The third time he called me a liar, and that discouraged me."

One di-rector was making locomotives, another steel rails, while a third was interested in a brewery which probably furnished beer for dining cars running thru the wet districts of Canada! Honorable Mac-kenzie King harped back to his favorite contention that the railway manage-ment should be as amenable to the orders of the house as a department of the government. Frank Cahili of Pontiac, who carries in his heart a deep.seated conviction that something is wrong with the management of the national railways, gave voice again to that impression. Summing up the whole discussion, how-ever, it was hard to find that any light had been cast upon the railway situa-tion.

The government has at least a clearly formed policy. They hold that the rail-man must be divorced from politics and their management confided to high class their management confided to high class the prepared to replace them with better men if better men can be found. They are firmly resolved to take over the old frand Trunk and believe that real econ-mies and wonderful improvements will be effected when the Grand Trunk be-governments, but they do not admit that the deficits are due to public ownership they are at least able to show that the allways of Canada under government and they are done as well as American allways under corporation control, and the task in trying to make ends meet be-cuse our country has a vast territor.

The opposition will not go to the length of saying that the National Railways should be broken up and sold or given away to private corporations. They do not suggest that the government should reverse its policy of sceping the roads out of party politics. They are, there-fore, able only to voice a general dis-content and nibble at the fringes of the railway problem. Mr. King, for example, has advanced no suggession of any kind beyond contending that the accounts, pa-pers and vouchers of the railway man-agement should be more accessible to the members of the house.

On Friday the prime minister moved for the appointment of a committee on government railways and shipping. The motion clearly defined the powers of that committee and gave Mr. King another chance to ride his favorite hobby. He at once interposed an amendment giv-ing the committee sweeping powers to enquire into everything in connection with the National Railways since the first appointment of Canadian Northern di-rectors by the Dominion government. Somewhat to the surprise of the house, his amendment found favor in the eyes of Hon. T. A. Crerar, leader of the Farm-ers' Party. Mr. Crerar supported the King amendment, but in passing deliver-ed anything but a compliment to Mr. King. Hansard reports him as saying: The criticism I have to offer, if I may offer it here now to my honorable friend, the leader of the opposition, is this, that while he has criticised a great deal, so far, there have been no constructive suggestions given as to box one great railways problem cen he great deal, so far, there have been no constructive suggestions given as to how our great railway problem can be solved. If I may take the liberty of saying so, my honorable friend, the eader of the opposition, runs in some danger of leaving the impression on the country that he is more concerned with making political capital out of this problem than he is with finding a solution for it. I do hope, sir, that when the committee come to consider this matter they will approach it free from any spirit of that kind.

Sir Robert Borden followed Mr. Crerar in Friday's debate. His rising was the signal for loud applause. He vigirously defended the policy of the government and declared that our ability to manage national railways would be the test of Canadian democracy. We were han-dicapped by being over-built, but the roads would have plenty to do when we had eighteen million instead of nine mil-

Premier Melghen successfully guided the government out of what threatened to be an unpleasant situation in the de-tate that arose on Wednesday upon the mational Catholic labor unions. The Que-bec Liberals thought they had something on the government, and it did look at first as the Senator Robertson, minister of labor, had run his hand into a hornet's nest Wr. Metrhen however, handled the of labor, Mr. Meighen, however, handled the subject so frankly and at the same time so discreetly as to extricate the govern-ment without causing any dissatisfaction to his followers in Ontario or his friends

Few people outside of Quebec probably knew until a few days ago that the Catho-lle labor unions of that province have a membership of forty thousand. They re-present about one-third of the organized labor of Quebec and have worked them-selves into a sort of ferment over the alleged mistreatment they had received from the minister of labor. Everyone outside of Quebec will ad-mit that a labor union based on mem-bership in a particular church is not a desirable thing. If the Catholica go into another. The result must be the break-

one union the Protestants can go into another. The result must be the break-ing up of the army of labor into rival factions and the projection of religious differences into the labor field. But while all this is true, free men have a perfectly logal right to do a foolish thing so long as they do not bring themselves within the purview of the criminal code. These forty thousand working men in Quebec certainly had and now have the legal right to go into these Catholic labor unlons, however inexpedient or even un-desirable their action may be. Senator Robertson individually had a right to say or think what he pleased about the un-

IN considering the issue at stake in the coming Referendum, the deep-thinking men and women of Ontario should beware of being stampeded into voting for a condition which will be intolerable, unsafe and merely temporary. Not only are socalled Prohibition arguments based on merely superficial conclusions, but they pay no heed to the fact that absolute prohibition of liquor encourages greater and more threatening evils.

A NATIONAL HABIT, no matter what its origin, cannot be eradicated by law-hence the short-lived triumphs (!) gained by the Prohibitionists.

The Citizen's Liberty League is anxious for a true Christian, British Temperance-i.e. moderation in all things-and it reminds the people of Ontario that throughout the world, without exception, wherever Prohibition has been foisted on the public, it has been a total failure, and has accomplished none of its promises. It merely makes liquor more difficult to get and more, expensive; it results in fortunes for the illicit manufacturer, the bootlegger and the drug peddler, and turns the doctors and druggists into bartenders. These statements are not made lightly-they are true of conditions existing in "Prohibition" countries and provinces.

Doctors object to being bartenders

Look with deliberation at the following facts concerning our next door neighbor, Manitoba, a typical prohibitionist Utopia. Of 218,908 voters, 95,021 did not vote, and prohibition "won" by 68,031 to 55,056. Here is the result.

Already a movement is on foot for the Government to assume con-trol of sale and distribution and to legalize purchase by the respon-sible individual.

prohibition came into force the soft drink business has seriously decreased, according to manufacturers' statements at their recent convention in Winnipeg. This was due to illegal trade in whiskey, it was claimed.

The 12,000 residents of St. Boniface (opposite Winnipeg, on the Red River) have been for a time without medical aid, due to prac-tically all the doctors in that city being under suspension for issuing too many liquor prescriptions.

One Manitoba doctor, recently suspended, is reported to have given 10,000 liquor prescriptions during a one-mor

Through a resolution to be moved in the Legislature by Dr. R. J. Waugh, Norfolk (Manitoba), the medical profession of Manitoba will ask to be relieved of the responsibility of administering the Manitoba Temperance Act. According to Dr. Waugh, the present Act places the medical profession in the position of bartenders for the Province.

"The present status of the Act practically makes the medical pro-fession responsible for seeing that the law is observed," Dr. Waugh said. "We want to be relieved of the responsibility of saying who shall have liquor and who shall not. As a matter of fact, the pro-fession is tired of being placed in the position of official bartenders for the Province of Manitoba. We want the Legislature to adopt some other means of handling the liquor business, for a vast per-centage of the liquor used in the Province is not used for medicinal purposes at all," he said.

Are the doctors of Ontario to become provincial bartenders like those of Manitoba, or shall we have sane, practicable legislation governing the distribution of liquor, legislation conducive to true temperance?

Vote "NO" in the coming Referendum and sign the League's Memorial for Government Control.

An unique feature of the league is found in the fact that its constitution called for the election of officers, who called for the election of officers, who are, or have been, players in the or-sanization. This assures progressive-ness, and in reality makes it a league run for and by the players. This, how-ever, does not mean that the officers will not accept outside information, but on the contrary they welcome it. Belasco Finds A Good Use

For Hobby Producer Uses Own Collection of Rare Antiques to Make Scences in "Deburau" True to the Times.

T HAS been many seasons since a production reached the New York stage that has had such an interesting collection of properties as David Belasco's latest success, "Deburau," the drama, from the French of Sacha Guitry, in which he is presenting Llo-nel Atwill.

The action of the play, which is laid in Paris near the middle of the nineteenth century, furnished a considerable problem in gathering many of the properties, especially as Mr. Belasco, with his usual attention to detail, insisted that everything be authentic. That the result has more than justified the time expended on this feature of the production, however, is proven by the approval that has been accorded the fidelity of the scenes

The only true method of accomplishing this we found to be in car renewal. We then set ourselves to an investigation of con-ditions and methods among dealers thru-out the country, both inside and outside of our own organization. We arrived at the solution of renewal, in which we felt we had reason to believe. Hap has an mechanical turn of mind. His father admits with much chagrin that the only thing Hap ever has done in his life was to invent an automatic feed grinder which hurt Dad's business.

One day when Hap is riding out on desert-for no other reason than that he likes to ride-he meets a man who is tinkering with an automobile. He can't get it in running order. Hap swaps his horse for the automobile. He tries to get it going, but the front wheels stagger. So Hap ropes the front axle and guides the car to his father's ranch. Then he can't stop the car, so he drives thru a fence and causes the cowboys to scatter. He yells to the boys to shoot the gas tank so as to stop the "wild critter." For this escapade Dad Higgins up-braids Hap, but Hap soon jollies him back into good humor.

Hap soon gets the "blamed thing going and rides off. He meets Luther McCabe, an auto driver, with Patricia O'Malley, looking over the road for the coming Phoenix auto race, in which McCabe is to drive the OMal-ley car—O'Malley hoping to win the acy car—O Malley noping to win the race and thus secure a big Japanese order. from beneath a boulder, and giving its harsh warning, coiled, ready to strike. The dog backed away, but instead of growling he looked to the man.

Oowboys frequently practice with their revolvers at snakes, but one of the peculiations of this rider was that he carried no gun, neither six-shooter nor rifie. He drew out a short knife which might be used to skin a beef or carve meat, tho certainly no human being had ever used such a weapon against a five-foot rattler. He stooped and rested both hands on his thighs His feet were not two paces from the poised head of the snake. As if mar-veling at this temerity, the big rattler tucked back its head and sounded the alarm again. In response cowboy flashed his knife in the the Instantly the snake struck, but the deadly fangs fell a few inches short of the riding boots. At the same se cond the man moved. No eye could follow the leap of his hand as it darted down and fastened around the snake just behind the head. The long body writhed about his wrist with fattles clashing. He severed the head deftly and tossed the twisting mass back on the rocks.

Then, as if he had performed the most ordinary act, he rubbed his gloves the sand, cleansed his knife in a similar manner, and stepped back to his horse. Contrary to the rules of his horse. Contrary to the rules of horse-nature, the stallion had not flinched at sight of the snake, but act-ually advanced a high-headed pace or two with his short cars laid flat on his sock, and a sudden red fury in his eyes. "Well," declared Morgan, "if Whistling Dan was here, I'd be willing to bet he can stand with his back to the coins he can stand with his back to the down at fifty paces an' when they're thrown he drills four dollars easier than any man here can do it to one." A high, thrilling whistle came faint-ly from the distance. "That fellow on the black horse down the road," said Lee Haines, "I guess he's the one that can hit the four dol-lars? Ha! ha! ha!" "Sure," grinned Silent, "listen to his whistle! We'll see if we can drag that bet out of the bar-keep." The bet was soon arranged and when Whistling Dan Barry arrived on Satan he reluctantly and modestly yielded to the urging of Morgan and consented to attempt the feat. The Uneven Hem Adds a Smart Touch To Many Graceful Afternoon Frocks formal Afternoon Gowns Have Longer Skirts and Are Made of Black or Light Gray--Shoes, Hose and Gloves Match.

BY MILLICENT SUTCLIFFE.

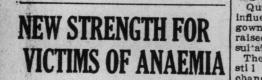

HE popular uneven hem-lines have assumed a position of great importance this season. They are marked by much originality of treatment and are conspicuous features in many of the latest models. This modish irregularity is very success fully exploited in a graceful afternoon frock of black charmeuse, which ex-hibits long panels hanging below the hem at each side, edged with a tiny fringe of fine-cut steel beads. The beads are also used to adorn the frock itself.

The tendency to greater length i to be noted in the newest models for formal afternoon wear. In Paris black is much in favor for such gowns, also a very light gray. Shoes, stockings and gloves, as a rule, all match these frocks, and in order to relieve the somewhat sombre or neutral effect, a striking note of color is introduced by a hat and pocketbook of vermil-

New laces and lace-like embroideries of novel designs are to be noted. Colored lace is used a great deal and there are some wonderful combinations of fame and copper color. Amongst the new designs is a colored silk embroidery with gold tracery on a black net background. Another striking novelty is a fine allover design in gold or silver metal threads.

The sash may be said to be the keynote of many of the new frocks this spring, and one charming model of black lace over white satin, with a square neck-line and short sleeves, has a deep sash placed at a low waist-line made of black satin, which gracefully draped over the skirt and has a long, pointed end hanging below the hem-line,

A raspberry taffeta sash, forming an enormous puffed-out bow at the left side, constitutes the chief trimming on a very striking afternoon gown, an adaptation of the late 18th century modes, developed in supple black taffeta, Roman striped, in rasp-berry, old blue and yellow. In still another instance, a huge pleated cockade of taffeta makes a most original finish to a sash of the same material, with long, floating ends. The pretty handkerchief drapery, so

A Remarkable Home Treamcas Given by One Who Had It In the year of 1993 I was attacked by Muscular and Sub-Acute Rheumatism. I suffered as only those who are thus af-flicted know for over three years. I tried remedy after remedy, but such re-lief as I obtained was only temporary. Finally, I found a treatment that cured me completely and such a pitiful con-dition has never returned. I have given it to a number who were terribly afflict-ed, even bedridden, some of them seven-ty to eighty years old, and the results were the same as in my own case. I want every sufferer from any form of muscular and sub-acute (swelling at the joints) rheumatism, to try the great walue of my improved "Home Treat-ment" for its remarkable healing power. The Liberty League or any other organization or individual which suggests government control as a factor in the present vote is deliberately trying to deceive you. Government control is not and cannot be in any way an issue. You can't vote either for or against it.

The issue is clear and straight---whether or not the importation of liquor into the province of Ontario shall be prohibited.

IMPORTANT ROAD MEET HERE NEXT TUESDAY

Representatives of Motor Clubs, Chambers of Commerce and Boards of Trade, Along Proposed Canadian Section of First International Transcontinental Highway, to Convene Here Tuesday and Confer With Minister of Highways-Government Approval Will Add Millions of Dollars Annually to Revenue Derived by Province From Motor Tourist Traffic.

The most important international highway meeting held in Canada since the mammoth convention in this city last year in conjunction with the Michigan Pike Association's tour, will be convened at the King Edward Hotel at one o'clock Tuesday afternoon proceeding to the parliament buildings at 3.30 for a conference with the government in general and the Minister of Highways, Hon. F. C. Biggs, in par-ticular, with a view to obtaining sancalon for the marking of the Niagara Fa.is-Hamilton-Windsor road as a section of the Roosevelt Transconti-nental Highway, which has as its termini Portland, Oregon, and Port-land, Maine. The marking consists of red and white bands on the telegraph poles along the route. If the requested sanction is obtained this will be the first international transcontinental highway. That sanction will not be withheld is the be-lief of the proponents of the highway as the King George International Highway, proposed by the Vancouver and Victoria motor clubs (the trail for which was blazed last summer by Percy Gommery-as reported in these columns-lies more extensively thru

TRUCK TRANSPORT TO DEVELOP RAPIDLY

Mortality Rate of Truck Transport Companies Surprisingly Low in View of Circumstances-Most Arguments Urged Against Motor Truck Transportation Equally or More Applicable to Rail Transportation-All Major Forms of Transport Have Sphere of Superiority.

Voluntarily or otherwise, prejudiced pro-radial witnesses have recently indulged in some gratuitous adverse criticism of motor transport. They have given evidence to the effect that interurban motor transport is declining, that some motor transport companies have suspended operations, and that others are bankrupt and still others defunct.

Without entering the lists of the disputants on the relative merits; of radial and motor transport further than to say that Europe, and especially England, after intensive transportation analysis, have declared for road (motor) transport in preference to rail, and to add palliatively to the radial protagonists that in long haul work and where carload lots are shipped, electric radial transportation has advantages over truck transport, even as has truck transport over radial transportation in other work. Without pausing here to indulge in recrimina-tion, it would be less than fair to point out the fact that the failures alluded to in the opening paragraph do not establish any inherent fault in the economy and efficiency of motor transport. The so-called failures are due to the shrinkage in goods and materials shipped resulting from the depression, the lack of co-ordination in business management, sufficient capi-tal, wrong type rolling stock of the motor transport companies. Their mortality rate is low compared to the Their mortality rate of companies launched at the inception of other forms of

THE ALCHEMY OF WORK. Take up a handful of soil; in it are the elements of food, clothing, shelter for all mankind. And it is remarkable, when you begin to put the soil at work, how many men you have to put at work, too. If it is the era of "the man with the hoe," somebody has to make the hoe. And then somebody must hoe. And then somebody must take part of the product of the hoe's work to the man who helped make the hoe; and be-fore you know it you have started the Great Sisterhood of Arts in motion—Agriculture, Manu-facture, Transportation. About The "I-Knew-Him-

When" Club

GEORGE ADE'S suggestion about the "I-Knew-Him-When" club is being exemplified out at the Goldwyn studio, when the actors and directors get together and exchange reminis-cences of other days. There is good material in a number of them, too-as for instance, J. G. Hawks, who admits that six years ago he earned only $50 a week writing scenarios. Now he is managing editor of the Goldwyn studios and is probably the highest paid editorial executive in the motion picture industry. Consider, also, Lon Chaney, who four years ago was only an "extra." Now he has the leading man's part in Leroy Scott's "The Night Rose," and his sal-ary is just about the same as that received by the president of the United States. As for Cullen Landis-a short three years ago he was doing odd jobs around the studio. Now, as one of the most popular "juveniles" on the screen he draws a salary which makes his income tax what he would have considered a fortune a few years ago.

voutly raising his hands, cried. "Thank God, they are Christians!"

Paul Bern, who with Cari Harbaugh directed Rex Beach's "The North W.nd's Malice" for Goldwyn, was an actor for five years, and frequently stage man-ager. His first motion picture work was in Canada, in 1915.

Radium in Air Certain to Affect French-Canadians, if This Theory of History is Proved Correct.

HAVING explained how he believes the energy of radium is trans-mitted to the human race, the veteran ex-president of the Alaska Academy turns to describe in the following article its effects on various peoples and empires, and concludes with the prediction that Ontario and Quebec will produce a dominant race and that the French-Canadian will perhaps, thru energy, shake off "clerical power." His researches have led to a very painstaking account of the origin of the races which united themselves against the Roman Empire, but this he does not include in the present article, which deals with matters of greater interest to Canadians.

BY PETER L. TROUT.

(Continued From Last Week.) I have come to the conclusion that there are two great sources from which this phenomenal energy comes. One is in northwestern Europe and the other is in Manchuria, in northeastern Asia; and it is from these two sources that all the phenomenal energy has come. It is much easier to locate this eastern source of energy than it is the western source, for the Chinese built the great wall of China to dam "It up near its source. The kind of energy that was generated in the glaciated rocks in Manchuria is manifested in the Huns and Mongols, who marched over the greater part of Asia and about half of Europe. To them the inhabi-tants of the parts mentioned could no more offer effectual resistance than a flock of sheep could to a pack of hungry wolves.

Ice is the Test. It should be understood that the glaciated rocks that I have mentioned are the only glaciated rocks in either Europe or Asia. Of this I have become thoroly convinced by my own

EARTH GROWS WARMER SUGGESTS MME. CURIE

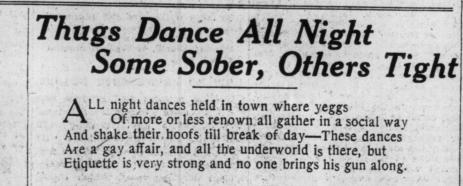

MME. MARIE CURIE has recently revealed that one of the theories on which she is working now may upset the long established belief regarding the source of heat in the earth. Science has considered as a fixed principle that the earth was once a molten ball and is in a gra-dual process of cooling, the loss of heat accounting for the corrugations of mountains and valleys to a large extent and ex-plaining the cause of earth-quakes and other great disturbances. Every school boy is still taught that the centre of the earth is liquid fire. In the minds of most scientists the world will or most scientists the world will come to an end when all the heat has been given off and human life can no longer exist. Mme. Curie's research into the field of radium potentialities has suggested to her that, in-stead of cooling, the earth is really erroring moments and is really growing warmer and that the heat does not come from molten fire in earth's centre, but from minute particles of radio-active substances like radium that may be scattered over the earth to a dath that earth to a depth that cannot how be even estimated. A de-termination of the amount of radium and similar substances in the earth may be definitely measured, she believes, and the permanent heating power permanent heating power ascertained.

I ave serious objection to what Professor Grant says about the passing of the great race, for I have a very much higher opinion of the Nordic race than to believe that it is passing, or that it cannot endure a warm climate. I am willing to admit that the Goths could not thrive in Italy nor the Vandals in Africa, but this is certainly not true of the Berbers, who also belonged to the Nordic race, but became acclimated, and a good example of them is pic-tured in Shakspere's Othello. The story of the Berbers furnishes a complete refutation of Professor Madison Grant's theory of the passing of the Nordio race.

carnival, but it is safe to say that no county carnival in Ontario can compare with it in the matter of wasting time and accomplishing nothing. The present session, more so than its predecessors, has been marked by a series of obvious delays that amounts to nothing less than a public scandai. Hour after hour is wasted on the most trivial questions that would scarcely be deemed worthy of conideration by an amateur debating society. If ever the right of free speech was abused, Ontario's "legislators" are abusing it to the full. And for once both Liberal and Conservative are united in what seems to be a conspiracy to delay the session as long as possible. What possible political advantage they may secure from this avalanche of talk is hard to see, but nevertheless it continues from day to day. And the amusing part of it all is that the offenders are very touchy when rebuked. They resent the charge that they are wasting time and retort that they don't propose to be gagged when discussing the business of the province. If the two opposition leaders set a better example to their followers, perhaps business might be expedited.

not hazzard a guess. But if the customer would accept a two-party phone. that might be arranged by a supreme effort. Nearly twenty thousand phone users have been forced, in a few months, to take party phones by this kind of encouragement. If there was any substantial inducement in the form of a lower rate, the party phone might go down easier, but the company has now got the party rate up to within 25 or 50 cents a quarter of the individual rate of a year ago, and only $1.75 a quarter under the present single line rate. The public will in time come to realize that monopolies should not be held by private concerns, and then a way will be found to municipalize both the telephone and the gas systems.

Over fifty years ago a young physician practiced widely in Pennsylvania and became famous for his uniform success in the curing of disease. This was Dr. R. V. Pierce, who afterwards established himself in Buffalo, N.Y., and placed one of his prescriptions, which he called "Golden Medical Discovery," in the drug stores in the United States and Canada, so that the public could easily obtain this remarkable tonic, corrective, and blood-maker. Dr. Pierce manufactured this "Discovery" from roots and barks without alcohol-a corrective remedy, the ingredients of which nature had put in the fields and forests, for keeping us healthy. Introduce pure red blood into the system, and health is assured. When you feel run-down, out of sorts, blue and despondent try the energizing influence of this reliable tonic. PRIDE OR PLEASURE. By Grace Inglis.

By Grace Inglis. — Margaret and Dalsy Kingsland lived near the lake and every day they went down to the beach with their nurse to play in the sand. One morning when they were ready to go nurse saw that Margaret was not dressed in her play clothes, but had on her good dress and a parasol and book in her hand. "You can't go and play on the beach in your good dress," said nurse. "Well, you see, Nurse, I think I am too big to play on the beach in such clothes. "Dear me," she said to herself, "I shouldn't wonder if that were my old sandal."
She searched where she had thrown the odd sandal on the day its mate had been snatched away by the eagle and, finding it without any difficulty, put it away in a safe place.
When the couriers finally came to her, of course the sandal fitted perfectly and they decided at once to take her to the king so that he could try for himself.
On the day when the king was to perform the ceremony of trying on the slipper, Rhodopis stood in the centre of the huge, glittering hall. All eyes were on her as she stood there look.

THOUGHTFUL BOB

While I was working with an "old sheep dog Bob in a twenty-acros field, writes an English boy, one sheep left the others and ran wildly across the field till it was stopped by a fence in front, with a ditch on one side and a sheep pool on the other side, and only four feet between them. I sent Bob to fetch the sheep back.

I sent Boo to teten the sneep back. When he arrived where the sheep was standing he understood that if he fol-lowed it on the narrow piece of land it must either go into the ditch or the

VIEWS IN TORONTO, NORTHERN ONTARIO, THE STUDIOS

Whenever there's something big doing in police circles, you may depend on it that old Number Two Division wills be in the thick of the excitement. Hark back no further than the "August riots" of 1918 and remember how the crowds surged round the old Agnes street police station, newly re-christened the Dundas west station. These are the men of Number Two, responsible for maintenance of law and order in the Ward! Front row, left to right: M. O'Shea, J. Story, Patrol-Sergeant G. Dalby, Inspector Bond, M. Gilgan, R. Finding that spring is with us, some of the restless spirits are beginning to dream of summer, with trips and camping. For such there is no place like Northern Ontario, and most of them know it; so they are turning to Muskoka and far beyond into the region where the dress suit has not penetrated, white ducks are a laughing stock, and the summer boy a simp. This is just the sort of scene to appeal to them. The camp is pitched near Panache Lake, back of Whitefish postoffice.

Strange, but true, that Red Cross activities are still needed in Europe so long after the war. Here is Miss Clara D. Noyes, director of nursing of the American Red Cross, sailing on the Aquitania to make a complete tour of inspection of Red Cross fursing accommodation in Europe and Asia Minor.

Summer visitors to Northern Ontario miss most of the romantic and thrilling parts of the great lumbering operations. They see the dams and flumes and all the rest of it, but they seldom arrive soon enough to see the logs floated down from one level to another. By July the water is much lower and even the dams could not raise it enough to make of this dry spot above the stream a torrent filled with valuable trunks of forest giants." Often, however, the visit ors linger at such spots to fish or picnic while the huskier members of the party attend to the portaging.

Jolfing is said to aid good sportsmanship as well as polite cussing. You might think, for e xample, that both of these men had won an Important match. Which won? By missing a twofoot putt, Walter Hagen, famou's golfer, brought his play with James Barnes, equally famous g offer, to a tie. So neither won, bot by smilling and feeling merry about it, both made friends.

There may be other families just as famous as this girl's family is, but you will have to show most folks pretty conclusively. This is just one of the Talmadge sisters. There are three of them, and they make a lot more noise in the screen world than ever the seven Sutherland sisters did in the store windows. Yes, they do, and a ny fan will tell you, And, of course, this is Norma, just about the smillingest of all.
