

THE ACADIAN.

WOLFVILLE, N. S., JAN. 6, 1911.

Town Council.

The regular monthly meeting of the Council was held on Wednesday evening at which Mayor Harvey and Council, Messrs. Regan, Chambers, Haycock and Burgess were present.

Notification was read from C. M. Vaughn, asking relief from the Poor's department for the support of an illegitimate child, having a settlement in the town of Wolfville, and now at his house. The matter was referred to the Poor Committee.

The balance sheet of the town to Dec. 31st, 1910, was presented showing a credit balance of $503.55. This will be found in another place in the paper.

The following accounts were read and ordered paid: J. W. Selfridge, $5.65; Arthur Spittle, $5.00; Rodman Pratt, $5.00.

uncomfortably certain that in a week's time we shall find ourselves in pretty much the same moral and ethical condition as we were upon the occasion and condition we were violently resolved to shake off forever.

Mr. Roebuck, representing the Truro Foundry Co., appeared before the Council offering to supply the town with a suitable stove crusher.

A Crippen Mistake.

One of the greatest mistakes Crippen ever made in his life was in not avoiding his "key numbers."

According to Chetro, the amazing gentlemen who can see through a brick wall as far as most people, if not further, Crippen's key numbers were four and eight, so that, if he had only stuck to fives and nines he might have been a respected, honored and untroubled citizen.

Brown Tail Moth Inspection.

Dr. C. Gordon Hewitt, Dominion Entomologist, and Mr. Cummings, Secretary for Agriculture, Province of Nova Scotia, have completed arrangements for a combined campaign against the Brown Tail Moth.

It is true, that every year and every day of the year brings its definite advance. Every day in this sense is a New Year's day. Evolution is never by jerks and jolts. Progress is perpetual.

THE BIRTHDAY—1911.

Some one has said that every man has two birthdays—one is his proper birthday, and the other is the birthday of the year; and while the former is not always observed, the latter is of interest too wide to be forgotten by king or cobbler.

THE BIRTHDAY—1911.

There have been New Years epochs in the twenty centuries of Christian civilization, and in the infinitely longer period of human life—46—which man has been subjected. Each has come in with glowing promises of new virtues and greater goodness.

JEWELER.

The Sceptic Atray.

I have no intention of criticizing hardened sinners for that would be superfluous. I would rather say a word to those living clean lives outside of those religious influences which are to-day the subject of altogether too much sneering.

To all such persons, and there are many, I wish to say, You could make no greater mistake. With the first bit of truth which weakened your faith in Christianity, you bounded off to the extreme of supposing it to be all conscious fraud, and without further and deeper study of the subject, you have continued to live a life wholly or partially estranged from the social life of the community.

My own experience is that most of the freethinkers and agnostics are just as intolerant of opposing opinions and as useless to the cause of humanity as are the great mass of Christians. Sceptics persistently refuse to see a better example in my own life than that in presented to Canada on the latest years of time, we are wise indeed to ask ourselves if 1911 is to be in real sense a new year.

Let me assure my friends that a much more thorough examination of our religious instincts and organizations than most sceptics are willing to undertake, will leave one sobered to the fact that in the whole religious history of mankind, the beliefs of each period have been measured, not by revelations, but by man's average intellectual condition. And our intellectual progress has always been, and still is, hindered by more or less powerful religious organizations which have striven by state aid to make certain beliefs permanent and run all minds in the same mold of humble subjection.

We need the church as an educational, social and moral or religious center. And if those who consider themselves superior to all superstitions withdraw in derision, how long will it be before the church progresses to meet the average mind? As sceptics you ought to go to religious services. Even the most orthodox sermon will brighten your thinking apparatus, if you care to set the wheels agoing, though the gist may not be ground to suit the gentleman in the pulpit.

Finally, make your position known and work in every possible way, no matter how insignificant your help may seem, for the advancement of knowledge and truth among all classes is the only way to effect an advancement in religious beliefs.

Liberal clergymen will appreciate your efforts in the spirit of Jesus, who said, "He who is not against me is for me." To measure you on this point let me quote from a letter written by a minister and a gentleman in charge of one of the largest churches in the province. "At the earliest available opportunity I hasten to express my sincere appreciation of your letter. It has given me an altogether enjoyable occasion and an experience of a kind of criticism which I unfortunately have hitherto rather lacked. I have been repeatedly reproached by my orthodox friends, but I have rarely met equally frank or sufficiently disinterested radicals. I therefore, thoroughly appreciate the trouble you take to express your disappointment, and in that statement I want you to believe that I am absolutely honest."

In the discussion of an underpaid and physically starved clergy, have we not failed to remember that lack of contact with other minds means mental starvation? Let us embrace every opportunity to discover the caliber of our clergy and if we can find even a few genuine ones, we are sure they will have come into our lives good and unlooked-for influences.

Among those who received honours at the hands of the King on New Year's Day was Hon. C. J. Townshend, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia, who was knighted. This honour was conferred on him by King George V. on his 70th birthday.

The death of Mr. B. B. Dodge, M. P. A. whose serious illness was announced in last issue, took place on Friday morning. The funeral took place on Sunday and was very largely attended.

The staff of THE ACADIAN were regaled by Mrs. E. C. Young on Monday morning with a fine lunch consisting of cocoa, pie, cake, etc., which was very much appreciated. Owing to her son's marriage Mrs. Young is retiring from the business, and will take a well-earned vacation for some time. During the past ten years, since coming to Wolfville, she has won the respect of all by her good judgment, enterprise and industry, and the best wishes for a successful future are here.

I aim to be always a little better than the best. Not how cheap, but how good; garments that look beautiful and are even better than they look. BOATMAN & CO.

A most delightful evening was spent at the Baptist Assembly on Monday evening, Jan. 2nd, when Mr. and Mrs. Webber entertained the members of the Baptist church and congregation and other friends at a New Year's reception. Although the evening was inclement a very large number assembled to enjoy the gracious hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Webber. The evening passed most pleasantly with conversation and music and refreshments were served. The pastor and his wife, during their two years stay in Wolfville, have won a large place in the affection and esteem of their people. Mr. Webber's gift as a preacher and his untiring efforts for the extension and uplifting of all the church activities are resulting in new zeal and interest and the church feels that in entering upon a new year the very cordial relations existing between pastor and people make the outlook for the future a bright one.

A pretty home wedding took place on Thursday evening, December the twenty-sixth, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Stark, when their youngest daughter, Emma Kathleen, was united in marriage to Mr. Walter Russell Dickie, an enterprising young farmer of Hillton. Promptly at eight o'clock, to the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March, played by Miss Julia Baxter, the bride, who looked charming in a gown of white silk, entered the parlor leaning on the arm of her father, and took her place beside the groom beneath an arch of green and white. After the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. Arthur Hocking, dainty refreshments were served to about fifty guests. Among the numerous and beautiful presents was a substantial sum of money from the Methodist choir and congregation in appreciation of services rendered as a member of the choir and organist, and a handsome clock from the Sunday school, where the bride was a teacher. The groom's gift was a gold watch and chain. At a late hour, Mr. and Mrs. Dickie left for the former's home in Hillton, where they will reside.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott Blenkhorn, who have spent the past year at Deloro, Ont., are visiting the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Blenkhorn. Miss McCleive, of Halifax, spent a few days recently with her cousin, Mrs. Annie Parker.

The week of prayer is being observed in the Baptist and Methodist churches of the town.

Dr. and Mrs. Stanley Spicer and child, of Amherst, and Mrs. Jan. Smith and two children of Winton, Cumberland Co., who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. William Stark, returned home on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Loomer and family have moved into the LeCain house on Seminary St. recently vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Parker.

Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Bennett, of Somerset; Miss Belle Forrest, of Berwick; and Mr. and Mrs. Martin Pick, of Wolfville, were in town last Wednesday attending the Stark-Dickie wedding.

The Masons held their annual banquet at their rooms on Tuesday evening of last week.

Mrs. Robertson, of Hantsport, was a recent over-Sunday guest of her daughter, Mrs. Lloyd Ward. Harry and Avery Newcombe, of Windsor, were being visited by their aunt, Mrs. Annie Avery.

Newtonville Notes.

The New Year thus far has brought us bad weather and very bad roads. Miss Elsie Nowlin, from the Normal School, and Mr. Lewis Coldwell, from the Academy, Truro, are spending the winter holidays at their respective homes.

Miss Blanche Coldwell, of Attleboro, Mass., is visiting at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Coldwell.

Mr. A. R. Dorman, of the S. S. Chignecto, has come to spend the winter months with his family, expecting to return to his office of engineer when navigation opens in the spring.

Mr. Ernest N. Coldwell, of Goff's Falls, New Hampshire, after an absence of eighteen years, is visiting the scenes of his childhood at the home of his brother, Fred H. Coldwell.

Reviewer Reviewed.

A remarkable production from the pen of Reviewer appeared in THE ACADIAN of last week. As a representative of the Nova Scotia Fruit Growers' Association on the great Farmers' delegation to Ottawa, I cannot in justice to my constituents allow it to pass without short comment. From one living and being in a purely agricultural country the ideas advanced certainly are refreshing. With Reviewer's discussion of the policy of the Liberal party as propounded in 1893, and the lack of fulfillment of any pledge made in their opposition days, I am quite in accord. Any party or any man who makes definite pledges, and makes no effort to carry them into effect when opportunity offers, is not deserving of the confidence of the electors, and should go down to certain defeat.

Reviewer feels that the attempted stampeding of our politicians at Ottawa was ill advised. As one on the ground allow me to say there was no attempt or design to 'stampede' the politicians. The farmers' delegation placed certain well thought out and reasonable demands before the Premier and the House of Commons. These demands they are prepared to stand by. The farmers of Canada placed the Liberal party in control fourteen years ago on a trade policy much more liberal than the farmers tariff platform of 1910 and judging by the attitude of the men I met at Ottawa they are ready to turn them out to-day because they have not carried out that platform.

Reviewer says 'very large industrial interests are represented in the controversy between the farmers and manufacturers of agricultural implements in respect to the duty on the same.' There is no controversy between the farmers and manufacturers. The Liberal Government allows the manufacturers to buy their raw materials where they please; the farmers, whose raw materials are the tools they use, demand the same privilege. As H. C. Drury, of Ontario, tersely puts it, 'we do not object to the manufacturers standing on their own feet, but we do object to them standing on our feet a long time; they must get off, if they do not get off we will put them off.' The farmers of Canada are the burden bearers of giant trusts and corporations bussed to rot them of their just due; they are organizing to change this, and I am mistaken in the men of Kings county if they are not in the front when this battle is on.

Reviewer says, 'if the farmers have a grievance let it be redressed.' Good! but who is going to redress this grievance? Will it be Reviewer or men of his ilk? Will it be the great corporations who toll his grain from the day the seed is sown till it reaches the table of the consumers? Or the people who skin our apple crop, taking the fertilizer, spraying the outfit, and tools, we use on every acre? This issue of THE ACADIAN is not large enough to hold their grievances. The delegation at Ottawa just condensed a few of them, and it took four hours to repeat them to Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and it only took the Premier five minutes to answer them. No, brother Reviewer, this farmers' organization is here to stay, and our friends, the enemy, are coming down from their perch.

Again Reviewer says: 'Farmers pay almost the lowest duties paid by any section of the people of Canada.' Change one word, my friend, and put highest in the place of lowest and we can get on a common platform.

The farmers pay more duty on their overalls and boots than our rulers on their silks and diamonds. In tariff and taxation a fair field and no favour is the farmer's due.

Listen again to the oracle. 'They (the farmers) are able to raise from the soil the food they eat, the clothes they wear and the houses in which they live.' Well! I do not know how it is in Wolfville, but I have not seen a house 'raised' from the soil in Berwick for some time. They are all 'billion' frame now-a-days, and a man has to raise about $1000 before tackling the proposition. My soil, too, is, somewhat sandy, not strong enough to 'raise' the 'clothes' I wear. It might grow shoddy, but the season is not long enough. We do grow some apples in the section, and the farmers west of the Great Lakes grow wheat, while some of the Ontario men I met at Ottawa were strong on stock. However, it is written, 'Man shall not live by bread alone,' and though the Book does not classify apples, yet I am afraid a steady diet of apples would eventually cause dyspepsia or something worse. The farmers of to-day are specialists; they grow one or two products and buy the rest of their necessities by exchanging their surplus product for the varied needs.

Reviewer closes by saying, 'The great majority of the farmers of Canada are opposed to free trade with the United States.' To 'jug handle' free trade, yes; to a fair tariff exchange with our nearest neighbor, emphatically no. The farmers of Kings county, as intelligent a class as any in Canada, spoke their mind in 1891 by electing Sir Frederick Borden as a reciprocity cry, and again in 1896 on a free trade platform. It is true they have been successfully treated in the outcome, and are preparing in common with the rest of Canada to deal summarily with the people who misled them.

The Musical Event of the Year.

Negotiations are now proceeding which it is confidently expected will result in giving Wolfville and the surrounding towns an opportunity of hearing Miss Eva Mylott, the famous Australian Contralto. The following sketch will indicate her high standing: Eva Mylott, the Australian contralto, (who scored a complete triumph on her Canadian tour last Fall) possesses a pure contralto voice of exceptional richness, with the lower register equal to that of Clara Butt. The greatest critics of the world have paid glowing tributes to her wonderful voice, artistic temperament and superb interpretation, while her diction has been described as the finest of any singer now before the public.

After completing her studies in Paris under Mme. Marchesi Miss Mylott studied in London under Ruediger and Henry Wood (Oratorio), Mme. Guy d'Hardillat (Ballade), Mme. Missa Fischer (Germanlieder), and also received private tuition from Mrs. Malby, who took the greatest pride and interest in her progress. She was immediately engaged by Albert Hall, Queen's Hall concerts, and by Philharmonic and Choral Societies from all over the British Isles. She toured with Melba, Trebelli, and Alhain, and was honored with the special patronage of Their Highnesses, the Prince and Princess of Wales.

Miss Mylott has a striking stage presence and charming personality, this, added to the rich, powerful contralto voice, which she controls with perfect ease and effortless method, it is small wonder that she has roused vast audiences to the highest pitch of enthusiasm, and that in the land of her birth it is a nation's pride that bestows on her the affectionate title of 'Australia's contralto.'

It is expected that Miss Crafts, whose work was so much appreciated last fall, will assist Miss Mylott. As the Seminary is under great expense we earnestly ask the co-operation of the musical public in making this event a great success. By the courtesy of the manager of the rink this evening, Friday, Jan. 6, will be reserved for this great concert. Prices will be announced next week. Plan of the hall and tickets at Rand's.

Had Eczema In Both Legs

Remarkable cure of Eczema Eczema by use of DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT. You could scarcely imagine a more severe case of this disease than the case of Mrs. Clark recorded here. For twenty years she suffered all the tortures of this terrible disease, and tried with the prescriptions of doctors and the most commonly recommended ointments, but without success. She writes: 'My mother had Eczema in both legs for about 20 years and suffered the most dreadful itching, stinging and eruptions which can never be described. The doctor and I tried everything for it but got no relief until we used Dr. Chase's Ointment which was recommended to her by a friend. She found that this brought relief by soothing the skin. It has been used by Chase's Ointment as a household cure for Eczema.'
