What Makes a Gentleman.

FROM "A GENTLEMAN"

Criticism of music especially, unless it be intelligent, is likely to make the critic seem ignorant. For instance, there was on one occasion on a musical programme a ballad by Chopin in A flat major. The young woman who played it on the piano was afterwards horrified to find herself described as having sung a lively ballad called "A Fa Major!"

The musical critic had better know what he is talking about or be silent. No, no, gentlemen, let us not be censorious about the efforts of those who do their best for us; and good-fellowship—what the French call esprit de corps—ought to show itself in our manners. Anybody can praise judiciously. At college, especially must remember that the college is a part of ourselves, and that any reproach on our alma mater is a reproach on ourselves. Its reputation is our reputation, and the critically censorious student will find that, in the end, it is the wiser course to dwell on the best side of his college life. The world hates a fault-finder; he will soon see himself left entirely alone with those acute perceptions that help him to find out all that is bad in his fellow-creatures and nothing that is good. To be a gentleman, one must be tolerant, and, above all, grateful.

In the world outside, there are many kinds of entertainment. We disposed of the dinner-party in a preceding page. One's conduct anywhere must be guided by good sense and the usages of the occasion. At a concert, for instance, the main object of each person present is to hear the music. Anything that interferes with this is a breach of good manners. To chatter during a song or while a piece of music is played shows selfish disregard for the comfort of others and a contemptible indifference to the feelings of the performer. Music may be a great aid to conversation, but conversation is no aid to music; and people who go to a concert do not pay for their tickets to hear somebody in the next seat tell his private affairs in a loud voice. There are some human creatures who seem to imagine that they may reveal everything possible to their neighbor in a crowded theatre without being heard by anybody else. There is an old anecdote, but a true one, of a very fashionable lady in Boston who attended an organ recital in the Music Hall there. She was supposed to be an amateur of classical music, but her reputation was shattered by an unlucky pause in the tones of the organ. The music ceased unexpectedly, and the only sound heard was that of her voice, soaring above the silence and saying to her friend, "We try ours in lard." Her reputation was ruined in musical circles. One goes to a concert or an opera to listen, not to talk. It is only the vulgar, the ostentatious, the ignorant, that distinguish themselves in public places by a disregard of the rights of others.

and the Preface had been received by the Father when the second heavy shock occurred. The venerable Jesuit remained calm and the people following his example did not leave the church. Communion was given to a large number, and the final Mass in that basilica, which has held hundreds of thousands of the faithful, was completed. ATTENDED THE INJURED AND THE DYING.

Between times messages had been received at the residence telling of the maimed and dying being cared for at the Mechanic's Pavilion. Ten Fathers were dispatched to care for the injured and administer to the spiritual wants of the dying. These faithful priests remained at their duty and only left when flames consumed the pavilion later in the day.

THE CHURCH IN FLAMES. Many accounts and rumors were circulated regarding the inception of the fire that eventually destroyed the church, but the following statement is the correct version of the disastrous affair.

At one o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, a woman living on the corner of Gough and Hayes streets, probably unaware of the broken condition of the chimney in her dwelling, lighted a fire in the stove of her kitchen, and so instant a later burst from the residence in great sheets. Fanned by the high wind, the fire spread with alarming rapidity. Down Hayes street it swept and the flying sparks and cinders reached the summit of the western tower of the church. Huge clouds of smoke from that point soon showed that the tower was burning. In great leaps the flames crossed Franklin street, and in a few minutes the gymnasium was a seething furnace. A hurried call was sent to the firehouses for aid, and the firemen responded willingly, but to no avail.

The bursting of the water mains left them helpless, and, owing to the lack of proper facilities, the great crowds soon saw that old St. Ignatius' was doomed. Smoke and flames shot from the roof and it became a question of trying to remove whatever effects could be hastily banded together. The conflagration was so sudden, however, that the Fathers were obliged to flee for their lives, and saved but very few things in making their escape.

The Church's Request of Scotland. The growth of Catholicity in present-day Scotland is one of the most interesting and encouraging features of the reconquest of the Church of the territories snatched from her at the Protestant Reformation. The laying of the cornerstone of a new church—St. Peter's—in Edinburgh last month was an illustration of the Church's progress in Scotland. The sermon on the occasion was delivered by a priest who fittingly bore the name St. Ignatius—Canon Stuart—and he made a deep impression upon the people when he reminded them that the new church would, when completed, stand on historic ground, for in that vicinity, on the Boroughmuir, the Scottish hosts assembled before Flodden in all their martial glory. In Church history, also, he said, the district had an interesting past, as at one time there were three places of Catholic worship there, St. Roque, St. Catherine, and St. John. The bells in that district had long been silent, continued the preacher. Large numbers of people had forgotten the path of their fathers, and had pursued a course of strange wanderings. The seamless vesture of Christ was torn in the sixteenth century, and Scotland lost many of her ancient landmarks. The event of that day, however, made them happy in the feeling that the centre was again changing. If it could not yet be said that religious peace and unity had wholly embraced the land, at least the blessing of freedom to conscience now brightened every home. It was now their privilege and their joy to walk openly in the old paths and to worship and to raise up churches as in the days of their fathers of old. In that new church there would be the same faith and discipline of ancient days, and the same Holy Sacrament that the troops for Flodden paraded and that braced Bruce's soldiers at Bannockburn.

How St. Ignatius' Church was Destroyed. The first issue of the San Francisco Monitor after the earthquake contains an account of the burning of St. Ignatius' Church and is the first authentic and correct version of the conflagration published. Father Tesla was celebrating the 5 o'clock Mass on Wednesday morning, April 18, and had reached that part of the Mass where the priest moves to the end of the altar to receive the emblems of water and wine from the chalice. Returning to the center of the altar, Father Tesla had scarcely halted when the first shock of the quake was felt. The immense edifice rocked and swayed, but the pious masses did well their work, for, with the exception of a few strips of moulding, no damage to the interior was inflicted. The movable ornaments, i. e., vases, candlesticks and altar decorations were hurled from their supports and strewn about the floor. Hastily removing the sacred vestments, Father Tesla returned to the church from the sacristy and made a hurried examination of the injury sustained. He was greatly surprised at the slight damage noted. The Fathers account for this by the substantial strength of the double wall of the structure. St. Ignatius' Church was flanked on all sides by double walls, the inner walls being supported by six iron pillars.

The seven o'clock Mass was said by Father Demaine, but at that hour there was no disturbance. The Mass that was to be the last service held in the church, was begun at eight o'clock, Father Sasin officiating. A large congregation was present, and the Preface had been received by the Father when the second heavy shock occurred. The venerable Jesuit remained calm and the people following his example did not leave the church. Communion was given to a large number, and the final Mass in that basilica, which has held hundreds of thousands of the faithful, was completed. ATTENDED THE INJURED AND THE DYING.

Items of Interest.

We recently announced the serious illness of the Most Rev. Theodore Dalhoff, Archbishop of Bombay. Following hard on the announcement comes the news of his Grace's death. The Archbishop, who was a member of the Society of Jesus, was a very able administrator. He was consecrated in 1892.

Abbot Schanbinger, of Soblag, has been elected general of the Premonstratensian order.

A recent Madrid despatch announced the death and burial at Cadix, Spain, of Father Ramon Pardo, S. J. The Peruvian Consul took charge of the funeral arrangements, and then the fact came out that the humble Jesuit was not only a Peruvian, but a brother of President Pardo, of the Republic of Peru.

At San Felipe, Mexico, the mining company managed by Ortaño Brothers has made a large donation in money, which assures the erection of the great hospital begun in 1901 by Father Jose O. Rodriguez, and which he struggled several years to complete. A board of erection has now been named, which will secure its completion at the probable cost of $500,000.

English papers chronicle the tragic death of Rev. J. B. C. Murphy, chaplain to the forces at Aldershot, and a Dublin man by birth. He was thrown by a spirited horse, and sustained injuries from which he expired almost immediately.

Deep and general regret is felt in the Diocese of Dublin at the death of Very Rev. Canon Quinn, P. P., V. F., at Ballybrack.

Rev. George Campbell, of the Vincentian order, vice principal of the Training College, Drumcondra, died the other day, in his sixty-fourth year. He was a very distinguished member of his order, and filled a professor's chair for many years in the Irish College, Paris.

The Stanislaus Julien prize of 1,500 francs, offered for the best work dealing with China and Japan, has been awarded by the French Academy of Inscriptions and Belles-Lettres to the Rev. Emile Raguey, of the Paris Society of Foreign Missions. Father Raguey is doing mission work at Nagasaki, Japan.

Archbishop Harty, of Manila, has issued a call to two hundred of the clergy of his archdiocese, representing the twelve provinces, all the vicars, the members of the chapter and the vicar general to assemble at Manila for a spiritual retreat. His letter formulates plans to meet the changed spiritual, civil and financial conditions of the island.

Irish exchangers announce the departure from Limerick of Rev. John O'neagh, C. S. S. R., to join the new mission to be opened by the Redemptorist order in the Philippines.

A French cable chronicles the death of Bishop Fallieres, a cousin of the President of that republic. Bishop Pierre Frederic Fallieres was born at Mizin, France, in 1834, and for some time was vicar general of Brdeaux. He was created Bishop of St. Brioux in 1880.

The Pope has selected a triptych by a German painter of the seventeenth century as a wedding present for King Alfonso.

The Southern Messenger begs its readers to refrain from sending lengthy obituary notices for publication. "Such notices," says our esteemed contemporary, "are, as a rule, of no interest except to a small circle of relatives and friends; they are calculated rather to flatter the vanity of the living than to be of any help to the dead. The ideal obituary notice, from the editor's point of view, is a simple statement of the name, age, place and date of birth and death, and a recommendation of the departed soul to the prayers of the faithful." (That is well said.)

"Purified as by fire," may aptly be applied to San Francisco just at present," says the Catholic Union and Times. "According to the Chronicle of that city, for the past fortnight San Francisco 'has been absolutely free from disorder and virtually free from the crimes of violence. There have been no street brawls. No drunken brute has beaten his wife. No gamblers have murdered each other in low resorts. Except for some dealings with sneak thieves the occupation of the police courts is gone. It is a most impressive object-lesson of the value to society of the restriction to the liquor traffic.' Would to God the condition might continue!"

The Very Reverend David Macdonald, D. D., Rector of the Scots' College, Valladolid, lately celebrated the golden jubilee of his priesthood. He has spent sixty-four years with the walls of the Colegio de Escoceses and during the last twenty-five years he has been its rector.

"My good woman," said the learned judge, "you must give an answer, in the fewest possible words of which you are capable, to the plain and simple question whether, when you were crossing the street with the baby on your arm, and the omnibus was coming down on the right side and the cab on the left, and the brougham was trying to pass the omnibus you saw the plaintiff between the brougham and the cab, or whether or when you saw him at all, and whether or not near the brougham, cab, and omnibus, or either, or which of them respectively."

Suppressing Enquiry.

Two Votes in one week in favor of Seerey

Preston's Suspicious position.—No Investigation of Western Land deals and Regulations.—Members of Parliament who have obtained grazing leases and timber limits vote against exposure.—The brother-in-law

Disappearance of Mr. Fitzpatrick

Mr. Foster takes steps to correct one kind of Misrepresentation.—Arctic explorers satisfied with their supplies.—Another luxurious ice-breaking yacht.—The Hukon as a happy hunting ground for officials.—Working men say that Preston must go.

OTTAWA, June 9, 1906.

Two votes in one week in favor of concealment and secrecy is a fair record for a ministry and a party which is acquiring a reputation for suppressing information. On Monday of this week Parliament, at the call of the Premier, voted down the motion that Mr. Preston should be brought to the bar of the House and ordered to give the names of the North Atlantic Trading Company contractors who had received $300,000 of Canadian public money. Sir Wilfrid proposed an amendment setting forth that government officers had given a pledge of secrecy which ought to be kept. Three members of his party, Mr. Bourassa, Mr. Laverge and Mr. Overturf refused to go with him. Otherwise it was a straight party vote.

KEEPING PRESTON'S SECRETS.

If this pledge was given seven years ago by an officer the government might well have repudiated it at once, and if necessary the contract as well. For the pledge itself was a suspicious circumstance. There was another time when the pledge was no longer binding. That was when the Company was shown to be a bogus affair using a seal to which it had no right, and declaring that it had a charter when it had none. And to-day when the contract itself has been abrogated on the ground stated by the Minister himself that "the company is not carrying out the agreement in good faith", there is no longer a one-sided obligation, if such a thing could ever exist. The Company has broken faith at every turn, and there is reason to believe that the affair is a gigantic swindle and steal. Mr. Preston, who made the agreement is believed by some of those who have been associated with him as government officers to be financially interested in the deal. Circumstances already brought to light show that he has been closely connected with the contractors in many ways. Concealment under these conditions does not create a good impression, it seems to be fairly established that the facts are withheld for other reasons than those given. Meanwhile the investigation, so far as the government allows it, goes on in the Committee.

NO EXPOSURE FOR LAND GRABBERS.

The other secrecy vote was taken on Wednesday, when the majority refused Mr. Borden's request for enquiry into the management of Western lands. Sir Wilfrid Laurier did not then plead a pledge of secrecy. The motives for concealment may be guessed. But anyone who has followed and read the charges must see that there are some things to investigate. Briefly these are among them.

THE $250,000 DEAL.

The Saskatchewan Land Deal. This was a sale of 250,000 acres for one dollar an acre, which land the purchasers at once put in the market at six to ten dollars. There was no competition and no one except the buyers knew the land was for sale. On the contrary the declared policy of the government was against such sales. The organizer of the purchasing company is now in the House and voted against the investigation. His brother-in-law was Land Commissioner of the Government at the time. He also is in the House now and voted against the enquiry. Mr. Sifton made the statement that the land sold had been refused as a subsidy by a railway company. It is now shown that the Saskatchewan concern, which also bought the railway company's claim of subsidy land, was given the right to choose areas out of 2,000,000 acres set aside for this purpose after Mr. Sifton's friends made their purchase. Further it was shown by Dr. Roche that an agreement of the purchasers to bring in a certain number of settlers was of little value as they had to do it in order to sell their railway lands. Moreover, after the contract was signed, the Government made several concessions to the buyers. Lastly the Company has claimed to bring in settlers who came as homesteaders and never heard of the Company until they were on the land. Yet the majority of the House has decided that there is nothing to investigate.

MR. ADAMSON'S SECRET.

Grazing leases. Mr. Sifton one day changed the regulations and made grazing leases good for twenty-one years. Also he shut out homesteaders from a chance to settle on these leased lands and took power to give the lease holder an absolute title to one tenth of this grant at one dollar an acre. Another change was made cancelling these conditions and making the leases terminable after notice, and raising the price of the absolute grant from 1 dollar to 3. During the period when the special privileges continued over 300,000 acres were leased by a few concerns some of which united. The largest operator mentioned in the record is the Member of Parliament above mentioned. This member and his brother-in-law voted against enquiry.

CLOSER THAN A BROTHER.

Timber leases.—When Mr. Sifton was Minister he made important changes in these Western leases, greatly to the benefit of the operators. These Sifton regulations were soon revoked. In the meantime Mr. Burrows, now a member of the House, who is Mr. Sifton's brother-in-law, obtained leases and has become the holder of over three hundred thousand acres of timber in the West. He says that he got it all on competition, but attention is called to the fact that the tenders are examined privately and by one officer. Moreover, and Dr. Roche has shown that Mr. Burrows was granted permits on terms which were refused to other applicants, that he was excused from performing conditions that the law required and that he was allowed to cut on areas which had been withdrawn from operation. Mr. Burrows voted with his brother-in-law, Mr. Sifton, as Mr. Adamson did with his brother-in-law extension commissioner Turritt, all against investigation.

FAKE HOMESTOCKS.

It was shown by Mr. Ames that millions of acres are shut out from settlement by bogus homestead entries, that entries have been made on thousands of homesteads that were never occupied and cannot be acquired by genuine settlers because they are held by speculators. It has been shown that favored companies are offering these homesteads for sale or agreeing to throw them in as a bonus in a large transaction. All this is contrary to law and to good policy. But the Government, and Members whose names have been mentioned in connection with these matters, vote that there is nothing to investigate.

EXIT FITZPATRICK.

The government suffers a heavy loss by the retirement of Mr. Fitzpatrick, Minister of Justice who was, perhaps the most resourceful and effective member of the Laurier administration. Mr. Fitzpatrick has had large influence in the government and in the Commons. He was now passed to a sphere for which he has high professional qualifications. Sir William Mulock ten years ago would have condemned the appointment on the ground that members should not be allowed to obtain office during the term for which they were elected. He introduced a bill to that effect, and was supported by other Ontario members. They are not here now to object to the appointment of Mr. Fitzpatrick. They have taken the office themselves, Sir William with the rest and Chief Justice Fitzpatrick is safe from criticism. Mr. Aylesworth, who takes his place, is a conspicuous jurist who has not as yet shown any particular gifts as a minister or parliamentarian.

AT THE BAR.

Thursday the house witnessed a spectacle which is rare in our political history. The Ottawa correspondent of La Presse newspaper appeared at the bar of the house to answer for certain statements made by him concerning Mr. Foster. The member for North Toronto says he does not care for personal abuse or criticism, but on behalf of himself and half dozen other leading members who have been similarly misrepresented he has taken this action. This correspondent stated the other day that Mr Foster "incessantly throws gratuitous slanders into the face of the inhabitants of the Province of Quebec of French Canadians and of Catholics." He asserted that Mr Foster "sings their refrain in the House of Commons" whereby "our compatriots (that is the French Canadians) are represented as fools steeped in ignorance, our clergy—a collection of fanatics and hypocrites." Mr. Foster points out that the effect of these falsehoods is to make him and others similarly treated appear to the French people as their enemy and as an insulter of all that they hold dear. In the interest of the French speaking people themselves and of the Catholics, in the interest of good feeling and decency he proposes that a limit be put to this particular form of slander. The fact is that Mr. Foster has not spoken a disrespectful word of the French people of the Quebec Province or of the French race or of the Catholic Clergy during the whole session, so that the slander against him is particularly gratuitous. No action has yet been taken, and the case stands over until next week.

THE ARCTIC AND THE ICE-BREAKER.

The enquiry into supplies for the Arctic makes slow progress. The Captain of the ship, the officers of the Department who furnished the cigars and the wines and the other luxuries, and the happy group who used them testify that they believe everything to be all right. Thus the picnic has the unqualified endorsement of the picnicers. It is true that the Arctic did not do anything and did not get anywhere, and has cost three or four hundred thousand dollars. But the Marine and Fishery Department does not mind that. The committee has discovered that some bills were paid twice over, but accidents of this kind will happen in connection with all revelries.

Affairs in Russia.

St. Petersburg, June 8.—According reliable reports from Peterhof Emperor Nicholas has about decided to retire Premier Goremykin. Evidently M. Goremykin did not possess the force or skill necessary to steer the ship of state in the present crisis and his majesty, who is extremely dissatisfied with the premier's sorry failure to make any headway toward a rapprochement with the lower house of parliament, is now ready to sacrifice him. For the emperor seems to be torn by conflicting counsels. A few of his advisers are urging him to make a frank surrender and accede to parliament's demand for a ministry from the opposition majority. These influences are hardly likely to prevail against the party headed by Gen. Treppoff, which believes that no further concessions should be made. The cabinet itself is in open rebellion and with the support they are receiving from the court the rebels are confident of being able to unhorse M. Goremykin. The Reich regards the government's decision to shield itself in the matter of the death penalty bill behind the provision of the fundamental law requiring thirty days' notice before consideration of a bill as being a sign that bad influences are gaining the upper hand at Peterhof, but the paper commends the wisdom of the constitutional Democrats in refraining from making an issue of the question, in the meantime insisting on the suspension of executions.

Despatches from the interior continue gloomy and show that the gradual extension of the Agrarian disorders and partial strikes now affect twelve provinces. The latest disturbances reported are at Kieff and Tyr. Numerous collisions between peasants and rural guards have taken place but nothing in the nature of mass movement has yet occurred. A sensation has been caused by the disclosures of M. Vladimiroff, correspondent of the Twentieth Century, formerly the Russ, who investigated the case of Mile. Spidomera, and who is now in the Baltic provinces investigating the repressions there. He declares that six out of the eight men executed at Riga were innocent and adds that they were forced to confess by tortures which put the Spanish Inquisition to shame. Although the Social revolutionists have proclaimed a temporary cessation of the terrorist campaign there is little abatement in the murders of police officials in the interior.

Mounted Gendarmes yesterday evening charged a crowd of workmen at the government cartridge factory at Vast-Ostrov, who emerged from a meeting singing the "Marseillaise." The Gendarmes used their whips and sabres, injuring many and wounding two men seriously. Tzarists, Province of Saratov, Russia, June 8.—In a fight yesterday between Perians, whom local contractors had imported to take the place of striking longshoremen, and a mob of strikers, a score of the latter were killed.

Helsingfors, Finland, June 8.—The Finnish senate has received an imperial order to frame a temporary regulation prohibiting for a year the importation of rifles or revolvers in Finland.

Moscow, June 8.—There is a noticeable increase in revolutionary activity here and it is evident that the leaders are preparing to take advantage of the first opportunity to start an armed uprising. The workmen of the factories and mills are being systematically armed with Mauser rifles and drilled under the supervision of Army reserve soldiers. In spite of the repressive measures adopted by the authorities revolutionary meetings are held nightly in the industrial section. The leaders appear to be confident that the morale of the troops of the garrison is undermined, as they have received from some regiments promises of support in the event of a conflict. Revolutionary emissaries have been sent out in all directions into the country to incite the land hungry peasants to appropriate land and strike on the big estates. The plan evidently is to secure unity of action in the country and inaugurate a conflict with a general strike. The leaders evidently hope for a complete rupture between the Government and Parliament, which would furnish the necessary opportunity for an uprising. The situation was greatly alarmed the business men of Moscow and the big landlords of the country.

St. John Exhibition.

It was thought by many that the fact that the Dominion Exhibition was being held at Halifax would be a drawback to the success of the St. John Exhibition, but the experience so far has been otherwise, as the manufacturers have intimated their intention of taking advantage of both Exhibitions as the dates will not conflict in any way. The leading stock breeders, dairymen and agriculturists of New Brunswick and the other Maritime Provinces, are taking up the Exhibition at St. John in a way which will make those lines more of a credit than they have been in past exhibitions, and St. John has not only won, but for the last two exhibitions in particular, as having the best stock and horse show east of Toronto.

In the matter of amusements and novelties, the presence of such an experienced man as Mr. A. O. Skinner at the head of the Exhibition is in itself a guarantee that those who attend the big Fair next September will see a number of features which are entirely new and unique, and which will not be surpassed by any Exhibition in Canada. The proposition to hold an automobile show has aroused a great deal of interest, not only among owners of automobiles throughout the Province, but by the public generally, as public interest in this mode of locomotion has gained very greatly in the last two years.

C. J. Milligan, Manager of the Exhibition in response to his request that the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company exhibit at St. John has received the following reply, Manager Milligan will accept the offer. C. J. Milligan, Esq., Manager Exhibition, St. John, N. B., Dear Sir,—We are in receipt of your letter of May 21st and are prepared to carry out the suggestions made therein. We will erect a wireless telegraph station on the grounds of the exhibition and will exchange messages with our station at Partridge Island and from there—if the public desires—to Sable Island or to passing ships. We will make no charge to the exhibition but will ask you to erect free of charge to us a suitable pole of about forty or fifty feet and supply free of charge the necessary electric power which will be inconsiderable. If we send messages from Partridge Island to Sable Island or to passing ships, we will of course charge our usual tolls, but will make no charge for messages exchanged with Partridge Island.

We will install an ordinary tape ticker as you suggest. We must of course stipulate that no other wireless telegraph company will be allowed to exhibit apparatus at the exhibition. We shall be glad if you will be good enough to let us know whether this meets with your approval. Yours very truly, General Manager Marconi Wireless Telegraph Co., of Canada, Montreal, May 23.

C. J. Milligan, manager of the exhibition, returned from Moncton recently where he had been in conference with Mr. Tiffin of the I. C. R. concerning the rates for the exhibition this fall. He reports that the result of his visit was especially satisfactory, as he arranged for the best rates that ever have been received for any exhibition held in St. John. The I. C. R. arranged to give a one fare return rate to all exhibition, and it was further arranged that after the exhibits had come to St. John these exhibits could then get a half fare rate to the Sussex and Chatham exhibitions and return home for nothing. The passenger rate is also exceptionally good, as there will be one fare return for the whole exhibition week. Then there will be three days of excursion rates from all points east of Campbellton and west of Amherst, and then there will be two excursion days which will include points outside of the above named points. On these days special trains will be run from Moncton to St. John and all trains from other points will connect with these special trains. The rates are exceedingly low for these days. As an instance of how low they are from Moncton to St. John and return the fare will only be one dollar. The days will be Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday of the exhibition week. The I. C. R. has also decided to send its famous exhibit to the St. John fair this year, but as yet the details have not been arranged, as the railway will exhibit not only at St. John but at Toronto and Halifax, and as the show and the St. John show are on the same dates, there is some difficulty in arranging matters satisfactorily. This exhibit will also include the famous colored pictures of the different points along the road of the I. C. R. The railway will also have a fish exhibit in connection with the fish exhibit under the exhibition management.

There is a good reason says an Ottawa despatch to believe that the Postmaster-General, Hon. Roubilpe Lemaire, is supporting the position of the Allan and Canadian Pacific Steamship companies in shipping from the north coast of Ireland as a port of call. Only a few bags of mail and a few passengers are landed or taken on at the port in question, and steamship companies do not consider that there are any compensating advantages for the delay involved. Moreover the stop is not without its dangers in rough weather. It also reported that the postmaster at Montreal is endeavoring to arrange to have a fixed day of sailing from both sides for the trans-Atlantic mail steamers, either Friday or Saturday. The imperial authorities have heretofore been opposed to this on the ground that it would lead to a great congestion of mail matter. But it is believed that Hon. Sydney Buxton who is at present at the head of the Postal Department in Great Britain would be disposed to give favorable consideration to the suggestion if proper representations were made from this side of the Atlantic.

Dominion Day, Monday, July 2nd, 1906.

Vernon River enjoys an enviable reputation for tea parties of rare excellence, and there is reason to believe that this one will equal, if it will not surpass any of its predecessors. The grounds chosen are admirably adapted for a gathering such as this, having on one side a cool shady grove, and at the roadside entrance to the field is the spacious C. M. B. A. Hall, where the tea tables will be set. It will thus be seen that ample shade from hot sun and protection from bad weather are assured. Well stocked refreshment saloons and ample dancing booths will be provided.

SPECIAL FEATURES

Of the day's entertainment will be a match game of base ball between two local teams, the Rangers and the Crecents, 100 yards dash for boys under 15, 100 yards dash for adults; potato race, open to all comers; dancing contests. These games will commence at 10 o'clock. They will be presided over by competent judges, and suitable prizes will be given. A Special Train will leave Charlottetown for Murray Harbor on the morning of Dominion Day, and this train will take passengers for the tea from all stations at Dominion Day fares. The regular train from Murray Harbor on that morning will take passengers to Vernon River at like reduced rates.

The new steamer Empress, built for the Charlottetown Steam Navigation Company, at Newcastle-on-Tyne, England, arrived at Charlottetown early yesterday morning after an uneventful passage of eleven days and a half. Captain Alexander Cameron is in command of the new steamer. He and the other officers and members of the crew went to England and brought the steamer out. The first officer is A. W. McLeod; second officer John McDonald; chief engineer J. A. Rowe; and J. Stuberland; 3rd. James Faraday; 4th. William Turner. The chief stoker is John Grimes; the steward H. Her length is 235 feet; beam 34 feet; depth 13 feet 10 inches. On a trial of six hours she showed a 17 1/2 knots. Her net tonnage is 694, horsepower 2,500 and she has accommodations for 600 passengers. The Order of Railroad Telegraphers, one of the strongest labor organizations of railroad employees, was formed in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, twenty years ago. In commemoration of the anniversary of the officers of the order and delegates representing the various divisions gathered there on Saturday and joined in a celebration. Exercises were held in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium at which several of the charter members told of the birth of the order, while others reviewed its history and growth to the present time. The order originally consisted of thirty-six members. Today between thirty-five and forty thousand names are on the membership rolls. Through the untiring work of the order the conditions of every railroad telegrapher in the United States, Canada, and Mexico, have been bettered during the past twenty years. Nearly every large railroad system of the United States and Canada has been scheduled, and the schedules on most of the lines have been revised many times, and each revision brought to those affected better remuneration and working conditions.

Obsequies of Mrs. Campbell. The funeral of the late Mrs. Campbell of Millville, took place on Wednesday the 6th, inst., at Corras Bay Cemetery. The remarkably large number of people who accompanied her remains to their last resting place was a suitable tribute of affection and esteem to one who had been known as long in the community as a noble Christian woman, and a devoted and self-sacrificing mother of a large family. Her bereaved husband and eight of her children assisted at the last rites, the only absent one being Sister St. Agnes, of the Congregation Nuns, and Alfred who died many years ago in his childhood.

The funeral Mass was celebrated by her son, the Rev. Dr. C. A. Campbell, of Halifax, with another son, the Rev. Terence Campbell, of Killybegs, as deacon, and the Rev. Dr. Carran, of St. Donatus's College, as sub-deacon, and the Rev. A. J. McInyre, of Morrell, as Master of Ceremonies. In addition to these and the Rev. Father McGuigan, P. P. the following clergymen were present: Very Rev. Dr. Morrison, V. G., Rev. Drs. McMillan and Gregory, McLeslie, Rev. Fathers John J. McDonald, Jos. C. McLean, A. P. McLellan, Stephen Phelan and Ignatius McDonald.

The pall-bearers were: Patrick McInyre, Michael Ready, Samuel McDonald, Hugh Campbell, John J. McDonald and John Walsh. The grief which the absence of a beloved mother from her accustomed place in the old home naturally causes is somewhat mitigated by the expression of deep and wide-spread sympathy which the bereaved ones received beside her, but especially by the recollection of her strong faith in God during her long life, and the composure and Christian hopefulness which she vouchsafed her in her last hours. May she rest in peace.

If you want anything at any time, and cannot come yourself; just drop us a postal, and we shall be pleased to send you samples and give you any information of any line of goods offered in a first class store like ours. Stanley Bros.

First Communion.

And so, my darling, you will kneel to-day, For the first time before God's holy altar. And I will pray, as only mothers pray, That He will never let your footsteps falter.

The Uses of Adversity.

Over in the meadows ows bleated, calling their lambs to their sides, and thrushes and blackbirds taught their first notes to bright-eyed youngsters getting ready for their first flight, while as a soft accompaniment to all came the sound of water rushing through the old weir, the river was low and the water ran lazily over the mossy boulders.

Aching Joints

In the fingers, toes, arms, and other parts of the body, are joints that are inflamed and swollen by rheumatism—that acid condition of the blood which affects the muscles also.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Removes the cause of rheumatism—no outward application can. Take it. Hood's Sarsaparilla is a powerful blood purifier and cleanser.

believers, and I said I didn't think we were; are we?"

"You have never enlightened me as to your beliefs, Mary," he answered rather seriously; "but as far as I am concerned, I don't think I am what Mr. Morland would call a believer. I take very little interest in religion of any kind, but, of course, if you and Kitty like to go to church, I am very much at your service, and I shall be delighted to escort you."

"I am not going to church, said Kitty, "and I am quite sure. Mother would never condemn you to a couple of hours' boredom for the privilege of hearing Mr. Morland holding forth to his baculo flock; I think you had better put your foot down at once, Dad, and tell the Vicar we are not thinking of taking up religion at present. I have an idea that Mr. Morland might become a very great bore, with a little encouragement, and it is obviously one's duty to protect oneself from bores, wherever one meets them."

"Mrs. Rylands was gazing dreamily across the table, through the open window, where the dusk was making velvety shadows among trees and shrubs."

Daddy dear, do try and imagine a thrush holding its sides."

Mr. Rylands laughed. "I don't think you will have any difficulty in amusing yourself in the country, Kitty," he said, as she rose to follow her mother from the room.

"I will amuse you too, Daddy, if you will let me. Come now and hear me sing a brand-new song. We must not let the nightingale have the monopoly of musical performances at Leacroft Manor."

"Did he compose it?" Kitty bleated. "I rather think he did. Anyway, it is dedicated to Miss Kathrine Rylands."
