WITNESSES SWEAR THEY DELIVERED MUCH GRAVEL AT PAT MULHALL'S HOUSE

The Alleged Graft Inquiry Opened in the Council Chamber of City Hall Before His Honor Judge Macbeth This Morning.

ALD. TANCOCK PAID 25 CENTS FOR ONE OF THE AFFIDAVITS

Witnesses Claim That They Got Paid for Gravel Dumped at Mulhall's by the City—Much Testimony Was Heard.

Judge Macbeth.

A half dozen witnesses were called to testify before Judge Macbeth in the first session of the alleged graft investigation at the city hall this morning. All gave evidence to the effect that while engaged in hauling gravel for city purposes they had delivered a number of loads to the private premises of the Ward Foreman, Patrick Mulhall, of Piccadilly street.

City Solicitor Meredith looked after London's interests, Alderman Tancock, who made the charges, was represented by Mr. U. A. Buchner, while Mr. J. M. McEvoy and Mr. Marshall Graydon acted for Mr. Mulhall.

While Mr. Buchner did not engage in the examination of the witnesses he worked in conjunction with Mr. Meredith.

The Prosecution.

Mr. Meredith aimed to show that gravel delivered at Mulhall's place was used in the construction of a foundation and sidewalks, while the defense contended that the material used for this purpose was purchased in other quarters, the city's gravel being merely stored on the foreman's lot as a matter of convenience in order that the street repair man in that section could have a supply close at hand.

Ald. Tancock.

Alex. Henderson, a city teamster, appears to have been the person chiefly responsible for the investigation. He swore that he noticed two city laborers, Simpson and Moyer by name, working at Mulhall's place several times as he drove past. He remarked to Morkin that "Mulhall must be getting his place pretty cheap, when corporation laborers are doing all the work." He had said the same thing to several others, and had gone to Ald. Tancock regarding the matter.

25 Cents for Affidavit.

William Hueston, another teamster, swore that he waited upon by Henderson, who brought Ald. Tancock with him to hear the story of the delivery of a load of gravel at the rear of the Mulhall home. He furnished an affidavit, he stated, and received 25 cents from the alderman afterward.

Mr. McEvoy endeavored to learn if any other witnesses who had previously given affidavits had been paid for them, but this was the extent of the expenditure made by Ald. Tancock.

Adjournment was made at 12:30 till 2:15 this afternoon, when the case will be proceeded with providing that City Solicitor Meredith, who has a case on in Toronto, is able to attend.

Michael Morkin's Story.

The first witness called was Michael Morkin, a teamster who had a gravel contract in Mulhall's division. In answer to Mr. Meredith he stated that perhaps twenty loads three of which were delivered on June 30 had been sent to Mulhall's house on Piccadilly street. He had seen the gravel being mixed apparently for sidewalk purposes on the foreman's premises. The house had just been completed, a new basement and foundation having just been constructed. The instructions to send the gravel were given to witness through his teamsters, His brother, James Corsant, James Gilmour and others had given the instructions. Morkin had delivered gravel about the city street all summer, but had always been ordered specifically to deliver it clean when going to Mulhall's. The city paid for all in the same manner as for that spread upon the thoroughfares.

Instructions as to the delivery of gravel on the roads were always issued by the city engineer's department.

Mr. McEvoy then commenced his cross-examination and questioned the witness severely as to his statement that he knew of nothing further that had any bearing on the subject.

A Storeyard.

However, Morkin admitted that he had delivered gravel at Mulhall's place for the past two years. He said that he did not know as a fact that a portion of Mulhall's place had been rented by the city to store gravel for use on streets in the north end of London. He did not consider, however, that all this material had accumulated on the foreman's property.

Mulhall never requested him to deliver gravel on this (Mulhall's) premises.

Witness could not swear that as Mr. McEvoy put it, one ounce of the gravel delivered on June 30 was being used in the building operations which he saw in progress the following day.

Last September Morkin was ordered to deliver three loads to Mulhall's place by the city engineer's department, but witness did not know exactly where the material was placed.

John Morkin Testifies.

LONDON PEOPLE ARE WORRIED

Many Have Relations in the North Country Where Fire Rages.

YOUNG MEN IN PERIL

Many Prominent Citizens Have Sons Fire Ranging in the Woods for the Ontario Government.

Dozens of people in this city and throughout the district who have relatives fire ranging in Northern Ontario or engaged on the railway construction work are waiting eagerly for news of them.

Many of the young men are working right through the district that has been burned over, and while they are all boys who have had experience and know how to take care of themselves, their relatives are naturally anxious to hear from them.

So far no telegrams have been received but these are hardly expected yet, as in many places the wires are all down as a result of the poles having been burned.

Mr. Frank Nickle, the youngest son of Sergeant of Detectives Thomas Nickle, is working with a railway construction gang right in the heart of the burned district. His brother, Mr. Roy Nickle, only arrived home from New Ontario on Saturday.

Mr. Alex. Greenlees, son of ex-Ald. A. Greenlees, is surveying with a party about 100 miles north of Cochrane. His parents had a letter from him yesterday, but no mention was made of any fires.

Mr. T. L. Tanton, son of Mr. John Tanton, of 379 Waterloo street, is fire ranging in the danger zone.

There are numerous other young men from the city and district scattered all through the burned region, and many of the prospectors are from London or this vicinity.

CRAZED BY THE HEAT FIRE RANGER SUICIDES

Found Dead in His Hut With Bullet Wound in Head.

Bala, Ont., July 12.—Albert May, middle-aged, who has been fire-ranging in the township of Freeman, was found dead in a hut on Moon River on Monday. It is supposed he became demented from the excessive heat while fighting the fire, and while in this state shot himself with a revolver behind the ear. The last entry in his diary was: "Arrived 8 a.m.; almost done with the heat."

A paper was found, upon which was written, with here and there a word left out: "I take this opportunity to tell you that I am sick of it all. I am tired of life. Good-bye, all."

May was well known around Bala as a particularly faithful worker.

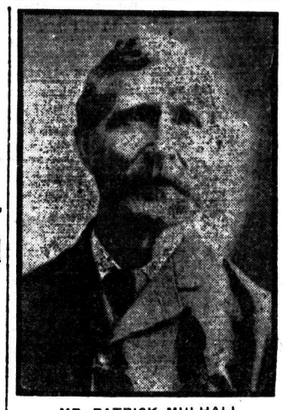

"COME BACK SOON"

Dublin Gives the King and Queen a Memorable Send-Off.

[Canadian Press.]

Kingstown, Ireland, July 12. — King George and Queen Mary concluded their visit to Ireland today, and with the Prince of Wales and Princess Mary sailed on the royal yacht Victoria and Albert for Holyhead, Wales. The investiture of the Prince of Wales will take place in Carnarvon Castle tomorrow.

Dublin gave their majesties a memorable send-off. As they passed through the streets there were frequent cries of "Come back soon."

ALSOP CLAIM GOES TO THE U.S.

Arbitrator King George Decides Against Chili.

HUGE SUM IS INVOLVED

American Claimants Secure Nearly a Million Dollars.

[Canadian Press.]

London, July 12.—The Times announces that King George has given the award in the Alsop claim to the United States. The award concedes £187,000 ($935,000) to the American claimants.

Early in August last the United States ambassador and the Chilean minister at London presented to the British foreign office their respective cases on the Alsop claim, which had been submitted to King George as arbitrator. The claim is based upon large sums of money advanced to the Bolivian Government in 1874, Chile agreeing to assume the obligations of Bolivia to the company when Arica passed to Chile. The claim amounted to $1,500,000. The United States and Chile agreed to submit the case to the late King Edward, and, after his death, to his successor, King George. Chile deposited the amount claimed in London, to be paid over in case the award was in favor of the American claimants.

ORANGEMEN OFF FOR WOODSTOCK

About 200 Lined Up on Dundas Street, and Marched to C. P. R. Depot.

BIG CELEBRATION TODAY

Six Local Lodges Were Represented in the Procession—Many Members From Ontario Lodges.

With banners and flags flying gaily, and fifers and pipers playing their best, two hundred Orangemen, representing local lodges and lodges from around London, lined up on Dundas street at 8:30 this morning, and marched to the C. P. R. depot to take a special train to Woodstock, where they will take part in the celebration that is being held there.

Conspicuous among those in line were the representation of the Indian lodges which have been formed on the Muncey and Oneida reserves.

Two local ladies' Orange lodges were represented by a large turnout of their members.

The local lodges in the procession were: Boyne, 298; Ahoghill, 230; Forest City, 762; Hackett, 805; Beaver, 2101, and Nassau, 2051.

All of the members were in full regalia and some of them wore white coats and caps.

Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta—Stationary or slightly higher temperatures.

Lowest and highest local temperatures yesterday were 60—90.

KING CHANGES NATIONAL ANTHEM

[Canadian Press.]

London, July 12.—A change has been made in the National Anthem. At present, when the main thought throughout the civilized world is peace, one of the old verses of the anthem is said to have struck the King as sounding a somewhat discordant note. It runs:

"O Lord, our God, arise,
Scatter his enemies,
And make them fall;
Confound their politics,
Frustrate their knavish tricks,
On him our hopes we fix,
O, save us all."

That verse has now been replaced by the following, written by Dean Hole, and breathing a more peaceful spirit:

"O Lord, our God, arise,
Scatter his enemies,
Make wars to cease;
Keep us from plague and death,
Turn thou our woes to mirth,
And over all the earth,
Let there be peace."

This alteration has been specially sanctioned by King George, and is therefore of national importance, seeing that it is now likely to be universally followed.

STORM THAT BROUGHT RELIEF WAS COSTLY AT MANY POINTS

Considerable Damage Done Around London and Throughout Southwestern Ontario by Tuesday's Electrical Storm.

A great deal of minor damage is reported from the district around London as a result of the heavy electrical storm which passed over Southwestern Ontario yesterday afternoon. Many barns were burned, and in some cases the season's crops were burned with them. In some districts many trees were blown over and a number of cattle were killed in different parts of the country.

Around Glanworth the storm was particularly heavy yesterday about noon. A big barn on the farm of Mr. D. McBain, who resides near the village, was struck by lightning and was destroyed, together with all the implements and quite a quantity of grain and hay. The loss, which will be heavy, is partly covered by insurance.

Current Grounded.

While the storm was at its height, a big tree blew down near the gravel pit of the Southwestern Traction Company and grounded the current. The cars were without power for some time until the trouble was removed.

Phones Burned Out.

The telephone companies suffered severely, having large numbers of phones burned out all over the country, and in some places wires and poles were blown down.

The heavy rain south of the city proved the greatest boon to the farmers as it freshened up the pasture and gave them a water supply that will last some time. In many places farmers had to draw water for miles in order to supply their cattle, and the pasture was all burnt up as a result of the long dry spell. As a result of the showers, however, conditions are much improved.

Poles Hit by Bolts.

Around Glendale several telegraph poles were struck by the lightning, and were ripped and slivered in a peculiar manner.

Around Muncey a number of cattle were killed by the lightning any many trees were blown over.

In the vicinity of Mount Brydges very little rain fell, although it is badly needed all through the district.

Around St. Johns not a drop of rain fell, although the rumble of the thunder of the storm which swept over London was heard. The farmers were busy all afternoon drawing in their hay and doing other work.

At Strathroy there was no storm whatever.

FORMER LONDONER WAS SHOT TO DEATH AT KEEWATIN, ONT.

Word Received Here of the Finding of the Remains of Arthur Renacre—Sister Lives on Dundas Street East.

Mrs. George Valle, of Dundas street east, received word yesterday that her brother, Mr. Arthur Renacre, formerly of this city, was found lying in a canoe at Keewatin with his left wrist shot off and a large hole torn in the left side of his chest above the heart.

It is supposed that while getting into the canoe in some manner he tripped over the weapon, and it discharged.

Mr. Renacre had been in Keewatin for seven months, and was the superintendent of one of the Hudson Bay outpost stations.

The superintendent had gone to Winnipeg for supplies, leaving Mr. Renacre in charge, and when he returned he found his assistant lying in the canoe.

Apparently Mr. Renacre had been dead for some time, just how long is not known.

Mrs. Valle has written to the Hudson Bay Company for further partic-

FIVE HUNDRED PEERS TO "WATER" HOUSE OF LORDS

However, Nobody Really Believes But That Lansdowne Will Surrender—Balfour to Talk on Crisis.

[Canadian Press.]

London, July 12.—The Right Hon. Arthur J. Balfour, Unionist leader in the House of Commons, had a further conference with Lord Lansdowne yesterday, and it was subsequently announced that he would address his constituents in the city of London on the constitutional crisis on July 25, just about the time when the Lords will be considering whether to surrender or to face the creation of scores, perhaps hundreds, of new peers.

Lord Knollys also conferred with Mr. Balfour yesterday, and as he is in the confidence of the Premier, the conference has a special significance at this time.

Meanwhile the Times states that the chief Liberal whip has a list of five hundred peers ready, but nobody really believes, in spite of the Unionist cry of "no surrender," that there will be necessity for watering the peers and creating a permanent Liberal majority in the House of Lords.

MICHIGAN LADY BURNED TO DEATH IN EXPLOSION

Mrs. R. T. Meldrum, of the office staff in Smallman & Ingram's, received a telegram last night stating that her sister, Mrs. Pryor, of Houghton, Mich., had been burned to death near Eagle Harbor, Mich., in a gasoline explosion which occurred on her husband's yacht.

Mrs. Meldrum formerly resided in Houghton before coming to London.

Mrs. Pryor had a number of friends in this city, as a result of visits she had made to Mrs. Meldrum.

Mr. and Mrs. Meldrum left last night for Houghton.

CHARGED WITH SELLING AT PROHIBITED HOURS

An information has been laid against Mr. Arthur Sadlier, of the Sadleir House, charging him with having broken the bylaws by selling during prohibited hours. The case will come up before Magistrate Judd in a couple of days.

TRAPPED BY BARBED WIRE.

Visalia, Cal., July 12.—Entangled in a barbed wire fence Phillip Aultman, 84 years of age, was burned near here yesterday. Aultman was climbing through the fence to put out a fire in some weeds, when his clothing caught on the barbed wire. The fire surrounded him and when assistance came he was burned beyond recognition.

DISASTER TO NORTHERN ONTARIO WORSE THAN FIRST REPORTED

North Bay Reports Many Towns Menaced Along the C. P. R. —Great Distress Prevails at Cochrane.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

North Bay, Ont., July 12. — Thirty lives, it is known, have been lost in the fires which raged over the Porcupine District. The dead include Captain White, of West Dome, and his whole family. Dozens of persons have been injured. A big hospital train is now being rushed into the north country, with doctors and medical supplies. Its destination is Iroquois Falls. Every train that arrives brings news that the disaster is one of the worst in the history of the Province.

[Canadian Press.]

North Bay, July 12.—Reports from the burned section of Northern Ontario coming in hourly indicate that the disaster was even worse than at first imagined and danger is not yet over, nor will it be until a heavy rain falls. All along the Ontario government railway line the fire is blazing on both sides of the track, and urgent demands are being made for cars to carry away the cut pulpwood, thousands of cords of which have been taken out and piled along the tracks. The heat was so intense last night that the windows on the southbound express from Cochrane had to be closed to protect the passengers.

Train Derailed.

The T. and O. express leaving Cochrane yesterday morning, left the rails at Sesekinka, 142 miles north of here, the engines and cars leaving the rails, but no one was hurt. The place where the accident occurred was surrounded by burning bush, and passengers had to hike along the track to a cooler region. The train was delayed five hours.

Besides the north country, bad fires are burning south on Lake Nipissing in Parry Sound District, and flames are distinctly visible at North Bay, a distance of 20 miles.

Many Towns Menaced.

Reports are coming from along the C. P. R. main line west of here that forest fires are menacing towns. Cartier was thought to have been doomed last night, but flames moved in the outskirts of the town, cutting wide swathes to the south and leaving the town safe like an oasis in the desert of black earth.

The fires are raging between North Bay and Sudbury to the north and south, and many towns and settlers will be at the mercy of the winds. At Cochrane last night there was very little sleep for

Posed as a Special Detective and Forced an East End Citizen to Give Up $2 to Him.

At the police court today, a young man who has a mania for getting into trouble, pleaded guilty to having, on July 3, obtained money unlawfully from Arthur Southam, of Simcoe street east, by threatening to accuse him of having stolen lumber from the Grand Trunk Railway.

The man in question represented that he was a special Grand Trunk detective and gave the name of Martin Prodgers, which, of course, is not his name at all.

Mrs. Southam, who has recently been ill, was terribly shocked by the accusation, and in order to get the man away from the house, Mr. Southam gave him $2 and as soon as possible communicated with the police.

This morning, after considerable argument, Crown Attorney McKillop accepted $4,000 bail for the citizen's appearance in a week's time. He is liable to a term of five years in the penitentiary.

Mrs. Southam when she appeared in court today, was in such a condition from the shock the affair has given her that she was on the verge of collapse, and had to be supported when going out of the station.

A Lively Set-To.

Mr. P. H. Bartlett is representing the accused, and before court opened he and Chief Williams had a lively set-to as a result of the chief complaining that Mr. Bartlett had interviewed witnesses for the prosecution. This the chief claimed was unprofessional.

Mr. Bartlett claimed that the chief had said he "smuggled" them away.

This the chief denied.

"I'm ready to answer for anything I do," said the chief, warmly.

"Well, you will certainly answer for this," said Mr. Bartlett.

Chief Williams said he had never before heard of a lawyer doing as Mr. Bartlett had done.

"Especially going and interviewing a poor woman who is in the physical condition that this witness was," said the chief.

"It's done every day," said Mr. Bartlett.

"Not by nice people," said the chief, and the incident closed by the arrival of the magistrate.

A charge of fraud which was laid against the prisoner in connection with having taken the $2 was withdrawn as a result of him pleading guilty to the main charge.

KING STREET PAVEMENT WILL LIKELY BE GREATLY IMPROVED

People Are Paying a Frontage Tax for an Alleged Permanent Roadway Which Lasted Only a Year.

The question of what to do with King street pavement is beginning to come to the fore again, now that it is proposed to pave all the cross-streets with asphalt between King street and Queen's avenue.

King street, between Wellington and Maitland streets, is in a disgraceful condition, notwithstanding the fact that the people are paying a frontage tax for a pavement. It is realized around the city hall that the majority of the people on the street are entitled to consideration at the hands of the city council, and that something should be done to make the roadway passable.

Kentucky asphalt is a joke, and yet the people are compelled to go down in their pockets to pay for something which is no good and never was any good.

It is said that a macadam surface could be put down on King street at a small cost. The foundation would also carry a bituilthic surface, but it is feared that it would be too much of a risk to attempt to put asphalt on it without putting in a new and more level foundation.

The council will likely hear from people on the matter shortly.

The city, it is understood, still holds the $800 which was held back as a guarantee, but how far this will go toward resurfacing the street, may be guessed.

NEW STORY FRIDAY

Beginning Friday The Advertiser will publish a new story, "Seventh Noon," by Frederick Orin Bartlett, author of "The Web of the Golden Spider."

"Seventh Noon" has an ingenious plot and is skillfully written. It will be enjoyed by all lovers of a good clean story.

MAYOR HOPEWELL WON'T WELCOME THE PREMIER

[Canadian Press.]

Ottawa, Ont., July 12.—Mayor Hopewell, who has an ambition to be the next Conservative candidate for Ottawa, has declined to present an address of welcome to Sir Wilfrid Laurier at his homecoming reception tonight. On his return from King Edward's coronation, Sir Wilfrid was presented with an address by the mayor of Ottawa, so the same programme was suggested for this occasion. Mayor Hopewell, however, declared that the affair is to be a political demonstration and that he will not be a party to it.

FOUGHT OVER A DOG

James Williams and Reginald Kennedy, colored men who got into a scrap on Richmond street last night about a dog, were each fined $5 by Magistrate Judd today.

Fred Fuller, also a colored man, who has a weakness for strong drink and was up recently for indulging pleaded in vain today for another chance. He will spend a three week's vacation at Castle Carter as a result of not producing $20.

MOTHER SHOCKED; BABY ESCAPES

A Lightning Bolt Enters House Near Port Stanley.

THE STORM WAS TERRIFIC

Barn at Dexter Destroyed With All the Crops and Implements.

[By Our Own Man.]

Port Stanley, July 12.—The worst storm of the year visited this village and district yesterday afternoon about 3 o'clock, and today reports of serious damage are coming in.

The barn of Nelson Parker, at Dexter, was struck by lightning and completely destroyed, together with one cow, all of this season's hay, and all the farm implements. The loss is very heavy.

While Mrs. H. Pickering, of the Union road, a short way out of Port Stanley, was standing with her baby on her arm, a bolt of lightning struck the house and came down a wall right in front of her. Mrs. Pickering was thrown to the floor and was unconscious for half an hour, but the baby escaped completely.

Lightning knocked a chimney off the residence of Fred Mitchell, of Bridge street, and trees on Orchard Beach and Fraser Hill were struck. Rain fell for two hours, accompanied by a heavy hail storm, which did a lot of damage to fruit and crops. The weather this morning was very cool here.

SHOE MACHINERY CO. REFUSED APPEAL

Privy Council Refuses an Application and Government Probe Will Proceed.

London, July 11.—Leave to appeal in the United States machinery combine case was refused the company by the privy council today. The jurisdiction of the board of inquiry appointed by the Government being now established the investigation will probably proceed.

Leave to appeal was also refused in the King vs. Dowdy and Walberg.

TAKES POISON DOSE WHILE IRRESPONSIBLE

Wife of a St. Thomas Railwayman Commits Suicide.

St. Thomas, July 11.—Mrs. Kate Slipper, wife of Nathaniel Slipper, an M. C. R. shopman, committed suicide this afternoon at her home on Fourth avenue by drinking carbolic acid. After the husband, who works nights, had gone to bed, she went up town to a drug store and purchased an ounce of carbolic acid. On her return she told her fourteen-year-old son not to disturb her, and, going in to the parlor and shutting the door, she drank the acid out of a bottle. When she came out of the parlor her son noticed she was frothing at the mouth and called his father, who in turn summoned the doctor. Before the latter could arrive Mrs. Slipper was dead. Coroner Grest said an inquest was unnecessary. Mrs. Slipper had been in the hospital for a long period, and it is said she worried over money matters, causing her derangement. Besides her husband, Mrs. Slipper, who was 41 years of age, is survived by a young son and daughter.

SHRINERS' PARADE

Twenty Thousand Gathered in Convention at Rochester.

Rochester, N. Y., July 11.—With 25,000 Shriners in attendance at the annual session of the imperial council Ancient Arabic order, nobles of the Mystic Shrine, opened this morning at Convention Hall, by the patrols of the various temples. It was a parade that took an hour to pass.

At the hall the address of welcome to the city was made by Mayor Edgerton, Lieutenant-Governor Conway giving the greetings of the state of New York. The executive session was at 12:15 o'clock.

This evening all the patrols, with floats from cities in every section of the country, paraded through the streets, headed by the band of the temples.

CANUCKS SHOOT WELL

Good Scores by Dundas, Vancouver and Quebec Men at Bisley.

Bisley Camp, July 11.—Commandant Lieut.-Co. G. A. Stimson, R. O., Toronto, today entertained Lady Borden, Lord and Lady Churston, Senator and Mrs. Power, and a larger party of Canadian and English friends.

Lieut. Blood, the winner of the "Base" squadded competition, open to all-comers, with an aggregate value of £50, used a Canadian rifle and Canadian ammunition.

In the same competition, Corp. G. Mortimer, of Quebec, made 46 at 1,000 yards out of a possible 50, and 46 at 1,100 yards, winning fourth prize, £4.

In the sweepstakes at 200 yards, Pte. E. Bibby, of Dundas, in seven shots, made 34.

Capt. C. Milne, of Vancouver, finished third in today's sweepstakes at 500 yards.

SOVEREIGN BANK SELLS

Claims Against Institution Bought by International Assets Company.

Toronto, July 11.—At the annual meeting of the Sovereign Bank today a resolution was passed to accept the offer of International Assets, Limited, to purchase from the assisting banks their claims against the Sovereign Bank, giving for these claims something over half in cash, and the balance in bonds. The company has also agreed to purchase from the Sovereign Bank the equity of redemption in the bank's assets, giving for that equity of redemption $1,000,000 in its own common stock. The company thus becomes practically the only creditor of the Sovereign Bank.

PORTUGAL FORGIVES

Refugees Can Return If They Announce Allegiance to Republic.

Lisbon, July 11.—The Government has drafted a bill dealing with conspirators against the republic, whether arrested in Portugal or residents in foreign countries.

According to the terms of the measure, those resident abroad are required to present themselves within forty days before the Portuguese consuls in the countries wherein they reside and declare their recognition of the republic. If this is done the Government will allow them to return to this country with the free exercise of all rights and will overlook all their actions prior to the declaration referred to.

The salary of the president of the republic is to be fixed at about $12,960 a year. Ordinary representatives will receive $6,480 per annum.

DEVASTATING TORNADO SWEEPS OVER HAMILTON

One Death and Large Amoun of Property Damaged.

Hamilton, Ont, July 11.—For about 20 minutes this afternoon Hamilton was in the throes of a regular tornado and when the casualties were numbered it was found that the toll was one death and a very great amount of damage in property. The wind was from the west and descended on the city with terrific velocity. The rain was very heavy, but there was no hail as on the previous day. The western section seemed to suffer more than the east and the storm had all the earmarks of the memorable one of June, 1906. It struck the old grand stand at the cricket grounds and demolished a large section of it. A large section of the north wall of the Boys' Home was blown out, but fortunately the inmates were away at the Beach on a picnic and no one was hurt. Signs over many of the stores were blown down and the big plate glass window in T. H. Platt & Co.'s store was blown in. The roof of the fever shack at the City Hospital grounds was blown off and the front of a small store on Bunt street was blown away. The power lines were shut off for several hours.

GREAT FIRES SWEEPING

fire Sunday, is again threatened, and in grave danger.

The Hollinger mining plant is supposed to be all right, as it was fire-swept some time ago, and is now surrounded by large clearings and comparatively safe.

The loss of life to prospectors and settlers will not be known for days, as survivors will find great difficulty getting out, the trails being obliterated and corduroy roads destroyed.

Superintendent Black and staff, of the Ontario Government Railway will remain at their posts all night, arranging and sending relief trains to the stricken towns. The North Bay town council will send three hundred dollars worth of provisions to Cochrane on the first train. Blankets, tents and other supplies are required and being collected, to go forward on relief trains.

Cobalt, Ont., July 11. — 10 p.m. — The whole country north of here is full of bush fires. The windows of the trains had to be closed from Earlton to Uno Park, because of the intense heat from fires along the right-of-way. The passengers had to leave the Montreal train, which left the track at Mileage 172, the heat from near-by fires necessitating the move. The train went south five hours late.

Cobalt, Ont., July 11.—A dispatch from Kelso states that the residents of the town have been forced to leave it, owing to the encroaching forest fires.

An Appalling Disaster.

Toronto, July 12.—News was received in Toronto late last evening through Chairman J. L. Englehart, of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway Commission, that the bush fires, which had been smoldering for several days past all through the district extending from North Bay as far north as Cochrane, had broken out with renewed vehemence. The roaring flames have wiped out the mining towns of Pottsville and South Porcupine, devastated the camps surrounding Golden City, destroyed every building, with the exception of eight, in Cochrane, the terminal point of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway, and burned an unknown number of persons to death, three having already been reported, in addition to four men who were drowned in trying to escape from South Porcupine. Golden City itself remains intact, and all the work of rescue and protection is being centralized there, while the flames continue to rage all around, throughout the townships of Tisdale and Whitney.

Burns Like Lightning.

Nothing can be done at present towards checking the blaze as the white birch, with which the country is filled, burns up like lightning as soon as it is touched by a spark. The bark curls up and peels under the influence of the heat, and blows in all directions like tinder, often spreading for miles. The fact that no rain has fallen in the region for many days adds greatly to the danger, as all the wood is dry and takes fire instantly. So far the railway lines seem to have remained uninjured, as well as the T. and N. O. stations at Golden City and Cochrane. At the latter point the two terminals have been turned into temporary refuges for the homeless, and the people are also being accommodated in box cars and passenger coaches for the time being.

Golden City is the haven for all those who have managed to escape from the mining camps in the surrounding district, and the bodies of the dead have been removed there. Affairs at this point are being directed by Chief Engineer S. B. Clement, of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario, who is on the spot.

All Camps From Dome to Whitney.

The following two dispatches were received last night by Chairman J. L. Engelhart, of the commission, from Superintendent J. H. Black, who telephoned the news from North Bay. The first dispatch was relayed from Porcupine, having been sent to Mr. Black by Mr. Clement.

Chief Engineer S. B. Clement wires from Porcupine:

"Fearful destructive fires have swept the southern part of Tisdale and Whitney. South Porcupine and Pottsville have been wiped out. The outskirts of Golden City are burnt. All of our camps at Golden City and west are burnt, as far as we have been able to learn. All of our men are safe.

"All of the mining camps from Dome to Whitney are reported burnt. F. Flynn, Alfred Youill and W. J. Fletcher reported burned to death. Billy Moore and three foreigners were drowned at South Porcupine. Golden City station iss afe. All bodies are being taken care of at Golden City."

Mr. Black's dispatch regarding Cochrane, which arrived earlier in the evening, says:

"All of the town of Cochrane, with the exception of the Transcontinental Railway offices, our agent's house, Jenners' store, Johnston's poolroom, Imperial Bank, McKinnon's office, both of our depots, has been destroyed.

"The people are now housed in box and passenger cars, and we have opened our new station and bunk rooms to take care of them."

100 Buildings Burned.

Among the hundred or more buildings which have been destroyed in the holocaust are the Banks of Toronto and Ottawa, the Methodist, Presbyterian and Baptist Churches, Rothschilds' hardware store and a large business block. Mr. Black also reported that train No. 2 went off the track during the afternoon about 12 miles south of Swastika, or at Milepost 152. No lives were lost, and the engine, baggage and mail cars, and two passenger coaches were soon replaced on the rails and the train proceeded. A track warped by the heat is thought to have been the cause of the run-off.

JUDGMENT RESERVED IN LOCAL OPTION CASE

Claimed That Delivery Orders Are Irregular.

Strathroy, July 11.—The adjourned local option case was up again before Police Magistrate Noble, County Crown Attorney McKillop and Provincial Inspector Ayearst prosecuting. A number of witneses were called and testified as to receiving cases of beer from the Walkerville Brewing and Malting Company, delivered through the Strathroy Cartage Company. Although the orders were signed by the witnesses for the beer it was claimed the orders were irregular in some respects. Judgment reserved.

The death of Mr. Herbert Cooper at his home on Monday morning was much regretted by his many friends. He had been in poor health for some time and was much estemed by all as an upright citizen. He was 37 years of age and was head of the Strathroy Cartage Company. He lived with his father and mother, Albert street. The funeral will be held on Wednesday to the Strathroy Cemetery.

Mr. O. E. Brandreth and children, and Mr. F. Ivor and family, are holidaying at Burlington Beach.

Miss S. S. Smith and mother, of Winnipeg, who have been visiting friends in town for some time, return on Wednesday, accompanied by Miss Lawson.

Mrs. E. Kinder is visiting her daughter, Mrs. C. Turner, in South London.

The storm on Tuesday was severe around Strathroy. Several barns were burned, including some pigs, chickens and some of the season's crops.

RECORD RECEPTION

has made us all proud to be Canadians. (Signed) The Liberal Clubs of Monreal."

A reception was held on the terrace at the Place Viger Hotel, and the celebration ended with a grand illumination of Place Viger Square.

It is impossible to describe the wonderful scene of welcome which was accorded Sir Wilfrid by the citizens of Montreal. That in Quebec was a magnificent sight and for heartiness and sincerity was hard to surpass. However, the cheering of the tens of thousands who turned out to greet Sir Wilfrid tonight, the heartiness of their welcome, the brilliant illuminations along the waterfront and throughout the city, the scores of banners and flags, the masses of bunting, the music of the bands and the other evidences of the people's loyalty made an almost indescribable picture. No public man in Canada was ever accorded such a hearty and tumultuous welcome as that given Sir Wilfrid Laurier tonight. It is estimated that over 150,000 people thronged the docks and streets. Sir Wilfrid, who was in splendid form, was evidently delighted with the heartiness of his welcome and his "sunny smile" was much in evidence. His address appealed to the hearts of the people, and the applause which greeted his remarks showed that he has lost nothing, but has rather gained in the affection and esteem of the people of Canada's metropolis.

A Record Reception.

The oldest men in the city all declare that tonight's reception surpassed anything ever given in Montreal. Not only were the crowds greater than on any previous occasion, but the decorations and the illuminations were most elaborate. Along the route of march a hundred mottoes blazoned forth their welcome to Sir Wilfrid, the houses were covered with flags, and bunting, while thousands of colored electric lights, rockets and fireworks lit up the streets, and cast a glare over the whole scene. In the parks great festoons of Chinese lanterns hung from the trees, the fountains played over colored lights, and myriads of rockets made a never-to-be-forgotten scene.

Following Sir Wilfrid's carriage came several carriages containing cabinet ministers, and following these came a dozen massed bands, all the Liberal clubs in the city bearing flags, and tens of thousands of cheering citizens.

In his speech at the wharf, in reply to the civic address, Sir Wilfrid expressed his great pleasure at being once more in Montreal. "I appreciate your words of welcome all the more, because I realize that the city council of Montreal is not all of the same political complexion. You have welcomed me as a citizen of Canada, and for this I tender you my hearty thanks."

Replying to the address of the Liberal clubs, Sir Wilfrid spoke along similar lines to what he did last night in Quebec. He acquitted Canadian manufacturers of the charge that they were at the bottom of the opposition to reciprocity. "They are sensible men, and would not be so foolish as to arouse opposition to that measure," said the Premier. He declared that the real source of the opposition to reciprocity was traceable to the imperialistic jingoes of Canada and Great Britain. "These imperialists and nationalists both attack me from opposite sides. After the present fight is over you will find them devouring one another, and the imperialists will swallow the nationalists."

Sir Wilfrid called the present alliance between the Conservatives and the Nationalists a hybrid alliance, and predicted an early breaking up of the compact, in which the Nationalists would be lost sight of. In concluding his address, the Premier said that he had been for forty years in public life in Canada, but had never witnessed such a demonstration as that accorded him tonight. "I cannot find words to express my appreciation of your loyalty and devotion. I have been for forty years in public life in Canada, I have witnessed many stirring scenes, but I have never witnessed such an elaborate, hearty, and enthusiastic welcome, as that accorded me tonight."

The remainder of his speech was along the line of his Quebec address.

BAILEY BLOCKED VOTE ON RECIPROCITY

Trade Pact Almost Reached Test in the Senate Tuesday.

Washington, July 11.—No substantial progress was made in the Senate today on Canadian reciprocity. One vote was taken on an unimportant amendment by Senator Cummins. It was rejected and no roll call was demanded. Two distinct efforts were made to get an agreement for a date for a vote on the Canadian reciprocity. Senator Watson, of West Virginia, surprised his colleagues by coming forth quite unexpectedly with a proposal for a vote on Canadian reciprocity on July 19, at 4 o'clock. There was some discussion of this matter and at the suggestion of Senator Lodge it went over until tomorrow. Mr. Watson gave notice that he would renew his request daily until an agreement was reached.

Later in the day, Senator Penrose came forward with a suggestion that the Senate agree to vote on Canadian reciprocity on July 24.

Senator Penrose thereupon said that unless some Senator was ready to talk that he would insist on having a vote on the bill at once. Senator Bailey then took the floor and held it for about four hours. His speech was devoted almost entirely to an arraignment of the Democrats for their refusal to join with him and the insurgents in amending the Canadian reciprocity bill.

MENDICANT HELD OVER GIRL'S DEATH

Said to Have Struck Her With Stick When Enraged.

Quebec, July 11.—Emma Simard, a young woman, now lies dead at the morgue, while Felix Garneau, an aged mendicant, is a prisoner at the jail, to which he was remanded on Monday by the police magistrate to await the result of an assault which he is alleged to have committed on the woman on Saturday last. The victim passed away about 5 o'clock this morning at the Hotel Dieu, to which she had been transferred after the assault. The coroner will hold an inquest tomorrow morning.

According to the story told, Garneau, who boarded at a house in King street, arrived home on Saturday night under the influence of liquor, when he was accosted by the woman, who asked him for something to drink. The old man became enraged and struck her over the head with his stick. The woman was at once sent to the hospital, and the man was arrested. He appeared before the magistrate and was remanded to await the result of her injuries.

INGERSOLL ORANGEMEN OFF TO WOODSTOCK

No Local Celebration of the Battle of the Boyne This Year.

Ingersoll, July 12.—The "glorious twelfth" was spent very quietly in Ingersoll, there being no demonstrations of any kind. The local L. O. L. Lodge went to Woodstock to join the other Orangemen of Western Ontario in celebrating the anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne.

Mr. J. W. Patterson has been awarded the contract of supplying the schools with coal for the coming year by the board of education.

A furious thunderstorm broke over the town yesterday about one o'clock, when the rain and hail fell in torrents. The lightning flashed vividly throughout the storm, but nothing was struck except the stand-pipe to which no damage was done.

Mr. Oliver D. Austin, of the Lethbridge Herald, Lethbridge, Alta., is calling on friends in town.

Mr. Tom Thornton, of Woodstock is visiting friends and relatives in Paris for a few days.

The many friends of Mrs. Charles Ryan who fell from a step-ladder last Saturday and broke her leg, will be pleased to learn that she is doing as nicely as can be expected at the Alexandria Hospital.

Miss Kathleen Ryan is spending the day with friends in Guelph.

GROWTH OF WOODSTOCK

Has Increased Only 429 in the Last Ten Years.

Woodstock, Ont., July 11.—The census enumerators having completed their work in the city, Woodstock's population is shown to have increased in the last ten years by 429. The total population now stands at 9,312. The increase is disappointingly small, but it is pointed out that Woodstock is just now recovering from a quiet period of some years' duration, and that the assessors' figures next year are bound to show a further increase of many hundreds.

FIRE AT OWEN SOUND

Entire Cement Plant for a Time Was Threatened With Destruction.

Owen Sound, Ont., July 11.—For a time this morning fire threatened to wipe out the huge Canada Cement Company's plant at Shallow Lake about 10 miles from here. About 4 o'clock in the morning fire was discovered in the rotary kiln building and before the company's volunteer brigade could turn the water upon it the entire structure was aflame. Two hours of hard work saved the remainder of the buildings, but the kiln building was an entire wreck when a brigade, which had been sent from Owen Sound, arrived on the scene by rail.

The loss will be up in the thousands, though no accurate estimate can be formed as yet, as the five big rotary kilns and the fixtures are too hot to admit of ascertaining whether or not they are badly damaged. If they cannot be used it is problematical if the plant can resume operation this season.

CALLED TO ST. MARYS.

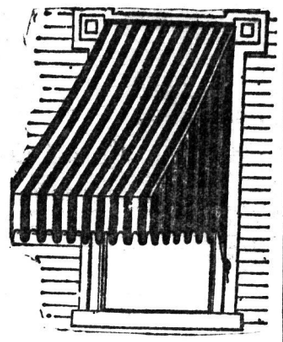

St. Marys, July 11.—At a largely attended meeting of the First Presbyterian Church a unanimous call was extended to Rev. J. Millar, formerly assistant of Knox Church, Toronto, to become pastor the church here, at a salary of $1,300 a year and free manse.

KEEP OUT THE SUN! LET IN THE AIR

The great problem now is ventilation and how to keep the house cool. With the sun blazing on heavy glass windows, the temperature of the room is sure to rise. The heat from the glass (even if the blinds are drawn) is too much these hot days. Then if you keep the windows closed to keep out the heat, your house is close and stuffy. Awnings and Window Screens are the only solution to keep off the sun and let in the air. Shade the windows with awnings and the glass will not become heated; screen the windows and allow the pure air to flow in, that you may enjoy your home during the hot summer months. Curtain your verandah, too. This will add another room to your house, and the most used room, too. If your verandah is cosy and shaded, you'll find it the most restful and coolest spot you can find.

AMERICAN AWNING STRIPES are guaranteed fast colors and make the house more beautiful, attractive and summer-like. Colors in stock are green and white, red and white, navy and white, tan and white, and brown and white, 31 inches wide, yard 37½c

Ladies' Long, Loose, Cool Kimonos, Special $1.50

One of the garments that is practically indispensable for the hot weather. A beautiful assortment in pretty floral designs, in colors of cadet, navy, sky and pink, made with yoke in back, front with 3 tucks down each side, trimmed with plain sateen bands down both fronts, around neck and sleeves. These Kimonos are not only a hot weather luxury, but are very pretty and attractive for house wear. They are fast colors, too. Made of fine percale, and the price for these is very special, each $1.50

Ladies' Ready-to-Wear—Second Floor.

Embroidered Black Voile Skirts, Special $6.75 and $8.75

Here are two specials in Ladies' Dress Skirts, made of fine black voile, prettily embroidered, giving you the effect of skirts that are worth from $12.00 to $15.00 each. The quality of voile in these is very fine, being of fine all-wool and of the uncrushable nature, so hard are the threads twisted before weaving, and the outline and pattern design of the embroidering forms two very pretty styles.

One 11-gore style with panel front, inverted pleat back, upper side sections embroidered and finished with pleated flounce below embroidering. Special for $6.75

Also pretty style with 7-gore upper, inverted pleat back, pleated flounce and 7-inch band, embroidered above pleating; lengths, 35 to 42. Specially priced at $8.75

Black Silks Extremely Popular

We have just opened another shipment of BLACK HONAN (French dye) raw silk, which has turned out to be an exceptionally good quality, so perfectly even in weave and color; just heavy enough thread to show up distinctly and pronounced. The demand for blacks this season has been more than we were prepared for, and this shipment has come when much wanted, and we would advise any who are contemplating a new black silk to see this shipment at once. The quality will please you; 34 inches wide, at per yard .. $1.00

Black Pailette Messaline, $1.25

Yard wide. Here is an opportunity for a high-grade black silk at the price of an ordinary quality. A silk we recommend for good wear, the kind that doesn't cut, and won't change color. One of the best makes for dresses, and the wide width cuts so economically, 36-inch. Special price, yard $1.25

It's easy to grow plants in a Sunshine-heated home

PEOPLE living in homes heated with ordinary furnaces often claim they cannot grow plants with any degree of success. This is due to the fact that ordinary furnaces are not provided with an Automatic Gas Damper. There is nothing to prevent coal-gas, which is deadly to plant life, being forced up through the registers.

Now, when the gas in the combustion chamber of the Sunshine reaches a certain pressure it sways open the Automatic Gas Damper and passes up the chimney, consequently there is no chance for it to escape through the registers. Instead, the air that passes through the registers is pure, warm, Sunshine air, laden with the proper degree of moisture from the water-pan. It's the kind of air that makes plants thrive and is good to breath into your own lungs.

If you want to guard your home (and who doesn't?) against evil-smelling, deadly coal gas order our agent to install the Sunshine furnace (guaranteed) in your cellar. 48

DEATHS HARVEST OF THE TENEMENTS

New York's Heat Fatality Record eats All Others.

New York, N. Y., July 12. — The break in the heat wave promised by the weather bureau made itself felt today, although the change was gradual and little real comfort was in prospect until tomorrow.

Following yesterday's maximum of 94 degrees, death stalked through the crowded tenements last night. Twenty deaths were reported during the night after twelve o'clock. The deaths from the heat up to midnight had numbered 25. This brings the total deaths during the ten days since the extreme heat first visited New York, up to 277, and beats all previous records.

GLANCE AT LONDON FIFTY YEARS AGO

Half a Century Since the Royal Canadian Regiment Came Here.

THE OLD MILITARY DAYS

Last Survivor of the Royals Has Passed Away—Gen. Buller Here With the Sixtieth Rifles.

It is just fifty years today since the Royal Canadian Rifles arrived in London, being the first instalment of regular troops to be located here since the Crimean War. It was composed of the headquarters of the regiment, accompanied by their magnificent band under the leadership of Bandmaster Carey. The staff consisted of Colonel Bradford, Adjutant Millar, Quartermaster Cook, Paymaster Bernard, Surgeon Rambant, and Sergeant-Major Gray.

The regiment was quartered in the barracks, which then stood at the north end of what is now Victoria Park, while the south end was occupied by the cricket field surrounded by a fence composed of tree stumps.

There was not a tree nor a shrub on all the property which is now ornamented with magnificent trees. Some of the officers, and many of the men, retired from the regiment while they were stationed here, but they have all passed away, the last survivor being Mr. Denahy, of the postoffice department, who died several months ago.

A Wonderful Change.

Mr. R. D. Millar, manager of The London Advertiser, is a son of Adjutant Millar, of the Royal Canadian Rifles, and he gave the above interesting information to a reporter.

"There is a wonderful change in London today compared with what it was when I first saw it," Mr. Millar continued. "We arrived at an old frame depot of the Grand Trunk Railway, which then stood on Burwell street, to be later succeeded by the present brick structure, which was abandoned when the Grand Trunk acquired the Great Western Railway.

"On the business streets, all the walks were of wood, and almost every store had a verandah and wooden shutters. In times of danger, the storekeeper took no chances, but promptly put up his shutters to protect his windows.

"The city hall, the Tecumseh House, the present G. T. R. station (then the G. W. R.), Robinson Hall, and many other prominent buildings, were then standing, but the city had no pavements, the roads being simply gravelled.

A Lively City.

"Things were lively in London when the troops were here. There were also quartered in this city at different times, the Sixty-third Regiment, the Forty-seventh, the Sixtieth, the Fifty-third, two batteries of artillery, a detachment of a military train, and a detachment of the Royal Engineers. In 1866, the Royal Canadians were disbanded, and went out of the British service. The regiment was a very strong one, embracing about 1,400 men. It had been made up of companies which during the American civil war, guarded the border.

"On the old cricket field at the end of the barracks ground, some great games were played. Amongst the cricketers I recollect the names of many well-known gentlemen, some of whom have passed away. They were Richard Bayly, W. C. Furness, Fred Hammond, A. H. Beddome, V. Cronyn, Benj. Cronyn, G. W. Girdlestone, John J. Brown, and many others.

General Buller Here.

"The cricket matches always aroused the greatest interest, and large crowds of spectators would be present. On such occasions the late Frank Church, who at one time conducted a hotel on Richmond street, was the caterer. Mr. Church was for some years caretaker of the customs house here."

In the old days the band of the Royal Canadians, which was then recognized as the finest in Canada, gave concerts on the cricket grounds. When Edward VII., then the Prince of Wales, visited Canada in 1860, he was accompanied by this band.

It is interesting to note that General Buller, one of the commanders of the British armies in the Boer war, was at one time stationed in London, having been here with the Sixtieth Regiment.

JUDGE EXPLAINS 'ARMED PEACE' REMARK

Declares That It Was Meant Solely In Jocular Sense.

[Canadian Press.]

Ottawa, July 11.—Judge Constantineau in a statement handed out here today explains as a joke the "armed peace" remark he made at the recent St. Jean Baptiste Society banquet in Montreal, and which has been the subject of some comment from the Ontario press. "The offence I am charged with," says the judge, "is that I dared refer in my speech to the relations existing between the French-Canadian minority and the majority as "armed peace." The term I used was in my introductory remarks, not in the speech, which I made, and was purely jocular, included among other remarks of a humorous nature made in view of the fact that there were a number of men present of various nationalities. Everyone present understood me in this sense, the 'armed peace' remark being intended to refer to some recent interesting occurrences in connection with church and school affairs. Even if the expression had been seriously used by me every reasonable person should know that it was not intended to qualify the relations existing between the French-Canadian minority, and the vast majority of English-speaking people of this province, whose spirit of justice, tolerance and fairness is unquestionable, and has often been personally appreciated by me, but to qualify the relations of my compatriots with certain factions who are not so well disposed towards the French element."

SAVED BY HIS DOG.

Ritchfield, N. J., July 11.—Samuel Biterle was saved from drowning yesterday afternoon by his Great Dane dog. Biterle was enjoying a swim in the canal when he was suddenly seized with cramps. As he was sinking he cried, "Help, Nero!" and the animal immediately sprang into the water and swam toward him.

As Biterle came to the surface Nero caught him by the arm and pulled him ashore. Meantime several persons came up and they succeeded in reviving the unconscious man.

STRAUSS WRITING ALPINE SYMPHONY

It Will Take an Hour to Perform the Elaborate Orchestral Piece.

Berlin, July 11.—Richard Strauss is engaged upon an important work which is to be called "An Alpine Symphony," and will take about an hour to play. The first part represents the feelings of a lonely traveller ascending a high mountain, gradually withdrawing himself from the world. A lyrical motif runs through it, representing the littleness of terrestrial affairs.

There will be musical descriptions of the difficulties encountered by the climber on his way, a waterfall, a deep gorge, a mountain thunderstorm. Arrived at the summit, the climber breaks out into a song of praise of the glories of the Alpine scenery.

The second division of the work describes the descent. The traveller, inspired with the beauties of nature as seen in mountains, is filled with religious unbelief, and worships nature instead of God. The descent is occupied with the struggle in the wanderer's soul between this feeling for nature alone and the higher feeling for the divine, both of these feelings being represented by their different motifs.

Finally the motif of religious faith dominates the other, and the symphony concludes with a lofty hymn of praise to God.

GOLDEN WEST GIRL OUT TO REFORM EAST

As a Starter She Rides All the Way From Frisco to New York.

New York, July 11—Pretty little Nan Ashinwall, the daring young girl who yesterday completed her ride from San Francisco to New York, the longest journey on horse back ever taken by man or woman, is out to reform the "effete" East.

Today she announced that she would begin with the society women of Newport and will ride to that fashionable resort on her famous Lady Ellen, the mare on which she made her trip. For the last month she says she has been in communication with several society women, who desire to learn lariat throwing in order to reduce their weight.

"Eastern women, stranger, are too much home bodies," said this young woman. "They get fat quickly and altogether too young. And the relief lies not in massage parlors, beauty treatments, rolling, water drinking, nor fasting, but is found in out-of-door exercise. You know you cannot reduce fat permanently without making muscle, and my stunt is to make muscle for these ladies who have got all run down from dances and teas and highbrow talk. Believe me, highbrow talk is aterrific weight maker.

"I am going to teach them lariat throwing. It's got the old line of archery beaten to a standstill, you can take that square, stranger, and as for reducing weight! You can't beat it.

"I went out on the bridle path in Central Park this morning and I was dumfounded at what you Easterners call 'riding.' Most of the men and women steady up like sticks and don't half enjoy the movement of the horse. I would just like to stay here long enough to give these people a chance at some real pleasure.

"Another reason I am anxious to get to Newport is that I will have a chance to meet Miss Eleanor Sears. I think she is the one real, honest to God, cow girl of the East. She would have been a dandy if she had not been born in society, for she's full of spunk."

WRONG SORT

PERHAPS PLAIN OLD MEAT, POTATOES AND BREAD MAY BE AGAINST YOU FOR A TIME.

A change to the right kind of food can lift one from a sick bed. A lady in Welden, Ill., says:

"Last spring I became bed-fast with severe stomach trouble accompanied by sick headache. I got worse and worse until I became so low I could scarcely retain any food at all, although I tried about every kind.

"I had become completely discouraged, and given up all hope and thought I was doomed to starve to death, until one day my husband, trying to find something I could retain, brought some Grape Nuts.

"To my surprise the food agreed with me, digested perfectly and without distress. I began to gain strength at once. My flesh (which had been flabby) grew firmer, my health improved in every way and every day, and in a very few weeks I gained 20 pounds in weight.

"I liked Grape-Nuts so well that for four months I ate no other food, and always felt as well satisfied after eating as if I had sat down to a fine banquet.

"I had no return of the miserable sick stomach nor of the headaches, that I used to have when I ate other food. I am now a well woman, doing all my own work again, and feel that life is worth living.

"Grape-Nuts food has been a Godsend to my family; it surely saved my life; and my two little boys have thriven on it wonderfully." Name given by Canadian Postume Co., Windsor, Ontario.

Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. There's a reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

LONDON, WEDNESDAY, JULY 12.

NEW ONTARIO'S CALAMITY.

Another lesson of the hot weather, tragic and disturbing, is conveyed by the havoc of the forest fires in Northern Ontario. Many lives are lost and the labor of men licked flat by the tides of flame. Carelessness of some sort must be the initial cause, and the prolonged drought and heat have helped on the disaster.

Not only is forest wealth untold destroyed, but a string of promising towns and villages have been almost erased from the map. It is a hard blow to the pioneers. The promising town of Cochrane is almost clean burnt, and its 2,500 inhabitants are homeless. It is a severe setback; although, of course, the agricultural resources of the region will soon repair the loss on the whole, though many individuals will be irreparably ruined. The horrors of the last few days can be only dimly imagined at this distance: corduroy roads destroyed, trails obliterated, the fire-swept territory is a maze from which it must be difficult to make one's way with life, let alone with effects, even though the pursuing fire permitted. Luckily it is not the winter season of that northern country when forest fires occur.

The consequences of such a calamity are far reaching. Year after year these fires send up the price of lumber, making the cost of every home more forbidding. It is a matter of national and worldwide concern to check or put a stop to these annual occurrences. The precise cause of this or any other bush fire may never be known, but in a general way the means of prevention are well understood. Canada may learn a good deal from the sad experience of the United States and from their methods of fire-fighting and prevention. If it will cost more than at present to stop the fires, then it will be money well spent, and the Provincial Government ought to do it, in the interest not only of our brave pioneers in Northern Ontario, but of the whole Canadian people.

TAKING STOCK IN THE EMPIRE.

There is no end to the compliments heaped upon Sir Wilfrid Laurier by eminent men in Great Britain. Especially his plan of a resources commission is meeting with approval, and with that sincerest of praises, universal consideration and discussion. It is a very simple plan, but to Laurier seems to belong the whole merit of its origination. Sir Joseph Ward and Mr. Asquith were the first to recognize fully its value, and now politicians and economists are searching out its vast range of possibilities. The amusing thing is that while this scheme of imperial co-operation is receiving so general attention in the old country, two or three partisan journals in this Province go on ignoring the facts, snarling with ludicrous misapprehension at the man who led the conference on fruitful lines, and grinding out their wheezy, anti-Laurier tune, already stale before the conference took place. The new tune which these journals ought to procure is the enthusiastic discussion of what Laurier's great measure means and entails. They are studying it in Great Britain.

Mr. Chiozza Money, M. P., a celebrated economist and political writer, is one of the first to seize the larger import of the resources commission. It will be remembered that this commission, in which Great Britain and the dominions will co-operate, is to investigate and report on the natural resources of the empire.

"the development attained and attainable, and the facilities for production, manufacture, and distribution, the trade of each part with the others, and with the outside world, the food and raw material requirements of each and the sources thereof available."

"This is an admirable resolution," says Mr. Money, "and it is not surprising that it met with general approval." Did the Canadian anti-Laurier press join in the "general approval"? But Mr. Money does not notice them.

What Mr. Money himself sees as the greatest possibility of the scheme is to make the commission a permanent board of conservation and development. "The British Empire might then be made of immense value to each of its citizens and to the world at large." More and more the prosperity and progress of one part of the world is of importance to men in every other part, and the folly of men which causes a shortage in grain or timber or rubber harms not only themselves or their grandchildren, but causes hundreds of thousands elsewhere to mourn.

On the cotton business, so vital to millions in England, Mr. Money says:

"It is certainly not too much to say that if, when existing Lancashire operatives were little children, the British Empire, taking stock of its resources, and looking forward to a certain enormous increase in the use of cotton, had generously experimented in cotton growing, Lancashire, and, indeed, the world today would be free of care with regard to cotton supplies. We have reached 1911, and we know that the possible demand for cotton goods must yet increase enormously, but we are so little concerned that with a niggardly hand we spend a thousand where we ought to spend twenty or a hundred thousand. The cotton trade of the world is well in view of more serious troubles yet, but I observe little sign of realization of the fact."

A Resources and Conservation Commission is the very thing, then, to prevent trouble so far as may be. It will organize the human forces of the empire in a winning struggle against the forces of nature, which are ever seeking to overwhelm our civilization, but which may be subdued to man's uses. As Mr. Money says:

"Already, indeed, science has furnished man with the means to abolish material poverty as soon as man cares to use those means adequately. But science will go much further in its endowment of work, and the hope for man is, therefore, almost illimitable. It is a question of sooner or later, and the men of today should strive to make it sooner rather than later. Steps such as are possible as an interpretation of the Laurier resolution, for example, might hasten the abolition of material poverty by a generation."

THE EFFECT ON FARM PRICES.

Senator Burton, of Ohio, makes a very reasonable forecast of the effect of the reciprocity agreement on wheat prices in the United States. Arguing from the fact that the production in Canada in 1910 was 150,000,000 bushels and in the United States about five times that amount, and considering that the average present American price of wheat is about 12 cents higher than the Canadian, he says that the removal of the barriers between the two countries must mean a like scale of prices in the two countries, and estimates that the fall of the American price will be to the rise of the Canadian price in inverse proportion to the production of the two countries. That is, American prices will go down one-sixth of the present difference, or 2 cents, while Canadian prices will go up five-sixths, i. e., 10 cents.

Senator Burton admits that production will be increased in Canada by the agreement, but thinks it will be several years before the proportion of Canadian and American production will be so changed as to cause a material decline in the North American price. And that increased production will itself be offset by the increasing demand for wheat in Europe and Asia.

"What, then, is true of the outlook for the American farmer"? added Senator Burton. "That the demand for wheat and other grains is increasing so much more rapidly than the supply that his prices are sure to rise. There is no more favorable prospect in any occupation than in that of the farmer. The movement from the country to the city is manifest all over the civilized world. In Germany recent figures show there has been an increase of from 3 per cent. to 20 per cent. living in cities of over 100,000 population in the last 50 years. France, England and Russia show the same tendency."

According to this forecast neither American nor Canadian farmer is likely to suffer, and the effect of the agreement will simply be to place the Canadian farmer on a level with the American in home markets.

The new chapter in European diplomacy will be bound in Morocco.

If an election is imminent, at least no one can complain that there is not an issue.

Laurier's luck still pursues him. After fifteen years of office, his opponents intend to make him a present of another term.

Laurier has had to fight more than once the unholy alliance of the Quebec Nationalists and Ontario jingoes, and he will beat them again.

A supporter of Mr. Borden boasts that he is boss at Ottawa. A system that justifies such a boast must be altered in the next Parliament.

Sir Wilfrid has returned from the East and Mr. Borden from the West. Is it necessary to ask which had the pleasanter and more triumphal time?

The Regina Leader reminds us that Mr. Borden is the first Conservative leader to oppose reciprocity with the United States.

Twenty-five thousand Nebraskans have come to Canada in the past ten years. It is not surprising that representatives of Nebraska in Congress are fighting a measure which will increase the attractions of the Canadian west.

Mr. Crothers, M. P., has been welcomed home by his fellow-Conservatives of St. Thomas. It would be idle to deny that Mr. Crothers has some claim to distinction. A public man who says that Canada would be deluged with American farm products under reciprocity, is out of the ordinary.

The London Advertiser scolds this journal because it presumed to criticise Sir Wilfrid Laurier's rejection of the British Government's proposal that the dominion governments be consulted in the negotiation of foreign treaties. Why doesn't The Advertiser scold the Montreal Witness and Winnipeg Free Press, good Liberal newspapers, which took the same position that the Herald did?—Hamilton Herald.

The Witness and the Free Press were probably misled by the early cable dispatches, but the Herald repeated the charge after the official reports of the conference had reached this country, showing that Laurier had not rejected the British Government's proposal. Will the Free Press or the Witness repeat the charge?

THE REAL JOKE.

[Philadelphia Record.]

So the President is a Delilah, is he? Mr. Bergeron need not apologize; the President will not get angry, and the rest of us will laugh. And yet it does not begin to be so funny as the fact that a lot of Canadians and Americans are opposing reciprocity because it is to the advantage of the other fellows.

POOR RECOMMENDATION.

[Youth's Companion.]

A young Scotchman living in London married a beautiful and talented English woman, of whom he was justly proud. Not long after his marriage he went to Scotland on a flying trip to see an old bachelor uncle.

"Weel, Tammas, ye have gotten a wife," said the old gentleman, "now, what can she do, lad?"

"Do!" echoed Tammas.

"Yes, do," echoed the old uncle, firmly. "Can she sew on your buttons an' mak your porritch an' your scones?"

"Oh, no; she does not know how to do those things," said Tammas. "But she has the loveliest voice that ever you heard. She's a grand singer."

"Hoot, mon!" cried his uncle, indignantly. "Could you nae get a canary in Lunnon?"

NOT UPWARD BOUND.

[Life.]

The fog was dense and the boat had stopped when the old lady asked the captain why he didn't go on.

"Can't see up the river, madam."

"But, captain," she persisted, "I can see the stars overhead."

"Yes, ma'am," said the captain, 'but until the boilers bust we ain't goin' that way."

A FALSE ALARM

[Farmer's Advocate.]

In connection with the reciprocity proposals, it is unwarrantable to assert, as some of the anti-reciprocist press have undertaken to do, that the Canadian farmer would be ruined or disastrously affected by free competition in his home market (through the operation of the favored-nations treaty) from the farmers of Japan, Colombia, Sweden, France, Venezuela, Russia, Switzerland, Bolivia, Austria-Hungary, Denmark, Argentina, Spain and the United States. The fact is that he already competes with the farmers of those countries in the free market of Great Britain, where his wheat, cattle, cheese, pork, apples and other products abundantly hold their own and command sale for whatever quantities may be forthcoming. If we can compete in Britain, reached by a long railway journey, surely we can compete in Canada, where transportation gives us a natural protection. The truth is, Canadian agriculture has little to lose by the opening of her markets to all the agricultural countries in the world, but considerable to gain by the opening of the American market to dairy products, live stock, barley, fruit and other articles.

Mr. Borden's Varied Political Career

(From the Halifax Chronicle.)

EVERYBODY in Nova Scotia knows that Mr. Borden was born and bred in the Liberal faith. In fact, the one thing which the people of Nova Scotia do not know is why he turned his political coat. Even the exact date on which the conversion occurred is not known. All that is known is that he blossomed out over-night into a full-blown Conservative, and accepted the Conservative nomination in the City of Halifax. It is known, however, that he had taken a prominent part in a Liberal demonstration which was accorded to Mr. Blake and Sir Wilfrid Laurier in his native county of Kings. For many years thereafter, he was a stalwart member of the Young Men's Liberal Club, of Halifax, which was a militant champion of the policy of reciprocity. At that time a much large measure of reciprocity was on the tapis than at present. And it is not recorded that Mr. Borden ever raised his voice against it or conjured up any of the nightmares which now obsess him. In fact, so far as the public know, he was a most loyal and faithful supporter of the Liberal party. We must suppose that he had "convictions" then. How he disposed of his "convictions" so as to enable him to line up on the Conservative side we do not pretend to say.

Again, in 1897, Mr. Borden joined with his leader, Sir Charles Tupper, in denouncing the Fielding tariff as an instrument which would accomplish the ruin of Canadian industries. It must be assumed that he had "convictions" on that question too. Yet, today, in the West, we find him hearing eloquent testimony to the "magnificent prosperity" and "unexampled progress" which have resulted from the operation of that same Fielding tariff. So enamored is he of its success that he is fairly pleading with the farmers of the West to drop the idea of getting a larger market for their products and to "let well enough alone."

We pass over the kaleidoscopic changes of the years and come down to the date of the inauguration of the National Transcontinental Railway. Who does not recall the wonderful exhibition of devotion to principles and adherence to "convictions" which he gave on that occasion? One, in fact, could hardly keep track of the number of policies which he evolved in an attempt to discover an "alternative" to the Government's policy. He did not succeed in producing anything which the country would treat, seriously; but one thing he made perfectly plain in his speeches all over the country, and that was that he denounced the contract which the Government had made for the construction of the Transcontinental as most ruinous and disastrous. Today, what do we find? Is Mr. Borden in his peregrinations through the West, denouncing the building of the National Transcontinental and telling the people of that great country that they are oppressed with a burden from which they can never escape, by reason of its construction? By no means. Mr. Borden is not saying a word about the National Transcontinental, and in that he is showing his wisdom. The policy of the Government on this question has been completely vindicated. Most people in Canada today recognize that the Government was right, and Mr. Borden, by his silence on that question, is bearing testimony—the best testimony that could be adduced—to the wisdom of the Government's policy.

Let us turn next to the establishment of the Canadian navy. When the question of a Canadian contribution to Imperial naval defence was raised in the House of Commons in March, 1909, Mr. Borden made a speech in which he strongly indorsed the building of a Canadian navy as the best and wisest policy, both in the interests of Canada and in the interests of the mother country. He joined with the prime minister in framing the resolution which was unanimously indorsed by the House of Commons. He went over to London, and at a great banquet on Dominion Day, 1909, strongly and eloquently upheld the position which Canada had taken. He returned to Canada, and in the City of Halifax, in the most explicit and direct way, advocated the Canadian navy policy. He went up to Ottawa and reaffirmed his stand there, as he did subsequently in Toronto.

A few months later, he changed front suddenly and violently and came out flat-footed against the Canadian navy, which he had indorsed so strongly and so repeatedly, and favored sending a contribution of twenty-five million dollars of Canadian money, to be spent by the admiralty in England. Mr. Borden has never yet ventured to tell us what he did with his "convictions" on that question.

And so, when Mr. Borden tells the grain-growers of the West that he would not sacrifice his "convictions" if they promised to make him prime minister of Canada, most people may be pardoned if they are a little sceptical. We are not going to say that Mr. Borden does not mean to be sincere. He probably thinks that he is sincere. But he is terribly anxious to become premier, and, perhaps more than any other leader which either political party has had, he is a creature of circumstances. He changed his front on the navy question at the dictation of the Manitoba bosses and, if the Hon. Robert Rogers, who is now director-general of the strategy bureau, should find it expedient to come out in favor of a larger measure of reciprocity than the Government has obtained, Mr. Borden might come to the conclusion that "convictions" were of no more importance than they were in the case of the Canadian navy.

But whether this contingency arises or not, it can be said, in all fairness, and in no discourtesy, that in the facility with which he can change his opinions at the drop of the hat, Mr. Borden stands quite alone in Canadian politics. We should be sorry to see the grain-growers of the West take him at his word.

THE TURKISH TROUBLE PUZZLES ALL EUROPE

Twenty Years of Peace Needed to Bring Success, Says Observer.

Constantinople, July 11.—Turkey today is the puzzle of Europe. Albania is in revolt, yet the sultan has been acclaimed by Albanians. The leaders of opinion are mostly free thinkers, yet they are urging the enforcement of Mohammedan rites and ceremonies. The government has protested against an alleged desecration of a mosque in Palestine, while every day they are destroying and desecrating churches in Albania. They talk of freedom of opportunity, but the anti-foreign feeling is stronger than ever, and even progressive Turks find the administration so oppressive that they describe it as "Abdul Hamid multiplied by a thousand." Yet in spite of all this, there is no feeling of hopelessness.

Sir William Ramsay, a Scotch traveler who knows the country well, declares his conviction that it will take "twenty years of peace" for the Young Turks to succeed, "and as yet they have rarely had a month of real peace."

Personal ambition is hampering them more than disagreement on policy. The heads of the sections of the union and progress organization, in Constantinople, Salonika and Monastir, have axes to grind, and it takes pacificators like Enver Bey all their time to adjust the machine and prevent stoppages of upheavals.

Graft Prevalent.

Graft is said to be as prevalent all over the country as ever. It is certainly a fact that native Christians, called up for three years' compulsory military service, can fix things with their superiors so as to get off with three months' full service and then a few hours every day, provided "the men above" get $250 to divide among themselves.

As to the anti-foreign feeling, the American mission doctors are finding it very troublesome wherever they try to operate in a new district, for boycott and open hostility pursue them till they have demonstrated their utility in cases of sickness and accidents. And even then the rancor dies hard. Insults, too, are thrown at the passing foreigner more frequently, but that is explainable by the greater freedom of speech that is now allowed.

Germans in Turkey look for great results from the month's tour that 50 influential Turkish politicians, naval and military officers, officials and professions, men are just concluding in Germany. Field Marshal von der Goltz is their guide and counselor and the kaiser himself is host and commercial drummer. Up to now the Germans say they have been hampered in the near east by the predominance of the French language. That they hope to alter.

Jews Want Peace.

The Jews complain that they are being misrepresented by the enemies of Zionism. They declare their Palestine movement is spiritual and they have no dreams of sovereignity. All they aim at is peace and liberty in the cradle of their race, and they point to the fact that the communications they have set up in Palestine are open to Mohammedans and Christians as freely as to Hebrews.

Renewed incidents on the Greek frontier are a disturbing element, but no one now anticipates an early resort to arms in that direction. The German advisers of the army declare it is being gradually improved and the commanders in Albania and Arabia are eminently situated for their work.

Taken all around, the situation is full of internal dangers, but the Young Turks will weather them if personal ambitions can be made subservient to the common cause.

PECULIAR JOB OF FORMER LONDONER

Mr J. W. Scollick Is Official "Boneman" at Washington, D.C.

J. W. Scollick, a former Londoner, and now of the United States National Museum at Washington, is a craftsman who is practically in a trade by himself. He is the official "boneman" of the American Government, which is to say, he is the expert in charge of the work of cleaning, articulating and mounting skeletons at the museum. His is a trade which requires an infinite patience and a great technical skill.

Mr. Scollick has been employed in this department of the National Museum for a number of years. He is a son of Mr. Jonathan Scollick, of Oak street, this city, and a brother of Mr. George H. Scollick, of Grey street.

The part of the museum building in which the skeletons are placed on exhibition is known to visitors and others as "the boneyard." Mr. Scollick prepares his work in a small building back of the Smithsonian Institution. In this atelier, dorkshop, or studio, he prepares for exhibition specimens ranging in size and variety from a herring to a full-grown elephant.

The process of cleaning and articulating skeletons is tedious and requires unlimited carefulness. All the larger specimens have to be fastened in place by wires, springs and metal braces, which are quite invisible to the ordinary student or sightseer but which have, nevertheless, required often days and weeks of patient drilling and articulating. Smaller specimens, such as lizards, small fish, bats and snakes, are held in place by their own cartilage and so require less work.

After the raw bones are scraped clean of flesh they are carefully washed with gasoline, which removes all traces of grease. Acids are only used in rare cases to remove stains. The bones are then carefully dried and bleached. This cannot be done in a hot sun because the latter would crack the bones, as it will seasoning wood. From the bone-artist's viewpoint, the best bleaching weather is a grey, drizzling day, when the sun is not likely to get in its dangerous work. Black streaks, which sometimes appear in the bones, are remedied with dilute ammonia.

Bone articulation and skeleton mounting is a craft about which the public knows very little. When an expert in this line commences on a new specimen he has no idea how long it will require.

Many of the specimens are mounted against glass to keep them properly assembled for display. Bat skeletons, with their long, delicate wings, are mounted in this way.

HE HOLDS BRIDE'S TRUNK

Imported Sweetheart Falls in Love With Another Man.

Los Angeles, Cal., July 12.—Mr. and Mrs. Francis Carpenter, of Hollywood, successfully prosecuted a claim and delivery action before Justice Reeve and A. F. Eads was forced to give up Mrs. Carpenter's trunk, which he had detained.

The hearing brought out the fact that Eads and the woman had known each other slightly in Kansas City and that they kept up a correspondence after he moved to Los Angeles, which resulted in an engagement of marriage.

The girl had been in unfortunate circumstances financially, and Eads sent her money for a ticket to come to this city, where the wedding was to take place at once. She arrived and her trunk, stuffed with feminine gear, was sent to the house in which Eads was living.

The girl said that something strange in Eads' conduct made her repent of her bargain, so she went immediately to friends in Hollywood. After a while she met Carpenter and here is where Cupid seems to have worked well at close range. Carpenter wooed and won. But his wife was short on clothes, because Eads still kept the trunk.

Justice Reeve gave the bride her finery and Eads, out the price of her ticket, has the experience.

MASTER KEY MISSING

And It Opens Every Member's Room in United States House.

Washington, July 11.—The master key that unlocks the 1,000 doors of the members' rooms in the House office building, has been stolen and the building is practically under martial law.

The theft was discovered yesterday, and last evening Stokes Jackson, the sergeant-at-arms of the House, sent out a letter of warning to all members and instructed police officers on duty in the strusture to redouble their vigilance. No one will be permitted to enter the building after six o'clock in the evening until the key is found or the locks on the doors have been changed, without a written order from a member of Congress.

All sorts of rumors were current around the House office building concerning the theft of the master key. Some members insisted with seriousness that in all probability the key had been stolen by someone who wanted a chance to look through the records of one or more of the investigating committees which have been collecting secret evidence upon which hearings are to be based. Other members had other views variously sensational.

Of Interest To Women

After Supper Talks

With Cynthia Grey

THERE IS LACK OF COMPANIONSHIP IN THIS HOME, BUT WHO IS AT FAULT—WIFE OR HUSBAND?

Dear Miss Grey: I am a neat housekeeper, a good cook and do all my own sewing. I am naturally very saving. My husband gives me most of his money, but he never takes me out anywhere. He always goes alone. I have heard of him taking other women to shows. When he is at home he spends his time reading cheap novels. He tells me he loves me, but he never buys me anything, not even the simplest article. We have been married six years, but he is no companion for me and I am lonely. What do you think of such a man?

MARY.

A.—If your husband gives you most of his money how can he buy you presents? Perhaps he considers that he is doing well by you to give you his earnings—many a man does, and not the worst men in the world either.

I grant that you have many virtues and that your husband is blessed with a thrifty wife. But thrift is not all that is necessary in order to be a good wife. The fact that you have heard that he takes other women to shows indicates that you have been discussing your husband with others—which is a despicable thing to do, so long as you are living with him and he is supporting you.

And I'm afraid you are a complainer, a dissatisfied, discontented woman. Most men would rather live with a woman who is slack in housekeeping affairs than a "splinter-in-the-finger-nail sort of woman." Nagging, which means constant fault-finding, is the cause of more unhappiness in wedded life than anything else, and is very often the real cause for divorce.

If this is true about you, the sooner you quit it the better, for your own happiness. And if you change your tactics, your husband may soon change his. Don't bother him about going out with you. Just go ahead, have a happy time, come home and tell him all about it, and I'll warrant he'll soon be wanting to go with you. Remember that no human being is perfect, and cease looking for perfection in man.

This suit is much favored in Paris shops. It was designed by Chilot Soeurs, and is made of fancy black serge and satin. The fringe trimming along the hem of the skirt is decidedly more fanciful than healthy. The skirt clings about the figure in a very hobbling style and on one side the ankle is allowed to display itself for several inches. Sleeves are close fitting and three-quarter lengths.

A TENDERFOOT'S WOOING

BY CLIVE PHILLIPS WOLLEY, Auther of "Gold, Gold in Cariboo," etc.

[All Rights Reserved.]

Jim glanced quickly through the window and saw that the Indians were already loping back to their lines. Then he put his rifle up against the wall and left the room quietly.

Al noticed him and seemed about to follow him, but thought better of it, and muttingg, "Let 'em settle it themselves. It ain't my funeral," kept his place at the window.

Anstruther's door was wide open, but from where he stood Jim could not see into the room, neither could he hear anyone moving in it, but the prevent accidents he sat down and too coff his boots, and then, with them in his hand, stole quietly along the passage and peeped through betwen the door and the jamb.

Anstruther had gone, but the room could not be said to be empty, for the floor of it was covered with mountains of clothes, such as Jim had never dreamed of, piled pell-mell in a great heap, while, as he said afterward, there were "boots enough for a battalion, and coats like blankets at a potlatch."

As he looked he heard the horses stamping in the kitchen.

"Going, is he? I'm blanked if he shall!" he muttered, and without stopping to think, he ran down into the kitchen.

But the sight which met him there staggered him, so that he stood gasping, with his boots still in his hand.

Anstruther in full hunting costume, pink coat, immaculate leathers, top hat and gloves, turned and faced him. His horse, looking enormous alongside the weedy country-breds, was standing as still as a sheep in the middle of the room, facing the window, from which Anstruther had contrived to take the casbes.

"What in——"

"Going to bed, Jim?" asked Anstruther easily, interrupting him, and looking with a grin at Combe's boots. "Sorry to bother you, but before you turn in you might put those up again for me," and he pointed to the sashes.

"But——"

"Say I'll be back soon. So-long!" and, before Combe had realized what was happening, Anstruther swung cleverly into his saddle and put his horse at the window.

Combe saw Anstruther touch the great horse with his heel, heard his "Up, boy!" as they came to the low window sill, and then the best's great quarters were gathered beneath it and it broke a cat, or, to be more exact, a well-splinbroken Heythrop hunter, Ruddygore rearedand and popped over into space.

The little cramped jump would have done more to unseat Combe than the worst buck, but the man from Picc... sadlily as if he was in a rocking-chair. So quietly had Anstruther made preparations, and the Indians' feint had served him so well, that, with the single exception of Jim Combe, no one had any idea that he meant to start before night, until they saw him from the windows, trotting quietly towards the Indians, who had just returned to their lines, their horses a trifle pumped by the wild gallop they had indulged in.

For a hundred yards he trotted quietly, and then, stopping unconcernedly, as if he had been at a meet in his own country, he turned and uncovered to the ladies, smiling and calling a message to them, the words of which they could not catch.

Considering the probability of a volley, it was very gallant fooling, and worthy of the good sportsman he looked, and at any rate, it was better and more merciful to Kitty than a tearful leave-taking.

Perhaps he meant it so, but Anstruther was never one of those who parade their good intentions.

Replacing his hat and waving his hand to them, he turned in his saddle, and at a quiet trot rode steadily toward the Indian lines, the great horse reaching at his bit and showing plainly how good the turf felt under his feet after so many days on a boarded floor.

"Great heavens! The boy has gone mad!" cried Rolt. "Can no one stop him?"

'Best let him play his own hand now, boss," growled Al, whose eyes were beginning to glitter with excitement and understanding. "He knows his long suit. None of us do. Maybe he's going to play peacemaker."

This may indeed have been the idea which kept the Indians quiet, though that could hardly have been Al's reading of the riddle, or the old man's thin nostrils would not have been working so nervously, and though such an attire as Anstruther's would have been in keeping with th traditions of old tim Hudson Bay factors whn going to solemn meetings, he carried no white flag or other wilifully misleading emblem.

But he rode unarmed. Except for his horn-handled hunting crop he carried nothing, and in this fashion, restraining his horse to the steadiest trot, he advanced with the utmost unconcern to within fifty yards of the wondering Chilcotens, without a shot fired or a word spoken, while his friends watched him with their hearts in their mouths.

At fifty yards from the Indian lines, a dozen voices challenged him, but he rode on as if he had been deaf, without haste as without pause.

Then there was a clank of Winchester pumps, and a rifle went up to a redskin's shoulder. Before the butt ouched flesh, in the last second of grace, Anstruther spoke to his horse and touched him with his spurs, so that the gallant beast, unused to such treatment, sprang madly forward on the instant, while its rider bent over its shoulder and rode it headlong into the volley which belched out to meet him.

"Give 'em hell! Oh, give 'em hell!" screamed old Al at the window, losing all control of himself, his face working with excitement. "Didn't I say the colt was clar grit? He's through 'em, I tell you. Miss Kitty, look! Don't shut your eyes, lassie. Your man's clear through 'em."

And he was.

A beast coming at you is the hardest mark to hit. A man in deadly earnest is even harder, especially when you don't expect him, and calculating upon this, and timing his dash to a moment, the man from Piccadilly had ridden right over the nearest group of Chilcotens, knocking one down with his horse, and breaking old Khelowna's head with his riding crop as he passed, and now he was going "licketty brindle," as old Al would put it, on the far side of the enemies' lines, while they scrambled to their horses instead of stopping to shoot.

So far he had done well, but in a glance his friends realized that his gallant effort had been wasted. Instead of turning to his left and making for the road, in which case he would have had a clear course and two hundred yards start, he was heading for Soda Creek as the crow flies.

"He has forgotten the canyon," groaned Jim Combe.

"He ain't done no such thing," contradicted Al. "That's what he's a-playing for."

Jim looked at the old man and understood.

"He can't do it. No horse could."

"He can. A buck couldn't. A horse couldn't, but he's a-goin' to. Great Scott! See that!"

Perhaps half a dozen Indians followed directly in Anstruther's footsteps like a pack of hounds running in view, but the main body of them, realizing their quarry's mistake, skirted, making for the dip where the road went through, to which they imagined he must eventuall ycome if he would cross the canyon.

For half a mile the going was good, firm, grass-covered cattle land, and over this the red coat sailed, going two lengths fo revery one covered by his pursuers. But beyond this, for several hundred yards, the land was boggy, and when Al suoke, Anstruther slipped out of the saddle and ran by his horse's side, while the Indians, seeing this, made desperate efforts to overtake him, and played their horses clean out.

Once through the little bog, he was in the saddle again, cantering easily, until, to those watching him, he seemed on the very brink of the canyon, with the broken pine close on his right.

Then he shook his horse together, crammed his hat on his head, and when at his death hands down.

To five people still alive, there is one second in their past lives which was more than a day long.

When it was over, a fair-haired girl sank quietly to the ground, and for the first time in her life Mrs. Rolt did not move to help a sister in trouble. She could not. Her great eyes were wide with the hunger of seeing; her little hands clenched and her parted lips white; and when Al, speaking as if he were in a church, whispered: "I take it all back about them duds. There ain't no flies on fox-hunting," the others burst into hysterical laughter which was perilously near tears, for the red coat had cleared the canyon, "jomped it, by gum, jomped it clar!" as the old song says, and was sailing away, a dim pink spot, straight as a crow flies for Soda Creek.

* * * * *

Does the story want finishing? Before Anstruther had ridden for a couple of hours, a large posse of men came over a rise and were startled by the vision of white-faced madman ridding across the Chilcoten country in the uniform of the Vale Hunt; moreover, the madman was mad that he could barely speak intelligibly, and he appeared to be swooning from pain, though on him was no trace of a wound.

They brought him back with them to the ranch, from which at their approach the Chilcotens vanished like the mists of morning, and it was Borsely, the leader of the posse, who, a month later, talking to Jim Combe over a pipe, said:

"Like will to like, Jim. She'd never have made a wife for you, old chap. You'll have to plug along the same as we all do until you find another Mrs. Rolt—if the world holds one."

[The End.]

FOR WOMEN ABOUT WOMEN

Speaking First.

Dear Miss Grey: (1) Will you please tell me whether the boy or the girl should speak first when they meet on the street? (2) How old should a girl be before she goes with the boys or receives any attention from them?

A.—(1) The girl should always show the first signs of recognition. (2) This question cannot be answered in the term of years. A girl should never be without friends. Their ideas are so different that the mingling of both sexes means the expansion of minds. A girl's mother or guardian is the one to decide whether or not she should accept invitations from boys. The development of the girl's intellect and good judgment must be taken into consideration every time.

They Speak Ill of Her.

Dear Miss Grey: I am a young girl of 17 and very much in love with a young man of 19. He is always declaring his love for me, but still believs everything he hears about me. He knows a few young men whom I used to go with, and I never cared for them at all. I just went with them to accommodate a girl friend. They know I never cared for them, and now when they know I have the one whom I really do care for, they are trying to hurt me. They have told him several things about me that I do not care to mention here, but I am innocent of everything they say. I just cannot make him believe I am and it makes me feel very bad. Why do young men try to take a girl's character from her? I wonder if they realize what they are doing? What can I do to make this young man believe that I speak the truth? Should I bring the men together and make them prove what they said, or what can I do to regain the respect of the one I love? Answer soon, my dear Miss Grey, for I am very much troubled.

BLACK EYES.

A.—Do not judge all young men by the few who are trying to injure your reputation. It may be that they are jealous, or they may have spoken hastily. If the one you love had implicit faith and confidence in you, he would take your word against all others. If he refuses to believe you and you really want to win his respect, the only thing you can do is to follow out your own suggestion and bring the accusers and the doubting one together.

Tit for Tat.

Dear Miss Grey: A few days ago I went to a dance with a young man with whom I have been going out for nearly four years. He let me sit out a number of dances alone, while he either danced with a girl or sat somewhere else. He grew very angry when I told him about it and wanted to go home. I consented. Did he show the proper respect for me? He is very quick-tempered and it is hard to understand him.

He asked me to sit out a dance with him, but a young man came up and asked me to dance. Did I do right to accept the dance? He does not think so, and says that is why he treated me in such a manner.

AN EARNEST READER.

While reading the first part of your article I was censuring the young man for his actions, but after digesting your second paragraph I could see that you were partly to blame. It was quite rude of you to refuse your escort's company and then go off to dance with another man. Of course he should not have acted so childishly, but there are some persons who cannot help giving tit for tat. An escort should always let a woman suggest leaving.

To Dye Straw Hat.

Dear Miss Grey: 1. Will "Pearl Drop" harm the skin? 2. How can I dye a light chip-straw hat, black, without taking it to a dye-shop?

BLUE EYES.

1. I know nothing about the preparation.

2. The simplest way is to give the hat two or three coats with liquid shoe polish.

To Clean Straw Hats.

Dear Miss Grey: 1. How do you clean white straw hats? 2. Tell me how to hang window curtains in a parlor. 3. Give me a recipe for peanut sandwiches. 4. Would you please give me a recipe for maple syrup icing?

A READER.

1. Sponge with a solution of one part citric acid to 20 parts water; rinse with clean water and dry in the sun.

2. The newest curtains do not fall much below the windowsill. A popular way is to use a sash curtain of fine muslin. The outer curtain is gathered on to the rod and hangs loosely without being looped back.

3. Remove the brown skins; roll the peanuts fairly fine; mix with salad dressing, and spread between slices of lightly buttered bread.

4. Add the beaten white of one egg to a scant cup of maple syrup, or maple sugar finely grated may be used instead of the syrup.

Dear Miss Grey: Will you kindly publish recipe for rose jar, as I have had the misfortune to lose the one appearing in the paper some time ago?

The Card Question.

Dear Miss Grey: I take much interest in your column, and would ask you to answer a little problem that is at present troubling me. I am planning to spend my vacation with relatives in a city, and would like to know if you think it would be necessary for me to take visiting cards with me. I am a girl of 18 years and my relatives are "grown-ups." HELEN.

I do not think it would be necessary.

Add two heaping tablespoonfuls of fine sugar to the crumbs and a flavoring of lemon or ginger. Put a layer of the mixture in the bottom of a well-buttered pudding dish, then a layer of gooseberries, and so on, letting the top layer be the mixture. Bake in a moderate oven for an hour and serve with a custard sauce.

For Hot Weather.

Dig a hole in the cellar, three feet long, eighteen inches wide and nine inches deep, and with cement and sand make a concrete wall around, for the box and also for the floor. Proportions of cement and sand are as follows: One part cement and five parts of sand, mixed with water. When finished, put a wooden lid over all. Its purpose is to keep milk and butter cool in hot weather. You will find the butter will come out of that place just right for the table; and, of course, other things can be put into it just as well. The lid over it keeps the warm air in the cellar from coming into contact with the articles, and conserves the cold inside of the receptacle.

A FURNACE THAT WILL GIVE YOU AS MUCH HEAT FROM SIX TONS OF COAL, AS YOU EVER GOT FROM SEVEN, IS ONE YOU CANNOT AFFORD TO OVERLOOK.

The "Hecla" will do this: It is built to save coal at every point, but the big coal-saving feature is the Steel Ribbed Fire Pot. By adding Steel Ribs to the Fire Pot the surface which radiates heat is increased three times.

Every Furnace has flanges or projections of some sort on the fire pot to get more radiating surface, because the heating capacity of the fire pot increases as you increase the radiating surface. But the "Hecla" is the only Furnace that has attained the greatest possible radiating surface and the reason is that where other Furnaces have clumsy cast-iron Flanges, the flanges on the "Hecla" are made of steel plate and fused to the fire pot casting by our patent process.

STEEL RIBBED FIRE POT
Constructed to save Fuel

Flanges of steel plate—97 in number—are fused into the Fire Pot casting, increasing the radiating surface three times. This gives the air better access to the source of heat so that the heat is conducted away from the coal as rapidly as it is created and without waste.

"Hecla" Furnace

A test extending over three years, demonstrated that this ribbed fire pot made a saving in coal—13⅓%.

Isn't that worth looking into?

Ask someone who owns a "Hecla."

You will find the "Hecla" the best warm air Furnace you ever saw. You will find that it gives an even distribution of heat—heat that is moist and free from gas or dust.

You will find the "Hecla" a Furnace easy to run. One that does not waste live coals when you shake it down. You will find a Furnace that burns wood or coal equally well.

BAND CONCERT BY INDIANS

Red Men Delight To Render Even Classical Music.

Prince Rupert, B. C., July 11.—Seven Indian bands visited Prince Rupert one day recently. The bands were musical organizations, come to wrestle for the honor of being the best Indian band on the Pacific coast. Instead of coming armed with tomahawks and knives, decked in lurid paint, they came armed with nothing more serious than musical instruments of modern type and decked out in brilliant and well-fitting uniforms.

The inculcation of a love for music among the Indian tribes of the coast was the result of the foresight of the Rev. John Duncan, an Anglican missionary, who for years labored as a pioneer. He labored faithfully, but with little results, for a long time. Then he conceived the idea of organizing a band at Port Simpson, where he saw a woman slave burned on the beach by Indians at a native gathering. He went to England, and in conversation with a manufacturer learned [illegible] did not buy the instruments for you," said the clergyman.

"I'll give them to you if you will take them," said the manufacturer, when he was told the instruments were wanted for Indians in British Columbia. On arrival at Vancouver Mr. Duncan took his instruments to a band instructor and said: "I want you to teach me how to play these."

"All right," said the bandmaster. "When will you be prepared to begin your lessons?"

"Right now," said the missionary, "and I want to be taught how to play all the instruments by tomorrow noon, as I leave for the north then."

For a day and a half Mr. Duncan did his best to master a dozen different kinds of instruments. On his arrival at Port Simpson he distributed the instruments to the Indians and said: "Now, get out into the woods and learn to play."

They went. Within a few weeks from that time they came back, able to play tunes fairly well. Since then the Port Simpson band has journeyed to Vancouver and won honors from the best bands along the coast. Today there are fully a dozen Indian bands north of Vancouver.

[illegible] born lovers of music and fully appreciate the classical. The Skidegate band won the silver cup for playing Labelle's overture, "Bridal Rose," and a first prize for the march, "Fairest of the Fair," by Sousa.

RUSSIA FACES DUKE FAMINE

Romanoffs Worrying Over the Tragic Contingency.

DEVISING A REMEDY.

How Czar Alexander the Second Limited the Number.

St. Petersburg, July 11.—Russia is threatened with the loss of her grand dukes. To plebelan minds this is no tragic contingency, but naturally the Romanoffs looks at it otherwise, and they are busy devising a remedy.

The loss is threatened through the fact that of the very numerous relatives of Nicholas II. very few have the right to bear the title grand duke, which goes with the attribute "Imperial Highness.' Formerly all Romanoffs, however remote from the sovereign, called themselves "grand dukes." Strictly speaking, Russians say "great prince," or "veliki kniaz."

The late Czar Alexander II. radically limited this. He was frightened by the idea that the descendants of his uncles and cousins would be too numerous, and estimated that in 1950 Russia would be blessed with no less than 300 grand dukes and duchesses. This was considered undesirable; there would not be enough money to keep them all grand ducally, and the dashing title, so beloved of inferior novelists, would descend to the rank of an English baronetcy.

Alexander's Scheme.

Alexander was a wise man—as events have proved, too wise. He declared that henceforth only the sons and grandsons in the male line of a czar should bear the title grand duke and be addressed as imperial highness. Great-grandsons and all future generations should be merely "princes of Russia," with the attribute "highness."

But Alexander's scheme worked out much too drastically, and now it is possible that a generation hence there may be no grand dukes at all, and that Russia may lose what—along with the knout, the samover, and caviare—is reckoned one of her most characteristic products. The reason is that by then there may be no grandsons of Alexander III. alive, and that Nicholas II. will probably have no grandsons in the male line. The Czar's brother, Grand Duke Michael Alexandrovitch, cannot have grand ducal sons because he lately ran away with plain Madame Mamontoff, and his children will have no titles at all.

Children Only Princes.

The sons of the Czar's uncles are, of course, grand dukes—of such are Cyril, Boris, Andrei, and their cousin Dmitri. But, according to Alexander III.'s ruling, their children will be only princes. The same applies to the children of the farther-off grand dukes, Constantine, the imperial poet, Peter Nicholalevitch, Grand Duke George and Grand Duke Alexander Michailovitch. With all these the title grand duke dies, and so does the address "imperial highness."

In short, there is only one living Romanoff whose future children will be grand dukes. That is six-year-old Alexis, the Czar's son and heir. But as Alexis will not marry for another fifteen years or so, and as the existing grand dukes are mostly well on in years, it may easily happen that Russia will be without a grand duke. And if Alexis has only one son, there will likewise be no grand dukes during his whole reign. What is worse, if he has no son, the heir to the throne will be the son of Grand Duke Cyril, who will be a mere "highness" and "prince." This, according to Romanoff tradition, would be an unheard-of calamity.

Naturally the prospect worries the Czar. He feels sore at his father's uncalled-for cleverness, all the more so because the rival Austrian imperial house knows no such limitation. Among the Hapsburgs, including the Tuscan and Modena branches, there are no less than 177 living archdukes and archduchesses, and in 1950, if they multiply at their present rate there will probably be five hundred.

Ambitious Alexander.

Probably Nicholas II. would have left this tough problem alone had it not been for his cousin and brother-in-law, Grand Duke Alexander Michailovitch who is determined that his numerous offspring shall be elevated to grand-dukedom. He is the remotest of all the Romanoffs from the throne, being the fifth son of Grand Duke Michail, who was himself only a third son of Nicholas I.

But Alexander Michailovitch is the brains of the Romanoff family; and, when seventeen years ago, he married the Czar's sister, Zenia, he swore that he would be the richest and most powerful of all Romanoffs. Alexander Michailovitch is the most interesting personality in Russia. His craze is thrift. He lives with his wife Zenia in a dingy palace on the Moika canal, hoards money for the six hungry children, and when he entertains the foreign ambassadors diets them on pressed caviare because it costs half the price of fresh.

The virtue of thrift is exacted from everyone who stands near Nicholas II. Nicholas is, himself, a thrifty man. His other sister, Olga, is a thrifty woman, and Grand Duke Alexander Michailovitch is keener still.

Alexander's whole career has been a bid for wealth and glory. Before the war with Japan he was chief councilior of Nicholas II. He ran the fleet and the volunteer fleet, and in order to fill his pockets went into those dubious Corean and Manchurian concessions which ultimately led to war. Russians declare that he has a large share in the Paris Magasins du Louvre department store, and it is certain that he lately made successful attempts at land speculation.

Nicholas Obdurate.

Alexander rightly argues that his offspring best of all will be able to maintain the glorious title. Both he, therefore, and his wife years ago began to worry Nicholas II. on the point. Nicholas was obdurate. He pointed out that of Alexander's six children five were sons, and that making grand dukes at that break-neck speed was fatal to the dignity of the profession. Alexander sulked, went home, heaped more riches, and cut down the housekeeping expenses. Later he appealed for help to Grand Duke Nicholas Nichoelaievitch, who is big, brutal, illeducated, coarse and stupid. Nicholas Nicholaievitch refused to help Alexander, and explained that, being childless, he was not interested in the quarrel. Grand Duke Alexander then set his wife Zenia to work again.

Under pressure from his favorite sister, Nicholas II. gave way. He declared that he did not care, and that the grand dukes might settle the matter among themselves, and merely present their conclusions for his approval. A meeting was held a month ago at the marble palace. Grand Duke Nicholas took the chair. The Grand Dukes Alexander, Peter, George and Constantine, all of whom are interested, took part. Constantine argued in favor of leaving things as they are, and said he didn't care whether his children grew up grand dukes or not. The council finally adopted by a majority the suggestion that henceforth the eldest son of every grand duke, however, remote from the czar, should inherit the title grand duke, leaving the younger sons, as at present, merely "princes" with the title of "highness." But, after many fierce disputations between the grand ducal councillors, the suggestion had to be abandoned before presentation to the czar.

The reason was that Grand Duke Alexander persisted that all his five sons, every one of them, should be grand dukes, and that his one daughter should be a grand duchess. And there the controversy remains.

WALTHAM WATCH

BOSTON'S POLICE TO SWAT FLIES

1,500 Members Ordered to Join in Crusade Against the Pest.

Boston, Mass., July 11.—Boston citizens are warned today that if they see one of the city's "finest" waving his arms in the air and making a wild swing at space they should not yell for an alienist. The policeman is not crazy with heat; he is just following out the orders issued by the health department to help kill all the flies in our fair city.

Every membere of the department is now a "fly cop," and there are almost 1,500 of them.

The Woman's Municipal League of Boston has made the request for assistance in killing off the pests. The league has issued circulars, one of which has been placed in every police station in the city.

The circulars give a number of reasons for the destruction of the flies. One is that "one fly in one summer can produce normally 195,312,500,000,000,000 descendants." Somebody had a fine job computing the offspring from that one aforesaid fly.

As some flies are larger than others, and horseflies are common, a policeman would only be following out the mandates of his superiors if he used his club in killing them off.

The fly is to be killed, no matter where he is. It is possible that a fly may light on a man's head. The officer in swatting, of course, only will try to end that fly's existence, saving the head of the man so far as is consistent with his duty.

The policemen were somewhat taken back when the orders were first issued, and some were unwilling to believe that they were engaged in any such work. The vast amount of good they could accomplish was made plain to them, and they have entered into the spirit of it with destructive zest.

ECZEMA AND WHAT IS DONE TO CURE IT

Desperate Efforts, Disheartening Failures and Final Success.

Eczema is a skin affliction to which men and women alike are subject, from the first to the last day of their existence. It may occur as a single tiny spot, appearing and disappearing with each change in general health or present only at certain seasons; at the other extreme, the whole body may be involved in a torturing eruption. The latter condition may gradually arise through the neglect or improper treatment of lesser troubles or an apparently healthy skin may, in a single day, become a mass of eczema.

But whatever the form of the affection, the distressing itching, burning, scaling and crusting, the serious disfigurement and the constant dread that the eczema will become chronic, make a speedy cure the aim of every sufferer. Unfortunately, such a cure is not always readily obtained. The most skilled physician is often at a loss and even hospitals are forced to discharge the patient as incurable. Then a wide variety of remedies are resorted to, many perfectly harmless and equally ineffective, others so offensive to every sense that, were it not for the relief they are supposed to afford, no person of refinement would tolerate them for an instant.

To such sufferers, discouraged by repeated failures of even these heroic methods, the instant relief afforded by the first bath with Cuticura Soap and gentle application of Cuticura Ointment is almost incredible. They stop the itching and burning at once, make sleep possible and, in most cases, point to a speedy cure. So pure and sweet are Cuticura Soap and Ointment and so free from every substance of a disagreeable or harmful nature that they can be used without hesitation on the youngest infant or tenderest skin. Besides, they are most economical, a single set being often sufficient for the treatment of even the severest cases.

In proof of the efficacy of the Cuticura Remedies it will be enough to quote here a single letter, from Mrs. Edward Nenning, 11 Lansing Block, Watertown, N.Y.: "Four years ago I suffered with a terrible eczema, being a mass of sores from head to feet and for six months confined to my bed. During that time I suffered continual torture from itching and burning. After being given up by my doctor, I was advised to try Cuticura. After the first bath with Cuticura Soap and application of Cuticura Ointment I enjoyed the first good sleep during my entire illness. I also used Cuticura Resolvent and the treatment was continued for three weeks. At the end of that time I was entirely cured and have felt no ill effects since. I would advise any person suffering from any form of skin trouble to try the Cuticura Remedies, as I know what they did for me."

Cuticura Soap, Ointment, Resolvent and Pills are sold by druggists everywhere. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., sole props., Boston, Mass. Mailed free, on request, latest 32-page Cuticura Book, a guide to the speedy and economical treatment of skin and scalp affections, from infancy to age.

LONDON MAY LAND NIAGARA TROPHY

Competition Had Narrowed to Eight Rinks Last Evening.

THREE ARE FROM LONDON

..., Heaman and Alexander Make Splendid Showing — The Scores.

Niagara-on-the-Lake, July 11.—Despite a cessation of play for two hours this afternoon, owing to a heavy rainfall, satisfactory progress was made in the different competitions which are on the programme of the annual tournament of the Ontario Lawn Bowling Association.

The trophy, the main competition, is now down to the eights. Three of the surviving rinks are from London, and the western city's chances of capturing the chief honors are bright. Tomorrow's draw is as follows: S. D. Swift (London Thistles) vs. H. Muntz (Toronto Victorias); W. Murray (Parkdale) vs. A. M. Heaman (London); J. S. Willison (Canadas) vs. T. Rennie (Granites); Dr. Alexander (London) vs. W. E. Orr (Balmy Beach).

There were several close and exciting trophy games. Seagram, of Waterloo, defeated Maguire, Weston, by 10 to 7 in the second round. They were tied on the last end, and with Weston lying three shots, a Waterloo player trailed the kitty to the ditch, and Maguire had no possible chance thereafter of averting defeat. Seagram, however, failed to come through the succeeding round, Harold Muntz, of the Toronto Victorias, giving him his quietus by 14 to 6. One of the best games of the day was furnished in the meeting of J. S. Willison, of Canadas, and M. H. Van Valkenberg, Balmy Beach. It was a see-saw affair, but Willison, who was behind one shot on the twelfth end, went to the front, and eventually won a splendid victory by 18 to 12. No prettier play has been seen in the tournament than that of Skip Willison. On two occasions eh drew the shot right to the kitty.

Many games were played in the Association, and the first round of the Consolation was finished.

LIMIT FINE GIVEN TO SHERWOOD MAGEE

New York, July 11.—Besides indefinitely suspending Player Magee for his assault on Umpire Finneran, President Lynch, of the National League, has imposed a fine of $200 upon Magee. This was announced at National League headquarters tonight following the return of President Lynch from Philadelphia, where he went to investigate the affair. The fine is the limit allowed by the National League regulations.

BISONS SPLIT EVEN WITH LEAGUE CHAMPS

Rochester Shuts Out Buffalo Crew in First Game of Double Bill.

NEWARK HAS EASY ONE

Umpires Mobbed at Jersey City When Baltimore Wins Out by 3 to 2.

Rochester, July 12.—Rochester and Buffalo split even this afternoon. McConnell won his seventeenth game of the season in the opener by a score of 7 to 0. Manser's poor fielding put him in Dutch in each of the innings in which Buffalo scored seven runs in their sixth on four errors, two passes and two hits. Scores:

First game—
Buffalo ....0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0—0

Batteries McConnell and Mitchell; Malarkey and Kieffer. Umpires Bryon and Murray.

Buffalo ....0 0 1 0 2 7 0 0 0—10

Batteries—Manser, Milhelm and Jachlitsch, Brennan and McAllister.

AONTHER FOR NEWARK

Poor Fielding by Grays Gives Game to the Indians.

Newark, July 11.—Poor fielding by the Grays gave the Indians another victory, the only thing that held the spectators being the fact that the game was close. Score:—

Newark ....1 0 0 1 2 0 2 0 x—6
Providence .....0 1 1 0 0 0 2 0 1—5

Batteries—Boice, Holmes, Lee and McCarty, Lavender, Sline and Peterson.

MOBBED THE UMPIRES

Jersey City Rooters Object Strenuously to Banishment of Three Men.

Jersey City, July 11.—Baltimore nosed Jersey City out in a spirited exhibition today, winning by a score of 3 to 2. In the third inning during an argument Jack Doyle banished Manager Jack Ryan and Right Fielder Wheeler and Catcher Tonneman from the grounds, and this angered the fans, resulting in the mobbing of the indicator men at the close of the contest. Umpire Doyle was hit in the face by a bottle thrown by a rooter, and Killen was punched in the neck. The police prevented further trouble by clearing the grounds. Score:

Jersey City......0 0 0 0 1 0 0 1 0—2

Batteries — Adkins and Egan; Doescher and Butler. Umpires—Doyle and Killen.

ORIENTS TAKE GAME ON SOGGY DIAMOND

Whites Beaten in Commercial League Match Last Night, 6 to 2.

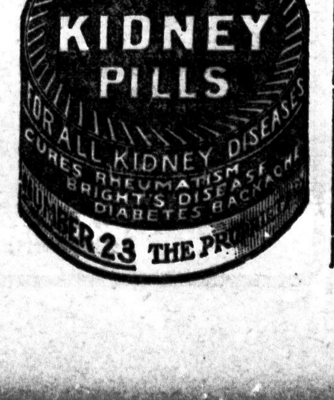

The Orients defeated Whites in the Commercial League last night by 6 to 2. Both pitchers did good work, but the wet grounds made playing a little off. The feature work was Wright's accepting eleven chances without a slip and not allowing a stolen base.

BROOKLYN LOSES TO CUBS BY 6 TO 2

Chicago Champions Take First Game of Series.

Brooklyn, July 11.—Chicago took the first game of the series here today 6 to 2 in a battle that was evenly fought up to the fifth inning, when the Brooklyn defence broke up. Two errors and two hits let in three runs, and the league leaders added two more in the ninth on a triple by P. Zimmerman and a home run by Doyle. Score

GUELPH CREW LOSES EIGHT GAMES IN A ROW

Local Battery Was Used by Maple Leafs Yesterday—New Men Reporting.

Guelph, July 11. — Guelph lost its eighth straight game this afternoon, when Berlin defeated them by a score of 9 to 7 in an exciting game. Kostal and Hamill, a local battery, worked for the Leafs, and did fairly well, while Tracey, for Berlin, was hammered pretty freely by the Leafs, who also made several costly errors. Carr, of Utica, N. Y., played his first game today, and Smith, of Philadelphia, a catcher and outfielder, reported this evening. The score:

THE TIGERS LAND ON COOMBS AND PLANK

Overcome Six Run Lead and Canter Off With Opener of the Series.

HARD DAY ON TWIRLERS

Summers Knocked From Slab, But Covington Stars as Relief Performer.

Detroit, July 12.—By overcoming a six-run lead, knocking Jack Coombs from the box and handling Eddie Plank in a manner every way as bad, the Tigers yesterday afternoon handed Connie Mack's world-champion Athletics as crushing a defeat as they have received this year. The score, 14 to 8, makes it look as though the contest was one of those ordinary slugging matches which have been so common in the big leagues this year, but the battle which took place at Bennett Park yesterday was anything but that. It was one which has not been equalled this year. It was a battle in which the determination and fighting ability which the Tigers possess, as no other club in the league, was brought to its greatest test, and which was not only a battle between the eighteen men on the diamond, but between the wits of the two craftiest managers in baseball, Hughie Jennings and Connie Mack. Cleveland, July 11.—Falkenberg held Washington to five scattered hits, and the Naps took the first game. But for an error of Turner's, the Naps would have scored a shut-out. Pitcher Hughes, of Washington, was hit on the pitching arm in the sixth inning by a vicious drive from Stovall's bat and had to quit. The exact extent of the injury is not known, but he will probably be out of the game for some time. Score:

WHITE SOX BREAK EVEN WITH BOSTON

Each Color Hose Gets One Game of Double-Header.

Chicago, July 11.—The White Sox and Speed Boys broke even in a double-header today. The Sox won the first by a score of 4 to 0, while the Speed Boys grabbed the second 6 to 4. Doc White and Joe Wood had a real pitchers' battle in the first. They went right up to the eighth inning without allowing a run. Then the Sox got to Wood for a couple of hits, after errors filled the bases, and scored four runs. The second game promised to be the same kind of a fight between Baker, another southpaw, and Pape, the Boston youngster. Pape went through with his part, and held the Sox to six hits, but Baker weakened in the sixth, and was easy thereafter, Speaker clouting a home run in the eighth. Score:

MANY HORSES FOR 13-DAY MEETING

Chicago, July 11.—That there will be an abundance of horses on hand for the big 13-day meet that is proposed for the Hawthorne race track, beginning July 15, as evidenced by the fact that applications have been received for stalls for 48 of the racers now at Latonia today. Among those who have expressed a determination to enter horses in the "rehabilitation meet" as this one is called, are Sam Hildreth and Carman.

HOG WORTH $10,000.

Ten thousand dollars was the value placed on a hog by a jury in the superior court at Atlanta, Ga., recently, in the case of J. D. Debow, of Nashville, Tenn., against the Vicksburg, Shreveport and Pacific Railroad. The hog was "Premier Longfellow's rival," a pedigreed porker, killed in a railroad accident and on which Mr. Debow had set a valuation of $20,000. The animal was nine feet long, three feet high, and weighed more than 1,000 pounds.

ENGLISH WIN MEET BY SINGLE POINT

Great Demonstration When the Decisive Event Is Run Off.

TEAMS WELL MATCHED

American Had Walkover in Innings, But Couldn't Get the Runs.

London, July 11.—The Queen's Club was the scene today of the most exciting contest in its long history, when Oxford and Cambridge defeated Harvard and Yale in the fifth meeting of the oldest universities of the two nations. The climax was dramatic in the extreme. Each nation had won two meetings, and each had to its credit four of today's events. Victory depended upon the last event, the one-mile run.

A British sporting gathering such as that today is usually of the upper class, and this was purely a university assemblage, because the admission price had purposely been kept high enough to exclude the masses. Until the final event there was no demonstration of any kind, only moderate applause for the winners. But when six young athletes toed the mark for the crucial test, silence fell over the scene, followed by a wild demonstration when Baker, of King's College, Cambridge, running a clever race, sprinted in a winner by five yards, from Moore, of Oxford, who was second, with Lawless, of Harvard, third. The time was 4:27 3-5. Baker who will be forever illustrious in the annals of the light blues, was carried off the field on the shoulders of his comrades, while the band played "God Save the King." It was such an uproar as might have been witnessed at some American meeting.

Teams Evenly Matched.

The two teams were remarkably evenly matched. The Americans practically had walk-overs in the jumps and hurdles. The hammer throw was conceded to the Oxford Rhodes scholar, Putnam, of Kansas, but the Americans counted upon a fair proportion of the runs. That the Englishmen took four out offive of these, including the one mile and the two miles, confirmed the fears that the climate might weaken the staying powers of the Americans. The latter, as usual, appeared more highly strung and more nervous than their rivals. The records as a whole were only average for an international meet.

Speaking of the results tonight, Richard C. Floyd, the Harvard manager, who was in general charge of the Americans, said:

Runners Won Meet.

"The English distance runners defeated us. This goes to show, as it has so often done, that it is hard for distance runners to come across the ocean and keep in the best form under radically different climatic conditions. However, we do not offer any excuses. We hope to win the odd event and are disappointed that we did not. Nevertheless, we have had a splendid time and have been treated perfetly."

J. A. Carson, the Yale manager, said: "We repended upon winning the hammer throw and the 100 yards. When these were taken away we could not win. The men worked their hardest and gave all that was in them.

"Perhaps if Kelley had not injured his ankle the result might have been the reverse. He suffered a great deal, but pluckily ran."

Summaries: Hammer throw—Won by Putnam, Oxford, 151 feet, 5 inches. Childs, Rale, second, 140 feet 7 inches; Cable Harvard, third, 139 feet 10 inches; Bower, Cambridge, fourth, 130 feet 6 inches.

100-yard dash—Won by Duncan Macmillan, Trinitq, Cambridge. Time, 10 1-5 seconds. Fred A. Reilly, of Yale, was second.

120-yard high hurdles—Won by Gel. A. Chisholm, of Yale. J. B. Cummings, of Harvard, was second. Time, 15 2-5 seconds. P. R. O'Rourke Phillips, of Pembroke College, Cambridge, was third, and W. I. F. MacDonald, of New College, Oxford, fourth.

Jumps to Yale.

Running broad jump—Won by John R. Holden, of Yale. The marks were: Holden, 22 feet 9¼ inches; J. R. Kilpatrick, Yale, second, 21 feet 9½ inches; N. J. Susskind, Pembroke, Cambridge, 21 feet 5 inches; D. J. J. Hartley, Melvin, Oxford, fourth, 21 feet 1¼ inches.

Quarter-mile run—Won by F. G. Black, Pembroke, Cambridge; Duncan MacMillan, Trinity, Cambridge, second; John H. Stewart, Jr., Yale, third; Herbert W. Kelley, Harvard, fourth. Time, 49 4-5 seconds.

Running high jump—Won by Wooster Canfield, Yale, whose mark was 5 feet 11 inches. Albert D. Barket, of Harvard, was second, with 5 feet 10⅝ inches. Later Canfield made 6 feet ⅜ inches.

Half-mile run—Won by B. M. Preble, Harvard; Anderson, Oxford, second; Jaques, Harvard, third. Time, 1 minute 57 1-5 seconds.

One mile—Won by Philip John Baker, King's, Cambridge; W. C. Moore, Exeter, Oxford, second; H. P. Lawless, Harvard, third. Time, 4:27 3-5.

Two-mile race—Won by E. Gowan Taylor, Pembroke College, Oxford; C. H. Porter, Brasenose, Oxford, second; Paul R. Withington, Harvard, third; Wm. F. Ryan, Harvard, fourth. Time, 9 minutes 29 1-5 seconds.

FROG'S SKIN GRAFTED ON BOY.

Something new in the way of skin grafting was accomplished at St. Louis recently, the experiment being made on Thomas Reardon, a five-year-old youngster. He was severely burned on the leg, and when skin grafting became necessary surgeons used the skin of bullfrogs. The novel experiment was entirely successful.

ANIMALS THAT GO MAD.

In Paris of a list of 1903 of all kinds of animals which had bitten people and which were suspected of being afflicted with rabies there were as many as 833 dogs; of the remaining animals in this official list there were 247 horses, 6 cats, and 7 others of the various domestic animals. In Prussia that country of statistical delight, there are numerous instances, officially listed, of bites from rabid cattle and even from that mildest of animals, ordinarily, the deer. As regards Russia, one would naturally suppose that wolves would figure largely as a source of danger in biting other animals and man. Russian statistics substantiate the correctness of this supposition.

ANVIL'S VICTORY FEATURES OPENING

Geers' Entry Takes the 2:20 Trot in Three Heats at Indianapolis.

HAD TO STEP IN 2:10

Fannie Stanton, Ginger and R. T. C. Take Allin Events—The Results.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 11.—The state fair track was the scene of the first 1911 programme of grand circuit racing this afternoon, four races being decided in ushering in the season.

Indianapolis people showed that they are for the harness nags as the grandstand was well filled and bookmaking and pool selling were conducted quietly without interruption, although they have been under the ban for many years. The track was not fast but was fairly good, and will be in splendid shape tomorrow if the weather remains favorable.

The 2:20 trot was a tryout for several trotters which are staked through the grand circuit, and showed up a good, classy trotter in the Geers' four-year-old Anvil, who was favorite and won in straight heats, the first two easy, but he had to be driven out to the limit in the third to beat Nanah, taking a new record of 2:10. Both of these are in the M. and M. The other starters with the exception of Nanah did not display much class.

C. The Limit, Beaten.

C. The Limit, the stallion from the Estabrook stable, had been showing so much in his early work that he was a strong favorite for the 2:07 pace, but broke in the first heat when in the lead and was not a factor afterwards, the race going to the Kansas pacer, Ginger, although he lost the fastest heat to Ruth D. The heavy track undoubtedly affected The Limit more than the others.

J. L. Dodge started his Chamber of Commerce candidate, Fanny Stanton, in the 2:18 pace. She was favorite and won in straight heats, but did not show to be up to the clip that will be set in the Detroit pacing classic.

Geers' High Admiral was selected to win the 2:15 trot, but his unsteadiness cost him the race, which went to R. T. C. from Tom Murphy's stable.

Four Events Today.

Four races are carded for tomorrow, the feature being the stake for 2:09 pacers, in which Tom Murphy's star Chamber of Commerce candidate, Sir R., will meet a good field. The other races are the 2:18 trot, 2:25 trot and 2:14 pace, all of which have good fields. The summaries:

EDWARD BARROW ENTERS DENIAL

Laughs at Story That His League Is to Give Up Some of the Best Towns.

New York, July 11—President Edward Barrow, of the Eastern League, today authorized a denial of stories that certain changes are contemplated in the Eastern League circuit, either as to the transferring of certain clubs to class B cities, of giving up Buffalo, Baltimore or Toronto to the major leagues. Mr Barrow said it has been quite a few years since an Eastern League club lost any great amount of money, and that the franchises are growing in value every year.

As to any of the present members securing franchises in the National or American Leagues, he said the idea is impossible. Under the present system of organized ball, unless the Eastern League gave its consent, and "we would never consent to the breaking up of our circuit. We might consider putting an Eastern League club in one or two of the big league towns, but never to giving up one of our best towns and taking in a smaller one."

M'FARLAND AND WELLS MATCHED

Milwaukee Men Get Boxers' Signatures to Article Calling for Ten Rounds.

Chicago, July 11—Milwaukee promoters announced yesterday that they had practically closed a match between Matt Wells, the English lightweight, and Packey McFarland, of Chicago, to be staged before the Badger Athletic Club in September.

McFarland had hoped to meet Ad Wolgast, but the announcement from Los Angeles last night that Freddie Welsh and Wolgast will fight next Thanksgiving, and that the champion will not fight anybody before that time, will probably cause McFarland to accept the Milwaukee offer.

GRAND TRUNK MAN INJURED AT GUELPH

William Roberts Hurt When Engine Hits a Hand Car.

Mr. William Roberts, of 41 Regina street, employed on one of the construction gangs of the Grand Trunk, was badly shaken up yesterday afternoon, when an express engine bumped into a hand-car near Galt, on which he and a number of other men were riding. The engineer slowed down when he saw the men, but could not stop in time, and the car was thrown off the tracks. None of the other men were seriously hurt. Mr. Roberts had his ankle broken and was bruised otherwise.

MOTHER BACK TO HER ARCTIC HOME

Eskimo Woman Gives Up Husband and Children to Return to Far North.

Seattle, Wash., July 12—There's nothing slow about the way Eskimos adopt the white man's civilization, as evidenced by the separation of Mrs. S. Stockberger from her husband and four children and her return to the Arctic wastes.

The dissatisfied Eskimo woman wanted a divorce, but as there was no documentary evidence of the marriage, lawyers refused to take the case.

Imported to the states during the Alaska Yukon-Pacific Exposition, the Stockberger family became infatuated with the Puget Sound climate and decided to remain here. They purchased a ranch on Vashon Island and lived happily for several days. Then the wife picked up a bit of English or near-English; also she learned some of the ways of American women and as civilization grew upon the family, love waned.

Mrs. Stockberger developed a riotous temper. The husband at last determined to try another climate to calm the troubled nerves of the turbulent squaw. He traded the Vashon ranch for a small farm near Springfield, Mo., and prepared to move. But the frau longed for ice and snow, her old diet of fish, and her former dress of sealskin. She had no hankering for the "show me" state, so the husband and four little Stockbergers departed in one direction and the mother sailed in another.

EAMES WEDS AGAIN

Prima Donna This Time Becomes Bride of De Gogorza.

[Canadian Press.]

Paris, July 12.—Madame Emma Eames and Emilio De Gogorza were married at the city hall in the eighth arrondissement today. The ceremony was in strict privacy, only the necessary number of witnesses being present.

The witnesses for the bride were William Francis Ward, the painter, and Fairchild Blair, the composer, and for the bridegroom, George Armstrong, a banker, and Ernest Arnold M. Sansboruf, assistant to the mayor, officiated and made a brief address in which he wished the contracting parties happiness and prosperity and expressed the felicitations of the city.

The prima donna was divorced from her former husband Julian Story, in the spring of 1907. The baritone, who has been associated with the bride professionally, was divorced from his wife, Mrs. Elsa Neumann De Gogorza last year.

NEW LINE TO IRELAND.

HOW THE CAMORRISTS SECURE IMMUNITY

Have Their Candidates Elected by Violent Methods, Says Fabroni.

[Canadian Press.]

Viterbo, Italy, July 12.—Capt. Fabroni, who, if not the star witness for the crown, has at least made the accused Camorrists more uncomfortable than they have been made by any others on the stand, today went deep into the political influence of the Camorrists, and mentioned names with a boldness that caused the judge to caution him to be moderate in his statements. The witness replied:

"I must say and give an exact picture of the prevailing atmosphere in order to strike a deadly blow at this criminal association."

Fabroni, in the guise of a clerk of the ministry of justice, devoted years to learning the alleged connection between the Camorra and the Neapolitan judiciary. Along this line he said in substance:

"The Camorrist has no political ideals. He exploits the elections and the elected for gain. The leaders distribute bands throughout the town, and they have recourse to violence to obtain the vote for the electors for the candidates whom they have determined to support. Those who refuse to vote as instructed are beaten, slashed with knives or kidnapped. All this is done with the assurance of immunity, as they will have the protection of successful politicians who realize that they cannot be chosen to office without paying toll to the Camorra."

EXPELLED FROM TRACK

Drastic Action Taken Against Owner of First Premium.

[Canadian Press.]

Montreal, July 12—Mr. C. Baldwin, owner of First Premium, the horse that won the mile race at Delorimier Park yesterday afternoon, and in winning beat out the even-money favorite Mirdil, was expelled from the track immediately after the conclusion of the race. The reason for this drastic action on the part of the stewards was the complete reversal of form shown by the Baldwin entry. On his former appearance on Saturday, First Premium, under a rider who, acting according to orders, had neither spur nor whip, ran an indifferent race, finishing last. This was too glaring a paradox to be passed up, and although the officials allowed the result of the race to stand as posted they informed Mr. Baldwin that he could race no more on the Delorimier track. As this action will probably keep Mr. Baldwin out of all the other half-mile tracks in Canada, it has serious consequences for him.

MAINE FOREST FIRES.

Kineo, Maine, July 12—After having burned to within an eighth of a mile of a hotel and the storehouses of the Great Northern Paper Company, the border town forest fires suddenly shifted its course and the buildings were saved. The fire, which has already burned over nine miles of territory, with a loss of upwards of $120,000, is now sweeping along the west bank of the Penobscot uncontrolled.

Another fire at El Chanted Township covers nearly 15,000 acres, and the loss is already close to $200,000.

CLEVELAND BOY SCOUTS ON TRIP TO PORT STANLEY

Between 60 and 70 Lads Arrived Here Yesterday on a Long March.

London was yesterday and today overrun by an American invasion of between sixty and seventy Boy Scouts of America, from Cleveland, Ohio. Leaving their home city last week they came by water to Erieau and from there marched first to Ridgetown and then to London.

Last night they encamped at Springbank Park. They have taken their time on the way.

It has been a leisurely walking tour and no attempt has been made to establish records. The boys are simply bent on an enjoyable and unique outing. They marched this morning to the local Y. M. C. A., where they spent the forenoon with the local Scouts, who with the Y. M. C. A. boys entertained them today at dinner.

This afternoon they are leaving for their return march via. St. Thomas and Port Stanley.

CAPTIVES NEARLY YEAR IN ARCTIC

Sailors of Cryolite Bark Tell Tales of Sufferings of Ten Months.

Philadelphia, July 11.—Andros Jensen, captain of the British bark Alkaline, which was lost off the coast of Greenland, spent a few hours in Philadelphia recently, and told the story of the vessel's shipwreck, with a crew of ten men, unused to the bitter cold of the far north. Captain Jensen was marooned ten months, storm-bound inside the Arctic Circle. In April he made a venturesome attempt to escape, but the vessel was dashed on the rocks and split. Two members of the crew died from exposure and the others quit his service in Copenhagen, where they were taken by the Danish steamship Fox, which rescued them.

The Alkaline left Ivigtut, Greenland, on Oct. 10, of last year, with 1,100 tons of cryolite, a mineral used in the practical arts, consigned to this port. Soon after putting to sea the west coast of Greenland was swept by terrific storms, and the vessel was obliged to put back to Asuk, a port below Ivigtut. She was found to be badly damaged and entirely unseaworthy.

Faced Death.

Reluctantly Captain Jensen informed his men that they must stay in the frozen north all winter. If they again embarked upon the ocean they faced almost certain death. Life on an icebound shore was preferable to drowning in the floe-ridden seas, so the men made the best quarters they could on the lee side of a hillock.

Ivigtut was a scant ten miles away, and thither the men were sent for provisions enough to stock the camp for the winter. Then began a long siege and battle with the cold. None of the crew were hardy mariners. They had never spent a winter so far north, and they suffered by lack of knowledge of how to care for themselves. Gales blew daily, ice gorges blocked the fiords, and fish could not be procured. Snow fell almost constantly, and the members of the little camp made strenuous efforts to keep together. They were hemmed in by ice and snow in a few weeks, and escape became impossible until spring.

At last the long winter passed. The men, by dint of hard labor and perseverance, had made the necessary repairs to their vessel. They had lived principally on ducks, ptarmigan and a few sea fish. Early in April another attempt was made to pass out of the narrow fiords. Filled with the hope of reaching civilization again, with their vessel seaworthy and the valuable cargo safe, the gallant crew set sail.

Buffeted by wind and wave, the ship crawled slowly down the coast line, hugging the shore for safety. Instead of ten men to man the rigging, only eight were available for duty. The others, weakened by the long season of cold and improper food, were scarcely able to stand. The ship was driven upon the rocks, broken into pieces, and sank.

Captain Jensen and the crew escaped in a longboat, with enough provisions to last only a few days. Providentially, the Fox was sailing in those waters at that time, and picked up the exhausted men after they had been afloat but a few hours.

They were landed in Copenhagen, where the crew was paid off. Captain Jensen returned to America on the first trip to report the loss of his vessel to Hagar & Co., ship brokers. The Alkaline was the last of a fleet of twelve vessels carrying cryolite from Greenland to this port. All have been lost in gales or have gone into other trades.

Greenland is still the only place where cryolite is mined in commercial quantities. It is used in the manufacture of sodium salts, of opal, and alabaster glass, porcelain and enamelled ware, and as a flux in electrolytic aluminum processes. The mines are flushed with water in the winter and pumped out in the summer, then quarried.

SCARED TO DEATH BY A FLASH.

An odd fatality occurred the other day near Monticello, N. Y., where Mrs. Wilmot Moulthrop was scared to death by a flash of lightning. Two years ago her home was struck by lightning and destroyed, and since then she has been extremely nervous during any electrical storm. She was talking with a neighbor when there was a flash and she sank back in a chair, dead.

UNCLE SAM'S CROPS

Washington, D. C., July 12.—Cotton showed the highest average growing condition of any crop on July 1, with lemons and oranges ranging second and third. In its general review of the crop conditions for June, the bureau of statistics of the department of agriculture says the month of June was decidedly unfavorable for growing crops in most parts of the United States.

The aggregate condition of all crops on July 1 was 10.7 per cent below the average condition, whereas on June 1 conditions were only 2.8 per cent under average.

SCIENTISTS BARE WONDERS OF SEA

Many Curious Specimens of Marine Life Brought Into Los Angeles.

Los Angeles, Cal., July 12.—The United States Albatross has just completed a most remarkable trip. With a corps of scientific men on board the vessel made an expedition down the southern coast of California, round the peninsula and back to San Francisco. And the return trip was not made empty-handed, for treasures and curios of the sea came back with them.

The party, in addition to the chief, Dr. C. H. Townsend, acting director of the American Museum of Natural History in New York, included Dr. J. N. Rose, of the National Museum in Washington, botanist; Dr. Paul Barsch, also of the National Museum, zoologist; Waldo Schmidt, assistant naturalist of the Albatross, and Messrs. Anthony and Osborn, well-known west coast collectors.

The Albatross cruised along the coast of Lower California, stops being made at Guadaloups Island, San Benita, San Bartolome Bay, Bay San Cristobal, San Roque Island, Point Abrojos and many other places of importance, and then passed on into the Gulf of California, going as far as Tiburon Island and the Angel de la Guarda Islands.

Several adult elephant seals were killed at Guadaloupe Island, brought on board the ship and put into brine to preserve them, while six of the younger animals were captured alive. The full-grown elephant seal is about 22 feet long and has a snout or nose closely resembling that of an elephant. At Guadaloupe Island also the party found excellent opportunities for research and exploration. Here, too, they obtained a fine collection of rare birds, mollusks and plants, and found animal and marine life not related closely to that found on the mainland.

Following along the coast and making frequent landings, and making during the trip 25 deep sea hauls with the dredge, ranging from 400 to 1,071 fathoms (2,400 to 6,426 feet, many interesting kinds of fish and other interesting specimens of marine life were secured. Brought up with the deepest haul were several kinds of deep sea fish, five kinds of crimson prawns, one with blue eggs; many worms that live in hard tubes and one great star-fish, as well as several brittle stars.

On Carmen Island the party discovered a wonderful salt pond, on which there was a coating of salt four to five inches thick. The crust is removed in thick flakes and when ground produces salt of an exceeding fineness. This salt is shipped in large quantities.

What is believed to be a new species of mountain sheep was discovered on the west side of Conception Bay. The scientists were not able to get close enough to observe these animals carefully or to capture them, but obtained three sets of horns from natives of the place.

POLICY OF MERCY HOLDS A TRUSTY

He Might Have Escaped, But Warden's Kindness Kept Him in Cell.

St. Louis, July 12. — The case of John Gibson, a workhouse trusty, who took a telephone message that he was wanted for a $10,000 diamond robbery in Steubenville, O., and did not seize the opportunity he had to escape, has brought to life a new regime at that institution, where kindness and the honor system have replaced sterner methods.

Gibson's gratitude to Calvin J. White, superintendent of the workhouse, led to his unusual conduct.

"I knew if I escaped it might cost him his job," Gibson told a reporter. "He has been so kind to me that I couldn't treat him that way. All the men here like him. I've often had chances to get away, but I wouldn't take them on Superintendent White's account."

Superintendent White said that he had found that treating the men pleasantly and putting those on their honor who showed a disposition toward good behavior was the best method possible.

"Gibson's case illustrates how effective such a method may become," he said in discussing it. "He came here with the record of being a convicted robber, but he is intelligent and eager to please and I made him a trusty.

"He was in the office with Henry Struecker, a clerk, when Detective Joyce telephone that the Steubenville police wanted Gibson held at the expiration of his term here to answer for the diamond robbery in Ohio.

"When Gibson, who answered the telephone, realized what the message meant he called Struecker to take it also and asked Joyce to repeat it.

Could Have Escaped.

"He could have hung up the telephone receiver and escaped. His case ought to give students of criminology food for reflection. Stamped by the police as a crook, this man showed remarkable fidelity to trust. He decided to face a probable penitentiary sentence rather than betray my confidence.

"I have written to the chief of police in Stuebenville telling him what a manly fellow he has to deal with and I will give Gibson a letter of recommendation when he leaves the workhouse."

Gibson worked the remainder of the day, when the message was received, as a trusty about the office. Then he was sent to the quarry, where the prisoners are under guard. A reporter found him there Friday. Near him was Gus Samsone, who escaped from the workhouse March 27, before White took charge, and was caught in Chicago and brought back to serve out his term for petit larceny.

Samsone gave eager affirmation of Gibson's declaration that the men like White and admire him.

THE PRUDENT MAN

Like the mason, builds his wall a brick at a time. We might call it the continued process—the year-after-year saving—as a wall welded together by the cement of increased happiness, assurances of a comfortable future and the glory of being able to look every man in the eye and call him equal. Isn't it worth while to save for these rewards? You'll say yes, if you'll only look at every side of the question.

NORTHERN ONTARIO

anybody, the 2,500 inhabitants, women and children, being accommodated in railway buildings as far as possible and by railway contractors. Many of the women and children are sick, and Contractor O'Brien, of O'Brien, McDougall & O'Gorman, placed his private car "Calabogie" at the disposal of the emergency committee as a hospital car, and the sick are being brought to North Bay. J. Black, of the Ontario government railway, has not stopped yet, being busy arranging for relief trains and keeping in touch with conditions at Cochrane and elsewhere. He sent General Agent Lee to Cochrane this morning with instructions to form a committee at once and take charge of the situation, Lee is on the ground and has the situation well in hand.

Thousands of Refugees.

Many of the fire sufferers are coming out from Porcupine, seeking to get to their homes, and the government railway is carrying destitute ones free of charge. The trains are crowded to the doors and hundreds are unable to get in the cars.

Provisions at Golden City are only sufficient to last two days, and assistance will have to be quick. Northern towns have been working all night arranging relief. Mayor McGaughey and President Ferguson, of the North Bay board of trade, have been up most of the night, and a car is leaving this morning with foodstuffs for Cochrane, all bakeshops having worked to highest capacity all night.

Frank Child, who has stores in Kelso and Cochrane, which were burned, arrived here from the south last night bound north, but when he heard that he had been wiped out, he took a train to Toronto to buy a new stock of hardware and tents to begin over again.

Reports from Kelso Mines, Charlton and Earlton, say that the fire is all around them, and danger is ever present but they are safe yet. Telegraph wires are down between Porcupine and Iroquois Falls, and news filters in on work trains. Days will pass before anything like an accurate estimate can be made of the damage.

ILLEGAL SEALING.

Washington, D. C., July 12.—Charges that the North American Commercial Company illegally killed 128,478 yearling seals, valued at approximately $5,000,000, during its recent lease of the Pribilof Islands are made by Henry W. Elliott, of Cleveland, Ohio, who continued his testimony before the house committee on expenditures in the department of commerce and labor. Representative Rothermel, of Pennsylvania, chairman of the department of justice, will be asked to prosecute the company if the Elliott charges can be substantiated.

LOCAL MARKET TODAY WAS A SMALL ONE

Oats at $1.18 to $1.20—Dairy Produce and Poultry Are Scarce.

There was a minimum size market today. Several loads of hay sold at $13 per ton. Oats are still selling at from $1 18 to $1 20 per cwt. Cherries sold at $1 35 per basket. Tomatoes are worth $1 50 per basket. The first blueberries of the season were offered for sale. They sold at from $1 60 to $1 75 per basket.

Eggs, dairy produce, poultry and other market produce show little or no variation in price. Apart from two or three loads of hay and a small supply of fruits, there was little or nothing offered on the market.

Farmers are busied with the last of the haying and the rush of the wheat harvest, and are waiting for rainy days to come to market.

An unusual firmness in prices in most lines of market stuffs is characteristic of the market at present.

HAY.

Toronto, July 11.—In the absence of a regular supply of loose hay, local users are compelled to turn to the baled hay market for supplies and choice timothy sells very firmly at $12 50 to $13 per ton. Cattle feeders are absorbing liberal quantities of inferior hay in preparation for the coming season and prices are steady.

Quotations on track, Toronto, are as follows:

Hay—No. 1 timothy, $12 to $13; mixed clover and timothy, $9 to $10.

Straw—$6 to $6 50.

[From Charles Head & Co., by private wire to J. J. Tearney.]

NEW YORK, July 12.—Noon.—Price movements all through the first hour were governed almost wholly by the character of weather reports from the west, and the course of Chicago grain markets. There was some disposition to sell stocks by western houses after the opening, on which prices of leading rails receded fractionally, with an upturn later caused by covering of board room shorts. This covering was induced by private dispatches reporting heavy rains. Later reports giving the rainfall in detail showed little foundation for the assumption. Atchison was influenced more than any other stocks in this respect. Most of the speculative interest on the floor was centred in Steel. London was a moderate seller of Amalgamated, but bought other stocks at a fractional recession. Estimates of earnings of the Steel Company for the quarter just closed are estimated to be around $28,000,000, against $23,159,203 the last quarter.

CUT THE ROPES

Mean Trick Played at the Local Playgrounds.

Young men who each night loiter about the children's playgrounds on Ridout street south, last evening made a dastardly attempt to injure some of those who take advantage of the apparatus in the place by weakening the ropes on the large swings.

The supports were cut down to a shred and with the weight of a boy or girl would have snapped. Sheriff Cameron is investigating and will prosecute any offenders should their identity be learned.

GROCERS' EXCURSION

Final Arrangements Made for the Trip to Toronto.

At a meeting held in St. George's Hall last night final arrangements were made for the grocers' excursion to Toronto on Wednesday, July 19. Reports were submitted by the various committees which promised everything for the success of the excursion. It is fully expected that it will eclipse all former excursions, although some of them have been unusual successes.

The Retail Grocers' Association of Toronto will meet the train at Parkdale and escort the London grocers around Toronto by automobile, after which dinner will be held in the King Edward. On the train going down lunches and refreshments will be served and a merry time is looked forward to. The local wholesale grocers are contributing to the refreshment part of the trip, and several Toronto firms have also promised unusually generous donations. The London visiting grocers will also be supplied with tickets to the Rochester-Toronto ball game.

THE ENGLISH PICNIC PROMISES FINE TIME

Programme Indicates That All Previous Outings Will Be Eclipsed.

Programmes are out for the annual English picnic, which will be held at Springbank on Saturday next, and it will without doubt surpass in every way any of the other outings that the Englishmen and their friends have held. The programme is made up of an attractive list of events, that insure endless entertainment and amusement for everybody who goes down to the park, and the prizes offered are very fine. Special events include a hobble-skirt race, a baby show and a big dance in the pavilion. A very fine programme of races for girls and women is a feature of the events. An event which promises to be a big attraction is a cricket match between two London teams.

PORCUPINE

I would advise the immediate purchase of Dome Extension and Foley O'Brian. THOMAS RAYCRAFT, Room 1, London Loan Block; phones 2995 and 1736.

BIG ORANGE PARADES AT EASTERN POINTS

Mile Long Procession at Toronto and 10,000 Walk at Carleton Place.

[Canadian Press.]

Toronto, July 12.—The local Orangemen paraded in a mile-long procession, with a large number of floats and banners from Queen's Park to the Exhibition Park this morning, arriving at the exhibition grounds at 11 o'clock, where refreshments were provided. The afternoon was spent listening to speeches and in athletic contests.

Some Went to Hull.

Ottawa, July 12.—Some 1,000 Ottawa Orangemen left the city this morning for various outside points, where they will participate in the celebration of July 12. The Ottawa district lodges went to Newington, Carleton County, to Prescott and Russell County, to Cumberland.

A few Ottawa Orangemen stayed in the city to attend the celebration of the Twelfth in Hull, while the Prentice Boys' lodges also went there.

Carleton Place, July 12.—The greatest celebration ever held by the Orangemen of Lanark County is in progress here today. There are 70 lodges present. All the morning regular and special trains brought in great crowds from the surrounding districts and at noon it was estimated that there were 10,000 visitors on the streets. The parade will conclude about 3 o'clock, after which there will be a programme of sports in the town hall. H. J. Lowe, of Almonte, is filling the office of county master in charge of the ceremonies.

Pembroke, July 12.—The Orangemen of the Pembroke district are doing honor to the Prince of Orange by a celebration held at Greenwood. The celebration is being participated in by Pembroke, Greenwood, Alice, Petawawa, Chalk River, Mycksburg and Rankin. About three hundred Orangemen and their friends left here. Speeches will be given by prominent Orangemen, clergy and others in the evening.

EAST LONDON NEWS

A FULL STAFF

Very Busy at the G. T. R. Carshops Now.

"We are working with a full staff now," said Superintendent Thomas Treleaven, of the G. T. R. car shops, to The Advertiser this afternoon. "But I want 50 laborers and carpenters right away. We have loads of work on hand and I can handle that many men easily."

A great many of the local factories are also eagerly seeking help, and good men are everywhere admitted to be scarce.

Carpenters are in great demand, and on many places where building is being done notices have been placed "Carpenters wanted."

Farmers are complaining bitterly of the impossibility of securing sufficient help.

London, it is claimed, is not nearly so badly off as some other districts.

Overcome by Heat.

Messrs. John Williams and George Blow, inmates of the Aged People's Home, were overcome by the heat yesterday morning and for a while were very sick. Today both men are much improved and no serious results are anticipated.

At the Lakeside.

A number of picnics are being held at Port Stanley today by local church organizations. Centennial Methodist choir went down to the lakeside via the Traction line this afternoon. The Sunday school of Cronyn Memorial Church also sent down a large picnic party this morning.

Framework Completed.

The steel framework of the new C. P. R. roundhouse, on Quebec street, has been completed and the concrete walls are now in course of erection. Favorable progress is being made, and it is expected that the contracts for the new coal sheds and oil houses will be let shortly.

Mrs. N. Wanless and family, of 864 Dundas street, are spending a three weeks' holiday at Port Stanley.

WINDSOR YOUTH DROWNED

Windsor, Ont., July 11.—Roy Thomas aged 19, was drowned in the river near the Michigan Central slip dock here while bathing with two companions. He was in deep water a hundred yards from shore when he suddenly threw up his hands and disappeared. The body was not recovered until morning.

WITNESSES SWEAR

ous witness was next called. He was ordered in June last to deliver several loads to Mulhall's place by a city employee named Clarkson. This was all dumped at the side of the house, close to a mixing board. His vouchers were city checks, the same as those supplied by the spreaders on the street.

When witness first delivered gravel at the Mulhall yard he could see that gravel had been stored there before, and had been taken away. He claimed that he did not know that a man who goes about the city with a cart filling holes in the road ever got gravel for the purpose off Mulhall's place. He supposed gravel was to be used on house for Mulhall's private purposes, but he did not refuse to accept the city's check for it. Mulhall paid him for one load about the first of May.

Witness stated to Mr. Meredith that gravel was dumped almost on top of the mixing board which was about 100 feet from the lane where city gravel was usually stored. Mulhall, the witness told the judge, had ordered him to drive in and dump one load beside the board.

William Taylor in the Box.

William Taylor, a teamster, was the next witness. He passed Mulhall's house on July 1, and saw concrete being mixed at the east side of the house. He would not swear that it might have been on the west, although Michael Morkin was certain that the men were at work on the opposite side.

He had been told by John Morkin to keep his eye on the Mulhall premises to see if any person was at work with the gravel.

To Mr. McEvoy he stated that he had had a conversation with John Morkin, in which he was asked to take notice of Mulhall's place, and as a result he went around that way instead of taking his usual trip to the city.

Taylor stated that the board was about as far as to the front of the hall, a distance of 55 or 60 feet, from the house, but whether or not this was ten, thirty or sixty feet, he was unable to estimate. However, he stated that he believed that it was over ten feet.

Taylor was sent by Hutchinson, another contractor, to Mr. Morkin's house, to talk the matter over. When he got there, Ald. Tancock knew that he had passed Mulhall's place for the purpose of "taking notice," as he was questioned there by the alderman regarding what he had seen. He swore that he had never made an affidavit of what he knew, but told Mr. Meredith that he had signed his name to a statement. He had never received money for it, he claimed.

A Pottersburg Witness.

James E. Metcalfe, a teamster and thresher, of Pottersburg, was next called. He had drawn a load up onto Mulhall's mixing board in June. The board was then located at the north of the house. Later he drew other gravel, and dumped it on a pile in the lane. He did not see any alterations in progress on Mulhall's place. He got the usual check as a voucher.

To Mr. McEvoy he stated that he was asked to make a statement by Ald. Tancock.

Alex. Henderson, a city teamster, of 495 Bathurst street, saw Simpson and Moyer, city laborers, mixing gravel and throwing concrete under Mulhall's house. Witness believed that Simpson and Moyer were always in the city's employ, and had never heard of them working in their off-time for private parties. He had told Morkin that he thought Mulhall was getting his house very cheaply, as city laborers were doing the work. Witness had never heard of the graft charges before, but had carried the story to Ald. Tancock, and had spread the story pretty freely since.

James Corsaut, the next to testify, was employed last year as a teamster by Michael Morkin. He dumped city gravel just inside a gate off a lane on the Mulhall property. He was acting under instructions of a street spreader.

Affidavits Are Cheap.

Wm. Hueston, another teamster, delivered a load to Mulhall's in August. He was first spoken to on the matter by Henderson, who brought Ald. Tancock to see him. He gave an affidavit of what he knew and was given 25 cents for his trouble by Ald. Tancock.

The court then adjourned till this afternoon.

Personal Mention

Mrs. T. A. McConnell and Miss Lulu, of this city, left last week on a boat trip to Montreal. On their return they will visit North Bay, Hamilton and Toronto.

Mr. A. J. Rollins, of 24 Evergreen avenue, city, has just returned from a two months' trip in the western provinces, and reports great prospects for a big crop and everything booming.

Mr. A. B. Greer, accompanied by his daughter, left today for Winnipeg, where they will attend the exhibition.

Mr. Jose Gaste left today for Cuba, where he will spend some weeks.

Mrs. (Dr.) McLaren and daughter left this morning for Sarnia, and will sail up the lakes today en route to Winnipeg. After a holiday in that city they will proceed to Darlingford, Man., where a son of Dr. McLaren is in charge of a bank. Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Beddome left on the same boat for a holiday trip.

ulars, and also has inquired what arrangements were made for burial.

Mrs. Vaile strongly suspects that her brother was in some way the victim of foul play by Indians. She states that Mr. Renacre came out from England two years ago, and for a year worked at the G. T. R. car shops. He always had a notion of going west, and after going there his letters home showed that he was thoroughly enjoying the life out there.

ROBBERY AT WATFORD

Butcher's Till Looted and Boy Is Being Sought.

Watford, July 11.—Fuller & Cook's butcher shop was broken into this evening and a considerable sum of money stolen from the till.

A boy about 14 years of age from Alvinston, is being sought. He was in the butcher shop late in the afternoon, and about 7 o'clock hired a horse and rig from Cameron's livery to drive to Smith's, about five miles north of Watford, but on inquiry it is found that he never went there.

Later reports say the boy was seen driving south of the town in the direction of Petrolea or Inwood.

RECORD RECEPTION FOR PREMIER

Laurier Greeted by Cheering Thousands at Montreal.

RIVER TRIP A TRIUMPH

Crowds at Every Village and Hamlet All the Way Quebec to Montreal.

Montreal, July 11. — Sir Wilfrid Laurier arrived in the city this evening at 8:30, after a triumphant journey up the River St. Lawrence in the Government steamer Druid. Sir Wilfrid, accompanied by several of his ministers, and followed by the steamer Frontenac, left Quebec at an early hour this morning, stopping en route at Three Rivers and Sorel, where addresses of welcome were presented to him and speeches made by the Premier and a number of his cabinet ministers. Everywhere the greatest possible enthusiasm was shown, thousands gathering at each of the stopping places to cheer Sir Wilfrid, and to assure him of their cordial and continued support in the forthcoming struggle. At every hamlet and wharf coming up the river crowds gathered and cheered the passing boats. Flags were flown, bells rung, and a general holiday observed.

The climax was reached when Sir Wilfrid arrived in the city tonight. A flotilla of steamers dropped down the river, and met the Premier at Bout de L'Isle. From there to Victoria pier, a distance of several miles, Sir Wilfrid passed through illuminated and gaily-decorated craft, and a splendid display of fireworks and illuminations along the waterfront. Tens of thousands of people lined the river, crowded the piers, and packed themselves along the route of the procession to the Champ de Mars and at Place Viger Square.

On landing at Victoria pier Sir Wilfrid was presented with an address of welcome by Acting Mayor Gauvin, to which Sir Wilfrid replied very briefly, expressing his pleasure at being once more in Montreal. The Premier, accompanied by his cabinet ministers, drove through densely-packed streets to the Champ de Mars, where an address of welcome was given by Mr. L. Garneau, representing the Liberal clubs of the city, to which Sir Wilfrid replied.

The Address

"To Sir Wilfrid Laurier, G. C. M. G., P.C., Prime Minister of Canada:

"Mr. Premier, — The Liberal Clubs of Montreal would not be loyal to their past and to their traditions if they did not hasten to acclaim you after the mission which you have just accomplished. Once more you have been faithful to your country and to yourself, and you have fully justified our national hopes. Under circumstances especially difficult, and in the discussion of matters of the gravest importance with the most notable statesmen of the British Empire, you have clearly defined the respective rights of the Empire and her colonies. By your firmness and your sagacity, by the art of overcoming obstacles and solving difficult problems, you have once more earned the title of Champion of Canadian Autonomy, which popular gratitude has already decreed to you. Neither the hostile clamors of a certain ultramarine press nor the obstinate silence of another near us have dissuaded you from the duty traced by your patriotism. The whole aim of your life has been to enlarge and strengthen our country. Each of your political movements and each imperial conference is a new conquest, and one step more towards the public good and liberty. We know not when the next bugle call to battle will be, but on that day, be assured, Mr. Premier, we shall follow with enthusiasm, our venerable chief, who

INDIANS LAY CLAIM TO PARK AT SARNIA

Demand That Dufferin Park Be Relinquished by the Corporation.

Sarnia, July 11. -- Notice has been served on the town of Sarnia that the Indians of the Sarnia reserve lay claim to the tract of land known as Dufferin Park, in the south part of the town, and formally demand that it be relinquished by the corporation. The land is situated just south of the Imperial oil works, and was part of the Indian reserve many years ago. When the upper end of the reserve was absorbed into the town of Sarnia, the Indian department donated the park free of charge to the town, so long as used for park purposes. The construction of the oil refinery immediately in the north prevented its successful use for a pleasure ground, and it is believed that the town will have difficulty in showing that it is used for park purposes.

JEFFRIES RELEASED

[Canadian Press.]

Guelph, July 12.—The axe has again fallen on the players of the Guelph baseball club, and three more players dropped, as announced at the meeting of the directors last night. Bobbie McWhirter, catcher from Toronto, has been given his release, and the change is anything but satisfactory to the local fans, as he was the most popular player on the team. Peter Maher, also from Toronto, missed his last chance in yesterday's game by passing an easy grounder and was let out last night. Konold, centerfielder, is the other of the trio. "Tootle" Jeffries terminates his engagement tonight, and other changes will follow by the end of the week.

It is rumored here that McWhirter will be grabbed up by Chaucer Elliott, of St. Thomas.

GATES IMPROVED.

Paris, July 12.—It was stated today that the condition of John W. Gates was unchanged from last evening, when the patient appeared a little better, following the arrival of his son. Yesterday physicians said that the crisis of the disease would develop within 48 hours.

FIRE DESTROYS MINING TOWNS

South Porcupine, Cochrane and Other Places Wiped Out.

AN APPALLING DISASTER

Many May Have Perished in Great Northern Ontario Forest Fires.

North Bay, July 11.—Terrible disaster has overtaken Northern Ontario as a result of the continued heat and lack of rain. The whole country is burning up with bush fires everywhere. The fires have been burning for over a week and reached a climax today, licking up in their fiery path everything before them. Fanned by a fierce gale of wind the flames swooped down on the villages and mining camps of the north country and the loss of property will run into immense figures, while the death roll must be great, as Porcupine district, where the fire is at its worst, contains thousands of prospectors whose camps are scattered over a wide area of country heavily timbered.

From North Bay northward for three hundred miles and covering a wide section east and west the flames are busy in their work of destruction and death, and miners, prospectors and settlers are in a desperate plight, if they manage to escape with their lives, for supplies, buildings and equipment are being wiped out of existence by the roaring wall of fire which illuminates the sky for many miles. The town of Cochrane, at the junction of the T. and N. O. Railway and the Grand Trunk Transcontinental, which was nearly wiped out the other day by fire, was levelled to the ground today, and the inhabitants are in a bad way for food and shelter and are asking assistance from neighboring towns to the south.

Wiped Off the Map.

South Porcupine and Pottsville have been wiped off the map, while Golden City was visited by fire, but the town proper was saved, thus far only the outskirts being burned. The south part of Tisdale has been swept clean and other townships have suffered severely.

Loss of Life.

All the mining camps from Dome to Whitney Township have been burned. Hundreds of people, men, women and children, were forced to rush into the lakes and streams to seek refuge from the intense and blistering heat of the conflagration. A report has come in that F. Flynn, A. Yuille and W. J. Fletcher have been burned to death in the fire, while Billy Moore and three foreigners lost their lives by drowning near South Porcupine Town while running from the flames. The flames swept down on South Porcupine and Pottsville today, and wiped out both towns so quickly that the inhabitants were driven into the lake, as no living thing could withstand the fierce heat and fire, which burned the very ground. Gasolene boats removed refugees from both towns to Golden City, across the lake, where they were cared for, although the outskirts of that town were in flames and a desperate fight was being waged to save the place.

The provision supply is only sufficient for several days at Golden City, and relief is being asked from outside points.

Nothing Left.

At the town of Cochrane everything is burned except the Transcontinental Railway office, T. and N. O. agent's house, Johnston's poolroom, Imperial Bank, McKinnon's office, T. and N. O. Railway new passenger station and freight shed, all the rest being levelled to the ground, including the Bank of Ottawa, a handsome brick block; T. J. McManus' store, the Rothschild block, the Dempsey Hotel, King George Hotel, Pelanglo block, postoffice Hudson's Bay Company store, Whan drug store, A. R. Springer's store, C. H. Lloyd's store. Only five buildings are left standing in this prosperous town of 2,500 inhabitants.

The Cochrane inhabitants are without food, as nothing could be saved but the clothes on their backs. They are also without sleeping accommodations, and are being housed in boxcars, railway stations, railway roundhouse and freight shed. Appeals have been sent for assistance to New Liskeard, Haileybury, Cobalt and North Bay, and the mayors of these towns called special meetings of councils tonight to arrange succor.

All the construction camps on the Ontario Government new Porcupine Railway from Golden City west were swept out of existence, and the men had to run for their lives.

Kelso, which lost a number of buildings as the result of the bush

BRUCHESI AT ROME.

Rome, July 12.—Pope Pius today received in private audience the Most Rev. Paul Bruchesi, Archbishop of Montreal, who presented him with the report of his diocese.

The Pontiff was most gracious in his entertainment of the Canadian prelate, and renewed by word of mouth his congratulations with regard to the success of the Eucharistic Congress, which was held in Montreal last summer.

HIS THROAT CUT.

Denver, Col., July 12.—Richard D. Camp, of Buffalo, N. Y., who was found in his bathroom at a local hotel yesterday with his throat cut, died at a hospital here last night. Camp came to Colorado recently to investigate certain mining property for a Buffalo capitalist.

MICHIGAN TOWNS ARE IN ASHES

Oscoda and Au Sable Destroyed by the Flames.

THOUSANDS SHELTERLESS

Relief Trains Plunge Through Walls of Fire to Reach Stricken.

[Canadian Press.]

Detroit, July 12.—Early reports today from the fire-swept district of Northern Michigan say that several settlers' families and lumber camp crews near Wolverine and several families near Gaylord are missing. Of the two towns of Oscoda and Au Sable only a school and two dwellings in the south end of Au Sable are left standing. Reports continue to be received of possible loss of life.

Towns in Ashes.

Bay City, Mich., July 12.—The twin towns of Oscoda and Au Sable, opposite each other, at the mouth of the Au Sable river, and having a combined population of 1,800 people, are in ashes, while such of its inhabitants as have not escaped on board the steamer Kongo, or the Detroit and Marine City relief trains, are shelterless in the swamp and fields about the burning towns.

At midnight last night a carload of food, having been collected here by Mayor Woodruff and a volunteer committee, was dispatched to the two towns. No loss of life has been reported although the fire under the influence of a 50-mile wind spread with such rapidity that men and women dashed from their homes, dropping such bundles of valuables and clothing as they had started to pack. Many people living on the shore side of the town started for safety along the loch but within ten minutes the heat was so intense that they were driven into the water and continued their way wading along the shore. The heaviest loser is H. M. Loud Sons Company. The company's loss is nearly three quarters of a million dollars. Its property consisted of two saw mills, planing mills, shingle mill, bolt mill, lumber yard, cedar yard, pump houses, stores and residences. The total losses are probably in excess of one and a half million dollars.

Started in Slab Yard.

The fire originated in a slab yard in Oscola and in half an hour the entire town was in flames. The fire quickly jumped the Au Sable river and soon Au Sable also was in the grip of a blaze that reached the town limits on every side.

A passenger train on the Detroit and Mackinac Railway got around the towns by running on an old lumber spur and arrived here at midnight. Flames were then running a hundred feet in the air, declared the passengers and the intense heat scorched the sides of the train and cracked widows.

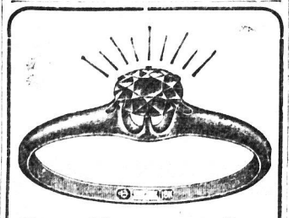

Aspecial train carrying fire apparatus from By City to Alpena in response to a call for help from that city, jumped the track in trying to pass around the two towns and was held until nearly midnight before the track was repaired. It then proceeded, as the fire at Alpena was said to be still dangerous.

The high wind was general throughout northern Michigan last night and from all over the district come reports of heavy fires fanned to huge proportions by the breeze which is reported at from 40 to 60 miles at various points.

ADVERTISING THE WESTERN FAIR

Over Four Hundred Billheads Are To Be Utilized.

The management of the Western Fair have sent out their billboards to the different railway stations throughout Western Ontario this week. Nearly four hundred boards will be displayed until after the exhibition is over. Several thousand three sheet bills and other advertising matter has been sent to all the cities and towns of Ontario and will soon be put up announcing the dates of this popular exhibition, to be this year Sept. 8th to 16th. The traveling agent, Mr. A. D. Holman, has started on the road in the interests of the exhibition and will continue to carry advertising material until the opening day. Every effort is being made this year to extend the interests of this already large and popular exhibition. If any space is required for exhibits of any kind application should be made to the secretary at once, as from present appearances the grounds and buildings will be taxed to their utmost to accommodate all. Work is about completed at the grounds and everything will be in excellent condition for exhibitors and visitors. Citizens should plan to have their friends come to London during the exhibition, as single fare rates will be in force on all railroads in Western Ontario, and from Detroit and Port Huron, all tickets good until after the exhibition. All information given on application to the secretary.

OFFICERS OF SEVENTH ENTERTAIN THE D.O.C.

A Pleasing Function Held at Armories Tuesday Evening.

Colonel Hodgins, D. O. C., and his staff officers were last evening the guests of the officers of the Seventh Regiment at a reception held in the officers' mess room at the armories. The gathering was held with the idea of enabling the new officers, many of whom have recently come to London, to meet the local officers. During the evening Col. Campbell made a brief speech, in which he complimented Col. Hodgins upon having surrounded himself with such a fine staff. Col. Hodgins replied suitably, and short speeches were made by Lieut.-Col. Harry Abbott, of the First Hussars, and Major Leonard. Light refreshments were served before the reception concluded, and all present agreed that the evening had been a most pleasant one.

Wanted 40,000 Locomotives

Canada today has 25,000 miles of railroad. In 1850 the United States had 20,000 miles, today she has 250,000, supplying the needs of a population of 90,000,000. It is safe to estimate that Canada will have at least 250,000 miles of road fifty years from now, and the likelihood is that she will have a much greater mileage. As one locomotive is required for every six miles of road, and as there are but 4,000 locomotives in use in Canada at the present time, it will mean that we will require about 40,000 locomotives within the next forty or fifty years, or at the rate of 1,000 locomotives per year. This means an almost unlimited demand for locomotives in this country. This knowledge was at the bottom of the Canadian Locomotive Company's decision to enlarge the capacity of their plant.
