Mr. Tarte "Going For" Sir Hector Langevin.

Personnel of the Cabinet—Glencoe Gets Another Railway Connection.

OTTAWA, June 17.—Mr. Tarte does not intend to allow Sir Hector Langevin to remain much longer under suspicion of being implicated in the McGreevy scandal. He proposes to begin to convict him. He will inquire on Thursday if the Minister of Public Works authorized Mr. H. F. Perley to write the letter in which he gives Larkin, Connolly & Co. valuable hints as to how to alter their tenders for the Quebec harbor works.

Mr. Innes is inquiring into the subject of the quarantine regulations recently issued by the United States. He believes that these regulations will have a serious and injurious effect on the exportation of sheep and hogs from Canada. He will ask if the Government has received any communication from Washington on the subject or if they intend to make any effort to induce the United States Government to rescind the regulations.

The Ministry stands to-day thus:

Mr. Abbott, Premier and President of the Council.
Sir John Thompson, Minister of Justice.
Sir Hector Langevin, Minister of Public Works.
Sir Adolphe Caron, Minister of Militia.
Mr. Chapleau, Secretary of State.
Mr. Foster, Minister of Finance.
Mr. Carling, Minister of Agriculture.
Mr. Costigan, Minister of Inland Revenue.
Mr. Dewdney, Minister of the Interior.
Mr. Bowell, Minister of Customs.
Mr. Haggart, Postmaster-General.
Mr. Tupper, Minister of Marine.
Mr. Frank Smith, without portfolio.
Vacant, Minister of Railways.

It is worthy of note that the Cabinet of to-day contains but two of the Ministers who were in the National Policy Administration of 1878, and both of these, Sir Hector Langevin and Mr. Bowell, are shortly to retire.

The Toronto World says: "D'Alton McCarthy was asked to join a Ministry under Sir John Thompson, but refused to take anything except the Premiership. He was also asked to join one under Mr. Abbott, but gave a similar answer again. Mr. McCarthy endeavored to obtain a pair during his absence in Europe, but was unable to get one. Sir Donald Smith wants to leave for Europe immediately, but he, too, was unable to obtain a pair. A prominent Grand Trunk official said to-night that Mr. Chapleau's statement that that company favored his appointment to the portfolio of Railways and Canals was utterly devoid of truth. The Grand Trunk, he said, expressed no opinion as to who should be Minister of Railways."

[Special to the ADVERTISER.]

OTTAWA, June 17.—The Railway Committee passed this morning the bill allowing the Grand Trunk Railway to run a branch from Glencoe to Kingscourt on its Sarnia Branch.

WORK AND WAGES.

London Laundresses on the Smash—Lumbermen's Troubles Tided Over.

At a meeting of the laundresses in North London yesterday after speech-making and some wrangling 300 of the women went on strike. The laundresses demand the eight-hour day and 42 pence for a day's labor. The strikers marched in a body to the establishments where "blacklegs" were employed, and after smashing the windows dragged the blacklegs away from their work, upset or emptied the washtubs, overturned the ironing tables, kicked over the clothes horses and played havoc generally.

It is probable 22,000 mill operatives in Fall River, Mass., are to be asked to submit to a reduction of wages, probably amounting to 10 per cent.

The annual meeting of the Supreme Council of Federated Railway Employes began in Chicago Monday night. It is probable that two new new orders will be admitted to the Federation, one from Illinois and one from Iowa.

The New York Board of Walking Delegates and the Lumber Trade Association have effected, it is hoped, a lasting peace. All "pool" lumber will be handled by union men.

About 100 navvies on the Gatineau Valley Railway struck because their pay was a month overdue.

REGAL GARDEN PARTY.

The Duke and Duchess of Teck Entertain Over 1,000 Relatives and Friends.

LONDON, June 17.—The Duke and Duchess of Teck gave a garden party at White Lodge, Richmond Park, last evening, to celebrate their silver wedding. Over 1,000 relatives and friends were present, including the Prince of Wales and family, the Duke of Cambridge, Prince and Princess Christian, Prince and Princess Edward of Saxe-Weimar, foreign diplomats and leaders of the aristocracy. The Duke and Duchess received splendid presents from their relatives. The chief feature of the lawn was a richly-furnished royal tent, draped with pale blue and cream Indian silk. The grounds were dotted with Egyptian tents for smoking and refreshments and for the use of children, and an orchestra of 70 young ladies, presided over by Princess Mary Adelaide, added to the attractions of an enjoyable fete.

South Dakota's Lively Climate.

PIERRE, S. D., June 17.—A terrible wind storm struck this city about 3:30 p.m. one day last week. It was accompanied by a blinding storm of dust, which left the city in total darkness. The storm lasted 25 minutes. To add to the phenomena the temperature fell to almost freezing point.

Trouble at the St. Clair Tunnel.

SARNIA, June 17.—The St. Clair Tunnel Company are perplexed by a new source of trouble. Following the cave-in a month ago on the Canadian side comes another, now on the American side. The north bank for a distance of 325 feet has caved in, filling the approach to the depth of ten feet or more. As the bank slid down the track leading to the tunnel rose up, in about the same manner as it did on the Canadian side. The mouth of the tunnel is not closed, but to the west the passage is completely blocked. The planing mill is completely wrecked, the building standing at an angle of 45 degrees on the bank. The machinery was not damaged. The building was at once made fast and the planer and engines are being removed. Along the bank are other seams, and it is probable that other cave-ins will take place.

THE CONGREGATIONALISTS.

Closing Meetings of the Union at Guelph.

The Labor Question Touched Upon—Strong Prohibition Resolution Passed.

GUELPH, June, 16.—Most of the pulpits in the city were filled Sunday by members of the Union. At the morning service in the City Hall Rev. George Robertson, B.A., preached the annual sermon from the text, I. Tim. i., 11, the theme being, "The glorious Gospel the church's trust."

In the evening Rev. Hugh Pedley, B.A., preached an admirable discourse. At the close a communion service was held, at which Mr. Pedley said a few farewell words before taking his departure for England to attend the International Council of Congregational Churches in London.

The special committee appointed to consider the memorial presented by the Knights of Labor and kindred societies reported: "That the members of the Congregational Union, in response to the memorial presented to them by the joint committee of Knights of Labor, etc., do hereby express their fullest sympathy with every effort that harmonizes with Christian principles in the uplifting of the suffering poor, and are heartily willing to co-operate with them in any direction not inconsistent with the teaching of Jesus Christ, believing that with the growth of true religion there will be also the sure progress of the people." This resolution carried.

Rev. J. Burton was requested to prepare and present an essay at the next annual meeting on "The Land and Labor Question."

The following resolution on prohibition was unanimously adopted:

Whereas, it is evident that to a greater extent than ever before the people of this Dominion are alive to the need of prohibiting the manufacture, importation and sale of intoxicating liquor;

And whereas our representatives will see that the great obstruction to the securing of such a prohibition is the excessive partisanship of many representatives who prevent the exalting and enforcement of temperance laws for self-interest or in the interest of the wealthy class;

And whereas good law and precedent supports us in the view that there are no vested interests in the traffic which demand compensation or time to adjust;

And whereas we feel that great importance is to be attached to the present plan of the discussion in Parliament as to whether there shall be present prohibition, future prohibition or an appeal to the country so as to shirk responsibility;

Resolved, that we urge our representatives to stand firm in demanding that the present Parliament enact a bill for immediate prohibition unassociated with other issues.

An invitation to visit the Ontario Bee Keepers' College was accepted. The place of meeting for next year was left in the hands of the Union Committee. In the afternoon the members of the Union with their hosts and hostesses were royally entertained by President and Mrs. Mills at the Ontario Agricultural College. The closing meeting in the evening was devoted to addresses and vocal music.

"A GAMBLERS' ORGIE."

The Popular Crusade Against the Prince Loses None of Its Vigor.

LONDON, June 17.—At the Methodist Conference now being held at Leeds the visit to Tranby Croft was classed as a "gamblers' orgie."

After the lecture delivered at Carnarvon, Wales, by Henry M. Stanley, the band played "God Bless the Prince of Wales." The Welchmen, however, raised a storm of hisses which almost drowned the noise of the band.

At seven religious meetings held in various parts of the country yesterday the Prince of Wales was roundly denounced for the share he took in the baccarat scandal.

In a letter published in the Pall Mall Gazette the writer asks why a captain in a household regiment who is wanted by the police in connection with the Cleveland street scandal, and who is now residing in the United States, should have been allowed to resign when Sir William Gordon Cumming was dismissed from the army for his share in the Tranby Croft scandal.

In a letter published in the Standard, which is a sturdy Conservative organ, the writer calls attention to the fact that during the course of the royal picnic at Virginia Water on Saturday last some of the party, including members of the family of the Prince of Wales, violated the law relative to the close season of fishing by fishing in those waters. The writer calls upon the local authorities to prosecute the regal law-breakers under the statute.

CHICAGO, June 17.—A disastrous wreck has occurred on the Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad, half a mile east of Coen Rapids, Ia. A passenger train, consisting of baggage and mail and express cars, several coaches and two sleepers crashed through the bridge over Coen River. Only the rear sleeper remained on the track.

The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul express train going east plunged into Coen River last night during the storm, killing five or six persons, fatally injuring three and seriously wounding twelve to fifteen. The disasters were caused by the terrific rain undermining the approach to the bridge.

WHITBY, June 17.—Henry Harris, aged 18, son of Mr. W. C. Harris, late of Caledonia, Burton & Co., of Toronto, was drowned here in the harbor yesterday. It is supposed that the deceased attempted to swim after his canoe, which was found floating, and was taken with cramps.

MARRIED IN A TENNIS COURT.

Players Wedded in the Midst of an Exciting Match.

SPRINGFIELD, O., June 17.—There have been weddings in balloons, yachts and store windows, but Milford Center, a small place near here, can probably lay claim to the first law tennis wedding ever solemnized in the country. For some time Andrew Bates has been laying siege to the heart of Miss Bertha Stokes. Both parties are the champion tennis players for miles around. One day Mr. Bates was pressing Miss Stokes to name the day for their marriage. "You may name it yourself if you will have the ceremony performed in the tennis court," said Miss Stokes. "Agreed," said the young man. A day or two ago 200 guests gathered on the spacious lawns of the beautiful country place of Asa Bates, father of the groom. The bride and groom were dressed in jaunty tennis costumes, as were the bridesmaid and groomsman. The four finally engaged in an exciting match. Right in the middle of it Rev. Mr. Wardell, of Milford Center, walked out on the lawn to the tennis court and raised his hand. The game was stopped and the contracting parties clasped hands, and in a few minutes the marriage vows had been spoken and Miss Stokes and Mr. Bates were man and wife. After the bridal kiss had been given they seized their racquets and finished the game. A splendid wedding banquet and an old-fashioned barn dance followed.

AGREED TO HELP HER DIE.

A Remarkable Plot Overheard by Women in a Railroad Car.

LONDON, June 17.—The Worthing magistracy has just dealt with a case which is believed to be without a precedent. Three ladies traveling in a railroad coach overheard two other lady passengers discussing an unhappy love affair in which one of them, Edith Spiller, had been engaged, and listened to an agreement, which was finally made, that the despondent girl should commit suicide, the laudanum for the purpose to be procured by her confidante, whose name is Rose Brame. The three listeners followed and watched the movements of the two friends, and saw them purchase the laudanum.

They then called the police and told what they had seen and heard. Miss Brame and Miss Spiller were arrested and charged with conspiring to feloniously kill Edith Spiller. After a hearing, in which the above facts came out, the magistrates committed the prisoners for trial. Both are young women of families very high in the social circles of Sussex county, and the case has excited a good deal of interest.

THE PRESBYTERIANS.

Report of the General Assembly Record Committee.

The Temperance Question Dealt With—Nothing Short of Prohibition Should Be Accepted as Final.

KINGSTON, June 16.—The General Assembly resumed its deliberations this morning in St. Andrew's Church. The Record Committee reported the following statistics respecting the denominational organ: Average circulation, 46,000 monthly; receipts from all sources for the year, $13,211 60; disbursements, $9,798 65; balance in hand, $3,412 95. The resignation of the managing editor, Mr. Croil, and his colleague, Mr. Murray, was noted with great regret. The new illustrated magazine for Sabbath schools was reported to have reached a monthly circulation of 18,000. A resolution was unanimously adopted giving Mr. James Croil, editor, the sum of $1,000 out of the balance now in hand as a slight token of the esteem in which his long and faithful labors are held by the General Assembly. Mr. Murray, of Halifax, was appointed editor of the Record and the Children's Record.

In submitting the report of the Committee on Temperance, Rev. Mr. Fraser spoke briefly of the systematic work which had been done in the direction of securing prohibition legislation. It was objected, he said, that the stoppage of the manufacture and sale of liquors would most seriously disarrange the condition of the finances of the country and create an alarming loss of revenue. "What," exclaimed the speaker, "is the temporary loss of $7,500,000 when the eternal salvation of 5,000 immortal souls annually was at stake, and there were the best reasons for believing that this disarrangement would only be temporary." The report was accepted as presented and the following resolution proposed:

That this Assembly reaffirm the opinion of past Assemblies regarding the nature of the general liquor traffic and its evil effects on individual, family and social life, and the necessity of the faithful preaching of the Gospel to effectually overcome these evils and build up a godly, temperate and prosperous nation; that it asserts its conviction that, in the matter of legislation, nothing short of prohibition, rigidly enforced by the proper authorities, should ever be accepted as final or satisfactory, and that it is now the duty of the Dominion Parliament to enact such a law.

Rev. Allan Simpson, Halifax, moved in amendment that the words after "nation" be struck out—in other words, that no opinion on prohibition be expressed, but simply a general reaffirmation of the necessity of aggressive temperance work. Mr. Simpson was heard very impatiently by the Assembly and frequently interrupted by cries of dissent and disapproval. The amendment only received the support of eleven members, and the original resolution subsequently passed with only one dissentient vote.

The mission report was taken up. The estimates for the coming year were adopted as follows: For the western missions $95,000, about the same as last year; for the eastern missions $30,600, an increase of $5,000. The clause of the Foreign Mission Committee's report touching the mission to the Jews was carried without discussion. It recommends the General Assembly to take immediate action to establish a mission to the Jews in Palestine by authorizing the committee or other court to select and commission one or more missionaries, leaving the precise location and the relation of the mission to those already in the field, to be determined by the committee after further correspondence.

It was voted to grant the request of the committee to be allowed further time to seek for a missionary to take charge of the Chinese Mission in British Columbia.

Upon reassembling, a letter was read from Mr. Murray regretfully declining the office of editor of the Record, to which he had been elected at the morning sederunt. The resignation was accepted, and Rev. Ephraim Scott, of New Glasgow, was selected to fill the position.

Principal Grant declined to accept an appointment on the Foreign Missions Committee, and Dr. MacLaren took Principal Grant's place. Montreal was chosen as the next place of meeting, Crescent Street Church being selected; time second Wednesday in June. Further attention was then given to the foreign mission report. Mr. Hamilton Cassels, having resigned the secretaryship of the western mission section, the report recommended as the unanimous opinion of the committee that Dr. Fraser be appointed secretary of that division at a salary of $2,000 and expenses. The proposal to create this salaried office provoked a long discussion, and finally Rev. D. D. McLeod moved that the Presbyteries throughout the Dominion be consulted in the matter to make nominations for the office if they approved of the suggestion. This carried. It should be added that at Dr. Fraser's own request his name was erased from the report, and the Presbyteries will be left entirely free to make an unbiased selection of candidates.

Among the pains and aches cured with marvelous rapidity with Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, is ear-ache. The young are especially subject to it, and the desirability of this Oil as a family remedy is enhanced by the fact that it is admirably adapted not only to the above ailment, but also to the hurts, disorders of the bowels, and affections of the throat, to which the young are specially subject.

The Old Made New.—Many have been the suggestions as to the best way of bringing the White Sulphur Springs, with their great curative properties, into more general use by the public, and all have agreed the first move to make was to have a better building. Recognizing this the present proprietor, Mr. R. Hodgins, has had the old building entirely rebuilt from the top of the tower down, and in addition has built an engine and boiler house to the east to furnish hot water. Inside the plan of the baths has been rearranged and twenty new baths put in and everything done that was needed to make a first-class bath house. The grounds surrounding the springs will be laid out in lawn, etc., and when finished will present a very attractive appearance. The value of the springs as to their health-giving properties has been acknowledged by many medical men as well as citizens who have been benefitted by them, and this year they should be well patronized. The plunge bath is in full swing. Several new features have been added, and already is receiving a good share of support. Mr. Hodgins' efforts are highly deserving of a liberal support from the citizens of London. b

A Canadian Girl Obtains Employment as a Farm Laborer.

MONCTON, N. B., June 17.—Clara Wortman, Salisbury's missing girl, has been found, dressed in boy's clothing, working as a farm hand in King's county. Reports have been in circulation for some days that a strange-looking boy, dressed in ill-fitting clothes, and with hair roughly cut, had been seen at various points along the I. C. R. between Salisbury and Sussex. Yesterday morning Mr. J. E. Foster, of Salisbury, drove to Penobsquis and, about two miles below the station found Clara working as a farm hand with Byron McLeod. She had been there a week. She did not say much, but alleged that she was dissatisfied with things at home. She was dressed in a pair of pants and coat belonging to her brother. Her own clothing, a pair of scissors and a looking-glass were found near her home in the woods, where she had cut her own hair and changed her make-up. The first day she worked on the farm at Penobsquis she helped to load 90 loads of manure and was afterwards set to hoeing potatoes.

A MUSICAL STROLL.

The Last Big Concert and Its Stars—Open-Air Music.

I suppose that we may consider the Thomas Orchestra concert as the final gasp of the musical season, and a very enjoyable gasp it was in many respects, and one which deserved a larger attendance. Although the selections were of the highest class, I do not think that all of them were suited to a general audience. Applause was freely bestowed, but one could very plainly see that the numbers which really "took" were the Mendelssohn "Scherzo," so fresh and sparkling and ever-welcome. The two last movements of the Grieg "Suite" and the grand "Tannhauser" overture. Finely as this overture was played by Gilmore's Band, one cannot help comparing the beautiful smoothness of stringed instruments over wind in passages where especial "legato" style is needed. I think the majority of his listeners would have preferred to hear Rafael Joseffy in solo playing alone, and as there was already so much orchestral work it surely would have been more suitable. To hear this celebrated pianist play as his solo a somewhat simple Chopin valse was disappointing; also, I cannot say I liked his reading of this same valse nearly as well as that of our own clever resident pianist, Mr. Thomas Martin, who puts some fire into it, which Mr. Joseffy failed to do. Signor Campanini should now retire—not that he is too old for public singing, but his voice and style have not survived as they have with some other singers far older than he is. His encore (Hatton's "Good-bye, Sweetheart"), was a mere parody, the burden of which was "Good-a bye-a, swit arta, good-a bye-a!" Miss Fleming has a fine voice, but marred at present by that agueish uncertainty of tone which some singers seem to consider as a thrillingly passionate tremolo. The voice, however, is there, and with further study and experience Miss Fleming ought to do well.

Mrs. Moore's late concert in aid of the Convalescent Home was successfully carried out both in the miscellaneous portion of the programme and in the charming "Crystal Slipper" cantata, performed by the Ladies' Choral Club. The music is exceedingly attractive and bright, and it is pleasant and novel to listen to the effect of a number of ladies' voices so well blended.

There seems to be every prospect of plenty of open air music this summer. This is always pleasant, and it is to be hoped that the programmes will be arranged so that one or two really good selections will be introduced amongst that lighter class of music with which it would never be wise to do away, because there must always be a certain number of people who only care for light music, and there is no reason why they should be defrauded of their musical pleasure. Better things, however, should not be excluded, only added, and thus all tastes can be gratified.

The weather seems to be at last making up its mind to resemble summer, so that the mere thought of dancing makes one feel weak. Three Years Free
The Coming School of Medicine.
The Histogenetic System.
THIS SYSTEM IS COMPLETE, having different medicines for all the different diseases. The theory is entirely different from that of the old schools. The medicines are perfectly pure, containing nothing of a poisonous nature whatever, and are quite tasteless. For three years these medicines have been given away free and thoroughly tested in the most hopeless cases before being placed on the market. The result has exceeded the most sanguine expectations. Hundreds of cases supposed to be incurable have been cured, and abundance of proof can be produced to convince the most skeptical that Histogenetic Medicines have cured and are curing to-day DISEASES at a later stage than any other system of medicine in the world. In ACUTE cases the medicines act like magic. Chronic troubles require a longer time, generally from one to three months, according to the nature of the complaint. In FEMALE IRREGULARITIES, WOMB TROUBLES, etc., the medicines have been especially successful. Private EXAMINATIONS in these troubles are almost, if not quite, absolutely unnecessary. Call or send for one of our free books explaining the system. They should be in every house in the land.
RHEUMATISM and SCIATICA
LONDON, April 26, 1891.
I am happy to acknowledge, and now testify, to the efficacy of your medicines in curing Rheumatism. I have suffered with this painful disease in my shoulders, knees and hips for twenty-five years, also with sciatica for some time. I decided to try Histogenetic Medicines as a last resort, as nothing ever seemed to give me any permanent relief. The first week's medicine gave me relief, and in two weeks the sciatica disappeared and has not returned. I took the medicines for six weeks, and am cured of the rheumatism. I feel better in every way. I am sixty years of age, and feel quite smart and active. I can cheerfully recommend these medicines to the public, and will be glad to tell any sufferer about my case. It is now nearly two months since I ceased taking the medicines, and the effect is permanent.

THE STRIKING STATESMAN AND HIS TERMS.

If Mr. Chaplean were to go on strike and make it a condition of his remaining in the stop-gap Dominion Government which Mr. Abbott has formed that he should be made Prime Minister there is every reason for believing that the high tax leaders would capitulate. They would say, with the Western Free Trade Tory editor who was told to turn "protectionist" in a night or be prepared to leave the party, "It's a —— sharp curve, but we'll take it." The reply is historical, though scarcely couched in the best of language.

It has been shown that the Ministry now exists on the sufferance of this Quebec politician. Mr. Abbott, the old gentleman who has been adopted as the foster parent of the warring factions, has told Parliament that the Ministry remains as it was at the death of Sir John Macdonald, the only difference being that he takes the position of President of the Council. The important portfolio of Railways and Canals, administered by Sir John Macdonald, is to be kept empty until after Parliament adjourns, and Mr. Colby's seat is not to be filled, notwithstanding that it was made vacant by the defeat of the Minister at the general election. The new Government is placed in this humiliating position by the attitude of Mr. Chapleau. That Quebec politician went on strike when the Canadian Pacific Railway was awarded its last $30,000,000, and he and his followers made a sufficient "eave" to defeat the Government if it did not grant their demands to pay out several millions of dollars from the public treasury for the purchase of Quebec railways. It was a question of principle. The Ministers for a time refused the terms, but the majority of them valued their emoluments of office more than their regard for the public interests, and Mr. Chapleau had his way. During last week the striking statesman once more assumed a stand-off attitude. This time he believed he was entitled to an office having patronage at its disposal. His job as Secretary of State only enables him to control a few printers. He wanted to get hold of one of the great spending departments. He asserts that Sir John Macdonald promised him on the eve of a general election that he should have the Ministry of Railways and Canals. He refused to join Mr. Abbott unless he had a promise that the office and its patronage should be his at the earliest possible moment. The new high tax leader, with the helpless dependence of the henpecked husband who wears slippers and runs messages as demanded, almost immediately capitulated, and Mr. Chapleau takes his old place, with the guarantee that at the earliest possible moment the department with the largest amount of patronage at its disposal shall be his.

The incident is specially instructive, because it shows on what a slender thread hangs the life of the new Ministry. If Mr. Chapleau, with his small following, can take the new high tax leader by the throat and make their own terms, what is to hinder other combinations from doing the same thing to the serious detriment of the country? Without immoral compacts and sacrifice of principle the Ministry cannot stand for a week. The worst of it is that the high tax following from this Province, from the poor stick members of the Cabinet downwards, seem inclined to agree to any and every expedient to hold office and power and to maintain the policy of high taxation that, while injuring the people, has done much to lower the tone of public life.

HARRIET BEECHER STOWE, the author of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," celebrated her 80th year in her home at Hartford, Conn., this week. She has reached that ripe old age, honored by millions of readers in all parts of the world for the signal service she rendered in the abolition of slavery. It is now said that she is failing rapidly in body and mind. That is almost to be expected at her time of life. Every octogenarian cannot be a Gladstone in point of mental and bodily equipment.

ABOUT POTATOES.

The Free Press in its issue of June 16 printed the following:

OUR MARKET FOR POTATOES.

In the Big Rapids, Mich., Bulletin, we read as follows:

"A farmer brought to town this morning about ten bushels of potatoes, and could find no market for them. He finally sold them to the Northern Hotel at 50 cents per bushel."

Why do not the farmers of Michigan avail themselves of the markets of 60,000,000? What is the matter with their intelligence? In this city the farmers of Middlesex at present realize over 80 cents a bushel for their potatoes—30 cents a bushel more than the Michigan farmer in his home market. Sir Richard ought to see to this.

This is rather a flippant way to dispose of the great potato question. Let us look at it, not from the point of view of one solitary transaction in a backwoods village, but from the records in the markets to which Canadian potatoes might be sent, in the absence of the duty. If London dealers were buying potatoes for shipment across the border they would never go to a country village in Michigan for their quotations, but to the markets of such potato consuming centers as Detroit, Buffalo and other large cities.

Now in the London market—we take Free Press quotations—potatoes are selling for $1 10 to $1 25 a bag, or, as our contemporary says, fully 80 cents a bushel.

Turning to the latest quotations in the Detroit market, quoting the Free Press of that city, we find the market quotations for potatoes $1 05 to $1 10 per bushel.

That this price is not exceptional over the border the quotations for potatoes in Buffalo, given by the Express, show. In Buffalo the price is slightly higher than in Detroit, the ruling rates being $1 10 to $1 25 per bushel.

At Philadelphia the prices are higher still, being, according to quality, from $1 20 to $1 30 per bushel.

The potato argument against complete reciprocity is thus a very poor one.

THE UNITED STATES NAVY AND CANADA'S DEVELOPMENT.

During the last two sessions the Congress of the United States has voted $38,000,000 for the enlargement of that country's navy, and the plans of the Navy Department will involve the expenditure of about $140,000,000 in all within the next few years. Three sea-going coast-line battleships at $4,000,000 each and two protected cruisers at $2,750,000 each have been authorized during the past two years, besides smaller boats, drydocks and construction works. Of the new battleships now under construction it is the opinion of the Secretary of the Navy that their equal as fighting ships does not exist to-day. They are 348 feet long, 69 feet beam, 10,200 tons displacement, and with 9,000 horse-power and a coal endurance equal to all work on the American coast, they are expected to make fifteen knots sustained sea speed per hour. Their side armor is eighteen inches thick, and the intended battery is described by General Tracy as "the heaviest and most effective in battle carried to-day by any ship afloat or projected." They will carry four 13-inch, eight 8-inch and four 6-inch guns, with sixteen 6-pounders, four 1-pounders and four Gatlings, and in a single broadside fire there will be over two and a half tons of metal. This style of battleship, Secretary Tracy says, is "built to fight and not to run away;" whereas, of another style of boat under construction, "protected cruiser No. 12," being a commerce destroyer, it is "built to run and not to fight." Other cruisers now in commission have a coal endurance of 6,000 miles, but No. 12 is intended to steam around the world if necessary without recoaling. Her length will be 412 feet, with 58 feet beam, 7,400 tons displacement, and three sets of triple-expansion engines, which will drive her at a sustained speed of 21 knots per hour. She would not engage a man-of-war under any circumstances, but limit her efforts entirely to preying on the enemy's commerce, and six such ships would sweep from the seas any nation's commerce as now protected.

To supply the new ships with armor nickel steel will be used, and Andrew Carnegie, of Pittsburg, has received a contract from the War Department to provide $5,000,000 worth of this product for the purpose. He will, a telegram from Pittsburg says, order the nickel from Sudbury, Ont. The mining of that valuable product will therefore keep the new territory on the boom for some time. With that complete freedom to buy and sell between the two countries which is embraced in the Liberal policy, there would be an enormous demand for our coal in the East and the West and for our other minerals and natural products all along the line. That is admitted by even as good an authority as Mr. Abbott, the new Conservative leader, but is not to be expected while he and his friends are controlled by the monopolists, who call for the continuance of "the old policy" of restriction.

PREJUDGING SIR HECTOR'S CASE.

Sir Hector Langevin is well known and highly respected in Ontario. Nobody will rejoice more than Ontario Conservatives when the wicked charges against him are proved to be unfounded, as we are sure they will be.—[Hamilton Spectator.

Is not this prejudging the case in exactly the same way as adopted by many of the Conservative organs when the accusations against Rykert were first brought up? Then there was a loud outcry that the member for Lincoln was being persecuted because he was a strong party man, and the Liberals who unearthed the evidence against him were called all sorts of naughty names for their "prejudices." Rykert himself went the length of asking why he should be hounded out of public life for turning a Parliamentary job to account in making money for his old age when many prominent politicians—presumably on his side of the House, for he seemed well acquainted with them—were continually making money by the same methods as he had pursued. This view seemed to meet with the approval of Sir John Thompson, for he appeared before the committee with a report intended to whitewash the guilty member, and only withdrew it after Mr. Blake produced his famous resolution finding the offending M. P. guilty of the offenses charged against him. The Blake resolution was founded on the evidence, and so thoroughly exposed the methods of Rykert that the committee dared not ignore it, and Sir John Thompson withdrew his exonerating report.

When these recent occurrences are recollected, together with Sir Hector Langevin's share in the disbursement of the Pacific Scandal funds, the least the newspapers favorable to Sir Hector can do is to leave the "wicked charges" alone till the evidence that Mr. Tarte is prepared to adduce is all in. He is a Conservative M.P., and cannot be accused of party motives in his attempt to put a stop to practices that are known to have resulted in a loss to the taxpayers of hundreds of thousands of dollars. What the people have a right to demand is that the guilty parties shall be brought to book, and quickly, too.

WHAT THE ADVERTISER" THINKS ABOUT IT.

SUICIDES multiply as the hot season advances. Why?

THE TORONTO TELEGRAM joins in the independent Conservative cry for the clearing out of the fossils in the Dominion Government, and for their replacement by better material from this Province. Says our contemporary:

Ontario certainly does want stronger men on guard on its behalf, and the Conservative leaders cannot let the selfishness of a few placemen stand between the country and its desires.

But where are the strong men in the present Ontario contingent of high tax representatives? McKay of Hamilton, Marshall of East Middlesex, Roome of West Middlesex, Ingram of East Elgin, stand up and be counted.

GENERAL TCHENG-KI-TONG, in his series of articles on Chinese culture in the Imperial and Asiatic Quarterly Review, claims that Chinese civilization is immeasurably superior to ours. For sobriety, industry and business integrity the Chinese workmen, by the mouths of English and American witnesses, are shown to be vastly superior to their white competitors, and the members of a Hindoo family are considered to be more obedient, self-sacrificing, forgiving, faithful and honest, and less proud and self-seeking than the members of European families. From all this we are not to infer that China is peopled by the spirits of just men made perfect. It is more than likely that this is the best that can be said on one side of the case. What is needed is a judicial summing up of the best and worst on both sides.

The Hon. J. W. Fennimore is the Sheriff of Kent Co., Del., and lives at Dover, the County Seat and Capital of the State. The sheriff is a gentleman fifty-nine years of age, and this is what he says: "I have "used your August Flower for several years in my family and for my "own use, and found it does me "more good than any other remedy. "I have been troubled with what I "call Sick Headache. A pain comes "in the back part of my head first, "and then soon a general headache "until I become sick and vomit. "At times, too, I have a fullness "after eating, a pressure after eating "at the pit of the stomach, and "sourness, when food seemed to rise "up in my throat and mouth. When "I feel this coming on if I take a "little August Flower it relieves "me, and is the best remedy I have "ever taken for it. For this reason "I take it and recommend it to "others as a great remedy for Dyspepsia, &c." ®

Dyspepsia

Makes many lives miserable, and often leads to self destruction. Distress after eating, sick headache, heartburn, sour stomach, mental depression, etc., are caused by this very common and increasing disease. Hood's Sarsaparilla tones the stomach, creates an appetite, promotes healthy digestion, relieves sick headache, clears the mind, and cures the most obstinate cases of dyspepsia. Read the following:

"I have been troubled with dyspepsia. I had but little appetite, and what I did eat distressed me, or did me little good. In an hour after eating I would experience a faintness or tired, all-gone feeling, as though I had not eaten anything. Hood's Sarsaparilla did me an immense amount of good. It gave me an appetite, and my food relished and satisfied the craving I had previously experienced. It relieved me of that faint, tired, all-gone feeling. I have felt so much better since I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, that I am happy to recommend it." G. A. PAGE, Watertown, Mass.

The judges at a recent meeting at Worcester, Mass., defeated a job in good style and made it exceedingly expensive to the would-be perpetrator. In the 2:24 class for pacers and trotters Lady Sheridan was the hottest kind of a favorite, but she was successfully pulled behind the flag. Secretary T. O. King, of Charter Oak Driving Park, Hartford, Conn., was presiding judge, and he promptly ignored the distance, ordered the driver out and put up John Trout, who won the race in good style. John was allowed $100 for driving, which was deducted from the purse.

Arthur Cummings, a Brooklyn youth, was the first to discover the way to put an out curve on a baseball in 1868. He was known as the "Boy Wonder," and kept the secret for several years. Robert Matthews was the first to learn the knack of making the ball "raise" while a young pitcher for the "Marylands," of Baltimore, in 1869. It was in 1878 that Matthews used the out curve, while pitching for Worcester.—[Boston Herald.

ATHLETICS.

Mrs. Estelle Austin, Barnum's strong woman, who died recently in Worcester, was 45 years old. She was a large child, and early developed remarkable strength. At the age of 17 her form was well rounded out, and she had arms and limbs of good size, with flesh and muscles like iron. She came to this country about 25 years ago and traveled with various circuses, finally entering "Barnum's Greatest Show on Earth" as the strong woman. She married Baron de Itallie, "The man with the iron jaw," an attache of the circus. He died in Fall River about eighteen years ago. Mme. Austin's great feat in the circus was balancing on her shoulders and neck a cannon weighing 400 pounds, with a full-grown man standing on each end. The men would then leap to the ground and the cannon would be loaded. Then a little boy, her adopted son, would mount the cannon and apply the fuse, discharging the cannon. Mme. Austin was also an accomplished equestrienne. She used at times to drive eight, ten or twelve horses in chariot races. She was about 5 feet 10 inches in height, with broad shoulders, large arms and legs, well-developed head, and a beautiful face. She weighed about 250. She was noted for her kindly temperament, and her neighbors speak of her with great affection. She never bore a child, but her first husband adopted two, and since her marriage to Mr. Austin they have adopted another boy, "Jimmy," who was born in Boston 12 years ago, and still lives with his foster father.

Victory Always the Reward.

It is with great pleasure and satisfaction that we are permitted to lay before the newspaper readers of Canada the following facts, as well as testimonials which were recently sent to our office in a voluntary way.

A gentleman well and widely known in the Eastern townships, and who is greatly interested in agriculture, had suffered some months from kidney disease, which, with a condition of nervousness, rendered his life miserable and unpleasant.

He speaks thus: "I feel it necessary to say something in regard to your splendid remedy, called Paine's Celery Compound; it has just cured me of a bad attack of kidney disease from which I suffered great pain. I was also weak and very nervous for a time, and the doctor afforded me only a small measure of ease. Hearing of your great Compound, I used it, and thank God for the good it has done me. After using four bottles I feel restored and as strong and healthy as ever; I feel no more nervousness, and I am enabled to sleep as soundly as a child."

We hear of scores of such cures every month resulting from the use of Paine's Celery Compound. No other remedy of the present day is doing such good work, and no other has ever proved so popular with our Canadian people.

TORONTO CONFERERCE

Takes a Strong Position on the Prohibition Platform—The Heresy Case.

TORONTO, June 17.—At yesterday's session of the Toronto Conference the Committee on Temperance reported. Rev. H. S. Matthews, Rev. W. T. Hicks and Messrs. J. L. Lovering and John Grayden, with Rev. R. McKee and Mr. Edward Savage as alternates, were received as a committee representing the Conference at the meeting of the Alliance to be held in Toronto on Sept. 10 and 11 this year. They are unalterably opposed to all efforts to regulate the liquor traffic by taxation or license, high or low. The complete and immediate legal prohibition of the manufacture, importation and sale of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes they held to be the duty of the Civil Government. They indorsed the proposal of the Dominion Alliance to secure the election to the Commons of prohibitionists, regardless of party. Efforts should be made in this direction at party conventions and present members of Parliament who have declared for prohibition should be supported. In accordance with the request of the General Conference, the committee recommended that delegates be appointed to represent the Conference at the World's Temperance Convention to be held in Chicago during the World's Exposition held there. The report was adopted.

Immediately after the afternoon adjournment a ministerial session was convened for continuing the trial of the Rev. James Thompson, of Honeywood, who is charged with heresy. Mr. Thompson was called on to explain his position and doctrine, and occupied 45 minutes in elaborating and defining what has been called his peculiar heterodoxy. He did not deny that he had been preaching that immortality could not be attained except through persistent continuance in well-doing; that when the wicked die they are absolutely extinct, but after a time they are resurrected, temporarily punished and finally completely annihilated. He pointed to the teachings of Wesley where he says that the sainted dead do not go to heaven. Mr. Thompson did not take it that they went anywhere else, although the majority of Methodists believe that Wesley when he wrote those works had in his mind the idea of paradise or the intermediate state. The ministerial session dissented from Mr. Thompson's methods of argumentation and deduction, and appointed a committee to deliberate and pass judgment on the case.

Seldom has St. James' witnessed such an assemblage of fashion and beauty as gathered yesterday on the occasion of the marriage of Miss Maude Cawthra, eldest daughter of Henry Cawthra, of Yeadon Hall, to Capt. Henry F. Brock, eldest son of Mr. W. R. Brock. The bride was dressed in a handsome costume of ivory duchesse satin, trimmed with Brussels point lace festooned with orange blossoms, clematis and lilies of the valley. She wore a beautiful necklace and bracelet, and on her bosom sparkled a brilliant diamond star, the gift of the groom. The bridesmaids, Misses Helena, Edith and Grace Cawthra and Miss Muriel Brock, wore handsome costumes of ivory surah, trimmed with fine French lace. Their waists were encircled with heavy girdles of white silk, in which were borne magnificent bouquets of white roses. The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. Reginald Brock. Rev. Canon Dumoulin officiated.

Huron College Commencement.

Most of the delegates, with their wives, repaired to Huron College to take part in the annual commencement exercises. The bishop presided and on the platform were Rev. Principal Miller, Rev. Prof. Williams, Dean of Huron, Canons Hincks, Smith, Davis, Hill and Richardson, Messrs. Cronyn, Hellmuth, Bayly, Clarke and Jenkins. The bishop, in his opening remarks, strongly commended the work done by the college, which was instituted in 1864. It deserved the hearty support of the members of the church.

Charles Jenkins, of Petrolea, followed in an admirable address. He reminded his hearers that a theological college was not only for the purpose of developing the intellect. All must be subordinate to the great necessary call from the Master himself. The institution deserved the hearty support of the church people. He had great faith in the consolidation of the ecclesiastical Provinces.

The bishop here distributed the prizes to the successful students, many handsome sets of books being awarded. The valedictory was a praiseworthy one and was read by Rev. W. F. Brownlee.

Rev. J. Hill read an address of welcome to Rev. Principal Miller on behalf of the alumni. It was signed by the reader, Rev. George Cox and Rev. Wm. Johnson. The recipient replied eloquently. He alluded to the necessity of enlarging the building and increasing the staff.

Rev. W. Craig, of Clinton, late president of the association, concluded with a good address, in which he complimented the graduates of the college.

Refreshments were served afterwards, and a thoroughly social time spent.

Evening Session.

The evening session resumed shortly after 8 o'clock. A. H. Dymond submitted the constitution of the Huron Anglican Lay Workers' Association, which was adopted.

Canon Hill moved a resolution of sympathy with the widow and family of the late Sir John A. Macdonald, and spoke in support of his motion, which was seconded by Rev. Dr. Armstrong, of Moore, and carried unanimously.

Canon Hill gave notice notice of motion to empower ruri-decanal meetings to draft the names of those who were willing to serve on the Executive Committee.

The Executive Committee's report was taken up. A good deal of discussion ensued over the clause referring to the clergy maintenance and mission funds, which showed a debit balance of $4,015 44, and which was alluded to in the bishop's address.

Charles Jenkins, of Petrolea, pointed out that the decrease in farming revenue evidently affected the funds, as parishioners in rural districts were not so well able to pay.

A. H. Dymond, of Brantford, stated that the general lowering of interest on money invested had something to do with the reduction. If the fund was not augmented it would be the painful duty of the committee to cut down the stipends of those drawing money from that fund. It was the duty of the clergy to work up their assessments.

Rural Dean Cooper, of Invermay, said they must admit that the financial condition of the farmers of the country was at present anything but what could be desired. Numbers of the best supporters of the church were struggling to keep over their heads the homes they had worked for for twenty years. He could cite numberless instances where they had gone to Dakota and elsewhere, while the children went to the cities and swelled the church membership there at the expense of the rural sections. Under such circumstances the clergymen found collecting money hard work.

J. C. Noble, of Petrolea, thought the responsibility of gathering these funds should rest not on the clergymen but on the church wardens. He commended the envelope system highly. He did not believe in the "blue ruin" talk they had just heard. The farmers were prosperous. Ten or twenty years ago they lived in log cabins, but now they use those for stables and reside in brick houses, while their daughters played the piano.

Mr. Nesbitt, of Wanstead, said it was evident Mr. Noble wasn't a farmer. (Laughter.) How many of them had gone to the wall that sixteen years ago were flourishing? What could they expect with wheat at 40 to 60 cents a bushel, when formerly they got from $1 to $1 40 and more bushels to the acre.

Rev. Canon Davis spoke on the matter. The laity were often at fault, but it was the duty of the clergy to teach them. He cited cases in a number of parishes where no missionary meetings had been held during the year at all.

The clause was finally passed, and the consideration of the balance of the report laid over owing to the lateness of the hour.

Wednesday Morning Session.

The report of the Executive Committee was taken up the first thing at this morning's session. It stated that the collections for domestic and foreign missions showed a substantial increase, the special Lenten offerings and Widows' Auxiliary Missionary Association offerings being much larger. Domestic mission collections totaled $2,865 77, and the foreign missions $2,003 63. During the year $5,274 23 was paid in annuities, leaving a balance of $1,195 73. Two clergymen were added to the superannuation fund—Rev. Thomas Watson (5 years' service, and Rev. E. Softley (6 years). Pensions amounting to $5,9[illegible] were paid during the year. The committee reported the adoption of a plan for the consolidation of the trust funds, a measure which would prove of great benefit. It also recommended that Canon 20 as printed be amended by adding a clause providing that the Committee of Discipline consist of clerical members of the Executive Committee. The clause relates to the appointment of a commission to investigate any difficulty between a clergyman and his congregation. The report favored the adoption of a certain amendment to Canon 22, regarding the liability of clergymen, and asked reappointment in order to complete the work on the consolidation of the canons. Mr. E. Manigault had been appointed assistant to the secretary-treasurer in place of C. Hunter, resigned. The position of the various funds had been certified to by the auditors.

The last portion of the report caused the annual discussion in reference to the See House of the bishop. Rural Dean Mackenzie, of Brantford, said it was an unfair position to put the bishop in. He should not be made to feel that a large portion of his support should be thrown on the maintenance and mission fund. The people of London had an immense advantage in having the bishop resident amongst them and should be the first to contribute towards its maintenance.

Rural Dean Cooper agreed with Mr. Mackenzie as to the London people being the first who should contribute. He favored the appointment of a paid agent to collect the funds.

The Dean of Huron resented the remarks of Rev. Mr. Mackenzie, who had been the most persistent in denunciation of the church people of London. The cathedral congregation was supposed to be wealthy, but it was no more so than the average rural church. They were doing their best to wipe out the debt in question.

Rev. Mr. Mackenzie said he meant no denunciation, but merely thought London should set the example.

V. Cronyn considered that the diocese had not done its duty by the bishop. His church had met its instalments and paid more than any other, but found itself almost alone in the matter, being supported by but few outside parishes. The debt should be wiped out.

Rev. R. McCosh, of Petrolea, moved that a paid agent be appointed to collect the funds in question. He coincided with the remarks made about the necessity of raising the money.

Charles Jenkins, of Petrolea, moved that statements of original assessments made for the See House and of those congregations who had and had not paid be ascertained, also that the Executive Committee notify the latter of their duties and take such further action as might be deemed necessary.

J. C. Noble, of Petrolea, spoke in support of Rev. Mr. McCosh's amendment, while Rev. Mr. Brown, of Paris, championed that of Mr. Jenkins. On a division the former carried by a vote of 64 to 58, and the report was adopted with that addition.

At the request of A. H. Dymond the Synod agreed to meet the necessary expenses of the lay workers' association.

The report of the Diocese Sunday School Committee contains many interesting statistics. Throughout the diocese there were 480 male and 1,235 female teachers, 7,796 male and 10,096 female pupils, and 404 officers. The sum of $5,980 60 had been collected for Sunday school purposes, $798 33 for parish, and $1,035 20 for outside parishes and missions. There was an increase of 951 pupils and 52 teachers over last year, and a decrease of 19 officers. Sunday schools to the number of 211 had reported, and the value of Sunday school houses (one stone, seven wood and fourteen brick) was $56,225. The county of Middlesex headed the list of missionary subscriptions with $432. The Prayer Book should be used as much as possible in order to familiarize the minds of the pupils with its contents. Jasper Golden, of Kingsville, was the veteran Sunday school worker of the diocese, having been over 60 years continuously in that school as pupil and teacher. The largest Sunday school in the diocese was that of Christ Church, Chatham,. It numbers 532; but the Memorial Church parish, London, which had two Sunday schools, taken as a parish, had the largest number, namely, 687. The report was submitted by the chairman, Rural Dean Downie.

The clause regarding missionary contributions was criticized. Representatives from Brant, Lambton and Huron claimed those counties had raised more than they were credited with, but some parishes had neglected to transmit the amounts through the proper channels or had failed to report at all. A motion by R. Bayly, Q.C., with a view to securing proper reports in future, was carried. A clause recommending the use of the London Mission Hymn Book in the schools was expunged. The report was adopted with these amendments, a notice of motion in connection with it being handed in that $150 be granted for the purchase of catechism charts.

Telegraphic greeting was sent to the Synod of the Diocese of Montreal, now meeting in the latter city.

An adjournment was made at 1:30 o'clock to meet again at 3 p.m.

Woodstock College Closing Exercises—Presentation.

WOODSTOCK, June 17.—The closing exercises of Woodstock College were held yesterday, and attracted a large number of visitors from a distance. The following were reported as having matriculated; G. H. A very affecting incident of the proceedings was the presentation to two of the masters, Messrs. Bewell and Wolverton, retiring from the staff, of addresses accompanied by beautiful gifts. Mr. Wolverton has been connected with the institution in one manner or another for 21 years, and the beautiful gold watch presented to him was only an inadequate expression of the love and esteem of the students and faculty.

AN INTERESTING MEETING.

Annual Gathering in This City of the Canadian Institute of Homœopathy.

The annual meeting of the Society of Homœopathic Physicians of Canada was held in the Tecumseh House Tuesday and was attended by a number of doctors of that particular school.

The address of the retiring president, Dr. Hearn, of Toronto, dealt with a number of subjects of interest to the profession, including among others extended reference to the condition of the Toronto Homœopathic Hospital. Statistics were given showing that nearly 1,000 patients had been treated in the establishment during the year. The mortality rate among the resident patients was not much over 4 per cent.

Dr. Oliphant, of Toronto, gave a report of the University Committee. This committee had been previously appointed to interview the authorities of the University of Toronto and secure, if possible, the establishment of a chair of homœopathic medicine in connection with the medical department of that institution. It was felt that the time had come to take up the work of teaching medicine in Canada to those desiring to study homœopathy, either by the organization of a college or the establishment of a chair in the university. The committee reported that the senate and faculty of the university had expressed themselves favorable to the latter scheme, and the committee was reappointed with power to continue the negotiations. The name of L. H. Evans, M.A., M.D., of Toronto, was mentioned as a suitable person for the proposed chair in the university, but the appointment, of course, rests with the authorities of that corporation.

A number of papers on medical subjects were presented and discussed. Dr. Logan, of Ottawa, gave an interesting historical resume of "Hahnemann's Methods;" Dr. Emory, of Toronto, presented his views on "Abdominal Section," illustrating with cases from his own practice; Dr. Cl. T. Campbell, of London, described the uses of "Local Applications;" Dr. Sinclair, of Woodstock, had a paper on "Otitis Media." Clinical papers were on the programme from other gentlemen, including Dr. John Hall, of Victoria; Dr. Canfield, of Ingersoll, and Drs. Ogden, Jones, McDonald, Adams and Evans, of Toronto.

The society elected the following officers: President, Dr. Cl. T. Campbell; vice-president, Dr. Jarvis; secretary-treasurer, Dr. Sinclair.

The time and place of the session of 1892 was left to the discretion of the officers.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

The Government is Urged to Declare Its Policy.

Sir John Thompson and Mr. Davies Indulge in a Lively Passage-at-Arms.

OTTAWA, June 17.—The House opened its session to-day with a short secret sitting, during which some of the members talked over a question affecting the management of the House restaurant. In the evening the principal discussion was over the delay in the production of the McGreevy papers and the delay in calling the Committee of Privileges and Elections together. The day has been one of industry, and progress is being made with disposal of the order paper.

Mr. Tupper introduced a bill which has been on the order paper for more than a month entitled "An act to amend the law respecting safety of ships." In moving the first reading he explained that recent legislation in the Imperial Parliament fixing the load line of vessels leaving British ports had seriously alarmed the shipowners of the Maritime Provinces. It was proposed under the Imperial act to adopt an extraordinarily severe regulation in relation to the loading of ships. All the local ships, as well as the ships built at home, were compelled to conform to the Imperial rules as to the extent to which they could be loaded and the amount that they carried on board on entering outward, as it was called at a British port. The bill introduced fixed the load line for our shipping, and aimed in the fixing of it to secure the interests of that shipping and prevent its being handicapped in competition with the world's carrying trade. He proposed in the bill to associate with the settling of the load line the surveyors of the British Lloyd's register, the surveyors of the French bureau and surveyors only appointed by the Governor-General in Council. He proposed that the bill on the second reading be referred to a special committee where the maritime interests would be fully considered. The bill was read the first time.

Another bill in Mr. Tupper's name which has been on the paper for some considerable time was an act "Respecting the shipping of live stock." Mr. Tupper proposed allowing this to stand over. Mr. Laurier called attention to the urgency of this matter owing to complications that had arisen with regard to the shipment of cattle from Montreal. He held in his hand a message which showed how necessary it was that there should be no further delay.

Mr. Tupper replied that he had intended to introduce the bill to-day, but he found that he was obliged to incorporate a new provision. The Minister further informed the House that owing to certain vessels being on the point of departure an order had been issued by the Minister of Agriculture prescribing the space for each animal on board ship. Members on both sides of the House took up the subject. Mr. Featherstone was the first to move. He is a practical agriculturist and knows what farmers' interests are. Dr. Sproule and Col. Denison also exhibited telegrams from Montreal showing that the department had made a mistake. They had fixed the space for each animal at two feet six inches on the upper deck and two feet eight on the lower. Two feet eight inches should be insisted upon in the case of both the decks. Mr. Tupper replied that he understood instructions had been sent to insist upon two feet eight inches space for each animal above and below deck. He was surprised to hear about the two feet six inches order having gone out. He would see the Minister of Agriculture and have it cleared up.

Before the questions standing on the paper were taken up, Mr. Laurier had an inquiry to make in which the House and the country are deeply interested. He said: "I would like to call the attention of the leader of the House to the fact that in the statement which he offered to the House yesterday with regard to the formation of a new Cabinet he made no statement whatever as to what would be the policy of the new Administration. I shall expect that to-morrow or on any other day on which it will be convenient to him he will inform the House in that respect. Sir Hector Langevin stroked his chin, turned to Sir John Thompson, whispered to him and sat down.

Sir Richard Cartwright observed that now was a convenient time to inquire of the Finance Minister when he would deliver his budget speech. Mr. Foster for once was definite. "The budget speech will," said he, "be delivered on Tuesday next." Meanwhile as a sop to the hon. gentleman, [illegible] present him with the ten days' statement. Sir Richard had insisted upon a statement of the receipts and expenditures being laid on the table of the House ever ten days until the budget was presented. Sir Hector Lengevine manifested no disposition to answer Mr. Laurier's question, so the leader of the Opposition put another. "Do I understand that the statement I referred to will be made to-morrow?" Sir Hector Langevine replied. "Did the hon. gentleman say to-morrow or some other day? I will probably be able to state something to the honorble agentleman to-morrow." Then he added in the best English he could command at the moment, "I don't promise nothing."

Replying to Mr. Gordon, Mr. Tupper said the Government had not been advised by the Imperial Government that it is the intention of her Majesty to issue immediately after the passage of the Behring Sea Bill now before the Imperial Parliament an order-in-Council, as provided for in the said bill, prohibiting persons belonging to British ships from killing, taking, hunting or attempting to kill, take or hunt, any seal in Behring Sea during the remainder of the present sealing season, but that the Government is aware that negotiations have been held between the Governments of the United States and Great Britain which anticipates the passage of an order of that character.

Dr. Macdonald (Huron) inquired what steps the Government had taken with a view to having the order of the United States putting an embargo on Canadian sheep and swine entering that country removed. Mr. Haggart, answering for the Department of Agriculture, said that on June 16 an order had been made amending the Canadian regulations so that sheep and swine entering Canada from Europe should be subject to fifteen days' quarantine, which was the United States regulation, instead of their simply being inspected. The United States had been advised of this officially. This order being only issued yesterday was undoubtedly the result of the question which the member for East Huron had given notice of. At an earlier stage in the session Mr. McMullen brought the important matter to the attention of the Government.

Mr. Allison wanted to know of the Government if it intended to make a grant of land to each of the survivors of the volunteers who assisted in suppressing the rebellion in Canada in 1837 and 1838. Sir A. P. Caron replied in the negative. The Government, he said, considered it was a matter affecting the old Provinces of Upper and Lower Canada before Confederation.

Mr. Gibson moved for an order of the House for copies of all petitions, letters and communications from the city of St. Catharines and other municipalities on the Welland Canal, or from any persons or corporations for the privilege of using surplus water from said canal for manufacturing or other purposes, and of the reports of engineers of canals thereon and the replies of the Government to all such applications. The motion was agreed to.

Mr. Fauvet, Col. Aymot, Mr. Choquette, Mr. Lister, Mr. Mulock, Mr. Davis, Capt. Welsh and Mr. Bowers each had something to say in the matter of the dishonesty of the Government in the recent elections, favors being granted to friends and opponents being shamefully persecuted.

Mr. Langelier moved for all documents in relation to the returning of the debentures of the North Shore Railway. This is a matter of the utmost importance to Quebec, and the claims of the city were today strongly presented by the member for the center division. He showed how ruinous is the burden under which the city of Quebec is placed by the retention by the Government of the debentures, and again reminded the Government of its promises made on behalf of it by Sir Charles Tupper and by Mr. Chateauvert, Mr. Langelier's opponent at the last election, with regard to the debentures.

When the House rose at 6 o'clock the motion of Mr. Langelier's was not allowed by the Opposition to pass, as they were not satisfied that the debate should end at that juncture, and after recess, when the House was about to resume business, there was a lively passage-at-arms between Sir John Thompson and the member for Queens, Mr. Davies, contended that the Committee on Privileges ought to have been convened before this time beyond all manner of doubt, but rumors were in circulation that it was not to be called together to-morrow, but on Friday. This was to be regretted on many considerations. It could not but be remembered that the conduct of one of the leading members of this House was being investigated and the dignity of the House was at stake. Under these circumstances reasonable speed should be adopted by the committee in its proceedings.

There were a large number of witnesses in attendance by virtue of the subpœnas. Of course the expense was inconsiderable, but when they considered the gravity of the charges and the position of the gentlemen against whom the charges were made and the inevitable conclusion that the charges if proved would be followed by most serious consequences, he stood aghast at the fact that the committee had not been called, as had been promised, de die in diem, and that its meetings were being postponed without cause or explanation being given. He thought if the Government were responsible they ought to be blamed, and if the chairman of the committee were responsible he ought to make an explanation to this House and to the committee. The agreement arrived at had been broken.

Sir John Thompson lost his temper and hotly and repeatedly charged that Mr. Davies had blamed the Government for the delay. Mr. Davies replied that he had neither placed the blame on the Government nor the chairman of the committee, but he was anxious to know on whom the blame ought to be placed. Sir John continued to reiterate his charge, though repeatedly called to order, and wound up by excusing the committee from meeting because of the unsettled condition of affairs since the death of the late Premier.

Mr. Tarte called the attention of the Minister of Public Works to the fact that there had been great delay in the production of the papers necessary to the inquiry. There were letters and telegrams which had passed between Mr. Perley and Mr. Trutch which had not been produced. He should be sorry to attribute to the Minister any reason to withhold these documents from the committee, and he hoped the honorable gentleman would realize that it was his duty to have them brought down at once. The member for Montmorency proceeded to comment upon the evident reluctance of the Connollys to produce the books of the firm of Larkin, Connolly & Co.

Sir Hector Langevin declared that he had given explicit instructions that all the papers in the department touching the subject of the inquiry should be produced, but as they extended over a series of years there was difficulty in finding some of them.

Sir Richard Cartwright drew attention to the work of the other committees which required attention.

Mr. Mulock commented upon the non-production of certain papers before the Public Accounts Committee in connection with the Langevin block papers that had [illegible]en ordered some time ago.

[illegible]r. Barron questioned the Government [illegible] the production of the evidence taken [illegible] Trent Valley Canal Commissioners, [illegible] that the late Premier had promised should [illegible] brought down.

Mr. [illegible]ieson's prohibition resolution stood first [illegible] the list of general orders of the day. S[ir] John Thompson asked that it should be all[ow]ed to stand over for to-night. It wo[uld] be reached this night week, and unl[ess] something unexpected happened the G[ove]rnment would ask for no further postpon[em]ent.

Mr. Wood (Brock[vil]le) then moved the second reading of the [D]ominion Elections Act standing in his na[me]. The object of the bill was to prevent Br[iti]sh subjects who have been naturalized in the United States from voting here. After some debate the bill was read the second time and referred to a select committee.

The House adjourned at 10:30 o'clock.

LONDON AND ENVIRONS.

—Mary Nash was before the police magistrate yesterday morning, charged with using abusive language to Thos. Passmore, of the east end. Sentence was reserved.

—The hospital authorities are taking steps to have the river bank in rear of that institution cleaned up. Complaints of the refuse deposited there have been made lately.

—A dog belonging to Wm. Jarvis bit a little boy named Willie Smith a while ago. The owner promised the police magistrate yesterday that the canine should be destroyed.

—Now that A. O. Graydon is acting city engineer, he has posted up notices asking that only aldermen and officials go beyond the railing in the engineer's office. Maurice Baldwin, street watering contractor, saw the sign yesterday, and, resenting it as a personal insult, made things lively around the City Hall for an hour or two with his loud and profuse expostulations.

TORRID TEMPERATURE.

Deaths Caused by Heat Prostration and Electric Storms.

[PITT]SBURG, Pa., June 17.—Many cases of heat prostration occurred here yesterday, one being fatal.

Reports from all sections indicate electric storms yesterday. In Butler county, Pa., a boy named Robert Taylor was struck by an electric bolt and killed.

Near Elmtown, Pa., Clarence Ashbaugh was struck and killed, and several derricks throughout the oil region were struck and burned.

In New York yesterday morning the mercury marked 82 degrees. Horses on the surface railroads gave out early. Hundreds of men walk the streets in their shirt sleeves. The sudden and unusual heat causes a good deal of suffering.

NEW YORK, June 17.—Serapio Serpa, a well-known tobacco merchant, of this city, committed suicide this afternoon at his office on Wall street by shooting himself through the mouth. Mr. Serpa lived in an elegant residence on Lexington avenue. He had no business or domestic troubles. Yesterday he was prostrated by the heat and acted strangely. It is thought, however, his mind was unbalanced by the heat. There were many cases of heat prostration to-day, a few being fatal.

Heavy Hail Storm.

THOROLD, Ont., June 18.—A heavy rain and hail storm did damage to the extent of many thousand dollars here Tuesday night. Hail stones as large as hens' eggs fell. There were many washouts on the Welland and Niagara railways, and traffic had to be suspended. Stocks in many cellars were ruined and crops almost annihilated.

Why It Is Popular.

Because it has proven its absolute merit over and over again, because it has an unequaled record of cures, because its business is conducted in a thoroughly honest manner, and because it combines economy and strength, being the only medicine of which "100 Doses One Dollar" is true—these strong points have made Hood's Sarsaparilla the most successful medicine of the day. f

Castoria is recommended by physicians for children teething. It is a purely vegetable preparation; its ingredients are published around each bottle. It is pleasant to the taste and absolutely harmless. It relieves constipation, regulates the bowels, quiets pain, cures diarrhœa and wind colic, allays feverishness, destroys worms and prevents convulsions, soothes the child and gives it refreshing and natural sleep. Castoria is the children's panacea—the mother's friend. 25 doses, 35 cents.

Apples always look nice in the orchard that has a high fence around it.

Mr. J. R. Allen, upholsterer, Toronto, sends us the following: "For six or seven years my wife suffered with Dyspepsia, Costiveness, Inward Piles and Kidney Complaint. We tried two physicians and any number of medicines without getting any relief, until we got a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery. This was the first relief she got, and before one bottle was used the benefit she derived from it was beyond our expectation."

Society has its "don'ts," but they aren't a circumstance to its dues.

Mr. Job Scales, of Toronto, writes: "A short time ago I was suffering from Kidney Complaint and Dyspepsia, sour stomach and lame back; in fact, I was completely prostrated and suffering intense pain. While in this state a friend recommended me to try a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery. I used one bottle, and the permanent manner in which it has cured and made a new man of me is such that I cannot withhold from the proprietors this expression of my gratitude."

The Nugents of Carriconna

An Irish Story.

By TIGHE HOPKINS, AUTHOR OF "'TWIXT LOVE AND DUTY," "FOR FREEDOM," ETC.

...courthur went out, merely swinging behind ... the door that his father had so jealously locked. Amongst the stones he ... stepped over there were some that had ... marks of his father's blood; and strewn ... and there in the midst of them were ... ayments of the pretty nick-nacks with ... Dora had set her own stamp upon ... y observatory, whose debris heaped ... at the tower's base.

... hur noted a little wicker-basket, the ... ents of an ornamental fan, some ... s of a Japanese vase and bits of the ... work of the unlucky telescope.

... heard himself called from the house, ... went hot-foot up the sloping lawn, but ... he had gained the darkened room ... ther was dead.

... never spoke," whispered Barbara, ... ars kept back as yet by the first ... sight of death. "He just gave a ... gasp and his arms went to his sides— ... was gone."

... ur looked silent and dry-eyed upon ... gid figure in the bed, the head and ... s swathed in bandages that looked ... against the whiteness of the face.

... servants came stealthily into the ... and stood at the foot of the bed. ... overcame at length, sank down ... into tears. At this moment ... appeared in the doorway, stepping ... the folds of her riding-habit ... gathered closely in one hand. She grew a ... little white as her glance fell on the mute ... figure upon the bed, and the group of ser- ... ants at its foot; then she crossed the ... room swiftly, and passing her arm round ... Barbara she whispered:

"Come with me, dear Aunt Barbara, you ... are over-tired," and led her gently from the ... room.

It was a very puzzled group that a few ... days later sat in the dining-room at Carri- ... onna. Anthony had been laid along with ... his hero, Buck, in the old family vault, and ... the servants had dropped back into the ... routine familiar to them for years past, ... only that Arthur was now "the master." ... But a master with an anxious inheritance, ... for no trace could be found of the large ... fortune Anthony had recently inherited, ... and beyond a few hundred lying in the ... bank at Dublin, the Carriconna estate was ... in richer than it had been before Kedagh's ... legacy arrived.

"We shall, I suppose, learn something ... from the father's will," Arthur had said to ... Barbara on the day of his father's funeral. ... "If he made one," his aunt replied. "I ... never heard him speak about it since the ... day he made after your mother died, Ar- ... thur."

"Oh, he must have made one; he would ... never have left so much money undisposed ... of. He did not talk much of late, you ... know, Aunt Barbara."

"He did not, indeed, 'tis true," assented ... Barbara, "and he was plenty of times in ... the Berlin, and may have instucted Mr. Buck- ... nall, he will know."

... Mr. Bucknall proved to be as ignorant of ... Anthony's affairs as every one else; and he, ... Arthur and Barbara sat and looked at each ... other in blank amazement.

... "It's the most extraordinary case I ever ... met with," said the old lawyer. "Your ... father, ma'am, seems to have taken no ... one into his confidence. I have only the ... will, dated four-and-twenty years ago, ... which leaves Carriconna and all his per- ... sonal possessions to Arthur, his only child, ... unless you, Miss Barbara, sole guardian ... until Arthur is of age. To tell you the truth, ... I have been so puzzled myself that I have ... made inquiries in Dublin, but I cannot hear ... that Anthony had dealings with any other ... lawyer. If he had left a will with anyone ... else we should have heard of it as soon as An- ... thony's death was known; and that, as you ... are aware, was in all the Irish papers last ... week."

"I'll be sure it was," said Barbara, "to be sure it was."

Arthur's face grew graver and more ... anxious as the conference proceeded. Mr. ... Bucknall had been his last hope. If the lawyer knew nothing, of whom could he seek information? His thoughts reverted obstinately to Dora, although—out of consideration for Aunt Barbara—he had not mentioned her to the lawyer, nor his suspicion about her, nor Anthony's strange wanderings. But he would not feel satisfied until Dora had been asked if she could throw any light on this great mystery, which involved so much for him and for Kitty.

He had met Sergeant Jones on the road the day before and had asked him casually where his master was spending his honeymoon. But the sergeant's answer was like Barbara's.

"The master left no address, sir; the mistress wanted him to have a real good rest and change, and not to be worried with letters. They started north, sir, but whether they're still in Ireland, or have crossed the channel, I don't know. The master said we was to get on with the renovating the rooms, and he would give us fair notice of their home-coming."

"They may be in America by this," said Arthur to himself, as he walked moodily home.

They had been consulting the better part of the afternoon, that mystified trio, and the lawyer had risen to prepare for his journey back to Dublin, when the evening post arrived.

There had been a good many letters at Carriconna during the last week—letters of sympathy and letters of business—but to-night there was only one, and John looked uncertain to whom he should hand it, but finally presented it to Arthur with an apologetic bow.

It was addressed to Anthony Nugent, Esq. and bore the Australian postmark.

"It is for my father," said Arthur, in a tone of surprise, "and from Australia. From Cleaver & Sons, solicitors," he added, after scrutinizing the seal.

"Your uncle's lawyers," explained Miss Nugent. "Open it, Arthur; perhaps they know about the money."

Arthur broke the seal and read aloud the following short note:

"DEAR SIR,—Since our former letter to you in reference to the daughter of our late client, Mr. Kedagh Nugent, we have learned accidentally that Mrs. Lytton is a widow. Her husband died in Paris, where he was, we believe, practising as a physician. Thinking this information may be of interest—and possibly of use—to you, we transmit it at once, and remain, dear sir,

"Faithfully yours,

"CLEAVER & SONS.

"Anthony Nugent, Esq."

"Then she is Kedagh's daughter!" exclaimed Barbara, with something very like a gasp. "I always felt she was not like a stranger."

"And my father knew of it!" exclaimed Arthur; "this accounts for his delirious words."

"Arthur," said his aunt solemnly, "you may depend on it he has given her back her own; 'twould be just like him. That's where the money is."

"But," why not tell us?" said Arthur. "We should not have balked his generosity, Aunt Barbara. Why should she come here as a stranger? Why should he keep the secret from us? Why return her the money in such a mysterious manner?"

"But," said the lawyer, "that question apart, you're not meaning to suggest that Anthony gave up the whole of his fortune to his niece?"

"He'd not do that, I suppose," said Barbara.

"She seemed always to have a great deal of influence over him," said Arthur.

"She would never use her influence wisely, I am sure of that," said his aunt emphatically.

"My dear aunt, we really do not know in what way she used it."

"Upon my word," exclaimed the lawyer a little testily, "we don't know anything at all. All this is the merest conjecture. We are no nearer, or but very little nearer to facts than we were before. Where is this niece? I never heard of her till now."

Barbara in a few words told the lawyer the story of Dora's coming to them from Paris, of her sojourn at Carriconna, and of her marriage with Trenchard.

"A very singular business, indeed," said the lawyer; "a sort of romance I suppose you might call it. Do you say that her father left nothing whatever to her?"

"Nothing whatever, as far as we have known," replied Miss Nugent; "indeed we all thought she was no longer living."

"I wonder whether she knew, when she came over from Paris," said Mr. Bucknall, "that it was to her uncle she was engaging herself, and that her father's fortune had been left to him?"

"That would have provided her with a motive, at all events," said Arthur.

"To be sure it would," answered the lawyer. "And where do you say the lady is now?"

"They're on their honeymoon," said Barbara.

"Of course, of course; honeymoon after marriage; that's proper enough. But you have some address, I suppose?"

"No. I don't think they had a settled plan themselves."

"Ah, wanted to have the world to themselves; well, that's natural and proper enough, too. But you expect them back soon, no doubt?"

A Prominent Doctor Accused of Murder!

A gentleman recently made a startling accusation in the hearing of the writer. Said he: "I firmly believe that Dr. —— intentionally or unintentionally, killed my wife. He pronounced her complaint—Consumption—incurable. She accepted the verdict, and—died. Yet since then I have heard of at least a dozen cases quite as far advanced as hers that have been cured by Dr. Pierce's Goldon Medical Discovery. Her life might have been saved, for, Consumption is not incurable." Of course it is not. The "Discovery" will remove every trace of it, if taken in time and used faithfully. Consumption is a disease of the blood—a scrofulous affection—and the "Discovery" strikes at the root of the evil. For all cases of weak lungs, spitting of blood, severe lingering coughs and kindred ailments it is a sovereign remedy.

"Give Me a Cigar."

"Give Me an El Padre"

QUERY: Who do you think obtains the best value for his money, the man who asks for a cigar, or the one who asks for an "El Padre" or any other of our brands?

It Is Difficult to Obtain a Good Cigar.

This expression, heard so frequently, is used only by those consumers who at cigar stores, hotels and restaurants, simply say: "Give me a Cigar."

Those smokers who ask for an "El Padre" "Madre e Hijo," "La Cadena," "La Flora," "Cable or "Mungo," and insist upon having the brand they ask for, do not have occasion to use the expression: "It is difficult to obtain a good Cigar."

The consumer who permits dealers and others to hand him any brand they choose has himself to blame if he is dissatisfied with his purchase.

It is Human Nature for business men to push the sale of goods that pay the largest profit.

It is Policy for the consumer to insist upon having Reliable Brands.

There are some dealers who decry our brands, more especially the "La Cadena" and "La Flora" (the cream of the Havana crop), solely on account of their desire to push the sale of Inferior Goods and Private Brands that pay a larger profit.

If the same attention is given to the purchase of cigars as to wearing apparel, the complaints that are frequently heard would soon cease to exist.

We manufacture only the Highest Grade of Cigars. We are not cheap cigar manufacturers. We aim to give the best of quality consistent with prics charged, and do not pretend to offer the public Gold Dollars for Ninety Cents.

To the Canada Sugar Refining Co., Montreal:

Gentlemen,—I have personally taken samples from a large stock of your Granulated Sugar, "REDPATH" brand, and carefully tested them by the polariscope, and I find these samples to be as near to absolute purity as can be obtained by any process of sugar refining.

The test by the polariscope showed in yesterday's yield 99·90 per cent. of pure cane sugar, which may be considered commercially as absolutely pure sugar.

LONDON AND ENVIRONS.

THE SWEET GIRL GRADUATE.

Oh, sweet girl graduate,
With pride elate,
All decked in filmy white,
Eradiating light:
How every heart the sight
Doth agitate!

Oh, wise girl graduate!
All men await
The utterance of your thought,
With mystic meaning fraught;
All clamor to be taught;
Proceed, orate!

Pray, sweet girl graduate,
Articulate;
Beside you Socrates,
Plato, Diogenes,
And all the rest of these
Did idly prate.

Pray now, sweet graduate,
Enlarge, dilate
On Woman's Higher Sphere,
A theme which every year
The world is hushed to hear
With breath abate.

Alas, sweet graduate!
Oh, lost estate!
For after all is said,
Some fellow 'll turn that head,
Some poor, plain man you'll wed,
For such is fate!

Mrs. Fletcher's Lecture.

Mrs. Fletcher, wife of Rev. C. Fletcher, of Exeter, addressed a meeting of ladies in the Bible class room of St. Andrew's Church Tuesday evening. Her subject was "Notes of a tour throughout some of the Presbyterian fields of Manitoba and the Northwest Territories." Mrs. Fletcher is evidently a keen and accurate observer and a thrifty collector of interesting facts. With faultless logic, she makes a Christian philosopher's use of such facts for purposes of needed reform and progress. Mrs. Fletcher has a charming fluency of utterance, finely regulated by a musical tone and almost faultless inflection. These qualities combined with a brilliant imagination give her admirable powers of description. Her account of the Indians, their individual, social and tribal habits and customs, the fixity of character attained by the old, the power of the Gospel in developing the young, the heroic struggles and trials of the missionaries laboring among them was throughout very touching and sometimes pathetic. Perhaps the best part of Mrs. Fletcher's eloquent address was her references to the condition of the large Chinese population in Victoria, B. C., and the West generally. The strong racial prejudices from which they suffer and the neglect of the Presbyterian Church, which has numerous and expensive missions in the Chinese empire, to take prudent advantage of the Mongolian immigration to our Pacific coast, were not too severely condemned. It is assuring to find ladies with the culture and ability of Mrs. Fletcher using their influence to speed and spread the power of Christian truth.

Severe frosts and freezing blasts must come, then come frostbites, with swelling, itching, burning, for which St. Jacobs Oil is the best remedy.

She—Now, my poor fellow, move up to the table and help yourself. Tramp—Move the table over to me, mum. I ain't used to over-exertin' myself.

WHY NOT?
You have corns, warts, bunions, moles or cancers. Why are they not cured? You ask a reasonable question. It demands a candid answer. You have it here: You bought a corn cure. You thought you had Barkwell's, but it was not the genuine; you got a counterfeit. It was no more use than water. We missed the sale of what you wanted. So far, it is your money gone; our money goes too. You get another and think it is the genuine. You have made a mistake, and we are in disgrace. More of your money's gone; more of our money is gone. Your corns are no better; our reputation no better. You make up your mind they cannot be cured. We have lost a customer. You have got hold of the wrong end of the fact. You have got hold of the wrong bottle. Both our moneys are gone. Not only our moneys are gone, but our opinions of one another are wrong. We don't know you by sight or name. You don't know us. We think you might as well get Barkwell's Sure Corn Cure." And you think "what fools the manufacturers of that corn cure are to clean so," never have any trouble except from those infernal counterfeiters. Neither do you with Barkwell's Sure Corn Cure. ywt

Sir Walter Raleigh introduced the use of tobacco in Europe centuries ago, but if he could to-day smoke a Highland Chief cigar manufactured by H. McKay & Co., London, he would assuredly consider himself one of the greatest of public benefactors. It is a five-cent cigar and has no superior on the market. The composition is of the choicest nature, the workmanship of the best and the flavor delicious. Try them.

"There is one thing about babies," said a recent traveler; they never change. We have girls of the period, men of the world; but the baby is the same self-possessed, tearless, laughing, voracious little heathen in all ages and in all countries.

Nothing impure or injurious contaminates the popular antidote to pain, throat and lung remedy and general corrective, Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. It may be used without the slightest apprehension of any other than salutary consequences. Coughs, rheumatism, earache, bruises, cuts and sores succumb to its action.

TERRESTRIAL HEALING

A branch office of the Magnetic Meridian Vitapoise Company is now permanently located at 224 Dundas street, for the purpose of giving practical demonstrations of the healing virtues of the "Vitapoise," (or miniature earth.) It is the most wonderful healing instrument ever discovered. It only fails to cure the afflicted when their case is hopeless, and it makes no difference what ails you.

If you would like to investigate "TERRESTRIAL HEALING," call at the office, and Prof. Reid, will cheerfully explain to you the mysteries of the subtle healing force contained in a Magnetic Meridian Vitapoise.

Separate rooms are fitted up for the treatment of ladies and gentlemen. We want every family and physician in Canada to buy a "Vitapoise," and we will accomplish our object if an afflicted member of every tenth family will give the instrument a trial, by taking a "course of treatment." Its application is absolutely painless and is also harmless; but disease will flee from before it as if driven away by magic.

Physicians! try a "Vitapoise" on one of your patients, having either la grippe, inflammation, fever, insomnia, neuralgia or rheumatism, and thereafter your "medical case" will be a secondary consideration so long as you have a "Vitapoise" with you
