Only a Beggar;
—BUT—
A Queen Among Women

"It's all right," Desmond March observed. "They can't hear us. And, if they could, they are, most of them, too drunk to understand," he added contemptuously. "Now, if I am right in my conjecture, and I see by that expressive face of yours, Garling, that I am, I ought to do my duty as a good citizen, call a policeman directly you get into the street, and give you into custody. But it's lucky for you that some of us seldom do our duty. No; I don't care a hang whether you report yourself at Scotland Yard or not. But you shall report yourself to me, instead."

With a nod and a smile, he drew out his dainty pocket-book, extracted a card, and flicked it across the table.

"There's my address. Just look in, let us say, every Monday—"

Garling took up the card, glanced at it, crushed it in his strong hand, and, leaning forward, made a gesture as if to demand Mr. Desmond March's particular attention.

"Look here," he said, his face white as his voice thick with emotion. "You asked me what I'd been doing. Suppose—I say suppose—I'd been abroad trying to turn over a new leaf, trying to earn a decent, honest living, and suppose I'd succeeded. Do you think that, having given the police the slip, got rid of the past, I'm going to drop back into being the tool, the slave, of the first fine gentleman that happens to spot me?"

"That's exactly the supposition I'm acting on, Garling," responded Desmond March. "Why, man, don't you see, if you hadn't been on the square for some time past, if you hadn't a character to lose, you'd have told me to go to the devil long before this? You'd have whined and promised anything, everything—and made a bolt for it the moment you left me."

The man's deeply lined face worked, and he regarded the smiling one of Desmond March as if he were fascinated.

"Tut, tut! Give me credit for some small amount of penetration," March went on. "It's just because you are

Makes Stubborn Coughs Vanish in a Hurry
Surprisingly Good Cough Syrup Easily and Cheaply Made at Home
If some one in your family has an obstinate cough or a bad throat or chest cold that has been hanging on and refuses to yield to treatment, get from any drug store 2½ ounces of Pinex and make it into 16 ounces of cough syrup, and watch that cough vanish.
Pour the 2½ ounces Pinex (50 cents worth) into a 16-ounce bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. The total cost is about 24 cents, and gives you 16 ounces—a family supply—of a most effective remedy, at a saving of 82 cents. A day's use will usually overcome a severe cough. Easily prepared in 5 minutes—full directions with Pinex. Keeps perfectly and has a pleasant taste. Children like it.
It's really remarkable how promptly and easily it loosens the dry, hoarse or tight cough and heals the inflamed membranes in a painful cough. It also stops the formation of phlegm in the throat and bronchial tubes, thus ending the persistent loose cough. A splendid remedy for bronchitis, winter coughs, bronchial asthmas and whooping cough.
Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, rich in gualacal, which is so healing to the membranes.
Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex," and do not accept anything else. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction goes with this preparation or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

on the square, my good fellow, that you will do as I order you. You've come back to England, to dear old London—what a charm there is in it for the exile, isn't there? The little village with its cheerful pubs, its cabs and its crowds, its little places like this of Moss', its lighted streets and its fogs and mists. How you chaps, who have to bolt from it, pine for it, long for it! Oh, I know! And you want to stop here. You've had enough of foreign parts—they're all beastly, aren't they? Yes! Here you are back again with some money in your pocket—"

The man started slightly and seemed to arouse himself from a fit of preoccupation, in which he had been listening only absently to Mr. Desmond March's smooth, soft voice.

"I'm—I'm a poor man, sir," he said, with his eyes downcast.

Desmond March laughed. "Just enough for a spree, eh? Well, have your spree; but don't forget that if I want you I shall require to see you where to put my hand on you. Call it a whim of mine, if you like; but I've a fancy for keeping you on the string—"

Garling's face darkened and his eyes glowered.

"I'm a bad 'un to hold!" he said threateningly.

Desmond March laughed up at him. "I like holding bad 'uns. What, is it closing time, Moss?" to the Jew, who came to them, rubbing his hands and with a deprecatory smile. "All right. An old servant of mine, Moss." He indicated Garling by a nod. "Strange to meet him here, eh? Yes; we're going. Come along, Edward." He clapped Garling on the shoulder—and smiled covertly as Garling started, as if the action recalled unpleasant experiences. "Moss likes to keep early hours!"

Garling walked with him into the street.

"Good-night," said Desmond March. "But, I'm forgetting—you haven't given me your address!"

"Twenty-nine Old Ham Street," said Garling sullenly.

"Old Ham Street? Ah, yes, off the Tottenham Court Road. A laundress of mine used to live there. Nice, quiet street; just the place for a respectable man. Call me a cab, please."

ed resignation to every decree of fate, however hard, he muttered: "No, I can't go—I want to see her; I must see her, if it's only for once. What made me come here to-night? It was the solitude, the living alone, as drove me out for some amusement, anything to help me to forget, to pass the lagging time. No, I can't go, and I won't."

CHAPTER XII.

Diana waited until the school feast had broken up; and to the very last some of the children clung round her; indeed, she carried one child, asleep, in her arms to his home, one of the cottages on the road to Rivermead; but she had moved, and spoken like a person in dreamland.

Could it be true that Lord Dalesford loved her? It had come so suddenly, so unexpectedly, that the surprise, the shock of his declaration confused and bewildered her.

He loved her! In the midst of the din and clamor of the children's voices his words rang in her ears, and in her heart; and every now and then she stopped short in what she was doing and gazed before her, with a scarlet blush burning in her cheeks; so that the young harpies surrounding her stared at her and demanded to be told what was the matter.

How well he had spoken, how handsome he had looked, how considerate and gentle he had been with her, and how patient! He was coming to-morrow. To-morrow—why, that was only a few hours ahead! And she would have to give him her answer. What should she say to him?

The most important time of her life had come; the hour on which all the future hung. And her answer? Did she love him?

She did not dare ask herself the question until she had reached the solitude of her own room; where she sat with her hands clasped in her lap, her eyes fixed, not on vacancy, but the mental vision of his grave, earnest face; and she could see it so plainly.

Lord Dalesford's wife! Her face flamed and her heart beat tumultuously with a sense of joy and doubt, and something nearly akin to dread.

For Lord Dalesford was not the sort of man she would have chosen—if she had not seen him, if he had not been by her side every day, as he had been since she came to Rivermead. She would have warned any girl friend against marrying the man whom the world regarded as one of those who live the life of indolent ease and selfish pleasure. And yet—and yet—why did the thought of being his cause her to thrill, send a warm current through every vein?

How long she sat pondering, a voice in her heart deafening that of prudence, of doubt, even of conscience, she did not know; but presently there was a knock at the door and Mrs. Burton said: "The supper is laid. Are you coming down, Diana?"

Diana answered in the affirmative, and after bathing her face went down. Mrs. Burton had not been to the school treat. She had pleaded a headache; but it was only an excuse for avoiding the function, as she avoided, whenever possible, any appearance in public. The meal had been laid in the morning room, and Diana, as she went to her place, paused and, bending down, kissed her aunt, who was already seated.

Mrs. Burton looked up at her quickly, and noted the rapt expression in Diana's eyes; but she said nothing until she had dismissed the maid; then she asked: "Did it go off successfully, Diana?"

"Oh, yes," Diana replied. "Very." She hesitated a moment, then she said in a low voice: "Aunt Mary, Lord Dalesford has asked me to be his wife."

Mrs. Burton laid down her knife and fork and looked at the downcast face as if she were stupefied.

"Lord Dalesford—has proposed to you!" she gasped, at last, her face white and drawn.

"Yes," said Diana, in a low voice, her eyes still downcast. "He asked me this afternoon—"

Mrs. Burton leaned back, gripping her hands under the table.

"And—and what did you say? You refused him, Diana?" She spoke with difficulty, her breath coming painfully.

"No; he is coming to-morrow for my answer."

"It must be 'No!'" said Mrs. Burton, almost sternly.

Diana raised her eyes with grave surprise, and regarded the white face with alarm.

"No? Why, Aunt Mary?"

"Why?" repeated Mrs. Burton hoarsely. She was silent for a moment, her hands gripping each other more tightly. "It—it isn't a suitable match for you," she said thickly.

"He is a nobleman—the son of an earl—he will be Lord Wrayborough. And you—you—"

"Yes, I know," said Diana quietly. "There is the difference in rank, position."

"That's not the only objection," Mrs. Burton broke in tremulously. "He is not a good man, he belongs to the class—oh, Diana, you won't do it, you won't do it! Her voice broke to a wail. "He's not worthy of you; he doesn't know what love means; your way of life isn't his; you wouldn't be happy with him. No woman can rely upon a man of that sort—"

MRS. WINN'S ADVICE TO WOMEN

Take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and be Restored to Health.

Kansas City, Mo.—"The doctors told me I would never be a mother. Every month the pains were so bad that I could not bear my weight on one foot. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and had not finished the first bottle when I felt greatly relieved and I took it until it made me sound and well, and I now have two fine baby girls. I cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound too highly for what it has done for me. I always speak a word in favor of your medicine to other women who suffer when I have an opportunity."—Mrs. H. T. WOOD, 1225 Freeman Ave., Kansas City, Mo.

Read What Another Woman says: "Cumming, Ga.—"I tell some suffering woman every day of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it has done for me. I could not eat or sleep, had a bad stomach and was in misery all the time. I could not do my housework or walk any distance without suffering great pain. I tried doctors' medicines and different patent medicines but failed to get relief. My husband brought home your Vegetable Compound and in two weeks I could eat anything, could sleep like a healthy baby, and walk a long distance without feeling tired. I can highly recommend your Vegetable Compound to women who suffer as I did, and you are at liberty to use this letter."—Mrs. CHARLES RAGLEY, R. 3, Cumming, Ga.

"I could catch the Continental express," he muttered. "I could get away from the bound—course him! What's he want with me? He's a scoundrel, though he's a fine gentleman. A card-sharper, swell. He'll drag me back—back! Me who—wo—! Why, when I think of all I've done; all I've given up—it makes me mad. Why, I could laugh!"

Something like a laugh, a hideous travesty of one, did burst from his lips. He stood on the edge of the pavement hesitating for a moment, then with a heavy sigh, the sign of a man who has been fortune's football for so long a time that he has learn-

Allies Defeat Germans Against Terrible Odds.

OPPOSE 700,000 MEN IN FIERCE THREE-DAY BATTLE.

Northern France, Nov. 5.—Fighting against terrific odds, our army has frustrated the gigantic attempt of 700,000 Germans to break their lines between Ypres and Lille. They gained a tremendous victory. So on Wednesday night a general advance of one of our positions to the north was ordered. It was a three days' battle, in which the storming of trenches and bayonet charges were hourly occurrences. The greatest effort of the Germans was concentrated on the British at Ypres. They had given up hope of defeating the Allies on the coast, and to envelope them by a turning movement. They were indeed in danger of being themselves enveloped. For three days the battle proceeded with charges and counter-charges by infantry and artillery. The first impetus of the German onslaught was easily brought to a standstill by our men.

TREMENDOUS LOSSES.

Tremendous losses were incurred in this mad charge, bodies littered two and three deep over the first hundred yards of their advance. In places bodies rose like hedges and impeded the progress of the second and third German assaults, but numbers must soon tell, and fresh battalions of the enemy, who always appeared behind their fallen friends, who had been wiped out by the hundred by our shot and shell arrived, through sheer momentum, of the charge by such a huge mass in the neighborhood of our trenches.

Our men were prepared for this. About twenty-five yards in front of our trenches deep pits had been dug some twenty feet deep and some twenty feet wide. These were covered with branches and loose turf, just as at Bannockburn centuries ago. Into these the Germans fell in heaps, calling but pitifully when too late they discovered this stratagem of our troops, who watched their destruction with sangfroid and continued to bring down as many as possible before they reached the pits. In order that those should not be choked too quickly, but the Germans, though more than filled the pits came on in great numbers and sustained the charge with great vigor. The pits had now become the scene of appalling horror. The Germans struggled, cried and fought with one another, in vain hope of extricating themselves.

SHOT BY THEIR FRIENDS.

Many were accidentally transfixed by the barbarous jagged edged bayonets of those who had fallen before them, and others were shot by their friends' rifles. On one occasion a shot fell into one of the pits on the right wing of the British and a hundred of the mass of humanity were blown out of existence.

For a considerable time, still clinging calmly to the trenches, they hustled themselves in annihilating those unfortunate Germans who tried to step over the bodies in the pit, and when this became impossible they prepared for a fight at close quarters with their bayonets.

I am informed that for nearly 24 hours the struggle for our first line of trenches continued. The carnage was not one-sided. Indeed, this desperate encounter and the trenches were filled with the bodies of German and British. Superior numbers, however, compelled our men to retire on the second day, for the fighting had proceeded with unabated vigor.

DASH AGAINST GERMANS.

We had to retreat about five miles when the third day of battle dawned. A general advance was then called and our regiments dashed against the Germans in a final shock. Their charges were irresistible and they swept everything before them. The Germans, however, had reckoned without the British supporting army, which came into action on Saturday, an army of fresh young men, like the London and Scottish, who were asked to join it at the eleventh hour, and an army that had not been fatigued in wet and muddy trenches. This army sprang to the attack and took the Germans by surprise. The sting of their onslaught drove the enemy speedily over the ground they had gained on the previous day. On and on they charged, over fifteen miles of country. After three days fighting the British troops are now nearly ten miles in advance of their positions of last week and the supreme effort of the Germans has consequently failed.

Chest Colds and Hoarseness Quickly Rubbed Away.

"Nerviline" Gives Speedy Relief and Cures Over Night.

Got a cold?

Is your voice raspy—is your chest congested or sore?

If so, you are the very person that Nerviline will cure in a jiffy. Nerviline is strong and penetrating. It sinks right into the tissues, takes out inflammation and soreness, destroys colds in a truly wonderful way. Rub Nerviline over the chest—rub on lots of it, and watch that tightness disappear. Nerviline won't blister, it sinks in too fast—doesn't simply stay on the surface like a thick, oily liniment would. If the throat is raspy and sore, rub it well outside with Nerviline as a gargle diluted with warm water. Just one or two treatments like this and your voice and throat will be quite normal again.

Just think of it—for forty years the largest used family medicine in this country—Nerviline must be good, must quickly relieve and cure a hundred ills that befall every family. Try it for earache, toothache, coughs, colds, sore chest, hoarseness and muscular pains in every part of the body. Large family size bottle 50c.; trial size 25c. at all dealers.

Tomato sandwiches are delicious in the school lunch and a little celery salt sprinkled over the tomato makes them more delicious.

A Hundred and One Per Cent Efficiency.

By RUTH CAMERON.

"What a thought we spill a few grains of corn, or drops of oil from the cruse, these be the price of peace." From a Persian Poet.

Is there not such a thing as being too efficient?

Is it not possible to be so anxious to get the full value out of time, money, material, opportunities, etc., that we do not get the full value out of life?

I know a woman who is what I call a hundred and one per cent efficient in her use of time. She realizes its value and she cannot bear to waste a moment, and so she is constantly contriving to squeeze some little task or pleasure into some interval that to the ordinary mind appears too small to contain it. Sometimes she succeeds and sometimes she doesn't. And still again she succeeds and has to pay a big price for her success.

The other day a group of us were going on a pleasure trip. We gathered at a friend's home. The woman who is one hundred and one per cent efficient was one of the number. While we were waiting for the group to assemble, another woman telephoned that she had been unavoidably delayed and was just starting. The ultra efficient lady took out her watch and noted that it would take our friend twenty minutes to reach us. Her restless mind at once saw a use for that time. "I think I'll run up to the Public Library for that book," she said, "I'll just have time."

She went. She was delayed; it took her twenty-five minutes instead of twenty. The other woman was picked up by a friend's automobile and reached us in five minutes instead of twenty, so six people had to wait twenty minutes in order that one person might save twenty. Incidentally we missed a car and made bad connections all the afternoon.

Of course the ultra efficient lady could not foresee that train of events, but that is not the only time her friends have had to pay the price of her ultra efficiency. Moreover I think she, herself, is paying a steady price for it in nerve strain.

To my mind thrifty use of money or material may also be carried to an extreme of efficiency that makes it a loss. Of course, when you are limited to certain resources it is a good thing instead of economizing simply by doing without, to make these resources cover a large field. But there comes a point beyond which the effort to utilize every little thing becomes a painful mental strain and that is the time when it is well to stop and see if you can't economize by simplifying and going without.

Training and exercise make a man strong, but there is a point beyond which they make him stale and weak. There is always a point beyond which the good, by excess, becomes the bad, and that idol of the twentieth century, efficiency, is no exception to the rule.

Training and exercise make a man strong, but there is a point beyond which they make him stale and weak. There is always a point beyond which the good, by excess, becomes the bad, and that idol of the twentieth century, efficiency, is no exception to the rule.

French Officer Praises Work of British Army.

ENGLISH CAVALRY DESCRIBED AS MAGNIFICENT WHILE AVIATORS ARE SAID TO HAVE SHOWN KNOWLEDGE OF NEEDS OF WAR THAT HAS BEEN A VERITABLE REVELATION.

Paris, Nov. 6.—A French officer's appreciation of the efficiency of the British expeditionary force in France is given in the Figaro, over the name of M. Frantz-Reichel. It has been sent to the Morning Post by its Paris correspondent, and is as follows:

"The famous 'legme britannique' does not disappear in the battlefield, and any one who has seen the English at work cannot but be enthusiastic and feel an increased admiration for a people whose courage has always been legendary. In a few days of active service the British troops had adapted themselves perfectly to the exigencies of modern warfare, and in battle they display prodigious tenacity, ingenuity and sangfroid, unequalled dash in advance, and unwavering vigor in the retreat.

DISCIPLINE IS REMARKABLE.

"All the qualities acquired by the English in their sports find ideal application in modern war. Their discipline is remarkable. If the relations between officers and men do not reach that extent of camaraderie which exists between the French soldier and his chiefs, the English officer looks after his men with attentive care and that correctness of attitude which is so essentially an English characteristic.

"The English soldier clings to his habits with astounding determination. He is most anxious to be as smart and clean as possible, and even under fire, if he has a few minutes respite, he will find some spring or stream for his ablutions; even in the trenches he may be seen shaving himself. On the march he likes to take his meals as if he were still in time of peace, and if the battle has upset the hours of his meals, at the first halt between two wagons he cooks his eggs and bacon.

"The commissariat of the English troops is remarkable. They are abundantly provided with excellent tinned meat and jam. Their uniform is extremely practical and their general equipment is first rate. The system of ammunition supply is admirable and the men charged with this work carry out their task under the heaviest fire with amazing dexterity and sangfroid.

"The British artillery is first rate; their heavy guns are quite extraordinary, and it must be said that they have rendered invaluable services to the allied armies on account not only of the efficiency of their material, but also of the splendid qualities of the men who serve them. The English cavalry is magnificent, perfectly mounted, and the men are incomparable horsemen.

"Finally, the flying corps has been of the greatest service. The English aviators have shown a knowledge of the practical application of the aeroplane to the needs of war which is a veritable revelation. The technical side of the new arm has been studied perfectly on the other side of the Channel. The English aviators are absolutely unsparring in their efforts, and those efforts have proved most useful. The reports drawn up by them concerning the missions on which they have been sent are perfect models of their kind."

Household Notes

Select a hen turkey in preference to a cock turkey.
To whip cream quickly, add a pinch of baking soda.
Bran muffins are better than griddle cakes every morning.
The better the flour, the better the bread made from it will be.
Part milk used in mixing bread improves both flavor and quality.

For very delicate fabric, which will not take starch, try sugar in the rinsing water.
Tie a knot of red ribbon on scissors and keys if you want to find them easily.
Never put much sugar in bread; it is only used at all to help the yeast ferment.
Celery leaves should always be saved—even dried, if necessary—to use in soups.

If a teaspoonful of borax is put into the last rinsing water when washing clothes, they will be very much whiter.
It is most helpful to have a bowl of cooked rice in the ice chest. There are so many uses for rice in making up left-overs.
Never choose a turkey too fat—the flavor of a fat bird is never so good as the flavor of one just moderately plump.

 THURSDAY, Nov. 12th, 1914.
Astounding
Action of the Government.

As our readers know, we have endeavored to avoid any captious partisan criticism of the Government during the trying times of war in the desire to strengthen their hands in assisting the mother country in the defence of the Empire, but we could not avoid registering our protest of the Minute of Council on the extra pay directed to be given to Captain Timewell, and we demanded its cancellation. As to our views on the appointment of Mr. Somerton to be Magistrate at Catalina and having jurisdiction at Catalina, where his appointment is unpalatable to a large number of the residents, our colleagues in Trinity have known our views for some time. These were that if the Government desired to give Mr. Somerton a magistracy, it would be more expedient to appoint him to a position elsewhere, even if another magistrate had to be transferred from Trinity. Another matter, however, has cropped up which far transcends in importance these two matters, so far as it affects the residents of the north side of Trinity Bay and the south side of Bonavista Bay, and that is a revival of the land scandal of some years ago. It will be remembered that some eight years or so ago, a grant of a license to cut timber was given to Mr. G. H. Emerson, who was understood to be acting for Mr. Roberts. This license was to cut timber over a great part of the land except the three mile limit of the large peninsula between Bonavista Bay and Trinity Bay. Public attention was drawn to this matter first in the Evening Herald, and for a long time it was a favorite form of attack by the Opposition of that date, who are now the Government, not only against the Liberal Government, but against the three sitting members of Trinity Bay. Since that time the Bonavista branch railway has been built, and part of the land has been taken up by the Reid Mill Company under their building contract. On Jan. 1st, 1912, Mr. McNamara put in an application and on June 1st of this year, the Governor in Council approved of his application and some 110 miles of the 150 approved to Mr. Emerson, under the old application, was granted to him. A part of this grant takes in the blocks alternate to the Reid grants between N. W. Brook and S. W. Brook of Clode Sound and extends eastwards apparently not yet blocked out, but stretching north of Smith Sound to Pope's Pond, towards the south and towards Southward Bay in Bonavista Bay, excluding the three mile limit. In view of the attitude taken up by the members of the present Government Party when in Opposition, and in view of the action of the late Government in obtaining this timber land back as a reserve against the time the three mile limit was worked out, the present approval of this application is a most extraordinary proceeding, and we strongly protest against it. It is astounding that the Government should have made the grants after their strenuous agitation against a similar grant made by the late Government. They could not plead ignorance of the matter for they were too intimately connected with that agitation to offer such a plea. As we objected to the grant when made before, so we object to it now, and as we did then, so do we now call upon the Government to rescind their approval or take the consequences.

ANARCHY AT AVLONA.
 PARIS, To-day.
 The following despatch has been received from Athens: It is announced that a British destroyer has captured two Turkish sailing ships near the island of Tenedos. The town of Tenedos and the town of Berat, Albania have been pillaged and completely destroyed. Anarchy reigns at Avlona, Albania, and that region is a prey to civil war. The partisans of Kemalbay to the number of 1,500 forced the Governor to haul down the Turkish flag and hoist Albanian colors. Essad Pasha sent 500 soldiers to Avlona. They disarmed the inhabitants and restored the Turkish flag.
GERMAN SPY SYSTEM IN SCOTLAND.
 LONDON, To-day.
 Viscount Bryce seconding the address in the Lords, referred appreciatively to the attitude of public opinion in the United States which he declared was a country able to judge wisely of the questions at issue. It was upon moral grounds that its support was given and this was therefore more highly prized. There could be no talk of peace he said, at present. Peace patched up now would be merely a hollow truce, during which the contending nations would begin to prepare for a renewal of the struggle. Europe, meanwhile would be living in continual suspense and alarm. The Earl of Crawford, Unionist, urged more strenuous methods to get rid of German spies. He asserted that in the vicinity of the great naval base of Rosyth, they had a well organized system by means of which they signalled ships at night. There had also been discovered, he said, an admirable equipped private post system between Fife and ports of Germany.

ed details of the fighting in which the German cruiser Emden was put out of commission. The Emden arrived at Cocos Island and sent armed launches, towing two boats ashore. Forty men with their officers and 4 maxims were landed in 15 minutes, and the landing party smashed the wireless instruments and the engines of the plant. In the meantime the Australian cruiser Sydney was sighted on the horizon. The Emden immediately put out to sea, leaving the landing party and both boats and men behind. The Emden started firing. Her practice at first being excellent, but afterwards it fell off. She lost two funnels and took fire at the stem within an hour, while the Sydney was scarcely touched. The Emden is now ashore North of Koling Island and burning. The Captain of the Sydney says he found only thirty men on her. The landing party having commandeered two months supplies left on schooners belonging to the owners of the Island. They are still at large. It appears the presence of the Emden was made known to the Sydney by wireless from the Eastern Cable Company Staff on Cocos Island.

DROPPING SHELLS ON YPRES.
 LONDON, To-day.
 The Amsterdam correspondent of Reuter says: "Suis advices indicate that Germans continue to blow up bridges and that among the structures so destroyed is the bridge near Heyst in West Flanders. Sentries are guarding the railway from Bruges to Ostend and so forth." The Allies continue to occupy Ypres but shells were falling in the town yesterday. They killed four children. Aeroplanes are reported to have dropped bombs which damaged the Church and Town Hall and set fire to several other buildings.

Fire This Morning.
 At 3:05 a.m. to-day, an alarm of fire from Box 26 summoned the Central and Western Companies to the residence of Mr. Fred Pike, Adelaide Street, where a slight fire was in progress. A quantity of soot had accumulated behind the fire place and must have been smouldering for some time before igniting the mantel, which was all ablaze when the firemen arrived. Despite the early hour the response was very prompt, and the fire was extinguished in a few minutes. The fire was discovered by residents of the house next door, who were alarmed by the smell of smoke. The "all out" signal sounded at 2:12, just seven minutes after the alarm had been sent in. Very little damage was done.

A Thought for the Times

A DAY AT ADMIRAL'S COVE—CHAPTER XXVIII.

I. C. MORRIS.
(Concluded.)

The high wind troubled the waters of the harbour and its effects was seen upon the shipping at anchor, but there was peace and contentment in the homes of the people, and the quiet of the sacred day was a fitting contrast to the storm. But there was one spot above all others where tranquillity reigned, and where peace seemed to descend—it was the church at Fermeuse, where had assembled the people for public worship.

The scene was not very pompous, but there was what is better than pomp, there was penitence and humiliation. The men had assembled from the dangers of the sea, the women had assembled after the worries of the week, and with them had also come the children of the household. The church was filled. It seemed that all the people of the place had assembled, and all were intent on worship. The service was low and solemn, and the singing of the choir fell as a benediction upon the congregation. The priest read his clear and distinct voice the Gospel and Epistle of the day. His sermon was based upon the Gospel, and its doctrine was that great fundamental truth as contained in the Golden Rule: To love your neighbour as yourself. First he spoke of the Christian duty of men loving each other, and of being faithful to their religious obligations, and then he advanced his position to the still higher duty of loving God. At the close of his sermon he announced the prayers for the month, and admonished all who could not attend at the church, to do so in the household.

He laid great stress upon the duty of family worship, and assured his flock that the same graces would come to all who united in prayer both at the church and within the home.

The lesson was an impressive one, and such as men cannot soon forget. It is so easy to neglect these higher duties of life, and it suits us so much at times to do so, that when we listen to those convincing words which fall from the lips of our spiritual guides, and meditate upon them, we begin to see ourselves as we really are, and to find how weak is the ardour of our faith.

On leaving the chapel we noticed a marble tablet set in the wall in memory of the late Rev. Father Walsh who for the long pastorate of forty years ministered to the spiritual wants of the people. To the older generation the deceased clergyman was dearly beloved, and now his good works and charitable acts are spoken of by their children. Truly a worthy heritage, for better is it to live in the affection of the people and to be revered by them, than to be buried "in state" merely, or lost to love. We owe much to the clergymen of all denominations who laboured in our country during the first half of the nineteenth century, and though their work may in a manner be forgotten, its magnitude is not lessened.

This is about all we have to say of Admiral's Cove. It occurred to us while there that it would be a very great convenience to the people if the electric light could be extended along the shore. The power is generated at Petty Harbour, and there are telegraph poles all through the district, and the matter of wiring should only be a secondary consideration. Perhaps the people don't want the electric light, but if it were once installed its benefits would soon become so apparent that they would be availed of to such a degree as should make the investment a profitable one.

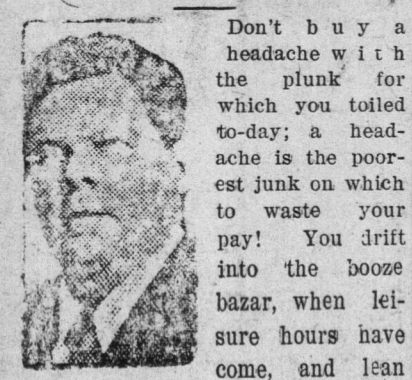

With this we finish our "Thoughts for the Times." We trust they have accomplished some little good. We claim them to have been clean and honourable, and while we can contribute to the press anything that is helpful we intend to do our part.

There are many important as well as interesting topics that one might write about, but unfortunately a large portion of our public affairs is so hedged about with party interests, and so restricted by the narrowness of our local vision, that it is somewhat difficult to deal with them in an impartial and independent manner.

In closing we desire to thank those who encouraged us by kind words, and also those who helped us by their criticism.

A Poor Investment.

Don't buy a headache with the plunk for which you toiled to-day; a headache is the poorest junk on which to waste your pay! You drift into the booze bazaar, when leisure hours have come, and lean against the shining bar, and call for beer or rum; for ruined nerves your coin you waste, for bleared and blood-shot eye, for headache and for dark brown taste—these things are what you buy. A headache, when you get is free, is looked on as a curse; but when you buy it—hully chee! I know of nothing worse. A man's whose feeling well and hale, and husky as a horse, goes forth and blows his hard-earned coal for headaches, earned in sweat, for misery and pain, for suffering and sorrow, yet he thinks that he is sane! If you must waste your weekly wage, oh, rash, imprudent man, then buy a rooback in a cage, or moonshine in a can. Oh, buy a monkey made of brass, that climbs a concrete tree, and don't buy headaches in a glass, for you can get them free!

Pimples for Three Years.

Marvelous Zam-Buk Cure.
Mr. Willard F. Allen, of 258 Pleasant St., Halifax, N.S., writes: "Up to a year ago my face was a mass of pimples, which, besides being extremely embarrassing, caused me a good deal of pain. I used all kinds of tonics and salves, also remedies prescribed by my physician. These were of very little benefit to me. My face would clear somewhat at times, and I would think that I was on the road to a permanent cure, and then the trouble would return and the pimples and sores be worse than ever. This condition of affairs continued for about three years.

"One day I happened to see an account of a remarkable cure of eczema by Zam-Buk; so I thought I would try Zam-Buk also I sent for a box, and the results were so very pleasant that I procured a larger supply. I persevered for three months, and at the end of that period my face was cleared of all unsightly pimples.

"I attribute my recovery solely to the use of Zam-Buk, as I did not use any other remedy during the time I was using it. As my case was of long standing and very obstinate, I consider my cure a wonderful triumph for Zam-Buk, and would heartily recommend it to anyone afflicted as I was."

If you are suffering embarrassment and pain from pimples, boils, eczema, ulcers, running sores, or any skin trouble, you should apply Zam-Buk. At all druggists and stores, 50c. box, 4 boxes $1.25, or postpaid from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, on receipt of price. Refuse substitutes. Send this advertisement, name of paper, and ic. stamp for free trial box.

Feature Programme.

The big feature programme presented at the Crescent Picture Palace last night attracted a large audience, and judging from the applause accorded the vocalists, Messrs. Walsh and McDonald, they certainly enjoyed the singing. Mr. Walsh sang: "As Long as the Shamrock Grows Green" in a natural tenor voice that is a pleasure to hear. Mr. McDonald sang: "Mary of Argyle" and was loudly applauded.

"The Fallen Angel" a gross two reel picture, in which are featured Lois Weber and Phillips Smalley, the Rex favourites, is a very fine picture and carries the interest of the spectator all through.

Eddie Lyons, another movie favourite, did some clever acting in "His Crazy Job," a Nestle production.

A clever Eclair comedy is "The Runaway Uncle," caricatures on the Sherlock Holmes detective methods, proved a real treat.

The same big show will be given tonight. Go and hear Messrs. Walsh and McDonald, the boys with the singing voices.

Have You an Itchy Spot?

Somewhere on your body? If so, attend to it at once. In Eczema—and Itchy spots, whether dry and scurfy, or moist and inclined to "weep," are generally eczematous—delays are foolish—allowing the disease to spread and affect more of the good skin. Your best chance for a cure is to use Zylex, which will give almost instant relief, and if used in the earlier stages of the trouble will almost certainly bring a cure, and in any event will greatly ameliorate the trouble. Ask your druggist about it. Price 60c. a box. Zylex Soap, 25c. a cake.

RUSSIAN TROOPS ARE WITHIN TWENTY MILES OF CRACOW.

LONDON, Nov. 11. The Governor, Newfoundland:

Following from Press Bureau: Heavy fighting was reported yesterday between the sea and Armen-tiers. The German attack was defeated south of Ypres. On the British front the German attacks were energetically repulsed.

On the Eastern front, successful Russian operations continue. The Russian troops are now within 20 miles from Cracow.

The captain of the Emden and Prince Franz Joseph of Hohenzollern are prisoners, and wounded, survivors being accorded all honors of war, the officers retaining their swords. The Emden's losses are unofficially reported as 200 killed and 30 wounded.

ST. PIERRE BULLETIN.

PARIS, Nov. 11.—(Official.) To our left wing the battle again started in the early morning very strongly, particularly between Nieuport and La Lys. On a general line our front has been maintained, although the German attacks were very strong and fierce. North of Nieuport we have reoccupied Lombaertzyde and progressed beyond that locality, but nearing the end of the day the Germans managed to take possession of Dixmude. We are also holding around the neighborhood of Dixmude on the canal from Nieuport to Ypres, which has been firmly occupied. The battle in this section was very sharp. British troops who were attacked on several points, repulsed the enemy everywhere. On the remainder of the front the general situation is unchanged, apart from a progress for our troops north of Soissons and on the right bank of the Aisne north of the forest of Parroy. At Coincourt we have defeated a German detachment. Russians have taken Goldap, an important strategic point in Eastern Prussia. The Austrians are abandoning Galicia and retreating on Hungary.

FRENCH OFFICIAL REPORT.

PARIS, Nov. 11.

The French official statement given out this afternoon says that the fighting was resumed yesterday morning with very great severity between Nieuport and the Lys. The French forces were successful in maintaining their front. The text follows: On our left wing the fighting was resumed yesterday morning between Nieuport and the Lys and with a very great degree of severity. Generally speaking, our front was maintained, in spite of the violence and strength of the German attacks directed against certain of our points of support. To the north of Nieuport we were even able to reoccupy Lombaertzyde and advance beyond this town, but toward the end of the day the Germans succeeded in taking possession of Dixmude. We still hold our positions on the approaches of this town along the canal from Nieuport to Ypres which has been firmly occupied. The fighting was very hot at those places. The British troops, attacked also at several points, succeeded everywhere in stopping the enemy. On the rest of the front the general situation shows no change, with the exception of slight progress by our forces to the north of Soissons and in the region to the west of Valenciennes. On the right bank of the Aisne, outside of these two points, the state of the weather permitted only minor engagements, which resulted successfully for us, particularly at Coincourt, three kilometres north of the forest of Parroy, where we routed a detachment of the enemy.

GERMAN OFFICIAL.

LONDON, Nov. 11.

The German official statement issued this afternoon is as follows: We made good progress yesterday on the Yser branch of Ypres, and took Dixmude by storm, capturing 500 prisoners and nine machine guns. Further south our troops crossed the canal, and west of Langmarck captured the first line of the enemy's position. About 2,000 infantry were taken prisoners and six machine guns captured. South of Ypres we have driven the enemy out of Ste. Loi, despite fierce counter-attacks by the British dominating the heights, north of Armentieres remains in our hands. Our attack has made progress south of Lille. The French suffered heavy losses, while attempting to recapture the commanding heights north of Valenciennes. In the forest of Argonne to the northeast and south of Verdun, French attacks were repulsed.

THE KING'S SPEECH.

LONDON, Nov. 11.

In the Speech from the Throne, the King said: "The energies and sympathies of my subjects in every part of the Empire are concentrated on the prosecution to a victorious issue of the war in which we are engaged. I have summoned you now in order that sharing, as I am sure you do, my conviction that this is a duty of paramount and supreme importance, you should take whatever steps are needed for its adequate discharge. Since I last addressed you the area of the war has been enlarged by the participation in the struggle of the Ottoman Empire. In conjunction with my Allies, and in spite of repeated and continuous provocations, I strove to preserve in regard to Turkey friendly neutrality. Bad counsels and alien influence have driven her into a policy of wanton and definite aggression, and a state of war now exists between us. My Mussliman subjects know well that our rupture with Turkey has been forced upon me, against my will, and I recognize with appreciation and gratitude proofs which they have hastened to give of their loyal devotion and support. My navy and army continue throughout the area of the conflict to maintain in a full measure their glorious traditions. We watch and follow their steadfastness and valor with thankfulness and pride, and there is throughout my Empire a fixed determination to secure at whatever sacrifice the triumph of our arms and the vindication of our cause. You will be asked to make due financial provision for the effective conduct of the war, and the only measures that will be submitted to you at this stage of the session are such as seem necessary to my advisers for attainment of the great purpose upon which the efforts of Empire are set. I confidently commend them to your patriotism and loyalty and pray that the Almighty will give His Blessing to your counsels."

EMDEN CASUALTIES.

LONDON, Nov. 11.

Capt. Von Muller, of the German cruiser Emden, and Prince Franz Joseph of Hohenzollern, one of his officers, are prisoners of war, and neither is wounded, according to an announcement by the Admiralty this afternoon. The Admiralty adds that the losses on the Emden are unofficially reported as 200 killed and 30 wounded. No further details have been received.

AUSTRIAN CRUISER SUNK.

PEKIN, Nov. 11.

The Austrian cruiser Kaiserin Elisabeth, which took refuge at Tsing Tan, before that port was invested by the Japanese, had eight men killed during the attack on this German possession. The Legation says that she was sunk by her crew after all ammunition on board had been exhausted.

YESTERDAY IN THE COMMONS.

LONDON, Nov. 12.

In a speech delivered in the Commons yesterday, after the opening of Parliament, Premier Asquith declared that he doubted whether the war would last as long as some people originally predicted; but, that it would last long, was certain. However, the longer it lasts, continued the Premier, more great will be the resources of strength which the Empire possesses and available to fill the gaps, replace the losses, and maintain our position. The Empire is now on trial. The experiences of the last three months have inspired us with confident hope that the longer the trial lasts, more clearly will we emerge from it as champions of a just cause. Asquith expressed warm ap-

Stop Coughing.

It's quite as foolish as it is annoying to keep on coughing since

"PHORATONE COUGH MIXTURE" is guaranteed to soothe and heal the irritated parts at once, and to rapidly destroy the very cause of this aggravating nuisance. Hundreds of persons are complaining every day about the cough or cold they have had for a long time, and they are not able to get rid of it.

Don't let a cough or cold hang on to you day after day and run the chance of catching and developing the "cough" that is not easy to throw off. You will avoid all this worry (about the cough or cold you have) by obtaining "Phoratone Cough Mixture" at once.

preciation of the support which the Government received from all parties. England is engaged in an unprecedented contest, he said, and regarding the justice of her share in this there is no difference of opinion in any part of the Empire. The country has gone through much. She has seen her troops hold a position of difficulty and danger, the Premier continued, and added, "To-day we see them in a position in which, in conjunction with our Allies, France and Belgium, they have frustrated and absolutely defeated the first designs of the German Emperor." Regarding the sending of British marines to Antwerp just before the fall of that city, the Premier intimated that Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty, subsequently would make a more detailed statement, but he said the responsibility for the expedition was shared by the Government as a whole. Kitchener, Secretary of State for War, was consulted in everything which was done with his knowledge and approval. The expedition was materially the most useful factor in the conduct of the campaign. The Premier pointed out that the number of men authorized by the three votes the present year, for regular army, not territorials—was 1,188,000. Of that total, all but 100,000 were already under service of the Crown. On Monday next, said Asquith, Lloyd George, Chancellor of the Exchequer, will lay before the Commons the financial proposals, including the question of a loan for which the Government is going to ask authority of the House. On Tuesday there will be a vote of credit, of considerable dimensions and an additional vote for men.

Bonar Law promised the Government the unflinching support of the Opposition while prosecuting the war. The Opposition Leader said, we stand in a better position now than at the outbreak of the war. The only chance for victory for Germany was that she would win before the resources of the Allies were available. She has failed, and failed on both fronts. Bonar Law emphasized the importance of the financial position, and said that already economic effects were being felt by Germany; this was shown by the rate of exchange. This would become more and more evident as time progressed. As soon as Germany realized she must be beaten, he declared her economic forces would work with a pressure of which there was no conception. The Leader of the Opposition wished to know why the British naval force went to Antwerp, and why the First Lord of the Admiralty, Churchill, accompanied the military expeditionary force. Instead of Field Marshal Earl Kitchener, Minister of War, and something more about the naval engagement off the Chilean coast.

More Fires.

Fires provoke immediate sympathy for the sufferer and also thankfulness for personal escape. Another thought should be whether one is personally and sufficiently protected? An insurance policy with Percis Johnson would provide for you this desired security and at small expense. Have you enough insurance?

Housewives should remember to keep a large proportion of vegetables in the family diet for winter. Save the lids of large lard tins and put knobs on them—they will make good covers for pots and pans.

WILL WE OFFER, AS WE DO NOW, SUCH BARGAINS IN

DRESS MATERIALS,

(ALL ENTENTE-CORDIALE MAKES).

Being manufactures of England and France, and this is an offer of entente-cordiale. We are reducing stocks in certain departments, hence this offer. We could not put those English and French Wool Fabrics into stock to-day at anything like the figures we quote. If you don't wish a Dress or Costume now, it will pay you to buy and lay aside a length for later. We quote:

COLOURED HABIL CLOTHS, 64 inches wide.

Regular $1.30 to $2.30. Now 90c. to $1.50 yd.

CHEVIOT (HEAVY) SERGES, 50 inches wide.

Regular 90c. yard for 65c. yd.

LOT DRESS TWEEDS at various prices, which are greatly reduced ones.

ALL WOOL TARTANS, three ends only. Clans—Gordon, MacKenzie and MacLaren. Regular 90c. yard. Now only 60c. yd.

LOT OF BLACK DRESS MATERIALS, principally Creppilles, Crepe de Chines, Volles, Crepe Cloths, Zibelines and Checked, Striped and Spotted Materials at Cost Price and under.

We may say that it is very difficult to get Black Materials at present in England and on the Continent at any price.

In conjunction with the Clearing Prices we have made on the above-mentioned fabrics we are also making lesser though generous reductions on our staple lines of Cheap Habit Cloths, Serges, Cashmeres, etc., despite the fact that our first costs on these goods are advancing.

All DRESS LININGS, TRIMMINGS, BUTTONS and other findings we shall give during this sale at large reductions to all buyers of Dress Materials.

C. L. B. Bazaar Opens.

A large gathering attended the opening of the C. L. B. Bazaar, at the Armoury yesterday afternoon. His Excellency the Governor and Lady Davidson, arrived at 3 o'clock, and were received by Lt. Col. Rendell, a guard of honour from the Brigade presenting arms at the entrance. Proceeding to the stage at the opposite end of the Hall, His Excellency addressed the large gathering present, referring to the object of the sale. He reviewed the excellent work done by the Brigade in the training of our youths in the principles of true manhood, citizenship and patriotism, and made special mention of the number of members of the C. L. B. who had enlisted with the Newfoundland Regiment. During the formation of the regiment, the brigade gave much valuable assistance by placing their Armoury at the disposal of the Patriotic Association for recruiting and drill purposes. He wished the Corps a full measure of success, and also the promoters of the bazaar, which he had much pleasure in declaring open.

Amongst those present at the opening were His Lordship the Bishop of Newfoundland, Rev. Canon Bolt and White, Revs. Uphill, Cracknell, Clayton, Godden, Brinton, Rt. Hon. Sir E. P. and Lady Morris, T. Cook, Esq. and several other prominent citizens. The stalls were very attractive and were filled with dainty articles, which met with a ready sale. The band under Staff-Sergt. Cake rendered many choice selections, including the English, French and Russian National Anthems.

A special attraction for the children was arranged, and the little ones evidenced much delight in drawing their prizes from the bran barrels.

French Steam Trawler

The French steam trawler La Provence, Capt. Marilland, came into port this morning for repairs. The vessel was fishing on the Grand Banks and cod were found plentiful but the weather was bad and hampered operations considerably. Last week and during the early part of this the weather was particularly boisterous, and the vessel got a bad drubbing, sustaining much damage on Monday last when the captain decided to abandon the voyage and put in here. The La Provence hails for approximately eight thousand cod and fifty thousand haddock. Mr. Tasker Cook is the agent for the vessel and is looking after her supplies. After receiving repairs the La Provence will proceed to F'amps, France.

Patriotic Meeting.

On Thursday night, Nov. 5th, 1914, a meeting of the ladies of Port Blandford was held under the auspices of the Women's Patriotic Association, in the Church of England schoolroom. After an address by the Rev. Watson Boyes, it was decided to form a branch of the above association and to join the efforts that are being made by the women of the Empire to provide socks and shirts for the soldiers who are manfully fighting for the honor of our Empire. Mrs. Sharpe was elected by the ladies as President with Mrs. D. Pelley as Vice-President. Miss Elsie Stone kindly consented to act as Secretary. After thoroughly discussing all details of the work, the enthusiastic meeting was brought to a close by the singing of the National Anthem.—Com.

Dear Jack,—
Thanks ever so much for the hundred DE RESZKE CIGARETTES you sent me and I am glad to hear they only cost you $1.50. I find that the only Cigarette smoked in Camp over here is the DE RESZKE. The reason for this is that DE RESZKE CIGARETTES are easy on the throat and are not "doped" and so do not affect the eyesight which is an important item in war time.

Several of our fellows received presents of DE RESZKE CIGARETTES by last mail and a good many of us are expecting more for Christmas.

Yours sincerely,
TOMMY TERRA NOVA.

P.S.—Bill sends regards and says will you kindly ask the UNIVERSAL AGENCIES to send him a hundred DE RESZKE CIGARETTES next time you are on Water Street.

S. S. Bellaventure

Back From Far North.

Having completed her engagement with the Canadian Government for this year, the S. S. Bellaventure, Capt. J. Randall, or better known locally as the "Rescue ship" Bellaventure, because of the prominent part that she played in last season's sealing voyage, entered port last night, after an absence of over four months. The Bellaventure left here the latter part of June and made three return trips altogether from Halifax to Port Nelson, in Hudson Bay, with workmen, passengers and supplies.

TUG WENT ASHORE.
When the Bell, reached her destination on the first trip the Canadian tug Yates went ashore in Port Nelson harbour and became a bad wreck. Although the vessel had the entire bottom practically gone, she was successfully refloated and repaired and is now as good as ever.

NEARLY FROZEN IN.
The Bellaventure came near being frozen in for all the winter at Port Nelson. With a particularly strong current running, accompanied by an intensely cold atmosphere, the heavy Arctic ice begins to form at Port Nelson on September 1st of each year so that it is unwise for any vessel, ice breaker or not, to remain there after that date. The Bell was a couple of days late in leaving after making her final visit to the Hudson Bay port and for two days was butting her way through the floe, making very little progress.

MET DAMAGE.
Steaming in the wake of the Bellaventure was the Canadian ship Sheva which had three blades of her propeller broken off by half sunken ice. After the accident the Sheva had to be nursed along carefully and looked after by the Bell.

BROUGHT UP MEN.
The Bellaventure reached Halifax a fortnight ago when she finished her charter with the Canadian Government for this season. She brought up a hundred and eleven men as passengers. Work is going along briskly at Port Nelson and great progress is being made at railroading.

"THE PLOT THAT FAILED!"
The Bellaventure in her report depicts interestingly the story of four Germans, who were evidently anxious to take part in the present war and expecting to get through without being molested and who denied their names and nationalities to avoid capture, which they anticipated would happen at Halifax when the ship would reach there. The Germans joined the ship at Port Nelson as passengers and when their fares were being collected by Chief Steward Carter gave fictitious names and all four said they belonged to various places in the United Kingdom. One fellow said his name was Smith, of Glasgow, but he pronounced it like Mrs. Schmidt. The plot failed and the whole game was caught. Chief Steward Carter acquainted Capt. Randall, who was no way slow in finding out that the passengers in question were thorough "homespun" Germans. On arrival at Halifax they were handed over to the authorities and held as prisoners of war.

BELL'S NEW CHARTER.
From Halifax the Bellaventure went to Sydney and took up a charter of coal carrying for the Dominion Coal Co. She is now discharging a cargo for the Reid Company and when finished will go back to Sydney to complete her charter.

You're Constipated, Bilious!—Cascarets

Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Gas, Bad Breath, mean Liver and Bowels need Cleansing.

Get a 10-cent box now. No odds how bad your liver, stomach or bowels; how much your head aches, how miserable and uncomfortable you are from constipation, indigestion, biliousness and sluggish bowels—you always get the desired results with Cascarets.

Don't let your stomach, liver and bowels make you miserable. Take Cascarets to-night; put an end to the headache, biliousness, dizziness, nervousness, sick, sour, gassy stomach, backache and all other distress; cleanse your inside organs of all the bile, gases and constipated matter which is producing the misery.

A 10-cent box means health, happiness and a clear head for a month. No more days of gloom and distress if you will take a Cascaret now and then. All druggists sell Cascarets. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a gentle cleansing, too.

Finance Committee Meeting.

A meeting of the Finance Committee of the Patriotic Association was held yesterday, at which the following were present: Hons. M. G. Winter, P. T. McGrath, M. P. Cashin, J. Harvey, G. Knowling, Messrs. A. Macpherson, Browning, Greve, Munn, J. Ryan and Dr. V. P. Burke.

The principal object of the meeting was to pass a resolution stating that the Committee was not responsible for the amount paid the Paymaster of the Newfoundland Regiment. They had received a copy of the Minute of Council authorizing the payment of $5 per day to Capt. Timewell, but did not approve of it, nor of the action of the Government in dealing with the matter.

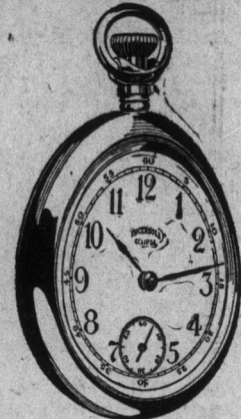

A copy of the resolution will be forwarded to the Government.

It was also decided that the needs of those dependent on the Naval Reservists, who have joined the colors, will be promptly attended to.

Britons All.

I've just seen Sandy Tavish
As I came along the street
In a brand new suit of kilties
And a sporrans trim and neat.
Said I, "My word, young Sandie,
You're a son of Scotland true!"
Said he, "Hoot, awn no Scottie!
I'm a Britisher the naa."

I met a smiling Welshman
Just by Trafalgar Square
Said I, "Hello, there, Taffy,
Are you off to do and dare?"
Said he, "I am no Taffy
Whatever no indeed
To-day I am a bulldog
Off the good old British breed."

I saw young Pat McGinty
And I said to him said I
"You're Irish to the backbone,
And you will be till you die."
Said he, "In peace I'm Irish,
Sur, I cannot get away!
But now the storm clouds gather,
I'm a British man to-day."

Sanidant Tooth Paste has "made good." Among the many excellent and well advertised dental pastes in the market not one excels it in popularity. And this favor of the public is the result of merit. The public very soon finds out the article that suits it, and is accustomed to demand it. Sanidant succeeds because it cleans the teeth thoroughly and well, because it is absolutely smooth and contains no grit, because it is pleasant to the taste, and because it is of the right consistency throughout and in all weathers. You should use Sanidant Tooth Paste with the Sanidant Brush. Then you will get results entirely satisfactory. Price (Tooth Paste) 25c.; (Brushes) 35c. each.

Commander Atlay Dead

Mr. R. H. O'Dwyer received word this morning that his son-in-law, Lieut. Com. Atlay died this morning. This news followed on a message he received last night that he was dying. The cause of death is supposed to have been the after effects of an accident which he met with years ago when serving in China, when he fell over a gun. After he relinquished his command of H. M. S. Calypso, he was appointed to the Froese, and some time after the war was declared he became ill and was landed after he had been unconscious two days. He subsequently recovered and obtained an appointment on the battleship Revenge, which he was to have joined two days ago, but his illness returned and this time he succumbed to the disease. Com. Atlay was a comparatively young man, being in his 38th year, and he was cut off at a time he hoped to render active service to his country. But man proposes and God disposes, and he has been called to his rest, not by the shot of an enemy, but by a fell disease. To his wife and his relatives, the Evening Telegram tenders sympathy.

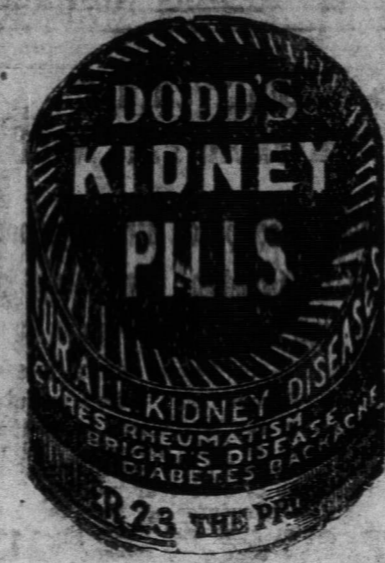

Obituary.

At Keokuk, Iowa, there passed away on Oct. 26th, after a protracted illness, James, the eldest son of the late Sarah and James McGettigan, of this city. Deceased will be remembered by many friends here, especially workers of the East End Terra Nova Foundry, where he was for years one of the skilled mechanics of that good old shop. Those old time iron workers will also remember his father "Jimmy" McGettigan, who was recognized as one of the most brilliant and clever marine engineers of the colony. A wife and three daughters at Keokuk survive him, also a sister, Mrs. A. S. Kidston, of California, and a brother, Mr. M. McGettigan, Superintendent Engineer at Downing Bros.—Com.

RUSSIANS TAKE 22,000 GERMAN PRISONERS IN EAST PRUSSIA.

(Official) 11th. Midnight.—In the North during yesterday the enemy's efforts remained without any result. A counter attack on the part of the Germans directed against Lombersyde, Belgium, failed. All the German's efforts to leave Dixmude failed on the entire region of left banks of the Yser; on the remainder of the front there was nothing very important. Mr. Viviani and Mr. Bourgeois arrived at Epinal last night on the Charitable Mission of Committees for relief sufferers.

The following statistical official communication was published yesterday at Petrograd:—During the recent battles in Eastern Prussia, the Germans lost seventy per cent. of their officers. From the 23rd of Oct. up to the 5th of November, 323 German Officers were taken prisoners, and 21,750 soldiers were also taken. We have also captured 4 siege mortars, 52 cannons, 50 maxim guns and a large quantity of war stuffs and provisions.

"A RUNAWAY"—Quite a scene was created this morning when a barrel of flour, which had just been landed off a teamster's car, broke loose somehow and came over Nunney Hill at a rapid clip. When near the foot of the incline the barrel crashed into a telegraph pole and smashed in atoms. The contents was strewn over quite an area of the hill and attracted much attention.

RICHARD BAXTER born 1615. A great Nonconformist, remarkable for the ability and boldness of his writings. He was constantly persecuted and was ill-treated by Judge Jeffreys. His "Saints' Everlasting Rest" is a masterpiece.

SIR JOHN MOORE born 1761. A British General who served in Holland, Egypt, and in the Peninsula, where he found himself hedged in between two great French armies led by Napoleon and Soult, and effected one of the finest retreats recorded in history, reaching Corunna successfully. Soult came up just as the British forces were about to embark, and a desperate battle ensued, Soult being forced back while the British troops safely took ship. It was a victory, however, that was dearly paid for. Sir John Moore himself being slain.

SIR JOHN HAWKINS died 1595, aged 63. He belonged to that group of Devon seamen who did so much in the reign of Elizabeth to establish England's supremacy on the seas.

CHARLES KEMBLE died 1854, aged 79. British actor, youngest brother of John Phillip Kemble and Mrs. Siddons. He joined his famous brother at Drury Lane, winning his chief laurels in comedy. He was appointed examiner of plays in 1836.

BIG SNOWFALL in St. John's 1881.

The Burial of Sir John Moore.

Not a drum was heard, not a funeral note,
As his corse to the rampart we hurried,
Not a soldier discharged his farewell shot
O'er the grave where our hero we buried.

We buried him dearly at dead of night,
The sods with our bayonets turning;
By the struggling moonbeam's misty light,
And the lantern dimly burning.

No useless coffin enclosed his breast;
Nor in sheet nor in shroud we wound him;
But he lay like a warrior taking his rest,
With his martial cloak around him.

Few and short were the prayers we said,
And we spoke not a word of sorrow;
But we steadfastly gazed on the face
That was dead.

And we bitterly thought of the morrow,
We thought as we hollowed his narrow bed,
And smoothed down his lonely pillow,
That the foe and the stranger would tread o'er his head,
And we far away on the billow!

Lighly they'll talk of the spirit that's gone,
And o'er his cold ashes upbraid him,
But little he'll reck, if they let him sleep on,
In the grave where a Briton has laid him.

But half our heavy task was done,
When the clock struck the hour for retiring;
And we heard the distant and random gun
That the foe was sullenly firing.

Slowly and sadly we laid him down,
From the field of his fame fresh and gory;
We carved not a line, and we raised not a stone—
But we left him alone with his glory.

To-day's Funeral.

At 7 o'clock this morning the mortal remains of Mother Bridget Kennedy were conveyed from the Presentation Convent to the Cathedral. At 8.30 solemn Requiem Mass was sung by Rt. Rev. Monsignor Roche, Administrator, with Rev. Dr. Greene as Deacon and Rev. Fr. Conway as Sub-deacon. Present in the Sanctuary were Rt. Rev. Mgr. St. John, P.P., Torbay, Rev. J. J. McGrath, P.P., Bell Island, Rev. P. Kelly, Mannuels, Rev. J. J. McDermott, Rev. J. J. Pippy, of St. Patrick's, Rev. Dr. Kitchin, St. Joseph's, Rev. P. P. Sheehan and Rev. Thos. Nangle, of the Cathedral. The prayers at the catafalque were recited by Rt. Rev. Mgr. Roche, after which the funeral procession started for the quiet little Convent cemetery. At the graveside the last blessing was given by Rev. Fr. McDermott and then the body of a good religious was consigned to mother earth to await the awakening. Some of the Christian Brothers, several friends of the Sisters, among whom were R. H. O'Dwyer, Esq., Military Road, a cousin of the deceased Nun, and many of the school children followed the remains to the cemetery, paying this a last mark of respect to her who "never caused a tear to flow, save when she died." May she rest in peace. Amen.

The Road Home.

By Alice Clark.

It's just a common country road
Leading, who cares where?
An old rail-fence crawls by its side,
Fallen here and there.

A purple thistle stands as guard
Lest strangers venture nigh;
A bursting milkweed sends out ships
That lazily drift by.

A meadow-lark calls plaintively,
Hid by the tall green grass;
A saucy sparrow cocks his head
To watch me as I pass.

Why is it that I praise this road
That looks just like the rest?
Because it is the road to "Home,"
That's why I love it best.

GALICIA.

By GEORGE FITCH,

Author of "At Good Old Siwash."

Galicia, which has been doomed by fate to become one of the two doormats of the great European war, is a section of Austria, 30,000 square miles in extent, which is owned by the crown and is being used thereby as a chest protector against Russia.

Galicia is smaller than Ohio, but has a population of nearly 8,000,000, divided into nearly equal portions of Poles and Ruthenians, who love each other with all the fervor of Germans and French. There are also 800,000 Jews, who are loved by neither. A local election in Galicia is as exciting as an Orangeman's parade in Dublin.

Galicia is one of the fragments of the late lamented Poland. Up to the year 1772 it led a happy existence fighting the other sections of its own beloved land. Since then it has been owned by Austria and Russia in turn; and it now appears to be Russia's turn.

Galicia is cut off from Hungary by the Carpathian mountains, which also protect it from the warm south winds. If the Russians had had as hard a time getting into Galicia as decent weather does they would still be battling on the boundary. It has no window or summer resorts and no cathedrals to attract the tourists. Therefore Galicians have to earn their living, which they do mainly by raising barley, wheat and potatoes and by emigrating to America.

Galicia has had a stormy and sanguinary history and scores of generals with unpronounceable names have swept over its territory reducing the census returns and leaving education in a very backward and depressed condition. Lemberg, whose name is now receiving Russian trimmings, is the capital and metropolis with 150,000 people and Cracow, which wanders mournfully through the history of each European war, is the next largest city with 100,000 people, unless the Russians have been more disagreeable than usual of late. Other prominent cities are Phenysyl, Strij, Rzeszow, Buczacz, Drohobucz and other shocking mutilations of the English system of spelling. From these names it will be gathered that whatever Russia does to the rest of the country it cannot damage its nomenclature much.

Canada's Battalions.

NO SCARCITY OF MEN.

A meeting of the Third Field Company Canadian Engineers was held recently for the purpose of arranging the training of a headquarters' section in Ottawa. The ranks have become so depleted by the enlistment of members of the Third Company in the Canadian Expeditionary Force that it is the intention to re-organize the company and fill up the many gaps thus caused. Already between 30 and 40 engineers, mostly men of science, have intimated their willingness to join the company, and it is also expected that a large number of others, such as engineers and architects, will enter the ranks. The various units are experiencing no difficulty in filling the places of the men who have joined the Expeditionary Force.

Sulphate of Ammonia.

St. John's Gas Light Company. Dear Sir,—I have analyzed a sample of Sulphate of Ammonia made at your Works, and I found 20.5 per cent. of NITROGEN, Sulphates of Ammonia and Nitrate of Soda are the two principal Nitrogen manure.

Sulphate of Ammonia is less soluble than Nitrate of Soda, consequently it is a safer manure to use during a wet season.
