Sunrise

GOLD MEDAL
JAMS & MARMALADE

The Story of 'Sunrise' Preserves Number 1.

ALL over the world it is known that the best preserves are English Jams and Marmalade. The finest English Jams and Marmalade are 'Sunrise'; these little stories tell how they are made and why they are so good.

FIRST of all, and most highly important, only the best and freshest fruit is bought. All the counties in Great Britain, and orange groves in Spain, where the finest fruits are grown, are visited by the buyers who make careful selection, and the gathering and packing is carried out under watchful supervision so that the fruit arrives undamaged at the factory.

THAT is the first step in the progress to perfection, and 'Sunrise' Jams which you will find in your stores are specially made for your country by the famous house of

E. & T. Pink Ltd.
LONDON, ENGLAND.

And MESSRS. BAIRD & CO., P. O. Box 157, St. John's, Newfoundland, are the resident wholesale agents.

'Atlas' Confectionery is also made in the same wonderful factory.

CHAPTER XXXVIII

"I am glad if I have been of service to you, Sir Charles," she faltered. "Will you sit near me?" he asked. "I want to say something to you, Ada. I want to show you that I am grateful for all that you have done for me."

She was beside him in a moment, and had seized one of his hands between her own. She bent her face over it, and he could feel her hot tears.

It was not till that instant that he remembered the passionate words she had whispered to him, the night that he was struck down. She loved him—But what a hopeless passion! She knew that he was not master of himself—even if he had no other love.

"No one knows that there was murder in the heart of the man who visited you that night," she said, at length. "He was allowed to escape. I would give no information to the police."

"Thank you; I am glad of this. That man came about the woman I am married to. He accused me of—"

His brows contracted, as though by a sudden spasm of acute pain.

"Do not refer to it again," she whispered. "You are thinking of the check you gave to me; you are wondering what connection that can have with this man's story. What I have done has only been done to help you. I will explain all to your satisfaction."

"I will trust you in all things," he said. "I can never do enough for you. You are one woman in a thousand. I am not worthy of your regard."

He felt so grateful toward her in his weakness that he was ready to grant her almost any request she might make. He felt that his load of obligation was too great to be ever repaid.

His slightest wish was law to her. She deemed it heaven if he but smiled approval.

She told him of the visit of Herbert Gardner, and that he would come again soon; but she thought it best to forget the promise she had made to the young barister—to telegraph to him when his friend became conscious. She did not wish to meet Herbert Gardner again, at present. Even if he proved her enemy, she believed that she held the talisman that would win him to her side.

Weak as he was bodily, the mind of Sir Charles was necessarily feeble, and Ada Craythorne knew that this was the chance of her life. If she could get him to make some promise, he was naturally too chivalrous to ever draw back, even when he knew that Gladys Howard's was free. It was the all-consuming love that raged within her that urged her to throw every obstacle from her path to win the man she worshipped.

He had been silent for a little while, and she had just promised to send Lady Hastings to see him, when she hid her face from his eyes.

"I want you to forgive me one thing, if you can," she murmured.

"Anything," he interrupted. "But there is nothing which calls for my forgiveness."

She steadily kept her face averted, and continued:

"You must have thought me un-madly, Sir Charles, for—saying things which I could not help."

He did not profess that he had forgotten, or that he did not understand her meaning, but replied:

"What is there to forgive? You confessed to a liking for me—"

"No, no!" Do not make light of my love—do not call it mere liking. It is life and death to me. There is no harm in telling you this—there is no shame! You must have seen it. It is love like mine that makes it heaven to be within sound of your voice. You do not wonder now why I have scarcely ever left your side! Whilst you were ill—unconscious—I could gaze upon you without fear of your displeasure. I found my delight and my joy in ministering to your every want! I was in a delirium of ecstasy when you murmured my name in your sleep."

She was weeping now, and Sir Charles wondered if he could ever repay devotion such as this. Had he spoken her name—had he mistled her when his mind was wandering?

"Poor little girl," he said, softly and tenderly. "It is a pity to waste the treasures of your love upon me. You know why, Ada!"

A fierce fire flashed into her eyes, and she dropped upon her knees, whispering, hoarsely:

"If you were free from that woman—if you were free, do you think that you could find one little corner in your heart for me?"

"Free!" he exclaimed. "I am not free—I never can be, only by the hand of death!"

"Answer me, my love; would you try and love me a little if you had no wife?"

She gazed at him hungrily; this hesitation was keenest torture.

"Yes," he replied; "if it would make you happy. I owe you something, Ada. Yes; if I had no burden upon me, I would marry you, if you wished it. I owe my life to you, and no one has an equal claim. I do not say that I could give you my first, passionate love—the love you might expect from me. I could not give you that, for my heart is dead—dead to love of that kind—to any but its first, fond object. I could give you my esteem—my gratitude. If you could be content with this, I would marry you, Ada—I would marry you if I were free."

"Oh, my love, I know that your heart was given to Gladys Howard. Honor you for your candor, but it makes my love for you none the less. I will be content with your esteem and your gratitude until you can give me something more. I am content to take even the smallest crumb, for I can win your love by a life's devotion!"

Weak as he was, he half-raised himself upon one elbow to look at her. She spoke as though he were free.

"Ada," he said, gently, "do you forget—do you forget?"

"No, my darling, I forget nothing! You have made me a promise. I am the happiest girl in the wide world—happy because you have no wife living—you never have had any wife!"

Then she poured into his ears the story told her by the woman who had called herself Agnes Matland. She read to him the woman's confession, and he listened mutely, and wondered if he were still in the grasp of the fever.

"You now know why I borrowed the money from you; you know where it went. It was Spliers' plan to live upon your fears—now he must starve. When he feared that you had perhaps taken some kind of a fancy to this woman, who is his lawful wife—when he feared that you had taken a fancy to her, he was mad, and lived only for revenge. The check you gave me lent color to this, and he believed that you had put her out of his way. It was this I was going to tell you the night he came."

"Thank God that I am free!" the young man murmured. "At last the nightmare is lifted from me; you will tell my mother, Ada, I know that it will add a little to her happiness."

His face was flushed with excitement, and he lay, with wide-open eyes, gazing at the ceiling, but seeing nothing there.

Before his mental vision their came a glorious picture—a picture of blue skies, of golden sunshine and beautiful roses; green fields and verdant woods, the ripple of merry laughter, the rapture of lovely women, among whom was one, the fairest of all, a human flower with pansy eyes, and pines at her throat.

The mad rush of bitter memories turned him dizzy, and he moaned aloud. She was forever lost to him; she was to be the wife of another, and he—well, he had pledged himself very hour to one who had a great claim upon him—to one whom it was his duty to make happy if he could.

He felt her kisses on his brow, and shuddered. In his weakness he cried for Gladys, and the woman he had promised to make his wife smiled bitterly. Each cry was like the stab of a three-edged knife.

She clutched at the letter that was hidden in her bosom—the letter from the woman he loved!—from the woman who loved him!

Bah! what was their love compared with the fire that consumed her heart and soul!

She waited until he slept again, then silently stole away; but her victory had brought her but little joy! (To be continued.)

PIMPLES ON FACE FOR 3 YEARS
Also on Arms. Very Sore. Cuticura Healed.

"For three years my daughter was troubled with pimples on her face and arms. They were hard, large, and red, and some of them festered and were very sore. Her face was disfigured for a while, and she stayed in nearly all the time."

"She tried different remedies but they did not do any good so began to use Cuticura Soap and Ointment and after using three boxes of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment she was healed." (Signed) Mrs. S. F. McQuay, 28 Franklin St., Boston, N. H., Dec. 21, 1920.

MORS TROOPS FOR SYDNEY.

OTTAWA, Aug. 18. Two hundred and one men of all ranks of the Royal Canadian Dragoons, fully equipped, and officers wearing swords, left Petawawa Military Camp to-day, and passed through Ottawa this evening on the way to the Sydney, C.B. strike area.

CONTINUES QUIET.

NORTH SYDNEY, Aug. 18. The strike situation in northern Cape Breton County coal area continues quiet, officials working the pumps without molestation.

KILLED BY TROOP TRAIN.

NORTH SYDNEY, Aug. 18. Jacob Anthony, Sydney Mines, and John Andrea of North Sydney, were instantly killed, and Harold McSweeney, Sydney Mines, dangerously injured, when a motor truck, driven by Anthony and carrying the three men was struck at Letche's Creek level crossing on the Canadian National Railway near here by a troop train carrying the 22nd. Quebec Regiment to Sydney.

PROVINCIAL POLICE PROTECTION.

HALIFAX, Aug. 18. The Provincial police force of one thousand men has been authorized by the Provincial Government to protect the pumpmen in Nova Scotia coal mines. Hon. E. H. Armstrong, Minister of Mines and Public Works, said to-night. The sole purpose will be the protection of public property, and the maintenance of law and order, he said. Proclamations have been issued giving the new body jurisdiction in Glace Bay, New Waterford, Dominion and southern Cape Breton County areas, where collieries are declared to be falling victims to inflowing water. The men will be stationed in groups, and each group of about fifteen, will have a magistrate with them, who will have power of reading the Riot Act and calling in the aid of the military.

GRAVE DAMAGE TO MINES.

SYDNEY, Aug. 18. The end of the fourth day of the Nova Scotia coal mine strike saw the collieries in southern Cape Breton County coal area being invaded more and more by water and gas, and company officials report grave damage, and state some of the more worked out collieries will never be opened again. The Nova Scotia Government, according to a statement of Hon. E. H. Armstrong, late to-night, to protect mines, will man the pumps under the protection of special Provincial police. The 22nd Royal Canadian Regiment added to-day to the military forces at New Aberdeen, after being twice held while passing through the coal territory. There have been no disturbances of moment to date. Mines in northern Cape Breton County territory are being kept out of danger by company officials. At Springhill and Stellarton, on the mainland, men and company have come to an agreement for protection of the mines. Inverness miners on the north side of Cape Breton, who went on strike this morning, returned to work later, stating they had been granted an increase in pay.

Why Does A Cup of Tea Taste Better?

Some of the "kill joys" will tell you it is imagination. But you mustn't mind them for that is what they lack.

The joys of trout are not for them. The music of the berry patch, the red of the partridge berry, the blue of the whort berry and the satisfaction of the well filled basket are not for them.

Even the beauty of our Newfoundland scenery, the glory of the Topsisal sunset will leave them cold. But let us forget them and let us make for the old Southside Hill, now carpeted with the green and red of the partridge berry, or out to Topsisal, or up to Manuels River, or let us make for the old "Cow Path" leading to beautiful Holyrood (and along the said "Cow Path" the whorts never grew thicker than they do this year) and let us "boil the kettle", and I bet you it will be a good "cup of tea", unless your grocer has done you dirty altogether. For the secret of it is, you steep the tea as soon as the kettle boils, and any old tea will taste pretty good, I'll bet you.

But it is just as well to take the best tea with you, it doesn't cost much more. The last time we were out we had a splendid tea and it only cost us 65c. lb. It had a sort of artistic name—"Mount View". We bought it at Henry Blair's. They had another good tea there at 50c. per pound, but the clerk said "the best is the best", and we believe him.

Freshly boiled water is the secret of the cup of tea you drink out camping, fishing, berry picking or picnicking, but it is just as well to have the best tea. You can get it for 65c. per lb. at Blair's "Mount View", that is the slogan.

Household Notes.

Serve jellied chicken rings on crisp lettuce and fill centers with dried pickled beets.

Films are delicious baked in a casserole with a little water. Sweeten and bake until tender.

Chocolate bread pudding is delicious served with strawberry sauce made of strawberry jam.

When the apples with which you are going to make sauce are tasteless, add some chopped mint.

An excellent and nourishing salad for luncheon is made with raw cabbage and chopped peanuts.

This slices of onion, tomato and green pepper are excellent served on crisp lettuce with French dressing.

After you have opened a large bottle of olives, pour in a little olive oil on the top and keep well corked.

Water and Gas Choke Cape Breton Mines.

Many Collieries Will never be worked again—Soldiers and Police Protecting Pumpmen and other Workers.—No Disturbances Have so far Occurred.

DISASTERS AT GLACE BAY.

HALIFAX, Aug. 18. Early morning reports from the Nova Scotia coal fields, which have been in the grip of a strike since Tuesday, were that while the tie-up is complete, no outbreak of any consequence had developed. Two companies of the permanent force are now camped at Glace Bay, protecting the property of the state, and three additional are on their way to the disaffected area. In the meantime officials of the company are being prevented by strikers from entering the works, and mines in some cases are being rendered permanently useless.

NEUTRAL ZONE ESTABLISHED.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 18. An agreement drawn up by a mixed commission for a Neutral Zone between Greek and Allied forces, along the Tchatalja line, was signed yesterday and becomes effective August 19th.

HARDING'S CLEAR CUT STATEMENT.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18. President Harding told Congress today that he was resolved to use all the power of the Government to maintain transportation and sustain the right of men to work. The President, in an address to Congress, recommended specific legislation, designed to remove the industrial mills of United States and decided with emphasis that the rights of employers and employees alike to establish their methods of conducting business, to choose their employment, and to determine their relations with each other must be recognized. The Government "by law and will be sustained," the President said, no matter what "clouds may gather, no matter what storms may ensue, no matter what hardships may attend or what sacrifice may be necessary."

GAS AND WATER ACCUMULATING.

GLACE BAY, Aug. 18. There was no disorder at any of the Cape Breton collieries, not even number 2, which is recognized as the storm centre of the strike here, but with fans and pumps at a standstill in the mines, gas is collecting and water accumulating at an alarming rate. It is stated by mine officials that number 5 and 10 at reserve, and number 21 at Birch Cove, will never be reopened. These mines are said to be nearly worked out but would ordinarily have been good for two or three years more. In two of the Waterford collieries, gas is now so prevalent that nobody is permitted to go into them. Water runs very rapidly into some of the mines, and if unchecked for a few days would flood the workings. Number 2 the biggest producer is a comparatively dry mine, and the water situation might not become serious for some weeks but the time and expense of drying it would be great.

An Insect Pest.

The Editor of Public Opinion in the current issue of that weekly points to an existent danger to our forests from attacks by an insect known as the Spruce Bud worm.

"Anybody travelling countrywards towards Nagle's Hill must have observed the faded and brown appearance of the trees on that slope to the north and west of Long Pond.

Very soon the chrysalis which weakens the destruction will be transformed into the wood moth, which will at once proceed to deposit its larvae into other trees and so continue the propagation of the species and add to the army of tiny destructionists.

Highland Games, 1922.

INTRODUCTION OF HANDICAP SYSTEM WILL GIVE DARK HORSES A CHANCE TO TODDLER HOME WITH THE PRIZES.

Of more than ordinary interest to sport fans and the public generally is the announcement of the Highland Games, which appears in another column of this paper. It will be noticed that the event takes place on August 30th.

Whit a detailed review of the interesting programme of events is impossible to-day owing to pressure of space, a brief reference to some of them will show that the programme is refreshingly new in its makeup as compared to those which have been run off of late years.

How it Occurred.

GAS COMPANY'S EXPLANATION.

We are asked by the Gas Company to state that the paragraph in this morning's News entitled "Leaking Gaspipe" is liable to give a wrong impression. The facts of the case were as follows:— "Employees of the City Council were employed early Wednesday morning endeavoring to find a leak of water outside the Avalon Telephone Building on Duckworth Street, and during operations broke off a gas service in the street. The gas found its way into the Telephone Building via the cable conduit, but it was not until 9 o'clock Wednesday night, or fourteen hours afterwards, that the trouble was reported to the Gas Company. Men were employed immediately, and working continuously, located and stopped the leak by noon Friday."

It is evident that leakage of gas should be reported as soon as possible that discovery is made, for the benefit of all concerned.

City Wins Final in Spirited Game.

FOREST FINES ALONG RAILWAY TRACK.

WHITBOURNE, To-day. Special to Evening Telegram. City won final goal in five against Grand Falls after a most exciting contest in the presence of many spectators. The result was doubtful till the end. Forwards of both sides played well. But, Elton and Jarrett starred. In the first half LeMoyna, accidentally scored for the city from a mix up, but Pitcher equalized near the end, while Flynn scored a pass from Jarrett. In the second half Strickley equalized, landing ball. Soon after Jarrett scored winning a goal pass from Flynn. Grand Falls attacked fiercely at the end, but could not score. Forest fire burning and Grand Falls filled with smoke. Fires are all along railway near track.

Newfoundland Films Limited. HEAD OFFICE - ST. JOHN'S. Incorporated Under the Companies Act. AUTHORIZED CAPITAL: $100,000.00. Divided into 1,000 Shares at $100 each. DIRECTORS: E. A. Bowring, W. G. Gosling, A. E. Hickman, Jas. J. McKay, David Baird, J. C. Hephburn, R. B. Job, C. A. C. Bruce. The following gentlemen have also consented to become Directors: Hon. Tasker Cook, Mayor of St. John's; J. P. Kiely, Proprietor Nickel Theatre; Ernest Shipman, Motion Picture Producer. Newfoundland Films, Ltd., has been formed for the purpose of producing a Newfoundland screen story, under the direction of Mr. Ernest Shipman, a Motion Picture Producer of world-wide repute. While the principal characters will be drawn from the Motion Picture centre of the United States, the minor roles will be selected from local talent. The Newfoundland picture will convey to the world the beautiful scenic attractions of this Colony, and thus advertise this country to prospective tourists and others. Millions of people will see Newfoundland on the screen. The public are demanding nature-made outdoor productions in place of the time worn studio-made fashion plate dramas, and a good reception is assured the Newfoundland film story. The extraordinary financial success of "The Sky Pilot", "God's Crucible" and "Cameron of the Royal Mounted", all produced by Mr. Shipman, give some indication of what we may expect. The takings of "The Sky Pilot", which has been released but a short time, now exceeds one quarter of a million dollars, and is estimated to gross $750,000 when the returns are in from all countries. In addition Mr. Shipman has produced film versions of three of James Oliver Curwood's Stories, which have already grossed receipts of over one and one half million dollars. Mr. Shipman is confident of a ready market and when the Newfoundland picture is made and released in October, it is anticipated the Company will receive in cash from $75,000.00 to $100,000.00. This would enable the Company to return the original capital to investors—who would, however, continue to share in the profits during the life of the picture, which is at least five years. A limited number of Shares are offered to the general public at $100 per Share. The Directors, however, reserve the right to refuse further subscriptions, if they consider that sufficient has been subscribed for the purpose of the Company. Copy of Prospectus will be sent on request. To make sure of your requirements communicate promptly with C. A. C. BRUCE Investment Broker St. John's

Passing of Well-Known Newfoundlander.

DEATH OF W. J. DYER AT PALM BEACH.

The following account of the passing of a prominent Newfoundlander, who for many years was a member of the Board of Public Instruction, was taken from the Beach Post:

W. J. Dyer, of 808 Poinsettia Street, St. John's, for many years a prominent and respected resident of this city and for more than ten years a member of the Board of Public Instruction, died at the Riverside Hospital, Jacksonville, about noon on July 18. His death came as the culmination of a long illness, the seriousness of which had been ignored until too late. Although he had been suffering from a long illness, he had been able to attend to his duties in this city for Jacksonville about a week ago. He was operated on by Dr. Peron the day following his arrival. On Monday morning Mrs. Dyer and Miss Dyer were summoned to his bedside, but arrived too late to see him alive.

Five men could have left a more appreciable hiatus in the social business and official life of West Palm Beach than W. J. Dyer. Arriving in Florida in 1889 his knowledge of the West Coast was that of long intimate acquaintance. He settled originally on a tract of land about five miles north of the present railway bridge at Stuart, and later moved to the city of Palm Beach. He entered into the cultivation of oranges with E. C. B. Tyndall, and the partnership being dissolved two years later, Mr. Dyer acquired land in what are to-day the city limits of West Palm Beach at that time an unclaimed spot. In 1893 he married Miss Katie Hamilton. Having by sheer force and much hard work successfully overcome all natural obstacles, he achieved marked success in the pineapple industry.

Mr. Dyer took his seat as a member of the County School Board on January 1, 1911, and was chairman of that body from August 15, 1915, until the dissolution of the present Board, having declined to run again. His administration of the educational affairs of the county was remarkable for the wisdom of the same judgment that distinguished the conduct of his personal affairs. Upon the occasion of his retirement from Office, the financial affairs of the School Board of Palm Beach County were in a condition of sound solvency that was the result of nearly every county in the State.

He was one of the original directors of the Palm Beach Bank, and at the time of his death, one of the vice-presidents of his successor, the Palm Beach Bank and Trust Company. He is survived by his widow, Miss Mabel Dyer, and three daughters, Miss George W. J. Dyer, and Miss George W. J. Dyer, and a son, Mr. Harry Dyer, who is a resident of Newton, Washington.

He was born in St. John's, Newfoundland, where his family was prominent and highly respected, spent many years in Texas, and became a naturalized American citizen in 1889 a few months after his arrival in Florida. His age was 57.

THE FUNERAL.
Marked by impressive solemnity, and attended by relatives and hundreds of friends made during a lifetime of business and public activity, the rites were performed yesterday morning, July 22, over the body of W. J. Dyer, pioneer business man and director of Palm Beach county who died at Jacksonville last Tuesday. The funeral services were held under the direction of the Rev. the educational affairs of the county was remarkable for the wisdom of the same judgment that distinguished the conduct of his personal affairs. Upon the occasion of his retirement from Office, the financial affairs of the School Board of Palm Beach County were in a condition of sound solvency that was the result of nearly every county in the State.

Reception to Rev. and Mrs. H. Johnson

The reception in honour of the Rev. Hammond Johnson and Mrs. Johnson, held in the lecture room of Gower Street Church, provided a function of much interest. The Rev. Dr. Fudwick, Chairman of the District, presided. Miss Esie Tait rendered an instrumental solo, and Miss Marjorie Hutchings a vocal one. Both items contributed greatly to the evening's enjoyment. Prayer was offered by the Rev. T. W. Atkinson, Assistant Pastor of the Church. Mr. John Leamon, Recording Steward, tendered the welcome to the official board. In happy phraseology, Mr. W. H. Peters presented the Sunday School's welcome. A letter was read from Mrs. J. S. Currie, President of the Girl's Club, regretting her unavoidable absence, and tendering congratulations. Rev. A. Woods, baptized in a building older than old Gower Street, spoke reminiscently. Rev. Dr. Curtis followed in a vigorous address. Dr. Robinson presented the congratulations of the lady. The response by the Rev. Hammond Johnson not only attracted the attention of all present, but so stirred their sense of loyalty, as to assure the new Pastor of the hearty co-operation in his efforts for the good of those amongst whom he has come to labour. Sunday's impression was rendered indelible on Friday. A social hour, pleasure of those present had the presence of those who were to greet the Pastor and Mrs. Johnson. Most interestingly, they left it as strangers no more.

Father Ashley's Garden Party.

The Garden Party at Torbay tomorrow needs very little advertising to make it a success. Every day during the summer the new church has been visited by large numbers from St. John's, the outports, and the transient tourists from the U.S.A. Torbay Parish is the third Parish that Father Ashley has had to materially at least erect from the very foundations. Tumbling-down Churches, Presbyteries, and schools were in a chaotic condition. Father Ashley's difficulties in Torbay were to erect a church and Presbytery the same year, as the building of both were absolutely necessary. His work in the Archdiocese for the past twenty-three years, in the uplifting of ecclesiastical and educational work merits an appreciation from all interested in the welfare of the Catholic community of the Archdiocese, and let all his friends show it by their presence on the field-to-morrow when they will get an opportunity to see the strenuous work of four short years.

CRISIS IMMINENT.
 VIENNA, Aug. 19. The financial crisis in Austria is daily growing in intensity, and rumblings are heard forecasting a catastrophe, unless means are found to remedy the situation.
CLEANING UP.
 DUBLIN, Aug. 19. National forces are advancing on Irregulars from both north and south in County Cork, and an official bulletin announces the capture of Macroom, one of the more important centres in the western part of the County. Mill Street, the last post under the Macroom command, was taken yesterday. A fierce fight for Kildorrey resulted in victory for the Nationals, who took twenty-seven prisoners and a large quantity of arms and ammunition.

Judge Suspended Sentence.
HOP BEER BREWER ALLOWED TO GO.
 A charge of breaking the prohibition law, preferred against a resident of Thorburn Road, was settled in court this morning, when Judge Morris allowed the man to go on suspended sentence. The defendant, it appears, makes his living from a small piece of land and had his wife brew a keg of beer for him. As a result of giving a glass of the brew to a friend, the beer was seized by the police. Analysis showed it contained 3 per cent alcohol. In summing up the Judge said that the construction of the Prohibition Act was so perfect that it left him no option but to inflict a fine of $100 or 30 days in the Penitentiary. Considering the hardship this would be to his family, he gave defendant a warning and suspended sentence. In passing, the Judge said that every cell in the Penitentiary was filled, but with others than offenders against the prohibition law.

BOUND OVER TO KEEP PEACE.
 A case described as a disgraceful scene was settled in court this morning, when Judge Morris bound over two brothers-in-law, resident of Cliff Street, to keep the peace. The trouble arose between the wives of the men, the former being sisters and occupying the one house. Both have large families and disputes between the women were settled on the public street. The men managed to get into one of the affairs on Wednesday last, with the consequence that the matter was aired in court. The Judge promised to bind the wives also to keep the peace should they appear before him.

Two Unpopular Sovereigns
 The climax of one of the most did episodes in English history was when the trial of Caroline of Brunswick, consort of George IV, was commenced before the House of Lords August 19, 1820. It is impossible for posterity to sympathize much with either party, for Caroline had caused much scandal, George had caused more. But the unpopularity of the latter was so great that it sufficed to cover a multitude of sins in the eyes of the people and the populace supported the Queen's cause with turbulent enthusiasm. The other side, however, supported the King, and the Queen's cause was pointed out by the King's counsel, who was inspired by the Queen's leading counsel, who was Brougham, who referred to the natural precedent of the woman taken in adultery.
 Most gracious Queen! we thee praise To go away and sin no more; Or, if that effort be too great To go away, at any rate!
 In fact, sober-minded citizens had grown heartily sick of the squabble, which eventually came to an impotent end. For, at the reading in the Lords, the supposed majority dwindled to nine, and Ministers dropped the Bill of Pains and Penalties without submitting it to the Commons. Queen Caroline did not long survive to vex her husband. On Coronation Day she presented herself at the Abbey, but was refused admission, and the rebuff is said to have proved her death-blow. At all events she died within a month (August 1821) aged 52; and her body, containing one last noisy demonstration on the way through London, was taken to Brunswick for interment.

SIDE TALKS.

By Ruth Cameron.

THE GREATEST GIFT.

Why aren't we kinder? There are few people in the world, not more than one in a hundred, who can give happiness and benefit to a special kind of work superlatively well—writing, singing, organizing, inventing, acting, ruling, healing, and so on. But to every one of these there are, at least 99,999 of us who can give no greater gift to the world than the gift of being kind.

Then why weren't we kinder? There are so many simple ways, negative and positive, to be kind. A ready, happy smile is a kindness. The habit of remembering what people are interested in and giving them a chance to talk about it is a kindness.

Tell Her So. The habit of appreciation is a great kindness. I wish we had some kind of Happiness Metre to measure the happiness that is given when a husband tells his wife how much he liked that specially good dinner she planned for him, or how well she looks in her new gown, or when a wife tells her husband how well he looks in his new suit (oh, yes, men care almost as much about these things!), or how deeply she appreciates the sacrifice he makes in going without a car so that the boy may have his college course. I fancy we should find that the aggregate of such happiness was larger than many millions of money would buy.

The habit of controlling that temptation to be irritable in the bosom of our families which seems to assail almost all human beings when they are tired and nervous is one of the greatest of negative kindnesses. I don't believe there is a vice in the world which causes a greater amount of unhappiness than the daily pin pricks of uncontrolled irritability.

Kind Criticism. The habit of trying to criticize helpfully instead of finding fault is a kindness. Small acts of courtesy come under the head of what I mean by kindnesses. The habit of consideration and respect for the rights of others comes under the head of kindness.

Writing that letter to the person who would like so much to hear from us is a great kindness. Don't Have This Remorse. Why aren't we kinder? It's so simple to be kind and it means so much. And of all the regrets that tear at our hearts when we look back at a chapter of our life to which finish has been written, there is none I think so unbearable as the thought, "If I had only been kinder! I wish I had been kinder."

So many gods, so many creeds, so many paths that wind and wind. While just the art of being kind is all this sad world needs." —Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

HUMOURS OF RURAL LIFE.

On the Sabbath day, a well-known and esteemed city Established Kirk minister, in the course of a summer vacation in the North of Scotland, was prevailed upon by a brother clergyman a little distance off to occupy his pulpit for a day, during his local preacher's peremptory call from home. The service consisted of a single "yokik," which ended a little after midday, and the weather being fine, the D.D. for he was such when he had "custien the goon" and refreshed the inner man, took his familiar staff in his hand and emerged from the quiet country road. A few hundred yards distant from the Manse gate he passed a little farm standing on the roadside, the abode of the ruling elder of the congregation, and on one of the sternest Calvinists and strictest Sabbatarians in the whole parish, but had hardly done so when he heard footsteps behind him, and the next moment an arresting hand was laid on his shoulder.

"Ye'll excuse me, sir," said the farmer and elder, "but ye're the Edinburgh minister that was preachin' to us the day, an' I would like to ken if ye're walkin' oot the gate for mere pleasure on the blessed day, or if ye're on a mission o' mercy."

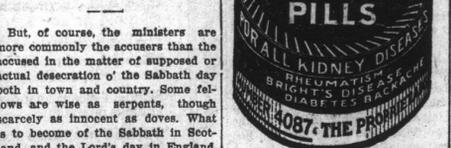

"Oh, it's a delightful afternoon," replied the elder, "and I am just enjoying a meditative walk amid the beauties of Nature, so rich and—"

"I'm just suspected as muckle," broke in the elder, "but you that's a minister o' the gospel and ken that this is no a day for any sic thing."

"Well," returned the Doctor, "we find good precedent for walking on the Sabbath. You remember that even the Master himself walked in the fields with His disciples on the Sabbath day."

"Ou, I ken a aboot that brawly," snorted the elder, "but I dinna think any mair o' Him for't either!" and immediately turning on his heel, he strode stultically towards the steading.

But, of course, the ministers are more commonly the accusers than the accused in the matter of supposed or actual desecration of the Sabbath day both in town and country. Some fellows are wise as serpents, though scarcely as innocent as doves. What is to become of the Sabbath in Scotland, and the Lord's day in England.

the common speech of the whole nation in early life, and with many of its most exalted and accomplished individuals throughout their whole existence, and though it be true that, in later times, it has been in some measure laid aside by the more ambitious and aspiring of the present generation, it is still recollected even by them as a familiar language of their childhood, and of those who were the earliest objects of their love and veneration. It is connected in their imagination not only with that olden time which is uniformly conceived as more pure, lofty, and simple than the present, but also with all the soft and bright colours of remembered childhood and domestic affection. All its phrases conjure up images of school-day innocence and sports, and friendships which have no pattern in succeeding years."

Has the time arrived in Scotland? Is it coming to St. John's that we are to have a Sunny-Sunday?

THE CHURCH-GOER AND THE GOLF ENTHUSIAST, MOTOR CAR PICNICS AND SUNNY SUNDAY GARDEN PARTIES.

Has the time arrived when the church is bound to realize the facts of the age, that there must be equality between rich and poor. If the rich are allowed to spend their Sundays on the tennis courts and golf links, it is impossible that the poor should be debarred from wholesome recreation in the parks of the great cities. Persons who are not habitual worshippers in churches or chapels might justly appeal to the consideration that it is necessary to provide for the welfare on Sundays as well as on week days.

Are we to have a Sunny Sunday—associated with the memories of the past and the 23rd Psalm—

"The Lord is my helm, no want sal for me
"He louts me till lie among green hoves. He airts me atowre by the lown waters
"He waukens me w' his ain saul. He wiles me soon for His ain name's sake, intil richt roddins.
"Na' tho' I gang thro' the dead. Mirk dail, e'en thar sal I dread nae skathlan, for yersel' are nar-by me. Yer stok an' yer stay hand me balth fu' cheerie.
"My buird. Ye ha'e hansell'd in face o' my foes. Ye ha'e drookit my head with oyle, my kicker is fu' an' skallin.
"E'en sae sal guidie guidie an' guide green gang w' me lik day, O my livin, an' ever mair syne I the Lord's air howf, at lang last, sal I mak byden."
The above words were written in Scotch of the dear old twenty-third Psalm, "The Lord is my Shepherd, I shall not want."

TRINITY.

(Bonavista)
In the Bonavista Church Register, under date of February 12th 1882 is the following entry:—"Elizabeth Butler aged 84 years was found dead in her house. An inquest sat on the body. Verdict: that the deceased came to her death by violent hands, and supposed by her grandson who is lunatic."
The old Churchyard at Bonavista, like that of Trinity, is an interesting spot to those who have a reminiscent turn of mind. The names and epitaphs on the stones, as well as the designs of many of the stones, take one back to a generation of people who saw death and its surroundings from a viewpoint, different in several respects from what we see it to-day. The cross, as the emblem of our salvation finds little or no place on the stones; whilst the hour-glass, the gull, the coffin, the urn, the broken shaft, and other emblems of mortality, etc., indicate the trend of thought of the people of those days.

Here and there we find a skull on the right side of the face of the stone, and a cherub-head on the left side, representing, I presume, mortality and immortality respectively. Then again, the epitaphs of those days are largely local in their poetic make up, lugubrious in their setting; egotistical in their intention; and more or less false in their doctrinal teaching. This, to a large extent has changed, and is changing all the time for the better; and in a dozen different ways. The gloom of death is being dispelled, and the brighter side is being revealed and welcomed. The earliest burial in the Bonavista Churchyard, that is marked by a headstone, has on the stone the following inscription:—

"Here lieth the body of
who departed this life
August 23rd 1725."

This is intimated by a year on the stone of Thomas Newell at Trinity East, that bears the date of 1724, to which I have already referred.

The top of the upper concrete step leading to the South East entrance of the Bonavista Church, is an old stone from which the lettering has all but disappeared. Upon close and critical examination of the partial outlines of a few faintly remaining letters, I found that it once marked the grave of Felix Bland, who was born in 1804, and was a son of John Bland, Esq. of Bonavista. Though the churchyard in Bonavista—like that of Trinity—has for many years been officially closed to burials, its surface just inside the fence, along the public street has been fitted up, upon which to erect stones to perpetuate the memory of some of those men of Bonavista, who during the Great War, died that others might live, and whose dust commingles with the soil of a foreign land.

Amongst the Marriage entries in the Bonavista Register, recently brought back such a flood of happy memories as the following:—

"1915. Married, Robert Tilley of Bonavista, and Katherine Newhook of New Harbour, Trinity Bay."
Mrs. Tilley's brother, John Newhook, lived in Trinity. She, and her children after they grew up, frequently visited here. During those visits, lifelong friendships were formed, and those of us who were privileged to be invited to the Tilley home at Bird Island Cove, forty five years ago, have not yet forgotten the many enjoyable features of his visit, and the beautiful home life that we were introduced to. Though the family, and the family name are still represented at Elliston, yet death and removals have wrought those usual changes and separations; and we await the knitting up again some day of the severed friendship in that home, of which every true home on earth is a type and forerunner.

Whilst at Bonavista I was shown Mr. Abraham Akerman's family Bible, by his daughter, old Mrs. Ryder. I had no means of weighing it, but it is a very heavy book, and some idea of its size may be got from the fact, that it measures eighteen inches long, thirteen inches wide, and six inches thick. It is printed in the clearest possible

In response to my inquiries of last week about the bass viol of the Bonavista Church Choir of Captain Gaylor's time, I have been informed that it was used in the Bonavista Church, and played by Sergeant Bailey, when a few years ago the stringed instruments were used again to lead the praises. It is still, I am told, the property of the church, though used by a churchman in an outlying part of the parish in connection with a private band. I am glad to hear that (unlike the two belonging to Trinity) so far it has escaped being burnt.

A reader of my items has noticed that, in my references to burial places, I sometimes use the word Churchyard, at other times Cemetery, and yet again, God's Acre; and he wishes to know if those words have different meanings. I answer No, and Yes. No, inasmuch as they all refer to the place where the bodies of the dead are buried. Yes, in reference to the location of the burial ground, etc. A churchyard is a cemetery; but technically, a cemetery is not a churchyard. A burial-ground in connection with the church-building is known to us as the Churchyard. A burial-ground apart from the church building is known as the Cemetery; "God's Acre" is the German name for it. Here, however, acre only means field, not a measure of that name. I am not in the habit of using German names; but I like "God's Acre" or "God's Field" as a name for a burial ground.

The population of Goose Cove, Trinity, has been increased by a baby boy to Mr. and Mrs. Llewelyn Bartlett.

On Wednesday, August 9th, the Erlksen House at Trinity was bedecked with flags, and other festive arrangements; and in the evening it was specially illuminated with electric lights; one feature of which was a large letter M, made of evergreen and outlined with miniature electric bulbs, over the main entrance. Passers-by wondered who was "getting married," and the small boy stood with open mouth, hoping that whatever was going on, he may be privileged to share it. The letter M, however, was the key to the mystery. It stood for Mary, and Mary was Mary Pittman, and it was Mary Pittman's 57th birthday. So there! For the first time it was not celebrated in the old house. The children and personal friends, and the ever increasing number of grandchildren who foregathered on the occasion, had outgrown its space, and the celebration was transferred to the Erlksen House, which barely provided the necessary table space. Twenty seven persons sat down to tea with Mrs. Pittman. Five of those were Mrs. Pittman's children. Four were either their husbands or wives. Twelve were her grandchildren and six were personal friends of the family. Three sons, fourteen grandchildren, and two great-grandchildren were prevented by distance from being present.

The toast to Mrs. Pittman's health was proposed and spoken to by Canon Lockyer, and responded to by Hon. Alex W. Mews. This was followed by the toast "to the host and hostess" (Mr. and Mrs. Erlksen) which was proposed and spoken to by Doctor Sinclair, and responded to by Mr. Erikson. After the testables were removed, the boor space was given up to games and dances till midnight, and a delightful all-round pleasant time has been reported. The telegraph office did a good business; for messages of congratulations and good wishes poured in steadily during the evening, from friends far and near, which, plus birthday cards, presents, and letters full of happy memories of the past, and good wishes for the future, attested the largeness of the circle of friends and the fulness of affection that the circle enclosed. Hon. Alex W. Mews, arrived on the eve of the birthday, and returned to St. John's immediately after the festivities.

Mr. Whitefield Bannister and Miss Louisa Jones of Trinity East, were married at St. Michael's Church, St. John's, by Rev. E. J. R. Nichols, and returned to their future home at Trinity East, by the Prospero on Thursday.

KEARNEY'S.

10th inst. Friends from Trinity East and Trinity, met them on the wharf at Trinity: prominent amongst them being Mr. Reginald Mills, one of the oldest citizens, who presented the bride with a beautiful bouquet of white roses. Mr. and Mrs. Bannister are prime favourites with everybody in the parish, and we wish them "abundance of peace so long as the moon endureth."

Miss Carter of St. John's, en route to Bourgeny's Cove, Smith's Sound, registered at Garland Hotel, and spent a pleasant day at Trinity.

Mr. and Mrs. John House and children are spending their annual holiday at Trinity East. Glad to see them.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Chaplin came to Trinity by the Prospero last week, registered at the Garland, and spent a delightfully quiet holiday. It was Mrs. Chaplin's first visit to Trinity, and whilst she returns to St. John's with good impressions of "the only Trinity," we shall not quickly forget her distinct intellectual and enjoyable personality. Mr. Chaplin, though not here since forty odd years ago, needed no introduction to the older people of Trinity, the majority of whom have been comfortably clothed year by year by the "King of Tailors." To those (who like myself) have known Mr. Chaplin for nearly fifty years, his presence in our midst was a real pleasure, and we are glad to know that he and Mrs. Chaplin enjoyed us and ours. Come again.

Mr. A. B. Morine and Mrs. Morine registered at the Garland Hotel this week, and from there as a centre, they went out on an enjoyable and successful fishing expedition to Trouty and Salmon Cove Brooks, and the ponds near seven-mile-camp, etc. This was not their first visit to Trinity but with the beautiful weather and freedom from responsibility that marked their visit this time, they were able to see Trinity as they had never seen it before, and to them (as to others in the same circumstances) has come the realization that it is an ideal place for rest of mind and body, and above the ordinary as a trout fishing resort. Mr. and Mrs. Morine met several old friends here, and made several new ones, who were more than glad to see them, and who will be glad to see them again. Prost!

Judge Oke of Harbor Grace, in taking his first real holiday, wisely put Trinity on his itinerary; came to us from Bonavista and registered at the Garland. This was the Judge's first visit to Trinity; but he found a goodly number of old friends here who were more than glad to see him, and to prove it by their actions towards him. He has seen Trinity from every vantage point, and during exceptionally beautiful weather, and he has gone back to home and duty as a giant refreshed, ready and willing to talk and write about the natural, and other beauties of Trinity. We were all glad to see you, Judge. Come again.

Mr. Gus Parsons of the Law firm of Fenelon & Conroy, St. John's, spent the week at Trinity, and (together with his wife and child who preceded him) has thoroughly enjoyed all the good things that Trinity offers in fine weather. Glad to see him.

I thank a friend in Bonavista for a piece of black oak that was taken from the make-up of an old French batteau, that has been found embedded in the bottom of O'Dea's pond, Bonavista.

An appropriate monument, surmounted by a cross, has been placed in the Church of England Cemetery, to mark the graves of John Woodridge and his wife Louisa.

Mr. Gent intends to place his boy, Willie, at the King's College, Collegiate School, Windsor, N.S. He will go with him in time for the opening of the Michaelmas Term on September 13th. This school has a fine reputation, and is beautifully situated on the outskirts of the town of Windsor. Amongst the one hundred and twenty boys that usually attend, Newfoundland is always represented. We believe that Willie will do credit to himself, Newfoundland, and Trinity.

Mr. Johnson, the Methodist Probationer of the district, conducted service at Trinity last Sunday.

Miss Taylor of the Royal Bank staff, St. John's, came in by Wednesday morning express, and is staying at Garland Hotel. She will spend her annual two week's holiday with us, and those who met her last year are pleased to meet her again, and to do all in their power to make her visit a pleasant one.

The Trinity football team have asked the Catalina team to come to Trinity on Tuesday next and play a friendly game together. They have agreed to do so, and we shall be glad to extend to them the freedom of the town, and any other privilege that will give them pleasure. Mr. Hussey has kindly given his grounds for the match, and though it lacks several features that go to make up an ideal field, yet the disadvantages will be shared in common, and the better team will win.

The Morine-Chaplin party are at Garland Hotel and with friends brought a delightful week to a close by a boating party and picnic, returning by Prospero for home. Cheerio.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

S.T.—The broken-column is a poor emblem of the life that we believe never breaks off; the life that goes on in unbroken continuity after what we call death. It is a poor emblem to place in a Christian burial place, and at the grave of a Christian. Its silent teaching is in direct conflict with the teaching of God's word, and that given from Christian pulpits. The urn is all right if you believe in cremation, and intend to have it carried out instead of burial. If not, however, why

THE HECLA PIPELESS FURNACE.

Thousands of these heater systems have been installed, are giving every satisfaction, and you are safe in buying a Pipeless Furnace—absolutely safe—if it is a "Hecla." For those who live in districts where wood is still the fuel ordinarily used, we recommend the "Hilborn" pipeless furnace. It has a regular wood fire box, takes sticks from 2 to 10 feet long and there is no trouble in keeping a fire all night in the "Hilborn."

The same guarantee that applies to our other Furnaces applies to this. It must do the work we say it will, or we will take it out and refund your money.

From Seamstress to Royal Rank.

When Mary Clement was bent over her pretty head over her needle in Tailor Rennie's shop in Pall Mall, in the reign of George the First, she little dreamt that she would one day have a Countess for daughter and a Prince of the Blood Royal for son-in-law, and that her descendants would wear coronets as Duke and Earl. She was very beautiful as all the gallants knew who strolled along Pall Mall, but she had eyes for none save Edward Walpole, son of the great Sir Robert Walpole, England's Prime Minister, who occupied apartments above Master Rennie's shop. Thus it happened that Mary Clement stepped out of privation and poverty into the haven of a great peace and happiness. For a few brief years she was ideally happy with her handsome and high-born lover. She saw him a Member of Parliament, the first step on the road to the dignities of Knight of the Bath, Privy Councillor, and Chief Secretary for Ireland that were later his. She bore him five children, of whom her two boys died in infancy; then she slumped peacefully out of life. To Edward Walpole the honours that came in later years brought no solace for the loss of the woman whom he had loved so dearly, but he saw her three daughters grow up to a loveliness as great as hers. As the "lovely Miss Walpoles" they created as great a sensation as even the beautiful Miss Gunings. They all made good matches, but it was reserved for Mary, the loveliest of the sisters, to make the most splendid alliance, and to mingle in her children the blood of Mary Clement, the seamstress; with the blood of English Kings. First she became the wife of Earl Waldegrave, but was soon left a widow. Before long, however, she had at her feet the Duke of Gloucester, George III's favourite brother. She succumbed to his passionate pleadings, and became his wife. It was long before the King would consent to recognise the marriage, but when at last he yielded, he admitted the low-born Duchess to the full rank and privileges of a Princess of the Blood. But her day of splendour was not fated to last long. Her fickle husband lost his heart to Lady Almeria Carpenter, one of the most beautiful women of her time. In vain the Duchess tried all her arts to win back the truant, but when she realised that he was finally lost to her, she refused to share his home any longer, and devoted the remainder of her life to works of charity, which won for her the love of thousands, passing peacefully away on August 19, 1807. To her Royal Duke she bore two children—a son, Prince William Frederick, Duke of Gloucester, who married a daughter of George III, and the Princess Sophia, who died unmarried in 1844. Thus, had Mary Clement, Master Rennie's apprentice, but lived to middle age, she might have nursed as her grandchild an infant Prince who had a King for uncle, and who might conceivably have himself succeeded to the Crown of England.

STRANGERS.
Strangers very often greet you just as though they're glad to meet you; Smile the way the home-folk do, Shake your hand and talk to you; Now and then they'll walk beside you, In a friendly way they'll guide you, But they've passed along the way At the ending of the day.

Each of us who plays the ranger is to all he meets a stranger. But the cherry voice and smile Vanish in a little while; And although kind hands assist us, As a stranger they shall list us, We have met and gone our way, Travelers of a summer day.

Favors many they will show us, But they never come to know us, And they're different from the few Good old loyal friends and true Who have known us through the years. Shared our laughter and our tears: Bright the smile and kind the deed, But it's friendship that we need.

Though ten thousand strangers cheer us, Wait upon us and stand near us, Smile and comfort and are kind, Still the old friends left behind Will be calling day by day, And along the dusty way We shall yearn, wherever we roam, For the smiles of those at home.

Kind though strangers are and cheery, Or them all we soon grow weary And our steps will wend re-trace To the old, familiar place Where the smiles and all their brightness Are not merely men's politeness. It's upon the old-time friends That our happiness depends.

FAR AWAY.

Jinks insists that being settled doesn't pay; like a charger, fierce and mettled, he would stray; for the hills are always greener, and the winds are sweeter, cleaner, and they dish up better wieners, far away. Life in Prunville causes walling, it's so gray; and the talk is all of baling prairie hay; there are towns where lights are glowing, and the better their colms are blowing, far away. Here in Prunville every voter is a jay; and the chap with heavy motor thinks he's gay; there are towns where things are humming, and there is no muffled drumming, and all men are up and coming, far away. Jinks is gazing over yonder, every day; and he'd like to roam and wander, to Cashway, for the wander-lust besets him, and the dull existence frets him, and the distance always gets him, far away. We old fogies, moss-encrusted, checkers play; we are heeled and Jinks is busted, so men say; here at home, in manner fitting, we've attended to our knitting, while our neighbor, Jinks was fitting, far away. Jinks must dream of places distant, where he'd stay; when his yearning grows insistent, he'll obey; for he says the stars are brighter, and the business men are whiter, and the snappers are politer far away.

Household Notes.
A mixture of cream cheese, minced ham and watercress is delicious spread between slices of rye bread. If a sprig of fennel is added to fresh green peas while they are cooking, the peas will have a delightful flavor. To test linen for cotton, rub a large sample hard between the hands. If a fuzzy nap appears, cotton is present.

FOOTBALL.
STAR'S GOALS—C.L.B.'S GOALS.
Last night's football exhibition between the Star and C.L.B. eleven's was witnessed by a larger attendance of fans than has been present for several games past. The brand of football played was much better than expected. The brigade boys put up their best game of the season, and caused the Star team much worry, especially in the second half when they put up a clever exhibition, the ball being confined to the Star territory practically the whole of the half. The splendid defence of Jack Hart who was playing his first game of the season, saved his team from defeat on many an occasion, repulsing several very dangerous attacks by the C.L.B. forwards who pressed hard on goal. In the first half Hogan and Barnie Hart found the net for the Stars, while Burridge added one for the C.L.B. from a splendid kick from mid-field. The game was very exciting during the second half. The C.L.B. lads pressed hard to equalize. After a determined attack on goal the pink and white aggregation thru the efforts of Nolan recorded the third goal, while the C.L.B. thru the efforts of Bob Chafe on a pass from Curnew handed No. 2. The C.L.B. Cadets pressed hard to equalize matters towards the close of the game, but the final whistle sounded without any further scoring, leaving the Stars the victors of 3 goals to 2.

From 1914 to 1917, the Wanderers won four pennants, while the Red Lion's won three pennants from 1919 to 1921. Now both Clubs are battling for last place in the league race.

Such is life, with all its sorrow,
Here to-day, and gone to-morrow,
Though the crown that brought you fame
Seems enduring through the ages,
They will soon forget your name.
As they read the sporting pages,
Such is life, with all its woe,
Here they come—and there they go.

Such is life—just up and down,
Down and up, by town and town,
Though to-day you head the list,
By to-morrow's changing glory
You are gone and barely missed,
As the world forgets your story
Each one has his day, then
Fate begins the count of ten.

Towns and men are much alike,
Each one has his shining strike.
Then, before you turn around,
While the vibrant cheers are roaring,
Some new pitcher takes the mound,
And you've finished up your scoring.
All are members of the cast,
Where the first may soon be last.

If a felder drops a sacrifice fly, the batter is not charged with a time at bat.
If ball strike bat, when player tried to get out of way of ball, rolls foul or fair the batter is declared safe, the ball becomes dead.

TRAINING AND CONDITION.
To-date this column has not made any mention of individual training systems or the right way to get into proper physical condition for athletic competition. It would do well for those who are at present limbering up for the championship sports to follow carefully the methods of training as carried out by Jack Donaldson, a professional runner of repute who beat them all up to the year 1912. Jack Donaldson was the celebrated Australian "Blue Flash" who in his day before the war held sprinting records that have never been touched. Donaldson as a professional contender has been officially timed and credited with 100 yards in 9 1/2, which is a foot faster than a series of races no one believed he could make this time. But with a slight wind back of him in his first start he reeled off the distance in 9 1/4, a mark that was not allowed officially on account of the favoring breeze. Yet he ran away from Walker, winner of the Olympic sprint of 1912. Donaldson in five years of competition was never beaten in a sprint. "Do you believe Paddock will ever get to 9 1/4?" was asked. "Undoubtedly," said Donaldson. "If he trains as I did." The matter of training and reaching condition is the most important of all when you are after records. And the biggest part of training is to get plenty of sleep and rest in which to store up a reserve of nervous energy. Donaldson states, as follows:—"I never smoked or drank anything stronger than mild tea. I worked only in the forenoon, going to bed around 2.30 for two hours' sleep. I also was in bed by 10.30 every night, so I averaged around eleven hours' sleep. I had my breakfast, lunch and dinner fixed for exactly the same hours each day. So you might say that rest and regularity of living were leading features. Steaks, chops, chickens, beef, egg and milk were among the leading foods, not all at one meal, but varied. In this way when I entered a race I always felt that I was fit enough to break a record. I was careful never to get stale or to over-train. Most physical training, I believe, is overdone."

Called to humanely destroy a very valuable horse owned by Mr. J. Hickey, Barter's Hill. The animal was suffering from internal trouble and was scourable. Shot an aged dog on William Street, also another on A. H. Murray's wharf reported by the Police with an injured leg as Mr. Mahoney Secy Municipal Council asked that the dog be destroyed as no owner could be found for it. At the request of the owner shot another dog on Field Street. The horse formerly reported on the Cove Road suffering from sore foot is being well cared for by Mr. Power in the interest of the owner Mr. Thorne, grocer. All owners of dogs are warned that they must care for and feed their animals and not allow them to be an annoyance to their neighbors by provoking the city at night. During the week I received a subscription of ten dollars from an interested lady friend of animals. The Society funds are low and all those interested are asked to remit their subscriptions to the Society.

Prospero Arrives.

REPORTS LARGE FOREST FIRE.
S. S. Prospero, Capt. Field, arrived from the northward at 4.30 a.m. today, having met splendid weather on the round trip. The ship was as far as Quirpon, which port was left on Tuesday. The captain reports handliners doing fairly well at Pistolet and Quirpon, whilst at LaSclie the men are getting fair voyages with traps. At Horse Islands both handliners and traps are doing well. In White Bay and also in Green Bay the fishery is a total blank, and will not average 3 quintals per man. Passengers who came by the ship report a large forest fire raging at Dog Bay. Three families have been burnt out. A schooner owned by the Horwood Lumber Co. was standing by in case the residents would have to flee. The fire is still raging and heating down on Victoria Cove, where there are a number of settlers. The following passengers arrived by the ship:—Messrs. T. McGrath, L. Biles, T. M. Hussey, T. J. Newfoundland Salted Salmon.

The supply of Newfoundland hard cure salmon (1921) on hand is negligible. Several Newfoundland dealers are now seeking offers for new pack which is arriving in St. John's from the fishing ports. There is no indication as to price yet. New York merchants are inclined to wait developments in European and Mediterranean market before making offers. The legend.

The Flying Dutchman.
(From the Adventure Magazine.)
The legend of the Flying Dutchman is of a Dutch skipper, who, in the early part of the seventeenth century was trying to round the Cape of Good Hope in the teeth of a succession of heavy gales, against which his clumsy craft was unable to beat to windward and gain any way. This Dutch skipper is said to have blasphemously defied the Almighty to keep him from rounding the Cape and declared that he would keep at it, in spite of heaven and hell, until he made it. He was taken at his word, and is supposed to be still at it. Imaginative seafarers of by-gone years, when encountering the common occurrence of heavy weather off the Cape and a head wind, used to imagine that out of the mist they could see the galliot of the Flying Dutchman, with its dauntless captain standing on her high poop and shaking his fist at the stormy sky. It is quite safe to say that the Flying Dutchman has not appeared a great deal of recent years. In fact few modern seamen have ever heard of the legend.

The Woman Voter's Mind.
I've been speaking at one or two political meetings lately after an absence from the political platform of four or five years, writes "Temple Bar" to the Glasgow Weekly Herald. It was never a game I liked, for, to be perfectly candid, I don't speak in public—even in court. But in the interval, my observation goes to show, an entire change has come over political meetings. Why, I cannot say, but there are now always more women present than men. The proportion is much the same as one sees in church. If women are intending to vote in anything like the same proportion as that in which they are attending political meetings, they are going to dominate the whole busi-

Obituary.

MRS. JOHN COUGHLAN. (H. F. Shortle.)

It is with profound regret we record the death of Mrs. John Coughlan, one of the trustworthiest and reliable business women of the General Post Office, which occurred at her late residence No. 1 Howley Avenue, yesterday morning. For some time past she had been suffering from a delicate state of health, which she bore with that christian fortitude and submission to the will of God, so characteristic of a devoted and exemplary member of the Church. Fortified by all the rites of the Church, surrounded by her family and friends, she departed to her eternal rest. Mrs. Coughlan (nee Margaret Mosher) was the wife of a very old and highly respected family of St. John's and was a woman of a dignity of character, and engaging qualities of mind, and warm and generous nature. Her surroundings were ideal and her acquaintances enjoyed that quality of friendship which was so characteristic of her personality. She might be said of the exemplary character of the deceased lady, the quietness and stability of which was characteristic of her life. Her husband, John, was a member of the Holy Mother Church. All is said in the brief but comprehensive statement—she was a truly christian wife and mother. What a tribute could be paid her memory. The deceased has left husband, three sons, William, John and James, all residing in New York, also one brother in the United States, as well as hosts of relatives to whom her loss is a great one. The funeral will take place on tomorrow morning from her late residence, 1 Howley Avenue, at 7:30 p.m. Burial in Peace.

Forest Fire at Norris' Arm.

CHANGE OF WIND SAVES DWELLINGS. A message to the Field Newfoundland Company received yesterday evening stated that a forest fire raging near Norris Arm had assumed serious proportions and a number of barns and dwellings houses were in danger. Late last night however, word was received that a strong northeast wind had sprung up diverting the flames which later died down.

MUTT AND JEFF

"Rotten," is Right!

Editor Evening Telegram, Dear Sir:—According to your reporter Judge Morris called the Prohibition Act "a rotten law." "Rotten" is the right word for it. People have to pay 23 cents for a glass of rum that did not cost 3 cents and 37 cents for a glass of whiskey that only cost 11 cents. If you do not believe me figure it out for yourself. The last printed and published Customs Returns are for the year ending June 30th, 1921. In that year duty was paid on 11,732 proof gallons of rum valued at $12,905.00. This works out at about $1.10 per proof gallon. And 5 cents for freight, insurance, etc. and 50 cents for half a dozen bottles which is liberal—and we have a total cost of $1.85 per gallon of 64 glasses. This is less than three cents per glass. A bottle of rum costs $1.50 to which must be added at least a dollar for the script, making a total of $2.50 per bottle. As there are six bottles in a gallon the total cost of a proof gallon would be $15.00. If 64 glasses cost the consumer $15.00, one glass will cost him over 23 cents. This leaves a profit of twenty cents divided as follows:—9 cents to the doctor and 11 to the Government for Customs duty and Controller's profit.

The same Customs Returns show that there entered into consumption 9,900 gallons of whiskey valued at $90,897.00, or an average of $9.08 per gallon. This includes the bottles. Add 50 cents for freight on the half case of six bottles and we have a total of $7.26, or an average of 11 cents per glass. Taking the lowest price of whiskey, namely $3.00 per bottle and add the cost of the script and we have a total cost to the consumer of $4.00 per bottle or $24.00 per gallon. Divide by 64 and the cost of a glass of the cheapest whiskey will be 37 cents, of which the doctor gets 9 cents, the manufacturer and the steamer owners get 11 cents and the Government gets 17 for duty and profit.

While there may be some excuse for the 11 cents the Government get off every glass of rum and the 17 cents of every glass of whiskey, there is no reason at all why a man should pay 9 cents to a doctor for the privilege of drinking a single glass of spirits. You will note that I have not taken into account the quantity of water necessary to bring the rum from proof to 15 below proof as sold. That will more than pay the cost of bottling, cartage etc. I have taken rum and whiskey because they constitute 70 per cent of the total quantity and value of all kinds of intoxicating liquors. Brandy accounts for 7 per cent and Gin about 2 per cent. All spirits come to 80 per cent, wines 10 per cent and Ale, Beer and Porter about 10 per cent. Port Wine—excluding what is stored here for ripening purposes—represents over 88 per cent of the wines or 8 1/2 per cent of our total consumption. These last figures are based on two years consumption, namely 1919-20 and 1920-21. It may interest your readers to know that the total quantity of all intoxicating liquors consumed in these two years was 46,593 gallons, or an average of 23,296 gallons per annum. This would mean 139,779 bottles of liquor at proof. Now as all the liquor is sold below proof, your readers will readily see that this number is far too small, and they can get some idea of how much money some of the doctors are making.

Allow me to add that the figures I have used are printed and published and may be verified by any one who may take the trouble to do so. Yours truly, WARWICK SMITH, August 18th, 1922.

Patrick Bennett aged 25 years and married, was sentenced to 12 months imprisonment yesterday afternoon by Judge Morris. The man who belongs to Davis Cove P.B., was found guilty on two charges of indecent assault.

Largest and Greatest Cast in "The Old Nest."

WILL BE SCREENED AT NICKEL MONDAY.

"The Old Nest," a Reginald Barker production, offered by Goldwyn which comes to the Nickel Theatre beginning Monday, is perhaps the richest picture in personalities that has been placed before the public in many a season. The story and the scenario were written by Rupert Hughes, the direction was handled by Reginald Barker, and the cast includes the following players: Mary Alden, Cullen Landis, Louise Lovely, Helen Chadwick, the famous "Eager" children, Johnny Jones, Buddy Messenger and Lucille Rickson; Maurice B. ("Lefty") Flynn, Molly Malone, Richard Tucker, Nick Cogley, Dwight Crittenden and several others.

The size of the cast is explained by the fact that the story starts when the majority of the players are still children and follows them through the various stages of their growth. Clifford Robertson, Goldwyn casting director, declares that "The Old Nest" gave him the greatest problem that he has ever had to solve, besides obtaining the necessary for correct resemblance between the child actors and the adults. But with the exception of Mary Alden and Louise Lovely, all the above named are Goldwyn stock players.

LOOK AHEAD.—You'll need Preserve the coming winter. We advise you to get your Screw Top Bottles from STEELE'S and preserve all the fruit and berries you can.

Nearly Asphyxiated.

TELEPHONE OPERATORS TAKEN ILL.

Miss Dunphy and Miss Wilson, two operators with the Avalon Telephone Company, came near asphyxiating early yesterday morning. For some time past workmen have been engaged endeavouring to locate a leak in the gas main, fumes of which were penetrating the Telephone Co. building. Yesterday Miss Wilson was about to take up her turn on duty when she collapsed and fell fainting to the floor. Miss Dunphy immediately raised an alarm and called Dr. Carnell. When the doctor arrived he made an examination and pronounced the illness as being due to coal gas. Restoratives were administered to Miss Wilson and she recovered sufficiently to go home. The fumes of the gas had increased in the meantime and Miss Dunphy became ill and had to be relieved from duty. The young ladies were fully recovered last night, and felt none the worse for their experience. The leak in the gas main has since been located.

WHORTS.—These berries are very plentiful this year, and you won't regret putting some away for the winter months, so order your Preserve Bottles from STEELE'S Crockery Store to-day.

Glencoe's Passengers.

The following first class passengers arrived at Argentia on the S.S. Glencoe from the westward yesterday:—Miss Elsie Thornhill, Miss Millie Simms, Mrs. Charles Thornhill, Mrs. Hiscock, Mrs. Molloy and child, Miss Blanche Foote, J. P. Gill, S. Stapleton, B. Curran, A. W. Farrell, W. Anthony, John A. Ball, G. Sellars, D. Elliot, Dr. T. Smith.

BOILER REMOVED.—S.S. Lobelia is moored on the North side of the dock basin. The forward smokestack and one boiler have been removed, the latter being in chocks on the pier alongside the ship. Some guns yet remain mounted on the upper deck.

Sell Sunlight Soap for Quick Sales and Sufficient Profits.

Are you in business or just keeping shop? If you are keeping a shop you'll no doubt be able to keep it as long as your money lasts.

If you're in business, then you want your shop to keep you, and it will if you make quick sales and sufficient profits.

If you try to sell to your customers any goods which they do not want, you may be able to do it; but the chances are against you. As a business person you should supply the goods your customers want and should try to make a profit on every transaction. Now take soap as an example: When you are asked to buy a box of soap which is said to be just as good as Sunlight Soap, consider carefully this important question: Is this other soap really just as good as Sunlight Soap? Unless this other soap will sell as well as Sunlight Soap, it certainly is not just as good as Sunlight Soap FOR YOU.

The soap which people want is the easiest and most profitable soap for you to sell. Sunlight Soap being the soap which people want, is therefore the easiest soap to sell; in fact, it sells itself—people ask for it.

Sunlight Soap requires no pushing, and because it sells best—it pays best.

Stick to Sunlight Soap, it always has been and always will be the very highest quality of household soap.

Sunlight Soap is the soap your customers want. You will sell 5 cases of Sunlight Soap whilst trying to sell 1 case of any unknown soap.

4th LEAGUE MATCH.

Knowliths Athletic Club vs. C. L. B. Result: A Draw, 2 Goals Each Played at Llewellyn Place June 27th 1898.

Favored with magnificent weather, and with the ground in good condition, the above match was played off last evening. The teams lined up:—K.A.C.—Goal, J. Robinson; backs, J. Mathieson and W. Stranger; half-backs, Reid, G. Knowlith, Jr. and J. Stranger; forwards, Feaver, Phil Knowlith, W. Knowlith, T. Williams and Moore.

C.L.B.—Goal, Williams; backs, Garland and Moffatt; half-backs, Roberts, Peters and A. Long; forwards, Joe Long, R. Goodridge, W. R. Warren, Hussey and Richards.

Referee—F. Maynard. Linesmen—Lieut. Patch (Cordelia) and G. Dawe (Knowliths).

The Knowlith combination played uphill the first half and had, if anything, the best of the opening exchanges, but all their efforts to score were frustrated by the Brigade goal keeper, who saved brilliantly on several occasions. Some 25 minutes of this half had gone, when at length, from a penalty kick, Warren had the credit of scoring for the C.L.B., which produced prolonged cheers in favor of the youthful warriors. Right from the centre the K's now rushed matters, the Lads goal having several narrow squeaks, but nothing further occurred in the way of scoring and the teams crossed with the score—C.L.B.—1, K.A.C.—0. On resuming it was thought that the K's would pile it on, but right from the kick-off the C.L.B. brought the leather up, and secured a corner, which, however, proved fruitless. Soon after this the K.A.C. secured a "free" for hands about the centre line, and from the advantage gained by this had the satisfaction of putting on the equalizer. W. Knowlith giving the final kick.

This made matters interesting, the game now getting faster and ranging from end to end. The Lads, however, were not to be denied, and soon had another to their credit, Joe Long getting one past Robinson into the net. Almost immediately after, the K's, from a corner nicely placed in the centre, equalized through Williams, and soon after the whistle sounded time with the score as above, 2 goals each. In the last few minutes of the game the K's found the net for the third time but an appeal for "off side" was given against them.

NOTES ON THE GAME.

There was quite an assemblage of the fair sex on the ground last evening, and interest in the game seems on the increase. A very commendable feature was the presence on the ground (inside the enclosure) of President Chaplin and Vice-President Jackman preventing spectators from getting in on the "touch lines." We are glad to see the "goal nets" nearly completed at last, which will certainly save lots of disputes about goals in the future. With regard to the teams engaged we were very favorably impressed with their appearance in their opening fixture. The K's are a decidedly improved lot, the brothers Knowlith being a team in themselves. The forwards played fairly well together, but we hope to see them to better advantage during the season. James Mathieson, behind, played fairly well, as also did Stranger, but we missed Arthur Hutchings in the back ranks. The Brigade, though without the brothers Hayward, played a spirited game, being greatly strengthened in front by the addition of R. Goodridge, whilst Moffatt as partner to Garland will make them very strong behind. Williams in goal gave a fine exhibition and with practice together the team should shine during the season.
