BOOMING JEROME FOR GOVERNOR OF NEW YORK

Democrats Prefer Him to Hearst

Mayor McClellan Strongly in Favor of the Doughty District Attorney—Cable Despatches Tell of Horrible Conditions in Russia and That Panicky Feeling Prevails.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)
New York, June 18.—With District Attorney Jerome safely in Cape Breton, his friends today launched a somewhat sudden boom for him for governor this fall. The Post says: "Democratic politicians were discussing today the increasing mention of District Attorney Jerome as the Democratic candidate for governor. The discussion has been a matter of some interest ever since Mayor McClellan, at Union College, openly defended the district attorney's conduct of the insurance case. "The fact that the mayor was rapidly obtaining complete control of the local Tammany organization added significance to the utterances. Finally, the declaration of John A. Henneberry, who managed Mr. Jerome's two recent successful campaigns, that he recognized the 'set' toward Jerome, had seen evidence of his strength through the state, and believed that Mr. Jerome would be nominated, gave added importance to the matter. "Mr. Jerome's strength in the mind of the politician is believed that Mr. Jerome led to his local supporters. He has been in the public eye as no other Democrat of the state has been, and in two sensational campaigns he has demonstrated his ability as a fighter and as a voter getter. The fact that at intervals during the past five years he has been eliminated from public life by local newspaper attacks or political intrigues, only to win at the polls when election day came, is the one definite and clear cut notion that the up-to-date Democrat has of him.

Democrats Turning to Jerome.
"The district attorney was prominently considered as a Democratic candidate when Dr. Cady Herriek was named. Ex-Senator David B. Hill made a trip to Mr. Jerome's office, and endeavored to sound Mr. Jerome. His general intimation was readily repulsed with the announcement that Mr. Jerome was not giving pledges, and Mr. Jerome was turned down. Both ex-Senator Hill and Charles F. Murphy, who, in turn, rejected Mr. Jerome, are now politically impotent. Consequently their opposition will not be of importance. "Democrats are turning to Mr. Jerome, to cite their own explanations, because they see in him the one man whose force and vigor as a campaigner would materially contribute to pricking the Hearst boom. The Hearst boom, moreover, is being taken very seriously in Democratic quarters. Democrats who are suggesting Mr. Jerome believe that his methods on the stump would rattle the Hearst candidacy and make Mr. Hearst an even more pathetic figure than the 'poor Jim' of the past year."

Bialystok Massacre Horrifying.
The situation in Russia continues to grow more serious. The Jewish massacres at Bialystok, according to the somewhat vague reports allowed to be sent out, appear to have been even more than usually wanton and horrifying. What will be the result of the first effort at a parliament no man can say. The despatches from Russia continue to be of the ugliest import. They bring stories of destruction, lawlessness, mutiny, riot and anticipated massacre of Jews. Another general railway strike seems to be impending. A St. Petersburg correspondent, dealing with the evidence of a coming revolution, says it is daily more apparent that the real fight will take place independent of the dooms.

HAIR-BREADTH ESCAPE OF BOY ON RAILWAY TRACK

Westmorland County Lad Took a Nap Between Sleepers and Train Went Over Him and Never Touched Him.

(Special to The Telegraph.)
Sackville, N. B., June 18.—The twelve-year-old son of Ephraim Reade, of Bayville, parish of Bedford, had a remarkable escape from death Saturday night. The lad carries the mail and, arriving at Hardy's siding, on the line of the New Brunswick & P. E. Island railway, he lay down on the track between the sleepers and fell asleep. The engineer saw the boy on the track, but too late to stop the engine. The whistle blew over the boy, but fortunately he was unharmed. The boy woke up and slowly rose to his feet as the train, which he expected to see a mangled body, came on to investigate.

Ohio's Governor Dead.
Cincinnati, June 18.—John M. Pattison, governor of Ohio, died at his home in Milford, a suburb of this city, at 4:20 o'clock this afternoon. He had passed a good night and there had been no report of any serious change during the day. During the early afternoon the news from his home was considered favorable and the latter announcement of death came as a surprise shock to the governor's friends.

JURY DECIDES HACKETT KILLED IDA MAY AHERN

Only Two Hours Reaching a Verdict, But Make it Murder in the Second Degree—Prisoner Plainly Nervous Before His Fate Was Announced and Seemed Dazed Afterwards—Trial Has Occupied Six Days.

(Special to The Telegraph.)
Montreal, June 18.—"We find the prisoner guilty of manslaughter," was the verdict rendered by the jury in the court of kings bench tonight, after an investigation which had occupied six days, in the trial of James Hackett for the murder of Edith May Ahern, at Cole St. Paul on April 3. The address of counsel to the jury and the charge of the judge consumed the whole of the morning and afternoon sessions of the court, and at 6:30 p. m. when Chief Justice LaCasse had concluded his charge in both English and French, he adjourned the proceedings for two hours, saying that he would return at 8:30 to receive the verdict of the jury if they were then prepared to render it. His lordship's summing up was a clear-cut statement of the evidence which had been tendered. He pointed out that the defense relied upon an alibi and had brought witnesses to prove that the accused was at home and in bed at the time he was alleged to have been seen at the scene of the crime. The two boys had left Sharbot Lake for the points in a skiff to get logs for W. Y. Cannon. They had between $70 and $80 on their persons, and the two Indians evidently knew this. Beaver is being sought for, and an investigation into the woman's story will be held.

Opposition Serves Notice They Will Move for Agent's Dismissal on Going Into Supply—Laurier Denies Story About Aylesworth's Resignation—Sunday Bill Up Tomorrow.

(Special to The Telegraph.)
Ottawa, June 18.—Mr. Boyce, of Algoma, asked the premier if the government intended to take any steps to recover the amount of defalcation which Daniel MacLean, secretary-treasurer of the pilotage commission, had been guilty of appropriating. The fund of the orphan and widows had been depleted to the extent of $47,000, which MacLean is said to have admitted to have been short to this extent. A return containing all the correspondence was presented to parliament. Sir Wilfrid Laurier said he could not give an answer today. Mr. Fielding said it was the first he had heard of the matter, but it would be at once referred to the minister of marine, who was not present. Colonel Hughes asked if there was any truth in the Ottawa Journal story that Mr. Aylesworth had resigned. Sir Wilfrid Laurier—"My friend is altogether too credulous. Mr. Cinqmars, in his statement at the bar of the house, accused him of stating in the London edition that a vote for Hyman was a vote for the hierarchy. Laurier and Sharrett He made no such statement. A member on the Liberal side shouted: "Bring him back." Mr. Fielding said the private bills committee, refusing Ellen Mary Mackintosh a divorce, was referred back to the committee. Mr. Aylesworth said he never saw a clearer case, and the woman was entitled to relief. Life, to be tied up in the way mentioned by the woman, would be intolerable.

Corresponds Exactly With Material That Little Ralph's Dress Was Made Of—Detectives Believe That Children Are Lost and Their Bodies Will Be Found in the Woods—Take No Stock in Kidnapping Theory.

(Special to The Telegraph.)
Sackville, N. B., June 18.—The Cremer children were lost in the woods is the opinion of F. W. Sumner, Chief of Police Tingley, Detective Williams of the L. C. R., and Sheriff McQueen of Dorchester, who today visited the scene of the mysterious disappearance. These gentlemen arrived in Sackville by special train this morning and went to Cape Tormentine by early train. From Cape Tormentine they proceeded a team and drove to Spence Settlement, where the Creamers live. They were accompanied by Justice Riley, of Malden. They first visited the Cremer house and subjected Cremer, his wife and little Geneva to a rigid cross-examination. Detective Williams was dubious of following out the kidnaping theory, and so questioned Mrs. Cremer with a view to finding out whether she knew anything about the matter. He asked for the old clothes of the children, and a number of soiled garments were at once produced. When Mrs. Cremer stated that she had not washed them and she replied that she had heard that bloodhounds were to be employed and if that were so they would clear up the case in the woods. It was probably have been sent or taken with the children.

SICKENING STORY OF JEWISH MASSACRE

G. T. P. BRANCH LINE BILL UP

Victims Were Horribly Mutilated

Bodies Hacked Beyond All Recognition and Piled in Heaps—Troops and Mob Both Attacked Hebrews Who Put Up a Gallant Defence—Correspondent Smuggles by the Censor the Ghastly Details.

(Special to The Telegraph.)
St. Petersburg, June 18.—The embargo on news from Bialystok was lifted today and the Associated Press staff correspondent was for the first time allowed to telegraph directly from the sacred city a picture of the scene of ruin and desolation left in the wake of the mob. According to frequent bulletins order was restored and maintained throughout the day, in spite of the incentive to disorder in funerals which were in progress almost all day long, but the atmosphere is supercharged and a slight event may suffice to precipitate a renewal of street fighting. The authorities apparently realize this, and hope to avert such a catastrophe by a strong show of force. On one occasion the whole garrison was called out on some alarms and the streets were literally packed with houses, foot and artillery until they were passed. The story told by the Associated Press correspondent is a sickening one, and there are indications that he has been prevented by the censorship from giving some more ghastly details about the condition of corpses, the utter bestiality of the mob and the inability of the troops to cope with the rabble during the first days of the rioting. It is evident from the despatches that the excesses ascribed to the character of a three-cornered fight between the military, the mob and armed members of the Jewish band, who instead of submitting passively to slaughter as their unarméd co-religionists have done heretofore, carried the war into the enemy's camp and fought bravely, though without inflicting appreciable loss on the troops, among whom no serious casualties have been reported.

Declares That the West Needs All the Railways It Can Get, and That Six Miles Apart is Far Enough in a Good Country—Carvell Moves Again for Lines to St. John and Halifax.

(Special to The Telegraph.)
Ottawa, June 18.—The Grand Trunk Pacific Branch Line Company bill was proceeded with in committee today. Mr. Emmerson opposed it on the ground that no good reason had been given why the branches should not be built by the G. T. P. Railway Company but by another company. He understood that the branch lines of a railway generally paid, while the trunk line did not. This might be the reason incorporation was sought for a separate company to handle the branch lines. Mr. Lancaster thought the G. T. P. Railway Company should build the branch lines. The application for the branch line company was moved by the conclusion that the G. T. P. Railway Company wanted to avoid some of the obligations it had entered into in its contract with the government. Mr. Emmerson said the bill had been thoroughly considered by the railway committee. When in that committee it had been amended by the insertion of a number of safeguards. No new principle was involved in the bill. He could see no reason why it should not be given a third reading. Mr. Pringle objected to the bill because it proposed to build branch lines from the trunk line, and because it did not respect the principle that railroads should not be paralleled within thirty miles of each other.

JEROME, FEM... CRAFTERS, IN ST. JOHN Spectacular New York District Attorney Here After Lapse of Thirty Years

Passed Through to Cape Breton on Fishing Trip--Tells of His Recent Work and Discusses Events in an Hour's Chat With Telegraph Reporter--Will See Insurance Matter Through and Clear the Air--The Matter of Prosecutions--Beef Trust Stories Too Much Exaggerated, He Thinks--Bryan Presidential Boom Too Sudden--Col. McLean Offers a Week's Fishing at Bonny River or Tobique.

William Travers Jerome, district attorney of New York, the enemy of graft and a man much in the public eye, passed through this city last Friday en route for Cape Breton on a fishing trip. In an hour's interview with a representative of The Telegraph he discussed insurance matters in connection with the Armstrong investigation and gave reasons why there must necessarily be delay in prosecutions. He maintained his contention that indictments should be preferred only in cases where they would be upheld by the courts. He expressed his regret that the result of newspaper sensationalism should have caused so many policies in the three big companies to lapse and contended that notwithstanding the wrongdoing of individuals the standing of the companies was financially sound in every respect. Mr. Jerome said he regarded the revelations in connection with the beef trust as too exaggerated in view of his personal knowledge of one of the investigators.

A Telegraph reporter found Mr. Jerome in the smoking car of the Boston train, accompanied by N. A. Smyth, the assistant district attorney, who is sharing his vacation. In reply to a question, Mr. Jerome laughingly replied that he had hoped to escape through without any assaults of the kind, but added that he was used to newspaper men and their invidious and invited the reporter to join the party. The result was no formal interview. Mr. Jerome spoke freely on the subjects with which his name has been so prominently connected and expressed his personal views with quiet conviction.

Insurance Matters. The insurance investigation was the first subject touched upon. Mr. Jerome had recently given a lengthy interview on the matter in New York, which is referred to in The Telegraph's New York letter in this issue but he mentioned several points of interest. His policy, he said, was to insure conviction. It was easy enough to catch the small fry who were made the means by which wrong doing had been proved. It was more difficult to prove the complicity of the big men behind. With them the necessary legal proof was hard to secure. The time was spent in getting evidence of new scandals but was in getting such proofs as would hold water in the courts. Mr. Jerome added that in his opinion it was better to hold that in his opinion it was better to hold that no indictments than to have cases dismissed for lack of legal evidence when they came to be tried.

Will Clear the Air. "But I am going to make this thing through," he continued earnestly. "It may clear the air. My only regret is that the press have by their sensational methods done immense harm to the policy holders by causing them to drop their policies in the three big companies mostly affected. The Mutual, the New York Life and the Equitable are as solid as government bonds. They are not in any financial straits. Yet this excitement has scared the small men with their $1,000 or $2,000 policies. They are not in any straits but have left their wives and families in case of death and millions of dollars worth of insurance has been allowed to lapse. "You will not find the large policy holders taking any such action. They know that their investments are safe. "There is one on patrol lines with that of a superintendent in a factory," continued Mr. Jerome. "He brings you 10 per cent on your money and then you suddenly find your superintendent is a crook. You set to work and replace him with an honest man who can make you only seven per cent dividends. This is not a satisfactory business because you are connecting your business on legitimate lines. "These companies were making more money because, by their connections, they received inside information. This did not hurt the companies but it was the wrong thing to do. It required very clever financing to pay 4 per cent on the New York Life and in the future they may get business who will not be put in a position to make such a financial success but the company will be sound all the same."

The Beef Trust. The sensational side of journalism was touched upon by Mr. Jerome also in connection with the recent disclosures in the Chicago stock yards and packing houses. "I consider the reports too much exaggerated," he said. "I know one of the investigators and he is not one who in my judgment could be relied on in very serious matters of this kind. They went to Chicago looking for sensation and they found it. Our newspapers have no long included in space what they are not entitled to. They are not entitled to continue to use them or their pages would be thought flat, stale and unprofitable. People who think have got in the habit of discounting their utterances and deal with them more as you and I would with remarks in general conversation. "In England, now, it is different thing. The press statement over there is taken very seriously because the law of libel is so much more severe than with us."

Tells a Story. "I remember a story of William R. Travers--the man I was named after by the way--he was sitting at the window of his club in New York one day and Sam Barlow, a very well known New York lawyer, passed by. Travers stuttered when he spoke and he said 'I-look-at-Sam Barlow with his hands in his own pockets. Nobody thought anything of the joke in New York but it was carried over to England where Barlow did considerable business and they took it seriously. "I have explained, when asked the question, no thing like that Barlow must always be putting his hands in the pockets of other people. I'm told Barlow lost quite a lot of business from it," concluded Mr. Jerome with a laugh.

Abuse Part of His Official Routine. "How about the attitude of some of the press towards yourself, Mr. Jerome?" asked the reporter. "I have come in for my fair share of abuse I fancy," he replied smiling, "but what of it? It's one of a public official's duties to be abused. "The significance of the appearance of Wm. J. Bryan as the probable Democratic candidate for president was mentioned and Mr. Jerome was asked if he could give any expression of opinion. "The event is too sudden for me to say anything," he replied, laughing, "and in any case I prefer to leave politics alone. "With reference to his present trip to Canada, Mr. Jerome said he was bound for Baddeck, on the Bras d'Or lakes, Cape Breton, and would drive in from there to the Margaree River, where he would spend the time salmon fishing. He expected to return to the States about July 6 and would then go south to Georgia, where he had promised to speak before the State bar association. Towards the end of August, he would resume work in his office in New York following up the insurance investigation. The court, he added, would not sit until September or October.

MR. DAD RUSSELL'S EXPLANATION

Under the above heading the Montreal Gazette has the following:--Dear Sir--Re MacDonell and Russell, referring to the article in connection with the above suit appearing in your issue of the 19th inst., in which you stated that I claimed the purchase price for the property was paid to the former owner through the Montreal Trust & Deposit Company, but by some mischance the deed had not been filed. My statement was proven in open court on Friday last, to be correct, as Mr. Jno. M. Smith, manager of the Montreal Trust & Deposit Company, testified that not only had I paid over the purchase price in cash, but he produced in court the deed which had been lost and which he had found on the day he was subpoenaed as a witness to appear in this suit, and also produced the deeds of the other portions of the property. The title was made out by me, and possibly owing to the doubt which had been raised, the title was submitted to the residents of the block who had been judicially confirmed under the "Quietness of titles act."

A further allegation was made, that certain statements in prospectus in which the deed had been judicially confirmed under the "Quietness of titles act."
