TROUBLE IN SAMOA. Apia, Samoa, July 15 (per steamer Monowai, to San Francisco, July 3) .-The feud in the colony between the German residents on one hand and the American and the British on the other is increasing in bitterness. Much ill-feeling was caused by the refusal of all the German colonists to attend the respective celebrations of the British and Americans on the anniversary of Queen Victoria's birthday and the 4th of July. The Germans, however, renewed their efforts to have German made the official language.

A HUNDRED INJURED. Vienna, July 31.-The fireworks which exploded yesterday at Funfkirchen were in a store beneath the town hall, and the latter buildings. as well as other houses about the market place, were wrecked, and the whole town was shaken. It is now known that more than 100 persons were injured. It is thought that a large proportion of them will die. Some of the buildings in the vicinity of the magazine collapsed under the effects of the shock, and there is reason to believe that many of the inmates were buried in the ruins. The municipal authorities, aided by the military, are making every effort to clear away the ruins and rescue those who may be imprisoned beneath them. Among the injured are many of the

The congress adopted resolutions declaring that the only solution of the land question lay in socialism, and congratulating working classes in Russia upon their having awakened to the importance of the movement for the betterment of the condition of the working people, and wishing them success in their struggle against political tyranny.

Twenty Dutch trades union delegates withdrew, having become dissatisfied with the manner of conducting the congress, but one Dutch so-cialist remained. The congress declared in favor of the adoption of a political party, independent of all the old parties.

A PEG LOWER. London, July 31 .- Dr. Jameson and his companions, who were convicted and sentenced on Tuesday for violating the neutrality laws, have been removed to Wormwood Scrubbs Prison, where they will be treated as second-class misdemeanants. The announcement made that they had been made first-class misdemeanants at Holloway Prison, which allowed them to have their meals from outside the jail, to dress in their own clothes, to have their menial work done by the other prisoners, and to have a small temporary arrangement.

allowance of beer or wine, was only In the House of Commons Mr. Patrick O'Brien, Parnellite member for the city of Kilkenny, asked for in-formation on the subject of the prison treatment of Dr. Jameson and assoclates, which was furnished by the Home Secretary. Sir Matthew White Ridley said that the court alone had the power to order the prisoners to treated as first-class misdemeanants. No such order had been issued by the court, and hence the convicted men would be treated as ordinary prisoners. In response to a further question he said that he was unable to state at present whether the royal prerogative would be exercised and an order issued in the name of the Queen for the treatment of the prisoners as first-class misdemeanants.

unconscious on the street Wednesday evening, and died shortly afterward. The physicians diagonized the case as one of heat stroke.

Baltimore, July 31.—A tragic incident resulting in the loss of two lives occurred aboard the North German Lloyd steamship Roland, which arrived here yesterday. While the Roland was in mid-ocean the heat was intense, augmenting the temperature of the stoke hole to a point almost beyond endurance. The firemen had suffered terribly, and there had been many prostrations. At length one of the men, Ludwig Trumpp, who had been affected by the heat earlier in the voyage, suddenly became insane, and dashing up the iron ladder to the deck, leaped into the sea. As the life-boat was being lowered a hitch occurred, which resulted in two seamen dropping from the boat. The boat finally put out from the ship, and picked up one of the seamen. His shipmate, Sebastian Jurgens, and the stoker were lost.

St. Louis, Mo., July 31.-At least 50 victims of the terrible heat which continued to prevail here were treated yesterday at the city dispensary and various hospitals throughout the city. There were probably other cases that were not made public. Ten of these victims have died, and more may Cincinnati, Ohio, July 31.-Twenty-

Balmoral or Osborne,

(From our 2:30 p.m. Edition.) London, July 31.-The rumor that Queen Victoria intends to retire in favor of the Prince of Wales is again current today, and it is added that court circles are greatly agitated regarding the state of the Queen's health. Such reports have frequently appeared of recent years, only to be semi-officially contradicted later. But, it now seems that there may be some actual foundation for the statement

It is added that her Majesty has decided to spend her time in future at Balmoral or at Osborne, and that she will give the Princess of Wales the use of Buckingham Palace and Wind-

There is no doubt that the Queen eems to feel greatly the weight of her years and bereavements, and her Majesty is quoted as having repeatedly remarked during her last stay in this city, at Buckingham Palace, upon the occasion of the recent marriage of Princess Maud of Wales to Prince Charles of Denmark: "This is my last visit to London."

Color is given to the rumors in circulation by the deep emotion displayed by the Queen as she bowed in reply to the enthusiastic cheers from the multitudes which lined the route from Buckingham Palace to the railroad station, where she took the train for Wir dsor after the marriage ceremon-

ent Administration had a practical farmer in the person of Mr. Fisher as Minister of Agriculture, and he believed this would be of practical benefit to the agricultural classes throughout the Dominion. The development of the Northwest, Sir Richard said, would also occupy considerable of the attention of his col-leagues. Referring to the department over which he presided, he said. it would be their duty to remove, so far as possible the trade shackles and develop the trade of the country. He could not expect that with one stroke of the pen they could remedy all the evils of the late Administration, but he promised that when they again appealed to the electors for their confi-dence the Laurier Administration would show a clean record. (Applause.) It was their duty to live up to their promises and to adhere to the policy adopted by the Liberals three years ago. If they failed to do this it was the duty of the people to take them to account.

FAIR ELECTION LAWS. Sir Richard then referred to the late campaign, and illustrated the many obstacles which the Liberals had to overcome, including the gerrymander, the Franchise Acf and other causes which he did not wish to discuss then. (Cheers.) The first duty of the new Administration, he said, would be to set aside the gerrymander bill, and, perad-venture, they might give the Conservatives a dose of their own medicine. (Cheers and laughter.) Being an old Tory himself, he could do this with some show of sincerity. However, he did not believe that the Government would do anything wrong; but, he added, if they did administer to the Conservatives a little of their own medicine no one would then proclaim ouder than the Opposition for a fair Federal franchise. Sir Richard resum-ed his seat amid loud applause.

his Constituents.

(From our 2:30 p.m. Edition.) Aurora, July 31.-Yesterday Hon. Wm. Mulock was re-elected by accla-mation in North York. His constituents organized a great demonstration for him in this town. The houses were decorated, and there were over 6,000 in attendance. The scene of the demonstration was Hartman's Grove, in which a substantial platform had been erected. The public school children sang "The Maple Leaf." Mayor Fleury, of Aurora, occupied the chair, and behalf of the town council and citizens of Aurora read an address of congratulation to the Postmaster-General. After addresses by Hon. Mr. Davies, the new member of the Ontario Gov-ernment, Mr. Joseph Tait, Mr. J. S. Willison and others, the new Minister

Hon. W. Mulock was loudly cheered He said that words failed to express the feelings of a grateful heart for the magnificent expression of the confidence of the electors. Referring to the defeat of the Conservative party at the polls, he said it was at least due to Sir Charles Tupper to say that his defeat was owing rather to the methods that he adopted than to his aims, for he (the speaker) believed that Sir Charles was deeply attached to Canada and desirous of doing his best to advance her interests. Referring to the future policy of the Government, Mr. Mulock disclaimed authority to make any pronouncement on behalf of his leader or the Government, but he laid down the policy that the Government could undoubtedly do much to benefit the Canadian farmer by opening up markets that are not now accessible to him. He was permitted, however, in a general way to indicate wherein he believed the present Administration may materially advance the interests of Canada. The expenditure of millions of dollars, not in the public interest, but for private advantage, could and must be stopped. He found there was a market in Great Britain for $235,000,-000 worth of farm produce annually. while Canada at the present time only contributed towards that amount the mere bagatelle of $ 6,000,000. In order to develop this trade it is necessary to provide means whereby the produce from Canadian farms may be laid down in perfectly sound condition at the tables of Great Britain, and this can be effected by a very general expansion throughout Canada, upon the railways and on the ocean steamers of cold storage system.

A HINT TO RAILWAY MAGNATES. Another way in which the interests of the country might be improved would be in making known to the world the vast stores of illimitable mineral wealth which she possesses, and so far as the public interest would warrant remove the obstruction to the development of this industry which now exists owing to the lack of railways. As a member of the Administration, he proposed to hold his party and Government to the redemption of every pledge that had been given upon the platform.

Backache is the warning note of diseased kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills make weak kidneys strong, make diseased kidneys well. They never fail even in most distressing stages of kidney disease. A case in point was reported to one of our representatives the other day. Mr. Robert Bryanton, cooper, 419 Ontario street, London. Ont., states:

"For a long time I have been a sufferer from kidney complaint, with distressing pain in the back and rheumatic pains all over my body, particularly in my feet. I had an itching, burning sensation all over; sometimes it was almost intolerable. The urine was very high-colored and variable in quantity. I was very restless and weak, badly troubled at times with palpitation of the heart, so much so that I had to prop myself up in bed. In fact I was a physical wreck. "I saw the Doan's Kidney Pills advertise ment, and got a box from Strong's drug store. The result of taking them has been surprising to me. I am not a little better but a great deal better. My back is all right, rheumatic pains almost gone; ] scarcely notice them. Urine is natural in color and quantity, and all the disagreeable sensations have left me. I rest well and feel like work. The itching, burning sensation of my skin has disappeared, and beyond question the pills in removing my other troubles have relieved me of the palpitation of the heart and strengthened my entire system. "I pronounce them the best medicine that I have ever taken, and I have tried a number of remedies for kidney troubles. I am really thankful for what they have done for

Bye-elections took place in eight Dominion constituencies yesterday, in the Provinces of Ontario, Quebec, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island. These contests for seats in the House of Commons were necessitated by the return of the members of the new Liberal Government for indorsation by their constituents on taking office. As over. The motive was the extension of the company's powers over the Transvaal. It had conquest for its main object, and the acquisition of the goldfield as an additional source of revenue. "Sixteen to One."

We are constantly asked, "What does 16 to 1, as applied to the United States silver question, mean?" The weighs about sixteen times as much gold and silver dollars in the United States, it approximately represented the market value of the two metals. An ounce of gold was worth about sixteen times as much as an ounce worth more than thirty times as much an ounce of silver. Under United it made into coins without any cost him. That is free coinage of gold. The gold thus coined is worth a dollar, irrespective of the stamp, all over the world. The silver men demand that the nation do the same thing for silver without any change of ratio. to the mint and have every fifty cents' worth of it stamped as a dollar, though it would be worth only its bullion value outside the United States. That is what free coinage at 16 to 1 means."

Sir Adolphe Caron, who secured the French-Canadian Conservative leader-

I found many other things in my department, said Mr. Tarte. For the tell them to you; Mr. Charlebois constructed in 1883 the Langevin block,

one of the public buildings in Ottawa.

He was paid all except $100,000, which he claimed as extras, as all Tory contractors do. His claim was denied until May 20, 1896, when the respect-able Government of Sir Charles Tupper, that holy, orthodox Roman Catholic Government of Messrs. Taillon,

Desjarding and Angers, took the mat ter up. The claim had been there for years and years, but Mr. Desjardins, one of the holy boys, charged to carry the Province of Quebec, to preach

the Tory gospel, and to denounce us

as traitors, reported to the Governor-in-Council that there had been a contract between Mr. Charlebois and the Crown, but that it had not been worded well, and that it would be well to waive the rights of the Crown. The architect in chief of my department is the sole judge of differences between contractors and the Govern-ment, but the Minister announced that Mr. Fuller was no more competent to judge in the matter. He admitted that Mr. Charlebois had a right to submit his claim of $296,257, and they passed an order-in-Council recommending that it be subjected to Mr. Raza, that well-known Tory, and to Mr. Laforest, with Mr. Shanly as referee. I called in the chief architect, and asked him if he was competent to fulfill his duties. He said

"Yes." I told him to furnish me with a report to that effect. Then I made a report to his Excellency recommending that the order-in-Council be cancelled. It was on July 6, when they no longer had the right to transact business, that this shameful order-in-Council was signed, and it was sent to his Excellency two days later. Then I found that Mr. Desjardines had made a report to the effect that the rights of the Crown in the claim of Murray & Cleveland, of Toronto, for over $80,000 be waived. These contractors are bound to have the written order of the architect. Mr. Desjardins, and the whole Government waived that right of the Crown, and referred the claim to Judge Burbidge

to be adjudicated upon. I revoked that order-in-Council and saved you

Seth Young Killed

Meets Death Suddenly on a Railway Crossing.

Struck by a C. P. R. Train Near Dreaney's Corners.

Was Exercising His Pacer When the Fatality Occured.

A Well Known and Popular Man - Did the Whistle Blow?-A Dangerous Crossing-The Horse Killed.

Seth Young, than whom there are Seth Young, than whom there are few men better known in this section of the county, lies dead at his home at Dreaney's Corners, his body mangled June, $27,104, and from Jan. 1 to June and broken by the awful impact of an | 30, $570,113.

express train. As was his custom, this morning Mr. Young was out early exercising his pacing horse. He drove east to the second concession of Nissouri township, two miles from his home, and turned north on that thoroughfare. It was on his return south, shortly after B o'clock, that he met his death.

From the testimony of an eye-witness, with whom an "Advertiser" reporter talked this morning, Mr. Young was driving at a pretty fast clip, and evidently did not see or hear the C. P. R. express going east until it was almost upon him.

Mr. Young's body was thrown about 80 feet, and fell on the north side of the track. Death must have been instantaneous. When Mr. Robert Quiet and Mr. John Baker, who were working in a field alongside the track, reached the spot they found no signs of life. The train was immediately stopped, until the crew found they could render no assistance. The remains were conveyed in a wagon to Mr. Young's residence at Dreaney's Corners, two and a half miles distant, and messengers sent to notify the doctors and the deceased's children in London. Drs. Nelles, of London, and Seaborne, of Pottersburg, and Mr. Young's daughters and sons were soon

An "Advertiser" reporter wheeled out this morning to the scene of the accident, which is about eight miles from the city. The crossing is a dangerous one, and a short-sighted man, as Mr. Young was, might not see an approaching train until too late. The view is blocked by a number of upright posts placed on the north side of the track and west of the road, to break the snow drifts. The train could be seen at a distance, but this fence would hide it from view when it neared the crossing. A man would have to drive almost onto the track before he could see it coming.

The only man who saw the accident was Mr. Robert Quiet, whose farm abuts the track.

"It's my opinion," he told an "Advertiser" reporter, "that Young never knew what struck him. He was driving at a pretty good clip towards the track when I noticed him. The next thing I knew the tain came along and stopped suddenly. I realized that Seth had been struck, and went over and found him lying dead."

"Did the locomotive whistle blow?" "No, it did not," was the reply.

Seth Young was widely known in London and the surrounding country. Most of his life was spent at Dreaney's Corners, where he reared a large family, of whom nine survive, namely: George and Seth, blacksmiths, corner Clarence and York streets, city; Frank, Charles, David and Maud, of Chicago; Mrs. Piatt, of this city; Alice, in Brttish Columbia, and Myle, the who lived with his father. Mr. Young's children at one time or another all resided in London, and the deceased himself conducted a blacksmith shop with his sons on York street for a couple of years, returning to Dreaney's Corners this spring. He worked his farm there, and continued to do blacksmithing on a small scale. He was a man of steady habits, and was well liked by the community. His wife died about two years ago. The deceased was about 60 years of age. His brother Peter is the proprietor of Young's Hotel at the Corners, and there are two brothers, Abel and Thomas, at Cale-

They say that it is impossible to make that time and make the couplings, as the Abbotts did when they made 250 yards in 35 seconds. One member of the Abbott Hose Company saw the race, and says the Live Oaks simply made the run of three hundred yards without laying any hose or making any coup lings. Nature's Voices To the discerning ear Nature has many voices. She has a mesasge in the sweet tones of the brook as it rushes down the hillside in ocean's moody voices, now rippling with gentlest cadence upon the golden sands, anon in deep boisterous voice as she lashes the beach with foam. Then the voice of trees which the laughing bear to our ears, of sunshine and shade, of hill and valley, of bird and flowers. But she comes in pain too, the voice of the aching, stinging corn speaks impressively, but Putnam's Painless Corn extractor removes the worst corn in 24 hours, painlessly and without leaving sore spots.

The man works hard who spends his time looking for an easy place. THERE is not a more dangerous class of disorders than those which affect the breathing organs. Nullify this danger with Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil—a pulmonic of acknowledged efficacy. It cures soreness and lameness when applied externally, as well as swelled neck and crick in the back; and, as an inward specific, possesses most substantial claims to pubwaived in their favor, and their claim, which was no claim at all, instead of being advised upon by the chief officers of my department, was referred lic confidence.

Stories of O'Connell

The Famous Irishman's Private Secretary Writes a Book.

Anecdotes Now First Osteresting Printed.

London, Eng., Correspondence. There have just been published "Se-lections From the Journals" of Mr. W. J. O'Neil Daunt, M.P., the private secretary to Mr. O'Conneil. The book is an exceptionally interesting one from the sidelight it throws on political and legal affairs.

I give from it the following stories, which, I think, are quite new:

Here are two anecdotes of Clerk of Eldin: "A raw young lawyer, indignant at the decree of the court nant at the decree of the court against his client, jumped up and said: 'My Lords, I am grieved and surprised at your Lordships' decision.' The court instantly stopped him with a sharp reprimand for his temerity. John Clerk interposed on his behalf: 'My Lords, I beseech you to read on my young friend's indiscrepardon my young friend's indiscre-tion, which is to be imputed to his youth and his total inexperience of your Lordships' court. Such language, I admit, is most improper, and on his behalf I crave leave to apologize. My Lords, if my young friend had kenned your Lordships' court as long and weel as I do he might indeed be grieved, but he could na' be surpressed at any decision your Lordships might make." When Clerk was promoted to the bench by the title of Lord El-din he said: "The difference between me and the Lord Chancellor of Eng-land (Eldon) is all in my the only not "O'Connell told me of the only act of clemency I ever heard ascribed to Lord Norbury. He had tried a mur-derer whose gullt was indisputable. To every one's astonishment, he charged the jury strongly for an acquittal. The crown prosecutor ven-tured to interrupt the charge by recalling to his Lordship's recollection portions of the evidence that left no doubt of the prisoner's guilt. 'I know all that, my good fellow, responded his Lordship, in a sort of stage aside, "but I hanged six men at the last Tipperary Assizes who were innocent, so I'll let off this poor devil now to square matters."

O'Connell's duel with Peel was commonly talked of when impending, and O'Connell was apprehended and bound over to keep the peace. His enemies suggested that this was done with his connivance. Pleading in court before Lord Norbury, he urged in the west. an argument which the judge did not seem to appreciate. "I fear, Lord," said O'Connell, "that y Lordship does not exactly apprehend me." "Oh, that would be impossible," replied the confirmed punster, "there is no man so easily apprehended as Mr. O'Connell."

Another of Lord Norbury's puns: The State surgeon in the Irish Lord Lieutenant's household is entitled to wear military uniform. A gentleman, to whom that functionary was unknown, asked Norbury, at a castle levee who was that distinguished-looking officer. "That," replied his Lordship, "is the general of the Lancers

Here is a very timely election story: 'Returned today from Enniskillen. In our carriage were reporters from the Freeman's Journal and Evening Mail. The former told us that when Mt. Hemphill, Q.C., was canvassing Cashel he found that a party of electors locally known as "commoners," numbering some thirteen or fourteen, were notoriously corrupt, and always sold their votes to the highest bidder. Their usual price was £20 per vote. Hemphill requested the preach a sermon on the sin of trafficking in the franchise, and the priest complied, and denounced corrupt traffic in votes as a mortal sin. Next day Hemphill met one of the commoners, and, anxious to learn the effect the sermon had produced these venal gentlemen, he asked the man whether he had been at mass the previous day. 'I was, your honor.' 'Was not the sermon against bribery excellent?' 'It was an ilegant sermon entirely, your honor.' do good, do you think?' 'I think it will make the election run very close, your honor.' 'How so?' 'Why, we always got £10 for a vote before we knew it was a sin, but as his riverence says we'll be dammed for selling our votes, we can't, for the future, take less than £40." STATUTE.

The Trains Seamed to be "Racing for the Switch."

Atlantic City, N. J., July 31.—The list of killed in last night's disaster foots up forty-two; injured, forty-three. This does not include those who were able to travel on to their destination. THE SURVIVORS.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 31.-At one o'clock this morning a special train from Atlantic City, carrying passengers bound for Bridgton and vicinity, pulled into the West Jersey station, Camden. The sight of the survivors in the four rear coaches, who had been in the wrecked train, was pitiful. pected to live through the night, but In every seat of the train was someone

THE CRASH. The Reading express, which cut the Bridgton excursion train in two, was one of the fastest regular trains on the system, and classified among the "flyers." Its coaches were comfortably filled, and it was running at the usua rate of speed at the time of the accident. The engine struck the second passenger coach of the excursion train which was converted into a tangled mass of splinters, and its occupants into a mangled mass of blood and Scarcely one passenger in it at the time escaped death or fatal in-

A SURGEON'S STORY.

Dr. Charles A. Smith, one of the first surgeons who reached the wreck's side, tell this tale: "I saw the remains of the Reading engine in a heap of scrap iron and rubbish, piled up with the smashed cars. The engine was crushed so completely that it looked simply a scrap heap. The wreckage caught fire from the ruins of the engine, and a fire engine from Atlantic City, was brought out. The flames were soon subdued, although I could not tell whether any of the victims had been burned to death. I saw one little boy laid out on the bank with his clothes burned quite off him, but he might have been dead before the flames reached him. It seemed as if almost every victim pulled from the wreck had been killed at the instant of the collision. I saw the bodies of five children side by side on the grass as they had been lifted out. The sights all about me were heartbreaking and horrible, and the air was filled with groans and cries."

RACING FOR THE SWITCH. John Peters, of this city, who was on the West Jersey train, and who jumped when he saw that collision was inevitable, said: "It seemed to me as if both trains were racing to catch the switch before the other. Heart Failure the Cause - A Useful Life Ended.

One by one the old and respected citizens of London pass away-many of them without warning. Among them is now to be numbered Mr. D. T. Ware, who dropped dead at the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. N. Stanley Williams, 472 Park avenue, about 11 o'clock this morning. Mr. Ware was about 77 years of age, and had been a resident of this city for over 40 years. He leaves a wife and four children—two sons and two daughters. The sons are Geo, T. Ware, barrister, at present in London, England, and F. B. Ware, of this city. The daughters are Mrs. N. S.

Williams and Miss Ware. During the past few years deceased had had occasional touches of heart failure, but had not suffered to any alarming extent. The deceased gentleman stood high in the estimation of all who knew him. At one time he carried on a jewelry business in the city, and subsequently devoted his attention to the agency business. Mr. Ware was one of the oldest members of the First Methodist Church, a consistent temperance man and a strong Liberal. His sudden death will be heard of with general regret.

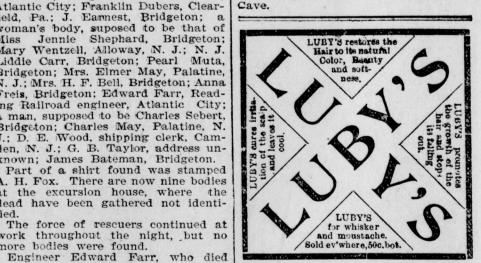

A COW UP A TREE.

How It Got Up There Nobody Has Been

Able to Find Out. Within the borders of the fertile land known as the blue grass region of Kentucky there is a more or less thrivng village called Harrodsburg. A mile to the south of Harrodsburg, on the pike road, lives one John Peters, who besides having a wife and several small children and three acres of pasture, owns a very remarkable cow of the Jersey breed. Says the Philadelphia Times: It was on Friday-most unfortunate of days—a few weeks since, that the Jersey cow owned by Mr. John Peters distinguished herself in a manner unique and peculiar, and entirely different from other cows that from time to time have found their way into public print. There is not at hand at this moment an authentic list of the cows of history, but in rank, at least, the Jersey cow owned by Mr. John Peters, of Harrodsburg, is deserving of everlasting fame, along with the fa-mous female bovine of Mrs. O'Leary, who in a moment of forgetfulness kicked over the lamp and set off an elaborate display of fireworks some years ago in Chicago.

The Jersey cow owned by Mr. John Peters was found by her master tightly wedged in the forks of a maple tree, and it was with the greatest difficulty that she was removed with the aid of a derrick and ropes and more or less profanity from her perilous rest in the branches of the maple. As the cow was at least eight feet from the ground, and has never shown any ability as an athlete or tree climber, just how she got into such a position is now one of the unsolved mysteries of the blue grass region. Mr. John Peters has appeared before the village notary at Harrodsburg and made an oath to to dispute or question his statements. Mr. Peters, furthermore, is the grand financial secretary of the Good Templars' Society of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, and his neighbors declare that he has been a leading cold water advocate for upwards of 30 years. But the Jersey cow was in the maple tree, eight feet aloft from mother earth, and the mystery remains unsolved. As the news of the cow's acrobatic achievement travels abroad men of science in the universities of Europe may solve the problem which just now is agitating the whole of Kentucky. Until then the Jersey cow owned by Mr. John Peters, of Harrodsburg, takes rank as an American wonder along with Niagara Falls and the Mammoth

The Prophet took their hands again and bowed over them as if he were calling down a benediction. Then he went off to find the doctor and Clara. Mary Clyde had anticipated what he would do, and at once prepared couches, while others prepared food. The doctor ate with thankfulness, and 519; Lorenda McTavish, 9, Mosa, 518: lay down on the robes with a feeling of awe such as he had never before experienced, for he could not but feel that he had left the world.

As has been mentioned, the Prophet had an instinctive conception of the time, and could tell the hour if he had been days in absolute darkness. Dr. Blanchard could not be expected to do this. He woke up before day, and, guided by the lights on the altar, went over and sat near it, for there was a companionship in the flickering flames. As he sat there he heard a deep sigh, accompanied by a light step on the rocky floor. He looked up and saw a haggard face in a setting of white beard and hair.

The two old men-old in appearance, if not in years-looked at each other for some seconds in silence. Valentine Kyle knew that this was his kinsman, Dr. Blanchard, but he could not have recognized the altered face. Dr. Blanchard guessed that this was Mr. Kyle, the father of Louis. Not a shadow of suspicion glinted his mind that this could be the lost Valentine Weldon, who so many years before fied from the valley of the Great Kanawha, his hands red with the blood of the murdered Frederick. Dr. Blanchard was the first to speak, and, as he did so, he took the

"It eases a sorrow to speak of it," began the doctor, "but I would not for that reason add to the sorrows of another. However, it is still night, and the people are sleeping. You will lie down again before day?"

In a sad monotone Dr. Blanchard told the story of the Weldons—how old John Weldon died, cutting off his grand-daughter, the doctor's wife, in his will, and leaving his large property taken. "The brother, Valentine, must have been a very bad man," Mr. Kyle managed to say.

"No," replied the doctor, hurriedly. "Valentine Weldon was as brave and generous as the brother whom he so loved, and whom he could not have meant to harm."

Dun & Co,'s Review of the State of Trade in Canada.

Toronto, Ont., July 30.-R. G. Dun & Co's weekly review of trade in the Dominion says:

Business in wholesale circles at Toronto continues quiet and feature-Merchants generally are hopebeing encouraged by satisfactory crop reports, and the prospects of fair prices for wheat. The yield of wheat in Manitoba will be much less than in 1895, but the shortage will be made up by present large stocks in Fort William and westward. Remittances still fall short of anticipations, but the demand for currency for crop purposes helps to keep circulation out. Discounts are unchanged, at 6 to 6 1-2 per cent. The demand for call loans on speculative account is light, the bulk of the trading on the Stock Exchange being confined to present account. There is a further decline in leading speculative shares, chiefly in Cable, Toronto Railway, Canadian Pacifice, Postal and Assurance stocks.

At Montreal business at a whole partakes of the usual summer quiet character. Grocery men report orders as a little freer in a general sorting way, with general values undisturbed. In drygoods orders are fairly numerous, but as a rule they are small, and there seems to be a neral resolve to make wholesalers carry the stocks. ders are light, and continued quietness is reported in leather, but values are well filled, and it is claimed any way, Guelph township, about four fair demand would cause an advance. miles from the city, were struck by The moderate seasonable receipts of cements, etc., are all dull. Work to be Done by the Day Instead of by Contract-Wolfe Street Residents Don't Want Asphalt Paving.

At the meeting of the Board of Works last night a small drain on Maitland street, south of South street; a tile sewer on Wolfe street, between Wellington and Waterloo streets; and a macadamized road on Dufferin avenue, between Wellington and Waterloo streets, were topics of discussion. In each case it was decided to ask the council to pass a bylaw for the work, which is to be done by the day, under the supervision of the city engineer.

Ald. Dreaney opposed each motion, on the ground that the work should be done by contract. It would then be known who did it. Ald. Cooper—The men in each ward get the work.

Ald. Dreaney did not think so. The members were surprised on op-ening the tenders for remodeling the place now occupied by Hugh Shar-key, to find the cost of the work would considerably exceed the amount—$600—proposed to be expended. The lowest tenders totaled $685, and did not include the plumbing, for which no tenders were received.

The lowest tenders will be reported without names to the council, who will deal with the matter as they see fit. A communication was received from Architect McBride stating that as the three-foot cornice on the Higgins' block overhangs the sidewalk, it is contrary to the bylaw, he requested that the bylaw be repealed. The committee not having power to deal with this, will refer it to the council.

Ald. Heaman called attention to the very dangerous condition of Dundas street, near Ross hotel. On the north side there is but ten feet between the street railway and the ditch, which is very deep and wide.

Ald. O'Meara moved that the engineer take steps to have the ditch fe

Aid. Heaman's motion that the cost of constructing a targe tile drain be ascertained, was carried. Nine residents on Wolfe street requested the privilege of withdrawing their names from a petition for an asphalt pavement on Wolfe street. "Something must be done, as the street is in a very bad condition. The blocks have been down six years," explained Ald. Parnell. The matter will be laid over for a week, and in the meantime a petition for a macadamiz-ed road may be received. Two requests for sidewalks were listened to, one by Mr. Keenleyside, who will have his sidewalk on Alma street, South London, looked after by the engineer; and another by Mr. J. H. Chapman, for a walk on Lorne avenue, between English and Ontario streets. He agreed to leave the mat-

Running Powers for 18 Years.

> No Matter Who Leases the L. and P. S. R.-The L. E. and D. R. R. Terminals Approved.

Mayor Little, Ald. O'Meara, Mr. F. E. Leonard, Mr. Moses Masuret, Mr. John Bland, Mr. Wm. Bowman, Ald. Taylor, Ald. Carrothers and City Clerk Kingston met in the mayor's office yesterday afternoon as the London and Port Stanley Railway Board. The board met solely to approve of the agreement between the various railway boards by which the Michigan Central Railway secures running powers over the L. and P. S. R. One clause of that agreement requires the L. and P. S. R. Board to guarantee to the M. C. R. running powers over the L. and P. S. R. for eighteen years on the same terms as those now prevailing, whether the L. E. and D. R. R. continue to be its lessees or not, This clause was approved without opposition, and the mayor directed to sign the agreement and affix the board's seal. The mayor reported that the plans of the freight sheds, roundhouse and coal dock to be built by the city for the L. E. and D. R. R. Company had been entirely approved by the latter.

The work will be done as soon as possible. SHORT AND SWEET

Was the Finance Committee's Meeting-Western Fair Insurance to Be Increased.

Three members of the finance committee showed up last night. Those present were Ald. Bennet, Taylor, Carrothers and Secretary Pope. There was little business, and the three started in at 8 o'clock to put things through, and will submit a minority report to the council this evening. Inspector Bell's report upon William Moorehouse's application for a refund of taxes was referred back for further information. Mr. Moorehouse is at present in the hospital, where he has been for the past four or five years, off and on. The houses are 278 and 280 Thames street. The property is assessed for $1,200, and encumbered with a mortgage of $600. The taxes amount to $25 80. Ed Walsh will be out his $2. His cow and calf went to pound, and he had to pay the usual fee to liberate his stock. As the affair was an accident, he wished the council to refund the money, but as the money was eaten up by the poundkeeper and the man who brought the cows to pound, his communication was filed, the com-

Ald. Taylor and Secretary Pope will open the tenders for printing, tabulate a statement, and submit it to the council tonight The question of insurance on the Fair buildings was touched upon. The secretary will have the buildings re-valuated, and submit a report upon the matter. Last year the buildings were valued at $60,000, and were insured for $86,000. The insurance carried will be increased. The accounts totaled up to $7,078 52, as follows: No. 1 committee, $644 40; No. 2, $4,826 79; No. 2, $1,407 83.

It corrects all looseness of the bowels promptly, and causes a healthy and natural action. This is a medicine adapted for the young and old, rich and poor, and is rapidly becoming the most popular medicine for cholera, dysentery, etc., in the market.
