LADY LAURAS' RELEASE

THE STORY OF A SPOILED BEAUTY.

CHAPTER LII.

"He is worse than that," continued Angela. "He allowed her to see that although he did not care for her, he cared very much for some one else—and that some one else was you, Miss Rane."

The dark face flushed crimson and the proud lips quivered; but Gladys Rane had no answer to make.

"My mother was not, could not be, blind to all that passed, Miss Rane; and you know best what I mean by 'all.' You encroached my mother's husband whenever and wherever opportunity offered. If he came into a room where you were, you drew him to your side and kept him there; you smiled at him and talked to him as you did to no other man. Captain Wynyard neglected my mother and treated her with cruel indifference, while he spent hours with you. You gloried in your triumphs over her, and you let it be seen in your face. How could you take delight in torturing so gentle and loving a heart?"

"How do you know that I did? You may say, and I may admit, that I took great delight in Captain Wynyard's society—we were very old friends, you know—but it does not follow that I took pleasure in torturing your mother."

"You did torture her," said Angela, sadly. "No one can realize what my mother has suffered, for she loved her husband, and the consciousness that he did not love her, but preferred another, made her life a daily martyrdom. Miss Rane," added Angela, "do you think it honorable for one woman to seek the attention of the husband of another?"

"You take everything too seriously, Miss Rooden," her companion said. "The world does not speak in that fashion."

"The greater the pity," returned Angela. "Perhaps, if men and women asked each other these plain questions, and called things by their right names, there would be less sin and misery. You do not like the question when you stand face to face

Your Rheumatism—its origin

You would not have rheumatism if your kidneys performed their proper function of expelling uric acid from your system. Uric acid causes rheumatism, lumbago, sciatica and kindred ailments. What you need is GIN PILLS. They act directly on the kidneys—the source of all the trouble. They neutralize the uric acid, relieve the congestion and cause the kidneys to resume their work. Thousands have found quick and permanent relief from rheumatism by using GIN PILLS.

Fish Cooked by Volcano.

Fish ready cooked have recently come to the surface in large quantities on Lake Lucrin, near the north shore of the Gulf of Naples. The fish were at first eagerly collected by the Italian fishermen who anticipated a hearty meal without the trouble of preparation. Government authorities, however, forbade the collection of the fish, fearing that they had been poisoned by an eruption of gases. The lake is said to have been formed by volcanic action and the belief is held that poisonous gases forced up from the volcanic bottom had made the water hot and partially cooked the fish. Lake Lucrin was famous in Roman days for its fine shell-fish, but the whole region is more or less subject to volcanic disturbances. The neighboring waters of Lacus Annuus were regarded by the ancients as the entrance of the infernal regions.

Small scraps of mashed potato make attractive garnishes for chops. Drop them by spoonfuls on a greased pan and bake a delicate brown.

WEEK-END NOTES.

CHAPTER XVI.

The old-time ships were mostly built with a projecting bow; and although many of them were bluff, the cutwaters were pitched at a slight angle. This gave them a better appearance and looked much better, and much more like the shape than that of the late iron-hulled ships, which were built on a straight bow, the purpose of the projecting bow being to facilitate speed; the reason being that all ships of the date of any considerable size were ornamented with figure-heads. These figure-heads were usually the bust or head of some personage of national or literary repute. Sometimes the figures were representative of the animal kingdom, or the feathered kingdom of birds; and on some ships, denizens of the sea were represented, and a carving of a fish, or some mammal, formed the figure-head. The figure-head usually corresponded to the name of the ship; for instance if it happened to be a female name, such as Isabella, Margaret, or Lavinia, or Portia, or some lady of title, the figure was that of the person named; and if the ship was full of soldiers, the figure was that of a lion, or a leopard, the figure would represent such animals; and if of the feathered kingdom, such as the dove, the nightingale, the lark, the linnet, the swallow or the eagle, the figure would represent these birds; and so the custom was continued, and every vessel of any importance had a figure-head. Some figures represented men of literary standing, and some sometimes were taken from tradition, and mythology, hence the Hercules, Atlantis, and the Argonaut. These names go far into history, and are lost in the past; but they conveyed a great meaning, and had much to do with the navigation. In early times they skirted the coasts of the developed shoulders and arms. The face was very characteristic, and was crowned with a representation of rich black hair. Whoever the lady was, which this bust represented, she must have certainly been a beautiful specimen of womanhood, and was no doubt, an outstanding personage amongst her own people. The cottage which displayed the figure head was the property of one of the old time sea captains, who sailed out of Province Town when large ships and deep-water sailing were in vogue. The captain usually voyaged to China and India; and it so happened on one of his voyages that one day as his ship was speeding under full sail, the look-out saw in the water, what he supposed to be, the body of a woman, and he immediately reported the same. The rule in such cases is for a ship to heave to, and if possible, render assistance to regain the body. And so the ship was immediately brought about and run up in the wind; and the topsails taken aback, and the boat lowered. The crew of the boat in charge of the mate, at once rowed out in the direction of the woman, as they thought, but on reaching it they found it to be a mere figure-head of some sister ship. They brought the figure-head on board their own ship and the captain kept it, and being on his homeward voyage, he brought it to Boston and took it down to Province Town, and had it placed on the large porch or portico at the entrance of his cottage; and there it stands today. The old captain has gone, and all the ships have departed from the fishing vessels, are of the past; and the motor boats, and the steam trawler, have taken the place of the ships, and of the sails; but as a remembrance of the sailing ship's days and as a remembrance of the prowess and pride of those ships and as a relic of deep water sailing the bust of the lady on the porch stands as a link of the past. These figure-heads were very representative of the owners and captains of those ships; and a great many characteristics of those men could be read into, and read out of them. Some of those figure-heads were beautiful and commanding, and they indicated high character. Some were stern and bold and seemed to defy authority and to challenge the very seas, which they had to plough. Other again, represented rage, anger force and determination and in their place they all taught their own lesson.

The custom of figure-heads is a very ancient one and dates far back to the argosies of ancient times, when ships were called after heathen gods. The mariners were mostly heathen men, and were very superstitious, and usually dedicated their ships to one or more of their many deities. Hence we read in the book of Job that the mariners "cried unto their Gods," a very good lesson truly, but a better lesson, if those men had known the true God; but they did their best and they called upon what they believed to be God. We also further read in Acts of the ship on which Paul sailed, being named after the heathen Gods, such as Castor, and Pollux, or the twin brothers. And so the custom was very prevalent. In early times ships were named by being dedicated to some deity, and usually representations of these deities were put on the bow, where figure-heads afterwards came to be placed. The study of the figure-heads of the British Navy of the nineteenth century is very interesting for during that time the Naval ships were fully rigged, and while they were propelled by steam, they also retained the old usages and customs of the sailing ships. I have among my clippings a picture of the figure-heads of the admiral ships of the fifties, and the various characters which the picture represents are in themselves a study, as well as a history. They tell the strength and prowess of Britain, and the bravery and daring of her Admirals, and Captains courageous; and also tell the history of the men before the mast—the men who stood watch, and who at duties post, faced storm and death.

FOR DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS HAVE MADE HIM WELL.

His Kidney Troubles Soon Disappeared After Taking Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Fox Hills, Sask., April 20. (Special)—"I was surprised at the good your Dodd's Kidney Pills did me. I used two boxes and now I feel very good. My kidney troubles have all gone." This is the statement of Mr. Phillip Miller, a well-known resident of this place, and is only one of the many received from relieved sufferers.

People all over Canada have tried Dodd's Kidney Pills and found them good. They have been used by thousands of people suffering from various forms of kidney trouble, such as rheumatism, dropsy, sore back, weakness, diabetes and Bright's disease. Ask any one of these thousands to give you his opinion of Dodd's Kidney Pills. It is on the relief afforded sufferers from kidney trouble that Dodd's Kidney Pills have built their reputation as a sovereign remedy for sick kidneys.

Dodd's Kidney Pills make healthy kidneys. Healthy kidneys strain all the impurities, all the poison, out of the blood. They are the greatest of all tonics. If you wish to keep young to a good old age Dodd's Kidney Pills will help you to do it. Ask your neighbors about them.

Clean-Cut Campaign Openly Demanded.

MAIL'S CONSISTENCY PUNCEURED

Editor Evening Telegram

Dear Sir—With Nomination Day only a few hours away, we might be safely said to be on the last lap of the race for a clean, upright Government, and it therefore behoves every man of us in the East End, to leave no stone unturned to roll up such a majority as will forever compel governments of the future to see to it that the East is not flouted as it has been for the past three years. This is one feature of this campaign which has been repeatedly brought to the notice of the electorate by candidates and supporters alike, and more recently by speakers of the different platforms, and it is this: the necessity of a clean fight, with personalities entirely eliminated. With that idea every clean-minded man is in entire accord, but it is a very difficult matter indeed to pursue that course when one is being constantly met with glaring evidence of the opposite kind on the part of our opponents.

SPEAKING FROM EXPERIENCE

THE DOCTOR: "My, yes, restless and feverish. Give him a Steedman's Powder and he will soon be all right."

STEEDEMAN'S SOOTHING POWDERS Contain no Poison

From the eve of the battle the cry went forth from our candidates for a clean campaign and an honest effort is being made to confront, particularly by the Opposition, the press and more especially by the Telegram, whose editorial bias in favor of the Government is perhaps too active on communication. It ought to be borne in mind, however, that this is no rehearsal of a part; it is no "rig" game; and while we want to fight a clean fight, still, if we are faced with too much of the other kind—too much below the belt—then look out for "brass knuckles." We don't intend to have any shifty tactics try to pull the wool over the eyes of this electorate, candidates' conduct notwithstanding. Each elector should ask himself a few pertinent questions that will readily suggest themselves to everyone, and if the answer is in the negative, we are bound in conscience to vote against any and every candidate of the Government responsible for present-day conditions. No matter what arguments may be advanced for or against the Humber or any other industry, each man is a law unto himself and his own sound common sense, based upon his experience in this country since 1919, will supply the answer he must give at the polls. This is a serious, solemn duty and cannot be shirked for friend or relative. In passing, I must congratulate the Daily Mail on its marvelous consistency. In its "Candid Criticisms" of last Tuesday, it gave the Ferryland District to Hearn and McGuire unreservedly, lock, stock and barrel, and it prognosticated in another "Criticism" that Sir Michael would be flattened out in the West End, and that he would then be sure of his seat by asking his son Peter to resign. Resign what? Wasn't Peter not going to get a look-in when George and Ambrose of $20,000 fame were through with him. Ye gods! It is to laugh! Wake up, Mr. Mail, you have too many in the editorial sanctum.

The handwriting is on the wall, electors of Newfoundland. This is not a regular election, this is not ordinary politics. This is not party against party for power and pull. This is, by our own mandate an order to continue the destruction and demoralization of the past three years; to put up with the immoral and unconstitutional practices now being worked on us; to suffer and sweat on limited salaries and impaired incomes while our oppressors grind us still further in the dust; to barter away our birthright and to steal away our privileges as freemen. It is all these or—it is a resurrection of our old time prosperity; a return of peace of mind and happiness to our homes; a revival of prosperity to our city, and better times, in deed and in truth, for ourselves and our children. Electors! The work is yours. Yours, to make or mar your future existence; yours, to say what SHALL be and what SHALL NOT be. No voter is immune. No one can shirk his obvious duty, and that duty to give a clean-cut, straight ticket vote for Higgins, Fox, Vincombe, Cashin, Linegar and Hunt. We want SIX Bennett men in St. John's.

Citizens Protect Your Property!

AVAIL OF THE LAST CHANCE TO SAVE IT FROM RUIN!

It may not be necessary to again sound the alarm to the citizens of St. John's against the Menace of Coakerism which would destroy this fair city, because we have faith enough in their intelligence to believe they are not going to vote for any candidate of the ruination policy.

However, as there is no prevention better than precaution, then the necessity of being wide awake till all danger has passed, we once again sound the alarm to all citizens to avail of the last chance to save their property from being ruined and buried beneath the weight of depression and of taxes.

The property of a city that does not progress, is bound to diminish in value to its owner, but much more will that value diminish when business depression overpreads it, and those who should find an existence here are driven from their homes. St. John's stands now at the parting of the ways; it has come to a position where citizens are confronted with four years more of Coakerism and unsettled business conditions, or the outlook of better times with business confidence restored and plenty of employment in the city. Under the rule of the former, business will continue to diminish, for business men of any standing will save from the wreck at once whatever stakes they have here and quit doing business any more. Factories will be forced to close down, with the loss of employment to hundreds of workers, and the sacrifice of the shareholders' monies. Then never again will a dollar be subscribed to start another factory or industry in St. John's, and all we will see here will be shops, factories, waterside premises and people's homes going to decay. With an already large Municipal debt, the interest on which is now paid by all our citizens who still live here, it will become so pressing on a decreasing population that those remaining in the city will be up against the problem of paying much heavier taxes, and thus having inflicted on their families more of this accursed brutal taxation that we find so hard to bear at present. Those who possess property and dwellers therein alike, will then be overburdened so much that they will be tortured unbearably by realizing that the greater part of their earnings will be eaten up by Government as well as Municipal taxation. Many a man who owns a home to-day will find then that taxes will be so increased on it that he will have to sacrifice it, and thus find himself deprived of the value of a life time's savings. Not a family in the city but will suffer because the less employment there is, the harder will it bear on those who are earning.

There is only one way, therefore, to escape this disaster, one way to save his effects and avoid misery for his family, and that is by crushing Coakerism and voting for the policy of BENNETT AND BETTER TIMES.

Their Day is Done.

THE PEOPLE SAY SO.

It must appear very strange to the ordinary observer that though Squires and Coaker seek another term of office and though they ask for a renewal of confidence that was given them in 1919, they cannot point to one act done by them the past three years that has in any way been beneficial to the country or to the great masses of the people who elected them. They have introduced legislation which destroyed trade, demoralized the fishery and labouring industries and the general business of the Colony. They have squandered millions of dollars in unproductive labor graft and junketing trips abroad, and have increased taxation until the load has become unbearable. Under what pretence then do they seek re-election? They have no excuse to offer for their misconduct of public affairs. No apology to offer the people whom they have so basely betrayed. They have nothing to offer except the Humber Deal and no one knows what this Humber Deal is. They refuse to take the public into their confidence and explain the terms and conditions upon which this measure may be acceptable or not. They think the people are not sufficiently intelligent to judge of its merits or demerits. The people have already been deceived by Squires and Coaker in the promises made in 1919, and it will take more than the shouting of a Humber Deal to induce the public to trust them again. If this Humber proposition is not that Squires and Coaker claim, it will be a very easy matter for Bennett and his colleagues to put it through. If good for the Country, Bennett will boost it to the limit, whereas Squires can't be trusted. McGrath said this of him again and again in his Herald slogan of 1919.

Harbor Grace Notes.

The funeral of the late Mr. John Cole, an aged resident of the West End, took place on Sunday afternoon and was attended by the C. B. British Society, of which deceased was a member. Interment was made at the Church of England Cemetery, Rev. Mr. Higgett officiating at the church and graveside. One daughter, Mrs. G. Waters, of this town, is left to mourn.

Mr. Edward Ash, received a message on Monday from Hodge's Cove, T.B., conveying the sad intelligence that his daughter, Mrs. Caleb Churchill (nee Miss Susie Ash), had passed away there in the forenoon. Deceased had been in delicate health the past winter, but hopes were entertained for her recovery. Mrs. Churchill had many friends here who will learn with regret that she had been called away from earthly scenes at the early age of thirty-seven years. We sympathize with Mr. Ash on the occasion of the passing of his only child, and with her husband and friends. She will be laid to rest at Hodge's Cove, T.B., "till that glad Easter morn "When, father, sister, child and mother meet once more."

The schr. Waldo L. Stream arrived in port last week for dockage. This schooner is the first for the season. At the present time the yacht Pawnee, owned by the Bell Island Steamship Co., is on deck, having been there all the winter. Our marine dock has been put in A1 shape the past year and we hope that it will have a busy season.

S. S. Mary arrived from Bell Island on Saturday with some passengers, and went out again on Sunday.

Miss Annie Luffman was a passenger by the last trip of the Rosalind en route for Sydney, N.S.

S. S. Seal, Capt. Kean, arrived in port early Monday morning from the icefields, hauling for 11,000 seals. She is discharging her catch at Messrs. Murray & Crawford's premises.

"Flippers" are much in evidence and are being sold at $1.00 per doz.

Mr. and Mrs. Moses Yetman and daughter, Miss F. Yetman, of Woodville Road, went out by this morning's train to connect with S. S. Rosalind en route to New York. They will make their home in the United States. Mr. Yetman has two sons and a daughter residing there. The good wishes of their friends here follow them amidst their new surroundings.

Miss Mary Whiteway arrived from Bay Roberts on Saturday to spend a week with friends here.

Thanks, Old Man, for Telling Me About DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD

It has given me back my old time vigor and made me strong and well.

This is the way people feel about DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD. It lifts them out of the tired, nervous, helpless condition resulting from exhausted nerves, restores health, and vigor and makes life worth while.

COULD NOT SLEEP

Mr. A. W. Foster, 178 Le Brafon St., Ottawa, Ont., writes:—"For almost a year I was troubled with 'nerves,' was restless, especially on retiring, when I would be unable to sleep for hours. I was easily fatigued, or excited and very irritable. A neighbor recommended the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, but I neglected doing so until one day when in a drug store it was again recommended. I bought a box immediately and before the first week had passed I was enjoying a good night's rest every night. I gained rapidly in every way while taking this treatment, and my general state of health is now very much improved."

HEALTH RUN DOWN

Mr. Charles E. How, R. R. No. 5, Aymer, Ont., writes:—"My system became generally run down, and I suffered from dull, heavy headaches. I was nervous, could not sleep at night, and my muscles used to twitch. My appetite became poor, I had indigestion and weak spells. I consulted a doctor who gave me a tonic, but it did no good. I used other remedies, too, before finally trying Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I found that this did me more good than anything I had ever taken. I can heartily recommend it to anyone for weak nerves or run down system. I have also found Dr. Chase's Ointment splendid for cuts, bruises, etc."

Household Notes.

Serve farina balls in highly seasoned asparagus soup.
Soak iron rust spots in rice water and will disappear.
Serve Dutch codfish with rings of toast and bacon curls.
Malted milk is delicious made with fruit juice and cracked ice.
The baby's milk will require less fat with the approach of warm weather.

If long silk gloves have worn fingers, use the tops to make dainty baby socks.
A very tempting spring salad is salmon in cucumber aspic served with mayonnaise.
The refrigerator should be thoroughly cleaned twice a week during warm weather.
With the salad serve oatmeal crackers, spread with grated cheese and toasted in the oven.
Left-over fried chicken may be reheated and served with rings of fried spaghetti or parsnips.
Codfish and tomato are delicious baked in casserole with spaghetti, onion, pepper and breadcrumbs.
Left-over roast beef can be cut into small pieces, reheated in its own gravy and served on crisp waffles.
The kitchen should really have pointed walls—and the paint that should be used is one that will wash. Left over canned tomato can be seasoned, mixed with breadcrumbs and baked in halves of green peppers. Stiff stemmed flowers are best arranged in low bowls of pottery and held in glass or pottery flower holders.

A pencil sharpener is a convenience in the kitchen. It saves looking for a knife and sweeping up shavings.
A very attractive salad combination is canned halves of apricots, marshmallows and finely-chopped walnuts.
If powdered sugar has become very hard and lumpy, run it through the food-chopper, using the medium knife.
If poultry manure is used on strawberry plants, do not allow it to come into contact with the roots of plants.

Eggs are a desirable meat substitute for young children as they reach the growth-promoting stages.
A very delicious salad is a tomato jelly, garnished with a canned pear, and served with onionnase.

SIDE TALKS.

By Ruth Cameron.

JUST TO TALK ABOUT.

"You never seem to read a great deal," I said to a mother who had just heard her 22-year-old daughter "and yet whenever a new book comes up you always seem able to talk about it. I can't understand how you find the time to read them all, with all the other things you do."

The daughter laughed in that tolerant way in which youth laughs at the ignorance and the lack of worldly wisdom of middle age. "I don't, old dear," she said. "I couldn't possibly. But I can read the reviews and I'm careful to know you wouldn't want me to seem ignorant before your highbrow friends."

The Best Reviews!

"And you talk so well," sighed the mother, who is a really thoughtful person, who actually reads books for the pleasure she gets out of them.

"Surely I do," triumphed her daughter. "I'm very particular. I read the best reviews. If you'd do the same you wouldn't have to keep saying I haven't read this or that the way you do."

What are books for—to read and enjoy? Or to use as material for conversation? What are any of our pleasures for—to enjoy? Or as material for future conversation?

"You Really Must See It."

I think there are some people who think of their pleasures more in terms of the chance to talk about them afterwards than in actual present enjoyment. Such people go to the new play more for the chance to say they have been than because they greatly enjoy it. Give such people the chance to go to all the plays they wished, if they were to go invisible and never be allowed to refer to having been, and I'll wager they would rather go to half as many and be able to say, "Have you seen—" and "You really must see—" "Oh, yes, we went the first night."

The tremendous vogue of the picture postcard is based on this quirk of the human mind. The postcard says nonchalantly: "This is where I have been. Don't you wish you could go there, too?"

And, of course, the joy of travel would lose its flavor for most of us if we couldn't talk about it afterwards.

Why They Travelled.

The first officer of a ship on which we once took a cruise to a place, then much in the world's eye, was a very observant person. We were rather disappointed in the things we had gone to see. They were not so spectacular to see as to read about. We said as much to the first officer, and wondered that so many people cared to come. "Oh, well," he said, "what they want is to be able to say: 'Now when I was in So and So.'"

Of course it is inevitable that some of our pleasure should come in comparing notes on the books we've read, and the plays we have seen, and the places we have been to. That's perfectly normal. The only abnormal thing is to let it become so large a part of one's enjoyment that it crowds out the actual enjoyment of the pleasure itself.

In Memoriam.

MRS. JOS. GUY (Catalina).

At Catalina, on March 16th, there passed to the Great Beyond, one of the old stock in the person of Mrs. Jos. Guy. The deceased, whose maiden name was Juliana Gould, was born at Carbonara in 1860, and in the sixties came to Catalina as teacher under the R.C. Board. On the occasion of her marriage she became actively identified with the public life of the town, being Postmistress for almost half a century. This position of trust was filled by her with great honor and integrity, even in the last few years, when her health was declining, and when the duties appertaining to the office in consequence of the growth of the town became more and more onerous. The late Mrs. Guy was a woman of sterling qualities, the most conspicuous of which were her devotion to the very large family which she raised in a truly Christian manner, and her zeal for the glory of God and the Catholic Church. The funeral took place on St. Patrick's Day and was remarkably well attended, amongst the cortege being the Rev. G. S. Chamberlain and the Hon. W. F. Coaker. The burial service having been read all that was mortal of a good woman was committed to the family plot to await the resurrection. Her husband and some members of the family having predeceased her, there are left to mourn two sons, Joseph of the R.N. Co., St. John's, Vincent, who carries on his father's business at Catalina; two daughters in Boston, Mrs. Nolan and Bolger, two in St. John's, Mrs. Jas. McDonald and Mrs. Jos. Lacey, and three at Catalina, Misses Angela, Annie and Lillian; the latter two having come from the States last fall to comfort their mother in her last moments. The Guy family wish to thank Fr. Dwyer and Drs. Mackay and Forbes for their attention to their mother in her illness. Eternal rest grant her O, Lord and let perpetual light shine upon her.

They Ruined the Country

SO OUT THEY MUST GO!

We cannot conceive a greater disaster to this country than would be the return of the Squires-Coaker Government. During the past three years everything they have done has contributed bit by bit to ruin the country's interests. The fisheries have been made unproductive because of the nefarious Fish Regulations restricted sales and preventing sales of fish and obstructing the working out of the natural law of supply and demand. The destruction of the fishing industries interfered seriously with all avenues of employment. The coopers, the longshoremen and the fish handlers were thrown out of employment and all labor received a serious set back. The codfishery is our principal industry and any interference with the proper conduct of this industry seriously affects all other industries of this Dominion. The destitution, unemployment and lack of supplies for the fishery and the general paralysis of all trade are due principally to Coaker's Fish policy. The fishermen, laborers and mechanics are fully aware of this. Having seriously considered the situation then it is not possible that they will risk the danger of re-electing the present Government. To do so would be suicidal to themselves, to the country and to posterity! Make no mistake then, men but vote for BENNETT & BETTER TIMES.

"Jane Eyre" at the Nickel Monday.

A splendid cast of unusual merit has been assembled by Hugo Ballin for "Jane Eyre," the newest Hodgkinson release which is based on the famous novel of that name by Charlotte Bronte. "Jane Eyre" will open an engagement at the Nickel Theatre commencing Monday. Heading the aggregation of notable players are Mabel Ballin and Norman Trevor, neither of whom need introduction to the stage and screen devotees. Miss Ballin plays the part of Jane Eyre, the demure little governess, and Mr. Trevor is seen in the role of Fairfax Rochester, the eccentric but strangely fascinating master of the house. The screen needs more pictures like "Jane Eyre." A picture which thrills and engrosses, and at the same time is as clean as a hound's tooth. The Nickel desires that there will be no advance in price for this great picture.

ANOTHER PRODIGAL

From scenes of deep abasement the prodigal returned, but in his father's basement no lamp of welcome burned; his father's dogs pursued him along the lane and chewed him, his grandma coldly viewed him, and his wife while she churned. No fatted calf was roasted by brothers overjoyed; no slabs of bread were toasted to fill his aching void; remarked his stern relations, "For you we have no rations until in some vocation you're usefully employed. Your uncle raised the baronet, with endless zeal and care; your brothers, Jim and Charley, have plied the old ployshare; your aunts have done their knitting with industry fitting, while you've been idly fitting with hoboes here and there. You are the only quitter—we've made the wheels go round; in honest sweat and bitter we've all been nearly drowned; and now that you are busted and with the husks disgusted, you think we may be trusted a welcome to expound. Go, slumber with the gopher, or with the well-known fox; there is not, for the loser, a doughnut in the box; if you would eat some pieces of bread, all smeared with greases, go emulate your neices, and earn the useful rooks."

"A Donald Hogan."

That's the name taken by Mr. P. J. Smith in "An Irish Steer" at St. Joseph's Hall on April 23rd (Monday). Mr. Smith plays the part of the college graduate to perfection, and he has an able companion as his fiancée in Miss Nellie Byrne, who takes the part of Leonora Schwida, a debutante. Miss Eileen Whelan as Mary Hogan, Dennis's wife will, we feel sure, add fresh laurels to her fame as a coming star. Miss Beattie Maher as Marian Hogan, Mr. Leo English as Gaston the French man, Miss Annie Whelan as Mrs. O'Flaherty, and Mr. Jack Phelan as Pat Lacey, Dennis's confidential friend, are all worth hearing and anyone not seeing or hearing them on Monday night will be sorely disappointed. So to avoid this get your tickets now.

Trinity Will Return Stone, Bradley and Hodder.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—The Govt. story-tellers addressed a meeting to a Port Union audience here last night, so to encourage the speakers about fifty Opposition supporters from here attended. The chairman in introducing the team referred to them as fine looking men, if came unexpectedly to Mr. Hibbs and the buttons flew off his vest.
Mr. Randall was the first speaker and he took us back over the war period, and told us of all the money some of the Cabinet Ministers made out of wrecks, steam subsidies and coal supplies. Of course Mr. Randall was too much of a gentleman to be personal, but he forgot himself once and referred to Crosbie as being a millionaire, and that was about the only crime he was guilty of. Mr. Randall also said that many of the politicians who were trying to get elected to a seat in the House of Assembly were giving their time for the good of their country. He referred to the deadlock in 1908 when a certain candidate was offered a bribe more than he could make in four years in the House of Assembly—to leave his party and come over, but no, he was faithful to his party and his country and remained loyal.
A whisper went around as to who he could be, some said it was Squires but others said it could not be he as Coaker had only to whistle for him to link up. We pity Mr. Randall being led like a lamb to the slaughter.
Mr. Hibbs came next. He explained that why he left Fogo and came to Trinity was because—(1) Trinity is a large district and wants good men and (2) He is a good man—and you should see the small boys on the steps of the platform clapping their hands; even the little boys know a good thing when they see it. Mr. Hibbs then told us a story about a man and his mother-in-law, you should see the small boys then stamp their feet and bake cakes for the story man. He went on to tell us about all the trouble he had with Sir Michael Cashin in the House, trying to keep him in order. He told us that Cashin said bad words. Of course he mentioned at Port Union at a previous meeting that Cashin cursed in the House; however, I don't think that

No Doubt About GEMS

Positively None Better.

Imperial Tobacco Co.
Newfoundland, Ltd.

Mr. Hibbs tells that on Cashin very often; anyway Sir Michael should not be so troublesome to Mr. Hibbs. By this time the small boys were getting restless, so he told us another story about (b) owls, saying that they could not see the sun—even some of the men clapped them because they thought perhaps it was true. He next took up taxation and talked and talked and pointed out why they could not reduce the taxes. He told us about all the telegraph offices that he closed in Fogo District and how he opened them again to satisfy his people; and all he did while in the House. Well, I thought, what a wonderful man! If his Leader and Party had helped him any what a Paradise we would be living in to-day. His subject was getting dry now and it was time for another story, so he told us about the old woman and her teapot, the little boys had heard that one before and it took no effect; so he told us then about the girl he met from Placentia Bay, who wanted to know if Mr. Coaker had a cloven hoof.
He next referred to John Stone but was wise enough to find he was walking on thin ice, and made for a place of safety. This Mr. Editor is the kind of rot handed out by Hibbs and Randall to the electors of Trinity Bay, when prudent men are trying to save our country from bankruptcy.
Mr. Boone also spoke, and said that he was tired waiting for Mr. Hibbs to finish. I suppose he was. He started telling more stories, one about an automobile, some boys were playing and he was going to represent the smoke of the auto. Of course he won't hold that office for long, because after Polling Day he will disappear like smoke and be heard of no more.
The boys call them the story men.
Mr. Hallyard was sick at Trinity and could not come to Catalina. It did not matter much, he is not wanted. Neither are Hibbs and Randall and no one knows it better than they. Trinity Bay wants men of the type of John Stone, Bradley and Hodder, and when Polling Day comes will poll such a majority of votes over the three Government incapables that they will regret ever wasting their time canvassing Trinity Bay.
Yours truly,
UNION MAN.

Rightful Bungling and Extravagance Exposed

Government Coastal Boats Used to Distribute the Mail and Advocate, Yet Leave Freight Behind—Mr. Walsh Tells How Placentia and St. Mary's is Treated.

The West End Headquarters, last night there were over 800 members of the Committee present, and the speakers were Mr. W. Walsh, leader of the Bennett ticket in Placentia. He was given a rapturous reception as he rose to take the result of the canvass of the district. Mr. Walsh assured the meeting that his 800 majority would be increased by 1500, and that the three B's would be his nomination fees. PURCHASING VOTES. It had been reported that $100,000 had been sent into the District to purchase the voters, but he (Mr. Walsh) wanted it made plain to the people of the District that they must prepare for the annual codfishery by which they and their families live. The elections now about to take place will have such a bearing on the fishery season now opening and on all the future as well, that it is the duty of every voter to consider seriously as to how he should mark his ballot. To-day, on the eve of the nominations, many mercantile concerns are insolvent, others are embarrassed, and more are confronted with the problem of how they are to carry on in view of the hostility of the Government, the crippled condition of trade, and the gloomy outlook which prevails for supplies for the summer and for marketing the catch of fish that may be taken. The re-election of the present Government means a continuance of the condition of disaster that has prevailed the past three years. It means the re-inauguration of Coaker's crazy schemes for regulation or nationalization of fish and all sorts of schemes for interfering with the business of the country and preventing the masses of the people from getting the greatest value for their catch of fish during the Summer months. The re-election of the present Government would blast any prospect that might exist for a revival of trade and the development of our fishing industry, and check the hopes of the people by throwing them back again into the condition of inevitable stagnation sure to follow if the Squires-Coaker crowd are again put in control. The wheels of industry would be stopped, the disturbance to trade that would be sure to follow term of office for a Govern-

End Trio at Portugal Cove.

HIGGINS, FOX AND VINICOMBE HELD ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING IN C. OF E. PARISH HALL. Mrs. Higgins, Fox and Vinicombe held an enthusiastic meeting at Portugal Cove last night. The meeting was held at the residence of Mr. Higgins, and the remainder of the evening was spent in the hall. Arriving at the Cove they were met with salvoes of musketry from the people of the vicinity and a meeting was held. Mr. Higgins was chairman and Mr. Vinicombe was chairman and Mr. Higgins was chairman and Mr. Vinicombe was chairman.

The Royal Stores, Ltd.

Liberals of Terra Nova Look to the Fishery Ahead And the Future Before You.

We are now well into the spring season and nearing the period when a large number of the population must prepare for the annual codfishery by which they and their families live. The elections now about to take place will have such a bearing on the fishery season now opening and on all the future as well, that it is the duty of every voter to consider seriously as to how he should mark his ballot. To-day, on the eve of the nominations, many mercantile concerns are insolvent, others are embarrassed, and more are confronted with the problem of how they are to carry on in view of the hostility of the Government, the crippled condition of trade, and the gloomy outlook which prevails for supplies for the summer and for marketing the catch of fish that may be taken. The re-election of the present Government means a continuance of the condition of disaster that has prevailed the past three years. It means the re-inauguration of Coaker's crazy schemes for regulation or nationalization of fish and all sorts of schemes for interfering with the business of the country and preventing the masses of the people from getting the greatest value for their catch of fish during the Summer months. The re-election of the present Government would blast any prospect that might exist for a revival of trade and the development of our fishing industry, and check the hopes of the people by throwing them back again into the condition of inevitable stagnation sure to follow if the Squires-Coaker crowd are again put in control. The wheels of industry would be stopped, the disturbance to trade that would be sure to follow term of office for a Govern-to be, for the sake of catering to the whims of Coaker and the hypocritical vapors of Squires' party. Disregard all the buzzbois cries, all the worn out stupid impudent terms of office they will restore it again, but if you hearken to their pleas you will only be letting in a pack of political wolves who will devour everything their capacious maws can swallow. They have already been the means of stagnating trade and bringing the wolf to your very doors, not in imagination but in substance. Disregard all the buzzbois cries, all the worn out stupid impudent vapors of demagogues like Squires and Coaker, who tore each other to shreds a few years ago and would do so again but that their interest lies at present in getting what they can from the public chest. Don't pursue a course that will drag you further towards a precipice of desolation. Don't have your wives and children upbraid you in the days to come for being bamboozled by Squires and Coaker, for being fooled by their slick threats and plausible stories. Don't bring yourselves to the brink of ruin and fall headlong over it, for you may never be able to get up on your legs again and work for your homes and families. Think over the words of our solemn and sincere warning. Think, not for the moment only, but for the days and years to come, of what you are about to do on the 3rd day of May next, and if you think seriously of us as we wish you to do, for your own special benefit, we have that faith in the honor, sense, and intelligence of the Newfoundland voter that we believe you will do what is right, right to yourselves, to your mothers, to your wives, to your children, whom you are rearing to follow in your footsteps and to come into your inheritance. Your well considered verdict then will be we guarantee and pledge our faith, that you will vote, not for the candidates of Coaker and Squires, but for the candidates of the Opposition Party, for BENNETT & BETTER TIMES.

G. F. S. ANNUAL FESTIVAL.

The Girls Friendly Society opened their annual festival on Thursday morning when they attended the Corporate Communion in the C. of E. Cathedral at 7 a.m., which was delivered by his Lordship the Bishop. At night in the Synod Hall a very pleasant entertainment was held. His Lordship the Bishop presided, and amongst those present was Lady Allardyce, who presented the prizes. The programme opened with a sketch entitled "Miss Tomboy" in which Misses L. Coaker, M. Brown and M. Cook took part, followed by another, "The At Home Day," in which the parts were taken by Madames H. Outerbridge, H. Lockesmith and Kennedy. The acting throughout was good and much enjoyed. The Bishop by a brief and happy speech thanked the performers and extended a cordial welcome to Lady Allardyce, who then presented the prizes and expressed her pleasure at being present. A Guard of Honor from the G.F.S. Girl Guides was in attendance. At the close tea was served by the associates.

Woodford and Kennedy Doing Great Work.

Mr. W.W. Woodford and his popular colleague, Mr. Patrick Kennedy, the Bennett Party Candidates for the District of Hr. Main, are meeting with much success in their whirlwind campaign. Last night they addressed a large meeting at Chamberlains. Great preparations are made in the various settlements for their reception. The people of Hr. Main are now going to get the fruits of their loyalty in the last general and bye-elections. Mr. Woodford's long career in public life and the great interest he took in his constituents will give him and his colleague a record majority. Not only is Mr. Kennedy known throughout the district, but he is generally liked. He is experienced in all things that appertain to the fisheries, and his knowledge of them is practical. To succeed such a man as the late Capt. Lewis is not easy, but that Mr. Kennedy will make a capable and popular successor is the expressed opinion of all who know him.

Meeting of Topsail Road Voters.

CASHIN, LINEGAR AND HUNT GIVEN A GREAT RECEPTION.

Last night Sir Michael Cashin, Mr. W. Linegar, and Mr. C. E. Hunt held a meeting at Topsail Road. They were met on the road by a large number of voters and were escorted to the residence of Mrs. Holden, where about 100 voters had assembled. Mr. Cashin was elected Chairman and Speeches were made by Messrs. Linegar, Hunt and Sir M. P. Cashin, who dealt with the Humber Deal and other vital topics. The occasion was one of much enthusiasm and the residents of Topsail were delighted with the meeting which was most successful. When the candidates were departing volleys of musketry rang out whilst ringing cheers were given for Bennett and Better Times.

Standard Bearers.
 And the people of the Ropewalk did not want to hear Sir Richard Squires speak!
 What a contrast to the reception given him in 1918 and 1919.
 He went to the wrong place to vilify Mr. Monroe and others.
 The people of the Ropewalk, like many others places in St. John's West, gave him a chance.
 He failed miserably.
 On the third of May he will be told in plain English language what two-thirds of the voters of St. John's think of him and his associate W. F. Coaker.
 We cannot help having Better Times with the Bennett Government.
 Proof: Higgins' visit to Bell Island.
 His very presence inspired good news.
 He was the first to announce an increase of wages to the miners.
 And if it is possible to do still better for the wage-earners on the Island the Bennett Government will do it.
 When Bennett was Morris's Lieutenant he worked hard and succeeded in carrying out every one of the one hundred promises made in Morris' manifesto.
 Bennett will likewise carry out every promise in his own manifesto.
 Every member of his party is pledged to do it.
 We will not make a gift of Labrador to Canada.
 Labrador is too valuable to Newfoundland.
 Bennett's bounty of one dollar paid to the fishermen direct for every quintal of fish he catches, is more encouragement and more benefit to the country than all the Reids' deals Coaker and Squires can think of.
 Conception Bay men have everything to gain by electing a Bennett Government.
 They have everything to lose should Coaker and Squires be returned to power.
 Ten days more and the story will be told.
 Come on Newfoundlanders! Show the spirit of your forefathers!
 Away with Coakerism and all that it brings with it.
 The time has come when you must do a man's job.
 If you want another four years like the past three and a half, you have one sure way of getting it by giving Coaker, Campbell, Gibbs and Squires another chance.
 He spent the morning in the editor's sanctum and his pockets were checked full of his writings.
 Gibbs was the most favored contributor to the infamous Morning Post during the last election.
 To all concerned: See that you get your Telegrams next week. A movement is on foot to block their delivery.
 They are desperate, and will stop at nothing to defame the electorate.
 Be on your guard during the next ten days. Let no false cries delude you.

EARLY CABLES.

NEW EGYPTIAN CONSTITUTION.

CAIRO, April 20.
 The new Egyptian constitution, signed by King Fuad last night, declares the country a sovereign state, free and independent. Succession to the throne shall be hereditary in the family of Mohammedan Ali. The official religion shall be Islamic, and the official language Arabic. One of the outstanding features is an article providing for obligatory elementary education of both sexes, to be provided free of charge in the public schools. This marks a great educational stride, especially in the case of girls. The constitution declares that all powers shall emanate from the nation.

ONLY 14 PROHIBITIONISTS.

LONDON, April 20.
 For the first time in history the Commons debated a Liquor Prohibition Bill, and then killed the measure by rejecting its second reading by 236 to 14. The Bill was recently introduced by Edwin Scrymgeour, M.P. for Dundee.

MUELHEIM SUBDUED.

MUELHEIM, April 20.
 After being terrorized for three days by Communist mobs, Muelheim to-day was again under control of the constituted German authorities. The force of three hundred police and city officials which had been besieged in the Rathaus issued from this great fortress-like building, cut their way through the lines of the besiegers, caught them, arrested many, and again took control of the city. Eight persons are reported dead, and more than thirty wounded. Armed bands are still causing trouble in the out-

LET RICH QUICK MEN INDICTED.

FORT WORTH, Texas, April 20.
 Ninety-two oil promoters were indicted to-day by the Federal Grand Jury on charges of using the mails to defraud. The Oil Companies had taken in over seven million dollars in cash and into three of the Companies were merged four hundred and fifty-eight Companies, which had sold one hundred and thirty million dollars of stock, so the United States District Attorney, Henry Zweifel, declared the investigation showed.

IRISH PEACE NEARER.

DUBLIN, April 20.
 It is generally recognized that army opposition to the Free State is almost at an end, but the prospects of permanent peace, many influential persons believe, depends on the manner in which resistance is terminated. To allow it to fizzle out, becoming daily less effective, as leader after leader is captured, might, it is feared, involve months of costly spasmodic disturbances.

CONN MEANEY CAPTURED.

DUBLIN, April 20.
 Conn Meaney, one of the most prominent remaining leaders of the Republicans, was arrested yesterday at Guraneduff, east of Killarney.

Placentia Congratulates Port de Grave's Choice.

Dear Sir.—The many friends which Mr. W. A. Mackay has made here, since he assumed the Managership of Silver Cliff Mines, at Argentia, were very pleased when it was announced that he would contest the district of Port de Grave on behalf of the Bennett Party. The Leader of the Opposition party is to be commended on the wisdom of his choice in selecting "Billy Mackay" as his standard bearer in that district, and we congratulate the district on having such a live wire coming to seek their support, that he will appeal to the electors, fight the good fight, and come out at the head of the poll we have not the least doubt. The electors of that district would be doing wisely by sending Mr. Mackay to the House of Assembly as their representative. In him they will have a man of progressive ideas, brimful of initiative, and a fighter who doesn't know when he is beaten. He is in every sense of the phrase a "Go-Getter." His personality will, we think, forcibly appeal to the people of the district, his genial and optimistic spirit makes him hosts of friends, and his manliness and general atmosphere of good fellowship which pervades him, makes them stick. As a doer of things he has a record it would be hard to beat, and it is characteristic of "Billy" Mackay, that anything he takes on immediately becomes a going concern. He has for years been actively and enthusiastically interested in the development of our natural resources. To him belongs the credit of launching several of our mining industries. That he is one who can take his place among the people who do things, is amply proven by the fact, that many of our workers who go to Sydney, can tell us that several industries up there owe their existence to "Billy" Mackay," and as evidence of what the people of that town thought of him they made him their Mayor. "Billy" Mackay's strong forte in tackling hopeless propositions and making them go, and in the general crisis of our affairs he is the type of man we want. For these reasons we strongly recommend Mr. Mackay to the electors of Port de Grave, by returning him to the House of Assembly, they are sending back a man who will represent them honestly and fearlessly, and one who will take a deep and lively interest in the needs of the district. To Mr. Mackay we send our best wishes, we are watching with keen interest his fight on behalf of clean Government, and we are confidently expecting to see his name at the head of the poll. To the electors of Port de Grave we would say, you will make no mistake by returning Mackay. Good luck, "Billy." Go in and Win. Mackay rings the bell every time.

TRINITY

HOW JAMES PITTMAN GOT FROM CREWKHERNE TO TRINITY.

Skipper Stephen Crocker was so taken with Pittman's story and his honest face, that he gladly gave him a passage to Trinity in the skiff, and that's how he got to Trinity, which was but the beginning of a most deeply interesting history. Pittman was not the only passenger on that occasion, for skipper Stephen had bought a cow in St. John's, and she came to Trinity at that time in one side of the middle room of the skiff. The cow watched every yard of the shore to Cape St. Francis, and down through Baccalleu Tickle, and betrayed her thoughts by moaning as loudly as she could when she saw anything that she thought was grass.

Pittman was glad to meet his uncle, Joseph Pittman in Trinity, and he was very kind to him, and Jim stayed with him for some time.

Then his brother Joseph and Johnnie Pope, and Thomas White came out from Crewkherne to Trinity. Thomas White went back to England the next summer; but Pope, and Jim and his brother Joseph remained in Trinity. During the first few years Jim went to the ice in the spring, and to the cod fishery in the summer. He served one summer with an Englishman, John Hayter on the Southside of Trinity.

After his brother Joseph came out, their uncle Joseph gave them the use of a little boat that he owned, called the "Amella". So James and Joseph went trading around Trinity Bay. In disposition the brothers were so opposite as the poles, and they could not agree upon anything. They gave up the trading business. James built a house in Trinity (it is owned to-day by Mr. Arthur White) and the following entry in the Register of Old St. Paul certifies his next action: "1869—Married, James Pittman of Crewkherne, Somerset, England, and Isabella White of Trinity. Witnesses: Charles Granger, Charlotte Granger, Miriam Granger, Mary Ann Pittman, James Christian."

Their first child was baptised Amelia and the next summer James, by the way, and child left Trinity and went up to Smith's Sound to live. James built a tilt on the bank at a place called Broad Cove (now Somers). During the next two years James worked hard and lived hard. It was a lonely life, not a soul living near them; one family in George's Brook; and the Bugdens at Lance Cove. James cleared a bit of land, and the bears used to come out in the night and eat the cabbage that was growing on it.

After two years Mr. Cameron from St. John's came there, and began to make brick, where the old brick-yard is to-day, and James worked in the brick-yard one summer. Then his brother Joseph went up from Trinity and settled down near to him, and the next summer James and Joseph worked with Mr. Cameron in the brick-yard.

Again, however, James and Joseph could not agree to work together, and again, after dividing the property that they owned in common, Joseph went down near to Britannia Cove, and became the mail carrier from British Harbor to Shoal Harbor for several years. He died a few years ago, an old man, with but little of this world's goods. James worked with Cameron for several years, then he hired the brick-yard for $50 a year, stuck to it, worked hard, made good brick, and prospered. His wife Isabella had five daughters. She died about 1870. After a while James was married again to the eldest daughter of Mr. Thomas Felley. By her there were born to James, a daughter and three sons. James paid hire for the brick-yard only a few years. Then he bought it, and as his boys grew up, they were quick to realize the worth of the brick-clay deposit, and the advantage, and the necessity of modern machinery to develop it properly; and the results that followed, and that still follow their intelligent and practical ideas, have more than justified their actions.

Physically and mentally James Pittman was a man far above the average in natural endowments. He had many opportunities from boyhood to manhood to develop his physical powers, and he was a giant in strength. His early mental education, however, was sadly neglected, and his strenuous daily life as he grew up, prevented him from accomplishing more than being able to read his Prayer Book.

Conscious of his own loss in this respect, he spent money freely in securing for his family the blessings of education that had been denied to him. His eldest daughter Merida, by his second wife was a very clever girl, and after some years at teaching, she became a Missionary in Japan; whilst his sons gave many evidences of having inherited a large share of their parents' intellectual gifts. James' first wife was a sister of the late Doctor White, and after her death he adopted one of her children, Sarah. She married a Mr. Hyde of Fogo, and died a few years ago.

James paid two or three visits to the old home in Crewkherne, after the brick-yard began to declare dividends.

He died about twelve years ago, at which time he was the owner of the brick-yard, a forty-ton schooner, a saw mill, sheep and cattle, a substantial amount of money in the bank—and owed no man a cent.

His body is buried in his own field, just back of his house; and at the head of his grave is a four square stone ten feet high, standing on a foundation of bricks, all of which he made detailed arrangements for, some time before he died.

Of the men who always admired him in daily life, and who still remember him, there are those who, (going up and down the sound) as they pass in sight of the stone, lift their hat, and ask Him to whom all souls belong, not to be extreme to mark what is done amiss, and to give to the soul of James Pittman, a share in every blessing and privilege that He has prepared for souls between death and the Judgement Day.

The life of such a man, so distinctly different from the ordinary; so full of humor and ready wit, could not be lived without being productive of many of the funniest, and most interesting stories imaginable.

Some of those stories I have heard from his own lips, and others I have heard from men who were his personal friends, I am indebted to him for many a hearty laugh, because of them. I refrain, however, from giving the stories here, for several reasons. One because they need the human voice in the telling to do full justice to them. Another reason,—because I know from experience that the point of a story, so apparent to me, may not be so to relatives of the person of whom the stories are told. Conscious of the truth that "nature is but a name for an effort, whose cause is God;" to me, James Pittman was one of nature's noblest, wonderfully endowed, with such mental capacity as would have made him an apt student at school and college; and which would have been followed by such mental ability, as would have made him a statesman. But nevertheless, though he did not enjoy such school and college privileges, "He was a man for a that." May he rest in peace.

THOSE WHO REPRESENTED WALES IN TRINITY.

Whilst, as I have so often pointed out, ninety five per cent. of the people in Trinity a hundred years ago were English and Irish, yet an occasional Scotsman, Norwegian and Swede came along, married and settled down for a while. So far as I can find in the old church records very few Welshmen were ever attracted to our town, though the principalty was represented by one man, and one woman in the nineteenth century. The man was married to a young woman of Trinity, and the woman married a Scotsman. The man was Captain Clann, of St. David's, Pembroke; and the woman was Barbara Prothero of Llandis, Carmarthen. The marriage entries read as follows:

"1832—Married, William Clann, of St. David's, Wales and Margaret Warr of Trinity."
"1832—Married, Adam Maitland, of Aberdennhira, Scotland and Barbara Prothero of Llandis in Carmarthen, Wales."

There is nothing in either the Baptismal or the Burial Register to indicate the future of the Maitlands; and it looks as though they moved away from Trinity shortly after their marriage.

Captain William Clann, however, (who was master of the brig "Vesta") made his home in Trinity; and his four children—Sarah, Caroline, Henry and Charles were born here. Of those, Sarah married John Hughes, of St. John's, and Caroline married Doctor Robert White, and became the mother of Bishop White.

In later years Morris Williams (of Wales) married Christiana, daughter of Captain Nicholas Facey, and lived here for a while; and to-day Wales is represented by Doctor Sinclair.

ITEMS OF INTEREST IN TRINITY YEARS AGO.

The house on Wiseman's Beach, now owned by Mr. Meenan, was built by a son of old "Paddy" O'Sullivan. James Campbell, the schoolmaster, lived there when he taught school in the Court House, about 1853. William Lockyer, agent for Brookings bought it. Charles Power married William Lockyer's widow. He was lost in the S.S. Lion, 1882. His widow left the house to John Lockyer (Geo.). He sold it to Arthur Power, who left it to Mr. Meenan.

Robert Grant lived in a large double house in 1828, that stood about fifty feet to the North of where Capt. Robert Fortin's Gate is to-day. Mr. Joseph Prince lived there nearly 70 years ago; and later Capt. Charles Field, and Capt. Stephen Morris.

A house in the S.W. corner of Garland's garden was occupied by John Power, the Master Cooper at Garland's; also by John James, the store-keeper.
Garland's brick house, known as the "big house" was built about 1810, and was occupied by the following Agents for Garland and Brookings:—Garland, Durell, Drawbridge, Scott, Fegburn, Mussen, Lockyer, Wray; and

There were thirty others, children and adults, baptised at the same time in New Perlan; sixty-five in Heart's Content and twenty-five at Scilly Cove. All are entered in the Register at Trinity.

1822—Baptised in Hart's Harbor, John, child of John and Honour Cashman.

1823—Baptised in Trinity, Douglas, Archibald and Alexander, children of Archibald and Hannah Graham.

1824—Baptised in Heart's Content, Henry, John, Annie, Obediah, Mary, Jane, children of James and Mary Rowe, (ages 1 year to 16 years).

1825—Baptised in Heart's Content, John, Sarah, Mary, Nicholas, Caroline and Julia, children of John and Eleanor Younnes, (ages 3 months to 10 years).

It is evident from the marriage records of St. Paul's Parish, that several single women (as well as men) came to Trinity from Ireland, and that they all married here. There is, however, but one record of an unmarried woman having come here from England to live, since 1718, which is the earliest date of the church records. There are several marriages recorded as follows:—

1768—Married, John Allen and Mary Power, both from Ireland.

1774—Married, Maurice Connor and Elizabeth Walsh, both of the Kingdom of Ireland.

1775—Married, Gerald Keefe of Waterford, and Mary Cavenot of Queen's County, Kingdom of Ireland.

And yet, though there are scores of marriages recorded of Englishmen, there is not a single record of an Englishman being married to a woman who came to us from England, married a Newfoundlanders; whilst, the one who came from Wales married a Scotsman.

The Outport and City Voter Will be as One on May 3rd

Bluffing and Deceit is a Losing Game.

"Go away," said one of Squires' committee men to another. "I wouldn't have anything to do with this outfit, after what I read in the Mail and Advocate about the demonstration in the East End on Thursday night."

The Mail and the Advocate both said it was a poor turn out when everybody knows there was never anything like it before. Why didn't they ignore it altogether when they couldn't tell the truth about it.

They are making the fight harder when they publish such false reports. If all they publish about the meetings in the outports are as truthful as what they published about that affair on Thursday night. Then all I have to say is give it up as a bad job.

"As far as I am concerned," said the Squires supporter, "I'm finished with the crowd if this is the way they are padding up their papers."

Right, O friend, that is what is happening in the Mail and Advocate Offices every day.

Almost all of the messages and letters are written by the employees in these offices.

They refuse to publish many of the messages and letters sent to them.

They have writers paid big money to dig up this kind of stuff to fill their columns, and bluff their readers.

Some of those writers are enjoying the joke immensely one in particular boasted in a club room recently how easy it was to fool the outport man.

But they are sadly mistaken, this time the fishermen and outport planter are just as wise to their game as the St. John's man and all that the scribes of the Mail and Advocate do to pull the wool over their eyes, will fail, and the best proof in the truth of this statement will be after May the 3rd when the ballots are counted.

From one who claims to be on the inside with Dr. Campbell and Mr. Stafford and Dr. Mosdell, the Coaker-Squires party are going to spring a big surprise between nomination day and Polling Day so as to once more fool the outport voters. All I have to say is that the game won't work.

The Government is badly beaten today. The voters of St. John's are of the same mind as those of the majority of the outport districts and

The Niggers in the Deal.

There's a Mister Collishaw. Who is learned in the law. Of making deals on which to climb astride; And they say he knows a lot. Of the millions to be got. By the "Niggers" in the Humber Deal aside.

Then this Mister Collishaw. Would be sure to know what's raw In the Humber Deal we wish so much to trace. So we kindly hope he'd try. Just to tell us voters why These "Niggers" won't come out to show their face.

Yet if Mr. Collishaw. Merely says to us "Fahaw!" Our duty then, would be to look about; Say by asking Mr. Hibbs. Or the Honorable M. P. Gibbs. Could one of them just trot the "Niggers" out?

But if Mr. Collishaw. "M-Faw." Or Squires would hide them when they shout. Then the voters course is clear. They will one and all declare. Send Bennett in to haul the "Niggers" out!

all that Gibbs, Mosdell, Clouter, Stafford or Campbell can do won't save them from the landslide that they are going to meet on next Thursday week.

The days of bluffing and deceit are over—Squires is defeated and his Government ceases on May 3rd when Bennett's sane, sound, honest, progressive administration will pull Newfoundland out of the rut which Coaker and Squires with their many scandals and misdeeds have forced upon her. Back to 1919 and prosperity is where we start for on the 4th of May and four years from now we will have reason to congratulate ourselves on our judgment.

St. Thomas's Parish.

ANNUAL EASTER MEETING—EXCELLENT REPORTS RECEIVED.

The annual Easter meeting of St. Thomas's parishioners was held last night, and was largely attended. In the absence of the Rector, who is seriously ill, Sir Marmaduke Winter, Rector's Warden, presided. After the opening prayers the Minutes of the last annual meeting were read by the Secretary of the Select Vestry—Mr. F. Stirling and confirmed. Rev. Mr. Lightbourn stated on behalf of the Rector, that he was unable, owing to illness, to submit his report, but that he would write it at an early date and have it printed and circulated throughout the Parish.

The Financial Warden, Hon. R. Watson, submitted his report which showed that the parish was in a good financial condition and that all collections had kept up well during the year, the amounts received from all sources being practically the same as last year. During his remarks he referred to the serious illness of the Rector, feeling sure he would have the deep sympathy of the congregation and expressed the hope that he would soon be completely restored. Reference was also made to the wonderful success of Bishop Mowll's Mission, the preparation of which entailed a great deal of extra work on the Rector.

Sir M. G. Winter was re-appointed Rector's Warden and Hon. R. Watson re-elected People's Warden. The balloting for the Select Vestry resulted as follows (the Rector and Wardens ex officio) Hon. Tasker Cook, Messrs. Wm. Churchhill, Geo. H. Cook, R. R. Wood, C. E. Hunt, F. M. Stirling, Lt. Colley, H. W. LeMessurier, C.M.G., W. S. Monroe, R. C. MacDonald, R. Dowden, J. C. Oke.

Reports were received from the various organizations, viz.—St. Margaret's Guild, Cartwright Mission Circle, Women's Home Missionary Society, Cemetery Committee, Dunfield Club, Llewellyn Club, Brotherhood of St. Andrew, Band of Hope and Sunday Schools and also from the Protestant Industrial Society.

The following were re-elected to the various offices:—Auditors, Messrs. F. C. Beretau, I.S.O., A. Findlater; Synod Delegates, Sir M. G. Winter, Hon. R. Watson; Cemetery Committee Messrs. J. C. Oke, E. Lawrence, F. Burrell, E. S. Pinesent, R. Dowden; Protestant Industrial Society, the Rector, Messrs. F. Burrell and G. H. Cook.

Votes of thanks were passed to all church workers and all parish organizations, and especially to Hon. R. Watson, for the efficient and painstaking manner in which he has filled the office of People's Warden.

A special feature of last night's meeting was the presence for the first time of a number of ladies of the parish. By a resolution of last Synod the ladies are now privileged to attend and vote at Parish meetings. The Chairman in his opening remarks extended to them a very hearty welcome.

The singing of the Doxology and pronouncing of the blessing by the Rev. G. O. Lightbourn brought the meeting to a close.

Card Tournament, St. Vincent de Paul's Hall. The winner of the special prize for the season fell to J. Clooney, 47 Mullock St. he having 148 games.—april 21

Obituary.

We record with regret the death of Mrs. Harvey, who passed away at her late residence, Duckworth Street this morning. Deceased was relict of the late Dr. C. J. Harvey, who was in his day the most prominent physician in the city, and as well as being a master in his profession was extremely popular. The deceased lady was a daughter of the late Dr. Simms of this city, also a well known and prominent physician of his time forty to fifty years ago. Mrs. Harvey, whose funeral takes place on Monday, was an estimable lady and her many friends will learn of her demise with regret. Deceased leaves two daughters, Mrs. Cole of Badger and Mrs. R. W. Ritcey, wife of Mr. R. W. Ritcey, Manager of the Acadian Gas Engine, Ltd., this city; and two sons, Stan now in London, Eng., and Wilfred of the office of S. J. Foote, B.L. to mourn their sad loss. The Telegram extends its sincere condolences.

Late Rev. H. W. Martin.

SYMPATHY OF HIS TORONTO COLLEGE FRIENDS.

The funeral of the late Rev. Hayward W. Martin took place from Wesley Church to the Railway Station at 12.30 p.m. today. On the arrival of the steamer to Harvey & Co. this morning at 7 a.m. the remains were reverently received by Messrs. Martin and Whelan, representing the Official Boards of the church. There were six magnificent wreaths accompanying the case, from the Official Staff of Victoria University, Toronto; the Nfld. Students of the University; the Officers and Teachers of Westmoreland Avenue Methodist Church, and another from the Men's Class of same church, another from the Theological Class of the College, a beautiful floral Cross, etc., from sympathetic Newfoundlanders in Toronto, by whom he was greatly loved. Rev. J. G. Joyce, B.A., held a short service and a large attendance was present. Rev. W. W. Cotton of Britannia will meet the casket, etc., at Clarendville and convey it to Hickman's Hr., where his sorrowing parents will lovingly lay away their devoted son. "Death doth still, but not divide, in Christ united still.

Young Worshippers League.

A special service and distribution of Prizes in connection with the Young Worshippers League of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church will be held tomorrow morning. Sunday Scholars will meet in the Hall at 10.30.

The Big Balloon Is Badly "Busted."

Though noisy shouters have bent around the past few days to stampede the public into the idea that the Squires-Coaker crew would win the country, there are thousands of silent observers who know otherwise and who feel that the hearts of the voters will not be turned towards politicians of the class of Squires and Coaker who have proved such a disaster to Newfoundland in the past three years. These men are now classed as political outcasts in the election where they selected their own time for the battle and their own issues on which to fight it. All the vim has gone out of those who up to a few days ago were staunch supporters of the Government and most of them have abandoned the Party cause altogether, while the small following who still cling to them for selfish reasons are growing more and more ashamed to openly admit their connection. On the other hand, the hundreds who stood silently by and listened to the blaring of the Squires-Coaker heblers, there are thousands who now openly declare that neither Squires nor Coaker, nor their colleagues, will receive any support, but will be snowed under by the hurricanes of adverse bullets that will fall into the ballot boxes on next Thursday week.

Thus is seen the shattering of all the blustering hopes and hollow prospects of the Squires-Coaker crew. The most flagrant feature of the present election is the news that is coming from the North. The voters of the city and the nearby districts have had it belled all over them by the Squires-Coaker shouters and the Squires-Coaker papers since this campaign began, that the North was certain for Coaker. But this cry can no longer be maintained in the light of all that is coming to pass as the days go by. It is seen that there is a big revolution in the outports, and especially in the Northern districts and that the people who suffered from the ruinous effects of the Squires-Coaker policy and the ruinous consequences of the Fish Regulations, do not intend to vote again for either of these two discredited demagogues. Neither Squiresism nor Coakerism will. Conception Bay, the city and the South and West permit to encroach upon their precincts, for it would be a reversion of all the high standards of political repute which the people in these districts have ever set up, but what is going to happen in the election on May the 3rd is that Coaker is going to meet his Waterloo in the North and will go down to a most ignominious defeat.

It was a safe conjecture from the first that Squires could not carry the Southern section of the country, but the past few days have witnessed such an outpouring of public sentiment, not alone against him and his followers, but against Coaker and the mere prospect of a renewal of Coakerism, that the most doubting man is now firmly convinced that a result is going to occur in this country, compared only to that of 1897, when a Government that seemed so strongly entrenched in public favor as the Squires-Coaker crew to-day, was hurled into oblivion in exactly the same fashion that the Squires-Coaker crowd will be obliterated when the electors mark their ballots next Thursday week. All honor then to the brave and many voters of this country for the public repudiation of Squires and Coaker which will then be effected. All honor to the men whose pride it is that they belong to districts which know and understand and welcome real Liberalism. All honor to them and their families who comprise a community of which any nation would be proud. The prevailing to-day will not be confident, be slackened in Polling Day, but it behooves to be alert, for the enemy is at the gates expecting to storm your franchise by every expedient that slick intrigues can devise. Stand fast, then, to the faith which you now hold, St. John's, Conception Bay, South and West Coasts. Go to the polling places and mark your vote for your chosen representatives for the candidates of the Squires Party and your victory will be the greatest since the days when Parliament was elected, and no glory shall never be forgotten.

St. George's Day Parades.

SOCIETIES WILL ATTEND VICE AT ST. THOMAS.

At a largely attended meeting the committee in connection with St. George's Day Parade, all arrangements were finalized for Monday when the various Societies will in their respective Lodges receive $30, for the purpose of taking in the joint parade and attending the Service at St. Thomas' Church. The parade will assemble at 9.45 a.m., and will proceed via Theatre Hill to St. George's Street, East along Water Street, Cochrane Street and Ordnance Street. After the service the parade will proceed to Government House where their respects to his Excellency Governor, and return that day of Loyalty be sent to His Majesty King, after which the parade will continue on via Military Queen's Road to the starting when they will disband. There will be a very large one day parade. The bands of the 1st and 2nd Light Guards and Salvation Army will render stirring selections the line of march.

DISCUSSED IN RACY RHYMES.

Attention, fellow countrymen, it's up to you to-day. Your bleeding country calls you, come on, make no delay. Your Newfoundland, she is at stake, the island of your birth.

For three long years and five long months on us they played their tricks. They ground us down like galley slaves in days of yore with whips. Our laws were made in Union Hall and in every heeler's house.

We'll have to keep our boys at home, this outfit has to go. Our markets we must have them back, our fish across must go.

So now, my fellow countrymen, the hour is at hand. The way you use the pencil seals the fate of Newfoundland.

Endorses Manifesto of John R. Bennett.

Dear Sir—In writing to tell you of the sentiment of this district of Placentia and St. Mary's, which is more determined than ever to put an end to Coakerism and incompetence.

Their Bluff Called.

At a meeting of the "Bees" committee in their room on Thursday night, one of Squire's well paid workers was permitted to speak to the downcast assemblage.

But that industry is threatened now, and your country, choking, cries. Relax the iron hand of Squires once more and let me rise.

The world may soon forget us, wiser men than we have been. May see with clearer vision that our list and any fair minded man will admit that the worst Bennett can do is to secure at least 24 seats.
