Mexican Capital is Rejoiced

The Signing of Peace Brings Gratification to the Business Men of the Republic.

Mexico, May 22—The signing of a peace agreement by the Mexican government and the rebel peace commissioners at Juarez was received in the Mexican capital today with a remarkable absence of demonstration. The feeling here was that while peace had been generally accepted as a fact ever since President Diaz fixed the date of his retirement, the dilatory proceedings of the last few days were a cause of apprehension lest the peace program receive a setback and consequently to the general public the signing of the agreement last night came as a surprise. Business men at the capital showed relief at the conclusion of the negotiations, while they see a long term of business depression.

It is rumored that President Diaz will present his resignation to the cabinet today, but it is generally believed that the date of his retirement will be May 24th.

No effort is made now to disguise the fact that President Diaz will leave the country at an early date. It is expected that he will spend several months visiting Europe and it is reported that a passage has already been arranged for him on one of the boats of the French steamship line.

MINARD'S LINIMENT CO., Ltd. Yarmouth, N. S.

Gentlemen,—In January last, Francis Leclaire, one of the men employed by me, working in the lumber woods had a tree fall on him, crushing him fearfully. He was, when found, placed on a sled and taken home, where grave fears were entertained for his recovery, his hip being badly bruised and his body turned black from his ribs to his feet. We used MINARD'S LINIMENT on him, and he was cured in a few days. He is now able to do his work.

FLY CATECHISM.

It is not easy to keep delicacy in a discussion of the fly. The health authorities who attack it do not waste much time in effort to do so. The nature and habits of the pest make it next to impossible to say what it is and does without the use of plain English. The authorities are giving the people a catechism. The following is taken from a "Fly Catechism" distributed to the children in North Carolina schools: "Where is the fly born? In filth. "Where does the fly live? In filth. "Where does he go? In to the kitchen and ironing room. He walks on to the bread, fruit and vegetables; he wipes his feet on the butter and bathes in the buttermilk. "Does the fly visit the patient sick with consumption, typhoid fever and cholera infantum? He does, and may call on you next. "What diseases does the fly carry? He carries typhoid fever, tuberculosis and summer complaint. How? On his wings and hairy feet. What is his correct name? Typhoid fly. "The 'catechism' is written for children, but the adult mind need not be offended by its simplicity.

WOMAN'S FAMOUS DISCOVERY.

Madame Curie, the famous chemist, and widow of M. Curie, with whom she was the joint discoverer of radium, has, in collaboration with M. Debiere, just succeeded in obtaining pure radium. What is commonly called radium has never before been isolated. Madame Curie and M. Debiere obtained the radium by electrolyzing common radium and amalgam, which was then transferred to an iron disk placed in a quartz tube in which a vacuum had been created. The distillation was then made in an atmosphere of hydrogen, which had been purified by a special treatment, as ordinary hydrogen affects the metal. At about seven hundred degrees the distillation was finished, no mercury remained, and instead the discoverers found a layer of brilliant white metal, adheres fast to iron, scorches paper, decomposes water, and changes its character very rapidly when exposed to the air. Madame Curie hastened to place the speck of radium thus obtained in a glass vacuum tube, safe from the influence of the atmosphere. The report of the discovery was presented to the Academy of Sciences.

MR. WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN COMMENDS THE CANADIAN GOVERNMENT ANNUITIES SCHEME.

The earnest tribute paid to the Canadian Government Annuities system by Mr. William Jennings Bryan during his address to the citizens of Galt on Friday last should do much to determine the question for those who have not yet taken advantage of the system, the opinion coming, as it does, from one who has made the social problem a life study. He is reported to have said: "I have been trying for years to figure out a similar scheme for the benefit of the citizens of the United States, and I cannot understand why every civilized country does not follow the lead of Canada and encourage the people to put something by for the day when they will be too old to work. This is true co-operative Government," he added. While other countries have established pension schemes, which are but extensions of Poor Law Relief, the result of which is to pauperize, and not to stimulate thrift, the Canadian Government has, by its Annuities Act, inaugurated a scheme whereby thrift is promoted, and the people are provided with facilities which will enable them to help themselves, and at the same time preserve their self-respect and dignity.

Launch First Naval Airship

Great Britain Has New Craft at Anchor.

Barrow-in-Furness, England, May 22—Great Britain's first naval airship, the construction of which has been surrounded by much secrecy, was successfully launched here today, and is now anchored behind a wind shield erected at the harbor. It is christened the Mayfly.

The airship which is five hundred and two feet in length is of the rigid type, with a blunt nose tapering to a pointed stern. A feature of the construction is the provision for two separate gondolas for the engines.

The airship is specially designed for naval purposes and can be moored on the water. The watertight covering of the upper half of the dirigible which is forty-eight feet in diameter consists of silk treated with a special waterproof design over which illuminium dust has been sprinkled. The lower part of the bag is of yellow silk, treated with the same waterproofing material, but without the illuminium. The frame work contains eighteen gas bags, filled with hydrogen.

Miss Lucy M. Montgomery, authoress of "Anne of Green Gables," and formerly of the Echo staff, was visiting recently in Boston, and the Boston Herald man quizzed her as to whether she would like to live in the baked beans belt. Here is Miss Montgomery's answer, which has a flavor very grateful at the present time: "I must answer 'No.' I have enjoyed my sojourn among you most heartily, but noble as your land is, it is not my land; friendly and delightful as your people are, they are not 'mine own people'; beautiful as your starry banner is, it is not my old flag that has 'braved a thousand years the battle and the breeze.' Only in the shadow of that old flag could I wish to make my home."

CURED BY A NATURAL HEALER

For near two years Mrs. Schofield, of Karolale, N.S., had been taking treatment from a regular M. D. for a leg ulcer. It steadily grew worse. I mailed her $2.00 worth of EARTH INE. After a few weeks she wrote me she was cured, and is very thankful for what I did for her with so little cost.

Some of my customers are not willing to allow that a Quack Doctor cured them. However, some of the best natural healers we know of have no license, they are called Quacks and must not charge for their service. Is it best to starve out all natural healers and have all drug doctors?

A PROPHECY.

(Victor Hugo in 1849.)

A day will come when a cannon ball will be exhibited in public museums, just as an instrument of torture is now, and people will be amazed that such a thing could ever have been. A day will come when these two immense groups, the United States of America and the United States of Europe, will be extending the hand of fellowship across the ocean, exchanging their produce, their industries, their arts, their genius, clearing the earth, peopling the desert, improving creation under the eye of the Creator, and uniting, for the good of all, these two irritable and infinite powers, the fraternity of men and the power of God.

When He Took "Fruit-a-tives"

SHANLY, ONT., Sept. 23rd, 1910. "You certainly have the greatest discovered Headache Cure in the world. Before 'Fruit-a-tives' came before the public, I suffered tortures from Headaches caused by Stomach Disorders.

"One of your travellers called on me when I had one of my raging headaches and had my head almost raw from external applications.

"I hated to see any person coming into the store (much less a commercial traveller) and I told him very curtly that I had a headache but he insisted on my trying 'Fruit-a-tives'.

"I did so, with what I would call amazing results. They completely cured me and since then (nearly six years ago) it is only necessary for me to take one occasionally to preserve me in my present good health. I was 55 years old yesterday and have been a general store keeper at the above address for twenty-five years."

CONFERENCE IS INAUGURATED

King and Queen Receive Imperial Congress Delegates.

London, May 22—The imperial conference was formally inaugurated by a luncheon at Buckingham palace this afternoon at which King George and Queen Mary entertained the visiting colonial premiers and their wives and daughters. Most of the members of royalty who are now in London, were present at the luncheon as were Premier Asquith and Mrs. Asquith, and the officials of the colonial office.

King George, who is intensely interested in colonial affairs, and who is personally intimate with them through his visits to the colonies, was markedly attentive to the visiting statesmen.

The conference will open tomorrow at the foreign office, when Premier Asquith will outline in his address the government's program.

PROVE PSYCHINE

(PRONOUNCED SI-KEEN)

With a 50c. bottle free from your Druggist

It's not so long ago that the doctors bled a man to make him strong.

"Stuff a bold and starve a fever" is miles behind our to-day's knowledge of curative science, yet our fathers had it preached to them time and again.

You may not know it, but to-day there are just as ineffective methods of cure being preached and practised.

All because most people do not know the real cause of disease.

There are two kinds of corpuscles in the blood—red and white.

The red corpuscles contain nutrition, the white destroy disease germs.

If for any cause the white corpuscles become depleted and are not sufficiently strong to destroy the germs of disease, then disease controls the body.

That's the cause of disease.

Years ago certain herbs were found to cure disease.

These herbs are contained in Psychine—they're responsible for the great results obtained from Psychine a third of a century ago.

They're responsible for the hundreds of thousands that Psychine has cured since that time.

It's because of these herbs that we have received hundreds of thousands of testimonials attesting to wonderful cures that Psychine has made.

And it's because of these very same herbs that we will buy within the next twelve months hundreds of thousands of 50-cent bottles of Psychine and give them away free to whomsoever sends us the coupon in this announcement.

Now if you wish to relieve or prevent any of the disorders in this list send in that coupon:

UNIQUE SCHEME FOR SAVING

Here is a story which Secretary of War Dickson, who is from the south and a student of the negro, tells of how a colored man planned to save money when his brother died.

The darkey went to the station agent in his little town, which was about fifty miles from Memphis (Tenn.) and asked solemnly: "Boss, how much is it to fetch a corpse from hyuah to Memphis?"

"Well, boss, how much is it to fetch a corpse on a round trip from hyuah to Memphis?"

"This information was also given, but the agent added: 'I never heard of carrying a corpse on a round trip.'"

"Well, boss, you see it's dis way," explained the darkey. "Dis hyuah corpse is my brudder, an' we got a lot ob kin folks up in Memphis. All dem kin folks would come down hyuah to look at the corpse an' dey would jes' eat me outen house an' home. I thought I'd save money by fetchin' dis corpse up dar in lettin' em take a look at him. Den I could bring him back and bury him quiet an' peaceful."

A VETERAN'S YARN.

The veterans were recalling war scenes. One story did tread upon another's heels, so fast they followed, and imagination increased with each recital. Finally came the turn of Old Uncle Dell, former private in all Illinois regiment.

"We was all lined up ready to begin the Battle of the Wilderness," he said, "when old Grant came riding down the line to my regiment and called out: 'Is Lieut. Dell, of Illinois, here?'"

"I happened to be back in the rear, superintendin' bringin' up some amm'nition, and the colonel told him I would soon be back. Grant rode away an' came back a few minutes later.

"Is Lieut. Dell here yet?" he inquired. They told him no, an' he rode away with his brow kind of clouded.

"The third time he came a-tearin' down the line, staff rattlin' along behind, and called out, 'Is Lieut. Dell, of Illinois, here?'"

"Here, general," I says; and he whirled around and yelled, 'Let the batt's begin.'"

SCARCELY CREDIBLE.

The tramp looked shrewdly at Miss Sparhawk, and she returned his gaze with equal shrewdness, but her expression did not soften in the least.

"You see, it's like this, ma'am," said the tramp, humbly, lowering his eyes until they rested on Miss Sparhawk's congress shoes, neatly showing below her short skirt. "Six months ago I had a little home of my own, but I made an unfortunate marriage. My wife's temper was such that kept me in hot water all the time."

AN UNNATURAL MOTHER

The wife of a literary man of the Indiana school, who had taken up chicken raising as a side issue, was telling of the poor success she had with a brood of eleven chickens. "They seemed to be doing all right for a few days," she said, "and then, one after another, they all died in the coop."

HER SCORE.

"It is very detrimental to the conversation if you play bridge while talking. A gentleman once entered a room and walked up to a lady who was deeply engrossed in correcting her score. 'How d'ye do, Mrs. So-and-So?' he exclaimed. 'I have just met your children with the nurse. By the way, how many have you got?'"

The lady looked up and replied: "Sixteen above and twenty-four below."

Cotton Combines and Reciprocity

"At Windsor, N.S., the people are making a loud protest because a cotton mill has been closed. In this they are very unreasonable. Surely, if we are going to have reciprocity we must not complain of a trifle such as the shutting down of the factories in which so many of our people are employed."—Toronto Mail and Empire.

As a matter of pure national economy let us consider what high protection of the cotton industry, with municipal exemption from taxes and other forms of public support, has done for us. Let us take up a Canadian Year Book of recent date. We will find that in 1891 there were in Canada twenty-three cotton goods factories, employing 8,535 wage earners, and producing an output of $8,741,724. In 1906 there were twenty factories, 10,214 employees, and an output of $14,223,358. Mark the small increase in the number of employees as compared with the increase in the value of the output.

In 1906 the total wages of the cotton workers were $3,153,895—an average of $310 a year. In the same year the imports into Canada of manufactured cotton goods amounted to $8,350,631, on which a duty of $2,015,000 was paid. Assuming that the wholesale price of the home-made article was no less than the article imported—a reasonable assumption in view of the fact that retail prices were the same—Canadian consumers paid for their protection to the cotton industry more than $5,500,000 of which only $2,016,000, or the duty collected on imports, went into the government treasury. The balance went into the pockets of the manufacturers. That is to say, the Canadian consumers paid over $5,500,000 more for their cotton goods than if they had had reciprocity in cotton and had been able to buy their cotton goods in the open market of the world. Or to put it in another way, the Canadian consumer, in addition to his contribution to the government on cotton goods' account, was held up by the cotton manufacturer to the tune of $3,500,000 or more than the cotton manufacturers paid in wages to their employees.

The combines have grown so greedy that they have stultified production and defeated the two chief ends of protection—the keeping out of foreign goods and giving employment to home labor. If in 1906 the consumers of Canada had been permitted to buy their cotton goods on an open market, they could have paid the employees of the cotton industry, better wages to do nothing than the manufacturers paid them to make cotton goods, and still have been $2,000,000 to the good.

GRAFTING A CHEEK.

The final stage in the operation of making a new cheek for a patient at Guy's Hospital from the skin of his arm had been completed.

The patient had a large part of his right cheek and upper jaw cut away in the removal of a growth six years ago. A flap of skin was partly detached from the right arm and made to cover the sunken part of the cheek by stitching it to the side of the nose and mouth. To keep the skin flap, which drew its blood supply from its remaining attachment to the arm, in place, the arm had to be plastered over the head and fixed in a plaster cast in that position.

In the eighteen days since the skin flap was sewn to the side of the face enough new blood vessels have sprung up between it and the underlying tissues to render the blood supply from the arm vessels no longer necessary.

The last operation, therefore, consisted of removing the plaster cast, cutting the flap away from its remaining attachment to the arm and fitting it into position over the rest of the denuded area on the face. No stitches were needed, the antiseptic dressings applied and the new firm attachments to the nose holding the flap in position. The arm would also be treated antiseptically, the arm, somewhat stiff, but apparently none the worse for being fixed so long in such a cramped position, being laid comfortably at the patient's side.

In another eight days it is expected that the flap will have taken firm root, new cells springing up from the two opposed raw surfaces and knitting them into one. Little scar will be left to show that practically the whole of the right cheek is composed of skin tissues removed bodily from the right arm.

The Doctor's Question

Much Sickness Due to Bowel Disorders.

A doctor's first question when consulted by a patient is, "Are your bowels regular?" He knows that 98 per cent. of illness is attended with some bowel disorder, and that this condition, if removed gently and thoroughly before health can be restored.

Regular Orderlies are a positive, pleasant and safe remedy for constipation and bowel disorders in general. We are so certain of their curative value that we promise to return the purchaser's money in every case when they fail to produce entire satisfaction.

Regular Orderlies are eaten like candy, they act quietly and have a soothing, strengthening, healing influence on the entire intestinal tract. They do not purge, gripe, cause nausea, flatulence, excessive looseness, diarrhoea or other annoying effect. They are especially good for children, weak people, old folks, two sizes 25c and 50c. Sold only at our store—The Rexall Store, W. A. Warren.

MIRACLES NOT LAWLESS

Sir Oliver Lodge gives objectors to miracles a pretty hard jolt in a late talk. The objectors usually are much concerned for law and they are equally determined to regard miracles as a violation of nature's laws. But Sir Oliver says that miracles need be no more impossible, no more lawless than the interferences of a human being would seem to a colony of ants. The distinguished scientist then adds that "the Christian idea of God always have involved and always will involve, an element of the miraculous, a controlling of human destinies by higher and benevolent agencies."

Sir Oliver has been a scientist for forty years, and this is the conclusion, he says, to which his long studies and observations have brought him. In other words his study of matter has not so tangled him up with its laws and forms that he can see no more room for action on the part of any other force in the universe. The veteran scientist has seen so many things done with matter by the application of mental force that he can not escape the conclusion that the Supreme Mind also can do things when there is a reason for it. And he sees a reason for it when a higher and beneficent purpose is to be served. No doubt Sir Oliver would say that it would be a violation of reason to hold that after the Creator had made a universe he must lock himself up in it and stay there as helpless as the least and weakest of his creatures.

But there is nothing new in this view, except that it is one of the last words of science. The great Christian leaders, who discussed the subject at all, never have thought of miracles being performed simply to startle or astonish the natives. They always have coupled them with a supremely high purpose, with that beneficent and vast plan of human redemption which runs through the Bible.—The Advance.

STABLE MANNERS.

Kindly Treatment of Animals Pays. Keep Your Temper Sweet and Make More Profit.

1. A cow's return for kindness is profit; for abuse, loss.

2. You have no more right to abuse the cow than she has to kick you.

3. When you go to milk the cows with a club in one hand and a milk pail in the other, you'll come back with little in the pail.

4. You cannot get more butter fat in the milk by pounding the cow over the back with the milking stool.

5. If, after you kick the cow, she kicks you, thank her. It is simply a reminder that you have a bad habit, and, worse still, you are teaching the cow bad habits.

6. As a general rule, when you see a cow kick, make up your mind that someone kicked or struck her first.

7. When the owner passes behind his cow in the barn and the animals fly first to one side of the stall, then to the other, with a wild blue glint in their eyes, make up your mind that the poor animals think that he is only another species of dog.

8. When you see a man step in between his cows to milk them and roughly shove the animal over to the other side of the stall with the yell, "Get over, can't you," just watch the cow wind him one across the ear with her tail, and it serves him right.

MYSTERIOUS DREAMS.

Phantasms of the Night That Have Caused a Sensation.

The interest in the general election in the British Isles gave way to the sensation caused by the evidence given by Mr. Claude Sawyer in the Waratah case. Mr. John Dickinson, who conducted the Board of Trade inquiry into the mysterious disappearance of this liner between Durban and Cape Town last June, said at the close, "I heartily congratulate you, Mr. Sawyer, on being alive and being here to give evidence." Mr. Sawyer told that three or four days before the ill-fated vessel reached Durban, he had a dream, which was most unusual. "He had booked a first-class passage from Sydney to Cape Town by the Waratah, and he seems to have felt anxiously before leaving Australian waters. Three times he had a dreaming vision of a man in a peculiar dress, who was holding in his right hand a bloody sword. 'The second time it came, I thought, 'I will know it again'; and the third time I looked at it so intently that I could almost design it, sword and all, even now. Next day I mentioned the dream to a gentleman, and he said, 'It's warning.' Then I began to think why I should be warned, and I was anxious to leave the ship." He left it at Durban.

Perhaps the strangest story of a dream told by George Burrows in the opening pages of "The Bible in Spain." "I was bound for Lisbon. We passed Cape Finisterre, and, standing farther out to sea, speedily lost sight of land. On the morning of the 11th the sea was very rough, and a remarkable circumstance occurred. I was on the forecastle, discoursing with two of the sailors. One of them, who had but just left his hammock, said: 'I have had a strange dream, which I do not know like for, continued he, pointing to the mast, 'I dreamt that I fell into the sea from the cross-trees.' He was heard to say this by several of the crew besides myself.

A moment later the captain of the vessel, perceiving that the squall was increasing, ordered the top-sails to be taken in, whereupon this man, with several others, instantly ran aloft; the yard was in the act of being hauled down, when a sudden wind whirled it round with violence, and a man was struck down from the cross-trees into the sea, which was working like yeast below. In a short time he emerged. I saw his head on the crest of a billow, and instantly recognized in the unfortunate man the sailor who a few moments before had related his dream. I shall never forget the look of agony he cast whilst the steamer hurried past him. The poor fellow was a fine young man of about twenty-seven, the only son of a widowed mother. He was the best sailor on board, and was beloved by all who were acquainted with him."

May Knight Women.

In olden days they were not so chary of recognizing feminine services. The abbesses of great nunneries used to be "knighted" and even now there are a few "knighted" young women, such as the Hon. Mrs. Sumner, a countess in her own right by reason of being the Chanoinesse of a religious order.

At present in England there is something anomalous in the fact that a man takes all the titles, stars, and ribands, as well as place, power, and money, and allows the women folk to toil all their lives at inferior salaries and with no hope even of those ornamental rewards, such as coronets and orders, to which human nature is so persistently attached.

It has been whispered, though, that the two ladies who have been elected Mayors of English towns, will be knighted during this coronation year, precisely as their masculine counterparts will receive this honor at the hands of King George.

The idea should be persistently dwelt on, as the circulation of such a rumor may lead to the founding of some order—with a title attached—which can be bestowed on eminent women, whether married, single or widows.

Reprobate's Disturbed Slumber.

Dr. Armstrong Robinson, Dean of Westminster, who has been transferred to the Deanery of Wells, Somerset, a position which will not entail such a strain upon his health as life in the Metropolis, was the last canon appointed by the late Lord Salisbury, and the first dean to gain preferment under Mr. Balfour's regime as Prime Minister.

Dr. Robinson is a scholar of the first rank, and is an impressive preacher. He does not mince his words when he wishes to drive home a point, and beneath a somewhat austere appearance there lurks a refreshing capacity for humor.

One of his best stories is about an old reprobate who had decided to repent, and announced to everyone that whatever wrong he had done should be made right. So one of the villagers to whom he owed a big sum of money, went round to his cottage at midnight to demand it. "But what did you come at this hour for and wake me up? Why not wait until tomorrow?" asked the old sinner. "I came early," said the other, "to avoid the crush!"

Irish M.P.'s Cheap Election. With the exception of the returning officer fee Mr. J. McVeagh's election as Nationalist M.P. for South Down cost him nothing. At a meeting to celebrate his success, he told his supporters that they had achieved victory without expending a copper on the payment of agents, literature, postage, printing, or even on the issue of polling cards. They declined the offer of motor-cars and not a single elector was canvassed.

The Music Lovers. She—Did you enjoy the concert last night? He—No; I couldn't hear anything. She—Why not? He—Two ladies sat in front of me and chatted the whole evening about how much they loved music.

ELECTRIC BEANS

Electric Beans Are a Natural Remedy for Nerve, Stomach and Liver Disorders.

Once upon a time disease was thought to be due to direct influence of evil spirit and magic was invoked to cast it out. Science has taught us wisdom. The evil spirits still exist we call them "Disease Germs," and they must also be cast out. Once lodged in the stomach or intestines biliousness with its aches and pains, or in fact seventy-five per cent of the ills that affect the human race, is the result.

Electric Beans are the approved remedy for driving out disease germs. Their action is quick and thorough, they clear the intestines, rouse the torpid liver to new life, stimulate mucous membranes to healthy action and cleanse and invigorate the whole digestive tract. Be prepared for emergencies by always keeping a box in the home.

See our booklet of remarkable, true, testimonials. Test this remedy at our risk, if it is not satisfactory we will cheerfully refund the money paid for it.

Electric Beans can be had from the stores of S. N. Wear, W. A. Warren, Mrs. S. C. Turner, J. E. Lloyd & Son and C. L. Piggott or direct from us 50c. a box.

An introspective view of our town and its progress is given elsewhere in an interview with Mayor Harlow by the editor of the Middleton Outlook...

No one can truthfully state that Bridgetown is either "slow" or "dead" if they will review its progress in the last twenty years.

If all our citizens were to become embued with Mayor Harlow's faith and confidence we should see our town advancing with a rapid stride.

THE DANGER IN UNEQUIPPED MOTOR BOATS. The most serious danger confronts motor boat users. This style of craft is becoming more and more numerous in local waters.

FAMILY KILLED BY ELECTRIC RAILWAY CAR. Newark, Ohio, May 22-The family of D. W. THE FARMER'S GARDEN. The best acre of the farm should be devoted to garden purposes, but it is not every farmer who will allow this to be a necessity. Yet, if properly managed, it will yield the greatest profit, besides being of value for the intrinsic worth of the vegetables and fruits there grown.

Have you ever considered, that if in the course of events your family should be deprived of your earning power by death, all the thousand and one bills that you are NOW worried about paying, MUST STILL BE PAID! Are you willing that your widow or your old parents should be obliged to have the same worry and be obliged to get the same amount of money to pay the bills, even at the sacrifice of the home? We have eliminated all need for worry by a SPECIAL POLICY CONTRACT in THE EXCELSIOR LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY...

POLITICAL ADVERTISEMENT VOTE FOR THE OPPOSITION CANDIDATES.

N. H. PHINNEY. A. L. DAVIDSON.

The opposition candidates oppose the Murray government not because it is a Liberal government, but because during its twenty-nine years of office it has got out of touch with the people and legislates in the interests of the selfish few as against the interests of the many.

BETTER ROADS. They oppose the government's policy of taking the road money from the county councils and who practically expended it free of charge and placing it in the hands of an army of officials whose exorbitant charges must be paid before any money can reach the roads.

They also oppose the government's policy announced by Attorney-General McLean at St. Peter's of borrowing millions of dollars to build one permanent macadamized trunk road throughout the province, on the ground that the interest on such investment would exhaust the present road grant and leave the other roads of the province altogether unprovided for.

They favor the unifying of the road expenditures by placing all monies in the hands of the local authorities, the employment of section men to patrol the roads and keep them in repair, the supplying by the government of suitable road machinery and expert scientific supervision when required.

CHEAPER SCHOOL BOOKS. They oppose the present exorbitant prices of school books and frequent changes in the course of study in the interests of the school book monopoly. In both Ontario and New Brunswick new governments have been able to tremendously reduce the cost of school books. The opposition is pledged to make a similar reduction in Nova Scotia.

Here is an illustration of the manner in which Nova Scotia parents are imposed upon. In this province two books are required for the grammar course. The prices are the following: Lessons in English 30c. English grammar 30c.

In Ontario these two books are combined in one which sell at 10c. In this province four text books are prescribed in Arithmetic. Common school arithmetic, part 1 15c. Common school arithmetic, Part 2 15c. Common school arithmetic, Part 3 15c. Academic arithmetic 40c.

In Ontario all these books are combined in one, which sell at 10c. CONSERVATION OF THE PEOPLE'S GAME AND FISHING RIGHTS ON WILD LANDS. In 1906 the government, in deference to wishes of owners of large timber areas and the holders of fishing and game preserves passed the Petty Trespass Act to prevent the people from fishing and hunting on the wild lands of the province, but were obliged by the popular indignation which it aroused to repeal it in the same session. It has since been discovered by the lawyers employed by the friends of exclusive fishing and game privileges that this act was unnecessary. As the government by its original grants did not except the fishing and game rights as was done in other countries as the law stands today the owners of wild lands can keep the people off their holdings.

This is what Premier Murray says about it on page 261 of the debates for 1911. "Now it may be unpopular to own private fishing rights. No man will go further to condemn monopolistic rights in regard to fishing than I. I have very little sympathy with such, but I want it understood that UNDER THE LAW OF THIS PROVINCE, had or good, as it may be, this man had as good title to that fishing pool as any member of this legislature to his own home. Acting upon this view wealthy sportsmen are rapidly buying up preserves and the Davison Lumber Co. and other large concerns will allow no one to fish and game upon their lands without a written permit from the manager."

At the last session of the legislature Mr. Hall, opposition member for Queens, sought to restore these rights of the people by an act which while PROTECTING OWNERS FROM FIRE OR OTHER DAMAGES VESTED the right to fish on the wild lands absolutely in the people. There was no question of the power of the legislature to pass such a law, but every supporter of the government opposed the bill and it was killed. Mr. Daniels induced a delegation of lumbermen from this county to go to Halifax to oppose the bill in committee. Premier Murray in discussing the measure at page 262 of the debates said "I can see a measure of popularity in saying that every man should have equal fishing rights. It may mean a few votes here and there but surely we have not reached the stage when we shall violate the fundamental principles of British Justice simply to gain popularity."

The opposition candidates while holding that the trespasser on cultivated lands should be punished and the forests should be protected from fires, believe that the people should not be deprived of the enjoyment of rights enjoyed by them from the earliest times and that these privileges should be restored to them by legislation.

REDUCTION IN COURT AND PROBATE FEES. While the people when called upon to serve in the courts as witnesses, or jurymen are inadequately paid, other court fees are of a most excessive character, particularly oppressive are the costs now charged in the probate courts. The opposition stand for an increase in jurors' and witnesses' fees, relieving widows and orphans from the present exactions of the probate courts and a general reduction in all court costs.

GOVERNMENT LOANS TO FARMERS. The opposition favor the adoption of the New Zealand plan of the government borrowing money at low rates and through an independent commission relending it to the farmers at cost on mortgages security. This would encourage our young men to settle in Nova Scotia and tend to stop the deplorable exodus.

HONEST AND PROGRESSIVE GOVERNMENT. Every province in the Dominion with the exception of the Dominion with the exception of Nova Scotia has made the experiment of a new provincial government with the result that in all cases irregularities have been discovered and corrected, progressive legislation has been enacted and industrial development wonderfully accelerated. The Opposition candidates believe that Nova Scotia can only keep pace with the other provinces by following their example and disposing of its old worn out administration and replacing it by an honest and progressive government.

"Long holding of office has brought about its inevitable consequences: corruption and jobbery in every branch of the public service."-Hon. G. H. Murray. It is time for a change!

Obituary

MRS. MILLEDGE ARMSTRONG. Again has the silent messenger visited the community of Bear River and in the quiet hours of Wednesday morning, May 10th, called for Mittie S., beloved wife of Milledge Armstrong.

Sister Armstrong was the daughter of the late James B. and Letitia M. Spinney. She was born at Torbrook Mines, Annapolis county, May 29th, 1838, and was of a family of thirteen children, of whom three brothers and two sisters are living. They are Mrs. Sarah M. Whitman, who is now living with her son, Rev. B. L. Whitman, pastor of the First Baptist church, Seattle, Washington; Mrs. John Dolph, Washington, D.C.; Prof. Spinney, of Torbrook Mines; Arthur M., of Meadow Vale; and W. J. Spinney, on the old homestead.

Two years ago sister Armstrong had a little growth on the inside of her right cheek. She went to the V. G. Hospital, Halifax and was operated upon. It seemed to be a success, but after a time the cancer began to grow. Four operations were performed and everything was done that loving hands could do, but the dread monster had come for her life. When the doctor told her they had done all they could for her, she said, "then I might as well go home tomorrow, I believe you have done all you can. Now all I can say is God's will be done." She came home March 14th, and from that time the disease made rapid work until May 10th, when the Lord took her from her sufferings to himself. Our sister, early in life, cast her lot with the people of God, and was baptized by the Rev. Willard G. Parker, Nictaux, when twelve years of age. Though her life has not always been strewn with roses, she never lost her trust in the Saviour and though of a very retiring disposition, she was ever ready to give a reason of her hope with meekness and with fear. Her hand was open and ready to feed the hungry. She was loved by all who knew her.

She leaves to mourn her loss a loving husband and four children, William B., of Everett, Mass.; Milledge C., of Boston; Mrs. George Passamaon, of Tacoma; and Minnie, at home. We trust our loss is her eternal gain.

The interment took place at Nictaux cemetery. The funeral service was preached in the old home church of her girlhood, by the Rev. S. S. Poole, of Middleton. Text, John 14: 19. The words were full of comfort and consolation to the mourners.

In a letter to the Digby Courier, Mr. H. A. P. MR. JAMES CHUTE.

The death of James Chute took place at his home on May 13th after an illness of several months. Mr. Chute was well and favorably known as a successful agriculturist and brought up a large family of sons and daughters on the farm homestead, pleasantly situated in Lower Clarence at the foot of the Hampton Mountain. He married Miss Rebecca Marshall, Arthur Marshall and his widow and three sons, Judson, who resides on the homestead, Robert, also a farmer of Clarence, and Walter, of Clementsport, also six daughters, Mrs. J. P. Lawrence, of Somerville, Mrs. Henry Laidlaw, of Malden, Mass., Mrs. Frank Comstock, of Westford, Mass., Mrs. Ralph Berry, of Beverly, Mass., Mrs. Loring Hall, of Bridgetown and Miss Agnes Chute of Somerville.

The funeral took place on the 15th inst and many friends gathered to pay their last tribute of respect. Rev. N. A. McNeill pastor of the Baptist church officiating and the Baptist choir rendered appropriate music "Jesus Lover of my Soul" the favorite hymn of the deceased was sung. The pall-bearers were Wheelock Marshall, Arthur Marshall, George Chute and Lansdale Hall. The remains were laid to rest in the Bridgetown cemetery.

MRS. JOHN LE CAIN.

Died at Clementsport, May 19th, after a very brief illness, Rebecca Le Cain, in the sixty-seventh year of her age. Deceased was the daughter of Daniel and Rachael Hamm, of Waldec West, of 'Loyalist stock' and is survived by her husband, one brother, Coseph Hamm, of Clementsport, and two sisters, Mrs. Thomas Berry, of Waldec, and Mrs. Jas. Winchester, of Smiths Cove, having no children of her own. She will be remembered as with her husband in having charge of the County Home, Bridgetown from Nov. 1897 to Feb. 1899. Kind-hearted and cheerful, John D. Jones, wife, always responsive and helpful as a neighbor in time of sickness and trouble, she will be much missed in the community, where much sympathy is extended to the lone-hearted and sorrowing husband. It may well be said of her that "she looked to the ways of her household and did not eat the bread of idleness." She was a consistent member of the Baptist church at Clementsport for thirty-three years. She has gone to her reward.—COM.

NEW WAYS TO COOK RHUBARB.

Delicious Rhubarb Jam—This will repay you for the making. Take equal parts chopped rhubarb and best cane sugar. Heat the sugar with just enough water to keep it from burning. Pour it over the rhubarb and let stand for several hours, then pour off the syrup and boil until it thickens. Add the rhubarb, and to each pint of rhubarb allow two good cooking apples or three oranges. Cook gently until quite smooth.

Baked Rhubarb—One of the best ways to bring out the flavor, making a pretty sauce and requiring less sugar, is to cook it in the following manner: Take the young tender stalks only; don't peel them, but cut into inch lengths. Put them into a stone crock with at least one cup of sugar to two cups of cut rhubarb, using more sugar if you wish. Do not add any water. Cover and bake until the pieces are clear. A little lemon rind may be used to flavor. A few large seeded raisins cooked with the rhubarb gives a fine flavor and help to sweeten it. If the cooking cannot be done in the oven, set the crock into a pan of hot water on the top of the stove. A double boiler closely covered will answer, but the heavier ware is better. When the rhubarb is done and chilled, you may make a dainty whip by adding the beaten whites of two eggs and whipping very light. Heap up in little glasses and serve with a thick cream and nut sauce poured over it.

Rhubarb Pudding—Take two cups of flour, two tablespoons baking powder, half a teaspoon of salt, two tablespoons butter and half a cup of sweet milk. Work into a smooth dough. Roll out half an inch thick and fill the centre with light stalks of tender young rhubarb; sweeten well with sugar; fold the paste over the stalks, turning over the ends of the paste and pinching lightly in order to keep the juice in. Lay on a well-floured cloth and fold it, tying the ends with twine and leaving room for the dough to swell. Drop into a kettle of boiling water, and keep boiling constantly for one and a half hours. Serve with a sauce made of rhubarb juice thickened slightly with corn starch.

Rhubarb and Ginger Ice—Make a rich, sweet, thick sauce of chopped stalks of rhubarb. Use the tenderest stalks and do not peel them. Add plenty of sugar and when the sauce is done put through a coarse sieve. Flavor with syrup from preserved ginger; add to a cup of preserved ginger cut in shreds. Freeze quite stiff, add a meringue of two whites of one egg beaten with two tablespoons of powdered sugar. Mix thoroughly and repack. Let stand two hours to blend the two flavors, then serve.

Cream Rhubarb Pie—One cup of rhubarb chopped fine, one cup of sugar sprinkled through it, and the grated rind of a small lemon. In a cup place a tablespoon of cornstarch and moisten with a tablespoon of cold water, mix until smooth, then fill the cup up with boiling water; stir until mixed smooth; then pour over the rhubarb with the yolks of two well-beaten eggs. Bake in an under crust only, and when it is cool heap a meringue over it made with the whites of the eggs and half a cup of powdered sugar.

VEGETABLES AS OPIATES.

The health doctor of the Toronto Globe was asked if there was any form of opium or opiate that could be used by a victim of insomnia without the deadly effects of rest and sleep from their use without the least danger to yourself or others. The first in importance is lettuce. Eat it freely at supper time, using well-made French dressing. Next our good old friend the onion.

Onions are a kind of all-round good medicine, and every housewife is aware of this without exactly knowing the reason why. She knows that a whole onion eaten at bedtime will often by next morning break a severe cold. She also knows that onions make a good plaster to remove inflammation and hoarseness. If anyone would take an onion and mash it so as to secure all the juice in it he would have a most remarkable smelling substance that would quiet the most nervous person in a very short space of time. The strength of it inhaled for a few moments will dull the sense of smell and weaken the nerves until sleep is produced from sheer exhaustion. It all comes from one property possessed by the onion, and that is a form of opium.

To increase the beneficial effects of these clean, wholesome vegetables, practise the following every morning: Before rising and one hour before breakfast, drink a cup of boiling water as hot as can be sipped, after which remove the pillows and lie flat on the back. Gently knead the bowels, beginning at the groin, going up the right side, across the upper part of the abdomen, and down the left side, following thus the course of the colon. Continue this manipulation for two or three minutes, then inflate the lungs by taking a deep breath. While doing this gradually raise the arms above the head, clench the fists and while yet holding the breath raise the body to a sitting posture, then bend forward as far as possible, and drop back to first position. Now slowly expel the air from the lungs; then breathe rapidly and deeply six or eight times. Repeat the raising of the body, bending forward and the breathing, three times each morning. After faithfully going through the regime, the body is in a proper condition for the bath. This stimulates the solar plexus, and prepares you for a splendid day.

GIRLS AND MARRIAGE

If a girl marries with a false idea of the power of the marriage ceremony to solve all problems for her she is certain to blame the man she marries when her dreams fail to come true; she fancies they will come true with another man and proceeds to the divorce court to secure freedom to seek her ideal.

Oh girls, girls, girls, marriage is never a state of supreme bliss; it is just life with more responsibilities and fewer illusions than you had as a girl. It is worth while if you are willing to do your part of the world's work, and take your share of the world's suffering, and it carries rewards with it—if you earn them.

But men are human and have failings, none of them are perfect, and neither are you. Select as your husband the man with the best disposition, the virtues that most appeal to you and the faults with which you have the most patience and then try to understand him so the two of you may live and work together in harmony, but do not expect the marriage ceremony to transform him into a demi god or transport you into Paradise.—Cynthia Grey.

THE GIRL'S TRAINING.

This extract is worth reproduction: Every mother should teach her daughter just as she would desire some other mother's daughter taught that is to become the wife of her son. Give her, if you can, a knowledge of music, and other accomplishments within your reach, but with them a practical knowledge of housekeeping. Let her own hands knead the bread, make the butter, wash, iron and mend, make beds, and sweep, dress the children, prepare the breakfast, dinner and supper, and

PURIFIED HIS BLOOD

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills Healed Mr. Wilson's Sores

When the sewers of the body—bowels, kidneys and skin ducts—get clogged up, the blood quickly becomes impure and frequently sores break out over the body. The way to heal them, as Mr. Richard Wilson, who lives near London, Ont., found, is to purify the blood. He writes:

"For some time I had been in a low, depressed condition. My appetite left me and I soon began to suffer from indigestion. Quite a number of small sores and blotches formed all over my skin. I tried medicine for the blood and used many kinds of ointments, but without satisfactory results. What was wanted was a thorough cleansing of the blood, and I looked about in vain for some medicine that would accomplish this.

At last Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills were brought to my notice, and they are one of the most wonderful medicines I have ever known. My blood was purified in a very short time, sores healed up, my indigestion vanished. They always have a place in my home and are looked upon as the family remedy."

then you need not be ashamed to give her to the very best in the land. She is fitted for life; she will succeed; and if the future should find you alone in the world, her husband will gladly welcome you to a home which you taught your daughter to make for him, "the dearest spot on earth."

WHEN TO STOP.

The tired out woman who knows that she absolutely needs a little rest and who says: "I cannot afford to take it, because there are so many who need me," is really starving the very reason she cannot afford not to take it.

A week, a week-end, even a day, of stopping short, resting and recreating at the psychological moment, have staved off and prevented more breakdowns than weeks and months and years of vacations have ever cured.

Wise, indeed, the woman who has the wisdom to know when to stop and the foresight to do it.—Ruth Cameron.

COAT HANGER.

When away from home one very seldom thinks of taking a coat hanger along, but to prevent the coat from becoming creased and untidy looking by being thrown over the back of a chair, an emergency coat hanger may be readily made, says an exchange. Roll a newspaper tightly and tie it in the middle with a stout cord, forming a loop to attach it to a hook or nail. This is better than throwing the coat into the nearest place, and is contrived in a minute with the materials always at hand.

Moncton Bay Lost Right Eye

Would Not Cry Because He Was a Boy Scout.

(Saturday's Daily Transcript.)

The accidental discharge of a small pistol last evening in the hands of young Ernest Cole of this city resulted in the unfortunate lad losing sight of his right eye. The young fellow with three companions was out at the School Camp on the West Lane. They had with them a small rifle, pistol and cartridges. Young Cole was handling the pistol, when it was accidentally discharged, the bullet entering his right eye. He was taken to the hospital last evening, and this morning underwent an operation but it was found that he had lost the sight of the eye.

While the young fellow was coming home last evening after the accident walking along and holding a handkerchief to the injured eye, a gentleman met him and inquired what the matter was. The lad did not wish to tell at first, giving his reasons and bearing the pain with commendable fortitude.

"I won't cry," he said, "because I am a Boy Scout."

CARELESSNESS WITH FIRE.

(Toronto Globe.)

Many of the so-called "bush fires" are the result of inexcusable recklessness on the part of settlers, who start them to clear their land, and take chances on being able to prevent them from spreading. It is not practicable to rid the land of its forest growth and fit it for cultivation without burning much of the encumbering rubbish in the place where it accumulates; but the risk of widespread and devastating conflagration may be reduced to a minimum by careful choice of the time when the burning is to be done. No fire should be started after a spell of dry weather, or in any kind of weather when there is a high wind.

In this matter taral vigilance is the price of safety, and it would pay the people of a locality to so arrange the starting of bush fires as to have co-operative help within easy reach in case of general danger. Probably ninety out of every hundred fires of this sort might have been prevented without adding materially to the cost of clearing the land. Frequently the loss of valuable timber from settlers' fires is quite appalling.

STOP SINNING.

Our active agents tell of astonishing cures made with REED'S EARTHINE REMEDIES. However, they were patients and perseverers, we had some who refuse to give up doing that which has been the cause of their ailment.

In some cases our treatment had to be followed for three months or more, by patience and perseverance, they were cured after long years of suffering. Write for circulars.

DAIRY HINTS.

High Priced Dairy Products Cannot be Produced With Dirty Vessels.

Clean and well-cared-for milk vessels have much to do with the production of pure and wholesome dairy products. Dirty and rusty pails, cans etc., man dirty milk and dirty products.

Under circumstances as they exist on many farms it is better to use none but tin vessels for the holding of milk. The chief objection to the use of wooden pails is that they are difficult to keep clean. The pores in the wood readily absorb portions of the milk and only severe treatment in the way of scalding can keep the pails clean. The wooden milk pail will remain sweet if it is regularly washed and saturated with boiling water after each milking, but on farms this is not done because of the time required. It is better, therefore to depend upon tin vessels that are free from seams. Even with the best of tin vessels it is difficult to keep them free from stains and rough spots, and especially should the seams be flowed full of solder.

Vessels used to hold milk should be used for no other purpose. Keep all sour or tainted milk out of them. This infects the utensils so badly that a great deal of washing is required to make them clean again.

TORONTO CLERGYMAN ON "NE TEMERE."

Toronto, May 18—Rev. Dr. Hencks, in dealing with the "Ne Temere" decree, said, in Bond street Congregational church, the father of a family, who through listening to a priest breaks up his home and puts his wife on the street and sends his daughters on the street, should be treated as a common criminal, and should be punished together with the priest who has been the means of breaking up the home.

SHOWING THE PRINCE

KAISER'S ELDEST SON WAS ENTERTAINED IN INDIA.

Nizam of Hyderabad Held a Great Review in the City of Swords When Crown Prince Handled a Native Cavalry Brigade—Has Learned the Fighting Capacity of the Eastern Empire.

During his recent visit to India the German Crown Prince reviewed the native troops of the Nizam of Hyderabad, and handled a cavalry brigade himself. The gorgeous pageantry of our native troops is thus described editorially by The London Telegraph: A brilliant episode of the German Crown Prince's tour in India has been the visit to the City of the Swords. At Hyderabad, in the centre of the most important of the feudatory states, the Kaiser's heir reviewed the native troops, himself handled a cavalry brigade, and he expressed his pleasure at the efficiency of the manoeuvres. The whole incident was of extraordinary interest.

Far and wide through the Near East and Asia, since the achievements of 1870, has run the fame of German prowess, and every representative of that empire is regarded with more consideration in consequence. It is a lesson for ourselves. Oriental men in the twentieth century, as of old, still worship excellence in the wielding of arms and armies, and our own dominion in the vast Peninsula would soon crumble if it were not for the obvious firmness of its military foundations. A distinguished soldier used to say that we held India "by the swagger of Tommy Atkins," whose obvious courage and self-confidence were, and are, more of an Imperial asset than is usually realized. That truth is not so all-important as it was.

No extent of force would maintain us in India without the progressive wisdom of our administration. Yet it is still essential to remember that throughout the east power is still the vital guarantee of authority. This being so, we may imagine all the stir that has belonged to the crown prince's experiences in a native state of exceptionally warlike traditions. In their guest and visitor the Nizam and his subjects saw the heir of the greatest war-lord in the world. We have no doubt that when the crown prince himself led the Nizam's squadrons, their evolutions excited evidences of enthusiasm to which the immobile East rarely gives way. Hyderabad offered a famous setting for such a scene.

To begin with, it is the capital of the second most important Mohammedan state in the world. The Nizam is a very proud monarch. He is something between a feudatory and an ally. In the heart of the Deccan his ancestors carved out with their good blades a dominion which is well-nigh as large as all Great Britain, and to-day the Nizam rules over more subjects than any Moslem Sovereign except the Sultan. This fact alone may convey some sense of the magnitude of that splendid system of feudatory states, in which the Nizam shines as premier, under the Imperial Crown.

What will probably have fascinated the imagination of the Kaiser's heir, like that of other men, is the infinite variety of India, regarded in its military aspect alone. Hyderabad is called the City of the Swords, because its inhabitants, though to a less extent now than formerly, are hung with arms like Albanians, and their bazars are stuffed with all manner of fighting iron.

Among native forces the Nizam's army is conspicuously good. The core of the troops maintained by two or three other princes is also soundly disciplined, but it is to be hoped that inspection of the more serious side of military life has not prevented the crown prince from making acquaintance with the more traditional and disorderly levies which a many of the courts are still among the most bewildering and bewitching sights in the world.

Successive epochs of history seem to pass visibly before us in waves of rainbow-crested color. There are equestrian jingling in chain mail, such as they might have worn in the days of Marco Polo. There are marching battalions of men in thick-wadded clothing, a kind of soft armor which Alexander may have seen more than two thousand years ago in his campaigns beyond the Indus. There are troops, with swords and bucklers and iron caps and flowing robes of red and green, very like many of the light-armed auxiliaries that must have swarmed among the miscellaneous hordes of Xerxes.

These arrays have no military value, but they bring before the mind as nothing else does a sense of the tenacious antiquity of Asiatic custom and of the fighting aspect of tumultuous ages that have long since sunk to dust. But it is not, of course, in these many hued spectacles, nor even among the sterner pageants which the Nizam can marshal, that the German crown prince will learn to realize what very few in Europe really understand, the solid fighting weight and potential military capacity of India. For that demonstration the heir of the Hohenzollerns will depend upon his experiences in the north.

The chivalrous clans of the Rajputs are still grouped round their rock fastness or strongholds towering from the sand. Most conservative of Indian races as fullest of the sense of immemorial tradition, they are in spirit and fidelity second to none on earth. Their tradition is of the concentrated and consuming valor that took "death before dishonor" for a motto in the utter extremity of its meaning.

Then, again, further north, is the Gurkha and Sikh. Lord Roberts has always been convinced that these tribes, properly brigaded with British battalions, could face any imaginable military task. Nor does this exhaust by any means the compass of the subject.

But thanks to Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy and Nerve I am able to be about the streets, a walking advertisement of the curative qualities of your remedies, although I am 70 years old."

are these words of Mr. Cochran. He speaks from experience, the highest possible source of knowledge. To own a Gourlay Piano is to be proud of your piano. If you are a musician, the sympathetic bond between you and your instrument is a pleasure that will be strong indeed, for a Gourlay piano responds to every mood of the player.
