JEROME KEEPS HIS OWN SECRET

Another Alienist Replaces Evans on the Stand and Prosecutor's Mysterious Questions Puzzle Court.

New York, March 4.—After five days of tiresome cross-examination, in which he keenly protected the interests of the defence, Dr. Evans left the witness stand in the Thaw trial today, subject to recall for re-direct and re-cross-examination.

The insanity expert appears to have been quite a match for the district attorney, who displayed so much intimate medical knowledge during his famous grilling of Dr. Wiley, the Pittsburgh alienist.

But Jerome's ways are so devious and he has built up such an atmosphere of mystery as to the probable development of his side of the case, that the outlook for Thaw is regarded by a number of those who have followed the trial closely, as being doubtful.

Jerome has asked so many apparently meaningless questions, the replies to which he has used effectively to confound later witnesses, that the daily spectators are beginning to put question marks after each point that he seems either to have dropped, or to have passed over with no consequence.

Another Alienist Testifies. Dr. Evans was succeeded on the stand by Dr. Charles G. Wagner of Binghamton, N. Y., who accompanied him on most of his visits to Thaw in the Tombs. Jerome indicated by his questioning of Dr. Wagner, that he may finish with the witness to-morrow.

William Thaw, it is expected, will be the next person in the witness chair. She may be sworn either late to-morrow or early on Wednesday.

With Mrs. Thaw's testimony in the defence practically having completed its case, and it seems likely that the case in the minds of the jury will be begun before the end of the week.

HOUSE HEATED BY WHIFF OF CIGARET

Premier Takes Hold of the Hot End of the Argument and Gently Turns Aside Demand to Banish the Weed.

"NO TIME FOR LAW THIS TERM"

Sir Wilfrid Tells Advocates of Bill That the Public Wouldn't Hear of Legislation Putting End to Use of Tobacco.

Ottawa, March 4.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier gently waved aside the proposal to introduce at this session of parliament a bill to prohibit the importation, manufacture and sale of cigarettes when it came up for discussion in the house to-day, saying, "Such a law would not be supported by public opinion and would become a dead letter."

Mr. Blain (Peel) started the discussion by declaring it was expedient to bring in such a bill at this session. He pleaded for the growing youth of Canada, and said statistics showed that the number of cigarettes manufactured in Canada had increased from 85,000,000 in 1896 to 270,000,000 in 1906.

A resolution declaring such legislation necessary had passed the house in 1887 by the vote of 128 to 48. A bill had been introduced, but had been crushed on a technicality. A bill could not be introduced now unless preceded by this resolution.

Would Let Provinces Act. E. M. MacDonald (Liberal, N.S.), apparently in response to a remark from the premier, asked if Mr. Blain would not prefer a law giving to each province power to make the manufacture and sale of cigarettes a crime.

Premier Opposes Scheme. Sir Wilfrid Laurier did not minimize the importance of the bill, but said, "Cigaret smoking is injurious, he said, 'physically and mentally to the immature youth, and, indeed, is the use of tobacco in any form.'"

Why Does Not the Government, which spends money in conserving the health of domestic cattle, spend something in conserving the health of human citizens?" he asked. "This government pays more attention to raising a bull calf than it does to raising a baby boy."

Should Make Some Sacrifice for the Benefit of the Children. It was idle to tell the boys not to smoke a pipe or a cigar, for long would the old man be smoking a pipe in the kitchen.

WOMAN'S WORLD.

FEMINE DISCONTENT.

There is no doubt that feminine discontent is spreading and women all over the country are having vague and shadowy longings for something beyond the duties of the home or the wage-earning life, although few of them seem to know definitely what they would choose.

A great many of them do not realize that they are specially favored with health and minds that work to ward something better than mere existence even tho they may fall to the routine of the life rather than the life itself that weighs them down.

This giving into routine as to something inevitable is due to a lack of imagination and sometimes to a physical tiredness or, at a bad moment, to a stupid or lack of interests and ambition. Not even when we grow old should we grow tired of the old world we live in.

Now right here make it a rule—Never entertain a longing without trying to plan toward the attainment of what you wish, if it is a worthy wish.

Practical girls write sarcastically to ask where they are to find poetry in pots and pans and pie-making three hundred and sixty-five days in the year. It is useless to try and enlighten them, especially thru written words. But the poetry is there, nevertheless. It is only the routine that hinders.

There are some living amid the most beautiful scenery who are unaware of it. There are those to whom a magnificent forest only represent so much timber. And there are others who value nothing that has not a price tag.

To the women who feel the routine of life pressing so weighing upon them, we can only advise that they first see that they are well in body, sleeping, eating and breathing properly.

Frequently these oppressed mental conditions are the result of some rebellion of the system against unhealthful food, or dress or lack of exercise, air and baths.

There are many small and simple ways in which monotony can be fought. There is no doubt that the use of us tend too horribly to the same program day after day.

homes, the same foods appear on certain days all the year round and the cooking never varies.

The world began with chaos, and, therefore, system when it was achieved was greatly overrated. System is a good thing to a certain extent. Business offices cannot be run without it; jails and orphan's asylums and insurance companies make a specialty of it. But in a woman's life it produces mental and physical weariness when it predominates and blots out beauty and gladness and good cheer, all of which are forms of faith.

Here, then, is one of the first simple home cures for dullness. Vary the diet. Stop tea and drink coffee for a while. Omit a meal now and then or omit several.

Sturve a day or two and enjoy the sensation of being genuinely hungry. Eat cold things instead of hot. Give up sweets—or meats or cereals for a spell. Try a fish diet for a while, and if purse and circumstances permit go out for dinner to some of the many interesting places near you.

Shoulders. If your eye is constantly meeting some frayed, ugly cushion, curtain or tablecover, get rid of it, even tho you may have nothing to replace it just then.

Throw out a ton or so of old carpet and clothes and kitchen utensils that are worn out. Give them away if they are any good and you will find yourself singing a hymn of thanks and stepping high as you go about the house.

Window boxes brighten a dull house and give a woman something to take care of. The sight of green growing things is good for the mind and the spirit.

One always sees a welcome in a room where there is a flower or a plant. Then set up a canary or a kitten or a puppy dog and watch it grow in grace and notice that it never seems to find life dull.

Some persons are apt to find wonderful interest and recreation in books, but others require the stimulation of actual object-lessons, perceived, felt, tasted by the senses.

Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada Evidence Before the Royal Commission Has Proved Best Advertisement Company Ever Had.

COMMENT BY THE MANAGEMENT.

The four months which have elapsed since the close of the sessions of the Royal Commission have shown that the enquiry has been of untold value to the Sun Life of Canada. The evidence brought out as never before its great strength, the high quality and absolute safety of its investments, their profitable character, the large profits paid to its policyholders, and the good faith of its directors and officers. Now that the full report has been issued, the management now with satisfaction that the criticisms of the company are few. It is true that the commissioners felt compelled to find some fault, but most of the points mentioned are of a very minor import.

The commissioners "do not find any necessity for the increase of capital stock in 1897," from $500,000 subscribed, $75,000 paid up, to $700,000 subscribed, $105,000 paid up, as at present. Several of the states which we desired to enter required a minimum paid-up capital of $100,000. Even apart from this, however, and even if it were granted that the increase was not absolutely necessary, that it was highly desirable can hardly be doubted. In 1897 the company had policy liabilities of about $7,000,000, and to-day those liabilities are about $23,000,000. The disparity between liabilities of $23,000,000 and a capital of $75,000 need not be dwelt on. Few will, we think, agree with the commissioners in considering the increase to $105,000 unwise. The management does not favor excessive capitalization, but it is of opinion that if the capital of the company be open to criticism, it is because it is too small rather than too large.

Reference is made to the fact that the company pays dividends to its shareholders of fifteen per cent. True, but that this may be seen in its real proportion it is only necessary to state that these yearly dividends since 1897 have been but $75,750, and as the capital itself earned at least five per cent, only $10,500 per annum came from the profits of the company. The actual profit earned last year was $921,721.24. Was $10,500 an excessive sum to pay from this to the shareholders, who stand as guarantors to the policyholders, not merely for $105,000, but for $700,000 of subscribed capital?

But if fault be found with the increase of capital, the terms upon which the extra stock was issued should, in fairness, be stated. For each share on which $15 was paid up ($100 subscribed), the company received in hard cash $45, or three hundred per cent. Dividends have been paid only on the $15, not on the $45. At five per cent. interest, the $45 earned the entire dividend, so that the additional stock has not cost the policyholders one dollar since it was issued in 1897, and so long as five per cent. interest can be earned, it will not cost them one dollar for all time to come, unless the rate of dividend be increased. By the issue of this stock, $90,000 of additional cash was paid in for the security of the policyholders, of which $60,000 (the premium) went into the general surplus, and the shareholders also became liable for another $170,000 of subscribed but uncalled stock, and all this has cost the policyholders nothing for the last ten years—ABSOLUTELY NOTHING!

Another point that might in fairness have been mentioned is that although the charter leaves the decision of what amounts shall be paid to shareholders absolutely to the discretion of the directors, that proportion has been voluntarily reduced to five per cent., the policyholders receiving 95 per cent., although the usual proportions are 10 and 90. The interests of the policyholders have always been first with the Sun Life of Canada.

A few other unimportant matters are also referred to. The so-called "concealed" expenses consist principally of small expenses connected with certain securities which were, as we consider correctly, deducted from the profit made from the sale of these securities. This is certainly the course which nine out of ten bookkeepers would consider right. However, these matters, were all explained in detail, and we think satisfactorily, at the sittings of the commission, and were fully reported in the press. The public are the judges in this matter, and that the public were eminently satisfied with the company's evidence has been shown by showers of congratulations. The investigation has, in fact, proved a huge advertisement for the company—the best in its entire history—because the facts brought out met with the approval of the public. Under these circumstances we are well satisfied, even though the commissioners have not seen eye to eye with us on some minor points.

MR. HANNA DENIES RUMOR NO MEDDLING IN LICENCES
Transfers Not Discussed at Albany Club—Enquiry Resumes To-Day.

Just before the legislature adjourned yesterday, Hon. W. J. Hanna rose to call attention to a statement in The Evening Star, that he, Hon. Dr. Payne, W. K. McNaught and others had assembled in the Albany Club and discussed the transfer of liquor licenses in the City of Toronto.

"To the house," declared Mr. Hanna, "it is hardly necessary to say that the story has absolutely no foundation, but for those elsewhere in the country it may be necessary, and I now do so."
Before the commission of enquiry was appointed, he went on to explain, he and those mentioned were present at a meeting in the Albany Club when no liquor licenses or transfers of any kind were discussed. The air was full of rumors at the time, and he was anxious to know just what was being said, so that a full investigation might be instituted and disclosures made.

Inspector Purvis will be called, and also S. W. Burns, possibly this afternoon. Capt. Crawford, president of Ward Two Conservative Association, is also subpoenaed.
Yesterday Andrew Martin, once proprietor of the Parkdale Hotel, who has an action pending against T. Jones and Frank P. Brazil, to recover $500 paid to them, as he alleges, for the use of his influence for the purpose of having the license for the Parkdale Hotel transferred to him, made application to the master-in-chambers for an order adding Edward Adamson as a party defendant. It was claimed that Adamson received a third of the $500 in question. The order was granted.

Major De Bury Gives Instructive Lecture to Members of the Tactical Society.

A lecture was delivered last night to the members of the Toronto branch of the Tactical Society by Major De Bury, R.A., lecturer on tactics at the Royal Military College, Kingston.

Major De Bury was introduced by the chairman, Lieut.-Col. A. G. Henderson, to the members of the society, who mustered in force. The lecture was on the combined action of the three arms, infantry, artillery and cavalry, in the attack, illustrated by limelight slides.

Major De Bury in his opening remarks pointed out the great moral advantage which an attacking force has over an opposing force, which remains stationary during the attack, in that by the very act of moving forward they do not feel the suspense which is experienced by those by whom they are opposed. He stated that before committing a body of troops to the attack of a position, it was the duty of the commander of that force to make a careful personal reconnaissance of the position. He should then make out a plan of attack. The principles by which he should be guided in making this plan were to concentrate a superior force with an over-whelming effect on the most vulnerable point. To gain these ends it was usual to attack the enemy's flank, at the same time making a secondary attack on the enemy's front to hold his attention.

The question then would be which flank should be attacked. The answer was on that flank which would give most cover from fire and would afford the artillery the best opportunity of supporting the attack; secondly, on that flank which from the natural configuration of the ground appeared the weakest.

Major De Bury then impressed the necessity for the artillery reserving fire until the infantry advance commenced, so that an overwhelming fire might be at once established at the point of attack. The artillery support should be ready to move forward to the positions which should always be chosen by the officer commanding the whole force, and a superior force should be able to get to their position under cover and when there should not, except under very exceptional circumstances, leave the position to advance.

The infantry attacking party should be divided into two parts, the first line consisting of scouts, firing line and supports, and the second line of reserves.

The firing line should be extended, the men at the commencement of the attack being 5 to 6 paces apart. As the attack progressed the intervals would become decreased by the tendency which men have to close in on one another and by the support being pushed forward until at the final assault the reserves have also been brought up and the firing line has reached its maximum density of 125 men to 100 yards of front. Supports and reinforcements should always, as far as possible, be taken from the same units as the men in the actual firing line. During the attack, feints or false attacks should be made on the position by other troops at a point well away from that of the main or decisive attack.

As regards the employment of cavalry it was a debated question whether cavalry should rely on shock or fire tactics and whether they should be employed in the support of the Russo-Japanese war cavalry seem to have been little more than gleeful mounted infantry, and in the present war used merely as a means of locomotion. The present quick-firing long distance rifle almost, if not entirely, prevented cavalry from employing their old shock tactics. The greatest use which cavalry could now be put was undoubtedly in an actual attack on a position, the order being issued from the flank, and the cavalry being moved and to carry on the pursuit should the enemy were driven from their position.

At the close of the lecture Major De Bury illustrated the principles he had been expounding by showing on a map on the screen how he would dispose his troops in an actual attack on a position. In a certain address issue to his subordinates. A discussion then followed and a hearty vote of thanks was accorded.

MINERAL TAXATION. No impost can be fairer in principle nor more justifiable on sound economic grounds than a tax on the profits of minerals and other natural resources.

Mr. Cochrane has given ample evidence of his desire to meet all reasonable suggestions and of the government's desire that no industry be thrown in the way of mining enterprises in its earlier and non-paying stages.

In the imposition of the tax Mr. Cochrane shows also an anxious desire to allow all the proper expenses of working. The regulations have been carefully framed and in accordance with his intimation he will doubtless be prepared to consider and concede any amendment necessary to achieve that object.

It is not only the iron industries in which Eastern Ontario is immediately concerned. The claims of the consuming of natural gas for domestic and manufacturing purposes will also be anticipated, but by meting of resources. There is therefore no ground for any accusation that the government is not prepared to attach due weight to all representations made by the interests directly or indirectly connected with the proposed taxation.

And not only will the provincial exchequer benefit, but the investing public will be in some measure protected from "wild cat" propositions. The elimination of this class of notations may injure the speculators that travel in the wake of genuine mineral discovery, but it will assist legitimate mining enterprise. This is alone sufficient to justify careful government regulation and a reasonable contribution to the revenues of the province.

LONDON AND MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP. Great efforts are being made by the opponents of municipal ownership to show that the results of the London County Council elections means a condemnation of that principle as applied to public service monopolies.

As a simple matter of fact the issue in the elections did not turn on this point at all, since both the defeated Progressives and the victorious Municipal Reformers are committed to public ownership and operation of this kind.

The World recently quoted from a speech delivered by Mr. R. A. Robinson, leader of the Municipal Reform party, delivered at a meeting of the late council, in which he especially declared that there was no intention whatever to let the street railways pass from the hands of the council and especially so because there were now on a paying basis. Speaking at a meeting held at Wandsworth, in support of the Municipal Reform candidates, Mr. Robinson again made the municipal reform position clear.

He is reported by The Morning Post, itself a supporter of the Municipal Reform party, to have said that he and his colleagues very much objected to the misrepresentations and mis-statements to which they were subjected.

It was actually said that they were in favor of doing away with open spaces and of building over the parks. He wished to repeal that intimation. Mr. Burns had said it was their policy to sell or lease the trams (street railways). Mr. Burns ought to know better.

IT HAD BEEN THE SETTLED POLICY OF THE COUNCIL ON BOTH SIDES FOR YEARS THAT THEY SHOULD WORK THE TRAMS, IF THAT WORK WERE UNDERTAKEN WITH CARE AND DILIGENCE, IT WOULD BE MUCH BETTER THAN NOW.

Later on in the same address Mr. Robinson showed that what the Municipal Reformers were opposing was not municipal trading on lines which brought it into competition with ordinary private business. This, as The World has repeatedly explained, is a conviction held by many public men in Britain who strongly support municipal ownership and operation of monopolies and it is a safe and sound proposition.

Mr. Robinson condemned competitive municipal trading on the ground that it was risky and was taking the money which the ratepayer was obliged to pay and using it against him in his own line of business.

He said, "neither fair nor to the advantage of the community." "They were not," he continued, "against proper municipal enterprise. Where there was a monopoly given by act of parliament, it was proper for the municipality to undertake the work, or exercise control over those who undertook it."

In the light of these emphatic declarations by the leader of the Municipal Reform party, World readers can judge for themselves regarding the attempts made to read into his success at the polls a condemnation of the principle of public ownership and operation of monopolies.

Much of the press matter sent across the Atlantic comes indeed is not infrequently specially ordered—from sources hostile to public ownership. As Mr. Robinson said in the same speech: "The real issue in the election, however, was one of finance and rates. London's rates and debts had grown enormously, and the elector now had a great opportunity of putting a check and a limit on that expenditure, and that without starving the public services or stunting education. The debt, or the 'capital' invested in a remunerative public enterprise adds nothing to the burden carried by the community. It is the unremunerative debt which creates the burden, and much of this in the case of British municipalities has been compelled by the requirements of the central government. Here and in the limitation of municipal enterprise to proper public services lies the justification for the municipal reform campaign and to represent it as directed against public ownership and operation of monopolies is directly contrary to truth."

TRANSVAAL AFFAIRS. Mr. Winston Churchill stated the other day that General Botha, the first premier of the Transvaal, would not attend the colonial conference. But for the work attending the conference of a parliamentary nature, this intimation might be open to a more sinister construction than fairness requires meantime to be placed upon it when the constitution now put upon its trial was the subject of debate in the Imperial parliament.

The under secretary for the colonies indicated that the result of the first general election would probably leave the British residents with a slight numerical lead. This forecast has, however, proved unsound, and would to all appearances have been so, although the labor party and other British elements had not joined forces with the Boers. As it is the latter command a straight majority in the elected chamber, and the wisdom of granting full responsible, as well as representative, government is thus subjected to a crucial and decisive test.

No doubt the present form of the constitution provides certain checks upon the action of General Botha's government. The second chamber is meantime a nominated body with a British preponderance, but before another general election occurs, it must be reconstituted on an elective basis. Then the Imperial government has reserved the right to control all legislative and administrative acts affecting the black population—a precaution rendered necessary by the records of the treatment extended towards the natives by the Boers in their unfettered days—and has also limited the right to sanction eastern colored immigration. General Botha has declared himself not to be hostile to the Rand mining industries, although his lieutenant, Mr. Smuts, is known to be a bitter opponent of Chinese coolie labor, and it is not likely, therefore, any immediate cause of disagreement with the present British government will occur over this question.

Nevertheless, the situation is not free from anxiety, since everything depends on the attitude of the Boers' majority and the capacity of the premier and his government to formulate a broad, fair and loyal policy. It is unquestionable

THE TORONTO WORLD: PUBLIC OWNERSHIP LEAGUE.

I approve the formation of a public ownership league and am prepared to give the movement my earnest and personal support.

Name Address

A good turn-out is expected at the St. George's Hall meeting on Saturday night to organize a Public Ownership League in South Toronto.

At present the favorite theme of the public ownership "knockers" is the alleged extravagance of two or three English municipalities in "municipal trading" enterprises.

Many have sent in their names to the organization committee. These will be assigned to the secretary of the local league, who will notify them of the date of the public, who wish the movement success, are requested to send in their names to The World and they will reach the secretary.

Toronto Globe: A public ownership league in Toronto will serve a useful purpose in curbing enfranchised corporations as well as in promoting needed extension of municipal authority.

One good work that can be done by those who are financially interested in the Hamilton Herald, is to disseminate truth and correct the carefully concocted falsehoods and half-truths circulated by interested parties on the subject of public ownership and management of public utilities.

It is obvious that this principle must be disliked, and is sure to be opposed by those who are financially interested in public service corporations. It is in their interest that the belief should prevail that public management of such services is almost necessarily wasteful and incompetent, and is usually dishonest.

They are sure to foster this belief by the most skillful and effective means. But it is in the interest of the general public, as well as in the interest of the public ownership principle, to record in Bradstreet's.

How, there is no denying that some of the charges of extravagance, imprudence and incompetency against English municipal authorities are well founded. It is no doubt true that in some cases they have launched public service projects which might, better have been left to private enterprise.

But it is not fair to condemn the general principle of public ownership and management of genuine public utilities because some municipal corporations have made imprudent and mistaken applications of the principle. It would be to condemn private enterprise because of the business failures recorded in Bradstreet's.

Such a yard would render it impossible for a housekeeper within a considerable distance around it to have white linen on her clothesline. It would smother his coal gas with its smoke and smother his life with its stinking breath. No care could keep its fine carbon dust from permeating the interior of his house.

And the worst of all this business is that it is unnecessary on the part of the corporation, to proceed any further with negotiations until the matter has been discussed in public by those who are entitled to a voice therein.

Hope that your readers, the trustees, the council and board of control, will carefully weigh this question in the interest of the public before they commit themselves to an action which could not afterwards be undone, even if it cost the lives of the citizens.

8. Shooting for gain or so as to disturb others.—Sec. 8.

It is to be noted that the game laws of almost all the provinces prohibit all shooting at or hunting of game on Sunday.

8. The importation on Sunday for sale or distribution, or the sale or distribution of any of the following articles, liquor, shops, regulation and railway laws of the provinces, also the anti-confederation laws.—Sec. 14.

Whether any particular provincial law affecting Sunday observance is valid or not depends not on anything in the Lord's Day Act, but on the British North America Act as interpreted by the courts. The privy council's famous decision of July 14, 1905, seems clearly to show that its anti-confederation provincial Sunday laws are now valid, and that the provinces cannot, since confederation, pass general Sunday laws. But it does not follow from this that they cannot pass laws or electric railway legislation including Sunday sections.

13. Section 15 requires the consent of the provincial attorney-general before "any action of prosecution is commenced," and says that such action must be begun within 90 days.

OUR SUNDAY LAW. Minneapolis Journal: A new law regarding the observance of Sunday goes into effect in Canada on March 1. It is a sweeping prohibition of all labor and business, with the exception of certain workings of necessity and mercy. These exceptions include the care of live stock and perishable food, the transportation of passengers, the supplying of the ordinary necessities of life, like water, gas, electricity and Public Ownership a Horrible Example. Boston American: Have you heard what has happened to the postal service between New Zealand and the United States?

It is really very disturbing to those who look with alarm upon the dreadful socialistic features of public ownership. You can now send from New Zealand to the United States a half-ounce letter for two cents. The price formerly was six cents.

The reduction in price was voluntary. It was found possible to serve the public by charging a rate from five cents to two cents, and it was done.

Can you not imagine how that will be with horror and indignation the operators of express companies, of railways, etc.?

Don't you know that if private industries were sending those letters half-way around the world, from New Zealand to New York City, the price for each one would not be twenty cents, or five cents, or ten cents, but twenty-five cents, or more?

Is there something in this little announcement of the voluntary change in rates from five cents to two cents to make you reflect on private ownership of absolute public necessities?

SPECIAL ANNOUNCING SHOW STOCK EDITION

THE SUGAR BEET QUESTION.
The many complaints that are being made by the growers of sugar beets in Ontario would warrant an enquiry by the government before they consider the extension of the bounty.

In fact there is a growing body of men who believe that the bounty is a wrong thing. If the industry, they reason, is going to be a success, the pay-feeding of the past three years ought to be enough to put them on their feet.

But the real subject of the farmer's grievances is the double dealing of the factories with the growers. Many farmers have not yet shipped their beets, and many have lost their whole crop by the delay. Considerable carelessness in shipping and payment for consignments has been made by the factory. At one station, where orders were received to ship, the farmers appeared at the station in the evening with three loads of sugar beets. No car was there. The owner telephoned to find out the reason, and all the satisfaction he got was that he was to ship if he could get a car. But it transpired that this same company had just a few days ago ordered the railways not to consign any more cars to them, as they would not lift them. This accounted for the car absence, and the sugar company tried to play off in that ignominious way.

Other actions just as little as this one, and as unsatisfactory to the growers, have been reported. The question which one naturally asks is, are these fellows our government should bonus? The farmers certainly object to any such legislation, at least until the factory pays each grower in full for his losses. This factory should be publicly censured for their laxity and double dealing.

CO-OPERATIVE EXPERIMENTS

Some Advantages of the Provincial Co-operative Work With Farmers

The success that has attended the work of the provincial co-operative work, is cause for much gratification to all farmers. Nevertheless there are many farmers, who do not yet see the benefit of the work, and such would do well to read the list of advantages given in a circular issued by the department. They are:

- It distributes the very best seeds, plants, fertilizers, etc., among the best men, and then teaches the men to experiment and to keep their own records.
- It furnishes hundreds and even thousands of objects annually, which from centers for interesting varieties along the lines of progressive agriculture.
- It leads to a substantial increase in farm profits, and to a steady advance in agricultural education throughout Ontario.
- It specializes seed distribution along definite lines and for valuable purposes.
- It enables practical men to obtain information regarding varieties of field crops, selections of seeds, dates of seeding, methods of cultivation, ways of increasing soil fertility, etc., for their own particular farms, which they could not get in any other way.
- It enables farmers to get a supply of pure seed of the leading varieties of grains and potatoes, which rapidly increases in quantity, and thus furnishes seed for sowing and planting on large areas and for selling at good prices.
- It educates along the lines of careful handling, close observation, accurate calculation, and economical methods.
- It trains men to unite science with practice, and to lead other men to do likewise.
- It helps farmers to understand better the scientific principles that they read about in bulletins, reports and newspaper articles, and that they hear about at agricultural meetings.
- It supplies valuable topics and materials for discussions in the field, at the roadside, in the corner grocery, at meetings of Farmers' Institutes, etc.
- It stimulates the local papers to take a deeper interest in agriculture, and better methods of farming.
- It furnishes some exceedingly important results for printing and distributing in the form of bulletins and reports.
- It adds dignity to farming and pleases the farm boys interested in keeping the farm boys interested in farm work.
- Farmers wishing to enter into this work and thus get a love for seed selection, would do well to apply to C. A. Zavitz, director O.A.C., Guelph, Ont.

EDWIN WARD'S SALE.

Over forty years ago Mr. Jos. Ward of Greenbank laid the foundation for the herd that is being sold at Greenbank on Thursday, March 14. Mr. Edwin Ward will sell some of the finest Cotswold ewes with lambs, ewe lambs and ram lambs that can be found in Canada. He has two registered mares in an imported brood, two drivers, two cows and a filly.

In pure-bred cattle he has two cows with calves. Three cows, due soon; five heifers, one bull calf, all Scotch toped. There are also five grade milkers and a head of yearlings. The sire of these animals are such bulls as Hopeful (imp.), Royal Banner, sold at Mr. Platt's sale for $1500; a Sarcasm (imp.), a Cruikshank, Secret (Royal Sovereign (imp.), King of Banff (imp.) and McIntosh (imp.).

Farmers will do well to travel a long distance to attend this sale of choice goods. Remember the place and date—March 14, at Cotswold Ridge Farm, Greenbank P.O., and Uxbridge Station, G. T. R.

The New York Train.

From Toronto leaves at 6.10 p.m. daily, through Pullman sleeper and a parlor car to Buffalo, via the Grand Trunk and Lehigh Valley. Secure tickets and make reservations at Grand Trunk City office, northwest corner King and Yonge-streets. Phone Main 4209.

HORSES ARE IN DEMAND. SALES AND PRICES GOOD

United States Dealers Are Looking for Stock—Northwest Importations.

It is very well for newspapers and others to talk about the demand for horses increasing in spite of the automobile, but if they are it is not in spite of the automobile, but it is because the increase of business, the increase of population, the increase of pleasure-seekers, the increase of horse shows, have made it possible for two to thrive when one formerly succeeded in so doing. As the increase of prices, that is the use, first to the farmer, then to the trolley and the motor caused such a slump in the horse market, the automobile in prices that both went below the normal. Then the various wars cleaned up the horse market, and now available horse stock is very scarce. Horses are mainly responsible for the increase of price, and also for the increase of business, and also for the increase of pleasure-seekers, who are undoubtedly the desire of everybody.

Other actions just as little as this one, and as unsatisfactory to the growers, have been reported. The question which one naturally asks is, are these fellows our government should bonus? The farmers certainly object to any such legislation, at least until the factory pays each grower in full for his losses. This factory should be publicly censured for their laxity and double dealing.

LAST CALL FOR JOHNSTON'S SALE.

To-morrow will see the dispersion of the celebrated short-horn herd of Arthur Johnston of Greenwood. Celebrated because of the long-establishment of this herd—being the oldest in Canada—and because of the individuality of the animals. No better opportunity has occurred for many years, or is likely to occur in the near future, to secure foundation stock for establishing a herd, or the most desirable blood to introduce into an existing herd. The catalog opens with the imported six-year-old roan cow, Garnation Queen, of the favorite Mink Rammer family, the dam of three calves, all living, and she is well gone with her fourth. Following is the Marquis, imported four-year-old Lady Ann 8th, and Lady May (imp.), bred by Gordon, of Newmarket, and bred by the champion, Cornerstone. Three of the Newport Princess Royal family, the favorite Mink Rammer family, a trio of Bruce Mayflowers, with half a dozen crosses of Cruikshank and Willis sires showing their pedigree.

Glanders is common in Oklahoma, and killing is general, but owners refuse to take compensation from the state for slaughtered animals. There's an example for you.

Messrs. Burns & Sheppard will offer at the Prince of Wales Hotel, on Monday, two hundred, they claim, of the best horses offered this season, including a pair of chest pairs of draughts, a choice lot of drivers, several superior carriage horses, and a few combination horses, besides a specially selected lot of cold bloods, of which several were left from a first-class commission that was over-filled by the experts last Saturday. The horses are the stables of the firm yesterday evening, and the best of the offerings to be made to-day.

HARNESSEMAKERS PROSPER.

The Master Harness Makers' Association are now holding their annual meeting.

The Master Harness Makers' Association commenced their annual meeting yesterday afternoon in the board of the building.

The president of the association, J. Wycarnier, editor of the Harness World, Cincinnati, Ohio. He compared the Canadian and American methods of business in the harness-making industry, and suggested that the Canadian manufacturers and dealers should be sending out catalogs, or a great portion of the legitimate retail trade, forgetting that the retailers, by adding sewing machines and other accessories to their plant, could manufacture more cheaply and undersell their competitors at a distance, but it would at the same time be necessary to advertise to their clients their ability to do so.

SALT ON LAND.

Ag. Editor: What effect has salt on land and how can I apply it intelligently?

L. B. Ott, Co. Ans.—The effect of salt on soils is due to its indirect action in aiding the manufacture of animal and vegetable matter, and increasing their absorbing power by its reaction with phosphate acting as a solvent for phosphorus. There is no intelligent way to apply it, because, in the first place, it is too expensive. The same effect can be obtained by an application of kainit, one-third of the quantity of which is common salt. In any case, fertilizers should be applied months before sowing or planting rain, or at least during rainy weather; when the plants are apt to be killed by them.

LEGISLATURE DISCUSS FIGHTING WHITE PLAQUE

I. P. Downey Moves Second Reading of His Bill—Board of Health Prepared to Act.

Premier Whitney, in view of the desire to close the session by Easter, moved in the legislature yesterday that, as under the rules government business cannot be dealt with on Mondays, if the opposition had no objection, an opportunity would be given to take up government business on Monday after other business had been disposed of.

Hon. Mr. Graham realized the necessity if the intention was to get through by the time announced, but thought better not to sit that afternoon. It would be members' own fault if they were not present in future.

Premier Whitney stated that he would announce to-day his suggestion regarding dealing with various amendments to the Assessment Act, so as to avoid embarrassing the house by dealing with them separately. There are 15 bills of this nature down for second reading. There are 27 amending the Municipal Act.

Tuberculosis Prevention.

J. P. Downey moved the second reading of the bill to prevent the spread of tuberculosis. It is an excellent speech, well supported by statistics, reasonable and impressive in tone and commendable in brief. Provincial Secretary Hanna once more put the issue over and Mr. Downey consented to the withdrawal of his bill on the understanding, however, that it would be referred to the provincial board of health, with a view to definite action being taken by the government next session. This is looked upon as a pledge that the government will really deal with one of the most important questions before the province, and which involves more in the loss of life, not to speak of money, than any other cause outside the liquor question.

Mr. Downey's bill provided for the establishment of county sanitariums and tuberculosis cases. Mr. Downey said that until Dr. Koch's discoveries, science had no clear understanding of the cause of tuberculosis. There was always the difficulty of deciding how far we should go in interfering with individual liberty. There was a secretiveness for material reasons among families whose members might be stricken by the disease which differentiated it from smallpox and other infectious diseases. Physicians of the time of Aristotle, Galien, Cappadocia and the fathers of modern medicine, by quotations by the member for Quebec, show the necessity of proceeding with precautions against its infectious character. Choplín, the musician, was shunned on this account and Chateaubriand, writing from Rome, wrote his riting press because that city had quarantined it.

The deaths annually over the world from consumption are 500,000. In England and Wales there are 16,000 deaths a year. London has 8,000 deaths a year from it, and the United States 120,000. Germany has 134,000 deaths of children directly or indirectly owing to tuberculosis. In Canada the enormous cost has been illustrated by figures presented at a recent German congress running...

into hundreds of millions annually. Measures to Alleviate. As a result of educative measures adopted in connection with a workmen's insurance scheme a great reduction in the death rate has been secured. Norway took forward stand and compelled notification to the health officers of all cases of tuberculosis, who take such precautions as may be deemed necessary in isolating the cases. Large sums are spent by the States of the Union, Canada having recently spent $125,000 on a sanitarium.

Little or nothing was done in the Dominion or in Ontario. Mr. Downey cited the report presented by the Dominion committee thru Senator Edwards and Senator Ferley and which had erected a hospital for consumptives and was receiving the grant for that purpose.

The death rate in Ontario had risen from 193 in 1871, or 75 per 1000, to 139 per 1000 in 1904. The County of Waterloo was lowest in this respect. The worst rate was observed along the St. Lawrence of 1.93, Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry being 2.13. The highest rate in the province was at Thunder Bay, where the death rate population increased it to 2.28.

Without compulsory notification Mr. Downey's suggestion for a starting point whatever might be done by the establishment of hospitals, sanitariums, dispensaries and the operation of educative measures, nothing would avail for the success of systematic and effective methods of treatment.

The legislature owed a solemn and sacred duty to the people they represented in guarding their health. They ought to have been more aggressive in assumption took more people from the American continent in one year than in 15 or 20 years. Mr. Downey spoke with earnest eloquence of the overwhelming necessity of some steps being taken such as the bill provided. He believed it was capable of amendment and thought that in committee the house might deal with it with advantage.

Grenfell and His Work FOR PEOPLE OF LABRADOR

Doctor-Philanthropist Tells of His Plan for Stocking Reindeer.

Dr. Wilfrid Grenfell, C.M.G., the distinguished medical missionary, attracted one of the largest audiences which the Canadian Club have ever had. He held the audience in deep interest as he narrated incidents of the work on the Labrador coast, and especially of the new venture in introducing reindeer as an industry, means of transportation and subsistence for the people of Labrador.

He reproached the Canadian government for its inefficient systems of communication with the scattered population on the Canadian coast of Labrador. He said that in introducing the reindeer was originated by Dr. Sheridan Jackson and Governor Brady in Alaska. It was not until 1890 that Dr. Jackson introduced reindeer as an industry, means of transportation and subsistence for the people of Labrador.

Reindeer were valuable to the Labrador settlers and Indians because they would supply them with milk, and the milk products, meat in winter and their skins would make clothing for the present and future population. Especially were they valuable for transportation. They could also provide employment for the settlers and winter would prevent many of the bleeding human joints and aching limbs which greet the doctor every winter. The evidence of scurvy in the homes of the weather-bound fishers and settlers. These deer live on the native mosses of the barren lands, where trees are never seen. As proof of the power of the moss to support them, Dr. Grenfell said that on the barren lands there were hundreds of thousands of caribou, and he had seen several reindeer over 1000 pounds in one season. One square mile of moss will support thirty reindeer in winter. It would support 1000 reindeer in summer. The reindeer were first introduced to the Labrador coast by Mr. Halliday, and that a practical start would be made this year.

67 LOADS AT JUNCTION. EXPORT QUALITY IMPROVED.

Receipts of live stock at the Union Stock Yards were 67 carloads, composed of 1280 cattle, 148 hogs, 161 sheep, 11 calves and 1 horse.

The quality of export cattle was, if anything, a little better, but the butchers' classes were about the same as has been offered for some time past.

Trade was inclined to be slow early in the day, but closed fairly brisk. All offerings were sold out by noon.

Prices ruled steady at last week's quotations.

One load of exporters, 1400 lbs. each, at $5.15; one load of butchers, 1000 lbs. each, at $4.40; one load of mixed, 1000 to 1200 lbs., each, at $4.00; Lunnie & Halligan bought two loads of export cattle, 1000 lbs. each, at $4.75; several feeding bulls, 1200 to 1400 lbs. each, at $3 to $3.50.

James Halliday bought a unit of cows at $110, or, in other words, $70 for the best lot, for which he sold a cow which was Mr. Halliday's way of putting it.

Market Notes. Local butchers have complained in the past few weeks that the proportion of finished steers and heifers has been smaller than in former years, and that the dressing percentages of their purchases have been very disappointing.

The local butchers' finished cattle, now being offered, is strong evidence of there not being a very large number in the market as a whole.

Dealers state that prime heaves, if such could be really had, would readily bring more money than the top grades sold at late.

Steers and heifers, classed of late as choice, would in other seasons be classed little better than medium, but they are the best to be had now, and the local butchers are compelled to content themselves with what is offered, tho' the one and all complain that the killing percentages of cattle bringing the highest prices fail to show evidence of high quality beef, or good feed, on the part of the farmer.

It now looks as if the choice, well-dressed cattle for the months of May and June were a thing of the past.

John J. Snow, one of the few pioneers left in Carleton Place, was on the market for the first time in his life, never having been in Toronto before, also only about 20 miles distant. Mr. Snow is a prominent farmer, and was highly delighted with his sale. He sold the World best cow for $1000, and a cow for $400, and a cow for $500. Mr. Snow is a very successful farmer, and has many months' absence.

Women's Glee Championship. Mrs. M. C. Brown of St. Louis, today won the second and third prizes in the series of seven. It was her first time in the championship of the world. She is a member of the World Best Cow Club. The first prize was $1000, and the second $500.

Brutal Game of Hockey. Montreal, N.B., March 3 (Special).—The most brutal game ever seen in the Maritime Provinces was played here last night, when the Moncton and Sackville teams met in a game which was a real war. The Sackville team, which was a new one, and did not seem to be absolutely the best manner of dealing with the situation, thought Mr. Preston might content himself with having given the house and the public the benefit of his suggestion. Mr. Preston was content.

What you need is Ferruzone. It regulates the gastric juices, puts new life into the stomach, braces digestive powers, gives the aid that's so badly required.

Ferruzone is the best treatment because it goes to the root of the trouble, remedies the conditions that cause dyspepsia and thereby cures permanently.

New Suggestion to Pacify Sandbar Cottagers—Argos Still After Site.

CITY HALL TO-DAY. 11 a.m.—Board of control.

The Argonaut Rowing Club, not discouraged by the cool reception with which its efforts to obtain Mags's Landing as a clubhouse and athletic ground site have so far been met, is renewing its application for a favorable hearing.

Robert Mackay, on behalf of the club, waited again upon the civic island committee yesterday, with a request that consideration of the question be reopened, and was given the assurance that further representations would be heard.

There has been a constant struggle between the city and the lessees of lots on the western sandbar of the island. The regulations have not been well observed, and to pin the cottagers down to something definite, Assessment Commission Forman has prepared an agreement wherein lessees agree to remove at any time on six months' notice being given, without compensation, according to them the right to make such building extensions as they wish. Heretofore the regulations have been restrictive in this direction.

The contract with the Electric Light Company for lighting the island will be ready for the next meeting.

The question of whether the city should apply to the legislature for power to reduce the hours for the sale of liquor will be debated by the legislature and reception committee this afternoon.

Aid. Bengough, the author of the motion, promises to press it vigorously, and as Chairman Aid. J. J. Graham, Aid. Church and Aid. McEwen of the committee are all reckoned as "cold water" advocates the issue promises to be interesting.

Aid. Bengough's $700 exemption motion also comes up, and this year's council will again have to place itself on record in the matter.

City at Law. Action against the city was yesterday begun at Osgoode Hall before Chief Justice Mulock, because of the rescinding of the bylaw for the extension of Major street.

Major street, Mrs. M. Wells and other property-owners affected are the plaintiffs.

The original bylaw was passed Dec. 19, 1906, and in the week ensuing before its repeal, fifteen lots through which the street extension was to pass were sold by Miss Wells.

The city council, for the plaintiffs, was that the city could not revoke a license once given for the opening of a road, unless notice were given the parties interested, another right-of-way provided, and compensated.

The city asked for $32,000, and for which $35,000 was offered by Press Union school as a site for the new technical school, had been bought by Miss Wells.

For H. H. Williams and the city in trust for Mrs. Williams and H. Cummings.

The case was not concluded.

Next Ask First. The Bell Telephone Company has been notified by the city not to construct any more telephone lines without first obtaining the city's consent, as required by the amendment to the Railway Act.

The hearing of appeals in the omnibus suit and the Avenue-road extension mileage case has been postponed by the city council.

COULD'N'T RUN MORE CARS AND IMPROVE THE SERVICE

So Say Company Employes—Newspaper Article is Brought to Attention of Board.

When the railway board assembled on Monday afternoon, to continue the hearing as to overcrowding on the street railway, H. S. Oeler, as a matter of privilege, drew the attention of the board to an article appearing in The Globe of Saturday, entitled, "Overcrowding and Counting." The article was characterized by Mr. Oeler as libelous and defamatory, and he asked that some action be taken.

Legislation First Required TO FINANCE SUMMER SCHOOL

A long controversy ensued between Mr. Fullerton and John Agnew, director of ceremonies at the Yonge and King-street corners.

An honorarium of $50 was voted to Miss Bailey of the Children's Shelter, in addition to her salary of $700, in consideration of the difficult nature of her particular work.

HORSE WILL GIVE EVIDENCE At Least, Magistrate Will Look Him Over Before Deciding Case.

The most important case in the afternoon police court yesterday was a charge against James Ejoy, jr., who is supposed to have worked a horse to claim for a horse.

Then the magistrate Richard Greer and Chief Inspector Archibald had a little more to say.

Albert Smith, arrested Saturday night on the charge of obstructing the police, was allowed to go with a warning.

Thomas H. Campbell will not be tried for a week on the charge of stealing two bicycles.

ON THE RIGHT TRACK. Liberal Paper Commends Mr. Maclean's Two-Cent Rate Bill.

The following editorial, taken from The Windsor Record, a Liberal paper, is significant of the feeling that is prevalent that the cheaper railroad rate must come.

W. F. Maclean's two-cent rate bill was reported against in committee and in accordance with custom was rejected by the commons. But Mr. Maclean is not the only one who is right.

Up to the present the railway commission has accomplished nothing of an extraordinary nature. It is true that it seems to be swamped with business, but the impression is given that it does not take much to keep it busy.

In the course of the discussion that ensued the prime minister said that Mr. Maclean had gone to a convention in the State of Michigan in order to get more information.

Mr. Maclean's two-cent rate bill is a compact, as closely knit and densely populated as Michigan, he would have no objection.

Sir Wilfrid's objection scarcely meets the case. Canadian trunk lines traverse a country which is being developed by the tremendous congestion of traffic that prevails in freight, at least. As a matter of fact, thousands of miles of Michigan railways are settled that require much more sparsely than do the routes of the Canadian roads in Ontario and Quebec.

SHORT SPELLING BOARD PLANS ACTIVE CAMPAIGN

One Hundred Magazines and Newspapers Are Already Using Space-Saving Method.

New York, March 4.—With an army of 15,000 supporters, who have signified their belief in the simplified spelling ideas, with 100 magazines and newspapers already using the shorter forms, and with 130 other publications ready to begin to spell in the space-saving way, the simplified spelling board is planning for this year a very active campaign to secure the adoption of its idea.

In the first two months of this year 250 important business men have joined the movement. A campaign among colleges and university professors in two months has added 600 names to the list of supporters.

The next campaign will be to interest the faculties and pupils of the great normal schools. Already there are 3000 teachers who have signed the adhesion card, while simplified spelling is being taught or authorized in 2500 normal schools of Colorado, Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, and other states, and in 5000 of the public schools of Washington, D.C.; Dayton, O.; Columbus, O.; Duluth, Minn.; Passaic, N.J.; and many other cities and towns.

IN THE POLICE COURT. Hundred Chinese Appear, But Are Remanded Until Friday.

The 100 and then some more Chinese, arrested Sunday night on the charge of frequenting a gaming house at 101 West Queen-street, were lined up in police court yesterday morning.

An interpreter was pressed into service. After a short consultation between Magistrate Denison, Crown Attorney Corley and T. C. Robinette, K.C., it was decided to postpone the hearing until Friday.

The interpreter made the news known to the "bunch" of Chinese, and they jabbered themselves out of the court room. Mr. Robinette, their counsel, did not elect to proceed.
