our Russian Warships in the Port Arthur Barber Severely Damaged By Japanese Land Batteries-One Vessel Stated to Be Completely Wrecked-Japs Preparing For the Winter Campaign-Jap Cruise Stops British Steamer.

London, Oct. 8.-Continuance the gale which developed on the China Sea and adjacent waters on Oct. 4 precludes active operations by the Japanese fleet blockading Port Arthur. The British steamer Sishan, with a cargo of cattle and flour from Shanghai for Port Arthur, has been seized by the Japanese off New-chwang. A detachment of the Finland guards has been ordered to leave St. Petersburg for the Far East.

Russian Warships Damaged. Tokio, Oct 8.—It is reported here that the fire of the Japanese land batteries severely damaged four Russian warships in the harbor of Port Arthur. It is stated that one of the vessels was completely wrecked. The names of none of the ships were Preparing For Winter Campaign Field Headquarters of the Second Japanese Army, Oct. 5, 2 p.m., via Fusan, Oct. 7.—The Japanese are bringing up enormous quantities of supplies and ammunition for the winter campaign, using the reconstructed railway, carts and junks of the Liao and Taitse Rivers. The railroad traffic is uninterrupted, and additional soldiers continue to arrive. Outpost skirmishes are confined to the first and fourth armies. The troops are standing the climate splendidly, few being reported sick. Cold weather is just beginning.

Sounds of Firing Heard.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 8.—The only reference made to the reported sea fight off Port Arthur is contained in a delayed special despatch from Che Foo, which says that on the night of October 5 the sound of firing was heard in the direction of Port Arthur and that searchlights were seen to be working in that vicinity. It is thought there may have been a bat-tle, but no confirmation of the re-port has been received.

British Steamer Stopped The captain of the British 'steame Chonan, which was stopped by a Ja-panese cruiser while on her way to Che Foo from Taku, but was allowed to proceed after her cargo had been examined, has made a protest against the way he was boarded and searched on the high seas.

To Mold Out Nine Months.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 8.—A special despatch from Mukden, dated Oct. A. says there have been no changes of importance in the general situation there. The blockade of Port Arthur appears not to have been so effective recently, as a number of messengers have slipped through. The latest ad-vices state that the fortress has sufficient ammunition and provisions to enable the garrison to hold out for nine months.

At the conclusion of the drill and before disbandment, Sergt.-Major Harry Flowers briefly addressed the Regiment. He said it was his intention during the intervening winter months to form classes in physical drill and bayonet exercise to which he would be pleased to receive the soldiers who desired to take up the work. These classes were being formed to enable the Regiment to start work in the spring with a well-equipped and trained corps, which would bring credit to the Battalion. ATTAC"S KING LEOPOLD said the King Was Personally Responsible in a Large Measure For the Cruelties Practiced On the Natives of the Congo Free State-Defence By G. H. Head of Cambridge, England-Booker T. Washington's Speech.

Boston, Oct. 8.—King Leopold of Belgium was assailed for his policy as sovereign of the Congo Free State, at a public meeting held yesterday in connection with the ses sions of the International Peace Congress. This meeting, which was one of the largest of the Congress, had been called to consider the mutual relation of races and the menace to the world's order through the ex-ploitation of weaker peoples.

The attack upon King Leopold was made by E. T. Morel of England, who represented the Congo Reform Association. Mr. Morel charged that the King was personally responsible in a large measure for cruelties prac-tised on the natives of the Congo Free State in the terrific endeavors of monopolistic commercial organizations to obtain from the country all the ivory and rubber possible.

The King was defended by George Herbert Head of Cambridge, England, who submitted that King Leo-pold had done all possible to stop the cruelties practised, and who also urgently asserted that whatever pro fits came from the trading and development in the Congo did not pass to King Leopold at all, but were expended instead for the development of the Congo State and in public works in Belgium.

Booker T. Washington arraigned the Belgian Government for the al-leged outrages in the Congo Free State, declared that he had evidence of abuse and cruelty and said that a state of affairs existed that was blot upon modern civilization. "I have testimony direct," he said, "from Dr. Shepard and from the lips of Dr. Morrison, a sovereign man, two men who have gone into the Congo Free State to work among their own people, and whose story of sacrifice is one of the dra-matic incidents of history. The in-fluence of the civilized world should fluence of the civilized world should be felt and should free these people from the barbarities they are now suffering. Their villages have been burned, their people murdered and maimed. Dr. Shepard tells me that he has seen with his own eyes eighty-one human hands hung up to dry to be presented to the Belgian authori-ties to show that the soldiers did their duty. The convention closed last night.

STOCK REDUCTION AND EXPANSION

We have taken over a business in the City of Winnipeg. To accomplish this we had to guarantee a large amount of capital. In order to secure the amount required we find it necessary to reduce our immense Chatham Stock of over $75,000.00 by at least $40,000.00 before the end of this year. Do you realize what this means to you? Our importations from foreign manufacturers (as can be shown by Gustoms returns) are larger this year than have been landed in Chatham before This means that you will have an exclusively new stock of over $75,000 00 from which to make your Fall and Winter Purchases at a reduction or nearly all lines of from 10 per cent to 50 per cent. off regular prices. This Great Sale Commences on MONDAY, OCTOBER 10th, ATEIGHTO'CLOCK.

And will continue all through the season. SATURDAY previous, the store will close at SIX O'CLOCK p.m., in order that the evening may be devoted to arranging our stock for sale commencing on MONDAY MORNING. This will beyond doubt be the Greatest Sale of High Class Dry Goods ever held in Chatham, and coming as it does right at the begining of the season affords you splendid opportunity of doing your Fall shopping. Read Carefully the List of the Bargains Offered. You will find them all when you come in, and hundreds of others that we cannot mention in this advertisement.

Canadian Apples Abroad

London, Oct. 8.—(C. A. P.)—The Liverpool Daily Post on Liverpool as a fruit distributive centre says as a fruit distribute centre says this season's first arrivals of Nova Scotia apples have brought phenomenal prices, realizing 24 shillings the barrel for best grades. The first steamer brought 54,000 bushels, the second 51,000 and in the height of the season weekly imports may range from 200,000 to 250,000 bushels. The increased popularity of these apples proves they are taking the precedence of English. Canadian and American apples must be sold cheaply, if they are to compete with English fruit this season.

TWO BROWN CASES

Two Brown cases were tried in Two Brown cases were tried in Ridgetown last night. The Reverend Constable from Blenheim, visited that town recently and the result was two cases of infringment of the liquor law. Vital Caron was charged with selling liquor to minors and Geo. Richardson, livery keeper, was charged with selling liquor without a license. Two sons of Mr. Richardson, minors, went to the liquor store of Mr. Caron and bought liquor which they handed over to a young fellow, who was on the Indian list. A conviction was registered against Caron and he was lined $10 and costs. The case against Geo. Richardson was dismissed as Magistrate McKinley was not against Geo. HEALTH AND DISEASE. The mention of sulphur will recall

The mention of sulphur will recall to many of us the early days when our mothers and grandmothers gave us our daily dose of sulphur and molasses every spring and fall.

It was the universal spring and fall "blood purifier," tonic and cureall, and mind you this old-fashioned remedy was not without merit.

The idea was good, but the remedy was crude and unpalatable, and a large quantity had to be taken to arge quantity had to be taken to get any effect. get any effect.

Nowadays we get all the beneficial effects of sulphur in a palatable, concentrated form, so that a single grain is far more effective than a tablespoonful of the crude sulphur. In recent years, research and experiment have proven that the best sulphur for medicinal use is that obtained from Calcium (Calcium Sulphur form Calcium Calcium Calcium Sulphur form Calcium tained from Calcium (Calcium Sulphide) and sold in drug stores under the name of Stuart's Calcium Wafers. They are small chocolate coated pel-lets and contain the active medicinal ing with sulphur remedies soon found that the sulphur from Calcium was superior to any other form. He says "For liver, kidney and blood troubles especially when resulting from constipation or malaria, I have been surprised at the results obtained from Stuart's Calcium Wafers. In patients suffering from boils and pimples and even deep-seated carbuncles, I have repeatedly seen them dry up and disappear in four or five days, leaving the skin clear and smooth. Although Stuart's Calcium Wafers is a proprietary article, and sold by druggists, and for that reason tabooed by many physicians, yet I know of nothing so safe and reliable for constipation, liver and kidney troubles and especially in all forms of skin disease as this remedy."

At any rate people who are tired of pills, cathartics and so-called blood "purifiers" will find in Stuart's Calcium Wafers, a far safer, more palatable and effective preparation, Psychine stopped the cough, the pains and aches, gave me new strength, a ravenous appetite, and restored me to perfect health. I have not been sick a day since that time. Psychine is a wonderful tonic, strength, and flesh producer."

The happlest results are always obtained with the use of Dr. Slocum's famous remedy Psychine. Psychine has a direct action on the blood and nerves. The many ills of the female organism are due to thin, watery blood, poor circulation, or waste of nerve force. Loss of appetite, weakness, feelings of faintness or depression, nervous prostration, anaemia, early decline, and the most varied female troubles disappear with the use of Psychine. Thousands of women and girls in Canada have found hearty, bracing health in Psychine. Psychine relieves, soothes, and strengthens the entire system. CUTICURA SOAP

The World's Greatest Skin Soap.

The World's Sweetest Toilet Soap.

Sale Greater than the World's Product of Other Skin Soaps.

Sold Wherever Civilization Has Penetrated.

Millions of the world's best people use Cuticura Soap, assisted by Cuticura Ointment, the great skin cure, for preserving, purifying and beautifying the skin, for cleansing the scalp of crusts, scales and dandruff, and the stopping of falling hair, for softening, whitening and soothing red, rough and sore hands, for baby rashes, itchings and chafings, for annoying irritations, or too free or offensive perspiration, for picerative weaknesses, and many sanative, antiseptic purposes which readily suggest themselves to women, especially mothers, as well as for all the purposes of the toilet, bath and nursery. Cuticura Soap combines delicate emollient properties derived from Cuticura, the great skin cure, with the purest of cleansing ingredients and the most refreshing of flower odours. No most refreshing of flower odours. No other medicated soap ever compounded is to be compared with it for preserving, purifying and beautifying the skin, scalp, hair and hands. No other foreign or domestic toilet soap, however expensive, is to be compared with it for all the purposes of the toilet, bath and nursery. Thus it combines in one soap at one price the most effective skin and at one price the most effective skin and complexion soap, and the purest and sweetest toilet, bath and nursery soap. SWEELEST COILET, DATH AND HUTSETY SORP-Cuticurs Resolvent, liquid and in the form of Chocolate Casted Fills, Cuticurs Ointment and Cuticurs Soap are sold throughout the world. The Value of Charcoal

Few People Know How Useful it is in Preserving Health and Beauty.

Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient

Charcoal sweeters the breath after smoking, drinking or after eating onions and other odorous vegetables. Charcoal effectually clears and im-proves the complexion, it whitens the teeth and further acts as a natural and eminently safe cathartic.

It absorbs the injurious gases which collect in the stomach and bowels; it disinfects the mouth and throat from the poison of catarrh.

All druggists sell charcoal in one form or another, but probably the best charcoal and the most for the best charcoal and the most for the money is in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges; they are composed of the finest powdered Willow charcoal, and other harmless antiseptics in tablet form or rather in the form of large, pleasant tasting lozenges, the charcoal being mixed with honey.

The daily use of these lozenges will soon tell in a much improved condition of the general health, better complexion, sweeter breath and purer soon ten in a much improved condition of the general health, better complexion, sweeter breath and purer blood, and the beauty of it is, that no possible harm can result from their continued use, but on the contrary, great benefit.

A Buffalo physician in speaking of the benefits of charcoal, says: "I advise Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges to all patients suffering from gas in stomach and bowels, and to clear the ecmplexion and purify the breath, mouth and throat; I also believe the liver is greatly benefited by the daily use of them: they cost but twenty-five cents a box at drug stores, and although in some sense a patent preparation, yet I believe I get more and better charcoal in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges than in any of the ordinary charcoal tablets."

Toronto, Oct. 7.—The Superior Printing Co. of Port Arthur has asked the court to dismiss, for want of prosecution, the suit of James Conmee, M.P.P., for damages for alleged libel. MR. CHARLTON RETIRES

His Farewell Address to the Liberals of Old Norfolk.

Ill-Health Forces Him to Resign-His Claims On the Alding and Forego Active Politics For the Peace of Privale Life-Reviews Principal Measures in Parliament in Which He Was In

Simcoe. Oct. 8 .- John Charlton has announced his retirement from politics. The announcement was made yesterday afternoon at the Liberal convention for Norfolk. Mr. Charlton said:

Mr. president and delegates to the Liberal convention of Norfolk,—You have given evidence of your kindness and good-will in honoring me as the Liberal candidate for Norfolk in the pending election. I desire to say that I have at all times received from the electors of North Norfolk respect. Offertion and good-will on from the electors of North Norfolk respect, affection and good-will. On every occasion I have had the confidence of the electors of North Norfolk, and during all these years I have received from them signal honor. For eight elections I have received a majority of the electors of the old riding. On the first occasion, in 1872, I received a majority of 50, and in 1900 I had the honor of being elected by acclamation. On all of these elections, through the loyalty of my constituents, North Norfolk has stood by me, and I thank you most heartily for your loyalty and devotion.

The Charlton Act.

During my Parliamentary career I

During my Parliamentary career I have had several bills in my hand which became law. I make mention only of the Charlton Act, which was received by the electors of North Norfolk with almost unanimity, and which also received the sanction of the people of Canada. This act was fought for seven years before it passed.

I have spent much labor and time in behalf of the Lord's Day observ-ance, the principal object being a civil law enacted in favor of the toilcivil law enacted in favor of the toiler, as a boon for Sunday rest. This act was never passed. For ten years
I labored in the hope that I might be able to bring this measure into Parliament, but my efforts were unsuccessful, and I felt from the first to the last that from the majority of the members I lost popularity through my efforts.

Friend of Beckprecity.

Friend of Reciprocity.

During all my years as a public man since 1872, I have been an active and zealous friend of reciprocity between Canada and the United States. I publicly demonstrated my view of the reciprocity question in my speech upon the Brown Draft Treaty in 1874. Since that time I have been an advocate of better trade relations. During all of these years I felt sure that the United years I felt sure that the United States did not give Canada fair fiscal terms, and during at least the last decade both Canada and the United States have failed to understand each other. In 1899 I entered upon, if I may use the term, a propaganda in the United States, and in this way I have been able to influence to a considerable extent American public sentiment. I am now of the opinion that the United States the opinion that the United States is ready for a recipracity treaty with Canada, and I hope that Canada will be ready to respond. My opinion with regard to reciprocity is, it should be understood, that there should be understood, that there should be free interchange of natural products between both countries; that Canada should have its own tariff, which should be generally upon the present line of duties, and that there shall be no preferential duties between Great Britain and the United States. Preferential duties T2,094. The total population is given as 226,365.

Dessau, Germany, Oct. 8.—A sudproper reciprocity treaty with the United States, then Canada should turn her attention to her own interests, and do all in her power, especially in the United States, to percially in the United States, to fect a permanent system that will not permit discrimination fairly from any other countries.

Corruption in Elections.

In the session of 1903 I introduced a bill regarding corrupt practices in elections. This measure was a strin-gent one, and I believe would have greatly decreased wrong practices.
This bill was placed in the hands of a special committee, and after ful consideration by the law officers of the Justice Department, as well as by the committee, the bill was reported to the House. Many strong objections were made by many of the members of the House to the the members of the House to the measure, and it was decided to lay it over for further consideration. Not being in the House during the ses-sion of 1904, except for a few days, I could not again introduce the bill. It was perhaps to be regretted that action had not been taken. However, it is quite probable that a bill of this kind could not receive legislative action until there is a more pronounced and strong feeling among the general electors regarding a change in the law.

Tribute to Laurier. While I have been an independent Liberal, I have always been loyal to Sir Wilfrid Laurier. I saw in him a striking personality who shone as the first of the colonial Premiers. At his nrst of the colonial Premiers. At his course during the Jubilee in Great Britain I gave him unstinted praise. I have desired to give evidence of my ability to do him service, both in my office as a member of the Joint High Commission; by my duly sup-porting the policy of constructing a national transcontinental railway; by my efforts against having a premature tariff policy before an ultimate at-tempt to secure an honorable treaty for reciprocity could be obtained, and many other matters.

Why He Must Retire. With regard to the present election, it was my intention to have enter-ed upon a vigorous campaign at the close of the session of 1903, and hold many meetings. My intentions were frustrated when I was struck down from strenuous labors, after having first held but three of the meetings I had mapped out. and th's election taken place at the close of another session, perhaps Provinence would have enabled me to go on with the contest, but under the present circumstances I cannot proceed with the work of an election campaign. My health will not permit me to make exertions, or to undertake the work of a leader of the riding, and I must retire from the field, and give my exertions and good wishes to the Liberal party of Canada. down from strenuous labors, Severance Brings Pang.

I desire to express my affection and highest regard for noble old Norfolk and its intelligent and honest constituents. My severance brings a pang that I cannot name, but I feel that my career in the House of Commøns is ended. In the thirty-two years of my services in Parliament I have no doubt made mistakes, as all men do, but I have always tried to do my duty. I have led an active life, and have done what I believe has been for the good of Canada. For all the blessings that have crowned my efforts, and given me length of days, I thank Almighty God. I trust we may be blessed individually, as communities, and as a country, by Him who will teach us if we will follow.

Reciprecity With Canada.

Boston, Oct. 8.-The Massachusetts Republicans yesterday adopted this platform: "We believe that still further measures should be taken toward negotiating reciprocity treaties with foreign countries, and especial-ly with Canada and Newfoundland upon such terms and conditions as will secure an enlargement of our foreign trade for the common benefit of our people, wherever reciprocal arrangements can be effected consistently with the principles of pro-tection, and without injury to Ameri-can industries, or when, as President Roosevelt said in his message of 1902, "the minimum damage done may be disregarded for the sake of the maximum of good accomplished."
In the language of the President's letter of acceptance, "we are on re-cord as favoring arrangements for reciprocal trade relations with other countries, these arrangements to be on an equitable basis of benefit both of the contracting parties."

And this is but one of many instances I could give of the absolute sacrifice to that god of vanity, than whom there is no greater tyrant nor rueler task-master. The certain fate flies always over and above some undercurrent of pain. That for the enjoyment of the few, the many suffer—suffer and are oppressed until they can only curse life and die—glad for the one respite life at last allows them!

The wasteful extravagance of one section of society points ever and always to the future of retribution which sooner or later must take vengeance on the vices and tyrannies of the rich. They meant the downfall of Babylon and of Rome in days of old, the overthrow of monarchy in later days. Does anyone pause to sak what they mean also for England ask what they mean also for England and England's rulers in the near future.

SYMPATHY.

Sorrow fills the heart I know With a leaden weight of woe: Makes the lives so dark, so drear, Fills our souls with doubt and fear. Yet it is not hard to bear If there's someone near to care; If some kindly voice, sincere, Whispers, "I am sorry, dear." Like the sunshine after rain; Like the calm that follows pain: Like the harbor lights so bright To the sailor in the night: Like cool water to parched tongue Like an anthem sweetly sung,

PREPARATIONS FOR A BATH.

A Cincinnati travelling man, says the Enquirer, tells of a hotel ex-perience in the interior of Arkansas. The paper adds that his friends look upon the story with suspicion. He had arrived at a small settlement, and repaired to the Eagle House, which was situated on the outskirts of the town and on the bank of a stream.

After a dinner of side-meat and corn-bread he lighted a cigar, and the proprietor said:

"Stranger, is thar anything we uns kin do foh you-all?"

Thinking to confound his host, the stranger answered:

"Well, yes, come to think of it, I'd like to have a bath."

The proprietor let his feet drop.

The proprietor let his feet drop from the railing upon which he had hoisted them, went into the house, and returned in a moment with a huge tin cup full of soft soap, a rough towel and a pick and shovel, which he offered to his guest.

"What's the pick and shovel for?" asked the traveling man.

"Well, stranger," answered the landlord, "th' watuh's low, and yo'all 'll hev to dam up the creek."

A VOTE FOR GEO. STEPHENS MEANS A VOTE FOR A BONUS OF $796,650 FROM THE COUNTY OF KENT

The Hon. Mr. Blair, the only practical Railway man in the Laurier Cabinet, put the total cost to Canada of the building of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway at $139,000,000. This was before further concessions to the big corporation were made by the Laurier Government in 1904. The population of the Dominion at the last census was 5,371,315 and dividing this into $139,000,000 the cost per head of population is $25.87. That is, every man, woman and child in Canada will contribute this amount directly or indirectly to the big railroad corporation for the carrying out of this mad scheme. On this basis Electors of the County of Kent are asked to vote this bonus of $25.87 per head, or, according to population in the County of Kent, $796,-650 00 for the county. A vote for George Stephens is a vote, for this great corporation bonus for a railway 600 miles to the north of us. ARE YOU VOTING FOR THIS BIG BONUS?

ALL ABLE MEN LEAVE LAURIER

Two Ministers and threee high of ficials have come into conflict with the ruling politicians at Ottawa, and there have been three resignations, one dismissal disgraceful to the country, and a threatened abandonment of office. It is important to note these cases. The facts are these:-, Hon. J. Israel Tarte, Minister of Public Works, resigned, but, according to Sir Wilfrid Laurier, was dismissed—because he advocated the policy of Canada for the Canadians.

Hon. A. G. Blair, Minister of Railways, resigned, although asked by his colleagues to retain his offfice, and thus to deceive Parliament as to his opinions, because, as Minister of Railways, understanding the question at issue, he regarded the transcontinental railway scheme in the altered shape presented by Sir Wilfrid Laurier as "folly," and "a sheer waste of $150,000,000 of public money, without one redeeming feature."

Right Honorable the Earl of Dun donald, General Officer in Command of the militia, refused to resign, and was therefore dismissed, and described as a "foreigner," because he proposed the adequate defence of the country, and opposed the introduction of politics into the militia, to the injury of the country's defenders, and in violation of the King's regula-

John Lorne Macdougall, Auditor-General of Canada, independent of the Government, tenders his resignation because the supervision of the expenditures imposed upon him by law is contested by the Ministers, and because a fill has been introduced to render his cheek upon the accounts ineffective, and his attempts to pre vent stealing useless.

Capt. Salmon, Dominion Wreck Commissioner, resigns because the Minister of Marine and Fisheries assumes to dictate that he shall not deliver his judgment in an important wreck enquiry until the Minister gives him permission, thus asserting political control over what is in the nature of a judicial tribunal.

The Minister or the official who proposes what is right and opposes what is wrong cannot remain in touch with the Laurier Government, and must step aside.-Mail and Em-

SOME MORE ROSS-STRATTON INIQUITY.

The revelation made by Mr. Lorne Hale, the Ross caudidate in North Renfrew, is calculated, to startle the province, and to intensify the feeling against the Ross-Stratton Government, points out the Mail and Empire. This Government undertook to protest the return of Mr. Dunlop. It represented that Mr. Dunlop had spent $7,000 in his long-drawn-out candidature, and professed horror at the outlay. Its hypocritical organ alleged that a man who would spend $7,000 in a contest covering 18 months must, of necessity, have spent it corruptly.

Now we have Mr. Hales' side of the story. Mr. Hale is sued for bills incurred during the campaign. He swears that he ran on the understanding that his expenses would be limited to $10,000 and that the balance of the cost of the contest-$30,000-would be paid by the Ross Government. Mr. Stratton and Mr. Vance are mentioned as the persons with whom the agreement that the Government should find this large sum of money was made. This is a terrible statement. If $7,000 meant corruptions in the case of Mr. Dunlop what does $40,000 mean in the case of the Ontario Government? It seems clear that the Ross-Stratton faction set out to buy or steal the constituency. That the conspiracy was frustrated the election of Mr. Dunlop shows. After failure the Governmen assumed an air of virtue and pursued the victor, with a view to having a second shot at the constituency. The Stratton bribery conspiracy was a feature of the campaign. Mr. Gamey visited North Renfrew and explained bis case. Mr. Stratton came also; and arguments on the Stratton side to the tune of $40,000 were laid before the electors. It looks like an attempt to buy or steal from the conAll those suffering with Boils, Scrofula, Eczema for Mr. Stratton. If this sort of thing is done in a provincial campaign, is there anything that the machine will refuse to do in the Federal contest? If the machine is bad, if it is seeking a renewal of life in the Federal election, why not smash it? If we desire to curb its wickedss, why not reject its candidates

CONTRASTS.

Borden is a man of affairs; Lauier is simply a mere talker. Borden has shown wonderful business ability; Laurier admits that he s no business man.

Borden has perfect grasp of the business of this country, gained in half-a-dozen years' public life; Laurier, after 40 years experience, makes the G. T. P. railway proposal.

Borden has a fixed idea of a fiscal policy for Canada; Laurier - after nine years as leader of the government-has not yet been able to hi upon a fiscal policy for Canada.

Borden appeals to all the people; Laurier appeals particularly to Quebec, trusting to the thick and thin Grits elsewhere to help him through. Borden, in England, would not give the British people a false idea of Canadians; Laurier does.

Borden has no enemies of the emire in his following; Laurier has. Borden has no free traders in his following to mollify; Laurier has.

Borden would add the other tenth to the cost, and have the country own the G. T. P. rai'way: Laurie would allow the country to burden tself with nine-tenths of the cost of the road, and then give it away to a private company.

Borden would have all goods made in Canada that can profitably be made here: Laurier allows a hundred millions of dollars worth of manufactured goods-which should be made factured goods—which should be made in Canada—to be imported each year from the United States alone.

Borden would put a prohibitory export duty on pine sawlogs and lumber, pulp wood, pulp, nickel ore and matte, and other things of which Canada has naturally a monopoly, and compel the manufacturer of all these raw materials in Canada: Laurier has for nine years steadfastly refused to do this grand thing for Canada, notwithstanding the fact that it has been urged upon him time and time again.—Hamilton Spectator.

"I thank you so much." Turning to the first man I said "Will you kindly tell me your name?"

"Me? Oh, I'm Ogemauh, Chief of the Chippewas. See my firebag?" said he proudly, as he held out what looked like a regalia, beautifully worked in beads and ending in what appeared to be a huge pocket.

"What is a firebag?"

UNDERMINING FOUNDATIONS

Ancient and Modern Ideas of Spendir the Day Which the Lord Has Hallowed Bev. Dr. Talmage's Plea For Christian Instead of Lazy Man's Rest On That Day-A Timely Deliver.

Entered according to Act of Parliament of Can-ada, in the year 1904, by William Baily, of To-rento. at the Dep't of Agriculture. Ottawa.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 2.—At this time, when renewed attempts are being made by the enemies of religion to undermine the old established foundations of the conditions of the grave so high that it will dam back the onward flow of the "waters of knowledge" and change the "river of progress" into the "stagnant pool of ignorance and sloth." When the past generations did their work they did it well for the time and the condi-tions in which they lived, but the dead generations would not do as they did in the past if they were liv-ing now. We would not cry "halt" they did in the past if they were living now. We would not cry "halt" to the "forward march" of scientific investigation; neither would we compel the church of the Lord Jesus Christ to "mark time" by the grave of a Justin Martyr, a Calvin, a Wesley, a Luther, a Knox, or bivouac with eternal somnolence in the chambers of a Westminster Abbey, where the honored ecclesiastical fathers gathered July 1, 1643, and composed the Presbyterian Confession of Faith and our Longer and Shorter Catechisms.

But, though we would not consider our ancestors infallible in their opin-ions nor absolutely wise in their ways of living, yet, on the other hand, we must grant that our ancestors knew a great deal more than some of us are willing to give them credit for. Though our forefather's "lightning expresses" were only cacredit for. Though our foreinther's "lightning expresses" were only canal boats and stage-coaches and saling boats, in which most of us would be afraid to cross Long Island Sound, let alone the Atlantic Ocean, that is no reason why they did not know how to develop Christian men and women as successfully as do we. Though our ancestors for the most part had no books save that of a Bible, a "Pilgrim's Progress" or a Doddridge's "Rise and Progress of Religion in the Soul," that is no proof that they did not know as much of God and hold the truth in its purity as thoroughly as do we who have access to such vast modern libraries, and yet to-day we find a spirit of "exterminating iconoclasm" abroad. Man's profane hands are digging up the old foundations and destroying the old altars and ridiculing the old ways merely because they are old. I would not have you bend the knee before the hillock of a ancestral grave as though it were a shrine, but I would have you respect and not destroy it, but use that hilleck of a grave as the stepping stone to a higher throne. The living may in some things be right where their Christian ancestors were wrong, yet we have only to look around at the modern innovations and observe the effect they have on the community to be convinced that is some things our Christian ancestors were right and the modern innovators deplorably wrong. arcs tors were right and the modern inmovators deplorably wrong.

the foundation stones of our ancestral Sabbath. Its descrators have been going up and down the length and breadth of the land asserting that religious worship can bec as much a form of dissipation drink or over-eating or over-exercis-ing can be. They make a wrong ap-plication of our Lord's words that the "Sabbath was made for man, the "Sabbath was made for man, and not man for the Sabbath." They affirm that it is absurd for a business man who has been at hard work for at least six days of the week from 7 o'clock in the morning sometimes unfil 10 or 11 or 12 o'clock times until 10 or 11 or 12 o'clock at night to be compelled to get up on Sunday in time for an early Sunday school, then attend two long church preaching services, and then perhaps to attend a Christian Endeavor Society besides.

They contend that Sunday should be a day of rest and that what a man needs upon the Sophath day is be a day of rest and that what a man needs upon the Sabbath day is relaxation. He should go to bed Saturday night after a hot bath with his mind perfectly at ease. As he rawls into bed he should be able to say to himself: "Now, I can lie here just as long as I please. If I can awake at 9 o'clock, all right. If I can sleep to 12, better still. Then after I awake I will have a cup of coffee and a roll brought to my bedside, and I will eat a little and then stay in bed for another hour, reading the newspaper. Then after dinner I will take my children out to one of the public parks or down by the the public parks or down by the seaside and get a sun bath and a view of God's trees and valleys and hillsides, or I will go to one of our great art galleries and look at the pictures. It is impossible for me to ing made by the enemies of religion to undermine the old established foundations of faith and to revolutionize the Christian Sabbath, this sermon makes a vivid contrast of "the old time religion" and the new. The text is Psalm xi. 3, "If the foundations be destroyed, what can the righteous do?"

We should hold sacred the dust of our dead. That is true, but we should never build the hillock of the grave so high that it will dam back waters of the control of the contro and shall return to my work the next Monday strong in body, clear in mind, more loving to my family, the human race at large, and to God himself. That," says our iconoclast, "is my idea of the Sabbath day. I do not think a hard-working man has a right to make his Sunday a day of hard work in church-day a day of hard work in churchgoing, so that he works harder on the Sabbath than he does on any other day of the week."

Sabbath iconoclasts, is that the way you would have man spend his Sabbaths? Well, already your modern teaching in reference to the Sabbath too well has taken root. Your premises are wrong, for you know not to what conclusions they tend.
To see whether your grandfether's To see whether your grandfather's Sabbath or your own is the better I would have you compare the two side by side. Thirty, fifty years ago the man who made Sunday a day of pleasure was looked upon as a blasphemer, an out and out enemy of God, of the church and of the better elements of the social community. When Sunday morning would come even the horses and the stock the farm knew it was a day of rest. The family would arise a little later than usual. Then they would linger a little longer at the breakfast table. Then the sweetest music of the a little longer at the breakfast table. Then the sweetest music of the world would begin to sound. The old village bell would send its silvery notes rolling down the valley. Then, after morning prayers, the horses were hitched up, and father and mother and all the children rode to town in the same big wagon. Then the pew was a family pew, and an the members were there. Then came the sermon, then the fourney home, then the quiet yet bountiful dinner, then the afternoon for reading or restful quiet, then the singing of the hymns around the old-fashioned piano. Then the evening church service again or, if the farm was too far away, the evening prayers and early bed. You know, O man, that old-fashioned Sabbath day meant more than mere cessation from worldly work. It meant quiet communion with God. It meant Bible study and sacred readings as well as mere rest. Do you wonder that such a Sabbath as our fathers observed was the very foundation of church life, of Christian home life, of Bible reading and of consecration to God? Alongside of this beautiful Sabbath day of rest I want you to place the modern Sabbath, with its so-called liberal ideas. First, where do we find the vestibule of the Sabbath? Namely, Saturday night. To bed early? Oh, no! Saturday night has come. In our large cities the street cars are ly, Saturday night. To bed early? Oh, no! Saturday night has come. In On, no! Saturday night has come. In our large cities the street cars are crowded. Where are the people going? Some to the theatres; others, alas, to places of still more evil resort! Men and women, tired from work work and women, thred from work now, are turning this Saturday night into the hardest kind of work. They are dissipating for pleasure's sake. To the non-churchgoer, as a rule, Saturday night is only too often a time for free indulgence of every desire that is bad.

Sunday morning is here. Where do we now find most of the non-churchgoers? Again crowding our railroad trains and cars; picnics, ball games, outing parties, where the breweries and the wine seners get their biggest revenues. The beautiful pictures of the family Bible which we used to study as a boy have given place to the silly pictorials of the Sunday newspaper. Everywhere on the Sabbath six simply runs riot. In many cities even the saloons and playhouses are full. Instead of the quiet family group going to the village church, now almost every country road near an adjacent city has its yelling rioters, half drunk or entirely yelling rioters, half drunk or entirely debauched, who are off for a day of sin. Do you mean to tell me, sensible man, that the modern way of spending the Sabbath is as profitable as a day of rest and communion with God as were the Sabbath days our forefathers observed? The rigid observance of God's day as a day consecrated to himself the most important foundation stone of the church of Jesus Christ. With out it no true gospel consecration can exist. I know that in some homes the lines were too tightly drawn and in them the Lord's day was gloomy and was a weariness to

I protest, in the second place, against the iconoclasm which would eliminate from our lives the divine principle of concern for the welfare of others. Profane iconoclastic hands have been undermining the foundation stones of our sacred Sabbath.

Aye, these enemies of God have been doing more; they have been sneering and ridiculing the beautiful parable of the good Samaritan. They have of the good Samaritan. They have been declaring that a man's neighbor belongs not to the family which lives next door to him. The only neighbor who has claims he would recognize is the wife or child who lives within the four walls of his own house. He has been asserting that a man's chief duty in life is to himself and his own. After the members of his immediate family have eaten enough and have a well filled wardrobe and a comfortable house to live in, then a man has fulfilled his live in, then a man has fulfilled his chief end to society. His doctrine is, "Care for yourself and let others care for themselves in the same way."

The Golden Rule with our ancestors was a practically and not a mere theory. "Where are you going to-night, mother?" the father often asked. "You look tired You ought to-night, mother?" the father often asked. "You look tired You ought not to be going out to-night." "I know it," she would say, "but I must go. Our neighbor is very sick. I am afraid she will not get well. They have sent for me to come and spend the night with her. I have fixed everything for breakfast. If I do not get back in time in the morning, why, you and the girls can get ing, why, you and the girls can get ing, why, you and the girls can get along somehow. Goodby now. Make the children go to bed early."

The daintiest delicacies ever cooked in the mother's stove were not for the growing boys, with healthy, vigorous appetities. They were for the poor consumptive young girl who used to sit day after day upon the neighbor's veranda in the noon sun, smiling at us as we trudged away to school. My, how we cast longing eves at those jellies! We then at times almost wished we could be sick, at least for a little while, to get a taste of them. And how warm and comfortable the mittens looked which mother knitted for the poor children living over the hill. which mother knitted for the poor children living over the hill! And when the farmer who lived down in the valley was prostrated with ty-phoid fever and lay for months, hovering between life and death. hovering between life and death, don't you remember how your father and the neighbors took turns plowing his fields and sowing his grain and getting in his harvests? They say that that sick man was once a strong athlete. However that may be, when upon his sick bed he heard what his neighbors had done and how they had kept the wolf of hunger from his door he writed. hunger from his door he cried like a little child. He became just such a sick man as Ralph Connor depicted in one of his backwoods tales.

In one of his backwoods tales.

I deplore also the iconoclasm which is robbing this country of the sanctity of home life. The iconoclast's profane hands are ruthlessly laid upon our ancestors' Sabbath observance and our forefathers' doctrine of "Do to others as you would have them do unto you." They go further than this. Those same profane hands are also snatching away our ancestral home. ancestral home enjoyments as well They are saying to modern man:
"Man, do not be an old fashioned granny. Do not think because your grandfathers found most of their grandfathers found most of their su-joyment in the society of your grand-mothers and your uncles and aunts that you have to find most of your that you have to find most of your enjoyment in the society of your wives and children. Do not forever be a 'stay at home.' Come; let us build for you clubhouses, where you can find nightly fellowship with strong and brilliant men. Come out of that little hencoop of yours. If of that little hencoop of yours. If you want to give a reception to your friends, do not give it in your home. It is too small. Hire a big hall in the centre of the town, where you can receive in better style. There, instead of having a few cakes baked by your own hands and some ice cream which you made in your own freezers, you can have a fine categor furers. rs, you can have a fine caterer furnish an elaborate supper; instead of having your own daughter sing a simple song or your little boy rectte a piece you can have the finest of orchestras furnish the music. If you want speaking, you can hire a pro-fessional elocutionist to recite. This is an age of progress."

Do you, my brother, think for one instant that the advent of the modern clubhouse and public reception hall and belmonico banquets is a moral improvement for modern men over the old fashioned quilting parover the old fashioned quilting ties and merrymaking frolics once made the rafters of the old farmhouse creak like the beams of a arimnouse creak like the beams of a ship at sea and bend almost like William Tell's bow? Do you think this? I do not. I believe that any enjoyment which a man is compelled systematically to find outside of the society of his wife and wife and the society of his wife and wi society of his wife and children and home is a depleting, enervating and ultimately degrading enjoyment. I believe that any enjoyment which systematically makes a mother re-legate the care of her children to nurse girls and to hired hands is an enjoyment which is poisoned through and through by evil influences which will ultimately bring forth harvestings not for God, but for Satan.

ings not for God, but for Satan.

But, lastly, I would state that the iconoclasts of this day are trying to sidetrack the chief purpose for which our forefathers and foremothers lived in reference to their children. Instead of leading a parent to the altar of Jesus and saying, "Oh fathers and mothers, the chief desire of your lives should be to consecrate your children at these altars and have them make a public confession of Christ here," they would break these altars. They would say: "Here is the statue of wisdom. Dedicate your children here. Send your dicate your children here. Send your boys to college and give them an intellectual education." "Here is the statue of Midas. Sacrifice here, that you may leave them money." "Here is the statue of fame. Make out of your children great orators or paint-ers or musicians or authors." Thus we see scores and hundreds of patents working by day and night to give their children—what? To give them to God and the higher life as their parents tried to do? No. To give them to a worldly success, which them to a worldly success, which those parents in their hearts know may only lead their children to mor-al ruin and perhaps to eternal death. of ruin and pernaps to eternal death.

O man, I ask of you one question.

It is a blunt question. Will you answer me? What would you sooner have had your father to be—a great have had your father to be—a great speaker, a great financier, a great general or a simple, noble, pure hearted and devoted servant of Christ as he was and is to-day in Christ as he was and is to-day In heaven? You answer well. There is but one right answer. Then, if the noble, pure, gentle Christian life of your father meant so much to you, can you not, will you not give to your boy the same Christian heritage? By the sacred altar of God's love will you not carry out the dying wishes of your now redeemed and glorified parents and consecrate yourself to your Divine Master? Will you not here and now lead your boyen your boyen to be a support to the same the same that you not here and now lead your boys and girls to the feet of Christ and consecrate them to the Master also? Shall not the chief purpose of your Christian parents in reference to their children be duplicated in the chief purpose of your life, to bring to Christ your children and your children's children? children's children?

To-day let us have some of the old To-day let us have some of the old fashioned purposes and ways and habits of our forefathers. When we are dying may we never be ashamed to utter the words which Dwight L. Moody said to his children. You all have read them: "May we not be ambitious to make money. May we Moody said to his children.

have read them: "May we not be ambitious to make money. May we not be ambitious for worldly fame to be ambitious. May we simply be ampleted honors. May we simply be ampleted." not be ambitious for worldly fame and honors. May we simply be am-bitious to find a consecrated, earnest place to work in God's vineyard and have in that vineyard our wives, our children and all our friends working by our side in the Master's name." That purpose is a noble purpose. That purpose God will bless as he has blessed that holy purpose in the lives of the old fashioned folks who are now in heaven awaiting the home coming of their children. That purpose forms the true foundation, the maker and the living and and redeeming and ascended and glorified Christ. May God answer the fulfillment of this prayer for pulpits and pew alike. pit and pew alike.

PRANK OF GERMANY'S

THE BEAUTIFUL SONG OF A DEADLY BULLET

OF THE JAPANESE

An English non-conformist clergy-man, of whom the London Telegraph tells, is the victim of a rarely profitable able absent-mindedness. At a fair held by the women of his church one of the "attractions" was a beautiful doll, handsomely dressed, which was to be given to the person who guessed its name. There was an entrance fee, and the choice of the doll's name was left to the clergyman.

At the close of the fair it was found that the guess doll had brought in more than one hundred pounds, but as the name had not been hit upon a by any one, the clergyman suggested that it be appointed a parish visitor, and call regularly upon the children in the hospital in the town. This was readily agreed to. Then somebody said—

"You must bave given it a very odd name."

"Ah, that reminds me," exclaimed the clergyman, looking confused but still cheerful, "I did not name it at all."

Observation of life as is led by beast and fowl in the remote haunts among the woods and on the lakes, are always of interest, for they disclose some of the private thoughts of natural instinct. An English sportsman thus writes this experience with the wild ducks:

Always on the lookout for ducks, I stole cautiously to the edge of the lake on the other side of the next portage, and observed a saw-bill duck, with a brood of nine young ones, and a dozen yards from the shore. The old bird had evidently the suspected something dangerous, for she was gently drawing her young brood farther from the shore, with a low, coaxing note. Making a slight noise as I advanced, the old bird instantly called all the little ones to her side, and then swam with them as fast as the tiny things could possibly paddle towards the middle of the lake.

the number "13" is unlucky. They don't want to have anything to do with parties of 13 or rooms numbered 13, and they never for one moment ensent to sit down to a table where there were 13 guests. It is a wonder that these people—shall we call them foolish f—are willing to carry a quarter of a dollar in their purses. Perhaps, though, they never happened to notice how full of thirteens it is. Take a good look at a quarter and you will discover what a queer mixture of thirteens it is. It has 13 stars, 13 letters in the seroll in the eagle's beak, 13 feathers in the sheld, 13 horizontal stripes, 13 leaves on the olive branch, 13 arrow heads, and 13 letters in the words quarter-dollar.

The table being cleared by her assistant, the witch has brought in a brasin and a small bag of said. She invites members of the audience to advance to the table and throw handfuls of said in the basin, which is partly filled with water. When all are reseated, she dips her hand in the basin and withdraws the sand perfectly dry.

This trick was long kept seeret by the Hindoo fakirs, but, fike most things about conjuring, it explanation is surprisingly simple. The sand is prepared beforehand by being heated in a frying pan. When it becomes sufficiently hot, a small piece of paraffine is placed on it and allowed To melt. The sand is then taken off the stove and allowed to dry. The wax coats every minute grain of the sand, which, when dry does not appear to have been thus treated. A gentle shake of the hand should be given when it is lifted from perfectly dry.

The pld fable of the siren has its duplicate in one of the most deadly of modern weapons. The whistle of a bullet ought to be a dead sound; it is surprising to be told that it is a beautiful one. H. F. Prevost Battersby says, in his South African notes, called 'In the Web of a War"—

The Mauser's most melodious period is from eight to eighteen hundred yards. Over that distance its note is the most exquisitely lovely of single sounds. "The silky breath of the Mauser" is a phrase that adequately describes it.

But there is something more about it than its beauty, something strange and baleful. It goes by like the singing of a wandering soul that can find rest only by bringing death to another. It is a sighing so indescribably tender and sad and sweet withably tender and sad and sweet withatilky breath, one has even to resist a desire to lift his head and take the next puff of it in his face.

The Crown Prince Frederick William as a boy, was full of fun and mischief. In later years the same qualities have at times got him into serious scrapes.

Once when a distinguished visitor had audience with the emperor, so the story goes, the Crown prince noticed that the visitor before being ushered into the emperor's presence compressed his opera hat and laid it on a chair in the antie-room. The hat was a novelty to the prince and it on a chair in the antie-room.

A MOMENT

Some time later the Rev. Dr. Dryander, court chaplain, called to see the emperor. He wore a new tall hat and left it in the after-room.

The crown prince happened to be near with his younger brother Eitel. He at once started an investigation of this hat. He remembered the way the opera hat collapsed and tried to compress the chaplain's hat in the same way.

One of the editors of the Chicago Tribune calls attention in his witty way to the extreme brevity and restraint which characterize the miltarry dispatches of the Japanese. "A Japanese account of a victory," he remarks, "reads like a time record of a day's work in a steel mill," and he gives these examples—"At day br.ak the Japanese batteries opened fire and by 7.05 a. m., had silenced the Russians at Yushoku. At 7.30 a. m., made an attack by the whole line and severe fighting took place from 8.15 to 9 a. m. The Japanese troops stormed the Russians holdings a fourmile front.

There were some 30,000 Russians holdings a fourmile front.
"While the enemy was trying to regain the port a battleship of the Petropavlovisk type struck mines laid by us the previous evening and sank at 10.32 a. m."

History will know that the Petropavlovisk did not sink at 10.31 or at 10.3. Meanwhile the western world begins to wonder whether or not Admiral Togo punches a time clock when he knocks off at night.

Travelers have reported that neatness was the Japanese forte. Certainly it would be hard to find a neater person than the Japanese soldier, manicuring his nalls before battle, going through a day's action with the oiled nonchalance of a piston rod, and then explaining to his govern.

In former days, when attended to his legislative duties at West-chester, he frequently carried home with him the watches of brother Parliamentarians that stood in need of hospital trættment. To whatever political party a member belonged Lord Grimthorpe was always willing to set his time-piece right for him.

If this peer could have his way he probably would make it a misdemean or publicly to exhibit a clook that is not a good time-keeper. "A public clock," he once declared, "should not be allowed to vary more than five seconds in any week," That this is an ample margin Lord Grimthorpe has demonstrated in the great time-piece at Westminster, which he himself designated, and which goes with a weekly variation of scarcely a second.

All at first went well and soon they began to cross the face of the cliff to gain a rocky buttress that offered a likely route some hundred feet below the top of the wall. "Javentures one had the rope as taut as possible between himself and his neighbor. Was leading," without any warning, as though ne nad trod on the keystone of the wall, the whole face for some forty feet above him peeled off, and with a crash like thunder, hundreds of tons of rocks precipitated the was torn from his hold and huried down the precipice with them.

"Fortunately, Walker was able to hold on, though the strain on him was something awful. From our position it was impossible to see what had become of Jacob, and only the tight rope told us that his body at least, living or dead, was still fastened to us. In a voice singularly unlike his own, Walker craned over the rocks and then turned round, I see him. He is awfully hunt. After a moment Jacob managed to recover his footing, and then untied the rope with trembling fingers, and crawled along the face of the cliffs to the other side off the gully. We bound up his wounds as well as we could. He had had a marvellous escape no large fragment for hundred, hund all its strands but one had been severed, so that his whole weight had hung almost by a thread."

ROUMANIA'S POET-QUEEN THE CHILDHOOD OF

The mother encouraged the little ones with low cries, and looked continually from side to side to see if they were all there, and also keeping close to her. So compactly did they swim that at a distance or thirty yards they looked like one object.

I suddenly showed myself, running to the beach; not with the intention of shooting them, but rather to watch the manner in which the old bird would act towards her young. She rose with a wild cry of alarm; the little ducklings, perhaps not a week old, instantly scattered themselves over the surface of the water some going on one side, some on another, but always keeping within a certain distance from the shore. The flew to and fro across the bay of the lake, alighting about ten minutes on either side, swimming about then flew back again, and so gn.

She was evidently gathering the two divisions of her young yogether on either side of the bay. The time occupied in making the portage afforded me an excellent opportunity to watch the manner in which she would bring them together.

After the lapse of three-quarters of an hour it appears that the little ducklings had all answered the call of the mother, and addressed to one another er and about five of the little ones swim across the bay and join the other four who had remained on the opposite side.

One could easily conceive the quackings had all answered the call of the mother, and were collected in two groups about a quarter of a mile apart, for I saw the mother er and about five of the little ones swim across the bay and join the other four who had remained on the opposite side.

One could easily conceive the quackings had all answered the call of the mother; and were collected in who addressed to one another were quite delightful to witness. The low and addressed to one another were quite delightful to witness. The bow note of warning; the gathering flock around her; the wary manner in which she drew them from the short had addressed to one another were quite delightful to witness. Marriage, unless based only on love, says a writer, is the most ardious of all professions, where the hours are long and the wages mone, Many a girl, fretful at home, thinks she has only to marry and she will have nothing to do but be as happy as the day is long. The girl who is in business believes her days of work settles down. Never was a greater mistake. The girl who thinks marriage means a lazy life had better remain unmarried all her life, or great will be her disappointment. A lazy woman never yet had a well-regulated household or a loving husband. Riot and extravagance prevail in the lazy woman's home, and such things do not spell happiness for any rich, needs thought and work to make it comfortable, and so much thought and work that love and love only can be the adequate recompense. Love is the wages for home-makers, marriage based on anything else soon becomes a dead failure, and dreary misterything else in the world may be run on business or other lines, but thappiness in marriage depends entirely on love.

"Now," said Freddie's mother, as she got him ready for a visit to her sister's, "be sure you aren't late to breakfast, as you so often are at home. That won't do when you are visiting your aunt. Get right up, and don't dawdle while you are dressing"

HOW FREDDIE SOLVED

The devotion of a man of science to his work is often heroic, and the calm pluck of the laboratory man in his investigations is thrilling, although so common as to be proverbial. The recent death of Dr. Truax, of Brooklyn, to which the Week's Progress calls attention, is, if no hing els', a beautiful exhibition of cold self-possession.

So ill himself that he needed all his strength, he answered a call and started to perform an operation at the hospital. During the operation he was stricken down, and was removed to an adjoining room in a fan ing condition. He told his fellow physicians that his trouble was an attack of heart dilatation. He prescribed his own treatment, and directed the work of the doctors in administering it.

He noted the progress of the treatment and its lack of result, and himself announced the failure of the remedies and his approaching death. Some years ago Dr. Terry, of Fall River, Mass., showed similar courage and supremacy of will. While he was feneing a foil broke and pierced his mask and his eye. He pulled off the mask and ordered that a certain specialist be summoned.

He then seated himself and, note-book in hand, jotted down his experiences as data for his profession. He explained that the wall of the eye had been pierced, and that a clot of blood was forming on his brain. All the phenomena of the formation of the blood clot from the patient's point of view, most valuable know-keefe for other physicians to work death overlook him. The end came before help could reach him.

Its name is Venus. You may not think it is much of a beauty, but it was named after the goddess of beauty because it is considered a very fine specimen of the gorilla family. It has just been added to the zoological gardens in London in company with another young gorilla, which has been given the name of Chloe Venus and Chloe are thought to be about five years old. They are proving a great attraction at the gardens, for they are the only captive gorillas in the world except one which is in the zoological gardens at Bresslau.

Gorillas are very difficult to rear and seldom live long in a state of captivity. Even in a wild state these animals are rarely seen alive. They roam about at night and usually rest during the day among the tree tops. They are very fond of pineapples, and these are often used as bait in trapping them. In some spot known to be haunted by the gorilla one of these luscious fruits is placed, and to this is fixed a rope. The end of the rope is passed over a bough of a tree immediately overhead, and tied round a huge spear, which is so set that, in lifting the pineapple the weapon is brought down with deadly force into the back of the unsuspecting victim.

Church restoration is another of his hobbies, but in this his achievements have nardly been so fortunate. He spent a pile of money in repairing St. Alban's Abbey and bringing is upto-date. As a tangible and enduring memento of his labors he added to the adornments of the west porch several sculptured representations of his own physiognomy. But instead of the popular applause that he had anticipated, his efforts evoked a storm of derision and it was generally maintained in artistic circles that the old church would have fared much better if His Lordship had kept his hands off it altogether. The controversy resulted in the addition by one lexipographer of a new verb to the dictionary. To grimthorper which according to the definition appended, means to spoil an ancient building by restoring it. Also some irreverent crities made free with the strenuous person the has demonstrated the value of highbles as an aid to longevity.

MILLION SLAVES AMONG THE CHINESE.

When Carmen Sylva, the poet-queen of Roumania, was the little princess of Wied in her father's eastle on the Rhine, she used to sigh because she was a princess; and she has herself told how she longed to be a village child like those that she saw every day.

Since she could not get out to play with them, she invented plays of her own; and in these plays, the trees of the big castle park were her playwith them, she invented plays on the big castle park were her playwith them, she invented plays, in which one tree was the wicked giant another the rairy prince and so on.

It was natural that this course of life should fan the enthusiasm of the child for story-telling; and in her eleventh year she had begun to write poetry, while her fourteeath birthday saw her busy over a drama. By the time she was twenty, she had written enough poetry, plays and stories, including several novels, to make books that would fill a long shelf; but she showed these to nobdy, and it was not until Prince Karl of Roumania took her to that land to be its queen that she began to publish any of her work.

China is the great slave country of the world. Of a population of 400,000,000 there are slaves to the number of 10,000,000. Every family of means keeps its girl slaves and man's position is usually graged by the number he keeps. At any age from 3 to 15 girls are sold, 7 to 8 being the age at which most change hands. The girls are purchased to do housework, it being cheaper to buy than to hire Slaves vary in price: $10 is about the average, but much depends on the girl's appearance. A good-looking girl will fetch $20 or eyen $40,
