"RAIL CONNECTION."

The Liberal representatives of Vancouver Island in the Canadian House of Commons are solemnly warned that if they do not make their views known upon the subject of rail connection with the Mainland they will be swept into the waters of the straits or into political oblivion. This solemn threat reminds us that rail connection with the mainland has on several occasions been made an issue in politics by the Conservative party—that repeatedly in provincial affairs and more than once in federal affairs, candidates have pledged themselves to do all in their power to advance the cause of rail connection with the mainland, have been elected, and immediately thereafter have forgotten all about their pledges—and that the question remains approximately in the position it occupied twenty years ago. The issue was a prominent one in the late provincial election campaign and doubtless had some effect in procuring the election of some of the supporters of the McBride government. What have these representatives done to improve their pledges? The Liberal party, recognizing the importance of the question and realizing the necessity of keeping the matter entirely free from the prejudices of partisanship, has consistently refrained from raising the issue when elections were pending. The members of the Liberal party have carefully refrained from prostituting a question in which all persons resident in Vancouver Island irrespective of party leanings are interested to base party ends. But, while adopting this attitude, the representatives of the Liberal party have done all it was possible to do in the present stage of railway development in Canada to encourage railway construction through British Columbia. They have not opposed the granting of charters to railway companies having for their objective terminal points the coast of British Columbia and of Vancouver Island. In this behalf of the members of the Conservative party now sitting in the House of Commons at Ottawa? It is well known that at the dictation of the C. P. R. the representatives of the Conservative party in the Railway Committee have inflexibly set their faces against railway construction in this province. To a man almost they trayed themselves against the enterprise of Mr. J. J. Hill. They obstructed the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway project with the subtlety that there was no necessity for the operation of a second transcontinental railway through Canada. The Canadian Northern Railway applied for a charter which would enable it to extend its line to the Pacific Coast with its terminus at Victoria or Esquimalt. But that charter was granted by a Senate committee with a majority of two, that majority including Senators Bostock and Riley. The representatives of the Canadian Northern will be in Victoria shortly for the purpose of surveying the territory, possibly also on business with the provincial government in connection with their enterprises. Will Speaker Ebbetts, who was elected upon a pledge that he would do all in his power to secure rail connection with the mainland, Mr. McPhillips, or Mr. Hayward, who ought to be deeply interested in the subject, use their influence with the government in connection with the scheme of Mackenzie & Mann of the Canadian Northern? Are they not, as a matter of fact, co-conspirators with the members of their party in the House of Commons at Ottawa and with the provincial government they support in endeavoring to have British Columbia kept as a special preserve for the C. P. R.? And is it not a fact transpiring every day that if the Conservative party had been in power at Ottawa, co-operating with a Conservative government in British Columbia, this province would still have been absolutely in the hands of a railway monopoly—an interlocking monopoly, it is true, but a monopoly destructive of the true interests of the province nevertheless? This is the record of the party which if the Colonist is inspired to speak for it, (which is very doubtful), threatens to make the question of railway connection with the mainland a party issue at the next Dominion election and through such an issue to encompass the defeat of every Liberal representative upon Vancouver Island.

The London Times has brought great joy to the hearts of the supporters of Premier McBride by commenting that gentleman, in a strictly conventional way, upon the success he has achieved at "the foot of the throne." The London Times is a great newspaper with multifarious sources of information, but it is quite possible that the "Times" is not familiar with all the details leading up to the expedition of Premier McBride to London. For example, the Times evidently knows nothing at all about the circumstances connected with the insertion of the objectionable words "final and unalterable" in the resolutions passed by the Ottawa Conference of provincial premiers. The words in question were not incorporated in the resolutions at the instance of the Dominion government, but by the premiers of the provinces as a guarantee that if their demands were acceded to there would be no further demands upon Ottawa for increased subsidies. They were meant to imply that, as far as the provinces promoting the appeals for better terms were concerned, the settlement they asked for would be "final and unalterable." In this way it was proposed to the protest emanating from a number of influential newspapers and prominent authorities against periodical "hold-ups" by alleged spendthrift provincial administrations. In the original appeals for better terms British Columbia took no part whatever, because in those days this province was governed by Conservative premiers. It was to be very careful lest they should give offence to a federal Conservative administration. Now the situation is changed. There is a Liberal government in power at Ottawa and a provincial Conservative government in power in British Columbia. When the inter-provincial conference met at Ottawa last year our representative made no objection whatever to the inclusion of the words "final and unalterable" in the conference resolutions. The significance of the words did not occur to him until the leader of the Liberal party in British Columbia called attention to them in the Legislature. Mr. Macdonald asked the leader of the government if he had made any protest, mentioning the fact that he had communicated by telegraph with Sir Wilfrid Laurier on the subject. The answer was that Premier McBride had entered a protest at the proper time against the limitations proposed that Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who had already expressed the opinion that the special grant of one million dollars was insufficient and offered to have the allowance increased, would have raised any objections to the suggested elimination? Or does anyone contend that if the objection had been raised by Premier McBride and endorsed by Sir Wilfrid Laurier that the conference would have refused to entertain the objection? The fact is that Premier McBride attached no importance whatever to the presence in the resolutions of the words "final and unalterable." He did not go to London with the idea in his mind of having them struck out of the bill placed before the Imperial Parliament by Mr. Winston Churchill. He went there with the avowed determination of having the Imperial authorities intervene between the province and the Dominion, to have a board of arbitration appointed and new financial terms between the province and the Dominion fixed by such a tribunal. It was perfectly obvious to anyone conversant with the circumstances of the case and with even a dim perception of the nature of the relations between the Imperial power and the federal and the provincial powers that the government of Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman could not possibly interfere in the internal affairs of Canada in the manner proposed by Premier McBride. It did not interfere. The situation is just what it was when Premier McBride appeared before the conference of premiers and made his demands, with this exception that the case is closed for the time being and cannot be opened until another conference of premiers assemble. Mr. Churchill announced as plainly as language could state a case that the matter was one between all the provinces and the Dominion and must be settled between the various provinces and the Dominion. No objection whatever was raised by the federal authorities to the elimination of the words "final and unalterable" from the measure now before the Imperial Parliament. It is understood that they would have been left out in deference to the desires of this province in any event. But as Premier McBride had indisputably failed in the mission upon which he set forth, just as he sacrificed the interests of the province at the Ottawa Conference for the purpose of raising an effective election cry, it must be made to appear that he scored a signal triumph in securing modification of the terms of the bill now before the Imperial Parliament.

THE MEDICINAL VALUE OF FRESH FRUIT JUICES

One of the Greatest Wonders of the Age.

Hundreds Have Been Made Well by Taking Advantage of an Ottawa Physician's Discovery.

Everyone knows how beneficial fruit is, when eaten regularly. Fruit is nature's laxative—the finest kidney regulator—and the ideal skin tonic. Unfortunately, the medicinal principle of fruit occurs only in minute quantities. In order to consume enough fruit to relieve biliousness, one would also consume a large amount of woody fibre or pulp, which would upset the stomach and impair digestion. An Ottawa physician discovered a way to get around these difficulties. He pressed the juice from apples, oranges, figs and prunes—and then forced one more atom of the bitter principle from the discarded orange peels, into the concentrated juices. This formed a new compound, having all the curative effects of fresh fruit—and BURIED IN VICTORIA. The funeral took place here on Tuesday of one of the pioneer women workers in the Roman Catholic church in this province. Rev. Sister Mary Joseph, who died at Kamloops, the body arrived in the city by Tuesday morning's steamer, and was interred in the Sisters' cemetery, on the 28th of June, 1907, made her profession in the order of the Sisters of St. Ann. In 1855 she came to St. Mary's Mission, New Westminster, and in 1858 she was sent to open the convent school at Williams Lake, where she remained until 1884, when she assumed the duties of superior and matron of the institution in which she was keenly interested and had devoted much of her life's labor. She passed away at 6.30 last Friday evening.

The funeral of Mrs. Sarah Williams was marked by the attendance of many friends and many beautiful floral offerings. Services were performed by Rev. E. Leroy Daykin at the parlors of the B. C. Funeral Furnishing Company, and also at the graveside. The pallbearers were: Messrs. H. Cathcart, Sr., Thomas Clyde, J. S. Stannard, O. C. Hastings, W. Drysdale and W. A. Robertson.

Mrs. Williams had reached the advanced age of 92 years, and was in comparatively good health up to the year ago. She was a native of Bradford, Yorkshire, England. Her first place of residence in America was at New Orleans, La., where her husband was engaged as a sugar planter. Mr. Williams shortly afterwards removed, via Panama, to California, and for some time conducted a quartz mill at Yreka, which was then, as it is now, a famous gold producing district. In 1858 Mr. and Mrs. Williams, attracted by the excitement of the rush to the gold fields of this province, came to Victoria on a sailing vessel, the trip from San Francisco occupying three weeks. Immediately they constructed a hotel called the "What Cheer" house which occupied the site of the present Dominion hotel. This was one of the first wooden buildings in Victoria and was made of lumber brought from San Francisco, lumber being held at fabulous prices in Victoria at that time. Mrs. Williams' conducted the What Cheer house successfully for some years. Her husband suffered a paralytic stroke shortly after their arrival here, and remained so afflicted until his death in 1871. Mrs. Williams was also a pioneer of the Cowichan Valley, having removed there after her husband's affliction in the hope of thereby benefiting his health. She lived on the "Flats" for many years, the present owner of her old home being Clemmont Livingston, manager of the Tyee Copper Company. Here Mrs. Williams for some years conducted a summer boarding house, there being no hotel in that valley at that time, and the fine attractions of the district caused many from Victoria and elsewhere then as now to spend their holidays there.

In 1890 Mrs. Williams removed to Victoria, where she has resided ever since. She outlived her entire family of ten children, the last surviving member of which, Mrs. A. Doda, died in 1900. She leaves seven grandchildren, five great grandchildren and a host of friends to mourn her loss.

From girlhood to middle life the health and happiness of every woman depends upon her blood. If her blood is poor and watery she becomes weak, languid, pale and nervous. If her blood supply is irregular she suffers from headaches and backaches, and other unpeppable distress which only women know. At every stage of woman's life Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are her best friend, because they actually make the rich, red blood which gives help and strength and tone to every organ of the body. They help a woman just when nature makes the greatest demand upon her blood supply. Mrs. H. Gagnon, who for twenty years has been one of the best known residents of St. Roch, Que., says: "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done more for me than any other medicine. I was weak, worn out and scarcely able to drag myself about. I suffered from headaches and dizziness, my appetite was poor, and I was constantly taking medicine, but found no benefit from it. One of my neighbors, who had used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills with much benefit, advised me to try them. I did so, and the whole story is told in the words 'I am well again.' There are times when I take Pink Pills for they seem to me a guarantee against the troubles from which so many women suffer."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills don't act on the bowels. They contain just the elements that actually make new blood and strengthen the nerves. That's why they cure anemia, indigestion, neuralgia, rheumatism, lumbago, headaches, backaches and heart palpitation, and all diseases like dizziness and eczema. That is why they are the greatest help in the world for growing girls who need new blood, and for women who are troubled with irregular health. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50.

LAUNCH ON FIRE. Spokane, June 25.—For nearly an hour last night J. S. Hardwick of Seattle; Fred Lee of Spokane, and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Columbus, of Coeur d'Alene city, fought a fire that was burning a gasoline launch in which they were riding in the middle of Coeur d'Alene lake. Mr. Lee was badly burned about the face and arms, while Mr. Hardwick sustained burns to his wrist and legs. The others escaped injury. They were rescued by launches from Coeur d'Alene. The cruise of the woman were heard over the water and boats put out to their aid.

A defective pipe in the launch allowed the gasoline to escape, and when one of the men dropped a lighted match in the bottom of the craft there was an explosion and they were at once surrounded by flames.

Mr. Hardwick found the fire with his coat, which he removed and dipped in the lake. It finally fell into the lake and was lost. In one of the pockets was $140 in currency.

One time the party gave up all hope of rescue. When Lee's clothing caught fire he leaped into the lake.

ORCHARD AGAIN ON WITNESS STAND

BRIEFLY EXAMINED BY THE DEFENCE

Denied That He Threatened to Kill Steuener Because of Hercules Mine Deal.

Boise, June 25.—The first direct testimony in defence of Wm. D. Haywood was offered to-day. It was chiefly directed toward showing that Harry Orchard, after blaming ex-Governor Steuener for the loss of his interest in the Hercules mine, threatened to have revenge by killing him, and that the conduct of Orchard and K. C. Sterling before the Independence depot explosion, when they were frequently seen together and afterwards, when Sterling called off a bloodhound that was following Orchard's trail, justified the interference that the mine owners inspired the crime. The first witness for the defence was presented by a further examination of Orchard, to permit the defence to complete its formal basis for impeachment. These were nearly all relative to the contention that Orchard killed Steuener because of an alleged grudge growing out of the sale of his interest in the Hercules mine.

Orchard, who came into court under protection of the squad of guards that always acts as his escort, maintained his old calmness and spoke in the same soft voice that he did recently. He again denied that he ever threatened to kill Steuener because of the Hercules mine, and again asserted that he sold his interest in the mine two years before the trouble which drove him out of Boise. Two witnesses called later in the day swore that Orchard did threaten to kill Steuener because of the Hercules mine matter, and that Orchard has paved the way for such testimony from a dozen more witnesses.

The two heard to-day were F. R. Redd, once of Cripple Creek, and now of Goldfield, Nevada, and Charles A. Sullivan, formerly of Cripple Creek and now a watchman in the Brown Palace hotel in Denver. Redd testified that he heard Orchard make the statement and the threat in the miners' hall in Cripple Creek, and Sullivan swore that while he and Orchard were fellow boarders at John Neville's place in Cripple Creek, Orchard repeatedly said that he threatened to kill Steuener because he was a rich man and that he intended to kill him.

The cross-examination showed that both witnesses were members of the Federation of Miners, and that Sullivan was a friend of Haywood, and many of the union leaders at Cripple Creek.

Dr. I. McGe, mining broker, of the Cosco d'Alene, swore that Orchard told him in 1904 that he had a spotter for a detective agency. Orchard denied this conversation and denied that he was in Idaho at any time in 1904.

Several witnesses, principally women, who kept lodging houses at Cripple Creek, testified to Orchard's being in conference at various times with Sterling, the detective for the Mine Owners' Association, prior to the Independence explosion, and that there was a further showing that meetings were held place between Orchard and D. C. Scott, the detective in the employ of the Florence and Cripple Creek Railroad Company.

Another witness, Ira Bilzard, of Cripple Creek, a trainman, described the effort to find the men guilty of the Independence station outrage by starting a bloodhound from the chair cars used in exploring the mine. He said the dog took the road to Colorado Springs, the one over which Orchard fled in the night, and that when he reported to Sterling he got orders to call the dog off. Sterling said he knew who blew up the station and afterwards said that Steve Adams did it.

The state sought the admission of the testimony about the bloodhound, also the admission of Colorado labor laws, but in both instances the court ruled with the defence.

Taking Evidence. San Francisco, June 25.—The taking of depositions in an effort to impeach the story Harry Orchard told the Bolte trial, that he placed a bomb in front of F. W. Bradley's door, was begun here yesterday. W. Winforth, who owned the building, secured a $10,000 judgment against the gas company for damages caused by the explosion, stated that gas leaks were found later and that before the explosion the house smelt of gas for a time. His testimony was corroborated in certain details by Mrs. Richard and Mrs. Cummings, the tenants.

KILLED BY ELECTRIC CAR. Well-Known Bookmaker Run Down on Interurban Line Near Seattle.

Seattle, June 25.—William M. Ayres, one of the oldest and best known bookmakers on the Pacific coast, was instantly killed at 12:30 yesterday afternoon by a Seattle & Tacoma interurban car, at the Meadows. Mr. Ayres was attempting to cross the tracks at the time of the accident, and became bewildered by trains going in opposite directions. In trying to avoid an oncoming car he stepped in front of a swiftly moving train coming toward Seattle, and was dragged fully thirty feet. His skull was crushed by the impact, his legs broken in several places and he was bruised about the body.

Mr. Ayres made a home at Portland and Yam Hill, although during the summer he had been in the habit of spending many days of following the races. He came to Seattle from Portland Sunday night. In company with Joe Clunan, whom he had engaged to assist him in the betting ring, Mr. Ayres started for the platform outside the inclosure to take a car back to town. Clunan was in the lead and had safely crossed the double track when he shouted a warning to his companion. Mr. Ayres paused for an instant between the tracks and then started across the rails to the platform where Clunan was standing. The moment's hesitation was fatal, as the swiftly moving interurban car struck him with terrific force.

GAVE LIFE FOR OTHERS. Fort William, June 24.—An heroic and successful attempt to save the lives of two Finlanders, who had been entombed in Loch Lomond tunnel after a blasting accident, was made by Charles Chester, an Englishman, sacrificing his life.

The scene of the tragedy is where the corporation of Fort William endeavored to obtain a pure water supply, and all three men were employed there. The signal sounded all clear, and after the explosion it was found that the two Finlanders were missing. Chester, who was a son of a retired army colonel in the Old Country, at once entered the tunnel, and after battling with the smoke for some time, succeeded in bringing one man to the surface. He again returned and brought forth the other man, who had sustained fractured ribs. Both rescued men quickly came around, but Chester's exertions had been too much for him and he fell. He was taken to a hospital at Van Anda, which was recently opened by His Lordship. Rev. Mr. Simon is entering upon duty on Salt Spring Island owing to the illness of Rev. Wilson.

Rev. Mr. Leakey announced the will-fulness of the Shawigan Lake people to hold tent services in this district.

Rev. A. Heath will be the new incumbent at Edgymith, and it is hoped that Cumberland will secure the services of Rev. Mr. Lafere.

ASKS FOR INQUIRY. Washington, June 25.—The Central Labor Union of Washington sent a telegram to the Federal Reserve board, asking that it institute an inquiry to determine if the telegraph companies have entered into a conspiracy to restrain trade in violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust law.

At the request of the American Federation of Labor, the similar inquiry will be taken by all the labor organizations in the United States.

CHINA MUST TAKE PROMPT ACTION. Dispute Regarding Timber Industry—Efforts to Curtail Japanese Privileges in Manchuria.

Mukden, June 25.—Without waiting for an announcement of the policy of the new Manchurian administration, Japan, on the ground of defence of her tariff interests, has begun a programme apparently directed toward forcing action by the Chinese government in regard to the re-opening of negotiations toward reaching an agreement in the timber dispute. All Manchurian timber exports to the Yalu river are in suspense on this account.

General Kojima, military head of the timber bureau, is levying on one-fourth of all timber. Three thousand ruffians are tied up for the trading season, and six thousand ruffians are waiting. As ten thousand unemployed are now in disorder, General Kojima today issued a proclamation intended to relieve the situation.

China's default in the negotiations and its support of a large timber company in defiance of Japanese protests have rendered the Japanese government addressed to Japan a complaint on the subject of the Yalu timber-felling industry. In this complaint it is stated that Japan, without waiting for the conclusion of a convention with China regarding the conduct of the industry, had given a concession to a Japanese company to exploit the forests. Japan's reply was very pointed. She said that the so-called Kojima is Major-General Kojima, who was given a concession to exploit the forests. Japan's reply was very pointed. She said that the so-called Kojima is Major-General Kojima, who was given a concession to exploit the forests.

The reply then went on to say that the Chinese have attempted by act of violence to obstruct the timber-felling operations on the Korean bank of the Yalu, and that the Japanese have been obliged to resort to strong measures of self-protection. This is a serious ground of complaint against China, and Japan formulates her protest in strong terms. Finally she points out that the Chinese authorities have granted a concession to a company of their own countrymen for exploiting the woods along the Hun river, and that they have thereby flagrantly violated the treaty which requires that work of this kind in the Yalu region shall be carried on jointly. Pekin has been repeatedly informed that so soon as a few effective steps are taken to implement the Peking treaty of December, 1905, the timber-felling operations undertaken by the military on the right bank of the Yalu will cease, and the whole enterprise will be handed over to the company jointly organized in compliance with that treaty. But China, instead of carrying out the conventional duties, confines herself to formulating groundless protests.

It is popularly supposed here that China is merely making a show of a minimum, if not a vanishing quantity, of the practical enjoyment of all privileges obtained by Japan in Manchuria. Meanwhile, the system of exploitation inaugurated by the Japanese during their military occupation of the Yalu valley continues unchanged, and will doubtless remain so until the Chinese government is so badly beaten that China's mood is obdurate. But China is not in such evil plight as was at first supposed for she too has her own independent timber enterprise in the valley of the Hun river. It is, however, a situation which may at any moment develop ugly features.

FAREWELL RECITAL TO MISS GILBERT

Well Known Artists Lend Their Aid and Entertainment Proves Great Success.

(From Wednesday's Daily.) For the purpose of bidding farewell to Miss Justine Gilbert, who is about to leave for Germany to study music, a recital was held at the institute hall yesterday evening.

The programme was organized by some of the advanced pupils of Prof. Wickens, a musician who is responsible for the degree of competency which Miss Gilbert has already acquired. Outside help was lent to the organizers of the concert by Mrs. D. E. Campbell and J. H. Griffiths. Miss Justine Gilbert appeared twice on the programme alone. In "Air Russes," by Kneffel, she was at her best. This was ably interpreted by the violinist, and the rendering was loudly encored. She was heard again during the evening in a violin solo entitled "Legende," by Bohm, which was very brightly given. The audience were highly pleased with the efforts of the artist, and she had to respond to the applause on three occasions before she could finally leave the platform.

General Kojima, military head of the timber bureau, is levying on one-fourth of all timber. Three thousand ruffians are tied up for the trading season, and six thousand ruffians are waiting. As ten thousand unemployed are now in disorder, General Kojima today issued a proclamation intended to relieve the situation.

China's default in the negotiations and its support of a large timber company in defiance of Japanese protests have rendered the Japanese government addressed to Japan a complaint on the subject of the Yalu timber-felling industry. In this complaint it is stated that Japan, without waiting for the conclusion of a convention with China regarding the conduct of the industry, had given a concession to a Japanese company to exploit the forests. Japan's reply was very pointed. She said that the so-called Kojima is Major-General Kojima, who was given a concession to exploit the forests.

The reply then went on to say that the Chinese have attempted by act of violence to obstruct the timber-felling operations on the Korean bank of the Yalu, and that the Japanese have been obliged to resort to strong measures of self-protection. This is a serious ground of complaint against China, and Japan formulates her protest in strong terms. Finally she points out that the Chinese authorities have granted a concession to a company of their own countrymen for exploiting the woods along the Hun river, and that they have thereby flagrantly violated the treaty which requires that work of this kind in the Yalu region shall be carried on jointly. Pekin has been repeatedly informed that so soon as a few effective steps are taken to implement the Peking treaty of December, 1905, the timber-felling operations undertaken by the military on the right bank of the Yalu will cease, and the whole enterprise will be handed over to the company jointly organized in compliance with that treaty. But China, instead of carrying out the conventional duties, confines herself to formulating groundless protests.

It is popularly supposed here that China is merely making a show of a minimum, if not a vanishing quantity, of the practical enjoyment of all privileges obtained by Japan in Manchuria. Meanwhile, the system of exploitation inaugurated by the Japanese during their military occupation of the Yalu valley continues unchanged, and will doubtless remain so until the Chinese government is so badly beaten that China's mood is obdurate. But China is not in such evil plight as was at first supposed for she too has her own independent timber enterprise in the valley of the Hun river. It is, however, a situation which may at any moment develop ugly features.

(From Wednesday's Daily.) The annual camp training of the Fifth Regiment came to an end last evening. There was a delay in getting the target into position with the consequence that firing with the big guns toward the close was carried on under considerable difficulties through the light falling. The men, however, had every reason to feel satisfied with their work.

The work with the 13 pounders through no fault of the men was not as good as the men themselves were capable of performing. After dinner each company struck the various colleges for the night. The position of the camp was very comfortable. Major Williams inspected the interior of the camp and found all in order. The regiment marched in stronger than they went into camp, looking much better for their training.

WINE-GROWERS ARE STILL HOLDING OUT

Unrest in the French Army Causing Uneasiness in the Cabinet.

Paris, June 25.—The government's hope that the return of Marcel Albert, leader of the wine-growers' movement to the south, after his interview with Premier Clemenceau would result in a change of attitude on the part of his followers has been blasted. The federated committees have decided to maintain the strike and the "Bedeem" or "Apostle," as he is variously termed, has no alternative but to surrender himself to the authorities in accordance with his promise to Clemenceau.

Nevertheless the excitement in the disturbed territory continues to subside, and the government believes that, barring some unforeseen incident, which may again inflame the people, the latter will gradually come to their senses and realize that a prolongation of the present situation will only increase their misery.

The government now apparently is quite as much concerned about the insubordinate spirit manifested among the troops as the attitude of the wine-growers. In spite of the efforts to minimize them new incidents showing lack of discipline in the army are occurring daily. The government's military propaganda, the press commends the decision of the government to exile the mutineers of the army to the colonies, and to postpone indefinitely the bill providing for the abolition of the court-martial in time of peace.

The position of the cabinet grows increasingly difficult, and M. Clemenceau's sole object seems to be to weather the storm of the summer vacation of parliament affords a breathing spell.

To-morrow when the premier replies to the general press conference, the government is likely to decide whether or not he will be able to overcome the difficulties which impede or fall in his attempt to do so.

Many Persons Killed and Injured—The Social Revolutionists Appeal to People to Continue Struggle.

Tiflis, Trans-Caucasia, Russia, June 26.—Ten bombs were thrown to-day in the town which was thronged with people. The missiles exploded with terrific force. Many persons were killed or injured, and windows and doors were shattered over a large area.

Police are preventing all persons approaching the scene of the outrages. Urged to Continue Struggle. St. Petersburg, June 25.—The Social Revolutionists and Group of Toi members of the late parliament, numbering 123 deputies, yesterday issued their anticipated manifesto summoning the people to continue by force the struggle for land, liberty and popular representation.

FIRST USED FISTS THEN REVOLVERS

Duel Between Cuban Politicians—One of Them Wounded in the Arm

Havana, June 26.—A duel was fought on Monday in the town of Calbazan, Havana province, between Dignel Hernandez and Gabriel Lopez Garcia. The first is a partisan for Senor Zayas and the other a partisan of General Gomez. The dispute began in a discussion about the respective merits of the presidential candidates, when Garcia used strong language against Zayas. Then they decided to fight it out. The weapons used were revolvers and Garcia was shot through the left arm.

BATHING FATALITY

Young Man Lost His Life in River at Moose Jaw. Moose Jaw, Sask., June 25.—An accident occurred at the upper Canadian Pacific Railway dam on Moose Jaw River yesterday by which Carl Hopkins, son of E. N. Hopkins, lost his life. He sank in the presence of half a dozen companions, who did their best to rescue him, but without avail. Young Hopkins was one of a company composed of Murray Thompson, Murray Whitrow and one or two others who were swimming in the river.

HORSE RACING

Stewards of New York Jockey Club Give Starters Free Hand. New York, June 26.—The World this morning says: "Mars Cassidy, who acts as a starter on all Metropolitan race tracks except the one at Brighton Beach, was notified yesterday by the stewards of the Jockey Club that in future he may start the horses in any manner he deems best, either from a standing start or while in motion. This order of the Jockey Club stewards was the outcome of a complaint expressed at the standing start at the rise of the barrier. By this method the horses were sent to a bad start and many good horses are being lost because some opponent gets a running break."

GIRL DROWNED

Moose Jaw, Sask., June 25.—Miss Eva Hall was drowned here last night. She and a young man started from Plaxton's bathhouse in a canoe. The bathhouse is a few yards from a dam in the river near the powerhouse. The frail craft was carried away by the current, and when about to go over the dam, Miss Hall jumped into the water beside the cribwork. She was not seen again.

The decision was practically unanimous. Details have been received of the escape of Peter Karpovich, the assassin of Minister of Education Bogoloff, who, with the exception of Sasonoff, the mayor, Interior Minister von Plehva, was the last of the famous group of terrorists still in captivity. Karpovich, whose sentence of twenty years in the mines was shortened by the amnesty decree contained in the October manifesto, had finished his sentence in the mines and was on his way to the penal colony of Barguzinsk to serve a further period of fourteen years' banishment before he would be allowed to return to European Russia. During the journey he evaded his guards, disappeared and is supposed to have made his way to the United States or England.

In War Office. St. Petersburg, June 25.—The police for night searched a department of the war ministry and found it to be the headquarters of one of the revolutionary groups. Much literature was seized. The building was cordoned by police during the search, but only one arrest was made.

Officers Arrested. London, June 25.—A dispatch to a news agency from Odessa says it authoritatively reported that sixty officers of the southern military district, several of them connected with the Odessa garrison, have been arrested.

Guardhouse Attacked. Krasnoyarsk, Siberia, June 25.—The attack on the guardhouse and detention prison here, which began on June 21st, was resumed last night by revolutionaries who occupied the surrounding houses. They opened a heavy fire on the guards and the latter replied with volleys.

Crews Representing Seven Colleges Will Struggle for Supremacy On the Hudson River.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 26.—Regatta day broke bright and promising for the rowers of the thirteenth annual inter-collegiate regatta on the Hudson river this afternoon when the oarsmen of seven colleges will match skill and brawn for aquatic supremacy. The first race, the Poughkeepsie regatta, will be the Kennedy challenge cup, brings together Syracuse, Pennsylvania, Columbia and Cornell in a fight over a two mile course. This event is scheduled to start at 4 o'clock this afternoon. The second race, the freshman eight, will be the Cornell challenge cup, will find seven competitors at the starting line. Columbia, Cornell, Syracuse, Pennsylvania, Georgetown, Wisconsin and Annapolis. This will be the first appearance of the naval academy boys in the Poughkeepsie regatta. The midshipmen from Annapolis who are here on a practice cruise aboard the USS Albatross, will start the race from ten cars on the observation train which have been reserved for their benefit. The big race is scheduled to start at 6 o'clock and Cornell is favorite. The weather is hot and sultry and no wind.

LONE HIGHWAYMAN

Was Nervous But Held Up Two Stages Securing One Hundred and Fifty Dollars.

Fresno, June 25.—A dispatch was received at Madera last evening, saying that two Yosemite stages were held up yesterday afternoon between Crooms and Grab Gulch, thirty-five miles from Madera. Another dispatch from Berenda stated that the lone highwayman who held up the stages obtained $150 from the passengers. The two stages were trailing each other and were both bound for the valley. The robber wore a white mask and had a new rifle. He appeared nervous and it is not believed that he is the same man who held up the stages near Ahwanee a few days ago.

PRESENT FOR THE KAISER

Emperor of Japan Sends Ancient Piece of Bronze and Message of Goodwill.

Kiel, Germany, June 25.—The presence of the two Japanese warships, the Ambassador and several members of the Japanese legation here, is regarded as a distinctly political character, possibly as a demonstration of friendship in preparation for making proposals to Germany for an agreement concerning the Far East similar to that recently arranged between Japan and France. Vice-Admiral Ijima, in command of the vessels, brought Emperor William an ancient piece of Japanese bronze, an eagle with outspread wings perched on the point of a cliff, together with a message from the Japanese Emperor expressing the latter's goodwill and friendship. At the dinner last night the Emperor gave Ambassador Terauchi the first seat on the left and the Japanese ambassador the first seat on his right.

SAN FRANCISCO BRIBERY CASES

SEEKING TO SET ASIDE INDICTMENTS

Attorneys for Defendants Make Application to Judge Lawler—Supervisors Desert Schmitz.

San Francisco, June 25.—Six of the corporation and city officials under indictment for bribery, President Callahan, General Manager Mulhally, Chief Counsel Ford and Assistant Counsel Abbott, of the United Railroads; Vice-President Glass, of the Pacific States Telephone & Telegraph Company, and Mayor Eugene E. Schmitz, through their attorneys are making determined efforts to have a copy of the indictment set aside the indictments against them on grounds of technical error. After two sessions of court had been consumed yesterday in the presentation of evidence in support of their contentions, the hearing was adjourned until 2 o'clock this morning when the arguments were presented and authorities submitted. Mayor Schmitz's attorney yesterday withdrew from the district court of appeals his petition for admittance to bail through writ of habeas corpus, and gave the explanation that technical omission in the document necessitated its re-framing. It was said that a new petition will be filed.

The vessel was in imminent danger, but the officers maintained order, distributed the lifeboats and prepared the boats for lowering. After half an hour the captain of the Anglia succeeded in getting her off under her own steam and landed the passengers. The bows of the Anglia were stove in above and below the water line, but her water-tight compartments saved her.

PROBING INTO LABOR TROUBLES

CRIPPLE CREEK DISORDERS REVIEWED

Counsel for Haywood Will Show Federation Leaders Were on Side of Peace.

Boise, Idaho, June 26.—Continuing the work of breaking down the story told by Orchard on the stand when he laid the foundation for the prosecution of Wm. D. Haywood, the defence is to-day bringing more witnesses to contradict the statements by Orchard. So far these witnesses have told of the occurrences at Cripple Creek, Col., in 1903 and 1904, and in the Coeur D'Alene section where Orchard says he committed his first serious crime. The defence insisted that it had the right to go deeply into this matter of labor trouble in order that it may show what was done by the military and the provost marshal in the Cripple Creek strike. The defence is trying to prove that Orchard was not at Wardner on the day of the explosion. The defence has been allowed to ask questions bringing out the details of the disturbance at Cripple Creek during the great strike there. The State has objected to opening up this wide field, but the defence insisted that it had the right to go deeply into this matter of labor trouble in order that it may show what was done by the military and the provost marshal in the Cripple Creek strike. AYH.
NOT SO SHORT.
Wife (sighing)—Oh! dear, I've still got to plan my bathing suit. I wish I could get some good suggestions. Hubby—I'll give you one. Suppose you build the bottom of it a little closer to sea-level this year.

All in the Word
The young man who had gone to New York from Georgia to secure a place and to carve out his fortune had made a good start and came home on a brief visit. Among his friends he met Deacon Hazlett, who had expressed a great interest in his going, but who now was passing him by with a nod when the young man called: "See here, Deacon, haven't you got a hand-shake for me?" "Yes," replied the good man with a solemn shake of the head. "But what's the matter? You were in favor of my going to New York." "And you gave me lots of good advice." "Yes, but it seems that you did not follow it. I am sorry, James—very sorry." "You must have heard something, Deacon?" "Alas, yes." "Something derogatory to me. What is it?" "I heard that you were running a typewriter in that great and wicked city, and it is only a question of time when trouble must come of it. You may tell me that she is not like other girls and that there is no cause for fear, but—"

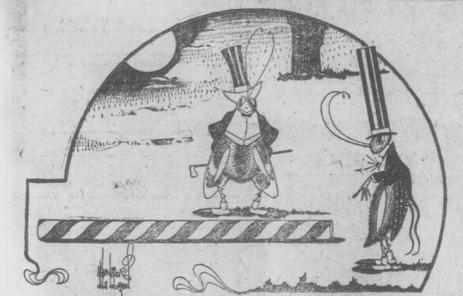

"Say, Deacon," interrupted the young man, "I'd run a typewriter."
"Ahem!"
"But it's a machine—not a girl. The girls who run the machines are called typists. I am not running a typist who runs a typewriter. Lordy, but it would take my whole week's salary to rustle one of them out to a dinner."

Getting Hot
I asked an old farmer who had come into Brooklyn from his farm with a load of vegetables to sell if the people out his way were waking up to the presidential campaign, and he answered with great heartiness:
"You bet they are! Yes, sirc-e, things are getting hot down my way."
"Folks taking a great interest, eh?"
"Heaps and heaps. Did you hear about Jim Wheeler calling Bill Smith a liar?"
"Yes, sir, called him a liar right to his face and then spit on his hands to back it up. Hear about Jim Sawtelle?"
"He got so excited talking politics that he put a hot pipe in his pocket and burned his coat-tails off. You must have heard about Tom Bowers and Elisha Jones?"
"I don't think I have."
"They have been friends for years. They were at the post office the other night and got telling who they wanted for the next president, when Tom speaks up and says:
"Elisha, you are an infernal liar!"
"And you are a jackass on wheels!" says Elisha, and then they pulled off their coats, put chips on their shoulders and dared each other to knock 'em off. They have agreed not to speak to each other ag'in as long as they live. Then we've had two cows die of hollerhorn, and one mad dog running around and a bull got loose and gored an old mare to death. Getting hot? You bet your life it is, and we are getting ready to save the country or bust!"

Soon off to the country will flock in a board. The city folks, haughty and proud, And the farmer will wish, when they've crowded his board, That his wife hadn't boarded the crowd.

AT THE GRADUATION EXERCISES.
The Old Man—You college fellows seem to take life pretty easy. The Collegian—Yes. Even when we graduate we do it by degrees.

THE WAY IT COST.
First Visitor to Exposition—Where are you going after leaving the exposition? Second Visitor—To the poorhouse, I reckon.

WHEN EVELYN WENT WADING.
I saw her wading in the brook— She did not know that I was nigh. I smiled at every step she took. There wading in the sparkling brook.

THE CIRCUS
Now a thrill of glad excitement agitates the youthful breast. And the boy with bait a dollar counts himself supremely blest. While the prodigal who squanders dimes and pence as they come. Works with energy untiring to acquire the needful sum. Boys whose records have been shady in the very recent past. Are upon their good behavior—much too good, indeed, to last. Cheerfully run of their grands, mind what's said without a frown. Just the usual condition when the circus comes to town.

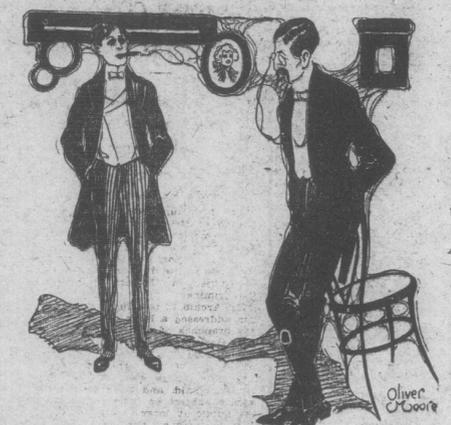

PLEASANT REMINISCENCES.
I like to see the shimmering sunlight still a-dance for my eyes. An the shadders in the water whur the reddy-willys rise. I like to see the dragon flies a-stain sweetness er they could. An a-laughin at the bees that worked so hard fur others' good.

Spinks—Proudly is one of those people who think they know it all. Winks—Never mind. Pride goes before a fall. He has a daughter who will soon be through school. He will sit and listen to her graduation essay and feel like an ignoramus.

AMONG THOSE PRESENT.
Hook—Does he cut much ice in public affairs? Cook—None at all. Say, he is of about as much importance in a town meeting as the bridegroom at a June wedding.

STRICTLY SPEAKING
Bleecher—He was very unpopular before the game, but after he made the fine win ning play he had many friends. Ss-lecher—Ah! I suppose he made friends by the score.

WHAT FATHER THOUGHT.
Mrs. Proud—What did you think of Myrtle's graduation essay? Mr. Proud—Excellent. No one would think that Myrtle chewed gum and slapped her little brother, would they read slapped her little brother, would they dear?

Something More

He was a newspaper man, with a pencil and notebook in hand, and as he entered the office of the railroad President he said:
"Sir, I see by the reports of the Bureau of Statistics at Washington that during the last six months there have been 55,035 people killed and injured on the railroads of the United States."
"Something like that, I believe," was the reply.
"There have been over one hundred head-on collisions, due to reckless running."
"Yes, the boys have whooped her up pretty well."
"And about the same number of rear-end collisions, due to misreading orders."
"Yes, but the boys got tired of the monotony, you know."
"Forty trains have been derailed while running at dangerous speed," continued the reporter.
"About forty, I think. The boys got in a hurry."
"And over a hundred train hands have been killed in the six months."
"Young woman, I believe."
"Yes, our train men do get giddy now and then."
"Forty of the accidents were brought about through direct disobedience or orders, sir."
"No doubt. Some of the engineers think they can run the old thing better than a train dispatcher."
"It's a terrible state of affairs, Mr. President. Human life would be safer on a stone barge at sea."
"Yes, I think so."
"And what are you going to do about it?"

Entered the office of the railroad President.
"I? What can I do? I am simply elected to this position to make a five per cent dividend for the stockholders. You'll have to see some of the switchmen down in the yards and tell them that these accidents ought to stop. Good-bye, sir. Oh! by the way, here is a telegram saying there has been another collision on our Road, with forty killed and sixty hurt. Might add those to your figures to round 'em out a little."
JOE KERR.

Things Were All Right

"You will remember," said an ex-soldier who remained with the sanitary squad in Cuba for two years after the close of the Spanish war, we were left behind to clean up the Cuban towns, and I can tell you we had a job of it. Not alone were the streets in horrible condition, but nineteen out of twenty houses were fever-breeding mazes. In one case, where the proprietor was ordered to move things out and give us a chance to whitewash, he asked of me:
"But why go to all this trouble?"
"To make things clean," I replied.
"But why make things clean?"
"To stamp out the fever."
"But why stamp out the fever?"
"To make this a healthy town."
"But why make it a healthy town?"
"I cut him off by ordering him to hustle out the things, and after he had reluctantly cleared the place he turned to me with tears in his eyes, and said:
"Senor, it is hard—it is hard. You have conquered us, and we must do as you say, but we feel the humiliation. Presently one of my friends will come along and sniff and sniff and ask: 'Where are the smells? I can answer him nothing. Then another will come and ask: 'Where is the fever?' I can answer him nothing. Then the doctor will come and ask where are the sick, and the grav-

I ordered him off to hustle things out. digger will come and look at the house reproachfully, and all I can do will be to go out and tell them that I am sorry but the Senor Americanos have made laws that I must be clean and healthy and no longer have any enjoyment in life!"
JOE KERR.

AN INVENTIVE GENIUS.
"What makes him so unpopular?"
"He fixed his lawn mower so you have to drop a dime in the slot to make it go."

WHAT THE DOCTOR TOOK.
An old negro living in Carrollton was taken ill recently and called in a physician of his race to prescribe for him. But the old man did not seem to be getting any better, and finally a white physician was called. Soon after arriving Dr. S. felt the darky's pulse and examined his tongue.
"Did your other doctor take your temperature?" he asked.
"I don't know sah," the patient answered feebly. "I haven't missed anything but my watch as yet boss."—Argonaut.

GETTING AND STAYING THERE

Securing a seat in the forward van of progress in the mercantile world in these days of keen competition is only accomplished by hard and persistent effort, and so many are ready and eager to jump into it, the same effort will be exerted to keep there. Judicious advertising and up-to-date store method is the dual combination that will place you there, and so long as you are as practiced, keep you there.

The Times gives a better service to the Victoria merchant, because it reaches so many more readers than any other else will and the cost is more moderate.
