PRACTICAL ASTRONOMY.

(11) URSA MAJOR, the Great Bear, is said to be Calisto's attendant of Diana, the goddess of hunting. Calisto was changed into a bear by Juno, and placed in the heavens by Jupiter. Another account, however, makes Ursa Major to be Arctas, the son of Jupiter and Calisto. Every one knows the story of Lycaon, king of Arcadia, being changed into a wolf, for killing his grandson Arctas, and setting him before Jupiter to try the divinity of the father of gods and king of men. The ancients, it is said, represented the constellations of the Bears, each, under the form of a waggon, drawn by a team of horses. Ursa Major is well known to the country people at this day by the title of Charles's Wain: in some places it is called the Plough, an agricultural machine, which it certainly resembles.

In the oldest planisphere of the Egyptians, we find the celestial Bears, but no trace of a waggon. Ursa Major occupied the line of the summer solstice, when astronomy was first cultivated in the East. Some of the monuments of antiquity carry back the origin of the science to a period so remote as to place that solstice in Virgo. The Wain then might be the symbol of the husbandman's reward, the patriarchal harvest home. The ancient zodiacs of the Egyptians prove, that the Greeks generally copied their astronomical symbols from the Egyptians, but that those symbols were invented at a very early period of time. The Greeks on receiving their astronomy from the Egyptians, changed part of the emblems that had already been allotted to the constellations, but some of them were as certainly preserved. Of these the Bear is one. And were it not a mere repetition of what I have mentioned elsewhere, I might assign for the introduction of this animal among the constellations, reasons similar to those which have accounted for the appearance of Leo among the signs of the zodiac. After all as the polar regions of the earth are the noted haunts of the bear, this animal might thence be deemed the fittest symbol of the constellation in which we find the Pole of the World, and also of the constellation serving as an index to point out that Pole.

This constellation is easily distinguished by seven brilliant stars in the annexed form. The stars 1 and 2, are called the Pointers, because they direct the eye to a bright star at P, called Arcturus, or the Polar Star. This diagram represents the Great Bear when under the Pole. The seven stars in the Upper figure of the diagram, represent Ursa Minor.

This constellation contains 87 stars, of which one is of the 1st magnitude, four are of the 2d, magnitude, three of the 3d, ten of the 5th, &c. And as this constellation never sets in New Brunswick, except a part of the animal's right hinder leg, it has always a very splendid appearance in our northern latitudes.

Dubhe No 2 has 10h 53m 25s Right ascension, and 62° 38' 30" North declination. Meridian altitude above the Pole 72° 26' 30" under the Pole 17° 43' 30". It culminates or comes to the meridian above the Pole on the 15th of every month in the year, at St. Andrews as in the following table:

Ho. Min.	Ho. Min.
Jan. 5 6 A. M.	July 5 16 P. M.
Feb. 6 59 A. M.	Aug. 1 15 P. M.
Mar. 8 48 A. M.	Sep. 3 57 P. M.
Apr. 9 56 A. M.	Oct. 1 10 P. M.
May 11 02 P. M.	Nov. 11 67 A. M.
June 9 55 P. M.	Dec. 8 55 A. M.

By adding 12 hours to the times given in this Table, we determine the times when Dubhe is on the meridian below the Pole.

(12) BOOTES and MONS MENALUS—Græcian fable makes Bootes to be Arctas, a son of Jupiter and Calisto. Juno, who was jealous of Jupiter changed Calisto into a bear; and she was near being killed by her son Arctas in hunting. Jupiter to prevent further mischief from hunters, made Calisto the constellation Ursa Major, and on the death of Arctas transferred him to heaven, with the title and office of bear guard. Thus Arctas sings:

Behind, and seeming to urge on the Bear,
Arctophylax, on earth Bootes named,
Sheds o'er the arctic car his silver light.
Hence it is that Bootes appears in a walking posture, grasping in his right hand a spear, and having his left extended upwards, holding the leash of the dog's station and Chari, which seem to be barking at the Great Bear. By some, however, he is called the Waggoner; and hence the allusion of Thompson.

Wide over the spacious regions of the North,
Bootes urges on his tardy toils—
Mons Menalus, a mountain in Arædia, sacred to Pan, and frequented by shepherds, received its name from Menalus, a son of Lycaon.

Virgil looks upon Bootes to be the same with Erichonius, who first invented coaches, and the manner of using them.

Prætorius Erichonius curruis et quatuor avis Jungens equos, capidique rotas insistere victor.
This, however, confounds him with Auriga.

I shall therefore offer another account of the origin of this constellation; in which if any obscurity should arise from an uncommon word, it may be surmounted by the reader's research; whereas the ambiguity of the poets; by misleading us are we are aware, confounds our notion of the subject altogether.

I go back to the Greeks instructors for the origin of this constellation. Bootes is a paragon of Virgo. The splendid star Arcturus, is frequently named in Holy Writ, particularly in the Book of Job. This star is placed near Virgo, in a line with Spica, on the meridian of the Ecliptic. The ancient Greeks called this constellation Lycaon, a wolf. The Hebrews call it Caleb Anubach, "the Barking dog," in allusion to Latratr Anubis; and the Egyptians (as appears from Kircher's planisphere) made Anubis "the slayer of the wolf," which constellation we now combine with that of Centaurus. The Latins, among other names called Bootes Canis. Going back to the time when Taurus opened the year, and when Virgo was the fifth of the zodiacal signs, we shall find the brilliant star Arcturus so remarkable for its red appearance corresponding with the time of year remarkable for its heat. Pythagoras, who introduced the true system of the universe into Greece received it from Oenuphis, a priest of On, in Egypt. And this college of the priesthood was the noblest of the east, in cultivating the studies of philosophy and astronomy.

Among the high honors which Pharaoh conferred on Joseph, he very wisely gave him in marriage "a daughter of the Priest of On." Joseph is said to have died 1635 years B. C. the supposed era of the history of the Book of Job, is fixed 1513 years B. C. These facts are 900 years prior to the age of Pythagoras. And it is 4000 years since the Bull ceased to be the leader of the celestial host. The Greeks cannot then claim the invention of the constellation Bootes.

On Sunday last the 23rd inst. Arcturus and the sun had the same right ascension and consequently came to the meridian at the same time; but the sun having 15° south declination and the star 20° north, the star rose 2h 20m before the sun, and set as much later, consequently we can only see Arcturus at present for a couple of hours after sunset. It is a bright sparkling star and culminates at St. Andrews as follows:

Ho. Min.	Ho. Min.
Jan. 6 40 A. M.	July 6 50 P. M.
Feb. 4 40 A. M.	Aug. 4 50 P. M.

At other places in England various interesting remains have been dug up, such as those of the mammoth and bison. Amongst the numerous animals found, which differ in some part of their structure from any living thing that now exists, there are several of immense size. The mammoth, or fossil elephant, demands particular attention, as the entire body of one was discovered in an iceberg, near the embouchure of the river Leana, in Siberia. It was a good deal mutilated by bears; but from what remained of its flesh and hair, and from its physiological structure philosophers were enabled to determine that the animal had belonged to a race of elephants inhabiting cold regions, but which is now extinct. The remains of great numbers of the same species have been found in the same country, and in other northern regions. Its weight appears to have been from ten to twelve feet, and its length from sixteen to twenty. Its tusks are larger than those of the common elephant; one was discovered which measured fourteen feet in length. In every respect the extinct species appears to have been stronger, larger and clumsier, than any which is now to be met with on the globe.

The megatherium is another gigantic remnant of the past. It is found in few places; but four nearly complete skeletons have been collected. In height it would appear to have been about seven feet, and in length about seventeen. In structure it is between the ant-eater and the sloth. Its bones are of great size and strength; and from some parts, of its conformation, it would appear to have been a climbing animal. Its neck is long, and, Cuvier is of opinion that it had a trunk. It is furnished with that which no other quadruped has—a chin. There are other animals or nearly similar dimensions, such as the mastodon and megalonix, as well as great numbers of smaller size, but our limits will not permit of us describing them.

Besides the Kirkdale cavern, above noticed many others of a similar description have been discovered; and the ascertaining the relative ages of these accumulations of animal remains, is at present occupying the attention of the geologists. This is a question of vast moment; for should the remains of man be discovered in them—which has never yet occurred—and if the months of these caverns be sloped with detritus and fragments of rock brought from a distance, such transport not being due to actual causes, and there being no other communication between the outside and the place where the bestial and human bones are entombed, there would appear to be no doubt that man was a contemporary with the extinct species of elephants, rhinoceroses, hyenas, and bears. Upon this purpose, and religion has almost invariably suffered by the connection. Many cases in proof of this might be enumerated, but that of "the stony Galileo" stands conspicuous. He maintained that the earth revolved round the sun, and for this the holy see of Rome imprisoned him, because it was in opposition to certain expressions in Scripture, which they had an over-scrupulous desire to preserve intact. The fact is so well authenticated now, that were any clerical personage to maintain the contrary before the same see, it would consider him as hopelessly unqualified for a mitre.

The remains of animals discovered in the gravels, sands, clays and other rubbish, referable to a passage of water over the land, and hence called in scientific works diluvial are very numerous and interesting. They consist not only of animals which at present exist either in the same country where they were found, or in tropical climates, but also of those which differ altogether from any living thing that moves upon the face of the earth at present. A description of them all cannot be expected here: indeed, a full account of those which were found in the Kirkdale cavern in Yorkshire, would alone more than occupy the whole of this journal. This cavern was discovered by cutting back a quarry in 1821, and was shortly afterwards visited by Professor Buckland, to whom the world is indebted for a minute and able description of it. Its greatest length is about 245 feet, and its height so inconsiderable, that only in a few places will it permit of a man standing upright. The following are the animal remains found in it: Elephant, rhinoceros, hippopotamus, hyena, tiger, bear, horse, wolf, fox, weasel, ox, three species of deer, hare, rabbit, water-cat and mouse. Of birds, there were the raven, pigeon lark, a small species of duck, and a bird about the size of a thrush. It is the opinion of Professor Buckland, from the manner in which the remains were strewn about the cavern, and the great portion of hyena-teeth over those of other animals, as well as the way in which they were gnawed and fractured, that this was a den of hyenas for a long succession of years. It may be inferred from appearances, that they brought in as prey those animals whose remains are now intermixed with their own, and that this state of things was put a stop to by an eruption of muddy water into the cave; for the latter is covered with a stratum of mud, and in it the bones were found.

At other places in England various interesting remains have been dug up, such as those of the mammoth and bison. Amongst the numerous animals found, which differ in some part of their structure from any living thing that now exists, there are several of immense size. The mammoth, or fossil elephant, demands particular attention, as the entire body of one was discovered in an iceberg, near the embouchure of the river Leana, in Siberia. It was a good deal mutilated by bears; but from what remained of its flesh and hair, and from its physiological structure philosophers were enabled to determine that the animal had belonged to a race of elephants inhabiting cold regions, but which is now extinct. The remains of great numbers of the same species have been found in the same country, and in other northern regions. Its weight appears to have been from ten to twelve feet, and its length from sixteen to twenty. Its tusks are larger than those of the common elephant; one was discovered which measured fourteen feet in length. In every respect the extinct species appears to have been stronger, larger and clumsier, than any which is now to be met with on the globe.

TEMPERANCE.

NOVA SCOTIA.

MEETING OF DELEGATES.—On Thursday last at 11 o'clock, the Delegates from various Temperance Societies waited upon His Excellency the Lieut. Governor at Government House where they were most graciously received, and an address was read by J. Leander Starr, Esq. President of the Convention, and presented to His Excellency as follows:

To His Excellency Major General Sir Colin Campbell, Knight Commander of the most honorable Military Order of the Bath, Lieutenant Governor and Commander in Chief in and over His Majesty's Province of Nova Scotia and its dependencies &c. &c. &c.

The humble address of the undersigned Delegates, representing various Temperance Societies established throughout the Province of Nova Scotia, in general Convention now met at Halifax.

Most respectfully sheweth: that we represent fourteen thousand of His Majesty's loyal subjects in this Province, and are convened this day for the purpose of concentrating our influence upon the magnanimous enterprise of Temperance Reform—that we feel sensibly the need of the countenance of the exalted and influential in order to succeed in our important and arduous task.—That we hail with emotions of peculiar gratitude and satisfaction the advancement to the Government of this Colony of a personage of your Excellency's character distinguished alike by the highest attributes of Military renown, and for the benevolent efforts which have already marked your Excellency's conduct since your arrival amongst us.

We therefore most respectfully beg to solicit the co-operation of your Excellency in this cause which has enlisted among its supporters in Great Britain men eminently distinguished by the highest rank and talents, and where the benefits of its effects have been so irrefragably tested.

Were it necessary to urge any thing further upon your Excellency's attention, we might advert to the direful effects of intemperance so fearfully developed during the prevalence of Cholera in this town, and the universally acknowledged fact that its influence is strong in perpetuating and cherishing the existence of that dreadful scourge wherever it has once appeared.

We have the honor to subscribe ourselves (in behalf of the Societies we respectively represent). Your Excellency's most obedient and humble Servants.

J. LEANDER STARR, President.
J. WADSWELL, J. Committee on behalf
R. KNIGHT, Esq. of the Delegates.
Halifax, N. S. 16th October, 1834.

His Excellency then returned the following very gratifying reply, and afterwards in the most frank and condescending manner conversed freely with the different Delegates upon the importance of the cause they were engaged in.

Halifax, 16th October, 1834.

GENTLEMEN,
I have received with much satisfaction the address from the Delegates representing the various Temperance Societies established throughout this Province.

I should consider myself unworthy the situation which His Majesty has been graciously pleased to appoint me to fill, if I did not by every means in my power give my support and countenance in forwarding the laudable object of the Societies which you represent.

I have long seen the baneful consequences of intemperance, and since my arrival in this Province the effects of it among the lower classes have in many instances proved fatal.

I have reason to believe that many individuals indulged in Intemperance (who were not before addicted to that vice) under the mistaken idea that it would guard them against the Epidemic which has proved so destructive among us, but it is to be hoped that those who have escaped will now be convinced that Temperance is the best and only antidote against all diseases, as well as most irregularities. Gentlemen, with your praise-worthy exertions and example in enforcing Temperance and cleanliness in your different situations, and amongst those whom you employ, I trust that with the blessing of God this Province may not again be visited by the Epidemic which has proved so destructive, but should it unfortunately be so, the measures which you are now adopting and recommending will in a great measure tend to mitigate the disease, and afford the pleasing consolation that the Temperance Societies in this Province have been the means of inducing many individuals to support their families by industry, and frugality, instead of squandering their earnings in dissipation and irregularities.

Gentlemen, you may always rely upon my best exertions and giving every support to the Societies from which you are delegated.

I have the honor to be, Gentlemen, your most obedient Servant.

C. CAMPBELL, Lieut. Governor.
To the Delegates &c.

Royal favourites are often obliged to carry their compliance further than they meant. They live for their master's pleasure, and they die for his convenience.

Geo. F. Campbell, Stewards.
J. H. Whitlock, J. Stewards.

LAUNCH.

The race course was numerously attended, the day sharp and clear, and from the elevated position near the barracks the company enjoyed an interesting view of the harbour. A fine vessel which had just been launched at Bradford's, built by Messrs J. N. M. Brewer and Joshua Briggs, for Messrs Cannon and Miller of Liverpool. The launch is a ship of 50 tons and is intended for the Cotton and Passenger trade. The launch is reported to have been unusually fine and the vessel is pronounced of superior construction, highly creditable to Messrs Brewer & Briggs.

On the 29th Sept. the island of Dominica was visited by a dreadful hurricane which spread its ravages far and wide. The public buildings as well as numerous private dwellings, have been thrown down or materially injured. Some vessels also were destroyed and upwards of one hundred lives lost.

The Members of the C. C. Agricultural Society will please remember that an adjourned meeting will be held on Tuesday next the 11th inst. at 5 p. m.

Mrs. Hemans.—The progress of the muse of this lady down the stream of time, has not unaptly, been likened to the predominant characteristics of natural streams: at first silent, sparkling, pleasing, and pure, then gradually becoming more deep and demure, and moving along with increasing majesty and power. We have always lamented, in her style, a similar imperfection to that which is called mauvaisisme amongst artists; that peculiarity by which the production can at once be assigned to the proper author. Mrs. Hemans has furnished late examples of these truths in the New Monthly Magazine, from which we mean to make extracts.

On the night of the 27th Oct. the Maria, a brig from Cork, owned in Annapolis, ran ashore in a fog, on the southern head of Grand Manan and became a total wreck. All hands were saved, and a great part of the materials and rigging, which were advertised and sold by the master on the spot. The Capt. and Crew proceeded to Annapolis in a schooner bound for that place.

On Friday Oct. 17, a remarkable obscurity spread over Montreal and other parts of Canada. A similar darkness occurred there on the 16th Oct. 1785, and another in Nov. 1819. It is supposed to have been occasioned by fire in the woods.

The usual excitement of electing a new member to the House of Commons, but we are unable as yet to say anything of the result.

IRELAND.—The vacant Judgeship will be filled up by the appointment of Mr. Blackburne, and Sergeant Peirin will be elevated to the important office of Attorney-General.

Mr. Charles Grant, it is said, is to be raised to the Peerage, by the title of Baron Glenelg.

Sir John Leach, the Master of the Rolls, died on the 20th ult. at Edinburgh.

AMERICAN NEWS.—Herming, the son of General Jackson, was destroyed by fire on the 12th of October last.

Col. Wyer has returned from Spain and brought the ratification of the American treaty to Washington.

Fairs were entertained that serious commotions would attend the election in New York on Monday last.

Mrs. Tripin, an American lady, has returned to New York after a voyage round the globe—a long trip for a female to take.

Five eminent Surgeon-Dentists in New York, have published a condemnatory declaration on the use of the "Royal mineral succedaneum" as a filling for decayed teeth.

Extensive importations of lead in the form of bays have led to the prosecution of parties at the suit of the United States, but in all cases no verdict could be obtained, thro' the disagreement of the Juries.

PROVINCIAL APPOINTMENTS.
George Frederick Street, Esquire, to be Solicitor General, in the room of Robert Parker, Esquire.
John Simcoe Saunders, Esquire, to be Advocate General, in the room of George F.

DEATHS.

At St. George on the 25th October by the Rev. S. Thompson, Mr. Jacob Clarke, to Miss Amelia Sedgwick at St. George.

DEATH.

At Whittier's Ridge, St. Patrick, Charlotte County, on Tuesday the 21st October, the wife of Mr. George Murphy, in the 39th year of her age; leaving a disconsolate husband, four small children, a wide circle of relations, and a numerous train of friends, to lament her early removal from this fleeting life, and to cherish the memory of one who rendered herself beloved by all who knew her. The whole tenor of Mrs. Murphy's life—her devotion to her family and her deportment in society, remains a striking example that goodness can shine as brightly in the cottage as in the palace, and whilst the deeds of the great and the wealthy are blazoned forth at their demise, a sorrowing friend pays this tribute to one whose wealth was her affections, and whose greatness was her virtues.
At Baccache St. Patrick, on the 21st inst. Elizabeth, wife of Mr. Daniel Hanson Junr. aged 21 years.
On the 7th Nov. Mr. Stephen Jarvis, aged 73 years.
Mr. Jarvis was a native of Dartmouth, England, and has resided in this town about 18 years.
The death of a good man, although not a cause for lamentation on his own account, is the source of bitter sorrow to the friends of the good man. Mr. Jarvis justly deserved that appellation. His ardent, unwavering, practical faith as a Christian, won and retained the affection and esteem of all who knew him.

THE TWOPENNY MAGAZINE.
on Weekly Museum of Literature, Amusement and Instruction.

AMONG all the periodical publications New-Brunswick and the sister Province, there is none devoted exclusively to general instruction and amusement. The very nature of Newspapers prevents their affording to readers much interesting matter, connected with politics and the daily occurrences of life, and more especially are they unsuited for the indiscriminate perusal of youth. The writer has had repeated opportunities of discovering, that something of a different nature is very desirable; many persons wish for the establishment of a small publication, exclusively composed of such instructive and interesting matter, as they may easily furnish for the regular perusal of their children; while country residents, by whom a frequent accession of books is unobtainable, greatly desire an opportunity of obtaining a periodical supply of useful and amusing information, at a cheap rate. To accomplish this desideratum, and thus to afford an agreeable companion for the leisure hours of such persons, it has been determined to commence the publication above named. The work will consist of a pleasing and varied succession of brief articles, comprising every description, (exclusive of politics and daily news,) in LITERATURE, SCIENCE and the Arts; original and selected TALKS, SKETCHES, BIOGRAPHIES, ANECDOTES, ESSAYS, REFLECTIONS, Notices of New Publications, POETRY, &c. in short, it is intended to form a complete Museum of useful and interesting reading, such as may be acceptable to all ages and classes, and which, while it will occupy the mind with very varied subjects, will in every thing be auxiliary to the promotion of religion and morality.

The TWOPENNY MAGAZINE will be printed on good paper with new type; each number will contain eight handsome octavo pages, which will be paged successively, so as to form a neat volume at the end of the year. From its exceedingly low price, (only two-pence per weekly number,) it will be within the reach of all classes, and it is therefore to be presumed that it will meet with an extensive circulation, which, alone, can ensure its continuance. The first number will appear on Wednesday, December 3d, after which it will be published on every succeeding Wednesday, and sold at the Store of the Editor and Proprietor.

GEORGE BLATCH.
Market Square, St. John, Oct. 4.

Editors of Newspapers will confer a favour by bestowing a friendly notice on the above; and they as well as other respectable individuals, are respectfully requested to act as Agents for the work.—Every Agent, obtaining and guaranteeing subscriptions for twenty copies, will receive an additional copy gratis.—Liberal allowance to Booksellers, &c. purchasing quantities.—It is desirable that, as far as practicable, orders should be forwarded to the Editor previous to the publication of the first No. for the purpose of regulating the number of copies to be truck off.

Notice.
The Sensesmen finding that but little attention has been paid to his former advertisement respecting the settlement of outstanding debts, has now to inform delinquents, that as fast as the accounts can be prepared, they will be placed in the hands of his Attorney.

THE RECESS.

For the Standard.
OUR OWN FIRE SIDE.
 How sweet the joys that we derive, from gently breathing gales,
 Which waft to us the odour of the flower-crown'd
 meadow's vales;
 How sweet beneath the moon's mild beam, to walk at eve-tide;
 Yet sweeter pleasures still attend, our own
 fire-side.
 How doth it cheer our languid hearts, to hear the robin sing,
 When to our side he first returns at the approach of spring;
 How sweet, when after springs soft show'rs, the sun is first descried;
 Yet sweeter pleasures still attend our own
 fire-side.
 The we in splendid palaces permitted were to be,
 Or mid a band of social friends to spend whilp nights of glee;
 The we thro' rural scenes should rove with Venus
 for a guide,
 Yet sweeter pleasures still attend our own
 fire-side.
 Ruth Ruffel Retrat.
 Magogadavie 17th Sept 1834.

FOR THE STANDARD.

To Miss P—W—
 Dear P—, I perceived in the late public news,
 An eulogium extolling your beauty,
 The poet speaks well, if he be but sincere,
 Which honour commands as a duty.
 But O my dear maid of his cunning beware,
 For he who would flatter would cheat us;
 He would make you believe that an angel you are,
 Or like "Sol" that can gladden and heat us.
 You may deem him in jest or inclined to deceive,
 For his eyes must have told him you're human,
 Yet he wishes to essay how far with his pen,
 He can play with the mind of a woman.
 But ah! my dear P— of such batteries beware,
 As would defy you in delusion,
 Though he terms you a fairy were you of his mind.
 A wedding might be the conclusion.
 Bocabee 27th May, 1834.

 way to thousands of families, and while it has entertained the social circle, its unobtrusive lessons have, we hope, often had a salutary influence on the juvenile mind and heart. It has also found its way to the school-room; and many classes of young pupils have been cheered twice a month by the welcome voice of the teacher bidding them to lay aside, for a few days, the class book which they have read over and over, perhaps twenty times, and read the pages of Parley's Magazine.
 The demand for the work, to be used in schools, is rapidly increasing. Encouraged by such unexampled success, the Publishers resolved to render it still more worthy of so liberal a patronage, and not to remit their exertions till they see it as a writer for the youth, but as a Teacher.

Among the topics which we propose to present in this volume are the following:
 I. History—General, and of the United States.
 II. Biography—Especially of the young.
 III. Geography—Accounts of places, manners & customs, &c.
 IV. Travels and Voyages, in various parts of the world.
 V. Descriptions of the Curiosities of Nature and Art, in the United States, and in other countries.
 VI. Lessons on objects around Children, in the Nursery, Parlor, Garden, &c. Tradition and Improvement.

VII. Particular duties of the young—to Parents, Teachers, Brothers, sisters, &c.
 VIII. Bible Lessons and stories.
 IX. Narratives—such as are well adapted to Original Tales.
 X. Parables, Fables and Proverbs, where the moral is obvious and excellent.

XI. Poetry—adapted to the youthful capacity and feelings.
 XII. Intelligence—Embracing accounts of Juvenile Books, societies, and Remarkable Occurrences in advance.

Many of these subjects will be illustrated by numerous and beautiful engravings prepared by the best artists, and selected not only with a view to adorn the work, but to improve the taste, cultivate the mind, and raise the affections of the young to appropriate and worthy objects. We would make them better children, better householders, better pupils, better associates, and in the end, better citizens.

We have not the cooperation of all who receive the Circular, in the great work of forming the youthful mind and character. Will you not lend us your aid and influence, in endeavoring to introduce to the American schools, and particularly to the juvenile mind, the stories and lessons of Parley's Magazine?

The yearly subscription being but one dollar, our friends will perceive the impracticability of keeping open so many thousand accounts. It is therefore indispensable that we should require payment in advance.

The price of the Magazine is $1 a year—six copies for $5; twenty copies for $10—or twenty five quarterly parts for $5. Payment in all cases to be made in advance.

Subscriptions for the above received at the Office of the STANDARD.

 expressly for this work, by competent persons, and is entirely engaged for that purpose. The Embellish-

ADVERTISEMENTS.

PROPOSALS
 FOR ISSUING A REPRINT OF THE London, Edinburgh, Foreign and Westminster QUARTERLY REVIEWS.

In weekly parts of 48 royal octavo pages, containing the entire matter of these Journals, with their Indexes; so pagged that each work may be bound separately at the end of the year, thus forming four large volumes of nearly 700 pages each, for $5, being the cheapest and most valuable republication in the country.

The above Journals are already so well known to the public, that little need be said of their respective merits. The well sustained reputation of the first, not only as an able defender of Tory principles, and the old order of things, but as the witliest and most entertaining of the literary and scientific. While the second, celebrated for the vigor, learning and accuracy which its articles display, conducted by some of the principal literary men of the modern Athens, is an equally powerful champion of the moderate Reform party.

The Foreign Quarterly occupies a neutral ground in Politics, and is devoted to continental literature.

The Westminster is but little known in this country. It may be considered as the advocate of the Radicals, and the mouth piece of Bentham-iteism. It represents the principles of the party already numerous in England, and fast increasing in the United States.

It is proposed to reprint the entire matter of the above works in weekly numbers, of forty eight pages each, enclosed in a substantial cover, with good type and paper, and pagged in such a manner that each work may be bound separately, at the end of the year—forming four octavo volumes, of nearly seven hundred pages each.

The price of the whole will be $5 per annum payable three months after the delivery of the first number. The English copies cannot be had for less than $30. Three of them are at present republished. The London and the Edinburgh are at other publications.

Companies of six or more will be allowed a deduction of one dollar on each subscriber, if payment be made on the receipt of the first number. Any individual procuring five subscribers, and remitting $20, will be allowed an additional copy.

All communications to be addressed (post paid) to T. H. B. FRYE, Albany.
 Subscribers' Names enrolled at the STANDARD Office are forwarded to Mr. Frye.
