How "Queen Elizabeth" Got Even.

BY ANNIE JAMES. May and Pearl and Junie, three dear little sisters, had a very pretty present given to them. This present was one that could run about and say "Meow!" And the little girls named this pretty present— which of course you must know was a kitten— "Queen Elizabeth." Queen Elizabeth was just two months old when she became the property of little May, Pearl and Junie, and she had just learned to sit nicely out of a manger, if it was placed on the floor where she could get a nibble of milk. Milk was the favorite diet of Queen Elizabeth and little May and Pearl and Junie were always very kind to her and kept the saucer filled with the freshest and sweetest of milk that they could get from the collar where many puss and crows were kept on long shelves.

presented itself to her to make good her resolution. After finishing luncheon May, Pearl and Junie came into the yard to play. They at once hunted out Queen Elizabeth from beneath the clump of shrubbery where she had hidden from their threatened attack on her. Junie it was who reached a fat little hand in after the tiny pussy, grasping Queen Elizabeth about the body and giving it a squeeze and a tug to draw it forth. She succeeded in bringing the little thing to light, but immediately dropped her with a cry of "Ouch-hi!" Then she held up her hand and wrist bearing three deep scratches from which oozed tiny specks of blood. "Oh, see how Queen Elizabeth has scratched me!" she cried, showing her wrist to her surprised sisters. "Oh, the naughty kitten!" declared May. "She needs to be punished for that. I'll catch her and give her a good smacking on the ears."

mean to be," explained Pearl. "If we hugged you too tightly it was because we loved you so much. But now we mean to advise you from a safe distance. So, down with your tail and behave yourself, my high and mighty Queen." Their conduct toward her was such as drew her funny fat tail down to its normal size. Then she walked about her three mistresses, keeping all the while a safe distance, from them. But after many days and nights Queen Elizabeth became on better terms with May, Junie and Pearl, for she learned that they feared her claws and teeth too much to handle her. So she became a great playfellow, running and leaping after a pretty white ball that the little girls would toss to her. And pretty soon the little girls found there was much more fun to be had in playing with the kitten in this free and easy way than in handling and hugging the poor little thing till it cried out "Meow" with pain. "You see cats feel as well as other people," said Pearl. "And that's why Queen Elizabeth gave us back as good as we sent, scratch for squeeze."

After finishing luncheon May, Pearl and Junie came into the yard to play.

thing how to behave. Running and catching up the fleeing kitten she gave her a sound slap on her pretty little ears. Now, Queen Elizabeth was ready for this sort of chastisement and was not a bit surprised when she received the blows which, considering her size, were pretty heavy ones, though not intended to be so. The truth is, Pearl meant to tap her very gently, just to make her understand she had been a naughty kitten and must suffer for the consequence of her misconduct. Squirming about on Pearl's hands Queen Elizabeth gave her captor such a scratching on her wrist and such a bite—she had just learned the use of her sharp teeth—that Pearl was glad enough to put her down. But Queen Elizabeth would not go down. She held on to Pearl's hands with her vicious little claws, digging them deeper and deeper every second. At last, in real despair, Pearl tore the claws loose from her flesh and threw the kitten on the grass. Then away she went to the house to show her wounds to her mother, just as Junie and May had done. Left alone Queen Elizabeth was happy. She rolled and rolled on the grass; no great hugging girls being there to annoy her and rob her of her freedom. But after a while she became sleepy and lay down in the cool shade to take a "cat nap." While slumbering softly, and no doubt dreaming of mice, foot steps sounded on the soft earth near her. Opening one little blue eye it is said that cats always sleep with one eye only, keeping the other awake to watch for danger, and Queen Elizabeth saw May, Pearl and Junie creeping stealthily towards her. Instantly she was awake with both eyes and got up, her tail fanned to a great size and held high above her back. She had suddenly become not only brave, but defiant. She seemed to say, "Now, no more handling, if you please. I have my rights as a living and breathing and feeling creature and I shall stand for no foolishness. My claws and teeth are sharp, as you are all aware. If you'd have liberty and peace allow me to enjoy the same."

A DISTINCTIVE BROADCLOTH MODEL. One attractive model in the suits for early fall is this cross between a pony and an eon. It is a little shorter than the once fashionable pony and a little longer than the eon. Its severity of style and smartness of cut stamps it as a practical runabout suit for general wear. In color it is a dark blue and the braid and velvet trimmings are in the same shade. The front of the coat is double-breasted and fastened with three large fancy metal buttons. The bottom is cut and stitched in walls of troy design, and the open spaces filled in with medallions of velvet braided with blue hercules. The Gibson

MANAGED BY A COMMISSION. Australian Government Railways Produce a Surplus to be Used in Betterments.

In Australia there is government ownership of railways. Last year, 1906, the revenue was $90,000,000. After paying the interest charges, there was a surplus of $2,000,000. The surplus is real. It is so genuine that the government can expend it in improving and extending the road. How is it that our government-owned road fails to pay the interest upon the money invested in the railway? The answer is that the interest upon its bonds and has a surplus to devote to improvements and extensions? The explanation is to be found in the management. The operation of the railway system is vested in a board of railway commissioners, consisting of three men. They are elected for a term of four years, and can be removed only for misconduct, and then only through a majority vote of both houses. The railroads are administered now absolutely independently of any political influence, and they are operated strictly on a commercial basis, paying for everything that they buy and getting full value for everything that they give out. An interesting example and proof of this is that since the present commissioners took charge they have collected from the government of Victoria the full value of the annual passes issued to the members of parliament over the government railways. Two years previous the charge of the railways there was a deficit of about one million dollars. Just the year before they took charge the deficit had increased to almost double that amount. For the fiscal year of 1905-6 the deficit had been converted to a surplus of one million dollars. During the four years that the present commissioners have been at the head of the system full interest charges have been paid and liabilities also to the extent of four million dollars have been liquidated, which were left over by the former regime of controllers. Besides this, between a half million and one million dollars has been turned over to the government.

Weak Women. To weak and ailing women, there is at least one way to help. But with that way, two treatments must be combined. One is local, one is constitutional, but both are important, both essential. Dr. Shoop's Night Cure is the local.

BABY HAD DIARRHOEA FOR SEVEN WEEKS

Thousands of infants die annually who could be saved by the timely use of Dr. Fowlson's Extract of Wild Strawberry. There can be no doubt about it. Sixty years of experience has proved this sterling remedy to be the best for Diarrhoea, Dysentery, Colic, Cramps, Cholera Infantum, Cholera Morbus, Summer Complaint, and all bowel troubles in both children and adults. Many of the imitations sold are positively dangerous, as they often check the diarrhoea too suddenly and cause inflammation. Always insist on the genuine Dr. Fowlson's. Sold at all medicine dealers at 35 cents a bottle. Mrs. A. B. DeMarchand, Beth, N.B. writes: "My baby was troubled with Diarrhoea for nearly seven weeks. I tried three different doctors, but none of them could do her any good. I was advised to try Dr. Fowlson's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and less than half a bottle cured her." Manufactured by The T. FINANCIAL and COMMERCIAL
HOW WALL STREET RECEIVED
THE PRESIDENT'S SPEECH
Responsible Interests Unwilling to Commit Themselves--Professional Traders Also at Sea--Sentiment Unsettled--The Outflow of Gold.

(New York Journal of Commerce, Wed.)
Up till 3 o'clock Wall Street did not know exactly how to interpret President Roosevelt's speech. It contained much that was expected and a little that was in the nature of a surprise. The less hysterical element in the financial district never for a moment expected that the President would deviate from his well-known policy of seeking to bring the guilty to book, nor did they look for any great modification of phraseology, notwithstanding the turbulent state of at least the financial, if not the public mind. But what was unforeseen and what excited the greatest interest stock market-wise was the intimation, at the eleventh hour, that the speech had been "amended" immediately prior to delivery. This amendment directly concerned Wall Street. It threw down the gauntlet to "certain manufacturers of great wealth" whom the President accused of having wilfully sought to aggravate economic conditions for the purpose of discrediting the government. "So that they may enjoy the unmolested fruits of their own evil doings." With characteristic vigor the President reiterated his determination of punishing wrong-doers, but there was in his remarks a suggestion of greater discrimination in starting prosecutions, which had something of a soothing effect. Responsible interests were unwilling to commit themselves as to the probable effect of the speech throughout the investment world, and for the moment they did nothing in the stock market. The Street is still waiting for what, if done not quite known. Its mind is disturbed. It possesses little of that calmness necessary for the making of discriminating investments. And, as a matter of fact, despite recommendations that securities of the best class may now be safely purchased for investment, few important investments are being made. Professional traders were equally at sea

MR. FORGET ON THE STOCK MARKET
Mr. Rodolphe Forget, M. P., of Montreal, says of market conditions: "I believe the worst is over. Prices in many instances have been carried down to such a level that the list of local securities offers many highly attractive bargains for investors. If an investor, for instance, will take the local list and pick out a dozen of the standard stocks and invest in them at present prices, he will obtain a net return on his investments of 7.54 per cent, besides standing a good chance of an appreciation of 50 per cent. within the next couple of years. The decline in local prices has been simply due to a great extent to the slump on the Wall Street market. There are always certain people who must speculate, and, being unable owing to the local market, they turn to the New York market, and when the slump took place on that market they were obliged to sacrifice their local holdings to provide for their New York interests. This explains the recent liquidation on the local market, but I believe that it is now over. While it would be too much to expect any sustained upward movement for the present, I believe that when things become quiet there should be a steady improvement."

THE LONDON MARKET
A cable to the New York Herald from London says: "Views expressed by several leading city men indicated that although the London financial position is likely to get worse before it gets better, there is no immediate risk of a panic. Many markets are demoralized and the investing public are keeping their money locked up in bank or investing in foreign securities because consols and other so-called gilt edged securities at home are so much depreciated. The general opinion was that although there were no signs of a financial panic or a crisis, the outlook was decidedly uncertain. The markets were drifting aimlessly, and there were rumors on the Stock Exchange that a large account was being liquidated, but the name of the firm involved was religiously kept secret."

President Roosevelt's attitude is condemned by certain powerful interests which would cheerfully go the length of producing a panic in Wall Street in the hope of inducing him to change his policy.

"The country is likely to be reassured rather than disturbed by the president's resolute firmness and unwavering fidelity to what he conceives to be his duty. The laws which he is determined to vindicate are wholesome and necessary and are intended to put an end to real evils.

Several speakers—men closely identified with the fishery business—declared that because of ignorance or carelessness on the part of fishermen, and inaction on the part of the government, this great industry is ages behind the times.

The question of government telephones is now a very live question in Alberta. Hon. W. H. Cushing, minister of public works in that province, says that the government believes the province can run a telephone system just as efficiently and much more cheaply than the Bell people.

A Winnipeg business man has this to say of the action of the banks:—"My opinion is that the banks have shut up tight very much quicker than they had any need to. There might have been some reason for being a little more careful, but that might have been done gradually instead of as suddenly as they have done."

DOES EXPERIENCE COUNT?

Guess it counts some in the prescription business. Twenty-five years of a pretty good guarantee of ROBB'S ability, isn't it? Experience in the prescription business means a lot! Means—the doctor's orders strictly adhered to in compounding the prescription.

To stand where verging pathways go, To hear an ironical ditty say, When just within one's eager reach, Are beckoning sail and pleasure beach, And then, in duty's bonds, to turn, With weary steps and eyes that burn Back to the life that cries its need: Ah! this is heavy indeed!

HON. ADAM BECK AND THE LONDON SEAT. Local Conservatives Said to Want Him to Stay With Whitney.

A London, Ont., letter to the Toronto World says that Conservatives there do not want Hon. Adam Beck to go into federal politics in the coming by-election.

A prominent Conservative speaking to The World today, said: "I don't think there is anything in this rumor that Hon. Mr. Beck intends to get out of provincial politics and try for a federal seat."

"The people of the province of Ontario look to Mr. Beck to give them cheap power. If he draws out of the fight before the victory is won, the suspicion will arise that another public ownership man has some way or another been switched away by the corporations."

"But how could the corporations be concerned even if Mr. Beck did run for a federal seat?" asked the World.

"The electrical trust believes if Mr. Beck is got out of the way, even by being tempted by a larger field of influence, it will be comparatively easy for the trust to juggle the Ontario power policy to suit its purposes."

WORLD'S TROTTING RECORD GOES ALSO FASTEST MILE FOR THE YEAR - Good Work at Readville

The world's record for three-year-old trotting stallions was raised to 2:01 by General Watts at the grand circuit meeting Wednesday at Readville both of the American Horse Breeders' Futurity going to the son of Axworthy in that remarkable time. The victory of the colt was a surprise to the talent, as this season the filly, Bell Bird, had taken his measure at Cleveland and at Buffalo. Yesterday, however, he was clearly master of the situation. Angus Pointer, owned by Senator George Whitney, Enfield N. H. paced the fastest mile in the year in the free-for-all, by going the second heat in 2:02.34.

QUEBEC TURF CLUB MEET. The annual meet of the Quebec Turf Club on the 27th and 28th inst., promises to be the most successful in the history of the club, judging from the number of entries so far received. The entries closed Wednesday morning, and this evening entries had been received from Montreal, Quebec, Fort Erie, London, Ont., and Williamsport. Among the horses entered so far are—Puff, Myrmidon, Auf Wiedersehen, Red Monk, Harmony, Bluecoat, Lyse, Andy Williams, Germantown, Bluejay, Rocky Tom, Ring Dance, Lady Grant, Guinea Gold, Tommy, War Whoop and Billy Derome.

Readville, Mass., Aug. 22.—After three of the closest finishes seen in the present Grand Circuit meetings here, Kruger was today re-elected the winner of the Norfolk stake, valued at $500. While scoring first heat, Sam Rydyk, Wilson Addition and Miss Gay collided at the wire. Lester Howe, of Toronto, who was in the lead, was thrown ten feet in the air and landed fully thirty feet in front of his mare. He luckily escaped with a badly sprained ankle. Cox, who was behind Wilson Addition, was thrown against the fence, but was not injured. None of the horses was hurt in the slip-up. Cox set the pace in the opening heat with John A., to the distance when McDonnell brought Kruger in, winning by a neck. In the following heat Geers also won by a neck, but when he outstruck the gelding, gaining the decision by a narrow margin. Repeating these tactics in the final, McDonnell dropped directly behind John A., and again brought Kruger ahead in desperate fashion, crossing the home stretch, while Derry Hal just ahead of second position. Kruger is the property of Ralph B. Williams, of Boston. By taking the bookmaker, valued at $4,000. Embury attempted to spread his net by getting a big lead through trotting the first half better than he had in any previous race. He was not able to hold it, however, and was not enough to win the first heat. In the following heat the California gelding, who had won the submission in the final, furlong, Bonnie Russell getting second. Kruger, however, had a lead, owned by Mrs. K. A. Grubbe, handily got the better of the field in the 2:09 trot.

Not Too Early to Train. It is suggested that the long distance runners of this city and province keep in mind the Marathon A. C. road race is an annual affair, and that the training should be in the latter part of September. No definite arrangements have been made, but it is thought that the contest will follow close after the annual meeting of club which arrangements will be made.

BASE BALL. A game of baseball between the Royals and the Rovers was played Saturday afternoon on the Victoria grounds. These teams played before at Amherst when the locals were defeated. The Birds' hitting, though by no means remarkable, shows improvement. There are now three above the 250 point. They are Needham, 268; Caravan, 260, and Egan, 252. Byers, of Baltimore, leads the league with 274. The other hitters above the 200 mark are: Thoney, Toronto, 241; Duffy, Providence, 232; Kelly, Toronto, 232; McConnell, Providence, 232; Carrigan, Toronto, 226; Flanagan, Rochester, 220; Butler, Jersey City, 220; McDonald, Newark, 212.

It is said that negotiations are now under way for the purchase by Toronto of Seattle, the Indian third baseman, from Philadelphia Nationals, who recalled him from Jersey City a few days since. The Nationals are reported to be having a transfer of the stock will be made at the end of the season. They have not got room enough for the spectators, who crowd to the ball yard in Detroit. A big planting and lumber yard adjoining the park back of right and centre fields, recently disappeared, the ground has been levelled and the fence will be moved back about 150 feet. Though no more seats can be provided there will be plenty of standing room.

HENLEY RULES TO CHANGE AGAIN Will Now Shut Out Foreign Competition Including Belgians.

A rather ticklish question presents itself to the stewards of the Henley Regatta, just now, that is, to judge by the scraps of news that have reached America from the Thames. A rule has been adopted to the effect that for next year's regatta no foreign entry will be received, and it is understood that it will apply to the Belgians, who are now holders of the Grand Challenge Cup. But it is not stipulated whether they will be allowed to hold the cup until 1909. Of course, it being a perpetual challenge trophy, the Belgians will have held it for one year by the time next year's regatta arrives and the conditions of competition will be fulfilled.

Some there are who think that the Belgians should be exempted from the rule and allowed to row at Henley. That is, provided they came to sea again to the Thames. Among those who favor this latter plan is R. T. Reeve, who states his views thus: "I have been quite astonished to find that the average rowing man is still under the impression that the Belgians, as holders of the Grand Challenge Cup, will be allowed to defend their title next year. The various opinions that have been expressed when the real position has been explained are needless to say, quite unfit for publication. The so-called reason (certainly unofficially expressed) is that the receiving of foreign entries would spoil the Olympic regatta."

It seems to me that the Henley stewards could have met the difficulty with a rule to the following effect: "That no foreign entries be accepted for the 1008 regatta other than the holders of the challenge cups."

SHRUBB IS SOON TO RETIRE

Alfred Shrubbs, who was practically lost to athletics in England after he had been declared a professional by the Amateur Athletic Association, is at present in Boston, and is endeavoring to arrange a match over any distance up to ten miles with Sherring, the Canadian winner of the great Marathon race at Athens. He wishes to meet Sherring during his tour of Canada, which will take place when he has concluded his engagements in the United States. Shrubbs is very much disappointed that there appears to be no chance of meeting the famous Indian runner, Thomas Longboat, who is unwilling to turn professional.

YACHTING BELGIAN MONARCH TO GIVE CUP

The King of the Belgians invited the Belgian crew that won the grand challenge cup to luncheon and dinner on board his yacht at Ghent recently, and personally congratulated the members of the crew on their great triumph. Under the title of the Ganda Cup a new international race will be rowed at Ghent. The distance of this course and the conditions of the race will be identical with those of the Grand Challenge Cup at Henley. The cup is to be worth $10,000. Owing to their success at Henley in 1906 the Club Nautique received permission from the king of the Belgians to add the prefix "Royal" to the name of the club and will in future be known as "Societe Royale."

AUSTRALIAN OARSMEN TO ENGLAND NEXT YEAR.

A conference of delegates from Sydney, Melbourne and Adelaide Universities recently decided to send a combined university crew to England next year to compete in the regatta arranged by the Olympic games committee. They will also send a crew from the Australian states generally it would be difficult to obtain sufficient funds for the universities' crew as well. Still, without wishing to hamper the larger scheme in any way, the conference was of the opinion that less difficulty would be experienced in getting a university crew of amateur oarsmen. The annual eight-oared race between the three universities was decided on the Lower Yarra. Sydney beat Melbourne, and Adelaide was a bad third.

MOVEMENTS OF THE SULLIVANS

He said he would wait till he saw the outcome of the Schreck go and remarked if he went in the ring in the near future it would be either with Johnson or Jeffries. He intimated that he intended to challenge Jeffries soon.

EXCELLENT CONCERT Entertainment in Opera House Last Night Was a Pronounced Success.

The concert given in the Opera House last night under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. in aid of the building fund of the Seaman's Mission, was a distinct success from an artistic point of view. It is a pity that a larger audience was not present as the merit of the performance was such that the house ought to have been filled to the doors. As it was, between 250 and 300 people were assembled. The programme was a generous one and every number elicited an enthusiastic encore. The singing of Miss Edith Louise Munroe and Mrs. Eleanor Fox Allen captured the audience. Miss Mathilde Johnson is an exponent of a high order and her efforts carried the house by storm. The programme was: Maybelle and Flowers, Miss Munroe and Mrs. Allen; May Morning, Mrs. Allen; (a), Grigsby Station; (b), Why; (c), Oh Barmine Cuddle Doon, Miss Johnson; Rest Thee, Mrs. Allen, Miss Munroe and Miss Johnson; Miss Miss March played the accompaniment. Persian State Jewels

The Arabian Nights stories can hardly be said to excel the actual wealth left by the late Shah of Persia in the way of gems of every description. This wealth runs close to a hundred million dollars. The ancient crown of the Persian dynasty contains a ruby larger than a hen's egg and of unexcelled fire and brilliancy. A silver vase is studded with 100 emeralds on a single one of which is engraved the single belt to be worn by the Persian monarch on state occasions is made up entirely of diamonds, weighs about 18 pounds and is worth close to three million dollars. A sword of state with a diamond hilted scabbard and with its sheath studded with all kinds of precious gems is worth a cool million dollars. The most curious treasure left by the late ruler of Persia is perhaps, a block of pure amber about six feet across. It is the largest piece of pure amber ever discovered in the history of the world so far as historical records show. This piece of amber is thought by Persians to have dropped direct from Heaven during the life time of the prophet Mohammed. It is an object of great veneration (if not of worship) on the part of all Mohammedans.

FINED FOR SELLING CIGARETTES TO BOYS

William H. Hopkins Fined $10 in Police Court This Morning.

William H. Hopkins was in court this morning charged with selling cigarettes to Murray Campbell, a minor, also with assaulting and beating George Webb. Wm. B. Turner appeared in the interests of the defendant. Although the hearing occupied only a short time, the proceedings were amusing.

In answer to the first charge, Hopkins said he was ignorant of the law governing the sale of cigarettes. Police Sgt. Ross said that the cigarettes were sold on Sunday, and his honor remarked that in that case there was no excuse whatever.

The defendant also admitted having assaulted George Webb, but, to use his own words, under great provocation. He declared that Webb had annoyed him by yelling at him, through the dingy door, that he had transgressed the law by selling cigarettes to a minor. The boarders who were at breakfast at the time told him that if he did not remove the lad and restore quietness that they would, and so it was that he struck young Webb in the face with his open hand.

Webb swore that Hopkins not only struck him in the face but followed him up. In reply to a query, Webb told the court that what he said to Hopkins was "I'll have you arrested for selling cigarettes to Campbell." Witness also stated that prior to this, he had boarded with Hopkins.

Harry Ford also gave evidence. His honor said that while Webb had annoyed the defendant, he had in doing so warned him of having transgressed the law by selling cigarettes to Campbell. Hopkins was fined $10 or 20 days in jail.

THE PLAYGROUNDS

Victoria Grounds the Scene of Great Animation Every Evening as Well as During the Day.

If the citizens generally could have seen the Victoria grounds last evening between seven and eight o'clock, they would have realized more fully than ever before the value of playgrounds. A group of Marathon players were practicing with ball and bat. On another part of the field boys were playing baseball. Elsewhere, some young men and a lot of boys were chasing football. The pole-vault was being practised in another place. The small children were on the swings and teeters, or playing on the greenward. The games continued until dusk, and even later, in the light of the full moon, groups of children ran gleefully over the field, reluctant to go away. The grounds are open every evening until dark, as well as in the morning and afternoon.

CORONER KENNY'S VERDICT

Coroner Kenny held an inquest yesterday into the death of Charles Weldon, of Hopewell Cape, who hanged himself in his bedroom in the Provincial Hospital on Wednesday. The jury recommended that greater care should be exercised by Dr. J. V. Anglin, superintendent, and his assistants, in providing against such occurrences. Dr. Anglin, when interviewed, said that every precaution was taken, but it was impossible to have every inmate out 600 in the institution, under surveillance all the time.

TOMORROW'S BALL GAME

Royals of St. John and Rovers of Amherst to Meet in Terrific Contest.

The game tomorrow between those ebony nines, our own Royals and the Amherst Rovers, promises to furnish something of the old-time flavor when the Nationals and Shamrocks used to play "real ball." The colored lads are great swatters, and for foot work—well, Wednesday's social event at the Bejov is a guarantee that none of the boys are troubled with tangled feet. The squad from Amherst is reported to have had daily sprints, hop steps and evening games of leap frog, the latter for hurdlings purposes, in fact, they have swayed a "no surrender" order and will get there at any cost. Bats have been preserved in Tantramur mud, that pure mud one reads about, and it is claimed that it is not like blacklead, so there can be no kick. Reverting to the Royals, Jimmy Williams, the star box artist, after his preliminary steps at the Bijou hall, the last heard of him he was removing boulders in conjunction with the dredges on the west side.

The line-up will be as follows:—

Royals	Catcher	Royals
Jones	James Ferrish
.....	Pitcher

.....	Williams
C. Fowler
.....	Gay
Jackson
.....	Jackson
Simmonds
.....	Jack Ferrish
