Acting Minister of Militia Makes This Statement Regarding Generous Giving.

Toronto, Aug. 2.—There was an important meeting in St. Paul's Hall on Saturday night.

It was the first public occasion on which the Acting Minister of Militia has spoken since he assumed charge of Canada's military affairs, and Hon. Mr. Loughheed took advantage of the opportunity to explain with Lloyd George-like directness Canada's plans for the equipment of troops with machine guns and for the care of the returning sick and wounded.

A Canadian hospital for the sick and wounded is being opened at Quebec, and convalescent homes, which 75 have been opened, will be opened throughout Canada.

The Minister stated that it was the opinion of the British War Office that the war would last for 12 months more at least, and would call for the pouring out of all our resources.

The Acting Minister further announced that over one million dollars had been received by the government in voluntary gifts from Canadians for machine guns.

ARCHBISHOP'S MESSAGE
His Grace Archbishop Neil McNeil, who occupied the chair, said he felt impelled first and foremost to express his gratitude and thanks to the young men who had come forward and offered their lives for their country.

It was suggested Canada had not really awakened to the reality of this war. More accurately, we were a little slow in realizing we had passed out of the stage of a colony to a nation within the Empire.

We had scarcely realized while a colony might accept protection and favors without any attempt to share the burden of them, that was not true of a nation.

DARDANELLES

Matters There Are Quiet on Both Sides on the Gallipoli Peninsula.

By Special Wire to the Courier.
Constantinople, Aug. 2.—There have been no important actions on either side in the last fortnight on the Gallipoli peninsula.

Even the British bombardment of the Turkish positions has lessened considerably in its intensity. This applies both to Aci Burnu and Sedd-el-Bahr. The Turkish artillery has been active, however. There have been no serious infantry engagements.

The military hospitals here and elsewhere, which a few days ago were well filled, now are in many cases half empty.

APPEAL TO WILSON
Tiflis, Transcaucasia, via London, Aug. 2.—The newspapers print a teletypegram which the Katolikos, head of the Armenian church, has sent to President Wilson appealing to the American nation to protest against Armenian massacres and the violent removal of Armenians from Constantinople and Cilicia (Asia Minor) to Konieh and Mesopotami, where they are doomed to perish.

MACHINE GUN

At a preliminary meeting held this morning the employees of the Verity Plow Co. decided to purchase a machine gun and present it to the Canadian Government.

It was also decided that the annual picnic of the men would not be held this year, the amount devoted to it being applied to the purchase of the gun.

The Financial Position of Germany.

Official Statement Asserts That She Can Carry War Through For Unlimited Time.

By Special Wire to the Courier.

Berlin, via London, Aug. 2.—Dr. Karl Helfferich, secretary of the Imperial treasury, has prepared for the Associated Press a signed statement on German economic and financial affairs as he views them at the end of the first year of the war. His statement follows:

"The economic and financial features of the first year of the war are, in my opinion the following:

"First: The British starvation war has failed. Once and for all it has been proven that our domestic production of food stuffs, bread card system and maximum prices assure even to the poorest the necessary supply of food, and that at prices lower than prevailing in Great Britain.

"Second: Nor can we be starved out in raw materials. The difficulties cast in the way of the importation of raw materials in violation of international law, are unpleasant for us, but are not fatal. We have in our own country an ample supply of the most important raw materials—coal and iron—and of others we have on hand, unmanufactured or manufactured, great supplies which, with the economical employment thereof insured by our methods of organization, are virtually inexhaustible.

"Third: The spectre of unemployment has been banished. There is more work than workers. The war has proved itself to be a greater employer of labor than our export trade was.

"Fourth: So far as finances are concerned, Germany will carry the war through for an unlimited time. We produce in our own country practically everything needed for war. Thus expenditures for war purposes resolve themselves in savings. These again are at the Empire's disposition as payments on the war loans and deposits flowing into the banks and savings institutions more plentifully than in times of peace. The total of deposits to-day, after over $5,000,000,000 have been paid on war loans is higher than at the outbreak of the war. The gold reserve of the Reichbank has almost doubled since the war began. Notes and deposits in the Reichbank covered by gold are thirty-three and one-half per cent as compared with 26 per cent in the Bank of France and 21.7 in the Bank of England.

"Fifth: The confidence of the German people in our financial strength is as unshaken as their confidence in our military superiority. After twelve months of war imperial '3's are quoted at 70, which is eight points below the quotation in March, 1914, the minimum price of British consols, 95, is eleven per cent below the quotation in March, 1914, three per cent French rentes at 69 are 10 per cent below March, 1914.

Work, skill, discipline, organization, economic and last but not least, the categorical imperialism of patriotism have upheld Germany in the first year against world enemies and will help us further to win the war."

CHICAGO

Again Excited Over a Supposed Marine Mishap.

By Special Wire to the Courier.
Chicago, Aug. 2.—Hundreds of persons still excited over the Eastland disaster thought that another marine accident had occurred to-day when the fog lifted and the big passenger steamer Manitow was observed lying off the Wilson avenue beach.

They reported to the newspapers and police that the boat was aground, but it was soon learned that she was at anchor awaiting a favorable moment to enter the river. A large number of boats are due in this port on Monday mornings and the Manitow to avoid possibility of accident in crowded shipping, is said frequently to lie to, although her anchorage usually is not so closely inshore as it was to-day.

Later it was admitted that the Manitow drifted farther inshore than had been planned and that her keel grazed the sandy bottom without injury. She proceeded under own power and arrived at the wharf an hour late.

THE MORE TERRIBLE THE WAR,
THE MORE RUSSIA IS DETERMINED

President of the Duma Makes a Most Vigorous Speech—Foreign Minister Also Talks in Like Tone.

By Special Wire to the Courier.

London, Aug. 2.—A despatch to Reuter's Telegram Company from Petrograd says:

"Michael Vladimirovitch Rodzianko, president of the chamber, in convening the session of the duma yesterday, said the more terrible the war became, the more Russia was imbued by the firm and unshakable determination to bring it to a successful issue.

"This," said M. Rodzianko, "necessitates complete unity of all classes and the development of the productive resources of the empire."

During his address he greeted the diplomatic representatives of the Triple Entente powers who were cheered by the members of the chamber and by the public in the galleries. The demonstration reached its climax when in the name of the entire Russian people M. Rodzianko thanked our new ally, "the brave Italian nation."

He then spoke of our brave Polish brethren, who were the first to receive the blows of the abominable enemy.

"The army," said M. Rodzianko in

THE SINKING OF IBERIAN; GERMAN SUBMARINE FIRST FIRED SHELLS

By Special Wire to the Courier.

LONDON, Aug. 2.—Speaking of the sinking of the Iberian by a German submarine, Tom Curtis, the boatswain, in an interview, said:

"The submarine was sighted about five miles off, when she fired some shots. The submarine gained on the Iberian and then fired shells, one bursting on deck and killing six men.

"The ship was then stopped, and the submarine's commander ordered the remainder of the crew, 63 in number, to leave the vessel, which they did, eight of them being badly injured. A torpedo was then fired at the Iberian, striking her on the starboard side amidships.

The steward of the Iberian, telling of the attack, said that he got into the captain's boat. They were ordered alongside the submarine, and her commander, being informed by the captain of the Iberian that six of his men were killed, said: "It served you jolly well right for not stopping."

The commander of the submarine offered to give the crew assistance in making land, but when he was informed that a steamer was coming to their aid, took his departure. The distressed crew, who were in six boats, were at the oars for five hours.

Then a rescuing steamer came in sight and took all on board. Two of the injured men died before reaching shore. One was an American named Mark Wiley (or Whilly) of Boston, and the other John Proudfoot, an Australian. Their bodies were landed at Queenstown.

Among the rescued is Dr. Stephen Burns, ship's surgeon, of Providence, R.I. Dr. Burns, describing the shelling of the Iberian, said he was walking with others on the deck Friday afternoon. They knew they were in the danger zone, and when a shot came right over the ship they at once divined what was up. They could make out a submarine about six miles off. It was coming quickly after them, and it gradually overhauled the steamer. The Germans fired six shells in all, one of which killed six men outright and wounded eight others.

When the submarine got within a mile of the Iberian her commander ordered the crew of the Iberian into the ship's boats. They obeyed, taking the eight wounded with them. They filled six boats. The doctor was in the boat with Captain Jag and some of the more seriously wounded. They pulled to the submarine, the commander of which was asked by Dr. Burns to furnish bandages for dressing the wounds, with which request he complied.

WARSAW IS STILL IN POSSESSION OF THE RUSSIANS; GERMANS TAKE MEN FROM THE WEST

By Special Wire to the Courier.

LONDON, Aug. 2.—No direct news from Warsaw has been received to-day. While there are increasing indications that Grand Duke Nicholas is withdrawing his army from the Polish salient, there is evidence that the capital still is in the possession of the Russians, since Petrograd correspondents of Warsaw papers were directed to send accounts of the Duma's opening for the issues of Monday morning. That Russia has not entirely abandoned hope of a diversion in the west which would relieve the tremendous pressure exerted upon her by the Austro-German army is shown by the announcement from Petrograd that the German forces before Warsaw have been heavily reinforced from the west, thereby "creating favorable conditions for active operations by our Allies."

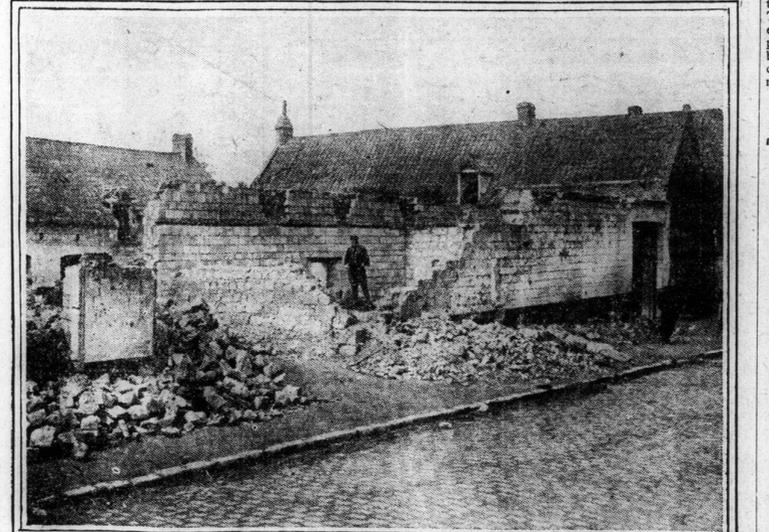

There has been heavy fighting on the Narew front, where the Germans have made some progress in the desperate battle which is raging between the Narew and the Oje Rivers.

Latest reports from Vienna are to the effect that the Russians are retreating further east, pursuing German regiments having passed through Chelm.

The opening of the Russian Duma was held before a brilliant assemblage. The ministers, in their speeches, did not attempt to minimize the gravity of the situation, but all agreed that Russia had not reached the end of her resources. The minister of war summed up his views with the assertion that Russia perhaps would surrender Warsaw, as Moscow was given up in 1812, in order to insure final victory.

On the western front artillery duels only marked the military operations.

STREET IN MAROEUIL SHOWING HAVOC CAUSED BY SHELLS

The village of Maroeuil has recently suffered much material damage owing to incessant German artillery attacks. The village is well within range of their bigger guns, being only about three miles to the northwest of Arras, between that town and Carency. As one of the bases from which the attacks on Neuville St. Vaast and "the Labyrinth" were pushed, the station and the village generally were subjected to a very violent bombardment, which is now lessening owing to the German need for their big guns elsewhere.

HIS CONSCIENCE IS CLEAR; STATEMENT OF THE KAISER

HANGED HIMSELF

Man Charged With Killing His Little Daughter Ends His Life.

Cobourg, Aug. 2.—Edward James Tate, who was in custody in the counties' jail here, charged with taking the life of his little daughter, Elsie, committed suicide by hanging himself in his cell some time during Friday night or early Saturday morning.

He was last seen about 10 o'clock the night before, and appeared quiet at that time. When spoken to he answered rationally. He was fixed up for the night by the jail officials and left. Nothing was left in his cell except the bedding. He managed to hang himself by means of the sheet off his bed. The body was quite rigid when discovered this morning.

Tate had acted in a rational manner since being confined in the jail here and gave no trouble, being quiet and well-behaved.

On Thursday night Governor McLaughlin took him to Port Hope, where the inquest was opened on the body of his dead child. Another daughter, about fifteen years of age, survives her father, besides his wife.

It is stated by some who knew the family that Tate was apparently a loving father. An inquest is being held by Coroner Dr. George Ferris.

RUSSIAN FLEET DOES DUTY

Rear-Admiral Tells of the Work Successfully Done.

By Special Wire to the Courier.
Petrograd, via London, Aug. 2.—Rear Admiral Grigorovitch, minister of marine, stated in the Duma Saturday the Russian Baltic fleet had fulfilled successfully the task of resisting the Germans, and, besides repelling attacks, had inflicted defeats upon its antagonists even in their own waters.

The Russian Black Sea fleet, he said, although weaker than the Turco-German, had rendered its services in offensive, inflicting severe losses upon them.

The minister spoke of the munitions workers which had led them to end strikes and had given great impetus to factory production, making the works marvels of activity.

Finance Minister Bark declared that in spite of enormous war expenses Russia had succeeded in finding sufficient funds notwithstanding the loss of revenue caused by the prohibition of the sale of liquor, the tax upon which formerly had yielded 1,000,000,000 rubles ($500,000,000) annually.

He stated that the war expenses of Russia at the end of 1915 will amount to 7,242,000,000 ($3,621,000,000) to cover which the minister is projecting a serious of credit operations. These operations were assured of success, M. Bark said, as the national savings had increased 1,800,000,000 rubles ($900,000,000) which proved that the country had sufficient resources.

This was due, the minister insisted, entirely to the temperance of the people, and he asserted prohibition must be maintained even after the war because of its salutary effect upon the nation.

STEAMERS SUNK

By Special Wire to the Courier.
London, Aug. 2, 12.15 p.m.—The British steamship Clintonia has been sunk. Fifty-four of the persons aboard her were saved.

The Clintonia, a vessel of 3,838 tons gross, owned by J. Robinson & Sons of North Shields, was last reported to have sailed from Tynemouth, July 2, for Marseilles. She was built at Sunderland in 1907; was 350 feet long, with a beam of 50 feet.

ANOTHER ONE.
London, Aug. 2, 12.45 p.m.—The British steamer Fulgens, of 2,501 tons gross, has been sunk. The crew has been landed.

STILL ANOTHER.
London, Aug. 2, 4.06 p.m.—The British steamer Ben Verlich, which left Manila May 1 for London by way of Marseilles has been sunk by a German submarine.

Says the Coalition Powers Attacked Germany Because She Was Becoming Too Great.

Berlin, Aug. 2.—(Wireless via Sayville.)—"One year has elapsed since I was obliged to call to arms the German people. An unprecedented time of bloodshed has befallen Europe and the world. Before God and history my conscience is clear: I did not will the war."

This begins a proclamation issued by Emperor William from German Army Headquarters at the beginning of the second year of the war. The manifesto continues:

"After preparations for a whole decade, the coalition powers to whom Germany had become too great, believed that the moment had come to humiliate the Empire, which loyally stood by her Austro-Hungarian ally in a just cause, or to crush it in an overwhelming circle. No just for conquest, as I already announced a year ago, had driven us into the war."

"When in the day of August, all able-bodied men were rushed to the colors and troops were marched into a defensive war, every German on earth felt, in accordance with the unanimous example of the Reichstag, that it was a fight for the highest good of the nation, its life, its freedom. What awaited us if the enemy force succeeded in determining the fate of our people and of Europe has been shown in the hardships endured by my dear province, East Prussia."

"FORCED FIGHT UPON US."
"The consciousness that the fight was forced upon us accomplished miracles. Political conflict of opinion became silent; old opponents began to understand and esteem each other; the spirit of true comradeship governed the entire people."

"Full of gratitude, we can say today that God was with us. The enemy armies who boasted that they

TOWNSHIP COUNCIL

The Township Council met this morning and held their regular monthly meeting. Besides several communications and accounts which were quickly dealt with, a petition referring to the erection of a tallow factory near the locks was sent in. This is a matter for the Board of Health of the Council to consider. It appeared that the people were highly prejudiced against it.

A township resident was present and raised a complaint against a city oil dealer who travels around the township selling oil without having to pay a license as country dealers were forced to do. The Council explained to him that it was a county matter and something they had no jurisdiction over.

A draft agreement has been drawn up which is acceptable to both the city hydro commission and the Township. This is now under the consideration of the Ontario Hydro Commission, who have raised a question with regard to one or two minor points. It is expected that an engineer from the provincial commission will come here and look over the district in question, Parkdale, Echo Place and Grandview.

A communication from Secretary F. S. Spence of the Ontario Municipal Association was also received, and the membership fee of five dollars, which was requested, was ordered to be paid.

The Township receipts for the year ending July 31st, amount to $32,245.23, while the expenditures were $54,732.07.
The meeting was adjourned at 12 o'clock and will be again held this afternoon for a short time.

Chinese-made hosiery will supplant almost entirely the supply of such goods which formerly came from Germany and Austria to supply the cheap Chinese trade, writes the United States Consul at Hong Kong. The present situation represents a division of the trade, on the one hand, between cheap Chinese-made goods with a decreasing import of such cheap goods from Japan and practically no competition in such cheap goods from Europe, and on the other hand, the import of American and English hosiery for the finer trade. Not so much underwear is being manufactured in Hong Kong as present as formerly. The trade has been obtained largely by Japan. The Japanese goods have the merit of looking attractive as compared with the Chinese-made article, and of being very cheap as compared with the European or American-made goods. The Japanese underwear is of poor-wearing quality, the garments "drawing" unduly and losing shape almost immediately upon being worn. The Chinese goods of the same grade do not make so good an appearance and cost a little more, but they wear longer and in the long run represent more real value. Both the Chinese and Japanese goods are far below American and European goods in price. The trade in underwear formerly held by Germany is now almost entirely held by Japan.

PRISONERS

In Sing Sing to be Taught Modern Methods.

By Special Wire to the Courier.
New York, Aug. 2.—With the approval of Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, representatives of labor organizations have volunteered to send instructors to Sing Sing prison to teach the prisoners modern methods of manufacturing. Mr. Gompers paid a visit to the prison yesterday, accompanied by several labor leaders. A beginning in training the prisoners in the trades will be made in the garment and shoe shops, where skilled workmen of the United Garment Workers and International Boot and Shoemakers' Union will give the first lessons.

Laid at Rest

The funeral of the late Mr. William Faulkes took place yesterday afternoon from his late residence, 32 Aberdeen avenue, to the Salvation Army chapel and Mount Hope cemetery. Impressive services were conducted at the house and the chapel by Adjutant Hargrove, assisted by the Salvation Army band. The members of Salisbury lodge, Sons of England, turned out and marched to the cemetery, conducting their service at the grave. The pallbearers were Messrs. Simmons, Graham, Davis, Walsh, Edmundson and Lockey. The floral tributes were numerous and were given by: Family, Mr. and Mrs. Copperthwaite and family, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Heath, Mrs. Rose, officers and comrades of the Brantford Salvation Army corps, Mr. and Mrs. W. Godden, Sr. and Mrs. Lockey, Mr. and Mrs. W. Godden, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Warman, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Powers to protect the British food supply is given in the Maintenance of Live Stock Bill, the second reading of which was moved by the Earl of Selborne in the House of Lords. The Bill, which imposes restrictions upon the slaughter of certain animals for human food was described by Lord Selborne as a war emergency measure. He said that one of the causes which might contribute to the shortage of the foreign meat supply was the submarine menace. The Government therefore asked that they should be armed with powers to take such steps as seemed to them to be necessary to avoid any premature or hasty diminution of stocks and herds owing to the fact that at any given moment prices might be so high as to tempt farmers to part with their breeding stock and so reduce the supply.

Miss Anna Coghrell and Miss Nellie Moulde of London are spending a return visit with Mr. and Mrs. E. Moulde, 194 Chatham street, after a most pleasant trip down the St. Lawrence.

Miss Anna Coghrell, the talented young soloist of the St. Andrew's Church, London, rendered three most acceptable solos yesterday at the Zion and Alexandra Presbyterian and the Colborne Street Methodist churches yesterday. Miss Coghrell is the happy possessor of a wonderful soprano voice, and will be most heartily received whenever she visits Brantford again.

COTTON CONTRABAND
By Special Wire to the Courier

London, Aug. 2.—The Weekly Dispatch says it understands that the British government is about to declare cotton contraband, and that it will offer compensation to planters and make new arrangements with the neutral countries of Europe. The paper adds that it is stated that the government is also taking the question of mooyuing the order in council for the satisfaction of the authorities at Washington.

Washington, Aug. 2.—Germany's first response to the last American note on submarine warfare has come from the admiralty which has requested that American ships have American flags painted on their sides in proportions large enough to be recognized at a distance by submarine commanders. Many American ships are painting the national colors on their sides, but it is said they are painted too small.

HEAVY CROP.
Winnipeg, Aug. 2.—Reports to the Manitoba Free Press from staff correspondents investigating in Western Manitoba, declare that wheat is a heavy crop, but very green and will require very bright hot weather to make wheat cutting general by the last week of August.

The post offices throughout the Kingdom are now becoming the great collecting agencies for books for our soldiers and sailors at home or abroad. Under the new scheme, in addition to other methods of collecting, post offices will receive books for the Camps Library, the War Library, the Prisoners of War Help Committee, and any other organization, which may be approved by the Admiralty and the War Office. It is stated that the books most favored are magazines and novels. Sir Edward Ward, chairman of the Camps Library, states that three-quarters of a million books and magazines have been despatched from their depot to the army.

RUSSIA SPEAKS WITH NO UNCERTAIN VOICE

The Other Allies May Rest Assured of Her Continuance in the War.

Petrograd, Aug. 2.—"I hereby solemnly declare that we will not conclude peace until the last enemy soldier has left our land."

These words of Emperor Nicholas of Russia, uttered at the Winter Palace on Aug. 1, 1914, are reproduced in the press of Petrograd on the anniversary of the war.

MESSAGE TO BRITAIN

Messages to the British people from the Russian Prime Minister, M. Goremkyin, Foreign Minister Sazanoff and Minister of War Polivanoff were published to-day. The following are extracts from the messages:

M. Goremkyin—"We are twelve months nearer to the liberation of the world from German threat against peace. Since we are all determined to complete that liberation, the end is certain."

M. Sazanoff—"The most valuable result of the breaking of the German power will be the downfall of the detestable doctrine that might is right. For this result no sacrifice can be too heavy."

M. Polivanoff—"We shall continue to fight with all the strength which lies in the inexhaustible resources of the Russian Empire, with unshakable confidence in ultimate victory, and with a volume of munitions which is increasing every day."

A message in the Bourse Gazette printed in all the languages of Russia's allies says:

"For a year past the enemy has been threatening the freedom of the world. We deeply appreciate the self-sacrificing aid of the allies in exerting a combined pressure on him on all sides.

"A firm confidence in victory in a community of world-wide interests and in the final triumph of right fires the spirit of the nation. It has been our guiding star throughout this year of bloodshed. It will serve us in the coming months, maybe years, of this terrible struggle.

"Russia greets her allies—France, Great Britain, Belgium, Serbia, Montenegro, Japan and Italy. All hail their heroic loyalty and firm determination to stand by to the end; till light dispels the gloom."

Petrograd, Aug. 2.—The Duma was opened Saturday by a memorial session. The cabinet members and members of the diplomatic corps formed part of the brilliant assemblage. The speeches were full of appreciation for the efforts of the allies, and the wish of Russia to continue the joint struggle with assurance of final success. A strong resolution was expressed not to accept peace until a definite victory had been won by the allies.

The Premier formally promised autonomy to Poland.

The Marquis of Bute has recently prevented one of the finest collections extant of old hard tartans passing out of Scotland to America. The collection dates back to about the time of Glencoe, and was in the possession of Campbell of Glenlyon, of Glencoe notoriety, and handed down to the late Gordon Campbell, of Troop, Banffshire. On the dispersal of his property it came into the hands of Sir Donald Menzies, of Plain Castle, and from him to the Marquis of Bute, who takes a keen interest in the beautiful old hard tartans of the Highlanders, which cannot now be produced. They are woven from exceedingly fine wool almost like silk, got from an ancient breed of Highland sheep, which were very small in size, but are now extinct. The colors are bright as if newly dyed, being natural dyes made from lichens.

PLATE REMOVED

From Becker's Coffin—Charged Governor Whitman With Murder.

New York, Aug. 2.—Inspector Faurot, head of the detective bureau, went to the Becker home in the Bronx Sunday and removed the plate inscribed "Charles Becker, murdered July 30, 1915, by Governor Whitman."

The action was taken by the inspector following a conference which he held with Second Deputy Police Commissioner Godly and District Attorney Martin of Bronx county, at which it was decided that the plate with its inscription constituted criminal libel against the Governor.

Detective Caplan accompanied Inspector Faurot. They arrived at the Becker home about 4 o'clock, and were admitted at once by Mrs. Becker. Whether Mrs. Becker readily consented to having the plate removed could not be learned, but significance is attached to the admission by the inspector that he was compelled to remove the plate himself.

THE SITUATION.

It is quite generally understood that Winston Churchill lost his position as First Lord of the Admiralty because he too hastily rushed into the Dardanelles operations, but present indications are that the success of the Allies there may prove the first serious setback for the Kaiserites.

At time of writing no announcement has been received as to the fall of Warsaw, but such is likely within a very short period. The Russian army thus far appears to have withdrawn in good order and to be inflicting heavy losses on the enemy during the process, albeit they are also suffering severely.

The British are recapturing some of the ground lost by them, and the Italians continue to do well.

With the close of the first year of the war there comes another pronouncement from the Kaiser to the effect that God knows he didn't want the awful struggle, and history will prove it, and the added blasphemy that the Almighty is clearly on the side of himself and his forces.

As for the Allies, they have all at the end of the first twelve months again pledged themselves to continue the struggle at whatever cost until Prussian militarism has been absolutely crushed.

U. S. PAPER PAYS TRIBUTE TO JOHN BULL.

The following notable editorial is taken from the Chicago Daily News: "Britain's Part.

"Here are some of the things Britain is doing:

"1. Holding the seas for the ships of her allies as well as for her own.

"2. Protecting the coasts of her allies as well as her own.

"3. Struggling in co-operation with the French, to smash the Turks and win the Balkans for the allied cause.

"4. Rendering great aid to French and Belgian troops in resisting the terrible onslaughts of the Germans on the allied left wing in the west.

"5. Making loans and supplying munitions to nearly all her partners in the war.

"6. Pursuing a financial policy in South-eastern Europe likely to promote the cause of the nationalities.

"7. Putting into the field more than ten times as many men as she ever promised.

"8. Guarding her own soil and people against an invasion, which, if it came—and it is believed to be far from impossible—doubtless would be the most savage, the most unsparring, ever known.

"9. Well, with enough. To hear some people talk, one would suppose that upon Britain were laid the duty of defending every land but her own.

"Britain's wealth and sea power and military power are the one sure safeguard against the triumph of Germany's unparalleled war machine.

"Without Britain's help France and Russia certainly must have been crushed. Without Britain's wholehearted participation in the war, who will say that Italy would have ventured to challenge the mighty and merciless Germanic coalition?

"But she could have done this. Few nations are without disgrace, without historical pages, they fan would obliterate. Britain was not attacked.

"Britain might have awaited the onset—as America is awaiting the onset. Britain might have stood clear, might have husbanded her resources of men and money, might swiftly have prepared, even might have loomed over the stricken adversaries in the end and claimed the hegemony of Europe for herself.

"Britain did not do so.

"She threw her sword into the scale. She threw her sword into the scale. She threw her sword into the scale, and she is incalculably rich.

"She threw into the balance her impressive racial record, her prestige, her unrivalled diplomatic skill. She threw—is throwing—will throw into the balance the whole puissance of her Empire.

"And all for what? For the principle—the fruits of the principle—the liberty of the individual against the despotism of the State.

"Britain, one can believe, may be the author of some acts of which she is not proud—may have done some things to cause her, looking back upon them with full light, to wish they had never been done. But in this war this old and proud democracy is unfolding, applying a material strength and a moral splendor that for countless ages after this conflict is stilled will be shining undimmed amid the first glories of history."

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

And now the fall fair will soon be tumbling along.

The machine gun campaign in Brantford is off to a good start. Now see that it keeps that way.

From Britain, Russia, France and Italy there is the one note after the first year of war—confidence.

The Kaiser still insists that he has the endorsement of the Almighty. It is appalling to think that a man who inspired such hellish deeds can have any such notion.

Premier Borden has just been decorated with another high order—that of the Grand Cross of the Legion of Honor. This order was instituted in 1802 and is very sparingly bestowed.

The official statement is made on behalf of Germany that she can stand the war strain financially for years.

Buncombe! No country can be under such a tremendous daily outlay with exports stopped and keep out of bankruptcy for any great length of time.

Old World Notes

The French Post Office has intimated that it is unable to effect the delivery of parcels containing tobacco cigars and cigarettes addressed to French troops because it is impossible to collect from the addressees the French Customs charges, to which all such parcels are now liable.

The intimation states that the senders of parcels by post to France would avoid much delay to their parcels if they furnished on the Customs declarations a full description of the goods, and particularly if the descriptions used by those of the French Customs tariff. It is also required that the goods are not of British manufacture the name of the country of origin should be given on the Customs declaration; and it is recommended that any private marks of ownership which appear on the parcels themselves should be repeated on the Customs declaration.

The reuniting of dispersed kindred is the work of a committee of French women who have done notable work. Two hundred of them, and also some English and American girls, are working industriously at the collection of information to this end. They not only do the work, but they have thus far defrayed the expense. More than 10,000 lost relatives have been found by them and they are establishing communication between separated relatives at the rate of more than 150 a day. Lists of "unfound relatives" are sent regularly to Switzerland, Great Britain and Holland in exchange for similar information received from there, resulting often in gratifying results, particularly concerning Belgian refugees. A concerning archivist from the national bureau of archives co-operates with the women in the direction of their card system, from which they can instantly locate the whereabouts of any one of 400,000 refugees.

Despite difficulties created by the war, the Compulsory Education Act is being administered very successfully in Dublin. This is largely due to the vigilance of the inspectors employed by the School Attendance Committee, who are constantly on the watch for children who are not attending school as regularly as they should. What is known to the Dublin schoolboy as "mitching" from school is less popular than it used to be. The report of the Dublin School Attendance committee for the year ended December 31, 1914, states that the percentage of children attending school was 78.2, of the average number on the rolls. The returns for the preceding year were, it appears, the best since the Act became operative, the average attendance being 79.0. The industrial troubles of 1914 militated against regular school attendance during the summer quarter. The outbreak of the war in the first week of August did not improve matters, as a very large percentage of the families, especially among the poorer classes, were affected by the father, being called away by enlistment or to take their place in the Army Reserve. In many instances attendance orders, which had been obtained from the magistrates to enforce regular attendance, became inoperative, owing to the parties against whom they were directed being at the front or in training.

within the Empire, (Cheers). Canada was just as much a nation within the Empire as Scotland and Ireland. We did not hold the same political relationship to the British parliament. That was because Canada was so far away. But we should assert it to be a fact that Canada was a nation. (Loud cheers).

The whole British Empire was at war to protect its own existence, and therefore to protect ourselves. Could we live under German rule? (Cries of "No").

Leaders in the British Isles were saying to-day when they appealed for recruits: "See what Canada is doing, what Australia is doing, what India is doing, what even the islands of the Pacific wish to do."

The machine gun campaign in Brantford is off to a good start. Now see that it keeps that way.

From Britain, Russia, France and Italy there is the one note after the first year of war—confidence.

The Kaiser still insists that he has the endorsement of the Almighty. It is appalling to think that a man who inspired such hellish deeds can have any such notion.

Premier Borden has just been decorated with another high order—that of the Grand Cross of the Legion of Honor. This order was instituted in 1802 and is very sparingly bestowed.

The official statement is made on behalf of Germany that she can stand the war strain financially for years.

Buncombe! No country can be under such a tremendous daily outlay with exports stopped and keep out of bankruptcy for any great length of time.

NOT IN SIGHT.

Tokio, Aug. 2.—A solution of the cabinet crisis is not yet in sight. The situation has been complicated by the opposition of the elder statesmen to Takaaki Kato, minister of foreign affairs, whose handling of the Chinese question they have criticized.

On the other hand representative Japanese, not connected with politics, are urging the continuance in power of the cabinet headed by Count Okuma as premier. The creation of a coalition ministry, similar to that of Great Britain, has been suggested.

that the Government has been remiss so far as machine guns are concerned is incorrect. Some time ago, when it began to be realized that this was to be a machine-gun struggle, the Government took steps to order machine guns, so that the number of these furnished to the Canadian troops would exceed double the complement furnished as equipment to the British troops.

"These machine guns which are being presented," Senator Loughheed went on, "will be entirely in addition to the equipment already furnished. I might go even farther. The Government has taken advantage of an opportunity to place a large order on its own account in addition to the gifts, so that the complement furnished the Canadian troops, with these gifts, will quadruple the equipment furnished the British troops."

Provision for the welfare of the soldiers at the termination of the war was also going on. Within the last month the Government, by order in Council, had made provision for establishing hospitals and convalescent homes, so that the sick and wounded might receive every attention. There would be opened almost immediately a very large hospital in the city of Quebec to look after the sick and wounded when they disembarked. They had had offers of at least 75 private houses for convalescent homes. Some would be accepted, and some it would not be necessary to accept.

He desired to assure the people of Canada from the Atlantic to the Pacific that the most adequate provision was being made as to the arrival of the sick and wounded upon our shores. In this connection he desired to express his appreciation of the services of the voluntary aid societies. The Red Cross Society, the St. John's Ambulance Association, the Khaki League and many others.

Senator Loughheed said that was the first public opportunity he had had to refer to the princely generosity and magnificent patriotism of a movement which had spread from the Atlantic to the Pacific during the past month, and which had resulted in the presentation to the military authorities of a large quantity of machine guns. The movement had been spontaneous and had resulted in over a million dollars being subscribed or presented for the purpose of purchasing machine guns.

MILLION DOLLARS FOR GUNS. "In this connection," proceeded the Minister, "there seems apprehension on the ground that the Government of the day is not giving that serious attention it should to providing full equipment of machine guns to the forces in the field. I desire to remove that. Since the inception of the war the Canadian Government has never hesitated in furnishing the troops with equipment equal, if not superior in number and quality to that furnished the British troops. concluding, "sets us a brilliant example on how to fulfill our duty to the country. It is now our duty to work day and night to supply this army with everything which it needs, but to do that, it is necessary to make many changes. We will fight until the complete destruction of the enemy is accomplished."

Sergius Sazonoff, the foreign minister, who followed M. Rodzianko after reiterating that all the evidence showed that neither Russia nor her allies were responsible for the war, gave a resume of the political situation. There had been few changes, M. Sazonoff said, in international relations since his last address to the duma. Then combined action by the separate states had not been well organized but now the forces of each state were being employed to the best advantage in striving for a common end.

M. Sazonoff referred amid cheering to the participation in the war of Italy. "These people," he said, "long have wished to free their fellow-countrymen from the foreign yoke. If the example of Italy had been followed by the other states it would have contributed to the speedy conclusion of the war."

"Recently there has been much talk of the state of mind of Sweden. Our sincere desire to maintain with her the best of neighborly relations is too well known to need any confirmation from me, at the same time we are aware of the inevitable embarrassments caused to Swedish commerce through that country being situated in the midst of the belligerents. I content myself with placing on record the correctness with which the Swedish government maintains its neutrality, while safe-guarding its national interests. The Anglo-Swedish negotiations which are proceeding at Stockholm, while they are confined to business, have given proof to the undoubted desire on both sides to find a basis for agreement and we sincerely hope a successful conclusion will soon be reached."

Referring to the German methods of waging warfare, M. Sazonoff said the Germans had stopped "neither at the wholesale poisoning of our soldiers nor at the extermination of women, children and peaceful citizens, whose cries could not fail to arouse sentiments of just repugnance in neutral countries."

"These feelings," the foreign minister said, "spread beyond the ocean to the United States where humane and just feelings revolted against such horrible occurrences as the sinking of the Lusitania which cost so many American lives. This attack, which has no parallel for cruelty or absurdity, is an ineffaceable blot on the name of Germany."

Speaking of the situation on the Gallipoli peninsula, M. Sazonoff said: "The allies, with unshakable tenacity, see the approach of the longed-for moment when a close and direct bond will be established between us. The Turks, scenting the approaching storm, have overwhelmed the Christian peoples still in their power with exceptional cruelty. The Armenians are suffering unheard of persecutions, which, however, have not broken their spirit; for the Armenian volunteers are fighting with us."

"Persecutions no less terrible suffered by the local Greek population cannot but excite the indignation of the Hellenic people and government. The latter will have to solve the question whether it is capable of coming to the assistance of its co-religionists in Asia Minor without joining the powers who are fighting for right and justice. I do not doubt that in other countries still neutral, the governments will be found full in accord with their aspirations, their vital interests and their past."

"I must refer particularly to the pressure which Roumania has undergone at the hands of Austro-German agents. Despite their efforts the Roumania Government is resisting temptation and we continue with that country relations of friendship, the strengthening and development of which are objects of our reciprocal care."

M. Sazonoff concluded with reference to the miracles of bravery and devotion of which Serbia had given proof.

would enter Berlin in a few months are, with heavy blows driven back far east and west. Numerous battlefields in various parts of Europe and naval battles off parts of Europe and naval battles off near and distant coasts testify what German anger in self-defence and German strategy can do. No violation of international law by our enemies will be able to shake the economic foundation of our conduct of the war.

"The communities of agriculture, industry, commerce, science and technical art have endeavored to soften the stress of war. Appreciating the necessity of measures for the free intercourse of goods, and wholly devoted to the care of their brethren in the field, the population at home has strained all its energies to parrying the common danger.

"With deep gratitude the Fatherland remembered to-day and always will remember its warriors; those who, defying death, show an old front to the enemy; those who, wounded or ill, return; those above all, who rest from battle on foreign soil or at the bottom of the sea."

"With mothers, widows and orphans I feel grief for the beloved who have died for their Fatherland."

GUARANTEE OF VICTORY. "Internal strength and a unanimous national will, in the spirit of the founders of the Empire, guarantee victory. The dykes they erected in anticipation that we should one more have to defend that which we gained in 1870 have defied the highest tide of the world's history."

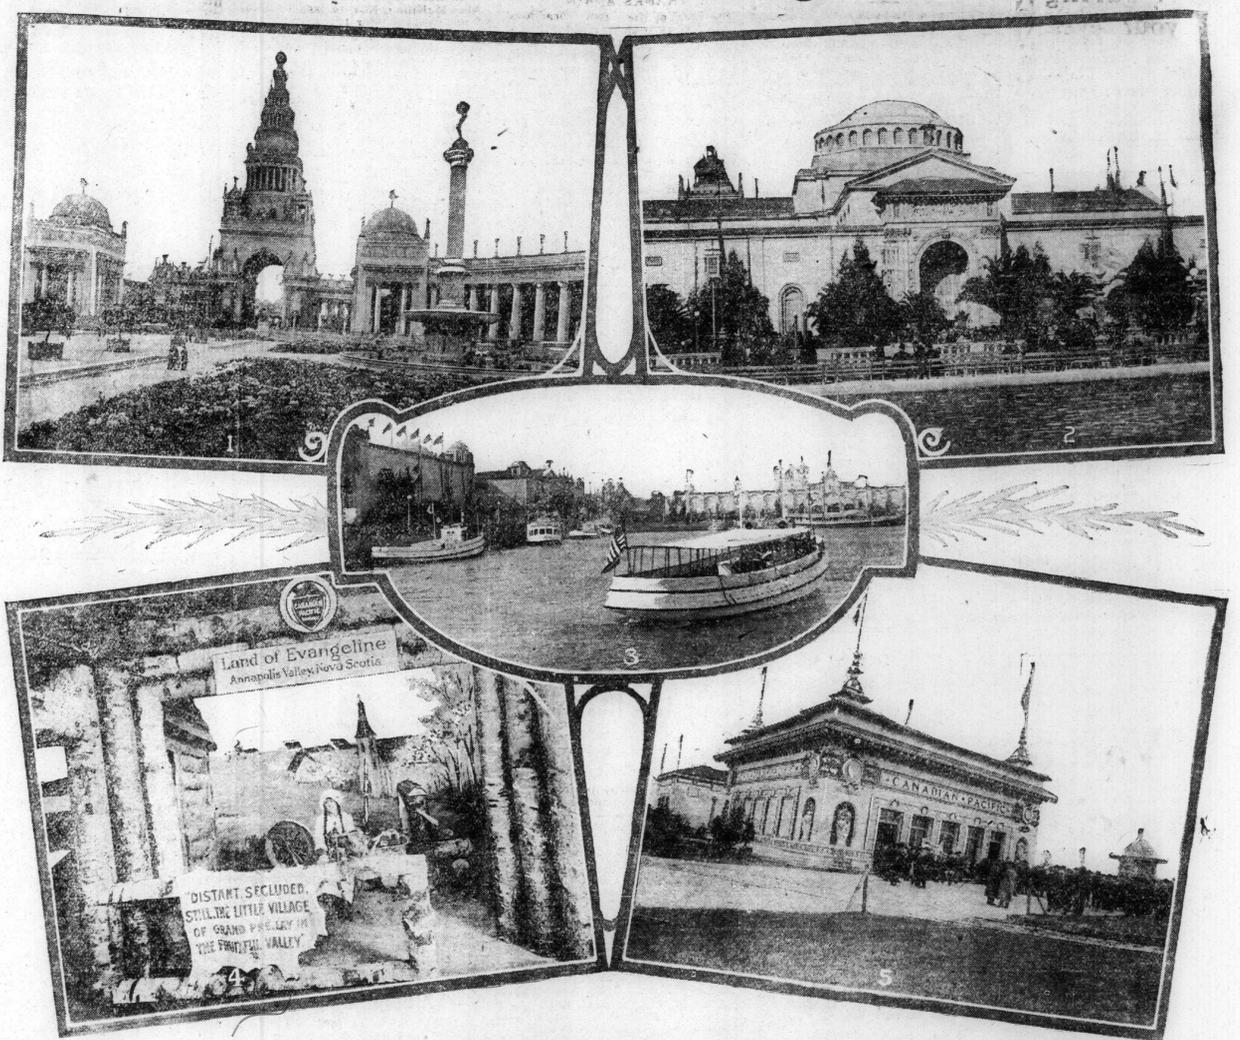

"After unexampled proofs of personal ability and national energy, I cherish the bright confidence that the German people, faithfully preserving the purification acquired through war, will vigorously proceed on the tried old ways and confidently enter the new."

"Great trials make the nation great and firm of heart. In heroic action we suffer and work without wavering until peace comes; peace which offers us the necessary military and political economies, and guarantees a future which fulfills the conditions for the unhindered development of our producing energy at home and on the free seas."

"Thus we shall emerge with honor from a war for Germany's right and freedom, however long the war may last, and be worthy of victory before God, who, we pray, may bless henceforth our arms."

ONE of the greatest attractions to the tourist this year is the Panama Pacific Exposition at which Canada is represented generally and the Canadian Pacific Railway in particular. Through the efforts of the railway company Canada is prominent by featured in moving pictures, and the first run of the pictures dedicated the Canadian Building and that of the Canadian Pacific Pavilion. More than ordinary interest is evinced by the large numbers who visit the lecture rooms and spend an hour or so seeing the views on the screen, portraying every phase of the resources of the Dominion. Generous space has been given over to the fruits of British Columbia as well as to the golden wheat harvests from the Prairie Provinces in the Canadian Pacific Pavilion; while the lumbering of this vast country is most impressively described. Electric lighting is freely used in various features of the exhibits, and all vacant spaces on the walls are filled with series of illuminations showing western and mountain scenes, also forest views, fruit and farm scenes, while many grain and grass exhibits are mounted and similarly lighted. The beauties of the Canadian Rockies through which the Canadian Pacific passes is vividly featured not only by means of huge panoramic photographs but by films.

ROUTE MARCH TO PARIS

To-morrow afternoon the Dragoons will take a route march to Paris leaving about 2 o'clock. It is expected that a supper will be provided for the men by the ladies of Paris.

DOING WELL

Mr. Ira D. Scruton, of the Courier staff, who was run over by an automobile, is doing splendidly. No bones were fortunately broken and the indications are that he will be round again inside of a few days.

MOVING DAY

About 8:30 last night, the north side of Dalhousie street began to look like Constantinople in a panic. First, a foreigner passed along with a trunk in a wheelbarrow; then another foreigner followed with a huge bundle on his back. At half minute intervals two more came along, each laden with a bundle on his shoulders. Such a spectacle, particularly on a Sunday evening, attracted considerable notice.

COLLECTING OLD RELICS

Mr. James Mitchell, representative of the Public Archives of Canada, was in the city this morning, and is collecting as many old historical relics as possible. He collects any written, printed, painted or drawn documents, books, pictures, maps or drawings, which relate to Canadian history. His office is in Ottawa, and he is making this collection for a Dominion museum.

WEDNESDAY NIGHT SERVICE

The Boy Scouts of the city will be busy to-morrow afternoon and all day Wednesday, selling souvenir badges of the first anniversary of the Great War. The proceeds will go towards the amount to be raised for the purchase of machine guns. Seats are being erected on Jubilee Terrace for the large intercessory services to be held on Wednesday evening. These are all reserved and the price of ten cents will be charged. This also will be contributed to the machine gun money. The Daughters of the Empire of the city are very active in the work and the Women's Patriotic League is also affiliated to the movement.

BECKER'S FUNERAL

New York, Aug. 2.—The funeral of Charles Becker, executed in Sing Sing prison Friday for instigating the murder of Herman Rosenthal, was held to-day from the Church of St. Nicholas of Tolentine, the Bronx. The church was filled with men and women and the overflow stood in the street outside. So great was the crowd around the church and the Becker home, nearby police reserves had to be called to handle it.

Dunrobin Castle, the palatial Scottish seat of the Duke of Sutherland, was recently greatly damaged by fire. Part of the building which was being used as a hospital for wounded soldiers was entirely destroyed, but fortunately the inmates were got out safely and removed to a hotel in GOLF spie. The Duke and Duchess, who were visiting in another part of the country, were early apprised of the outbreak, and hastened to the scene, taking an active part in directing the salvage operations. Most of the valuables in the castle, including a priceless collection of pictures, were saved.

More Doctors Needed

Niagara-on-the-Lake, Aug. 2.—Both the Royal and Canadian Army Medical Corps are calling for more doctors. Lieut.-Col. Marlow, A.D.M.S., informed the newspapers this morning that the list of medical men who have volunteered is low and more are needed at once. The R.A.M.C. has been furnished with about one hundred doctors and fifth year medical students from this division alone, and it is still in need of men from Canada. Drs. W. A. Costain, 64 Bloor street, Toronto; S. H. McCoy, 459 Avenue Road, Toronto; G. H. L. Armstrong, Echo Bay, and Gavilier, Owen Sound have been accepted for the R.A.M.C. and will leave for England before the middle of August.

The establishment of B section, No. 1 field ambulance depot has been increased from 92 to 156 officers and men. Capt. L. G. Palmer, the commander, will take a detachment of 47 men to England shortly.

The medical examination of recruits to be made at the armories recruiting depot will be final as will be the attestation. Once having passed the doctors there a recruit will not come before another examiner.

The Dr. Costain above referred to, is an old Brantford boy, son of Mrs. Costain, 21 Edgerton street.

The church was filled with men and women and the overflow stood in the street outside. So great was the crowd around the church and the Becker home, nearby police reserves had to be called to handle it.

Dunrobin Castle, the palatial Scottish seat of the Duke of Sutherland, was recently greatly damaged by fire. Part of the building which was being used as a hospital for wounded soldiers was entirely destroyed, but fortunately the inmates were got out safely and removed to a hotel in GOLF spie. The Duke and Duchess, who were visiting in another part of the country, were early apprised of the outbreak, and hastened to the scene, taking an active part in directing the salvage operations. Most of the valuables in the castle, including a priceless collection of pictures, were saved.

TO THE GRAVE

The funeral of Mr. Francis Kouleau will take place from his late residence at 22 Arthur Street on Wednesday afternoon.

POLICE COURT

Only one case was tried this morning in the police court. That was the non-support charge against Herbert Ferguson. It was adjourned for a week.

MORE DONATIONS

Mr. Aitken of 221 Park Avenue called at the 25th Brant Dragoon headquarters and left a number of magazines for the boys to read during their spare hours. Many thanks are due for this thoughtful gift.

WERE TRYING TO BEAT WAY

Two local Armenians, who resided at 240 Park Avenue, were caught at G. T. R. Station in Paris on Sunday, trying to beat their way out of the country. They were seen boarding the freight at the local depot and Chief Felker of Paris, was immediately notified.

THANKS AGAIN

The men of the 25th Dragoons overseas force wish to thank Mr. Jim Scafe for leaving them a good-sized bundle of magazines. The reading matter was fully appreciated a day like yesterday.

More Doctors Needed

Niagara-on-the-Lake, Aug. 2.—Both the Royal and Canadian Army Medical Corps are calling for more doctors. Lieut.-Col. Marlow, A.D.M.S., informed the newspapers this morning that the list of medical men who have volunteered is low and more are needed at once. The R.A.M.C. has been furnished with about one hundred doctors and fifth year medical students from this division alone, and it is still in need of men from Canada. Drs. W. A. Costain, 64 Bloor street, Toronto; S. H. McCoy, 459 Avenue Road, Toronto; G. H. L. Armstrong, Echo Bay, and Gavilier, Owen Sound have been accepted for the R.A.M.C. and will leave for England before the middle of August.

The establishment of B section, No. 1 field ambulance depot has been increased from 92 to 156 officers and men. Capt. L. G. Palmer, the commander, will take a detachment of 47 men to England shortly.

The medical examination of recruits to be made at the armories recruiting depot will be final as will be the attestation. Once having passed the doctors there a recruit will not come before another examiner.

The Dr. Costain above referred to, is an old Brantford boy, son of Mrs. Costain, 21 Edgerton street.

BECKER'S FUNERAL

New York, Aug. 2.—The funeral of Charles Becker, executed in Sing Sing prison Friday for instigating the murder of Herman Rosenthal, was held to-day from the Church of St. Nicholas of Tolentine, the Bronx. The church was filled with men and women and the overflow stood in the street outside. So great was the crowd around the church and the Becker home, nearby police reserves had to be called to handle it.

Famous Men In To-days View

Lieut.-Colonel Herbert A. Bruce, of Toronto, who has just sailed for England to visit the Canadian military hospitals in Great Britain and France is one of the best known surgeons in the Dominion. He was born near Port Perry and educated at the University of Toronto, where he graduated in medicine in 1892. He is on the staff of the University of Toronto, where he is recognized as an authority on surgical matters. Doctor Bruce now confines his whole attention to the practice of surgery.

The Rev. Louis H. Jordan, of Oxford, was sixty years of age yesterday. He was born at Halifax and educated at Dalhousie University, Princeton and Edinburgh University. He has held a number of important pastorates throughout the Dominion, including Erskine Church in Montreal and professorship in the Presbyterian College. He is one of the best known writers in the Presbyterian church, his articles on "Comparative Religion" being regarded as classics. During recent years he has been living at Oxford.

Lieut. Hugh A. Chisholm, who was wounded in the recent fighting in France, has recovered and has gone back to his regiment. He was awarded the D. S. O. for his bravery in saving a British gun and also distinguished himself in the fighting at Ypres. Lieut. Chisholm is a son of the Rev. John Chisholm, superintendent of the Presbyterian Mission. He is a graduate of Queen's University, and at the outbreak of the war was studying law in Montreal. He went overseas with the 2nd Westmount rifles.

Mr. William Carruthers, who died just lately in Toronto, was the second son of James Carruthers, President of the Canada Steamships Company. The dead man, who was thirty-eight years of age, was a member of the grain firm of James Carruthers & Company, Limited, of Toronto and Winnipeg. He spent a good deal of his time at Toronto in the firm's interest, but was well known in Montreal where he was a member of the Board of Trade and the Corn Exchange. He was also an enthusiastic sportsman, being keenly interested in yachting and other outdoor sports.

Private Collington, a French soldier who won the Legion of Honor and subsequently met death at the battle of Vauquois while rescuing a wounded comrade is one of the most talked of men in France to-day. He was formerly Prefect General Secretary to the President of the Republic and although 38 years of age, enlisted in the army and insisted upon remaining a private. He was a tall, magnificent figure, with a mane of full white beard and a venerable appearance. Because his army shoes hurt his feet he went about barefooted or wore sandals. He performed many feats of bravery which won for him the Legion of Honor, and as stated above met death while rescuing a wounded comrade.

Lord Arundell, who has just sold his valuable home property to a hotel company, possessed one of the most historic spots in Old London. The hotel restaurant and theatre with roof garden and other modern features, which is to be built on the Arundell estate, will be the biggest and most luxurious structure of its kind in London. The property now worth millions was won in a single night at cards by Colonel Thomas Arundell, whose only daughter has an ancestor of the present Lord Arundell. Lord Arundell is not only an English peer, but is an Austrian count, the title having been conferred upon his ancestors at the time of Queen Elizabeth, when one of the family entered the services of the Emperor of Germany and distinguished himself in the fighting against the Turks.

Theodore Botrel is the poet-laureate of the trenches in France and Flanders. Botrel is a French poet and song writer. At the outbreak of war he offered his services to the army, but was rejected as he was over the age limit. He then tried to enter the Belgian army but was turned down there. Botrel then returned to France and asked permission to go to the front and sing for the soldiers. Permission was granted and since then he has been going up and down the line, visiting the trenches, reserve depots, hospitals, military trains, or anywhere he can find a group of his fellow-countrymen. He is described as the French Kipling. His most popular song is "Rosalie," which corresponds to our "Tipperary." Another of his songs is "William is off to the War," in which he lampoons the Kaiser. Botrel is a simple, proven song writer, whose messages find a ready and warm response in the hearts of his fellow countrymen.

His own mission in the war he thus describes: "When Attila strikes down the right, And kills without remorse or rue, Go forth, my verses, rend and bite, A song may be a bullet, too!" It is said that he has been worth more to France than a whole army Corps.

THE ARMY BATTLE HYMNS.

(The writer of this sketch from the front (published in the London Daily News and Leader), is a private in the Motor Transport Section of the A.S.C. who, before enlistment, was well-known in business circles in the city.) Abide with me, fast falls the eventide, The darkness deeps, Lord, with me abide. The last time I heard these words was in an old church, set among trees that stretched up a mountain side, towering in majestic grandeur over one of Scotland's loveliest Highland lochs; this time it was "somewhere in France."

I had come back from the firing line through a veritable sea of Shadous, and in the fading light of that Sabbath evening my ears, worn with the thunder of battle, early drank in the soft cadences of the old familiar hymn.

In the square of that little town, ravaged nine months ago by the Germans, great war wagons were ranged line upon line. Under a grove of chestnut trees a wayside motor repair workshop had been set out, the red glow of its forge told the tale of toil, that knows no end, of days that have no settled length and weeks of days that have no name. But their Sunday's task completed, the choir—as they call it—had assembled in circle, under the trees with a staff sergeant to lead their singing.

"LEAD KINDLY LIGHT." Worn and weary though I was with fifty hours of duty, I could not pass them by but brought my car to rest. The major commanding the column, his officers by his side, stood just where I was on the fringe of the gathering; in the darker shadows, but dimly seen, many of the townspeople yet held in a spell by the soft sweetness of the music. From Yorkshire's West Riding came most of the singers, as one might have guessed from the great white roses adorning each wagon; but it was the broad Scots accent of the little conductor perhaps which brought to me a memory of far-off days and the distant land of my birth. In many countries I have wandered, in many strange scenes I have taken some part but never before in an alien land had home come back to me as there in that twilight hour.

For a moment or two the singing ceased; the hymn was ended. The roll of the guns but a mile or two away seemed strangely unusual; even they were silent. A few low crooning notes, scarce a whisper, like the sighs of a night wind in the tree tops, and there came to us who listened: Lead, kindly Light, Amid the encircling gloom, Who in all this world, to whom these Glasgow and Edinburgh to London met with an accident near Market Harborough the other afternoon. The permanent way was badly damaged, but fortunately no personal injuries were sustained. The express left Leicester at 4.46 p.m. for St. Pancras, and while travelling at fifty miles an hour three coaches suddenly left the metals at a bend in the line. The metals and sleepers were torn up for a considerable distance, but the coaches retained the upright position and the engine was not derailed. Both main passenger lines were blocked for a time.

FIRST YEAR OF WAR FROM BRITISH VIEW

Sir Edward Says the Word Peace is Not in the British Vocabulary.

London, Aug. 2.-Sir Edwin Carson, Attorney-General in the Asquith Cabinet, has prepared for the Associated Press a signed statement giving a broad outline of the first year of the war from the British standpoint, together with expression of the unsatisfactory purpose of the British Government and people to carry on the war to a successful conclusion. The statement says in part:

"How long will the war last, and what will be the result? To such questions as these any British subject can give but one answer, and that is that the war will last until the cause of the allies has been brought to a successful issue, and Europe and the world have been relieved from the ideals involved in the aggression of Russia."

"The word peace does not enter into our vocabulary at the present time. It is banished from our conversation as something immoral and impossible under existing circumstances. And yet we are the most peace-loving people in the world; a nation which throughout the globe, within its many Dominions, has inculcated good government and social and industrial progress by the exercise in its widest sense, of civil and religious liberty."

BRITAIN TRANSFORMED

"A year of war has transformed
Great Britain. Of our navy I need hardly speak. It has upheld to the fullest extent the great traditions which fill the pages of history in the past; it has driven its enemies off the seas; it holds vast oceans free for almost the uninterrupted commerce of neutral powers, and it has advanced the world by its own supplies of material and food almost without interruption. I do not minimize the peril of the submarines, which is in process of being dealt with through the careful and zealous watching of our Admiralty, but while the submarine has enabled the Germans to commit savage and inhuman atrocities, contrary to the laws of civilization and against the rules of international law, it has done nothing to affect the vast commerce of our Empire. The German submarine attack has signally failed to hamper our military operations. Under the protection of our hundreds of thousands of men have been brought to the fighting area from the most distant parts of the Empire. Troop ships are crossing daily to France, and not a single ship or a single soldier has been lost in passage."

"At the commencement of the war an expeditionary force of 170,000 men and a small territorial army of 260,000 men for defence against invasion had been raised in Britain, but military camps in which millions of men of the finest material are being trained and equipped to cope with every emergency."

PRaise FOR THE ALLIES

"The splendid heroism of our Russian allies is an additional incentive to our national honor to carry on to an end the obligations which we have undertaken. And if for the moment we are confronted with the impossible, we are confident with our brave Russian allies, we are compelled to wage a costly and difficult war against the Turks in the Dardanelles as well as against our enemies in Flanders, we cheerfully undertake to fit ourselves for the situation which confronts us."

LAST MAN AND LAST DOLLAR.

"It is of course true that our country has not been accustomed to organization and discipline, which leads to unthinking men from time to time to imagine that there are no differences in the coal fields or in the workshops from that which prevails in the trenches; but all that is a mere temporary difficulty, and it cannot impede the country, which has made its last man and its last dollar in the process."

"OUR CAUSE IS JUST."

"We have the right to say to neutrals that our cause is just; that the war has been forced upon us, and that we are making and are going to make every sacrifice that makes a nation great to bring our cause to a successful conclusion. We have a right, I think, to ask neutrals to examine their own consciences as to whether they have done everything that neutrals ought to do or can do in insisting that the laws of humanity and the doctrines of international law which have been so carefully fostered in time of peace are carried out. Neutrals are the executive power to compel observance of the principles of international law, and if they fail to do so, the result must be disastrous in the future, and give free play to a savagery and barbarism which is none the less revolting because it carries out its methods by the aid of the discoveries of scientific research and progress."

"But, however that may be, our courage is undaunted. It grows into exaltation by reason of the difference between the command of our armies to leave the Vistula line. That hour will strike only when extreme necessity is joined with the general strategic situation."

WAVE OF THE FIRE PROJECTORS

New Device of Germans Wreaks Fearful Havoc on the Opposing Troops.

London, August 1.-British Headquarters sends this description of the German "fire projector" attack on the British trenches at Hooge: At the beginning of the morning of July 30 the German attack began with a tremendous fire concentrated from three sides upon the Hooge salient. There was a direct fire of 5-inch and field guns against our parapet, in addition to the exploding shells of longer range, and a rain of every sort of bomb from mortars. After over half an hour of this the enemy crept towards our battered parapets by steps they had carried forward and began to play upon what was left of the defenders with fire projectors.

LIKE FIRE EXTINGUISHERS

The fire projector is carried strapped to the back exactly as is a fire extinguisher, and apparently contains some inflammable oil, under pressure, which when the cock is opened projects a long, flaming jet. Weakened by the tremendous shelling they had undergone and with their defences badly knocked about, the troops holding the salient had to relinquish the trenches on the north side of the road, and fell back slowly from the Hooge. Owing to delays inseparable from the situation it was impossible to get a counter-attack into shape before three in the afternoon. Then the advance was made partly under cover of an irregular piece of forest known as the Zouave Wood, which offered the only concealment.

A FLAIL OF THUNDERBOLTS

But from the ridge east of Hooge the German guns swept the wood, the whole was thrashed with a flail of thunderbolts, yet the troops held on to it and even succeeded with the greatest gallantry in advancing to the edge of it facing the enemy which was found in the German machine gun crossfire, so advance beyond it was almost certain death. None the less, the advance was repeatedly attempted and small detachments of officers and men succeeded in getting right up to the barbed-wire in front of the enemy's trenches. We were in the end obliged to be content with holding the line of wood to which the troops had clung with such determination.

Another account says: The supporting troops nearby, in spite of catching some of this concentrated fire, held on. The German infantry finally made a counter-attack, which was met with heavy machine gun fire, but the German troops were driven back. Some of the ground lost in the two days of continuous fighting has already been recovered.

OBSCURITY

Largely Characterizes the Situation in Eastern Theatre.

By Special Wire to the Courier. London, Aug. 2.-It is impossible to state exactly what is happening in the eastern front, as obscurity is the most pressing need of the Russian army, says the Petrograd correspondent of the Daily Mail, in re-grouping and shifting its positions. This re-arrangement of forces is in the hands of General Yanshkevich, chief of the Great Nicholas' staff.

The capture of Warsaw has not yet been accomplished, according to the Telegraph, and the deliberate Russian withdrawal is an encouraging feature of the situation.

"The Russians have not yet been defeated or anything like it," says the Chronicle, which adds that the Russians are inflicting fearful losses on the attacking Germans."

THE RECENT CAMPAIGN

Petrograd, via London, Aug. 2.-The military correspondent of The Reich, in describing the recent military campaign, says: "First came the battle on the Lublin front, then a period of calm, after more troops had proceeded to the positions assigned them. It is evident that the evacuation was followed by the complete destruction of everything that might assist the enemy."

"Precisely so will be the abandonment of other points whose evacuation may be required by our military plans. It will be equally gradual and cautious as the evacuation of Lublin. Our armies, executing the required manoeuvre at the same time will take steps to guard it against interference by the enemy."

"In the Warsaw region the enemy is meeting with steady opposition from our rear guards, at Piasenczo and Gora Kalwarya, and finally at Blonie, our armies beat off the enemy's efforts to enter Warsaw. This means that the hour has not yet come for the supreme command of our armies to leave the Vistula line. That hour will strike only when extreme necessity is joined with the general strategic situation."

PARIS PAPERS

Quote Statements From Prominent Men Regarding War.

By Special Wire to the Courier. Paris, Aug. 2.-The morning papers of this city generally print reviews of the first year of the war, with statements from prominent men. The Petit Parisien quotes Rene Viviani, the French premier, as saying: "One year has rolled away since the day when, on a nation devoted to peace, Germany and Austria loosed war. Never have the virtues of our race appeared nobler and more solid. Still other virtues, which previously had not been accorded us, have evoked the admiration of the world. By these virtues—enthusiasm, endurance, patience and spirit—victory of a right is assured our heroic army and its chiefs."

"All France is united and resolved, exalted to heights yet unattained in history. Though the test be prolonged our soul remains unshaken."

The Petit Parisien quotes Alexandre Ribot, minister of finance, as saying: "After a year of war, when the soldiers of the whole population of France have given proofs of the same heroic courage, some facing death and others bearing griefs with admirable abnegation and simplicity, the country more than ever has faith in victory, and is resolved to do its full duty, to accept every suffering and every sacrifice to defend its liberties and assure the triumph of liberty."

From Theophile Delcasse, minister of foreign affairs, the paper received this statement: "For the Allies, to will is to do. They will."

Zeppelin Raid possibilities have caused committees of housewives to organize a fire-alarm service in one of the London suburban districts. The men in a street take turns in acting as night watchmen in that street. On receiving the alarm from a special constable the duty of the night watchman will be to rouse every householder in his street—not in order that families may rush into the street, but so that they can be prepared to give the alarm of fire if necessary, and take other recommended measures. This system has been put in force in many streets, each of which has its own committee and organizes its own patrol service.

TENDERS FOR PULPWOOD LIMIT

TENDERS will be received by the undersigned up to and including Wednesday the fifteenth day of September 1915 for the right to cut pulpwood on a certain area situated north of the Transcontinental Railway west of Lac Seul and south of English River in the District of Kenora. Tenders shall state the amount they are prepared to pay as bonus in addition to the Crown dues of 40c. per cord for spruce and 20c. per cord for other pulpwoods, or such other rates as may from time to time be fixed by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council, for the right to operate a pulp mill and a paper mill on or near the area referred to. Such tenders shall be required to erect a mill or mills on or near the territory, and to manufacture the wood into paper in the Province of Ontario; the paper mill to be erected within such time and in such place as the Lieutenant-Governor in Council shall direct. Parties making tender will be required to deposit with their tender a marked cheque payable to the Honorable the Treasurer of the Province of Ontario, for ten per cent. of the amount of their tender. The highest or any tender not necessarily accepted. Particulars as to description of territory, capital to be invested, etc., apply to the undersigned. No advertisement or publication of this notice will be paid for. G. H. FERGUSON, Minister of Lands, Forests and Mines, Toronto, June 26, 1915.

WINE HOTELS

Closed Their Bars in Essex on Saturday Night by Order of Provincial Board.

Windsor, Aug. 2.-At 7 o'clock Saturday night the bars of nine of the lesser hotels in Essex county closed their doors to travellers generally as the result of their licenses being cancelled by the Ontario Commission. The hotels affected are: Wolf's roadhouse, Abar's Hotel, Payne's Inn, all in the Township of Sandwich East; Paris Hotel, Tecumseh, McGee's Inn and Waverley Hotel, Sandwich West; Colonial Hotel and Royal Oak Hotel, Sandwich town, and the Scott House and Stephens' Inn, Windsor.

Large crowds of patrons were present to bid farewell to the proprietors in each place as the hands of the clock showed the closing time. This was especially noticeable at Wolf's and Stephens' Inn.

Stephens' Inn is the oldest hotel in Windsor, and has been licensed for more than sixty years. The hotel has been celebrated for its famous dinners, and it is the proud boast of Mr. Stephens that he has dined many prominent men from all parts of the world, including ten Mayors of Detroit.
