The beginning of "Paisley Flour"
The SURE raising powder
was when Brown & Polson discovered that the addition of a proportion of their Corn Flour to the ordinary flour when making scones, buns, pastry and cakes, made a great improvement in added lightness, fineness and digestibility.
To the Corn Flour were added raising ingredients of the highest purity, resulting in the production of a new raising powder, which by its use in use and improved results has marked an advance in home baking.
Paisley Flour—the sure raising powder—is sold in 2, 14 and 28 cent tins, only to mix a quart to 8 parts of ordinary flour. The 28 cent tin will raise 7 lbs. flour.

MORE PINKHAM CURES

Added to the Long List due to This Famous Remedy.

Glanford Station, Ont.—I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for years and never found any medicine to compare with it. I had hemorrhoids and falling of the uterus, and doctors did me no good. I suffered dreadfully until I began taking your medicine. It has also helped other women to whom I have recommended it.—Mrs. HENRY CLARK, Glanford Station, Ontario.

Gardiner, Me.—I was a great sufferer from a female disease. The doctor said I would have to go to the hospital for an operation, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound completely cured me in three months.—Mrs. S. A. WILLIAMS, R. F. D. No. 14, Box 30, Gardiner, Maine.

Recall your case is a different one, doctors having done you no good, do not continue to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. It surely has cured many cases of female ills, such as inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, indigestion, dizziness, and nervous prostration. It costs but a trifle to try it, and the result is worth millions to a any suffering woman.

If you want special advice write for it to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass. It is free and always helpful.

Sunshine After the Storm.

CHAPTER II.

"Did Not Answer His Case."
"I wanted to know. A girl has to take care of herself. The doctor was quite inclined to flirt. Nora says the brothers live in a house big enough for a hotel. Two young men! Neither of them married! It is a shame! Nora is a very nice girl. I gave her two dresses yesterday."

"Yet she will not go with us into the country, and I must look for new servants this morning. A weary search, for they are hard to find and hard when found."
"And some kinds quite extinct."
"Amber, if Doctor Carter calls this morning, I would not see him."
"But why, Clara? I have dressed myself specially to see him."
"Then, my dear, do not what you call flirt. It is so unwomanly and so un ladylike."
"Unwomanly? What a mistake! Flirting is the most womanly and ladylike of occupations. Really so. It is only people of culture that flirt."
"Now, Amber!"
"It is, Clara. A savage takes a cow and buys him a wife, Bridget, in the kitchen, and Fritz, the butcher's boy, look and love and tell each other the reason why, and then go and get married. But a girl in my position ought to know something of a man's temper and tastes before she marries him; and as she cannot ask him so many blunt questions, flirting just means a little delicate diplomacy in this kind of investigation. Flirting ought not to mean anything worse than this."

"But you cannot make me think a flirt a lovable character, Amber."
"I think she is a deal nicer than a prude. Any man of sense likes to be challenged to a combat in which a pretty woman may capture his heart—at least he likes it better than to be shunned and shrunk away from, as if he was always on the point of doing or saying something improper."
"All good men disapprove of 'flirting.'"
"No, they do not. I know lots of good men who have flirted through the alphabet. Some are bold, open flirts; some insinuating; some sentimental like the curate of St. Azarius, who asked me last week, in a languishing way, if I believed in love-marrriages, and did I really think it better to have loved and lost, etc., etc.? Now, how can a girl meet such men but with their own weapons? However, I do not think Dr. Carter is a 'flirt.' I think he fell honestly in love with me. Men even yet tumble into love at once, over head and heart. And when they do that kind of thing any sensible girl knows the fact and respects it."
"Love? Love! Whence does it spring? Is it not wonderful, and the shame and worries of our every day life, what a constant charm and freshness the subject has? I cannot understand it."
"I do not think it makes any difference whether we understand it or not. Some things are sweeter for not being understood."
"You are reading a story, that I have heard. Burns was once entered by his publisher to make the language of his songs so that he could understand them. Burns answered that he did not care whether the publisher understood them or not, adding that he did not always understand them himself. That is the truth about love-making, Clara. Often we do not understand ourselves, any more than Burns understood his own singing. And I like a feeling that has the urgency of mystery."
"You talk beyond me, Amber. I acknowledge myself vanquished. I suppose I must leave your affairs in your own hands." And she rose with the words and hurriedly left the room.

Suffered Terrible Pains from His Kidneys.

Perhaps no other organs work harder than the kidneys to preserve the general health of the body, and most people are troubled with some kind of kidney complaint, but do not suspect it.
"There is no way of getting the kidney poisons out of the system except through the kidneys, and no medicine so effective in taking them out as Dr. Bovel's Herb Tablets."
They help the kidneys to flush out the acid and poisonous impurities which have collected, less clearing passages.
Mr. C. Jordan of Port Sandfield writes as follows:
"I give me pleasure to testify to the merits of Dr. Bovel's Herb Tablets. I suffered terribly from kidney disease for three years, which I contracted from an exposure to carpentering. I was advised to try your medicine. I am thankful to say that I am now completely cured, and I can truthfully recommend this medicine to all sufferers from this painful disease."
Thankfully yours,

bright and tender, fixed upon his face.

"What can a man do under the fire of such glances? He is as powerless as were the waxen images of the enchanters before their magical fire. When a woman has a lover in this condition, if she only sings the right song to her charming, there is no pain that is not sweet and no trouble that is not rest for her sake."

And Robert Carter was not one of those lovers trained on the hard race-course of society. From such no one expects self-forgetfulness, devotion or the fully of loving for love's sake, any more than they expect flowers to grow on the street pavement. Robert Carter had still the capacity of loving with all his heart and soul. The constant society of his brother had kept him within touch of the divinity. He was flushed and blushing to his hopes and fears as naturally as if he were only twenty years old, when he bid Ambrosia 'good morning,' when he promised to call for her as five o'clock.

Instead of going to his next patient, he went to a florist's and bought the loveliest of the flowers, and sent them to Ambrosia. He went to Tiffany's and looked at some trinkets, hoping that at some time he would have the right to buy them for her. He went to the tailor's and ordered a new suit of clothes, and was so fastidious that the man felt himself to be already discussing the sufferings and complaints of his patients bored him.

Ambrosia had seemed pleased with his admiration, but he was not sure that she was in earnest, and until he had resolved this question all others appeared tiresome and uninteresting. Yet he had only known her three days, and she seemed to have come into his heart long, long ago. He wondered most of all at this feeling, for he had not considered that real love is the nature of God and therefore eternal. The heart always knows its own, and it always will know. Into its best affection there will, come much re-

Kidney Suffering

Weakness and tired feelings tell of weak kidney action—Prompt relief by using Dr. A. W. Chase's KIDNEY AND LIVER PILLS.
There is no treatment for kidney weakness which will afford you relief so quickly as Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney Pills, and none which will finally cure the most complicated case of this disease.
There is a reason for this. Dr. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills use the action of the liver pills as well as the kidneys and to affect a thorough cleansing of the secretory system.
Dr. S. J. Argeo, Kane, Carlton, C. C. writes:—"I have suffered a great deal with kidney troubles and pains in small of the back and have tried many remedies without obtaining any very much benefit. I wish to say, however, that I can heartily recommend Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills as a valuable medicine, as they have proved very great value to me."
Dr. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills are full a dose, 25 cents a box, at all druggists, or Adams & Bates & Co., Toronto. Refuse substitutes.

embrance, a sense of familiarity, the tolerance for foibles which in some way or other seemed to be kindred.

Robert hoped in some measure that night to satisfy his restless feelings. He intended, as they rode home in the twilight, to say to Ambrosia: 'I love you. Can I teach you to love me?' He intended to tell her how bewitching she was, above all, he wished to assure her that she had the first real homage of his heart.
He told her the last two things first; which was unwise. Ambrosia knew she was bewitching. Others had felt her charm, and in many ways had told her so. She had been two years in society, and flowers and evening drives were not strange pleasures to her. The passionate feeling which led Robert Carter to offer them was understood by Ambrosia, and not altogether trusted. Men did such things far oftener than they justified them by one or two simple questions.

And as for being his first love, the idea almost shook her confidence in him. All men said precisely the same thing. Jenny Fellowes—who had married a rich old admiral—had been asked to believe an exactly similar statement from the roving sailor, Jenny had told her so. It suddenly struck Ambrosia that the affair was maturing too rapidly.

Then she assumed a manner that was quite in opposition to the romantic, affectionate little maid of the last three days. Her eyes scintillated with fun. She charmed Robert anew and then again anew in her contradictions. He began to ask the same strange questions that the child, Hartley Coleridge, asked:—"How many Hartleys are there? How many Ambrosias were there? He saw that night as many as the various points of interest or conversation touched.

They spoke of her father's illness and its cause, and Ambrosia, ignoring her previous sympathy, said with a judicial air:
'Men must expect to suffer when they make it the sum total of their lives to go to the office every morning.'

The Evening Chit-Chat By RUTH CAMERON

Mr. B. is decidedly too attentive to his pretty stenographer. That is such a blatant piece of gossip in our neighborhood that it is impossible to be unaware of it. I think even Mrs. B. knows. I saw her the other day and her eyes looked red, and the lady who lives next door to her says she has several times seen her that way.

Aids Nature The great success of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in curing weak stomachs, wasted bodies, weak lungs, and obstinate and lingering coughs, is based on the recognition of the fundamental truth that "Golden Medical Discovery" supplies Nature with body-building, tissue-repairing, muscle-making materials, in condensed and concentrated form.

Fads and Fashions. The overskirt is predicted. The transparent bodice is universal. Almost all dress hats are of exaggerated size. The very newest skirt is the aeroplane model. Slippers and hose must match the gown exactly.

Weak Lungs We strongly recommend Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. We believe it prevents, protects, soothes. What does your doctor recommend? Take only the medicine he approves.

Irish lace vest or collar so much worn—adorn many sleeves. Big white flowers, poppies, edelweiss, etc., in velvet or in kid appear upon some of the latest large hats.

Marabout feathers are much used, and, as the latest novelty, cocks' feathers dyed to match the primary colors of the gown have arrived.

Indigestion & Dyspepsia In all its forms can be cured. It is quite a daily occurrence to hear persons say: "Oh, what a feeling of distress I have after meals, fullness of the stomach, heaviness and headache, I feel too tired to do anything, I have no heart to exert myself and at times I care for nothing, I often have a pain in the pit of my stomach, no appetite, my heart beats rapidly on the slightest exertion."

An Electric Waiter. The wonderful electric house of Mr. George Knapp, in Paris, France, in which the owner can be served with anything he wants from a book to a meal in any room in the house by simply pushing a button, can hear anything going on in any part of the house and see approaching visitors before they gain the entrance, has been described before.

Asquith's Programme. London, December 30.—It is learned on good authority that the Asquith Government, feeling that the result of the recent general election justifies its belief that it has received a mandate from the people to carry out far-reaching measures of reform, has decided to take up the following programme:—

Children Had Eczema Treatment prescribed had no effect—DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT made thorough cure. Mrs. Oscar Vanocot, St. Antonio, Eack, writes:—"I have found Dr. Chase's Ointment to be a permanent cure for Eczema and other skin diseases."

Fresh Air Will Kill Typhus.

We wish to emphasize the closing words of Dr. Stehm's letter, that typhus cannot spread in the presence of fresh air and cleanliness.

It thus behooves the authorities to clean up the vicinity of Pope Street, and the people exposed to the danger of infection to see that their rooms are well ventilated.

It will also be remembered that this same information was conveyed in the extract we gave from Dr. Newsome's Manual on Public Health, and it will bear repetition:

"Typhus is essentially associated with ill-health, overcrowding, and destitution; but when once established by these conditions, it can be carried by infection to others who live amidst healthy surroundings. With free ventilation the disease cannot be carried more than a few feet. It can be transmitted by clothing."

In the Encyclopaedia Britannica we find the following:—

"All ages are liable to typhus, but the young suffer less severely than the old. The disease appears to be communicated by the exhalations giving off from the bodies of those suffering from the fever, and those most closely in contact with the sick are the frequency with which nurses and physicians take typhus from the cases under their care."

Typhus is highly contagious throughout its whole course and even in the early period of convalescence.

"The contagion, however, is rendered less active by the access of fresh air; hence this fever rarely spreads in well-aired rooms or houses where cases of the disease are under treatment."

The moral of all this is: 1st.—The health authorities may be trusted to see to the isolation; 2nd.—The Municipality should see to the cleanliness of the streets and destroy infected rookeries; 3rd.—All persons should see that their surroundings are clean, and more particularly that their rooms are kept clear of foul air, and full of fresh air by ventilation.

The rules are simple. They can be made absolutely effective in attaining out this filth and foul air disease.

Five Corpses by Train.

Five corpses, of men killed in the Sydney mine disaster, were brought along by the express that arrived to-day. Two were put off at St. George's, one at Charnville for Hearty's Delight, and two at Avondale this morning. A heartrending scene was witnessed at the station there this morning while the shore train was coming through. A young man of the place went to the telegraph office to send a message to Sydney asking if his brother was injured in the accident. When he got to the platform at the station the first thing he cast his eye on was the coffin with his brother's name on it. His grief was heart-rending and his cries could be heard far away.

Coastal Boats.

REID FELD. CO. The Argyle left Burin at 4.45 p.m. yesterday and is due at Placentia to-day. The Bruce left Port aux Basques at 11.10 p.m. yesterday. The Clyde arrived at Dog Bay at 6.55 p.m. yesterday. The Gloucester left Harbor Breton at 2.20 p.m. yesterday going east.

Making Long Voyage.

The brig, Grace, Capt. Jackman, is making another long voyage across the "herring pond." The vessel is now 56 days out from Oporto, but no person need be uneasy about her, as all the vessels coming this way from Europe are making tedious runs owing to head winds. This winter two years she made the passage from Bristol in 86 days, and once before in the Minnie Capt. Jackman was 84 days coming from Trapani.

The s.s. Morica, which discharged 1,000 tons of coal for the R. N. Co. at Placentia, left here for Sydney to-day.

The s.s. Bonaventure, coal laden to A. J. Harvey & Co., arrived here this afternoon.

King's Cove Affairs.

Special to Evening Telegram. Schrs. Dolly, McCallum, Ethel E. Ermine and Olive, enroute to St. John's from Greenspond, arrived here last night. They are fish laden, the aggregate cargo amounting to eight thousand quintals of share fish. The annual meeting of the Agricultural Society was held here last night in the F. P. U. Hall. There was a large gathering, many coming from Keels Broad Cove, Knights and Stock Cove, and much interest was shown. The election of officers for the coming year took place, which resulted as follows: Thomas Devine, J. P., Chairman; Frederick Patrick Lawton elected, Abraham Hobbs, Keels, Secretary, elected; Walter Brown, King's Cove, John Aylward, Stock Cove, Geo. Penny, Keels, elected members of executive. The people seem fully alive to the benefit to be derived from agriculture, and trust that the King's Cove Society will receive fairer treatment the coming year than it has in the past.

POLICE COURT NEWS.

To-day a young man who was charged with the larceny of a coat, valued at $12, the property of Mr. John Gent, and who was selling such an article, proved that it was not Mr. Gent's property and was discharged.

A drunk and disorderly who broke a pane of glass in Mrs. Cotter's window, King's Bridge, was fined $2 or 7 days, the woman not appearing against him.

Health Inspector O'Brien summoned four butchers of Kelligrews for having unclean slaughter houses. Mr. W. J. Higgins defended and showed that the men were busy dressing meat for the Christmas market and could not give the place proper attention. The Inspector said he would be satisfied with a promise to do better in future. They were let off with costs.

Capt. Thomey Dead.

Special Evening Telegram. HARBOR GRACE, To-Day. Captain Henry Thomey, the veteran seal killer, died last night after a short illness, aged 85 years. CORRESPONDENT.

The Mines Disaster.

The pit being idle New Year's Day and the day following, only eleven men went down to work at midnight on Monday. The other three were deputies Hugh Dickson and J. L. McIntyre and pump tender William Bond.

Numerous three is a slope mine and has been worked-in for a distance of about a mile and a half. There are fourteen landings, each five hundred feet apart. The first six named men were engaged at No. 11 landing clearing away on the main deep on the south side of the pit. Bond was in the near vicinity. Dickson and McIntyre were in what is known as the angle deeps at No. 6 landing; while Ferguson and Purchase are supposed to have been somewhere beyond where the six men were working together.

Shock Very Violent. When the explosion occurred Bond managed to make his way to the surface and raised an alarm. The shock had been so violent that donkey engines and other machinery were shattered and hurled several hundred feet, and coal fell in large quantities at different points for a mile up the slope. It was not long before men began to congregate at the pit. As is usual with hardy miners there were many volunteers and in a very short time a rescue party was ready to go down in an effort to ascertain the extent of the damage and the condition of the men who had been trapped. Solomon Duffell, Daniel Brown, William Bond, Frederick Jessome, and half a dozen others started down, cautiously testing the road lest a fall from the roof might add from their number to the list of fatalities.

Explosion of Lamp Caused Accident.

The explosion of a lamp on Thursday night caused a very painful accident to Mr. Gos Martin of the West End, who is employed with the Tobacco Co. at their factory, Flavin Street. He was lighting the lamp in the bedroom of his lodgings when it upset, and the oil in the bowl catching fire an explosion was caused. Martin's hands were badly burned and his face somewhat cut from the glass. He had to have the wounds dressed by a druggist.

Here and There.

STILL VERY ILL.—Rev. Fr. Goff is still very ill at the Hospital.

BELLE ISLE REPORT.—Belle Isle to-day reports a gale from west, fine and clear. Slob ice making in shore, no seals.

MECHANICS' MEETING.—The regular Monthly Meeting of the St. John's Mechanics' Society will be held on Monday next at 8 o'clock. JAS. J. LEAHY, Secretary.—ad 11.

Here and There.

OLD SEALS TAKEN.—A telegram to the Marine and Fisheries Department to-day from La Scie says that the Prospero reports 70 old seals taken with nets at St. Anthony, and also a few at Conche.

ARRIVED WITH LUNATIC.—Constable Dawe, who came along on the Portia and left her at Placentia, arrived here by last night's train with a man from Belleoram in custody. The man, who is mentally affected and has violent periods, had to be carefully watched, and on arrival was taken to the Lunatic Asylum.

ANOTHER OLD FRIEND COMING.—Mr. Walter Woodall will be stage manager with the W. S. Harkins Co., which opens here in the Casino Theatre on the 22d inst. Mr. Woodall is well and favorably known to local theatre-goers, as he has been here twice previously: first with the Harkins Co., and latterly with the Waite Comedy Co.

AT WESLEY CHURCH.—To-morrow morning Dr. Cowperthwaite is the preacher, and in the evening, the Pastor, Rev. J. K. Curtis, will continue his series of sermons which have drawn such large audiences the past few weeks. The subject to-morrow night will be—"The Watchwords of the Twentieth Century." Strangers are always welcome.

BLOOD POISONING.—After an illness of some days, Mr. John Shea, of Hamilton Street, resumed work yesterday. He had been suffering from a swelling in the right arm, caused by blood poisoning, which was very painful, and at one time it was feared that an amputation would have to take place. It is, however, now almost cured. Dr. Stafford attended to the young man during his illness.

BOWRING SHIPS.—The S. S. Portia passed Cape Race at 8.50 this morning, and is due here at 5 p.m.

The Prospero left Nipper's Harbor at 10 a.m. to-day and is due here on Monday.

Here and There.

CALENDAR.—We thank R. G. Ash & Co. for J. H. Taylor & Co's. calendar for 1911.

STAFFORD'S Liniment will cure Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, when applied to the Chest, only 14 c. a bottle.

HIS GRACE RETURNED.—His Grace Archbishop Howley returned from Placentia by last night's train.

E. S. A.—The address to-morrow afternoon will be delivered at 3 o'clock, in the Congregational Church, by Mr. E. C. Morris. Subject: Health.—Jan. 11.

VERY ILL.—Mr. King, of McMurdo's drug store, is ill at his home and is, we are informed, in a somewhat dangerous condition. Heart disease is the alleged trouble.

MASONIC BROTHERS.—Most of the Masonic Brethren who were visiting Harbor Grace and Carbonear attending the installation of Officers, returned by train to-day.

FENCES BLOWN DOWN.—In the S. W. gale of Wednesday evening last, several fences and some trees were blown down and other damage done, between Torbay and Pouch Cove.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS.—Your druggist will refund money if PAZO OINTMENT fails to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days. 50c.—dec. 8, 11.

COLLECTION AT GEORGE ST. CHURCH.—The George St. Congregation are reminded of the collection for the Orphanage to be taken up at the Church doors to-morrow morning and evening.

POGIE MEN WILL STAY HOME.—Most of the pogie fishermen of Torbay, Pouch Cove, etc. will remain home next summer to prosecute the fishery, owing to the high price that is likely to prevail for fish next summer.

C. E. I. CARD TOURNEY.—About 50 players sat down to a card tournament last night in the rooms of the C. E. I. A good game resulted. Mr. Percy LeMessurier was victorious and won an excellent turkey as a reward for his skill in handling the pastboards.

BOY STILL MISSING.—A young lad named Ernest Pike, son of Mr. Robert Pike, of Belleoram, who was attending College here, and has been missing since Monday, has not yet been located. He has been seen around foreign going vessels, and it is thought he might have stowed away in one of them. The police are searching for him.

BOAT NEARLY SWAMPED.—When the Portia was at Placentia yesterday it blew very hard and a high sea ran. A boat with some men in it, who wanted to take passage in the ship, put out, and when half way to her already filled with water, from the spray which boarded her, so that she had to put back and the men of course lost their passage.

YOUNG CABMEN.—People who have to go to the R. N. Co. station to wait for trains complain of the conduct of the young cabmen. They are most of the time indulging in disorderly horse play on the platforms and acting in a way generally that is disturbing and offensive to most people. The Council would do well to restrict their work of issuing licenses and give them to men who know how to conduct themselves and not to irresponsible boys.

Cruelty in German Navy

Court Punishes Petty Officers for Brutality to Recruit.

Berlin, December 25.—At a naval court martial held at Kiel two engineer petty officers of a torpedo boat were each sentenced to a seven years' penal servitude for brutal ill treatment of a stoker, causing the death of the sailor.

Petty Officer Wroesheke sent a recruit named Brandt to clean a boiler furnace which was still glowing and thrashed him with a rope's end because the recruit wanted to come out. Subsequently Wroesheke locked Brandt in the furnace till the latter fainted. When he was brought out and thrashed and abused for two hours while lying in a fainting condition. Brandt died next day.

Home for Children and Single Women.

In the will of Mrs. Elizabeth Williamson Garrett, filed at Philadelphia, there is a bequest of property valued at one million dollars, upon which is to be established a home for needy children and single women. The land consisting of 200 acres, is situated in Newtown Square, Delaware county, Pa., and is one of the finest pieces of farm land in the State. Besides the land, Mrs. Garrett left the residue of her estate, which is estimated at five hundred thousand dollars, with which to erect suitable buildings and provide for the maintenance of the home.

Special Evening Telegram.
LONDON, Jan. 6.

An evening paper publishes what purports to be the text of an agreement between Russia and Germany on Persian affairs, and supposes it to be a result of the meeting of Emperors William and Nicholas at Potsdam in November last.

According to the text printed, Germany disclaims any political interest in Persia, and recognizes Russia's interest in Northern Persia. Russia, on her part, agrees to co-operate in the building of the long proposed Baghdad railway and its branches, and to give German commerce in Persia equality of treatment.

This pact will likely be resented by Britain and France as dishonouring Russia's part to their entente. The sequel of the visit of the Russian monarch to Germany has been anticipated jealously in England, where it was feared that the not too cordial relations between Germany and Russia would be found to have been followed by a better understanding, possibly to the disadvantage of Britain.

Special Evening Telegram.
LONDON, Jan. 6.

The inquest into the death of the outlaws, who were killed while resisting the police in the Sydney Street house on Tuesday, began to-day. Testimony showed that the soldiers were summoned by the Commissioner of Police because the revolvers of the anarchists were so superior to the weapons of the police. Less than fifty police officers participated in the siege, the remainder being required to deal with the crowds.

Special to Evening Telegram.
ST. JOHN, N.B., Jan. 6.

The West Indies steamer Ocamo from Halifax, was docking at the Corporation pier this morning when she swung astern, crashing into the Dominion Atlantic Railway steamer Yarmouth. Seven feet of railings were broken on the Ocamo, several plates were bent and the stanchions on the promenade deck were carried away. The bow of the Yarmouth was damaged but not seriously enough to prevent her sailing for Digby.

Special to Evening Telegram.
NEW YORK, Jan. 6.

Sir Edward Morris, Hon. Mr. Brodeur, the Canadian Minister of Marine and Fisheries, with Sir A. B. Ayless, worth, Canadian Minister of Justice, held a preliminary conference here to-day on the Hague Fisheries Award. They are on their way to Washington to discuss various questions with the State Department.

The chief question at issue is the fishery rules and regulations passed by the Newfoundland Government which, if objected to by the United States, must be submitted to an impartial tribunal for final judgment. The New England fishermen contend that several of the present regulations are unfair.

Sir Edward Morris said that while in Boston he noticed considerable sentiment in favour of Canadian reciprocity. He added that if the United States wished to consider reciprocity with his Government, Newfoundland was prepared to discuss it at any time.

At the Cathedral.

Rev. Monsignor Roche preached an excellent sermon at the Cathedral last night on the visit of the Magi or Wise Men of the East. The Feast of the Epiphany, or the showing forth of the coming of the Messiah to the Gentiles, had been celebrated from the earliest days on the 6th of January. We being the descendants of the Gentiles had peculiar interest in this Feast and should rejoice in the manifestation of the reunion of Our Lord to the nations of the world. Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament followed. All the Christmas decorations were up and the myriads of light aglow gave the church a beautiful appearance.

Met the Clementine.

Capt. Connors in the Galatée, met the Clementine on December 9th in lat. 23 W., 42 N., while on the way here from Oporto. She was here to riding out a storm. A heavy sea was running, and Capt. Connors could not risk to go within hailing distance, as the Galatée herself was running under short sail. The Clementine is now on her way back from Oporto.

Dog Bites Man.

As Mr. Frederick Udle was passing along LeMarchant Road, Thursday afternoon, a vicious dog which is owned by a resident of the place, attacked him, and before he could beat the brute off him the man was severely bitten about the calf of his leg. The beast tore the man's clothing with its fangs, and the flesh was badly lacerated. He proceeded to a doctor who cauterized the wound, and then he applied to the authorities to have the dog shot.

The EVENING TELEGRAM.

The advertiser who puts his Advt. in the EVENING TELEGRAM never complains of results. It is read and believed by the people who buy goods. That is one reason why the TELEGRAM'S advertising columns Carry More Advertising Than Any Other Newspaper in Newfoundland.

That fact "speaks for itself," and it is not our intention just now to emphasize it further. What we want to do is to bring home to the business men (if there are any who have not availed of our columns in the past) the advantage to be gained through a liberal use of the TELEGRAM, in bringing before the people what they want the public—the great buying public—most to know.

The Kind of Goods They Have To Sell, the Quality of the Goods, Prices, &c.

If that is what the shopkeeper wants the public to learn, the TELEGRAM is the right medium through which it can be conveyed, because—

1st. It has the largest circulation, and

2nd. Consequently it is the most widely-read newspaper in Newfoundland;

3rd. Naturally, then, it must be THE BEST ADVERTISING MEDIUM in Newfoundland;

4th. Therefore, the advertiser has everything to gain, and nothing to lose, by availing of the services of the EVENING TELEGRAM during 1911.

Sunday School Services

Should the weather prove fine tomorrow, the centre of attraction no doubt, will be, the Anniversary Services to be held in Cochrane Street Church in connection with the Sunday School. Rev. J. S. Sutherland, M. A., of the Presbyterian Church, will preach at the morning service. The afternoon meeting will be held at 2:45 and to be presided over by Mr. C. R. Steer promises to be of special interest. Rev. J. W. Bartlett is to deliver a short address. There will also be recitations, special singing and exercises by the members of the Primary Department. At the evening service the Pastor, Rev. F. R. Mathews, B.A., will occupy the pulpit. Printed order of service will be placed in the pews. Parents and friends are heartily welcome. Collections in aid of the school fund.

The Ethel and Empire.

The Ethel and the Empire both left yesterday for Oporto with loads of fish. They have a fine clear time off the coast, and will, no doubt, be in sight of each other to-day. They are both good sailers, and much speculation is indulged in as to which will reach Oporto first.

A Lady Says:

"Those Magic are wonderful powders for relieving headache. I don't think I ever took anything which relieved me so quickly and without any ill after effects." They can be had only at W. T. COURTENAY, corner of Duckworth and Prescott Streets—Jan 7, 11.

Leg Amputated.

C. Rendell, of Port Rexton, T. B., brakeman on the R. N. Co. train, who had his leg broken at Carbonear yesterday morning and was brought to Hospital here yesterday, was obliged to have the member amputated last evening. He was helping to put a cask of keros oil on the train, at Carbonear, when the skids slipped.

People Want Policeman

The people who reside on the lower Battery Road are pestered by young men and boys who roll stones at night time from the hill above and break windows in the houses, also damaging the roofs. The practice is also attended with danger for pedestrians, and they hope that the authorities will send a policeman there to stop such conduct.

Debating Society.

The C. L. D. S. had a meeting last night to arrange a schedule of debates for the winter. The first one will be held next Wednesday night when the question: "Is it beneficial to the working classes to have licensed premises regulated as at present. Mr. J. Healey will take the affirmative, and Mr. L. C. Murphy the negative.

Harbor Grace Notes.

To-day, Old Christmas Day, Divine Service is being held in several of our churches.

A young man, brakeman on the morning train, met with a painful accident at the Railway Station here this morning. While in assisting to put a cask of oil on the train an accident occurred causing the cask to fall on his leg, breaking it just above the ankle, and terribly bruising it. After the injuries were attended to he was put on the train for St. John's.

Several of the residents of Bristol's Hope request your correspondent to draw the attention of Mr. Reid to the Company's advertisement in the different papers, where the word Mosquito is used for the more suitable one of Bristol's Hope. Let the old name die out for goodness sake. Bristol's Hope is the name now.

A number of the brethren of the Masonic Fraternity arrived by train yesterday to be present at the Installation of the Officers of Lodge "Harbor Grace" last night. The visiting brethren will go to Carbonear this afternoon where a similar service will be performed for the Carbonear Lodge to-night.

The Ladies of the Altar Society of Riverhead held a very successful sociable and entertainment on Tuesday night. A goodly number of the residents attended, and the affair was a financial success.

A very pleasant evening was spent on Wednesday at the Academy Hall with the C. C. C. at their concert, and also at the dance which followed.

The King and the Turf

Editor Evening Telegram. LONDON, Jan. 7. The doubt whether King George would become the patron of the Turf is set at rest by the official publication of numerous entries in his name in races to be run after the expiration of the year of mourning for the late King, Edward VII. His Majesty has adopted his father's racing colors and engaged trainers and jockeys.

Getting a Financial Grip

Special to Evening Telegram. NEW YORK, Jan. 6. A protectorate by the United States over Honduras is regarded here as a probability in well-informed circles, should negotiations now under way for a loan to that country be carried out as intended. The agents of the Government of Honduras have been negotiating with J. S. Morgan & Co., London, J. P. Morgan & Co., New York said if the loan has been made, it has been secured by the Customs Receipts of Honduras. This would mean that an American official would be placed in charge of the Customs of the Republic.

Perish in Fire.

Special Evening Telegram. NEW YORK, Jan. 5. Two Chinese, said to be relatives of Tom Lee, Mayor of Chinatown, perished in a fire which destroyed a house of five stories with five entrances, a lodging house in Chinatown. There were more than a hundred Chinese and many white women in the building when the fire broke out. The bodies have been recovered. The firemen who explored the ruins say four men are still in the ruins of the third floor.

Ode (Owed) to a M. D.

If I should die to-night And you should come to my cold corpse and say, Conscience-stricken and weeping 'er, my lifeless clay— If I should die to-night, And you should come, with heart enlarged— And say, "Here's ten dollars I over-charged," I would arise from my coffin And say "What's that?" If I should die to-night, And you mottred in my cold corpse to kneel, With bill in hand, to show the grief you feel— I say, if I should die to-night, And you should come and say, there and then, "Balance due, 10; I'm content with 10," I might arise the while, But I'd drop dead again! If I should die to-night, And you foot-tooted to my cold corpse and said, "Alas! alas! my poor charge is dead"— If I should die to-night, And you should come to me, feeling nervous, And forget to enter "To professional service," I'd be discharged from the coffin To return never again! Stops Pain of Burns and Cuts.

Really Wonderful How Zam-Buk Gives Ease. This is the verdict of all who have tried Zam-Buk. The woman in the home knows best its value. A burn from the stove, from a flat iron, or a hot pan, is instantly soothed by Zam-Buk. When the little ones fall and cut or scratch themselves, Zam-Buk stops the pain and, incidentally, their crying. The best proof of this is the fact that children who have once had Zam-Buk applied come for it again. For more serious burns, too, it is unequalled. Mr. John Johnston, of 724 South Marks Street, Port William, a moulder in Copp's Foundry, says: "Some time ago I burned the top of my foot severely by dropping some molten iron from a ladle I was carrying. A large hole was burned through my shoe and into the top of my foot. I was taken home and Zam-Buk was applied to the burn directly. It was surprising what relief this balm afforded. The burn was so deep and so serious that it required careful attention, but Zam-Buk prevented other complications arising, and as it was daily applied, soothed the pains and allayed the inflammation. In the course of two weeks the hole burned in my foot had been well healed." Mr. W. B. Gibson, of Belleville, writes: "We have tried Zam-Buk often on cuts and sores, and I think there is nothing that can equal it." Zam-Buk will also be found a sure cure for cold sores, chapped hands, frost bite, ulcers, blood-poison, varicose sores, piles, scalp sores, ringworm, inflamed patches, babies, eruptions and chapped places, and skin injuries generally. All druggists and stores sell at 50c. box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., St. John's, Nfld., for price.

At the Oddfellows Hall, to-morrow afternoon, an Evangelistic Service will be conducted, to which all are invited. The meeting will commence at a quarter to three o'clock. These Services are growing in interest and greater results are expected. Come and spend an hour with us.—Jan. 11

Great Contractor Dead

Special to Evening Telegram. LONDON, Jan. 6. Sir John Aird, the builder of the famous Aswan dam across the Nile, is dead. He was born in 1823 and became one of the greatest contractors in the world. His greatest work was the barrage of the Nile of the natural barrage of islands of peat and debris and the construction of the great dam at Aswan, by which is collected and distributed the waters of the Nile or which the fertility of Egypt depends. This work was one of the feats of the age. Sir John Aird was the first Mayor of Paddington, and represented North Paddington in Parliament for 15 years. He was created a baronet in 1901, and was also decorated with the Grand Cordon of the Medjidie.

The Typhus Fever Cases.

The three little boys—Collins—whose mother died of the disease, are now recovering from the typhus fever which they contracted from their parent. They were very ill for a long while and are extremely weak from the suffering they underwent while prostrated from the disease. Joseph Whalen, son of Mrs. Whalen who died of the disease also, is still in the Fever Hospital "under observation." All the other patients in the Hospital were very ill yesterday, and Rev. Father Goff is still in a precarious state. Mr. William Penning, we are glad to say, has had a change for the better, and his physicians now look forward to his complete recovery. The residences of the people who are now suffering from the disease may not have access to them, and last night a watchman was stationed on Pope Street to carry out the regulations of the quarantine which at last has been established. It is to be hoped that this is not a case of "lock the stable door when the steed is stolen." The assertion has been made that when the patients were discovered to be afflicted with the disease they were sent immediately from their dwellings to the hospital, and that the houses were immediately disinfected and the clothing of the people left behind in the dwellings fumigated also, thereby preventing the spread of the disease and admitting of them going to their work without the risk of infecting those with whom they associated. Some of the people on Barter's Hill and Pope Street say that the infected houses were not so treated, and if this is so the wonder is that half the city has not been infected by now, as children from infected dwellings went to school and played round the streets, while men and women visited uninfected dwellings and neighborhoodly intercourse went on unimpeded. The placing of night pails from infected houses on the streets must of necessity be a source of great danger to the public whether the disease in such houses was typhoid or typhus. Yet each night the refuse from each house was disposed of in the ordinary way, these vessels were left for hours on the sidewalks, the effluvia from them poisoning the atmosphere, and despite this those in authority talk of precaution being taken to prevent the spread of the disease. The people in the infected neighbourhood also state that clothing, etc. has been removed from the Collins household and taken to other dwellings since the death of Mrs. Collins. This is a matter that should be thoroughly enquired into, and if clothing and effects have been taken from the place without disinfection they should be sought out and destroyed immediately; while the houses of those who took them should be thoroughly disinfected and fumigated.

Great Contractor Dead

Special to Evening Telegram. LONDON, Jan. 6. Sir John Aird, the builder of the famous Aswan dam across the Nile, is dead. He was born in 1823 and became one of the greatest contractors in the world. His greatest work was the barrage of the Nile of the natural barrage of islands of peat and debris and the construction of the great dam at Aswan, by which is collected and distributed the waters of the Nile or which the fertility of Egypt depends. This work was one of the feats of the age. Sir John Aird was the first Mayor of Paddington, and represented North Paddington in Parliament for 15 years. He was created a baronet in 1901, and was also decorated with the Grand Cordon of the Medjidie.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY

At the monthly meeting of this Society held in the "Club House" on Thursday evening, Mr. W. A. Munn read an interesting paper on the discovery of Newfoundland prior to the arrival of John Cabot. As he goes out of the beaten track and brings forward a new phase of this question, we are publishing the full paper. Several of the members of the Society were anxious to get the authorities for some of his statements, and as it appears to give a very opposite view to what Judge Prowse has expressed in his valuable history, there is no doubt that it will create an interesting discussion.

CEDFISHERY CARRIED ON IN NEWFOUNDLAND, AND MANY IMPORTANT PLACES WERE NAMED PRIOR TO THE ARRIVAL OF JOHN CABOT IN 1497.

(By W. A. Munn.)

There are many historical questions that may never be answered, but it is wonderful what information has been brought to light in modern times.

Such prominence has been given to John Cabot and his discovery of Newfoundland that other events have been overshadowed. Cabot's voyage was under Royal Charter, and being more or less a national movement, created widespread interest.

I believe the reason Cabot gained such prominence was that his voyage to Newfoundland in 1497 was the successful culmination of many unsuccessful voyages of discovery carried on from England during at least thirty years previous to that date, of which Bristol was the headquarters.

As a proof of this I would mention. In 1498 the Spanish Ambassador, Pedro de Ayala, residing in England, wrote to Ferdinand and Isabella:—

"For the past seven years the people of Bristol have sent out every year two, three or four light ships in search of the Island of Brazil and the seven cities."

We have another corroboration from William Botoner, who gives an account of a voyage made by Bristol men:—

"In two ships of 80 tons of Jay and a merchant, who began their voyage 15th July, 1480 at the port of Bristol in Kyngrood for the Island of Brasyle, taking their course from the west part of Ireland, plowing the seas, they discovered the Island of England, and the most skilful mariner of all England."

News came to Bristol Monday, September 18th, that the said ships "sailed over the seas for nine months and found not the Island, but through tempests at sea returned to port in Ireland for laying up their ships and mariners."

Here are two authentic accounts of voyages by Bristol merchants in the Atlantic in search of the Island of Brazil. It is plain that Englishmen had information and a firm belief of an island called Brazil that they were very anxious to find, and must have had good reasons for spending so much money on costly expeditions.

These questions suggest themselves: Where was this island? and who named it?

We have the information that this expedition in 1480 was fitted out from Bristol and sailed from the west coast of Ireland, so that we can reasonably believe that this island was in the North Atlantic west of Ireland. Then again, the word "Brazil" is a Spanish name for "trees" or "thickly wooded."

Now we can reason that this island was in the North Atlantic, was found by Spanish sailors and christened the "Island of Trees."

It is a curious coincidence that in the old Norwegian records we have information 200 years or more before Cabot's time, of their discoveries, Helluland Markland, and Vinland.

The meaning of the word "Markland" is "Land of Trees," and it is the acceptable belief that this was Newfoundland; and we also know that all the explorers, after Cabot's voyage to Newfoundland, make special mention of its thickly wooded shores.

Note this difference between the Norsemen and the Spaniards. The Norsemen think it is the Mainland while the Spaniards knew it is an island.

Now, let us see if we have any reasons to believe that the Spaniards were in Newfoundland, and whether research among old Spanish records would not throw further light on this interesting subject; for if it does, it would mean the revisiting of a good many histories that have been written about Columbus as well as Cabot. We have the record that Spain did make claim to the rights of fishing in Newfoundland from earliest times, and renewed this claim in the strongest way in 1761; but William Pitt, who was Frencher, appears to have been getting ready then for a war with Spain, which did break out in 1763. He sent the following reply to the British Ambassador at Madrid:—

"As to the stale and inadmissible pretensions of Biscayans and Gasconians to fish at Newfoundland, you will let it be clearly understood that this is a matter held sacred, and that no concessions on the part of His Majesty so destructive to the true and capital interest of Great Britain will be yielded to Spain however abetted and supported."

We must recognize that Pitt was a statesman, and whether he was interested or not in this historical question, his language is plain that this was not to be a subject for discussion between England and Spain.

He certainly believed the Spanish Government, as we hear no more about it. But judging from our point of view it would be very interesting indeed to get the facts that the Spanish Government intended to bring forward.

One item we can get from Pitt's despatch, that it was the Basque provinces that made the claim to Newfoundland. All important histories mention that the Basques were the most fearless sailors in pursuit of whales, and carried on this fishery from earliest records.

Now what is more probable than that it was the Basques and Spaniards who had christened this "Island of Brazil?"

Here another question suggests itself: Were they looking for whales alone? and did they know anything of the codfishery?

On the old maps Newfoundland is often called Baccales; even our greatest historian, Hakluyt, has no other name for Newfoundland on the map in his book, 1598. It is stated that this country was so called because that was the name given by the natives to the codfish.

Now we know from the vocabulary of Mary March that the Red Indian name for codfish was "Bobhoostovet." We also know that the name Baccales is the Spanish name for codfish.

Critics will at once say that the Red Indians got this name after Cabot's discovery; but if they look up the very earliest record we have of the discovery of Newfoundland, recorded by Hakluyt, given by Sebastian Cabot, and to be seen in the private gallery of Queen Elizabeth at Westminster they will find the following extract of the description of Cabot's discovery. This is the most important document we have about this voyage:—

"It yieldeth plenty of fish, and those very great as seals and those which commonly we call salmon; there are soles also above a yard in length. But especially there is great abundance of that kind of fish which the savages call Baccales."

Peter Martyr also confirms this that Sebastian Cabot told him that he named of these lands Baccales because he had found so great a multitude of fish which the inhabitants call Baccales.

What better proof is it possible to get, that this was a common name among the Red Indians before Cabot's time, and we can come to a certain conclusion that the codfishery had been prosecuted vigorously by the Basques and Spaniards.

The arrival of John Cabot in the Matthew was the chance for trade, which Indians were looking for, either to help in catering or to dispose of their codfish, or as the Spaniards called it, "Baccales."

This appears to me positive proof that the Basque and Spanish fishermen had discovered America previous to Cabot's time, and also to the time of Columbus.

In conclusion I would like to draw special attention to the nomenclature of several places. I believe we can find many important places named by the Basques in Newfoundland.

I must claim ignorance of any knowledge of the Basque language. It is said to be the most difficult language to understand. If we were to consult an educated person from the Basque provinces, such as Monsiengneur La Gasse, who translated the inscription on the old Basque tombstones at Piacentia, I have no doubt that he would be able to explain the meaning of the names of many places that we all have a guess at to-day.

I have explained a good chart of the Bay of Biscay and find quite a number of familiar names that suggest themselves at once as being names given by the Basque fishermen, and which in all probability were among the very first places named in our island. Following are a few of these names: Cape Du Raz (Cape Race), Cape Frelch (Cape Frels), Bell Isle, Ferrol, Isle de Groix (Groats Island), Point St. Barbe (Light House), Brehat (Braha), Pt. de Grave, also Cap Breton (Cape Breton).

These names certainly sound very familiar. Then there is Piacentia and Basque town.

The Island of Baccales is certainly a Frenchified corruption of Baccales. The Biscayan Islands, with Cove of the same name at Cape St. Francis, as well as the renowned Port aux Basques must have certainly been looked on as Basque possessions.

These names are in all parts of Newfoundland, so I have come to the conclusion that the Basque fishermen knew our geography and frequented the island of Newfoundland, and named many of these places long before John Cabot's arrival here.

Very old maps, even as early as 1339, show a large island under various names in the Western Atlantic, but whether this information comes from Norse, Icelandic or Basque legends is worthy of investigation.

I believe that the Bristol merchants who carried on a very large fish business throughout the whole of Europe in 1450 got information during their intercourse with Spain about that time of a new fishing ground discovered by Basque whalers at the Island of Brazil, and it was their ambition to exploit this fishery; hence their numerous voyages and their rejoicing at the success of John Cabot, whom they called the Great Admiral.

I believe this is one of the strongest arguments in support of Judge Prowse's contention that the West of England fishermen took possession and prosecuted the Newfoundland fishery from the very first after Cabot's discovery of our country.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—One of the best concerts ever held in the history of the S. U. P. of Grate's Cove, was held here on Monday, January 2nd. At 10.30 a.m. the Society left their Hall and paraded around the Cove; there was a fine turnout, and the music rendered by their fine brass band was very appropriate for the occasion. After parading around the Cove the Society entered the Church of England where they were met by the Rev. J. Brettnall, who very forcibly explained to them the three great principles of the Society, viz., Purity, Love and Fidelity, after leaving the Church the Society entered the hall where they were met by the good ladies who had such well dressed tables that would make you think for a moment that you were in some part of the Southern States. After everyone had felt quite satisfied with the way they had been treated, we noticed the chairman making his way towards the stage where he invited some of the gentlemen to favour the Society with a short address. This was quickly responded to by the Rev. E. P. Ward, Rev. J. Brettnall and many others. At 6.30 p.m. the doors were opened for the usual concert, and although a very short time was spent in getting it ready, yet no one could leave the hall and feel unsatisfied for attending, and great praise is due the chairman who worked so hard to make it a success.

Thanking you for space,
I remain,
A. E. B.

Your money back if Purity Flour does not prove entirely satisfactory in the baking.

DON'T simply buy flour from the dollar and cent side of it. Buy high-quality flour. That means PURITY FLOUR. The first little extra cost is more than made up by the extra number of loaves of bread it makes—by the superiority of the bread and pastry in sweetness of flavor and nourishing qualities. Buying Purity Flour is a safe investment. You get large returns, not only on account of Purity's ability to produce more, but because Purity contains the greater nutriment and the vim of a strong hard wheat flour. Food made from Purity Flour gives the consumer health, snap and force, which cannot be gained from the use of the weaker soft wheat flour.

"MORE BREAD AND BETTER BREAD"
PURITY FLOUR
 You can buy as little as a 7 pound cotton bag or in 14, 24, 49, and 98 pound sacks. Also in barrels and half-barrels.
 Purity may cost a little more than some flours but you'll find it more than worth the difference. To be sure must bear the trade mark.
