SOCIETY LEADERS WILL MIX IT WITH PUGILISTS

Athletes with Blue Blood and Dollars will face Professional Pugilists in Philadelphia Club just to show that they can do it.

Philadelphia, Pa.—With Attorney J. Drexel-Biddle, known on two continents as a social leader, crack amateur athlete and friend and biographer of "Bob" Fitzsimmons, as their leader, a half dozen well known men of this city will face, in boxing bouts at the Merion Cricket Club next Saturday night, the same number of square shouldered, muscular pugilists and for five rounds mix up things generally with the gloves.

STRIKE FACTS

CHEAPER GEMS BEST SOLUTION

Johannesburg, March 27.—Ex-Mayor Henderson, of Kimberley, who is interested in the diamond trade, writes to the press advocating a reduction in the price of stones as a panacea for the depression in the industry. He recalls that the late Cecil Rhodes at the last meeting of the De Beers Mining Company that he attended laid down that it was the best policy to maintain the dividend steadily at 40 per cent, which could be attained by charging 40 shillings a carat, which was a fair price.

HOW ONE AMERICAN CITY STARTED BOOM MOVEMENT; COULD WE DO THIS HERE

An American city of 25,000 inhabitants recently awakened to the fact that it was experiencing a period of inertia; its development and growth were at a standstill. Its merchants realizing this, a campaign of publicity was commenced, a committee of the Merchants Association took the matter in hand, and the fame of the city began to spread.

DR. MACPHAIL AT HALIFAX

Halifax, N. S., March 28.—(Special)—Dr. Andrew Macphail addressed a large meeting here last evening on "Protection and Politics" before the Canadian club. THE TIMES NEW REPORTER

A CALL FROM BIRDIE. The Times new reporter received a severe shock this morning. He was on the top floor with a smudge on his nose, an apron tied around him, his sleeves rolled up, and both hands full of type when a messenger announced that the lovely Miss Birdie McWhat was awaiting him down stairs. The young man had never revealed himself to Birdie except in a high collar and irreproachable apparel. Before venturing to call he always scrubbed his face till it shone.

New York, March 28.—A street murder which is believed to have been an outgrowth of the recent trials of a number of Chinamen for murder in Boston and Philadelphia, intensely excited the local Chinese quarter for a time yesterday. The victim was Ing Mow, who, in the troublesome times two years ago, was known as a lieutenant of Book Duck, leader of one of the rival Tong and who, since the retirement of Book Duck, has been looked upon by many Chinese men as the real leader of his faction.

THE HOPEFUL GUARD, BY NORMAN INNES.

"Wilt thou drink?" said the old man at last, going to a cabinet and thence he brought forth a flask of wine. "Wilt thou drink, sir?" he repeated, reading my wandering wits as he filled a glass at my elbow, "and I will tell thee a tale of this place, of old Kay's, which is the 'Glamis' of this island, and of his mighty treasure that they say lies hidden beneath the castle."

Excelsity pass, stammered the man, adding "excuse." "Go to the devil—to the guard-room," growled I, out all patience yet having no wish that the trooper should embarrass my meeting with the lady and her suit.

Such thoughts passed through my brain hurriedly, dimly, together with a feeling of thankfulness and relief that so far as I knew, the older Countess was nowhere in the garden; none in Robt's could daunt me as that trim little lady of the biting tongue.

THE EVENING TIMES, THE DAILY TELEGRAPH. New Brunswick's Independent newspapers. These newspapers advocate British connection. Honesty in public life. Measures for the material progress and moral advancement of our great Dominion.

AT OTTAWA When papers like the Ottawa Free Press and St. John Globe admit that the report of the civil service commission reveals a scandalous state of affairs in some of the departments and call for reform, it is evident that the government must better itself.

RESPONSIBILITY FOR BRIBERY (From The Daily Telegraph) Speaking of one unusual feature of the recent elections in this province a Toronto journal says:

It has been said again and again that the responsibility for electoral corruption rests heavily upon the careless or indifferent citizen. An aroused electorate can turn out a government, and just as easily can stop the practice of bribery. Proof for this statement can be supplied from New Brunswick. A few weeks before the recent Provincial election a Political Purity League was formed in Westmorland county.

One party worker says that he did not see a bottle of liquor or a dollar of money in the whole campaign. Another said: "The election ran like a Sunday School. We have had nothing like it for thirty years."

There is scarcely a public man in Canada who would not welcome fairness and honesty in elections. But there is an idea abroad among party men that they must do what the "other fellows" do. It is difficult for one party to effect the renovation of public morals in this direction.

Westmorland has led the way. Every other constituency in Canada should follow. The churches should rejoice at such an opportunity. The political organizations would welcome any plan of doing away with wasteful expenditure, and the "necessity" of breaking the law. But, above all, the Canadian clubs could find here a chance to do something to improve the moral and political tone.

CANADIAN POETS ON NOBILITY

Of nobility and noble living the Canadian poets have said many suggestive and memorable things. Charles Sangster recognized the fact that unless we live our best we are as the beasts that perish.

And we Who lead this round of mystery, This dance of strange unrest, What are we at the best? Unless we learn to mount and climb, Writing upon the page of time, In words of joy or pain, That we've not lived in vain.

The yearning for spiritual wealth is probably as deep-seated as any craving for mere material riches, with which the spirit of our times has been so often reproached.

Two serene moments: One when we settle down To save life worthy of purpose— One when we grasp the crown.

There is subtle truth in the following stanza of C. C. D. Roberts, which is full of encouragement to the faint-hearted:

Not in perfection dwells the subtle power To pierce our mean content, but rather works Through incompleteness and the need that rises, Not in the flower, but effort toward the flower.

And if any distrust of our innate nobility should threaten to invalidate effort, we have these splendidly convincing lines of Wilfred Campbell:

The soul of man, Which hopes and trembles, suffers and aspires, Robbles his pettier moments, its vast dreams Proclaim our origin high, our destiny great.

LOCOMOTIVE RAN INTO OPEN DRAW

NEWBURYPORT, Mass., March 25.—A locomotive of the passenger train which left Boston at six o'clock last evening over the eastern division of the Boston and Maine railroad for Portsmouth, ran into an open draw at the bridge over the Merrimack river here and after plunging a distance of forty feet, partially imbedded in the mud at the bottom of the river.

THE BAMBOO SPEAKS

True, quite true, we are merely a kind of grass, but let me tell you we are quite the most wonderful plants on the face of the earth, so far as our value to man is concerned.

We grow in all parts of the tropical and sub-tropical regions, and sometimes in arid places where no other plants can live.

Merely from the fact that we vary so much we are wonderful plants. While most of us are cylindrical, one kind of bamboo growing in China and Japan is square.

We grow in a very peculiar way. First we rise as a long stalk, our stem, presenting a peculiar, lanky appearance.

We help to clothe him, and furnish him with those hats and garments which protect him from the sun.

All manner of agricultural implements are made from us; while we are useful in building bridges, Meis, sails and similar articles are made from our split stems.

Some of our kind have a very sweet sort of pulp, and at certain times of the year a sugary juice oozes from the joints.

Mr. Edison's first successful filament for electric lamps consisted of our fibre.

It Makes Pure Blood

We are often asked, Why does Hood's Sarsaparilla effect such wonderful cures of cases that seemed beyond the reach of medicine? An examination of our well-known formula, from which Hood's Sarsaparilla is and always has been carefully and scientifically prepared, confirms the fact that it contains those well-known and valuable medicinal ingredients, which, when intelligently combined and properly administered, are sure to bring about good results.

It is the properly balanced proportion, combination and process in combining those ingredients known to have specific action upon the blood, stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, which make Hood's Sarsaparilla peculiar to itself and enable it to produce results unequalled by any similar medicine.

These ingredients are: for the blood, Sarsaparilla, Sillina, Yellow Dock; for the liver, Mandrake, Dandelion; for the kidneys, Uva Ursi, Juniper Berries, Pipsissewa; for the stomach, Gentian, Wild Cherry Bark, Bitter Orange Peel; for the bowels, Senna, Mandrake, Dandelion.

"I used Hood's Sarsaparilla as a blood purifier and the results were entirely satisfactory. Several of my friends use or have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla and all speak highly of it." Mrs. RACER, BROADWAY, 11 Murray St., Montreal, Que.

STEEL COMPANY PRESIDENT SAYS TRIP WAS SUCCESS

J. H. Plummer Left London For Canada To-day--He Says He Did what He went Over to Do

LONDON, March 28.—J. H. Plummer left London this morning and will return to Canada via New York. When seen just before leaving, he said: "I have achieved what I came over for. I needed a rest, in the first place, and then I have had conversations in connection with the privy council appeal which will likely be heard the first week in July.

"I have also had negotiations respecting shipping interests on the lakes. As regards the latter, I am coming back to England shortly to continue discussion.

"You ask me whether I am going back to enter upon negotiations with the Coal company, which so many kind friends seem to desire.

"I reply at once that I am returning only because my business here is finished. WE HAVE NO INTENTION OF APPROACHING THE COAL COMPANY.

"You call my attention to Byron E. Walker's suggestion that the case should not be submitted to arbitration. That suggestion, coming from that quarter, is somewhat surprising. Certainly, the Steel company will under no circumstances submit to arbitration the matter as to the quality of coal to be supplied by the Coal company in fulfillment of their contracts. That is a closed question.

"However, outside of that point there are many questions which the Steel company might not be unwilling to discuss before an impartial umpire."

Discussing another matter, Mr. Plummer said that inasmuch as the costs of steel manufacture were now appearing to be normal, he believed that Canadian steel interests would be in a position to get along successfully without the bounties when they expire. Mr. Plummer said that he believed in the principle of imperial preference, having regard for the fact that Canada must always be a larger importer.

THE DEATH OF DISEASE

Wisdom is Killing Slowly, But Surely — A Glance Back Over Very Recent Years Shows Our Advance Against Him—What Has Been Accomplished Against Phthisis—The New Science of Prevention—The New Function of the Physician and the Whole Change in the Art of Medicine.

(C. W. Saleeby, M. D., in the London Chronicle.)

The Extinction of Malta Fever was the title of a remarkable address delivered by Colonel Bruce, F. R. S., at the Royal Institution a few weeks ago. Some twenty years have passed since Colonel Bruce discovered the microbe of this scourge of the Mediterranean, but the discovery did not avail for its prevention or cure. Far too tardily, the government took up the matter, and an opportunity was afforded by Colonel Bruce and his helpers to go into the matter further. In the interval Colonel Bruce discovered the fly which conveys the germ of sleeping sickness. Was a fly to blame in this case also? Rigid experiment disproved this supposition. Infection by the air was disproved, and by contact.

Failing everything else, the Maltose germ was examined, and found to harbor the germ. Goat's milk, a staple food of the island, was officially interdicted, and last year there were seven cases of the disease among our soldiers and none among our sailors in Malta. The disease, which has probably crept into the Mediterranean for untold ages, is potentially extinguished. The recent history of malaria and of yellow fever must be known to the reader. Here a particular insect is involved, as in the case of sleeping sickness, conveying the germs of the disease from sick to sound. Wherever corresponding measures have been put in force, malaria and yellow fever have proportionately disappeared. None of the malarial mentioned incidentally concern the fly which swarms in the northern island at the present day. Yet leprosy and plague and cholera and small-pox and typhus fever seem to be epidemic here; now all but the last are extinct, and they are on their very last legs.

Turn now to our chief disease, tuberculosis, especially in its form of consumption, the "great white plague," as Oliver Wendell Holmes has called it. The present writer and many others have endeavored to direct public attention repeatedly to the terrible scourge; and many people, discovering its existence, have thought it new—according to a familiar psychological law. It is doubtless as old as history, however. Some of us have ventured to predict that by the end of the present century tuberculosis will be stamped out of the earth. Public opinion has already been in this direction. The most deadly of all diseases known to mankind is slowly—but steadily—tending towards extinction in this country, as also, for instance, in Germany—though much faster there, since the German government does not need the assistance of a scribe or anyone else to tell it that science is worth while.

The absolute extermination of the tubercle bacillus is not a chemical idea. As a matter of fact, it is not a chemical idea, as it is not a matter of fact. It is a matter of fact, as it is in the power of man to make all parasitic diseases disappear from the earth. Public opinion has only to give the word, and it will come day, and the foremost of all diseases, tuberculosis and malaria, will cease to be the limbo of history. We are only at the beginning, but that is the beginning of the end, and that end will be the extinction of all infectious diseases whatsoever. Already, we are in possession of knowledge, which, if applied, would transform the face of the earth, ameliorate beyond conception the conditions of human life, and well-nigh decimate the death-rate.

At present only one man in a hundred, it is said, reaches the age of sixty-five. The man or woman who dies at sixty-five, in general, "man is mortal," in a word, to be observed. The lower animals die of murder or starvation, or old age; die of disease. But disease is capable of yielding.

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" SAVED HIS LIFE

Mr. Dingwall was Superintendent of St. Andrew's Sunday School in Williams town for nine years and License Commissioner for Glenegary—and Tax Collector for Charlottetown—for fourteen years continuously. Read out strongly Mr. Dingwall comes out in favor of "Fruit-a-tives."

Williamstown, Ont., April 5th, 1907.

I have much pleasure in testifying to the almost marvellous benefit I have derived from taking "Fruit-a-tives." I was a life long sufferer from Chronic Constipation and the only medicine I ever secured to do me any real good was "Fruit-a-tives." This medicine cured me when everything else failed. Also, last spring, I had a severe attack of bladder trouble with kidney trouble, and kidney trouble. This medicine is mild like fruit, is easy to take, but most effective in action.

ing to the human intelligence; it is so yielding; and will so yield more rapidly and signally as the years proceed to offer us the fruit of the tree of life which Pasteur planted. The value of a fine piece of work like that of Colonel Bruce and his helpers is only partly to be estimated by saying that, for instance, it saved an aggregate of some 75,000 days of sickness among our forces in Malta alone last year. The real value—potential only, it is true, and dependent upon us for realization—of such work is or should be its educative value.

We want imagination. We will pay for hospitals; yet for one-tenth of the sum we so pay we could learn how to make most hospitals superfluous. It is natural to wish for concrete results; and since this is so, and since cure is always dramatic whilst prevention is rarely if ever so, we have philanthropists who will pay their ten or twelve thousand pounds a year for cure, whereas for a title of the sum they could prevent far more cases of disease not for one year but for all time coming. The man of science knows this, but he is not until the public hears and hears again and again of such cases as this latest will be obtained that he demands and is entitled to. The real business of the doctor everywhere and at all times is to keep people well, if they will let him, as at present they most assuredly will not.

"But what is to become of the general practitioner?" said a well-known medical peer from the last year, when I was holding forth on this favorite subject, and the answer was that one did not care a tubercle of disease of the general practitioner. The answer was approved for my interlocutor has given his life to the prevention of disease. No present general practice of all infectious diseases whatsoever, but he does not represent or remotely suggest the last state of the medical profession—and a very good job, too.

There is no nobler profession in the world, as one who does not belong to it is free to say, but its present conditions are not compatible with its greatest nobility, nor with its greatest utility, and they are happily impermanent. Whoso has the luck to have a son, need not hesitate about making a doctor of him; but let him be taught that his business is not to make money, but to make and preserve life. Never before were there such opportunities in the profession apart from practice—such opportunities for work that does not destroy the soul, but keeps it alive. The medicine of the future will be what the medicine of the present, thanks to the chemist who sleeps in Paris, is fast becoming—preventive.

"A world without disease" will be the world into which our great grandchildren, say, are born. We can definitely hasten that day, when and as we please. "The republic has no need of chemists," they said, when they struck off the splendid head of Lavoisier. We have need of many chemists—there is even room for another such as Pasteur. But, most urgently, perhaps, we need someone, or many people, to teach us what the existing chemists and men of science in the medical profession are capable of accomplishing for us—we gave them half a chance—as may be inferred from what they are actually doing with the hundredth parts of chances now afforded them.

It is proposed, then, substantially to eliminate disease as a factor in human life. He would be foolish, indeed, who fancied that there will then be nothing of moment left to strive for. But as a proximate end it is valuable, it is possible, it is being attained. The chief record of this young century in this respect abundantly suffices to show that the nineteenth will not be called "the wonderful century" when its successor has run its course. Since we have not yet imagination enough to persuade us properly to support these great enterprises, we certainly have not enough to enable us to picture—say—England without consumption, pneumonia, typhoid, alcoholism, infant mortality. But that will be the England of some day, whose dawn the dimmest eye may already discern.

LORD HARDWICKE'S ONLY DAUGHTER A COMEDIENNE

London, March 28.—Lady Susan Yorke, only daughter of the Earl of Hardwicke, made her debut as a comedienne at the amateur theatricals arranged for charity by Mrs. William James. The theatricals which Mrs. James provides every year at Chichester are always a red-letter date in the social annals of Sussex, and this year the triple bill the West Dean party gave, was received with the greatest enthusiasm. The pieces chosen included "Hop-me-Thumb," Richard Pryor's clever little sketch, and "A Privy Council," a new comedy representing a lively scene in Peppys's life, by the same author in collaboration with Major Drury. Both as the laundry-maid "Amanda," and as "Mercer" in the latter play, Lady Susan Yorke displayed exceptional talent, by her high spirits, lively manners and unflinching resourcefulness delighting a large audience. Both Mrs. William and Mrs. Arthur James in "A Privy Council" were excellent in their respective parts of Mrs. Knipp and Mrs. Peppys. Other members of the cast were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Whitaker, Miss Gladys Hadow, Miss Millicent James, Mrs. "Willie" James's debutante daughter, Don Pedro de Zuleta and Mr. Hugh Brodie. Colonel Blythe distinguished himself as stage manager.

London, March 27.—The Prince and Princess of Wales have gone to Cologne, where the Prince, during the course of his visit, will inspect the Prussian Hussar regiment, of which he is honorary colonel. After leaving Cologne the prince and princess will pay a visit to Darmstadt and Paris.

NOVA SCOTIA STEEL AND COAL COMPANY

Annual Meeting of Shareholders Held at New Glasgow on Wednesday

NEW GLASGOW, March 25.—The annual meeting of the shareholders of the Nova Scotia Steel and Coal company was held today, that of the Munro wire works having been held yesterday. Among those present were R. E. Harris, K. C., president of the Nova Scotia Steel and Coal company; J. Walter Allison, J. C. O'Mullin, M. C. Grant, R. V. Harris, John MacNab and George Stairs.

The address of President Harris dwelt on the main features of the past year's business. Speaking of the coming year he said that the outlook was good. As to the continuance of he could say that that depended on the future, but at present there was nothing to indicate that it would not continue. However, it is a matter for the future that the future only can decide.

The old directors were re-elected, except that the number was reduced to thirteen, no appointment having been made in place of the late Harvey Graham.

Some time ago notice was given of a proposed reduction of ten per cent on the wages of a number of the more highly paid men at the Trenton works. No reference to the matter was made at the meeting, but it is understood that conferences between the company's officials and the men have been held and that as a result a reduction of five per cent will be made. The number of men affected will be about one hundred.

WINTER HAS BEEN POOR FISH SEASON

To local wholesale fish dealers the winter season has been practically a failure, owing largely to the scarcity of small herring which form the chief food for the fish usually caught in the Bay of Fundy. For this shortage the sardine and fertilizer factories are said to be in a measure responsible. The shortage in fish has also had its effect on market prices which on an average are 25 per cent. higher than last season. H. P. Robertson and Leonard Bros. both tell of a discouraging winter in fish trade circles, and the former declares it is the worst he has known in nearly twenty-five years.

Speaking of the retail trade P. A. Smith said that by means of importing fresh fish from the Pacific coast and American markets it has been possible to cope with the demand although profits were somewhat smaller. Lobsters have been very scarce, the catch amounting only to about a third of previous seasons.
