DESPERATE GERMAN ATTACKS REPEATEDLY REPULSED BY THE BRITISH ARMY IN FLANDERS; FLOWER OF GERMANY SUSTAINING HEAVY LOSSES

Looks Like Prolongation of the War in Opinion of Major General Frederick B. Maurice Entente Allies Cannot Longer Count on Any Great Material Assistance from the Russian Armies, Says Director of British Military Operations.

This Means a Greater Burden on Other Allies and for United States Which Must Enter Field with Greatest Possible Force.

London, August 2.—"Looking from the broadest extent of the events of the past fortnight," said Major Gen. Frederick B. Maurice, chief director of military operations at the war office, in his weekly interview today, "it will necessarily mean a prolongation of the war. We cannot longer count on any great material assistance from Russia. This means a greater burden on the other Entente Allies and for the United States, it means that she must come into the field as soon as possible and with the greatest possible force."

Gen. Maurice continued: "This week the battle in Flanders was an unqualified success. Gen. Sir Douglas Haig fixed a definite line of objectives, and speaking generally, he attained it successfully. On the southern third of the front he attacked, and gained his objective easily. On the northern third the enemy's resistance broke down so completely that Gen. Haig felt justified in permitting his troops to go well beyond their objective. In the central third we fell a little short of the objective, owing to stubborn enemy resistance."

More Preparation. General Maurice said that the British commanders' next move was to determine another objective and then after the customary process of preparation to proceed similarly to achieve it.

"In cases of this kind," said the director of military operations, "the objective line depends mainly upon the range of the artillery. The attack must be patient and methodical. In this way we can gain ground and inflict heavy losses on the enemy without heavy losses to ourselves. That is the system we used at Arras and at Messines and the one now being used in Flanders."

"In this week's battle we co-operated with the French. There were about six times as many British troops as French soldiers. Of the British four-fifths were purely English and one-fifth Anzac (Australians and New Zealanders), Welsh and Scotch. No Irish or Canadian troops participated."

POTATOES WILL BE CHEAPER THIS FALL

United States Crop 150,000 Bushels Greater Than That of Last Year.

Washington, Aug. 2.—The agricultural department announces that the potato crop of the United States this year is 150,000,000 bushels greater than that of last year. The reports from all the potato growing states are encouraging and prospects are that prices will be much lower this fall than last. New potatoes are on all the United States markets. Many districts report a marked scarcity of help, particularly in Aroostook county, Me., the most important potato growing region in North America.

USED BENGUELA AS U-BOAT BASE

Copenhagen, Aug. 2.—The members of the crew of the Norwegian steamer ship Benguela previously reported sunk by a German submarine, have arrived at Bergen. They say their ship was captured on June 15 in mid-Atlantic by a big submarine which used the Benguela as a base. The submarine was still in possession when the crew was transferred to another steamer on June 29.

COMPULSION ADVOCATED

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 2.—Some five hundred persons, including a large number of the great war veterans, were present tonight at the big war convention which opened today in Toronto at the Arena. The convention was formally opened in the afternoon by an address of welcome by Mayor Church.

A resolution was submitted by Col. G. T. Denison, police magistrate, and carried by a standing vote, demanding that a non-partisan government be established and that conscription be at once put in force to aid the men at the front.

In his address Chairman John M. Godfrey stated that there was one clear cut issue. "Shall the government of Canada be a War Government or an Anti-War Government." The first job was to scrape the two political machines, which had proved their utter worthlessness in the emergency.

Regarding Sir Wilfrid Laurier, he said, "the leadership of Sir Wilfrid Laurier cannot be accepted by any one who wants to keep Canada effectively in this war. He said this with regret, but the war was ruthless in the destruction of personalities."

Mr. Hugh Guthrie, M.P., Premier Sir Wm. Hearst, Premier of Ontario, and Mr. N. W. Rowell, leader of the Liberal party in Ontario, were the speakers at the mass meeting in the Arena tonight. Mr. Rowell stated his attitude with the utmost frankness. "I am here tonight," he said, "to support the principle of compulsory military service and the formation of a national or war government."

WILL NOT ANSWER SOCIALISTS' CALL

No Member of British Government Will Attend Convention.

London, Aug. 2.—It was made quite clear by Andrew Bonar Law in the House of Commons today that no member of the government would attend the proposed international Socialist conference.

While the government had not decided upon its policy regarding the granting of passports to private individuals to attend, he said the step would not be taken without serious consideration and "probably not at all."

AUSTRIANS DESIRE TO STOP WAR

Washington Hears They Are Negotiating with Entente Allies.

HEARTILY WEARY OF THE STRUGGLE

Count Czernin Would Be Mediator Between Berlin and London.

REPORT GERMANY IS NOT UNWILLING

Teutonic War Council Summoned Yesterday at Brussels.

Washington, Aug. 2.—Reports have reached here unofficially that the Entente Allies are engaged in diplomatic negotiations with Austria-Hungary regarding peace. The reports state that Austria is anxious to make peace at the end of the third year of the war and would like to see Germany as a neutral power in the period which followed the recent successes against the Russians as an opportunity. Berlin's denial that Germany was aware of Austria's ultimatum to Serbia in 1914 is regarded as significant. It is also regarded as significant that Germany proposes to pay the expenses of the lesser Central allies during the remainder of the war.

Peace rumors have appeared frequently in New York and Washington, and were prominent in Wall street on Tuesday. Whether there is anything of a substantial nature in the persistent reports is not known here.

Austria Wants Peace.

London, Aug. 2.—A despatch from Zurich, Switzerland to the Wireless Press says that Austria is anxious to make peace at the end of the third year of the war and would like to see Germany as a neutral power in the period which followed the recent successes against the Russians as an opportunity. Berlin's denial that Germany was aware of Austria's ultimatum to Serbia in 1914 is regarded as significant. It is also regarded as significant that Germany proposes to pay the expenses of the lesser Central allies during the remainder of the war.

The message adds that Count Czernin would be willing to act as mediator between Berlin and London, and that he has noted that in France as well as England there is no direct hostility to Austria.

"The above declaration, according to the correspondent at Copenhagen, to the Exchange Telegraph, led the Deutch Zeitung to declare: 'Germany does not want negotiations in such a roundabout way.'"

"The Fremdenblatt replied that Germany not only would submit to but even would accept joyfully any attempt at peace through the medium of Austria."

Teutonic War Council.

Amsterdam, Aug. 2.—Emperor Wilhelm has called a war council of the high military and naval officers of Germany to meet in Brussels today.

Field Marshal Von Hindenburg, General Von Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria, Grand Duke Albrecht of Wurttemberg and Vice-Admiral Eduard Von Capelle, and others will be present.

MUCH HARD FIGHTING IN FLANDERS IN THE PAST TWENTY-FOUR HOURS

UNITED STATES WILL BUILD ALL WOODEN SHIPS POSSIBLE

Re-organized Shipping Board Adopts Unlimited Wooded Construction Policy—There Will Be No Limit Either to Output of Steel Craft.

Washington, Aug. 2.—The government's shipbuilding programme, as it will be carried out by the re-organized shipping board, provides for as many wooden ships as the country can build.

This was made clear to producers of southern pine lumber called here for a conference looking toward speeding up their output of ship timbers. War demands require the construction of every vessel—wood and steel—that American yards can turn out, the lumbermen were told by Rear Admiral Capps, the new general manager of the shipping board's fleet corporation.

Appeal to Patriotism. The conference disclosed that although the Southern Pine Association pledged enough lumber for 10 ships, its members have been slow in furnishing the cut. This was explained by some as due to unusual sizes demanded, but others admitted that higher prices to be had elsewhere made many plants reluctant to work on government contracts.

After Chairman Hurley of the board, Admiral Capps and a number of producers had appealed to the patriotism of the industry to furnish the government with its requirements, officers of the shipping board's fleet corporation declared they were certain there would be little more difficulty in getting deliveries.

ONE SUBMARINE LIKELY SUNK BY U. S. FLEET

Secretary Daniels Makes Public Report of Attack on Admiral Gleaves' Vessels.

Washington, Aug. 2.—The story of the submarine attacks on transports conveying the United States first expeditionary force to France is described today in the official report of Rear-Admiral Gleaves, commanding the naval convoy, made public by Secretary of the Navy Daniels.

At least two undersize raiders are indicated as taking part in the first attack, which was centered on the flagship of Admiral Gleaves. The second group of transports also encountered two submarines, one of which apparently was destroyed by bombs from an American destroyer.

Regarding the group of vessels, there is some difference of opinion among officers of the convoy as to whether there was an attack. The submarines were repelled by the accompanying vessels of the fleet.

The report was given out by Secretary Daniels with information of military value deleted after an uncorroborated copy had been sent in confidence to the senate naval committee, the members of which recently inquired regarding the complete authenticity of the account of the attack as published July 5.

The report was written by Admiral Gleaves, while at a French port, and was submitted to Admiral Mayo, commanding the Atlantic fleet, who forwarded it to the navy department.

Germans Launch Several Desperate Counter-Attacks Against British.

FEROCIOUS HAND TO HAND FIGHTING

Teutons Throwing in Their Best Troops to Relieve Situation.

THE HUN LOSSES ARE VERY HEAVY

British Have Generally Good Success in Repulsing Counter-Attacks.

London, Aug. 2.—Telegraphing from the British headquarters in France and Belgium the correspondent of Reuters, Limited says:—"Despite the weather there has been much hard fighting during the past twenty-four hours. The Germans were manifestly perturbed at our gaining so much ground along the Ploeghe Ridge, and they launched several desperate counter attacks, although these were repeatedly checked by our artillery. Yet in places they reached the stage of hand to hand fighting of a ferocious character."

"The Germans are throwing in their best troops to relieve the situation and their losses must be colossal. Our preponderance of gun power enables our artillery to maintain a steady barrage upon the rear of the new German lines so that reliefs have to be brought through this before they can organize for attack."

"The enemy artillery has been concentrating heavily upon certain sectors and the weather prevents our airmen directing counter battery work to any extent."

British Repulse Huns.

Heavy counter-attacks by the Germans in the region northeast of Ypres between the Ypres-Roulers Railway to St. Julien were repulsed by the British forces today, according to the war office communication issued tonight. "The Germans sustained additional heavy casualties in their fighting."

French Statement.

Paris, Aug. 2.—The official statement tonight reads: "In Belgium our artillery dominating the German artillery, whose activity was manifested markedly east and north of Bixschotte, has prevented every attempt of the enemy to attack. Two German attacks east of Cerny were stopped by our fire."

"In Champagne in patrol encounters we took prisoners. There was reciprocal artillery action on the left bank of the Meuse."

"From July 21 to July 31 twenty enemy aeroplanes and two drachens were brought down. In the same period twenty-one enemy aeroplanes were seriously damaged, descending in their own lines. About ten of our searchlights carried out numerous raids, bombarding notably the railway station of Roulers, Metz, Thionville, Montmedy and Bethenville; factories at Hagondange and Cantonnements in the forest at Spincourt and ammunition depots near Lach, causing important damage to military establishments."

"Belgian communication: 'The bad weather considerably restricted the activity of the two artilleries. Eastern theatre, August 1: There was moderate artillery activity on the right bank of the Yser. The Allied positions in the Cerna bend were violently bombarded during the night. Our artillery silenced the enemy guns. British aviators in Giverville and Demir Hisar, and French aviators north of Monastir and north of Koritz bombarded enemy installations and works."

VERDICT IS LIKELY TODAY IN ARSON CASE

BEFORE CIRCUIT COURT. Mr. Mullin Makes Strong Plea for Acquittal of the Prisoners.

Compares Attorney General's Handling of Case with Predecessor's Course.

For over three hours yesterday at the Circuit Court Daniel Mullin, K. C., counsel for the prisoners in the case of the King vs. O'Brien and Hughes, reviewed the evidence before the jury.

YOUR CHILD

will not suffer with scurvy or bad rash if you use Zam-Buk. The Superintendent of S. A. Fresh Air Camp at Charlottetown, Ont., says: "We always keep a supply of Zam-Buk at our Children's Camp. We use it constantly for scurvy, rashes, chills and fever, as well as for cuts, bruises and sores, and believe there is nothing so equal to it."

Zam-Buk is especially suitable for a child's tender skin, owing to its purity of composition. It contains absolutely none of the coarse animal fat or harsh mineral drugs found in ordinary ointments.

But when his learned friend crossed that line he did feel very strongly that the power and prestige of the crown was being used unfairly by the Attorney-General against the prisoners, and contrary to his experience in criminal matters during the past thirty years.

Mr. Mullin attacked the evidence of Police Constable Saunders at considerable length, and quoted from the evidence of Mrs. Lydon, Mrs. McLean, Frank Donnelly, Peter Sharkey and Fred Macdonald to show that each of them had been examined by the jury and that the jury had not established its case, but after eight days of hearing, his learned friend was not able to get past the region of suspicion.

Mr. Mullin quoted authorities to show that when the crown suppressed evidence it resulted in favor of the accused and would support an acquittal. Wherever Harold McKie, Russell Hall and John Donnelly, it must have been found that their evidence would not support the crown's case, and the resources of the crown would have been exhausted had they been brought into court.

Referring to the ruling of the chief justice relative to the statements made by the prisoners to the detective, Mr. Mullin said that he was pleased that the jury parties. The methods followed by the police in the law for the guidance and instruction of the jury. He hoped that the ruling would have a salutary effect and that never again would an attempt be made to entrap a prisoner by underhand police methods. If the police followed the instructions of his honor it would be a good thing for the department and he only hoped that the ruling would be a permanent one.

Continuing after recess for lunch, Mr. Mullin quoted several passages from the evidence of the crown witnesses, a recognized authority on the matter, as well as reading reports of cases relevant to the issues involved in the present case. He referred to the fact that the prisoners had not been seen on any street since the crime, but people were asked to draw the inference that because the accused were not seen on the street, they were the guilty parties. He referred to the crown's evidence in the cases as the Attorney-General had ever been presented in a court of justice.

Mr. Mullin also paid his compliments to the Attorney-General. He referred to the conduct in court of the presiding chief justice, when attorney-general, and to Mr. Pugsley and Mr. Baxter's discharge of the duties of that high office, and declared that never did he hear either of those gentlemen, present or absent, for the crown with passion and feeling, but rather with calmness, dignity and fairness. He felt it his duty for him to say in this view of the passionate appeals made by the learned Attorney-General.

WHERE IS THE BLUE RUIN?

During the last provincial election campaign, speakers in the interest of the Carter party contended from many platforms that the Murray administration had so mismanaged the affairs of the province that the provincial credit had become seriously impaired and that it would be difficult to get any fair price for provincial securities as the result of inaction during the past five years. The same sort of trash was printed in the newspapers supporting the Carter party and, when the provincial budget was presented at the last session of the local house the Carter press returned to its favorite topic of blue ruin. Today the people are in a position to learn something of the condition of provincial credit as gauged by the best of all standards—the bond market. An issue of $500,000 of provincial road bonds, though on the market but a few days, has been two-thirds disposed of and the outlook is that the whole offering will be readily placed with investors. The Carter government has been in power at Fredericton a scarce four months, not long enough to have any effect upon the provincial credit one way or the other. Consequently the fact that provincial bonds find such a ready sale today is due to the good record of the former administration rather than any quality on the part of those now in office. In fact it may truthfully be said that the provincial credit stands where it does in spite of the quality of the men who now hold control over the treasury. Where is the indication of that blue ruin which Mr. Carter and his associates so frequently preached? The facts are on the other side of the ledger. The fine position of New Brunswick today is directly and solely traceable to the wise administration of the province enjoyed from March 3rd, 1908, until the advent to power of Mr. Carter and his friends. New Brunswickers have cause for self congratulation. After the Carterites have been five years in power provincial credit may not be so high.

LAURIER AND CONSCRIPTION.

A Moncton Liberal newspaper, attempting to create prejudice against the Government, declares that its record is bad and that consequently "conscription is its enforcement can not be safely entrusted to such men." The inference in that statement which is intended to appeal only to those in favor of conscription, is that if the Borden Government is defeated its successors will still go ahead with the enforcement of the measure designed to support the boys in the trenches. Nothing could be further from the fact. Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his anti-conscriptionist followers hope to secure the return of at least sixty Liberal members in the province of Quebec who will not be elected to support any policy except that of strangled conscription. Laurier is out to kill conscription by every means in his power and his Quebec followers are preaching that doctrine from one end of that province to the other.

Speaking in Montreal on Saturday, J. A. Lafontaine, Liberal M. P., used these words in appealing to his hearers to support Sir Wilfrid Laurier and defeat conscription. "If we have general election, before the execution of this conscription law the battle is gained, for Laurier will never consent to conscription." This is a plain notice to the people of Canada what they may expect.

If Laurier and his supporters should triumph at the polls, it will be good bye to conscription and to further effective participation in the war so far as Canada is concerned. That is the well understood fact, that is the case upon which Laurier expects support in Quebec, no matter how Liberal newspapers published in English-Canadian provinces may attempt to evade it.

In the coming election there is but one issue: Our obligation to the boys at the front. Sir Robert Borden, and those who think as he does, will discharge that obligation to the full no matter what sacrifice may be involved. Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his followers, who would have us sink out of the war, are prepared to repudiate it and have Canada branded to the world as a nation of quitters, false to British traditions, false to British connections, false to our own boys who wait overseas cheered and comforted by the promise that we were behind them to the last man and the last dollar, a promise in which Laurier joined and which he is prepared today to repudiate. It is at this time that

WE ARE FIGHTING FOR A WORTHY PURPOSE, AND WE SHALL NOT LAY DOWN OUR ARMS UNTIL THAT PURPOSE HAS BEEN FULLY ACHIEVED.

—H. M. The King. TO THE PEOPLE OF THE EMPIRE—Every fighting unit we can send to the front means one step nearer peace.

NO PEACE YET.

The last peace resolution submitted to the British House of Commons was rejected by an enormous majority. The people of Great Britain realize that the present is no time for the consideration of overtures of that nature. Peace now on either side could mean nothing but submission. Great Britain is not ready to submit to terms that would place upon the Hun the inevitable and accept-terms from the victorious Allies.

It should not be forgotten that Germany is not now in a position to make overtures for peace, unless indeed that movement comes from the militarists who, despite many defeats and setbacks are still in the saddle in the Kaiser's empire. Such a peace as the militarists would offer would involve a complete subjugation to German ideas and rules of government. The German Socialists and Democrats are in the same position. They all want a peace in which the German idea would be uppermost. The militarists want a world governed by German rule, the Socialists a world governed by German ideas of political economy. They desire different things but they are all agreed that the rule and direction of these things must be German.

The German view is that the German rule, intellectual and economic is the only rule which ministers or can minister to the happiness of the human race. Therefore all who will not submit are enemies of the human race, and as such, to be destroyed. It is impossible to make peace with such people, and it does not matter a button whether they are militarists, intellectual Democrats or Socialists. The great hope for civilization in the political situation in Germany is that the Germans in their zeal for human happiness, may begin to slaughter each other.

LAURIER IN ERROR.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier is sadly in error if he thinks the people of Canada will for one moment consider the possibility of placing him at the head of our affairs during the continuance of the present war or while ever there is a need for Canadian co-operation with the Empire. Victory for Laurier and his policy will mean that Canada will have withdrawn from the war as she will have refused to adopt the only practicable method of maintaining her armies at the front. Without the reinforcements which conscription will bring Canadian battalions will gradually disappear from the western battle line and this nation will be known to all the world as a quitter. It will be so recognized by other Empire lands, by fighting allies, by neutrals, and even by enemy countries. The fame so gloriously won for Canada by our brave defenders will be turned into lasting national disgrace. The flower of our manhood will have been sacrificed for nothing.

Does Laurier seriously believe the people of Canada will accept such a possibility at his hands? We do not think so. We do not believe that the hundreds of thousands of patriotic Canadians are willing that this country's participation in the war shall terminate so ignominiously. On the contrary we feel that our people who have not been misled by scheming and wily anti-conscriptionists are passionately determined to stand by the memory of the men who have given their lives in the noblest of causes, and by those living who are offering themselves in the battle of the hosts of humane democracy against the most brutal of military powers. But Canadians cannot stand by the Laurier idea. And that repudiation must be sweeping and conclusive—a repudiation, we believe, Canadians are prepared to give.

A TREAT IN STORE FOR MONCTON

The Moncton Transcript, which, true to form as a machine Grit newspaper, has been lashing itself into a frenzy over the conscription issue assures its readers that in the coming election it will be necessary to use stronger words and stronger language, both in the newspapers and on the platform than have ever been used in a political contest. Then to show that he is not behind in the possession of the "stronger words" to which he refers, Brother Hawke proceeds to brand the Borden Government as "graffers" and "backslaps." Evidently the mouthy Fortmouthian of the Transcript intends to become quite worked up in the forthcoming campaign. If so, Moncton lovers of moderation in discussion have a treat in store for them.

CANADA'S DUTY IN PRESENT CRISIS TO DROP PARTY POLITICS

Rev. R. J. Houghton, Formerly of This City, Preaches Powerful Sermon in Montreal.

Rev. Ralph J. Houghton, pastor of the Amherst Park Congregational church, Montreal, who is well known in this city, having been pastor of the Congregational church here, is well known as an ardent imperialist and one whose only thought in the present crisis is to do everything in his power to win the war. When here Mr. Houghton was always outspoken in his defence of any cause which he regarded as just and a fearless exponent of the principles of righteousness. On Sunday evening his church he delivered an address on the situation as it is today in Canada and the following extracts taken from the Montreal Star are well worth careful perusal by every person who has the best interests of the Dominion and Empire at heart.

Following is the account of the sermon as published by the Montreal Star: "If we are going to have elections—if we must have them—there is only one question, only one supreme question, for Canadians to answer at the polls, and that is 'Shall Canada fall or shall Canada continue to be faithful?' The summing up of a powerful sermon on 'Christian Duty in a National Crisis, or the Obligation of Loyalty versus the Rights of the Individual,' by Rev. R. J. Houghton in Amherst Park Congregational church last night. 'It is time for every man in this Dominion to realize the duty which God has laid upon him in his power to destroy from the face of the earth this damnable German system of spying, treachery, dishonesty, barbarism and inhumanity,' said the preacher. 'In the face of such a crisis as the present one in our Canadian life what a fearful tragedy it is to see in Canada today men so mean of soul and so lacking in vision as to put party interests and provincial selfishness above national honor and need, and the essential defeat of Prussian arrogance and power.'

'I want to see this great national crisis raised above the ambition of politicians. It is the duty of every man who claims the privileges and rights of Canadian citizenship, to do his utmost to defend those privileges and rights when they are in peril as they are today. Canada has already performed a brilliant and heroic part in this war, and she must not dishonor herself now by taking any backward steps, much less can she afford to dishonor herself by being dishonest to her brave and loyal men who have gone forth from our shores to do their bit for Christian civilization in its hour of peril. 'The men who shall we think are to be concerned most of all, for the interests of their particular party in a time like this? It behooves Christian men and Christian women, too, to pray that God in His great mercy may save Canada from losing the vision of a great soul. 'When I think of the men who care to waste precious time to learn the names of the creeds of the freemen, the thing to be done is to put out the fire. What shall we think are to be a time like this, so full of danger and gravity, for their own selfish political and party ends. I say God help the men, who have so high a conception of their duty to democracy and their duty to their country.'

TIME FOR PATRIOTISM.

'This is the time above all other things for us all to set ourselves to be true patriots and earnest companions of the men who are risking their lives for the freedom and for the world's freedom. This is no time for ease, indolence or indifference to patriotic duty. The hour has struck when we must fulfill our part in some form of national service and duty, or whether we will be content to be a slacker and a laggard. But Canada cannot afford to have slackers and laggards, and I believe that Canada will ere long register her consent at the polls and declare to the whole world, that Canada must remain in this struggle, with all her strength, to the end; that Canada must and will do her full duty.'

POWER BOAT CLUB ENTERTAINS SOLDIERS

River Sail Had to Be Abandoned—Dance and Supper Substituted. The excursion planned by the members of the St. John Power Boat Club for the returned and convalescent soldiers had to be called off last night on account of the foggy weather, but the members kept their house at the club for the soldiers and a very enjoyable time was spent despite the disappointment of a sail up the river. The soldiers, to the number of about fifty, from the Parks Convalescent Home and the St. James Military Hospital, gathered at the club house early in the evening. An informal program of songs, instrumental numbers and dancing was first run off. G. Davidson played some airs on the banjo that immediately caught the attention of the audience. He was followed by Robert Carson in a well-timed vocal selection and then Simon Dingo was

My cousin Artie and my cousin Sue were both around at my house last night, and pop got a fierce pain in his inside and he telephoned Dr. Rorer, who by the time Dr. Rorer came around, pop was wailing there any more, and Dr. Rorer sat down in the setting room to tawk a wile anyhow, being a big fat man with a bald head and a high hat, and me and Artie and Sue was playing lotto, and I sed, Lets play doctor, ill be the doctor for thinking of it, and you 2 can be the payshins.

And we started to play it, me setting in the rocking chair pretending to smoke a cigar, and Artie wawked up all bent over as if he was as sick as the doose, saying, O doctor, O doctor, and me saying, Wat seems to be the trouble, have you any symptoms?

Yes, I cant eat more than a peeces of pie for dinner and my shoes dont fit me and I got a wail pain in my rite stomach, sed Artie.

Ah, you must have sinkabesties, if you come around 5 o'clock to-morrow morning ill out both your legs, I sed.

Dr. Rorer jest keeping on setting there as if he didnt see anything funny, and Sue wawked up pretending to be as weak as anything, falling down on the floor and saying, Help, doctor, help.

seen in some step dances that were highly appreciated. Others on the programme were R. A. Jamieson, in a piano selection; Gilbert McMillan and John Thompson, in the popular songs of the day, and Frank Jordan in a recitation.

The members of the club, with their guests, then adjourned to an appetizing banquet, which had been prepared by the wives of the members and, after doing full justice to the repast, toast were proposed by the members and answered by the returned heroes.

Dancing was next in order until a late hour. This makes the third of a series of entertainments given by the club, all of which have proved a complete success.

The Greek residents of St. John and vicinity are taking advantage of the presence in the city of a priest of the Greek Catholic Church to hold services according to the eastern orthodox rite in the Anglican church of St. John Baptist, Paradise Row. Rev. Dr. Young has tendered them the use of the edifice. The attendance is quite large and the full eastern files, incense, flowers and colored vestments.

While the organ is not used, the singing is hearty and of a character peculiar to the Greek church. One evening this week a wedding of a Greek couple occurred at the church. The Greeks, Armenians and Russians occasionally use the Episcopal church of the Advent, Boston, a large Russian and Rumanian united in a solemn Te Deum at Christ Church, in the New Hampshire city, of which Father Brins is rector.

In New York, Montreal and other cities, Catholics have churches of their own.

GERMANY SURE TO BE CRUSHED IN THE END

Prices Hold Through Trying Times of Widespread Pessimism with Remarkable Steadiness.

New York, Aug. 2.—The current situation in the stock market, when it can be reliably ascertained, is of great assistance in determining the conclusions of the best financial thought of the country on the effect which the great and small movements throughout the world are liable to have upon business and material prosperity. The present market is no exception. What will result from the action at Washington, on prices and taxes—the collapse of Russia as a present aid to the Allies—and the death grip on the Western front? If prices are discounting the worst that can happen in any of these directions, the conclusion it seems to us, must be that the best thought believes: first, in a sane solution—a solution on the constructive side, of the price-fixing problem and that of taxation—a solution which allows prosperity to continue and will not rob enterprise of inducements to put forth its best efforts; and, second, a conclusion as to the outcome of the war, that with the employment of every resource in men, money and production of a nation of 110 millions of people possessing 240,000,000,000 in wealth—people who have never been beaten in war—added to the extraordinary achievements and still vast resources of England, France and the other Allies, with all this against her, Germany is sure to be crushed in the end, and the war completely won for Liberty and Civilization.

Any other inference as to what final opinion is, would mean an outlook for a collapse in prices of widespread pessimism, with remarkable steadiness.

New York, Aug. 2.—The U. S. Steel Corporation statement for the second quarter of 1917 is the most encouraging and bullish ever reported, says a prominent interest in close touch with officials of the organization. The utmost confidence in ultimately much higher prices for the stock is expressed in the quarters referred to.

A canvass of several of the active commission houses shows that the expectation is quite general that the stock market will be a trading affair for the present. The heat has kept some of the most active operators from doing anything of importance in the general market according to their friends. The break in airship stocks on the curb is beginning to be looked upon as a shakeout. The following had become large and unwieldy according to current gossip. Outsiders held a good deal of stock which was marginally. Advice is being given to reinstate share group in practically the full extent by the shares of the companies not only in Utah and Nevada, and that when the strike situation is removed the large short interest outstanding is likely to be forced to retire at higher levels.

The position of the entire copper share group is very strong according to special interests. We find private borrowing of these stocks continued substantially. Brokers on the floor who

GRAND TRUNK PACIFIC BUYS A STEAMSHIP

The Tillamook Placed in Service Between Prince Rupert and Ketchikan Alaska.

The Grand Trunk Pacific has added another ship to its North Pacific coast fleet. This is the S. S. Tillamook, and it has been placed in service between Prince Rupert, the western terminal of the G.T.P. line and Ketchikan, Alaska.

This vessel is of United States registry, 119 feet in length, 29 feet beam, has a cargo capacity of about 450 tons and good passenger accommodation. It will meet the growing demands of the northern trade in handling fresh fish, in handling supplies to canneries and serves as a further indication of the continued development of Alaska by the Grand Trunk Pacific and of the increasing importance of Prince Rupert as a Pacific port and distributing center. The big vessels of the G.T.P. fleet, the Prince George and the Prince Rupert, are handling record business this year between Seattle, Victoria, Vancouver, Prince Rupert and the principal Alaskan ports.

DOMINION BRIDGE STOCK ADVANCES FIVE POINTS

Canadian Market Advances Easily on Appearance of Buying Orders.

(McDOUGALL & COWANS.)

Montreal, Aug. 2.—The most impressive thing in the Canadian market is how easily it advances on any buying orders. As we have mentioned before to you, Canada is apparently through the war taxation and the United States are just going into it. The money market is showing slight signs of ease.

Dominion Bridge scored a sharp advance of five points. This company expects to swing the bridge into place at the end of this month.

Steel of Canada advanced easily on slight demand. The war bonds all showed strength and advanced about one-quarter per cent. The American share group is very strong and both markets acted as if they would do better.

St. John Dealer Throws Fuel Situation—Great of Delivery.

A firm of city coal dealers has prepared the following statement for publication. It is the dealer's view of the coal situation and the Times prints as representing the case from the standpoint:

Coal may be termed a fast moving commodity. It is almost in continuous movement from the time the mine digs it from the bowels of the earth until the ashes are deposited in the dump. Interrupting its movement in any one place short of the consumer is like damming a river. It stops the whole flow beyond the dam. It illustrates, go back to the mine. Coal is not stored and piled up at the mine as some people might suppose. It runs in a continuous stream over the screens and into cars. As quickly as one car is loaded it is moved and another empty one put in its place. When the dealer's cars are loaded a train is made up and starts for some junction point where the train is split up and individual cars sent north, south, east or west, according to their destination. Fall to supply the mines with cars take its output today and you stop the whole operation of that mine instantly. The stream is dammed, as were, and the whole flow of the river is stopped.

Consequent the junction point with the flow of cars, either empty or full, and the railway will declare an embargo until the congestion is relieved. He does not get to the mine, or loaded cars from the mine. As coal continues the journey it might meet an embargo caused by the congestion of some other kind of freight, perhaps grain or munitions, and the river is dammed again.

Jumping from the railway transportation past the New York docks at the schooner voyage to St. John, a considering the travels of coal, its arrival at St. John to the customer's bin, and we can see where the most serious interruption in the flow of coal is apt to take place in the immediate future.

St. John consumes between 70,000 and 80,000 tons of American hard coal in a year. This averages 8,000 tons per month. It is chiefly required the winter season, but to keep a flow continuous throughout the year in ordinary times, the mine owners make a cut in the price of coal dealers in the spring. The dealers, turn, give the benefit of that cut to the customer to encourage them to buy. Under this plan the whole trade has been organized for a great many years, so that the dealer's equipment, both for delivery, receiving, storage of coal is employed the year round, and proportioned accordingly to the tons he would handle in the year. This averages 8,000 tons per month. Shut down his plant a month and you have reduced quantity of coal he can handle in the year by that amount. In other words, if all the dealers were idle in August it would mean just 6,000 tons of anthracite coal lost to the customer for the month of August. There would be no possible way of overhauling this loss; not being able to deliver coal, and having his sheds full of coal, dealer could not import more. In losing a month's time he would be month behind for the balance of the year. By that time, the dealer might make up a small portion of this loss, but it would be slight, so that one can see how it plays a big part in the dealer's mind. There is a shortage of anthracite coal. Nearly every person in any family with the facts of the coal trade inside the Canada's fuel controller, Mr. Magrath, tells us that we will have to substitute soft coal for wood for hard coal next winter. Here is a shortage of coal at present, and dealers are forced by the absence of buyers to get a month behind in the yearly schedule of deliveries, the situation next winter is going to be acute. Some dealers have already caught up with their orders and have their equipment practically idle. We have storage bins are full they have done all they can possibly do to get out the situation until their customer takes this coal from them, so as to make room for further imports. Other dealers are rapidly drawing the same condition, so that, to a large extent, the coal supply is largely in the hands of the customer themselves. Every householder can possibly scrape up the money and has storage bins, should fill it up now as quickly as possible so the dealer can empty his bins thus import more coal, so that the customer can enter the winter season with more than the average number of coal holders prepared for the winter, every dealer's sheds filled to the

ST. JOHN DEALER THROWS MUCH LIGHT ON LOCAL FUEL SITUATION—GREATEST DIFFICULTY IS PROBLEM OF DELIVERY.

A firm of city coal dealers has prepared the following statement for publication. It is the dealer's view of the coal situation and the Times prints it as representing the case from that standpoint: Coal may be termed a fast moving commodity. It is almost in continuous movement from the time the miner digs it from the bowels of the earth until the ashes are deposited in the dump. Interrupting its movement in any one place short the consumer's bin is like damming a river. It stops the whole flow beyond the dam. To illustrate, go back to the mine. Coal is not stored and piled up at the mine, as some people might suppose. It runs in a continuous stream over the screens and into cars. As quickly as one car is loaded it is moved and an empty one put in its place. When sufficient cars are loaded a train is made and starts for some junction point where the train is split up and individual cars sent south, east, west, and west, according to their destination. Fail to supply the mines with cars to take its output today and you stop it instantly. The stream is dammed, as it were, and the whole flow of the river stops.

Congest the junction point with a glut of cars, either empty or full, and the railway will declare an embargo until the congestion is relieved. Here you have another dam; empties can't get to the mine, or loaded cars can't get to the junction. As coal continues on the journey it might meet an embargo caused by an congestion of some other kind of freight, perhaps grain or munitions, and the river is dammed again.

Jumping from the railway transportation past the New York docks and the schooner voyage to St. John, and considering the travels of coal on its arrival at St. John to the customers' bin, and we can see where the most serious interruption in the flow of coal is apt to take place in the immediate future.

St. John consumes between 70,000 and 80,000 tons of American hard coal in a year. This averages 6,000 tons per month. It is chiefly required in the winter season, but to keep a flow continuous throughout the year, in ordinary times, the mine owners supply a certain amount of coal on their own account. The dealers in turn, give the benefit of that cut to the American shipper, and encourage them to buy. Under this plan the whole coal trade has been organized for a great many years. It is a dealer's equipment, both for delivery, receiving and storage of coal is employed the year round, and proportioned according to the tonnage he handles in the average month. Shut down his plant for a month and you have reduced the quantity of supply he can handle in a year by just one-twelfth. In other words, if all the dealers were idle during the winter season, it would mean just 6,000 tons of anthracite coal lost to the householders in St. John. There would be no possible way of overcoming this loss; not being able to deliver coal, and having his sheds full of it, the dealer could import more. Having lost a month's time he would be a month behind for the balance of the year. By extra effort, night work, etc., he might make up a small portion of this loss, but it would be very slight, so that one can see how time plays a big part in the fuel question.

There is a shortage of anthracite coal. Nearly every person in any way familiar with the facts of the coal trade admits that. Canada's fuel controller, Mr. Magrath, tells us that some will have to substitute soft coal and wood for hard coal next winter. If there is a shortage at present, and the dealers are forced by the absence of buyers to get a month behind in the yearly schedule of deliveries, the situation next winter is going to be very acute. Some dealers have already caught up with their orders and have their equipment practically idle. When their storage bins are full they have done all they can possibly do to help out the situation until their customers take this coal from them, so as to make room for further importation.

Other dealers are rapidly drawing to the same condition, so that, to a large extent, next winter's coal supply is largely in the hands of the customers. All this can be brought about before the city is absolutely dry of coal, and the people actually in need, it will not be until the coal is used up. It is simply a matter of time. The equipment is idle in the meantime, and they will still remain that shortage of thousands of tons of coal that should be in the people's hands, that will not be there, and cannot be put there in time to be of service this winter. Some will get their orders, some will benefit by it, but there will be others that will have to suffer.

So, while there are many difficulties in the way of getting an adequate supply of coal for the coming winter, the biggest difficulty today is the question of delivery. Instead of rushed times next winter, there should be rushed times now. Coal should be going into the people's bins as quickly as it can be put there, and as the dealers' sheds are emptied they should be filled again while the coal is still available. This is the advice of Mr. O'Connor, the commissioner on the high cost of last winter, and whose report to the government has just been published. It is also the advice of all the coal trade journals, and some of the leading daily papers of Chicago and New York, and it is now the advice of your local dealer. It is simply a race between local dealers and the weather man to get a sufficient supply of coal into the customers' bins and into St. John to forestall a serious coal famine this coming winter.

Miss Nellie H. Freeze, of Passabeque who has been spending a few weeks at the Royal Hotel, has returned home.

RUSSIA WILL STAY IN WAR TO A FINISH

Minister Tserchtnko Sends Telegram to Russian Diplomats Accredited to Allied Powers. Petrograd Aug. 2.—Minister Tserchtnko has sent a telegram to Russian diplomats accredited to the allied powers. He says: "At a moment when new and grave misfortunes are threatening Russia we consider it our duty to give our allies who have shared with us the burden of trials in the past, a firm and definite explanation of our point of view regarding the conduct of the war. The greatness of the task of the Russian revolution corresponds to the magnitude which it caused in the face of the enemy could not be effected without serious disorders. Nevertheless, Russia, convinced there is no other means of safety, has continued in accord with the Allies' common action on the front.

Fully conscious of the difficulties of the task, Russia has taken up the burden of conducting active military operations during reconstruction of the army and the government. The offensive of our armies, which was necessitated by a strategic situation, encountered insurmountable obstacles on both the front and in the interior of the country. The criminal propaganda of irresponsible elements was used by enemy agents and provoked a revolution in Petrograd. At the same time part of the troops on the front were seduced by the same propaganda and forgot their duty to the country and facilitated the enemy piercing our front. All necessary steps have been taken at the front for restoring the combat strength of the armies. "Russia will not suffer herself to be deterred by any difficulty in carrying out the irrevocable decision to continue the war to a final triumph of the principles proclaimed by the Russian revolution."

Worthy of mention is the excellent paper prepared and read by Miss M. Everett, at Andover meetings, the title being, "Lessons We May Learn from Nature." At the close of the term this summer, the Institute awarded a medal in Grade IX, for highest average, and it was won by a young lady.

For a statement of money raised and expended in one year on patriotic work, what branch of an organization with twenty-seven of a membership can beat these figures from the Campbell Institute, in which there is also a Red Cross Society and a Soldiers' Comforts' Association. Total money raised, $12,145; total expended, $10,404.54. If space would permit, we would like to publish in detail the financial statement as it would surely prove an inspiration to any society.

GOOD VEGETABLE RECIPES FOR MEATLESS DAYS. Omelette of Peas. Beat in three eggs to which add one tablespoon of grated cheese, pepper and salt, and mix thoroughly. Butter an omelette pan and pour in the mixture, leave moving it gently with a fork while you sprinkle in with the other hand some cooked green peas or canned. The omelette will be cooked by the time you have sprinkled in two handfuls. Slip it off on a very hot dish, fold over and serve at once.

Paranic Fricassee. Fry cubes of salt pork until brown, add four raw parsnips scraped and cut into small pieces; allow one cup of pork to parsnips; cover with boiling water and simmer until tender, drain off water and add sliced boiled potatoes and milk to cover; when this boils up season with salt, pepper and a lump of butter. Pour into dish containing squares of toasted bread one inch thick.

Peppers Filled With Cheese. Take a cupful and a fourth of cream cheese, with a teaspoon of salt, a teaspoonful of onion juice, a dash of red pepper, thicken with cracker crumbs and fill the peppers. Bake a light brown and serve with tomato sauce.

Baked Asparagus. Cut asparagus into inch lengths and boil. Drain and put a layer in a buttered baking dish. Season with salt and pepper; dot with bits of butter, sprinkle with crumbs and finely LYRIC. "Double Cross Mystery." The identity of the Masked Stranger is learned in the seventh episode but it is learned by one of the characters and he being a newspaper reporter won't tell until he can make a good story of it. That is not quite fair to Dick Annesley (Gladstone James), a new actor in the "Double Cross Mystery," for his reason for keeping silence was more of a chivalrous nature. He is a debonair young man and in the scenes at the ruined castle (looking rather remarkably well preserved it struck me), he shows up in fine contrast with Bentley. At one stage of the search two doors confront the characters. Between them is a note which reads "Behind one of these doors lurks death; enter at your peril." The Masked Stranger, Annesley walks right in and meets with nothing more serious than a suit of armor while Bentley has been frightened by a booby.

The other pictures shown at the Lyric consist of an amusing cartoon in which Farmer Alfalfa proves that a cat has nine lives. He tries to kill his cat named "Gib" but she sticks to her old friend. On the same reel is a Dittmar animal picture with an eating race between a monkey, a caterpillar and a grasshopper. I should have bet on the monkey but the hopper gets there first.

Vaudeville consisted of a lady and gentleman who sang several duets. "Ireland Must Be Heaven for My Mother Came from There," "Caroline" and others. The Russels, the couple are named, and they were for two weeks at the Strand, New York.

UNIQUE. "Perils of the Secret Service." "Lonesome Luke's Honeymoon."

The first of the series "Perils of the Secret Service" proved a gripping picture and "The Last Cigarette," that played so important a part was watched closely as it burned to a finish. These are produced by the Universal Company and feature Kinsley Benedict, who nonchalant and unporturbed, in the midst of danger, goes on his way and accomplishes his object. A detective sort of plot that appeals to a great many people this series should be well worth seeing if the rest are up to the first one shown. The setting of the society ball is remarkably well done.

That Lonesome Luke is a great favorite was shown by the fact that both the matinee and evening performances at the Lyric gathered large crowds to see the antics of this fun-maker. His tumblers, his blows and his interrupted carcases all proved a source of great merriment to the audience. The incidents which in any good comedy follow each other in very rapid succession.

Another picture included in this bill was a number of scenes in Central Texas.

Betty Compson, according to one of her admirers, should be known as "the prettiest girl in pictures," and every one who knows Miss Compson on and off the screen admit this correspondent is a good judge of beauty. This petite actress is a Salt Lake City girl who did her first professional work as a violin soloist in vaudeville. Later, minced boiled eggs. Add more asparagus, and repeat in the order mentioned until the dish is filled. Have crumbs on top and bake brown.

It takes a man to explain things to a woman that he doesn't understand himself.

IN THE GARDEN. "Yes, plants have their ailments." "To be sure," said the sweet summer boarder, "I have heard of hay fever, and I am not surprised they get feverish out in that hot field."

with a partner, she played over the big time vaudeville circuits. About one year ago she came to Los Angeles on tour, and Al. E. Christie seeing her work in the playlet "Wanted a Leading Lady," immediately sought her services and since she has been "a leading lady" in films. Her first subject was titled the same as the playlet, but had an entirely different story. It showed her discovery by the producer and her first work at the studio. Many screen fans will remember her second release, in which she appeared as a Scotch lassie in "Where the Heather Blooms." For a year she has been featured in leading parts in one and two reel subjects. Included in the list of her releases are "Love and a Savage," "Those Primitive Days," and a number of others, all of which were made under the direction of Horace Davy. Miss Compson is a pretty blonde with blue eyes, five feet two inches in height, and has a very attractive personality.

WANT AN "ALL DAY" SHOW. Motion Picture Craze is Fast Sweeping the Celestial Kingdom. China has capitulated to the picture show, says the Seattle Times. So much so, in fact, that Chinese women now make attendance a social event, to be observed with a display of their choicest and most beautiful silks and most dazzling jewels. Instead of social functions at home, with tea and music and that sort of thing, Chinese women who would be in fashion eat a large breakfast, adorn themselves like a New York society woman bound for the opera, and sally forth for a day of watching the films flicker.

"The motion picture craze in China," said Ernest Young, who has been several years in the Orient, "now has reached a point where the natives are demanding an all-day show."

CANT PICK ALL THE BERRIES. The river steamers brought down very light consignments of vegetables and berries to Indiantown yesterday. The few new potatoes that arrived in the city were going at $2.25 a bushel. A small quantity of raspberries that came down were disposed of for 15c a box, and strawberries were selling for 7c a box by the crate, and 8c to 10c retail.

A man conversant with conditions up the river, stated yesterday that the season was rather late for blueberries but, as the crops are large he expected that the city would be flooded with them in a short time. Strawberries were about ten days late in ripening, the result being that the picking of the berries has greatly hindered the farmers in the cutting and taking in of their hay. The two recent days of intense heat was a veritable boon to the farmer, and those who took enough time off from picking berries to cut and take in the hay were able to mow a large quantity.

Some of the farmers are proceeding with their haying and letting the strawberries look after themselves, and as a result large quantities of this luscious fruit are rotting and going to waste.
