BRITISH ATTACK FOE WITH GREAT VIOLENCE

Bulgarians Refuse to Admit Advances on Vardar River.

London, April 25.—A Bulgarian official communication dated Wednesday, which was received by the British government, stated that the Bulgarians refused to admit advances on the Vardar River and Lake Doiran, after violent artillery activity during the night, the British troops attacked at night with considerable forces. The enemy was everywhere repulsed, mainly by grenades and in many places hand fighting.

Lloyd George to Announce Important Imperial Policies

London, April 25.—The war cabinet conference met today, when vital decisions of common concern were decided. Premier Borden and his colleagues will attend the admission to the freedom of London tomorrow of Lloyd George, who is expected to make important announcements on matters of imperial concern.

WAR SUMMARY

THE DAY'S EVENTS REVIEWED

ANOTHER pause in the infantry action in France marks the completion of the recent British operations, and the British and French preparations for the next ones. Only the artillery maintained its unceasing bombardment. On the British front the guns kept up a lively engagement between Arras and St. Quentin; on the French front the most violent centres in the general artillery engagement were Cerny and Hurtebise. The successes of the allies have attracted to the western front all the divisions raised and trained by the enemy in the past winter for his offensive against Russia, and those not already destroyed will now have to face the further assaults of the allies.

An important outcome of this week's fierce action has been the gaining of a British ascendancy over the Germans in the fighting of the open field. In an interview given to Berlin newspapers in mid-winter, Von Hindenburg predicted that the German army would welcome the return of a winter of manure, because while it was an old army and especially trained for this sort of war, the British army was a new and untrained army, except for trench warfare. He suggested that in a war of the open field variety the German army, with its superior training, would fight at a great advantage over the British army with its inferior training. When the testing-time arrived, the British success exploded this theory. The Germans had gained considerable useful tactical experience in their Polish campaign of 1918, and they hoped that this would serve them in good stead. The British, however, it seems, have outclassed them in tactics. What they now need above all is a constant and increasing stream of shells to blast the Germans out of France and Belgium.

So far the first few weeks of this spring's fighting, as compared with the same period after the opening of the battle of the Somme last year, have brought the British double the number of prisoners, a great many more captured guns, and half the casualties. If the German losses have been twice as great and the British losses half as great as in the same period last July, the present British operations must be four times as effective as last year's.

"Tommy Uses His Ammunition as if It Were Grains of Sand," the Comment of Enemy Gunner Shelled Out of Vimy Ridge.

By Stewart Lyon.
Canadian Headquarters in France, via London, April 25.—From the dugouts of Vimy Ridge and from prisoners taken there were obtained many letters, diaries and other documents indicating the efficiency of our preparatory artillery fire as well as the accuracy of our information of which it was based. Some of these have been translated. They prove that the enemy had heavy losses in men and material before the infantry was loosed upon him, and that even more serious was his loss of confidence as he saw his trenches blown away and his guns buried.

FRENCH WIN SUCCESS

Aviators Smash Up or Damage Twenty-Two Hun Airplanes.

London, April 25.—The British official communication issued this evening says: "A party of the enemy which attempted to raid one of our bases southeast of Ypres early this morning was driven off with losses. There was considerable activity during the day by both sides at a number of points between St. Quentin and Arras and also in the neighborhood of Ypres. Successful work was carried out by our aeroplanes yesterday in spite of the less favorable weather. In air fighting two German machines were brought down, one of them falling in our lines. A third was driven down out of control. Three of our machines are missing. Complete repairs of a violent massed counter-attack of German forces against new British positions around Gavrelle was announced in Field Marshal Haig's official statement today. "Early at night the enemy again endeavored to attack our new positions at Gavrelle," he said. "His advancing troops were caught in our artillery barrage and completely repulsed. Elsewhere there was nothing of special importance. The official communication issued by the French war office tonight reads: "In Belgium the two armies were very active in the sector of Westende. South of the Lys River we caught under our fire and dispersed an enemy concentration near Vauxhall. "Between the Aisne and the Chemin-des-Dames the Germans, after their sanguinary checks of yesterday, did not renew their attempts. A violent artillery action in the sectors of Cerny and Hurtebise was not followed by any infantry action. "On the left bank of the Meuse a strong enemy reconnaissance was attempted to reach our lines in the Avocourt Wood was repulsed by our grenadiers. "Five Planes Felled. "On April 23 and 24 six German aeroplanes were brought down in aerial engagements by our pilots. In addition sixteen other enemy machines were seen falling into their own lines seriously damaged. From the 16th to the 22nd of April our pilots have added appreciably to the number of their exploits. Sub-Lieut. Dorne brought down his nineteenth and twentieth machines; (Concluded on Page 2, Column 3).

PRINCE'S BODY CANNOT BE SENT TO GERMANY

Britain Has Replied to Request Made Thru Neutral Sovereign.

London, April 25.—Lord Robert Cecil, minister of blockade, today replied to a question in the house of commons today that a private inquiry had been received thru the sovereignty of a neutral power as to whether the body of Prince Friedrich Karl of Prussia, who died of wounds while a prisoner, could be sent to Germany. The government, he said, had responded that this was impossible at the present time. It has been suggested by members that the British government, Lord Robert stated, insist as a condition for granting the request that the bodies of Miss Edith Cavell and Capt. Fryatt be returned to England.

FEWER WOUNDED TO BE TAKEN TO ENGLAND

Decrease in Number of Hospital Ships is Logical Course.

Washington, April 25.—Measures to cope with the continued destruction of hospital ships by German submarines will be among the first questions taken up by the British and French cabinets. The only means open to France and Great Britain is to decrease the number of hospital ships and thus minimize the risk. In order to do that it will be necessary to establish greater facilities for caring for greater numbers of wounded soldiers in France instead of transporting them across the ocean.

DUNLOP RUBBER HOSE

1894-1917 Truly-Canadian

Emphatic Endorsation By Highest Authorities

The masterly qualities of Dunlop Mill Fire Hose—the undeniable superiority under every test—are what secured for the Dunlop Line the approval of the Underwriters' Laboratories, Inc., Chicago. The approval takes the form of authorizing Dunlop to use the Underwriters' label, or, in other words, their O.K. mark, on Dunlop Underwriters' Mill Fire Hose (Cotton Rubber Lined).

Underwriters do not have a habit of putting their approval on secondary products. They have a passion for going straight to the brand which has leadership written all over it. You can figure out for yourself the merit Dunlop Underwriters' Mill Fire Hose (Cotton Rubber Lined) must have to be so highly regarded by the Chicago Underwriters.

Nation-Wide Demand for "Dunlop"

Steam Hose is a line that cannot survive very long on make-believe virtues. Hence the reason we feel proud that Dunlop Hose is in such nation-wide demand by critical observers of just what merits a Steam Hose must possess. Dunlop "Gibraltar" and Dunlop "Peerless" have a pretty good monopoly of favor with Steam Hose users.

Skilled Men Await Your Commands

Dunlop "Hercules" and "Peerless" are two brands of Water Hose famous for their exceptional durability and smooth waterways. We also manufacture hose for many other purposes. Our skilled men are ready to specialize on your order, no matter how particular you are.

BRITAIN'S EFFORT AGAINST THE SUB

Alfred Noyes Tells How the British Shipbuilders Meet Losses.

Revolution is more liable to occur in a country where the shipbuilders are dependent on the outside world for their raw materials. In such a country, the shipbuilders are more likely to be affected by a revolution in the raw materials market. Alfred Noyes, a British shipbuilder, has written a book about the losses of British shipbuilders during the war. He tells how the British shipbuilders meet these losses. He says that the British shipbuilders have been able to meet these losses by increasing their production and by finding new sources of raw materials. WAR SUMMARY THE DAY'S EVENTS REVIEWED

These things should be done rather than predictions of a speedy peace for the enemy, which all allied estimates of an early end to the war are estimates of the ultimate limit of the allied armaments. It is better to encourage the German people to hold out longer.

Major-General Maude deals with the German claim that they declared the front in the East as on before Arnes in a manner to explain in British estimates of advancing and the real outcome of the fight. He said that the German claim that they would have maintained their present position, but they would have to fall back. Each phase of the advance, as often noted, is imposed on the British by the need for food and ammunition. Each foot of the ground held by the German is to be plastered with shells. When the British get through with the German in the battle of Arnes, they hope that the Germans will not have the power of undertaking an offensive in Russia or Italy. The British are still in the main, mainly consists of having better gunners and more shells than the enemy.

The British are increasing the number of vessels under construction, including those of the Allied navies, and the British Board of Trade. Shipping is being built at the rate of 200,000 tons a year, but the records are a little better than in the past, and iron vessels at a faster rate.

And a certain group of our milliners devote their entire time to the designing and fashioning of dull, black hats that attain to this standard. These are the models featured in the secluded little Mourning Showroom—one of the most successful collections of hats to be found in the whole of the Millinery Department.

There are widows' "bonnets" in conventional Marie Stuart effects, and in turban and close-fitting hat styles. They are made of Georgette crepe, lisse or dull corded silk, with facings of white crepe and long veils of net, lisse, grenadine or Georgette. These range in price from $7.50 to $14.00.

Modish hats for youthful wearers have rolling or straight brims, and are smartly contrived of crepe de Chine, pouille de soie, Georgette crepe, or row up on row of ribbon, with smart flare or cockade of the ribbon by way of ornament. Some have white crepe facings. Prices, $7.50 to $9.50.

Turbans, close-fitting hats and fancy sailors for more mature wearers are produced in the same materials, with dull jet or folds of crepe or lisse as trimming. And, these are featured likewise from $7.50 to $9.50.

Success In Growing Vegetables

Timely hints for the amateur gardener, by S. C. Johnston, Vegetable Specialist, Ontario Department of Agriculture.

THE soil is the workshop in which are made many of the constituents which go to make up plant food. These foods must be so treated that they will be in such a condition that they may be readily taken up by the slender rootlets of the plant so that the plant will thrive and mature.

If possible add some manure to your soil and work it up well before planting time. This manure may be obtained readily from various sources, such as cow manure, horse manure, or from a dealer in manure. It is well to supply it at a reasonable rate, the heavy soils it is particularly recommended that heavy applications be made in order that the soil will be of a much finer condition, so that it will retain a large quantity of water. Manure of the garden soils will be benefited by the application of lime. This may be secured from various sources, such as the contractor and builder, lime and cement dealers, and may be in the form of fresh lime, or even slaked lime. This lime should be scattered over the surface of the soil after the digging has taken place, and a sufficient amount should be applied to make the surface of the ground fairly white. This should be done by raked into the soil just previous to the planting of the seed.

Digging Your Garden

It is necessary in all gardens that the soil be turned over at one time or another during the early spring in order that it may become dry and fine. We find that many of the troubles of the backyard garden are caused by digging the soil too early in the spring. One of the easiest ways to tell when the soil is ready for digging is to gather a handful and press the fingers over it in a somewhat compact manner. If the soil is not far enough advanced for commencing digging, it will fall into several small parts, so that it is assured that it is perfectly safe to dig.

What Tools to Use

It is unnecessary for the backyard gardener to purchase many tools for the first year. Those who have been growing vegetables in their backyard for a number of years, gradually add to their supplies until after three or four years they have accumulated many special tools which are suited to the work of the garden. (Complaints are sometimes heard that the expense necessary to equip a backyard garden is very great. Many very good backyard gardens have been made and are being obtained with very few and comparatively inexpensive tools. A digging fork all the tools essential at the outset, and these are inexpensive.)

Planting of Seeds.

As the planting as possible should be secured, so that the little seeds will quickly germinate and grow. To sow the seeds quickly, evenly and in thin rows requires considerable care and skill. One way to do this is by stretching fairly tight lines across the garden, and using this as a guide for making the rows. Treaches or drills for planting are also used. After the seeds have been dropped in they should be covered with soil. If the soil is very hard, it may be gently drawn over with the back of a spade, or in other words, the soil should be covered with a piece of straw or hay, or a layer of manure, but it should be covered with soil with the fingers. The soil should be packed down with the feet.

Thinning.

If a backyard gardener should not attempt to grow large quantities of plants, it is necessary to plant sufficient seed to secure a good crop of plants, the more abundant plants being thinned out soon after they are above ground. This is a reasonable room for a good crop of healthy plants. The thinning should be commenced when the plants are from one to two inches in height, and should not be left until the plants have become long and slender. If the plants are thin, it is simply trying to grow another crop, whereas, if they are thinned to a proper distance they will have room to grow to the required size of maturity.

Transplanting.

The city dweller will find it almost impossible to grow plants of fine quality of such vegetables as tomatoes, celery, or cabbages unless he has a hotbed, which enables him to start the seeds very early in the spring and some time before they could have been planted out in the garden. In order that he may secure early crops, it is well to grow the plants which may be taken to the backyard garden and transplanted to the garden at a required distance and in a required direction. Good healthy crops grown in the hotbed may be transplanted to the garden in the following manner: To transplant a seedling, first dig a hole in the garden, and the hole should be at least as deep as the plant, and the hole should be filled with soil. Then take the plant from the hotbed, and place it in the hole, and fill the hole with soil. When transplanting, it is well to take care to make sure that the plant is in a good position, and that the soil is well around the root.

You Were Inquiring?

"Antique"—There should be no necessity to re-clean the beautiful old chairs. The varnish applied by your German sandal can be removed, fortunately. If you will send your address and state a convenient hour, a man from the re-upholstering department will go to your house, see what is required and give you an estimate of the cost of the work.

We shall act upon your suggestion respecting the small box, some sweet day—soon.

"Perplexed"—It's a sort of general utility utility you want, isn't it—one that will weather a rainstorm, and yet look not out of place when the sun comes out? A garment of this adaptable disposition is a certain grey tweed raglan, three-quarter length, with patch pockets. It is $9.75 in price. Another grey tweed model with raglan sleeves has its fullness gathered into a belt. This is priced $12.50.

"A Spring Maid"—Six to seven inches from the ground is the prescribed length for skirts, mam'selle. Fashion has a fit of real common sense, for once. As for accessories for your blue serge suit—wouldn't you like tan boots and gloves, a black sailor or mushroom hat, and a pale flesh color crepe de Chine blouse to lend its collar as a softening touch to the trim ensemble? Black patent leather pumps, white blouse and white collar would afford an alternative effect.

C. L. D.—Your twenty-five dollars is an open sesame to almost any color or material in which a fashionable coat is contrived this season. Would you like leaf green velours, tan Poiret twill, or navy blue serge? There are full, belted models with large collars to be had in all these fabrics at this price. A similar model at $27.50, which may be had in navy blue velours, is likewise most attractive.

The Scribe.

Smart, simple, this income of turbans. And in every detail of make and material it is a delight to behold—the black pouille de soie composing it, with edging and cockade of black Georgette crepe and narrow silk soutache braid. And, these are featured likewise from $7.50 to $9.50.

The fashionable wide collar with the large crown is most attractively developed in this model above. It is made of pouille de soie, the brim having a transparent edge of Georgette crepe. Smart wings of corded ribbon and tiny silk balls supply the finishing touches. Price, $8.50.

Just one example of the host of well-cut, distinctive blouses featured for mourning wear at $7.50. It is charmingly contrived of Georgette crepe and chiffon taffeta, the crepe being employed for the upper portions. Taffeta borders the crepe collar and serves for cuffs.

ANNA HELD VISITS INVALID SOLDIERS Famous Actress and Associates Give the Boys a Pleasant Afternoon.

Yesterday afternoon Anna Held and her company, who are now playing at the Royal Alexandra Theatre, made a tour of the military convalescent hospital, giving a performance at each, and throwing themselves into the entertainment with such a whole-heartedness that they were cheered to the echo by the soldier-heroes who made up their audience.

At 1:30 p.m. the party started from the theatre in motor cars. Representing the Ottawa Club, J. J. Walsh played the role of the coroner. Mrs. Miller, general manager of Miss Held's company, Mr. Bentley, stage manager, and Conlin, personal representative of Miss Held, were among the special pilots of the afternoon.

Miss Held came last on the program, giving a unique performance, including songs of her own composition, which she had sung for the soldiers in France and which she had not sung since leaving Europe until yesterday.

Later a visit was made to the wards, where the company distributed tobacco and cigarettes to the men. Several of the girls of the company who were having their first experience of seeing the effects of the war by the marks it had left on the soldiers of the empire were not so affected that tears of sympathy fairly streamed from their eyes as they tried to hide their emotion.

Mrs. Stalker, of Toronto, said that she had signed a contract for a machine and was to get it in a few days. It did not come. After a time she was notified that the $40 she had paid would be returned if she would pay the expenses the company claimed had been incurred.

A meeting of the executive committee of the Methodist Young People's Society was held in the Wesley Building, yesterday, the chair being taken by Rev. S. D. Chown, general superintendent. POLICE COMMISSIONERS GRANT TWO TAG DAYS They Also Administer Awards and Punishments to Members of the Force.

Applications for tag days were yesterday afternoon granted to the women's auxiliary of the Armenian Relief Association, for May 22, and to the Italian Red Cross for an unnamed date, when the police commissioners met in the city hall.

Charged with being a frequenter of a disreputable house, Policeman Gavagan was dismissed from the force, while Policeman Patterson (58), against whom a charge was preferred by a young woman, was requested to resign. The charge was not proved.

Mr. Wilson declared it was absolutely an unqualified misstatement to say that he was not Canadian born. No one stood to lose more than he did by the war, for he had eight near relatives at the front. Regarding his reference to the association he declared he did not say a "punch of demagogues." It was an unfortunate thing for a returned man to make his father an enemy, but all that he would do was to call a man by his name. He would be pleased if Mr. MacNicol were his father-in-law.

"I believe aeroplanes are a good thing," said Hon. T. W. McGarry, and he smiled yesterday when he was asked what the government were going to do about the request of Col. T. H. The order-in-council authorizing the increase in amusement taxes on racing assets from 10c to 25c has been passed within the last two days, and went into effect immediately, said Hon. T. W. charged him with deliberately trying to hurt recruiting. Military men like Col. Lewis (West Huron), Col. Donaldson (Prince Albert), and Col. Bradbury (Selkirk), testified to the universal sobriety of the Canadian troops in England and at the front.

Some of the Liberals were inclined to resent these lectures from the gentlemen they referred to as "safety first colonels," but the general feeling of the house seemed to be that Mr. Lemieux had made a mistake in bringing up the subject.

Sevigny's Report.

At the opening of the house Mr. Best (Dufferin) called attention to the report that Canadian troops on their way overseas were stoned when passing through the Province of Quebec. He thought the minister of justice had better concern himself with the safety of our soldiers instead of offering uncalculated advice to the British Government on the home rule question.

Hon. Albert Sevigny, who attempted to speak, was ruled out of order. When, however, he came to speak on the military motion, he skillfully evaded the ruling of the chair by speaking in French and made a flat-footed denial of the entire incident.

Clark Rebukes Lemieux. Dr. Clark (Red Deer), in departing himself with Mr. Lewis in describing Mr. Lemieux's action in taking the front, were doing too much fighting to have much time for drinking.

Laurier's Judicial Attitude. Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that there was nothing wrong or criminal in Mr. Lemieux's discussing the dry canteen question. It had been discussed back and forth in Canada for many years and he was bound to say that there was a growing feeling in favor of prohibition in this country.

Inquiry into Fittings of Ex-Speakers' Apartments. By a Staff Reporter. TROOPS IN FIRE FETTER. Sir Thomas White, in the course of his visit to England and the front, and the many Canadian soldiers he had inspected on the field and in the trenches, had never seen a drunken soldier in England or France. Drunkenness was an act of common sense. He was shocked by the conditions prevailing in Canadian hospitals as detailed by Dr. Brudenell. He also recalled the fact that there had been a good deal of drunkenness at Valcartier camp since Sir Sam Hughes had established a dry canteen in Canada and had attempted to establish it for the Canadian troops in England, but had been overruled by the British authorities.

Mr. Lemieux said the Russian troops in France were not allowed to use intoxicating liquors altho their comrades in the French army were drinking wine all around them. It would be possible for the Dominion Government to prevail on the imperial authorities to spare our Canadian boys from the evils and temptations of the wet canteen.

Hughes Blames Alderson. Sir Sam Hughes said Canada should not get cap in hand to the English Government begging protection for her soldiers. She should keep control of her boys in England and at the front. He had established a dry canteen at Salisbury Plains, but General Alderson had assembled the Canadian troops and told them they were free men and that they would establish the wet canteen. Sir Sam had protested but found himself powerless, as Gen. Alderson and Sir Geo. Parley represented to him that the Canadian troops were solely under British control in England.

Major E. N. Lewis (West Huron), made a spirited defence of the Canadian soldiers and the Canadian camps. He had been five months at Petawawa, without seeing a soldier under the influence of any intoxicating liquor. He had visited the big Canadian camps at Witby and Bramshott in England, and had spent several months at the front, being to the front with a soldier unit and would return to Canada better men, physically and intellectually than when they went overseas. He thought Mr. Lemieux was ill-advised in bringing the matter before the

EXPECT ELECTION SOON, LIBERALS TO ORGANIZE

Resolutions Calling for Immediate Action Passed at Meeting of Ward Representatives.

Representatives of all the Liberal ward and riding associations at a meeting in the clubrooms of the Ward Six Liberal Association, 234 Gladstone avenue, last night passed a resolution requesting the officers of the Liberal riding associations elected following the organization of the Toronto federal riding by Pres. A. E. Dymont in 1915, to hold meetings at once for the annual election of officers and a convention for the nomination of candidates.

The resolution also asks the conveners for Centre Toronto and West Toronto to hold a meeting for organization purposes within two weeks, and the officers of wards one and six Liberals are urged to organize the constituencies of East Toronto and Parkdale with a view to holding conventions for the nomination of candidates at an early date.

The meeting also requested the Liberal Association of Toronto to call a meeting to elect officers and to take the necessary steps to assist in the Dominion election which is now pending. The reasons put forward for the political unrest in their circles are the various actions taken by the Borden Government, i.e., the granting of reciprocity in free wheat; the increased taxation of war profits; the hurried printing of the voters' list and the holding of conventions in constituencies now represented by Conservatives.

It is stated that this government intends to dissolve the house without waiting for the expiration of the extended term.

Economy

Many women think they are saving money by buying cheap tea, forgetting that it is not the cost per pound but the cost per cup that determines a tea's economy. You may pay 5 or 10 cents more per pound for Red Rose Tea than for common tea. But because Red Rose Tea is a blend of Indian-Assam teas with Ceylons, consisting of the choice tender shoots and buds—the parts of the tea plant that yield the largest amount of liquor and the finest flavor—one-third less is required in the pot to make the same number of cups.

The cost per cup between Red Rose Tea and common tea is then practically the same. But the flavor—what a difference!

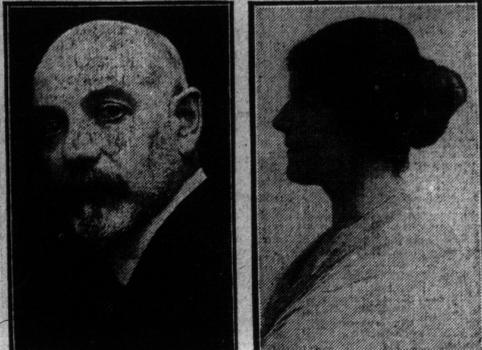

And this distinctive and delightful flavor and rich strength is protected by the Red Rose sealed package. No air, odors or dust can get in to injure Red Rose Tea's splendid quality and economy.

Order a package from your grocer. In sealed packages only.

GARDENING

LETTUCE

Lettuce is an easy crop to grow, and a very small space of ground will supply an ordinary family with all they want to use. Lettuce is a cool season vegetable, that does poorly after the hot, dry weather arrives, unless shaded at least a portion of the day. Any good garden soil will grow fine lettuce. If one has a hotbed or even a cold frame, the seed may be sown early in April, so as to be "pricked" out and transplanted into flats before planting in the open soil. If started in this way, the plants may be finally set in odd corners or between rows of asparagus or even against roses or berry bushes. The crop will come on and get out of the way before the ground is too much shaded. The following are the varieties recommended by the Dominion Horticulturist: Grand Rapids, Blackseeded Simpson (early curled), Iceberg, New York, Giant Crystal Head, Crisp as Ice, and Improved Hamon (curled cabbage), Improved Salamander (uncurled cabbage), Iceberg remains headed longest in summer, and should always be planted. If planted in the open garden, the seed can be sown in shallow furrows one-quarter inch deep, six inches apart, or broadcast. The plants should be allowed to grow until about two inches high, and should then be thinned to two inches apart. Do not hoe the soil up on the area of lettuce; it is better to have small plots coming on every week or so. When the plants are large enough, they should be pulled out by the roots or cut off at the surface of the soil. A successful and experienced gardener, realizing that rapidly-grown lettuce is best, plants the seed in trenches six inches deep, in well-manured soil. The trenches run east and west. Lettuce does best in cool weather. On the south side of each row stakes are driven, and on hot, dry days a six inch board is laid against the stakes, so that the lettuce is in the shade. In July and August this board remains up all the time. The lettuce thus never has a chance to wilt.

C. C. Chipman, for many years chief executive officer of the Hudson Bay Company at Winnipeg, and Mrs. Chipman, who were married recently at the parish church of St. Mary's, Baines, London, Mrs. Chipman was the widow of Robert Sutherland Mulloch, late his majesty's imperial civil service. Those who know her speak of her as most intelligent, with a gracious and charming manner.

THE OLD GARDENER SAYS.

Many persons are planning to plant Jerusalem artichokes this year because seed potatoes are scarce and high. These artichokes contain about the same actual amount of nutriment as potatoes, altho the average man does not like their flavor or so well. They can be boiled or pickled or used as a salad, and they are much easier to grow than potatoes. The old gardener is not recommending artichokes as a substitute for potatoes, but merely stating a fact about their growing popularity.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH.

C. P. R. Censured by Jury at Inquest on Body of Harry Dixon.

The jury at the morgue last night at the inquest on the body of Harry Dixon returned a verdict of accidental death, but added a rider censuring the C.P.R. officials for not enforcing the rules of the company. Dixon was switching cars on the siding at Parkdale on April 22, and in attempting to jump on the tender of an approaching engine lost his balance and fell under the engine. He was so badly injured that he died six hours after being admitted to the Western Hospital. Workmen, who testified, told Coroner J. E. Evans that it was a rule of the railroad that men were not to board engines while they are in motion, but the rule was not lived up to by the employees.

Widow's Losses

"Statistics were recently compiled showing that 60 per cent. of all money left by insurance to widows was lost by them within a period of five years. No such losses are on record where a Trust Company has been named as Executor or Trustee."—Trust Companies.

The reason that losses do not occur when an estate is left in the care of a trust company is that the company brings to its management a business experience which a woman's training seldom gives her.

Soldiers Change Places to Save Life of Sergeant's Wife

When the 208th Battalion was ready to leave the city for an eastern point yesterday it was found that the wife of a sergeant was so dangerously ill that the doctors stated if the man left it would probably result in the woman's death.

The 109th Draft C. O. was appealed to supply a man to proceed overseas with the 208th, while the sergeant was transferred to the 109th in his stead. When the 108th called for volunteers from the draft every man instantly threw up his hands as willing to proceed at once overseas in place of the sergeant whose wife's illness kept him at home. Fie, W. S. Sample, 198 Simcoe street, aged 35, English, was chosen to replace the sergeant, and he got a fine farewell from the officers and men of the 109th when he left to report to the 208th. The sergeant of the 208th also reported to the 109th to take Fie Sample's place.

HEAVY GUNS ACTIVE ON CANADIAN FRONT
Germans Show Nervousness in Frequent Counter-Attacks Launched by Them.

Canadian Army Headquarters, April 26.—The artillery duel on this front continues. The enemy as his batteries are silenced, brings up more guns, to the great satisfaction of our gunners, who are convinced that the German artillery reserves are greatly weakened, especially the heavy guns, to which disproportionate losses must be added. The large number taken during the past two weeks all along the western front.

The enemy vigorously contested our attack on this part of the front a month ago, but now many British machines capable of fighting the fast-moving German tanks are reported to be in action. The enemy is as well as on other parts of the front, although, despite heavy losses in planes, they have been able to bring up above the Vimy Ridge, directing the fire of their guns, who, without this aid, would have been in a desperate situation. The enemy has now a few bombs in our back areas, which are beyond gun range.

Along his Arras-Artois-Oppy line, which is regarded as the outer bulwark of his main defenses, the Germans are very nervous. Any sign of our part of special activity results in violent counter-attacks. Last night along our part of the front the enemy vigorously bombed his own wire, leaving the Canadian wire cutters were at work.

The situation at Gavrelle, immediately to the south of us, adds to his jumpiness. The British troops have penetrated his wire and pushed well over the Gavrelle position. The dead cover the fields over which these abortive attempts were made.

Learning especially from the Gavrelle part of the line, which lies adjacent to ours, that two thousand enemy dead were recovered from our ground, and that our own ground.

HOW TO PREVENT ACID STOMACHS AND FOOD FERMENTATION
By a Stomach Specialist.

As a specialist who has spent many years in the study and treatment of stomach troubles, I have been forced to the conclusion that most people who complain of stomach troubles are suffering from acid stomachs that are absolutely healthy and normal. The real trouble, that which causes all the pain and difficulty, is acid in the stomach, usually due to, or aggravated by, food fermentation. This is caused by the action of the stomach and food fermentation causes wind which distends the stomach. Thus both acid and fermentation interfere with the normal process of digestion. The stomach is usually healthy and normal, but irritated almost invariably by the food fermenting elements—acid and wind. In all such cases the acid and wind are the cause of all stomach difficulties—the first and only step necessary is to neutralize the acid and stop the fermentation by taking a little warm or cold water immediately after eating, from one to two teaspoonfuls of bicarbonate of soda, which is doubtless the best and only really effective antacid and which neutralizes the acid and stops the fermentation. The fermentation stopped almost instantly, and your stomach will be in normal manner. Be sure to ask your druggist for the bicarbonate of soda. I have found other forms utterly lacking in its peculiarly valuable properties.
