Edward Lord Released on a Telegraphic Order From Ottawa.

SIGNED BY MINISTER OF JUSTICE.

The Result of Two Years' Hard Work by Leroy Tozier

WHO CIRCULATED PETITION.

The Prisoner Was Released at 12:30 Today—A Brief History of the Case.

"You can release Edward Lord," reads the telegram received at police headquarters this morning from Minister of Justice Sir David Mills at Ottawa. To say that this telegram brings relief and happiness to several people is to put it very mildly. Besides the prisoner himself, who once more walks the streets a free man, his wife, of course, is made happy and while that word is perhaps a little strong to apply to Leroy Tozier, it is certainly not saying too much to state that he heard the news of the pardon with great satisfaction, as is mainly due to his untiring efforts and persistence that the pardon which has been so urgently sought during the past two years, has at last been granted, and Lord set at liberty.

The history of the case dates back to November, '98, at which time Lord was a barkeeper in the employ of Joseph Kerry. While under the influence of liquor he took $18,000 worth of gold dust, the property of Kerry and Dougherty. His arrest followed, and upon being arraigned before Judge McGuire, in what was then the supreme court of the Northwest territories, now the territorial court of the Yukon territory, he plead guilty to the charge of theft, and returned the money. It was deemed advisable for the sake of example to make his sentence severe, and he was accordingly sentenced to five years at hard labor.

Perhaps the severity of the sentence may have been increased from what it would otherwise have been, by the belief that there were others implicated with him in the crime, but if there were, Lord was always careful to guard their secret jealously, and would never admit anything which would tend to implicate anyone else. The prisoner received his sentence from Judge McGuire March 24, 1898, and Mr. Tozier immediately took steps looking to his ultimate pardon. Some things had to be contended with in the matter, among them some charges of former misconduct in one of the southern states, which, on account of the great distance, and limited mail service, took a long time to disprove. It was done, however, and the circulating of a petition which received the signatures of Judge McGuire, Capt. Starnes, Capt. Scarth and other officials who were in a position to know the details of the case, followed. This petition, together with voluminous proofs of former good behavior, did the work and resulted in the final pardon and the telegraphic order which came at 12:30 today and made Edward Lord once more a free man.

Smith vs. Slavin.
Editor Nugget:
I want to say something about this Slavin who made such a blow in Saturday's paper. I deny that I ever bit, gouged or kicked him and will bet $500 that he can not prove it, and as for him licking me in a round or two, I don't want to brag, but I have seen him box and don't think he is dangerous.

He only won one fight and that was against Kilrain, and it took him nine rounds to best. We all know what Kilrain is. He never whipped anyone but old Godfrey. Slavin has been whipped by such men as Joe Rutler (colored) a 160-pound fighter and a fourth rate man. He knocked Slavin out in one minute. Peter Maher put him to sleep in a couple of rounds; Jim Hall in six rounds and several other fourth-class men made him lie down.

I think Slavin is a big bluffer and I will endeavor to take some of it out of him tonight. I am satisfied I will win the battle.

WATER FRONT.

Many Steamers Arrive From Up and Down the River.

WHAT A RETURNING NOMAD THINKS.

He Says the Beach Town Is a False Alarm.

MIGHT EMPLOY 1000 PEOPLE.

Topkok Is a Dead One—Government Will Be Asked to Carry Out People.

Steamers Leah and Hannah of the A. C. Co.'s down river fleet are now at the company's dock unloading. The Leah arrived yesterday, 22 days from St. Michael; the Hannah came in this morning, making the run up river in 16 days. The Leah brought, with a barge in tow, 400 tons of freight. The Hannah's cargo was 289 tons. Following is the passenger list of both boats. By the Leah—Miss M. Dunsme, W. M. Crowley, C. B. Gaines, C. Hundahl, W. B. Cross, A. E. Erickson, J. P. Lynch, R. M. King, C. T. Welsh, J. W. Murphy, H. H. Groat, J. B. Nixon, A. A. Richards, Joe Twain, C. E. Anderson, A. Anderson, E. Sanbury, C. Anderson, G. Johnson, E. Segerobson, L. W. Smith, H. Smith, H. Seymour, W. H. Kempkaut, H. Woodcock, H. A. Barr, Fred Vina.

Steamer Hannah—John Leonard, Jas. Christie, E. C. Hardison, Mrs. Emma Rhodes, A. Spitzel, Cad Wilson, Nellie Holgate, J. Aashland, J. S. Caldwell, E. Barry, D. B. May, J. B. Connelly, A. C. Knight, F. A. Herdstrom, R. Favis, H. Cheney, H. L. Falkner, Marie Shone, Mrs. Maison, John White, P. M. Brown, Sam Bonfield, Sam Sloan, Jas. H. Watson, John Mansfield, A. A. McCandless, C. E. Bory, E. B. Hanley.

The Leon is following the Hannah and will probably be the next down river boat to arrive in Dawson.

The steamer Arnold, which took the freight of the Mary Graff, disabled, came up the river to Eagle City and returned to St. Michael from there after unloading her cargo at that point. She had several hundred tons of government freight.

Capt. Mercomb of the Hannah reports meeting the Susie at Tanana, the J. C. Barr at Eagle and the Hamilton and Power just above that point. The Power is returning to Dawson with a barge which she left down the river on her last trip. She will probably get in today.

The usual fare from St. Michael to Dawson is $125.

The powerful up-river boat, J. P. Light, arrived yesterday with the largest cargo ever brought in to Dawson from Whitehorse by any steamer. She did not load to her full capacity as this is her trial trip, but nevertheless she carried 250 tons of merchandise, twice the average load of the big C. D. Co.'s boats. The trip was made without incident and Manager Davies is multiplying 250 tons by 33 many trips as the boat can make, consequently he sees a big run ahead as the carrying capacity of his steamer for the season's work.

There were no C. D. Co. boats arrived yesterday.

The steamer Flora arrived from the mouth of the McQuesten river Saturday night. She sails today for Whitehorse.

The following was received by wire: Gold Star passed Big Salmon coming down at 6:15 this morning.

The Victorian and Lightning passed Five Fingers going up, the latter at 5 a. m. and the former an hour earlier. The Canadian passed down at 5 a. m., and the Tyrrell at 9 this morning.

At Ogive the Yukoner was reported coming down at 9 a. m. today.

Lower Lebarge reports the Bonanza King and S. S. Bailey both coming down, the former at 7:30 and the latter at 8:30 this morning.

The Sybil was stuck on a bar nearly 24 hours and pulled off yesterday. She passed Stewart river coming down at 7:30 this morning. The Anglian passed that point going up at the same time.

The Hannah, Capt. Newcomb, arrived this morning with about 70 passengers who are returning to Dawson with the idea that the Klondike is the best mining district firmly impressed in their minds. The principal portion is from Nome and the most discouraging reports of that camp are given. The quarantine has been raised and all sickness is under control, but the majority of the people are without sufficient funds to reach the outside although the fare is low, in one case having dropped to $15. The popular belief is that the government will transport great numbers to the States as they will have to be fed if they are allowed to remain in Nome, for no work will be done there this winter or early next spring on account of the many legal complications as regards ownership of the claims. Discovery on Anvil creek is being worked under the supervision of a receiver appointed by the government until the title is settled. The Wild Goose Mining Company, owning the principal claims in the district, is in litigation as to its title. For two weeks before the Hannah sailed it had rained to the satisfaction of all at Nome, but yet no gold came into town and the gold scales still remain on the top shelf with a good covering of dust. It is disputed by none that the beach diggings, which were the cause of the great rush, are a failure, and the many devices for working the same transported there at the expense of thousands, lie on the beach washed over by the high tides of fall and are just sinking in the sand. Machinery that could in no possible way be used was brought to that country by men from the Eastern states and is not worth the cost of transportation.

At Council City and Topkok good strikes are supposed to have been made, but so far it is only hearsay as no convincing proofs are at hand. Stampeding has been going on all summer and the country for miles has been staked and restaked. Some have great faith in the future of the camp next year, but so far the creeks have produced nothing.

Business was good in Nome for about three weeks and then came the collapse. Prices of goods lowered, the scale of wages was cut and as a result "to let" signs hang on the doors of many down town buildings.

From the deck of a steamer Nome has a very pleasing aspect, as the buildings are large and well-built, but upon landing the scene is changed as the streets are nothing more than narrow crooked alleys of mud which, in the fall are well high impassable by teams. Many are leaving but will most likely go by way of Seattle on account of the cheap fare, although many would prefer to visit Dawson. The smallpox scare was without any foundation, as only one death could in any way be traced to that disease and many physicians doubt whether that case really was smallpox. About 5000 people will winter in Nome to enjoy a winter of enforced idleness.

From the Koyukuk the reports are very discouraging, nothing having been found. Gold has been found in the Tanana district but in not sufficient quantities to pay. At Weare, Circle and Eagle nothing is being done except in government circles, where there is great activity in building. The U. S. government has a great number of troops along the river and is building permanent barracks at all points. Everyone was greatly pleased at getting back to Dawson, although a summer's time had been spent for nothing. Dawson remains the mecca of gold seekers and has proven itself to be the only substantial camp in the north.

STEAMER CUTCH

En Route North Strikes Colt's Reef in Lynn Canal.

PASSENGERS AND CREW ALL SAVED.

Vessel Fills, But Stern Is Not Submerged.

HER CARGO A TOTAL LOSS.

May Be Floated—Scout Burnham Promoted—Large Destructive Fire in Atlin.

Skagway, Aug. 27.—The British steamer Cutch which left Vancouver the 20th for Skagway, struck Colt's reef at the entrance to Lynn canal at 11 o'clock Friday night. The vessel filled rapidly, her bow sinking in a few moments after striking. Her stern remained out of the water, enabling her 34 passengers and crew of 35 to escape safely to shore, where they were made comfortable in tents. The passengers were all taken to Juneau Saturday. The Cutch carried a large cargo which will be a total loss. It is believed the steamer can be saved as where she lays is not exposed to heavy seas in case of rough weather.

Burnham is Lionized.

Skagway, Aug. 27.—Word has reached here that American Fred R. Burnham, formerly of this place and who went to South Africa by special request of Lord Roberts in the capacity of army scout, but who has since been invalided to London, has been promoted to the rank of major and is greatly lionized in London.

Big Fire in Atlin.

Atlin, B. C., Aug. 27.—A big fire, the first in the history of the city, occurred here yesterday afternoon. The fire started in the British-American Corporation's warehouse, and for a time it looked as though the whole town would go, and it was saved by the most strenuous efforts of the population which worked en masse.

The approximate losses are: B. A. C. building and stock, $10,000; J. H. Rose, hotel and dwelling, $8000; Capt. Nickerson, store, $2700; John Broder, store and restaurant, $2000; Hirschfeld, photographer, $2000; Anderson's barber shop, $400, and other small structures making the total loss about $30,000.

Live Cattle Coming.

Skagway, Aug. 27.—Two hundred head of live cattle are here on the way to Dawson. They are owned equally by J. F. Hielscher and Bartsch.

When in town, stop at the Regina. Private dining rooms at The Holborn.

MONDAY, AUGUST 27, 1900

A STRAIGHT ISSUE.

Tomorrow night, a meeting will be held in McDonald hall for the purpose of determining the advisability of holding a convention for nominating candidates for the two seats in the Yukon council which are to be filled at the election on October 17. Such a convention as is proposed ought to be able to nominate men who will be acceptable to the majority of British subjects who are opposed to the present administration. There is no question of Dominion politics entering into the matter. It is simply a case of being for or against the methods of government which have been applied to this territory during the past two years. The government's policy has been a straight hold-up from beginning to end. No opportunity to grind a dollar out of the Yukon has been overlooked, and only now after the blood letting process has been going on for more than two years has any disposition been made manifest to lend a listening ear to our grievances. The time is at hand when it is within the power of the voters of this territory to administer a rebuke to the administration which will undoubtedly make a lasting impression.

Care must be taken that no personal ambitions be allowed to divide the opposition forces. If a united front is shown there will be no doubting the result.

Capable leadership will win the battle without any difficulty.

Bryan is introducing a new feature into the campaign this year. Instead of touring the States and addressing the people from the rear of a Pullman he spends his time in delivering speeches to phonographs. These are sent over the entire country so that it is possible to hear Bryan speak on the questions of the day at any crossroads junction from Maine to California. "Bryan on Silver," "Bryan on Expansion," "Bryan on Trusts," any and all of these can be heard by merely dropping a nickel in the slot and listening while the wheels go round. Bryan has probably done more to amuse and entertain the American people than any other man who has ever figured in national politics.

It would not help the prospector any if the Klondike and Indian river divisions were cut up into 50 districts, if the ground is not to be open for location. It is certainly to be hoped that the recent order will be followed by another, throwing open to the prospector all ground now held in reserve, no matter for what reason. There is ground enough to accommodate 4000 more actual miners if the opportunity were given them to locate and develop ground now closed against them. The royalty question is not one whit more important than the matter of opening up the territory which so long has been held in reserve.

Now is the time when the ambitious candidate goeth forth and button-hoeth every man he meets. He extendeth the glad hand and in divers and sundry other ways maketh himself generally a good fellow. He uncorketh many a small "bot" and giveth forth cigars with a lavish hand. He hath a smile for his most deadly enemy and taketh care that he oweth no man a cent. The world looketh good to him and he swelleth up when he pondereth upon his own greatness. Nevertheless, when election time cometh he is very apt to find himself in the soup, for woman only is more fickle than the goddess of politics.

Senator J. M. Frink, of Seattle, has been selected by the Republicans of Washington as candidate for governor. The nomination is equivalent to an election, as this is distinctly a Republican year in the coast states. Senator Frink is one of the most successful and respected among Seattle's business men and his selection for the office of governor by the Republicans of the state is a well deserved tribute to his worth. He has been elected three times to the office of state senator, and if elected to the office of governor of which there seems little or no doubt, he will be in direct line for a seat in the upper house of congress.

According to the Sun, which is the government organ, the royalty is to be removed and Mr. Wade is the man who did it. According to the News, which is government organ one day, miners' organ the next and any old organ the third day, the royalty has been removed and Judge Dugas is responsible. We will hazard one guess that the royalty has not been removed, and another that when it is, it will come as a result of the indignant protests which have filled this territory for the past three years, and not by reason of any individual influence. We will be pleased to give publication to any other opinions which may be advanced on this matter.

Snow in August is something unusual even for Dawson. It appears that those people who have prophesied an early winter have good reasons for backing their opinions. It is now in order for bets to be made on the closing of the river.

A copy of the Nome Weekly News has been received at this office. The Nome News is bright editorially and neat in appearance. It seems, however, to be a considerable degree in advance of the town.

The rains which have been so prevalent during the past month have helped out the mining industry in splendid shape, reports indicating that there has at no time been any lack of water for sluicing or rocking during the summer.

According to the way Mr. Girouard views the situation it would be quite appropriate to term the bridge which is to be built across the Klondike "the bridge of lies."

Seeks Refuge in America.
London, Aug. 14.—President Kruger addressed a formal application to the United States to grant him a sanctuary in case the necessity for it arose. This occurred, according to Secretary Reitz, the day Lord Roberts entered Pretoria. The details of the event has been related to a reporter of the Associated Press by F. W. Unger, who has just returned from the Transvaal, and who secured the information from Secretary Reitz and others.

After quoting the secretary as saying President Kruger would never take to the mountains on account of his age, but would retreat down the line, finally escaping to Portuguese territory, Mr. Unger says that the day before the British entered Pretoria President Kruger sent for Mr. W. Stanley Hollis, the American consul at Lorenzo Marques, and Mr. Hollis was taken to Machado-dorf in a special car. President Kruger asked him if his government would grant him (Kruger) an asylum in the Lorenzo Marques consulate until he, Mr. Kruger, made other arrangements for his departure.

President Kruger expressed fears concerning his treatment by the Portuguese government, and wished to guard a way to escape. Mr. Hollis asked for time to consult with his government, and President Kruger assured him he would receive a week's notice before putting the plan into execution.

In consequence of this visit to the Transvaal and the transmission of President Kruger's request to Washington, Mr. Hollis received instructions from Secretary Hay not to leave Portuguese territory again. He was thus compelled to neglect the interests of the British prisoners at Nooit Gedacht, where there was great suffering. Mr. Unger, in conclusion, said: "I make this explanation in justice to Mr. Hollis, whose action has been misunderstood in America and Great Britain."

Travelers in Trouble.
A number of women who arrived Sunday from Seattle had purchased in Seattle through tickets from Skagway to Dawson over the White Pass & Yukon railroad, and the steamers of an independent line. The railroad, not being protected with a guarantee from the independent line that it would carry the baggage through satisfactorily as regards the customs, and not having arranged for joint through route, at first refused to take the baggage offered.

There were several excited women in town when they learned of the conditions. After some parley the railroad got a guarantee from the steamer company for the forwarding of the baggage of the passengers, and they will be allowed to go forward as first expected.

However, one of the railroad officials said the steamer line could have been prosecuted for selling through tickets over the road without agreement. He intends to look up the responsible persons at Seattle and cause a shaking of dry bones.—Alaskan.

Stage Glints.
Madeleine Lucette Ryley's latest play is called "My Lady Dainty." It will be produced in London.

John Coleman's adaptation of "Pericles," which has not been seen for years in London, is soon to be acted there.

Miss Maude Adams has returned from her trip to London and Paris and has gone to the Catskill mountains for a summer rest.

Marie Wainwright has engaged Justin Huntly McCarthy to write for her a one act comedy which she will next season exploit in the vaudeville.

Marie Halton, the American soubrette of "Geisha" fame, made a great hit at the Berlin Theater des Westens in a new comic opera called "Rhodope."

James A. Herne has gone to Hot Springs, Ark., in the hope of removing from his system by a course of medicinal baths the last traces of rheumatic gout.

The Gerry society is more active in New York than ever, and has just stopped the performance of two Japanese acrobats, arresting them on the charge of teaching young children their acrobatic tricks.

James Young is negotiating with Mary Johnston for the right to produce "Prisoners of Hope." If the arrangements are consummated, he intends making a big spectacular production of the piece next season.

A Jail Cure.
The late Sir John Bridge, the well known London magistrate, was fond of telling his friends of a curious letter he received not long before his retirement from Bow street. It ran:

"Sir—I am sorry to occupy your time, but I feel I must write to thank you for having locked up my wife for six months. My wife had often come before the court for drunkenness, but after being fined she was worse. You were kind enough to give her six months, and she came back to me a reclaimed woman and is now the best wife in England."

This letter was all the more valued by Sir John Bridge because he was ordinarily a lenient judge.

Not a Rat Terrier.
Officer Ned Scarlett, of the Second police district, was riding to his home on an electric car one morning, and as the car slowed up at a crossing to allow some passengers to alight a woman rushed out from a neighboring house screaming shrilly and beckoning to the officer.

Scarlett jumped off the car and hurried to the woman's assistance.

"What's the matter, ma'am?" asked Ned.

"Oh, officer," shrieked the distressed female, "there's a rat in my house! Won't you come and kill it?"

"Excuse me, ma'am," responded Scarlett. "Tis many times O've bin told Oi was a 'tarrier,' and no doubt Oi am wan, but nivir can it be said that Officer Scarlett demaned himself by assumin' th' dooties av a 'rat tarrier.' Goo' day, ma'am."

And with a dignified wave of his baton Scarlett remounted the car.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

GLADSTONE'S GUIDING STAR

Throughout His Long, Useful and Brilliant Life

Was the Woman He Wooed and Married in Girlhood and Who Proved His Life Counselor.

Mrs. Gladstone's manner was full of grace and charm. The genuine amiability of a completely unspoiled nature showed itself in every word and look. Hope-Scott has left it on record that she was a potent canvasser, and no one entered more naturally into the frolics of the young or the little interests of the poor. But she was also essentially a "grande dame." Her walk and bearing as she passed the royal presence at the drawing room were long the admiration of those whose duty obliged them to stand by the throne or in the "general circle," and in her habits, manners and style of speech she was a great lady of the old school. This quality gave a peculiar effectiveness to her dealings with pertness, forwardness or undue familiarity, and when she thought it her duty to administer a snub no one snubbed so aptly. It was impossible for the subject not to feel the process and equally impossible for him (or her) to rebel against it. But these exercises of social discipline were rare, and, for the rest, Mrs. Gladstone diffused geniality, good temper and cheerfulness wherever she went.

Few women of her generation had so wide a circle of attached friends. She was an indefatigable letter writer, and her correspondence, accumulated through 60 years, contained letters of the highest interest from the most famous personages, royal, political and ecclesiastical, of the present reign. But it was in the home that she excelled. She had been a devoted daughter and sister; she was the last an exemplary mother and head of a family, and when we think of what she was as a wife Mr. Gladstone's words about the queen's marriage may, with perfect exactness, be applied to his own. "Even among happy marriages it was exceptional, so nearly did the union of thought, heart and action both fulfill the ideal and bring duality near to the borders of identity." From the earliest days of their married life Mrs. Gladstone made her husband's health, not always so robust as in later years, her prime care, and her skill and watchfulness drew from him the characteristic compliment, "My wife is no inconsiderable physician." An even more valuable contribution to his happiness (if not to his success) was the sedulous care with which she warded off whatever might tend to disturb the "vulnerable temper and impetuous moods" which, 40 years ago, he acknowledged as his own. Their married life was one long honeymoon, and, though indeed fully charged with solemn interests and issues, it had also a jocose and genial side which was inexpressibly attractive. No one who ever heard it will forget the quaint enjoyment with which Mr. Gladstone used to sing the refrain of his favorite "Tinker's Song."

A ragamuffin husband and a ranting wife, We'll fiddle it and scrape it through the ups and downs of life.

The slightest sketch of Mrs. Gladstone's character would be glaringly incomplete if it disregarded her religion. This was not a mere aspect or attribute of her character; it was the basis of her nature and the mainspring of her life. Her views were those of the traditional high Anglican school, which she illustrated in its characteristics of reverence, gravity and unobtrusive devotion. But her heart knew no distinctions of sect. She "walked in wisdom towards them that are without," and her lifelong works of mercy were literally all embracing. The House of Charity in Soho, the Newport Market Refuge, the Woodford Convalescent Home, the House of Mercy at Clewer, the Orphanage at Hawarden are only a few of the good works with which she was intimately connected. On the occasion of her golden wedding Cardinal Manning wrote:

"I have watched you both out on the sea of public tumults from my quiet shores. You know how nearly I have agreed in William's political career, especially in his Irish policy of the last 20 years. And I have seen also your works of charity for the people, in which, as you know, I heartily share with you. There are few who keep such a jubilee as yours; and how few of our old friends and companions now survive! We have had a long climb up those 80 steps—for even you are not far behind—and I hope we shall not 'break the pitcher at the fountain.' I wonder at your activity and endurance of weather. May every blessing be with you both to the end!"

That activity and that endurance were maintained almost to the close, though the great occupations and interests of life were gone. In 1889 Mr. Gladstone said: "It would not be possible to unfold in words the value of the gifts which the bounty of Providence has conferred upon me, however unworthy I may be, through her." And in his will he wrote, "I desire to be buried where my wife can also lie." It was the tribute of a grateful love nobly and richly given. Mr. Gladstone's political career awaits the verdict of history, but wherever he is remembered there will also be remembrance of that pure and courageous spirit which was the guiding star of his tortures and the good angel of his house.—London Times.

A NOME DEN OF THIEVES.

One of the toughest joints in Nome is the Montana saloon on Front street, just beyond the tracks of the N. A. T. & P. Co. It is the rendezvous of the most dissolute of both sexes in the entire community, and has been the scene of a number of occurrences that have resulted in complaints being registered with the authorities. Among its other unenviable claims for notoriety is the reputation it possesses as a fence, or place where criminals may dispose of the spoils collected in their midnight prowlings.

So many reports concerning this place have come to the military headquarters that Capt. French at last decided to raid the saloon and see what he could find there that might belong to others.

Saturday evening was the night decided on for the expedition. Promptly at 10 o'clock six privates, under the command of an officer, assembled at the office of the Pacific Steam Whaling company, from which place they departed for the saloon, spreading out so as to come on all sides at once and prevent the escape of any of the hard characters who might be in the building at the time. The surprise was a complete success and the saloon, a number of suspected tents that surrounded it and one shack belonging to a man by the name of Kuling, were all surrounded and thoroughly searched together with their inmates.

Nothing was found in the saloon, but in a shack a barrel of beef, which had been stolen from the Pacific Steam Whaling Company, was unearthed together with four loaded six-shooters, one rifle, one shotgun and a vicious looking bowie knife.

The beet and firearms were taken charge of by the soldiers, and Kuling was arrested and brought before Commissioner Stevens, who held him in $2000 bonds to appear and answer before the district court.

The prompt and firm action of Capt. French is commended by the whole of the better portion of the community. Favorable criticism is heard on all sides and the universal hope is expressed that the captain will continue in the good work and clean out a few more such places. One portion of the town which would be benefited by a visit from the military is that portion back of Front street occupied by the swarm of dissolute women who make their living by preying on those drunken unfortunates that drift their way. These women get money through their charms if they can and through their muscle and that of their lovers if they must. Hardly a night passes but some accomplished or attempted robbery by force is reported from that section. The military exercise a wholesome influence of the criminal element who dread the direct manner the soldiers have of dealing with them as they dread nothing else, and one visit from the blue coats is generally sufficient to insure good behavior for some time to come.—Nome News.

Fun on the River.

The passengers on the Lightning gave their malamute howl too soon and that is why they were not wearing happy smiles on their faces when they landed here on Thursday afternoon. The smiles were all on the faces of the passengers of the Canadian who had arrived earlier in the morning. Here is the story of how it all happened.

The Canadian left Dawson last Saturday evening a few hours in advance of the Lightning and kept nicely ahead until Wednesday night when compelled to tie of for repairs just the other side of Hootalingua. Then the Lightning came along and as she steamed by the motionless ship her passengers filled the air with triumphant noises which sounded like the chorus of a hundred malamute dogs. After a delay of five hours the Canadian was on her way again and at 1 o'clock the next morning the Lightning with her lamps burning brightly was sighted in Thirtymile river. She was at a standstill and as the Canadian came up, her passengers all gathered on the deck to hurl back howls and shouts of triumph. Out went the lights of the Lightning and through the darkness some people could be observed making a quiet sneak from the deck to their staterooms. The howls and shouts were returned with a vigor that would make 200 malamute dogs ashamed of their lung power.—Whitehorse Tribune.

Down to Earth.

They had just become engaged and acted like husband and wife basking in the honeymoon.

"I tell you, pet," he said after a long and pleasant sojourn in the parlor, "tomorrow we will go down to the finest hotel in the city and have dinner. You wear that gray dress that has such a pile of fluff stuff. I'll put on my best bib and tucker, and were bound to make a bit."

"Oh, you dear old darling! Do you know, I have a mania for swell hotels. When we get rich, we'll live in them, north in the summer and south in the winter, won't we?"

"Yes, of course. Certainly. What you prefer will be my delight, you know. But let's think of tomorrow now. We'll make it a red letter day and a celebration."

They went into the dining room after scores of guests had assembled, and they make a stunning appearance. The hum of conversation was stilled, diners nudged each other, and she felt that her heart was growing faint while he enjoyed the unmistakable evidence that they were taken as bride and groom. They were received at a separate table with a flourish. The waiter in charge looked important, put on the high touches of a cake walk as he seated them and then leaned over her shoulder as though her order was a matter of the strictest confidence. Poor girl, she knew as well as did the waiter that their table had concentrated all eyes. The menu showed her as much as a blank piece of paper. It was rich in good things, but it did not convey an idea to her perturbed brain.

"What shall I bring you, fus, m' lady?"

She swallowed rapidly, blushed rapidly, wished that she was at home and then in a low but steady voice: "I'm not quite in appetite today. Bring me some ham and eggs."

Klondiker Loses Money.

Elmer Emerson, a returned Klondiker, was swindled out of $205 last night by two bunco men. Emerson, whose home is in Lakeview, Or., returned from Dawson recently and was intending to take the train last night for Eugene, Or., where his father-in-law lives. As a result of the swindle he is still in the city patiently waiting for the police to catch the two thieves.

Yesterday morning Emerson met a man who knew all of Emerson's friends in Oregon and related several incidents about them which the victim knew to be true. The bunco man asked Emerson to help him in carrying some bales of silk down to the train. Emerson consented. When they were going to get the alleged silk they were stopped at Second avenue and Cherry by another member of the bunco fraternity, whom the first bunco man addressed as "the major." "The major" demanded the payment of a debt of $400.

The first bunco man had only $19. The first bunco man requested of Emerson the loan of $205. It was granted.

"Wait for me here," he said to his victim, "while I go up to the major's office and get a receipt." Emerson waited.

The two swindlers disappeared up the side entrance of the Washington Territory Investment Company building. The Klondiker grew suspicious and followed. As he ascended the stairs the bunco men left the building by the front entrance. Emerson reported the matter to the police.—P.-I. Aug. 15.

Probably Frozen to Death.

Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 14.—The members of the Charleston party engaged in stringing the all-Canadian telegraph wires to Dawson, returned today from sections of the Klondike country where it was thought the foot of white man had never trod before.

Near Pike river, in a dense forest, they found the skeletons of twelve horses in a clearing. Further on there was a complete sawmill and several houses. In the cabins there were no human bones, but all were stocked with provisions, and besides there were lying around overalls, grindstones and axes.

With Disappearing Guns.

London, Aug. 14.—Gen. Chaffee's message announcing his arrival August 9 at Hosiwi stands as the latest official intelligence of the march of the allied forces on Pekin. The English papers say it is rather annoying that their naval and military officers cannot communicate with the high officials, while Admiral Remy and Gen. Chaffee can do so by the Shanghai-Canton wire.

Secret inquiries at Canton show all the forts have been newly armed with 7-centimetre disappearing guns, and that the garrisons number 18,000 men in all, armed with Mausers and Winchester. The Chinese have apparently been trying to engage a foreign electrician to lay mines in the Bogue, or entrances to the Canton river.

Dr. Marks, Li Hung Chang's physician, informed the correspondent at Shanghai this morning that Li could not go north on account of the weather and the unsettled state of the country. The doctor is removing his family from Canton because he believes there may be an outbreak there.

LEADS IN THE PROCESSION.

The Nugget Adds to Its Large Stock Already on Hand.

The Most Complete Line of Stationery and Printing Material Ever Shipped to Dawson.

On every hand is manifest universal confidence in the future of Dawson and the mining districts of which she is the business center. Not alone is the Klondike dependent on Dawson, but the Fortymile, Jack Wade, Tanana and Koyukuk as well. Dawson is the metropolis of the Yukon and as such she will remain for many years to come.

That there is confidence in the future of Dawson is apparent from the unprecedentedly large stocks of goods and supplies which have for three months and which continue to pour into the city from both up and down the river. Every enterprise here, no matter of what magnitude or proportion, is preparing for heavy business in the future, and in all branches and departments of trade the outlook for future business prosperity is most flattering. The dealers in hardware, dry goods, groceries, provisions, hay and feed, machinery, in fact, dealers in every branch of goods sold and utilized in the country have been laid in more extensively this fall than ever before in the history of the country.

The Nugget is not behind in the march of progress and business enterprise in the matter of preparation for supplying its many customers with their needs in its line. A large stock of printing material received earlier in the season was supplemented last Friday by the arrival of 16 tons of stock, the largest, most complete and varied assortment of paper and job printing material ever received by any printing and publishing house north of Seattle.

Comprised in the stock is every item in the job line from material for a full sheet hanger down to the latest and most beautiful designs in wedding, ball and society invitations, programs, etc. The Nugget's stock of commercial stationery comprises everything ever used in business houses, and with its skilled and efficient workmen is better than ever prepared to execute all orders in a manner which defies competition in the Yukon.

In addition to its stock of the class of goods above mentioned the cargo just received by the Nugget comprises machinery and fittings for the improvement and enlargement of its steam plant which was heretofore the most complete in the city, but which is now greatly increased in capacity, thus enabling the Nugget to turn out more and better work in the future than it has been able to handle in the past. A cordial invitation is extended to the many patrons and friends of the Nugget to call and examine the choice new stock, knowing that after doing so they will know where to place their orders when in need of anything in the line of printing material.

Not were the interests of the Daily and Semi-Weekly Nugget overlooked in the matter of selecting supplies for the office for the coming eight or nine months. Several hundred pounds of new body type for use in the Thorne type setting machine, new and attractive advertising type, borders, ornaments, and new head letter, complete in every detail, were received. The Nugget congratulates itself that it is eminently prepared for the approaching winter and to continue to give to its many friends the most complete news service supplied in the Yukon.

Mining Outlook is Bright

Occasionally people who have failed to find a place on the hillside under a nice shade tree where they could pick the gold, out of the grass roots are encountered on the streets, and sometimes they are heard to remark that the Klondike is worked out, or that it will be in a short time, and that anyway it will only be a short time till all the labor will be performed by Chinamen.

That is the regular sore-head plaint and has been heard in times past of every mining district of the west.

The fact remains, and it constitutes an irrefutable argument to this, that mine owners in general in this district are demonstrating their confidence in their property in a way which leaves no room to doubt the stability of the mines.

Freighters are handling more supplies for the creeks this year than ever before, and the importation of heavy machinery for mining purposes is without a parallel.

Kirkpatrick and Fuller have en route between town and their claim, 1 above on Hunker creek, five ton boiler, which considering the condition of the roads, is taxing the resources of the freighters, Orr & Tukey, to the utmost to handle. To handle this load it requires the use of 12 horses and about as many men, and even then the work is slow. The last three miles of the distance the plant will have to be handled on skids, as the road for a load of that kind, is impassable for wheels.

George Ames is also not lacking in confidence, as he is sending out to Hunker a large steam plant of the same sort and in the same way, and this means much as it will be readily understood that this is about the most expensive way of moving heavy machinery that can be found. Much activity is noticeable among the mines generally, but this is especially the case on Hunker and Last Chance. The latter creek is somewhat unfortunate just now in having to contend with a surplus of water which requires much extra work and consequent expenses to keep within bounds, but work is progressing in a very satisfactory way nevertheless, and the outlook in the mining portion of the district is very flattering.

Manager Wilson Returns.

M. J. M. Wilson, manager of the A. C. Co., arrived this morning on the Hannah after spending a considerable time in Nome and at points along the river. He expresses a great deal of faith in the future of the lower river country, particularly the Tanana, notwithstanding the diverse stories told of the district. The same applies to the Koyukuk from which district it is hard to get reliable information. Mr. Wilson said: "Our agents report those districts promising and we have sent up there 150 tons of general merchandise on the Bella with a barge, and 120 tons on the City of Paris. This boat with the Luella, a light draught boat of 25 tons, will be used permanently on the Koyukuk. The City of Paris is a 1150-ton boat."

"Nome is looking better now, but the town is in a chaotic condition owing to the irregularity of titles and the consequent legal entanglements. This, however, will be straightened out in time. Another hardship was the absence of rain, there being no rain this season on the Nome coast up to 24 days ago. Now, however, it is raining steadily and this unexpected condition is removed."

When asked in reference to the shipment of goods to Dawson by his company for this year he said: "We will get in fully one-third more merchandise by our boats this year than we did last. The Hannah will not make a return trip this year, but we have the Sarah coming in tomorrow with 450 tons. The Bella will be here in five days with the same amount; the Louise in seven days with 1200 tons, and the Susie in two weeks with 450 tons."

Mass Meeting Tomorrow Night.

As per the call of Col. Donald MacGregor previously published, there will be a mass meeting held in McDonald hall tomorrow night at 8:30 o'clock for the purpose of providing and arranging for a territorial convention at which candidates to be voted for at the approaching election will be nominated. It is expected that persons interested in good government and in the future growth and prosperity of the Yukon will be present at the meeting tomorrow night.

Death of Wm. J. Walther.

A telegram received here this morning by Manager W. C. Dawson, of the Yukon Iron Works, makes the brief, but sad and startling announcement that Wm. J. Walther died in San Francisco on the 20th instant. The message contains nothing further than the short statement embraced above, and the cause of death is a mystery to his friends and relatives here.

Mr. Walther came to Dawson in the fall of '97, and after a short time took a position as accountant with the A. C. Co. Early in '98 he organized the company which founded the Yukon Iron Works, of which industry he has ever since been general manager, and which, owing to his active and energetic business qualities has been a successful venture since its inception.

Mr. Walther went outside over the ice in January and returned in June with several scows laden with machinery for his Dawson industry. About six weeks ago he returned to the outside en route to the Paris exposition, his intentions being to spend the winter in Europe. He leaves three small children who are with his mother in the state of Washington, and a sister, Mrs. O. V. Roberts, who is here, her husband being foreman in the Yukon Iron Works.

The unexpected news of Mr. Walther's death has cast a mantle of gloom over his large circle of friends, as when he left Dawson so recently he was the picture of health and all that is embodied in young manly vigor. The big industry of which he was the head closed down for the day immediately on the receipt of the sad message.

POLICE COURT NEWS.

In Magistrate Starnes' court Saturday afternoon Leita Williams, the drunken dance hall woman who was too drunk to answer to the charge against her in the morning, was sufficiently sobered up to appear. She entered a plea of guilty and was fined $50 and costs.

Murray Eads, proprietor of the Pavilion where the drunken women had enacted their scene, was up on the charge of keeping a disorderly house, but was dismissed with a warning.

It was a motley crowd that was before the court this morning, there being all kinds of charges on the docket.

For violating a Yukon health ordinance Chas. Robinson and E. N. Adair each paid $2 and costs and looked much bored.

Alfred Hiltner had filled up on the boisterous brand of hooch and had broken the usual stillness of Sunday morning. Alf was one of three who were out for a high old time, which was interrupted by Constable Borrows who marched the trio up to the guard room. But the interior of the jail did not have any attractions for him, and when its door was reached he bolted and gave the constable a lively chase for a couple of blocks, when he was overhauled and brought back. For being drunk and disorderly he was fined $10 and costs and for skipping from lawful custody was given a solemn warning not to do it again.

Edward Biggs, a partner with Alf. in the morning lark, was in a penitent cast of countenance and looked as though he considered himself in luck when the court said "$10 and costs."

R. D. McDonahue was the other member of the trio, and denied the allegation; but the evidence was against him and he not only paid $10 and costs on his own account, but also for his associates; thus demonstrating in open court that beneath his vest he wears a heart as big as a Chicago ham.

Single-handed and alone John Hays went on a lonesome drunk. He did it, he said, for the reason that he felt symptoms of a spell of sickness coming on him and so he took the whisky to forestall it. Constable Stult had not noticed any traces of sickness when he arrested John, hence a fine of $10 and costs was imposed; and the new stove smiled for John had no money.

A man named Brownly was not present when called on the charge of hitting a woman a blow in the face in the Pavilion Saturday, and the police were instructed to find him and have him on hand for trial this afternoon.

Several days ago, on the alleged representation of being a dressmaker Miss Zeoda Luhn engaged a room at the Melbourne hotel where for a few days her conduct was above reproach; but Zeoda kept late hours Saturday night, and yesterday morning she preferred prancing up and down the hall of the Melbourne and making a racket to remaining quietly in her room as became a meek and unassuming dressmaker. Landlord Brown used all the persuasive power at his command, but the hooch was working and Zeoda would not be quiet. Constable Stult arrived, and after that Zeoda, or "Fuze," as she is endearingly called by her friends, was quiet. As her fine this morning was $50 and costs, Zeoda must needs take a large number of stitches to play even on her late escapade.

Mrs. Mansen, alias Mrs. Amanda Young, alias Mrs. King, was arrested yesterday afternoon on a charge of having, while an inmate of the Good Samaritan hospital last week, stolen a sack containing about $3500 worth of gold dust, the property of another patient, a man named Contin. Mrs. Mansen has been shadowed by the police for several days and when arrested yesterday was preparing to start out on the creeks. She plead illness this morning at the jail, and hearing of her case was postponed until tomorrow afternoon.

A Bonanza Resort.

J. H. Falconer, formerly a well-known Bennett hotel man, has purchased the mineral springs at 72 below on Bonanza and will shortly do some very extensive building there besides otherwise improving the place. Mr. Falconer's idea is to turn the place into a resort, by building a large hotel there, which when the natural advantages of the place are taken advantage of, the new proprietor thinks should do a good business. He will leave for the outside on the steamer J. P. Light to buy furniture and fittings.

The Lower River.

There is either a decided scarcity of water or else vast ignorance on the part of pilots as to the channels in the lower Yukon. From officers of the Leah which arrived yesterday from St. Michael it is learned that she and the Powers, which arrived two days before, passed each other several times on the trip up owing to the fact that the steamers alternated in getting stuck on bars, both of them being on several times and for periods all the way from two to thirty-six hours. But they both arrived none the worse for their numerous delays aside from the time lost.

Not Needed in Winter.

Persons not posted as to the route traveled in the upper Yukon country during the winter season may not understand the order of Commander Wood of the N. W. M. P., in withdrawing the police detachments from the four points, McClintock, Hootalingua, Big and Little Salmon. But the reason is very apparent when it is considered that these points are not touched by winter travel, which is by way of the

- Block Y, west half of 1, south half of 2 and eastern part of 16.
- Block H, A, 9, south halves of 10 and 11 and 12, north part of 15.

Attention is further called to the fact that the departmental representative, Mr. Raoul Rinfret, has repeatedly, during the past four months, invited those having title to those lots to present such title to him for verification and transmission to Ottawa in order to have title direct from the crown issued to the parties holding such title, but so far, without attention.

All those having title to any of these lots are hereby requested to present such title to the said Raoul Rinfret at his office on Mission street, on or before the 20th day of September next.

Delay in attention to this notice places the responsibility of further action on the parties holding title.
