Belittling Sifton

Now The Globe is cursing Hon. Clifford Sifton. It robs him of the courtesy prefix, which it still applies to Hon. Geo. E. Foster, in order to show how very highly it disapproves of any independence of mind or character which involves disagreement with Globe opinions. In an editorial it labors hard to try to prove that Mr. Sifton has changed his views, and it quotes an interview with him in 1902 with the same object. The interview, however, only supports Mr. Sifton's present position, and proves more clearly than ever, if that were needed, that it is Sir Wilfrid Laurier and The Globe who have changed. It is no disgrace to a man conscientiously to change his views. The Globe, however, has changed its dearest principles repeatedly. Who can forget the right-about-face on the Northwest school question, when on the receipt of a telegram from Ottawa, The Globe swallowed itself?

Laurier's Machine

Now The Globe would read Mr. Sifton out of Liberalism, and out of Canada apparently, because he declines to follow Sir Wilfrid Laurier in that gentleman's change of views on reciprocity. Sir Wilfrid Laurier at the imperial conference in 1906, said: "There was a time when we wanted reciprocity with the United States, but our efforts and our offers were put aside. We have said good-bye to that trade and we now put all our hopes upon the British trade." That was five years ago, and everybody applauded him, including The Globe, and we were all agreed about it. Now The Globe tells us that it is we who have changed our minds, and that Mr. Sifton is no longer a Liberal because he disagrees with Sir Wilfrid over his recent lightning change. There is absolutely nothing in the interview The Globe quotes from Mr. Sifton incompatible with his present attitude, and the readers of The Globe will see this more readily than its party-driven editors. For the real Liberals of Canada are to be distinguished from the Liberals of the machine, and The Globe is only a Liberal of the machine.

Jack as a Jilter

At the meeting at Ayton in South Grey, on Wednesday night, Mr. Mickie, a lawyer, from Chesley, spoke in favor of Mr. Miller, and said that Canada could at any time, without notice and on the second, withdraw from the reciprocity treaty now under discussion; and he went on to say that should Great Britain see fit to give Canada a preference in her market, it then might be the duty of Canada to call parliament together and withdraw from the treaty immediately. Canada was free to do this.

Mr. W. F. Maclean, in answer to Mr. Mickie, said: Supposing Jack Canuck had engaged himself to Miss Columbia, the daughter of Uncle Sam, and a short time later along came John Bull with his daughter, Miss Britannia, who was a more desirable match, and Jack Canuck flitted Miss Columbia in favor of the other girl, what would Uncle Sam say as to the breach of faith? Would he not have it in for us good and strong? The big stick would be after anyone breaking engagement with Uncle Sam or his daughter and justly so. Only Jack Canuck was not that kind of a youth.

Rights Usurped

When the Hon. William Stevens Fielding and the Hon. William Patterson, as envoys of the Dominion Government, sat down at a desk in Washington, D.C., and subscribed a treaty which there and then became like unto a law of the Medes and Persians, a new and highly objectionable depart-ture was made from the parliamentary system of Canada. If there is one department of representative government, which more than any other requires the closest attention and the greatest independence on the part of members of the legislature, it is that of financial and fiscal affairs. Tariffs and changes in tariffs affect all industries both directly and indirectly and the whole commercial situation. Sir Wilfrid Laurier has himself stated that he refused to consider reciprocity on manufactured articles without full investigation. Yet this reciprocity treaty was to be forced thru parliament not only without amendment, but without allowing an amendment to be discussed. For the cabinet to take up his attitude towards the representatives of the people was nothing more than a usurpation of the right of parliament and it should be decisively condemned by every elector who can place constitutional liberty above party serfdom.

Lost on Lambs

J. E. Disney of Whitby called on The World yesterday. He is a dealer in agricultural implements and as such is in close touch with the farmers of South Ontario. Mr. Disney remarked that from his own personal knowledge, there were a large number of Liberal farmers in South Ontario, who, on account of the reciprocity pact, will, at this election, vote Conservative.

Mr. Disney is strongly of the opinion that Mr. Smith, the Conservative candidate, will carry South Ontario by a good majority.

This is only another indication of the strong wave of feeling against reciprocity, which is rapidly rolling up among Liberals throughout Canada.

In connection with this matter, Mr. Disney gave the following instances: A well-known farmer in South Ontario, who belongs to an old Liberal family, has abandoned the Liberal party on the following experience. He recently brought 200 Canadian-bred lambs to the Toronto market, and there encountered a flock of 3000 American lambs, which were selling at a lower price than he could sell at and make a profit. He lost $200 on the deal.

Bankrupt Partner

Reciprocity in natural products while Canada and the United States maintain tariff barriers against other countries means that to this extent they go into partnership. Just now the states of the Republic and the provinces of the Dominion enjoy free trade among themselves; if reciprocity passes they will trade freely in natural products, without regard to the international boundary. There cannot, therefore, continue to be the distinctive natural markets independently operating and each protected by a tariff from complete identification. Prices will tend more and more to a parity and the operations of the United States food trusts will no longer be circumscribed by tariff barriers.

The United States at the present moment is moving towards financial and industrial bankruptcy. Seldom has the political outlook been darker or more ominous of grave social disturbance. Hard times are at hand for the United States, shipping is largely unemployed, industrial plants are idle or working far short of their capacity, unemployment is rife and increasing, already the charity organizations are moving. Nor is there any bit of blue in the clouded sky to read as the harbinger of brighter times. Is it not a piece of crazy folly to go into partnership with a nation bankrupt in work, business and prospects? Why barter Canadian prosperity and buoyant hope for the uncertain issues of reciprocity?

Noted Playwright Coming.

A. E. Thomas, the author of "What the Doctor Ordered," the new comedy which has its first production next week at the Princess, made a hit with his last play, "Her Husband's Wife," which Henry Miller produced last year at the Garrick Theatre, New York. Mr. Thomas will spend next week in Toronto, watching his new play.

WORLD GIVE UP BEST MARKET IN WORLD

W. T. White Tells Brockville Audience How Canadian Farmer to Grasp at a Shadow Would Let Go Substance Anti-Reciprocity Appeals Evoke Applause.

BROCKVILLE, Sept. 7.—(Special).—The leading speaker at a big Conservative mass meeting in Brockville to-night in the interests of John Webster, who is opposing Hon. G. P. Graham, was W. T. White of Toronto, one of the eighteen distinguished Liberals of that city, who some months ago created the political sensation of the day by issuing a manifesto against reciprocity.

Here, as in other places, Mr. White scored a marked success with his audience, which filled the Victoria Hall, showing it was an extremely well-attended and a patriotic Canadian who places his country before party when the welfare of Canada is endangered.

He discussed the pact from a business, economic and national standpoint, showing it was an extremely bad bargain for Canada. He touched upon the importance of the boundary line, now divided by a high tariff wall. Remove the bars as proposed and the tendency will be for the movement of trade north and south, instead of east and west. "Who has heard seriously in Canada in the past ten years of tremendous prosperity the production of reciprocity with the United States, and a volley of voices shouted back, 'Nobody'."

Providence, said Mr. White, rescued this country from the two historic parties on the eve of this restoration of the McKinley tariff in 1891.

First, the only argument set forth in its favor worthy of consideration was that the treaty would benefit the farmer.

Now another has been added, that it will at the same time reduce the cost to the consumer.

The man who made that discovery worthy to take his place with the discoverer of the western hemisphere. The farmers are getting wise to the situation and within the past three weeks have become educated to the value of the home market, which takes 80 per cent. of his products. He is awakening to the fact that the United States is a rival market for the products of the world, for the sale of natural and manufactured products. For the generality of the third market, the Canadian farmer is giving up the best home market, actual and potential, that stands in the world. Not only that, but he is giving up the market to twelve other nations under the favored nations treaty, without getting reciprocal relations in return. The competition from these nations would be equal if not greater than the competition from the United States. Canadian pluck, backed by British capital and British ingenuity, has resulted in the building of transcontinental lines, driving the trade east and west, which has doubled in ten years.

Is It Wise?

"We are only on the threshold of wonderful prosperity," said the speaker amid great applause. "It is wise for the Canadian farmer to take the precarious chance of selling 20 per cent. of his natural products across the line at the expense of allowing the trusts and combines of that country to invade his splendid home market?"

Cries of "No."

To-day in Brockville cheese sold for 13-7-8, the highest price in the history of this banner cheese producing section of Ontario. What is the matter with it? Nothing. Under reciprocity this splendid article will be confused in exports to England with the American and thereby lose its identity. A good customer like John Bull is showing hanging on to.

Mr. White showed how injurious reciprocity would be to the home industry of this province, also to the fruit and vegetable growers, and with its adoption the Canadian would be the most unprotected farmer in the world outside of Great Britain.

Handwriting on the Wall.

Judged upon reasonable evidence he believed it was the avowed intention of the United States to bring about commercial union. This was the handwriting on the wall for Canadian manufacturers, whose interests are identical with the interests of the farmer. "A proper political turmoil of presidential and state elections."

"Let things alone," he said, "and I venture to say we will not have even a suspicion of hard times for a generation. It is idle to say, try it for a while and then quit."

"Our true policy is to carry on our own affairs without any meddling alliance with the United States. Let the Canadian tariff needs revision, let us revise it. Let us thrust it out in committees of the house of commons, where all interests can be heard."

Other speakers besides the candidate and Mr. White were H. A. Stewart, C. C. and A. E. Donovan, M.L.A.

Chaplain Brace to Speak.

Trooper Chaplain A. J. Brace, until lately general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., Victoria, B. C., and who sells his last play, "Her Husband's Wife," which Henry Miller produced last year at the Garrick Theatre, New York. Mr. Thomas will spend next week in Toronto, watching his new play.

Fielding in a Panic.

HALIFAX, Sept. 6.—(Special).—Finance Minister Fielding certainly seems to be fighting a losing battle in Shelburne-Queen's. H. W. Purney, local Liberal candidate in Queen's in June, and secretary of the Liberal party for his county, is out strongly against Fielding and reciprocity. The latest defection is reported to-day from Shelburne. E. M. Bill, a prominent barrister, and secretary for the Liberal party for Shelburne, is stamping against reciprocity and appearing at McCurdy's meetings as one of his most active supporters. Fielding is in such a panic over the situation that he decided to hold meetings in every hamlet in the riding. Other prominent Liberals in both counties are known to be against reciprocity, and are either openly working for its defeat or taking no active part in the campaign.

ENGINEER STRUCK DOWN FIREMAN STOPPED TRAIN

Mysterious Missile Hurlled Through Cabin Window as Train Nears Parkdale.

As the Hamilton Grand Trunk train approached the station at eleven o'clock last evening, a missile thrown by an unknown hand struck Engineer Thomas Tracey on the side of the head, breaking his jaw and injuring his scalp. The rock, or whatever it was that did the damage, was thrown with such force that it went right out of the other side of the cabin. The fireman heard Tracey fall and turning round found his mate half lying on the floor. Not knowing what happened, he spoke, but Tracey was unable to answer. The fireman then saw that something strange had happened and stepped up to the throttle and exerted his skill in bringing the train to a stop at Parkdale.

Who threw the missile is a mystery. The train was going along at a fair rate of speed and it appeared as if the object had been thrown maliciously. Tracey was removed to Grace Hospital and the police are searching for the assailant.

REDUCED CABLE RATES

British Postmaster-General Makes an Important Announcement.

LONDON, Sept. 7.—(C.A.P. Cable).—The representative of the Pacific cable board stated at a meeting of the board last night that the rates for telegrams sent to the United States will be reduced to one-half the present rates. The reduction will be such as to make it highly desirable to adopt it throughout the cable service of the empire and between the British dominions and external states. He said he had approached the British and American cable companies, and after obtaining their approval, he had sent the proposal to the foreign governments. There was no prospect that within the next few months it will be possible for the United States to agree to the reduction of the existing rates, the charges being subject only to the conditions that the transmission be made for a period not exceeding 24 hours.

CAPT. WALLACE AT MALVERN.

A rally in support of Capt. Tom Wallace, in Centre York, will be held at Malvern to-night. Speeches will be made by the Hon. J. H. Maclean, M.L.A., W. F. Maclean, Dr. Forbes and others. A rousing meeting is assured.

AN EXPONENT OF RECIPROCITY.

Quite a stir was caused yesterday in the Niagara Navigation Company's waiting room, when an inebriated American visitor proceeded to give his opinion on the reciprocity pact. "We are bound to get you one way or another," he said, "and we will soon have you body and bones."

No logic was wanted on the part of the individual, except by a policeman, who argued as follows: "Move along now or I'll annex you."

A NOTABLE ADVANCE.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—Lieut. Ely, of the navy's first aviator, slid down 150 feet on a wire cable at Hammondsport, N.Y., to-day, in his hydroplane from the twenty feet high and leaving the wire safely, flew over the lake. The apparatus has been devised to demonstrate the possibility of flying these machines from a ship unassisted by any other means than those which may readily be improvised aboard.

FRANCO-GERMAN CONVENTION.

LONDON, Sept. 8.—The Franco-German agreement according to The Daily Mail will take the form of a convention signed by the European powers and the United States. It will acknowledge that France has both political and military interests in Morocco and that any dispute regarding the interpretation of the treaty would be referred to Europe and the United States.

"MY STAND ON TARIFF IS THE SAME AS EVER"

SHOT BY COMPANION

Who Told, The Both Had Agreed to Say Nothing About It.

MONTREAL, Sept. 7.—In a critical condition, with a bullet in his abdomen, Napoleon Lalonde was brought to the Western Hospital, Carleton-square, St. Henri, to-night. Lalonde said he did not know who fired the bullet.

A companion, Albert Belanger, aged 17, however, stated that it was he (Belanger) that had shot Lalonde and that the shooting was accidental. He said he was walking with Lalonde, who showed his friend a revolver which went off accidentally. They decided to throw the revolver away and say nothing about the shooting. Lalonde kept this agreement, but Belanger confessed what he had done and brought the police to the scene of the shooting, not far from which he picked up a revolver with one chamber empty with which he said the shooting was done.

A RUMOR REVIVED.

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 7.—The report that the steel boulders would be renewed in the event of a Liberal victory on the 21st, was revived to-day in financial circles. The government is said, will make some announcement to this effect shortly before election day.

BLOW TO HORSE BREEDING.

The following note, sent to Mr. Burns of Burns & Sheppard, from Mr. William Hendrie, one of the best-known horsemen in Canada, is very significant:

"Dear Mr. Burns—I have read with much interest your remarks on how the proposed trade deal with the United States would affect Ontario horses in the Northwest market. That market would be lost to Ontario and horse breeding would be put back in four or five years."

(Signed) W. Hendrie.

Took Premier's Challenge

OTTAWA, Sept. 7.—Captain Joseph H. Patterson, president of the Federal Veterans' Association, is ready to accept the challenge of "Le Vieux Coq." Sir Wilfrid Laurier has told the people of Quebec to bet on the old cock. "I am ready," said Captain Patterson to-day, "to bet Sir Wilfrid Laurier $100 that the Conservative party will be returned on the 21st with a working majority of five without the Nationalists."

Captain Patterson is in earnest about it. He says Sir Wilfrid Laurier has nothing on him as a citizen, and that he is as much a non-betting man as the premier. "I am willing," he says, "to put up $100. If I lose he can give the stakes to whatever charity he likes, and if I win I will do the same."

WHITNEY'S GREAT ANGELICANS MAY RECEPTION AT NORTH BAY

Remarkable Enthusiasm Greeted Ontario Premier's Campaign Against the Pact—"What Earthly Use Would the Georgian Bay Canal Be?" He Asks—Americans Always Get Big End of It.

RECEPTION AT NORTH BAY

NORTH BAY, Sept. 7.—(Special).—Premier Whitney's visit to North Bay this evening was a notable occasion, and people turned out en masse to give an enthusiastic reception to Sir James.

Stalwart citizens insisted on taking the horses of the premier's carriage and substituting themselves instead, drawing the distinguished visitor thru the streets from the railway station to the Royal Theatre, followed by a large crowd of cheering people. Twelve hundred people crowded the theatre and many were unable to gain admittance.

The large attendance and enthusiasm manifested augurs well for the success of the Conservative candidate, George Gordon, especially as this is the home town of the Liberal candidate. Mr. Gordon shared honors with Sir James in the great and cordial reception accorded by the audience.

Sir James spoke one hour and ten minutes, devoting the time almost entirely to the reciprocity agreement. Many telling points of denunciation being appraised generally. Premier Whitney prefaced his address with an outline of the growth and prosperity of New Ontario and the proven wisdom of the government in appointing a Northern Ontario man to the cabinet in the person of Hon. Frank Cook.

Taking up the question of reciprocity, the speaker touched on a very warm local topic, when he asked what earthly use would the Georgian Bay Canal be if reciprocity was adopted.

MAKING WATER RUN UP HILL.

The Dominion Government seemed to have a fancy for canals, Newmarket being an instance of their attempt to make water run up hill. The people of Canada, however, are not so easily contented and prosperous people on the face of the globe, a condition achieved after times of suffering. The law of compensation decrees that nothing is obtained without giving something in return. The hard times following the abrogation of the former treaty of reciprocity with the United States and the bitter feeling which remained should not be forgotten, reminding us that our neighbors always had the long end of the whilteless.

OUR LOYALTY CANNOT BE AFFECTED BY THIS QUESTION.

Our loyalty cannot be affected by this question, but it is the intention of the United States to use it as a lever to weaken the ties which bind us with the motherland. The utterances were quoted effectively by Sir James, showing that the American attention was ultimate unrestricted reciprocity and annexation, while getting the present best end of the bargain. Quotations from all the leading journals of the United States were also used with telling force, the appreciation of the audience being shown by loud and continued applause.

THE GREAT CONTINENTAL RAILWAYS.

The great continental railways had been assisted by the Dominion Government and clauses inserted in their agreements to insure trade flowing east and west in Canadian channels. The western farmer, by sending wheat to the American market, under reciprocity, would receive it back in flour on the same terms.

NO SITE YET CHOSEN

City Hasn't Determined Location of Isolation Hospital.

Where the proposed new isolation hospital will be situated is quite problematical. A number of sites are under consideration, but nothing definite has been done towards purchasing any one of those seen by the committee.

Ald. Rowland, chairman of the local board of health, said to The World last evening: "We are trying to secure options on several pieces of property near the city, but I am certainly unaware that any one farm has been decided upon. In fact, it would be a foolish move to decide upon one piece of land without waiting to see if more favorable arrangements could be made elsewhere."

FIRST GRAIN SHIPMENT.

PORT WILLIAM, Sept. 7.—The first shipment of the season's new crop, 13,000 bushels, was shipped out to-day on the C. P. R. steamer Athabasca. This grain graded No. 1 and No. 2 Northern and showed a very good sample for the first arrival. It was shipped, as has been usual for several years, for James Richardson, Sons, Limited, Kingston, to Owen Sound. There will doubtless be a steady run of shipments now until the new grain becomes general. There is a general impression from inspections up-to-date that the average grain of this season's crop will be on a parity with No. 2 Northern.

Canadian Fur Trade.

A prominent English writer, in reviewing the fur situation, says that the Canadian furrier is the "king" in the fur business, because he has at his back the greatest fur-producing country in the world—the northern district of this continent. It is a fact that this area places at his disposal some of the highest priced and best pelts procurable, and includes such valuable furs as Hudson Bay sable, silver fox, brown, arctic, black and pointed fox, royal Canadian mink, beaver, martin, fisher and ermine. In Toronto, notably at the Dineen Company's showrooms, corner of Yonge and Temperance streets, the visitor will find a very rare selection of garments made from these exclusive furs. The display embraces Ja-kers, caparines, etc., designed according to the latest imported models and including everything in the catalogue, from a butterfly tie to full length coats of Alaska seal or royal Canadian mink. The visitor should remember that to buy to-day means a saving of money in the matter of furs, for it is positively stated that the next month or two a 15 per cent. advance in the prices paid for pelts.

Appointed a Sub-Committee to Investigate Anti-British Films—But None Are Shown.

HAMILTON, Sept. 7.—(Special).—The international management committee of the board of education ran into a mare's nest when Trustees C. C. Watkins introduced the question of moving picture shows which exhibit anti-British propaganda. The matter was referred to a sub-committee by the reference in local papers to a movement to stamp out the exhibition of films in Canada which have American patriotic and anti-British propaganda. The trustees were under the impression that such pictures were being shown in the city. The question received a very thoughtful consideration by the committee, and a resolution instructing the chairman to appoint a sub-committee to investigate the matter was passed. Inquiry by The World at all the moving picture shows in the city revealed the fact that no films of this nature are being shown here, and none such have been exhibited since the World's protest against the notorious "1776" film in Toronto some time ago.

The question whether or not to allow the school children of the city a half-holiday next Monday to hear the famous Coldstream Guard Band was discussed at some length, but on motion of Trustee Booker that such a privilege could not be granted. The committee decided that it might be granted at the discretion of the board, but the minimum number of twenty pupils attending the school should be secured for the benefit of students who would be attending the school on that day.

The marriage takes place today of Miss Annie Lilburn Birks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Birks, Westmount, to Mr. Henry Harold Lester of Montreal, formerly of Toronto.

The board of works at night's special meeting decided to take any action on the T. H. & B. spur line to Princess-street until the railway company, the Frost Wire Fence Co. and the Banwell, Hoxie Co. can reach an agreement in the matter among themselves.

The alleged nuisance from the Broad Cattle Byes in the city was taken up by the board of works at night's special meeting. The board decided to take any action on the T. H. & B. spur line to Princess-street until the railway company, the Frost Wire Fence Co. and the Banwell, Hoxie Co. can reach an agreement in the matter among themselves.

At the conference between the board of control and Messrs. Hawkins and Coleman of the street railway company, in regard to street railway extensions in the northeast section of the city, Manager Hawkins stated that he did not think his company was in a position to build any new lines at present, but promised to write the city concerning the matter on Oct. 1, this year.

Notes From a Dredge. The registration board of appeal this morning decided that the name of Robert Dawson, whose registration was protested on the ground that he lives on a dredge, where he is employed as pilot, and not in the city, should remain on the voters' list. A dredge is working in the bay, which is a part of the city.

Three months in jail with the warning to shake the dust of Canada from his erring feet when his term expires, was the sentence handed out to William Campbell, peddler of bogus varnish formulas, by Judge Smith this morning. Campbell was convicted of fraud in selling a formula for mixing varnish from cheap materials. The ingredients would not mix. Several local firms were victimized by him.

ACCIDENTALLY SHOT. FREDERICTON, N. B., Sept. 7.—A young English boy was seriously and perhaps fatally wounded in a shooting accident, which occurred at Maudersville last evening. About dusk Murray Gilbert, with whom the boy lived, saw a large owl alight on the top of his barn, and rushed into the house to get his shotgun, hoping to have a shot at the owl. The young English boy heard Mr. Gilbert preparing to go out to shoot the owl and went to the veranda. He was just passing thru a screen door leading to the veranda when Mr. Gilbert was snapping the breech-loading shotgun together, after having placed a cartridge in the proper place. Suddenly there was a discharge and a number of the shot lodged in the boy's arm and side.

ADVICE FROM LIEUT. REGAN Reduction of Pitch in Military Music May Be Weakness.

Making the issue upon the inadvisability of sacrificing brilliancy and carrying power of military band music by too great a reduction of pitch in order to secure a uniform pitch, Lieut. J. Mackenzie Regan, M.V.O., Mus. Doc. of the Coldstream Guards, addressed the Canadian Guild of Organists on military band music, yesterday morning at St. James Cathedral, and advocated a fair compromise. THEIR CANDIDATE IN NORTH

John Galbraith Would Climb, But That He Fears to Fall.

John Galbraith may run in North Toronto on a platform of his own workmanship. At present he is somewhat in the position of a theatrical company, looking for an "angel." The seraphic one is required in this instance to pay printing expenses and guarantee his deposit of $200. The investment doesn't look like a safe one, but may appeal to the sporting instinct of someone.

Who is John Galbraith? In the next query. He has appeared on the Liberal platform in several federal campaigns, including the present one. He is avowedly for reciprocity, but he also wants the British preferential tariff raised "from 33 1-3 per cent. to 50 per cent. and higher if the revenue of the country will stand it."

Mr. Galbraith says he has been asked to stand as a candidate in North Toronto, to test the sentiment of many Englishmen or British-born, and many Canadians, who believe that the United Kingdom has been overlooked and neglected in the tariff past, between Canada and United States of America.

"These parties desire to express their sentiment towards England in trade relations, but cannot do it voting either of the old parties," is his contention.

Note and Comment

Eddie Durman's title of champion of America was never in jeopardy yesterday, as he raced Jack Hackett of Minnesota on the Rainy River. According to the story the Toronto sculler saved his adversary the wash from the shot of the pistol and had a comfortable margin of five lengths at the finish. Durman's fine race will likely inspire him to prepare for the mile and a half championship of the world.

According to The Montreal Gazette Mr. Eddie St. Pierre was in Toronto to interview President Murphy before that official should give his decision on the protest filed by the National and National finishing their game previous to their own game with the championship on the Mile and a half on Saturday.

The failure to sell the Hildreth horses shows what the American racing public thinks of the outlook on the turf. Two years ago Pitts Hackett, who had been purchased under $60,000. No task was too hard for him, and no one wanted him yesterday. Novelty and King James were also withdrawn.

Any one viewing the baseball game yesterday in the rain and getting the idea that the Hustlers are elected three times champions. The fans went over in crowds to see a doubleheader, which the weather would not permit. However, they have another opportunity on Saturday.

This looks like a good Irish year in baseball, except in the case of Joseph Kelly. McMillan repeats in the American League with the Athletics, who are pretty certain to again land the world championship, unless McGraw's New York Giants, the National League, upset calculations.

Then the sensation of the year is Marty O'Leary, who has now won three games for Pittsburgh. In the three contests he has continued to gain land the world championship, unless McGraw's New York Giants, the National League, upset calculations.

Also there is still one more Irishman—Tom (Buck) O'Brien, who has won three games for the Boston Red Sox, said to have a better record than O'Leary. Out of 28 games pitched this season, O'Brien won 24 and lost 4. Among these victories three stands out prominently as no-hitters. He pitched against St. Louis, St. Paul and Cleveland. O'Brien is a natural ball player. He throws from the shoulder, and when at the bat takes a healthy swing at the ball. A number of Western League pitchers can testify to his batting ability.

Hackett Outclassed in Three Mile Boat Race — Time 22.32 4-5

By J. J. Middleton.
RAINY RIVER, Ont., Sept. 7.—(Staff Correspondence).—Eddie Durman of Toronto is the undisputed sculling champion of North America. Without apparently exerting himself he easily defeated Hackett in the three-mile race here for a purse of $2000 this afternoon, finishing fully five lengths ahead. The official time of the race was announced at 22 minutes 32 4-5 seconds. The first half of the course was made in 11 minutes 58 seconds.

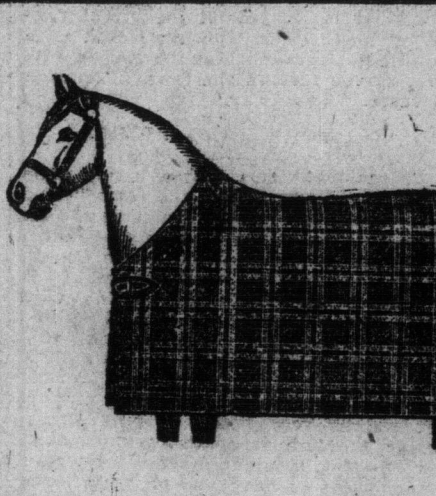

Hackett had not a look in at any stage of the race. The moment the pistol went off Durman shot into the lead and was a boat length ahead in half a dozen strokes from the starting point. Durman kept rapidly opening up the distance till he was a full length ahead, when, turning round the buoy at the International Bridge for the return journey, Hackett went further into the race by making a very bad turn, while Eddie Durman turned the buoy resourcefully and gracefully. From that moment the race was a procession. Durman just watched his man and every time Hackett made an effort to sprint the Toronto sculler smiled and shot further into the lead.

Hackett Outclassed.
Even Hackett's backers admitted before the race was finished that the Minnesota man was not in the same class as Durman, who rowed a fine race.

The referee's launch followed the scullers around and down the course, about 300 feet in the rear, while the newspaper men followed in another launch. Besides

Star Left-Handed Pitchers Scarce

Comparatively Few of Them
Are to Be Found in the Big Leagues — Rucker Leads Modern Crop.

Less than a dozen first-class left-handed pitchers are drawing salaries in the big major baseball leagues. As a matter of record good southpaws have always been scarce, no matter how far back you may go in the history of the game. There are numerous left-handed throwers and batsmen, but comparatively few home-runners. Napoleon Rucker of the Brooklynites is the only left-handed pitcher in the National League. He was secured by the club under circumstances that are not generally known. Rucker was a member of the Giants, Cubs, Philadelphia Athletics and Detroit. He would probably win as many games as the best of the right-handers. But handicapped by an inferior team, he is compelled to plod along, doing his best against discouraging odds and losing games that under other circumstances should be recorded as victories.

George Wiltse, a veteran left-hander in George Wiltse, and a coming southpaw in Rucker Marquard. Wiltse is pitching superbly this summer, but he is not so strong as Rucker in physical make-up, and is not able to accomplish the results that placed him in the front rank several years ago. Marquard is developing effectiveness because of constant work, and in the opinion of many baseball sharps he will rival some of the best left-handers of former years. Slim Salie of the St. Louis Cardinals has been groomed by Roger Barnham this year with remarkable success, and Roger insists that the lanky finger will soon be a star. The Pittsburghers have a left-handed pitcher in the person of Bill Burns, discarded by several big teams, but who is developing himself as a star. Doolin's Quakers. Another effective left-hander in the National League is the Cleveland. He was secured in the Fort City an unknown quantity, but may be secured by the Giants some fine day, and then he will have an opportunity to show his true worth.

Scarcity in American.
In the American League good left-handers are even more scarce than in the National League. The most sensational winner this year is Van Grege of the Cleveland. He was secured in California last winter and arrived in the American League with a reputation for being a left-hander. Van Grege has three left-handers, Plank, Krause and Russell. The first named has been a star for several years ago. He has not yet reached the end of the rope by any means, and has pitched some great games this year. He is getting along in years and was asked of him when he was the star of the league. Krause was a new pitcher who did not get into the baseball world on fire with his wonderful achievements.

FRIDAY MORNING, SEPT. 8, 1911

IS IT ASHAMED?

The Globe, referring to a report that the joint high commission would soon resume its sittings, said on Jan. 12, 1905:

"If our neighbors only knew how long-gold Canadian interest in the whole subject really is they would see little hope of securing any commercial treaty of any sort. . . . There is a growing prejudice in Canada against trying our hands by trade agreements with either Great Britain or the United States."

Is it Hon. Clifford Sifton or The Globe that has changed its mind in the interval? We have repeatedly said that no stigma attaches to a conscientious change of mind, but The Globe is pretending that it has not changed and that others have. Is it ashamed of having changed?

TARIFFS AND WAGES.

Yesterday, in an editorial dissertation on reciprocity and the wage-workers' interests, The Globe remarked that it had "always tried to impress the truth that tariff reductions increase the demand for labor and raise wages. It was a recognized economic truth before The Globe's first issue saw the light." In view of The Globe's own position on tariff protection for Canadian industries this "recognized economic truth" that "tariff reductions increase the demand for labor and raise wages" deserves some little investigation. Clearly if it is a "truth," the poorer Canada adopts a policy of free trade the better for the wage-workers' hand, since to be better means for their better employment, then free trade will be no less advantageous for the manufacturer and indeed for the whole community. But it is somewhat disconcerting at this preliminary stage to recall that Sir Wilfrid Laurier must have been in ignorance of this "recognized economic truth" or sceptical of its claim to be a "truth," when he turned down President Taft's offer of unrestricted reciprocity on the ground that Canadian manufacturers could not compete with the highly developed, specialized and standardized industries of the United States. The Globe, also, to be sure, commended this action of its white-plumed leader, thereby showing that it had either thereby temporarily oblivious to the "recognized economic truth," or was cheerfully prepared to concede it not to be of universal application.

Passing on, however, it may be further asked, how this "recognized economic truth" is exhibited among the nations and their various fiscal systems. If tariff reductions increase the demand for labor and raise wages, "it would naturally be expected that the workers of the United Kingdom would have the most constant employment and the highest wages and that Germany, the United States and Canada would all rank in these respects below Britain and inversely to the import duties they impose. But strange to say in the case of a "recognized economic truth," the relative place occupied by these countries does not at all correspond with that which theory requires. The official enquiry made by British investigators into labor conditions in the United States made it clear that the workers there received about two and a half times the wages current in the United Kingdom and that also the cost of living was higher in the States, the final result was materially in favor of the American workman. What again was one of the main reasons for the recent serious labor strikes in Britain was the fact that the average wage of the ordinary railroad employee is only from $4 to $5 a week and for the more responsible position from $5 to $6. Evidently fifty years of no tariff has not increased the demand for labor or raised wages in free trade Britain to anything like the extent that has happened in countries like Germany and the United States. The only conclusion possible is that The Globe's "recognized economic truth" is nothing else than economic darkness.

MOST FAVORED NATIONS.

On its first page yesterday, in a prominent box headed "Favored Nations," The Star prints the following: "Reciprocity does not open the Canadian market to the twelve favored nations with which Britain has treaties. In accordance with a resolution passed at the imperial conference in June, Britain will abrogate these in so far as they concern Canada." It has taken The Star a long time to concoct this misrepresentation, for misrepresentation it certainly is.

At the session of the imperial conference held on June 15, Sir Wilfrid

Laurier moved that the imperial government be requested to open negotiations with the several foreign governments having treaties which apply to the overseas dominions, with a view to securing the liberty for any of these dominions, which may so desire, to withdraw from the operation of a treaty without impairing the treaty in respect to the rest of the empire.

The motion was afterwards amended by inserting the word "commercial" before treaties, and was accepted by Sir Edward Grey on behalf of the imperial government, subject to the understanding that it agreed to open negotiations with the countries concerned and to ask whether they would be prepared to modify their treaties in the direction desired. "If they agreed," he went on to say, "the course would be quite simple, but if they did not, the best course of procedure would be to enter upon negotiations for new treaties, without denouncing those now in existence. One of the articles in the proposed new treaties would be that when the new treaties came into operation they would abrogate the old."

This is where The Star got the word "abrogate," which it boldly states would be done by Britain. What Sir Edward Grey did say was that if the countries concerned would not modify their treaties, further negotiations for new treaties would be entered upon without denouncing the old treaties, and that these new treaties, when they went into operation, would "abrogate" the old. Unless, therefore, the Dominion Government is prepared to hold the reciprocity agreements in abeyance until the issue of the negotiations is ascertained, the old treaties will automatically take effect and the countries concerned will receive the benefit of the most favored nation treatment, as Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Mr. Fielding have themselves admitted. The absolute statements made by The Star that Britain will abrogate the treaties and that reciprocity does not open the Canadian market to the most favored nations, misrepresent the position. Months, even years, may elapse before the negotiations contemplated by Sir Edward Grey reach a conclusion, nor does it follow, if reciprocity should come into operation in the interim, that the new treaties would be retroactive in effect. Unless they were the advantage conferred could not be withdrawn.

A FALSE FACED ARGUMENT.

The Evening Star attacks Thomas Delworth for "bald selfishness," because he desires, like other market gardeners, to get the fancy prices that rule for the first vegetables of the season. "Bald selfishness," cries The Star, with the false, and intentionally false, inference for it had read Mr. Delworth's statement, that workingmen could get these hot bed luxuries at cheap rates from across the border.

The workingmen will have to pay for the luxuries just as the wealthy people will have to pay. The only difference under reciprocity will be that the fancy prices will go to the Americans who can catch the market weeks before the Canadian market gardener is able to raise his truck. The Canadian market gardener will be put out of business, and the Canadian workingman's wife will pay as much for her vegetables and perhaps more than ever she did.

The Star will next be accusing the workingmen of "bald selfishness," when he tries to place his wages on a union scale.

Laurier and larger trusts.

Laurier and Taft and larger markets for the United States farmer.

Reciprocity was not made in Canada.

The Globe says a vote for Berden is a vote for Bourassa, and a vote for Bourassa is a vote for the disruption of Canada. The Globe would prefer to hand Canada over in one piece to Uncle Sam. Canadians of all the provinces will be loyal to British connection.

The Globe announces to its readers editorially:

"For the next two weeks campaign lies will be given currency daily. They should be nailed down as they appear."

The Star got the start of The Globe last week, no doubt the preacher will be able to distance the deacon. The public will attend to the naming.

D. SPENCE'S LETTER.

David Spence, commission merchant, informs The World that a wrong impression was, to some extent, created by the publication of the letter he sent out to fruit and vegetable growers. The letters were dated Aug. 21, and certain specific statements as to U. S. products being dumped on the market, should be viewed in the light of that date. Of course, the strong argument made against reciprocity is in no wise affected.

NO POLITICAL DANGER IN RECIPROCITY PACT

Sir William Mulock Urges Closer Relations With Republic at Exhibition Luncheon.

It remained for Sir William Mulock, one time Liberal member for North York, to introduce a thing of politics into an exhibition directors' luncheon. It was not an extremely partisan utterance, but nevertheless Sir William contrived to state over some rather thin ice. The circumstance was rather amusing viewed in the light of The Globe's discovery of a dark plot to have an orator from the United States preach reciprocity and annexation. Instead it was Sir William, who allowed his sympathies to betray themselves on American's Day. Several gentlemen of the republic were present, but all disclaimed oratorical gifts.

Much could be done at the exhibition, said Sir William, to promote friendship between Canada and the United States by every man acting as kindly toward United States visitors as he possibly could. In the European countries the government were powerless, so far as whole-hearted friendliness was concerned, because they were not the masters of the country bordering toward them in another. "This was a new country and there was before Canada and United States an object lesson from those countries, which could be put to good advantage. Each Canadian in his own way could hold out a welcome to the visitors from the south."

It was possible, said Sir William, to hold social, intellectual and commercial intercourse and to create good will with the United States without injuring Canada's political independence. Sir William declared that the exhibition represented the Dominion of Canada in miniature. The growth of the exhibition represented the future growth of Canada. When one went thru the exhibition grounds and saw the well-dressed, orderly, contented people, he saw the people of Canada in miniature. When one went thru the process buildings he saw the manufacturing people who were enriching Canada and in the live stock and produce exhibits he saw that upon which the prosperity of Canada depended.

BURGLED AT CHATHAM.

CHATHAM, Sept. 7.—(Special.)—On Tuesday night thieves at work on the gain entrance to the residence of Sheriff Gemmill, Victoria-ave., by placing a ladder to an upstairs window. They pulled down the ladder from the yard of Richard Knight nearby, but it had a defect in it and broke, when they attempted to climb it. They evidently feared detection at the noise and ran away. The police are mystified, though they are working on the case. This is the third attempt which has been made recently by unknown parties to gain entrance to the sheriff's house.
