TOWN TOPICS.

Ask for the "Solid Comfort" or "Olivet"
Goderich cigar.

Lumber and cord wood taken in exchange for furniture. G. C. HOSKINS.

The volunteers in uniform looked well,
and those cabinet photographs exhibited by Geo.
H. Robson, are the admiration of all who see them. An examination solicited.

MA package of the American Fruit Preserving Powder and Liquid will preserve 250 lbs.
of fruit, either with or without sugar for years. No need to keep the fruit air tight.
Jas. L. BENT, Agent.

THE Dufferin Rifles. The crops may not come up to the average this season, but the photographs taken by Sallows are always rather above the average. Remember that Sallows is a big taking group.

Seasonable goods just received at Saunders' variety store. Fruit jars, coal oil stoves, milk pans and pails, fancy baskets, granite iron ware, and general assortment of fancy goods at low prices. The cheapest house under the sun.

JUST RECEIVED—A variety of all cooking stoves, which I will guarantee. The Victoria, with its extension top; the Delta Tubular Hot Blow; also the summer Queen. Prices from $1.50 up to $16. Four different kinds of coal oil stoves. G. N. DAVIS.

The Dufferin Rifles expected to see dressed girls in Goderich, and they were not disappointed. But our young men who were sighted by F. & A. Priddy must have been amused by the Brautigan girls, who are said to be in love with well dressed youths.

Patrick Farr is in Dublin.

Ed. Logan left this week for Saginaw.

Mr. Holt went to London on Saturday.

A Big Turn Out at the Banquet—A Host

RESCUED.

Lt. Greely and his Party Found at the Point of Death.

The Terrible of the Arctic—Only a Few of the Explorers Alive—Their Discovery by the Relief Expedition.

WASHINGTON, July 17.—The following despatch from Commander Schley, in command of the Greely relief expedition, has been received from St. John's, Nfld., giving particulars of the rescue of the survivors of the Greely exploring party: The Thetis, Bear and Loch Garry arrived here to-day from West Greenland, all well. They separated from the Alert 150 miles north. During a gale at 9 p. m., June 22, five miles off Cape Sabine in Smith's Sound, the Thetis and Bear separated alive Lieutenant A. W. Greely, Sergt. Brainard, Sergt. Fredericks, Sergt. Long, Hospital Steward Baidersbach, Private Connell and Sergeant Ellison, the only survivors of the Lady Franklin Bay expedition. Sergt. Ellison had lost both hands and feet by frost bite, and died July 6, at Godhavn three days after amputation, which had become imperative. 17 of 25 persons composing the expedition perished by starvation at the point where found. One was drowned while seeking to procure food. Twelve bodies of the dead were rescued and are now on board the Thetis and Bear. One Eskimo Turnevik was buried at Disco in accordance with the desire of the inspector at Western Greenland. Five were buried in an ice fort near the camp were swept away to sea by the winds and currents and could not be recovered.

Greely abandoned Fort Conger on August 9, 1883, and reached Baird inlet Sept. 29, following, with his party all well. He abandoned all his boats and was adrift 30 days on an ice float in Smith's Sound. His permanent camp was established Oct. 21, '83, at the point where he was found. During nine months his party had to live upon seal allowance of food brought from Fort Conger that was hidden at Prayer harbor and Cape Isabella by Sir George Nares in 1875, but found much damaged by the lapse of time. That concealed by Bebee at Cape Sabine in '82 and a small amount saved from the wreck of the Proteus in '82 and stored by Lieutenants Garlington and Colwell on the beach where Greely's party was found camped. When these provisions were consumed the party was forced to live upon seal skin strips from their seal skin clothing, and lichens and shrimps procured in good weather when they were strong enough to make the exertion. As 1300 shrimps were required to fill a gallon measure the labor was too exhausting to depend upon them to sustain life on the ice. The channel between Cape Sabine and Littleton Island did not close on account of violent gales all winter, so that rations at the latter point could not be reached. All Greely's records and instruments brought by him from Fort Conger are recovered and on board. From Hare island to Smith's Sound, I had a constant and furious struggle with ice in impassable floes. Solid barriers of ice were overcome by watchfulness and patience. No opportunity to advance a mile escaped me, and for several hundred miles the ships were forced to ram their way from lead to lead through ice varying from three to six feet, and when raised much greater. The Thetis and Bear reached Cape York on June 18, after a passage of twenty-one days, in Melville bay with the two advance ships of the Dundee whaling fleet, and continued to Cape Sabine. Returning seven days later we fell in with seven others of the fleet off Woostenholme Island, and announced Greely's rescue to them, that they might not be delayed from their fishing grounds, nor be tempted into the dangers of Smith's Sound in view of the reward of $25,000 offered by Congress. Returning across Melville bay we fell in with the Alert and Loch Garry, of the Devil's Thumb, struggling through the heavy ice. Commander Coffin did admirably to get along so far with the transport in the season of the year before an opening had occurred. Lieut. Emory, with the Bear, has supported me throughout with great skillfulness and unflinching readiness in accomplishing the great duty of relieving Greely. I would ask instructions about the Loch Garry, as the charter party held by her masters differs in several respects from mine. The Greely party are very much improved since their rescue, but were critical in the extreme when found and for several days after. Forty-eight hours delay in reaching them would be fatal to all now living. The season north is late and the closest for years. Smith's Sound was not open when I left Cape Sabine. The winter about Melville bay was the most severe for twenty years.

General Hagan, chief signal officer at Washington, has received the following despatch from Greely: Bramard, Bierderick, Connell, Fredericks, Long and myself, sole survivors, arrived to-day, having been rescued at the point of death from starvation by the relief ships Thetis and Bear, June 22, at Camp Clay, north west of Cape Sabine. We abandoned Fort Conger Aug. 9; were frozen in a pack off Victoria Head Aug. 28; abandoned steam launch Sept. 11, eleven miles northeast of Cocked Hat Island. When on the point of landing we were three times driven by south-west storms into Kane's sea. Finally landed Sept. 29 in Baird inlet. Learning by scouting parties of the Proteus disaster, and that no provisions had been left for us from Cape Isabella to Sabine, we moved and established winter quarters at Camp Clay, half way between Sabine and Cocked Hat. The survivors owe their lives to the indomitable energy of Capt. Schley and Lieut. Emory who preceded by three and accompanied by five whalers, forced their vessels from Upernivik through Melville bay into the north water at Cape York with the foremost whaler. They gunned a year when ever possible, and always held it. Smith Sound was crossed and the party rescued during one of the most violent gales I have ever known. Four of us were then unable to walk and could not have survived another twenty-four hours. I saved and bring back copies of the meteorological, tidal and astronomical, magnetic pendulum and other observations; also the pendulum of Yale and standard thermometers. Forty-eight photographic negatives; collections of blanks and photographic proofs. The Eskimo relics and other things were necessarily abandoned.

The following despatch was forwarded by Secretary Chandler to Commander W. S. Schley at St. John's, Nfld.: Receive my congratulations and thanks for yourself and your whole command for your prudence, perseverance and courage in reaching our dead and dying countrymen. The hearts of the American people go out with great affection to Lieut. Greely and the few survivors of his deadly peril. Care for them unremittingly and bid them be cheerful and hopeful on account of what life yet has in store for them. Preserve tenderly the remains of the heroic dead. Prepare them according to your judgment and bring them home.

The Coming Struggle.

This year is likely to be specially noted for a deadly struggle between the Prohibition and liquor parties in Ontario. Prohibitionists are closing up the ranks of the various temperance elements, and as far as possible making their union perfect. They have been greatly encouraged by the measure of success which has attended the operation of the Scott Act in this county during the past two years, and are working with a spirit of vigor and earnestness unparalleled in the history of the temperance movement in this province. The overwhelming majority in favor of the act to Oxford county recently has also done much towards increasing their zeal and filling their breasts with brighter hopes for the future. The unanimity of thought and prompt responsive action seems to have awakened the liquor party to a lively apprehension of the danger in store for it, and the 'sinners of war' have been thrown out before the public eyes with a flourish quite characteristic of the in-wardness of the whole business. This premonitory symptom of a conflict between right and principle, and the good of the human race on the one hand, and a lucrative though demoralizing trade on the other, is but the prelude to one of the severest and most uncompromising struggles ever known. Philanthropists appeal to the higher, nobler instincts of men's natures for their verdict upon the traffic now arranged for trial, but the traffic appeals to what? Money? This constitutes their 'sinews of war.' A few thousand dollars are to be spent in each constituency for the purpose of fighting the Scott Act. No, not fighting the Scott Act; but fighting against the principles which elevate men, which lift them out of a bondage worse than slavery, and from a mental, moral and social desolation appalling as it has been disastrous. In one end of the scale is justice, blindfolded, holds in her hand, we place (1) the sacred ties which bind men to home, family and friends; (2) virtue, honor, peace, prosperity, contentment, happiness; (3) every temperance organization in the land; (4) all the churches, with a few painful exceptions; and (5) the earnest, pleading, heart-rending cries of the irreclaimable drunkard for liberty from a thraldom worse than death. What shall be put on the other end of the scale? What is there available that can be placed there? Nothing but money! This is the only portion of the assets, which can be safely put in, the remainder is not comely to look upon. Money is the omnipotent thing, and it is proposed by its devotees to outweigh the content of the other end of the scale. What an estimate the liquor interest makes of the strength of its adversaries when it presumes to enter the conflict having for its sole weapon a few thousand dollars in money! Is this to be its sole argument? Its sole plea to be so. There is no doubt that there were anything better we would hear of it. But money was tried in Oxford and to little purpose, save in the towns and villages. Much of it was used in corrupting the electors by the majority bought, and some was squandered on a few public speakers, who were dear at any price. The liquor party anticipated a victory by a majority of four or five hundred, but were confronted on the other side by the electors of the majority nearly 800 on the other side. So that the omnipotent influences they put to work there are hardly likely to prove any more powerful elsewhere.—[Halton News.]

Rescued at Last. W. H. Crocker, druggist, of Waterdown, says, when all other remedies fail for Bowel Complaints, then Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry comes to the rescue.

Set Down That Glass. There is death in it. It contains ardent spirits, and it will destroy you. 'One glass will not destroy me,' you say. So said that man whom you saw drunk on the floor, wallowing in his vomit. So said the man whom you saw beating his wife.

So said that wretch whom you saw on the gallows for committing murder while intoxicated. And so you will say till you become like them.

Set down the glass! I speak not to the drunkard, for he will not mind me. I speak not to the man who already loves strong drink so much as to think it necessary for his comfort or his health. I speak to the man who is yet free.

Set down the glass! There is death in it. Will you drink it? What urges you to it? 'I am my own master,' say you? Then let not strong drink become your master. I beseech you to stop this boasting or you are undone.

Set down the glass!—[Sel.] For Old or Young. Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is the remedy for Cholera, Colic, Diarrhoea and Dysentery. No person is safe without it.

Wheeler's Tissue Phosphates. A DISAGREEABLE AND UNSIGALTY result of poverty of the blood disfigure the surface of the body. In the class of cases there is a defect in the digestive process and the tissue elements do not reach the circulation in a state fit for the work of repair. Wheeler's Tissue Phosphates and Cellulose, composed of agents that invigorate the stomach and secure healthy blood, has cured many obstinate cases.

Street Swearing.

By some strange dispensation of Providence, boys have a prevailing notion that they become manly by imitating the vices of men. They learn the use of whiskey and tobacco in order to become like their elders. The estimate they put upon vicious accomplishments was well illustrated by the reply of a youth of 15 to a gentleman who addressed him as 'boy.' 'Call me a boy?' said the hopeful. 'I've chewed tobacco these three years.'

Perhaps the most common of these premature acquisitions is the habit of profane swearing. If one passes a knot of youngsters anywhere from 12 to 18 years old on a street corner, the chances are that he will hear some exceedingly offensive profane language. If a gang of the same sort ofurchins happens to go along in the evening while a family may be sitting on the front steps of a house, the casual conversation that is heard is very likely to be such as to make a father or mother wish the young children were in bed and out of earshot. If two wagon-drivers salute each other when they meet in the street, it is something to be thankful if they do not punctuate their ejaculations with profanity. In fact it is pretty nearly impossible for any gentleman, or lady, or child, to walk half a dozen blocks through any of our busy streets, at a time of day or evening when they are most crowded with people, without being regaled with coarse and profane remarks—chiefly from young men—which spoil the pleasure of the ramble.

The statute of Michigan provides that if any person who has arrived at the age of discretion, shall profanely curse or damn, or swear by the name of God, Jesus Christ or the Holy Ghost, he shall on conviction thereof be fined not exceeding $5 nor less than $1. It is always open to the offender to plead non-age—that he has not arrived at years of discretion—and it may be that any person swearing in public places would be adjudged so feeble intellect as not to come within the meaning of the statute; and as the law means anything and is worth keeping in the book, it would be hard to give any sufficient reason why it should not be carried out in practice. It appears in substantially the same form in most of the state constitutions, and has a truly venerable origin in American jurisprudence. Time was when it was as much alive as the law against stealing sheep, and quite as likely to be enforced, but perhaps no person now living ever knew of a prosecution under it.

The fact is that the public estimate of the sinfulness and vulgarity of profane swearing has become so loose and uncertain that this repulsive vice of speech has attained almost universal prevalence. If the habit were considered disgraceful, as it once was, and condemned by the people who make the unwritten laws of social propriety, as it once was, the statute would still have a significance, and profane swearing would be reckoned a disgrace as well as a legal misdemeanor. Leaving out its religious aspect, and even its bearing upon personal morals there is the lower ground upon which all will agree—that the exhibitions of profanity in public places are a disgrace to the community, and a source of annoyance to the bystanders. The slightest degree of that consideration for others which goes to make up the character of a true gentleman should at any rate banish it from our streets.—[Ex.]

Shakespearean Slang.

The power of Shakespeare over the public is shown by the extent to which his phrases, and even his slang, has become incorporated into our language. In this point, indeed, he is unequalled. Among those are 'bag and baggage,' 'disagreeable as a legal mind,' 'my humility,' 'tell the truth and shame the devil,' 'hit or miss,' 'love is blind,' 'selling for a song,' 'wide world,' 'cut copies,' 'fast and loose,' 'unconsidered trifles,' 'westward ho,' 'familiarly breeds contempt,' 'patching up excuses,' 'merry makes strange bedfellows,' 'to boot (in a trade),' 'short and long of it,' 'comb your head with a three-legged stool,' 'dancing attendance,' 'getting even' (revenge), 'birds of a feather,' 'that's flat,' 'tag-rag,' 'Greek to me' (unintelligible), 'send me packing,' 'as the day is long,' 'racking a jury' (mother wit), 'hull with kindness,' 'mum' (for silence), 'hull with kindness blows no good,' 'wild-goose chase,' 'scare crow,' 'luggage,' 'row of pins' (as a mark of value), 'viva voce,' 'give and take,' 'sold' (the way of joking), 'give the devil his due,' 'your cake is dough.' These expressions have come under my own notice, and of course there must be many others of equal familiarity. The girl who playfully calls some youth a 'milkmaid' is using a quotation from Shakespeare, and even 'foggerhead' is of the same origin. 'Eteonore' is first found in Shakespeare, and so are 'Almanacs.' The 'elm and vine' (as a figure) may also be mentioned. Shakespeare is the first author that speaks of 'the man in the moon,' or mentions the potato, or uses the term 'eyegore,' for annoyance. Another often-quoted utterance may be here mentioned, simply because it is generally misunderstood: 'One touch of nature makes the whole world kin,' which is supposed to express the power of sympathy, whereas it solely referred to the widespread operation of selfishness.

Prejudiced People. Many people are prejudiced against patent medicines, but also who try Bannock Blood Bitters are compelled to acknowledge it worthy a patent as a valuable discovery.

No Disappointment. Disappointments of one kind or another crop up all along life's pathway, for unfortunately it is the unexpected that always happens. There is at least one article of acknowledged merit that never disappoints. Putnam's Painless Corn Extract is sure to remove the worst corn in a few days, and as no claim is made that it will cure anything else, it cannot disappoint. If you have hard or corns just try it. Beware of the article 'just as good.' N. C. Putnam & Co., proprietors, Kingston.

WASHINGTON, D.C., May 16th, 1880.

GENTLEMEN—Having been a sufferer for a long time from nervous prostration and general debility, I was advised to try Hop Bitters. I have taken one bottle, and I have been rapidly getting better ever since, and I think it the best medicine I ever used. I am now gaining strength and appetite, which was all gone, and I was in despair until I tried your Bitters. I am now well, able to go about and do my own work. Before taking it I was completely prostrated. Mrs. MARY STUART.

James Brasley, Hamilton, says: "I read the testimonials for Motive's Universal Compound I had not to go to New York, Philadelphia, Louisiana or Texas to find living witnesses of its value, we have plenty of them right here to prove its merits. I got a bottle with Bilious Fever and indigestion as I think any one could be. I have taken three bottles and am nearly well and can eat any kind of food without it hurting me. I may say I am better than I ever expected to be. Free trial bottles at G. Rynas."

In the history of medicines no preparation has received such a universal commendation for the alleviation it affords, and the permanent cure it effects in kidney diseases, as Dr. Van Buren's Kidney Cure. Its action in these distressing complaints is simply wonderful. Sold by J. Wilson. 2m

ONTARIO'S RIGHTS.

Hon. G. Mowat's Position Sustained by the Privy Council.

The Privy Council have decided on the Boundary Question, and in favor of Ontario. Mr. Mowat's vindication was certain from the first.

The Globe gives the following despatch regarding the decision:—

LONDON, July 22.—At the opening of the Ontario Boundary case before the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council to-day, Hon. G. Mowat proceeded with his argument in reply to Messrs. McCarthy and Robinson, counsel for Manitoba.

At the conclusion of his address the Judicial Committee stated they would present a report to the Queen-in-Council on the whole case, but intimated they would recommend a boundary practically the same as that awarded by the Canadian arbitrators.

The Ontario Government members received the following cablegram from London:—

"Argument concluded. Judgment on question submitted to be in our favor. Huzzah. MOWAT."

Although it was decided that the conventional award set down by the arbitrators was not a legal award, the Privy Council, in determining a boundary, appears to have adopted the one proposed, and thus to have made legal what was before simply conventional. The victory is an important one for Ontario, and the credit of winning it belongs to Mr. Mowat and his colleagues in the Ontario Government.

It is a complete set-back for Sir John A. Macdonald, whose contempt for fairness and equity, and whose misinterpretation of constitutional law, is becoming a proverb.

Three years ago, speaking of the territory now awarded Ontario, the Tory Chief Minister said: "Not an acre of land, not a stick of pine, not a pound of minerals in that territory will ever belong to Ontario."

Here is a list of the great cases which, during the last few months, the "great constitutional lawyer" has had the misfortune to hold an opposite view from that of the British Privy Council:—

"PROFESSOR" JOHNSON.

"We Went Away on Saturday, But Not at His Own Expense—O, No!"

On Friday afternoon Chief Constable Waffle, of Dresden, arrived by train with a warrant for the arrest of Angus Johnson, the bogus phrenologist, on a charge of lock-up breaking.

In conversation with Mr. Waffle, we learned that Johnson is a "tough un," and is well-known in police circles in Western Ontario, and on the other side. He also gave a few anecdotes of his slippery character in "jumping" from law-officers, which showed that Johnson was a fellow who had been through the constabulary.

The Chatham Banner refers to "Johnson, the fellow who used to hold forth on the market here and who was wanted for assault and jail breaking in Dresden, was arrested on Thursday, in Goderich and lodged in jail to await the arrival of the constable watching.

ORGANIZATION.

In the Globe of Monday last appeared a letter on organization, by Mr. D. E. Cameron, of Lockport.

The letter gives subject for thought to all active Liberal political workers. We coincide to a considerable extent with the writer in the views he puts forth, and hope that he will follow up the matter in future letters.

A more thorough political education of the rank and file is necessary, and a system of political discipline is indispensable to the success of the Liberal party.

The following is Mr. Cameron's letter:—

THE DUTY OF THE HOUR.

SIR,—Reformers rely for success on the soundness of their principles and on the advocacy of them upon the platform and through the press.

It therefore follows that the hope of the Liberal party is in the education of the people. Believing as we do that the hope of the country is the speedy displacement of the present corrupt Government, and the accession of the Liberals to power, it becomes the urgent and imperative duty of all who hold these views to use every fair and legitimate effort to accomplish the desired object.

The fact of knowledge on the part of the masses of the people in matters political is not sufficiently realized by those whose privilege it is to be leaders of political thought in the country.

This ignorance arises partly from lack of education and other circumstances and partly from apathy and indifference. Instances of being considered the highest duty of citizenship to take an active interest in the affairs of state, and thus to have made legal what was before simply conventional.

The victory is an important one for Ontario, and the credit of winning it belongs to Mr. Mowat and his colleagues in the Ontario Government.

It is a complete set-back for Sir John A. Macdonald, whose contempt for fairness and equity, and whose misinterpretation of constitutional law, is becoming a proverb.

EDWARD HANLAN.

The World's Champion Oarsman in the Antipodes.

His Race with Laycock—An Easy Victory—The Canadian Triumph.

From our own Correspondent.

To the people of Sydney, and in fact to the people of Australia, the visit of Edward Hanlan has been looked upon as one of the greatest events that has occurred during the last decade.

The news came that a match had been arranged between Hanlan and the best sculler that Australia could produce, those who took any interest in sporting matters—a large majority of Australians—seemed to think of or talk of little else, and the race for the championship of the world was the all absorbing topic in aquatic circles.

Equally great was the disappointment when at one time it was thought the arranged match would fall through, and the little wonder would not be seen under the Southern Cross, but a cable was received announcing that Hanlan had left "Frisco en route for Australia and immediate steps were taken by the sporting fraternity to give him a hearty reception.

On his arrival the docks were thronged by the Sydneyites eagerly watching to get a sight of THE INVINCIBLE KANUCK, or Yankee as he is styled here, and amid a cheering, excited crowd he was driven to his hotel accompanied by a number of the Colony's representative men.

The following day, 17th March, at eleven o'clock the reception took place and the customary long speeches were made and toasts drunk. Hanlan, with his accustomed brevity, in his reply stated that he had come all the way from Canada to beat their best man, and he was going to do so if it was in him.

For days he seemed to be the observed of all observers, and the daily press watched his movements as closely as some of the London organs shadow the steps of Her Majesty Queen Victoria. One paper headed "Donkey Worshipers" appeared in one of the dailies, which cooled the ardor of the worshippers from boiling to about blood heat, [at which registration it stands at the present time. Hanlan was not asleep in the meantime and had it widely advertised that he would give AN EXHIBITION of skill at Manly Beach, eight miles from Sydney, unapproachable except by steamers and ferries. All the boats were chartered by him for that day—a general holiday—and a charge of two shillings (50 cts.) per head was made. It is needless to add the scheme was a complete financial success. The exhibition consisted of a race between Hanlan and Edwards, of Melbourne, and a general display of Hanlan's skill in manipulating his boat, and the widely advertised feat of walking on the water.

The race of course was won by Hanlan by about a length, and at the finish he complimented his young opponent, as was his usual custom, by saying it was one of the hardest races he had ever rowed. The feat of WALKING ON THE WATER attracts hundreds that might have otherwise not attended the exhibition. A pair of large zinc shoes some four feet in length and filled with cork or other light, buoyant substance was the secret of his successfully carrying out this part of his exhibition. These shoes were repeated on another general holiday with like success, and we can safely conclude that Hanlan is several thousand dollars better off by it.

The difficulty was met with in making the final arrangements as to the location of the course over which the championship race was to be rowed. Before Hanlan arrived a test was made to find THE BEST SCULLER IN AUSTRALIA to match against him. Elias Laycock had broken his leg, and the contest lay with Rush, Beach and Trickett. Wm. Beach proved the best man, and for the time was acknowledged the champion of Australia. Beach absolutely refused to row on the Nepean course, chosen by Hanlan and promoters of the match, Elias Laycock, Hanlan's old opponent in the Thames course in 1881, when the last deposit was made by Hanlan, and Beach still persistently refused to step forward to fill the breach. Trickett was not in a fit state of health to continue in training any longer or he would have been considered the next best man. Hanlan agreed to have Laycock's name inserted in the articles instead of Beach's or Trickett's, and the match was arranged for £200 ($1000) a side on the Nepean course the distance about 3 1/2 miles, the race to take place ON MAY 22ND.

We were too much interested in our countryman to miss the race, so Thursday morning bright and early, saw us at Redfern station, boarding a train expecting to be whirled to the scene of the race with all that celebrity and dispatch which the newspaper advertisements and posters had led us to anticipate. The railway officials did not reciprocate our desire to see the race sharp on time, for they kept the train back fully thirty-five minutes, while a head porter ably seconded by a half dozen of his acolytes, kept up a continual howling of "This way to the boat race, gentlemen!" The first 14 miles was reached in 40 minutes, and the whole journey 35 miles was completed in the unprecedented time of 1 hour and 40 min. The bright and verdant aspect of the country traversed fortunately relieved the tediousness of the journey. On our arrival a rush was made for the Nepean river a beautiful stream about the size of the Matildan near its mouth, but with a much greater volume of water. It rises in the ravines of the Blue Mountains and runs for a long distance hemmed in on both sides by almost perpendicular rocks, until it suddenly emerges into a beautiful and fertile valley called the Emu plains. The little town of Penrith is here situated, and this was the point chosen as the course. As a sheet of WATER FOR BOWING ON it cannot be surpassed; smooth as glass, and without any perceptible current it gives the rower every facility for bringing into play all his powers and skill. The vicinity of the river was swarmed with a host of sharpers of every shade and variety, amongst whom the "three card monte" men preponderate and shoot the dice, or they had such and made a charge of 2 shillings (50c.), also had the most curious and multifarious collection of dodgers and schemers for extracting money that it is possible to imagine. From three card monte to pinpoints, including thimble riggers, roulette, and "gentlemen" of the pure trick, "gentlemen" who were betting a sovereign as to whether a penny turned up heads or tails, and "gentlemen" with monkeys as themselves who managed to hide their victims out of their cash with an avarice case, in fact the whole fraternity of LIGHT FINGERED GENTRY was represented. The enclosure contained about 5,000 spectators, many of whom did not come in by the "wicket gate," but to our certain knowledge had come "over the garden wall." As the time for the race drew nigh, every one was on the alert, every point of vantage was occupied. When the two boats appeared in the start closely followed by a small steamer carrying the umpire and press representatives, many of the spectators were worked up to a highly enthusiastic pitch; one man with a telescope would persist in yelling out, "The boat is ahead," but the fixed impression of the majority was that Laycock had NOT "THE GHOST

The Barley Question.
We quote a few figures from a letter by Mr. J. C. Snell, of Chingoway, to the Brampton Times and Banner which throws considerable light on the profitableness of barley as compared with other crops. His estimate of expenditure and returns per acre for a crop of barley is: COST OF PRODUCTION.
Rent.....$8 00
Ploughing..... 1 50
Cultivating and sowing..... 0 75
Harrowing and rolling..... 0 50
Seed (2 bushels)..... 1 30
Harvesting..... 2 00
Threshing..... 1 50
Marketing..... 1 00
Manure..... 5 00
Total cost.....$16 55

PROCEEDS
30 bushels at 65 cents.....$19 50
Straw..... 3 00
Total proceeds.....$22 50
16 55
Profit.....$5 95
He then quotes the following estimate by Prof. Brown, of the Ontario Agricultural College, on the profits arising out of the following named crops:—
Roots, profit per acre.....$34 80
Wheat, "..... 26 90
Peas, "..... 17 25
Oats, "..... 11 72

Prof. Brown also gives the following values of the straw from the four principal grain crops:—
Wheat straw.....$5 00
Oat straw..... 6 00
Pea straw..... 5 00
Barley straw..... 3 50
To conclude, Mr. Snell quotes the following as the yield on his own farm last year of the following named crops:—
Wild Goose Wheat, 31 bushels per acre, 65c.....$20 35
Oats, 50 bushels per acre, 35c..... 17 50

In Bermuda.
I have said that courtesy is the rule in Bermuda. Here is a proof of it. At one time during these performances, the crowd surged in front of me so that I could see only a wall of backs and shoulders. A kindly-faced and sweet-voiced negro perceived this, touched my shoulder, saying, 'Take my place, lady. You cannot see.' 'But, I answered, 'if I do, you will see nothing.' 'Oh, that does not matter,' she said with a bright smile. 'The lady is a stranger, but I have seen the princess a good many times.'

Manners in the islands, if not hearts, are exceedingly friendly. Everybody, as a rule salute. No man, be he white or black, passes a lady without lifting his hat. Every child makes its grateful salutation. Negro women, with baskets on their heads, give you a word or a smile as they go by. Little boys and girls steal slyly up with gifts of fruit. Nobody is in a hurry, nobody seems to have anything to do; yet every one is well clad, and looks happy and contented.
Perhaps there is poverty in Bermuda, but squalor and absolute want, if they exist, keep themselves strangely out of sight. The first thing, perhaps, that strikes the visitor, after the beauty of the water and the perfection of the flowers is the appearance of ease and well-to-do comfort that pervades the islands. There is no rubbish, no dirt, no dust, no mud.
Instead of the tumble down shanties that deform and defile the rest of the world, here the humblest citizen not only dreams of marble halls, but actually dwells in them—or seems to. All the houses are built of the snow-white stone; a coral formation that underlies every foot of soil. When first quarried, the stone is so soft that it can be cut with a knife. But it hardens on exposure to the air, and is so durable it that a house once built is good for at least a hundred years. That it readily lends itself to the architectural purposes is shown by the interior of Trinity Church, and by the handsome and massive gateways with their arches and columns, that one meets at every turn. These, with the wellkept grounds, give an impression of affluence and elegance that is, perhaps, sometimes misleading. For we are told that there are not many large incomes in Bermuda, and that the style of living in these beautiful and picturesque homes is very simple and unostentatious.—[Atlantic Monthly.]

An Independent View.
There is, of course, great rejoicing in the Tory camp over the prospect that the limits of Ontario will be seriously curtailed. It is a striking exemplification of the evils of party spirit when men go into ecstasies over an injury inflicted upon their own province because their opponents have gallantly striven to uphold its rights. But the Tories are just a little premature in their jubilation. Should it turn out, as the news of Ontario is greatly narrowed by the final decision of the Privy Council, and the province completely cut off from access to Hudson's bay, a very strong feeling of resentment will be aroused against the infamous course of Sir John Macdonald and his servile following, who have sacrificed their province for their party. For notwithstanding the defects in the Award, it could have been made valid had the Dominion parliament chosen to ratify it, and Sir John used his influence to induce Manitoba—at that time a good deal more manageable than at present—to do the same. The Tories will have to shoulder the full responsibility of the loss of the territory. Great expectations have been entertained of the benefits to Ontario of a seaport on Hudson's bay should the coast route via Hudson's straits prove feasible, and should these be disappointed by the result of the reference, the Tories will hear something drop.—[Toronto News.]

New Orleans Centennial Exposition.

The Director General of the World's Industrial and Cotton Centennial Exposition, to be opened at New Orleans on the first Monday in December, 1884, in a report which is before us gives interesting facts respecting the preparations for the event, which promises to be one of the most striking of the present century.
The main building is 1,375 feet in length and 905 feet in width, affording 1,300,000 square feet of floor space, with convenient apartments attached for police, fire department, public comfort offices, meeting rooms for various national organizations, and with a central music hall capable of seating 11,000 persons, and a machinery hall 1,375 feet in length by 250 feet in width. Extensive accommodations have been provided for the display of factories of all varieties in motion.

The Growth of the Orange Tree.

The orange tree is the longest lived fruit tree known. It is reputed to have attained the age of three hundred years, and it has been known to have flourished and borne fruit for more than a hundred years. No fruit tree will grow and produce fruit so well under rough treatment. It commences to bear the third or fourth year after budding, and by the fifth year it will produce an abundant crop, but its yield will increase gradually under favorable circumstances, and as the years pass on it will become a very productive tree. The early growth of the orange is quite rapid, and by the tenth year it will have increased more than in the next fifty years, so far as its breadth and height are concerned; but its age multiplies its fruit stems greatly, and an old tree will sometimes bear several thousand oranges.

A BANNER TESTIMONY.

For a Cough, Cold or any Bronchial affection, "Pectoria," in my opinion, is just the thing. I have used it in my family for Coughs and Colds for the past four years with the most unvaried success, and to-day my opinion of it is that I continue to think still more of that which I began thinking well of.

Don't Judge Hastily.

One of the saddest things I know of is that epitaph which the Virginia father, gathering up the remnant left him after the ravages of war, and setting himself as best he could in the new situation, placed upon a stone he raised as a memorial of his old home. On one face of it he inscribed these words: "To the sacred memory of my eldest boy, who fell fighting for the stars and stripes." On the opposite side he wrote: "To the sacred memory of my youngest boy, who fell fighting for the lost cause." And between them on the third face, "God only knows which was right!" I pity that man's sorrow and dark perplexity. But there is a double question here as to the "right," of which he dared not judge. The motive in the young men's minds was one thing, and the justice of the cause was another. God alone knows the heart, and he alone can judge men's motives. It is one of the strange facts of life that the best of feelings are sometimes enlisted in the worst of causes, and the worst of feelings in the best of causes. You cannot always judge the moral value of an act merely from its surface, nor can you judge it merely from its motive. But men are responsible for their motives which they have allowed to control them, and for their use of the light they might have had if they would open their eyes to it.—(Gen. J. L. Chamberlain at Monson.)

A Startling Discovery.
Wm. Johnson, of Huron, Dak., writes that his wife had been troubled with acute Bronchitis for many years, and that all remedies tried gave no permanent relief, until he procured a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, which had a magical effect, and produced a permanent cure. It is guaranteed to cure all diseases of Throat, Lungs or Bronchial Tubes. Trial bottles free at J. Wilson's drug

Fun and Fancy.

'Have you,' asked the Judge of a recently convicted man, 'anything to offer the Court before sentence is passed?'

'No, your honor,' replied the prisoner, 'my lawyer took my last cent.'

'Indeed,' said Mr. O'Rafferty, who was discussing the good old days, 'the people who lived in the wurruld whin there was not a single livin' soul on the face of the earth had the best time of it that I can imagine.'

Emerson says a man ought to carry a pencil and note down the thoughts of the moment. Yes, and one short pencil devoted exclusively to that use, would last some men we know about two thousand years, and then have the original point on.

'What is the price of axle grease?' asked a new clerk of a grocery dealer; 'There is no mark on it.' 'It depends on your customer. If he asks for axle-grease charge him fifteen cents a pound, but if he wants butter, make it thirty-eight cents.'

At an evening party one of the guests preserved a strict silence, no matter what might be the subject of conversation. Theodore Hook at last advanced to him and said: 'If you are a fool you are a wise man; if you are a wise man you are a fool.'

There comes a time in every little girl's life when she is seized with a longing to cook. - [Evening Post. And there comes a time in every big girl's life when she is seized with a longing to hire somebody else to cook. It comes after she gets married.

'Hello, Johnny, where've you been all the morning?' asked one urchin of another, as he appeared in the school-room during the afternoon session. 'Been fishin',' was the rejoinder. 'Ketch anything?' 'Yes, a lickin',' and the second class in geography stood up.

Impoverished aristocrat - 'What dish, waitah, combines the greatest ah, luxury with the least expense?' Waiter - 'Cod, fish and cream - Eighteen cents.' I. A. - 'And how much for the coddish, ah, plain?' Waiter - 'Same price, sir.' I. A. - 'Waitah, bring me some, ah, cream.'

The intellect that directs the bee lines in life, under the caption of 'How to Handle Bees,' says a bee is not a very difficult thing to handle. He is as easily picked up as a strawberry, is reasonably light and compressible. To handle him is, therefore, a mere song. Any man can do it. In fact the more ignorant of bees a man is the more easily he can handle one. The main difficulty seems to be in quieting the man down after he has handled a small but frolicsome bee. There have been men known to race around a 10 acre lot, and eventually lose their salvation, after handling one bee for the tenth part of a second. What the country really needs is an article on how to avoid handling bees.

HOW THEY LIVE.

A Tramp's Off-hand Replies to a Whole Cretinism of Pointed Questions.

A browny-headed, elderly-looking sun-browned man was lying sleeping under a black slouch hat, a heavy cane, and his greasy-looking black knapsack. He was a tramp.

'Bang' went a gun and a pigeon dropped at a hunter's feet. The tramp was awakened by the noise.

'Beg pardon for disturbing you,' said the gunner.

'No matter; I'm through,' said the tramp, sitting up.

The gunner put his pigeon in his game bag, sat on a rock, and the following talk took place:

'On a tramp?'

'Yes.'

'How long?'

'Ten years or more.'

'How's that?'

'Because I don't like to work.'

'How do you get food?'

'Beg it.'

'From women?'

'Always from men?'

'Why not women?'

'They frighten too easily.'

'Do men ever refuse?'

'Never.'

'Only in matters that concern tramps.'

'What's that?'

'Crimes, tramp laws, and arrests.'

'Would you wear new shoes?'

'Never.'

'New clothes?'

'No, sir, even if I got 'em honest.'

'No, hat?'

'No.'

'Why not?'

'I'd be arrested for a thief the first tramp robbed.'

'What does a tramp most want?'

'To be left alone no man anything, but the world owes no man anything, but the smartest gets the most the easiest.'

'Suppose the world did owe each man a living?'

'Why, then, we'd have ten times more tramps.'

'Bed for you?'

'I should sulk.'

'Anybody worse off than tramps?'

'Plenty.'

'What becomes of tramps?'

'They get old if they're not killed.'

'Never die?'

'Not natural deaths.'

'How is that?'

'A healthy tramp's dirty and contracts no disease. Besides, he's no wear and tear of brain.'

'Fith a prevention of disease?'

'Certainly. Did you ever see a sick dirty man?'

'Are they scarce?'

'As dead mules.'

'How are tramps made?'

'In two ways.'

'First?'

'The American becomes a tramp first generally through misfortune. It is never deliberate.'

HALTON'S POSITION.

How the Petition for the Repeal of the Scott Act Progresses.

OTTAWA, July 18.—On Wednesday D. McGibbon, barrister, Milton, arrived and presented the petition, praying that the governor in council fix a day for voting on the repeal of the Scott Act. It was signed by 2155 actual voters in the county and some 2520 names are in the petition. The difference is through duplications, removals from the county, and deaths. This morning W. G. Fee, the well-known temperance organizer, and formerly secretary of the Ontario alliance, presented a counter petition, signed on behalf of the temperance electors of Halton by Rev. M. Cameron, president of Halton alliance; Rev. L. Brethour, secretary; W. D. Brothers, A. Wilcott, W. H. Lindsey, Jas. Holliday, Rev. M. McKenzie, T. J. Starrett, Editor Halton News; J. M. Bastedo and J. Harrison. This counter petition sets forth that in the petition for the repeal of the Scott Act itself and the order in council of January 21st, 1881, respecting the petition are unaccomplished. It appears that during the last dominion general elections the conservative candidate in Halton was ex-sheriff, Senator McKinstry and W. McCraney, Liberal. The temperance people being afraid of certain proposed amendments to the Scott Act, sought to obtain the pledge of the opposition thereto from the candidates. McKinstry refused to pledge himself, but McCraney did.

The temperance people then organized their own meetings, and ran a campaign in the interest of McCraney as the temperance candidate. This aroused ill feeling among the temperance conservatives, and many of them were induced during the heat of the campaign to sign a petition asking for the repeal of the Scott Act. The names thus obtained in the autumn of 1882 form one-half of the present repeal petitions. Their names were appended to it, although many have since gone back to the Scott Act party; scores of declarations from voters signing will be presented to the department stating that they are in favor of the act, although appearing among those petitioning for repeal. That the temperance people were justly in opposing McKinstry was shown by his contrary respecting the Scott Act in the Senate last session.

The repeal petition was ultimately deposited in the sheriff's office at Milton, June 29, and remained there till July 12. Advertisements of these deposits were made June 12 and 19, and put as the law demands, two clear weeks before the deposit of the repeal petition. It is further declared to contain many errors, names of present non-resident and deceased voters, and with its procuring have been committed other irregularities. The Scott Act people believe the repeal petition is illegal, because the present sheriff, after the time for filing had expired, allowed it to be mutilated, added to and radically changed. It appears that after the petition was filed the repealers found that the provisions of the order-in-council passed Jan. 21, 1881, providing certain forms whereby the names of voters could be easily traced, had not been complied with. They then took the petition, although filed in compliance with their order, and changed its form, hacked and mutilated it so that it did not resemble the original petition. They even added printed matter.

The fight to get the dominion government to reject the petition for the repeal will be long, bitter and strong. A deputa-tion of representative temperance men from Halton, is to come here in a few days to urge the government to refuse the prayers asking for the taking of a repeal vote.

West Wawanosh.

STEEPS SOLD.—Last week Robt. McAlister, of St. Augustine, sold to Robt. McCarty, Lucknow, a yoke of two year old steers for the sum of $100. This is a good price and goes far to show the prudence of selling steers young rather than holding them, feeding them, and they are a year or two older. Mr. McAlister is satisfied that his way of disposing of steers is the best and most remunerative to the producer, as well as better for the buyer.

Belfast.

Jas. Mullin, of Wingham, paid his friends in this vicinity a visit lately. Most of the farmers around here have finished haying, and a few have commenced cutting their fall wheat. Valentine Alton took the job from the council of travelling 50 rods on the 10th con., a little west of here, and has almost completed it. This is a step taken in the right direction by the council. Jas. Mullin has erected a fine wire fence along the road between his place and his orchard. This will likely put a stop to any trouble, like that of last winter occasioned by the drifts and pitch-holes on the road.

Gorrie.

Too late for last week. Thos. Walker, of the 6th con. of Howick, received a severe blow on the back of the head from a stick of timber while helping at the raising of John Wilson, of the 9th con., on Thursday last. He was knocked senseless for a time, but is now about all right again. The Orange celebration held here on the 12th was attended by a large number of lodges and spectators. The Howick District L. O. L. together with a number of their brethren from Teeswater, Fordwich and Harrison attended the principal streets of Gorrie under the management of district marshal John Dane, in the forenoon. After dinner they proceeded to the drill field, where speeches were delivered by Rev. Mr. Chapman, of Gorrie, and Rev. Mr. Campbell, of Harrison, after which the different lodges marched down front street and then to the Orange, where they dispersed. There was the usual number of drinks and fights which are customary on such occasions, but which did not amount to much except a magistrate's suit between two parties, by which one of them had to pay $5.50 and the other $6.50.

PRESENTATION.

Parting Compliments to Rev. Father O'Connor, of Wawanosh.

Rev. Father O'Connor, the esteemed parish priest of Wawanosh for the past five or six years, has been appointed to His Lordship the Bishop of Huron to the parish of Maidstone in the county of Essex, whither he will remove in the course of a few days. Father O'Connor during his residence in this locality has endeared himself to everybody with whom he has come in contact, and departs with the love and esteem of his people and the hearty good will and wishes of all classes of the community. His pastorate has been wonderfully successful not only in spiritual but in natural things. He has purchased ten acres of land, erected a handsome brick residence with stables and outbuildings, laid out the grounds, beautified the church, and not only is this valuable property clear of debt, but a small balance remains in the treasury. These results speak volumes for the energy and enterprise of the rev. gentleman. On Sunday evening last at the close of the service his parishioners presented him with a purse containing nearly $200, as a token of their affectionate esteem, and on Tuesday laid a number of his clerical and lay friends at his residence at a farewell luncheon in his honor. Among those present were Rev. Fathers Shea, of Seaford, Watters and Lotz, of Goderich, Gorcoran, of Teeswater, and Murray, of St. Michael's College, Toronto, and Messrs. M. C. Cameron, Q.C., M.P., of Goderich, H. W. C. Meyer, mayor of Wingham, D. E. Cameron and Dr. Mack-Kid, of Lucknow.

The following address was presented to Father O'Connor by his conferees of the clergy, accompanied by a handsome silver vase pitcher. The address was read by Rev. Father Shea, of Seaford: REV. & DEAR SIR.—Your friends and conferees of the clergy avail themselves of this occasion to approach you with an expression of heartfelt regard and highest esteem. To many of us who have for years enjoyed your good offices and friendly assistance in all our undertakings, your removal to another sphere of duty is the occasion of a sad parting. We also rejoice, however, that His Majesty in deciding upon your appointment to the important and populous parish of Maidstone has made selection for you of a position wherein your services to religion will be as widely felt throughout the diocese as that wherein you have till now so faithfully and successfully labored. We have watched your priestly course with deepest interest and edification. In you we see these sacerdotal virtues the exorcism of which led to the rapid growth of religion and the advancement of civilization. We have not failed to notice your fidelity to duty at all times, nor to appreciate your ready co-operation in every good work, not only in this district, but in this Diocese, we have seen in you, in a word, the good and faithful priest, whose life is the consolation of the Holy Church and the joy of her children.

We beg of you to accept the accompanying testimonial as a feeble expression of our regard. Our best wishes and prayers will accompany you to your new mission in which your years will, we trust, be long and happy.

After complimentary speeches by M. C. Cameron, Mayor Meyer and others, and a pleasant interval spent in music and conversation, the company dispersed with many regrets at parting with the Rev. Father. We wish him success in his new sphere.

Colborne.

F. Kurschursk is home again from Detroit. A lot of fence was burned on Monday night last when Mr. Habel was burning his fallow.

Wm. Sharffe is home again from the Northwest and he looks as if the air of the great lone land agreed with the constitution.

FALL WHEAT CUT.—James Davidson, lot 3, con. 3, Colborne, cut the first fall wheat in this section on Tuesday, the 15th. The variety was Clawson, and was well headed out, with good straw.

Henry Habel, Colborne's champion thrasher, has purchased a new machine from the firm of McDonald, McPherson & Co., of Stratford, which is a perfect beauty. Henry thinks he has got what nothing else can touch in this township.

B. Foster has erected a large frame barn 40 x 75 feet, with stone foundation underneath for stabling. It is known as what they call hip-roofed, something new in this part of the country. Sides were chosen by Thomas Calback and Alex. Birks, of Holmesville. After a short contest Calback beat by about half a dozen rafters.

LADY PEDESTRIANS.—On Friday afternoon Miss Bessie McKay, of Goderich, and Miss Richardson, of Toronto, walked from the residence of John Buchanan to Dunlop post office and back, a distance of 2 1/2 miles in three quarters of an hour. We wonder if any of the Colborne girls can beat this time for the distance.

Why can't we get a reaping match up between Colborne and Goderich townships? Our doughty reeve can swing a scythe well yet, and would doubtless be willing to lend a side against his old friend Gar Ewert. It would beat the tug of war hollow.

The Cholera.

PARIS, July 22.—There were 30 deaths from cholera at Marseilles last night, and 28 at Toulon. A panic was created at Toulon by the arrival of 100 coffins which had been ordered at Marseilles. The excitement was so great that the coffins had to be returned. At a meeting of the municipal council of Paris the direction of Public Aid declared that no case, genuine Asiatic or sporadic cholera, has been reported at the Paris hospitals. The deaths attributed to cholera were really due to other causes.

CAPT. DUTTON.

The Record of a Sea Captain Who Never Lost a Ship but Saved Souls.

Captain Joseph E. Dutton, the senior captain in the service of the Allan line of steamers, died in the hospital at Montreal last Sunday. He was about 56 years of age. During his service as Commodore of the fine vessels of the Allan fleet he crossed the Atlantic over 400 times, and could boast that he never lost or stranded a ship. While his record as a sailor was unimpeachable, he was almost as well known for his ability and earnestness as a Christian evangelist, and during his long service at sea he made it a part of his duty to conduct religious services on his ships. The captain was a man tall, portly, and with proportions rather closely cropped hair, full, gray-bearded face, keen, deep-set eyes, and had a voice full and sonorous, with just enough of a Lancashire accent to give it a quaint turn now and then. In each port he devoted his spare time to preaching, interspersed with visiting the sick and helping the unfortunate seamen in more material ways. Says one who has sailed with him for a number of years: "He never goes ashore without being fully equipped for the service of preaching the Gospel."

A passenger who crossed with him when Capt. Dutton commanded the Prussian says:—"On the first Sunday out we heard the ship's bell calling to prayer, and naturally supposed that, as usual the Sunday morning service would be of stereotyped character—the reading of the morning prayer of the Episcopal church. We found, however, the saloon crowded with an eager congregation, and the captain, officiating at the organ, led the way in singing, for he possessed a fine voice and knows how to use it. This done, the usual prayers and passages of Scripture were read, and then followed a short sermon of an interesting nature. This was not the only surprise. Captain Dutton announced that in the afternoon a Bible class would be held in the steerage, and that in the evening a prayer meeting in the forecastle would take place. Mindful of the fact, however, that persons of diverse faiths were on board, the announcement also was made that a priest on board would conduct a service for those of the Catholic faith. In the afternoon the organ found its way down into the steerage where 300 persons were crowded, and the deck above was equally thronged. Captain Dutton presided over the singing and standing firm. On the second Sunday we were at anchor near Quebec, and Capt. Dutton preached a sermon from the words: "So He bringeth them into the desired haven." The voyage was over, and the announcement also was made that a priest on board would conduct a service for those of the Catholic faith. remained seated. An opportunity was given to every opponent of the act to speak, but no one seemed in favor of embracing the opportunity.

LEEDS.—We would like a visit from the Lord's Army here. We would give them a fair show.

PERSONAL.—Miss Susan Black, of Detroit, visited friends here last week. J. Maitland, of Downie, Co. Perth, is the guest of S. Linfield.—James Cooke, of Clinton, sojourned for a few days with James Horton.—Fred Linfield enjoyed a pleasant visit to Holmesville last week.

At the last meeting of the I. O. G. T., 213, Bro. Pentland and Shepard, of Lakelot Lodge, Howick, attended and both gave interesting addresses, with a song by Bro. Shepard. A good programme by the members was given. An interesting recitation by Bro. Linklater brought down the house.

Mr. Labouchere's impression is that the vast majority of women prefer to be angels at the hearth to becoming electresses at the poll. Occasionally a woman has the intellect of the man, but as in the case of Queen Elizabeth, her intelligence is usually marred by being united with the weakness of a woman. Amongst what Sir Henry James has irreverently styled the "abjecting aristocracy," there are many charming ladies; but the rule holds good that most of them wish to be successes of men, because they are failures as women.

EPHESUS COCA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws of digestion, the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which will surely strengthen the system, and give us a healthy and happy habit of eating. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle poisons which find their way into the system and attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by the use of this Cocoa, which is a blood and a properly nourished frame. It is a service which will surely strengthen the system, and give us a healthy and happy habit of eating. We may escape many a fatal shaft by the use of this Cocoa, which is a blood and a properly nourished frame. It is a service which will surely strengthen the system, and give us a healthy and happy habit of eating. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle poisons which find their way into the system and attack wherever there is a weak point.
