MEXICANS WILL FIGHT TO DEATH, SAYS MRS. FRASER

Lady Who Resided There 10 Years Predicts Second Boer War.

BLAMES PRESIDENT WILSON

Interfered Over Etiquette—Time for Action War Long Past.

"I cannot understand why President Wilson did not interfere long ago," said Mrs. Fraser, widow of Dr. James Fraser, this morning to The Advertiser.

Mrs. Fraser left Mexico last year after residing in that troubled country for the past ten years. Her husband, who died in Richmond, Va., was forced to give up his holdings in Mexico because of the war. She is at present with her mother, Mrs. David Mills, on Dutchess avenue.

"The proper time to have interfered was immediately after President Taft's proclamation, to the effect that all Americans in the country should make for the nearest city and put their business into the hands of the nearest consul," Mrs. Fraser contended.

"If the United States had interfered then, it would have been a simple matter to subdue the country, as all the trouble was situated in the northern states. Now, however, it has spread all over the country."

English-Speaking Leave.
"I believe the majority of the English-speaking people have left, as well as the better class of Mexicans."

"Many pitiful cases were to be found. A great number of young and sturdy farmers had risked their all and lost. Family after family have been separated and turned out of their homes by ruthless bandits which infest the country."

"The United States will suffer from the President's waiting policy. I believe if Roosevelt was in power there would have been little or no fighting. The big stick is what rules Mexico and he would have yielded it with a vengeance."

Not Time for Etiquette.

"I can't understand why the United States should interfere on a point of etiquette. They should have come in long ago to protect the lives and interests of their people. It looks like an excuse, after seeing their folly, for undoubtedly there have been murders and atrocities that we have never heard of."

"People have an idea that Mexico is a small country. This is not so. The United States will not find it an easy task to conquer it."

Hated for Americans.

"To opposing factions will join together and fight the Americans to the last ditch, as the majority of Mexicans have an unquenchable hatred against that country and have no respect for it. A great deal more respect than you if you were known to be a British subject."

"I believe that the British Government may have brought pressure to bear on the situation and this precipitated action on the part of the United States."

"The only solution as far as I can see, is the United States taking control of the whole country, which will be no easy task. It will probably be a repetition of the Boer war."

Riley Declares He Has No Complaint to Make of Sentence

Thomas Riley, from his cell in the county jail, where he is waiting for officers to remove him to the Kingston Penitentiary, through a juror, who visited him, has given out his first public statement since he was sentenced by Justice Kelly to serve fifteen years for the killing of George Blackburn.

"Now that the law has been complied with and I am to serve a term in a prison cell, I wish to thank the citizens of London for the many favors shown me during my months of trouble. To a stranger in the position that I have been in, they have been very, very good to me. I understand that I am to leave for Kingston shortly. When I arrive there, I will be as model a prisoner as I have been in the London jail and will try to get all the time taken off for good conduct that I possibly can. Fifteen years is a long time, but I have no complaint to make," was Riley's statement.

A number of citizens visited Riley today, one man giving him a quantity of cigars, while a number of young ladies brought him a quantity of cakes, pies and other dainty eatables.

WAR!

TEMPERANCE WORKERS TO START CAMPAIGN EARLY

Vote Will Be Taken Next January if the Commissioners Turn Down Request for Refusal of Six Hotel Licenses.

"We have made up our minds to go right ahead," said Professor James H. Bowman, of the London Temperance Alliance, referring to the intimation of the license commissioners yesterday that they would not make any reduction in the number of licenses in the city. "But we are waiting for a few days to see whether the license commissioners will not take some action."

"If they do not, we will begin early in the fall a campaign for license reduction. We will start in plenty of time to get petitions signed and everything in readiness for a vote in January. It is likely that a meeting of the temperance people will be held in a few days."

"We are not going to be deterred by the action of the commissioners," said Rev. T. H. Mitchell. "We will go ahead with some other plan of action."

BRUCE PENALIZED FOR BEING LIBERAL

Is Object of Gerrymandering—Liberals Keep Strathroy in N. Middlesex

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Toronto, April 23.—The redistribution committee this morning accepted an amendment moved by the Liberal members, that Strathroy remain in North Middlesex instead of being transferred to West Middlesex. There was a bitter controversy over the wanton gerrymandering of Bruce County, but the Government is determined to penalize Bruce for returning three Liberals at the last election.

The only other change made is to transfer the town of Port Dalhousie from West Lincoln to East Lincoln. Mr. Rowell strongly objected to the dual representation of four of Toronto's seats. He charged that the Government could not subdivide Toronto into ten single seats without giving the Liberals a chance to elect several members.

DOWN TOWN "CLEAN UP"

"The downtown district is doing very well," said Dr. T. V. Hutchinson, medical health officer in referring to the progress of the civic clean-up, paint-up campaign.

"Many householders apparently believe in putting it off as long as possible. They could not have better weather than we are having at present."

"It is very desirable that they should do so immediately, as refuse heaps in backyards are ideal places for the breeding of flies and other pests."

EMPLOYEES REAP CONTRACT BENEFITS

Get Coal at Same Prices as Govt. Institutions, Says the Superintendent in His Evidence.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Toronto, April 23.—Parliament Buildings—The public accounts committee still drags on.

This morning the witnesses required to complete the investigation of the Niagara Falls Park boulevard contracts were not on hand, and so the committee will not be able to wind up until tomorrow.

The only evidence taken was that of E. R. Rogers, provincial inspector of hospitals and charities. Mr. Rogers admitted that the advertisements for tenders for coal for the various institutions did not require the tenders to be marked "tenders for coal," with the result that, while some come in that way and are held, others might be opened as soon as received.

Another admission of the inspector was that various employees of the department, including himself, received coal from the contractors at the same price as the institutions.

Excavators Break Pipes.—Teams engaged in the excavation work for the new radial transmission station on Horton street, trampled on pipes leading from the reservoir to the Beck wells, with the result that the pipes were broken and a great quantity of water was turned into the excavation. Men were at work all day yesterday pumping it out. The ends of the pipes have been plugged in the meantime.

SKELTONS WERE MODERN PEOPLE

Prof. Dearnness Declares Sunday's "Discoveries" Were Not of Ancient Races.

OTHER RELICS FOUND

Pipe Stems, Human Bones and Implements Unearthed Near Where Skeletons Lay.

Several pipe-stems, human bones, and rusted iron implements have been found in the graves of the three Indians, discovered in "The Valley" on the north branch of the river, Sunday. Children of the neighborhood have unearthed a number of bones, and relics since the finding of the skeletons.

Not Prehistoric.

Prof. John Dearnness, a member of the London and Middlesex Historical Society, gave his opinion of the skeletons, as those of comparatively modern people.

"It was the custom of the Indians of this district to gather all their dead at intervals sometimes as long as a year, and bury the bones all together, in one pit, he said. A high spot, overlooking some stream or stretch of country was generally chosen. It is very likely that the spot where these skeletons were found on Sunday, was such a place. These burying-grounds are frequently found in this district."

Found Near Cliff.

The skeletons in the "Valley" were found at the edge of the cliff overlooking the river, not far from a giant tree, gnarled and withered with age. Only the three skeletons have been unearthed, and there do not seem to be any more in the vicinity. Pieces of metal are puzzling the finders.

Pope Requests Huerta to Yield to United States

Foreign Rulers Forward Similar Exhortations, Hoping to Avert Any More Bloodshed.

[Canadian Press.]

New York, April 23.—A cable to the Tribune from Rome says: The Pope has sent a cable dispatch to the apostolic delegate in Mexico, instructing him to ask President Huerta to yield to the United States, in order to avert further bloodshed. It is understood that similar exhortations have been cabled to Huerta by several foreign rulers, including at least one king, who offered his services as mediator.

The foreign office here has exchanged views on the Mexican situation with the representatives of Austria, Hungary, Germany and Great Britain. Italy's attitude does not differ from that of the other powers.

UNIFORM BASIS OF ALL ASSESSMENTS

City Official Suggests Equal Land Valuation for Every Block.

FLOOR SPACE SCALE

Buildings Would Be Assessed on Basis of Size and Quality.

An absolute rejection of the present system of assessment, and a method by which whole city blocks would be assessed at a correct land value and the buildings upon them according to floor space and quality of construction, is the ideal plan as viewed by a prominent city official.

"The assessments in the city are anything but equitable," said the official this morning, "and I believe that a thorough revision of the system is necessary. My idea is to assess all the land in one block at a certain figure, and then to make the building assessments on the basis of floor space, and quality of construction. The start would be made from the most valuable block of land in the city, then graduating down in all directions toward the city limits. For instance the land on Dundas street between Wellington and Waterloo streets would under this plan, be valued entirely at so much a foot. Then, the value of the buildings would be considered and the assessments made accordingly."

"Our present system," he said, "is, at the best, haphazard, and is based upon valuations made ages ago, with increases from time to time. In most cases, the small owners have been assessed nearly to the value of their properties, while men with large houses and costly buildings have not been given a proportionate assessment. Under the plan of assessing all the land in a block at a certain figure and charging up the buildings on floor space and cost of construction, this unfairness would be eliminated, and all assessments would be put on the same plane."

FIRE BURSTS OUT AGAIN IN DEBRIS

Chemicals Used to Extinguish Blaze in Pile of Books in Insurance Office.

The ruins of the Dominion Savings Building today was the scene of activity as gangs of laborers commenced to clear away the debris.

Chief Aitken and his men have removed all the material that was in danger of falling into the street, with the result that many of the former tenants visited their offices today and removed what was left of their business equipment.

While the fire chief was investigating the ruins this morning he discovered a quantity of papers and wood burning in the office formerly occupied by the Atlas Insurance Company on the second floor of the structure. A call was sent in for the motor truck and the blaze extinguished with the chemicals.

W. C. Fitzgerald opened one of the vaults today, and found everything inside was unharmed. "You would never know there had been a fire, judging from the papers inside the vault," said Mr. Fitzgerald.

The fire insurance adjusters from a number of companies visited the scene of the blaze today and made settlements with a number of their policyholders.

British and German Ships Courteously Receive on Board Many American Refugees Who Seek to Leave Danger Zone.

Mexicans Reported to Have Repeatedly Violated Flag of Truce During the Past Two Days' Fighting.

[Canadian Press.]

Washington, D. C., April 23.—After issuing a statement, declaring the intention of the United States to enforce reparation "whenever and wherever the dignity of the United States is flouted," President Wilson bent all the energies of the administration today to planning for operations in Mexico. The President's statement, issued after a cabinet conference, in reply to the message received from the Constitutionalist Chief Carranza, declared that "we are now dealing only with those whom Huerta commands, and those who come to his support."

From dawn this morning the weary chiefs of the war and navy departments, Secretary of State Bryan and the other cabinet officials hurried from conference to conference.

NOT A FULL EMBARGO.

Orders from the War Department directed the stoppage of all importations of arms directed to the Huerta forces across the border of Piedras Negras. This led to a report that the embargo on arms had been re-established at the northern border against both Federalists and Constitutionalist. Some officials said it was very probable that no arms would be allowed to cross the border, although the department hesitates to issue a blanket order until the exact attitude of the Constitutionalist toward the United States can be demonstrated.

THE MAIN TOPIC.

The situation on the Mexican border was the subject of all the day's conferences. Any contemplated movement of the army to Vera Cruz by transport, it was reported, would be held up as a result of the Carranza message of last night until border conditions would permit withdrawal of troops there. Suggestions were made that before any extensive army movement could be ordered the militia would have to be called out by congressional action and money supplied for the mobilization of a large army.

REPLY TO CARRANZA.

As yet the Washington Government does not expect open hostilities from the Constitutionalist, hoping that they will remain neutral. Carranza's request for the withdrawal of the American forces from Vera Cruz on the ground that it "was a violation of the national sovereignty of Mexico and a hostile act to the Mexican nation," gave the President and his cabinet advisers with whom he was in conference, much concern. In consequence the White House statement was issued to inform General Carranza that the United States could not recognize him or seek reparation from him as he requested, but must deal with the authorities in control of the territory where offenses were committed. This has been the consistent course of the Washington Government.

NOT NECESSARILY WAR.

The fact that Charge O'Shaughnessy had been handed his passports by General Huerta, added an acute aspect to the situation, but has been more or less expected. The interests of the United States will be looked after by one or two of the other foreign legations as was the case in Spain during the last war. Secretary Bryan said the mere withdrawal of the charge d'affaires did not necessarily mean war. He referred to the fact that precedent showed instances where war did not follow the departure of a minister or a charge with his passports.

AMERICANS PROTECTED.

The department said from 800 to 1,000 Americans were in Mexico City, and that they would be protected by the guards of the other legations, numbering about 100 soldiers.

Y. M. C. A. CAMPAIGN BRINGS IN $6,000

Another $1,000 Secured by Teams During This Morning.

$2,000 MORE TODAY

That Much Is Expected To Be Raised in Afternoon's Work.

Nearly one thousand dollars more was added to the Y. M. C. A. campaign fund by the canvassers this morning. This makes a total of nearly $6,000 already collected. The members expect to get at least $2,000 this afternoon, when they will do some strenuous work.

"The citizens have responded most liberally," said Secretary E. R. Wilson, this afternoon. "The great need is for men to canvass them. We expected more in the teams for the work today, but they did not turn out. However, we have done very well indeed."

The campaigners, at a meeting tonight, will discuss plans for continuing the campaign until the end of the week.

LICENSE BOARD REJECTS DEMANDS OF TEMPERANCE ORGANIZATIONS

Declines to Cut Off Six Licenses as Asked for in Petition Signed by 7,000 Persons---Up to Ratepayers to Decide by Vote on What They Want

Though confronted with a large delegation comprising the representatives of many leading churches, societies and organizations, bearing with them petitions signed by upwards of 7,000 adult citizens, asking, primarily, for the reduction of six hotel licenses, the board of license commissioners, at an opening meeting on Wednesday afternoon in the Masonic Hall, intimated very clearly through Chairman A. B. Greer, that no reduction would be made and that it was up to the ratepayers to decide by vote what they were after by vote of the ratepayers.

The meeting of the commissioners was somewhat unique. The "drys" and the "wets," through their representatives, were given every opportunity of clearly setting forth their reasons for and against the requested reduction. The audience listened attentively while Rev. T. H. Mitchell, pastor of New St. James' Church; Rev. J. H. Boyd, pastor of the Adelaide Street Baptist Church; Henry B. Ashplant, Mrs. Hubert Ashplant and others presented the arguments of the temperance forces, and just as attentively while Edmund Meredith, K. C., defended the interests of the six hotelmen who would be affected by the proposed reduction.

There were about 75 persons present, and the pros and cons were about equally represented. Although any number of startling statements were made by both sides, perfect order was maintained, and but for occasional flashes of applause, the meeting was a very quiet and dignified affair.

Power of Commission. Commissioner A. B. Greer, chairman of the board, in summing up the discussion, gave it as his opinion that if the commissioners attempted to accede to the demands of the temperance people, the department in Toronto would ask for their resignations. As he viewed the law, he did not believe that it was within the province of the local board to cut off any license unless a specific charge could be proven against the licensee. It was up to the "drys," he said, to secure a vote of the ratepayers on the question. If a majority of the people were found, in this way, to favor the reduction, the commissioners would have to carry it out.

The commissioners will now, whether meeting, probably on Saturday, to finally dispose of the applications for the renewal of the various hotel, shop, club and bartenders' licenses.

The chief of the temperance interests as presented by Rev. T. H. Mitchell on the strength of petitions signed by more than 7,000 members of local churches and other organizations, and of the hotel situation as embodied in the social survey report, put three straight requests to the commission-

1. "That it be made illegal to permit the supply or the drinking of intoxicating liquors in dance halls or public ball rooms or in rooms connected therewith, not licensed by the commissioners."

2. "That it be made illegal to serve women with liquor in hotels unless they are registered guests of the hotel; and that it be made illegal at any time to serve women with liquor in side rooms which are open to the public."

3. "That the number of licenses in London be reduced by cutting off the licenses of those so-called hotels, which practically are nothing more than a place of public drinking, and that it be made illegal to serve women with liquor in hotels unless they are registered guests of the hotel; and that it be made illegal at any time to serve women with liquor in side rooms which are open to the public."

Based on Survey Report. "Our argument for the refusal of licenses to the Clyde, Columbia, Windsor, Bank, Queen's Park and King Edward hotels," said Mr. Mitchell, "rests upon the evidence secured in the social survey report recently made of the city under the auspices of the Men's Federation. It will be contended before you by those desirous of having these licenses that the facts as presented in the survey are without foundation; that the investigations were made by inexperienced amateurs; that due care was not exercised either in the visits to the hotels or the preparation of the report; that the time spent in the places was insufficient to form a proper estimate of the conditions."

"The truth is that the inspections of the six hotels were made principally by Dr. Riddell, whose evidence has been corroborated by other trustworthy investigators into social conditions, thoroughly familiar with the conditions in England and on the continent, and with an intimate knowledge of the Bowers of New York. The conclusions arrived at are not merely the result of hearsay evidence nor of only one investigation, but they are based on the written reports of men who were actually in all the places and who personally interviewed all the persons who attend the local market. The preliminary reports, when submitted to a committee of the Men's Federation, revealed such a startling condition that they insisted upon further evidence before crediting it. Four written reports in all were made upon the conditions of Whisky Row. Three written reports were made within the same time upon the King Edward and Queen's Park hotels. Only then, when the evidence was overwhelming, did the committee of the Men's Federation form its conclusions and decide to make the requests which we now present."

The president of the federation then went on to explain the various reasons for the deductions contained in the report, and to argue why the six hotels mentioned were not entitled to a continuance of license privileges. He pointed out that in the opinion of the committee the granting of these licenses was not necessary to the proper accommodation of farmers' horses and cited that it had been proven that stables were better managed when they were not directly under the control of license holders, but were run as independent businesses.

Pointing out the fact that the accommodation of the travelling public was of the utmost importance, Mr. Mitchell declared that the six hotels were not essential to the comfort of the farmers. From the investigations made it had been found that less than 6 per cent of the farmers selling goods upon the market used the dining room accommodation provided by these hotels. On similar grounds the speaker contended that the six hotels were not essential to the entertainment of the travelling public.

"The first recorded inspection of all the hotels in the city was made on November 8," continued Mr. Mitchell, "when the registers of 22 hotels showed that 1,455 guests had been accommodated there within the previous seven days; at the Queen's Park and the Clyde no registers were open for inspection. At the Queen's Park the investigator was informed that there was no register at all. An inspection of the individual returns showed that at least six hotels were absolutely unnecessary for the travelling public. No guests, apparently, went at the hotels where registers were not opened. The King Edward had entertained three within the previous seven days; the Windsor, four; the Bank, eight. The Columbia had to guests from October 22 to November 5, and from September 10 to November 5, two entries had been made of men and their wives. That is to say, six hotels, or 23.08 per cent of the tavern licenses of London gave accommodation to 1.05 per cent of the visitors to the city within the previous week. During one comparatively brief period of that week the returns of the investigators show that the same hotels harbored 53.8 per cent of the women and 51.3 per cent of the men drinking at all the hotels in the city, and that in them there was 38.6 per cent of all the apparent intoxication. Six hotels gave 1 per cent of accommodation, 38 per cent of drunkenness."

Says Hotels Are Dangerous. "We strongly believe," said Mr. Mitchell, "in drawing his remarks to a close, that the hotels are a danger to the city, the unwary lawbreaker. The chief of police considers that the greatest evil arising out of the liquor traffic in the city is the presence of women drinking in hotels. Of the 24 women found upon one investigation, seven, or 53 per cent, were in the six hotels complained of. Whisky Row is notorious for its drunkenness, and it is a fact that one noted Canadian author, when he wished to secure a proper setting for a drunken fight with which he opened his book, chose London's Bowery."

"The Bank House has gained an unenviable reputation for the foreigners, to wit, the chief caterers, and upon the evening investigators discovered in the side room, which only last Saturday evening was the scene of a serious drunken brawl, two women and two men drinking together accompanied by two small children not over six years of age. In all six places young men who apparently were not over 21 years of age have been found by our enumerators, contrary to the provisions of the liquor license act. It is idle to contend that because the men most interested in the bartenders themselves, have admitted it by their recent actions in attempting to prevent it."

"We need not tell you that in closing our appeal that we come in no spirit of ill-will to the proprietors of these hotels. They are our brothers. We extend our good wishes to them. But we hate their business. We need not tell you that in case you refuse our plea we shall still wage the fight. We are in a war in which there is no release. We shall not, we cannot, rest so long as there are in the shape of such hotels as we are considering today so many obstacles to our highest prosperity; so many pitfalls for our boys and girls; so many blots on the fair name of our city."

Not Real Hotels. Rev. J. H. Boyd, pastor of Adelaide Street Baptist Church, voiced the sympathy of the Ministerial Alliance with the requests presented by the Men's Federation. The alliance, he said, believed that six hotels complained of were not hotels in the accepted sense of the term, did not provide accommodation for the travelling public and had practically no interests outside of their bars.

"The holders of some of these licenses consequently abuse their privileges," said Mr. Boyd. "Only two weeks ago, one of my young men, a lad of 19, confessed that he took his first glass in the Queen's Park Hotel, known as the Barrel House. He's on his way to ruin now and he has his first glass there. A while ago I was walking one afternoon about 4 o'clock on a leading east end street, when I met a young man who was in a very intoxicated condition. I said to him, 'You've not been kind to yourself today, young man.'"

"I guess I have not," was his reply. "I'm surprised," said I. "I can't help it," he replied. "How old are you, may I ask, about 23?" "No, only 19," he replied, and then told me that he had spent $7.50 over the bar in the two or three hours of the afternoon."

"I need not trouble you with any recital of the economic waste of drink," said Mr. Boyd. "But I know, and you know, that the liquor traffic in East London whose faces are never dry, whose hearts are never without an ache on account of liquor. It is your duty, nay, your privilege, gentlemen, to accede to our request to make it impossible for the proprietors of these hotels to continue the work of wrecking our young men and our young women."

Mrs. Hubert Ashplant, president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, who headed a deputation of the members of that body, expressed, in a few words, the support of the members toward the proposed reduction of liquor licenses. "It is a privilege of yours to give our sisters and our children a chance," Mrs. Ashplant told the commissioners.

C. H. Finch then spoke briefly, expressing the satisfaction of east end residents at the discontinuance of the Homister House license.

VOTE ON BYLAW TO CUT LICENSES

The city council will be asked within a few months to send a by-law to the ratepayers next January for the reduction of six hotel licenses, unless the board of license commissioners accedes to the request of the Men's Federation, Ministerial Association and W. C. T. U., presented yesterday afternoon. As there seems little likelihood of the commissioners affecting the reduction of their own accord, it is practically certain that the people will vote on the project.

Prof. James H. Bowman, of the Men's Federation, told The Advertiser last night that this course would be adopted by the temperance interests, if the plea given by the commissioners was unsuccessful.

"Whisky Row must go," said Prof. Bowman. "If the licenses are not cut off now they will be cut later."

"I was greatly pleased with the conference," said Rev. T. H. Mitchell, "for it set the ball rolling and accomplished our purpose."

Mr. Meredith's Defence. Edmund Meredith, K. C., counsel for the hotelmen, set forth the other side of the argument. The hotelkeepers, he said, had no quarrel with the W. C. T. U. or the temperance workers. All they wanted was fair play and British justice.

He took decided objection to the name "Whisky Row," claiming that it was an insult to his clients and that the Men's Federation had no right to use the term. Continuing, Mr. Meredith scored the Men's Federation for presenting a mass of statements to which the hotelmen, he said, had not been given a chance to reply. He challenged them to prove their statements and declared that his clients were prepared to prove that the statements were untrue.

"Everyone was satisfied as to the character of these six men before they got their licenses," continued Mr. Meredith, "and we have an inspector who is probably the best in the Province. He is active and fearless in the discharge of his duties. He passes these hotels every day and he is prepared to refute these charges to a very large extent. We have an efficient police force and a detective force within a block and a half of these hotels. Entering these hotels every day and I am prepared to put them in the box to show that the statements that have been made are not true."

The last remark was directed to Rev. Mr. Mitchell, and drew forth the reply from that gentleman that the federation was prepared to give the hotelmen "all they want" in the way of proof.

"That's not a very proper spirit for a clergyman," was Mr. Meredith's admonition.

"At all," pleasantly replied the clergyman.

"I deny that these hotels do not give accommodation," said Mr. Meredith, "summing the threat of his defence. I all know that there isn't sufficient hotel accommodation in the city when the Western Fair or any other big event is on. Then these houses are filled to overflowing. I challenge anyone to say that these hotelmen's stables are not filled to overflowing on market days. Where would you have this accommodation if you put these men out?"

Mr. Meredith then presented a number of petitions, signed by farmers and others, asking that the licenses of the six hotels be re-granted, and read statements to show the number of guests accommodated, the number of meals supplied and the number of horses stabled by the six during a period of three weeks.

In conclusion, counsel for the hotelmen reaffirmed his charge that it was an outrage on British justice to condemn men who had not been given an opportunity to present their side of the argument. They were prepared, he said, to meet the Men's Federation in the courts or anywhere else. They defied the accusations and said that they were untrue. The hotelmen, he said, had been struck in a brutal way without being given the opportunity of striking back.

Repudiates to the Action. As a representative of organized labor, Henry B. Ashplant repudiated the action of the Trades and Labor Council in sending a resolution to the commissioners asking for the renewal of the six licenses.

"I am a member of the working class," said Mr. Ashplant, "and that resolution does not represent the sentiment of the organized working class. Rather, it positively misrepresents it. One of the bartenders of one of these six hotels was president of the Trades and Labor Council, I believe, for two years and it is only natural that the council out of sympathy for a comrade should pass such a resolution. How can my learned friend, Mr. Edmund Meredith, reconcile himself to defending these hotels?"

only last week, in the most forcible terms, he placed himself on record in the city press after defending successfully, man accused of murder, as condemning the liquor traffic. In view of this, how can he defend it?"

"I am absolutely consistent," interjected Mr. Meredith. Later he said that he was not contending for the liquor traffic, but simply for the six hotelmen whose business was attacked.

"I stand prepared to defend this report," continued Mr. Ashplant. "The working class would tomorrow vote to eliminate these six licenses, and I repudiate the action of the trades and labor council in this matter. Why, gentlemen, Ralph O'Connor placed the scene of a book last year on Whisky Row, London's Bowery."

"Was he here?" questioned Mr. Meredith.

"I saw him here," said David Ross, who was in the audience.

Mr. Mitchell said that the men's federation was prepared to go into the courts in support of the statements contained in the survey report.

A petition from residents of the east end was presented asking that the license of the Queen's Park Hotel be cut off, but some objection was made to it on the ground that it referred to William Collins, the proprietor, rather than to the hotel. However, the petitioners were advised, the document would be given consideration along with the others.

It remained for Chairman Greer to pronounce the figurative benediction, which he did in a few well-chosen words. He referred to the condition of the local department at the time the present board had taken office and declared that many improvements had been made. The law had been administered without fear nor favor and a deplorable condition of affairs had been

SPRING AND SUMMER FASHIONS IN MILLINERY

The Present Display in Millinery Sets the Second Period of the 1914 Season.

Millinery reviving the past—The models illustrated will call to many minds the Hats of a decade ago, which are typical of the prevailing styles today. And it cannot be denied that as designed for present wear, they are as pretty and smart as can be.

The start of a modish Hat is the untrimmed shape—turbans, sailors, pokes and the various flare styles. Hats with the high lustre, scores of the Watteau styles. All the newest New York ideas. All equally well chosen from a style viewpoint, and many for which there is a perfect craze.

The untrimmed shape decided, you will find the trimming section brimming with splendid suggestions for completing your chapeau particularly "your own" without the possibility of duplication.

Safety, Comfort and Convenience

Do you ever consider the safety of the building wherein you do your shopping?

The wisdom of fireproof protection in public buildings becomes more and more apparent each year, particularly in thickly populated centres.

Some Facts About This Store Building

All floors are thick cement, supported by heavy steel girders. Ceilings are plastered on steel lath.

Stairways are of iron with stone treads. Elevators are encased in fireproof cages.

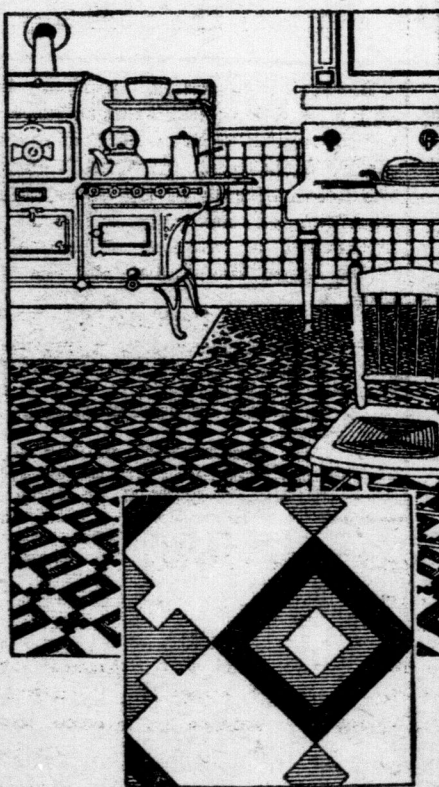

Each stairway is closed from the floor above with heavy iron doors and masonry in fireproof casing.

The window sashes overlooking other buildings are also of steel construction.

The sprinkler system of fire protection is installed in the basement. The outside walls are of solid brick and steel, and the entire building is absolutely fireproof.

Five Elevators—Two on the east and two on the west side, and one at the rear of store reaches all floors. Wide, easy stairways from floor to floor and entrances of easy access from any point on the main floor at Richmond and Dundas streets and the Market Square.

A pleasant, roomy, airy shopping home, constructed with every care and thought for your comfort, convenience and safety.

 LONDON, THURSDAY, APRIL 23.

The United States could not back out now. Mr. Hearst wouldn't let them.

"Still motors run cheap," provokes a motor magazine. "Still" in this case means in the garage.

If the law means to blame liquor for most crimes, public opinion must come to regard liquor as the criminal.

The Port Nelson tragedy becomes worse. The Government should send a few of its special observers to Hudson Bay immediately.

The city controllers threaten to cut off the new school appropriation. The trustees will not be rebuffed by such an action because they realize that the school building needs in London at the present time are paramount. Unless some of the work is done each year there will soon be a bill for a million dollars for new school buildings.

When 7,000 adult Londoners petition for license reduction the idleness of saying that there is no "abolish-the-bar" sentiment in London is apparent. The temperance people who were represented at the license commission yesterday will not be content until they have set their eyes—the end of drinking in this city.

Col. Sam Hughes sent out engraved invitations requesting all the members to be in their places when the militia estimates were to be prepared.

"Must we dress for the occasion?" asked Mr. Knowles.

"Just the honorary colonels," interjected Hon. George E. Foster. The made-to-order colonels have become a joke when George Eulas can see it.

MORE BORROWING.

WHEN Mr. Rowell told the Legislature last year that the course pursued by the Ontario Government meant large deficits, and involved not only more borrowing but direct taxation, the Government benches received his assurance with laughter. But as time has proven his prophecy true, there is not quite so much laughing. A short time ago the new tax bill was presented. As we tried to show at the time it taxed not simply wealthy people, but poor people. If capitalists who could afford to pay were taxed, much more were the men and women who had invested their little savings in stocks, and the clerk and workmen who was trying to protect his family in case of death. But the taxation is not enough by any means. The Provincial Treasurer now asks authority to borrow some eight or nine millions, which he expects will keep things running until the next session. Then, we assume, more money will have to be borrowed, and more taxes will have to be imposed. It has always been considered good business policy to keep the outlay within the income. If the income is moderate keep the expenses down. But that is not the policy of a Conservative administration. Spend all you want, and borrow more. Mr. McEwen cleared off his debts by signing a note. A Tory Government does not pretend that its debts are paid in this manner, but it might just as well for all the worry its debts may cause. It simply goes on borrowing to meet its extravagant expenditures, and leaves the question of payment to posterity. Let posterity do the worrying. Whether it can or cannot meet the obligation, we place upon it need not concern us. Most of us will be dead by that time anyway.

THOSE YOUNG CONSERVATIVES.

SOME time ago, commenting on the petition presented to the Ontario Government by a number of young Conservatives asking for more advanced temperance legislation, and threatening to vote for Mr. Rowell's policy unless Mr. Hanna were prepared to do at least as far, we expressed the opinion that their petition would not be granted, nor would their threats materialize. They would still support the Government, no matter what its policy might be. The latest developments show our predictions to have been correct. Of course, the Government would not go so far as to add Good to the list of evils on which they are to be punished. Unhappy United Kingdom! Call it by whatever name one chooses, your great and friendly neighbor, the peace-loving and moderate them. Already the attempt is being made to back down. We are now told that those who signed did not mean to say that they would desert their party if the Government would not abolish the bar. The threat to that effect was not in the petition with their consent. Some who signed the petition were really Liberals. In fact, it is intimated, the thing was engineered by Liberals in order to injure the Government. And so on. All of which means, what was already pretty well understood, that Conservatives, young as well as old, will stand by their party, no matter whether they approve of what their leaders do or not.

FALSE TO UNIONISM.

WHEN the London Trades and Labor Council went on record as being opposed to the reduction of licenses in London it was false to the strong unionism and moral strength it was supposed to represent. The majority of the organized labor men of London do not stand behind the liquor traffic and any clique such as the meeting at which the resolution presented to the commissioners was prepared must have been composed of those the cause of labor a horrible injustice.

In England the labor unions stand against the liquor traffic. Many United States unions have repeatedly taken drastic action to advance temperance, and the Dominion Federation has expressed its views in the matter on more than one occasion. The unions of London should rise and rebuke the few who would make the friends of the unions believe they are allied with the liquor traffic.

OUR MORNING MUSICAL CLUB.

ON FINE April mornings the ancient association of roosters holds daily its most enthusiastic and riotous meetings of the year. An old poet called the cock the time-piece of little villages. Larger towns had minister-clocks for all to see, the smaller places got their time by ear from the bird whose summons pulls the sun himself out of bed. But in these modern times even large places like London go by the cock.

About seven minutes and seven seconds to four, if not earlier, some prize old bird takes the perch and calls the meeting to order. There is a wide and generous response from the fellows who have merely been waiting for the president to open up. The society is in at all secret, even from the wives and sisters of members; full publicity is accorded. But there is no such thing as any female voice in this parliament of fowls. Lady birds have no say nor ask it; they occupy the gallery, and lay eggs now and then.

After the speaker's opening remarks, the secretary gives the minutes of any previous meeting, it's all one which, and a chorus of confirmation follows. A good many people wake up at this point. Then arises much business out of the minutes, and in fact no new business, unless a cat or a night hawk happen along. The speaker may then call for the program, consisting of a grand matutinal glee, salute to the sun now up and to awakened sleepers at the windows. At last the birds begin their little strains as they lift a meditative claw and turn westward. There is a soft, languishing song, yet practical withal. At the intrusion of the business-like feminine, incapable of music for music's sake, the male chorus disgusted, weakens and drops off. Laying time has begun, and any one still in bed has a blessed chance of a little more sleep, a little more slumber, a little more folding of the hands in sleep.

A DILEMMA.

IN GREAT BRITAIN the woman suffrage is insisted that the Government or some government take up their cause and bring down a cabinet measure of female enfranchisement. Lloyd George is a much abused man because he professes to champion adult suffrage, but does not succeed in convincing his fellow ministers.

What would happen, supposing that the Asquith Government did put the adult suffrage plank squarely in its platform at the next election? If Mr. Rowell's experience in his banish-the-bar policy be any guide, the Tory suffragettes in Great Britain would at once show that their denunciation of the Chancellor of the Exchequer are inspired quite as much by party rancor as by the women's cause. They would proclaim that whether or not Mr. Asquith really intended to sanction a cabinet measure and carry it through, on the persuasions of Lloyd George, at any rate it was only a party dodge, a piece of vote-catching engineered by the "Welsh attorney," and should not be supported or countenanced by any self-respecting women. So, as the Liberal party is abused for not taking up the women's burden, it would probably be abused for taking it up, although woman suffrage, like temperance reform, is a natural function of Liberalism.

NO BACKING OUT.

THE United States may soon have the Mexican capital and the Mexican situation may have the United States. Four American marines have been killed, their blood shed from wounds dealt by Mexicans. Must President Wilson punish just a few offenders or the whole of Mexico, rebel or Federal? Carranza and his man Villa have never been recognized. It would be the act of a weakling nation to recognize them after Huerta had been done away with. Huerta may suicide, flee, or fall a prisoner. But after that there is all Mexico, a mountainous country of rebels maddened with recent brutishness, veritable savages, resentful to a point of fanaticism at the intrusion of "Gringos."

Unhappy Mexico! Unhappy United Kingdom! Call it by whatever name one chooses, your great and friendly neighbor, the peace-loving and moderate of late years, has fallen into the trap of war. The trap is closed, unless some strange charm of statecraft may be invoked at this late hour. A great industrial nation does not realize its position quite yet. But in a few days the seriousness will strike home. Unless all signs fall there will be bloody battles. Victory must be achieved at any cost as with the British in South Africa. There is no withdrawal.

 Lyric night of the lingering Indian Summer.
 Shadowy fields that are scentless but full of singing.
 Never a bird, but the passionate chant of insects.
 Ceaseless, insistent.

 Lest they forget them.

NEW AIR PEST.

[Ottawa Citizen.]
 It is quite a commentary upon human nature and its vagaries to reflect upon the attitude of New York towards aviators who have the ill-luck to alight in public parks. These airmen are now referred to as "pests." When one considers the years spent in endeavoring to learn to fly and the eagerness with which the first demonstration was greeted, it is difficult to refrain from the conclusion that things are running a little too fast for just appreciation in this age of practical pragmatists.

KIPLING'S RAGE.

[Boston Times.]
 Annoyed by the injury done to one of his trees by the driver of the local bus, Mr. Kipling wrote a vigorous letter of complaint to the "bus-owner, who is also landlord of an inn. The landlord sold the letter for ten shillings in cash. A second and stronger letter followed, and this also found a purchaser, this time at £1, as befitted its increased violence. Boniface again said nothing. To him next day entered Mr. Kipling, briskly wrathful.
 "Why didn't I answer your letters, sir? Why, I was hoping you'd send me a fresh one. They pay a deal better than bus-driving."

 Here is one that was told by Congressman Henderson M. Jaccoway, of California, the other night in speaking of how wise the average little wife is to the ways of father.
 Mrs. Black was in the dining-room waiting for Black to come down to breakfast, when the servant girl hustled into mother's presence with a look of distress written all over her features.
 "Oh, ma'am," she excitedly exclaimed, "what shall I do? The dog has stolen the meat for Mr. Black's breakfast, and it is too late to get any more!"
 "That's too bad," returned Mrs. Black,

Denies the Statement.
 To the Editor of The Advertiser:
 In your report of the Ministerial Alliance in Monday evening's Advertiser, Rev. J. Hosie is quoted as saying there was not a hotel on King street that had not broken the law in the past three years. This is not correct, and before making such statements, ministers, like other people, should endeavor to be sure of their ground, else there is danger of committing an injustice.
 In seven years' tenancy of the Columbia Hotel on King street there has never been one complaint lodged against me by the license department. Hotelkeepers are just willing to co-operate in my lofty pursuit respecting as the general run of opes.

VEGETABLES TO PLANT

Some Suggestions as to the Proper Varieties for Garden.

"Citizens are growing their own vegetables more and more each year," said a local seedsman. "Saturday was our first busy day and we did a record business."

Inquiry at other seed houses elicited the same reply. It is surprising the number of citizens that have a small garden in their yards. Vegetables are a heavy eating crop and need large quantities of fertilizers if the desired growth is to be obtained. Barnyard manure contains an excessive amount of nitrogen and is valuable in that it keeps the soil open and porous. Commercial fertilizers are within the reach of all and easy to handle. They are easily broken up and the plant find them easy to assimilate.

Before planting, see that the ground is in a good state of tilth. This is most important.

Four Distinct Divisions.

Vegetables are divided into four sections as to frost. First, those that will stand frost in the spring, such as onions, round peas, radishes, early turnips, lettuce and spinach.

Secondly, fall hardy, such as turnips, parsnips, cabbage, parsley.

Third, semi-hardy, which will stand five or six degrees of frost. These are wrinkled peas, beets, cauliflower and celery.

Fourth, tender to frost which includes beans, corn, tomatoes, potatoes, cucumbers, squash, citrons, melons, pumpkins, eggplant and peppers.

Recommended Varieties.

Varieties that are recommended by the Vegetable Gardening Department of the O. A. C. are:—Lettuce, Crosby's early Egyptian, is the best of the early varieties. Detroit red, globe shaped and excellent in all respects and a heavy cropper.

Beans—Keeney's rustler, a stringless bean. Forehook gives best result among the lima beans and cranberry is the best all around among the pole beans.

Chautauky is the best all around carrot, but should be thinned for best results.

Cabbage—Early Jersey Wakefield is the best of the earlier cabbages, while Gloria is the best for your main crop.

Cauliflower—Early snow ball celery, golden self Blanchet.

Corn—Early malakoff and golden bantam.

Citron—Colorado preserving.

Cucumbers—Cumberland, three to five inches long. For pickling, Chicago Westernfield.

Eggplant—Black beauty.

Lettuce—New York, Iceberg Hanson, Munch melon—Rocky ford.

Onions—Southport yellow globe. Sow about twelve inches apart and not very thick.

Parsnips—Hollow crown.

Peas—Suttons excelsior and Stratagem.

THREE "R's" TO BE TAUGHT IN BIG TENT

School Kiddies Will Enjoy Novel Experience When Lesson Start Under Greenwood.

Fifty or more East London kiddies will enjoy the novel experience next week of attending school held in a 40 by 20-foot tent. A. E. Cook and others submitted a petition to the board of education yesterday asking for school accommodation, their children having been sent home from Quebec Street School because of the overcrowding there. One teacher stated that there were 63 pupils in her room. If the board would not do anything else Mr. Cook offered to build a school or building suitable for temporary use as a school, and rent it to the board for a nominal rental.

L. H. Martyn wanted to build another school like the Empress avenue annex. Dr. Teasdale thought one such school was enough. It was unique and it would be too bad to duplicate it. A. M. Hunt strongly opposed the tent proposition, but Dr. Teasdale, Dr. Shaw and Inspector Edwards were in favor of it.

The tent will cost only $100, and will be ready for use on Monday next. Mr. Cook said the residents of the district would be satisfied with the tent accommodation for the summer, providing there was permanent accommodation by next fall.

LICENSES ALL RENEWED

East Middlesex Hotels Get Year's Renewal of Liquor Privileges.

East Middlesex license commissioners yesterday afternoon met in St. George's Hall and renewed the five hotel licenses in East Middlesex, held by Hiram Shaw, Hyde Park; B. Cunningham, Ilford; Hugh Bowman, Denfield; Elias D. Blake, Elginfield, and M. Larsen, Arva.

Chairman Alfred H. Foxell, Commissioner James Crockett and Bennett, and Inspector Duffin were present.

There was no opposition to the renewal of the licenses.

PUBLIC WORKS ARE WELL UNDER WAY

Construction of City's Improvements Gives Work to More Than 500.

FINISHING NEW BRIDGE

Last Pier of Wharfedale Road Structure Will Be Put in Immediately.

Local improvement work in the city is well under way, and within the next few weeks, it is estimated that more than 500 men will be given employment on various kinds of construction. The city engineer's department which has the contract for considerable sanitary sewer construction, and private contractors, who will build sewers, sidewalks and pavements, are now getting their gangs together and some work has already been commenced.

The Harding Construction Company has a number of men at work finishing a contract on Oxford street, east of Adelaide, which was not reached last fall, and Foley & Gleason, the Ottawa contractors, who have the paving jobs, are grading York street in preparation for the laying of concrete. The engineer's department is putting in curbs and gutters on Clarence street.

City employees are also engaged in the construction of an urgently-needed sewer on Kent street, and another is to be put in at once on Simcoe street.

The Fielder Construction Company has commenced the sanitary sewer work on Haleside street, and another is to be put in at once on Simcoe street.

The last pier of the new Wharfedale bridge will be put in immediately, the engineer advised this morning, after which the remainder of the steel superstructure will be placed in position, ready for the cement flooring. It is expected that the bridge will be open for traffic at the end of the summer.

AFTER 400 MEMBERS

That is Goal of London and Western Motor League Officers.

A meeting of the London and Western Motor League, was held at Keene Bros. store, King street, yesterday afternoon, to discuss and formulate plans whereby the membership of the club could be increased to 400.

Despite the fact that the membership of the club has increased 70 per cent, during the past two weeks, the officers have planned an extensive campaign, covering the entire city.

Every owner of a car in London will receive a circular letter illustrating the many benefits derived from the club, and asking that he join. Those who do not will be personally canvassed.

Few people realize the work that the Motor Club is doing, or the many benefits derived from their work not only by motorists but by the travelling public according to the members' statements. Signs pointing the different directions to all the towns and villages on all the main roads in Western Ontario are but one phase of its work.

EGG BUYERS ACTIVE

Produce Men Are Scouring Country For Hen Fruits—Prices High.

Strong activity, characterizes the trade in eggs. Notwithstanding the advent of hot weather, dealers are buying fast. Several large produce merchants have collectors in rural districts. This and the fact that many producers are keeping eggs for hatching purposes is mainly responsible for any scarcity on the local market.

Judging from the past week's developments, there is a strong feeling that the demand will prevent lower prices. The present prices are 19 to 22 cents per dozen as compared to 18 and 19 cents per dozen last year.

PASTOR NOT YET CALLED

No Successor Chosen to the Late Dr. Ross of St. Andrew's Church.

No call has yet been extended to any minister to fill the vacant pastorate of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, formerly held by the late Dr. James Ross.

Rev. Thomas H. Mitchell, interim moderator of the session of St. Andrew's Church, stated today that as yet no prospective pastor was under consideration. Instead of inviting ministers to preach in St. Andrew's Church, a committee was appointed early in the winter to hear ministers preaching in their own pulpits, but as yet this committee has not reported.

IN POLICE COURT

Samuel Goldstein, in police court this morning, charged with being drunk, told the magistrate that he had been drinking ever since the Easter holidays, and that his wife aggravated him.

"I guess you aggravated her, too," said his wife.

"Well, she started it, anyway," replied Goldstein, who was discharged.

No Work for Them.

"When people help you it is time to help yourself. Some time you will hear this," Magistrate Judd told William Purdy, James O'Brien and William Murphy, all of Toronto. They were charged with being drunk. Although employment had been offered them, they refused it. They will go to jail for ten days, with the choice of a $5 fine.

Harry Kattenbach was put on the prohibitory list, and was warned by the magistrate to get a job, or there would be trouble.

"Get Strayed Away."

"We got strayed away," Arthur Crowley explained, when he and three others were arrested in Tecumseh Park yesterday afternoon. They were James Pierce, Joseph Tait and David Armstrong, all on the prohibitory list. They were each fined $10, or given 21 days in jail.

Songs We Used to Whistle and Sing

The following song sent in by a couple of subscribers, has been asked for on several occasions:

Put My Little Shoes Away.

Mother dear come bathe my forehead for I am growing very weak,
Mother let one drop of water fall upon my burning cheek.

CHORUS:
I am going to leave you mother so remember what I say,
Then do it, won't you please mother, put my little shoes away.

Santa Claus gave them to me with a lot of other things.

And I think he sent an angel with a pair of shining wings.

CHORUS:
Soon the baby will be larger and they will fit his little feet,
Then won't he look so nice and cunning as he walks along the street.

THE PROPER CARE OF A PIANO—MOTHS AND RUST ARE FOES

Extremes of Heat and Cold To Be Avoided—Wipe Keys With Alcohol to Prevent Yellowing

The piano is often neglected by the otherwise careful housewife, for the simple reason that her attention is seldom, if ever, called to its care. It seems to some if the tuner arrives periodically and the instrument is carefully polished that is all there is to the care of the piano.

However, the piano is a very delicate instrument, as all musicians know, and requires very watchful care. The first consideration is the position of the piano. Often the only object in placing a piano is to have the best light fall on the music rack. But the piano should not be placed too near the outer wall, the fireplace or radiator, as it is subject to the influence of the atmosphere.

Avoid Extremes.
Extreme heat and extreme cold are very harmful to the piano. If one wishes to have a musical instrument in the best of condition and to keep it so, an even temperature should be maintained in the room where it stands. If there is too much moisture in the atmosphere the wires become rusty, if there is too much heat the wood in the case, the jured as well as the wood in the case. The rusting of the wires can be prevented by sprinkling them with lime or by placing a bag of unslacked lime in the interior to absorb the moisture.

When the atmosphere becomes too dry it is well to have a plant in the room that requires plenty of water. A jar of water kept in the room helps by evaporation. Heavy articles should never be placed on the top of the piano nor should music or books be piled there, either.

The keys should be wiped daily, when the piano is dusted, with a cloth dampened with alcohol. If this plan is followed there is less likelihood of the piano turning yellow. If the keys are soiled a cloth dipped in whitening and rubbed with alcohol will be found excellent for cleaning them. When the keys have become very yellow and need to be bleached try the following: Make a paste of unslacked lime and bran water. It should be applied and allowed to dry slightly. It should then be rubbed off with a cloth, and a fine sandpaper applied to the keys until dry. In a few minutes the keys can be polished to a high lustre.

Prevent the Moths.
Then care should be taken to prevent moths getting into the piano. Prevention is always worth while. In this case the piano should be placed on a carpet under a bag of camphor balls should be suspended from a nail driven in the outside of the piano.

If moths do get into the piano make a mixture of benzoline and turpentine, using seven parts of benzoline to one of turpentine and add a drop or two of lavender water. Use a small scent spray or an old syringe to squirt this into the piano.

Dealers in pianos say that the best way, as well as the most satisfactory way to clean a piano is to simply wash it in lukewarm water, drying each part with a soft cloth. It is thoroughly dry and then rub with a fine sandpaper. If it is washed, a chamomile skin can be used to advantage here. This method leaves the polish absolutely unimpaired.

Cynthia Grey's Mail-Box

[Correspondents are requested to make their inquiries as brief as possible, and to write on one side of the paper only. It is impossible to give replies within a stated time, as all letters have to be answered in turn. No letters can be answered privately.]

From Young Housekeeper.

Dear Miss Grey—I have always noticed in your paper, how good you were to answer all the questions asked you. Have never troubled you before, and hope I will not make you tired answering these questions.

1. Will you please tell me how to wash eider curtains, so as to keep them the same color?

2. How to take the marks off of a dining-room table, caused by hot plates?

3. Will large hats be worn during the summer?

Thanking you in advance,
A YOUNG HOUSEKEEPER.

Ans.—It is a pleasure, I am sure, to answer your queries; never hesitate to come again.
1. Eider curtains may be washed like any other; make a suds of pure white soap and lukewarm water; put the curtains in this to soak for half an hour; rub between the hands, then rinse, adding a little clear coffee to the last rinsing water; starch and stretch.

2. Have you tried rubbing with turpentine and sweet oil mixed? After the spots are removed, wipe the surface with a soft cloth, wring out of lukewarm soapwater; dry quickly and polish.

3. Without doubt they will be worn to some extent as summer advances. The spring hats were mostly small in size but there are sure to be large hats worn as the hot days approach.

Sends Corn Cure.

Dear Miss Grey—I have seen many questions answered in your column, and thought that you had a great deal of patience to answer them.

I am going to send a cure for corns which has been tried and proved to be very helpful.

A piece of lemon, or stale bread moistened with lemon juice, bound on a corn, will cure it. Renew night and morning. The first application will produce success.

2. Another cure is to bind corn in a little piece of raw cotton soaked in castor oil.

I will ask a few questions now. Thanking you in advance.

1. What would be a nice summer dress for a woman about forty years of age, who is in mourning?

2. I am 5 feet 6 inches tall, weigh about 130 pounds, and am 15 years old. Do you think I am well proportioned, and how long should my dresses be?

3. Can you give me a recipe for fudge?

4. What are the saxes, copenhagen, helio, emerald and taupe?

I will close, wishing you luck in years to come.

A.—I am sure the sufferers from corns will be grateful to Abigail for her remedies so "tried and true."

1. Nothing could be nicer than a soft summer crepe in black, gray, or black and white.

2. Yes; they should come slightly below the tops of your shoes.

3. Two cups yellow sugar, two-thirds of a cup of milk, lump of butter; boil all together, stirring occasionally; when a little dropped into cold water will form a soft chopped walnut meats or shredded coconut and a little vanilla; now beat the candy until it becomes smooth and creamy, then pour into buttered pans and set away to cool.

4. Saxe and copenhagen are two shades of blue, the latter being much lighter than the saxe blue; helio is, of course, a short form for heliotrope, which comes in several pretty warm shades; emerald is a green; taupe is a shade of brownish-gray that has become very popular.

Letter From Blossom.

Dear Miss Grey—I, what would be good for chapped hands and lips, as I am bothered with them a lot?

2. What will take grease stains out of a blue serge dress?

3. I am going to a summer resort for two or three weeks. What clothes will be necessary—not too expensive?

4. Do you think white slippers or black patent ones would be best for a girl of 12 this summer?

5. Will you please give me the recipes for a sponge cake?

1. Nothing could be nicer than a soft summer crepe in black, gray, or black and white.

2. Yes; they should come slightly below the tops of your shoes.

3. Two cups yellow sugar, two-thirds of a cup of milk, lump of butter; boil all together, stirring occasionally; when a little dropped into cold water will form a soft chopped walnut meats or shredded coconut and a little vanilla; now beat the candy until it becomes smooth and creamy, then pour into buttered pans and set away to cool.

4. Saxe and copenhagen are two shades of blue, the latter being much lighter than the saxe blue; helio is, of course, a short form for heliotrope, which comes in several pretty warm shades; emerald is a green; taupe is a shade of brownish-gray that has become very popular.

A.—1. Camphorine is a splendid remedy for dry and cracking lips; for the hands this: One ounce glycerine, half ounce of alcohol, one-eighth ounce of gum tragacanth, one-quarter ounce of rosewater in a pint water; soak the ingredients in the water two days, then strain and add the other ingredients; add the glycerine with the alcohol before adding. If too thick, add a little alcohol. Bottle for use.

2. The worst part of the stain should come out if you place layers of yellow paper below and over the mark and press a moderately hot iron. Sponge after with benzine, and all the stain should be removed.

3. I am not sure from your letter whether or not you are the girl of 12 mentioned in your fourth query. If so, mention like the following: A dark blue woolen skirt to wear with middie blouses; of these have two white one dresses; one dark blue; two colored wash dresses; a white frock for special wear; a coat and hat.

4. For general all around purposes, the black slippers would be best.

5. Three eggs, one and a half cups flour, one cup sugar, two teaspoons baking powder, lemon flavoring, half cup sweet milk. Beat whites and yokes separately till light, mix cake in the usual way, folding in the whites last; bake in layers.

There is a good deal of the "business woman" about the housekeeper of the modern generation, yet she has not discovered the mysterious means of "catching the market." She reads with dismay that vegetables, meat, flowers—everything she requires—is "up." Or the joyful news is flashed to her that all her needs, even the luxuries she prizes, are "down." But all promises the price is the same when it comes to the actual ordering of what she must have.

YOU FEEL POORLY IN THE SPRING

In the spring your blood needs cleansing and enriching, largely because your diet has been chiefly heavy, and your life mostly indoors during the winter. There is some eruption on your face and body, your appetite is poor, your sleep is broken, and you are tired all the time.

You need to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. Ask your druggist for it. It will make the pure red blood that will make you feel better, look better, eat and sleep better. Get it today.

JOY BE WITH YOU, SPRING BRIDE

By Idah McGlone Gibson.

You will look, and probably be, glorious—happy. Oh, Spring Bride, as you walk up the ribbon and flower-walled path to plight your vows to the dearest man in all the world. The soft, swishing sound of your shimmering satin gown covered with the breeze-billowed lace of your wedding veil, as it sweeps behind you, makes another pleasing note in the melody of the wedding march.

You are closing the book of your girlhood, and, as you return from the altar, day that you live your life together will be an opening another book into which you will write happiness or misery.

"But I know I will be happy," you exclaim, "for I love him and he loves me!" Oh, Spring Bride, a happy marriage means much more than loving.

It means an infinite capacity for self-sacrifice.

It means an infinite capacity for self-joy out of little, and to only grieve over the big hurts that fate deals to you.

It means courage and patience and faith and hope.

When these are added to the love that is shining in your eyes and lighting up your radiant face, you can laugh at poverty, ill-health or even death.

JOY BE WITH YOU, Oh, Spring Bride, and light the altar fires of your home and heart till death do you part.

Women's Auxiliary to Y. M. C. A. Elect Officers.

The Women's Auxiliary to the Young Men's Christian Association held its annual meeting on Monday afternoon, April 20, at 3 o'clock, in the association parlor.

The president, Mrs. W. G. Young, occupied the chair, and a goodly number of members were present.

The reports of the year just closed, from the president, secretary, treasurer and financial secretary, also from different departments of auxiliary work, were both interesting and encouraging.

The officers elected for the year are: President, Mrs. W. G. Young; first vice-president, Mrs. Tully; second vice-president, Mrs. Frank White; third vice-president, Mrs. R. B. Wilson; recording secretary, Miss M. Hanley; treasurer, Mrs. Gregsten; financial secretary, Mrs. S. C. Tweed; corresponding secretary, Mrs. James A. Brown.

First Aid Demonstration.

The regular monthly meeting of the Victoria Mothers' Club was held in the school on Tuesday night. Features of the program were solos by Mr. Frank Webster and recitations by Mrs. Barrows.

All were highly appreciated by those present. Mr. Lowry, of the St. John's Association, gave an address on the first-aid work, demonstrating it with a class of young ladies from the Y. W. C. A. and Central Avenue.

An excellent exhibition of surgical bandaging and first-aid work was presented. At the close of the meeting a hearty vote of thanks was tendered those who assisted. Mrs. White presided.

Lord Roberts' Chapter, I. O. E. E.

The Lord Roberts' Chapter, Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, expect to have the Queen Victoria Memorial drink fountain erected at the corner of Park and Central avenues and Richmond street before the warm weather commences. A meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Jeffrey Hale on Monday afternoon next to discuss final arrangements.

London Art Association.

At a business meeting of the London Art Association, held yesterday afternoon in the studio at 212 Dundas street, it was decided to give a concert in the Grand Opera House on May 6. The artists for the occasion will be Mr. Harold Neck, baritone, the famous German pianist Professor Geersch, and Mr. A. Cortese, harp soloist.

THE HOROSCOPE

FRIDAY, APRIL 24, 1914.

Until late in the afternoon this should be a lucky day. Astrologers read in the skies promise of good influences from Jupiter, Venus and the Sun, but toward sunset Neptune and Mars are strongly adverse.

The Sun rules with superior power, making honor, courage and generosity moving factors in today's activities.

Scholars, university professors, lawyers and legislators should be guided fortunately under this rule.

The sign is extraordinarily favorable for the President of the United States, who should receive assurance of the success of his policy in an important world problem.

Women should make the most of the opportunities that come to them while this conjunction lasts. The sign promises success in love affairs. It is a most auspicious time for weddings or engagements.

Under this rule an appreciation of all that

RUBE DENEAU SPRINGS DENIAL ON THAT "LEMON" STATEMENT

Almost the first words of Rube Deneau when he arrived in Brantford last night were: "Who pulled that bone about my calling Doc Reising a lemon?" The new Red Sox pilot thus countered his first encounter with the local newspaper outfit, says the Brantford Courier. As before pointed out in these columns, Deneau referred to Reising in no such terms. It is not believed Reising would feel hurt if he did, but there are fans who would feel hurt if it were true that Deneau would refer to a fellow-manager whom he did not know in such a citron-like way. The Rube's word that he did not call Reising a lemon must be accepted.

"I have no apology to make," he said, "because I said nothing to apologize for. For any ball player or manager making a living I have nothing but the best feeling. While I said I would go in and pitch when Reising did, I meant it in a friendly way. The word 'lemon' was only used in a general way about players who have been in the big league, and have been sent back. As a rule, these players, always demanding on their return to the minor league big league salaries, are of little use to the clubs who get them. This had no reference to Reising whatever."

Thus what promised to be, as one London paper termed it, a riot, has turned out really, on investigation, to be a fraternity affair. Fans, as a rule, like to see two managers fight in the proper place, on a ball field, and according to proper rules, Spalding. It is decidedly schoolboyish for names to be passed through the columns of a newspaper, but in this case the Rube was innocently enough, perhaps, misquoted. There will be no riot, but listen to the impending row when London comes here or Brantford goes to London.

"Chubby" Coose Has Gone Back to Red Sox

"Chubby" Coose has gone back to Brantford. Traded to London for "Rube" Deneau, then traded to Saginaw for Snyder by the London club, then released by Saginaw and sent to Dayton, then back to Brantford—that has been his experience since he first left the Brantford club. Coose has had two good seasons in the Canadian League. He should prove a good man for Deneau this year.

TO RING UP CURTAIN AT PETROLEA ON SATURDAY

Fast Teams From Wagon Works and Pastime Club Will Clash for Honors.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Petrolea, April 22.—The first ball will be heaved across the plate here on Saturday for the opener of the baseball season of 1914. Two fast teams will clash for first honors. They will be selected from the wagon works and the Pastime Baseball Club.

Spot interest is keen here this season. Many promising players are working out in anticipation of the commencement of the season. Both the Pastime and the Wagonmakers have entered teams in the town league and local fans will be given a chance to see two of the heavy teams work out before the curtain is rung up on the initial games of the series.

REDS WON TIGHT GAME FROM CUBS

Ames Struck Out Two Men With Bases Full in Ninth.

CUBS COULD NOT DELIVER

Rudolph Had One Bad Inning Against Philadelphia and It Helped to Beat Him.

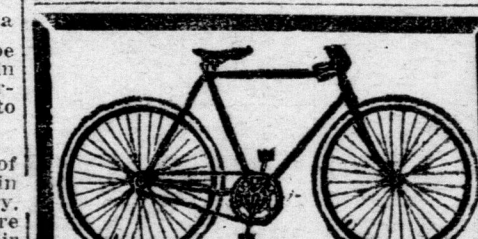

Chicago, April 22.—Chicago lost the opening game of the National League season here today to Cincinnati, 3 to 4. A home run drive into the bleachers by Niehoff, which scored a man ahead of him, gave the visitors the lead. They clinched the game when Hohlitzel stole home after reaching third on a single, a sacrifice and an infield out. The game was a pitchers' battle between Benton and Pierce. The former weakened in the ninth and Manager Herzog sent Ames to the mound. The locals threatened to win out at this point when errors by Herzog and Ames allowed one man to score and a base on balls filled the bases with one out. Ames tightened up, however, and struck out Goode and Corridon. Score: Cin., A. B. R. H. O. A. Chi., A. B. R. H. O. A. Benton, 3, 0, 0, 0, 3, 0. Lash, 3, 0, 0, 0, 1, 2. Groh, 2, 0, 0, 0, 0, 0. ## RUDOLPH BLEW UP IN SIXTH INNING

Philadelphia, April 22.—Rudolph had one bad inning today, the sixth, when Philadelphia "it" together enough runs to win the game from Boston by 3 to 1. A home run by Gowdy in the third inning was offset by Cravath's home run in the fifth session. Score: Bos., A. B. R. H. O. A. Phil., A. B. R. H. O. A. Mara's, 3, 0, 0, 1, 2, 0, 0, 0, 0, 0, 0. ## CORNELL AND LAFAYETTE PLAY SEVENTEEN INNINGS

Ithaca, N. Y., April 22.—What is said to be the duration record of the season in college baseball games was made here today when Cornell and Lafayette battled seventeen innings to a scoreless tie. "Steve" Regan, Cornell's southpaw, had 21 strikeouts. The game was called to allow the visitors to catch their train. Last year the teams played a thirteen-inning game, Lafayette winning. The score today: Cornell, 0, 7, 3; Lafayette, 0, 7, 3. Batteries—Regan and Schirick; Girard and Wright.

LARRY CHENEY WILL STICK WITH THE CUBS

Chicago, April 22.—Pitcher Larry Cheney will remain with the Chicago Nationals, having signed a new three-year contract today. It had been reported that Cheney was considering an offer from the Federal League.

BRANTFORD INFIELD GETS A WORKOUT

Brantford, April 22.—Infield work largely occupied the attention of the Red Sox this afternoon, the candidates being put through hard work. Hallenback and Bels look good for third, Hontek for short and either Lattime or Wagner at second. Deneau or Ivors will play first. Sandusky looks good for the outfield, while Carroll, Gero, Conell and Chase all showed up well in the box. Ferris, of Detroit, released himself, leaving for his home. Other releases will be made before the end of the week.

THE Norfolk maintains its popularity and the two styles here illustrated are the most popular. Very smart for Spring wear. We are showing the full 20th Century Brand range of Models.

Done To A Turn"
THE UPPER CRUST
By the Author of
HE COMES UP SMILING,
THE MYSTERIOUS
"CHARLES SHERMAN"
Copyright, The Robb-Merrill Company.

"Oh," said the girl, and laughed gaily. "Oh, I am so sorry. I beg your pardon. How long have you been waiting?" His voice fell, and once more the girl wondered that it should be like that voice of inspired poetry and the rose-garden in the moonlight. "I beg your pardon that there was no one to let you in," said she. "I shall speak to the servants about this. I think I left your coat in the cart. I shall find out. Please sit down." "Don't bother," said Algernon. "I can go to the stable and see." "It is late. Have my man drive you back to the village; or stay, tell him to put you up for the night, that I say so. I shall telephone him at the Lodge." "I'll be going," said Algernon, picking up his hat and tucking the quivering pup under his arm. He did not want her to find the rifted supper-table while he was in the house. This was no time for explanations. She was smiling now, and contrite, forgetful, in her own error, of his house-breaking. "You were so kind this morning. You must forgive me for going off with your coat." "That's all right," said Algernon, bowing in the doorway and peaceful. "Please don't think of it again. Good-night." She laughed again, with liking for the fantastic stranger, and amusement at the situation, and Algernon, catching her eye as she closed the door, laughed himself. Oh, Molly, Molly, mother's fifty-ninth! Algernon preferred the stable to the Lodge, and Jean lay in the loft of his own stable. The tramping of the horses going about their morning work aroused him at last. He made a careful toilet in one of the wash-rooms, a groom pointed out to him, and having breakfasted in solitary grandeur in the kitchen, he hung around chatting with the stable boys, his head in his pockets, his hat on the back of his head. The Todds' family coachman had been forced to remain in the city with sick wife, and the man Molly had engaged to take his place was a tall, raw-boned countryman, good-natured and unassuming. Mrs. Todd's wishes, as far as they pertained to the stable and its care, had been carried out to the letter. Everything was in excellent order, and could not have been better if the reliable Patrick had been there himself to oversee it. "Yes," admitted Molly, "everything is all right but the automobiles." "What's the matter with them?" asked Algernon, in the calm and collected manner that greatly amused Thomas. When Mrs. Todd went to her car and her chauffeur with her. The rest of the cars had been shipped to Maine, with instructions to be sent to her when they were ready.

"Hullo!" he called, looking around. "Where are you? Hi, what are you doing there?" as he caught sight of Algernon through the open door of the garage. "Here, you don't want to monkey with them machines. Hi, stop!" Algernon straightened up, wiping his face on his sleeve. It was growing warmer as the day advanced, and he had been working for the last two hours about as hard as he had ever done in his life. The perspiration rolled down his face and mingled with the streaks of oil and grease that adorned his countenance. "Cosh, I'm hot!" said he. "Come out of that," commanded Thomas, fear and authority in his voice. "Mrs. Todd won't want you monkeying with her machines." "Oh, shucks," returned Algernon carelessly, and nearly disappeared from sight under one of them. "Hold on, there," quavered Thomas. "Mrs. Todd is coming, you fool. Come out!" Algernon only grunted from beneath the machine. Thomas stooped to grab him by the leg and drag him out by main force, when Molly O'Toole appeared in the doorway. "Good morning," said she. "Who's that, Thomas? One of the grooms drunk again? You want to keep them out of the garage. I told you I can't have them fussing with the cars." Algernon squirmed out and bowed gaily like an old friend. His sleeves were rolled up and the long duster was tightly buttoned down the front, his hair was mussed and his face covered with grease, but Molly recognized her gallant of the day before, and a sudden amused twinkle came to the surface of her blue eyes. "What was her persistent caller up to now?" Algernon smiled with pleasure at the sight of her. She was in one of the staid white shirtwaist suits he had dimly perceived in the rose-garden. But now a white snood of folded ribbon was bound around the curly softness of her black hair, which tumbled loose here and there over her ears in a disorder that Algernon's fingers itched to rearrange. Down the front of her otherwise immaculately clean skirt was a disgusting grass stain. Her eyes were laughing, her cheeks flushed, and Molly O'Toole, standing in the sunshine of the doorway, looked neither mistress nor housekeeper, but a little girl suddenly brought to account for some mischief. "Good morning," said Algernon. "Good morning," said she. "Were you looking for your coat under one of the cars?" Algernon laughed. "I found my coat, thank you." "Then what were you doing under the car?" "Overhauling it." "Who told you you could?" "No one." "Then what did you do it for?" "Wanted to." "Don't always do everything you want to," advised the girl. "You might get into trouble." "If I wanted to do a thing, the doing of it would compensate for the trouble," said Algernon. "Not always," said the girl, as one who knew by experience. "Oh, yes," said Algernon, with the happy ecstasies of a few millions behind one in a safety vault. "With the right mental training, you will simply remember the fun you had and forget the trouble-be above it." "You can't," insisted the girl firmly. "Not when you are in trouble." "When I am in trouble," said Algernon simply. "I get out of it." "The girl laughed. "Who are you?" "Your new chauffeur," said Algernon. "The girl bit her lips and an angry flush deepened on her rounded cheeks. The laugh went out of her eyes and she regarded him coolly, scornfully. "You were very kind to me yesterday," said she. "Why make me sorry that I let you help me?" (To be Continued.)

It was a beautiful day, clear and cool after the storm of the night before. Great white clouds drifted by overhead, and through the trees one could see the ocean, blue and dancing in the sunlight. A white-winged sailboat was beating up against the breeze, now scudding along the crest a swell, now almost disappearing, and the panting of its engines could be distinctly heard. The sea-gulls swooped by in long airy flights, and the bell-buoy had a laugh beneath its tears. From the stable came the tramp and whinnying of horses, the chatter of the grooms and the splash of water as the boy cleaned the carriages. A car pulled up on the bench beside Algernon, purred loudly and contentedly. The yellow pup, having been kindly tolerated by the high-bred dogs of the place, and beginning to feel timidly at home, dozed at Algernon's feet in the sunshine, arousing himself now and then to fill his pipe. "You hang around as long as you want," said Thomas generously. "There's plenty here for a dozen more like you." "Thanks awfully," drawled Algernon, and Thomas, hesitating a moment, loath to leave entertaining company, felt the urge of duty pulling him away, and departed. Improvements Not to be Taxed in Vancouver. Vancouver, B. C., April 23.-The city council has decided that the tax rate for the current year shall be 22 mills net, an increase of 2 mills as compared with last year. A motion passed unanimously exempting improvements from taxation, though it was strongly advocated that improvements should be taxed to the extent of 25 per cent.

On October 18, 1913, was dedicated the world's most tremendous memorial—the Leipzig Monument Comm

TO DECIDE FATE OF PRISON FARM

Joint City and County Committee Will Consider Proposal Tomorrow.

INSPECTOR SMITH COMING

He Will Confer With Police Commissioners and Middlesex Councillors.

Whether or not the country of Middlesex and the city of London will establish conjointly a prison farm in connection with the jail will depend upon the conclusions reached at a meeting to be held tomorrow morning to confer with the county jail committee and the London Police Commissioners.

The proposed establishment of an industrial farm was first brought before the county council by Sheriff Cameron at the January meeting. In Toronto the scheme has reached splendid fruition, and under the supervision of Rev. W. B. Findlay, the indeterminate system of sentencing confirmed inmates to the industrial farm has worked out excellently.

The industrial farm at Toronto is the only one in Canada as yet, although at Guelph a large prison farm is in operation.

J. W. Laidlaw will act as chairman of the meeting tomorrow. Among those expected to be present are: Warden L. L. McTaggart, J. V. Laughton, C. W. Hawshaw, T. Clark, D. Gordon, P. Barrett, R. Tweedie, R. Pettit and J. J. Poore.

BRITISH STEAMER IN DANGER AMONG ICE

Government Boat Sent to Her Assistance Off Nova Scotia Coast.

[Canadian Press.] Halifax, N. S., April 22.—The British steamer Glenclife, from Cardiff, Wales, to Chatham, N. B., is in a dangerous position in the ice off Port Hastings, Cape Breton. It is feared that the heavy northwesterly gale blowing in St. George's Bay may drive the steamer on to the Cape Breton coast. Yesterday the Government steamer Minto was dispatched from Pictou to the Glenclife's assistance.

The latest report is that the steamer has succeeded in forcing her way to within two miles of the Glenclife, but that the ice is very closely packed in the bay. There is a northerly gale and snowstorm. The Glenclife has been in the ice since Monday.

CITY ANGLERS WILL STILL FISH AT BYRON

Crown Lands' Office Notifies Them That They Cannot be Prohibited.

London anglers can continue to cast their lines in the limpid waters of the River Thames, where the latter winds picturesquely through the farm lands in the vicinity of Byron. This is one of the anglers' paradises of Western Ontario, but some time ago farmers of the district posted notices forbidding anglers to prevent strangers from indulging in what old Isaac Walton regarded as one of the gentlest and most gentlemanly recreations.

London fishermen, however, took the matter up with the Crown Lands Department, and discovered to their great satisfaction that the titles of the original land grants from which the farmers hold their lands in this vicinity carried with them no rights to preclude others from fishing in the river. Anglers from the city will henceforth enjoy themselves as formerly in fishing along the river bank at Byron.

St. George's Roses Dazzle Prisoner

"Some Scenery" Mutters One as He Surveys Magistrate and Chief of Police.

In celebration of St. George's Day, both Magistrate J. C. Judd and Chief of Police W. P. T. Williams appeared in court this morning wearing a horticultural display that fairly dazzled the lineup of prisoners.

"Get some scenery," one of them muttered behind a curtain of growing roses, and is said to have one of the finest rose gardens in the country at his home. Nevertheless, the chief beat him to it. The rose he wore made his worship's nosegay look like a mere bud.

"Ha! Ha! You looked important chief," the magistrate said, "but you looked like a fool when you saw mine. I was looking at you all the time." The chief thought he would be the only one with a rose on, and walked into the courtroom like the commanding officer of the Grenadier Guards.

CAMLACHIE
Camlachie, April 22.—The Devotional meeting of the Y. P. A., held in Knox Church on Sunday evening, though not very well attended, was well handled by Mrs. F. McCordie and Miss Lillian Joynt, who gave splendid papers on "From Many to Calvary."

Mrs. J. J. McFarlane spent a few days in Forest recently.

Mrs. Joseph Calma has been confined to bed for the past week, suffering from a general breakdown.

C. W. J. Smith, formerly of St. Thomas, will preach in Knox Church on Sunday evening, April 26, at 7:30 o'clock.

At the vestry meeting of Christ Church on Monday, Fred McCordie was elected minister's warden, and Thomas Heath, people's warden.

Frank Schram Jr. made a business trip to Wyoming Wednesday.

LATEST MEXICAN DISPATCHES

General Maas May Move to Attack of Vera Cruz

Vera Cruz, April 22.—General Gustavo Maas, former Mexican commander at Vera Cruz, was reported today to be intending to move against the city with strong reinforcements brought up from Puebla.

Washington, April 22.—The Tehuantepec railway across Mexico has been closed. The Hawaiian Steamship Company has given notice that they have diverted their ships to Panama.

British Warned to Leave Mexico Immediately

El Paso, Texas, April 22.—British subjects in Mexico were warned today to leave immediately. The warning came from British Ambassador Cecil Spring-Rice at Washington, to British Consul Myles here, who at once wired to consuls in Mexico.

At Juarez every effort was made to conceal news of the trains. The bare facts, as given, however, were coaxed from an apparently authentic source, Colonel Hargrave, who ordered orders to restore the embargo on arms and ammunition consigned to Mexico, and it was put into effect by the collector of the port.

Help to Restore the Civil Government

Vera Cruz, April 22.—Rear Admiral Fletcher has had printed his original statement assuring the citizens that he and his forces of bluejackets and marines purposed to assist them in the restoration of civil government. He added that the American armed forces would hold the city, but that Mexican officials were invited and urged to return to their posts.

The proclamation concluded by stating that the only place the Americans intended to operate indefinitely and directly was the customs house.

Major Butler, of the marine corps, was dispatched on outpost duty with a detachment of marines to a position a few miles beyond the western limit of the city on the railroad. He took a light field piece with him. Many of the men were drawn from the Panama battalion, formerly commanded by Major Butler.

The city was prepared throughout the night for an attack by the Mexicans. Capt. Rush, acting under the orders of Rear Admiral Fletcher, continued in immediate command of the garrison.

United States Bluejacket Killed a Comrade

One of the American marines was killed during the night by a young bluejacket. The sailor was on sentry duty and became excited when he saw a figure move towards him out of the darkness. He forgot his instructions to challenge three times, and fired immediately, the marine falling dead.

CAPTURE OF VERA CRUZ

No American marines are in the Mexican capital.

Senator Shively, acting as chairman of the foreign relations committee of the Senate, conferred with the President about noon. Afterwards he said that the aggressive policy in Mexico would not be abandoned.

President Reiterates.

Washington, April 22.—Issuing a reiteration that operations were being conducted against Huerta and not Mexico as a whole, President Wilson said:

"Whatever conditions may arise, this object will be held steadily in view and pursued with consistent purpose so far as the menacing attitude of the constitutionists, and that subject now is under discussion by the joint board of the army and navy and the secretaries of the two military departments."

Washington, D. C., April 22.—A complete change in the plan of military campaign in Mexico may be necessitated by the menacing attitude of the constitutionists, and that subject now is under discussion by the joint board of the army and navy and the secretaries of the two military departments."

PROSECUTION NOT BEFORE NEXT WEEK

Leader Rowell Says There Is No Chance of Finishing Friday.

[Canadian Press.] Toronto, April 22.—"There is absolutely no chance of the Legislature getting through its business this week, if proper consideration is to be given to the interests of the people," I should say that it will be the middle of next week before we can conclude." This statement by N. W. Rowell, leader of the Opposition, intimates that there is little probability that the Government will force matters through in time to finish up by Friday night. The redistribution bill is to be vigorously attacked by the Liberals, who see in it an attempt to crush them out of existence.

COUNSEL OBJECTS TO WITNESSES "SPEECHES"

Sir George Gibbons Advises Ridgetown Man to Forget Politics.

At 2:30 this afternoon the action brought by R. J. Petch, of Warville, against William C. Newman and Maryetta Newman, of Ridgetown, to recover $6,283.10 alleged due him in unpaid accounts and commissions, was given to the jury.

Mr. Newman took the stand this morning to explain his relations with the plaintiff. Mr. Petch, he stated, was employed by him to buy beans on commission. Some of the beans, he alleged, were rotten, and had to be buried, by order of the board of health of Ridgetown.

Under cross-examination by Sir George Gibbons, Mr. Newman admitted that he had written Petch that the market was going down, and that he was overstocked. The beans, he admitted, were received by him in December, and he had kept them until May, before any trouble had been raised about them.

"Speak plainly and answer my questions," counselled Sir George. "Every time I ask you a question you make a speech. Were you ever in politics?"

"Yes, sometimes," admitted the witness. "I thought so. Well, just get out of politics for a little while, and answer my questions without making a long speech."

MAJOR LEONARD FIRM

Insists on Proposed Composition of Board at Kingston.

[Canadian Press.] Kingston, Ont., April 22.—It is reported that Major W. L. Leonard will not make any further concessions in regard to his military training offer to Queen's University. He insists upon the board being composed of six members, three military and three academic. It is expected the offer will be accepted.

Washington, April 22.—Charge Algora, after conferring with Secretary of State Bryan, said that he had made formal demand for his passport, and expected to receive them late today. He said he would leave Washington tonight, and probably would go to Europe.

Secretary of State Bryan, just before going into conference with the President, said that Charge Algora's passport was being prepared in the state department, and would be delivered to him late today.

Vera Cruz, April 22.—The first proclamation issued in this city by Americans since the last war between the United States and Mexico ended in 1848 was posted on the walls today and read with interest by the Mexican inhabitants.

Washington, April 22.—Arthur Brady, well-known Halifax cable operator, and former amateur athlete, is at the cable station at Vera Cruz. His wife, also a Nova Scotian, is with him on board.

Save the Bridge.

Eagle Pass, Texas, April 22.—After destroying machinery in railroad shops, blowing up railroad switches and removing instruments from the telegraph office in Piedras Negras, Mexico, opposite this place, early today, a party of Mexican Federalists were prevented from blowing up the Mexican end of the international bridge when the American border patrol arrived.

GYMNASIUM WORK TO KILL "YELLOW STREAK"

Firemen Need Physical Development To Keep In Trim Says Secretary.

[Canadian Press.] Ottawa, April 22.—"Gymnasium work is what we need to remove that yellow streak which gets into some men of fire departments," said William W. Walker, secretary of the Ontario Fire Prevention Association during the course of an inspection today of the Collegiate Institute. "I must admit that it creeps in at times in the Toronto Department, and I believe it is caused by nothing else than men not receiving the proper physical development."

NEWS

Bank Cleanings.—The Bank clearings for week ending April 18th were, $1,890,238 as compared with $1,561,749 for the corresponding week of 1913.

Names Omitted.—The names of Kathleen Braithwaite and Pauline Cook were inadvertently omitted from the report of the Easter examinations of Lower 9 at the Collegiate.

Condition Improved.—Late last night Victoria Hospital authorities stated that while Steven Ostorsky's condition was serious, the man had taken a turn for the better and was slowly improving.

Action Dismissed.—Judge Elliot gave judgment today in the suit brought by Thomas Hardy against John Jarman, both farmers of Caradoc Township, under the overhanging tenants' act, dismissing the action, with costs to the defendant.

Test Run.—At 2:30 this afternoon a test run of the fire department was made to the "Travelers' Club." A number of insurance men, who came here to adjust claims for the recent Dominion Savings Building fire, were witnesses of the run.

Ladies' Aid Concert.—The Ladies' Aid of the Adelaide Street Baptist Church will hold a concert tonight in the church. Among those who are to take part are Miss Gladys Shaw, Miss Florence Dewey, Miss Georgia Newbury and Mr. E. A. Walker.

False Alarm.—A pedestrian walking north on Richmond street this morning noticed smoke pouring out of Dean's bakery chimney, and, thinking the building on fire, a general alarm was sent in. When the brigade arrived, Chief Aiken was informed that it was a false alarm.

Building Permits.—Building permits issued today include one to R. G. Goss, of 569 Oxford street, to cost $1,600, and another to H. Hicks for a brick veneer residence on Thornton avenue, price, $2,500.

South London.—Miss Rosa Cooke, on South London, was agreeably surprised last night when her friends gave her a granite shower at the home of Mrs. J. Kelly. The evening was spent in music and games, after which a dainty lunch was served by Mrs. Kelly.

Fire Cause Adjournment.—Owing to the fire in the Dominion Savings Building, when the Division Court offices were fire-swept, Judge Elliot has ordered that tomorrow's court be adjourned until Friday. The evening was spent in music and games, after which a dainty lunch was served by Mrs. Kelly.

Auto Sales Increase.—Despite the fact that money is supposed to be tight this spring, automobile dealers all report an increased percentage of sales. One company's sales increasing 300 per cent. as compared with last year. Dealers also claim the demand for high priced cars is greater than ever.

Lost Greater Than Estimated.—Miss A. Seaton, milliner, whose parlors were destroyed in the recent Dominion Savings Building fire, finds that her loss will be considerably more than at first estimated. A large quantity of new and expensive materials had just arrived previous to the fire. It was not covered by insurance.

Locusts.—The Scouts heard a locust lecture received practical instructions at the Armories last night, from Sergeant S. J. Grant, of the Sixth Field Engineers. Instructions in knotting, splicing, and sparring were given. More advanced work will gradually be taken up, at the meetings held every Wednesday evening at the Armories.

Old Boys' Night.—A meeting of the Old Boys' Association is to be held in the council chamber of the city hall tonight when six men will be elected to fill the places made vacant by the resignation of six officers. The reunion to be held in August. A large and enthusiastic attendance of the members and those who wish to become members is anticipated.

Smallpox Case.—There is only one well-defined case of smallpox in the city, and the patient is confined to the Cove Hospital, according to Dr. T. V. Hutchinson, medical officer of health. One of the house surgeons at the Victoria Hospital was taken ill recently with what was thought might develop into smallpox, but Dr. Hutchinson said today that he did not believe that the surgeon was suffering with this disease.

Looking For His Wife.—Inspector Joseph Sanders, of the Charlottes Organization, has received a letter from a Brantford man asking assistance in locating his wife and child. According to the letter, the wife deserted him, and he is anxious to discover whether or not the child is being reared under conditions that are conducive to its best interests.

Visiting Army's Wards. Major McGillivray, head of the children's branch and labor bureau, of the Salvation Army Immigration Department, Toronto, is in London visiting wards of the Army's Immigration Department in this district and endeavoring to secure homes for some of a party of 42 children from Great Britain, who will arrive in Toronto next week.

To Ask For Tenders.—The building committee of the board of the Board of Education will meet on Friday night to make arrangements for calling for tenders on the various proposed school constructions. The possibility of the city council raising to pass the by-laws for the issue of $17,000 in debentures, necessary to the work, may affect the decision of the committee in the matter. The trustees, at their Friday meeting, will make arrangements for the commencement of the open-air classes and for securing a tent to be placed on the Quebec street school grounds to relieve the crowded conditions that now obtain.

Old Resident Dies.

Mrs. Mary Chinnery, one of the oldest residents of London, died this morning in the residence of her son-in-law, G. Hodges, 374 Central avenue. She was 88 years of age and was born in Suffolk, England.

THE DOMINION BANK

The Business of Farming

Like the business of Manufacturing should be done in a practical business way. Proceeds should be put in a bank. Payments should be made by cheque. A certain percentage of the profits should be put in a Savings Account as an emergency fund. The man who has a cash surplus in a bank, is protected against bad seasons and hard times.

Suggests Britain Offer Services to Avert the War

Liberal Asked to Bring Matter Up Later When Sir Edward Grey is Present.

[Canadian Press.] London, April 22.—An offer by Great Britain of her good services in accordance with The Hague Convention "with regard to the war between the United States and Mexico" was suggested by David Marshall Mason, a Liberal member in the House of Commons today.

In reply, Premier Asquith asked Mr. Mason, in view of the importance of the matter raised, to repeat his question when he gave notice. Sir Edward Grey the foreign secretary would have returned from France, where he is accompanying the King.

Mr. Asquith added that the British Government was most carefully watching the situation in all its aspects.

The prospects of active service have attracted to the American embassy a number of retired British officers and soldiers, who have offered their services to the American army.

LIVED IN NEW YORK LIKE A MILLIONAIRE

Woman Whose Assets Were a Bunch of Old Papers—Borrowed Lots of Money.

New York, April 22.—This is the story of a successful divorcée.

A few days ago the manager of the Hotel Biltmore, New York—which is the newest plush-lined pile in town—spoke to the cashier.

"Present Mrs. Edith Wilson's bill to her," said the manager. "And tell her that we prefer that she pay at once."

Positively the only interference with the manager's program lay in the fact that Mrs. Edith Wilson wasn't in her elaborate apartment at the Biltmore. She hasn't been in since. Some of her clothes were there. The Biltmore didn't want them, so took them as a possible asset. Mrs. Wilson didn't worry, because wherever she goes she can get more on credit.

She has lived in New York for four years like a millionaire. Like Cassie Chadwick, she has demonstrated that money can be borrowed on any good name. She had an apartment on Riverside Drive, and she kept an automobile by the month, and she spoke about city as "Charlie" and "Schmuck" as "George," and Astor was nothing short of "Vincie, dear."

She told her men friends that her income was $100,000, and that she didn't have a single security. But it was over four per cent. That was true. But it wasn't a good reason for loaning her money as her friends thought. She would not open a checking account, but preferred to keep her money in cash, in her safety deposit box. If only one person can get into a safety box, only one person can talk about what it contains.

Mrs. Wilson was sage in tuning her talk to the key of millions. When her creditors opened her safe, they found more valuable than a collection of old railroad time-tables and newspapers.

The first appears as the protégé of a staid old Quaker woman in Haddonfield, N. J., and inherited her money. She was when she died. Edith had always planned a life of wider horizons. The day after the funeral she appeared in Philadelphia. Pretty soon a Philadelphia married her. She had a mutual disappointment for each thought the other was rich. But they lived in some happiness for a time. Edith did her own housework. One day Old Man Wilson tottered up to her.

"Fly with me," he begged.

She flew with him.

He was almost too shaky to hold on to a fence. But he was seventy-five years old and rich and she flew. In Venice she had heretofore been known as "Charlie" and "Schmuck" as "George," and Astor was nothing short of "Vincie, dear."

At Atlantic City she faked a telegram, announcing that her Philadelphia husband was dead. Wilson was genuinely and secretly in love with her. They married the next day and arrested soon after. The shock killed Wilson.

He bought for her and some thousands in cash. The Philadelphia divorced her, but she began her campaign against New York.

She had a $6,000 suite at the Hotel Knickerbocker, and an extravagant apartment at 131 Riverside Drive, and another on West End hill until it could cause her credit to be ruined. Because she had a little money and could pay when she had to—she did remarkably well.

It was, of course, Mrs. Wilson's plan to marry some man with money, a perhaps in society—but anyhow with money. She kept away from women. All she had to do was to smile at a man and he began to bask.

G. T. R. TRAIN CHANGES

Schedule Will Be Altered After May Third.

Word was received today at Grand Trunk headquarters here that on May 3, the present passenger schedule in and out of London would be altered.

Passenger 109, leaving London now at 7:40 a.m., known to travellers as "The Duke," will leave Sarnia at 8 a.m. and run to this city.

The Ontario Limited now leaves London at 9 o'clock. This train will, on May 3, commence its run from Sarnia and pass through this city to Toronto. The exact time has not been settled.

It is more than likely that a couple of afternoon trains will be cut off, as the passenger authorities at Toronto are now revising a schedule for this division.

DISASTROUS FIRE IN SMALL QUEBEC TOWN

Ottawa, April 22.—The business section of Bryson, Que., the county seat for Pontiac, was wiped out today by a conflagration which early this morning swept the entire street, destroying 28 stores and dwellings, and entailing a loss of $65,000.

ALLEGED THEFT OF PURSE CAUSES ROW ON CAR

Disappearance of Ex-Alderman Cooper's Pocket Book Precipitates Lively Time.

The alleged theft of the pocketbook of ex-Ald. Neil Cooper on a Springfield car this afternoon, precipitated a lively row in the car.

The car was crowded, and as it neared Wonderland on the city trip, the ex-alderman missed his pocketbook. He accused a fellow passenger of the theft. The accusation started things.

Mr. Cooper, who was on his way to an auction sale just outside the city limits, requested the crew to hold the car until the police arrived. He declined to come back to the city, however, according to the conductor, and as the car could not be held all concerned left the car at Wonderland.

PERSONAL MENTION

BOARD SELECTS HEATING ENGINEER

Despite Opposition, H. P. Elliott Is Installed as Ventilation Expert

WANTS DIVISION OF WORK

Trustee Silverwood Suggests That Heating and Ventilation Be Separated.

Despite the opposition of a strong delegation from the Builders' Exchange, H. P. Elliott was appointed heating and ventilation engineer in connection with the construction of the new Grand Avenue School by a vote of 6 to 4 at the meeting of the board of education yesterday afternoon. E. H. Russell read an address, the object of which, it was stated, was to encourage the improvement of the architecture and natural beauty of the city, the retention of city business for citizens, first, last and all the time, the following of the principle of competition in awarding contracts and the encouragement of home industries by purchasing supplies and materials wherever possible from local firms and manufacturers. The communication was signed by P. S. Russell, secretary, and President T. R. Wright, William Skelly and other leading contractors, builders and plumbers composed the delegation. Mr. Russell expressed the fear that the consulting engineer would eventually become a managing engineer.

Alleged "Buckling." Architect Watt of the firm of Watt & Blackwell, who prepared plans for the new school, expressed the opinion that Mr. Elliott could secure heating equipments in the open market at rates less than the dealers. One of the members of the Builders' Exchange had somehow got the idea that Watt & Blackwell were "buckling" his firm, according to Mr. Watt. Trustee A. E. Silverwood thought it well to have an independent man to look after heating and ventilating equipments. It was whispered outside the Builders' Exchange that the board was paying two prices and if so, the citizens' interests must be looked after. Dr. R. W. Shaw objected to two commissions being paid on the work, one of 5 per cent. to the architect and another of 2 per cent. to the heating engineer. Dr. Feasdale ridiculed the wasting of hours of discussion on the question of heating engineer. The question of an eight-roomed school, E. P. Dennis moved to refer it back to No. 2 committee with power. Trustee W. G. Young thought the principle worth trying out. If it worked well with a small school it could be tried to advantage in building a larger school. If not, it need not be tried again. Trustee Thomas Rowe objected to employing a heating expert on an eight-room school. Trustee W. W. Gammage cited an instance of a local firm saving $10,000 by employing a heating expert.

"If I have a suspicion that we are paying too much, and there is such a suspicion," said Trustee John M. Gunn, "I am going to vote for the employment of a heating engineer. In the present case the cost will only amount to about $200."

To Start at Once.

The board decided to go ahead at once and call for tenders for the Collegiate Institute alterations and addition, with the exception of the heating system, which will be given further consideration. The Princess avenue additions and new heating system, the new Grand Avenue School and the new Charlotte Street School will also be gone ahead with at once.

BAD BEANS!

Assize Court Occupied By Hearing Action For Recovering Price of 700 Bushels of Beans.

Progress was made in the assize court yesterday in the suit brought by R. J. Petch of Wardsville, against William C. Newman and Marietta Newman, of Ridgeway, to recover $6,288.10, which the plaintiff alleges is due him on unpaid accounts and commissions on the purchase of beans for them under the firm name of Newman & Co. Mr. Petch took the stand and explained his operations as buyer for the defendant company during three seasons. The case is a very complicated one. The defendants deny that they shipped against deposit that Mr. Petch shipped against deposit. They claim that all beans that were up to standard were paid for, and enter a counter-claim for $618.03, which includes an item of $40 storage on the alleged worthless beans.

DUTY ON CORN BINDERS CUT TO 12-1-2 PER CENT.

Big Victory for Liberal Member for West Kent—Caused Serious Dispute.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, April 22.—Corn binders are reduced in duty to 12½ per cent. This announcement has been officially made to the chief Liberal whip, Mr. Pender. In this decision by the Government there is a victory for Mr. Archie McCoig, the Liberal representative, of West Kent, who has been very largely used by the farmers of the western peninsula of Ontario and Mr. McCoig believes that the farmers of his district should be able to buy their tools as cheaply as possible. When Finance Minister White announced in his budget that mowers and binders were to be reduced from 17½ to 12½ per cent Mr. McCoig instantly asked if binders included corn binders.

Finance Minister White said that he did not know but Mr. McCoig, who is a corn binder from behind said "Yes," but in such a doubting way that the House did not know whether the announcement would stand.

It is understood that since the budget the question of duty rate on corn binders has been the subject of serious dispute. Mr. McCoig was determined to hold the Government to its admission and gave them to understand that he would do so. Now after consideration for more than a week the Government announces that corn binders go with wheat binders at the lower rate of customs charge.

ST. THOMAS GETS 16 LIQUOR LICENSES

[Special to The Advertiser.] St. Thomas, April 22.—The license commissioners of Elgin County met today and thirteen licenses were granted for St. Thomas, and three shop licenses renewed. The Arlington was given a three months' extension, by which time it is expected the new hotel will be ready for occupancy.

WOULD FORCE INSPECTION

[Special to The Advertiser.] Toronto, April 22.—At an early hour this morning Hon. Adam Beck brought in a bill to amend the power commission act compelling municipalities to appoint a hydro-electric inspector, who shall have supervision over wiring and other branches of the service and shall carry on his work under the direction of the hydro-electric power commission.

STATUES FOR MONTREAL

Three To Be Erected This Year at a Cost of $200,000. Montreal, April 22.—Three memorial statues, the combined cost of which will exceed $200,000, will be erected in Montreal this year. They are those to King Edward VII on Phillips Square, to Sir George Cartier on Fletcher's Field, and to Adam Dollard, Sier des Ormeaux, on Viger Square.

LADY MACDONALD DEAD

Succumbs at Victoria After Several Months' Illness.

[Canadian Press.] Victoria, B. C., April 22.—Mrs. Catharine Balfour Macdonald, widow of Sir J. A. Macdonald, died today after an illness extending over several months. The late Mrs. Macdonald was the daughter of Captain James Murray Reid, who played to this part one of the first Hudson Bay Company's sailing ships, the Vancouver. She married Senator Macdonald in March, 1857, and has since resided in Victoria.

CHECK FOR $2,000 FOR SIR JAMES WHITNEY

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Toronto, April 22.—Sir James Whitney received as a gift from the Conservative members of the Legislature this afternoon a check for $2,000. The presentation was made at the Premier's home, on St. George street, by Geo. H. Goodenham, who was accompanied by H. C. Schofield (South Wellington) and T. Herbert Lennox (North York). Sir James made a brief but feeling reply.

HALIFAX JAILER COMMITS SUICIDE

Halifax, N. S., April 22.—Daniel McDonald, a former underkeeper at the city prison, committed suicide this morning by shooting himself through the head. He was one of the jailers involved in an investigation now being conducted.

Legal Query

A Property Question. SUBSCRIBER.—An old building falls and the property is afterwards sold; to whom does the lumber belong? ANSW.—To the buyer.

CONSTANT READER.—A bought a piece of property from Mrs. John Smith, giving a note for each payment to be made. Mrs. Smith drew up the notes in favor of Mrs. John Smith instead of Mary Smith. Before the note was due Mrs. Smith wished to raise money, so turned the note over to Mr. Smith by erasing the "s" from Mrs. Mr. Smith raised the money at the bank where A's money is on deposit. When the note was due and A went to pay it, the note was to Mr. John Smith instead of Mrs. John Smith. Does the erasure effect the note in any way? ANSW.—Yes, if the alteration is apparent and without your assent thereto, it is void.

EATING RELIEVES STOMACH TROUBLE

A Prominent Physician's Advice.

"Eat good foods and plenty of them. Dieting, in many cases, is almost criminal. Get back to normal. To do so you must have the proper quantity of nourishment. You need it for brain or physical work. Probably there is nothing the matter with your stomach except acidity. That is merely an abnormal secretion of acid in the stomach. Neutralize that acid and your stomach trouble will end at once. Neglect may mean ulcers if not earlier of the stomach. Do not take patented medicines or peppin tablets for dyspepsia. Simply take a neutralizer of acid. Do it daily the best neutralizer is ordinary bisulphated magnesia. It is inexpensive and you can get it at any drug store. Take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water after each meal. The relief will be immediate."—Adv.

TAMPICO—MEXICAN CITY WHICH MAY BE BOMBARDED CHILDREN'S SCALP SORES ARE HEALED BY ZAM-BUK

THE MAIN POINT OF ATTACK IN TAMPICO, MEX., IF MARINES LA

Tampico, the storm centre of Mexico, in the event of war with the United States, is a most unhealthy, heated atmosphere in the southeastern corner of the state of Tamaulipas, at the mouth of the Panuco River. It was an Aztec city. In 1683 it was destroyed by the pirate Lorenzillo and was not rebuilt until 1823. It received the name Santa Ana de Tamaulipas in 1824, and was the scene of a Mexican victory over the Spanish in 1827.

It is a city of some commercial importance and high death rate. Lagoons and rushes, rising out of the blue slime, surround it and invade it when the health authorities sleep.

The population hovers around 18,000, sliding back 500 or 300 at intervals as the inhabitants shrivel before an epidemic of yellow fever.

The eastern and poorer section of the town is built on low ground three feet above the river, subject to inundation. The western section is built on high

ND THERE—THE TAMPICO CUSTOM HOUSE IS INDICATED BY ARROW.

Ground 150 feet above sea level, and holds private residences, good water and drainage. The business section is well built, with wide streets, market places and gas and electric lights.

It is the junction of two railroads, the Monterey and Gulf line, running north, northwest to Ciudad Victoria and Monterey, and a branch of the Mexican Central running west to San Luis Potosi. Then there are river boats on the Panuco, plying to the mouth of the Tamazunchale, 135 miles away. Another boat line runs to Tamaulipas, on the Texpan Canal, a distance of 77 miles. The industries are oil refineries, ice factories, canneries and clothing factories, and a small ship yard. The exports are oil, mining and grading products, wool, honey, wool, hemp and silver bullion from San Luis Potosi, Aguascalientes, Toluca and Monterey. It is the east heart of northeastern Mexico and rivals Vera Cruz as a commercial port.

REUNION ASSOCIATION IS FORMALLY REORGANIZED

London Firms and Businessmen Unite to Bring Out Families of Deserving Immigrants—Eighteen Applications on Hand.

The organization meeting of the Imperial Home Reunion Association was held in the board of trade rooms yesterday afternoon.

The object of the association, which was formed under the auspices of the London Industrial Bureau, is to assist deserving British working people in permanent employment here in bringing their families from the British Isles to join them in London.

The association was formed under rules similar to those governing the other branches of the association.

There are branches in 28 cities in the Dominion, including Montreal, Toronto and Winnipeg. Eighteen Applications Already. "There are eighteen applications in already," stated Gordon Philip, "which, if granted, would bring 75 people to London. A man pays 20 per cent down and the rest in small monthly payments."

Ex-Ald. Wm. H. Spittal, the father of the movement in London, spoke briefly.

"We had no difficulty whatever in getting the subscriptions to the $10,000 guarantee fund, which was necessary," he said. "It will prove an excellent thing for London, and I wish to thank the gentlemen who have aided us with subscriptions."

You Can't Afford To Have Gray Hair

Youthful Appearance Too Great An Asset To Lose.

"A woman is as old as she looks," and nothing will make her look old so surely or so quickly as gray hair. It is possible for any woman to prevent her hair turning gray or to restore her gray hair to all its former beauty.

Hay's Hair Health will do it. It is not a dye. It accomplishes its results quickly, surely, easily and at the same time stimulates and invigorates the scalp and hair roots. It removes dandruff.

We are sure enough of its results to say that we will refund your money if it fails after a fair trial.

$1.00, 50c, 25c. Get it at our store.

Sold and recommended by Cairncross & Lawrence, druggists, London, Ont.

Shiloh

The family remedy for Coughs and Colds. Small dose. Small bottle. Best since 1870.

Had Nervous Prostration and Frequent Headaches

After Two Doctors Had Failed, She Began Using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and Was Completely Cured Two Years Ago.

Most doctors feel helpless when brought face to face with nervous prostration. They do not understand diseases of the nerves very well, and recovery is often so slow that both doctor and patient lose patience.

For this reason the results accomplished by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food are almost beyond belief. And yet this treatment does not perform miracles, but works in the most natural way imaginable to produce health and strength.

Here is described a case of three years' standing which was thoroughly cured a year ago by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. It is like thousands of other cures which are being brought about by this great nerve restorative.

Mrs. H. C. Jones, Scotch Lake, C.B., writes:—"I suffered from nervous prostration for nearly three years. I had frequent headaches, had no appetite and was troubled with my heart. After consulting two doctors without obtaining satisfactory results I began the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and was completely cured by this treatment. It is nearly a year since I was cured, and I want others to know of this splendid medicine. I now attend to my household work with pleasure and comfort, and am glad to have the opportunity of recommending Dr. Chase's Nerve Food."

By noting your increase in weight you can prove beyond question the benefit that your system is obtaining from the use of this great food cure. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, 5 for $2.50, all dealers, or Edmanston, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto.

U. S. MARINES, ALWAYS FIRST ON ENEMY'S SOIL, WERE ADVANCE GUARD IN TRIPOLI, JAPAN, CUBA, THE PHILIPPINES, AND NOW IN MEXICO!

MARINES EMBARKING FOR SCENE OF HOSTILITIES.

To open the fighting is the business of the United States Marine Corps. They did it in Cuba, in the Philippines, in Tripoli, on the coast of Africa, in Japan—wherever United States fighting has been started from the sea. It is a heritage handed down to them, "police of the sea," from the Phoenicians and other ancient adventurers who went down to the sea in ships and gained treasure and tribute by right of sword and conquest.

The United States and Great Britain are the only two world powers who use the Marine Corps. The United States Marine Corps is modelled after that of Great Britain.

Away back, centuries ago, all sea fighting was done by soldiers, bowmen and spearmen. The sailors looked to the navigation of the ships. It was so even in the days of the sailing vessels.

In 1533 Admiral Blake founded the British Marine Corps by enlisting soldiers to act as riflemen in his action against Van Tromp. The British Marine Corps was abolished and reorganized time and again.

Then England, following her press gang system, enlisted and conscripted men, drawn from the gutters of Portsmouth and London and brought victory to the American ships. They were bad men, with an impatience of authority. They were unruly.

The Government then organized the Marine Corps again to act as police over these men. They did their work so well that they earned the title of "Royal Marines" and the undying hatred of British sailors.

AMERICAN FLEET DWARFS MEXICO'S

[Canadian Press.]

Washington, April 23.—The formidable-ness of the American fleet of naval vessels, compared with the vessels of Mexico, now in Mexican waters, is strikingly brought out in statistics made public by the Navy Department today.

There are at present 25 ships of the United States navy scattered along the Mexican coasts, a majority of which are of the latest fighting type. Opposed to these are eleven Mexican naval vessels, four of which are characterized as of "no fighting quality."

Eighteen of the American naval vessels are on the Atlantic coast and seven on the Pacific. They include none battle-ships, five cruisers, three gunboats, three fuel ships, two transports, one supply ship, one hospital ship and one mine depot ship.

Four "Hulks."

Mexico has five vessels on the Atlantic coast, and six on the Pacific. Of those on the Atlantic, two are gunboats, one a transport, one a training ship, and the other is characterized as a "hulk of no fighting value." These on the Pacific coast consist of two gunboats, a transport and three "hulks of no fighting value."

All Small Boats.

The gunboat Bravo, on the Atlantic coast, is of 1,200 tons displacement and of 2.4 inches armament. The gunboat Vera Cruz is of 900 tons displacement and equipped with 2.4-inch armament. The gunboat Morelos, on the Pacific, is of 1,200 tons displacement, and the gunboat Tampico of 900 tons displacement; both have the 2.4-inch armament.

The gunboats Bravo, Vera Cruz, Morelos and Tampico each carry six four-pounders, and are equipped with torpedo tubes.

APPEAL FOR HELP AGAINST STRIKERS

Superintendent at Rouse, Col., Says Big Crowd is Advancing on Him.

[Canadian Press.]

Trinidad, Col., April 23.—"If you have any help you can send, rush it to Rouse immediately. Strikers have big bunch and are coming this way."

This message was received at the Trinidad office of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company early today from Superintendent Deek.

Another large body of armed men still is besieging the wrecked mining camp of the Southwestern Fuel Company at Empire, according to a telephone report from H. D. King just before the wires went down.

The fate of J. W. Siple, president of the company who, with twenty to thirty others, including several women and children, were reported entombed in the mine slope, was unknown. A report from Aguilar to Major Hamrock stated that the entombed were dead, as the air had been cut off since yesterday.

There was desultory firing this forenoon at Ludlow.

CROWD OBJECTS TO THE JUDGE'S DECISION

[Canadian Press.]

Regina, April 23.—An unpleasant incident marked the evening session of the horse show when the crowd booed the judge who gave Bate and Jones of Ottawa, first in the four-in-hand class, placing Regina and Winnipeg entries in a lower rank than the Easterners.

Hon. Clifford Sifton's entries were again given high awards. He took a first for the best saddle horse and first for best hunters.

CARRANZA'S HOSTILITY MAY MEAN GENERAL MEXICAN WAR

His Objection to United States' Action Comes as Shock to Washington—He Advises Withdrawal of Troops.

[Canadian Press.]

Washington, April 22.—News that Gen. Venustiano Carranza, Constitutionalist chief, had regarded the seizure of Vera Cruz by the American naval forces as an act of hostility to the Mexican nation, fell like a bombshell in official circles tonight.

President Wilson had especially disclaimed any act of hostility to the Mexican people, particularizing Gen. Huerta as the object of the American operations to secure reprisal for offenses at Tampico and elsewhere against the American flag. Consequently the Washington Government had hoped the Constitutionlists would remain silent and not interject themselves in the imbroglio.

Secretary Bryan had not received the text of the Carranza letter up to a late hour tonight, but indirectly was acquainted by one of the Constitutionlists' representatives here of the substance of it.

Carranza Advises Withdrawal.

Carranza pointed out that the seizure of Vera Cruz would be regarded as a hostile act by the Mexican people, and that it was advisable for the United States to withdraw its troops from Vera Cruz just as soon as was practicable.

Carranza agreed with President Wilson that Huerta did not represent the Mexican nation, but on the other hand, feared the Mexican people might be inflamed and drawn into a conflict which would make them sacrifices to the usurpations of Huerta.

Gen. Carranza described the Constitutionlist successes, saying that Huerta was slowly being crushed and that the Constitutionlists soon would be in possession of the Mexico City Government. When they triumphed, he pointed out, ample reparation would be made for all offenses. In the meantime, he wished the United States to take no steps which would excite the Mexican people.

Apprehension Is Manifest.

The note, it was admitted by many officials, was capable of a friendly construction, but there was some doubt expressed that the subordinate officers under Gen. Carranza might not be so conservative. Apprehension over this situation was manifest in many quarters.

Should hostility on the part of the Constitutionlists crystallize, plans of the army will be changed. There were reports during the day that the joint army and navy board already had recommended the restoration of the embargo on arms.

Action by Congress approving the President's course in using the army and navy in view of the situation he had presented in his message, and the receipt of details of the fighting at Vera Cruz were the chief developments of the day. Officials expressed themselves as greatly pleased with the promptness of Rear Admiral Fletcher's forces in taking possession of Vera Cruz and restoring order there.

British Cheered.

Vera Cruz, April 22.—The paymaster of the British cruiser, Essex, Albert W. Kimber, was wounded on board his ship by a sniper ashore.

The British bluejackets crowded the bows and vociferously cheered the American marines as they proceeded in-shore for the landing.

The flags on the Essex and Fortress San Juan de Ulra were half-masted when the dead were carried to the boats.

HUERTA MUST LOSE CARGO OF BULLETS

Guns and Ammunition To Be Shipped Back to Germany.

[Canadian Press.]

Washington, April 22.—Disposition of the guns and ammunition in the cargo of the German vessel Ypiranga, which were held up at Vera Cruz, when Admiral Fletcher took the port, was arranged for at a conference between Secretary of State Bryan and Ambassador Von Bernstorff, of Germany. The captain of the vessel, being unable to secure clearance papers at Vera Cruz, will return the cargo to its former owners in Germany, although the Huerta Government had paid in advance for the munitions.

Cost of transporting the cargo at Vera Cruz and return must be borne by the consignors of the munitions. This arrangement is in accord with the international precedents covering such incidents.

LEASING OF RAILWAY UNDER CONSIDERATION

St. Thomas, April 22.—Mayor Jackson and Ald. Roche held a conference today with the officials of the ondon and Lake Erie Transportation Company in connection with that company's proposition to leasing the St. Thomas Municipal Street Railway. It was learned that the Traction people, if they take over the road, desire to have rights to run their London-Port Stanley cars over the city's road without paying a rental. At present the company

WALKERTON LONDONER DEVELOPS SMALLPOX

Three Licenses Cut Off in The Town, Leaving Four.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Walkerton, April 22.—A case of smallpox has developed in town. Zimmer, a young printer, from London, developed the trouble while home on a visit to his mother. The board of health has isolated the family, and taken every means to confine the disease.

Renew Licenses.

The license commissioners met today at the Central Hotel and renewed all the licenses in South Bruce, with the exception of the Dunkeld hotel, a license for which was not applied for. The British Hotel, Mildmay, and Klemph's Hotel, Walkerton, lose their licenses and were given three months to get rid of their stock. Walkerton now has four licenses, Brant three, Carleton place, Culross one, or a total of fourteen for the riding.

Death of Frank Fox.

Frank Fox, a son of Charles Fox, died yesterday in Montreal at the age of 42 years. He was a brother of George Fox, the noted violinist, and was a brilliant pianist. When a child, he used to travel with his brother giving concerts. They were known throughout the country as "the boy musicians." He leaves a wife and two young sons. His body arrived today from Montreal, and will be buried tomorrow.

SAYS AID GIVEN ROAD WOULD EXCEED COST

The West Middlesex Member Moves Censure on Government for Bargain.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Toronto, April 22.—On the motion to go into supply in the Legislature this afternoon, J. C. Elliott (West Middlesex) moved an amendment censuring the Government for its bargain with the Lake Huron and Northern Ontario Railway last session in alienating a large tract of public lands which were being exploited by a private corporation.

Mr. Elliott based his statements on a prospectus purported to have been issued by the company, which was condemned in a financial paper in Montreal as being the latest gold brick. From the claims made by the company, it was stated that either it was not careful about the representations made to intending investors, or the aid it was to receive from the Dominion and the Province would be more than the actual cost of the road when completed. Taking the figures supplied by the prospectus, Mr. Elliott pointed out that if the road could be completed at about $8,000,000, the Government had been altogether too generous in its aid.

Mr. Hearst claimed that as far as had been possible to ascertain, no misleading statements had been made by the company about its prospect. While the matter was not altogether as Mr. Elliott had explained, he had not had an opportunity of looking into it closely.

S. Clarke (West Northumberland) contended there was nothing solid behind the company. "Why not build our own road?" he said. "If the country is to be developed, why not do it ourselves?" The

SUITS Made of SILK

The elaborate richness of the suits made this season from silk fabrics forms what is really a new type of costume, and they have been more or less generally designated by the French term, "Tailleur Costumes."

Here you will find them in moire silks, silk poplins, silk broches and the new crepe-like silk materials; and they range from black to the newest of the season's dressy colors.

For evening wear and for all afternoon dress occasions they are most suitable, and have the desired air of rich distinction.

We never buy more than one of each model, thus insuring exclusiveness, and the prices range from $35 to $82.50.

Sees Menace In White Bread

The eminent scientist—Prof. Le Tulle, of Paris, recently made a remarkable statement regarding food conditions in France. It is even more applicable to this country—he said:

"France has changed an essential of her nourishment. White bread is made more and more starchy, and is less and less nourishing. The rich products which are extracted go to feed the pigs. The baker now utilizes only fifty per cent. of the wheat elements, whereas fifty years ago he utilized eighty-five per cent."

The "rich products" referred to, which are "extracted" from wheat, are the mineral elements—phosphate of potash, iron, sodium, etc. These elements are absolutely essential to proper nutrition of body, nerves and brain, yet they are nearly all thrown out by millers just to make the flour look white and pretty.

The lack of these invaluable phosphates is one of the chief causes of nervous prostration, dullness, languor, constipation and other ills—big and little.
