The Chest Drawers.

MATTERS were in this state, with the morose and aged man—aged mentally and corporeally, although his years were but fifty-eight—when Mr. Flint made Mr. Jennings's acquaintance. Another month or so had passed away when Caleb's attention was one day about noon claimed by a young man dressed in mourning, accompanied by a female similarly attired, and from their resemblance to each other he conjectured, were brother and sister. The stranger wished to know if that was the house in which Mr. Ambrose Lisle resided. Jennings said it was; and with civil alacrity left his stall and rang the front-door bell. The summons was answered by the landlady's servant, who, since Esther May's death, had waited on the first-floor lodger; and the visitors were invited to go up stairs. Caleb, much wondering who they might be, returned to his stall, and from thence passed into his eating and sleeping-room just below Mr. Lisle's apartments. He was in the act of taking his pipe from the mantel-shelf, in order to the more deliberate and satisfactory cogitation on such an unusual event, when he was startled by a loud shout, or scream rather, from above. The quivering and excited voice was that of Mr. Lisle, and the outcry was immediately followed by an explosion of unintelligible exclamations from several persons. Caleb was up stairs in an instant, and found himself in the midst of a strangely-perplexing and distracted scene. Mr. Lisle, pale as his shirt, shaking in every limb, and his eyes on fire with passion, was hurling forth a torrent of vituperation and reproach at the young woman, whom he evidently mistook for someone else; whilst she, extremely terrified, and unable to stand but for the assistance of her companion, was tendering a letter in her outstretched hand, and uttering broken sentences which her own agitation and the fury of Mr. Lisle's invectives rendered totally incomprehensible. At last the fierce old man struck the letter from her hand, and with frantic rage ordered both the strangers to leave the room. Caleb urged them to comply, and accompanied them down stairs. When they reached the street, he observed a woman on the other side of the way, dressed in mourning, and much older apparently, though he could not well see her face through the thick veil she wore, than she who had thrown Mr. Lisle into such an agony of rage, apparently waiting for them. To her the young people immediately hastened, and after a brief conference the three turned away up the street, and Mr. Jennings saw no more of them.

A quarter of an hour afterwards the house-servant informed Caleb that Mr. Lisle had retired to bed, and although still in great agitation, and as she feared, seriously indisposed, would not permit Dr. Clarke to be sent for. So sudden and violent a hurricane in the usually dull and drowsy atmosphere in which Jennings lived, excited and disturbed him greatly; the hours, however, flew past without bringing any relief to his curiosity, and evening was falling, when a peculiar knocking on the floor overhead announced that Mr. Lisle desired his presence. That gentleman was sitting up in bed, and in the growing darkness his face could not be very distinctly seen; but Caleb instantly observed a vivid and unusual light in the old man's eyes. The letter so strangely delivered was lying open before him; and unless the shoe-mender was greatly mistaken, there were stains of recent tears upon Mr. Lisle's furrowed and hollowed cheeks. The voice, too, struck Caleb, though eager, was gentle and wavering.

"It was a mistake, Jennings," he said; "I was mad for the moment. Are they gone?" he added in a yet more subdued and gentle tone. Caleb informed him of what he had seen; and as he did so, the strange light in the old man's eyes seemed to quiver and sparkle with a yet intenser emotion than before. Presently he sitting up in bed, and remained several minutes silent. He then said with a firmer voice, "I shall be glad if you will step to Mr. Sowerby, and tell him I am too unwell to see him this evening. But be sure to say nothing else," he eagerly added, as Caleb turned away in compliance with his request; "and when you come back let me see you again."

When Jennings returned, he found to his great surprise Mr. Lisle up and nearly dressed; and his astonishment increased a hundred-fold upon hearing that gentleman say, in a quick but perfectly collected and decided manner, that he should set off for London by the mail train.

"For London—and by night!" exclaimed Caleb, scarcely sure that he heard aright.

"Yes—yes! I shall not be observed in the dark," sharply rejoined Mr. Lisle; "and you, Caleb, must keep my secret from everybody, especially from Sowerby. I shall be here in time to see him to-morrow night, and he will be none the wiser." This was said with a slight chuckle; and as soon as his simple preparations were complete, Mr. Lisle, well wrapped up, and his face almost hidden by shawls, locked his door, and assisted by Jennings, stole furtively down stairs, and reached unrecognized the railway station just in time for the train.

It was quite dark the next evening when Mr. Lisle returned; and so well had he managed, that Mr. Sowerby, who paid his usual visit about half an hour afterwards, had evidently heard nothing of the suspicious absence of his esteemed client from Watley. The old man exulted over the success of his deception to Caleb, the next morning, but dropped no hint as to the object of his sudden journey.

Three days passed without the occurrence of any incident tending to the enlightenment of Mr. Jennings upon these mysterious events, which, however, he plainly saw had lamentably shaken the long-since falling man. On the afternoon of the fourth day, Mr. Lisle walked, or rather tottered, into Caleb's stall, and seated himself on the only vacant stool it contained. His manner was confused and frequently purposeless, and there was an anxious, hurried expression in his face, which Jennings did not at all like. He remained silent for some time, with the exception of partially inaudible snatches of comment or questionings, apparently addressed to himself. At last he said, "I shall take a longer journey to-morrow, Caleb—much longer; let me see—where did I say? Ah, yes! to Glasgow; to be sure to Glasgow!"

"To Glasgow, and to-morrow!" exclaimed the astounded cobbler.

No, not Glasgow; they have removed," feebly rejoined Mr. Lisle. "But Lucy has written it down for me. True—true; and to-morrow I shall set out."

The strange expression of Mr. Lisle's face became momentarily even more strongly marked, and Jennings, greatly alarmed, said, "You are ill, Mr. Lisle; let me run for Dr. Clarke." "No—no," he murmured at the same time striving to rise from his seat, which he could only accomplish by Caleb's assistance, and so supported he staggered indoors. "I shall be better to-morrow," he said faintly, and then slowly added, "To-morrow, and to-morrow, and to-morrow! Ah, me! Yes, as I said, to-morrow, I—He paused abruptly, and they gained his apartment. He seated himself, and then Jennings, at his mute solicitation, assisted him to bed.

He lay some time with his eyes closed; and Caleb could feel—for Mr. Lisle held him firmly by the hand, as if to prevent his going away—a convulsive shudder pass over his frame. At last he slowly opened his eyes, and Caleb saw that he was indeed about to depart upon the long journey from which there is no return.

The lips of the dying man worked intricately, for some moments; and then, with a mighty effort, as it seem-

Simple as it is, it gives almost instant relief and usually stops the most obstinate and one-half years in Auburn Prison for the participation in the cutting off of Edward A. Fraser's ear, when the latter, a non-union sailor, was assaulted on the night of June 22nd by a gang of men claimed to have been in sympathy with the striking seamen. After the assault Fraser's bleeding ear was sent by mail to Cleveland to President Harry Campbell, of the Pittsburg Steamship Company.

Four other men are supposed to have been parties to the assault on Fraser. Three have been arrested and are held in custody pending separate trials.

Ermine for Coronation
Americans Cornering Market.

"Ermine skins are going to take a jump in value presently," said a big fur dealer, speaking of the general upward tendency that has prevailed in the market in all this class of goods. "The Coronation with all the ermine trimmed robes to be used is going to create a tremendous demand for them, and already shrewd Americans are busy buying up all the skins they can."

The fur man then pointed to a pile of skins, rich, soft, silky pelts from which the very finest seal sacsques are made up. "I am just asking retailers $95 a piece for those seal skins. Feel the thickness of that fur. These seals come from the Prybiloff Islands, and that is why they are such a steep price. This one, caught off the coast of British Columbia, though a very fine piece of fur, you will notice is not nearly so dense and fine as the Alaskan ones. These, which are brought into Victoria, I sell for $60."

Among other peltries that are high in favor this season for stoles, collars, etc., the shink and Persian lamb. Bear has also become very popular again.

MAY START FISH BUSINESS.—Rumor has it that Mr. P. J. Shea is about to take over Duder's premises with the intention of going into the fish business. If such is the case, a good deal of labor will thus be given in the West End. Mr. Shea has much experience in fishery matters and should be able to take the new departure with no doubt be successful in the venture.

ed, he said, whilst his trembling hand pointed feebly to a bureau chest of drawers that stood in the room. "There—there, for Lucy; there, the secret place let"—Some inaudible words followed, and then after a still mightier struggle than before, he gasped out, "No word—no word—to Sowerby—for—her—Lucy!"

More was said, but undistinguishable by mortal ear; and after gazing with an expression of indescribable anxiety in the scared face of his awe-stricken listener, the wearied eyes slowly reclined—the deep shadow flowed past, then the convulsive shudder came again, and he was dead!

erty of Ambrose Lisle; under trust, however, for the family, if any, of Robert Lisle, the deceased's brother, who had gone when very young to India, and had not been heard of for many years—a cognition which did not at all mar the joy of the crafty lawyer, he having long since instituted private inquiries, which perfectly satisfied him that the said Robert Lisle had died, unmarried, at Calcutta.

Mr. Jennings was in a state of great dublety and consternation. Sowerby had emptied the chest of drawers of every valuable it contained; and unless he had missed the secret receptacle Mr. Lisle had spoken of, the deceased's intentions, whatever they may be, were cleverly defeated. And if he had not discovered it, how could he, Jennings, get at the drawers to examine them. A fortunate chance brought some relief to his perplexities. Ambrose Lisle's furniture was advertised to be sold by auction, and Caleb resolved to purchase the bureau chest, although to do so would oblige him to break into his rent money, then nearly due. The day of sale came, and the important lot in its turn was put up. In one of the drawers there were a number of loose newspapers and other valueless scraps; and Caleb, with a sly grin, asked the auctioneer if he sold the article for all his contents. "Oh, yes," said Sowerby, who was watching the sale; "the buyer may have all it contains over his bargain, and much good may it do him." A laugh followed the attorney's sneering remark, and the biddings went on. "I want it," observed Caleb, "because it just fits a recess like this one in my room underneath." This he said to quiet a suspicion he thought he saw gathering upon the attorney's brow. It was finally knocked down to Caleb at £5 10s., a sum considerably beyond its real value; and he had to borrow a sovereign in order to clear his speculative purchase. This done, he carried off his prize, and as soon as the closing of the house for the night secured him from interruption, he set eagerly to work in search of the secret drawer.

A long and patient examination was richly rewarded. Behind one of the small drawers of the secreted portion of the piece of furniture was another small one, curiously concealed, which contained Bank of England notes to the amount of £200, tied up with a letter, upon the back of which was written, in the deceased's hand writing, "To take with me."

Inhuman Act Punished.
Sailor Who Assisted in Cutting Off Man's Ear Sent to Jail.

Buffalo, N.Y., Nov. 22.—Jos. Fraser's ear, when the latter, a non-union sailor, was assaulted on the night of June 22nd by a gang of men claimed to have been in sympathy with the striking seamen. After the assault Fraser's bleeding ear was sent by mail to Cleveland to President Harry Campbell, of the Pittsburg Steamship Company.

A very happy event was celebrated at Bell Island on Wednesday, the 23rd inst., when Miss Julia Mary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Penny, was united in marriage to Mr. David Nolan, who is employed by the N. S. S. & C. Co. Mr. Leo Penny and Mr. Thomas Nolan, brothers of the bride and groom, respectively, acted as brides boys and Miss Theresa Nolan and Miss Gertrude Penny, sister of the contracting parties, officiated as bridesmaids. Both bride and bridesmaids looked charming in gowns of cream crepe de chine. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. J. McGrath, after which a supper—a very palatable one—was served to about fifty guests at the home of the bride. The wedding presents, which were both numerous and valuable, was an indication of the esteem in which both bride and groom are held by their many friends on the Iron Isle, who joins in wishing them many bright and happy years of married life.—Com.

A HARD ROCK CUT.—The work of blasting away the rock under Harvey & Co's stores by Mr. W. J. Ellis' men will be finished in a few days. The drain will then be complete from the basement of the new Seaman's Home.

MADE SERIOUS THREAT.—Matt Carlson, of the s.s. The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

I had a most interesting evening last night. Let me tell you about it. The little stenographer I had brought the newest album to call on me. I had heard a good deal about this personage. She is a new stenographer in the office. She came from a distant city. She was, according to Molly's advance notices, a most superior person. This was nothing unusual for Molly, whose own exceptional qualities are only exceeded by her humility, is constantly discovering superior persons.

Having seen some of them before and smiled at Molly's wistful admiration of something not half so fine as this one, But I was mistaken. She exceeded all my expectations.

She entered my study with an air of conferring an inestimable favor upon both Molly and me. Having seated herself in my most comfortable chair and gazed nonchalantly about the room with an appraising eye and a gold lockette stem, she opened up with a lofty denunciation of "those horrid trolley cars we came over on. Really," she assured me, "nothing but the pleasure of seeing you and Molly would have made me ride in them. So unpleasant, you know, to have to sit crowded in with all those horrihly common people. Where do the nice people of the suburbs ride?"

While I was recovering from this, her roving eye lit upon a bit of old felt ware in my cabinet, and at once she recognized an opportunity. "What a dear little pitcher. My aunt would so love that. She has a large collection, several thousand pieces. She is quite crazy about old china, really neglects her family to tour about the country in her car collecting it. I don't know what uncle would do if he didn't have his stables to amuse him. He has some very beautiful blooded horses, you know."

I didn't know, and felt a terrible desire to say so, but for Molly's sake forbore.

A mention of her long journey to the city was an occasion for the recollection of a singularly trying experience. "From Cleveland to Chicago, my dear; they had no chair car, a misunderstanding, I believe, and I actually had to ride all that distance in a day coach. So unpleasant, I don't know what mother would have said if she had known that was going to happen."

This is just a sample of the conversation, to give you the idea. It continued in this strain for about two hours. I felt most edified, but the one drawback was that I wanted to know how Molly was taking it. I like my friends with a sense of humor, and I didn't like to think Molly might not have one. At her friend's mention of the reasonable ninety-dollar suit, I thought I saw a smile hover about Molly's lips, but it might have been merely the frelight playing with Molly's mouth, which is just what any sensible frelight would do.

But when the newest chum was putting on her furs, and holding forth to mother on the wretchedness of the fare at her boarding house "actually no salad course," my chance to end this suspense came.

"Molly," I murmured, "what I want to know is, do some people really convince themselves by what they say?"

"Oh, Ruth," cried Molly, with a laugh that was no "trifling." "How could she?" and then almost a wall she recognized an opportunity. "What a dear little pitcher. My aunt would so love that. She has a large collection, several thousand pieces. She is quite crazy about old china, really neglects her family to tour about the country in her car collecting it. I don't know what uncle would do if he didn't have his stables to amuse him. He has some very beautiful blooded horses, you know."

Fads and Fashions.

To take the place of the comfortable Panama worn so much by the summer girl is a new hat of soft velvets felt, made exactly after the same model.

Colors are soft although brilliant in tone, the weaves being suggestive of the figured India materials by which their patterns have been directly inspired.

Many overskirts come within a few inches of the bottom of the skirt, and are edged with a trimming which does not catch in the skirt, but merely gives a finish to the tunic.

Coats are made in various lengths, depending upon the material and the purpose of the costume. In cut they are quite straight and semi-fitting, but not in the least baggy.

Persia and Indian chiffons, satins and velvets are not worn so much as last season, the preference being given those of silk and velvet.

A new style from Paris shows the overskirt on one side, apparently an extension of the draping of the bodice. This gives the gown the effect of having been draped on the figure.

The shirtwaist ring proper is made of a matrix and costs little. The turquoise ones, with a strong green coloring, are admired, and onyx, artificially colored, has gained a good place.

The long protective palatet is again in evidence, in ribbed silk, satin and velvet, often trimmed with a narrow band of fur down either front and along the lower edge in the "old time" way.

Almost spectacular are the evening gowns designed for the coming winter by the great fashion artists of Paris in their resemblance to the draperies worn by the Roman matrons and maids in bygone centuries.

The vogue of heretofore inexpensive furs—opossum, racoon, muskrat and even rabbit—is astonishing; but these furs are used to trim frocks of every material this season, as well as for muffs and scarfs.

One-piece frocks of serge or cloth, with long, close sleeves, will be worn under fur jackets this winter. They are trimmed with satin, embroidery, buttons and beadwork, and invariably display the high waist-line.

Fine batiste, delicately embroidered by hand, is used in many cases for yokes and undersleeves, and many a yellowed bit of needlework from the days of our grandmothers will be brought to light this winter and utilized in this way.

STOMACH

Each of the chief organs of the body is a link in the Chain of Life. A chain is no stronger than its weakest link, the body no stronger than its weakest organ. If there is weakness of stomach, liver or lungs, there is a weak link in the chain of life which may snap at any time. Often this so-called "weakness" is caused by lack of nutrition, the result of weakness or disease of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. Diseases and weaknesses of the stomach and its allied organs are cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. When the weak or diseased stomach is cured, diseases of other organs which seem remote from the stomach but which have their origin in a diseased condition of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, are cured also.

The strong man has a strong stomach. Take the above recommendations "Disease-cure" and you may have a strong stomach and a strong body.

GIVEN AWAY.—Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, new revised Edition, is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers, or 50 stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address: Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Sciatic Rheumatism

Unable to work or sleep—Six years of suffering—Cured by DR. A. W. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD.

Mr. Alex. Ehler, Jr., Clarence Creek, Russell Co., Ont., writes:—"My nervous system was run down to such an extent that I suffered a great deal from weakness of the nerves, and sciatic rheumatism, and at times was like one paralyzed, could not work, was unable to sleep, and had no appetite."

"Nothing seemed to build up my nerves until I made use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. After having used about $100 worth of this medicine I feel like a new man. I can walk all right, do a great deal of work, have a good appetite and sleep well every night."

"When you have tried all experiments you can turn to Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food knowing that persistent treatment is bound to be rewarded with lasting beneficial results. But you must get the genuine, bearing the name and signature of A. W. Chase, M. D. 50 cts. at all dealers or Edmonson, Bates & Co., Toronto. Write for free copy of Dr. Chase's Recipe."

The Schr. Mary Joseph Here.

The Schr. Mary Joseph, Follett master, which has been nearly six weeks out from Salmonier, arrived here last evening after being into St. Mary's, Cape Broyle and Bay Bulls on the way, owing to head winds. For a while there was a deal of anxiety about her, and she was repeatedly reported lost, though Skipper George Follett, master of the schr. Campania and son of the skipper of the Schr. Mary Joseph, held that his father was all right. She essayed to couple down the shore several times, but head winds forced her back. She has a full cargo of fish and oil and is very deeply laden.

Dear Sir—I don't challenge some time ago to Young Hackensmith, but as yet have had no reply. Now I am touring Eastern Canada and would also like to appear in your city. I carry the world's middle weight championship belt with me, and will give any one a chance to wrestle for it that makes 125 lbs. ringside the middle weight limit. Would Young Hackensmith please state in the column of your paper, immediately, whether he wants a chance to wrestle for it or not. If not would give Young Olsen a chance, or anyone with reputation enough worthy of a chance. Merit please wire add below immediately.

Personal Notes.

Miss Pilot and Miss Harris returned from Grand Falls by the express to-day.
Mr. C. P. Bishop arrived in town from Burnin by last night's train.

Train Notes.

The express and local combined arrived at 12.20 p.m. to-day bringing 100 passengers, including W. R. Howley, Rev. Dr. Whelan, Joseph Curran, Dr. Stenton, E. W. Roberts, Miss Feehan, J. R. Goodison, Wilfred Pippy, W. March and Vatter Pippy.
The west bound express arrived at Port aux Basques on time yesterday. The express and local combined arrived at St. John's shortly after noon to-day.

Coastal Boats.

BOWING SHIPS.
The Prospero left Trinity at 3 a.m. to-day.
The Portia left Curling at 6.45 a.m. to-day.

REID NELD. CO.

The Bruce left Port aux Basques at 10.15 p.m. yesterday.
The Argyle arrived at Burin at 2 p.m. yesterday.
The Clyde left Twillingate at 4.40 p.m. yesterday going south.
The Dundee left Salvage at 5.25 p.m. yesterday.
The Ethie arrived at Clarenville at 2.15 a.m. today.
The Glenoce left North Sydney at 4.15 p.m. yesterday for St. John's.
The Home left Bay of Islands at 6.20 p.m. yesterday.
The Invermore arrived at Placentia at 5.30 p.m. yesterday, and sails again this evening.

Marine Notes.

The S. S. Fogota, Capt. B. Barbour, sailed north at noon to-day taking a few passengers. She had a full cargo including 500 bundles of hay, three horses for Howley's mill at Gander, Bay and two Shetland ponies for another settlement.
The schr. Shamrock, Penny, master, arrived here to-day from St. John's. She was out of Burnin this morning with 300 qts. fish. The schooner was 17 days on the passage and was harbored in St. Mary's and Bay Bulls. She was out of Petty Harbor Motion last Friday and had to put back to Bay Bulls.

Here and There.

SAW ONLY ONE VESSEL.—The train hands saw only one herring vessel in the Humber Arm while coming along yesterday. All the rest of the fleet are in the Middle Arm. They have not done much the past week.

THREE MEN HURT.—People who arrived by the train to-day say that three men were hurt yesterday at Bell Island while working in the deeps of the N. S. G. Our informant could not say how they were hurt, or give any particulars of the matter.

NEW LADDERS COMING.—While abroad, we understand, Inspector General Sullivan ordered a supply of new ladders for the Fire Department of this city, and they are now on the way here. They were badly wanted by the firemen and are of the best manufacture. They are strong, although of light weight, and well adapted for our requirements.

FIREMEN SCALDED.—Four firemen of the S. S. Invermore came in by train to-day from Port aux Basques. They are Connell, Walsh, Kearney and Hartley. They say that owing to the bursting of a steam pipe in the engine room of the ship while at Port aux Basques, they were scalded so badly that they had to return home.

VESSEL REPORTED MISSING.—The Danish ship, Heimdal, which had left here three weeks ago for Lamaline to load fish for Europe, and as far as can be gleaned no news of her has since been heard. She had not arrived there up to yesterday, and there are some misgivings about the vessel as she had fair winds after leaving here and should have got there in two or three days. There is no pilot on board and many fear that the vessel either foundered or came to grief on some shoal in one of the storms which recently occurred.

The Tariff Question.

(Daily News Message.)

LONDON, Nov. 30.—The acceptance by Mr. Balfour of the policy of the Referendum in the matter of Tariff Reform, has given a new complexion to the campaign. In his address, last night, Balfour announced that in the event of a victory in the coming election, he will submit the question of Tariff Reform to Referendum. By a quick turn of the wrist, Balfour seems to have got the enemy at his mercy, so, at least, say almost every Unionist you meet this morning. What specially pleases the fighting Unionists, who are thinking more of defeating Lloyd George with the aid of the modern Liberals, than of ultimate political results, is that at the very moment that Balfour was accepting the Referendum on Tariff Reform, Asquith was taunting him with not daring to do this very thing. Ministerial journals seem taken aback by the new turn of affairs.

Schooner Had a Hard Time.

The schr. M. S. Ayre, Capt. W. J. Kennedy, arrived here from Norris' Arm lumber laden yesterday afternoon. She left the last Friday week and had a tedious and very stormy run of it. She sheltered at Seldom, was detained a week there, and left with a fleet of other vessels Saturday last, but did not make Catalina, as the others did, and since has been knocking around in the fog. Sunday night a gale blew on the land and the vessel narrowly escaped going on the rocks on the other side of Cape Spear. Nothing could be seen for fog, a big sea ran and the rain poured down in torrents. By skilful work the vessel managed to reach of the land, lay to 25 miles to sea and lost her deck load of lumber and had her sails and gear torn up. Three years ago Capt. Kennedy at this season was driven to sea in the schr. Pioneer, and he and his crew were taken off the vessel by the s.s. Rotterdam and landed in Rotterdam on Christmas Eve.

Here and There.

THE HERRING FISHERY.—Curling to-day reports an E. wind with snow. Herring have struck in at the Humber.

Bonne Bay telegraphs that herring were never more plentiful there than at present, but there is no sale for them. There is no salt and no vessels there.

Dr. de Van's Female Pills.—A reliable French regulator, never fails. These pills are exceedingly powerful in regulating the generative system, relieve all chest complaints. Dr. de Van's are sold at 25c a box, or 50c a dozen. Full particulars on request. The Scobell Drug Co., St. Catharines, Ont.

FISHING BOATS DESTROYED.—A big sea is running at Flatrock and neighborhood and all the boats moored at the Collar are filled with water. Several broke clear of their moorings during the past couple of days and were smashed in pieces being lost to their owners.

Electric Restorer for Men Phosphonal restores every nerve in the body to its proper tension, restores vim and vitality, premature decay and all sexual weakness averted at once. Phosphonal will make you a man. Price 25c. (Five 5c. Mailed to any address. The Scobell Drug Co., St. Catharines, Ont.) Or at McMurdo & Co.'s Drug Store.

ACCIDENT ON SOUTHSIDE.—Geo. Hatcher had the top cut off the little finger of his right hand while stowing oil on board a Norwegian vessel at Job's South Side premises this morning. It got caught between the coaks and was cut clean off. He came to Dr. Smith's to have the wound dressed.

ARRESTED FOR LARCENY.—This morning when the schr. Mary Joseph hauled into Job Bros. wharf, one of the men on board, named Bernard Doherty, of St. Bride's, was arrested on suspicion of having stolen four quintals of fish from G. Young of that place on the 21st October. The men has retained Mr. W. R. Howley to defend him.

Wake Up!

For the past two days, during which the electoral struggle has been raging in the British Isles, not one word has come to us in the Postal Telegraph cable news despatch about that struggle. We are all of English, Irish, Scotch or Welsh blood, and by ties of affection and association keenly interested in one of the greatest electoral struggles which has taken place in our time, and yet the compilers of the news despatch omit all news of these doings and fill it up with American sensational stuff and the demise of Jem Mace, in which we have but a remote interest. There is a large number of our people interested in the fortune of the fight for Home Rule; there are those who are keen on Tariff Reform and the attack on Free Trade, and there are those who wish to know how the Lords are faring in the electoral fight. At present we are more interested in the gladiatorial displays of Asquith, Balfour, Lloyd George, Chamberlain, the Cecilia, Churchill, John Burns, John Redmond, William O'Brien, and others than in a story about Jem Mace and his fight of a generation ago, or in the desultory revolt in Mexico. It is not possible to impress on the compilers of the Government message that Newfoundland is a British State, the Oldest Colony in the Empire, and its people the most British and the least American in sentiment of Britihers on this side of the Atlantic.

We hope to publish our third article on the Great Appeal to-morrow.

Miss M. Feehan, of the West End, returned from Canada by the express to-day.

EAGER TO WORK.

Health Regained by Eight Food.

The average healthy man or woman is usually eager to be busy at some useful task or occupation.

But if dyspepsia or indigestion get hold of one, and all endeavor becomes a burden.

"A year ago, after recovering from an operation," writes a Michigan lady, "my stomach and nerves began to give me much trouble."

"At times my appetite was voracious, but when indulged indigestion followed. Other times I had no appetite whatever. The food I took did not nourish me and I grew weaker than ever."

"I lost interest in everything and wanted to be alone. I had always had good nerves, but now the inerstiffle would upset me and bring on a violent headache. Walking across the room was an effort and prescribct exercise was out of the question."

"I had seen Grape-Nuts advertised, but did not believe what I read at the time. At last when it seemed as if I was literally starving I began to eat Grape-Nuts."

"I had not been able to work for a year, but now after two months on Grape-Nuts I am eager to be at work again. My stomach gives me no trouble now, my nerves are steady as ever, and interest in life and ambition have come back with the return to health."

"Read 'The Road to Wellville,' in piggs. 'There's a Reason.'"
"There's a Reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

POLICE COURT NEWS.

Today a drunk and disorderly in his house who also threatened his wife was asked to give 2 securities in $25, each to keep the peace or go down for two months.

A fisherman drunk and disorderly, was fined $2, or 7 days.
A Norwegian up for a similar offence was fined $5, or 14 days.
An ordinary drunk was fined $1, or 5 days.

A freeman of the S. S. Phoenix, drunk and disorderly on the ship and threatening the mate, Mr. Carlsen, was sent down for three weeks.
A Russian seaman who deserted from the Schr. Alger was sent down for 2 weeks.

Scene in the Court.

This morning before the Judge came on the bench a man who was brought in by the police for drunkness yesterday became violent began shouting and swearing and had to be taken back to the cells. When he had cooled down he was again brought into court but again began gesticulating and shouting and had to be returned once more to the cells. The man evidently had a touch of the D.T.'s.

A New Physician.

Dr. Scott, who for some time has been practicing at Grand Falls, took up his residence at Hr. Grace a couple of days ago and will practice there in future. The medical fraternity and the people generally of Hr. Grace are taking up the question of a hospital there in real earnest and with the assistance of friends in Canada and elsewhere soon hope to have the project under way. Such an institution in the second city is very necessary.

Here and There.

LABORERS COMING HOME.—Eighty laborers from Grand Falls and 38 from Bishop's Falls came out to their homes by the express last night. Most of them detrained at N. D. Junction and Brigus Junction.

THE S.S. MOLINO LOADING.—Up to "knock-off" time last evening the s.s. Molino had 1,000 tons of pebbles on board at Manuels. She requires about 600 tons more to make up her load and will likely finish this week.

PASSED THROUGH LATHS.—The schr. M. S. Ayre, Capt. Kennedy, passed through a lot of laths on Tuesday last just south of Bay Bulls. This evidently was the deck cargo of the schr. Gypsum Emperor, jettisoned from that vessel on her way from Bagwood.

PLATE GLASS PUT IN.—The big pane of plate glass broken by boys with stones in the window of Mr. W. Sharpe's dry goods store in the Humber Lumber Co. building two months ago, was taken out to-day and a new one put in by Mr. W. J. Ethie's men. It is 9 1/2 x 6 1/2 feet.

MADE GOOD WAGES.—The crew of the Labrador schooner Nellie E.—20 men—were paid off to-day at Monro's with $180 a man. They fished at Ryan's Bay between the 10th of August and 2nd September and got most of their load in traps. They were paid $5.30 for their fish.

CRICKETERS MAY PURCHASE.—Last night a meeting of the Cricketers Association was held at the office of Bowring Bros., when the question of acquiring St. George's Field was again discussed. The idea of forming a joint stock company and purchasing the ground was mooted, but nothing definite was done.

PASSENGERS TO PLACENTIA.—The S. S. Invermore, taking the place of the s.s. Glenoce, arrived at Placentia at 5.30 p.m. yesterday, bringing S. J. Foots, S. Parsons, E. A. Brazil, Mrs. Inkpen, Mr. and Mrs. Collins, Miss Whitten, Mrs. Harrigan, G. Walsh, A. Bennett, C. P. Bishop, A. Carmichael, T. Dixon, W. Harrigan, W. Thompson, E. Rose, Geo. Coffin, H. Lake and E. Cosgrove.

Lecture on Passion Play

By the Archbishop in Aid of St. Bon's
The lecture on the Passion Play of Oberammergau delivered by His Grace the Archbishop at St. Bonaventure's College last night in aid of the College Building Fund, was largely attended.

On the platform were the Premier Sir E. P. Morris, President of St. Bon's, Old Boys Association, Rev. Brother Culhane, Principal of the College, Mr. M. W. Furlong, K. C., Rt. Rev. Missionary Roche, Rev. Fr. Sheehan and J. P. Howley, F. G. S.

The lecture was given under the auspices of the St. Bonaventure's Ladies Association instead of the usual weekly tea and concert. Sir Edward Morris introduced the lecturer in an appropriate speech in which he recognized the good work being done by the ladies on behalf of the College and extended all friends of the College to attend the series of lectures that would be given during the next few weeks, every Wednesday evening, and thereby help on the good cause.

His Grace the Archbishop in coming forward said that he did not wish the audience to expect a lecture on the Passion Play on this occasion, it would rather be an informal chat on a few of the impressions made on his mind while at Oberammergau. His Grace then proceeded to give a brief history of the origin of the Passion Play 277 years ago. The residents of Bavaria among the mountains had been afflicted with a plague in 1632 which carried off many of the inhabitants. The devout people of Oberammergau made a vow that if they survived the plague they would perform the Passion Play every ten years. They kept this vow, although ever since, practically the whole village takes part in the performance in the scene representing the entry into Jerusalem, the carrying of the cross requires over 500 people. They are all there, men, women and children. Up to the beginning of the 19th century the fame of the Passion Play did not extend far beyond the borders of Bavaria, and the peasants taking part in the play made no money out of it. The expense in preparing costumes is very great, and no pains are spared in having everything as perfect as can be. Selecting the men and women who are deemed worthy to take part in the play is an important matter, and is done by the old men of the village who meet in solemn conclave and exercise great care and make searching enquiries as to the lives and conduct of those who hope to be assigned the parts of the Apostles, Mary and the Christ. Two whole years are spent in preparation and during all that time they allow their hearts to grow. They also adapt their thoughts to the character, and are known henceforth amongst the peasants by the name of Peter or John, Judas or the Christ. They are people of a deeply religious temperament, and though they get their living by farming, wood carving, etc., they are highly educated, and most of them famous musical composers and interpreters of the great masters. They have a special love for history whose history is intimately connected with King Ludwig and the people of Oberammergau.

During the past century the Passion Play, as its fame gradually reached the outside world, attracted tourists from all parts of the Christian world. The railway companies, the hotels and the tourists agencies during this time have been making a good deal of money out of the Passion Play, but the peasants of Oberammergau applied all that they made out of the play to the improvement of the village, to roads, education, colleges and schools. They have fine art schools and colleges, and are acknowledged masters in wood carving and music.

The Archbishop and Father St. John went to see the Passion Play through the Cook Agency without which His Grace thinks it would be impossible for the ordinary tourist to travel there with comfort and convenience. The Agency has arranged before hand the houses at which the tourists are to stay. The Archbishop and Father St. John were assigned to the house of Judas and Mary, father and daughter. When they arrived Mary, a trim, tidy and virtuous girl, received them in the midst of her household work; while Judas, her father, was out putting in his hay.

The play itself occupies the whole day from 8 a.m. till sunset. There is a recess from noon to 2 p.m. The performances went on for 47 days, for the audience sit in the place where the audience sit is now roofed in, while the actors occupy the spacious stage in the open air with the beautiful mountains and blue sky for a background. The auditorium will hold about 5,000 people. It was filled every day. There were people there from the four corners of the world.

A few of the scenes were reviewed by the lecturer including the "Expulsion from Paradise," "Driving out the Money Changers," "Entry into Jerusalem," "Carrying the Cross," "The Crucifixion," and "The Resurrection." Words, he said, could not do justice to the subject. The deeply religious character of the play affected the most blasé and callous. Strong men were seen to sob and weep, and there was not a disrespectful word heard.

Speaking critically of the performance His Grace believed the play would be improved by leaving out the scourging at the "pillar" and the "resurrection," and gave convincing reasons for his opinion. At the conclusion a vote of thanks proposed by Mr. M. W. Furlong and seconded by Sir E. P. Morris was carried unanimously.

Had Good Time.

Tuesday evening Mr. Robert Hounsell, of Wesleyville, one of the crew of the schr. Friend, now at the Smith Co's. wharf, was united in Hymen's bonds to Miss Gerlie Winsor, of the same place. The ceremony took place at the Cochrane St. Parsonage, Rev. F. R. Matthews tying the nuptial knot. A sumptuous wedding supper was held at Mrs. Wornell's. The bride and groom go to Wesleyville by the schr. Friend. The groom gave his comrades on board the schooner a good time, refreshments being served in the cabin.

Mr. Beaton Explains.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir:—As I hear the cause of the delay in making the extension of Military Road, Harbour Grace, is because the Government cannot make arrangements with me as to price, I think it my duty to say that I own the ground necessary, and I am quite willing to sell same at 7 cents per foot. The public will thus see I am not looking for too much, and the road can be made as quickly as the arrangements can be made. That is my price. If such is not satisfactory, I will meet them on arbitration, so they need not blame me for not fulfilling the promise for the road.
Yours sincerely,
WILLIAM BEATON.

Harbor Grace Notes.

Owing to the very disagreeable weather prevailing last night the missionary meeting in the Kirk was postponed till to-night. Rev. J. S. Sutherland of St. John's, Rev. F. S. Coffin and Rev. T. B. Darby of this town will be the speakers.
A great many of our town folk are now well supplied with colds, rather too well supplied in fact, consequently our medical men and druggists are kept pretty much on the move. On Monday night Dr. Parsons went to his bed five times, and on each occasion was called to attend to some sufferer. The genial Will is ever ready to administer to the wants of the sick and suffering, whether at night or day.
Rev. T. B. Darby, who had been down north for a couple of weeks, returned by Saturday night's train.
Mr. Thomas Fitzgerald, late foreman of the cutting department of the Archibald Boot and Shoe Factory, returned from St. John's on Monday night, where he had been on business.

Sensational Experience Received in Search of a Cure.

$50 FOR ONE SPECIALIST ALONE!
The varied and costly experiences of some people who suffer from skin diseases and get into the hands of so-called "specialists" are rarely heard of. Almost daily the proprietors of Zam-Buk are receiving letters of gratitude from persons who have been cured by Zam-Buk, and in many cases these letters tell a story of suffering in the search for cure which is truly pitiful.
Mr. Arthur Fairbank, of 747 Lansdowne Avenue, Toronto, says: "Some time ago I had a bad eruption on my forehead which I attributed to getting infected at the barber's. This eruption became very sore and spread over my scalp in the form of open sores. I went to a doctor, who treated me for it. Still the sores spread until almost the whole of my head was affected. As the doctor's treatment did me very little good I left it off and tried various skin remedies. I also tried taking various aperient through the blood. Still it was in vain!
"Then I tried blood mixtures, but not one of them did me direct good. I was by that time in a shocking condition, and as a last resource I went to a skin specialist. He treated me for a period and it cost me over $50, but the sores got no better. They would itch and burn at times until I was nearly mad.
"One day a friend asked me why I had not tried Zam-Buk and gave me a little. That little bit of Zam-Buk did me more good than all the long treatment I had had from doctors and specialists. I immediately sent for a supply of the balm and started right in to give it a proper trial. Very soon I began to see and feel a great difference in the sores and I knew that at last I had got something that would cure me. Zam-Buk cured me at a trifling cost. Indeed only a few boxes were necessary to do it."
Not only for skin diseases, but for cuts, burns, bruises, piles, inflamed surfaces, blood poison, chafed hands, salt sores, live cuts, frost bite, chapped hands, ulcers, children's sores, etc., Zam-Buk is unequalled. All druggists and stores, 50c a box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., 1000 Mountain Agents, 7, McMurdo & Co. St. John's. Send one cent stamp (to pay return postage) and a free trial box will be mailed you.

Poultry Association.

Last night another meeting of gentlemen interested in poultry raising was held in the Board of Trade Building. The meeting was presided over by Justice Emerson, and the committee appointed to draft a constitution and bye laws submitted their report. Mr. W. Barker was elected Secretary, and the rules and regulations submitted were adopted unanimously, without amendment. All are enthusiastic and full of success for the organization which it is intended to incorporate. One thousand shares have been issued at $1 per share, the amount to be also $1. The committee were appointed provisional Directors until the first annual meeting which will be held in October as possible after the preliminary work is completed. The object of the Association, as outlined in the constitution, is to enlarge and promote the breeding of standard poultry and hold exhibitions of thorough-bred stock. Some 25 persons subscribed their names to the articles of the Association.

Mr. Snazelle's Entertainment

Mr. Snazelle attracted a good audience to the Methodist College Hall last night. The features of the entertainment were the recitals of Mr. Snazelle and lantern pictures of the capital of the Empire. As an elocutionist he is natural, easy and masterly, and his rendering of "The Legend of the Poor Bachelor," "Devil-may-Care," "How Bill Adams Won the Battle of Waterloo," and "The Whistling Struwwelpeter" were much appreciated. His songs included "Arm, Arm, ye Brave," "The Road to Mandalay," "Drake's Dream" and "Simon the Cellarer."
The second part of the entertainment was not so successful as the first. The pictures of the Sights of London were very good, and particularly the coloured slides of the upper reaches of the Thames. The lecturer complained at times of the voltage. This defecting was not so trying as the stowness of the manipulating of the slides, the casual manner of the lecturer, and the indifferent character of his remarks when the pictures were on the screen. The scheme of a pictorial lecture on the Heart of the Empire is good, the pictures are excellent, but the slide manipulation and the lecturer's roils leave much room for improvement.

Despatches from Waverly say that Max Neal, negro, who shot one negro to death and wounded four others, was riddled with bullets by a posse that surrounded the negro late last night. Neal on Monday evening fired eleven times through the window of a house occupied by Andella and Johnson, killing the former and badly wounding the latter, and Paul Brown who was in the door at the time. While hiding from the posse, Neal fired upon Leslie and Spook, Jack's boys, on their way to work. Both were badly hurt. The ambush attack on the boys was unprovoked.

"Jem" Mace, the hero of many prize fights, died to-day at Jarrow on Tyne of old age. He was in his 79th year. Mace was at one time worth more than $1,000,000, but of recent years he had been dependent upon the assistance of friends. Occasionally he has appeared in muscular exhibitions. "Jem" Mace was born at Beaton in Norfolk, and in his day was one of the greatest of boxers. His first great fight was with Bill Thorpe, whom he beat in 18 rounds. When Sam Sayers retired from the championship in 1860, Mace was regarded as his legitimate successor, but his supremacy was soon challenged by Tom King. The two met in January, 1862, and after 43 rounds Mace was given the verdict. For the next 10 years he was practically invincible.

According to advices received here to-day from revolutionary sources, the rebels under Madero are in control of the country between Minica and Guaynabita, including the towns and the rich valleys west of Peary's Northwestern Railroad, extending to the boundary of Sapuaripa. Guaynabita is 60 miles west of Mochizuma, capital of the Cochimilco District in Sonora. The rebels are friendly to the Americans, who report them well equipped. The principal productive district reported to be held by Madero is the rich Tacholich Valley, which was the scene of the last general uprising of the Tacholich Indians, when the entire tribe was destroyed by the Mexican troops. Madero's troops, in the vicinity of Guerrero, are reported to be commanded by Jose La Luz Maria Blanteo, formerly Jefe Politico of Santa Tomas. The country said to be held by Madero includes the Green Gold Co's concessions, and it is reported that Delores, an important silver mining company, is also in the hands of the rebels.

MACAO, ISLAND OF MACAO, China, Nov. 30.
The Portuguese troops of the local garrison and the crew of the Portuguese gunboat Patria revolted last night and, taking possession of the city, proceeded to enforce changes in the administration of the affairs of the dependency of Portugal. The rebels continued in control to-day, the Governor and military officers powerless. The revolt began with the landing of the sailors of the Patria, who marched to the public square, where they fired three volleys as a signal to the troops, who forced an entrance to the armoury and arming themselves joined the seamen. Several hundred strong rebels proceeded to Santa Clara Convent, from which they drove out the Nuns, ordering them to leave the Islands. The Nuns fled to Hong Kong from the Convent. The rebels marched to Government House, before which they mounted a cannon. An interview with the Governor was requested, and when the officers at Government House objected, they were silenced at the point of the bayonet. The Governor was compelled to increase pay for army and navy and the suppression of the newspaper Vidova, and the righting of alleged wrongs suffered by the soldiers and sailors. Under threat the Governor granted every demand.

City Council Meeting.

At a special meeting of the City Council held last night the question of reducing the tax of $2,000 a year, originally imposed on the company should it come into the city, was discussed again. Councillors Martin and Channing upheld the decision of the late Council and maintained that the tax was not too heavy. The majority—Councillors Mullaly, Ryan, Coaker, Myrick and the Mayor—being in favor of a reduction, it was decided that a charge be made for each foot of pipe and cable laid, which will, it is estimated, amount to $690. Councillor Martin, seconded by Councillor Channing, moved that no reduction be made on the $2,000, but the motion was lost. The trustees of the Deep Sea Mission Home wrote the Council asking that the Home be exempted from taxes. It was decided that no taxation be imposed during the tenure of office of the present Council. No guarantee could be given as to what their successors may do.

For the first time in four weeks, owing to the wet weather which has prevailed, were crafts enabled to open their hatches yesterday to begin discharging their fish cargoes, and a deal of the staple was landed, though before 6 p.m. work had to be suspended owing to another rain storm. Some of the men in crafts have opened the hatches to begin discharging as high as fifteen times, but had to desist after landing a few quintals. The delay is very trying to fishermen.
