PROVINCIAL LICENSE BOARD APPOINTED BY GOVERNMENT

J. D. Flavell, Chairman, at $6,500 a Year; W. S. Dingman, Vice-Chairman, at $6,000; Fred. Dane, Geo. T. Smith, and John Aycarst, Members at $4,000 Each.

The Ontario Government announces today the appointment of the provincial board of license commissioners, who will henceforth administer the liquor license law in Ontario, and will have absolute control of the regulation and restriction of the traffic. The personnel of this commission was made known last evening, and following out the promise of Hon. W. H. Hearst, there has been little time lost in settling upon men who would handle this business apart from all political influence.

The commissioners are as follows: Chairman—J. D. Flavell of Lindsay. Vice-chairman—W. S. Dingman of Stratford. Frederick Dane of Toronto. George T. Smith of Halesbury. John A. Aycarst of Toronto. In making announcement of these appointments the government was particular in stating that no application had come from any of them, but that each was chosen in view of his fitness for such a position. The new officers are well-known throughout the province, and according to the premier's statement "were picked for qualifications, experience and public standing."

Start Duties May 5. The appointments take effect on May 5, and a proclamation has been issued by Hon. J. S. Hendrie bringing the special act of last session into force at once. This will not interfere with the workings of the local boards for this year, and they will accordingly issue the usual licenses, but this will conclude their responsibilities. After May 5 the new board will assume complete control.

The salaries to be paid are as follows: Chairman, $6,500; vice-chairman, $6,000; the other members receiving $4,000 each. Mr. Flavell is a well-known merchant of Lindsay and a brother of J. W. Flavell of Toronto. He is 65 years of age and has served terms on the local board of education and other municipal organizations. He is now chairman of the Lindsay

Private Laurie of Toronto Blinded in One Eye by Shell.

HALIFAX, April 18.—One hundred and four soldiers of the first Canadian contingent, eight of whom have been in the trenches and wounded, of all ages, returned here by the steamer Albatross. Those who were on the front line say the Germans have some expert shots, but on the whole the workmanship of the British is superior.

Seven of the men belonged to the Princess Patricia Regiment. One is Private Laurie of Toronto, who lost the sight of one eye as the result of a fragment of shell striking him. Pte. W. E. Watts of Hamilton, who was in the trenches three months, is invalided. Privates King and Henry of Toronto. Pte. Davis of Edmonton and Pte. G. H. Cunningham of Toronto, who suffered from rheumatism and influenza, are among those who returned. Pte. G. Morrison of Niagara Falls was wounded in the leg two months ago, but is recovering. Some of the other soldiers have returned on account of illness, and some are unwell.

Sappers Annihilated Defenders of First Line With Hand Grenades.

PARIS, April 18, 11.20 a.m.—A charge by a regiment of French infantry over a network of strongly fortified trenches, which resulted in the gain of a thousand yards at Bois Jaume Brules, near Mesnil-les-Hurlus, is described by an eye witness in an official statement issued today by the war office. The French attack was prepared by sappers, who dug into the first line of trenches and annihilated the occupants with hand grenades. The three men who survived were made prisoners.

The Germans, surprised, were unable to defend their front," says the eye witness, "and the French advanced guard was installed in the first line. A general attack followed immediately. The fighting was hand to hand, and few shots were fired. The Germans scarcely were able to utilize their hand grenades and were obliged to retreat precipitately.

Captured Strong Redoubt. Pushing their advantage the French infantry captured a strong redoubt in the centre of the woods. They then pushed out to the right to broaden the front captured. "The third regiment of the Prussian Guard offered a stubborn resistance trying to deceive the French by sending forward troops dressed in the uniforms (woolen cloaks) of Moroccan riflemen taken from the dead. This ruse was discovered after a brief interval. Machine guns which were brought up moved down line after line of the advancing Prussians until the ground was strewn with bodies. More than a third of the soldiers in this regiment of the guard were killed. The French losses were 300 killed including several officers."

CAIRO, via London, April 18.—The following official communication was issued today: "On the 15th three aeroplanes made a flight from the canal to El Sirr, some 25 miles south of El Arish, on the Sinai peninsula, dropping bombs, which were effective. From 150 to 200 tents were seen. The distance flown was more than 170 miles. "No other enemy troops were seen this side of El Sirr, the one or two small posts of about 50 men are known to exist. "On the same date a French cruiser bombarded a camp near El Arish, a number of troops were seen, the enemy guns opened fire on both the cruiser and the seaplane. Neither was hit, however. "On the 17th a French cruiser, again assisted by a seaplane, bombarded the enemy's camp west of the south of Gazaeh Town (some 40 miles southwest of Jerusalem). Considerable damage was done."

British Staff Officer Says Boyish Spirit Displayed on Arrival in England Has Changed to Grm Determination.

GENERAL HEADQUARTERS OF THE BRITISH ARMY IN FRANCE, April 18.—(Via London, April 18, 5.20 p.m.)—"The Canadians may have been full of boyish spirit when they landed in England, but they have been men in the trenches," said a staff officer of the British army, commenting on the report that the Canadians have been lacking in discipline. "They've buckled down like British soldiers should, and their conduct has been not only without reproach, but deserving the highest praise."

This is the first official statement of a staff officer in the field relative to a much-discussed question.

German Aviators Driven To Earth by Allied Pilots

British, French and Belgian Airmen Each Brought Down His Man—Freiburg Again Raided by French Dirigible Balloon—Aviation Ground Bombarded.

PARIS, April 18.—Allied aviators are rendering the air as unsafe for German aeroplanes as the British fleet has rendered the sea unsafe for the German navy. British, French and Belgian airmen each brought down a German dirigible balloon made of an atmospheric raid on Freiburg, in Breisgau, and bombed the railway station and aviation sheds in that German city. "A Belgian aeroplane brought down a German aeroplane near Roulers, in the same region one of our small squadrons successfully bombed an aviation ground. "A British aeroplane has brought down a German aeroplane in Belgium, near Boesinghe (Flanders). The machine fell within our lines; the pilot was killed, and the observer taken prisoner. "One of our dirigibles bombed the station and aviation sheds at Freiburg, in Breisgau. "One of our aeroplanes, after a brilliant pursuit, brought down a German aeroplane, which fell within the enemy's lines in Belgium, between Langemark and Passchendaele."

British Infantry Explodes Mines on Hill Near Ypres and Occupies Craters.

SPECIAL CABLE TO THE TORONTO WORLD. PARIS, April 18.—Local engagements, marked by close and bloody work, but of no particular significance, were the features of the fighting of this week end, except in one case where the French army has begun a new advance along the Fecht River in Alsace and gained important preliminary successes. The British infantry east of Ypres exploded some mines in the German trenches in some hills and occupied the craters after a hot combat. An excavation occupied by the Germans close to the French trenches northwest of Perthes in the Champagne district, was rendered untenable by the explosion of French counter-mines, and in an attack delivered almost immediately afterwards the French soldiers captured about 70 yards of a German trench. German Attacks Defeated. Attacks by the Germans were repulsed at Bois de St. Nord in the Aisne valley by artillery fire, followed by a bayonet charge, again in the outskirts of the Parroy wood in Lorraine, especially near four points, Bures, Mouracourt, Embermenil, and St. Martin, and again on the French trenches at Little Reich Ackerkopf, against which the enemy advanced no less than three times, and was as often hurled back. The French forces in the region of Schnepfen-Reithkopf made fresh progress against the enemy. The French advance on both banks (Continued on Page 2, Column 1).

The statement said that according to an official communication published at Constantinople, the officers and men were rescued and made prisoners. The Turkish War Office reports: "The British submarine E-15 has been sunk in the Dardanelles, east of Karanlik. Three officers and 21 men of the crew of E-15 were rescued by the Turks. Twenty-Four British Soldiers Drowned and Others Missing, as Result of Capsizing of Transport Manitou's Boats—Germans and Turks Interned on Greek Island of Chios.

LONDON, Monday, April 19, 2.45 a.m.—An official statement from the British admiralty, issued last night, gives the substance of a further report concerning the loss of the transport Manitou, which was attacked by a Turkish torpedo boat in the Aegean Sea. The report shows that 24 men were drowned instead of 100, as at first reported, and that 27 others are missing. The transport itself was not damaged. The loss of life was due to the capsizing of one boat in the water and another while being lowered, owing to the breaking of a davit. The British Admiralty, in a statement issued Saturday night, announced that a Turkish torpedo boat had been sunk in the Aegean Sea. The text of the admiralty statement was as follows: "The transport Manitou, carrying British troops, was attacked by a Turkish torpedo boat in the Aegean this morning. The Turkish boat fired three torpedoes at the transport, all of which missed their mark. The torpedo boat then made off but was chased by the British cruiser Minerva and British torpedo boat destroyers and was finally run ashore and destroyed on the coast of Chios in Kalamutti Bay. The members of the crew of the Turkish warship were made prisoners. "It is reported that about 100 men on board the transport lost their lives thru drowning, but full particulars have not yet been received. SPECIAL CABLE TO THE TORONTO WORLD. PETROGRAD, April 18.—Complete success in the operations that they set out to perform, the capture of the crests of the principal chain of the Carpathians for a distance of about 75 miles, is reported by the Russian War Office tonight in a communique which explains the difficult nature of the fighting, and states that the Austrians and Germans opposed to the Russian advance lost 70,000 men in prisoners and an enormous number of killed and wounded. The enemy brought up 300,000 infantry to oppose the Russian advance. These included every available man on the front from as far as Bartfeld to Uzsok Pass, including many German troops and numbers of dismounted cavalrymen. Held on Dukla Pass. The communique says that at the beginning of March the Russians held only the region of the Dukla Pass; in the principal chain of the mountains where the Russian lines formed an exterior angle, Lupkow Pass and all the others farther east were in the hands of the Germans and Austrians. On this account the Russian armies were assigned to the task of developing their position in the Carpathians, so as to dominate the outlets into the plains of Hungary. Big Austrian Forces in Way. When the forward movement began great Austrian forces, which had been Peremysh, occupied a position between Peremysh occupied a position between the Lupkow and Uzsok passes, and on this sector the grand attack of the Russian forces was planned. This involved the making of frontal attacks under difficult conditions of terrain. In order to facilitate this attack an auxiliary one was begun on a front towards Bartfeld as far as Lupkow. This secondary attack which was opened on March 19, was completely developed, and by March 23 the Russian forces had already commenced their principal attack in the direction of Falgrod, and were en-

WASSER'S TERMS OF PEACE TO DERNBURG

Willing to Give Up All Lands But Part of Belgium.

A FREE SEA FOR ALL With World Owned Cable and Mail Service Demanded.

Special to The Toronto World.
PORTLAND, Me., April 18.—A letter from Dr. Bernhard Dernburg, former colonial secretary of the German Empire, was read at a mass meeting here last night. In which the German idea of permanent peace was set forth. Dr. Dernburg wrote: "I can with full authority disclaim any ambition for my country for world domination. It is much too modest on the one hand and too experienced on the other not to know that such a state will never be tolerated by the rest of the world. The aim of Germany is to have the seas as well as the narrow, kept permanently open for the free use of all nations in times of war as well as in times of peace. I personally would even go as far as to neutralize all the seas and narrow permanently by a common and effective agreement, guaranteed by all the powers.

World Mail and Cable.
"A free sea is useless except combined with freedom of cable and mail communication. I should like to see all the cables jointly owned by the interested nations, and a world mail system over-sea established by common consent."
"The only alternative to an open sea and free intercourse policy would be a Chinese wall around each country. If there is no free intercourse, every country must become self-sufficient. Germany has proven that it can be done. But this policy would mean very high customs barriers, discrimination, unbounded egotism and a world bristling in arms.

Germany does not strive for territorial aggrandizement in Europe; she does not believe in conquering and subjugating unwilling nations. Belgium, she commands the main outlet of the German trade, is the natural foreign market of the empire, and has been conquered without untold sacrifice of blood and treasure. It offers the German trade the only outlet to an open sea, and has been politically established, maintained and defended by England in order to keep these natural advantages from Germany.

Wants Belgium Held.
"The love for small peoples that England heralds now will stand investigation, as shown by the destruction of the small Boer republics. Belgium cannot be given up. However, these considerations could be disregarded if all the other German demands, especially a guaranteed free sea, were fully complied with and the natural commercial relations of Belgium to Germany were considered in a just and workable form. In this case Germany will not fail the country. In fact, she is doing so now."

of the Fecht River in Alsace made considerable headway Saturday. On the north bank it resulted in the capture of a spur west of Sillakrewasser and Metzeral, and the column debouched into the valley which runs towards the river. On the southern bank of the stream French chasseurs made a brilliant attack on the German troops holding the Schopenreuthkopf and occupied the summit which is over 4150 feet in height, and is the tallest point in the ridge between the two valleys, which meet at Metzeral.
Several caves at Pusley, in the Alsace Valley, fell in under a heavy bombardment by French artillery and imprisoned German troops, which had used them as shelters. The collapse of these caves was accompanied by heavy explosions.

GROSS FRAUDS IN MARKETING LIBERTIA LANDS

Government Forced to Make Over Other Tracts to Investors.

SYNDICATE MADE HAUL

Big Tracts, Useless for Irrigation, Disposed of in London.

By a Staff Reporter.
OTTAWA, April 18.—Commissioner Ferguson's report on the Southern Alberta Land Company shows how a group of men obtained concessions totalling 350,000 acres, professedly for irrigation purposes, but which through lack of government supervision, they were able to sell at a large profit to English investors, who afterwards learned could not be irrigated at all. The government had to allow an exchange of the lands for others which could be irrigated.

The chief promoter of the scheme was J. D. McGregor, one of the friends of the late government. The company was capitalized at $2,500,000, which was raised to $3,000,000, in addition to which bonds to the value of $3,500,000 had to be sold to obtain sufficient money for development. Commissioner Ferguson points out that the result must be a heavy burden on the settlers.

The Southern Alberta Company took over the 256,250 acres of the Robins irrigation tract, and 134,000 acres of the Cuthbertson irrigation tract.

J. D. McGregor and Arthur Hitchcock, Moose Jaw, and their associates really controlled both these tracts. The Cuthbertson tract was made up of a 47,000-acre grazing lease granted to McGregor and a 44,000-acre grazing lease granted to Hitchcock (both closed irrevocable leases), and 10,000 acres grazing ranch owned by Grand Forks Cattle Company (comprising McGregor, Hitchcock & Co.) and other additional lands.

All these lands were acquired by the Canadian Agency, which organized the Southern Alberta Land Company, and floated the stock on the English market. The Southern Alberta Land Company paid some $1,150,000 for the land, most of which was gotten free from the government under agreement to irrigate within a certain time. The 10,000 acres of the Grand Forks Cattle Company was bought from the company at $1 an acre and sold to the Southern Alberta Land Company at $12.

The evidence showed the assets of the Cattle Company to be worth $557,000, but they were sold to the Southern Alberta Land Company at $650,000.

McGregor, Hitchcock and Co. had put only $200,000 into the enterprise. Messrs. Chaplin, Milne, Grenfell and Company marketed the stock of the Southern Alberta Land Company in London, in October, 1904.

The prospectus gave a report of B. J. Saunders, an engineer, who told the land could be irrigated. He had not made proper investigation, however, and no one had asked the government for the means of obtaining the water.

Fairbank Ratepayers Had Busy Meeting Saturday Night.

WANT IMPROVEMENTS UNANIMOUS MOTION

Trustees Hope to Build Score Board of Control's Action and Urge That Agreement Stand.

The fortnightly meeting of the North Fairbank and Fairbank Ratepayers' Association was held Saturday evening, in the clubhouse, Harvie avenue, School Trustee Duncan B. Hood occupying the chair.

Secretary H. Swaby read a communication from Ald. H. H. Ball, on behalf of W. G. Ellis, which stated that the condition of the roads in the outlying districts was the objection the postal authorities had to installing drop-letter boxes in the districts. In reply to the association's request that Mr. Maclean take up with the government the matter of an adequate pension for the dependents of those killed on active service, he stated that a scheme was at present before the Dominion house which should prove satisfactory to all.

A letter was also read from the general manager of the Consumers' Gas Co., stating that gas mains would not be extended into the district this year.

Wires Too Low.
John B. Adams reported that the electric light poles and wires were in a dangerous condition on Harvie avenue and Chudleigh avenue, it being possible for children to reach the live wires. The secretary was instructed to call the attention of the Toronto Electric Light Co. to the matter.

H. Swaby brought up the question of hydro-electric street lighting. "At the contract price of $18 per light per annum," he said, "the cost to each owner of a lot of 25 feet frontage would be 67 cents a year; lights to be placed on one side of the road at 300 foot intervals." It was decided that previous to petitioning for this improvement the association would enquire how the price compared with that in nearby districts which had hydro light instalments.

It was also desired to request the York Township Council to grant an extension of time to those who, owing to lack of employment, were unable to meet their taxes at the present time.

YORK TOWNSHIP'S BIG ASSESSMENT

Nearly Equals Sum Total of All Municipalities in the County.

A comparative statement of the value of lands in each of the municipalities in York County shows that the township of York in assessable value more than equals all the other municipalities in the county.

The total assessable value of York Township is $18,558,925, while that of all the other townships combined is $17,861,754.

The nearest approach to York Township is Markham, with an assessed land value of $7,777,826. The land value of the city and not as yet included within the big metropolitan area is $1,000,000. The relative difference between the township and the other municipalities, from an agricultural standpoint each or any of the other townships will compare very favorably with the big southern municipality.

Petition in Favor of Store License at Runnymede Presented.

Strong opposition to the granting of a liquor store license at 795 St. John's road, Runnymede, was advanced by a deputation representing the churches and associations of the district, which appeared before the West York Board of License Commissioners on Saturday. The application was made on behalf of Raymond Bryer, by his solicitor, S. W. Burns, who represented that a liquor store in West York, where none already existed, would be in the interests of the neighborhood. It would do away with peddling from wagons from the city and enable the law to be observed rather than broken.

On the other hand it was claimed by Rev. B. E. Weatherall, of Runnymede Presbyterian Church, whose address was prescriptive by the applique of the deputation, that it was preposterous that a liquor store should be planted right on the border of West York, and that the provincial government was not to be expected to license, he stated, contained 47 signatures, 235 being of voters in the No. 25 subdivision affected.

During the twenty-six years he had lived in the district, said Sam Clouston, representing the Runnymede Ratepayers' Association, the people had got along very well without a liquor license. It would be no asset to Runnymede, but rather an injury. The license was also opposed by W. Sims, representing Baby Point Ratepayers' Association; H. Hallett, Runnymede Conservative Association; G. Kerr, Royal Templars of Temperance; Rev. George Morley, St. Paul's Anglican Church; Rev. Gilbert Agar, Rev. A. F. Bamford, of Lambton Mills Methodist Church; Rev. Mr. Hinds, Runnymede Baptist Church; and W. J. Cannon, who had been collector to the municipality of West Toronto in 1904.

A resolution passed by the West York branch of the Neighborhood Workers' Association, opposing the renewal of the hotel license at Lambton, was presented by the president, Rev. Gilbert Agar. "Licenses were not a necessity, he said, and at any rate there seemed no need for two, and the owner of the hotel recently destroyed by fire should be encouraged to re-erect such a building. Mr. Agar was supported by the Rev. A. F. Bamford, of Lambton Mills Methodist Church. Lambton Mills was not in York Township, but was, he said, quite as much affected.

Then and Now.
"If a five per cent. grade was considered inadvisable on Merton street, that fact shall be set out in the heads of the board of control the bludgeon of filthy lucre," asked Mr. Ellis.

When the opposition came from on behalf of the C.P.R. in the extra financial costs suggested, and in which an active, personal campaign is being made, the speaker said: "I have the heads of the board of control the bludgeon of filthy lucre," asked Mr. Ellis.

Look to the Future.
"All the citizens ask is that there be no departure from the plan originally agreed upon and a broad far-sighted policy looking to the future," said the speaker.

Ald. H. H. Ball, with a clear-cut speech left no room for doubt as to his attitude in the matter. The land damages of $250,000, as suggested by H. H. Williams, were characterized by the speaker as "a very small price to pay with the award of the official arbitrator in a recent decision in a western part of the city. Ald. Ball showed conclusively that such prices never existed on Yonge street in the neighborhood of the C. P. R. tracks, and followed this up by a strong plea for the retention of the district.

Stand By Agreement.
"That anything should be done which will in any way militate against the future of the city is unthinkable. We are only asking that the C. P. R. should make a little concession in the original agreement, and that the work be pushed to a speedy conclusion."

When a gentleman in the audience criticised the service rendered by the hydro, stated that the voltage was insufficient, and that a little competition would do good, Ald. Risk interrupted.

Then and Now.
"If a five per cent. grade was considered inadvisable on Merton street, that fact shall be set out in the heads of the board of control the bludgeon of filthy lucre," asked Mr. Ellis.

When the opposition came from on behalf of the C.P.R. in the extra financial costs suggested, and in which an active, personal campaign is being made, the speaker said: "I have the heads of the board of control the bludgeon of filthy lucre," asked Mr. Ellis.

Look to the Future.
"All the citizens ask is that there be no departure from the plan originally agreed upon and a broad far-sighted policy looking to the future," said the speaker.

Ald. H. H. Ball, with a clear-cut speech left no room for doubt as to his attitude in the matter. The land damages of $250,000, as suggested by H. H. Williams, were characterized by the speaker as "a very small price to pay with the award of the official arbitrator in a recent decision in a western part of the city. Ald. Ball showed conclusively that such prices never existed on Yonge street in the neighborhood of the C. P. R. tracks, and followed this up by a strong plea for the retention of the district.

Stand By Agreement.
"That anything should be done which will in any way militate against the future of the city is unthinkable. We are only asking that the C. P. R. should make a little concession in the original agreement, and that the work be pushed to a speedy conclusion."

When a gentleman in the audience criticised the service rendered by the hydro, stated that the voltage was insufficient, and that a little competition would do good, Ald. Risk interrupted.

BRICKS ON BARGAIN AT MOUNT DENNIS

Slaughter Sale Will Not Affect Ordinary Rates, However.

DEMAND IS IMPROVING Local Manufacturer Glad to Report Revival in Building.

On Saturday, when the remaining lots of kiln brick at Lainsou's brickyard, Weston road, were sold by E. F. Henderson, balliff, 30,000 were sold to Ross Bros., Whitby, at $3.75 per thousand; 70,000 to W. Bushell, W. Bushell, at $3.75, and 100,000 also to W. Bushell, at $3.65.

It is pointed out by Mr. Marshall, of the J. A. Marshall Brick Co., of Mount Dennis, that this was a shrewd sale, and that the price realized formed no criterion of the real value of bricks.

Stock bricks, half inside and half face, are now selling locally, states Mr. Marshall, at $9 per thousand, and the demand has been quickened by the spring weather. Mr. Marshall's yard has been delivering bricks steadily since the beginning of the year. The winter stock has now been almost sold out, and this is the case with other yards also.

Brickmaking will again become active when the weather grows seasonable and all danger of exceptional cold is over.

Building Prospects.
While building in Mount Dennis has been somewhat backward since the outbreak of the war, Goddard & Marshall report good prospects and predict a very healthy tone this spring. Seven or eight brick residences are now in course of erection and ten or a dozen more are projected. More houses have also been started during this last week than all winter, and only a few vacant houses remain in the district.

Many enquiries for land are also on foot, and the sale of a block of land at the corner of Rutherford avenue and Weston road, with 100 feet front, has been made at a price of $45 per acre, and is reported by Goddard & Marshall. It is understood that building operations will be started on this block at an early date.

Postal Delivery.
It is said on reliable authority that mail delivery will start in Mount Dennis on Wednesday next. Two deliveries per day will be made, one carrier operating from the city limit north to Eglington avenue, the other north of Eglington avenue.

Miss Margaret George Tells of Present Conditions in Italy

TERRIBLE POVERTY

Tense Feeling Against Austria and Desire to Avenge Wrongs

Miss Margaret George, 89 Forest Hill road, who returned home Saturday from Vienna, Italy, where she appeared in a repertoire of operas, said in speaking of Italy: "Italy is a most charming country. Everyone who has read of Italy's glorious blue skies or seen it pictured on canvas should see it in reality to become truly enchanted. The people of Italy are a happy, smiling people and extremely patriotic; in fact they seem to have gone to patriotic extremes during the past few months. All along the Austrian border are camps of soldiers and the activity among the naval officers is equally as earnest. All the boys of the public schools and the schools and club houses are all prepared to be used as hospitals if war should break out."

"I would fight Austria. A marked feeling of hatred is shown against Austria, and if Italy could declare war against Austria, she would not hesitate a moment, judging from what I heard on all sides, to avenge the wrongs of past days."

"Poverty in Italy is very marked. A workman getting 40c a day is well paid. At present all bread is being made from rice and wheat, and a great portion of it is rice. An imperial order has been issued that no wheat is to be exported from the country, and every effort is being made to conserve home foodstuffs."

"Great Britain is looked upon by the Italian people as the great protector and they find it sufficient to say 'Basia' which signifies all their eulogies toward the empire, when speaking of England's position in this war. At a patriotic concert recently at La Scala Theatre, Milan, the national airs were being played. One man jumped up and asked that the 'Watch on the Rhine' be played, but straightway he was hustled into the street, and this was done in face of the fact that there are 40,000 Germans in the Province of Lombardy, of which Milan is the principal city."

"Return to Italy Soon. My trip across the ocean on the Avonina was a very pleasant one, and I expect to return in the fall and accept engagements that have been offered me in this country."

"It was very difficult to get my passport and a tremendous lot of red tape is entailed. They take your photograph, write down the color of your hair, get your height, the color of your eyes, your features, the shape of your nose and forehead, your age, and then after all that you must get some prominent British subject, who is a resident, to vouch for you. It took nearly a week to get my passport from the British consul."

Miss George will make her first Canadian appearance with the Hamilton Orchestra, May 6, at Hamilton.

MORE R. M. C. CADETS FOR ACTIVE SERVICE

Fifteen Will Be Available Soon—Lt. Col. Perreau for Front.

Special to The Toronto World. KINGSTON, April 18.—Fifteen additional cadets of the Royal Military College will be ready to accept commissions at the close of the present term and will go to the front if required. Lt. Col. Perreau, acting commandant of the college, is likely to be sent to the front to secure information in their college training. Lt. Col. Perreau volunteered his services at the opening of the war. He is a member of the Irish Fusiliers. Since Germans have been held in Ottawa, it has been the custom of the German minister to Ottawa to hold services at the fort once a week. His original permit has been cancelled, and he is now only allowed to come once a month. There is a movement on foot to have this permit cancelled altogether, as it is thought he is too much of a German sympathizer. The call for recruits for the remount depot for this division has been answered by twice as many men as was wanted, since so many have signified their willingness to go overseas with this branch of the service there may be an order doubling the establishment of the depot or some other way be found to use their services.

The Lawn—Save the Cuttings

Many citizens have been busy at their lawns for some days, and those who have not yet started out to mow had better get hold of a rake as soon as possible.

All lawns should receive a thorough good raking off before the first mowing is attempted, and the first mowing should be done just as soon now as can be managed.

Your lawn mower will, of course, need to be well sharpened for this first cutting. It is a great mistake to let the blade become blunt.

Often it seems advisable to repair bare spots in the lawn by laying down a few new sods, and when it is possible to get new sods easily this is by far the better way of mending up bad lawns.

It is a good plan to cut out a narrow strip of sod along the edge by the sidewalk on front lawns.

Those gardeners who always take care to rake off the cuttings immediately after the mowing has been done have prettier lawns than those who leave the cuttings on the lawn.

Do not forget to rake the whole thing off at once, and do it thoroughly.

Nesting Boxes For Birds

It must be apparent to all lovers of birds that as the towns and cities have grown the number of birds in our parks and gardens has steadily diminished.

In a recent discussion by the Canadian Society for the Protection of Birds the consensus of opinion as to the cause was, firstly, the removal of dead branches and trees, thus destroying nesting holes, and, secondly, the want of clean water away from the public gaze where the birds can wash and drink.

With the object of improving the former condition the society elected a committee to decide upon the best nesting boxes to obtain. This committee has now reported that the best boxes are those which consist of round pieces of natural wood or timber with the bark on, from one to two feet in length, hollowed out nearly the whole length. The hollow is much wider at the bottom than at the top, an entrance hole is made high up and the box is roofed with a small piece of board.

These boxes, which are fastened to a tree or post, are being made for the society at a nominal cost of from 25c to 50c, according to the size, and can be purchased from the society at that price. With the aid of a simple box an amateur might make a few boxes with a little trouble. More picturesque boxes, ranging from $1 to $5, can also be ordered through the society, but the cheaper box is undoubtedly the best for blue birds, chickadees, wrens, etc. Any further information desired regarding these boxes may be obtained by communicating with the secretary of the Canadian Society for the Protection of Birds, Royal Canadian Institute, 390 College street, Toronto. F. F. Payne, secretary nesting box committee.

Advertisement for 'The Nursery' conducted by Elvira Murray, featuring illustrations of children and text about proper foods.

Proper Foods

Cream may well be substituted for butter whenever possible for young children. Fat is an essential element in diet and cream is the most easily digested form and always superior to butter.

The use of orange juice should be continued right through childhood. Fresh fruit juices are also valuable; but it is wise to strain berry juices on account of the seeds. Stewed and baked apples and stewed prunes are good.

Bananas are never advisable, because so difficult to digest. Desserts should never be allowed to take the place of the more substantial food. Junket, baked or boiled custard, blanc-mange, rice pudding, with once in a while in warm weather plain ice cream, preferably home-made.

Candy in small quantities of undoubted purity may sometimes take the place of dessert. Often a diplomatic mother makes a dessert accomplish much in the way of disposing of food not agreeable to the child. It seems to me, that something is or has been wrong in the training if a child really dislikes wholesome food. It is of the utmost importance that a child enjoy his meals; and mothers must consider this and make the food palatable without violating fundamental principles.

Often a great deal may be accomplished by allowing a child over three years of age to make a meal once in a while, if difficulty is experienced in persuading him to eat the proper food.

Let me warn you against a few of the really undesirable things that too often creep into the diet of little children. Pork in all forms, except perhaps very crisp, fat bacon, broiled, never ham, sausage or the like; veal, corn beef, salt fish, dried beef, goose, duck, kidney, liver, stew, hash, fried foods of all kinds, fresh bread, muffins, pancakes, cake, except sponge and gingerbread, rich puddings, pie, pastry, nuts, syrups, rich preserves, tea, coffee, pickles, catsup.

Food should be eaten slowly and well masticated.

ON CHURCH PARADE

Rev. E. C. Cayley of St. Simon's Preaches to Soldiers' Congregation.

Nine hundred and thirty-five members of the 19th Regiment Light Infantry marched from the armouries, University avenue yesterday afternoon to attend service at St. Simon's Church.

Colonel W. T. Stewart was in command, and his staff included Major W. S. Dinick, Major H. Hornblower, Adjutant (Capt.) A. Hall, Lieut. W. J. Duggan, Capt. Harris, Capt. Wright, Capt. Boehm, and Staff Sgt. Instructor Livett.

The music was furnished by the regimental band, under Bandmaster Timpon, and the bugle band under Bugle-Major Cutbert. The service was assisted by the organist and the offertory played Handel's Magnificat.

The church service was conducted by Rev. E. C. Cayley, rector of St. Simon's, assisted by the curate, E. G. Burgess Brown, and Rev. W. H. H. Sparks, the regimental chaplain. The offering was taken up by the officers of the regiment and will be applied to the Regimental Fund.

In his sermon Dr. Cayley said: 'Germans are waging this war against the law of the jungle, as Mr. Darwin, an Englishman, has shown. He has shown that the law of the jungle is the law of the survival of the fittest, and that the fittest are those who are the strongest and the most cunning. Their own writers have told them that they should not only destroy the branches and leaves, but also destroy the trunk and roots, and to destroy the spirit of the people with whom they fight thru striking terror into their hearts.'

'This war has changed the position of our people, and they are beginning to see the hideousness of this awfulness of warfare. The empire and the allies are fighting for liberty and the principles of the small nations, but the principles of humanity and better things must live together to perform their duty. The world will be a vision of higher and better things before this war is over, and the terrorism of Germany must fall.'

Editor World: I published letter in regard to the demand for organ donation in regard to Bishop of London, England requires contribution if the donor is a member of the church. We are yet for concentration, and therefore the great vital problem before us is to get the truth in regard to questions until the donor cannot reply or refuse. Let me be taken counsel with the same as we are arranging for Burwash Hall, V. on Friday evening, and I am sure you will be announced in regard to the danger is to organize for the present, as the war is over and the of a contested. This is what the World, it is for example. April 17, 1915.

Eloquent Sermon at Cooke's
Church Yesterday.

SPLENDID WELCOME
Opening of Second Pastorate
Under Most Auspicious
Circumstances.

Most auspicious for a pastorate of more than usual success was the opening service conducted yesterday morning at Cooke's Church by their second pastor, Rev. Wm. Patterson, D.D. The large church with its capacious galleries was crowded in every part. An eloquent, dramatic and patriotic sermon, with inspiring singing by a large choir featured the service.

Rev. Dr. Patterson adopted the appropriate declaration "Oftentimes I purposed to come unto you," Romans 1, 13. He expressed his gratitude for the magnificent welcome demonstrated by the large number of members of his former congregation who he recognized among the assemblage, and the assistance of such a large number for supporting services.

Savages Without Traditions

In the latest raid on the north of England by a Zeppelin there must be supposed to be some method, although nothing was accomplished. It is probable that the Tyne shipbuilding yards was the objective, but they were not found, and the guns at Crumlington scared the nervous aeronauts off to the North Sea again. They dropped bombs on several villages after their savage German fashion, for they must have known very well when they were drifting over rural districts, and when they were in the neighborhood of anything that might look like a fortified city.

At all events they used up their ammunition on villages of unretaliating country people, in spite of the protests of the German high and mighties that they would never dream of injuring innocent non-combatants. They might never dream of it, but they certainly do it wide-awake and in cold blood. Dr. Conan Doyle—we beg his pardon—Sir Arthur has neatly characterized the German savage as incapable of understanding what civility means. He acquires him of having any idea of what the British were trying to do when they attempted to save the German sailors from the blucher. The latest effusion of the German muse exclaims, "Come no more to me with your 'Love your enemies'." Hatred is all that a German understands as the function of a fighting man. This is clearly savage, and justifies us in regarding the German as a savage.

Fortunately, every savage can be reclaimed in a generation or two, and there is no reason to suppose that the poison has sunk ineradicably into the whole German nation. We prefer to think that it is chiefly confined to the Prussians. The Zeppelin raids, therefore, are the result of an inflamed disorder of the national character. Civilized nations will continue aero fighting to fortified or military stations.

When we attack in Germany we trust it will be in line with the best traditions of our race and history. After all, the Germans have few or no traditions which would guide them to decent conduct. Perhaps they will learn, as all of us had to learn in the dim past of history. They may learn that the race is not to the swift nor the battle to the strong, but that there is some unaccountable magic of might in the gentle heart and the generous hand. A gentle and generous foe will make his way in Germany as he has done in other parts of the world.

The Germans may come to England after shipyards, or after, perhaps, the manufacturing plants where the new and deadly shells are being made in that district which the Germans appear to fear. We will not complain about any damage they may do to our war equipment or to our military supplies. But we cannot respect them, with honorable enemies while they continue to wage war against women and children and innocent non-combatants.

The Drama League

After several attempts to cultivate it, the Drama League appears to have taken root in Toronto. A meeting of a special character is to be held this evening for the purpose of organization and discussion of the projected work of the society. Nearly all societies are organized to death, and we trust the Drama League will avoid this fate. Scarcely any disease is so mortal as red tape.

As the meeting is held on Monday evening, it is evident that professional critics are not expected to be present, and probably this will work out to the advantage of the society. Nothing is so blighting to the drama as the views of a professional critic. His surfeited tastes revolt at almost everything. He is intimate with the drama, from the Greek poets down to Shakespeare, and from Shakespeare up to date, and he does not like any of them. They all make him tired. He knows how all the plays could be better written and the plots improved, the dialog enlivened and the situations strengthened, and the characters animated with natural emotion and human purposes. The public usually raves over plays that the professional critic disapproves. The Drama League should not be perverted from its object by phenomena of this kind, but should persist in selecting good healthy, amusing and thought-provoking plays, and recommending them to the public. We trust all the clergymen and ministers will join the league. On the whole, there is no class of men who have so much good advice to give about the theatre and drama as the ministers. This is their opportunity. They should know just the kind of plays that would do their people good, and it would relieve the playwrights immensely to know what plays they could go to with official approval. They could visit the other ones when they went to New York or Chicago.

By dint of getting a good number of sensible people together in various cities, the Drama League in these places has been able to build up a sentiment in favor of plays which are worth seeing, and which do not leave a bad taste in the mouth afterwards. These leagues recognize what ought to be generally known, that the theatre is the greatest teaching agency in the land. It does not teach directly, or in any disagreeable pedagogic way. It sets an example which everybody follows. It holds the mirror up to artifice. Nature never gets a look in nowadays. It is important, therefore, that the mirror the theatre holds up should be of the highest quality and possess the magic property of impressing the finest pictures on the hearts of all who look in it.

As the Drama League publishes its condemnations from time to time, we trust that they will have all the good effect desired of them. A great national drama can only come out of a great national good taste, and the country which develops that will have the most precious possession in the world.

Belgium's Hero King

Among the outstanding personalities revealed by the European war one at least has already been conceded to be of heroic mold—King Albert of Belgium. Born in 1875, the second son of the Count of Flanders, younger brother of Leopold II, he became heir presumptive to his uncle at the age of fifteen and for eighteen years kept himself sedulously outside the troubled sea of Belgian politics, so much so indeed that his own proclivities remained absolutely unknown. When King Albert acceded to the throne in 1909 the continent nations and even the Belgians themselves knew little regarding the personality of the new monarch, except that he had shown keen interest in military affairs and been a close student of the art of war. One other matter stood in his credit. Unlike his uncle no atmosphere of scandal surrounded his name and he had no early indiscretions to live down.

On December 23, 1909, the young king appeared in the legislative chamber to take the prescribed oath. When the constitution was read and the questions put whether he accepted it and would abide by its stipulations he gave the clear answer "I swear to observe the constitution and to defend the integrity of the national territory." How King Albert regarded that oath and how he has kept it are written in the annals of the war and form a splendid commentary on certain passages in his inaugural address. "We must," he said, "continue our unshakable attachment to constitutional liberty, love of independence and the wise administration of public affairs in order to maintain our sacred patrimony while advancing toward the peaceful conquests of labor and science."

King Albert's first work was to urge that more effective measures be taken for the defence of the country, but it was not till October, 1913, that the new law first became operative. Belgium was thus caught quite unprepared to resist invasion. An army had to be almost improvised and it will remain an imperishable proof of the national spirit of the Belgians that despite their unreadiness they did not hesitate to throw themselves athwart the German advance. Some critics without sympathy for sacrifice in the cause of freedom and independence have blamed them for their heroic sacrifice of their country in that cause, but that is not the verdict of those who love liberty. Belgium will be reborn into nationhood under her heroic king and queen, who have been the incarnation of Belgian patriotism and will belong not to Belgium only, but to every free people.

British and German Finance

Germany's finance minister recently boasted that the credit of that country stood higher than that of the United Kingdom, and compared the subscriptions to the last German war loan with that of the corresponding British issue, much to the disadvantage of the latter. It is unfortunate for the German people that they have been taught to rely so implicitly on the Kaiser's government. They probably are not in the least aware that the finance minister's statement was without justification. Britain is borrowing on at least 1 per cent. better terms than Germany, and, moreover, is still on a good basis, and her bank and government notes freely exchangeable for gold. German paper

SPLENDID SERMON TO CAMP TROOPS

Large Attendance to Hear Rev. T. T. Shields Sunday Morning.

There was a splendid attendance of the second contingent troops at the Sunday morning service, held in the transportation building at Exhibition Camp. Rev. T. T. Shields, pastor of Jarvis Street Baptist Church, was the preacher. Major Rev. J. Russell MacDonell took the service, and Capt. Rev. Thompson read the lesson. The preacher's text was "And every priest offendeth the same sacrifice, which can never take away sins, but this man, after he had offered one sacrifice for sins, forever sat down on the right hand of God." He said that he felt in the sacrifice of Christ might in reality it was the one thing required.

TURKISH TORPEDO BOAT DESTROYED

Little Craft Stranded on Island of Chios After Hot Chase.

6849 tons, of the Royal Merchant Marine, owned by the Atlantic Transport Co. Her ports of call in time of peace were London, Havre and New York. Transport Continued Voyage. A Chios despatch to Lloyd's News says there were five Germans, including the captain, on board the Turkish torpedo boat which ran ashore after being pursued by the British warships. The weather in the Gulf of Smyrna was extremely rough, and during the storm the Turkish torpedo boat put to sea and managed to elude the vigilance of the allies, but the transport which was a special order from Constantinople. When chased, the Turk tried to dodge among the small islands, but soon realized that it was impossible to escape, and, having rounded the south of the island, the captain beached his boat on the rocky shore. "It is stated in reliable sources," it is stated here that the commander and crew of the Turkish torpedo boat which ran ashore on the coast of Chios, and was pursued by allied warships, have surrendered to the Greek authorities and will be interned."

BY HUGH MORTER.

Special Cable to The World. CHIOS, April 18.—After a somewhat inglorious career of three weeks spent in playing hide and seek with the allied fleet at mouth of the Dardanelles, Demir Hissar, a Turkish torpedo boat of 97 tons, lies a melancholy wreck on the shore of the Gulf of Kalamita, on this island. The small size of the boat must not be taken as any criterion of the importance of the incident. The Demir Hissar was the only enemy vessel which succeeded in eluding our watch at the outlet from the straits, and she was in position to inflict terrible damage on the neighborhood.

This was indeed her special mission, according to statements made by several members of her crew. It is now nearly a month since she slipped through the straits into the Aegean for transports. A few days ago her chance came near Tenedos, where the attacks served to reveal her presence, and the Demir Hissar fled precipitately southward, making for the Gulf of Smyrna, where she hoped to take shelter under the fortress guns. Headed off by British and French warships, she turned westward, on a course of pursuit. Being speedy and a very small mariner for gunfire, she kept the lead for some time. This was Friday morning. Her pursuers kept up a dropping fire, sending about 20 shells after her in all until at 2 o'clock in the Water Commission, and has served as reeve of Sturgeon Point. In 1904 he was made a member of the federal government grain survey board, and is at present the chairman of the Ross Memorial Association. Mr. Fawcett is a man of well-recognized sporting proclivities and has gathered in several important curling trophies in the past few years. His wide and varied interests in commercial and business concerns raised him to the position of councillor in the Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

One Newspaper Man. In the person of W. S. Dingman of Stratford the government has appointed a newspaper man to the board. Mr. Dingman comes originally from Sarnia Township, and his years of newspaper work have been marked by a leaning towards temperance. He was born in 1854, after learning practical printing he became joint proprietor with his brother of The Stratford Despatch, and subsequently The Post and Daily Sentinel. In 1886, he, with his brother, L. S. Dingman, acquired The Stratford Herald, and has controlled it ever since. Mr. Dingman has been prominent in the Canadian Press Association in 1895, and has held several public positions of responsibility in Stratford municipal life. In 1907 he was mayor of that city. Some weeks ago his name was mentioned as a likely nominee for the Canadian Senate.

Frederic Dane, born in Belfast, Ireland, in 1861, came to Canada in 1880, and was employed for several years in the export and import business of Toronto. Appointed a member of the N. O. Railway Commission in 1906, he ultimately became land commissioner. A year ago he resigned to become representative of the Commercial Agents in Glasgow, Scotland. He has for years been associated with fraternal societies, and at one time was president of the Protestant Benevolent Society.

From the Mining Country. Geo. T. Smith is now serving as mining recorder of Haliburton, and was associated with the license administration. He is recognized as an authority on northern Ontario affairs in general, and has interested himself in improving conditions in the mining industry.

J. A. Ayearst was originally a Methodist clergyman, and then became associated with the license department of the government. He was counted a very efficient officer, and received a year ago a call to the Ontario license branch, and has been instrumental in the rigid enforcement of the License Act.

Wide Powers. The new commissioners have large powers, and in matters of administration will be independent of political control. In their hands lies the right to allot the number of licenses to every section of Ontario, and if they deem it necessary may make certain sections "dry" for any length of time. Among other powers, the board may:

- (a) Prohibit the sale of liquor in any locality upon any specified day where special circumstances make it desirable.
(b) Prohibit sale to any particular class of persons in the hotels in any particular locality, or on any specified day where the board considers such prohibition in the public interest.
(c) Prohibit absolutely the sale of liquor in any part of the province.
(d) Fix the hours in which liquor may be sold in taverns and shops in all or any part of Ontario without the privilege of extending the statutory hours.
(e) May cancel or suspend any license for any cause it may think expedient at any time.

During Recent Months

If your savings have been deposited with this old established, time-tried institution, which since 1855 has been the safe depository for the savings of many thousands of our citizens, or if they have been invested in its Debentures, you have been free from the anxiety which has been experienced by those who have used their money in the purchase of bonds and stocks which are subject to the fluctuations of the market. The events of the year have demonstrated that many so-called investments have been only speculations, of a more or less hazardous nature.

Savings which are deposited with this Corporation are available, when ever called for; while those who have invested in our debentures know that they will receive the full amount of the investment when the Debenture becomes due, and the half-yearly interest regularly in the meantime.

AUSTRIA'S BID FOR ITALIAN NEUTRALITY Cede Trent to Pope to Hold Trust for Italy Until After the War.

ROME, April 18, via Paris. The bid for an authoritative source has learned that notwithstanding many of its efforts Italy and Austria have failed to reach an agreement with reference to territorial concessions. Many reports have been current respecting the proposals said to have been made by influential Austrians anxious to preserve peace with Italy for the temporary disposition of the Province of Trent, provided Austria consented to cede to Italy, the latest proposal, according to these reports, was that the territory be ceded to the Pope, and that the Pontiff turn the territory over to Italy after the war.

Fears Further Trouble. Prince Von Buolov, the German ambassador at Rome, is said to have frowned upon this suggestion because he feared that it would be a new source of friction between Austria and Italy—something which he had been striving to eliminate. Earlier suggestions regarding the disposition of Trent were that it be ceded to Germany, to hold until the end of the war, or that it be occupied until that time by Switzerland with the agreement in either case that the territory should eventually become Italian. For several days stories have been circulated concerning several reported frontier incidents between Italy and Austria. It has even been said that soldiers of the two countries exchanged shots. From an official investigation it appears that nothing of the kind has happened.

MANHOOD ABOUNDS IN BRITISH EMPIRE

Rev. Dr. Endicott Gave Interesting Address at Mass Meeting.

IN NAME OF HONOR
No Alternative But Peace With a Loss, But Flag Flies Proudly.

"Patriotism, Christianity, Foreign Missions and the Great War" was the subject dealt with by Rev. Dr. Endicott at a mass meeting of the Howard Park Brotherhood, held at the Howard Park Methodist Church yesterday afternoon.

"Nothing is the same today as it was a year ago," the speaker said, "and nothing will ever be the same." He spoke of the rise and fall of all the great nations in past history, and asked whether it was possible that Great Britain had reached the height of power and was now about to begin a slow decline. He continued, "The British Empire is not composed of so many thousand acres of land, white, as it is but mud. The British Empire has inherited a great tradition, a great ideal for liberty and honor. We could have stood to see our empire rise so much, but we could never see her lose her honor and still find it worth while to call ourselves British."

"We know now that the empire to which we belong has not reached the height of her power," he said, "but still a message which we can give our country in after years that Britain drew her sword in the name of honor, and has no alternative but peace with a loss of her honor, or this war will fly as proudly as ever."

Dr. Endicott then dealt with the Christian side of the war, saying that he had heard people say that religion was dead and was no longer a help, but he said that he had heard of the heathenish days since we had this statement very slowly. "I receive a letter from a man who says that 'Christianity could be killed by war' and he has been killed 1900 years ago. He pointed out that Belgium today stood in the same place as Palestine did thousands of years ago. Every year during the past thousand years has been fought in Belgium, and it would continue to be the battlefield of Europe.

"War has no bad effect on Christianity," the speaker declared, "war has carried Christianity into the British Isles long before the missionaries came. Christianity is familiar with death and other evil things do not come alone, for when trouble and war comes, others forces leap into the world. Peace has been the trouble in Canada. We have got careless of religion."

Why Seven Women Desire One Husband

A SYMBOLICAL BIBLE PICTURE OF PRESENT-DAY RELIGIOUS CONDITIONS.

Woman a Symbol of the Church—Jewish Marriage Typical of the Union of Christ and the Church—The True Church a Betrothed Virgin—"The Marriage of the Lamb"—"The Spirit and the Bride Say, Come"—Who Are the Seven Women?—Who Is the Man?—Why He Turns From Them.

ROCHESTER N.Y., April 18.—Pastor Russell spoke twice here today.

We report his discourse on the text, "Seven women shall take hold of one man in that Day, saying, We will eat our own bread, and wear our own apparel; only let us be called by Thy name, to take away our reproach." (Isaiah 4:1.) He said in part:

Many of the Old Testament prophecies are highly figurative. Doubtless they had some measure of application at the time when they were written, but we have Apostolic authority for concluding that they were intended for Spiritual Israel. (1 Peter 1:12.) Our Lord and the Apostles quoted continually from the prophecies and invariably applied the lesson to the Gospel Age. Hence we are abundantly justified in assuming that our text is applicable to the present. Its peculiar expression, "in that Day," is usual throughout Scripture in referring to the close of the Gospel Age, with its trouble and confusion incident to the inauguration of the Millennium.

Throughout the Scriptures a woman is a symbol of the Church—a pure woman of a pure Church, a corrupt woman of a false Church. The Lord's bridegroom, come at the end of the Age to receive His espoused Church to Himself in glory. John the Baptist said the same figure, saying, "He that hath the bride is the Bridegroom; and the bridegroom standeth waiting, till he come. Who are ye, who stand here? He answered and said, We have fasted, and we have mourned, and we have kept our virginity, and we have not seen thee. He said unto them, I know not you. Depart from me, ye cursed, for I will not receive you. Then shall they cry, Lord, Lord, open unto us. He shall answer and say, I say unto you, I know not you. Woe unto them that are married and betrothed, who are not ready to meet the Lord when He comes. He shall say, I know not you. Depart from me, ye cursed, for I will not receive you. Then shall they cry, Lord, Lord, open unto us. He shall answer and say, I say unto you, I know not you. Woe unto them that are married and betrothed, who are not ready to meet the Lord when He comes. WYCHWOOD MAKE IT THREE STRAIGHT Defeat Eatons in Hard Game by Three Goals to Two—T. and D. Records.

Well played, Wychwood! On the opening game, when the boys defeated Over-

Devonians had to be content with a draw with Queen's Park, and, by losing the point, allowed Wychwood to take the lead in the league, and the defeat of Davenport at the hands of Old County placed them way down in the list.

The chief honors of the second division must go to Dunlop Rubber, who triumphed over Fraserburgh by eight goals to one.

Wychwood-Eaton Game. After a hard fought game, Wychwood defeated last year's champions by the odd goal in three. It was a particularly interesting game to watch, both teams trying to get the ball into the net.

A large crowd turned out to witness the game between Baracas and Overseas at Riverside Park during the first half Baracas got ahead, scoring the only goal from a penalty.

Manchester Unity Swamped. Playing with only ten men, Manchester Unity were badly defeated by Thistles at Fraser Avenue on Saturday.

At Fraser Avenue, Old County defeated Davenport by two goals to nil after a particularly bright game. While the winners deserved the two points for the game, Davenport were decidedly unlucky in not scoring at least one goal.

Sunderland Won. Sunderland defeated the Caledonians on Saturday by a score of five to two. The Caledonians showed a very loose game in the first half, which ended in a score of three to nil.

A very poor exhibition of football was given by Don Valley and Orchard in their game at Willowdale Saturday.

The Maple Leafs surprised the Sons of Scotland on Saturday afternoon at Riverside Park, when they came back in the second half and tied the score.

After a most interesting game at Kew Gardens, the Devonians and Queen's Park teams drew their game, both sides failing to score.

The game between Hearts and Lan-cashire at Willowdale Park ended in a draw without a goal being scored.

Seven-Goal Win. Seven goals were scored by Dunlop Rubber in their game against Fraserburgh.

Street Railway Won. Street Railway defeated Hiawatha on Saturday by three goals to nothing.

CHELSEA GET OUT OF THE CELLAR

Oldham Safe for First League Championship—Tottenham at Bottom of the Ladder.

Altho only drawing with Aston Villa on Saturday, Oldham still have a good strong lead for the championship of the first division, and nothing but a series of accidents can stop them from heading the list.

The T. and D. games and referees for Saturday next are as follows:

Devonians v. Sunderland; T. Clark, Caledonians v. Eatons; C. M. Hall, Davenport Albions v. Baracas; W. B. Murchie.

Be Friendly and Everyone Will Be Friendly to You

By WINIFRED BLACK
Copyright, 1915, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

YESTERDAY I went on a little pleasure excursion with the Friendly Woman. It was a beautiful day, and the part of the world where we were is somehow a little more blessed than the rest, and the sun shone, and the green showed in the grass, and in the damp meadows the yellow flowers of spring were beginning to bloom.

On the boat going across the blue bay there was a tired-looking woman with a big suitcase and a little girl. And my friend, the Friendly Woman, saw the tired traveler climbing the stairs with her heavy suitcase, and she helped her a little, and at the head of the stairs she gave the little girl a flower from the bouquet she wore in her belt, and all the way over the little girl played happily with the flower and her eyes shone, and the tired woman's face looked somewhat a little rested.

In the restaurant where we ate our luncheon the woman who kept the restaurant set it for us on the porch in the bright sunshine. And before we left the place we learned that the woman's daughter was away somewhere in a great city studying to be a prima donna. She showed us her daughter's picture, and we saw a program with the daughter's name on it, and she got out a little photograph of daughter when she was a little girl and wore her hair in ringlets, and the woman who kept the restaurant walked with us to the gate and picked us a pony to wear.

Up into the Skies. And when we rode up the funny little railroad that slides up and down the funny little mountain, the young fellow who ran the car told us that to him the scenery was very Scottish. He was from England himself, he said, but he liked Scotland very much, and at the head of the railroad he showed us his little house and explained to us how happy he and his wife and his little girl were there up on top of the funny little mountain, all alone together.

"It is never lonesome," he said. "At night we can see the lights of the city and the boats going up and down the bay, and in the daytime there are the birds and the trees and the little brook, and then all the people coming and going. We love to live up here."

"Indeed we do," said the rosy little English wife. "Do," echoed the little chubby English girl. And when we went down to the little station to take our train there was a time to wait, and the man who was scrubbing out the station was a great, handsome giant with eyes like burning coals and teeth so white that they were fairly startling.

"You live here?" said the man who was scrubbing the station. He told us that he lived there near the station, and that it was very pleasant indeed. "All places are nice when a man has a nice wife and a good family," said the giant, showing every tooth in his head in a brilliant and engaging smile. "In the evening we make always a little walk, the wife and the bambino and I. It is warm, and the birds sing."

"And at noon, when I go home, it is pleasant. Those fellows there in the air"—he looked up at the circling gulls—"they are not much happy to me. They have no home."

And when the little train came in and carried us away to the great city the man who scrubbed the station stood on the platform and smiled goodby to us, as if we had been lifelong friends. And these were only three things that happened to us in all that lovely day. Neither of us asked any one a single question or did anything in the least out of the way to show that we took any unusual interest in anything or anybody.

The Friendly Woman laughed when I spoke of it. "Why," she said, "it is very simple. We liked the people, and we didn't have to say anything about it. They knew it, just as we knew that they felt kindly toward us."

SPRING BREEZES @ By Michelson

WHEN the sunlight begins to get whiter, and the earth begins to take on the changes that belong to its special "place in the sun," the breeze has a subtle way of whispering and singing. Boisterous affairs they are sometimes, full of high spirits, recklessly playful, almost hysterical, you would say, at certain moments. They like to catch HER up, because she belongs to the youth-time, and to toss her about as they do the young leaves, until she is all aglow with the tingle of LIFE. Then, with all of her a-flutter, you realize that she does BELONG to the Spring, just as you will realize by and by that she belongs to the Summer. Yes, and THEY belong to her.

To Answer or Ignore.
THERE was a subject that I think had been uppermost in Mary's mind and mine for some time, though we had ignored it during most of our luncheon. Mary having par-taken of her ice cream, stirred her coffee reflectively and volved it. "Peter," she said, in a rather colorless voice, "shall you answer Joan's letter?"

A Sweet Yielding.
Mary and I went on discussing the subject of my possible answer to Joan's letter, and for all the conversation became almost hostile and once or twice I saw her eyes flash with her usual wrath.

Secrets of Health and Happiness

Beware the "Hot Dog" and the Ubiquitous Germ

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG, A. B., M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins)

THERE may be a few rare ways, other than these by which you may fall ill, but if there are, for all practical purposes you need only remember that sickness follows only the flag of breathing, swallowing, touching, bites of insects, injuries and inheritance.

The story of the copy books about the one bad apple spoiling a dozen good ones, holds true for good health. In a village or an island community has never had an instance of cancer, typhoid, hydrophobia, or measles, there never will be one until some chance visitor brings one. Then there will be no end to the conflagration. When one end is quenched, the other is relighted.

If these elemental methods are the ones by which diseases are contracted, you must first of all guard the vestibules of your breath, to wit, the nose and throat. Ignorant, careless and impolite persons who unconsciously sneeze or cough over your food or drink or in your direction are in this respect an abomination and deserve to be clapped into the calaboose.

Guard Nose and Throat. Any one who expectorates or otherwise ejects the fluids of the head and mouth into anything but a sanitary cup or sterile napkin should be a hissing and a mocking in the name of Health and its living images.

Next to the epidemic of plague or Asiatic cholera place the pesky pocket handkerchief. When it is freshly ironed and cleaned it often reeks with deadly microbes. In lieu whereof all sanitary persons should use a little bunch of absorbent cotton, afterward to be burned as an inanimate witch.

Even a soul-stirring, comforting yawn has its lurking danger. More than politeness dictates the use of the palm of the hand before the mouth as one yawns forth some of the germs, eternally at home in their native mouths, but vicious agents when shot into a strange one.

Whenever you have worked hard, walked far or have been in public places, churches, Sunday schools, theatres or hospitals wash the nose and throat with dilute alkaline antiseptic fluid, and clean the teeth well with chlorate of potash tooth paste.

Or all the loathsome and malignant human habits—happy no animals have them—now exceeds either in its dangers or filthiness that of putting the finger nail inside the nostrils. Not only are sores and cancerous invasions thus engendered, but the delicate membranes inside the nasal cavities are woefully irritated, and often rendered more or less useless for olfactory and air warming purposes.

My word for it, full many a so-called "catarrh" would never have been born to wash unseen if in early childhood a cup of hot salt water as a laxative, is too much salt, taken in this way.

Germs in Public Places. Never drink water from a well of spring no matter how poetic or romantic the old wooden bucket and the rattle of the babbling brook may seem. If you can boil some of it in a tomato can over a twig fire and then cool it in the water whence it came well and good. Boiled water is always safe, but a strange water, sweet and sparkling though it be, is most untrustworthy.

Wells, pumps, ponds, springs, cisterns, rain barrels, old coolers, pails, dippers and such reservoirs of drink are thrifty, hospitably at hand in railroad stations, farmhouses, street cars, boats and soda fountains are cups of Circe, such them as you would a cobra.

The hands, fingers and nails are the venomous abiding places of the germs of many diseases. The reason given for many a child's sick stomach and many a man's "ptomaine" poisoning lies often not in the green apple or the cold storage fish, but in the slightly and negligently washed hands of the one who eats.

Johnny peels his hot hands and after he dabs his hands in soap and water, Mr. Smith himself washes his hands, and then runs them through his hair.

Answers to Health Questions
Mrs. W. M. E. Q.—What can I do for perspiration under the arms?
2.—What can I do for an oily skin?
A.—Apply nut gail ointment, vinegar or peroxide to the armpits.
2.—Avoid all greasy, oily and fatty foods. Do not wash with hot water or soap, but use salicylic acid, 1 part; tartaric acid, 2 parts; acetic acid, 5 parts; glycerine, 20 parts; kaolin, 20 parts; rose-water, 75 parts.
A READER Q.—What is the cause of enlarged glands of the neck or throat among so many young people?
A.—A goitre means an enlarged thyroid. It is present in most young people, but is usually connected with their development. Enlarged glands are entirely different, and due to sore throat, tonsils, bad teeth, dandruff, inflamed nose, and pimples caused by bacteria. The cause must be found before a cure can be effected.
I. S. Q.—I have always been troubled with constipation, and within the last two years have formed the habit of taking each morning before breakfast a cup of hot salt water as a laxative. Is this too much salt, taken in this way?
A.—You should not take any more salt, but drink plain water instead. Also eat green vegetables, oranges, apples, figs, prunes, dates, currants, and fatty foods. Clear soups, oatmeal, shredded wheat and cereals, and drink three quarts of distilled water daily. Two glasses before each meal, also one teaspoonful of milk of magnesia before meals.
S. T. Q.—My mother has been suffering from softening of the brain for the last five years. Is there any danger of the person having this disease doing bodily harm to another? Have you ever heard of a cure?
A.—There are so many types of absent mental health that it is impossible to advise you without a diagnosis.
Dr. Hirschberg can answer questions for readers of this paper on all subjects of general interest. He will not undertake to prescribe or offer advice for individual cases. Where the subject is not of general interest letters will be answered personally. If a stamped and addressed envelope is enclosed, address inquiries to Dr. L. K. Hirschberg, care of this office.

ADVICE TO GIRLS

By ANNIE LAURIE

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE: About four months ago I met a good-looking boy, and kept steady company with him until about three weeks ago, when he did not call at my house as usual. Last Sunday he came up to my house with his cousin and I spoke to him, but he did not answer. Instead, his cousin answered, and asked me if I would go with him. When I answered he only smiled. I did not get much satisfaction in knowing where he had been those three weeks. When I asked him he smiled and said with his boy friends. Should I write him and ask him for the final time if he will part from those boys?

Today's Fashion
O H, faddistics, Elizabeth, why do you want to make a great problem out of nothing? You seem to have read novels too much. Most certainly I wouldn't write to him and ask him to give up his boy friends. Why should you? If he doesn't think enough of you to keep his engagements with about him, and, whisper, stop reading silly love stories for a while.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE: I am deeply in love with a man 23 years old. I am 22. About a year ago we had a falling out, although we had been engaged for 18 months. Lately he has told friends of mine he loves me dearly and would like to come back and go with me again. But it wasn't my fault that we parted, so I wouldn't go and give in for the world. Please, Miss Laurie, tell me what to do so he will come back, for we are both independent.

BROKEN HEARTED.
YOU can't love this young man very much, "Broken Hearted," or you would be happy to have him back with so small an expenditure of energy and pride as meeting him would entail. If you are really sincere in your desire to "make up," why don't you tell the friend who came to you before that you would be happy to see him? I wouldn't meet him in any other place though, "Broken Hearted," than my own home.

Annie Laurie
Miss Laurie will welcome letters of inquiry on subjects of feminine interest from young women readers of this paper and will reply to them in these columns. They should be addressed to her, care of this office.

A Sweet Yielding.
Mary and I went on discussing the subject of my possible answer to Joan's letter, and for all the conversation became almost hostile and once or twice I saw her eyes flash with her usual wrath.

Mary's Dissembling Smile.
"Peter," said my wife with dignity, "please don't say it. You've just been talking in a rather high and mighty way about the courtesy due to any woman, and it isn't courteous to say you're wasting time lunching with your wife."

Solving the Problem of Making Hot Cakes Without Eggs or Sweet Milk.
WHEN in doubt as to what to have for breakfast, make it hot cakes," suggested Bob as I watched him writing out my daily menu.

EGGLESS SOUR MILK GRIDDLE CAKES.
1 cup of sifted flour.
1/2 teaspoonful of salt.
1/2 teaspoonful of baking powder.
1/2 cup of thick sour milk.
1 cup of sifted flour.
1/2 level teaspoonful of sugar.
1/2 teaspoonful of salt.
1/2 cup of pastry flour.
1/2 level teaspoonful of baking powder.
1/2 cup of milk.
First you must remove the crust from the stale bread, then soak it in water. When the bread is soft, it is turned into a paste, and water which is wrung out. When mixed, the cakes are baked in the usual way—the batter is dropped from the spoon in small portions onto a hot, well oiled griddle. When the cakes are filled with bubbles they are brown underneath; then they should be turned over to brown the other side. The heavy iron frying pan, I understand, is just as good as a griddle.
Alum mountain, near the head waters of the Gila River in New Mexico, is a mass of almost solid mineralized rock, so rich in aluminum that it is likely to furnish an almost inexhaustible supply after the eastern deposits now being used are gone.

Three Minute Journeys

WHERE PRISONERS GIVE INFORMAL TEAS.
IN these days when the malefactor is receiving perhaps even more than his just meed of attention and consideration, as witnessed by the country-wide interest in the problems of his housing and entertainment while undergoing punishment, it may be of interest to recall an experience I once had while visiting a prison on the island of Crete.

It was peculiarly a woman's prison. Incarcerated within a house with garden and well were half a hundred women undergoing punishment for crimes that ran the gamut of all the evils men and women can do. There were thieves and slanders, women who had set fire to neighbors' barns and girls who had been incorrigibly disobedient to their parents—and all, so far as I could see, were receiving precisely the same treatment.

Solitary confinement was unknown in this prison of Crete. The warden considered it sufficient punishment for anyone to be shut in the house day after day. To his mind, and the public's way of thinking, to be barred from going out whenever one wished to roam the fields and see the sights on holidays was the worst punishment society can mete out to its betrayers. Indeed, if he had been disposed to order one of his prisoners into solitary confinement, he would have had no cell in which to shut her.

For some, imprisonment in the "prison" must have been a welcome relief from toil. The inmates were not compelled to work—they merely suffered confinement. When I visited the prison house I found the gate open with one of the prisoners standing outside, and the warden some distance up the lane.

Taking Tea in a Cretan Jail.
Joying a chat. He was a fatherly person, this jailor, and the women went about washing and sewing precisely as if they were at home. One of them, indeed, had her children with her. But the most amazing sight of all was the continual stream of visitors who dropped in to have a chat with their friends and enjoy a cup of tea, and never a day went by. I was told, when there was not some tea-party given by one or other inmates, and the strangest thing of all was the fact that the community paid for the tea.
