BRITISH COMMONS CHEER WHEN GREY SAYS SPOILS MUST GO TO THE ALLIES

Secretary of Foreign Affairs Declares the Powers Are Endeavoring to Make a Settlement, But Situation Is a Delicate One.

BULGARS, AFTER TWO DAYS' REST, ABOUT TO SPRING AGAIN ON TURKS

London, Nov. 5 .- The British attitude in the Balkan situation was explained today in the House of Commons by Sir Edward Grey, the foreign secretary, who was loudly cheered when in reply to a question he said: "No one in view of the result of the war up to date will be disposed to dispute the rights of the Balkan states to formulate the terms on which they are prepared to concede peace.

A DELICATE MATTER.

"Do not think that the great powers are more slow than other people to adjust their known views to the march of events. The powers are exchanging views in regard to the position in the Near East, but it must be a very delicate matter for them to interfere between two powers unless they do so at the request of both."

Asked whether Great Britain could not follow the precedent of the United States in the Russo-Japanese war, Sir Edward Grey Vote in the Northern, Central and Western States not like to express their opinions just

Sir Edward, referring again to the war, said nothing untoward had yet happened in Constantinople. The situation there remained as it was yesterday, the city being in a state of apprehension as to what might happen.

NO WARNING.

Sir Edward denied that Great Britain had given a warning of any kind to Bulgaria. The movements of British ships and their intentions were precisely similar to those of the other powers

The step had been taken as a result of communications which ord-breaking votes would be cast. He had passed between the powers.

London, Nov. 5.—In the absence of news of fighting from grams from Committeeman Taggart, that the Progressive candidate would the Balkan theatre of war, Europe is giving attention to the diplomatic situation arising out of the hostilities. Miss Wylie advocated the use of constitutional, ladylike methods in securing the vote at first, and if they failed, Canadian women should then show "the unselfish and highspirited, constant devotion to the cause of liberty manifested by women in England."

Charles M. Holt, K.C., deprecated the use of militant methods by women, though he sympathized with the suffragette cause. Miss. Wylie said that Mr. Holt was like some of the cabinet ministers in England, who said that women would have got votes had it not been for their aggressive methods.

The suffragette read an editorial from a Ottawa Journal, and said that the an who wrote it must be "an antiquated"

Immediately a man in the audience rose and protested, and said the editor of the Journal was P. D. Ross, known as the best journalist in Canada, bar none. "Oh, well, if he is a young fossil, I think that is very much worse," retaliated Miss Wylie.

Miss Wylie.
In conclusion Miss Wylie asked for subscriptions to "the suffrage."
Mrs. (Dr.) Ritchie England, who presided, shut off a discussion which threatened to become rather personal, by summarily adjourning the meeting.

SUNDAY CONCERTS ARE BEING OPPOSED BY MINISTERS

Soloists Are Forbidden to Take Part in Program Given in Local House.

FEAR OPENING OF THEATRES IN LONDON

People of London Got Into the Habit By Allowing Sunday Night Concerts.

Objections are being raised by some of the clergymen of London to the Sunday evening band concerts which were inaugurated for the winter at the Majestic Theatre last Sunday. Although the matter was not brought up at any of the ministerial meetings held Monday morning, quite a bit of offhand discussion took place, and it is not improbable that the question will be dealt with at the next meeting of the London Ministerial 'Alliance.

The main object to the Sunday concert is the fact, it is charged, that it more of an entertainment than Sunday service. The ministers claim that there is nothing of an evangelistic nature about it. Several members of the local clergy were consulted by The Advertiser to day in regard to the matter. Some of them stated that as the matter had not been brought up publicly at any of the ministerial meetings, they would The majority of them admitted that they had objections to the con-

It will not affect us out in East London a court house repairs. great deal."

"In London, Eng., they commenced these Sunday evening concerts and after the people had tasted them they mand that the theatres be opened on Sunday. It is liable to have the same

Rev. D. N. McCamus, of Colborne Street Methodist Church, it is understood, expressed his objections to the concer's at the last meeting of the Ministerial Alliance. Mr. McCamus would not express an opinion to The Avertiser, however. He preferred to wait until the matter was brought up Not Mere Entertainment.

Rev. H. H. Bingham, of Talbot Street Baptist Church, when questioned about the matter, stated that he was heartily in sympathy with any Sunday service which will glorify God and which has for its object the spiritual welfare of the young men and women. He declared, however, that he had no sympathy with mere Sunday evening entertainment, because he be-lieved the young people need and desire something more than mere entertainment.

It is our business to present Christ to men. Should these Sunday evening services become evangelistic in character I would welcome them. If they are to be merely Sunday evening concerts to entertain, conscientiously cannot do so. In these days I feel we are entertained to death. The aesthetic and pleasure-loving spirit is constantly appealed to; a spir ual need all too much forgotten.'

Soloists Forbidden. It is also understod that objection has been raised by some of the clergy to the fact that many of the soloists of the churches are to sing at these concerts. It is said that in some churches the soloists have been forbidden to take part in the concerts.

The Mayor's Opinion. Among those who were present the concert in the Majestic Theatre on Sunday evening were: Canon Tucker, of St. Paul's Anglican Church; Mayor Graham and several of the aldermen and their wives. Canon Tucker was away when The Advertiser called today, but Mayor Graham stated that he saw nothing objectionable in the con-

Dr. Niven denies this flatly. the audience joined in singing the sacred hymns. The music was sacred music and outside of there not being a sermon, I saw no difference between it and any evangelistic service. I thought it was a very creditable success, and it deserves the support of every right-thinking citizen."

Much interest is being manifested in the meeting announced for tomorrow evening at the Liberal Club, where the season will be formally opened by an address by Hon, W. L. Mackenzie King. Hon. Mr. King is one of Canada's leading orators, and on the recent tour of Western Ontario by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, he was a great source of strength to the Liberal chieftain's meetings.

Although a young man he has already earned the title of a successful cabinet minister, and the Liberals of London will doubtless turn out in large numbers tomorrow night to do honor to him as well as to have the pleasure themselves of hearing a splendid political address. With the near approach of a session of Parliament, it is likely that Mr. King will devote part of his time to the ques-

The workingmen of London are particularly invited to be present, regardless of their politics, and a big attendance is looked for. TODAY'S ELECTION.

The American people today are discharging the supreme duty laid upon them as a democracy.

European observers have been Treaty, whose promises have hitherto struck by the moderation and good proved so delusive. If the League is temper of a campaign in which party minded to fight to a finish, what are spirit has run so high. The area of the Powers going to do about it? Certhe contest is a continent; more than tainly neither Britain nor France nor 15,000,000 people go to the polls, and Russia will listen to counsels of forcthe issues have aroused a tremendous lible intervention. Beneath all the be seen just now, but there is no froth and show-the endless processions, the fireworks, the "spell-binding," the riot of pictorial appeal, the will be widened at the expense of the deluge of printer's ink-is the consciousness that electing a President is a solemn responsibility, and that the institutions of the country would be disgraced by disorder.

The American people have been almost invariably fortunate in the personal characters of their leading candidates for the Presidency. Against Wilson, Roosevelt or Taft, scandal is dumb. The electors have the further advantage in this campaign that each candidate stands for a distinct program or set of political ideas. The republic is fermenting with a new spirit, which is feared or welcomed, according to the point of view.

THE RIGHT SPIRIT.

American newspapers seem inclined to view sympathetically the Brock centenary celebration. The war of 1812 be 10 or 15 cents dearer here than in was so very long ago that people on England. Isn't it what the people of both sides of the frontier line can afford to praise the exploits and devotion of the heroes of either nation without much prejudice. Peace has been so unbroken since, and is so assured for the long future, that Americans and Canadians can applaud each other in the present celebrations of the old, unhappy far-off things, and rejoice even more in changed times and tempers than in the virtues which hard future, the civic debt will be well on necessity once brought out in the Anglo-Saxon stock.

The Detroit Free Press, referring would not long stand such a strain, cleasantly to the Brock celebration,

"It is fitting, too, to rejoice that m this hemisphere the wars we glory in belong to the distant past, and jingoes in this country so enthusiastic that while nations of our own age are even now fighting one another and shedding human blood on the field of battle, America is preparing it for Canada. for another celebration not far away which better suits this twentieth century and our civilization. The memorial to a hundred years of peace between these two countries (Great Britain and the States), will be more admirable and more significant of true welfare than the most eloquent laudations of martial feats or triumph in conquest at the price of human life and human progress."

This is in the right spirit. If Canadians and Americans carry out their celebration in mutual generosity and humanity, the war centenary will be a prelude attuned to the peace festival of 1915. Canadians honoring the memory of Lawrence, as the Americans salute our warriors dead, we shall be in a handshaking mood over buried enmity.

Occasions like the present are too often abused by cheap taunts. We have our share of barking patriots as the Americans have theirs, not so numerous doubtless as in former days, Better education is doing something to clear away the more vulgar misapprehensions. Now is the time to emphasize not the errors of either side in a painfully-remembered struggle, but only the merits of the heroes high and low and the better aims of the two belligerents.

The causes of the war are rather obscure, and circumstances complained of on either side would now be adjudicated by arbitration or joint commission. That is something to be thankful for. Such a war could not happen today.

THE WAR AND THE RESULT.

Turkey's cry of distress to the Powers has been heard, but is unanswered yet. The foreign offices are doubtless keeping the wires hot with an interchange of views, looking to common action and a common policy. In the meantime the war goes on, and the Bulgarians draw the noose tighter around Turkey's neck, as they drive the Eastern Turkish forces back upon the outposts of Constantinople. In the west little has been heard of the Servians, but they appear to be en- support of this proceeding the emergveloping the important city of Monastir, preparatory to forming a junction with the Greeks in Southern Turkey and marching on Saloniki, the great port on the Aegean Sea.

Two Lads Were Shaken Up, But Were Not Injured in Accident.

Harold Starr, of 12 Watson street, young lads driving an ash wagon, ownthe latter's father, were thrown out of the vehicle and shaken up Monsion with a motor car owned and driven by Mr. John E. Smallman. They were attended by Dr. H. A. Kingsmill who sent Starr to his home in the police ambulance. It was at first thought that he had been seriously hurt, but examination proved that no bones were broken.

Mr. Smallman was proceeding with when the boys turned in front of him off King street. The collision was unavoidable, and the rear end of the wagon was smashed badly. The auto was not damaged.

More About Conan Doyle's Great Book

[By Special Arrangement With the Winnipeg Telegram.]

I return to Sir Conan Doyle's nev book, "The Lost World," today, as want to direct the attention of my readers to some of its marvellous descriptive work. First of all, let us see how the author describes a party of dinosaurs. After following huge threetoed tracks in the mud, the Englishmen came to an open glade, and there saw a group of these extraordinary creatures. "There were, as I say, five of them, two of them being adults, and three young ones. In size they were enormous. Even the babies were as big as elephants, while the two larger ones were beyond all creatures I have ever seen. They had slate-colored skin, which was scaled like a lizard's, and shimmered where the sun shone upon it. All five were sitting up balancing themselves upon their broad, powerful tails and their huge, three-toed hindfeet, while with their small five-fingered front feet they pulled down the branches, upon which they browsed. I do not know that I can bring their appearance home to you better than by saying that they looked like monstrous kangaroos, twenty feet in length, and with skins like black crocodiles." When Summerlee, the skeptical journalist, saw this pleasant little group, he exclaimed with a joyous sigh, "Nunc dimittis!"

A night or two after the travellers arrived at the summit of the plateau they were awakened from sleep by the most horrible cries, and were privileged to overhear a prehistoric tragedy. "the sort of drama which occurred among the reeds upon the border of some Jurassic lagoon, when the greater dragon pinned the lesser among the slime." The travellers were shot out infidel. I shall try by an example to give of their slumbers by a succession of the most frightful cries and screams to which they had ever listened. "I know of no sound to which I could compare this amazing tumult. It was as ear-splitting as any whistle of a for a row on the Golden Horn and soon railway engine; but whereas the whiswe sighted some blackened ruins in the tle is a clear, mechanical, sharp-edged sound, this was far deeper in volume and vibrant with the uttermost strain of agony and horror. We clapped our hands to our ears and shut out that nerve-shaking appeal. A cold sweat broke out over my body, and my heart turned sick at the misery of it. All known his life would be at steak! the woes of tortured life, all the stupendous indictment of high heaven, its innumerable sorrows, seemed to be man named Popoff, who was watching centred and condensed into that one their manoeuvres. Once, as it moved, I saw the glint of two terrible greenish eyes. There was an uneasy rustling, as if it were crouching slowly forward." They escaped the carnivorous, toadlike dragon this time, but one of the most exciting passages in the story tells how Malone was chased by it through the midnight woods.

> There are plenty of descriptions of these awful reptilian creatures, but I must hasten on to record the appearance of the ape-man, what Sir Conan Doyle imagines as the missing link. Malone was the first to see his prehistoric relative. He had climbed up in a tall tree in order to get a birdseye view of the whole plateau, and to his surprise and horror he came face to face with his arboreal ancestor. "It was a human face," so runs the narrative, "or at least it was far more hu South London, and John Ashton, two man than any monkey's that I had ever seen. Later the travellers came to close grips with the ape-men, were carried off prisoners to ape-town, where the king seemed to take a fancy to Challenger, but how the Englishmen got out of the clutches of the mirsing I'nks, how they peppered them with bullets in a battle royal, and how they escaped from the of the Methodist Church. Follow Up Work of the Abor Punitive Force.

London, Nov. 4.-The almost unknown no man's land" lying between the froniers of India, China and Tibet is the objective point of a British expedition which is to be dispatched from Calcutta shortly. This region, which has never been accurately mapped, may be the theatre of important international disputes if the protest lodged by Great Britain against the Chinese encroachment of Tibet causes

A year ago this frontier was invaded by a British military force, which, starting from Sadiya, in Eastern Assam marched through the deadly jungle and across dangerous rivers to the Abor regions, where they avenged the murder by the Abor tribesmen of a British officer and several members of his party. The region was roughly mapped and this map will serve as a check on the possible encroachments of China.

The new expedition is expected to continue the map work of the Abor punitive force. In the region of the friendly Mishmi tribe, 750 men will be set to work building roads, and other members of the party will seek to discover how far the Chinese influence has spread toward Rima, A year ago this frontier was invaded

DETACHABLE HEADRESTS ON SEWING CHAIRS ARE FINE

Many sewing chairs which women love to use are uncomfortable, despite the fact trat they are low and easy in many respects. One of the greatest troubles with these chairs is that their makers put too short a back on them, and there is, therefore, no place where the person occupying them can rest her head.

Now that the days are getting short and there will be more time spent indoors, it is right and proper that everything possible should be done to make the home comfortable, and one of the things that can easily be done is to put a head rest on the low-backed sewing chair, so that when mother fin-Ishes her evening task she can sit in the little rocker and rest herself in perfect contentment. MAGISTRATE'S WAY AMAZED JUDGE

Says the Winnipeg Case Savors of the Defiance of Justice.

The chief justice again asked: "Was ever such a case heard of in all legal practice as this? Did you ever hear of a case being tried simply ex parte as was done in this instance? I do not understand it."

Judge Haggart asked if it made any difference to the prosecution, as the accused pleaded guilty to the charge. Mr. Trueman quoted at length to show that the right of hearing the defence on the question of aggravation was entirely out of the case. The practice was to hear the aggravation before hearing the extenuating circumstances

Refused Information. trate refused all information as the case when the informants ap peared with their counsel in court that the magistrate had been most abusive in his language to them and had made irreverent use of the name of the Deity, and had said falsely that Mr. Arthur Sullivan, another barrister, appeared in the court representing the prosecution. He was also quoted by Mr. Mackenzie as having told him to "go to blazes."

Discussion on the language went to show that it did not in itself prove guilt or corruption, but that it showed the state of mind of the magistrate at the time of the case was corrupt. The chief justice said that would be the only purpose of giving the language of the magistrate which was quoted, and Mr. Trueman replied that it was the only reason. He thought that a magistrate using such language and following such a line of action as Magistrate McMicken did on the occasion in question was a man in a mility state of mind, and this, he whole behavior.

WOMAN RELEASED FOR MANY REASONS

Mrs. Spooner Is 70 Years Old and Is in Poor Health.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Sarnia, Nov. 5.-Considerable interest has been aroused here over the Spooner hotel, the Balmoral, at Brigden. Magisbeing her third offence. Last Thursday she was released and allowed to go to her home.

It was learned that Hon. Mr. Hanna had interested himself in Mrs. Spooner's behalf, and the Provincial Secretary, in explanation, says that the woman is 70 years old, the mother of seven children, and the grandmother of twenty. Also that she is in ill-health, and although terest in Biblical history, as well as guilty of a technical violation of the act, it was clear to the magistrate and the prosecution that she had no part in the ectual offence. Furthermore, that the magistrate and his associates had agreed that every discretion, considering the ircumstances, should be taken.

It is stated by a local man, that in Brigden a petition was circulated, and with over a thousand names attached was sent to the Minister of Justice, asking for her release. It is quite probable that the combined weight of the petition and the influence of Mr. Hanna were sufficient to secure for the prisoner her liberty. A LAND OF INTEREST

Many Features to Please Visitors -People Greatly Pleased With the Entire Show.

The Palestine Exhibition was opened vesterday afternoon in the armories when addresses were made by Bishop Williams, who presided, and Mayor Graham. Both speakers brought to the attention of the large number of citizens in attendance the importance of the exhibition from the Biblical standpoint. In the many sections of exhibits are numerous things which both verify the statements of the Bible and explain more clearly the mode of living of the inhabitants of Palestine. Both the bishop and the mayor were loud in their praises of the exhibition, and hoped not only that London itself but the whole of Western Ontarlo would make a point of visiting it.

A large number of people of London attendinb during afternon and evening, and one of the features of the day was that practically every denomina tion was represented both in the audience and among those that took part in the various ceremonies. In the afternoon Rev. Samuel Schor, the general director of the exhibition, gave lecture on "The Costumes of the East," which was attended by a gathering which filled to overflowing the lecture case. Mrs. Spooner was convicted last hall at the west end of the building week of keeping liquor for sale in her and in the evening another lecture was given by his daughter, Miss Dorothy trate Fleck, who tried the case, sentenced Schor. Story of Adrianople, Now Being Torn by Fire and Shell

The Balkan allies understand full well what Adrianople means both to the Turks and to the besieging forces If Adrianople falls, the cry "On to Constantinople" will resound throughout the whole of the Balkan peninsular. If the Turks can hold Adrianople, they have no need to fear for their capital. But with Adrianople in the Bal kan States' grasp, the railway junction at Kuleli Burgas, 20 miles south, would be theirs, and that would cut Turkey from her western possessions, and bottle up the strong Turkish forces at Salonica and Monastir. Adrianople is on the Maritza River, just above where it is joined by the Arda and the Tundra Rivers. Long before Christ it was a city of no mean importance. Laid waste at the beginning of the Christian era

View in the Main Street of Adrianople, Which Is Besieged by Huge Bulgarian Army.

In the fourth century Constantine fought one of his most brilliant battles there; and 50 years later the savage Goths took the city. In 1361, six year after the Turks had first set foot on European soil, Murad, the last of the Ottoman rulers called "prince," captured Adrianople and made it is European capital, which dignity it retained until the fall of Constantinople in 1453, when Mohammed the Conqueror moved the capital to the latter city. At several times Adrianople has been a city of wonderful promise; Murad set out to make it the largest city in the world, and the best defended. A huge wall was built all around it, but now, little save crumbling rocks remain of the wall. Still it is strongly defended even yet, for upon all of the hills and mountains which surround the city odern forts and redoubts are scattered.

In the five and a half centuries of Turk control, Adrianople has been twice in Christian hands, both times during the last century. During the Russian-Turkish war of 1827-9, Russia defeated the Turkish forces and nearly wiped the city from the map. In 1877 another Russian army marched into the city unopposed. Adrianople is the capital of a pachalk (province) of the same name. It now has a population of less than 80,-000, half Turks; the rest are about equally divided among Greeks, Bulgars, Armenians and Jews. All business is largest number of visitors during the done by the Christians and Jews. The public buildings, for size and beauty, are equal, if not superior, to any in day. Another interesting exhibit is the whole Turkish empire. The Mosque of Selim and the Bazaar of Ali Pacha are the pride of Adrianople. The that which contains the agricultural mosque is supposed to have 999 windows, but no Christian is allowed to count them. Forty other mosques line the

The city is typically Oriental, filthy and unhealthy; alive with noises indescribable during the day and quiet as grave at night. No Christian or Jew is allowed out of his own house after sundown, and three hours later every candle must be out in Christian and Jewish homes. Turks are allowed to remain on the streets until 9 o'clock-if hey carry lanterns. Long, dimly lit tunnels with shops on either side are the bazaars. Everything sold there is imported from for-sign lands. American gramophones help heighten the noise. The merchants are Armenians, Greeks and Jews. The Turks repose most of the time. There are three "Sundays" each week in Adrianople, Friday for the Turk, Saturday for the Jews, and Sunday itself for the Christians. But on no day does business cease, nor noise diminish. The only beautiful women are the Greeks. They are tall, carry themselves gracefully when young, and dress in the Parisian styles. The Turkish women are dirty, uglly and always bundle themselves up from head to foot.

There is said to be more hatred in Adrianople than in any other city of twice its size. The Turk hates every body else there, and they all hate him just as cordially. The Jew hates the Christians and they hate him; the Bulgarian Cristians under their Exarch hate the Greek orthodox churchmen and their patriarch. Turkish sultans have for centuries nursed these rivalries, playing Christian against Christian, and Jew against both.

RED, WHITE AND BLACK COLORS OF HOCKEY CLUB

Blue and Gray of Last Three Years Have Been Discarded-Former Officers Re-elected at Organization Meeting Held Last Evening-Bright Outlook for Season.

When London's O. H. A. hockey teams appear on the ice for the first game of the coming hockey season, they will be garbed out in brand new uniforms. A radical change has been made in the colors of the London Hockey Club. Instead of the dull and dreary blue and gray of the past three years, the colors gray of the past three years, the colors will be red, white and black. These were the colors worn by the champion London intermediates in 1990.

Red, White and Black.

The change in the colors was one of the matters discussed at the annual meeting, held last evening. With the blue and gray, London has had a couple of near championship teams. The first year the blue and gray came out, the team went into the semi-finals. The following winter London went into the following winter London went into the finals with Collingwood and was beaten out. Since then the colors have only stood for a second-rate team.

In and Baraey Outlook Bright.

The outlook for the coming season is brighter than it has been for some years past. Some good material has been gathered together, and several new men will be found on the teams this year. Of the only ones in the city. Wagner and Collins are in Buffalo, and the others have become scattered. The junior team is pretty near intact.

The first practice will be held a week from tomorrow night, Wednesday, Nov. 13, in the Princess Rink. Running and other indoor work will be indulged in for the first couple of weeks.

The Officers.
The meeting last evening was largely attended. The former officers were all re-elected as follows:

Honorary president—Rev. J. G. Inkster
President—Kenneth Casselman. Vice-president—A. E. Carrothers.
Secretary—Wilber R. Vining.
Treasurer—J. B. Orr.
O. H. A. representatives—K. W. Casselman and "Barney" Vining.

Outlook Bright

During Change of Life—How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Her a Well Woman.

Natick, Mass. - "I cannot express what I went through during the change of life before I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's legetable Compound. I was in such nervous condition I could not keep still. My limbs were cold, I had creepy sensations, and I could not sleep nights. I was finally told by two physicians that I also had a tumor. I read one day of the wonderful cures made by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and decided to try it, and it has made me a well woman. My neighbors and friends declare it has worked a miracle for me. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is worth its weight in gold for women during this perod of life. If it will help others you may publish my letter."-Mrs. MARION SWEET GREA-TON, No. 1 Jefferson St., Natick, Mass.

Change of Life is one of the most critical periods of a woman's existence. Women everywhere should remember that there is no other remedy known to so successfully carry women through this trying period as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

The Silent Barrier

(BY LOUIS TRACY.)

The vicar laughed. "You have given ne a new point of view," he said. "Some of them are slippery customers, too. Yes,

The rest was easy. The vicar played a small spade and scored finety-six points without any further risk.

"It is magnificent, but it is not bridge," said the man from Pittsburg. Dunston said the man from Pittsburg. Dunston imply glowered.

"Partner," demanded Hare timidly, may I ask why you called 'no trumps' on a hand like that?"

"Thought I would give you a chance of distinguishing yourself," replied Spencer. "Besides, that sort of thing rattles your opponents at the beginning of a game. Keep your nerve now padre and game. Keep your nerve now, padre, and when he opened you have 'em in a cleft stick."

As it happened, Holt made a "no trump" eves dwelt en declaration on a very strong hand, but Spencer held seven clubs, headed by the ace and king.

He doubled. Holt redoubled. Spencer doubled again.

Hare flushed somewhat. "Allow me to say that I am very fond of bridge, but I cannot take part in a game that savors of gambling, even for low stakes," he "Shall we let her go at forty-eight ints a trick?" Spencer asked. "Yep" snapped Holt. "Got all the

"Not all—sufficient, perhaps."
He played the ace. Dunston laid the queen and knave on the table. Spencer scored the winning trick before his adversary obtained an opening. You have a backbone of cast steel, commented Dunston, who was an iron-master. "Do you play baccarat?" he went on, with curious eagerness.
"I regret to state that my education was completed in a Western mining amp."

"Will you excuse the liberty, and per haps Mr. Hare won't listen for a moment?
—but I will finance you in three banks of a thousand each either banking or putting, if you promise to take on Bower. I can personally may not care to play for high sums."

The suggestion was astounding, coming as it did from a stranger; but Spencer of a thousand each, either banking or putting, if you promise to take on Bower. I can personally may not care to play for high sums."

The suggestion was astounding, coming as it did from a stranger; but Spencer or the course, I only meant that if Bower is seen talking to any woman, it may be one," he explained. "But who's for a drink? Perhaps we shall meet our expected opponent in the bar, Mr. Spencer." I have some letters to write. Fix that the on hand."

"You don't like Bower, then?"
"That is so. I have business relations with him occasionally, and then he is all that could be wished. But I have seen him clean out more than one youngster ruthlessly—force the play to too high stakes, I mean. I think you could take his measure. Anyhow, I am prepared to back you."

of them are slippery customers, too. Yes, one might carry the parallel a long way. But here we are. Now, mind you cut me as a partner. I have tried the others and found them severely critical—as bridge players. You look a stole."

The vicar had his wish. Spencer and he opposed a man from Pittsburg, named Holt, and Dunston, an Englishman.

While the latter was shuffling the cards for Hare's deal te said something that took one, at least, of his hearers by surprise. "Bower has turned up, I see. What has brought him to the Engardine at this time of year I can't guess, unless perhaps he is interested in a pretty face."

"At this time of the year," repeated Spencer. "Isn't this the season?"

"Not for him. He used to be a famous climber; but he has given it up since he waxed fat and prosperous. I have met him once of twice at St. Moritz in the winter. Otherwise, he usually shows up not the fashionable resorts in August—Ostend or Trouyille, or, if he is livery, Vichy or Aix-les-Eains—anywhere but this quiet spot. Bower likes excitement, too. He often opens a thousand pound bank at baccarat, whereas people are shocked in Maloja at seeing Hare play bridge at tenpence a hundred."

"I leave it, partner," broke in the vicar, to whom the game was the thing.

"No trumps," said Spencer, without giving the least heed to his cards. It was rue his eyes were resting on the ace, sing and queen of spades; but his mind was tortured by the belief that by his gantastic concell in sending Helen to this santastic concell in sending Helen to this.

'Who is Mrs. Grundy, anyhow?" growled

The others laughed.

"She is the Medusa of modern life," explained the vicar. "She turns to stone those who gaze on her. Most certainly she petrifies all good feeling and Christian tol-erance. Why, I actually heard a woman whose conduct is not usually governed by whose conduct is not usually governed by what I hold to be good taste sneer at Miss Wynton this evening. 'The murder is out now,' she said. 'Bower's presence explains everything.' Yet I am able to state that Miss Wynton was quite unprepared for his arrival. By chance I was standing on the steps when he drove up to the hotel, and it was perfectly clear from the words they used that neither was aware that the other was in Maloja." words they used that neither was aware that the other was in Maloja."

Spencer leaned over toward the ironmaster. "Tell you what," he said, "I've changed my mind about the trip to Engage and the company of the compan changed my mind about the trip to England tomorrow. Get up that game with Bower. I'll stand the racket myself unless you want to go half shares."

"Done! I should like to have an interest in it. Not that I am pining for Bower's money, and it may be that he will win ours; but I am keen on giving him a sharp run. At Nice last January not a soul in the Casino would go Range.

not a soul in the Casino would go Banco when he opened a big bank. They were he was speaking. Dunston's shrewd yes dwelt on the younger man's unmov-d face. He wendered what had caused this sudden veering of purpose. It was this sudden veering of purpose. It was certainly not the allurement of heavy gambling, for Spencer had declined the coposal as coolly as he now accepted it. eing a man of the world, he thought he ould peer beneath the mask. To satisfy ould peer beneath the mask. To satisfy imself, he harked back to the personal topic.

"By the way, does anyone know who Miss Wynton is?" he said. "That inveterate gossip, Mrs. Vavasour, who can vouch for every name in the Red Book, says she is a lady journalist."

"That, at any rate, is correct," said the vicar. "In fact, Miss Wynton herself told me so."

give Bower his due, he has always been a person of taste."
"I have reason to believe," said Spencer, "that Miss Wynton's acquaintance with Mr. Bower is of the slightest."
His words were slow and clear. Dunston, sure now that his guess was fairly accurate, hastened to efface an unpleasant

As to Buildings. There is one and only one first-class school is built. Its boundaries should be extended east to Rectory to take care of each of Chesley district until such a time model school a credit to, and pride of part of Chesley district until such a time Simcoe street school comes next. This school, with the exception of a dark rotunda and one or two minor matters, a splendid school and up-to-date. Wortley road school is nearly new, and with the exception of certain defects, inventilation is quite satisfactory. These three schools are in splendid condition and on the whole quite satisfactory. Lorne avenue and St, George's schools have been recently remodeled and enlarged, and are as satisfactory as work of this kind can be. Complaints come from these schools about heating, lighting, basements, etc., but so far as the buildings are concerned these two schools will meet the requirements of the district for a great many years.

Rectory, Chesley avenue and Victoria schools are according to the report received in a fairly satisfactory condition. They, too, so far as the buildings are concerned can be considered as meeting with the needs of their districts.

The three small schools, Quebec street, Richmond street and Colborne street, are only temporary buildings at best, and so in the meantime they are coping with the requirments of their districts

Six of the schools are in such an unsatisfactory condition that your committee feel that their report cannot be too condemnatory. These schools are Aberdeen, Empress avenue, Talbot street, Princess avenue, Grand avenue and King street. Both the inspector's and masters' reports are quité emphatic as to the deplorable it is less than 36. condition of these schools, if not in all, at least in many important respects.

the truth and force of this last state- Petition for Annexation Pre-As to Playgrounds.

In the past the board has steadily in-ceased the area of the grounds, but so ar nothing has been done to improve the ondition of the surface. As a conseuence from almost every school there me complaints about the condition of playgrounds. They are dusty, rough, gritty and dangerous; at the same time full appreciation is expressed of what the board had done in extending the area, while requests for still greater increases come from Empress avenue, Chesley avenue and Wortley road. In two cases, Talbot and Princess, the grounds are far too small and extremely dirty.

Recommendations. 1. As to buildings. Five schools call for immediate attention, Aberdeen, Empress, Taibot, Princess and Grand avenue. New schools should be built to replace each of these. In adout the true conditions of all the place where the new Wharncliffe

Domestic science and manual training should be installed in Chesley avenue. Two schools, Colborne south and Rich mond should be abandoned as soon as possible, and King street school and grounds should be used as a repair shop and storage place for school purposes.

Districts and Location. On the whole the districts are satisactory and the bulk of the schools are well located. Your committee, however, would recom end the change of two districts and the eadjustment of certain others. The new school on Wharnchiffe road would necessitate the readjustment of Empress avenue district, and would also affect Victoria district. care of practically all the present King street district.

new school at Empress avenue should be built on higher ground west of the present site, and when built would mmodate a section just east of Oxford bridge.

The two districts of Talbot and Princess avenue should be entirely changed, as at present scholars have to travel over a mile and a half to Talbot street school Your committee would recommend that a 1. Obtain from the inspector and princi- Princess avenue school, and land purchased for that purpose. The Talbot street school should be abandoned and a new chool be built north on Victoria street. This change would make the following readjustments necessary-The bounday of Alexandra school should be moved north at least one block.

The boundary of Princess avenue would then be Dufferin avenue on the south and the C. P. R. tracks on the north. The St. George's boundary would then he the C. P. R. tracks on the south and Grosvenor street on the north, and the boundary of this new school would be city limits on the north. Some readjustment of the boundary as provision is made at the Chesley avenue school for the increasing population.

Overcrowding in Schools. 3. As to population.

Your committee has heard a good deal about overcrowding in schools, and so the members went into this matter very fully. In the first place they are fully aware some schools and especially some room. in certain schools have been, are and likely will be congested. They are also aware that in many of the districts, especially suburban districts, there are many vacant lots. As a consequence we may expect considerable increase in these districts, not as much, however, as some of the reports would lead us to believe.

We may assume that the City of London will grow at about the same rate for the next four years, as it has been growing for the last four years. Now here are the facts for the last four years, computed from the inspector's reports covering that period.

The increase in the number of the pupils on the roll during the last four years was 335. The increase of the average attendance was 221. This means an average increase of 15 pupils in each school, or an increase of two pupils for each room for four years. But while this has been going on an increase in accommodation has also been going on so that the average number of pupils for each teacher or coom is .6 less than it was four years ago. Four years ago the average number of pupils per teacher was $6.6. Today

Thus you see the increase in our school noticed great improvement in my population, while steady, is not alarming health. It built up the nervous system of the contract of th As to Location.

This is a big and difficult question. It involves not only the school site, but also the boundaries of the district. Some of these schools, such as Chesley avenue, Rectory street and Lorne avenue, are ad-oncerned? Just this: There being no crying need for increase in accommodation our hands are free to deal with the question of putting our school buildings in a proper and up-to-date condition. Of course, while doing this we must keep our eye on the new districts and provide for the increase of population as the occasion demands, and this we are quite Playgrounds. Your committee would recommend that he policy of the board at the present and in the past be continued and accentuated so far as the increase of play space is concerned. This is of the utmost importance to the children, the district and the health of the city.

Further, your committee would recommend not that street sweepings be put on the grounds, but that an experiment be made in some preparation which is being used with success in some others. being used with success in some schools n the United States.

5. As to the Collegiate Institute.

Your committee would recommend that the present building and site be sold to the highest bidder. (This property is valued at one hundred thousand dollars). In the meantime, a ten-acre site should be purchased somewhere south of Welngton street bridge, or in some other suitable suburban location where land is elatively cheap, and on this new site ne new collegiate institute be built according to modern plans, with classrooms, cloak rooms, teachers' rooms, principal's office, gymnasium, amphi-theatre, laboratories and all other ac-commodations and equipment which an up-to-date collegiate institute demands. Further, that the grounds be laid out in such a way that lawns and fields will be provided for the physical recreation of all ages and sexes of students.

Ways and Means. Your committee would strongly urge that this work should begin at once and spread over a term of five years, that the city council should be asked to debentures each year to the extent of $50,000 to cover the cost of the work, or a total of $400,000. Provision for the purchase of a new site will be made in the sale of the Collegiate Institute site, Taloot street and Colborne street.

7. In conclusion, your committee would ommend that a small deputation b appointed to visit other cities, such as Hamilton, Toronto and Ottawa, where similar situations have been dealt with n order to find out the cost, methods of procedure, class of building, etc., and uch other information as in their judgment may be of value to the board, her experience of Zam-Buk. She says: "I suffered with eczems for seven years and to my great delight Zam-Buk has cured me. The disease started on my breast, and spread until it extended over my back. The itching and burning-especially when the affected parts were warm-was terrible; and yet when the eruption was scratched or rubbed, it turned to bad sores and caused great pain. I went to a doctor and tried various prescriptions, but seemed to get no ben efit, so tried another doctor. Again I got no relief and then a fourth.

"Seven years is a long time to suffer, and I had got used to the thought that I never would be cured, when I saw a report in the Family Herald, telling how beneficial Zam-Buk was in cases of skin disease.

"I bought some Zam-Buk, and from the use of the very first box I saw it was going to do me good. I persevered with it, and the improvement it worked in my condition was really wonderful.

"It eased the irritation, stopped the pain, and the sores began to dry up and disappear. In short, I found Zam-Buk all that was claimed for it and within a very short time it worked a complete cure in my case. "Since that time I have recommended it for several other cases, and in each it has proved its wonderful merit.

This is taken to mean by friends of annexation of suburbs to London that when the board comes to this city on the 15th of this month to consider the applications of Chelsea Green, Knoll-wood Park, Ealing and Pottersburg, there will be no serious objection on the part of the commissioners to the wedding of the places named to London.

There is sure to be some opposition from the township of London, which is anxious to keep its family intact, but there is every reason to believe that there will be no real difficulty encountered in the carrying out of the annexation.

MAY BE UNITED SOON Strong Movement Is Under Way to Join Two Large Congregations.

LUTHERAN CHURCHES

[Special to The Advertiser.] Berlin, Nov. 4 .- A movement is in progress in Lutheran circles here to reunite St. Peter's and St. Matthew's Lutheran Churches, comprising two large congregations. Eight years ago differences arose in the congregation of St. Peter's Church over the choosing of a pastor, with the result that one faction separated and formed the St. Matthew's Lutheran Church, becoming attached to the Canada Synod. Since then the church has flour-ished under the pastorate of Rev. Dr. Huffman, who leaves this week to assume ouncils.

At the annual meeting of St. Peter's Church yesterday a resolution was unani-mously passed welcoming the movement for reunion. The successful termination of the movement hinges on the question of whether St. Peter's congregation will consent to join the Canada Synod. The fact that St. Matthew's Church is without a pastor and is confronted with the question. a pastor and is confronted with the ques-tion of building a larger church, is ex-pected to encourage the movement.

> A Suggestion. To the Editor of The Advertiser:

I would suggest that now that Mr. Angus, the electrical expert, is in the longer, and with Ald. Richter's able assistance look over and make a rough examination of the figures submitted MR. JOSEPH MOREY to the city council by the hydro-electric commission for the electrifying of the L. and P. S. R., so that when the report comes up for discussion in the council, Ald. Richter will be able to give some valuable information on it. As pointed out in your Saturday night's issue, the statement starts off with a little error of $113,428, to which should be added $48,928, for rolling against the city's side of this proposition of $162,358. Ald. Richter and Mr. Angus might possibly find a few more amination. Yours truly, P. L. S.

London's Growing Debt.

The rapidly-growing debt of the city, which will amount to between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000 if electrification is carried, has caused the citizens to give pause.

In the table of statistics compiled in The Advertiser Monday, it was estimated that $200,000 would be added to the debenture debt this year. It was learned at the city hall today that this figure was much below the

Dr. Schor, who is at present in the city in connection with the Palestine exhibition, of which he is the founder and manager, addressed a meeting of the London Clerical Association in Cronyn Hall on Monday. His topic was "Palestine and the Fulfillment of Prophecy."

Dr. Schor spoke on the oppression of the Jewish race by the Turks, and stated that the unfair method of land taxation was still practiced by the Sultan in Palestine.

He mentioned the instance in which the prophecy of the downfall of the Jewish race is being fulfilled, when they are being driven into the three Russian provinces directly north of Palestine, and made to twell in that territory.

H. B. McKenzie as General Manager of Bank of B. N. A. Mr. H. Stikeman, general manager of the Bank of British North America, is retiring from active service on Dec. after 43 years of banking experience, 18 of which were spent as gen eral manager of the Bank of British North America. Mr. Stikeman's health has been far from satisfactory for several months, and it is his own request that he is laying down the responsible duties which he has carried for so many years. His retirement takes place on Dec. 1, when he will be succeeded by Mr. H. B. MacKenzie, the present superintendent of branches. Mr. MacKenzie is in the prime of life and has had 28 years' banking experience, 25 of which were spent with the Eank of British North America, He began his banking career as a junior with the Canadian Bank of Commerce in 1884. Three years later he changed to the Bank of British' North America, and has come up through all the grades to his present position. He has been connected with a large number of the bank's most important branches, and has had a long and thorough training in matters pertaining to head office work. He is succeeded as superintendert of branches by Mr. James Ander-The bank has made marked progress under the management of Mr. Stikeman, and the same careful, conservative policy will be continued by his successor, Mr. MacKenzie.

London Street Railway Will Balkan States Have Started the Operate Cars on a Different Plan.

CHANGES ANNOUNCED BY MANAGEMENT

A Two-Way Service to South London Is One of the Boons Promised to the Citizens.

The management of the London Street Railway Company, anticipating the speedy completion of the new extensions, with the possible exception of the Adelaide street crossing of the C P. R., which is held up pending a decision from the railway commission, is proceeding with the work of mapping out a rearrangement of the lines that will affect practically the entire city. The north end loop, from Richmond street eastward on Cheapside street, and down William street to Oxford street, to connect with the present Oxford line, is now well under way, and will be ready for operation well within the time limit. Work has also been commenced on the straightening out of

The Oxford cars under the new routing will run as at present on the sound end, but there will be a change in the north. Cars will run up Richmond to Cheapside, Cheapside to William, to Oxford and back down over Oxford street as at present. Every second car, however will go over this loop in the opposite direction, providing a two-way series. site direction, providing a two-way service on the new line, and a very much mproved service on Richmond street

The Ottaway Line.

When the crossing over the C. P. P. is made on Adelaide street, the Ottaway line will be scarcely recognizable. South of Dundas street (for each will be no changes, but cars northbound on Richmond street will continue through to Oxford street, across to Adelaide, down Adelaide to Dundas, eastward on Dundas to Rectory, and around the present Ottaway line. The Ottaway Line. Dundas, eastward on Dundas to Rectory, and around the present Ottaway line. Ottaways running in the opposite direction will turn north on Adelaide street and make the same route, thus affording a cross-town north and south service in the East End. Cars will operate in each direction every fourteen minutes on the Ottaway.

South London, A two-way service in South London, a boon that residents of that district have boon that residents of that district have long sought, is to be provided by reversing the route of the Belt in connection with other charges on that line. The Belts will go out to South London by way of Richmond Horton and Ridout streets, or possibly down the new double-tracking on York street to the Thames street viaduct. There will be passing tracks where necessary in order not to interfere with the Ridout cars, which will run south of the river as usual. However, the Belts will come in over York street bridge, run up Ridout to Dundas street, and will then make a trip directly eastward to the exhibition grounds, reeastward to the exhibition grounds, re-turning on Dundas street to the corner of Dundas and Richmond streets, where the South London trip will again com-

As Belts will not then run over Centrale avenue, Ridout cars will continue from the corner of Dundas and Richmend streets north to Central, and east to Adelaide sreet, where they will "y" and return. Whereas only a one-way service is at present provided on Central avenue, passengers will then be able to proceed in either direction.

The street railway company, in order Ridout Cars. The street railway company, in order to make these improvements will purchase a large amount of new special work, and will also have to provide many new passing tracks to accommodate two-way services, where one direction lines

Ridouts running in both directions, while at present only the first two named do so. The Belt proceeds northward only to Dundas. The Ottaway is added both ways on Richmend between Central and Oxford, while the Oxford provides additional accommodation as far north as Cheapside s reet. A large scope of new territory is looked after by the Cheapside loop. Oxford street has two lines the Hope is Expressed That the Great Powers Will Not Intertere.

Fight Is One For Freedom and

Local Greeks are jubilant at the turn affairs have taken in the Balkans. They see in it a new era of Christianity and prosperity for Greece and the Balkan States.

"At last we have Turkey on the run," said one of the most prominent of local Greeks to The Advertiser today, "and if the powers will only keep out of it the Turks will be driven out of Europe."

"I see by the papers," he continued, "that the Sultan has appealed to the powers to interfere. That is just what the Balkan States do not want, Peace at this time may undo all that has been accomplished. Too long, has Turkey oppressed Greece and the states in the baikans, and the Greek and Bulgarian forces will never rest content until the oppressor has been driven out of

The Greeks and Bul-garians have realized that they are a power when united, and this fact alone should tend to form an alliance be-tween them that will never be severed. Turkey has oppressed these countries for so long that their grievances are mutual, and a strong feeling of friendliness has sprung up between the Balkan States

COUNCIL ANGRY WITH COMMISSION

Aldermen Do Not Like Way the Water Board Does Business in London.

TROUBLE OVER LIGHTS

Ald. Richter Says the Commissioners Have No Right To Meddle With the City Streets.

The water commission again came in for criticism at the meeting of the city council on Monday evening, the notice from Secretary Ellwood that the commissioners intended doubling the lights on Dundas street causing the discus-

The notice went on to say that owing to the fact that the property owners had been disappointed in not getting ornamental lights, they considered it only fair to give the citizens more lights than they now had. The Improvements.

A summary of the improvements under the new system shows that Richmond street north of Dundas street, will have Oxfords. Wellingtons. Ottaways and Ridouts running in both directions, while at present only the first two named do so.

territory is looked after by the Cheap-side loop. Oxford street has two lines against one at present. There will be a north and south service on Oxford street, and South London will be relieved of its disadvantages by the reversal of the Relt there does not come out of the city directly, it does indirectly. According to the commissioners' own figures these lights would cost $400. That money must come from somewhere, and it will eventually come out of the city, make no mistake. You remember that some time ago the lights on Queen's avenue were increased, Mr. Glaubitz informed us the other day that we would have to pay for them. I teld him that we had not ordered them put up, and he intimated that because we had not opposed them therefore we were liable. We had better keep clear."

The London Kind. "That is commission form of gov-ernment?" intimated his worship. "Yes, the kind we have in London," was Ald. Richter's reply. After some further discussion the motion to allow the commissioners to put up the lights was defeated.

BE DESTROYED City Is Having a Bylaw Prepared to Lessen the Danger

For Fires in London. CONDITIONS ARE BAD

Chairman Wright Will Consult With the City Solicitor to See What Can Be Done.

At the meeting of the city council on Monday evening, the motion of Ald. Spittall, amending the building bylaw council. to prevent property-owners from storing paper, refuse and other inflammable mittee with instructions that the chairman (Ald. Wright) consult with legal form. The aldermen were commissioners may put up unanimous in stating that such a law would mean much for the protection of the business district.

Ald. Spittal, in introducing the mo-"I certainly do not subscribe to that tion, pointed out, that the building bylaw had no clause in it to prevent people storging combustible material in office of a private citizen. There is a basements, and at the rear of buildings, principle involved in that transaction etc., nor did it give the fire chief au-rid of the refuse, so that it would not endanger buildings.

Conditions Are Bad. "Conditions in this city are very bad," said Ald. Spittal. "I know of basements, where three or four feet of paper, excelsior, and the like, is piled into the basement. This is very bad state of affairs. The innocent must suffer for the guilty, as the insurance rates are raised in a whole section where such conditions prevail. It is time that we stopped this sort of thing. I wonder that we have not had more serious fires than we have had." Ald. Richter was not quite sure that the wording of the amendment proposed by Ald. Spittal was in accordance with the blaw, and suggested that with instructions to have City Solicitor Meredith bring in a proper amendment. This will be done, and the bylaw will
