whom she almost never sees. Her interest and business days' work people might bring into her life the sunshine which beats vainly on the southern and eastern windows on these evenings.

And then there is Mrs. C. Mrs. C. is forty-five. Her one daughter, who married and went to live in a home of her own, a thousand miles away. So that window through which much of her life's sunshine came is of necessity darkened, and Mrs. C. is very lonely—and thinks it a cheerful place, but how many other windows Mrs. C. might cut through to make her heart home more cheerful. There is the clarity of the poor of the town, in which her friends have perhaps tried to interest her. There is the Sunshine Society which she has been eager to join. There is the crippled lady across the way. There is Mrs. C.'s husband who, to tell the truth, seems to her to be decidedly an uncut window so far as she is concerned. I know that any of these interests would bring a flood of sunshine into Mrs. C.'s life, if she would but cut through some of these eastern and southern windows and let the blessed sunshine in.

"Unofficial friendships spoiled" by misunderstanding, opportunities for social service neglected, chances for culture and self-education disregarded, the sweetest relations of life left undeveloped, these are the things which blank walls that keep out sunshine from our lives.

Square Flipper Killed at Greenspond.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Mr. Editor,—Will you kindly give space in your valuable paper for this little article, for it is a singular thing, and one happening now and again, especially at Greenspond.

While out gunning this winter with three other men, we happened to come up with a very large seal, anyway we started to row for it, and was soon up within one hundred yards, more or less, then I gave orders to the other fellows in the punt to stop, and every man kept quiet and just as I was ready to fire the seal rose its head to go down, quick as a flash I had my sight and fired placing the bullet right in the head of the seal, we were soon up to the seal and captured it as we always do, by setting the gat in it. Finding there was a little life into it, we gave it another bullet, so that it would be quite dead. We then found that it was too large to take into the punt so we had to tow it to the nearest land, after getting there we found our astonishment that even then we could not get it on board the punt. Looking around to see if any one else was near, we saw another punt on the hunt for seals, we called to them and they came to our help. By the help of the other men we managed to get it on board, we then made for home, on our arriving there friends awaited us wondering what was the matter for we had not been gone longer than two hours. On sculping it we found that it was a "Square Flipper" with young. Many began to flock to see the "baby" seal as it is rather peculiar in appearance to the young harp or hood seal. Any one wishing to purchase this "baby" seal can do so by applying to me on board the S. S. Nascoptic.

Women in All Parts of Canada

TELL OF THE HEALTH DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS BRING.

They Made a New Woman of Mrs. Elie Amiraull who was a Victim of Kidney Disease for over a Year.

Amiraull's Hill, Yarmouth Co., N.S., Mar. 11. (Special).—Four boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills made a new woman of me. Those are the words of Mrs. Elie Amiraull of this place. They are words that have been used again and again by women in all parts of Canada who have suffered, and who have found relief and cure in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"I suffered for over a year from kidney disease," Mrs. Amiraull continues. "Nothing I tried helped me. At last one told me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. Before I had finished the first box I felt better. Four boxes made a new woman of me."

No remedy ever given to the public has brought health and happiness into the lives of so many women as Dodd's Kidney Pills. This is because nine-tenths of the ills to which women are subject come from diseased kidneys. No woman who uses Dodd's Kidney Pills can be a diseased kidney. They always cure the kidneys.

'Be Sober and Watch.'

The T. A. & B. Society held its quarterly meeting on Sunday afternoon. Twenty applicants, including three transfers from the Juvenile Branch, were elected. This large number of young men seeking admission to the Society points to a healthy sentiment prevailing throughout the city. The Society's financial statement was a very satisfactory one and met with universal approval. The Guardians of the Juveniles submitted their report of the working of the junior branch, which was creditable in every respect, particularly in the large number of our young boys who at every meeting present themselves to be enrolled under the banner of Father Matthew. The Club secretary tabled its report, showing decided improvements in all its workings. Legislation of the greatest importance, having for its object the relieving of all members of forty years' standing from all fees, was deferred until next monthly meeting at the request of the mover.

The Soiree Committee presented the Society with a very substantial amount, the result of the mammoth soiree held last month. An adjournment was taken at 6 o'clock.

The members of the College Board, and of the Old Boys Association, as well as, probably, those of the various temperance societies will be present.

The F.P.U. Meeting.

HELD LAST NIGHT.

Although the city was enshrouded in darkness for two hours last night owing to the big fire, the F. P. U. meeting at the Fishermen's Institute was held, and largely attended. Two lamps were secured, which with the watchman's lantern, afforded light, until 9 p.m. when the electric light was turned on. Quite a number of members when they found no lights available, before the President arrived, were generally indulged in, of rushing to a fire such as this city beheld last evening. The President took the Chair, and the meeting at once entered into the consideration of this evening's demonstration and mass meeting. It was decided that the crews of Harvey's steamers should meet at the Fishermen's Institute by 7 p.m., and march up town, stopping at Job's Cove for a short time to permit the crews of the Nascoptic and Beechie to join in, then on to Grieve's to pick up the Erna's crew, and on to Bowring's where a short stop would be made for the crews of the Florida and Stephano. The Sagona's crew will fall in wherever they happen to meet the parade. Tickets will be given each sealer in the parade during the march. Only ticket holders will be admitted as the accommodation is sufficient only for about 2000 men while there must be at least 2000 sealers in the city. The parade will turn up Waldgrave St. proceed along the wharf, then on to Water Street and to the Institute Building. On Wednesday night another meeting for F. P. U. members will be held at the same building to continue the business which time did not permit them to finish last night. The meeting last night was extremely enthusiastic and on several occasions the speakers were cheered. Harvey & Co. and Crosbie & Co. were severely criticised by the meeting because of the manner in which the crews of their steamers have been treated since their arrival here, and of the non-observance of the agreement with the President respecting accommodation for their steamers.

It was decided that the President visit the different iron ships to-day, and see for himself what had been done. President Coaker therefore visited the ships to-day and received a splendid reception from the crews. He was cheered heartily and the President asked for cheers for the crew. W. C. Job at Job's, and Messrs. Bowring Bros. at Bowring's which were given with a vim. The cheers were intended as an appreciation by the men of the manner in which those firms carried out the Sealing Agreement made with the President. Without doubt the first meeting held at St. John's will long be remembered by the members who attended last night's meeting. Yesterday at Job's when the Diana was leaving for the north, quite a scene was presented by the attempt of the police to arrest one of the crew. A half dozen policemen were engaged in handcuffing the man, and a rope was fastened around his legs and the orders were given to the men to haul the prisoner ashore. The crew declined to do, and one of the plucky members of the F. P. U. said no, and asked for three cheers for Coaker, which was replied to so effectively as to be heard along the water front, and fearing trouble the police gave up the attempt and the man was left on the steamer. The man was fighting drunk. The crew in which the police handled the prisoner. The name of Coaker was sufficient yesterday to cause the police to hesitate. It will also be sufficient to bring to their senses the gang of grab all who now despise the requests of 50,000 men for clean government and laws beneficial to the common toilers of our country. When the crosses are marked at the next election, the name of Coaker will carry sufficient weight to cause the calculations of the worst party that ever ruled the Colony. The Government has decided to hold a Sealers' meeting in the British wharf to-morrow night. Coaker's meeting to-night will be an historic one as it is an assertion of the fact that the fishermen of the Colony intend to do their own thinking and ruling. What a change! It is indeed something the fishermen should be proud of.

Tim Shannahan on the Wooden Sealing Ships

AND THE MEN OF DAYS GONE BY.

Tucker and Delaney stood on the King's Wharf and watched the Kite steam down the harbor, making her way through the ice slowly. The new style fleet, the ironclads, lay at the piers and sounded their sirens as she passed by, and Tucker couldn't help remarking who a great difference there was between them and the little Kite. Delaney's thoughts struggled back to the days of old, when the wooden steamers were the only kind that prosecuted the voyage, and we looked upon the Neptune and Aurora, the Ranger and the Diana as saviors of the feet. How quickly we change in our views and how suddenly we grasp the new order of things, and look upon the old and feel outlived and out of date. But how on earth did the men of long ago perform such wonderful work with the feeble means at their disposal?

But it is good that we still have the little Kite and such ships in the swim, for they serve to prove the great strides that the world is making to-day and also link the past history of our sealing voyage with the present. Looking at the Kite steaming out, Delaney's thoughts went back to the time when sailing vessels were in vogue, and he couldn't help remarking to Tucker that it would be a difficult proposition to man sailing vessels to-day.

Tucker shook his head and said he saw no reason why at the same time, says he, how was it that we could bring in twice as many seals in those days as they now manage to scrape up with all their steam and "gadgets." I'd like, said Tucker, for some of our brainy lecturers to give us their ideas on this matter. Are the seals diminishing in numbers or is it that they are missed each year? This subject, says Tucker, would make a good debate in our clubs, and would certainly be a great deal more interesting than talking on foreign subjects that we know little or nothing about.

Just then the Kite stopped steaming and a big, long fellow with a sleeked neck said, "Oh, be jabbers, she's stuck below and she was one of those 'know-it-alls' that always stops on shore and pans them by the bogie. Twenty stowaways were found hiding down below and she was slowed down to land them. Twenty stowaways! This in itself, says Tucker, clearly proves that the rising generation is not going to outdo the taste for the sea; 'tis in our nature. Yes, said Delaney, the nature of the beast. Soon the Kite was straightened up for the Gulf, and we all silently wished Captain Carroll and his crew a bumper trip and a quick return.

You can't help noticing what little interest is taken by the everyday man of St. John's in the sealing voyage and the men who are engaged in it. It is the first sound of a sealer's whistle strikes our ears and we see the crews hustling along, the old-time spirit is again in us, and we start to have a look at them. And as we gaze on the ironclads, we admire them and can't help feeling a certain respect for them, but as for true, genuine love, well, we reserve all that for the wooden steamers, because they are coming to us, and we are proud of the days gone by. When we look at the Neptune, who can forget the gallant Capt. Sam Blandford? He lives in our hearts, and we hold him on the bridge steaming in with 42,000.

Who can look at the Eagle without thinking of our old-time Jackman, the "hero of Labrador," arriving on St. Patrick's Day with a load of prime young harps. And again, we can look back to the days when the Eagle, without feeling a sadness that Capt. Arthur Jackman was not spared to tread the bridge of our old-time built steamers. Our heart is stirred to its roots, and we hear again the loud and joyful cheers as "we heard" that on that glorious Easter morning when Capt. Arthur arrived with a load of harps, after being reported as being lost with all hands.

Glancing at the Ranger we think of that great seal-killer now gone to that land "from whence no traveller returns"—the great Captain Barbour; and again we see in fancy the Ranger sailing in with all her flags flying, as was her custom, when she stood on the bridge, and so on right down to every ship that has sailed in the wooden ships we think of old times; and now that we began this subject with the Kite, it is only fitting that we should end it with the Ranger. Kite did when he trod the bridge of the Kite and ordered the lines to be hove ashore as the Kite steamed into Bowring's wharf with a load of prime young harps.

Let us all hope that the voyage of 1912 will be a prosperous one. Mrs. Tucker takes this opportunity to inform the captain of the first steamer in that she is very fond of flippers, and hopes that he won't forget to leave a good-sized "gad" with any of the policemen for her, and if the policemen don't take them because she didn't succeed in getting a raise in pay for them, he can leave them with Tom Carew of the Telegram, for he's sure to be over, if the day of general judgment doesn't arrive in the meantime.

THE DOCTOR.

The doctor is an experiment station situated midway between this world and the life beyond. Not all doctors look alike, but all they all charge alike. The doctor makes the grocery bill look like a collection for the kind-hearted Koreans. A few years ago some day that his patient discovered that there is an appendix to the human body and immediately invented a new disease, which has become highly popular with people who don't know an appendix from a glossary. This operation is a very simple one and can be performed while you wait, unless you have forgotten your check-book. The doctor is one of the most learned men in the community and rarely confounds the professional terms, "materia medica" and "a plurius unum." The doctor never gets what is coming to him in this world and that is one reason why the profession is so crowded. Nobody evades a doctor's bill until he is led up to it by the deputy sheriff, and the result is that every physician has a collection of mildeyed, promissory notes and judgments that he couldn't cash in for a lap robe. Many a doctor has made a thirty-mile drive on a winter night, only to discover the next day that his patient was several years in arrears at the shooting gallery.

The doctor is the only man in the community whose accounts are collected by a kind and merciful providence. If it were not for the human tongue the doctor wouldn't know what to do with his surplus pills. As it is, he can take one feeling glance at the complexion of the tongue and tell him immediately whether the patient is troubled with bunions or is trying to collect a little loose change in the form of accident insurance.

Caught Looting. Seriously Injured

At the early stage of the Collins fire last night a tipsy sealer, belonging to Port Rexon, was caught looting. He treated himself to some dry goods that he had stolen from the fire, and was making away with it when captured by Constable Farley, who conveyed him to the police station.

The sealer told the police that he was wrongfully treated as he had as much right to the goods as the fire did.

Minard's Liniment Cures Burns, Etc.

A serious accident occurred yesterday while the S.S. Diana was going through the Heads. One of the crew, Richard Hutchings, of Whitbourne, accidentally fell over the bow of the ship on the ice. The injured man was hauled on board by the aid of a rope in an unconscious condition and afterwards landed at Port Amherst where he awaited the arrival of the ambulance in which he was conveyed to the General Hospital. Hutchings had his right leg broken near the ankle and received serious bodily injury.

TUESDAY, March 12, 1912.

C. H. E. Grant.

We observe that the Daily News has a gibe at the work of the C. H. E. Here it is. Referring to one of the Recommendations of the Anglican Memorial, the Editor says:

"The proposed grant for the better training of teachers, and especially the inter-denominational contingency, is especially attractive, but why is any further amount required? If the useless extravagance of the C.H.E. system were ended, and the money saved were devoted to practical work in this direction, there would be enough and to spare."

Holding these opinions, and we do not say they are without merit, he will be interested to learn that in place of diverting the $7,500 a year already granted to some such purpose as the Hon. J. A. Robinson would approve, the Government have undertaken to recommend to the Legislature an increase of $2500 a year in the C. H. E. grants. The increase in the number of candidates who present themselves for examination has been such that a yearly subsidy of $10,000 is found necessary to cover the expenses entailed by the work which the Act of Incorporation has put upon the Council.

TUESDAY, March 12, 1912. The man who wants a change from Shaving Soap will find a good substitute in Taylor's Shaving Cream. This cream is particularly heavy suitable for travellers and voyagers. It gives a rich, thick, creamy lather which prepares the face for the razor in a perfect manner, and which dries off quickly dry. Not so very long ago Shaving Creams were considered somewhat of a "joke" and were not very popular, but the good work of Taylor's and the other up-to-date Creams are doing has quite dispipated the idea that such preparations are ineffective. To anyone who has a lingering doubt on the subject we would say, try a tube of Taylor's, and see how your misgivings will be dissipated. Price 25c. a tube.

Watermen's Prompt Work.

When the alarm of fire was turned in last evening the watermen were quickly at the sluices and a splendid head of water was concentrated near the scene of the blaze. Military Rd., East, was shut off and Water Street, foot of Present Street opened. This drove the supply West through the mains. Job's Street was also closed to keep the water flowing west of that point. Brazil's Square was also opened and a copious supply came down from the higher levels. Splendid streams were thus available at the fire where most of the City Councilors, Water Inspector Donnelly and other employees remained until the flames were quenched.

The Whale Fishery.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—Please allow me space in your valuable paper for an opinion in connection with the fishing industry of the Colony in general. The codfishery, no doubt, is the mainstay and backbone of the country; and notwithstanding the smaller species as well as the larger one, which is the whale, and the most important one at that, where codfish abound and bait the whale must certainly follow. When the whale becomes scarce the codfish becomes scarce; then we wonder why it is so. Well, every intelligent fisherman can readily understand the reason why. Now to have successful fisheries in the future we want to protect the whale. I notice there has been a falling off in the codfishery the past year in a great many places, but still the price is fairly good; and the whale also is becoming scarce. To employ a reason to this statement, it is very true. Some one suggested to have a close season now that the seals are getting scarce, and I think it is time we had a close season in the whaling industry, for the extermination of the whale means the extermination of the codfish. Norway in past years boasted of good fisheries, but companies formed up, got steamers known as whalers to prosecute the whale fishery, and the result was that they exterminated the whale and drove every other fish off the coast of Norway. Hence the result of the fishery fall in the past. In days gone by we had good cod and seal fisheries, and we can have the same to-day by preventing the extermination of the whale.

Thanking you for valuable space in the People's Paper, Yours truly, G. C. KENNEDY.

The Hon. Colonial Secretary's Standard.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—The Hon. Colonial Secretary thinks that Mr. McGrath's book is destined to become a standard work on Newfoundland. Must it be assumed that the honourable gentleman means that the intelligent people of this country will take the worthless quotation "Newfoundland in 1911" by P. T. McGrath, as a model of style and taste and diction. Why even the very parts treating of the geography of the country are egregiously incorrect, as I partially pointed out to your readers, Mr. Editor, in my criticisms. The fact of the matter is, Mr. McGrath—if we are to take his book as evidence—does not know the position on the globe occupied by Newfoundland, at least he did not know till I pointed it out to him. I know of one instance where the school board objected to having copies of the book given to school children as prizes because of its notorious inaccuracy. The work may be cited as a standard authority on the Bill Nye style (with apologies to Bill Nye).

In case, Mr. Editor, the Colonial Secretary has not seen my criticisms of Mr. McGrath's book, I beg leave to point out to him just one example of Mr. McGrath's style not previously referred to by me. On page 143, in the concluding remarks of that chapter on seals and whales, if Mr. Watson cares to look, he will see a pretty fair sample of Mr. McGrath's style. "The baleen of commerce, the peculiar substances which fringes the mouth of the cetacean and does duty instead of teeth," etc. I would ask Mr. Watson if he thinks a work containing such an outrageous statement, that the baleen or whalebone takes the place of teeth in the whale's head, should be taken as a model or standard?

The same author tells us on page 141 that "whales from their enormous size are necessarily limited in number. Can such a statement as that be taken as a standard? I answer, yes, as a standard by which to judge of Mr. McGrath's intellectual status. Too long have we of this country been tolerant of such. We permit persons to pose as leaders and moulders of public opinion that nowhere else in the civilized world would be tolerated. If a citizen, say of Canada or the United States, were to have the temerity to impose such a work as the work of Mr. McGrath, were he, I say, to attempt to foist such a book on the public, there would arise such a cry of indignation that the presumptuous writer should call on the very hills to hide him. It is high time that we arouse ourselves from our lethargy or state of passivity. So long as we remain apathetic, so long do we permit false standards to be followed by our youth. We have noticed a man who has obtained some notoriety as a writer of fake articles for magazines in the exalted position of a Legislative Councillor as a reward for what may I ask, for vilifying his country, or is it as a reward for his mud-slinging propensities?

We have it still fresh in our minds when Mr. McGrath styled his now revered leader as one "reared on Poor House scraps." Does Sir Edward Morris forget that? We do not.

I say, Mr. Editor, for whatever reason Mr. McGrath has been raised to his present position, a grave mistake has been committed. What hope for this country, when we see such men, such political tumblers, such literary parasites as Mr. McGrath made Legislative Councillors. Is it, I ask, a worthy example to set before the youth of this country to see such as Mr. McGrath raised to a position of dignity? Our young men will see that not "the narrow path," but the way of sinuousity leads to distinction and power, and if he chooses to follow the way, can we altogether blame him when we permit such false standards to meet his eyes.

Thank God the day is not far off when the people of this country will have the pleasure of hurling from office a man so utterly wanting in self-respect as to take to his bosom the one who not so very long ago heaped such vile contumely upon him as to say that he had been "fed on Poor House scraps." I refer to Sir Edward Morris. ARTHUR ENGLISH.

At 6.35 yesterday evening a destructive fire broke out in Mr. Collins' dry goods store on Water Street just west of Adelaide Street. 11 o'clock the premises of P. Collins, Lawrence and Co., and Curran, blacksmiths, on Ho Street, were completely up in all the contents destroyed, a fire, water or smoke. Mr. Collins was the first to notice the fire, it in the centre shop of the premises was smoking. He telephoned the sub-station and the electric current was turned off. Mr. Collins' store was up to the windows and in while no less than six store water were playing on the fabric. There was a strong blowing and the flames in while burst through the window shot through the roof far into the air, illuminating the street. Thousands of people gathered by the crowds of the city, through Water Street, and the fire was kept most of them on the past 10 o'clock. This fire very promptly on the scene of the condition of the street Inspector General Sullivan Dunn and Chief, H. C. O'Connell, and the fire department, were on the scene. The fire was about half an hour in a general alarm was sent to the firemen arrived at the Eastern Division Division. A BIG FIRE!

BUSINESS BLOCK ON WATER ST. DESTROYED LAST NIGHT—COLLINS, LAWRENCE & CO'S, AND T. CURRAN'S BUSINESS PREMISES COMPLETELY GUTTED AND CONTENTS DESTROYED—HEAVY LOSSES. At 6.35 yesterday evening a destructive fire broke out in Mr. P. F. Collins' dry goods store on Water St. just west of Adelaide Street, and by 11 o'clock the premises of P. F. Collins, Lawrence Nidd, and Mr. T. Curran, blacksmith, on Holdsworth Street, were completely gutted and all the contents destroyed, either by fire, water or smoke. Mr. Simon Kessner was the first to notice the existence of the fire at Collins', and saw it in the centre shop of the three departments as he passed that way while Collins, Lawlor and O'Neill, who were on their beats, saw the reflection of the blaze through the windows and were quickly on the scene. Lawlor telephoned the sub-station and soon the electric current was turned off, as it would be a danger to firemen and citizens collected at the scene, the street cars were stopped running, and an alarm of fire was turned in from box 31 at the foot of Adelaide Street. On Mr. Collins' premises, which was filled with dry goods and the most inflammable of material, the fire soon gained great headway, and when the Western and Central firemen arrived they had their work cut out for them. Ladders were thrown up to the windows, and a shower of water was less than six streams of water were playing on the burning fabric. There was a strong breeze blowing and the flames in a short while burst through the windows and shot through the roof far into the air, brilliantly illuminating the surroundings. Thousands of people, attracted by the crowds of seafarers in the city, thronged Water Street, Holdsworth, Adelaide, George's and New Gower Streets, and the spectacle kept most of them on the scene till past 10 o'clock. The firemen were very promptly on the scene, considering the condition of the streets, and Inspector General Sullivan, Supt. Dunn and Chiefs Kane, Winsor and Tremble guided the fire-fighters in an admirable way. From the spectacle the firemen had plenty of water at their command, there being 70 lbs. pressure at the hydrants. When the fire was about half an hour in progress a general alarm was sent in and the Eastern firemen arrived quickly to help the two divisions already there. In a very short space of time the Collins building was completely enveloped in flame and the fire had ate its

IT WAS STONE IN THE BLADDER GIN PILLS PASSED IT. "Five years ago, I was taken down with what the doctors called inflammation of the bladder—intense pain in the back and legs, and difficulty in urinating, and the attacks, which became more frequent, amounted to unbearable agony. I became so weak that I could not walk across the floor. My wife read in the papers about GIN PILLS and sent for a box. From the very first, I felt that GIN PILLS were doing me good. The pain was relieved at once, and the attacks were less frequent. In six weeks, the Stone in the Bladder came away. When I recall how I suffered and how now I am healthy and able to work, I cannot express myself strongly enough when I speak of what GIN PILLS have done for me." JOHN HERRMAN, Hamilton, Ont. It is being presented in the T. A. Hall, on St. Patrick's night, by Mr. T. M. White and his talented company, and is said to rival "On the Stage" in originality and humour. That veteran performer, Frank Walsh, will appear as Roby, and will give one of his old-time step dances, the Irish songs and reels will be introduced during the performance. As a Cure for Whooping Cough

A medicine that will cure whooping cough can certainly be relied upon to overcome all ordinary coughs and colds. This is about the severest test, and one to which Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine has frequently been put with the most satisfactory results. "I have used a dozen bottles of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. It cured my little girl of whooping cough when the doctor had given her up, and since then we always keep it in our house as a treatment for coughs and colds. It is the best medicine we ever used." In spite of imitations and substitutes, the sales of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine keep right on increasing, and this, we believe, is the most substantial evidence that can be offered as to the reliability of this well-known medicine as a cure for whooping cough, whooping cough and kindred ailments; 25 cents a bottle, at all dealers, or Edmanston, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

A $44,000 Sheep Pasture.

Mr. Gear, member for Burin, asked a very pertinent question in the House of Assembly yesterday. In answer to a question of his on March 7th, he found $44,000 "Forty-four Thousand Dollars" had been spent in Burin District last year on Main Roads and Bridges. He wished to know if this had been spent because an election was to take place there in the Fall. If it was not for election purposes then the annual Main railway grant should be increased by $1,000 for the upkeep of the new roads. He got no encouragement from the Government that this would be done. The newly elected member for the District sat silent. The inference is, the grant of forty-four thousand dollars was meant as a sop to pacify Sir Edward's special electors. The roads are to be permitted to fall into disrepair as highways, but in pursuance of his farming policy Sir Edward is to make the newly-made roads to become verdant with two-blade grass, on which thousands of sheep are to graze, and you know the result. This is rather an expensive way of providing a sheep pasture, but having the expense, it seems the motto of the Picnic Party. The $1,000 asked for by Mr. Gear would finance a fair-sized picnic. Fancy, ye fishermen, what a delightful picnic, those long lanes of green pasture may witness next summer, while you are out on the stormy sea, risking life and limb to earn the money which is so recklessly used by the most extravagant crew that ever held power in this country.

Found Dead on the Track.

At 7 o'clock last evening a section man named Garnier arrived at Horwood's from Cook's Brook, and reported that he had found the dead body of a man about 2 miles west of the camp and lying in the centre of the railway track. The body, which is so found it was partly covered with snow, and Garnier who is a section man said he identified it as the body of an Asryan named Basha. The Reid Nfld. Co. enquired along the line and found that two men on Sunday, named Pennell and Neema, the latter being a watchmaker, left the stalled train to walk to Birchy Cove. He and Pennell walked along together as far as Burton's Grade where they separated. Neema told Pennell to go on and he would follow. Pennell arrived at Birchy Cove all right, but Neema did not. The Coal Strike Situation.

Special to Evening Telegram. LONDON, March 11. The beginning of the new week sees the coal strike no nearer settlement; but optimists expect much from this week's conferences. There is an overwhelming opinion that the South Wales strike will continue another month. The miners of Northumberland and Derbyshire also, but determined to give up for nothing less than a minimum wage. Meanwhile the industrial upheaval has grown from bad to worse. The leading railway roads are further reducing their service this week. Trains in the rural district of Northumberland and Cumberland have ceased running. Railroads from east, west and north-east are almost stopped. Half the staffs have been suspended, and the other half are only working three days a week. In Mold district families are starving and looting is in order. Sleeting of tame pigeons and other half-bred fowls is common. London storekeepers have further increased the price of bread, butter and all food stuffs. A market of railway men, arranged to take place to-day in Trafalgar Square, was stopped by the police. Owing to the rapidly dwindling stock of coal at hand in North Wales, an advance in price of from 75 to 100 per cent. has been made. This fact necessitates the closing of the mines, which is so and quarry in that part of the country. In other portions of the United Kingdom conditions are almost equally as bad.

Uncle Walt THE POET PHILOSOPHER. The museum was cool and shady wherein I saw the bearded lady, on exhibition there; her whiskers hung in tangled masses, the color of N. O. molasses, and they were made of hair. Oh hand-downs on a queenly woman are things abnormal, superhuman; "they're unsmiling, these weeps because my graft is falling—twill last not many years. While female women were invented, no tear-drops stained my cheek; it paid me rather richly always to wear this bunch of auburn garlands to be a sideshow freak. But now the dames, with much grandstanding, are raising thunder and demanding the overalls of men; and when the girls have gone to toting themselves to ballot booths and voting, they'll all wear whiskers then."

IT IS QUITE A DAILY occurrence to hear persons say: Oh, what a feeling of distress I have after meals, fullness of the stomach, heaviness and headache, I feel too tired to do anything.
