SEIZED BY BANK MANAGER George Linley Raises Check

$70 and Forges Second One.

Caught red-handed obtaining noney on a check which he had forged, George Linley was found guilty of forgery in police court this morning. After his counsel, W. R. Meredith, of the firm of Meredith & Meredith, had admitted certain facts. he was remanded for a week on suggestion of counsel, in order that ome certificates on the prisoner's behalf might be presented to the court before sentence is passed.

Linley was arrested a few minutes after the offense was committed at I noon Saturday.

It is admitted he raised a certified check for $6, drawn to G. J. Dawson, to $76, and uttered a check for $95 to which he had forged the name of Charles H. White. The latter check had been filled in with typewriting. In the space for the signature was typewritten the name of the London Rolling Co., Ltd., under which White' name was signed in ink.

"We are in the darkness again." This is the frantic report that has reached the utilities department upon more than one occasion within the past few days from various sections of the city, and E. V. Buchanan, the general manager, states that he has een expecting these complaints for quite a while back.

The hydro "load," or demand, in this city is increasing at a remarkable rate, he explains, and not a little of this is occasioned by the continued increased use of the various household electrical appliances, electric stoves, heaters, etc.

The trouble is, he relates, that when a consumer installs any one of these articles he fails, more than ikely, to notify the hydro department Consequently the load is being increased in many districts of the city and the department is unaware of the exact proportion. The transformer fuses on the hydro poles are only calculated to handle a certain "load," and once this is exceeded, the fuse will blow out. This is inevitable, he declares, unless his officials are acquainted of the facts and the transformer replaced by a larger and more adequate type. Most people, the manager adds. eem reluctant to report the addition of electrical appliances to their homes or fear that an increased service charge will be imposed. This will not be done, he declares emphatically and asks the co-operation of the con-

The Task of a Juror.

GORDON DIBSDALE, who shot and killed CHRISTINE NEAR, his 15-year-old sweetheart, near her home in London last May, has been found not guilty of the charge on the grounds of insanity by the jury which tried him for his life. While DIBSDALE'S counsel admitted the killing, which was a revolting one, with a double-barreled shotgun used as the lethal weapon, insanity was the successful plea which saved the young man from the gallows.

Ere they could reach a conclusion in the case, the twelve jurors who heard the evidence wrestled with the lem for more than seven hours. many their verdict came as a surprise, in view of the fact that expert allenists pronounced DIBSDALE sane, hile to others it was not regarded an unusual verdict.

Those in the former category have een prone to criticise the verdict, ut their attitude in doing so is not British fairplay. Gordon Dibsdale was tried by twelve of his fellowcountrymen, good men and true, and it is their unanimous opinion that he is insane. That they did not reach such a verdict until they had thoroughly threshed the case out was evidenced by the haggard and pallid features of each juror as he filed into the courtroom early Saturday morning with anxious expression and dishevelled hair.

Every criminally charged person under British law possesses the right to a trial by jury. DIBSDALE'S urors heard all the evidence against , and endeavored, to the best of their ability, to render a verdict well and true. While many persons in the street may differ in opinion with the jury, it ill behooves them to pass on the action of these men, who were thoroughly conversant with the details of the shooting, and, acting on such information, did their duty. If the man in the street, or in the spectators' gallery of the court, were allowed to bring in the verdict, British justice would be crumpled. GORDON DIBSDALE was granted a fair trial, and when twelve intelligent men reach a unanimous decision they have reasonable grounds for

To the layman in the case, one of the most baffling things in connection with a trial where insanity is the defense, is the evidence of alienists. In the DIBSDALE trial two competent men swore he was suffering its best efforts to win. from a form of mental derangement. while the crown produced two others lic see a contest in which there is to state with equal certainty that he no honesty of effort on the part of was not. All four men had equal opportunity to make observations, mind that at some time they must a lump come in your throat and you the same standard practice in arriving at their decisions. In some of the more famous murder trials the same thing has been in evidence on a much larger scale. It is easy to recall the trial of HARRY K. THAW for the murder of SANFORD WHITE. Alienists upon alienists were produced by each side in so endless an array that it seemed then that of alienists there could be no And while one group protested his sanity, the other were just as certain of his insanity.

As we understand it, if Gordon DIRECTION IS suffering from dementia praecox, a progressive form of insanity, he will become worse, and the jury's finding will be vindicated. There are practically no recoveries from this form of insanity. It is a difficult position for a juror to face when he has such highly technical nd controversial evidence placed efore him.

TOKERS have had their full share of fun out of the tourist from United States who comes to Canada in the hope of getting a drink. His chances are not much better in Ontario than they are right at home, or the people here are not any sharper bootleggers than they have there. It is a serious mistake to have this talk carried too far, creating as it does the impression that one of the chief advantages of this northern land is that tourists can get a drink up here.

In Quebec that is true, but there is nothing to show that Quebec has any monopoly of tourist traffic that ZIE, who held office from Nov. 7, 1873, after, but the brigade couldn't find United States.

KAISER FINDS SEED OF WORLD WAR HERE.

ONCE the magnitude of Pan-Germanism dawned on the English and French diplomats, once they became aware of the lengths to which Germany was willing to go, they realized the necessity of strengthening their position, and therefore made overtures to the United States, which resulted, probably before the summer of the year 1897, in an understanding between the three countries. There seems to be no doubt whatever that no papers of any sort were signed, that no pledges were given which circumstances would not justify any one of the contracting parties in denying or possibly repudiating. Nevertheless, an understanding was reached that in case of a war begun by Germany or Austria for the purpose of executing Pan-Germanism, the United States would promptly declare in favor of England and France, and would do her utmost to assist them.-Page 139, Chapter X., of Pan-Germanism, by Roland G.

there was no law against it. I laid stress upon the fact that this bassador: I told him that Germany was the only country in the world which, despite its colonial possessions and its rapidly growing commerce, possessed no coaling stations; that we were quite willing to acquire these with England's consent; that, should she refuse to show a realization of our situation and fail to meet us halfway, we should be compelled to turn to some other great power, in order, with its help, to found set-lements. This talk, likewise, was fruitless. Finally, the negotiations with England were broken off, without result in a rather impolite manner. Thereupon the chancellor and I decided to appeal to Russia.

The occupation of Kaio-Chau aroused surprise and anger in the English government. Having refused us her support, England had definitely reckoned on the belief that lobody would help Germany in attaining her goal. Now things had turned out differently, and there was no lack of recriminations from London. When the English ambassador took up this tone, he was referred to the conversation with me, and it was made clear to him that it was solely the fault of his government that it had come to no understanding with Germany.

England's attitude of aloofness surprised us at that time. An occurrence which, then, was unknown to me, may serve to throw light on the matter

Finds Seeds of World War.
In a book, "The Problem of Japan," which appeared anonymously at The Hague in 1918, and was said to have been written by an "Ex-Diplomat from the Far East," an excerpt was published from a work of the American, Professor Usher, of Washington University at St. Louis. Usher, like his former colleague, Professor John

In this it was agreed that, in case Germany or Austria, or both of them, should begin a war for the sake of "Pan-Germanism," the United States should at once declare in favor of England and France and go to the support of these powers with all its esources. Professor Usher cites at

This chapter is extraordinarily worth reading: it gives a good glimpse into the preliminary history and preparation of the world war on the part of the Entente, which even at that time was uniting against Germany, although not yet appearing under the name of Entente Cordiale.

Here is a treaty that Professor Usher alleges to have been entered into as long ago as 1897, in which every phase of activity and participaaffairs, Herr von Bulow, who was tion in future events by England. This is truly amazing. A definite treaty of partition directed against Gauls and Anglo-Saxons, in a time of the profoundest peace, and concluded without the slightest twinkle of conscience, in order to annihilate Gerbehest of the chancellor, to discuss competition from the world market! Seventeen years before the beginning ment; for years the principal actors had been united and in readiness. When he christened the compact was for the world, especially for Germany, an unpleasant novelty, but, in the countries on the other side, it was merely the official acknowledgment of facts long known there.

In view of this agreement, one can understand also the opposition of England in 1897 to an agreement with Germany regarding coaling stations, and the anger aroused because Germany managed, in agreement with Russia, to gain a firm foothold in China, concerning the exploitation of which land without German participation a tripartite treaty had already been made.

Usher talked out of school and conclusively proved at whose door lies the guilt for the world war. The treaty directed against Germany sometimes called the "gentleman's agreement"-of the spring of 1897, is agreed entirely with my own view the basis, the point of departure, for and, in conclusion, I summed up my this war, which was systematically standpoint once more for the am- developed by the entente countries for seventeen years. Professor Usher's statements are likewise a complete refutation of all those who were impelled, during the war, to find the reason for the entry of the United States in certain military acts on the part of Germany, as, for instance, the Lusitania case, the expansion of U-boat warfare, etc. None of that is right. The recentlypublished, excellent book of John Kenneth Turner, 'Shall It Be Again?' points out, on the basis of convincing roofs, that Wilson's alleged reasons for going to war and war aims were not the real ones. America-or rather President Wilson-was resolved probably from the start, certainly from 1915, to range herself against Germany, and to fight. She did the latter, alleging the U-boat warfare as a pretext, in reality under the influence of powerful financial groups, and yielding to the pressure and prayers of her partner, France. whose resources in man power were becoming more and more exhausted. America did not wish to leave a weakened France along with England, whose annexation designs on Calais, Dunkirk, etc., were well known to her.

PRETTY MODELS REFLECT PARIS AT ADVERTISER'S FASHION SHOW

Added Attraction To Augment Regular Program of Entertainment_Alluring Hat Designs and Chic Wraps To Be in Evidence_Great Range of Wardrobe Set by Dame Fashion For Milady On Display.

The last word in autumn and winter fashions for 1922 will be displayed at the Grand Opera House this week, commencing with the matinee this afternoon, the occasion being the fall and winter fashion show staged by The London Advertiser in co-operation with the Harriet Boomer Chapter, Daughters of the Empire. Beautiful and attractive gowns, costly furs, chic millinery and the daintiest of those other accessories to the toilette of every lady will be displayed by 15 beautiful models. The models will be selected from the membership of the Harriet Boomer Chapter, Daughters of the Empire. They are working for charity, as they have agreed to return their salaries to the coffers of the I. O. D. E. to be used for the Sick Children's War Memorial Hospital. The management of he Grand Opera House has also generously offered to donate a percentage of the receipts to the same cause.

Straight Lines For Women Is Fashion's Call For Winter 1922

New Crepy Material Known as "Trigoddette" Being Much Used in Coming Season.

FASHIONS, like events, cast their shadows before them, and the fashions for the winter of 1922 are casting most interesting silhouettes which indicate for the coming season a development of the lines of the season past and at the same time show departures from the fashions we have known.

The silhouette remains pretty much the same, straight of line, falling almost directly from the shoulder to the hem of the costume. with merely an indication of the belt line. In spite of this similarity of silhouette there are several outstanding points of definite fashion interest about the new garments for the fall and winter.

Developed in Heavy Flosse. All-over embroidery patterns in bold designs are featured on the fall dresses in both the cloth models for street wear and in the silk and thinner materials for more dressy wear. They are developed in the heavy silk flosses, in chenille, mercerized cotton, in metallic thread, in narrow ribbon and braid combined with beads, nail heads, applique motifs of velvet and felt, and many short scraps of fringes that lend themselves in a fascinating way to the most novel effects.

Winter Hats To Show Variety Of Shapes With Odd Trimmings

All Colors of Spectrum in Vivid Shades, Alone and in Charming Combinations, Is Keynote of Fashion's

IN selecting the season's outfit there is nothing more important than a becoming hat. To a becoming hat and a sense of humor is attributed the success of one of the best known, and correspondingly most successful women artists. After all, the hat is the frame for the face, and the face is the most interesting part of the whole picture. Therefore, as we have said before, the hat is one of the most important factors in the season's scheme of clothes. tinsel, jet and other materials will all

New Ideas Evidenced. For the coming winter many new make an appearance during the ideas have been introduced by the season. One bunch of fruit that is millinery designers. No matter how demure the inspiration of those hats may have been there will be always an up-to-date martness about the new versions, for they are very striking in color and are tilted with a certain daring that s both chie and modern.

Striking Color Combinations. Brillaint colors, Roman stripes, metallic effects, beads, buckles, gaudy feather trimmings are all shown in the winter millinery display. A little and silver tissue. A mushroom that combines felt and a metal ribbon in an interesting way is developed in jade and silver. The large crown is made of the felt and the brim gives a checker-board effect by means of interlaced strips of the felt and a narrow silver ribbon. Felt holds its own persistently in the millinery world and appears on many of the newer models in combination with other fabrics, notably velvet, kid and the metal edged or entirely metal ribbons. It is also used for flowers, some of which are cut out and applied flatly to the hats, others are made more realistic and put on in bunches or in wreaths. Perhaps the most novel of them all is the big calla lily that wraps itself about a center of yellow chenille. Felts Much Liked.

Felt fringes too are good and many of them are tipped with metal, sealing wax or nail heads to lend a he winter bonnet. forated felt brims are shown either faced with contrasting color and fabric, or left for the narrow metal ribbons to lace themselves through the perforations.

Sport hats of felt are still good and one with a crushy crown upturns a rolling brim which is edged with an overlapping row of many colored felt disks edged with silver sealing wax.

While the interlaced effect de scribed on the mushroom sailor is very popular, felt is often seen cut out in designs and applied flat to the brim and crown of the hat, which retains a simple silhouette, and repuires no other trimming.

Ribbons Effectively Used.

Ribbons are used in many different ways. They are gathered and put on as facings to the small toques. They are made into flower-like rosettes, and are interlaced through the slashed brims and crowns of the simple hats. In their narrowest version they are used to carry out very interesting embroidery patterns combined with beads, with appliqued motifs of velvet, felt or kid.

The use of kid, of patent leather and suede is one of the outstanding features in the display for fall and very novel and imaginative effects have been attained by the clever use of them. They form facings of brimmed hats, are crushed in combination with gay striped materials of silk persuation to form the soft toques that come from the Oriental headdresses, they are cut out in any number of fantastic silhouettes to paste themselves flat against a background of velvet, of Fringes of leathers and suedes tipped with bright metal nail heads form a unique trimming for the models with upturned brims.

Unusual Embroidered Designs. Embroidery has proved its charm by enduring many seasons, and it promises to outdo all its own previous records in color and design for the coming season. Worked out in chenille, worsted warn, in narrow ribbons, in metal thread, combined with beads of all kinds, with cutouts o fabric that contrast with the material of which the hat itself is made, embroidery lends itself most attractively to the winter mode. Duvetyn in combination with silk or baronette satin in both the high colors and the more somber shades promises to be good for fall. Bright colors will predominate for street wear, but there will always be the generous number of more dressy hats made on large, blocked lines for the more formal occasions and these for the most part will be of black with colorful trimming saving that of self color for popularity.

Feathers Are Smart.

Ostrich will claim a place for itself on the winter millinery and will appear in conventionalized novelties rather than in the sweeping plumes. Pheasant quills will be very popuas will the glycerined ostrich and but the detachable fur collar of beaver, seal or otter promises to come in stronger than ever. Such collars permit the wearer to make changes in a jiffy to fit climatic switches.

Detachable Collars Favored. Fur-lined coats, of course, will be worn only in the coldest sort of weather, and largely by motorists who are out a great deal. Since it appears that reduced prices of fur would make one believe that fur will be used more extensively than ever, the reverse is the condition, duelargely to the trend of conservatism.

Topcoats Essential The topcoat, now regarded by most men as an essential part of their wardrobe, naturally is being worn more than ever. There are no radical changes in the styles, but the most important thing pertains to the tailoring, which after all makes the real style of the garment.

This leads to this conclusion that there is economy in quality. The man who will pay a little more than the average for his clothes will profit thereby. He will find that he will proved styles, and a higher type of

OCTOBER 2.

The sun which enters this sign on The sun which enters this sign on or about the 23rd of September and departs about the 23rd of October, should be given about six days before coming into full touch with the influences of the sign, Libra.
The scales of Libra tip very easily, and too often one scale touches the bottom with a dead weight, while the other swings aloft, unused and empty. Libra men are very fascinating, and they are rackless in following out the gratifica tions of their desires as they are in gambling games and speculating.

The governing sign of this date is Libra and the governing planet is Venus, the goddess of love. The birthstone is a diamond or opal

Complaints Made of Destruction on Florence Street and Nightingale Avenue.

Police, at the request of private citizens and the public utilities comnission, have laid plans to put an end to the practice of breaking street lamps on Florence street and Nightingale avenue. Complaints were filed with the commission that lights had been broken some time ago on these streets. Since then the lights have been replaced several times. Finally the commission decided that it could not go on indefinitely replacing these lights, and decided to leave them out.

This brought some criticism from ie residents of the vicinity. Finally the police were called into action. They promise to "make it hot" for anyone caught smashing these lights. It is believed that young men, as well as children, have been carrying on the work of destruction to this city property in the east end.

Toronto, Oct. 1.—Hamilton Rowing Club opened the O. R. F. U. senior season by handing the University of Toronto a 15-to-7 beating at the Varsity stadium on Saturday afternoon, in a game which convinced the onlookers that the collegians will have to improve to be a championship team.

With Elford, their brilliant right half, gaing probably as much ground for them as the rest of the team combined, the Rowing Club twelve had the appearance of winners all the way. The Blue and White players, most of them recruits from Mulock Cup teams, or last year's intermediates, showed lack of experience. Especially was this true of the wing men. No less than 40 Toronto players turned out for the game.

In the first half in general and the second period in particular, the visitors were vastly superior to the Varsity representatives. Their showing during that time led many to predict a real battle for the O. R. F. U. champions. Parkdale Canoe Club, when the two teams meet on the 21st of this month. In the second half, however, the winners did not look quite so good, and although their lead was never in serious danger of being overcome, they were out-scored by the university team.

INTERIOR VIEWS OF FACTORY, GIVING GLIMPSES OF WORK ROOMS, WHERE THE MER-CHANDISE MADE REACHES DIRECTLY FROM MANUFAC-TURER TO THE CUSTOMER.

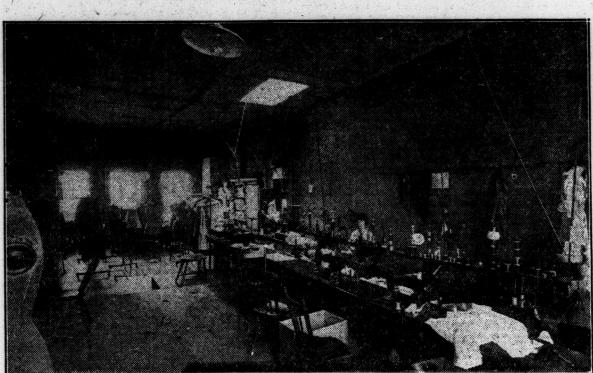

Two thousand years ago it was asked: "Can any good thing come out of Nazareth?" Today, the question is presented: "Do home productions equal in excellence foreign manufactures?"

The firm of Ross' Limited gives an emphatic and affirmative reply to these two questions and answers them along the lines in which it special-

It is a law of gravitation that, in proportion to its ponderosity, is the attraction of anything. This physical law holds good only in relation to quantity, not to quality. For instance: A mountain of marble is far less attractive in the mass than when it blossoms into architectural flowers of beauty. A conglomerate rock greatly surpasses the diamond in size and weight, but the Koh-i-noor is a stone more precious and more to be desired than a monster monolith.

While science informs the mind, art refines the taste. For that reason, the silent Sphinx excites less admiration than the classic eloquence of the Venus de Milo. Again: Colossal piles of brick and mortar are jarring discords compared to the frozen music of Gothic structures. The difference between rude dugouts and symphonies in stone is expressed in terms of mind, not of matter.

The law of gravitation may explain why some people are prone to gravitate towards large cities and away from rural districts; but really, the matter of mere preponderance which attracts to commercial centers should have no power to weigh against the higher and weightier considerations of quality and excellence which can be secured at less cost right at home. This is no vain boast.

The Manufacturing Department of Ladies' Wear

Into the artistic making of ladies' wear there enter many requirements that call for skill and labor. Few patrons realize, when purchasing a garment from the firm of Ross' Limited how many operations are really necessary to insure the style, fit and finish that distinguish it from any other.

Before a garment can bear the label of this reliable firm it must first pass through 11 hands, each one of whom is an expert along some particular line, thus imparting originality and individuality to each and every garment.

No pains or expense have been spared to equip both of these factories with every prerequisite and facility. No fewer than 11 different kinds of sewing machines are in constant use in these factories alone - machines capable of making stitches of almost every conceivable description.

The underlying idea on which such elaborate equipment is based is the idea of art and efficiency which alone enables the firm of Ross' Limited to give the highest class of service to its patronsservice that renders satisfaction to every customer. A visit of inspection to these factories would prove as interesting as it would be instructive. Permission to visit the several workrooms may be secured by making application to the president of the firm of Ross', Limited.

FUR LORE THAT EVERY WOMAN BUYER OF FURS SHOULD KNOW

Since the early days of the advent of the Gothic race into Europe furs have been fashionable in the western world. This enterprising people, who made so deep and lasting an impression on the realm of style in language, architecture, literature and art, brought with them from the manners and customs of the East a taste for luxurious furs common to the aristocracy of China, Persia and other lands, so that fur fashions date from early days, even from our first parents, and were brought into increasing prominence until the Sacred Ark of our Hebrew friends was shielded and decorated with a covering of the furs of that time.

Yet, in furs, art and fashion, as in other things, must grow or die. It must be admitted, however, that in furs the fashions of the day find more acceptance and expression than almost any other article of ladies' apparel.

Nothing lends more fascinating softness and beauty to a woman's face than an artful setting of a suitable fur. And no other article of dress adds such distinction and grace to the wearer than a garment of fur, be it just the simple neckpiece or the rich, luxurious cape or coat.

The first cost of furs often

The great war has changed the fur industry almost more than any other. Fur markets on this continent are among the most important in the trade.

The knowledge of dyeing, dressing and manufacturing fine furs, which was considered almost the property of Europe, has found a new home in Canada and the United States. Now millions of money find investment in the industry on this side of the Atlantic.

It must be said, however, that in no other business are there used such misleading names and such deceptive imitations as in furs. The manipulations in manufacture, supplemented by the concealing properties of dyeing, deceive all except those skilled in the business. So that furs, like diamonds, can only be safely purchased from reliable people who know all the processes through which furs go before being placed on sale.

Helpful information can also be freely obtained from such people regarding the proper care of furs during the unused months, which saves many dollars as well as preserving the beauty and usefulness of fur garments. Properly - manufactured furs now demand expert labor combined with modern machinery, which means the investment of much money in order that fur purchasers can be protected against loss.

The worst dirt is in your rug-not on it.

The jar-of-water laboratory test shows that a large part of the dirt is embedded in the rug. (It sinks because heavierthe surface litter floats.)

This embedded dirt is full of sharp grit that cuts and ruins your rugs. And it is the unsanitary dirt—the worst kind of dirt.

The jar-of-water test shows how the Royal Electric Cleaner gets this embedded dirt in the only way it can be removed—with a powerful suction scien-

Demonstration Greets Turk Cavalrymen As They Enter Smyrna

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 1.—Turkish cavalry troops ride into the streets of Smyrna, Asia Minor commercial center, as the remnants of the Greek forces flee in ships. The Turkish horsemen carrying banners are almost hidden by the throng of Turkish residents of Smyrna, who rush in front of the troops to celebrate their arrival. Left is another group applauding. Right are Turkish cavalry horses found in the alley where Bianchi was captured. When confronted with the veapon in Chief Thompson's office Luigi Bronihini, 26 years old, who also gave his address as 408 Mercer street, and who was picked up with half a dozen other Italians immediately following the shooting, declared the weapon belonged to Bianchi, and that it was the latter who had fired the shots.

Swoons When Accused. Bianchi, as he heard his countryman brand him as the slaver, swooned and fell into the arms of Detective Renaud who stood behind him. The story of the shooting, as pieced out by Windsor police, shows that earlier in the day to see a football on Bruce avenue he was staying.

Night Police Sergeat James H. Jones, on his way home, heard the shots and hurried to the scene where a crowd had already commenced to gather.

Attempted To Escape. Jones pressed the automobile of Lyle Wogan, who was passing, into service and hurried to the nearest telephone, where he notified head-quarters. He then requested Wogan's aid and sent him through the alley with his headlights turned full on. Wogan saw a man crouching behind some woodwork. When he started to run Wogan fired the shot that rought the man down.

With the arrival of a patrol wagon load of police a thorough search of the neighborhood was made, ten Italians being taken to headquarters for investigation.

Rumors of War and Assassination Of King George Quickly Discredited

TORONTO, Oct. 1.—Canada spent a very anxious weekend. All sorts of rumors were flying about Saturday night and Sunday. The most prominent of these was that the British Government had decided at the midnight council meeting on Saturday to declare war on the Turkish Nationalists. It was also heard on the street, in the church vestibules and in the clubs that King George had been assassinated in London and that the British army in Asiatic Turkey had been practically wiped out by the Kemalist

Dispatches over the Canadian Press wire late Saturday night carried the announcement that the British cabinet had adjourned without making an official statement as to what was done at the meeting. It was also intimated that the situation between British and Turkish armies in the war zone, while not improved, was at any rate no more threatening than early in the evening.

On Sunday morning the editors of newspapers all over the country were besieged by people who had heard the startling rumors and wanted to know of their authenticity. In addition to its regular protective cable and telegraphic services of the week-end, the Canadian Press was in touch with the cable office of the Associated Press in New York by long-distance telephone and was in a position early in the day to assure its members, the daily newspapers of Canada, of the falsity of the rumors of war declaration, and that on the contrary the situation was much brighter, with the prospects of the armistice conference and withdrawal of the troops from strategic points near the Dardanelles.

CABINET AGAIN RELIEVED WHEN WAR AVERTED

Canadian Government Members Believe Crisis in Near East Past.

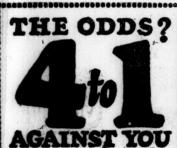

CONFER TODAY

No Steps Will Be Taken Pending Armistice Conference Mudania.

OTTAWA, Oct. 1 .- (By Canadian Press) .- With the sudden relief of tension over the Near Eastern situon, following receipt of news of nce and the withdrawal of troops from the Chanak a, the likelihood of the Canadian ariiament being called in extraorpary session to deal with the question seems more remote.

Up to noon today information reaching the government pointed to the situation becoming increasingly serious, and an unconfirmed report reaching Ottawa that the British Parliament had been summoned hurriedly gave rise to renewed anxiety over the day's developments. Later news, however, has allayed this anxiety to a very great extent. There is a likelihood of cabinet meeting tomorrow to discuss the new developments and decide what action. if any, will be necessary in the present situation. It is unlikely, however, that any steps will be taken, pending the holding of the armistice conference, which, according to dispatches, is to open at Mudania on Hope is expressed that uesday. this will lead to a peaceful settleent of the difficulties, and that urther action by the overseas doinions will be unnecessary.

Lloyd George Will Devote Life To Securing World Peace.

LONDON, Oct. 1.-That Mrs. Lloyd George, the wife of the British premier, does not share the views recently loudly expressed regarding her husband's desire for war is apparent from the speech she made yesterday at the opening of a hazaar in Birmingham.

Mrs. Lloyd George deplored the anxiety of some people to fight again, and expressed the fervent hope that the government would be able to stop them. She said the prime minister was doing his best to that end, and had, in fact, decided to devote the rest of his life to the securing of peace among nations.

Ward is a right-handed batter and takes a mean cut at the ball. He is attraction to the large crowd that turned out, it remained for the preliminary game to produce a thriller unusual enough in any kind of ball, and more unusual in girls' softball—an unassisted triple play. Miss C. Barber, Woolworth's active little catcher, pulled the trick before most of the spectators knew what had happened. She caught a strike-out and touched two runners off third base. The Woolworth team had little difficulty in trimming the Hello Girls to the tune up. The Shamrocks were never able to overcome the lead.

Both teams have some "Babe Ruths" on their line-ups, no less than ten home runs being poled before the smoke cleared away. The home run "kings" were R. Curnoe, L. Milhe, A. Hazelgrove, M. Graham, H. Woolley, E. Putherbough, L. Garrett, M. Clarke, M. Lindsay and M. Biggs.

The girls played snappy ball all the way through, and showed flashes of inside ball that would be a credit to their brothers on the field.

The next game will be played Wednesday night at the armories, and will be witnessed by a record crowd, judging from the attendance and the interest displayed Saturday night.

Reilly was out to McLeod, but Smith singled to left, scoring Armstrong and Down, Southcott fouled out. Down. Southcott fouled out.

Just to be on the safe side, as it were, the Civil Service outfit chalked up four more in the ninth. Armstrong, first man up, flew out to Hicks. Jeffries dropped Hank Down's long fly, and Reilly and Smith both singled, Down sooring. Southcott singled to left scoring Reilly and Smith. Watts hit to deem left and Southcott scored. Nonver ing Reilly and Smith. Watts hit to deep left and Southcott scored. Nopper grounded out and Hosie ended it with a long fly to Vinen.

The Grand Trunks registered a lone tally in the third, when Smith walked, went to third on Jeffries' double to left, and scored on McLeod's bunt down the third base line.

Down was never in real danger after the third. In the sixth, however, a fast double play, after Burgess bobbled Jeffries' grounder, prevented what might have been a bad situation. With Jeffries on first, McLeod hit into a double, Nopper to Burgess to Reilly.

Sumner singled to center immeliately after, but Connors fanned, ending the Meyers, c.f. B. Clark, p.

R. C. R., is was rumored, rather expected to trim W. O. R. on Saturday, but were forced to admit a 2—0 defeat. They threatened all through the first half, which ended scoreless. Whittworth, who went on at inside right to replace Turner, who is on the sick list, was injured in a collesion with Jock McQueen in rush goal, and had to retire ror the first half. W. O. R. 's style of play was not so spectacular as the Royalists' in the first half, but their defense and attack were more direct. C. Taylor opened the scoring for W. O. R. shortly after the second half started. Nudd was forced to save a beauty from Turner's toe, and then W. O. R. started range-finding around McQueen's citadel again, Taylor intercepting a pass and again scoring.

spectator of the matches, and was accompanied by Major J. D. Corrigal of the headquarters staff. The commanding officer of the regiment, Lieut.-Col. G. E. Reid, D.S.O., was also on hand. Captain Fraser acted as range officer, essisted by Sergt.-Major W. C. Carter (W. O.) in charge of the entries. The marking and register-keeping was carmarking and register-keeping was carried out by a squad of men from the R. C. R., and was very satisfactory.

Regimental Match.

The regimental match was the first event, and was staged over the 200 and 500-yard ranges, seven shots at each range. Competition was very keen, and range. Competition was very keen, and a tie for first place resulted between C.Q.M.S. M. H. Lee and Lleut. J. W. Smith. According to the rules, the former competitor won first money with best score at the longer range of 500 yards, but a shoot-off was necessary for the O. R. A. silver medal, which was won by Lleut. Smith. The next three places were very closely contested by trous 112, Knights Bridge 115, Bethany 112.

The final count was 20 to 1 for Argonauts. On the play they were not that much the better, but still, apart from a short spell in the first period, always looked superior.

Argonauts, with Conacher, Batstone and Cochrane as the reargued machine and Cochrane as the reargued machine.

and Cochrane as the rearguard machin-ery last year, outclassed all the oppo-siion. Last year Batstone handled most silon. Last year Batstone handled most of the catches, started Conacher away and then passed the ball to the big fellow when in motion. On Saturday Conacher handled the catching alone, did his own starting, and displayed great ability when he had been stopped. But though Conacher did show to great advantage and was the main cog in the advantage, and was the main cog in the Argonaut machinery, Batstone missed not a little. missed not a little.

Montreal has good material, but it needs condition and team play. There was a lack of cohesion somewhat, which repeatedly resulted in misplays, and the fumbles were costly. The lineup:
