Exchange Telegraph despatch from Tien Tsin, under yesterday's date. This force renders escape from the capital of General Chang Hsun, the Imperialist leader, impossible. Chang's soldiers are reported to be entrenching themselves in the Imperial city. Mediators apparently have been unable to arrange terms between the Republicans and Imperialists up to the time the despatch was filed.

TUG SUNK.

LONDON, July 12.

An announcement issued to-night by the British Admiralty says that in the course of the attack on enemy positions on Gallipoli Peninsula, a naval airplane sank a tug lying off Chanak.

ACTIVITY IN THE AIR.

LONDON, July 12.

An official statement from the British headquarters in France, issued to-night, reads: A hostile raiding party was driven off early this morning west of Queant, southeast of Arras, leaving some prisoners in our hands. There was great activity in the air yesterday. A large number of bombs were dropped during the night on enemy airfields and ammunition dumps. During the day other successful raids were carried out by our airplanes. In the course of our air fighting, four German airplanes were brought down and six were driven down out of control. Three of ours are missing.

SOLD TO ENGLAND.

MELBOURNE, July 12.

The new Australian wool clip has been sold to the British Government on the same terms as last year.

DEBATE COMMENCED.

LONDON, July 12.

Both Houses of Parliament commenced the debate to-day on the report of the Commission which so severely criticized the alleged mismanagement of the Mesopotamia report.

Everyday Etiquette. "Will you kindly tell me what is correct in writing a letter to a firm of two women, as the Misses Smith?" asked John. "Should one say, 'Dear Madams'?" "No, one doesn't write 'Dear Madams'." One should use the French Mesdames. That, however, is incorrect if you are addressing unmarried ladies. The French Mademoiselle, or as it is usually written Mlle., is proper. The plural is Mesdemoiselles, written Mlles." said his father.

Fads and Fashions. Ticking, the very same that you cover your pillows with, is used for a fashionable sports skirt. Enrich your frock of gray with steel beads, a touch of blue velvet and a bunch of pink flowers. A tea gown made of flesh pink silk crepe above and lavender blue below is very charming. Many of the new hats are also fitting with the brims turning up all around. They conceal the crown entirely. A girle of beads is fashionable to wear with thin frocks, and if there is a necklace to match the wearer needs no other jewelry.

At the Crescent. The Crescent Picture Palace presents a big variety programme to-day featuring all the leading stars in Fildom. Margaret Courtail in "The Lurking Peril," an episode of the "Ventures of Marguerite." Mary Pickford in "So Near and Yet so Far." Alice Lake and Edward Ellis in "Levy's Seven Daughters." The Biograph leading players in "Threads of Destiny," and a great issue of the "Selig Tribune." Madame Timmons sings the popular favourite: "There's a long, long trail." This is one of the Crescent's best week-end shows, don't fail to see it.

Women with sensitive skins often cannot go out in inclement weather. If your skin is delicate, it need not keep you from going out if you will give it reasonably good care. A coat of good skin-fool cream, well rubbed in and dusted over with rice talcum powder should be applied before leaving the house.

It will prevent the wind from drying and chapping it too severely. It is quite fatal, too, to bathe the skin immediately before or soon after exposing it, for this takes the oil from the skin and causes it to chap.

On coming inside it is best to rub a massage cream on the face, and after allowing it to remain on long enough to soften the skin surface, wipe it off with a soft muslin.

Do not leave powder on the face all night. It will ruin the most beautiful skin eventually, and its effect is nothing short of disastrous. Powder is usually put on over a coating of cold cream to make it stick. This paste, left on all night, clogs all the pores. The skin habituated to this treatment is pasty, sallow and without life, usually the pores are enlarged from the deposits of powder.

It seems quite simple to slip into bed at once when you are tired and it is hard to take the time and energy to give your face a good cleaning. But really, it is worth the effort. Ten minutes spent in washing out all vestige of cosmetics will keep your skin lovely.

The nightly cleaning should be most thorough. If properly done, all that will be necessary in the morning will be a cold sponge. All dust and dirt of the day has settled on the face, besides the cold cream and powder, and it needs a good scrubbing to get it off.

Pansy Gives in aid of Orphanage.

The Hon. Secretary of the Church of England Orphanage gratefully acknowledges the contribution of $150.00 from the Pansy League, towards the fitting up of the new Orphanage. This handsome donation is the result of the recent Pansy Day held by little Miss Diana and Daphne Davidson, as explained in the following letter from the estimable Pansy to a Scotch Terrier of her acquaintance: "The Nursery, Govt. House. "Dear Humphrey and my dear daughter Frills, I am enclosing a nice little present for your Orphanage. It will help to make it more cosy for the orphans, and I hope to send more shortly. I feel sure my little friends will come again and help me sell pansies. We had a jolly birthday party, and (please do not think me greedy), I had three birthday cakes! My little mistress saw them made. So did I. One went to our Orphanage, one to the Roseley troupe, and the third we all enjoyed here, after our hard day's work. Here is the account of our earnings. Your loving PANSY."

Placentia Notes.

Things are humming just now in Ye Ancient Capital; the fishermen are doing well; boats are arriving from Cape St. Mary's with very good catches. The Wyse brothers brought in a load and are now ready to proceed again to the fishing grounds where they had left their traps. Those who are fortunate enough to possess motor boats have done exceedingly well, some having landed near about 100 qts. for three men, and the dorries along the shore to Pt. Verde have also secured nice catches. The firm of G. C. Fearn & Son is giving employment to a large number of men. The s.s. Beverley is here undergoing extensive repairs. Work on the new vessel now building is in full swing. Three cargoes of coal have just been landed, consequently it is impossible to find an idle man here. The Gorton Pew Co. are buying fish having taken Messrs. Murphys store and wharf on the Jersey Side for that purpose. Mr. Alexander Collins having purchased all the land known as Garrison Point and repaired the large store thereon is now building a wharf which is now nearing completion, when this is finished he will have one of the finest business establishments in this vicinity. I trust the writer of the article appearing in the Daily News of the 9th inst., over the non de plume of "Garrison Point," is not offended because the owner of the property known as Garrison Point did not consult him before commencing to build a wharf there. Evidently by his effusion in the Daily News he thinks he should have been consulted, and because he was not came to the conclusion that the thing was too secret to be wholesome. Poor chap, another of the mare's nests he seems so proficient in discovering. CORRESPONDENT.

McMurdo's Store News

FRIDAY, July 13, 1917. Have you seen these cute little cakes of soap "Visitors Tablets." They are quite suitable for the purpose indicated—as the soap is of excellent quality and well dried so that it will not waste. And it is gratefully and pleasantly perfumed. Three tablets for 10 cents. Widow Gay's All Healing Ointment has a local reputation in Maine especially among fishermen, and there is no reason why it should not be largely used here, when the conditions are somewhat similar. It is said to be the best thing going for fishermen's sore hands. Price 25c.

Obituary.

It is with the deepest regret that we record the death of Mr. Mary B. Curtis, of St. Joseph's. On June 23rd, after a few months' illness, she passed quietly away. She had only reached the prime of life, being in her 39th year, and her early death brings a great loss to her family, as she leaves a husband and three children who will sadly miss a wife's and a mother's care. To these and to her other relatives, the O'Rourke's of Holyrood, C.B., we extend our sincerest sympathy.—Com.
