RECALLED BY A PHOTOGRAPH

BY FRANK HARRIS.

The door of his cabin stood open and a shaft of light stole in over his shoulder. The pans and kettles hung picturesquely about the walls, and the two or three tin basins for possible visitors, and the floor and quantity carved stool—all as bright and immaculate as though pressed down through the foliage and rested upon the bowed, whitening head, and upon the rough, knotted fingers that were unobtrusively betraying the longings of a repressed soul to the familiar, responsive strings of his violin.

But Pinaud stood on the bank as they pulled away, then went back up the slope to his cabin. As the moon rose up the far bank of the river, sending its spiritual light into the under-places of the forest, the music of the evening ailed and across the waters of the river, bearing on its plaintive tide the path of the bowed figure whose gray head was bent close, close to the responsive instrument, as though listening to its own heart throbs there.

PLEASANT AT HOME

St. Joseph's Society Members and Friends Held Reunion Last Evening.

The annual social evening of the Y. M. C. of St. John's was held last evening at the big lake for the past two months. What we want with you is this, "I would like to see that their occupation was still beyond hearing, "we're up for a day's fishing in the river, and Cass and I have had a hundred dollars with Phillips such as we'll get the biggest ever. Now we understand that you're intimate with every fish in the Penobscot, and what we want is for you to place with us on the river tomorrow so our-bait will be sure to rise."

Yes, Bat says—perhaps more than they intended, or would like. He had heard of Doc Willea and Colonel Case, and of robbing, good-natured Jack Phillips, who allowed the sharpers to bleed him on every possible pretext, and in that way that was patent to everybody that himself.

"Everything all right," asked Jack Phillips, as he joined the group, "supper and breakfast accommodations for the night, and that sort of thing?"

"I'll take care of that," replied Doc Willea, tipping a wink of secrecy to Bat and at the same time jingling some coins in his pockets, "but I suppose there'll be no trouble, eh, guide?"

Bat rose slowly and carried his fiddle into the cabin. When he came out he was again the obliging, matter-of-fact trapper and guide.

THE JURY DECIDES THAT PRESTON IS NOT GUILTY

The Solicitor-General's Address and the Judge's Charge—The Jury Out Less Than Two Hours—The Prisoner Given His Liberty.

Dr. Edward A. Preston, on trial on charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of Miss Edith F. Clark, has been found not guilty.

The members of the jury retired at 3:30 o'clock. At present they returned. The chief justice and lawyers were in their places, and the spectators who had been bolting about the court, hastening to their offices from time to time, in an effort to get a glimpse of the proceedings, were again gathered about the court.

Dr. Preston entered in charge of Constable Jones. He was dressed in a dark suit, and his hair was combed back. He looked at the jury with a steady gaze, and his hands were clasped in front of him.

The judge then addressed the jury, reminding them of their duty and the importance of their verdict. He then read the charge to the jury, which was a long and detailed statement of the facts of the case.

The jury then retired to deliberate. After less than two hours they returned with their verdict, finding Dr. Preston not guilty. The judge then pronounced the verdict, and Dr. Preston was given his liberty.

The case had attracted a large crowd of spectators, and the trial had been a highly interesting one. The jury's decision was a relief to many who had been following the trial with interest.

THE EVENING TIMES.

ST. JOHN, N. B., JAN. 10, 1906.

THE FERRY
There will now be an investigation of the ferry service. While the officials are on trial before the ferry committee, the committee itself will be on trial before the public.

This new ferry-boat cost the city about $80,000. She is not a cheap toy to be played with for a few weeks or months, and then broken up.

The Times has from day to day for weeks and even months cast ridicule upon the inefficient and unsatisfactory and too costly ferry service provided, and was perhaps charged with having too much to say on the subject.

In addition to the injury to the Ludlow it is charged that the service given yesterday afternoon by one of the old boats was outrageously slow, not at all what would have been provided.

The impression is given out that the Ludlow has not sustained much damage. This will not be generally accepted as a fact.

UNPLEASANT RUMOR
When the contract for the new steamship berth on the West Side was made it was provided that the inspector should make daily reports.

A YANKEE TRICK
The Bangor News gives Canadian apple growers this interesting bit of information: "Consult Daniels reports to our government that Canadian apples are considered in England as superior to those of the United States, and that they sold at a much better price in the English market."

tion of Fruiteers with regard to the grading and packing of fruit and that Canadian fruit was better packed than that from the states. It remains true, however, that thousands of barrels of Maine grown apples are shipped every year from Portland to English ports and command a higher price than Maine apples, simply because they are marked "Canadian Apples" and Englishmen think that they are buying and eating a home production. It is one of the tricks of the trade.

The Times some days ago called attention to the fact that provision had only been made for a length of 450 feet for the new steamship berth. It is announced that efforts will be made to have this berth made a proper length.

James J. Hill is in favor of reciprocity with Canada. The sentiment appears to be a growing one in the United States, and if negotiations are opened the former situation will be reversed. Canada will not be the suitor in the case. She will be able to make better terms.

CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—The question is being constantly pressed on this market from eastern centers, will currency now be shipped in quantity from the interior to the east? Large amounts are sent east at the end of each year and the opening of a new one. Of late, very little has been sent. Money that is being held out as interest and dividends among the smaller classes of investors in this section is not returning to the banks in large volume.

Premier Tweedie has received from his son, F. M. Tweedie, the manager of the Princess Royal gold mine, in British Columbia, an account of a narrow escape he and his party had in a recent volcanic disturbance which was followed by a landslide. A Vancouver newspaper says: F. M. Tweedie, manager of the Princess Royal Gold Mine, who is at the Hotel Vancouver, had a very narrow escape a few days ago, when an immense landslide dropped into Surf Inlet Lake, while he and a party were going across in a boat. Great waves were thrown across the lake, and a wharf was carried away at some distance from where the slide took place.

The report of the trustees for the year was read, however, and the year had been closed with a slight balance.

Last evening the St. John District Lodge, No. 1, L. O. A., held its annual meeting in the Orange hall, Germain street. It was very largely attended, the hall being well filled. The wondrously district master, H. F. Goodrich, was in the chair. By officers' reports there is an increase in the membership. Those present took a great interest in the working of the order, especially the reports of the Orange hall building in Germain street. The meeting voted the opinion that the trustees have conducted the management well.

FESTIVALS IN MOROCCO.

One Month When the Moor Fasts All Day and Feasts All Night.

A traveler writes: "In Morocco the Nazarenos can never tell how time stands in relation to the Moorish year. The Mohammedan calendar knows but 354 days, so, as the Moors lose some eleven days in the year, their festivals are constantly varying in date. The most important, of course, is Ramadan, when the Moors fast from the rising to the setting of the sun during the month. The Moor fasts all day and feasts all night, and throughout the small hours in certain Moorish cities officials pass down the streets in solemn procession, armed with musical instruments, and one at their head calls upon the 'servants of God' to eat and drink before the advent of the dawn. On one night toward the end of Ramadan it is well known that the gates of heaven are opened in order that the prayers of the faithful may be heard, and it is equally certain that all the devils and gnomes are kept in some prison of the underworld throughout the month.

"Another feast of importance is the Aid el Kabir, which takes place on the tenth day of the last month of the Mohammedan year. It celebrates the sacrifice of Ishmael (not Isaac) by Abraham on Mount Moriah. In order that the order said in the mosques, and after these the cad, standing in some prominent position, cuts the throat of a sheep that is the fattest in a certain district at headlong speed to the town's chief mosque. If the sheep be alive when it reaches the mosque, the ensuing year will be a prosperous one for the town. By means of gun fire and trumpet call all the city is informed that the sacrifice has been killed, and then every neighborhood kills a sheep on the threshold of its own home. This sheep has been bought on the previous day and tied up in readiness for the feast.

"Still another festival of great importance in Morocco is the Moudud, which takes place in the month that is called the 'spring of flowers'. It is ushered in by singing and dancing and music and ends to be founded on some old forgotten native festival. When the Moudud comes round a line market is placed between the eyebrows of young children in order that the evil eye may be averted from them. The festival is also notorious for the performance of the Alawi, the followers of Mohammed bin Alawi of Mequinez, the patron saint of snake charmers.

"These Alawi may be compared with the dancing dervishes of other Mohammedan countries. The Alawi are accustomed to repeat aloud a sentence that contains the master word of their order, and they howl it until the sound is lost in the distance. Some of the most extreme fanatics of the order are known to seize sheep or even dogs and tear them to pieces with their hands. Some may be seen devouring a sheep before it is dead."

Historical Wheat.

Experts on the subject of bread grains say that wheat can be traced back into the dim past across the line marked by the advent of history into the dim shades of the stone age. It has been known in Egypt and in the valleys of the Euphrates and the Tigris since the time when the Pharaohs ruled not to the contrary. The prehistoric races which formerly lived in the famous 'lake dwellings' which were built on platforms supported by piles driven in the lakes of Switzerland, had their mashing stones, wheat mortars, sickles and other grain harvesting and flourmaking apparatus at least 4,000 years ago. Wheat found in ancient Egyptian tombs and in the ruins of the lake dwellings referred to is identical with that which we use today.

An Expensive Burial Ground.

Burial in Westminster abbey is an expensive honor, although the sums exacted are considerably less than they were up to the middle of the last century. The fees for interment are arranged on the following scale: To the Fabric fund, £20, £30 or £40, according to the degree of the person to be buried. Other fees to dean, canons, choir, officers, vergers, etc., £34 2s. 2d. In lieu of scarves, etc., for choir, etc., £31 2s. 8d., making altogether £114 4s. 8d., £101 4s. 8d. or £111 4s. 8d., according to degree. Formerly the fees amounted to £100 or £100, besides the scarves, handkerchiefs and gloves charged in the undertaker's bill.

A Natural Conclusion.

A little New York case whose brief experience of life was confined to existence in an apartment house, was visiting in Philadelphia not long ago. One afternoon, to amuse the child, her cousin showed her a number of photographs and views, meanwhile explaining and answering questions concerning them. One of them was a picture of Windsor castle, which, she was told, was the residence of the late Queen Victoria. After looking at it a moment she innocently inquired, 'What floor did she live on?'

Mr. and Mrs. Dodge were married on Jan. 7, 1856, by the late Rev. W. W. Walker, at the residence of the bride's father, the late Josiah Fowler of French Village, Kings county. CHARLES A. EDWARDS WHO, CORONER SAYS, 'SUICIDED BY POISON AND BULLET, AND BROTHER-IN-LAW WHO WAS SUSPECTED

CHARLES A. EDWARDS

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 8.—Macy Hiller, a well known lawyer, a graduate of Yale and prominent in Republican political circles, was held in custody Thursday night as a witness pending further examination into the mystery surrounding the death of his brother-in-law, Charles A. Edwards, a wealthy business man of New York city.

Mr. Hiller was detained at the order of Eli Mix, coroner, who arrived at his decision after a day of thorough investigation into every phase of the case. The night after the lawyer had been given a last opportunity to explain the testimony of a woman who had been for three years the personal attendant of his mother, Mrs. Jonathan Hiller, who died on Nov. 24.

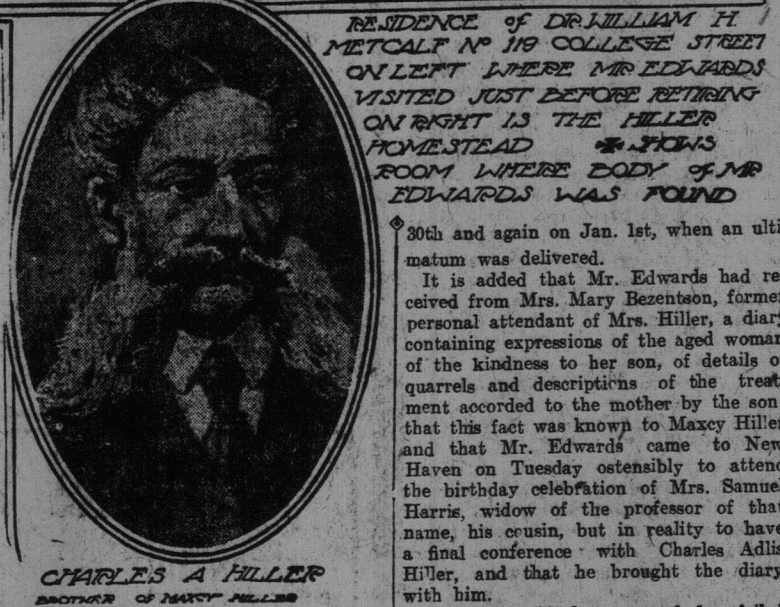

The official step was taken, according to the coroner's office and the police, because every phase of the case gone into during the day involved Mr. Hiller in one way or another. At the same time it was freely admitted that the evidence was not strong enough to warrant a formal charge being made against him.

As explained by the officials the conclusion from the inquiry so far show that Mrs. Hiller died leaving an estate estimated at between $125,000 and $150,000 in realty and personality, which was to be divided between her three children, Charles, Adlai Hiller, of Salina (Kan.), A. Macy Hiller and Mrs. Edwards, widow of Charles A. Edwards.

It was shown also that the son, A. Macy or "Mac," as he is generally known, was in sole charge of the property, that he collected the rents for the real estate, of which there are four parcels in New Haven; that he attended meetings representing his mother, handled the money, depositing it in banks for her and drew out as occasions demanded. His duties in this respect, as well as his political ambition, prevented him from attending to his legal practice, and he had often been heard to say his mother had been very kind to him.

The kindness, according to the families of the other heirs, was in the nature of advances on his share of the estate, for which they intended to charge him at the time of settlement. After the death of his mother the son (Mac), it is declared, deferred his accounting, alleging at various times that he was unable to do so in readiness for next session of business, a will in an old safe in his mother's house, the key of which was in the hands of Mrs. Edwards, representing his wife and Charles A. Hiller, who had come from Salina, when his mother's failing health made death inevitable, took sides against

It is added that Mr. Edwards, former personal attendant of Mrs. Hiller, a diary containing expressions of the aged woman of the kindness to her son, of details of quarrels and descriptions of the treatment accorded to the mother by the son; that this fact was known to Macy Hiller, and that he brought the diary with him.

It is now said that a search has failed to locate the diary.

Since Mr. Edwards was found dying in the upper room of the little old fashioned house No. 117 College street Wednesday morning the entire detective force of New Haven has been drafted by the coroner's office and more than a dozen men have continued at work. The coroner's suicide theory is not generally accepted.

There were conferences of the three, the brother Charles and Mr. Edwards standing together and Macy on the other side, in which a feeling of bitterness was engendered. Mr. Edwards made frequent visits to New Haven, coming up on Dec. 30th and again on Jan. 1st, when an ultimatum was delivered.

WILL HOLD AN EXHIBITION

Annual Meeting Held Last Evening—The Directors Elected—May Have Horse Show.

As the annual meeting of the shareholders of the St. John Exhibition Association, held last evening in the rooms of the board of trade, suggestion to hold a horse show in connection with the exhibition next fall was put forward, but no action was taken. It was announced that a committee would meet the local government this morning in connection with the annual grand.

A report from the caretaker showed the buildings to be in a leaky condition and badly in need of repair.

Mr. B. Emerson, the president, occupied the chair, and the following shareholders were present: A. O. Skinner, F. A. Dykeman, Colonel Markham, J. H. McAvity, B. R. Patchell, D. J. McLaughlin, I. H. Northrup, J. M. Myren, Dr. C. A. Hetherington, E. L. Ring, E. H. Schofield, J. A. Essey and W. F. Bennett, with J. F. Gleeson, secretary.

The financial statement was referred to the auditor.

Balancing for the twenty-one of the thirty-one directors for the ensuing year was then proceeded with. A. O. Skinner,

J. A. Essey and C. B. Allen were appointed scrutineers.

In reply to Colonel Markham, the chairman said arrangements had been made to meet the local government today at 11 o'clock and that C. B. Allen, A. O. Skinner, D. J. McLaughlin, T. H. Estabrooke and himself constituted the committee to represent the association.

The president read a report from Caretaker Taylor as to the condition of the exhibition buildings. He reported that the industrial and main building was in bad state, that the roof at the southern end was leaking, and the water going through to the basement; the brick foundations also needed attention, and a quantity of glass in the dome was broken.

The roof of the agricultural hall, the poultry hall and the grand stand were all in a leaky condition. The cattle sheds were in a very bad condition, with the roads leaking in every part. The covering of the sheep and hog pens needed thorough repair. The report recommended that the buildings and sheds be thoroughly overhauled as soon as the weather permitted.

The chairman said as soon as the grant had been received from the city, a committee would see the department of public works and have a report laid before the common council.

A communication was received from Charles Danney, applying for election as the executive.

Dr. Hetherington said he had been requested by several prominent citizens to ask that more attention be given to the art gallery. It was thought there should be a more representative and better display of pictures than in the past.

Mr. McLaughlin—"There is only one way to do that. These prominent gentlemen must put their own shoulders to the wheel. The weak spot in the past has been that people are ready to find fault but will not help."

Dr. Hetherington said he was in a position to guarantee at least a dozen good pictures, and perhaps more.

Colonel Markham pointed out that there might be some danger from fire, and the pictures would have to be insured to their full value.

Some informal discussion followed on the question of holding a horse show next fall.

E. A. Schofield thought such a show would prove very popular, especially as the dominion exhibition at Halifax would likely interfere with the showing of live stock here. He did not think breeders would send their animals to St. John before showing in Halifax for fear the animals might not be in prime condition for the dominion show.

Colonel Markham pointed out they would get no grant for a horse show from the government.

Mr. Schofield thought an attempt should be made to hold the maritime horse show in St. John. There was a movement on foot to make it an annual event.

The chairman was of opinion that a horse show to wind up the exhibition was worthy of consideration.

It is understood the matter will be looked into by the executive.

The chairman then announced the election of the following twenty-one directors for the ensuing year: D. J. McLaughlin, W. F. Bennett, R. B. Emerson, I. H. Estabrooke, Colonel Markham, E. L. Ring, C. B. Allen, A. O. Skinner, A. Macaulay, W. H. Thorne, R. O'Brien, J. H. McAvity, S. S. Hall, F. A. Dykeman, I. H. Northrup, H. B. Schofield, W. M. Jarvis, G. A. Kimball, O. H. Warwick, Colonel H. M. Campbell, and W. W. Hubbard.

The chairman announced that the remaining ten directors would be elected on Thursday, Jan. 18. The meeting then adjourned.

THE NEW WHARF

Will Urge that It be Made More Than 450 Feet Long

It is understood that representations are being made to the common council to increase the length of the new wharf at the industrial and main building was in bad state, that the roof at the southern end was leaking, and the water going through to the basement; the brick foundations also needed attention, and a quantity of glass in the dome was broken.

The roof of the agricultural hall, the poultry hall and the grand stand were all in a leaky condition. The cattle sheds were in a very bad condition, with the roads leaking in every part. The covering of the sheep and hog pens needed thorough repair. The report recommended that the buildings and sheds be thoroughly overhauled as soon as the weather permitted.

The chairman said as soon as the grant had been received from the city, a committee would see the department of public works and have a report laid before the common council.

A communication was received from Charles Danney, applying for election as the executive.

Dr. Hetherington said he had been requested by several prominent citizens to ask that more attention be given to the art gallery. It was thought there should be a more representative and better display of pictures than in the past.

Mr. McLaughlin—"There is only one way to do that. These prominent gentlemen must put their own shoulders to the wheel. The weak spot in the past has been that people are ready to find fault but will not help."

Dr. Hetherington said he was in a position to guarantee at least a dozen good pictures, and perhaps more.

Colonel Markham pointed out that there might be some danger from fire, and the pictures would have to be insured to their full value.

Some informal discussion followed on the question of holding a horse show next fall.

E. A. Schofield thought such a show would prove very popular, especially as the dominion exhibition at Halifax would likely interfere with the showing of live stock here. He did not think breeders would send their animals to St. John before showing in Halifax for fear the animals might not be in prime condition for the dominion show.

Colonel Markham pointed out they would get no grant for a horse show from the government.

Mr. Schofield thought an attempt should be made to hold the maritime horse show in St. John. There was a movement on foot to make it an annual event.

The chairman was of opinion that a horse show to wind up the exhibition was worthy of consideration.

It is understood the matter will be looked into by the executive.

The chairman then announced the election of the following twenty-one directors for the ensuing year: D. J. McLaughlin, W. F. Bennett, R. B. Emerson, I. H. Estabrooke, Colonel Markham, E. L. Ring, C. B. Allen, A. O. Skinner, A. Macaulay, W. H. Thorne, R. O'Brien, J. H. McAvity, S. S. Hall, F. A. Dykeman, I. H. Northrup, H. B. Schofield, W. M. Jarvis, G. A. Kimball, O. H. Warwick, Colonel H. M. Campbell, and W. W. Hubbard.

The chairman announced that the remaining ten directors would be elected on Thursday, Jan. 18. The meeting then adjourned.

FREDERICK NEWS

Fredrick, N. B., Jan. 9.—(Special)—Another application for the Rhodes' scholarship to be given by the University of New Brunswick has appeared in the person of Fred. C. Squire, of Bath, Carleton county, and is taking the course with honors in philosophy, English and chemistry, and is looked upon as a very promising student. In athletics Mr. Squire has been very successful since entering college.

The annual meeting of the Fredericton Boom Company took place this morning at the office of A. F. Randolph & Sons, and the following stockholders were in attendance: A. H. E. Randolph, Parker Glaston, E. L. Jewett, A. J. Gregory, J. S. Nell, J. A. Winslow, and J. J. F. Winslow. The president submitted the annual report to the board of directors and it showed that the business of the past season had been conducted at a loss of $21,913.63.

There was a discussion as to the cause of this exceptional loss, and it was ascribed in the report to be from a number of causes. The first cause was that in the fall of 1904 a lot of logs came in late and jammed in the spring in the Sugar Island boom to a depth of twenty logs above the water, and at the bottom they were firmly wedged in the mud. To dislodge these logs cost a very large sum. Then a great deal of this year's lumber did not come in until about October, when it was hard to do the work, difficult to get men and the days were getting short.

The report of the directors also referred to the smallness of the logs as another cause of extra expenditure, saying that it cost more to raft small logs. The fact that the men were leaving for the woods earlier in the fall than heretofore was ascribed as another difficulty with which the management was meeting, and attention was also drawn to the increase in wages. In 1904 the company did business for a profit of from $2,000 to $3,000. The net assets were put down at $43,000.

The question of the increase in tolls was taken up and the stockholders decided to do everything possible to have the log-lift grant their request for the proposed increase. The following managing committee was elected: A. H. F. Randolph, P. Glaston, J. A. Winslow, E. L. Jewett and R. F. Randolph. The directors were: H. E. Randolph, E. L. Jewett, P. Glaston, R. F. Randolph, E. L. Jewett, George Dunn and J. A. Winslow, who were elected for the year 1905.

At a meeting of the directors, President Randolph and Secretary Jewett were re-elected.

Kidney disease comes on quietly, it may have been in the system for a long time before you suspected the real cause of your trouble. There may have been backaches, swelling of the feet and ankles, disturbances of the urinary organs, such as brick dust deposits in urine, highly colored, scanty or cloudy urine, bladder pain, frequent urinations, stones in bladder, etc.

Perhaps you did not know that these were symptoms of kidney disease, so the trouble kept growing worse, until Neuritis, Sciatica, Rheumatism, Diabetes, Dropsy, and other ailments, had set in, and you were held in their grasp.

Doan's Kidney Pills should be taken at the first sign of anything wrong. There is no other safe way, (pills and liniments are useless), as the trouble must be eradicated from the system.

Doan's Kidney Pills go to the seat of the trouble, strengthen the kidneys, and help them to filter the blood properly, and flush off all the impurities which cause kidney trouble. Mr. Thomas Mayhew, Smith's Falls, Ont., writes: "For over four months I was troubled with my kidneys, and my back got so lame I felt miserable all over. After taking five boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills I was as well as ever."

Price 50 cents per box or three boxes for $1.25. All dealers or The Doan Kidney Pill Co., Toronto, Ont.

GREEN AND GREENE

Savannah, Ga., Jan. 9.—The first day of the Green and Gaynor case in the United States court for the southern district of Georgia was consumed in preliminary skirmishes between counsel with the issue upon the constitutionality advanced still undecided when adjournment until tomorrow morning was taken. It is possible that there may be some days before the point of drawing the jury for the actual trial is reached, as there are a number of pleas in abatement and demurrers to the bills of indictment yet to be presented to the court and argued.

The Celebrated English Cocoa

EPSS'S

An admirable food, with all its natural qualities intact. This excellent Cocoa maintains the system in robust health, and enables it to resist winter's extreme cold.

COCOA

The Most Nutritious and Economical

FIVE GOLDEN RULES.

First—Eat only 3 meals a day, 5 hours apart. It requires 4 to 2 1/2 hours to digest a meal. This leaves 1/2 to 1 hour for the stomach to rest.

Second—Eat nothing between meals.

If anything is taken into the stomach while digestion is going on, digestion stops and may not start again for an hour.

Third—Eat slowly and chew food thoroughly.

This insures food being well mixed with saliva, and partially digested before it reaches the stomach.

Fourth—Drink little fluid with meals.

The stomach gives out about a pint of gastric juice to digest each meal. If you take another pint of tea, wine or water, then the digestive juices are too diluted to properly digest the food.

Fifth—Take one "Fruit-a-tives" tablet about twenty minutes before meals. "Fruit-a-tives" tone up and sweeten the stomach — insure an abundant flow of digestive juices—and cure Dyspepsia.

Follow these directions for a month and see how much better you are in every way.

THE BRITISH ELECTIONS

First Contest Next Friday - Interesting Campaign Notes.

London, Jan. 9.—Some changes are involved in the latest arrangement for the beginning of the elections. The first election will take place at Ipswich Jan. 12. Some twenty-five elections in various districts will take place Jan. 13, including all the districts of Manchester, in which city former Premier Balfour and Winston Spencer Churchill are running. Deputies Cecil William Norton, junior, and...

oner was convicted by the evidence given through an interpreter. The grand jury brought in a true bill this morning against Philippe Larocque, charged with the murder of James (Archie) Burke. Sir James and Lady Grand will celebrate their golden wedding at their residence here on January 22. Some noble specimens of Canadian woods are to be seen in front of the main entrance to the parliament building, which will serve as object lessons in connection with the Dominion Forestry Convention which will convene in the new railway committee room of the house of commons tomorrow. Some of the specimens of white pine are particularly fine examples of this most valuable of Canadian woods. Word reached Ottawa today of the death of Omer Lalonde, aged twenty-five, of Ottawa, who was killed while working in a lumber camp at Whitney (Ont.). A tree fell upon him. The Dominion Live Stock record board met in the live stock commissioner's room today for the separation of the annual report and the preliminary business incidental to the annual meeting, which will take place in Ottawa early in March. William Hutchinson, ex-M. P., has resigned as president of the Central Canada Exhibition Association.

INTERESTING FACTS

For Nearly Every Man, Woman and Child.

A short time ago we published an article recommending to our readers the new discovery for the cure of Dyspepsia, called Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and the claim then made regarding the wonderful curative properties of the remedy have been abundantly sustained by the facts. People who were skeptical about trying new remedies advertised in the newspapers and were finally induced to give Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets a trial were surprised and delighted at the results. In many cases a single package costing but 50 cents at any drug store made a complete cure and every instance the most beneficial results were reported. From a hundred or more received we have only space to publish a few of the latest but assure our readers we receive so many commendatory letters that we shall publish such work fresh list of genuine, unqualified testimonials and never publish the same one twice.

From James Yennelder, LaCrosse, Wis. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are doing me more good than anything I ever tried and more received we have only space to publish a few of the latest but assure our readers we receive so many commendatory letters that we shall publish such work fresh list of genuine, unqualified testimonials and never publish the same one twice.

From Mrs. M. K. West, Preston, Minn. I have received surprisingly good results from Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. I had been given one-half of my last box to a friend who also suffered from indigestion and she had the same good results. From Mr. Agnes K. Ralston, Cadillac, Mich. I have been taking Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and I am very much pleased with the results. I feel very grateful for the benefit I have received in so short a time. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are a certain cure for all forms of indigestion. They are not claimed to be a cure-all, but are prepared for stomach troubles only, and physicians and druggists everywhere recommend them to all persons suffering from Nervous Dyspepsia, sour or acid stomach, heartburn, bloating or wind, and stomach and similar disorders.

WANT LOWER TARIFF

Charlottetown, P. E. I., Jan. 9.—(Special)—This afternoon a convention of the delegates from the Farmers' Institute of the island met to prepare for the tariff commission meeting here tomorrow. A resolution was unanimously passed stating that as agriculture is the chief industry and source of wealth of the province, employing eighty-five per cent of the people, that the meeting emphatically protest against any increase in the duties on manufactures, that the duties on agricultural implements, farm wagons and vehicles be reduced at least one-half, that binder twine, fencing wire and other articles now free of duty, used by farmers, be retained on the free list, that the preferential tariff be endorsed.

AFTER THE USURERS

Toronto, Jan. 9.—(Special)—The bodies of two well known money lenders, S. A. Anderson and D. R. McNaught, were assailed today upon the order of Crown Attorney Curry. The authorities have determined to look into the method of money lender in the city and the two men, whose bodies were seized, have been summoned to appear in the police court tomorrow. The charge against them is conspiracy to defraud.

RIDING A CAMEL

More Convenient and Less Tiring Than Horseback Riding. Camel riding in the desert of Sahara is not so very fatiguing after one has learned how. A veteran traveler in that district describes the process: "Each riding camel has a bride, or rather a halter, of platted leather like an ordinary halter, and the camel is guided as a horse would be if riding him with one rein only. The saddle is a most elaborate affair. To adjust one properly on a camel's hump is an art extremely difficult to master. First two cushions of leather, stuffed with grass straw, are placed on the animal's hump, and on these is set the saddle. This latter consists of two wooden forks, one in front and one behind, connected by a side board. Above this is placed the seat of the saddle, which is built like a square saucer. The tops of the wooden forks rising in front and behind form two sedeholders, and, when one has negotiated his way into the saucer and installed the feet and legs by letting them, from the knees downwards, hang over the front, one is pretty safe from falling out. Cushions and rugs placed in this saucer-like depression add to the comfort. The saddle is secured by a wide girth and also by a shoulder strap and girth at the back that takes the place of a crupper. "There are, of course, no stirrups, the feet merely hanging over the front. After one has learned to avoid an occasional dip in the middle of the back from the hump, one can ride with ease accustomed to the weight of the legs hanging over the front, camel riding is very comfortable and far less tiring than horseback riding, especially as one's position can be varied in many ways by riding sideways or crossing the legs on the camel's neck, and so forth. The long swinging gait is fairly easy, and one can move about on a camel's back in a manner that would startle any ordinary horse. "On the saddle are carried a pair of leather saddlebags, wherein I carry books, maps, instruments, cartridges, lunch and the like. From the horns of the camel are hung rings, field glasses, telescope compass and water bottle. Altogether it is a pretty complete outfit and only equalled by that I give for convenience in traveling when one wishes to hunt and nap at the same time."

ORIGIN OF THE WALTZ.

This Dance Was First Performed as a Religious Ceremony. Of all the millions who waltz, who can tell how this famous dance originated? The story is a curious one. It is wrongly supposed that France received the waltz from Germany toward the close of the eighteenth century. The waltz did not emanate in its present form from the brain of a dancing master. Long before 1780, the time it is first mentioned under this name, it was displayed on the village greens. The waltz was first danced in the church and serves to trace the union between ancient civilization and that of the middle ages.

The sacred dance of the pagans is preserved to a certain extent in Christian rites. It is transformed to a series of revolutions made to the sound of the tambourine. St. Isidore, archbishop of Seville, born about A. D. 570, was intrusted by the council of Toledo with the revision of the liturgy as it was then practiced in the Roman church, in which there was a tambourine dance. The council decided to adopt the Isidorian liturgy in all Spain, and it differed but little from that used in other countries at that time.

This dance, celebrated before the eighth century, when the Moors first invaded Spain, was still celebrated by the Christians in the sacred churches of Toledo, which the Moors abandoned after their capture of the city, and it was after that time called the Moorish rite. This was known and employed in France and Italy. The tambourine in use in this religious dance was called by St. Isidore "motte de symphonie," and evidently corresponded to the instrument which in the ancient sacred dances accompanied the flute, a sort of bagpipe invented two centuries before Christ. As the religious dance of the middle ages is allied to the ancient sacred dance so the waltz is an evolution of this religious dance, having passed through many changes before arriving in its present form. In the eleventh century, when the Gregorian rite supplanted the Moorish rite, the drum disappeared from the church. It appeared very quickly in society under the name of "carole," a word derived from the Latin "carere."

THE CHAMELEON.

Some of the Peculiarities of This Very Queer Animal. A most remarkable creature is the chameleon. To all appearances, the nervous centers in one lateral half of this animal work independently of those in the other, and it has two lateral centers of perception—sensory motion—besides the common one in which must reside the faculty of concentration. The eyes move independently of one another and convey separate impressions to their respective centers of perception. The consequence is that when the animal is agitated its movements resemble those of two animals or rather perhaps two halves of animals glued together. Each half wishes to go its own way, and there is a constant war of action.

Therefore the chameleon is the only four legged vertebrate that is unable to swim. It becomes so frightened when it is approached that all faculty of concentration is lost and the creature tumbles about as if in a state of intoxication. When a chameleon is disturbed every impulse to motion is referred to the proper tribunal, and the whole organism acts in accordance with its decrees. The eye, for example, receives the strongest impression propagates it to the common center, which then prevails upon the other eye to follow the impression and direct its gaze toward the same object.

Moreover, the chameleon may be fast asleep on one side and wake awake on the other. Casually approached at night with a candle so as not to awaken the whole animal at once, the eye turned toward the light will open, begin to move and the corresponding side to change color. The other side will remain for a longer or shorter time in a torpid, motionless and unchanged state with its eye fast asleep.

Cerberus Three Heads.

The most famous of dogs is Cerberus, who watches the entrance to Tartarus. He has three heads, but Hercules dragged him to earth and Orpheus came to sleep with his legs. The original dog cakes were given to Cerberus by the sibyl who led Æneas through hell. They were made of flour and seasoned with poppies and honey. He must have been an opium fiend, as the celestial drug is made from poppies. A "dog to Cerberus" was one of the curses given to the master by Greeks and Romans as a bribe to let them in without molestation.

Reflected Glory.

A critic relates that he was once present in the cottage at Ecclefechan where Carlyle used to sleep with his legs. An enthusiastic pilgrim asked in awestruck tones, "And is this really the room in which Carlyle was born?" and received from the guide the answer, "Yes, an 'oor Maggie was born here too."

An Excavation.

"Pop," "Yes, my son." "What is an excavation?" "Why, an excavation, my boy, is a place from which dirt has been taken." "Well, I suppose my face is an excavation, then?"

That Settled It.

"Your new house is nearly completed, you say? I thought the plans didn't suit you at all." "They didn't, but my wife and the architect insisted they were all right."

THE MYSTERY

By MARY CHOLMONDELEY, author of "Red Pottage."

A human, thrilling story of tremendous emotional power and absorbing plot. The heroine is the beautiful Fay, married, but not for love, still the centre of her own universe, the prisoner of her own soul. The other prisoner is a splendid young Englishman, Michael, heroic and self-sacrificing who languishes in an Italian prison to save Fay's honor. With its dramatic situations, its searching of a woman's heart and the lovely background of its scenes, it surpasses even this author's famous Red Pottage. It is a book that will long be remembered.

By STEWART EDWARD WHITE, author of "The Blazed Trail," "The Forest," etc., and SAMUEL H. ADAMS.

To Mr. White's wonderful knowledge of people and the world out-doors, Mr. Adams adds an ingenuity in story telling and an understanding of science that altogether make this novel a remarkable magazine serial. The schooner "Laughing Lass" is found abandoned in the Pacific with galleys fires burning and other evidences of recent occupation. A crew is put aboard and a few days later the schooner is again found entirely bereft of human life with no sign as to the fate of the crew. The solution of the mystery is a story of intense interest, and some of the characters involved will long remain in one's memory.

EDITH CLARKE'S DEATH

To the Editor of the Times.—Sir,—This is a time for plain speaking. At a home in this city, late in November, a human soul went out into the unknown, under circumstances which led to an enquiry and to revelations which ought to have shocked every other soul in a city which calls itself Christian.

In this same city last evening a suicidal hint of rejecting appears to have swept along the streets when it became known that the whole affair had passed into history, with only a grave to mark its passage, and only the memory of a dead girl to bear the brand of infamy.

Do men and women think? Some men will bear down the weaker will of a girl. Her whole outlook on life is changed. Perhaps she becomes reckless. Some day she is called upon to suffer. And a practical world says she deserves to suffer.

What of the others? What is the state of public opinion regarding the case that now claims public attention? Ask the man on the street. Ask some mothers in their homes. Tell them the final result of all this enquiry and they will not be surprised.

And yet a voice comes down the ages in everlasting protest against the inhumanity of it all. Human weakness and human folly are as natural as human strength and wisdom; but there is a difference between the sins of human nature and the crimes to which they sometimes lead. In the lamentable affair now closed two lives were sacrificed. Everybody knows it. Everybody knows that the commandment, "Thou shalt not kill," has been violated by somebody.

But close the book. Let the carnival go on. It may cost a woman's life now and again—but who cares? A MOTHER.

WATSON WAS TRIED TODAY

Man Arrested for Stealing Liquor from Bonded Warehouse in the Police Court.

The case of Samuel Watson, arrested on suspicion of breaking and entering the bonded warehouse in connection with the wholesale liquor business of R. Sullivan & Co and stealing therefrom, was this morning brought before Judge Ritchie, and his preliminary examination was begun.

Henry J. Sullivan, sworn, said that he was one of the firm of R. Sullivan & Co and their store was broken into on the Saturday previous to New Year's and also on Tuesday or Wednesday following.

The following day after the first break the customer office in his warehouse, and witness noticed that two cases had been broken into. Later on the witness noticed snow on the ice barrels which were piled under the eaves of the warehouse.

Mr. Sullivan said that he and three quart bottles of Jamaica rum had been taken from the warehouse and were in his possession. The liquor was taken from a government warehouse, and access could be had to the warehouse by means of Prince William St. by climbing a fence or by Union by means of a high rock.

Mr. Sullivan said that he thought he had seen the prisoner before. The witness said that he did not miss anything the second time, and Officer Crawford brought some of the bottles he found in Watson's possession to show them to the witness for his identification.

Mr. Sullivan said that the three different kinds of brandy produced he had in stock, also the three different kinds of Scotch whiskey and one kind of rye whiskey and one of Jamaica rum. The value of the liquor produced would, the witness said, be about $450.

Mr. Sullivan said that both ends and both sides of the sky-light were fastened, and that he had been doing from the outside. He stated that he was satisfied that this was the way in which the intruder gained an entrance to the warehouse.

The captives were produced, and there were which had on their label "Fine Old Rum," one black bottle, three of Reedy's extra stout. The witness said that all these bottles were kept in stock by the Sullivan firm.

Mr. Henderson, the clerk of the court, directed "R. S. C." on the witness stand, and Richard Sullivan said that in all probability those letters had been placed there by the witness.

The court ordered him to ascertain the name of the official who wrote these initials and have him to the court. The witness said that he had been in the store about half-past five, and after a short service in the church, conducted by the priest in charge, Rev. Father Owen-Jones, returned to the Sunday school, where a tempting repast had been prepared.

He had done some simple justice to the good things provided, the tables were cleared and the merry tink of the sleigh bells announced the approach of "Jolly old St. Nicholas," whose appearance was hailed with delight by the juvenile merry-makers. A large and brilliantly lighted Christmas tree was then revealed, and at Santa Claus leaped to the platform to distribute the Yule-tide gifts, he remarked that he was a little late, owing to his arriving. All were remembered, from the teachers down to the tiniest scholars, and as the toys came to receive their presents the old man shook their hands warmly and asked from time to time "Have you got a tin for Santa Claus?" and they were to take his departure for another year, Santa announced that he had just met old Nick from the "Denmark Isle," who would amuse them for a little before they went home.

The "funny little man in red" had hardly disappeared when his jovial friend put in an appearance and kept the youngsters in good humor till it was time for any good-night and, after each had been presented with a bag of candy and nuts and a "big round orange," a short but very enjoyable evening was brought to a close.

THEY KISSED SANTA CLAUS

The children of the Mission Church of St. John Baptist were given their Christmas tree last evening in the school-room. The little boys and their teachers met about half-past five, and after a short service in the church, conducted by the priest in charge, Rev. Father Owen-Jones, returned to the Sunday school, where a tempting repast had been prepared.

He had done some simple justice to the good things provided, the tables were cleared and the merry tink of the sleigh bells announced the approach of "Jolly old St. Nicholas," whose appearance was hailed with delight by the juvenile merry-makers.
