

PARLIAMENT OPENED.

No one now expects to find anything new in the speech with which Parliament is opened. That which His Excellency delivered yesterday at Ottawa is no exception in this respect to the general rule, but it indicates a new departure in a new and interesting direction. Not very long ago speeches from the throne had come to be little else than brief formal announcements. The speech of yesterday was a sort of general review of conditions in the Dominion, and although as a parliamentary bill of fare it is not impressive, it is a very interesting state paper. There is nothing in it to which one can take serious exception and much that makes very pleasant reading. It is as nearly non-political as it could be and is certainly non-partisan. The subjects mentioned, that are absolutely non-political, are the death of the late King, the general prosperity of the country, the coming of the Nile and Rainbow, the decision of the Hague Tribunal on the fisheries question, the progress in construction of the National Transcontinental Railway, the proposed Hudson Bay Railway, and the Quebec Bridge. Except that in regard to the Hudson Bay Railway the promise is made of provision for its construction, the paragraphs dealing with these matters are simple statements of fact. They are, of course, contentious subjects, but the reference to them is very guarded, that in regard to reciprocity negotiations with the United States especially so. A new banking law is promised, also legislation dealing with industrial and labor conditions. Provision for the erection of grain elevators at the head of Lake Superior is to be made. If it were not that experience has shown that speeches from the throne do not mean anything in particular, the opinion would be justified that the present session is not to be a long one.

A SERIOUS DANGER.

Certain people who perhaps do not know that their action is illegal, but who ought to know when they are endangering the safety of the public, have a practice of shooting over and near the waters of the outer harbor and over the vacant lands in the direction of Macaulay Point. It really seems that the greatest of all fools is the man with a gun, that is the man who thinks he is a sportsman, but is not even a near sportsman. In the course of a few minutes' talk in a street car several incidents were brought to the attention of a member of the Colonist staff, when persons on their own property and on the highway between the city limits and Esquimalt narrowly escaped injury, if not death, from stray bullets. The thing is a nuisance of the worst kind. If these people who think that they are the only persons within a half mile, when they feel like discharging a gun, will not learn to have regard for the safety of others, we suggest that imprisonment without the option of a fine might possibly teach them some ordinary common sense. We have absolutely no patience with the fool with a gun.

THE WATER QUESTION.

A meeting is to be held in the Board of Trade rooms today at 4 p. m. for the consideration of the water bylaw. Opponents as well as friends of the measure are asked to be present. Discussion of this question is timely and it is to be hoped that there will be a large and representative attendance. The points involved in the bylaw, apart from the necessity of providing a better water supply for the city about which no one raises any question, are purely of a business nature and should be considered in a business-like way. Personal predilections ought not to enter into the matter at all; neither ought prejudices for or against the Esquimalt Water Works company. If it is good business for Victoria to acquire the property of the company under the provisions of the statute passed in that behalf, there is nothing to be said. Today's discussion will we suppose, be mainly in respect to the business aspects of the question.

QUEBEC SENTIMENT.

Mr. T. Chase Casgrain, writing to the Montreal Gazette, says: "The present generation of French-Canadians has been taught by its leaders of today that we owe nothing to England; that although we are in the British Empire, we are not in it, that British influence must be combated at every step and that we must reap all the advantages of the happy situation in which we find ourselves, without assuming any of the responsibilities or obligations which such a state of welfare would naturally create.

He places the blame for this upon the Liberals who he says, ever since 1885, have labored from those of the people of Quebec from those of the other provinces. He cites utterances from Liberal papers and from Liberal members of Parliament in support of this view, and believes that the deliberate intention of that party was to create a feeling that the interests of that province were hostile to any participation by Canada in the defence of the Empire. After reviewing the grounds upon which he bases this opinion, he says, without fear of contradiction, that in all those years Sir Wilfrid Laurier knew what was going on and what was being said by all his henchmen, although too shrewd to commit himself, he acquiesced in the education his followers were giving to the people, and he was implicitly lending encouragement to the builders of a wall of prejudice and passion which was being erected to protect him and his party against the assaults of his political adversaries.

Notwithstanding this, Mr. Chase-Casgrain thinks the heart of Quebec is loyal to the Empire, and in proof of this he mentions that at the last election forty-five per cent of the electorate voted for Conservative candidates. Concerning the present situation, he says: "The majority in Quebec hold that the navy, involving as it will, the expenditure of millions of dollars, which are diverted from a more profitable use, is not only a useless tax, but an engine dangerous to Canada and affording no efficient aid to Great Britain. The same majority are not at all convinced that it is necessary at the present moment and under existing circumstances for Canada to spend twenty or twenty-five millions of dollars as a direct contribution to the maintenance of the Imperial navy. This is the opinion of an important province in the Confederation, to which opinion, whether right or wrong, it is entitled. No amount of driving or of bulldozing or of coercion will change this mental state of things. Historically, the assertion is correct that the Dominion cannot be governed by a party out of sympathy with or opposed by the bulk of the French-Canadian vote. Politically and socially, and from a patriotic standpoint, it would be a great misfortune if the affairs of the country were administered without the co-operation and the good-will of the French-Canadians. Imperially the mistake would be still graver."

He says that what the "Conservative-Nationalist coalition" in Quebec is to be understood as demanding is that we shall "let well enough alone" for the present and that the people shall be consulted before Canada is committed to a policy involving: (a) The participation of Canada in the wars of the Empire, resulting from deliberations and decisions over which it had no control; (b) the expenditure of vast sums of money for the up-keep of a navy, the future proportions and necessities of which are untold; and (c) the consequent sacrifice for this needed enterprise of the question should be fully studied and discussed not only by men of doubtful ability.

President Taft has been telling the people of Panama that the United States has no desire to annex their republic. This is doubtless true, but it is safe betting that they will do so before very long.

The condition of Mr. W. S. Fielding's health is very far from reassuring. We are sure that the voice the sentiments of political friends and opponents alike when we express the hope that he may soon be restored to his former vigor.

Mr. McPhail, of the Canadian Census Bureau, thinks we have 5,000,000 in the Dominion. Last week a man of 23 years, with his wife of 22 years, lost ten children, all their own, five pairs of twins born within six years. If this sort of thing keeps up, we will soon have a hundred million Canadians. The proud father told a newspaper reporter that they were going West where there was plenty of room. They need it.

Mr. Pughley is turning his attention to water navigation. In the report of the department of public works he speaks of the improvement of the North Saskatchewan. A despatch says of the report: "It declares that with the development of the Saskatchewan, the Dominion would stand unique in the world, a country of water navigation. A thirty-foot channel from Montreal to Fort William, something over 1,300 miles; a thirty-foot navigation from Winnipeg to Cedar Lake, and from there to the Rocky Mountains four to five foot navigation, over a distance of 1,500 miles, a total approximately 3,300 miles of actual inland waterway traversing the greater part of the northern half of this continent, the only break in the chain being 400 miles from Fort William to Winnipeg."

REALTY MOVEMENT WELL SUSTAINED

Yates Street Block Put Through Market for $52,000—Sales Recorded in Business Section of City

The fact that in a single day, when no especially large transaction should have been put through the market, the number of sales recorded approach the $200,000 mark is evidence of the present activity in real estate. The amount of building projected, together with various other enterprises having a direct bearing on the future development of the city, are sufficient guarantees of the genuineness of the present movement, an earnest of its continuance for an indefinite time.

Mr. P. E. Brown yesterday put through the sale of the Chaloner, Mitchell and Brown block on Yates street, next the Merchants Bank, at a consideration of $52,000. This property has a frontage of 40 feet on Yates and a depth of 60 feet.

A lot and two houses on Yates street, next the Merchants Bank, were changed hands yesterday for $31,000. The former owner was Mr. L. C. Rattray, who five months ago bought the property for $21,000.

The automobile garage of Messrs. Phipps and Styles, and the site upon which it stands on Port street, near Cook, has been purchased for $18,000. Half a lot of Douglas street, near Pembroke, was put through the market yesterday for $10,000.

Messrs. Swinerton and Musgrave have sold the corner of Vancouver, Pandora and Mason streets for $15,000; a hundred acre farm near Duncan for $11,000; three-quarters of an acre in the Tolmie estate and two lots on the Fairford road.

SCOTTISH HISTORY

IV.
Scotland affords a striking struggle between civilization. The people of Moray, the Hebrides, the "wild Scots of Gaic" called themselves, the fierce shire, and all the inhabitants coast, in whose veins the blood of free life for the restraints of as the Romans had introduced Britain, and which kings like to introduce among them. Malcolm's death, as late, indeed, as the Galwegians, insisted that placed in the front of battle a lish hosts, although they fought bowmen and men in armor, fiercely with shots of "Alban" that they were the descendants al race, who were ready to fit of civilization with the primitive barbarism. It is no sur to read that after the death of mohr, the majority of the people hold the claims of Donald Bane Donald was a brother of Malcolm Duncan, with whom Malcolm He is described as a "wild Scot to attend his brother's court a novelties which Malcolm and Q had introduced. Seeking refuge rides, he surrounded himself with herents, who looked upon him a of the customs of their father news of Malcolm's death reach out for Scotland proper with enough and terrible enough to possible opposition. His brot made only a feeble resistance t the crown; indeed, it does not a been more than a passive opposi first act as king was to order th all foreigners from Scotland, his pose being to restore the Hebrides. of civilization had taken root, a can, an illegitimate son of Malco wards Edgar, son of Malcolm a headed rebellions. That of whi leader was terminated by his b but that of Edgar was successf ended the throne. He strengthe tion by giving his sister Matilda of England as his wife. During H was succeeded by his brother whose reign was the establishme dependence of the Church of Scot of course does not mean the Church as we now have it, but of tish division of the Christian Ch afterwards became Presbyterian.

Christianity was introduced i at a very early date. Indeed the Eric led over from Ireland in the tury, had already embraced this missionaries had carried it to the ing all its savagery from the Si Twelfth Century, Scotland was Christian. In the latter century Bishops of Canterbury and York have ecclesiastical supremacy over half of Britain, the former basing tion upon a general claim of supe latter resting his right upon grounds, a very considerable jurisdiction being held by the Sc under homage to the sovereigns. LEADER SPEAKS FOR UNIONISTS

Mr. Balfour at Nottingham Meeting Defines His Party's Attitude—Again Emphasizes Tariff Reform Idea

LONDON, Nov. 17.—Politically this was an uneventful day with the exception of Arthur J. Balfour's speech at Nottingham, which was awaited with keen anticipation as an exposition of the Unionist election programme.

Mr. Balfour has now set the seal of his approval on the "Disapproval of American Dollars" as a Unionist motto. The Standard, in an editorial, declares there would be no constitutional crisis but for this American subsidization of the Nationalists.

Mr. Balfour at Nottingham. NOTTINGHAM, Eng., Nov. 17.—Arthur J. Balfour, leader of the opposition in the House of Commons, addressed a political gathering here tonight.

Mr. Balfour, who said still stood as the great constructive policy to which the Unionists are committed, but if the benefits therefrom were only purchasable by throwing the burden on the wage earners, he would not touch it.

He advised his audience not to believe unauthorized reports concerning the proceedings of the veto conference and said if the Unionist party had agreed on any terms that would have betrayed their cause.

Resolutions. LONDON, Nov. 17.—Lord Curzon strongly urged the adoption of the Resolutions as a practical and necessary plan for a reformed upper house in which the hereditary element would not exercise a preponderant influence.

Baron Courtney, who is regarded as a staunch Liberal, thought the resolutions vague, and disagreed with the view of the veto conference having failed.

BATTLE OF BLUE AND THE GRIMSON

Vale, Surprises Harvard by Playing Splendid Defensive Contest and Holding Rivals to Scoreless Game

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 19.—A drawn and scoreless battle was fought out on Yale field today between Yale and Harvard, the adherents of the "Blue" it was a moral victory, for their team "came back" and proved too strong for the all-powerful "Crimson" which has been considered a monarch.

In the game today both teams were very strong on the defense, but the wonderful mechanism which Harvard had shown all through the season was not so effective as it had been.

When it came to the attack, Yale was not so strong as it had been in the past, but the Harvard team was not so strong as it had been in the past.

AMERICAN FOOTBALL

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 19.—By defeating New York University 8 to 0, 1910 as far as games on the local field are concerned. Next week the mid-Highmen will close their season when they meet West Point at Philadelphia.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Nov. 19.—The University of Illinois defeated Syracuse today 3 to 0, completing the final link in a chain of victories. Incidentally Illinois has not been scored on this season and the first triumph today has given the Illinoisans a strong claim with Michigan in the western championship.

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 18.—In a hard-fought game the Carlisle Indians football team today defeated the John Hopkins University eleven, 12 to 0, at Homewood Field.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 19.—The Maroon and Gold football team of the University of Michigan today defeated the Western Michigan football team from Marquette 10 to 0, in a game played at Ann Arbor.

It was in the last quarter. Neither side had been able to shatter the other's defense and the game was resigned themselves to a score tie.

Michigan lined up quickly. The same play was hardly to be expected yet, and in exactly the same way, to the side as before the game was finally won by strictly old-fashioned methods, while the Maroon warriors signally failed to gain on plays of a true nature.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 19.—The Maroon and Gold football team of the University of Michigan today defeated the Western Michigan football team from Marquette 10 to 0, in a game played at Ann Arbor.

It was in the last quarter. Neither side had been able to shatter the other's defense and the game was resigned themselves to a score tie.

Michigan lined up quickly. The same play was hardly to be expected yet, and in exactly the same way, to the side as before the game was finally won by strictly old-fashioned methods, while the Maroon warriors signally failed to gain on plays of a true nature.

HOUSE OF LORDS MUST CAST DIE

Unless it Passes Veto Bill in Form Proposed by Government Appeal Will be Made to Electorate

DISSOLUTION DATE NOVEMBER 28TH

Premier Asquith's Announcement in House of Commons—Payment of Members Would Make Great Change

LONDON, Nov. 19.—Today's brief sessions of the two houses of parliament are likely to prove the turning point in the history of the House of Lords as now constituted.

The older Conservatives view these with anxious concern, and are lamenting the disappearance of the hereditary principle as the basis of the upper chamber.

Disolution Nov. 28th. Premier Asquith's announcement was to the effect that parliament would be dissolved on November 28th, in case the House of Lords rejected the veto bill.

Lord Crews, Liberal leader in the upper House, announced the decision in the House of Lords yesterday.

Lord Crews, Liberal leader in the upper House, announced the decision in the House of Lords yesterday.

The premier also announced that the government proposed next year to bring in a bill for the payment of members.

The government thus puts it straight up to the House of Lords, giving that body the choice between accepting the government plan of reform for the upper house or an immediate dissolution.
