The House of Commons in response to a summons of the usual form, appeared in the House of Lords to day, where the royal assent to acts passed during the present session was announced. The decree was then read proroguing parliament until November 18. Herr Pfund, editor of the Vorwaerts, has been arrested, and two editions of his paper confiscated upon the ground that the paper contained articles insulting to Emperor William. The Vorwaerts published the names of the factories and business houses which, having closed on Sedan day, stopped their employees pay. Herr Pfund, editor of the paper, is charged with less majeste in writing a disparaging account of the inauguration of the William I memorial church, which is described as the "Aegir church." The Vorwaerts' article on the Sedan celebration, for which it is confiscated, is entitled "The Dynastic Military Festival."

the road to Nanoose Bay, which it is feared will result in the death of Provincial Con-Bay with George Kennedy, proprietor of the Wellington hotel, in the latter's two-wheeled rig. About seven miles out the road winds down a steep hill at the foot of which is a small bridge crossing the creek. On this bridge the horse suddenly took fright and began plunging and rearing, being scared by the sight of the butts of three big logs which, in the darkness, showed up like phantoms. Kennedy jumped from the rig and made a grab at the horse's head, but he was too late; the terrified animal jumped to one side and in so doing went over the bridge into the creek below, taking the rig and Stephenson along—a fall of fifteen feet. Kennedy could hear the struggles of the below, but it was too see anything and he received no reply to his shouts to his companion.
With great difficulty he succeeded in climb ing down to where the man, horse and rig lay huddled together. Stephenson was ammed between two logs in a few feet of water, with a big 1,200 pound horse on his chest, pinning him down. The infortunate man was breathing with the greatest difficulty with blood flowing from his mouth and nostrils. The only chance of saving the Extension of the Revelstoke branch of the Canadian Pacific, south from the Wall was to remove the weight of the horse; was to the head of Upper Arrow lake, is to be built this fall.

SOUND DOCTRINE.

The contract of the syndicate which has terminates on the 1st of October. The Government will then by placed strictly on Weekly pertinently observes, reawakens discussion on the currency issue. That paper, in a clear and well reasoned article, shows that until the United States Government withdraws from banking the business of the country will not be on a firm foundation and the confidence of the people in the soundness of the currency system will not 1891 Conservative majority... be completely restored. It says:

In the transactions off the government with the syndicate, and of the syndicate with investors and speculators, the essential weakness of the government as a banker has been so fully demonstrated that nothing but wilful ignorance or inherent folly can now deny that the Treasury ought to go out of the banking business. The situation, as illustrated by the syndicate contract and operations, is this: The government, having a large amount of outstanding paper and an insufficient revenue in gold, was compelled to protect the reserve which tradition and practice had declared to be essential to the maintenance of the credit of the paper. It had no power to do this. It could not demand that its debtors should pay it in gold cein. It could not sell exchange at such prices as would make the exportation of gold unprofitable, nor could it increase the rate of interest in order to tempt foreigners to lend their gold in the United States. It could not even persuade the banks that owe their existence to it to part with their own gold in order that the word, it had bankers' obligations, but not bankers' powers or facilities. Therefore it felt itself compelled to employ a syndicate of powerful bankers to work for it, and in order to accomplish this object Secretary Carlisle falt obliged to pay a high price for the services of the bankers. There is a good deal of loose talking as to the wrong done to the country by those who placed the Treasury in the power of this rich syndicate. The only body that is responsible for the folly of it is Congress. So long as there is Government paper in demanded, so long will the prosperity of the country and the solvency of the Treasury be threatened. It is said that the fundamental cause of the Treasury's difficulties is lack of revenue. It is true that the revenues of the Government have recently been smaller than its expenditures, but there has never been a time when the then existing de ficiency might not have been met from the Treasury cash, counting the reserve on hand as part of the cash. Moreover, there are signs that the revenues will soon be sufficient to enable the Treasury to meet all its cur-rent demands. Even if it were true that the main difficulty lay in the lack of revenue, it is also true that the difficulty has been increased and the situation made more embarrassing by the existence of the means whereby the Treasury has been depleted of gold. If there were no greenbacks and Treasury notes, there would be no need of a ald reserve, and the lack of revenues might have been easily met from the surplus in the Treasury. In that event there would have been no attack upon the Government's oredit, no alarm leading to a panic, and no increase of the public debt and of the Government's interest charge. Therefore the all events, shall not be in a position to worry and embarrass the Treasury by in-sisting on the strict performance of all its obligations, while declining any aid not demanded by the strict letter of the law.

With such sound teaching as this it is little difficult to understand how it is that so many people in the United States are ready to embrace the wild and fantastic financial doctrines preached by currency enthusiasts and theorists of one kind and another. Harper's Weekly points out the road to financial soundness and business stability, and it is to be hoped that a very large proportion of the electors will accept the guidance of men who hold the doctrines which it teaches. It is a reproach to the intelligence of the people of the United States that their Government should ever be in want of ready money to meet its obligations. The country is rich, and the Government of a rich country has no business to be poor.

THE LAW DISREGARDED.

Aldermen Macmillan and Cameron in letting a contract of over one thousand dollars to an importer of foreign sewer pipe acted in direct contravention of both the city bylaw and the Municipal Act of 1892. The law is so clear and so explicit that there can be no possible excuse for violating it. The following is subsection (c) of section 20 of the "By-law to regulate the proceedings in the Municipal Council of the City of Victoria and in the committees thereof ":

The race between the Defender and Valweather permitting. Judging by all that has been written about this race, both in Europe and America, it is only natural to conclude that a very considerable proportion of the population of both continents take a lively interest in the race. The rivalry is, however, supposed to be between Freat Britain and the United States, the Valkyrie representing the British and the Defender the Americans. But to an outsider who knows little or nothing about the technicalities of ship building and yachting t is hard to see in what the rivalry consists. A rich strike has been made at Baker oreek, three miles from Anarchist Mountain, and anake his long tour also in Germany. France Never in the history of races for the cup has the foreign boat shown to such advantage as did the Valkyrie to day. She got over the line first, and for a long time pointed higher and outfooted the American boat. Many were the tears shed by the Yankee were the tears shed by the Yankee "sharps," who had been counting upon three straight victories for the Defender, when they saw the Briton, even when well pinched up into the wind and sailing probably from a half point to a point higher than the Defender, still going through the water

The first surprise of the day was the position that the Defender secured on crossing still to windward. There had been so much said as to the superior skippership of Capt. Sycamore that it was feared by the thousands the Defender would not only be left at the start, but that he would be so thoroughly blanketed that he would never have a show during the whole race. But while the Eng lishman did get over the line first about a half length the Yankee was on top of him instead of being below or underneath his

There was some very pretty mar œuvring for position about the line, which was formed between the regatta committee's boat and another just off Sea Bright, N.J. It had been the intention of the committee to start the boats from the Sandy Hook lightship, but when the committee got to the lightship they found that the wind was blowing from the east by south, and they having discretion in the matter decided to make the opening of the race at a point well under the New Jersey shore, where there was a promise of more wind and a probable occasion for a position and more desirable beat dead out to windward. So they therefore notified the racers that they would carry out that purpose, and the yachts and the fleet of onlookers picked up their traps and headed for the New Jersey coast.

It was 11:55 before the committee hoisted the signal that the course outward would be east by south. According to the regulations of the regatta committee of the New York Yacht Club, under whose immediate supervision the race was sailed, fifteen minutes had to be allowed the racers to find out what the course would be by compass before the preparatory signal was given, and it was therefore 12:10 when the preparatory gun was fired. Immediately the yachts with club topsails, forestaysails and jibs set, began to jockey for the most favorable position. They made he short tacks in this business, and when it came near the expiration of the ten minutes they were allowed both yachts were to the west.

If the Emperor's speeches shall lead the til the course was begun, and also to maintain her weather position. The skippers had done their timing very well, and it be settled without invoking the Guards, or was only forty-six seconds after the starting gun was fired, at 12:25 that the Valkyrie crossed the line, and the Defender on her opponent's weather quarter was only four seconds later. The weather conditions at times were pretty nearly those that have been described as most fitting for Valkyrie. The challenger slipped through the water beautifully, throwing some spray from her bows, it is true, but surely slipping ahead faster than the Defender. The latter was held very high up, but for several minutes was outfooted and outpointed. The Valkyrie, it was plainly seen, was doing the work, and as she slipped past the Defender the chaps who had been betting on the Defender to win the match came pretty nearly to a unanimous opinion that their money

Was gone. Even the most enthusiastic adorers of the Defender and Capt. Haff, such as, for instance, Capt. Harry Nye of the tug Fred B. Dalsiel, who had been to sea in pilot boats and steamers for nearly forty years, re-marked: "We will be done up to-day. sure; that Valkyrie is a marvel in this kind of going.2

Both yachts were handled in the most admirable manner, and it cannot be said that the sails of the Briton, much as has been boasted about them, are a whit better than those of the American boat. In fact, it may be said critically, that no flaw could be seen in any bit of the clothes of either boat. The impression which some bit of the clothes people had, that Ratsey was the only perfect canvas cutter in the world was dispelled when the Defender's speed was seen in her really first race. The yachts stood man and P. Jennings, of Gilroy, set sail for on the starboard until 12:39, when the De. a lone island in the Pacific ocean about 800 fender was first to go about. At 1:48 the Valkyrie, evidently believing that the could cross the Defender's bow if the latter would split tocks with her, came about. The challenger was, however, un able to weather the Defender, and when she passed under the American's stern there was a rereeching by the steam yachts and exercision boats in attendance NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—The first of the that will never be forgotten by those who heard it. #### AN ALASKA DELEGATION.

Of all the delegations that Vice-President Stevenson ever received that which waited upon him during his short stay here was probably the strangest. The Indians of Alaska have long had a grievance, and as soon as it became known that one of the big "tyees" would be here on the Queen from "Washinty" they lost no time in sending their chiefs to him to register their kick They claim the canneries are not only demain supply of food, but they also say the cannerymen will not even purchase fish from them, nor will they hire Indians, preferring to use Chinamen which they bring up from San Francisco. Chiefs Katishan and Koonka of the Wrangels, Chilkoot Jake of the Chilkoots, and Kat-el tsin of the Auks were present and the pow-wow lasted some time. What the result will be is hard to tell, but the Indians have availed themselves of the opportunity of telling their little tale of woe and accordingly are satisfied; temporarily, at least. - Juneau Paper.

endance was small owing to counter atractions, those who were present took great aterest in the various events. The crews vere arranged with a view to giving encouragement to as many members of the club as possible to take part, and in this the end was successfully attained, for the entries were numerous and the crews were even enough to make most of the finishes close and exciting. There were eight crews in the club fours, the great race of the day, and this necessitated seven heats. In the first heat Geiger's crew won from Austin's after a very close race; then O'Sullivan's crew won from Middleton's somewhat easily, the former not exerting themselves greatly; Wilson's crew had against them in the third heat a scratch crew stroked by Miller. It was a plucky struggle, but the Millers had Exhibition week in Victoria commences not had the advantage of practising togethcrews in the fourth heat, the former winning handily. #### Graceful Walking.

It appears that Newport society girls have formulated a rule for graceful walking, which pedestrians will please copy if they wish to get on in this world. An intelligent writer thus de scribes this step: "One of the cardinal points," she says, "is that the advancng foot should be placed a long way ahead of the other, so as to make a very long step, almost a stride, and to keep this stride graceful the foot that is left behind lifts itself to the toe and takes a right angle swing. The toe must always be set down first, or the body will sink too heavily at each, like the step of a fat woman. The pointed toed shoe is preferred if long enough, as it cuts the air and lends elasticity to the foot.' There! This is uncommon sense, but the Newport pedestrian always walks just that way. Therefore let every girl who can forsake her wheel long enough to walk at all try it. She will feel she is in the swim right off, for Miss Amy Bend and Miss Julia Grant, besides half a dozen other fair ones now doing this swan step act, are declared to be "beautiful walkers."—Boston Herald.

Lace, ribbon and bead decorations are all noted on the bodices, while empire capes, epaulets, vandyke arrangements and various other designs are shown for their adornment, writes Isabel A. Mallon in The Ladies' Home Journal. As bead trimmings are quite expensive, it is well to know that there may be gotten, in the large shops, strings of beads and spangles to be applied to ribbon or piece material, so that the economical woman may form a fashionable garniture without spending much money. Satin ribbon is more generally seen than either velvet or grosgrain, and the reasons for its popularity are not only that it ties easier, but that it contrasts more effectively with the fabric proper. Stripes and plaids in silk are fancied for plain bodices, while if a plain color is used it is given an elaborate air by its

That Garment of Compromise, the Blouse Strong Contrasts In Color-Popularity of Ribbon Trimmings - Newest Tallor Gowns-Millinery-Bicycling and Corsets

The selection of summer toilets is attended with pitfalls in this country. where the sunshine may melt into a shower at a moment's notice. Their gayety must have a measure of substance in it and be fashioned of such material as will withstand the elements. The real snn garments, dainty muslins, frail crapes and flimsy silks have to be worn when there is no chance of their becoming the sport of the rain, mist and fog.

It is here that the garment of compromise, the blouse, fulfills its just mission in connection with a skirt calculated to bear a sudden shower without disaster. This mention of blouses recalls the fact that, however impossible it may have appeared to invent anything new for this delightful article of the toilet, the fertile brain of some clever fashion maker has achieved the improbable, and with very simple materials. Everybody is familiar with the colored pocket hand-

A DECIDED NOVELTY. kerchiefs with wide red borders which old fashioned country folk affect, and generally having a kind of paisley shawl pattern in red, yellow and black.

These articles, but made of silk and woven together so as to form one piece. have been pressed into service. Three lengths are required for a blouse, and the squares of silk are so arranged that the plain red border forms the yoke. The figured edge is also used for the upper part of the sleeves, collar, belt and, if liked, the cuffs. But a good many of these blouses as well as most summer dresses are made with elbow sleeves, with which long white gloves are worn, even for street wear.

The strong contrasts in color that threaten to extinguish the orb of day have invaded the dress for all fashionable functions. No former season ever surpassed the present in variety of materials, designs and colorings.

Ribbons of all sorts are a distinctive feature of the season's fashions, and the variety of coloring and the pretty effects brought out with this simple decoration are beyond description. Much can be done to improve a gown by making a pretty contrast in color with the belt and collar and making them wide or narrow, as may be most becoming to the figure. A very dressy effect is also produced with the muslin fichus and high notes. Not only is such an attempt epaulets; also with collars, fronts and epaulets of lisse finely tucked. Marie the worst kind of bad art, but it is also of vinegar and 5 pounds of brown sugar are features of some of the new gowns, as are also the wide empire sashes. VOICE OF HIGHEST RANGE.

Soprano Voices Are by Nature Divided Into

Three Classes The soprano is defined as the human voice of highest range, or pith, a definition reached naturally from the etymological derivation of the word, from 'sovrano,' the chief, head, highest. As ased in modern speech this term is applied alike to the highest voice in women and to the treble of boys. For the purposes of this article it is necessary nly to consider the former. Soprano voices are by nature divided into three classes, each having specific powers. The first of these is the soprano leggiero, or, as it is commonly defined, the light soprano. Of the three this is the voice of highest compass, but it is quite unsuited to dramatic or very emotional singing. Its quality is clear and birdlike, and in singing requiring a flutelike flexibility it is of highest value. Purity and flexibility are its usual and most prominent qualities.

The second division is that known as mezza-carrattere, in strict translation, of medium character. The musical definition of the phrase is, however, "having a moderate degree of expression or execution." By combining these definitions we may secure an idea of both he quality and powers of this second oice. While it may possess the high notes and in this upper register the flutelike quality of the light soprano it has added to this a medium register of fuller tone and most exquisite quality. Of the three voices this is the most useful both for professional and amateur ase, as it is capable of singing both ight and heavy music and an infinite variety of songs. Such a voice had Mme. Albani in her prime, and such a voice low has Mme. Nordica.

The third division is the dramatic oprano, with a range similar in large part to the mezza-carrattere. The tones, owever, are fuller and richer. This is he voice which can interpret the great emotions, the voice of emotional and sensuous capability. Sustained and religious music is also its field. Florid arias, dramatic ballads, love plaints and lullabies—all the realm of passionate and sympathetic music is its especial scope. However, the voice and its character are natural gifts, and the duty devolvng upon its possessor is not to change, but to discover its character and then to cultivate it in its class. A writer in The Ladies' Home Journal and authority for the foregoing calls attention to the folly of a light soprano trying to do the work of the dramatic soprano, and of the dramatic attempting the work of he light soprano. The attempt will have an almost fatal effect upon the voice and will ultimately ruin its qualty and character. The mezza-carrattere is of course able to accomplish both. This warning applies with equal weight to singers who attempt to force low or | stove for half a day, then remove from

The Placket Hole.

The placket hole is a summer feature in feminine attire that is deserving of discipline. You rarely ever see one that is quite correct, and when you do you wonder how it happened. There are the belt, the skirt waist band and the skirt band and placket hole all fighting with each other to see which can disrupt the union, if any union there be. Fashion allows a silver safety pin, designed after a modest and unsuggestive pattern, and as an expediency this is allowable to try to effect a reconciliation between these contending forces in attire, but even that sometimes fails. - New York World.

CARDIFF, Sept. 6.—Samuel Gompers and . J. McGuire, who represented the United States in the Trades Union Congress, were given a hearty reception at yesterday afternoon's session. President Jennings in welcoming the American delegates, said that although geographically divided, the work-ers of America, Great Britain and Ireland are united on all important questions pointng to the elevation of their class. Mr. compers, replying to the address of Presi dent Jenkins, spoke of the solidarity of feeling and sympathy that existed among the trades unions of the countries represented n this congress. He said they were of one blood and had a common heritage, He looked forward to the day when all workers speaking the English language would unite with the workers of all countries struggling onward to the attainment of that end for which the whole past had been a perpetual endeavor, with an intensity of purpose that would insure the accomplishment results. Gompers said he believed the British trades union congress and the American Federation of Labor would compare favor. A good many will be no doubt surprised to find that Principal Grant doss not unaualifiedly condemn the system of education that was in operation in Manitoba previous to 1890. This is what he says of a system that has been so bitterly spoken against by partisans and politicians :

Up to 1890, the school system in Mani-Up to 1890, the school system in Mani-toba was denominational. There was none in Manitoba. I might go further. No insuperable difficulty has been found in the might with of the Indians who were thus to be created into an Indian colony in law, but in fact a superable difficulty has been found in the mighty of the Indians who were thus to be created into an Indian colony in law, but in fact a superable difficulty has been found in the mighty of the Indians who were thus to be created into an Indian colony in law, but in fact a superable of the Indians who were thus to be created into an Indian colony in law, but in fact a superable of the Indians who were thus to be created into an Indian colony in law, but in fact a superable of the Indians who were thus to be created into an Indian colony in law, but in fact a superable of the Indians who were thus to be created into an Indian colony in law, but in fact a superable of the Indians who were thus to be created into an Indian colony in law, but in fact a superable of the Indians who were thus to be created into an Indian colony in law, but in fact a superable of the Indians who were thus to be created into an Indian colony in law, but in fact a superable of the Indians who were thus to be created into an Indian colony in law, but in fact a superable of the Indians who were thus to be created into an Indian colony in law, but in fact a superable of the Indians who were thus to be created into an Indian colony in law, but in fact a superable of the Indians who were thus to be created into an Indian colony in law, but in fact a superable of the Indians who were thus to be created in the Indians who were thus to be created in the Indians who were thus to be created in the Indians who were thus to be created in the Indians who were thus to be created in the Indians who were thus to be created in the Indians who were thus to be created in the Indians who were thus to be created in the Indians who were the approval of at least t struction in the Board schools to Protespants

Principal Grant says:

It is alleged that most of the Roman Catholic schools under the old system were badly managed, badly taught, badly inspected, and that no serious attempt was made to teach English in them. Even if these allegations were true, and that is a very large most anxious that the United States should of $20,000 be appropriated from the sewerto be put. First, are not poor schools better then poorer, and are not the poorer better ve been starved: and now I understand that many of them are now closed altogether for lack of funds. I have already tacle it is, especially when it is made in the alleged interest of a "national the alleged interest of a "national" sys-tem. Sydney Smith defined the Irish extensive with the nation, they must come under a portion of the repreach which led to tablishment of the Irish church. Secondly, was there any possible way of making the alleged poor schools better, gave with the hearty concurrence of the people?

Now, far from gaining the concurrence of the people, the native halfbreeds, the immigrant French, the immigrant French-Canadians and all who look to the Roman Catholic clergy for light and leading have been alienated. A sense of injustice, with all the bitter feelings connected therewith, sensitive and generous. This is the resule of legislating without regard to laws will execute themselves.

Having discussed the old denominational system thoroughly and admitting that it was in many respects defective, Principal Grant says: "It seems to me, then, that the Provincial Government made a great mistake in summarily abolishing instead of reforming the old system. They have been at war ever since with the prejudices, the feelings and the religious convictions of a section of the population that deserved to be treated with the utmost consideration." This plain speaking is no doubt most unwelcome to the men who do not admit that the cates of denominational education, no matter who makes it or in what form.

THE LOGIC OF FACT.

It is amusing to see a Canadian journalist lecturing the unfortunate farmers of Great Britain, using the stock arguments of the free traders to show that they should as be in a position to compete with the farmers in every other part of the world. Such arguments might be considered plausible fifty years ago, but experience has shown that they are in these days utterly worthless, and that it is silliness itself to repeat sompete against the foreign producer. lt is futile to argue against facts. If English farmers could compete with the wheat-

But they have tried, and tried bard and are compalled now to contain the subserved.

Set a possible to the passage of time, because it is absolutely the only principle by which the greatest good of the greatest number can permanently be subserved.

THE CITY MARKETS.

In some lines there has been a slight falling off in trade during the past week. This is the case in the fruit market, and it is accounted for through the recent cool weather, which always has an effect on the sale of fruit. The condition of the market otherwise is unchanged and quotations have been steady. A larger variety of fruits than is available at present will be afforded in the next few days, in which time the Australian steamer will have arrived. Eggs are still on the rise in price, but other marketables are about as usual. Grain merchants and others are expecting a busy time next week when the agricultural show takes place. Then there will be a large number of farmers in town, many of whom will bring in articles of produce for sale. New wheat is expected to come in at almost any time. There is a slight scarcity in middlings, but it is not sufficient to affect price. The meat market is steady, and the prospects that this will continue throughout the winter are good. Sufficient feed has been raised in the upper country to bring stock through a severe winter, thus assuring a good local supply of meats. This is in contrast to the prospects in Oregon, where dearth has prevailed during the summer. FALL FAIRS.

The fall exhibitions of the agricultural ssociations of the province begin this week, Nanaimo being the first in the field. The farmers have done well this year, the yield of fruits and grains being especially fine as a general rule throughout the province, and as the season has been favorable for getting in the harvest early, the agricultural community will be enabled to take part in the fairs which will in some instances, as in Victoria, be held at earlier dates than usual. The exhibits in all departments should be highly satisfactory though perhaps roots may be not as good as last year, owing to the dry weather. list of shows already sent in to the agricultural department is

A CHAPTER ON RUGS.

THE ARTISTIC WORTH AND DURABIL-ITY OF ORIENTAL RUGS.

A Reduction In Duty Brings Foreign Rugs Within the Reach of Persons of Moderate Means-Comparative Merits of Popular Weaves-Care of Rugs. The housewife is annually agitated with doubts as to whether rugs or carpets will best suit her purse and surroundings. If she decides in favor of rugs, there then remains the distracting problem of domestic or oriental to be solved. There are floors so uneven and badly laid with boards so stained and patched as to surface that rugs are out of the question, but on a polished floor. or on one of narrow, even, well matched boards tastefully stained and varnished, there is no handsomer, more artistic or economical floor covering than oriental rugs. But even among oriental weaves there are rugs and rugs. There are over 170 different weaves, comprising different degrees of excellence, both as to wearing qualities and beauty. There are also the new and the antique, and those persons bitten badly with the rug mania will have none of the new weaves, but will pay immense sums for the old.

The recent reduction in the duty imposed on foreign rugs has resulted in a decrease of 25 per cent of their former price, so that at this date oriental rug are within the reach of many persons of moderate means. It remains only to se lect the best for a given price. If you are within reach of a reliable dealer, you can depend upon his word to supplement your ignorance, but there are often opportunities to purchase at secondhand, and for such it is wise to acquire beforehand a certain amount of knowledge on the subject. TRAINED CATS

The Feats & Showman In England Hitel Taught Them to Do

A showman in England, Clarke ly name, has succeeded in training a large number of cats to perform remarkable tricks. One of these is to walk over a long line of living rats, mice and ca naries, stepping very carefully between the fluttering little bodies of birds and mice and harming none of them A other cat climbs by a rope to the roof. seizes the handle of a parachute and de scends by it to the ground from a con siderable height.

Mr. Clarke repeats what is well known—that the cat is the most difficult of animals to train to the performance of tricks. He has trained bears, lions leopards, tigers and other wild animals and finds them teachable and submissive when compared with cats. The cat in deed can never be so far conquered that her performances may be depended on. Mr. Clarke's entertainment includes only 30 trained cats, but he has to take with him 60, in order that he may have substitutes for those that will not per

He calls the cat a "hopeless bundle of sensibilities." Strike her once, though only by accident, and she will never perform again. Kindness is not only politic, but absolutely necessary. Some of his cats it took him four years of ceaseless effort to train.

Mr. Clarke's cats are extremely fond f him. When he enters his "cat stale," the mewing is prodigous, and he is instantly buried in a moving mantle of cats.

The difficulty in the cat's training loes not lie in the animal's intelligence but in her disposition. She is as clever in her tricks, if she likes to do them, as a dog, but she does not wish to subor dinate her will to that of any living creature. She does what she wants to do only and will perform, if she perform at all, only to please herself.

Those that have seen cats engaged in oxing matches will not be surprised to learn that Mr. Clarke has succeeded in training two cats to box very scien-

Each season forces upon our consideration its own peculiar perils to health. The advent of fall finds many reduced in strength and vigor poorly prepared to continue the business of life. The stomach and bowels, the great highway of animal economy, is especially liable to disorder in the fall. The nervous system has also suffered in the struggle. Typhoid fever and malaria in particular find in the fall that combination of earth, air and water that mark this season as especially water that mark this season as especially dangerous. The falling leaves, the decaying vegetables contribute their share of contamination. PEOPLE WHO MYSTERIOUSLY DISAP-PEAR OR LOSE THEMSELVES.

Some of Them Walk Out of Home Circles and Are Never Heard of Again-Aberration of Mind One of the Causes-Strange Cases of This Character.

In a community of 2,000,000 souls a man must be great indeed to command general notice. The young man who comes from the country, leaving behind him a happy fireside filled with loved ones and bringing with him only his fond mother's Bible and a few necessaries, to try his luck in the city, comes unheralded; to be quickly swallowed up in a whirlpool of uninterested, selfish humanity. Humanitarians are the exception here. He does not fill the ocean, and the simple drop he represents will not be missed when he vanishes.

There are thousands of dark corners in a great city, and in one of these he may be found dead, with marks of violence upon him. The coroner's jury may find a verdict of "killed by some person unknown," and, unidentified, the poor boy finds final rest in the pauper's grave, while the loved ones at home wonder at his silence that is never broken. The merciless waters surrounding the town wash unceasingly in and out of dread, dark nooks in black, slimy places under piers and ferry slips, and objects are often found there which loving mothers and tender sisters should not look upon. There are resorts in the great city from whence the innocent, unsuspecting young man is followed by the assassin. There are open places where desperadoes lie in wait for victims and kill without either mercy or remorse, and for such a pittance of plunder that one wonders that they make the venture. A great event is but "a nine days' wonder" in a great city, for what length of time will the people bear in mind the murder of an unknown man?

The scenes in the thoroughfares are kaleidoscopic, with instant changes. The stories of the disappearance and wanderings of the people are sometimes sad, but they are frequently amusing. In many cases aberration of mind is the cause of disappearance, and while the whole city is alarmed the object of search is innocently wandering among the searchers after him and contributing to the hue and crv.

Only yesterday I heard of a man who came from the west nine years ago and found himself in Providence, so dazed that he lost his identity, and under the first name that came to his mind started a business which he continued with success there for six years. One day, at the end of that time, he went to Pawtucket on business and again lost his identity. Again he started a new business and made a success of it for three years when he remembered his Providence name and returned there recently to resume his former occupation.

It was six years ago, while I was living in a flat with my aged parents, that a strange case of aberration of mind came under my personal notice. It illustrated that the cause may be grief, while other cases show that business troubles lead up to it. In the first flat lived a physician and his wife, a very estimable ady of some 50 years, who was also a practicing physician. Both were gradnates of medical colleges and they had their own patients. It may be granted that the lady was of sound mind and fair reasoning power. The husband died very suddenly and for three days the widow remained inconsolable, lamenting his unexpected death. At the end of that time she went out miles up town, as nearly as she afterward remembered, and then turned to go home. But everything seemed strange to her and she could not decide what For the other side let a light, thin strip direction to take. She thought of the recourse that comes to every mystified the bed. She recognized the fact that the officer might think her either drunk or crazy, but while she had entirely lost both her name and address from her mind she was perfectly sane on all other subjects. She asked him, first, if he knew where she lived. He stared at her quizzically at first, seeming to want to suggest an insane asylum, but her elegant attire and common sense face refuted that idea. He simply remarked that he was as ignorant as herself of her address, but was nonplused when she followed up her first inquiry by asking him to tell her name. It was too much for the officer. He laughingly suggested that she should accompany him to the station house, where the captain might give her the desired information. As a last resort she went with him.

The captain did recognize her, for when she entered the station he greeted her as Dr. B., and she rejoicingly exclaimed: "That's it! That's my name, but where do I live?" The captain had once presided over the precinct in which she had lived and was familiar with the place of her removal. He sent an officer home with her, and upon her arrival she met my mother, to whom she first told of her strange wanderings. She has ever since been of sound mind and is today practicing medicine up town.-Philadelphia Times.

Eyes were on the unsuspecting girl and the young man supposed to be Durrant when they boarded the car at Powell and Clay treets and when they entered the Bartlett street church, from which one of them was never to emerge alive. The owners of those eyes will tell their stories, fully believing hat their organs of vision were not deceived. Attorneys for the defence will stoutly contend that they are mistaken; that their eyes have played them false and that it was not Durrant, but some other person they saw with Blanche Lamont. In two cases at [least there has been no a plain physical defect in their eves. These two, by the way, are the most important vitnesses of the prosecution, Mrs. Mary Vogel and Mrs. Caroline Leak. Mrs. Leak, it is understood, has confided to the police hat on the day Durrant and the jury visited the church she was easily able to identify the defendant in the crowd on the sidewalk rom her window. SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 11.-The Durrant brial opened yesterday after three days' rest. The witnesses were all of the searching party when the garments of Blanche Lamont were discovered concealed in nooks and crannies of the belfry of Emanuel church.

E. F. Sombs, special officer, searched Emanuel church for the clothing of Blanche Lamont, and found on April 14 a glove rolled up and turned inside out, a black stocking and various pieces of underwear which were identified and admitted in evidence. In the cross-examination defend ant's attorneys tried to show by witness that the hunt for the garments of the murdered girl had been very loosely conducted evidence. Witness said he did not remem-

The most important witness of the day was Mrs. C. G. Noble, Blanche Lamont's private car The district attorney's questions drew from her that she had seen Durrant but twice, once when he came to the door with Blanche Lamont, and once when he called with his sister to get Blanche to go, to a concert. Next she told how on the morning of April 3 Blanche started to school, her books on her arm, and how she never returned. She described the clothes the girl wore. The district attorney brought out in front of the witness th dressmaker's dummy with the torn clothing on it. At once the interest intensified Dickinson and Deuprey fidgeted, and then rose together. They protested against the use of the dummy. They asked that the clothing be stripped from it. "We will are," grumbled Judge Murphy, and the defence noted an exception.

"Mrs. Noble, I call your attention to these garments," said Mr. Barnes impressively. "What he The dress Ble "What garments are they?" "The dress Blanche wore when she left my house on April 3."

"I never saw her again alive," replied the witness sorrowfully.
"On that day did you see this defend "I did."

From this Mrs. Noble told how Durrant had come to her that evening at Emanuel church and asked if Blanche was coming to prayer meeting. FIRE AT SEATTLE.

SEATTLE, Sept. 11.—The finest residence in Seattle was totally destroyed by fire at 4 o'clock this morning. It was the home of Hallam and McGee streets, overlooking Lake Union. The fire broke out on the first floor, probably from the wires in the house. and spread rapidly 'o the dumb waiter chute, which was a volume of smoke and flame. Mr. Henry, his wife and four children were in the house, besides a servant girl in the attic and two men in the basement. All were asleep. Mr. Henry was awakened by the noise of a burglar alarm at the head of his bed. He roused the whole family and all escaped from the building, though Mrs. Henry had difficulty in rescuing the servant girl, half suffocated. A small portion of the furniture was saved, but the great mass of costly things gathered by Mr. Henry from all parts of the world was burned with the house. The loss on the house is $60,000; insurance $30,000. The loss on the contents cannot be estimated. Many of the articles were beyond value, and cannot to replaced. There was only $8,000 insurance on the household goods.

MINING IN THE SLOCAN.

Progress in the Development of the Silver Mines in the District.

The Winter Output of the Mines Will Be a Very Large One.

> (From Our Own Correspondent.) THREE FORKS, WEST KOOTENAY, September 2nd, 1895.

Trail Creek gold excitement, has been 100 ounces. There are ten men at work on somewhat overlooked by the outside world. itself will secure them a substantial profit margin over last season's operations. This margin over last season's operations. This miles of the K. & S. and the C. P. R. railbut they will also be able to ship large quantities of second class ore which heretofore they have been obliged to mine and store, as it would not stand the heavy transportation charges previously existing.

lake have attracted a large number of the best miners in the district to that section on prospecting expeditions. This fact coupled with the circumstance that many others are engaged in doing assessment work upon properties of their own, has greated a mathematical and what has been called the Lee peak. From this saddle a trail leads to the tunnel of the R. E. Lee mine, which is driven to own, has created a rather stiff demand for good miners which is an excellent indication of the activity prevailing. It is an easy strikes anything in its descent. The Lee thing to understand that with the increased made a shipment of a car load last week facilities which this season will give, the ore shipments from the Slocan will very largely exceed those of any previous year in its history, but even then the shipments will give | will be more easily reached. The company but a small indication of the proportions to has erected new quarters for the men on the which this industry will in a few years at. opposite side of the saddle from the tunnel. The sooner this is known by coast people the better it will be for themselves if they wish to secure a share in the wealth of the province. There are scores of opportunities for promising investments now which will become more and more coy and difficult to secure as the district becomes better known and more money is offering for investment. In matters of trade coast houses have to some extent fought shy of the Kootenay re-Manitoba and Eastern Canadian wholesale houses have stepped in and secured the bulk of the business and they will not be easy to displace. The board of trade party would do well to look into the main industry of the country as well as commercial matters. The Slocan Star or the Silver King cannot be purchased for a few thousand dollars, but there are many promising prospects which could be, and the little hardship which they would have to put up with in going into the country with a responsible miner to look at likely properties would be more than made up to them should they be fortunate in their selection.

In order to see what was being done in the hills your correspondent made a trip on foot, going in by way of Jackson basin and coming out at Three Forks, and he was mistaken for every class of man from capitalist to commercial peddler. As with many people the mining resources of the Kootenay are summed up in the Silver King and Slocan Star, it may be of interest to them to read of the many valuable properties one passes in making such a trip, to say nothing of hundreds of prospects upon which more or less work has been done.

An hour's good steady climbing brings the sight-seer to the Northern Bell, owned by Jackson, from whom the basin is probably named. There was no one on this property save the owner, and he was engaged in the very profitable occupation of sacking ere out of the waste-dump, where the former lessees of the wroperty had thrown it. He had sacked some  $12\frac{1}{2}$  tons and expected to get as much more, which would net him something over \$2,000, as the ore carries something like 85 ounces silver and 75 per cent. lead. This property was worked under a lease with purchasing clause by some Saattle men, and by poor management ran behind some thousand dollars. To secure himself Jackson paid off the obligations and was re-established in possession by the courts. The lessees were given six months in which to conclude purchase if they desired. This period will expire in March, and if the purchase is not concluded by that time Jackson will work the property him-self, as it has a very nice showing and should pay well. Climbing up to the top of the divide, something like 8,000 feet, the trail swings round to the right, along the side of what some call the Noble Five mountain. A short distance from the divide you come upon the Blue Bird mine, a property which has made considerable shipments and in which there are some 500 feet of tunneling. They have not commenced work this season, though they have a very good

Lower down on the same hill is the Goodenough fraction, which was discovered by a party of five who were walking along the trail. The party consisted of Messrs. Whittier, Thompson, Kemp, Martin and Good-enough. They ran a tunnel in upon the ledge and came across a very richlpay streak, which though small assayed very high in silver, carrying some 700 ounces to the ton. In driving their tunnel 65 feet they took out sufficient ore to pay all operating expenses, erect necessary living quarters, build a trail and leave a profit of $5,000. They have seven men at work now, and expect to ship

There are some 500 feet of tunneling on this mine, and heavy shipments will be made this winter from both the original Ruecau and Goodenough ledges. One carload of the latter ore gave a return last year of $9,000.

Not far from the Ruecau, on the same mountain, is the Deadman, where Messrs. Cutter & Miller have a dozen men blocking out work for the winter. They have some 270 tons of carbonates ready for shipment, the assay value of which is about 250 ounces. Their shipments this year will greatly exceed those of last season. The next mine in line of travel is the Noble Five group, from which the mountain has been given its name. It was one of the first groups located in the Slocan, and com-prises several full-sized claims. It has more work done upon it than any other things are so arranged that they will be able to make a wouderful showing when they commence stoping. The greater part of the work on this group has been done upon the Bonanza King and World's Fair.

Higher up the mountain side lies the Last Chance. Jack O'Regan has charge of the work upon this property, upon which the famous strike was made last year. An incline shaft was run down upon the ledge with a carbonate showing, which at 16 feet depth, widened to one foot of solid ore, and at a depth of 106 feet showed something over two feet of solid ore with three feet of concentrating ore. Work is now being pushed upon a tunnel to tap this ledge at a ower level. It is estimated to strike the ledge at a distance of 200 feet and is now in The coming winter promises to be the some 150 feet. In the last ten feet of the most active in the history of the Slocan tunnel a streak of carbonates and ore mixed mining country, which, owing to lack of has come in. There is a movement on foot to have the government construct a wagon road for about three miles from the K & S. railway crossing at McGuigan creek up into the Mc-Guigan basin and on toward the Best basin. If this was done the mines in the three basins could by the construction of small spur roads, connecting with the trunk road, se-cure excellent transportation facilities for the products of their mines, and the same might give an incentive to many other properties to commence work. The above properties are comprised in but one section of the Slocan district. The stage does not pass them, but they can be seen in a couple of days if one is not afraid of some stiff climbing. Of the others-but that is another story which will do for another time

CANNOT COMPETE. San Francisco, Sept. 10.-The Central combination of interests has become imperative because of the depressed condition of the trade. D. H. Bibb, of the Golden Gate Lumber Company, in an interview said : We have been talking about this combination for over two years. The competition of British Columbia is too much for us. The Canadian lumberman has every advantage on his side. He does not need to buy his timber, he merely leases it from the government and pays for his logs as he takes hem ont. The importation of British Columbia lumber is steadily growing larger and larger. American mills have been forced to shut down, wages have been retoreed to said down, wages have been reduced, and for three years lumber has been sold below cost in this city. We cannot increase the consumption. We cannot compete with British Columbia, and we must rely upon increasing our foreign trade by establishing new markets in China, Japan, Australia and elsewhere.

From THE DAILY COLONIST, September 12, SCHOOL BOARD.

The Resignation of Miss Withrow Causes Seme More Promotions in the Staff.

Trustee Lewis Will Bring in a Resolution to Stop Canvassing the Trustees.

In the absence of Mr. Hayward, Trustee Lovell occupied the chair at the school board meeting last night, all the other members being present. Miss Withrow, teacher of the 5th division of the Boys' Central school, sent in her resignation, to take effect September 30. It was received with regret and a motion passed expressing the board's appreciation of Miss Withrow's efficient services during the past five years. Geo. Powell, of Powell & Lampman, the board's solicitors, wrote enclosing an opinion by the city barristers, which was obtained at the request of the board, on the advisa bility of appealing from the decision in the case of Muirhead & Mann and the school trustees. The opinion was in effect that an appeal was not advisable. The communication was laid on the table, The school attendance for August was: Average daily attendance, 1792 11; average actual attendance, 1777.20; pupils actually attending, 2,022; average per teacher, 42 12. The board having decided to proceed with a ballot to fill the vacancy caused by Miss Withrow's resignation from the Fifth division Boys' Central, the result was: Fifth division, Miss G. H. Fawoett vice Miss Withrow resigned; Sixth division, Miss C. C. Christie vice Miss Fawcett; Seventh division, Miss Jesse vice Miss Christie; Eighth division, Miss Shrapnel

(from Spring Ridge) vice Miss Jesse.
In view of the resolution requiring pupil teachers to have served six months before being promoted to the position of teacher, it was decided that Miss Arthur, a pupil teacher of the South Park school, be temporarily appointed for three months to the fourth division of the Spring Ridge school, vice Miss Shrapnel.

Mrs. Frances Brown was appointed pupil teacher at South Park to fill the vacancy caused by Miss Arthur's removal to the Boys' Central. TRUSTEE LEWIS gave notice of a resoluion to stop teachers canvassing the board or promotions. The meeting adjourned at 10 o'clock.

FREEDOM OF THE PRESS.

There are many, both in Canada and the United States, who in their hearts consider lime for those who have the good of society that in those countries the press is too free. at heart to consider what ought to be done They complain that the newspapers frequently make a bad use of their freedom, that instead of elevating the people they help to demoralize them. They also declare that it would be better for the people if many of the books that are published and freely sold to all who have money to buy them never saw the light. We have no doubt that there will be found some in this free country who believe that a censorship of the press is not so bad a thing as it is represented to be by many lovers of freedom. And it will certainly have to be admitted that the freedom of the press in Be month—50 cents.

A DISASTROUS CONDITION.

So deep is the distress of those engaged in agriculture in Great Britain and so dark are their prospects that they have prevailed upon "a large body of members of the House of Commons, not all of them political supporters of the present Government," to apply to Lord Salisbury for measures of relief. This is very significant. Englishmen as a rule are self-reliant. They are not in in the American newspapers. The Times commenting on the appeal of the National Agricultural Union, remarks: "We cannot say how far Lord Salisbury's letter will go to satisfy the expectations to which Lord Winchelsea refers. It is impossible, we fear, by any form of words consistent with reasonable caution and reserve to allay the painful feeling of anxiety that orevails in the agricultural districts'still less 'to put courage and hope into thousands of farmers and laborers who, especially in the corn-growing counties south of the most disastrous on record, contemplate the coming winter with absolute dismay.' There would be serious danger of raising exaggerated and unreasonable hopes. and we are glad to see that Lord Salisbury has taken care to abstain from doing so." The Times itself, though profuse in its expressions of sympathy and goodwill, cannot honestly hold out any hope to the suffering agriculturists. "There are," it says, "no doubt, advantages to be gained by carrying out some of the suggestions of the memorial, though less, perhaps, than its authors anticipate. But when we look into them closely we are unable to come to the conclusion that it has passed through the hands of and been they can effect a far-reaching change in the conditions under which agriculture has to be conducted in these islands."

A GOOD RIDDANCE.

The English Trades Union Congress which met in Cardiff a few days ago happily got rid of the odium of Socialism which was bringing the organizations into discredit. They also regulated the representahad their proportionate share of influence in the Congress. "Under former rules the reunions did most of the talking and crowded out the delegates of the larger and wealthier organizations."

The Congress saw that the time had come when it was necessary for the Trades Unions to get rid of the reproach of socialism that had done them so much harm at over a rough road at the same pace that he the late general election. It will be remembered that in that election the English Labor Party as far as representation in Parliament was concerned was almost wiped tainty of getting to the top of it without currency, with bills of exchange and procut of existence. Many of them are sound Conservatives, and most of those who are Liberals are far from being Socialists. The Socialists left in the Congress will, it is probable, be very sore over their defeat, but the cause of Trades Unionism will be much the better for the Cardiff purge.

A "SCRAP."

The Ottawa Citizen and the Hamilton Spectator have had a bit of a "scrap" on the Manitoba school question. A short time ago the Citizen in one of its articles said :-Manitoba is not master. The Parliament

To this the Spectator replied:

Theoretically you are right, dear friend. But suppose Manitoba coolly and firmly informs the Parliament of Canada that it may go to the everlasting deuce, and that she will manage her own schools in her own way. What, in such a case, is the master ul Parliament of Canada going to do about it? How will it assert its mastery?

Here is part of the Citizen's rejoinder : The Spectator might ask the same questial last Monday.

Confederation Act gives it legislative authority over a large number of subjects and wagon when the motive power is gasoline limits those in which provincial authority is missory notes, interest, legal tender, bankruptcy and insolvency, marriage and divorce, the criminal law, trade and com merce, etc.

Now, suppose that the Legislature of Ontario pass an act establishing a divorce court, or should issue greenbacks and make tive duties upon goods entering the pro-vince, either from other provinces or from everlasting deuce," and that she would manage these things in her own way. What, in such a case, does the Spectator suppose that the masterful Parliament of Canada would do about it? How would it assert its mastery?
