THE EXHIBITION.

Unparalleled Success! AN IMMENSE CROWD.

RECORD DAY, Wednesday, Sept. 17.

The general public are crowding to the show in good earnest to-day.

So rapidly accumulating must be a big one. The streets leading to the grounds were thronged with well-dressed pedestrians, their faces turned southward; and on the arrival of the various trams the throng now and again increased to a dense crowd, which filled the sidewalks and overflowed far into the roadway.

Long lines of baggage and waggons, standing in rank upon rack before every hotel in town, attest the number of country visitors.

Carpenters are still busily at work on the extra accommodation for live stock, and additional rooms in this department are being rapidly added.

The judges have been hard at work since yesterday morning, and the Secretary's books are rapidly filling up with the names of the prize-takers.

Shortly before noon the horses were brought out into the enclosure, and the judging of them commenced.

Many enthusiastic lovers of horse flesh surrounded the ring, admiring the noble proportions and graceful action of magnificent animals as they were led round by their grooms or owners.

The unexampled character of the show of live stock is remarked on every hand. Men who able to speak with authority on the subject say that such a numerous and excellent collection of cattle and horses was never before brought together in one show in Canada.

No Provincial fair has ever equalled the display at Guelph on this occasion.

The "side shows"—Punch and Judy—the usual quack medicine vendors and retailers of heavy drams of horsey which are held forth to knots of credulous listeners. Ample provision is made for sustaining hungry man by the numerous refreshment sheds and stalls.

Many of the latter have piles of fine peaches, grapes, melons, &c.; whilst the more substantial accompaniments of cakes and cheese are not wanting.

The Brampton Brass Band were on the stand shortly before noon, and added to the gaiety of the surroundings by their excellent playing.

The weather was fine, but became cloudy towards noon.

We continue our description of the exhibits.—HORSES.

L. D. Sawyer & Co., of Hamilton, as usual have a large display of farm implements.

This is the splendid collection of agricultural implements from the well known extensive manufacturer, Mr. John Watson, of Ayr. It is probably known to most of our readers that a number of the leading agricultural implement makers in Ontario are opposed to the present system of competition practice at the various provincial shows, and have made strong representations to the Directors of the Provincial Association against the continuance of the present system.

One of the foremost amongst these objectors is Mr. Watson, and true to the strength and intensity of his opposition, he has entered the lists as a competitor. Hence, this imposing array of implements are merely on exhibition in order to give the general public some slight idea what the ingenuity, skill, and resources of his extensive and enterprising countryman can turn out. Subjoined is a list of the various articles this firm has on exhibition.

Ayr combined reaper and mow, with self-dropping attachments. Ayr clipper combined reaper, with Johnson's self-rake, with many good points. Humming-bird single mowers, made entirely of iron, with draught so light that it is used in some cases with one horse. Combination grain drill, for sowing all kinds of grain and artificial manure. Farmer's friend grain drill with tube shifter and patent automatic shifter whereby the grass sower is thrown out of gear when the grass is raised. Another farmer's friend drill with 12 tubes, the grass seed row of which can be used before or behind. Farmers horse power for 2 or 4 horses used for all light machinery. Drag saw attachment for attaching to farm-trail horse power. Field roller, wood. Three horse power and one hand straw cutter. These machines have taken first prizes at Provincial Exhibitions in 1870-71-72. Two Gardner's English root cutters, one for power and one for hand. Can't's patent root cutter. Large grain crusher. Iron turnip drill, introduced from Scotland last year, and awarded first prize at the Provincial and Central, 1872. Scarifier or one horse cultivator. Subsoil plough. A steaming apparatus for steaming feed for cattle. This firm was awarded the only prize ever offered for a collection of agricultural implements by the Provincial Agricultural Association.

B. G. Lambert, Harrison, exhibits a two horse power wood sawing machine. Patented in 1872. Some of the advantages of this machine are in the strength of its castings, and also has much greater speed than other machines of the same kind; the horses do not need to travel so fast; it also does away with the bridge or box the horses travel over, and it has an attachment for driving a pea thrasher, straw cutter, or other machinery, can be attached with either belt or coupling. One plough, wrought iron beam, Wilkinson's patent, for a general purpose plough, considered superior to any other; also horse hoe made of wrought iron, having two sets of teeth, with small plough attached, for either cleaning or hilling potatoes, which can be removed at pleasure.

This machine has taken first prizes wherever shown in the United States. It has a steel cutting bar and steel guards. A two or four horse power, with jack for driving straw cutter or drag saw. Also power straw cutter, with chilled month piece and feed rollers. This is a very superior double gear mow; also a small hand power, same style as last. Cultivator, C. F. Bell's patent with wrought iron axle-tree and pipe boxes, and two sets of teeth. This cultivator has taken several first prizes. One horse corn cultivator with two sets of teeth, one for seeding. Showed two ploughs, the patent, one a skimmer with wheel. They are both steel mouldboard, steel land side and wrought iron beams, and steel shbars.

Thain & Elliott, Guelph. This enterprising firm exhibits 3 straw cutters, two of horse power and one hand power, one root cutter, three ploughs, various styles, cultivators, one turnip drill, and a set of iron harrows.

Maxwell, Paris, exhibits three stop feed straw cutters, which can be thrown out of gear and change length of cut without stopping, or the feeder moving can be driven with a rod from either, from back or end, and runs with one-third greater speed from the end. Both these carriages exhibit great taste and skill in their construction and fully warranted the order Mr. Downing has received from Wm. Dalby, of Vancouver's Island, to supply him with thirteen carriages of a similar character as the two horse one now on exhibition. Mr. Downing also exhibits a set of carriage wheels, which deserve especial commendation.

We were glad to welcome in this department a new local manufacturing firm—Messrs. B. B. Dalgleish & Co., who exhibit a very fine collection of carriage wheels. One set of carriage wheels, of original design by Mr. Dalgleish, who claims that by this process the strongest wheel is made that has yet been offered in the market. It is claimed that the hub is protected from all chipping and splitting, the bars are all completely ready for use, thereby saving the hand-work in connection with the hub. This firm also exhibit a well side cutter of the latest American fashion, in an unfinished state, as a model of those they intend constructing during the coming season.

COLLECTION OF IMPLEMENTS. Perhaps the most noticeable feature in this particular department of the Exhibition is the splendid collection of agricultural implements from the well known extensive manufacturer, Mr. John Watson, of Ayr. It is probably known to most of our readers that a number of the leading agricultural implement makers in Ontario are opposed to the present system of competition practice at the various provincial shows, and have made strong representations to the Directors of the Provincial Association against the continuance of the present system.

This firm also exhibit a very excellent lawn settee, with wooden seat and back attached to iron legs of tasteful design.

Mr. Thos. Nickle, Everton, exhibits a patent school desk, which seems strong, convenient and substantial.

Messrs. Ingalls & Hunter, Guelph, exhibit a valuable assortment of machinery, consisting of their celebrated stove jointer, heading turner, heading planer, and combined heading and sawing machine. These respective articles show the usual careful and skillful workmanship which have enabled the enterprising firm to find orders dispatched to them from all parts of the Province.

Mr. Philip French, Guelph, as agent for Lieut.-Colonel Binney, exhibits the patent self-lubricating steam and hydraulic engine packing. This article is said to be invaluable, and possesses the recommendations as to its immense utility from all the leading local owners of steam engines, and upwards of 300 steam manufacturers in Canada, and over 20,000 firms in the United States and Great Britain.

He also exhibits patent lubricating vacuumized grease, used by the British and Russian Governments for lubricating shafting, and lubricators once filled are said to last from three to four months; also exhibits self-lubricating steam engine cylinders. Mr. French is doing a large business in connection with these various articles.

The Guelph Machine and Tool Company have on exhibition, as hitherto, an unsurpassed collection of machinists' tools of the very best description and finest workmanship, and may fairly lay claim to defy competition from any quarter with the various articles represented. They exhibit one engine lathe of twenty inches swing, and fourteen feet bed; the gears on this lathe are all cut from solid blanks including the rack, the cones are turned inside and out for the purpose of balancing; the spindle is made of the best imported steel and hardened to receive the end thrust; it has an improved power cross feed and compound rest which makes it one of the most convenient tools in use. They also exhibit three other lathes of the same kind, but of smaller size, but being identical in every particular. They also exhibit an upright drill. This machine has a table of twenty-four inches diameter, which is adjusted in height on column, and is also moveable round the axes of the column leaving the bed-plate free to be used as a drilling table, which are both perfectly true with the spindle. The drill head may be lowered and raised at pleasure to any required height. The spindle is of steel and operated by an improved power feed, which has three changes, and can also be worked by hand. The cones are all turned inside and out, and the gears are all cut from solid blanks; the racks being made of the best Lowmoor iron. They also exhibit a force for feeding steam boiler, which is supplied with an arrangement for lengthening and shortening the stroke, and is also supplied with a gauge for regulating the quantity of water thrown according to the requirements of the boiler. They also exhibit a small drill lathe and hobbing lathe for use in sewing machine manufactories and which give the utmost satisfaction where used. As agents for Whitton & Co. of Connecticut, they also exhibit an assortment of lathe chucks, both universal and independent jaws. We heard several skilled machinists of credibility pass the very highest eulogiums on the various articles manufactured and exhibited by the Guelph Machine and Tool Company, and we heartily congratulate the members of this firm on the high position they have already attained in the manufacture of these intricate and expensive machines.

Messrs. A. Robertson & Sons, Guelph, exhibit a ten horse power steam engine, which appears to have been carefully and tastefully finished throughout, reflecting the greatest credit on the manufacturer.

Messrs. W. Kennedy & Sons Osewa Sound, exhibit a very nicely finished facing and jointing machine; also a Lefel double turbine water wheel of good construction.

Mr. B. Pannacker, Puslinch, exhibits a Barley fork which gets the first prize.

In horse shoes, there is an extensive competition. Mr. Matthew Striker, Berlin, carries off the first prize, B. H. Lyons, Marden, the second do., and Geo. Coghlan, Eramosa, third do., in light horse shoes. The other competitors in this class are Caleb Chase, Guelph; James Laing, Puslinch; John Hooper, Guelph. In heavy horse shoes, B. H. Lyons is 1st; John Hooper, 2nd; and M. Striker, Berlin, 3rd. The other competitors are Jas. Moore, Arthur; James Laing, Puslinch; Caleb Chase, Guelph. It appeared to us that the unsuccessful exhibitors in both these classes deserve especial commendation from the very superior work they exhibited.

Messrs. Harley & Heather, Guelph, make a very neat display of iron and brass castings and babbit metal.

In lawn mowers we find that Mr. Cossit, Guelph, carries off the first prize with a mower of his own manufacture. Mr. W. H. Maroon getting second with Philadelphia.

Messrs. R. Walker & Co., Toronto, make a very grand and attractive display of Nickel-Plated Forks and spoons, which come in for a large share of attention from visitors.

CARRIAGES, ETC.

There is not a large show in this department, still some excellent specimens are on hand. Messrs. J. B. Armstrong & Co. exhibit about 10 carriages and sleighs. In carriages, they show a very finely finished two seated covered rockaway, and also some specimens of very light single-seated buggies. All these are made with Armstrong's improved patent springs, and evidence the care and skill in workmanship which have given this firm their eminent provincial reputation. These gentlemen exhibit a horse of their own design and workmanship, which may fairly claim to be the finest they have hitherto manufactured. The design is elliptical, with heavy plate glass side, richly and tastefully ornamented with solid silver lace, with tassels and other mountings of the same material. In sleighs, they exhibit a sleigh of the shape of one with a reversible seat, of the most commodious character and unique design; they also show a single seat sleigh, very light and stylish.

Mr. Robt. Parker, Guelph, exhibits a very fine single-seated covered buggy, light and stylish; a single seated buggy, light and stylish, well finished, with patent wheels and patent springs, just the thing for a long journey in short time, with a fast stepper. Mr. Parker has also a stylishly got up cutter on exhibition, evincing skill and workmanship in its construction.

HARNESS, ETC.

Mr. J. A. Tovell, Guelph, exhibits a set of double team harness, silver mounted, strong and substantial in its workmanship, and tastefully got up; also a set of single carriage harness, silver mounted, evincing considerable artistic excellence.

THE REASON WHY.

The reason why the magnificent Retail Grocery Establishments in the Alma Block and on Lower Wyndham Street, belonging to John A. Wood, are so very popular with the intelligent public—

Because the Goods are all of the best quality.

Because the Prices are invariably the lowest.

Because the Clerks are courteous and obliging.

Because the Stock is the largest to select from.

Because the goods are always clean.

Because the Weights and Measures are always correct.

Because, in fact, the proprietor understands his business, desires to please his customers, makes good use of his capital, and buys for cash in the best markets, and always deals liberally with those who honor his stores with their custom.—

These and many other weighty reasons have contributed very largely to make the name of John A. Wood, as connected with the Grocery trade of Guelph, so well known, and his stores so very popular.

A new Roman Catholic cathedral is projected in London, to cost $60,000, and another church is about to be built by the same congregation in the south-eastern part of the city.

CHAPTER XXXIX

THE DELIVERANCE OF ANNABEL—A DEED OF POPULAR VENGEANCE—BARNARD HATES AND DICK MATTOCKS—DEADLY FEAR.
 The first effect of the strong fresh air was to make Annabel gasp and render her giddy, almost to fainting. For weeks she had been shut up in the close, unwholesome atmosphere of her prison, and now the sudden passage into the keen frosty night upset her in her weakness. But a little wine from the flag which Philip had brought from the Blue Boat speedily revived her, and when Philip had placed her in the dog-cart and taken a seat beside her, she gave a long sigh of thankfulness, and sank contentedly into the arms with which he drew her closely towards him.

And thus she drove away from the dreary building where for so many weeks she had endured such hopeless misery. For hopeless she had long since concluded her situation to be. She had prayed oh, so often and so earnestly, for Philip to come and deliver her; but, poor girl, her prayer had scarcely been one of faith, for she knew that he had been led to believe her dead, and would therefore never seek her. How then, was help to come to her, shut up as she was in that isolated spot and guarded with vigilance which made escape impossible? To her despairing soul there seemed no release but by death, and sometimes in her agony she had desired that dark door to be opened, where once through her enemies could not pursue or recapture her.

How Philip had found her she could not divine, nor did she yet wish to inquire. The blessed fact so filled her with joy that she could contain nothing beyond the delicious feeling of it. Ere long doubtless she would learn all, but for the present she was content to pillow her head on his bosom, to feel his arms tenderly encircling her, and to know that every moment was taking her farther from the scene of her imprisonment, to which she would return no more.

They had driven but a mile from Dugden when a roar and tumult came suddenly to their ears, and many glaring lights streamed across the darkness of the wood. They were excessively surprised, and wholly at a loss to know what this might mean; but they were not long left in ignorance, for the lights were approaching them, and presently a multitude of violently excited men bearing torches surrounded the vehicle, and at sight of Philip and his companion they set up shouts such as might have been heard miles away, and pressed towards them with extravagant gesticulations, holding out their hands to grasp those of Philip and Annabel, the sight of whom—especially the latter—increased their excitement ten-fold.

It was a crowd of Forsley men, who, when the news spread through the town of the atrocity which had been perpetrated by Dick Mattocks, had been roused into a popular rage so fierce that they had issued forth to mark their sense of disgust at the hideous crime by some signal act of vengeance. What they meditated the occupants of the dogcart did not understand, but ere long they were fearfully enlightened, when, a quarter of an hour later, as they still kept their way across the heath, the sky behind suddenly began to glow with fiery red, and bright flames shot up into the air, casting their brightness far and wide over the plain.

"I'm danged if they haint fired the old house," cried the hostler, with a wild whoop, which reminded Jim of the Indians of Kentucky.

"Never," exclaimed Philip, regarding the distant flames with a look of alarm. "Surely they would not proceed to such extremity!"

"It is just as I say, though, maister," responded the man. "You be the old place a-burnin', sure enough, and right they are to do it, say I. The Forsley folks ain't agoin' to stand such doings as Dick Mattocks has been after, and well for Dick that he's at the Blue Boat, and not at Dugden, or they'd have roasted him inside the old walls."

"Oh, heaven! Moll is there," exclaimed Annabel in horror.

"So she is, and helplessly drunk too," cried Philip with a start. "Good God, the woman may be burned alive!"

"And serve her right," said the ostler.

"No, no," cried Annabel. "Bad as she is, I cannot think of her perishing so miserably. Oh, let us go back and try to save her."

"Indeed, Miss, and I won't," replied the ostler sturdily. "It is a good deal for the goodness of your heart that you'd have such pity on the wicked hag, but I ain't agoin' to do anything to keep her from the doom she well deserves. More nor that, it would be no use, for the place is blazing like tinder on a frosty night like this, and long before we could go back she'll be burned to a cinder."

This opinion seemed only too well founded, for the flames had now spread so much and grown so bright that it was evident the whole building was in a blaze, and the old worm-eaten furniture must in a few minutes be reduced to ashes, leaving but the bare and blackened walls to mark the ravages of the conflagration.
