BATTLE IN COMMONS ENTERS NEW PHASE

LABOR M.P. MOVE WOULD REMOVE CENSURE IDEA

Sub-Amendment Now Awaits Ruling of Speaker

CONTINUES PROBE

If in Order, Conservatives Likely to Seek Others Means of Rebuke

Continued Probe

OTTAWA, June 24.—The battle which was precipitated in the House of Commons by the tabling of the committee report on administration of the Department of Customs and Excise, has entered on a new phase. In the small hours of this morning, J. H. Woodsworth, Labor member for North Centre, Winnipeg, submitted a sub-amendment to the Conservative amendment. This sub-amendment calls for the appointment of a judicial commission to continue the investigation of the Customs Department, recommends that the name of R. R. Farrow, Deputy Minister of Customs, be added to the list of those whose services should be dispensed with, and calls for no censure, either of Hon. George H. Bonanza, Minister of Customs, or of the government.

The introduction of the sub-amendment was the signal for protest from the Conservatives. The amendment was not a sub-amendment, declared Mr. Hon. Arthur Meighen on a point of order. It was a new amendment, and, as such, could not be received. Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, differed with Mr. Meighen.

MIDDLE COURSE "The sub-amendment presented a middle course for those who would vote for the report on the Conservative amendment. It was in order."

At last Speaker Lennieux intervened, announcing that he would take the matter under consideration and inform the House this afternoon of his decision as to whether or not the sub-amendment should be received. Thus the debate may assume a different complexion after the ruling of the speaker this afternoon. Should he rule that the amendment to the amendment is in order, the House will have before it a proposal which avoids the vexed question of ministerial responsibility. It is very probable, however, that the Conservatives in the event of the sub-amendment being accepted, will again find some means of moving the House to reconsider the decision of Hon. George H. Bonanza, Minister of Customs and the government.

WOULD PROBE FURTHER Mr. Woodsworth, in his amendment, recommends that the customs report be referred back to the special committee so that a further recommendation may be added for the appointment of a judicial commission "with full powers to continue and complete investigation of the administration of the Department of Customs and Excise and to prosecute all offenders."

The sub-amendment suggests that clause be added to the report of the committee deploring "the common practice as revealed by the evidence of members of parliament and others of appealing to the minister to relax the regulations of the department for personal advantage or political expediency."

GOOD RESULTS FROM A BOOSTING WORD

Visitors Come Here From California on Recommendation of E. A. Schofield

Through the good offices of a "booster," Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Mott, of Sausalito, Calif., are visiting here. E. A. Schofield met Mr. Mott while on the Pacific Coast last year, and as a result of his recommendation Mr. and Mrs. Mott, who intended making a trip east, decided to include New Brunswick in their visit. Another cause that brought them east was the fact that Mrs. E. H. Foster, now living in California, was a friend. Mrs. Foster was formerly Miss Hall, whose father was one of the founders of the firm of Hall and Fairweather. Mr. Mott seemed much pleased with the climate and scenery of Saint John, which reminded him of that at home. Another reminder of home was when taking a trip through the city market recently, a box of plums, he saw there, shipped from California by a man who was a schoolboy friend of his. Speaking of conditions on the Pacific Coast, Mr. Mott said that when he left, indications were that a pretty prosperous year was ahead for that district.

Chicago Congress Ends Today With Impressive Eucharistic Procession

WET CANVASS OF ONT. PLANNED

His Childhood Savings Are Buried Forever

Canadian Press WINNIPEG, Minn., June 24.—Ten years ago Hayley Sprague buried every cent of his childhood savings. He never bought candy or toys, but hid every coin beneath a marked plank in a sidewalk near his home in a suburb of Winnipeg. After three years of hoarding, he moved from the city with his parents and forgot his buried treasure. Yesterday Hayley returned to retrieve his "fortune," but to his chagrin found that the old wooden sidewalk had been replaced by a granite walk. His savings were buried forever.

HALF MILLION CARS ENTER N.B. LAST SEASON

Number This Year Expected Increased Says Automobile Association Head

As an illustration of the enormous and rapidly increasing motor vehicle traffic in this province, T. P. Regan, president of the New Brunswick Automobile Association, today in an interview, presented figures showing that nearly half a million cars from the United States entered New Brunswick last year. In 1924 the number was 386,641, and last year 476,555. Mr. Regan said that the number of passenger vehicles in Canada in 1925 was 689,095, an increase of 12 per cent. Commercial vehicles number 74,489, an increase of 10 per cent. New Brunswick last year had 19,022 motor vehicles, and although figures for this year will not be available for some time, it is known that there are now about 23,000 in New Brunswick.

CARS IN PROVINCES In this province there is one car for every 20 persons; in Nova Scotia one for 23, and in Prince Edward Island one for every 30. Ontario has nine persons per car, Quebec, 28; Saskatchewan, 11; British Columbia, 10; Manitoba, 13, and Alberta, 12.

Mr. Regan attended the recent Chicago convention of the Automobile Association. Canada was represented by Dr. Doolittle, president of the Ontario Automobile Club of Scrantons, Pa. Compulsory insurance was not generally favored. Instead it was felt by many delegates that if owners of motor vehicles were to record titles to their property, such an arrangement would go a long way to prevent fraud and smuggling of cars.

PREMIER WILL SUBMIT COURSE TO POPULATION

Will Stand or Fall on Temperance Act Issue

ANSWERS CRITICS

Declares Government Will Not Hide Behind Any Form of Barrage

Canadian Press BAYFIELD, Ont., June 24.—The government is going to canvas public sentiment from one end of the province to the other, regarding the Ontario Temperance Act, and when convinced of the proper course to pursue, will submit that course to the people.

Premier Ferguson made this declaration in addressing upwards of 5,000 people assembled here yesterday under the auspices of the Western Ontario Conservative Association. The Premier made no mention of a date having been decided on for the holding of an election.

PEOPLE TO DECIDE He continued regarding the liquor question: "Public sentiment placed the O. T. A. on the statute book. It will stay there if it is the wish of the people. But if the government finds, after careful consideration, that it can make an improvement that is considered to be in the welfare of the people, then it will submit that improvement, and on the issue it will be defeated or re-elected."

Premier Ferguson said he had been criticized from all quarters for his stand with respect to the act, but in declining to submit another one, he was following, he felt, the sound British constitution of representative democratic government. "We shall face the issue fearlessly and we shall not hide ourselves behind women's skirts, church organizations or any other form of barrage," he declared.

THROUGHS FLOCK TO MUNDELEIN FOR BENEDECTION

Sacred Host Carried Four Miles by Papal Legate

RICH CEREMONY

Colorful Robes of Church dignitaries Present Picture-rescue Sight

MUNDELEIN, Ill., June 24.—All roads today led to a new Rome of the Catholic Church—Mundelein, where in the procession of the Blessed Sacrament a great multitude of Eucharistic pilgrims repledged their faith in a living Christ. The spiritual pilgrimage of the faithful from many lands to the beautiful town named after the Cardinal Archbishop of Chicago and seat of St. Mary's of the Lake Seminary, was one of the most remarkable religious events of modern times.

Like a great tide, ever gathering momentum, the waves of human emotion swept upon Mundelein, 40 miles west of Chicago, through every available channel of movement, until the seminary grounds and its outlying territory became a vast city of nearly a million souls dedicated to a faith in century-old traditions.

Here Cardinal Bonanza, Papal legate, displays before adoring and reverent eyes, the Consecrated Host, a relic which in the Catholic belief, through consecration becomes the veritable body of Jesus Christ, fulfilling the Saviour's promise to His disciples at the Last Supper, when he broke bread, blessed it, and said: "Take ye, and eat. This is my body."

THE FINAL EVENT The Eucharistic procession, the final and crowning event of the jubilee, has been planned to begin at the outdoor sanctuary before the seminary chapel immediately after midnight, "if an honorable member who is sitting in his seat and doing nothing, is to be insulted in that way."

Again there were shouts and banging of desks, with Mr. Speaker constantly appealing for order. In the end the Speaker ended the excitement with the injunction: "Let the debate proceed."

DISCUSS AGAIN CLOSING FOR FURNITURE MEN

Delegation Meets City Commissioners; New Law to be Drafted

DIVISION OVER PROPERTY CASE

Matter of Repairs to Miss Hanson's Market Street Building

A large delegation of furniture dealers attended a meeting of the city commissioners today at City Hall in connection with the proposed change in the early closing by-law relating to furniture stores.

The common clerk submitted a proposed amendment by adding the words "during the months of June, July, August and September the stores shall close at 1 p.m. on Saturday and remain closed until 5 a.m. on Monday morning following."

Mr. Everett said this would not meet the wishes of the furniture men as it forced them to close on Saturday afternoon and evening which they wished to or not. All they wanted was a by-law to prevent them from keeping open Friday if they did not close on Saturday afternoon and evening.

A decided difference of opinion as to what took place at an informal meeting of the Common Council some weeks ago developed this morning between Commissioner Harding and Commissioners Wigmore, Frink and Bullock, when the matter of repairs to the building of Miss P. ASKS ABOUT LAW. The Mayor asked the building inspector what the law was, and Mr. Carleton said no wooden building could be erected on No. 1 fire district and no permit for repair would be issued where 50 per cent. or more of a building now standing was destroyed by fire.

Colonel W. B. Anderson, C. M. G., D. S. Fish Boosted As Goitre Preventative. Canadian Press. VICTORIA, B. C., June 24.—Eaton fish—that's the secret of prevention of goitre as summed up by Dr. W. D. Keith, of Vancouver, to the Canadian Medical Association. SAINT JOHN, N. B., JUNE 24, 1926.

REWARDING THE SCIENTISTS.

On a glorious summer day—just like today—233 years ago Samuel de Champlain sailed into the mouth of this river. The Indians told him the name of the place was Menabesque, but Champlain was thinking of the lovely weather—just as we are called for his name today—and took a stroll up to Queen Square trying hard to devise a better name. Whether it was the sight of a wilderness or simple piety that reminded him that it was Saint John the Baptist's day cannot be said, but anyhow he fixed our appellation there and then—though it may be noted that the English, just to show their independence, tried to change it to Parrtown for a time.

But June 24 has other things to make it notable. The almanac calls it mid-summer day, for which we cordially thank the almanac and furthermore that invaluable reminder note that it is the anniversary of Bannockburn. Now that is really important because if Robert the Bruce had not put it across the English on the banks of the bonnie Bannock it is possible that the brave Scots would never have survived as a race to teach the English Parliament how to rule, and, judging by the Saint John directory, three-quarters of the local businesses would not have had the efficient directors and managers they now possess.

Incidentally, Bannockburn was not entirely won by leadership or the Bruce's idea of digging pits into which the armored chivalry of England floundered. There was a danger at one time that his flank would be turned and then the Scot of the subordinate ranks showed his enterprise as he had done a thousand times since. The camp followers appeared over a spur of a hill "waving their clothes above their heads and uttering wild cries." Those who have heard the "wild cries" of the Scot on St. Andrew's night, say, will appreciate the clamor and, since the "clothes" of a Scot of the poorer classes in the fourteenth century consisted of little more than a tartan and a kilt, it may be presumed that the camp followers presented a terrifying spectacle, whichever of these garments it was they removed temporarily for waving purposes. In any case it did the trick. And all these things happened on June 24—midsummer day—today!

MUST THESE LEAVE HOME?

A small army of boys and girls leave the schools of the Maritime Provinces at this season of the year. The universities turn out their quota of graduates. Many who are through high school will not go on to the universities. Greater numbers, who will either not enter high school or having taken one year or two of the course, will not go back to school. Their school education is completed.

Where will this small army be four or five years hence? What have the provinces to offer them in the matter of opportunity to earn a livelihood and gain a degree of material success in life? We know where thousands and tens of thousands of former students of the schools may be found, and they are not in their native provinces. Will their successors of this year and next year and the years to come fare any better? This is one of the most serious questions that confronts the men and women of the Maritimes today. The future of their children is involved, and with it their own happiness. When a father or mother, of advanced age, or even in middle life dies, the names of the children are mentioned in the obituary paragraph in the Press. It is then learned that in great numbers of instances most of them live beyond the borders of the Maritimes, and chiefly in the United States. They go where there is opportunity.

Apart altogether from any redress of grievances as old as Confederation, there are too many wasted opportunities in these provinces. These are not dependent on governments or on other provinces. They lie at the doors of the people, and are not seized because there is a lack of concerted effort. "What's the use?" is a query on too many lips. Our people must arouse themselves for the sake of their children, and when someone says: "It can't be done," be prompt to answer: "Let's do it." Dis-trust, prejudice, apathy—all these must be overcome. Our resources must be developed. The business men of every city and town should be in close and sympathetic touch with the farmers. More should be done to develop our fabrics. Markets must be found for our products. Only by developing resources can we hope to keep our children with us in their own land; and, when we have accomplished that, even in part, the consciousness of success will spur us on to still greater achievements.

Surely the certainty that, unless we act, these thousands of young people soon be lost to us, ought to give rise to universal determination to survey the whole situation and enter upon such schemes of development as will ensure progress throughout the Maritimes!

POEMS I LOVE

"Trees," by Joyce Kilmer.
KILMER gave his life to his country in the World War. He left a beautiful memory behind him, and it were as fine as anything an American poet has done in years, will last. Joyce Kilmer's spirit lives forever in such a song—a song that even the greatest of poets might have been proud to sing. I think that I shall never see A poem lovely as a tree. A tree whose hungry mouth is pressed

The Very Idea!

IN YOUTH
SAY, listen here, son, you should have heaps of fun, and be a real boy while you're small. There's plenty of pleasure for you in full measure, and why need you worry at all?
You only live once and your youthful time stunts will last in your mind when you're grown. All that you can do is to enjoy it, for then you are put on your own.
The best Hoover is illuminating. The United States, he says, spends less than $10,000,000 a year in pure science research and over $200,000,000 on applied science research. This means that the European nations work out the scientific principles which the Americans apply to practical advantage.
If the International Chamber of Commerce can arrive at some means of compensating the original discoverer—and it seems only fair that he should receive a share by way of royalty for his mental contribution to the comfort and welfare of the world—then a considerable portion of the profits of modern inventions should find its way back to Europe into the pockets of those whose patient study has made the inventions possible.

What a number of signs of the times there are. Just a glance at the news shows: At Ottawa a Labor member moving a sub-amendment to an amendment directed against a minority group government; a Speaker taking a day to decide a simple question of the rules; a Premier "threatening" to dissolve Parliament; and a Progressive drawing attention to the fact: a woman sentenced to be hanged in Quebec and the death sentence on a woman carried out in England; the Canadian Government relinquishing its treaty-making rights to Parliament, thus proposing to follow the system of the U. S. A. as a system proved clumsy and unworkable at the end of the War, and one severely criticized by Japan, a shrewd young Empire; Great Britain, the peaceful; the U. S. A., but little concerned and Germany, the disarmed, defeated in the aviation disarmament sub-committee at Geneva; the K. K. K. declaring itself lawful and law abiding; Ontario proposing to canvass public sentiment on prohibition and the Premier of that province classing women's skirts and church organizations with "any form of barrage"—he must be a midget to hide behind a modern woman's skirt; Doctor Myles speaking out regarding term-time entertainments for school children; a dead owl writing by mail in The Telegraph-Journal office a local citizen overturning his car because brakes and steering-gear both failed simultaneously—and nobody worrying.

THE WESTERN VIEW.
(Manitoba Free Press.)
Already enough money has been received in cash from this source (western land sales) to build the road to the bay and the money still to come, to be used on quite sound grounds that the west will itself meet every dollar of what might be called the experimental stage of the development of the H. B. route.

ROAD DESTROYERS.
(Peterson Review.)
The spectacle of two heavily-laden and ponderous trucks mired to the hubs, almost side by side so that only a narrow piece of roadway was left open in traffic, greeted motorists on the Petrolero-Port Hope highway on Wednesday evening. The big machines had broken through the road and were hopelessly stalled, and every passer-by asked himself the question why the government expends vast sums in the construction and maintenance of highways and yet allows the roads to be torn to pieces each spring by heavy trucks. There are some regulations, it is true, as to the size of the load that is to be carried in the spring, but these are not enough. Something more drastic in regard to the operation of these destructive machines will have to be laid down if the roads are to be preserved and the expense of maintenance kept within reasonable proportions.

THE UNHOLY ALLIANCE.
(Victoria Colonist.)
The government is buying its way, at the expense of the country, to continue in office. It is bribing sections of the electorate with the taxpayers' money. What it regards as good politics is poor economy and bad morals. It has purchased the consciences and votes of a heterogeneous following who have become the dictators of its fortunes, and to all intents and purposes have deliberately enlisted under the Liberal flag because they love power more than principles.

Queer Quirks of Nature

which would soon heat the tank enough to kill the fish.

To keep the water supplied with oxygen for the fish to breathe, it is absolutely essential to have a generous supply of growing water plants. By water plants is not meant any plant that has roots in the water and the leaves in the air, but only plants that live wholly under water all the time.

Such plants may be bought where you buy your goldfish or gathered from the bottom of any permanent pond. There are many varieties and any of them will do. These plants generate oxygen for breathing and the fish keep clean and healthy by rubbing against them.

I have kept goldfish alive and perfectly happy for two and three years without once changing the water, except by adding a little now and then to keep it at the required level, and cleansing of the bottom by the use of a siphon for which a small rubber tube was used.

There is one great don't to remember and only one. Don't over feed. Fish grow according to the amount of food available, but the house pet needs very little to keep it alive and well.

YOU'VE got to admire nerve, but you have to watch it to keep it from turning to impudence.

Close Friday 10 p.m.; Sat. 1 p.m.

A TANK of goldfish adds so much to the attractiveness of a room that every home should have one; the following simple rules will preserve your fish to a healthy old age with very little trouble.

Fish need two things to keep them well and happy: the first is a sufficient supply of oxygen in the water, because fish breathe air quite the same as we do, although in a different manner. Their gills act as lungs and get the air from the water which flows through them. The second great need is plenty of light without the direct rays of the spring and summer sun.

EXPECT RADIO HERE NOW FREED FROM TROUBLE

New Transmitter at Red Head Wireless Station in Use STATION MADE ONE OF CANADA'S BEST

Radio broadcast listeners would not have much cause to complain now, it was said yesterday, of interference from the government wireless station at Red Head, as the new transmitter just installed there is in operation.

The work of installation was completed a few days ago and it is now in daily use. While there would still be a very small amount of interference from harmonics, it would be practically nothing compared with the old spark set.

REASONS FOR CHANGE One of the reasons for the installation of the new set, and a main one, was the elimination of interference with broadcast reception.

DIRECTS VESSELS The station at Red Head not only gives direction free to all vessels but does a considerable business in commercial messages and it was said that this business probably would be increased.

Dorothy Dix

Old-Fashioned Chivalry, While Picking Up a Woman's Handkerchief, Shut the Door of Opportunity in Her Face—Nowadays, While Men Don't Neglect Women, They Respect Her More and Treat Her as an Equal.

A CLUB of fifteen young men ask this question: "Do you think it possible for us to respect the girls of today, with their painted faces, their knee-length dresses that you can see through and their rolled stockings; their cigarettes and booze and petting parties, as much as our fathers respected our mothers?"

DOROTHY DIX

If by "respect" you mean reverence, I think not. If women ever stood upon a pedestal, she has climbed down off it, and men no longer look up to her. She stands aside all of her seven veils of mystery and men no more stand in awe of her. The symbol of maidenhood used to be the half-opened rosebud, with the dew still upon it. Now it is the hard-boiled egg. That tells the story.

BUT I don't think that the modern girl's clothes influence men's attitude toward her, because dress is merely a matter of custom and modesty is determined by geography. In some countries women cover their faces, but not their bodies. I have seen a girl standing stark naked by the roadside in India, with not a wisp of clothing on save a tiny veil over her head, but she wore the virtuous air of one who was observing all the proprieties of dress.

In your father's time, when women wore voluminous skirts that swept the ground, men congregated on windy street corners to leer at feminine ankles. Now, when women's legs have become just a part of their anatomy as their arms are, nobody notices them.

FASHION has broken up what used to be called "leg shows" in the theatre, and I don't believe that when the young man of today takes out his sweetie in her skimpy little frock that he feels a whit less respect for her than his father did for his mother in her horse-hair-lined skirts and three petticoats. In fact, although he may not realize it, he respects her more for not weighting herself down with clothes that break her back and that make a happy home for every microbe on the street.

As for the girls who drink and pet and smoke and permit every Tom, Dick and Harry to paw them over, men never have respected that kind of woman at any time of the world's history. That type isn't new. There have always been loose-living women of easy virtue, and men have always run after them and played with them and kissed their painted lips and sometimes they have loved them and married them, but they never respected them.

THAT was the tribute that your father reserved for the girl who exacted it from men, because she kept them at arm's length, because she was dignified and sweet and modest and circumspect in her demeanor. And the man of today lays the same offering on the shrine of the girl who is dignified and sweet and modest and circumspect in her behavior. Possibly she may not be peppy enough for him to choose her as a companion for a wild party, but he respects her none the less.

If the young man of today does not reverence the girl who is ideal today, if he finds it hard to see in her the ideal purity and innocence and goodness that he believes that his mother was in her girlhood, the fault is mostly his. He himself has created the Frankenstein that he finds it difficult to worship, for women are, and always have been, just what men made them so.

MEN have written women's code of ethics, and just so long as the half-starved little flapper in her hand of clothes attracts the masculine eye which passes over the well-nourished, suitably dressed young woman just so long as the petter and the good sport and the girl who isn't too nice and too particular about what she says and does, goes out on night parties, while the old-fashioned, good girl sits at home, with never a date to bless herself with, just so long will we have the girls that young men complain they can't respect.

There are still plenty of girls who maintain the high standards of womanhood, but they get mighty little encouragement from men, and as long as this is the case, as long as men lavish all of their favors on the young woman who trails the ideals of her sex in the dust, they have small right to criticize her. They should at least stand up for their handiwork.

BUT as to this matter of man's respect for women. Perhaps we are getting a new slant upon it now, as we are upon so many other questions. We are fond of comparing men's attitude of today toward woman with his attitude of yesterday and saying that chivalry is dead and men no longer reverence women.

They don't, after the old fashion. But when you come to investigate the chivalry and reverence of the past, they were mere platitudes that flattered women's vanity but meant nothing, and were not to be compared for a minute with the rights that men have granted woman today.

FOR dear grandpapa, who regarded grandmamma as an angel, made of her a chattel who had no personal freedom, no liberty of thought or action. She did not even own her own property, and the chivalrous gentlemen who were such gallant knights shut every door of opportunity in a woman's face.

It seems to me that the modern chivalry which gives woman a place in the sun and her fair share of the world and all that is in it is about a million miles in advance of that which ground her down into the dust with its tyranny and picked up her handkerchief for her.

And so with respect. It may be that men don't reverence women as they once did, but they respect her more. For the modern man is the only man who has ever really looked upon woman as in any sense his equal and as a creature having brains, talents, emotions, desires like unto his own and with an equal right to use them.

IT ISN'T exactly the attitude that father had toward mother, but it is going to work out better for a mutual understanding between the sexes. DOROTHY DIX

COSSACK COAT OF LEATHER IS RAINPROOF

By Marie Belmont

Brown leather, being impervious to water to a degree, is one of the materials which the modern girl borrows from the realm of masculine attire.

The coat sketched today is of dark brown leather, the rough side of the material being turned outward. Brown leather bandings are stitched around the cuffs, also across a practical top pocket.

The fulness of the skirt is formed by the leather belt which is drawn snugly about the figure and buckled through a leather fob, at one side. Brown suede is the small hat and it too shows a simple trimming of leather. The outfit is ideal for camping or for town wear on a rainy day.

IT HAS been a long time since we've laughed at Mabel Normand's capers on the screen. In "Mickey" and "Molly-O" she had the screen world at her feet. Critics hailed her as one of the cleverest comedians in the film. Then the tragedy happened—a shooting affray took place and Miss Normand was called as a witness. Since that unfortunate occurrence no concerted effort has been made to push her in pictures.

Now Hal Roach has given her a long term contract and Mabel's going to make a brave attempt to regain her lost prestige. Her first comedy for him, "Raggy Rose," will soon be released by Pathe and she has begun production on the second, the tale of a girl dough-tory—a dowdier, disconsolate and impossible trudy in an army of very little opposition.

Mabel Normand got her start in pictures in 1919 when her friend, Alton Joyce, suggested that she ask for a job at the Biograph studios. Mabel ceased to be a model and entered the studio to play in a picture under the direction of D. W. Griffith. Then Mack Sennett discovered her and made her a member of his Keystone Comedy unit.

Now Mabel's going to make another bid for stardom in the type of movie which put her on top of the ladder a few years ago.

AMERICAN film devotees will have a chance to judge the work of Lothar Mendes, German director, when "The Duke of Lorraine" is released by First National. This is the first picture which he has directed since his arrival here to fulfill a long term contract.

Frank Hopper, a Californian, has been chosen to portray the character of Theodore Roosevelt in "The Rough Riders," Paramount's epic of the late president's regiment in the Spanish-American war. More than 600 stunts were considered for the role. Hopper was on the stage for a number of years.

Victor Varconi will play opposite Marie Prevost in "The Critical Year," a Metropolitan production. He will undoubtedly have an important role in Cecil DeMille's coming Biblical spectacle and it has been rumored that he will either play the role of "Christ" or "Judas."

Menus for the Family

MENU HINT.
Breakfast: Baked Rhubarb, Cornflakes mixed with Bran, Hungarian Omelet, Toast, Orange Marmalade, Coffee.
Luncheon: Saltines, Macaroni of Vegetables, Canned Peaches, Orange Pekoe Tea, Dinner: Creamed Peas, Hard Rolls, Olive Shamrock Salad, Maple Nut Pudding with Custard Sauce, Vanilla Wafers, Coffee.

TODAY'S RECIPES.
Mock Chicken Casserole—Pork chops, rice, tomatoes, onion, celery, green pepper, salt and pepper, hot water. Select large, lean pork chops, three-fourths inch thick. Brown in skillet and remove to casserole. On each chop place one tablespoon uncooked rice, one slice of onion, half a tomato, fresh or canned, and a ring of green pepper. For each chop used, now add one-third cup chopped celery, one-half teaspoon salt, a dash of pepper and a half cup of water. Bake three hours in a moderate oven, adding a little more water if absorbed too quickly. When using canned tomatoes this liquor may be strained and used instead of clear water. The celery cooked with the pork gives the latter a savor of chicken, and the rice as it thickens up, becomes deliciously flavored.

Hungarian Omelet—Brown one tablespoon chopped onion in bacon fat. Add one tablespoon chopped green pepper and saute two minutes longer. Turn in eggs which have been beaten together and stir while cooking just enough to keep consistency smooth, meanwhile seasoning with salt, pepper and paprika. Serve as soon as cooked through.

Shamrock Salad—On a foundation of leaf lettuce place a mound of cold, cooked spinach, thoroughly drained. Sprinkle with salt and a few drops of vinegar, and on this place a generous slice of cream pimento cheese. Garnish with "shamrocks" cut from green pepper. As this cheese is rich, no dressing other than vinegar is needed. This salad is as pretty as it is appetizing, and abounds in vitamins.

Maple Nut Pudding—One and one-half cups brown sugar, two cups boiling water, one-third cup cornstarch, one-quarter cup cold water, three egg whites, one-quarter teaspoon salt, one-half cup chopped walnut meats. To brown sugar add boiling water and starch diluted with cold water. Cook over flame until mixture becomes clear, stirring constantly, then cook in double boiler fifteen minutes, stirring occasionally. Remove from range, add whites of eggs, beaten stiff, chopped nuts and salt. Pour into individual

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

THE BATHING TOYS AND A DUCK
The alligators kept spinning the Twins around until you couldn't have told them from tops.

"Oh, dear!" gasped Nancy.
"My goodness!" cried Nick.
"Aren't they cute!" laughed the fat alligator with the ruffles and the velvet basque. "Let's take them home to our children. They would make lovely bathing toys. I wonder if they float."

But before Mister Alligator could answer, an enormous duck, quite as large as an elephant, waddled up.

"What are they?" he quacked.

"We don't know," said the alligator, putting her paw or her foot or her hand, or whatever it is alligators have, and stopping the Twins as they twirled. "But we think they are what you call people."

The duck bent over and looked at them closely—so closely that the Twins thought he was going to gobble them up. "Queer—very queer," he quacked. "They are neither frogs, worms, nor turtles. So I suppose you are right. I shall take them home to my ducklings for playthings."

But before the alligators had time to say that he would do no such thing and that they intended to take them home themselves, a very large fish hopped up on his fins.

He put on a pair of eye-glasses and gazed at the Twins as though something weighty lay on his mind. Finally he turned to the duck and the alligators. "Do they squeak if you push on their heads?" he asked. "Have they whiskers about them anywhere? Have you tried?"

"Why, no," said Mrs. Alligator, showing all her teeth. "I never thought of such a thing." And before anyone could stop her, she grabbed Nancy with one paw and Nick with the other and pushed her hard.

"Ouch!" cried Nancy.
"Ouch!" cried Nick.
"That's fine," said the fish. "I shall take them home to my children."

"I just guess you won't," quacked the duck. "They're mine."

"Just listen," said Mrs. Alligator indignantly. "They belong to us, my dear. We discovered them."

"Why, you're only an old bathtub toy both of you are!" said the duck. "You're made of rubber, and so is this old fish here. I've got real feathers, I'll have you know."

"You're not a Christmas-toy yourself," retorted Mister Alligator. "You're

Is this your BIRTHDAY?

JUNE 24—You are determined, persevering, and somewhat self-opinionated, a little unfortunate in putting yourself in a bad light. You need to cultivate cautiousness in action and speech. You have remarkable ability to secure and hold love and friendship. Never allow jealousy or hate to enter your life. Live for others. Be hopeful of the best. Your birth-stone is a pearl, which means health and long life. Your flower is the honeysuckle. Your lucky colors are light blue and white.

Commenting upon the sorrows of the pupils who have failed to graduate in the city schools this year, Dr. W. J. S. Myles, principal of the Saint John High School, said yesterday that too many entertainments and dances during the winter months and too many organizations for young people might be held responsible to a large extent in the case of a large number of those who had failed.

She Is A "Reincarnated Princess"

Djiska, well known among the spiritists in France, is at present arousing unusual interest by a series of seances in which she gives evidence of proving her contention that she is the reincarnation of an Indian princess.

Examination results showed that studies had been neglected. It was learned that some pupils had even taken the precaution of having a new dress for graduation and then found that they were not to be numbered among the graduates.

LONDON, June 24.—Amazing psychic phenomena associated with a little Rumanian peasant girl, Elenore Kugan, who now lives in the flat of Countess Wassiko in Vienna, were detailed by Harry Price recently at the National Laboratory of Psychological Research, of which he is director.

The phenomena with which Elenore is connected mostly concern the mysterious displacement of objects, which appear to fly spontaneously, and often dangerously, across the room.

The Countess observed 67 phenomena of this description in one day, and among the mysterious incidents at the flat during Mr. Price's brief observation were:

The moving back of books in an open bookcase though no one was near. The quick-lighting displacement of a small hand-mirror from a table at the side of the Countess' bed to the top of a bookcase.

While the first electric cooking in history took place in London 35 years ago, it did not take the place of coal and gas until the arrival of cheap hydro in Ontario.

Then Canadian enterprise developed the electric range as we know it today—a cooking machine that runs itself, gives the housewife a holiday out of the kitchen and saves her enough money to buy a marvellous dress three times a year—beyond what she'd otherwise afford.

Seventy thousand Moffat Electric Ranges are in use already. The Americans, who built themselves some beautiful electric ranges, decided a year ago to follow the

AERIAL WARFARE
WORRYING EXPERTS

Disarmament Committee at Odds Over Fixing of National Standards. Canadian Press. GENEVA, June 24.—The newest kind of warfare, that in and from the air, is proving a thorny problem to the disarmament experts. The special sub-committee on aviation is trying to fix standards whereby the air forces of different countries may be measured, but the debate indicated there was little chance of reaching unanimity without any one predominating feature. Eventually an agreement was reached by a vote of 11 to 4, with four abstentions, to mention the organized personnel of air establishments as one of the standards, and also pilots. With Great Britain, the United States and Germany voting against it, the military experts decided yesterday to exclude men undergoing instruction, namely partly trained men, from consideration in determining peace-time effectiveness.

PRINCES OF CATHOLIC CHURCH ATTENDING EUCHARISTIC CONGRESS

SILKEN BOOK PRESENTED BY FATHER DURE

Spiritual Bouquet From Maritimes and Newfoundland Given to Cardinal

CHICAGO, Ill., June 23—A silken book bearing the inscriptions of masses and communions said in the Maritime Provinces and Newfoundland forming what Roman Catholics call a spiritual bouquet, lovingly prepared during the past year by children of the faith as an act of gratitude for the real presence embodied in the Eucharist, was presented this morning to Cardinal Mundelein of Chicago by Rev. William Duke of Saint John, on behalf of the visitors.

TO MUNDELEIN TODAY
The greater part of the afternoon was spent resting for the trip to Mundelein early tomorrow morning. The Saint John pilgrims expect to leave the city of Chicago about 6 in the morning for the little town to the north named after the Chicago cardinal, where the final pontifical mass will be said by Cardinal Bonzano and the procession of the eucharist, an integral part of the congress, will take place. It is expected that more than 1,000,000 persons will attend these ceremonies and the Saint John flock realizes that the journey will be a strain.

Undaunted by this, however, many of the prelates from Saint John and the Maritime Provinces this afternoon visited Notre Dame University, where several of the professors are alumni of institutions under the direction of the Order of the Holy Cross, whose membership includes a number of the fathers from the Dominion.

The Saint John delegation expects to leave Mundelein in time to entrain for Chicago for Canada about 9:30 in the evening. The pilgrims will stop at Fort Huron, Mich., for mass and will proceed to Montreal, where they will arrive at Montreal on Saturday, where they will visit the shrine of St. Anne de Beauséjour on Sunday, where pontifical high mass will be celebrated by Bishop Morrison.

OCCUPIES THRONE
Bishop Morrison left at 4 o'clock this afternoon for Mundelein, accompanied by his chaplain, Dr. J. McPherson, rector of the University of St. Francis Xavier in Nova Scotia. He will occupy a green throne during the ceremony tomorrow. The cardinals will sit above the bishops on scarlet thrones. Mass will be celebrated before a huge altar built in front of the cathedral.

The concert was well attended and greatly enjoyed.

WHOLE COURT PAYS VISIT TO DEATH SCENE

DORCHESTER, June 23—The Westmorland Circuit Court resumed this morning at 10 o'clock, when the case of the King vs. M. S. Levine was continued. The jury, accompanied by His Honor Judge A. T. LeBlanc, Acting Sheriff C. G. M. Chapman, Clerk of Court E. C. Rice, the accused and his counsel and the crown prosecutor, were taken by motor to Chandler's Gulch to view the scene of the accident.

Evidence Continues in Man-slaughter Charge in Westmorland County

On their return to court, John McGlashan gave evidence. He said he was driving a party of six, his wife and Miss Sarah Turner in the front seat with him and Mrs. Silliker, Mrs. Moley Turner and Miss Lena Turner in the back seat, in a small Chevrolet car, to Amherst to shop.

TELLS OF ACCIDENT

Witness said he saw no cars as he struck the main road from the Black Fox road (so-called), about halfway or quarter of a mile from the bridge in question. When he heard a car blow he was on the right side but gradually pulled farther out and just as he was entering the bridge a car blew a gale.

CROSS-EXAMINATION

Cross-examined by J. S. Smiley, the witness said he had driven a car seven or eight years, mostly in Massachusetts, and it was against the law there to drive three in the front seat, but not here. He said he judged the speed of the other car by the time it took to overtake him after he heard the horn.

CORONER'S EVIDENCE

Dr. J. S. Calkins was next called. He told of viewing the remains and finding the neck broken, which was sufficient to cause death. He empaneled his jury and held an inquest at Sackville the next day. Dr. Secord was next called and corroborated Dr. Calkin's evidence. William Teed, of Sackville, was also examined. Court adjourned until 9:45 tomorrow with Mr. Teed still on the stand.

Says Council Meetings Unqualified Success

Rev. Dr. James Ross, of Halifax, superintendent of missions in the Maritime Provinces of the United Church of Canada, who attended the meeting of the General Council of the church, held recently in Montreal, is in the city. Dr. Ross, who is staying at the Royal Hotel, said last night that he expected to visit several of the provincial churches before returning to Halifax.

He said that the council meetings were an unqualified success with about 650 church representatives in attendance.

Triple Fish Tragedy In New York State

COLD SPRINGS, N. Y., June 24—A triple fish tragedy features the newest story which Game Warden Joe Barry is relating for the benefit of summer visitors.

A few days ago on the banks of Lake Glensida in Carmel, the warden found a 14-inch pickered flopping about in the grass. Apparently the fish had just been landed, and as the fisherman was nowhere in sight Barry started to toss the pickered back in the water. But as he glanced at the mouth of the fish he saw another pickered protruding therefrom. He hauled the second pickered free. Then he saw still a third pickered protruding from the mouth of the second. The dimensions of the second and third fish are given by Barry as ten and four inches respectively. "It's a true story," says Barry.

Correspondence of Times-Star
LONDON, June 23.—There is no disposition in London to credit the talk of the Earl of Oxford's pending retirement as Liberal leader, unless the phrase is given a somewhat generous interpretation of months. Obviously a veteran of 74 years may at any moment be in the mood to lay aside his harness, but he would almost certainly be succeeded by Lord Grey of Fallodon, and the personal relations of the latter with "L. G." are even less cordial than Lord Oxford's. Those behind the party scenes state that a rumour was clearly bound to come, and that the general strike was rather its occasion than its cause. There is, moreover, a firm conviction that "L. G." deliberately played up to the present situation that he was bent on a radical breakaway to which he hopes to attach a considerable following in the country and to which he intends to dedicate his considerable war chest. One vista that is already being discussed is an electoral compact, whereby Labor and "L. G." candidates will not oppose each other or create the diversion of three-cornered fights.

A FAST LIFE
Though the conquest of the air is now almost ancient history, there is still a thrill of the miraculous about flying achievements. For instance, I saw an account of a London hospital nurse's afternoon of last week. This lady was motored by her brother to Croton just before one o'clock in the day, flew over to Paris for tea, flew back, and reported at her hospital for duty at 6 o'clock the same evening. But I described months ago how one well-known rigger player, now in Fleet street, used to breakfast on Sunday in London, fly over to Paris for lunch, play a match for the Sporting Club of France, and get back to London in time to dress for dinner the same night. Even more remarkable feats than these, in scientific despite of old-fashioned Father Time, have been achieved by business men in a hurry. Petrol is making all of us lead fast lives nowadays. But somehow nobody seems to have any more real leisure than before.

THE SHEFFINGTONS
A very beautiful daughter of Debreit, who has just "come out," is the Hon. Diana Sheffington, whose mother, Lady Massereene and Gerard, gave a ball in honor of the event. Her father, who sits at Westminster as Baron Oriel, is the twelfth viscount, an old Winchester and Sandhurst boy, now in the fifties, who got a wound and the D. S. O. in the Boer war, and later rode with the 17th Lancers. He married in 1905, the year he succeeded to the title, a daughter of F. S. Ainsworth, M. P. His mother was Major George Whyte-Melville's daughter. The Sheffingtons are an Irish family, from County Antrim, and one of them was the last speaker of the old Irish House of Commons. The mace and chair were souvenirs at their

Harbingers of Dawn

By H. A. CODY

"On the 24th of June, 1904, a little French ship sailed into what is now the harbor of Saint John. She was a patry craft, measured by modern standards, but she carried the spirit of an empire; Champlain, de Montfort, and Poutinacourt, the founders of New France, were on her deck. Champlain regarded himself as discoverer of the great river, and in honor of the day—that of St. John the Baptist—gave the river the name it has ever since retained: the Saint John. "History of Saint John," by D. R. MacNeil.

With a crowding sail and a dripping rail,
They sped Nor east by North,
Till their little ship felt the swirling rip
Of a strong stream sweeping forth.
As they made their way up Fundy's Bay
On that June the twenty-fourth.

Then the great Champlain spoke out quick and plain,
And bright his keen eyes shone:
"Tis a goodly land from the great God's hand,
And right fair to look upon.
And the stream that flows as the north wind blows,
Shall be known by name 'Saint John'."

"For we meet this stream with its crystal gleam
On the Baptist Day,
And it comes like him from the great wilds grim
With its tribute true to pay,
And its life to blend at its journey's end
With a Master of strength and stay.

"So a cross we'll raise to our fair Christ's praise,
And Wilderness Saint John,
As a certain sign of our Faith divine
To the ones who look thereon;
And our lives we'll stake and our fame we'll make
As the Harbingers of Dawn."

CHANCE FOR BRITISH ARTISTS
I hear that Sir Edwin Lutyens and Mulreud Bone are two of the distinguished members of a committee that has consented to judge designs invited by the Goldsmiths company to encourage a revival of handwrought craftsmanship and stay the flood of machine-made wares. The company asks all who are interested in design in precious metals to submit drawings of specified articles of domestic use. These include trays, coffee and tea sets, cigar and cigarette boxes and similar objects destined to combine beauty with utility. Designs considered worthy of distinction are to be sent back to the designers to be executed in precious metals, and on such orders the company proposes to spend a sum not less than 500 pounds. It has organized an additional competition for the design and construction of cups and trophies. An essential condition is that entrants must be of British birth.

THE TWO JOHNS.
There is not a really dull picture in the whole of Augustus John's Chennell Gallery show. Genius entrails them all, even though sometimes it leaves them half done, as though a study of a colored girl, the head of which is fine, but the body half-baked, so that the lady has one brown and one yellow thigh. The portrait of Sean O'Casey, the Dublin playwright, with its vivid character and the clever tenseness of eyes and lips, is a notable work, beautiful in its color, but not so fascinating as two other big portraits, one of Roy Campbell, the poet, a thoroughly Bohemian and picturesque subject that held the artist's brush finally, and one of Mrs. Valentine Fleming, called "Lady with a Violin," which for sheer vitality and clan equals the famous Madame Suggia portrait with the "cello." All the portrait studies are alive with the strength of life, and one, "A Peasant of Valour" has a marvellously sensitive quality that is simply captivating.

EPSOM AND RAIN.
For the third year in succession Epsom has had a thorough wetting, but the crowds, defiant of rain, have endured the downpour with British stoicism. Last year the rain came on when many race-goers had left for the forelock, and purchased a large number of "forgotten" umbrellas at the periodic sale of the Southern Railway Company. Bundling his body into a car, he drove to Epsom, and had a wonderful reception, clearing out the whole bag of tricks inside an hour at prices ranging from a "dollar" to "half-a-quid." Another splendid example of initiative was given by a man the year before, when, owing to the heavy rains, thousands of cars, buses and motor vehicles were stranded axle-deep in mud. Living in poverty nearby he possessed an old donkey engine. Fixing it up, he pulled out hundreds of these stranded cars, working at high pressure all evening, night, and next morning. As he charged a "fiveer" and a "tenner" whichever amount he thought fair, he made it, said, not far short of £2,000.

AN ARMY PATENT.
Considerable anxiety was manifested at Aldershot as to whether the Battle of Agincourt could be faithfully represented at the Royal tournament, owing to the difficulty of utilizing arrows, so essential to the warfare of that period, which would hurt neither horse nor man. The trouble was solved during the great strike by the ingenuity of an army officer, who experimented successfully with arrows cut from the beds of rushes which grow on the banks of the Test. These rushes are from four to five feet long and, when dried, make admirable arrows, being as light as a feather and perfectly harmless to the object struck. Soldiers are able to shoot them right over the barrack buildings at Aldershot. But the secret of the flight of these harmless light-as-

FORKE READS INTIMIDATING LETTER TO HOUSE

Missive Tabled on Suggestion of Premier—Meighen Expresses Interest

Ottawa, June 24.—Robert Forke, Progressive leader, in the House last night referred, on a question of privilege, to a letter which he stated he had received of an intimidating character.

Certain paragraphs of this letter, which was signed J. A. Stevenson, were read by Mr. Forke.

The writer, in part, in his letter to Mr. Forke stated:

"I have clung to the belief and hope that on a real issue of public morality, you would lay aside partisan prejudice inherited from earlier political associations and exercise a fair and honest judgment and vote. But if you disappoint my expectations, or if you acquiesce in the perpetration of habits of life recently acquired, or expose yourself to mortal peril."

KING SAYS SERIOUS

Mr. Forke asked, "if members of the House must sit in their places and be intimidated?" He wanted to know exactly what could be done under the circumstances, "as I do not intend to lie down under it."

Premier King said the matter was a serious one and the letter should be tabled. He thought that members should have an opportunity at an appropriate time, to decide what action should be taken.

Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, Conservative leader, said he would be "interested indeed to follow the procedure the Premier proposes with relation to a letter sent by a citizen to a member of parliament."

The letter was tabled by Mr. Forke, in accordance with the suggestion of Premier King.

BRITAIN DECLINES IN SHIPBUILDING

Joint Committee Reports That "Rings" Are Ruining British Yards

LONDON, June 23.—Statistics of the shipbuilding industry for the first three months of the year show merchant tonnage under construction in Great Britain was 843,070, compared with 2,063,694 tons in the corresponding period of 1925, and 1,165,468 tons in the quarter ended March 31, 1925.

Tonnage under construction in Great Britain in March, 1926, was 28 per cent. less than in March, 1925.

While Great Britain was building 1,500,000 tons less than in 1925, other countries were building only 200,000 tons less.

"That 'rings' are ruining British shipyards is the charge made in a report of the joint committee of inquiry set up by the Shipbuilding Employers' Federation and shipyard trade unions. The report declares price fixing and profiteering exist to such an extent that there is a big increase in the cost of production, which carries in turn limitation of output, and most serious of all, lessens the demand for British ships, with consequent heavy increase in unemployment."

No Announcement Yet Re Musquash

A complete inspection of the east branch of the Musquash River was made yesterday afternoon by the members of the New Brunswick Electric Power Commission. Following the inspection, the out-of-town members of the commission returned to their homes last evening.

It was said last night that as no formal meeting of the members had been made while they were together in the city for the last two days, no plan, as to their policy of the future management of the Musquash plant, were formulated.

Antigonish Girl Is Drowned In Pool

Returning they found her lying dead in the water beside a rock. The victim, it was stated, had been subject to fits, and it was believed that she had been seized with one and had fallen into the pond.

JEWISH IMMIGRANTS TROOP INTO NEW HOMELAND

Several thousand Jewish immigrants are arriving in Palestine each month to aid in rebuilding their homeland. Lower photo shows a boatload of Jews landing in Haifa, Palestine's chief seaport. Map, Dated 1755, and Showing Territory, Now the Maritimes, Comes to The N. H. S. Museum

A MAP published in London in 1755 and showing the territory now known as the Maritime Provinces and the New England States, was received by the Natural History Society yesterday as the gift of G. M. Cleveland, of Hampton Village, and was one of a number of exceptionally rare and valuable donations that reached the museum that day and were most gratefully received.

The old map is in a splendid state of preservation, having been carefully shelved and varnished and very nicely framed. The printing on the map gives the information that it was published according to Act of Parliament in 1755, and was the work of H. R. H. the Prince of Wales, at St. Martin's Lane, Charing Cross, London, in 1755.

The title of the map reads as follows: "A map of Nova Scotia and Cape Breton with the adjacent parts of New England and Canada, composed from a great number of actual surveys and other materials regulated by the most accurate astronomical observations of longitude as well as latitude with an explanation."

CURIOUS SPELLING.

The curious spelling and the now forgotten names which appear on the map make it a specially interesting object for study. The Saint John River is designated as "Wigantli, Clyde or St. John's River" and seems to have lost the Wadahemok and Belleisle tributaries altogether. The Kennebec is designated as "Kenebek" and the title of "Restigouche" is specially favored.

The Restigouche is specially favored as it exists in two places regulated by the map printed in 1755. The "Restigouche" river flows into the "Sterling Bay or Bay of Heat" which presumably is the Bay Chaleur and it also flows into "Mirimaski Bay," some miles south of Prince Edward Island figures, under the title of "St. John's Island." The location of Saint John city is designated Port John and Partridge Island is marked as "Partridge Island."

PORTS AND CHURCHES.

The map shows forts and churches, referring to Catholic churches as "masshouses." Ontario and Quebec are usually named "Part of New France or Kirk's Land." The geography is remarkably accurate in the light of present knowledge and the old map gives some indication of how carefully

Anxiety as to the whereabouts of the Parraboro tern schooner Marion G. Douglas, which left Halifax October 13 last for a rum-running cruise in the Pacific ocean, dispelled by the announcement which comes in a despatch from Los Angeles that the vessel is reported off the California port with a cargo of about 15,000 cases of liquor, half of which had already been landed in spite of the vigilant patrol of the United States coast guard along that coast.

Disappearance of N. S. Woman Explained

SYDNEY, N. S., June 23.—By the time this reaches you I will be in Boston. If you had done what I wanted you to, things might have been different.

This message on a postal card mailed from North Sydney was received today by James Macdonald, whose wife Sadie disappeared from their home on Caribou Marsh Road, a few miles from the city on Sunday, June 10. The woman left to attend church in Sydney, and never returned. When last seen she was getting into a red sedan on a road near her home. Mrs. Macdonald, it transpires, wanted to move into the city and her husband would not consent. Her mother says she has been talking for some time of leaving her husband. Her nine-months old baby is being looked after by relatives.

WEDDINGS

Williams-Piercy.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Luke's church, last evening, at 8 o'clock, when Miss Greta Maude Piercy, daughter of Mr. and the late Mrs. Harry Piercy, became the bride. The bride was unattended, was given in marriage by her father, and looked charming in a tawny suit with hat and shoes to match, and fox fur, the gift of her father. As the bride entered the church Mrs. Usher Miller played the wedding march. Miss Bertha Williams and Cecil Williams witnessed the signing of the register. A large number of friends and relatives were present at the ceremony. Later a buffet luncheon was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Patman when the bridegroom was assisted by Mrs. Ferris and Miss M. Barshaw. Mr. and Mrs. Williams left by automobile for a wedding trip to points of interest in the province, and on their return will reside at 71 Lombard street. Among the beautiful gifts received was a sum of money from the Stewart Nash Motors Company. Both bride and groom are very popular and many friends extend best wishes for their future happiness. The bridegroom saw service overseas with the first contingent. Leaving Saint John in 1914 he served in France the 9th Battery, and returned to Canada in 1919. He was twice wounded.

A ceremony of interest to their friends was performed at the home of H. D. MacFarlane, 93 Victoria street, last evening when Rev. Henry Mahon, united in marriage Kenneth R. Malcolm and Miss Ada P. Malcolm of Cleary street, and the bride a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Campbell of West Saint John. They will make their home in Saint John street, West End. Many friends will extend wishes for their happiness.

FOR Acid PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia

Instead of soda hereafter take a little "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

BETTER THAN SODA

For fifty years genuine "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid as the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this souring waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

Canada Steamship Lines Ar- rangement is Opposed in Ontario

MONTRÉAL, June 23.—Toronto and Hamilton shareholders of the Canada Steamship Lines, acting through James E. Steadman, owner of 2,399 preference shares of a par value of $100 each, are contesting before the Supreme Court, here, the right of the company to secure the judicial approval to a scheme of compromise between the company and its shareholders.

The company has applied for ratification of an arrangement named, at a general meeting of the shareholders of the company held on June 9, 1926, whereby it is agreed that all overdue shares of the company up to and including Dec. 31, 1925, will be cancelled, extinguished, and from that date the nominal dividend rate on the cancelled stock be reduced from 7 to 6 per cent.

HAD ADVENTURE WITH CANNIBALS

Birmingham, England, Man Tells of Weird Ceremonies in Haiti

(By Dominion News Service.) LONDON, June 24—An adventure among cannibals at Hayti, in the West Indies, is among the experiences of James W. Smith, a Birmingham man.

Mr. Smith would be in prosperous circumstances in the United States but for the fact that sometime ago he was deported for a year and a day, having been convicted of "moral turpitude" in supplying alcohol to American citizens.

During his two and a half years in Hayti he had thrills enough to satisfy most people in a lifetime. Here is his account:

"In 1919 I joined the United States Marine Corps, attaining to the highest non-commissioned rank of first sergeant. We were sent to Hayti to put down human sacrifice and cannibalism, which were part of the Voodoo practices.

"I had been scouting for about two months before I actually saw a Voodoo sacrificial ceremony. From the top of a tree I watched it through my glasses.

"DANCE ABOUT FIRE "About 400 Haytians, painted and adorned with leaves and flowers, danced in a circle around a big fire. Near the fire were the witch doctors. When the dancers were exhausted the women, who had children between six months and two years, threw them into the arms of the witch doctors, who killed them with their machetes, and placed the bodies in a long clay oven under the fire.

"Then the tribe danced the death dance, after which the bodies of the children were eaten by the witch doctors and the chiefs of the tribe.

"In all I witnessed 20 or 30 ceremonies, which were supposed to propitiate the gods of the sun and rain. "These practices have never been stamped out, but we did a good deal towards it.

"An English missionary, his wife, and two children were at one time placed under our care at La Vega, a village of 6,000 inhabitants. We were called out to quell a little row in the hills, and in our absence they disappeared. Two weeks later we came across remains which we believed were those of the man and his wife, but there was not trace of the children.

WANTS MORE TRADE WITH CANADIANS

British Board of Trade Chief Addresses Chamber of Commerce LONDON, June 23—"We are not doing as much trade with Canada as we ought to be doing," Sir Phillip Cunliffe-Lister, president of the Board of Trade, declared in an address to the Chamber of Commerce here, today.

Exports from Britain to Canada, he continued, were valued at $34,000,000 last year, which was an increase of only $700,000.

The Board of Trade chief noted that Britain was exporting to the various parts of the Empire over eight per cent more than before the war, while her imports from the Dominions and Colonies were 25 per cent greater than before the war.

Sir Phillip believed that Britishers were showing a greater disposition to study the special needs of the Canadian market, which he thought was a promising sign.

She Could Never Do The Things Other Girls Did

Miss L. J. Ross, Scotland, Alta., writes—"I am only twenty years old, but have suffered from heart palpitation and nerve trouble for several years. I could never do the things other girls did, that is, in the line of sports, skating, etc., and could never depend on myself at work. About six months ago I began taking MILBURN'S HEART NERVE PILLS.

LEATRICE JOY DEFIES FASHION

THE MOST FAMOUS BOB IN HOLLYWOOD

Old Dame Fashion may be the tyrant of most of the feminine world, but Hollywood is not so easily ruled. Leatrice Joy, for example, turns up her saucy nose at orders from Paris to let her hair grow and visits the barber regularly to keep her famed bob in short, shining splendor.

Leatrice's close-shingled coiffure is one of her most individual characteristics and one by which she is instantly recognized in Hollywood, home of distinctive femininity. It lacks even the suggestion of a girl's curl and is divided by a severe part which gives a swaggy appearance.

"Why should I let my hair grow if I look better with it short?" inquires Leatrice. "Fashions that make you look funny should never be taken seriously, and styles that are uncomfortable went out with bustles and pompadours."

OVERSEAS SCOUT OFFICIAL IN N. S.

NICE BOOKLET FOR TOURISTS IS ISSUED

New Brunswick Association Publication is Attractive in Text and Illustration One of the most inviting of the tourist booklets concerning Saint John and one of the most comprehensive that has yet been published is the one which has just been issued by the New Brunswick Tourist Association. It has a very attractive cover design, the work of Percy N. Woodley, which depicts the ship of Samuel de Champlain, who is described as "the first tourist to New Brunswick" having arrived here on June 24, 1604. As a preface, as it were, the booklet contains information regarding customs regulations, a foreword refers to the city's advantages as a tourist centre and following there are given in a very interesting and enlightening narrative. Other points of special interest to the tourist, the parks, squares, public gardens, harbor, revolving falls and dry dock, the public buildings and public institutions are each dealt with in turn and the attractions of the Saint John and Kennebecas rivers are not overlooked.

The reader finds the booklet also contains a list of the most central churches, some suggestions as to short excursions or longer motor trips, a list of the places of amusement, dining halls, golf courses and baseball grounds. Steamship trips and tourist facilities are also listed.

There are many very fine illustrations in the booklet and if any flaw can be found in the publication it may be the fact that King square is referred to as King's Park and that attempt to glorify a very fine square is quite pardonable.

GIRLS IN "SLAVERY"

English Young Women Forced to Work Long Hours in Buenos Aires Theatres (By Dominion News Service.) LONDON, June 24—"A life of slavery" at a leading theatre in Buenos Aires has led to the sudden return home from South America of Miss Jean Dare, a nineteen-year-old London girl, who was engaged as one of the principal dancers in a revue there.

"I ran away from Buenos Aires because I realized that if I remained there I should lose my health from overwork," said Miss Dare to a newspaperman.

"While I was in Paris I accepted an offer of $82 per week to appear in a revue in Buenos Aires and went out with fifteen other girls, most of them English. Soon after our arrival, however, we bitterly regretted our going. For two months life was a nightmare; we had to work in four distinct performances every week-day and in seven performances on Sunday. These with rehearsals for other shows made life unbearable.

"The hours in our profession are

7 Girls of Carleton Family Have Been Graduated From St. Vincent's High School

MISS LUCY KANE, one of the three leaders in St. Vincent's Girls' High School graduating class this year, is the youngest of the seven daughters of the late M. T. Kane and Mrs. Kane, of Carleton. Miss Mary Kane, whose recent death has been a sad loss to the city schools, was St. Vincent's alumnae gold medalist in 1918, in which year she also won the Hon. J. V. Ellis gold medal and the Parker silver medal for highest marks in mathematics. She was a teacher in the city schools at the time of her death.

Another sister is Sister Joan, of the teaching staff in St. Joseph's school. Miss Katherine Kane, another sister, is employed in a mercantile office in West Saint John. Miss Annie Kane, another sister, is a nurse and Miss Rheta and Miss Edna Kane, the other two sisters, have also given a good account of themselves in community life after a successful school career.

The record of the seven sisters is quite remarkable and one of which the school is justly proud.

GENERAL ELECTION IN GERMANY SEEN

BERLIN, June 23—A general election may be necessary to settle the dispute over property in Germany claimed by members of the former ruling houses. In view of the great difficulties in bringing the various parties to a compromise agreement, it was reported today that the government would adjourn Reichstag discussion until autumn, when the Reichstag would be dissolved preliminary to a general election.

Sunday's vote on the Socialist-Communist project for expropriation without compensation was not decisive, although the project was defeated by a good margin. The favorable vote was large, however, and both sides are encouraged to stand fast.

HUMANE MEDAL TO FRANCIS ULLOCK

HAMILTON, Ont., June 23—Awards for bravery were announced by the Royal Canadian Humane Society today. A bronze medal had been conferred upon Francis Ullock, of Northumberland, N. B., fourteen years of age for saving the lives of four persons who were in danger of drowning when their boat capsized.

DIAMOND PUMPED FROM HIS STOMACH

WORCESTER, Mass., June 24—An X-ray apparatus, a stomach pump, two surgeons and three detectives recovered for Nathan Sharfman, proprietor of a jewelry store here, a $225 diamond which had been swallowed by Wilbur Bonin of Cambridge, a patient at the State Hospital for the Insane, while on a shopping tour without permission from the institution. Among the places visited by Bonin was the jewelry store, and after he had asked to be shown some diamonds, the clerk misled one.

At Bonin was the only person who handled them, the clerk called a detective and Bonin was taken to police headquarters. He told the detective that he was acquainted at the State Hospital and an investigation there showed that he had run away.

Acting on a hunch that Bonin had swallowed the diamond, an X-ray picture of his stomach was taken and the diamond was revealed. The surgeons and the stomach pump did the rest and Sharfman recovered the gem.

LOON IS CAUGHT IN FISHERMAN'S NET

Captured Alive at Fredericton; May go to Public Park FREDERICTON, June 23—A salmon fisherman with net set in the River Saint John a short distance west of Fredericton made a most unusual catch Tuesday night when a loon became entangled in his net. Loons are now given protection under the game regulations. If permitted, Talmage Currie, the fisherman who caught the water fowl, will donate it to a public park, should one want it.

YARMOUTH MARINE SCHOOL IS OPENED

YARMOUTH, June 23—Captain Reside, for many years in command of steamers of the Dominion Coal Company, has very recently taken the necessary examinations to fill the responsible position of Marine Examiner and has received the appointment to that position for the port of Yarmouth. He is already in Yarmouth and has been given an examination room in the Yarmouth Public building. The temporary closure of the Marine School in Yarmouth has caused much grave concern to many persons interested and it is largely due to the efforts of Mr. Hatfield, M. P., backed by the local Board of Trade, that the institution is re-established with a real-time examiner which is most gratifying to all parties. The Yarmouth Marine School since the superannuation of the late Captain J. E. Murphy has been temporarily out of commission owing to the want of an examiner is about to take on renewed life and is already in a position to receive candidates wishing to take studies and qualify for either master or mate.

YARMOUTH, June 23—A historic letter, said to have been written by St. Francis de Sales, has been found at the Ursuline Monastery here. The letter, which was apparently given to a deaconess by the saint, and then taken to Canada at the time of the foundation of the Ursuline Convent here in the seventeenth century, will be taken to Paris, where it will be returned to the Mother House of Ursuline. As the archives here the letter is thought to be genuine.

Cannot Approve Meighen's Views

OTTAWA, June 23—"I now register vigorous dissent from the policy proposed by the Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, leader of the Liberal-Conservative party, in a speech delivered at Hamilton on Nov. 19, 1925, and later repeated at other points, to the effect that, in the event of the Empire becoming involved in any future war, it would be best, not only that Parliament should be called, but that the decision of the Government which, of course, would have to be given promptly, should be submitted to the judgment of the people at a general election before troops should leave our shores."

NOT COMFORTING

"It is not comforting to me to find the following statement published in a journal in London, England: 'Fresh breaches have been made in the solidarity of the British Empire by the public declaration of Dutch leaders in South Africa, and by a suggestive utterance of the Conservative leader in Canada.'"

ACROSS CANADA AND BACK

To start out on a trip by one's self into this unfamiliar but far famed paradise-on-earth, to many appears quite a task. Rails Hold Firm; Oils and Mercantiles Yield to Profit-Taking

TRADING SLUGGISH IN MONTREAL MARKET

Only Five Issues Appear on Board, All But One Unchanged

NEW YORK, June 24.—Stock prices drifted irregularly lower at the opening of today's market, with constructive operators offering ineffectual resistance to selling pressure.

Atchinson, Union Pacific and other standard rails held firm but equipment, oil, mercantile and other industrial issues yielded on heavy profit-taking. Pittsburgh and West Virginia advanced 2 1/2 points.

MONTREAL MARKET

Trading on the local stock exchange was very sluggish in the first half hour this morning, only five issues appearing on the board. Brazilian was the only issue to record a change, it being off a quarter at 8 1/2.

RECEIVES REPRIMAND

Accor'g to some reports, when Suzanne arrived at Wimbledon the officials remarked rather pointedly upon the fact that her lateness had kept the Queen Mary and the public waiting, and Miss Lenglen believing the committee blaming her for not notifying the organizers of her tardiness, resented the implied rebuke, became hysterical and declared she was ready to scratch from all the matches if the committee liked.

UNDER TREATMENT

There appears to be no doubt that Miss Lenglen is suffering from a cold and it is understood that she was visited by the noted physician Sir Milson Ross, Tuesday evening, and again yesterday morning, to have her nose treated. But apparently she said nothing about such treatment to the Wimbledon officials.

HELPFUL HINTS -BY- GOLFING STARS

WALTER HAGEN

FORCE, and force alone, can never take the place of rhythm and correct timing. I know any number of powerfully built men who can not drive a golf ball 200 yards to save their necks. They have been naturally endowed with strength but they have never learned the art of using it properly. One man in particular, a friend of mine of long standing, has been especially anxious to learn the game and it was a hopeless task, turned to, to play in good form. I have given him lesson after lesson and, realizing that it was a hopeless task, turned him over to other pros, thinking that they could discover weaknesses and help him, but after a short time they, too, have given up. It is not that he is muscle bound. Some men are, I will admit, but this does not always prevent them from hitting a long ball if they will learn to hit it scientifically. There are many little things which drive a very long ball and who apparently are using no great force at all. As a matter of fact force is applied to the shot but it is so evenly and beautifully distributed that it is hardly discernible.

LAURIE AYTON

THE only right way to play the iron is to take turf on every shot in which they are used. Doing this gives a player more control over the ball and increases the steadiness of his play. It also helps to get a back-swing on the ball when a club of the machine type is used. In playing from very hard ground, which is the case with the iron, hitting hard ground with the club before the ball is struck will spoil the direction of the shot by turning the shaft in the player's hands and will rob the impact of the firmness and pep which it should have. After playing, it is a good practice to wipe the clubs free of any moisture which might cause them to warp. The shafts should be lightly oiled every week or so. Any fraying of the grip or binding threads should be tended to immediately by an expert. The best way to keep the clubs when not in use is to place them across a table, being sure the shafts are lying flat, with the heads over the edge of the table.

AUSTRALIA CARRIES SHARE OF DEFENCE

Naval Board Member Says Port Defences Inadequate, However

LONDON, June 24.—Australia is carrying a full share of the cost of imperial defence, considering her finances, Rear-Admiral Percival Hall-Thompson, for two years the first naval member of the Royal Australian naval board, declared prior to departure on his return to England, according to the Melbourne correspondent of the Daily Mail. Reviewing his experiences, Admiral Thompson declares that the standard of discipline in the Australian fleet is very high. He believes the two new cruisers now nearing completion, one in England and one in Australia, will be the finest afloat when they are finally added to the Australian navy. Admiral Thompson says the harbor defences at Sydney, Melbourne and other Australian ports are inadequate at present.

It stands alone; it lies stationary on its own octagonal lens ring, or hangs on any nail or peg—where it serves as an ordinary electric light. Throws a beam 300 feet or— at a turn of the focusing device—diffuses a wide arc of light near at hand. Safety lock switch prevents accidental use and keeps light "on" without finger pressure. MANY ATTEND AT ORDINATION IN ST. LUKE'S

Two to Anglican Priesthood and One Is Made Deacon

ADDRESS BY BISHOP OF FREDERICTON

Counsels Those Being Ordained on Matters Affecting Religious Life

Belief in the miraculous as a safeguard against infidelity and modernism was stressed by Rt. Rev. John Andrew Richardson, D.D., L.L.D., D.C. L., Lord Bishop of Fredericton, in his address to three candidates presented for ordination at St. Luke's Church today. At a solemn service at 10.30 a. m., which lasted until noon time, Rev. Cecil Harcourt, curate of that parish, and Rev. Henry Sherman, Shepherd of Millerton, Northumberland county, were ordained priests, and A. LeDrew Gardner, curate at St. Mary's church, this city, was ordained deacon. The ordinations were presented to His Lordship by Ven. Archdeacon A. H. Crowfoot, D.D., rector of St. Paul's (Valley) church. In the procession of clergy and choirsters that followed, the candidates were about a dozen clergy, including, besides those named, Rev. Canon R. P. McKim, rector of St. Luke's, Rev. T. McKim, rector of St. Mary's; Rev. C. Gordon Lawrence, rector of Trinity; Rev. A. L. Fleming, Rev. Mr. Moore of St. John's (Stone) church; Rev. F. J. V. Young, Mission church, St. John Baptist; Rev. H. A. Gody, of St. James; Rev. J. Unsworth, St. George's, West Saint John; Rev. Dean Sampson, West Saint John; Rev. H. T. Patstone of Westfield, Rev. Craig W. Nichols of Waterford and Rev. H. T. Buckland, of Springfield; Rev. E. C. Budd, Upland.

BISHOP'S ADDRESS.
At the close of the processional hymn, Bishop Richardson from the pulpit, addressed the candidates for holy orders. Referring to today being the feast day of St. John the Baptist, His Lordship reminded the hearers that St. John was miraculously born as one out of due time and spent many years in the wilderness in preparation for his great work. Those who were being ordained must beware of weakening in their attitude towards the true faith. The way to infidelity was easy, for infidelity and modernism began in weakening faith as to the miraculous. They should encourage their people to believe in miracles, and he remembered that he also had been miraculously born of the Spirit. There lives were linked up with those of the Blessed Lord. St. John the Baptist had a distinct abiding vision of God as a result of his years of preparation in the wilderness. Long careful preparation was necessary for the work of the sacred ministry. The Bishop warned the ordinands that the only hope of an effective ministry was to have God in the foreground, in the background and all about. That vision could be kept clear by close relationship with the Lord Jesus Christ. His Lordship exhorted the candidates to keep their bodies under subjection, even as St. Paul the Apostle, so that no discredit would be brought upon the church. It should be remembered that the ministry of St. John the Baptist was the ministry of a man not self-appointed but of a man called. Were they sure God was calling them? Show him a priest's life and he would show them a man who would never go back on his undertaking.

OFFICIAL HERE ON HIS WAY TO ARCTIC REGION

G. P. Mackenzie Heads Expedition to Within 11 Degrees of Pole

MAKE OUTPOST ON BACHE PENINSULA

Will Bring Back Police After Years on Duty in Arctic

On his way to the Arctic archipelago, G. P. Mackenzie arrived in Saint John last evening and left this morning for North Sydney, from which port he will sail on the Beothic, in command of a Canadian Government expedition to the Far North.

Mr. Mackenzie, whose headquarters at Ottawa, is attached to the Northwest, Indian Territories and Yukon Branch of the Department of the Interior. This is his first expedition with the objective Bache Peninsula, where it is hoped to establish an outpost. This post will be 70 degrees north latitude, or 11 degrees from the pole.

BRING POLICE BACK.
The expedition will carry seven members of the Royal Canadian Police to relieve those at present on outpost duty. Some of these men stay in the north for two or three years. The cruise also was for the purpose, Mr. Mackenzie said, of maintaining the sovereignty rights of the Dominion of Canada to certain of the places to be visited.

The first place to be visited would be the Danish Settlement at Godhavn, North Greenland. This would be merely a courtesy visit, the Canadian and Danish governments working in harmony in this manner, Mr. Mackenzie said. The second stop would be Pond's Inlet, Baffin Land, and the third Dundas Harbor, North Devon Island. From there the expedition would go to Craig Harbor, Ellimere Island, and the fourth north point which the expedition hoped to reach would be Bache Peninsula. There were posts established at all these places, with the exception of the last one, and it was hoped to organize one there.

READY FOR EMERGENCIES.
On the way back the expedition would call at Pangnirtung, in Cumberland Gulf, Baffin Land, the southernmost station, and if all went well it was hoped to be back at North Sydney in two months' time. Supplies enough to last for 15 months would be taken on the voyage, however, in case the vessel got frozen in and had to wait until next summer to come out.

Mr. Mackenzie, who is a native of Malaga, N. S., will go first to St. John's, Nfld., and returning to North Sydney, sail from the latter port on July 14. He was accompanied here by Mrs. Mackenzie, who probably would remain in the Maritime Provinces during the summer. They arrived in Saint John last evening by automobile, having motored through from Ottawa. They entered the province via Riviere du Loup and Edmundston, and report the roads from the northern border to Saint John to be excellent.

It was at first the intention to go through Maine, but finding a local motorist at St. Leonard's, they decided to come down through New Brunswick and were much impressed by the lovely scenery of the upper Saint John River.

Mr. Mackenzie addressed a gathering in the Chamber of Commerce Engineering Institute in Saint John on a recent visit here.

TO MARCH FROM HIGH SCHOOL TO THEATRE

Final Arrangements For Closing Tomorrow Are Made—“Movies” to Be Taken

The High School closing exercises in Imperial Theatre tomorrow will begin at 11 o'clock sharp. The scholars will march from the school building in Union street at 10.40, to be seated in special reservations. The graduating class will proceed earlier.

There will be seating accommodations for nearly 1,800 people in the rear of the lower floor and in the large balcony. Boxes are being reserved for guests. Among those invited are Lieut. Governor Todd and Mrs. Todd, Major W. W. White and Mrs. White, Premier J. B. M. Baxter and Mrs. Baxter and the civic commissioners and their wives. It is understood Governor Todd will be present.

SCHOOL MOTTO
The motto of this year's High School graduation class is "Respect Finem," a literal translation of which is "Look to the End," but the class is disposed to give it a freer scope such as "Have a definite goal." This motto will grace the decorations upon tomorrow's auspicious occasion, and Imperial Theatre staff is making other special provisions to have the surroundings in pretty arrangement.

If the weather is favorable to photography, moving pictures of the High School body marching through King Square and into the theatre will be shot. After the exercises the graduating class will be photographed in front of the theatre and a general view of the crowd of the popular demonstration as the crowd surge from the building and mixes with the scholars. High School closings of this public character have an inspirational effect upon communal life, Dr. W. J. S. Myles remarked this morning.
