

THE ACADIAN.

WOLFVILLE, N. S., MAY 25, 1888.

Johnson's Graphic Statistics.

The Department of Agriculture of the Dominion has issued a pamphlet of statistics which is of an unusually interesting nature.

The work was compiled by Mr. George Johnson, son of the Rev. Geo. Johnson, of Grand Pre, who has already won a high name as a statistician and his latest will be long preserved as one of the most valuable works of reference issued by the Government.

We doubt however the expediency of issuing such an elaborate work at a time when grants to Dominion exhibitions are struck out on the grounds of economy.

Jennie McGarry.

The recital by Miss Jennie McGarry in College Hall on Friday evening last proved a delightful treat. We were only surprised that more were not present.

New Enterprise.

Messrs Davidson Bros., of Halifax, in connection with R. W. Davidson, of Gasperau, are making preparations for going into the manufacture of pickles at the latter place this season.

Such vegetables as are required for this business are easily raised by any one engaged in agricultural pursuits and the profit resulting from their cultivation when a market is obtained is very remunerative.

Whether this enterprise will be a success or not, depends very largely on the farmers, as the best facilities and the most thorough knowledge of the business cannot succeed unless the products to be manufactured be supplied in paying quantities.

Mr. R. W. Davidson will give the required information as to what kinds of vegetables they intend to handle and can supply good and reliable seed for the same.

Mrs. M.—The travelling public have missed the jolly face of our genial conductor, Joe Edwards, this week, and we are very sorry to hear that he is at home and very ill.

Parliament Prorogued.

The Parliament at Ottawa was prorogued on Tuesday afternoon at four o'clock. The attendance was unusually large.

The measure for the ratification of the fisheries treaty, agreed upon at the opening of the present year, between her Majesty's plenipotentiary and those of the United States, to which I have given the Queen's assent, will, I believe, be viewed with satisfaction by the people of the whole Dominion as affording a crowning proof of Canada's constant desire to arrive at a just and honorable settlement of all questions arising out of the interpretation of the convention of 1888.

The arrangement under which the Canadian Pacific Railway Company has relinquished the exclusive privileges possessed by it in view of article 15 of the original agreement between her Majesty and the company, will, I anticipate, meet with general acceptance, and by increasing its financial strength enable the company to keep pace with the ever-growing requirements of the vast region which the railway serves.

The extension to the people of the Northwest Territories of a larger measure of self-government than they have hitherto enjoyed is a satisfactory evidence of the rapid development of that important portion of the Dominion, and will, I trust, be attended with beneficial results.

The prospects for a large immigration this year, of a desirable class of settlers, are, I am glad to believe, exceptionally good.

The various amendments to the laws relating to the inland revenue, railways, the civil service, and other acts affecting the public interests, which you have passed, seem well adapted to meet the circumstances which have rendered them necessary.

GENTLEMEN OF THE HOUSE OF COMMONS: In her Majesty's name I thank you for the supplies which you have readily granted for the carrying-on of the public services.

HONORABLE GENTLEMEN OF THE SENATE: GENTLEMEN OF THE HOUSE OF COMMONS: I cannot take leave of you for the last time without placing on record my deep regret that my official connection with your country should be at an end.

My interest in the Dominion will not cease with my departure from its shores and I pray that in years to come its people may enjoy, in abundance, every blessing which it is in the power of Providence to bestow.

Other Customs and Language.

The subjoined letter received by the editor of the Western Chronicle and published in a late issue of that paper shows the amount of impudent braggadocio a man who confesses himself a brigandist violator of the law of the land can command.

GRAND PRAIRIE, May 16th, '88. Would you kindly send me my acct. for Chronicle, as I wish to discontinue. You claim not to publish private abuse as correspondence. I have paid you for about me for some months under the head of W. C. T. U., as you know that I am not only a rum-seller, but drinker, and can get all the abuse that I want without paying for it; and after what appears in your issue, from nothing better than a fool, I think it about time to serve you as I have the Great Wolfville ACADIAN, and have induced others to do likewise; and if you wish to run a temperance paper, all right; but we can get all the abuse that we want for nothing, and perhaps you can make more cash from what you will find is only a small part of the community, and you can include _____ among your number, but it is played with me.

We have taken the liberty of omitting the name of the party mentioned, to whom we think the Chronicle man might have shown the same courtesy as to his correspondent. Our sympathies are with the editor of the Chronicle, as being in the same box. However we can assure him he has not sustained a severe loss. In spite of his boast, our friend Boniface has not been able to "induce" any one to follow his worthy example, and our subscription list is still on the increase.

Big clearance sale of Roompaper at Rockwell's; don't miss it.

I was afflicted with Sick Headache last summer and autumn; had it awfully bad about every fortnight. When it would come on, everything turned green before my eyes, and I would fall down and vomit until I thought I would die. This would last two or three days at a time. I tried the doctors, who failed to help me. Three bottles of Dr. Norton's Dock Blood Purifier cured me.

Protocol of the Orchard.

Far-fetched and dear-bought is met for ladies. A parallel to the above apothegm is more clearly illustrated in the case of a people who boast of their ability to grow the finest apples in the world, importing trees from a foreign country.

With inexperienced persons the beautiful or decorative element generally overrules the useful. The huckster of the tree huckster, with his picturesque appeal to human nature, dispelled the doubtful sentiments of the "innocents at home."

That Nova Scotia is one of the best apple producing sections of the Dominion is fully sustained wherever its fruit comes up for competition. Apples have been extensively grown in different sections of the country since its first settlement; and the farmers throughout the fruit districts have ever looked to their orchards as a large factor in the money income of the farm.

The get-up of the Provincial Fruit Growers' Association and International Show Society was the means by which a knowledge of the pomiferous potency of Nova Scotia was so greatly extended. The annual exhibits of the products of the orchard, so liberally patronized by specialists, in the outset, called forth a good deal of popular attention, while the prize specimens submitted to English inspection stood the test of critical pomologists.

These amateur displays created an unusual activity among the tribes of would-be exhibitors who, with their best-grown and carefully-handled collections, desired to excel in the list of competitors, having due regard to the five senses—touch—not-taste—not-at-odors.

To give state to these annual displays a foreign element was introduced, differing in character and variety of fruit from that produced by the old established orchards of the country.

"Far-fetched trees" were the objects of eager desire—patronized as something new—one's own right—proper—and became the hobby of the period. It has been an unfruitful experience with many whose plantations arriving at bearing age are found to contain unexpected kinds than from a knowledge of their adaptation to a particular soil or situation, nor for any special market. In many of the original orchards are individual trees that in their fruit value are worth more than whole rows of these imported hopefuls.

It has shown that soil, situation and elevation have some controlling influence over a successful outcome. No person now who will reason from the "known to the unknown," need plant fruit trees that have not been proved suitable to his place, or such portion of his grounds as he desires to occupy with special kinds.

Bro. Geo. Francis Voluble in passing said the Son's-keepers have had some noteworthy confab on general orchard practice. They have ventilated some things with breezy purpose, occasionally cynical. He had grown trees himself, and nurserymen are often under a ban for selling good trees, when in the buyers' hands good trees, "not for the want of neglect," die down below the earthing, the roots send up a new growth of wood, and nurserymen are blamed for the carelessness of growers in planting out.

His "business was on a level with a good deal of Provincial enterprise—a one-horse arrangement,—yet he had furnished some good stock of the good old kinds. Throughout my experience," said he, "I have noticed that most purchasers have many desires. They invariably desire large. As time is money they have no desire to serve seven years' apprenticeship to the consummation of an orchard. They desire the advice of the nurseryman in choosing what they term the best kinds, and they desire a full detail of all particulars from the setting-out of the tree to the gathering of the fruit."

Impromptu by the chairman—"There is a business line not to be overstepped by nurserymen. It is no part of his business to sell stock that he entertains doubts of its efficacy. It is not his business to recommend what varieties will suit the purchaser's soil, nor is it his business to instruct the grower how to arrange and cultivate his trees; but it is his business to acquire all the information possible in new varieties, where and by whom they originated, with correct nomenclature, and it is his business to be honest in all his dealings."

Bro. Brine—"A stranger can go into a district and take orders for trees to any amount, when a responsible nurseryman can barely find a purchaser. Some people appear to know as much about fruit-growing now as they did twenty years ago, and what little they know is of a very confused sort—quandary-like. Having no settled purpose of their own, they talk about to find out. Purchasers should know the kind of trees they require—either two years old or full-grown stock, early or late varieties, for a local or foreign market. When they learn the intricacies of this tree business, and give their orders accordingly, there will be no lack of stock of the right sort forthcoming. We see men of good judgment in the management of their farms, men who would not trust a stranger to select a sheep, a pig or a Shanghai rooster for them, but the selection of a list of trees for an orchard into the hand of an entire stranger with their J. O. U. and bag of it. Many years of tectonic supervision will have passed and gone before they learn with certainty the secret of their venture, and, whether satisfactory or not, are compelled to accept the situation. There are plenty of men, 'all round', who have given dollars for worthless trees that would not give a sixpence to a horticultural society where they would have an opportunity to learn something about 'sprouts', who are wondering at their temerity, and I don't begrudge them their adverse experience."

Bro. Tim Shane—"I am in favor of the tree peddler. He is an amusing biped if you know how to humor him. Don't snub him, and he will let himself out. In a twenty minutes' converse he will get off more tree lore than you will find true in a period of years. 'Nevertheless,' what would the country have done had it not been for the importunity of this rambling-suffering, perennially applying the trees? The local nurserymen are, even now, unable to fill out the orders without resorting to foreign importations. Some have gone into the business of tree-growing with a very limited knowledge of the required work. Their chief method is propagation by grafting on natural fruit. In some instances spots are imported, prepared for setting in the nursery. Grafting is confined to very narrow limits by whatever method it is performed. When our nurserymen adopt the practice of sowing the seed, and budding the most promising seedlings at two or more years' growth, they can produce trees adapted to the climate—trees that will defy foreign competition."

It is whispered. That Wolfville will soon look very pretty. That some people are very smart. That everybody will be very busy during the next two weeks. That fish bite well on Sundays. That light suits are now fashionable. That the swallows homeward fly. That it will soon be time to get up picnics. That the Baptist church will look very nice. That it's wrong to get cross. That bicyclists would confer a favor by keeping off the sidewalk. That Maying parties are always in order. That improvements still continue. That still there is room. That fish are sometimes caught in a fishy manner. That Gasperau is getting to be quite a manufacturing centre. That the Acadia brought a passenger on Tuesday.

IMPROVEMENT.—The old site of the Presbyterian church, which is now the property of Rev. Dr. Crawley, has been much improved in appearance of late. SUBSTANTIATED.—Some weeks ago we announced that Mr F. C. Read, of Canning, had been appointed Collector of Customs at that port. This was promptly contradicted by the Kentville New Star. Our contemporary the Western Chronicle, of Saturday last, says: "We are in a position to say from reliable authority that the appointment has been made and Mr Read is the successful applicant for the position." The Star man should acquaint himself with the facts before making contradictions.

Acadia Missionary Society.

At the last meeting in the term of the Acadia Missionary Society, which was held in College Hall on the evening of Sunday the 20th inst., the following programme was listened to by a large audience:—

Essay, "A few of the Benefits, Direct and Indirect, from Missionary work."..... H. T. DeWolfe.

Pleading, "The Hindoo."..... Miss Dincock.

Address, "The Hindoo."..... Miss Vaughan.

Address, "The Hindoo."..... Rev. J. R. Hutchinson.

Address, "The Hindoo."..... Prof. E. M. Keirstead.

Among the points touched upon in the first paper may be noticed: The benefits of mission work to the heathen state; the benefits of mission work to the heathen individual; and the benefits to the Christian worker himself. The second paper brought before the minds of the audience a picture from India, showing the terrible force of superstition over the Hindu mind. Prof. Keirstead's address was particularly interesting and earnest. Addressing himself more especially to the young men who are about to engage in the mission work during the summer, the call to the Home Field was dwelt upon; after which the incentives to action were named. The assurance of success and the demand for the truth were to be present to each worker; while underlying everything was the love for Him who sets the example they were about to follow in feeding the hungry souls.

PERSONAL.—Mrs Crawley, the wife of Rev. F. D. Crawley, pastor of the Frederick Baptist church, with the family, is visiting her parents, Mr and Mrs James Witter, in Berwick.

—We are pleased to note that Stephen Illey, Esq., who has been confined to his house during the winter, has so far recovered that he attended the funeral of his nephew this week.

—Mr Parker is now putting into his new ware-rooms the best assortment of household furniture to be seen in the county. His soft-wood chamber-suits are magnificently painted.

—We learn from a notice in the Toronto Globe that J. W. Black, of Berwick, and patentee of the ice-cream soda-fountain, has a partner and is making and selling his fountains under the firm name of Black & Nelson, Toronto.

BAPTIST APPOINTMENTS.—Memorial services of the late Randall Illey at Berwick at 11. Preaching at Somerset, 4. Prayer meeting at Berwick on Sabbath and Thursday evenings at 7 and 7.30. Free seats to all strangers. E. O. READ, Pastor.

—Dr Jacques, who had arranged to return to Berwick this month, we are sorry to learn, is not coming this year. He is very popular in the Victoria Hospital, Halifax, and his professional services are so highly appreciated that he has been prevailed upon to remain another year.

—Messrs T. A. Clarke & Sons who built the new station at Kingston and at Lawrencetown last year have the contract for the Berwick station. They are also building a barn for Mr Innes at Coldbrook. The new station is to be completed in August or before. The stone for the foundation is being brought from Hantsport.

The friends of Miss Urie A Chipman who for several weeks has been quite seriously ill will be pleased to learn that she is regaining strength and sits up a few hours daily. Miss Chipman in her self sacrificing watch-care over the sick both here and elsewhere that she was so much of her rest had she been completely prostrated. During her illness she has been abundantly remembered by her friends.

—Last Friday Mr Sullivan, of Waton, came to Berwick for medical advice, and from indisposition was unable to return home. He put up at a friend's and died suddenly on Sunday, the 20th inst. He was advanced in years and much respected, and had recently moved from Hall's Harbor for interment.

—Randall Illey, son of C. P. Illey, Esq., of Berwick, died Sunday evening, the 20th inst., aged 55 years. Mr Illey was not in feeble health for several years. He made us a visit on the previous Thursday. During his years of weakness he has been a very active, consistent and devoted Christian worker, not only in the Church and Sabbath School to which he belonged but in the whole community. He devoted much of his time in caring for the sick and the poor and will long be remembered for his kindness and interest in their welfare. He was a member of the Berwick Baptist church, the esteem in which he was held was evinced by the magnificent and elaborate funeral which literally covered the top of his casket.

"If life be not in length of days, In silvered locks, and furrowed brow, But living to the Saviour's praise, How few have lived as thou."

TRIER.—A few days since a gold watch and chain worth $130 was stolen from the private apartments of Mrs (Dr) Midlams. Suspicion rested upon Robinson Allatt, a young Englishman who had been working a few days for the Dr, who suddenly became very homesick and left under pretension of returning home. Before leaving he was searched, but to no purpose. The poor fellow was very much aggrieved and cried bitterly that he should be suspected of doing wrong. After his departure to quarters unknown, a combination of circumstances pointed to him as the guilty work and after much inquiry by telegraph and otherwise the Dr got on his track and ultimately found him on the boat at Annapolis a few minutes before its departure. He handed over the watch and chain and also some clothes that a fellow-countryman in Kentville to friend him had furnished on trust till he could work and pay for them. The Dr was so strongly impressed that it was his first offense, after a little faithful advice, with his characteristic kindness, he bade him adieu. The next time he will probably take two watches. The charitable administration of justice to the thieves, rogues and rowdies who have been scourging to Berwick impresses us that in future justice, not charity, would be best for all concerned.

A Year's Experience.

After nearly a year's use of SIMSON'S LINIMENT, I have proved it to be what I supposed at first it was, an excellent Liniment to have about a Stable. I have used it in cases of Cuts, Galls, Bruises and Sprains on my horses, and in every case found it to give relief as once, cleaning the cuts and galls so that they healed rapidly, and reducing the soreness in cases of sprains and bruises in a short time. Nothing has presented itself to me that so effectively relieves and prevents Horse Diarrhoea. I have also found it of very great service, both in my own family and in the families of my men, in cases for which it is intended to be used.

Advice to Fathers.

By M. QUAD.
I can look back down the lane of the past and see where my father failed to hit the nail on the head in managing his boys.

What a Mistake!
A careful examination would convince any one that two-thirds of all the people in New England have been or are now afflicted with catarrh of the nose and throat.

RETAILS AT 32 CENTS PER POUND, 2 CENTS PER OUNCE.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER Absolutely Pure.
This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness.

Keep you around home here and spoil your whole future. I came across a bar of lead, half a pound of salt and a loaf of bread which you secreted in the cabin yesterday as a starter for going West.

How long would he stay? He'd be almost certain to come sneaking in at the back door before bed time, but if he put it off till the morning so much the better.

Why a greater mistake was never made! Stop for a moment and think or ask any reputable physician what common catarrh is, and what causes it, and the answer can be only this: "It is an irritation or inflammation of the mucous membrane of the nose and throat caused by neglected colds, damp piercing irritants, foreign matter in the air which is poisonous to some persons and not to others."
