STRIKE ISSUE BOOSTS BRITISH CREDIT

POUND RETURNS TO PAR ON NEW YORK EXCHANGE

Action of Financial World Proof of National Stability

BRITONS PROUD

New Impulse Given to Efforts For Settlement of Mining Crisis

LONDON, May 17.—Figuring the cost of the strike has become a favorite pastime. One estimate places the loss to the National Union of Railway Men at $1,000,000, with the loss to the companies at $5,500,000.

Government expenses in connection with the general strike were about $750,000. Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill today informed the House of Commons. The Chancellor said that as yet it was not possible to estimate the expenditure accurately and that he would think additional taxation to meet it would be necessary.

By HERBERT BAILEY British United Press. LONDON, May 17.—The return of the pound sterling to the old par value on the New York Exchange has caused a greater sense of pride in Great Britain than anything since the war. It is hoped that this action of the financial market is due in many respects to the increase of British prestige abroad following the successful issue of the national strike, which was exhibited by the calmness and common sense of all parties to the struggle.

From every corner of the globe messages are still pouring in showing how British credit has risen throughout the world.

It is hoped that a good deal of the effect of the strike and of this aftermath upon the average Briton will be to make him more confident and more indifferent toward national problems which followed the war, and to settle down in real earnest to restore his country to its pre-war strong industrial position.

Even the men who have been on strike have a sense of real national pride when they realize how well they behaved during the crisis and how much this attitude being appreciated by the world at large.

JUSTICE FOR MINERS. Naturally this feeling on both sides has given new impetus to efforts for the settlement of the mining crisis on the fairest basis possible. The government is pledged to see that the miners get justice.

One of the great problems in this connection is to get out of the mines 200,000 men who went into that work during the war when the men trained in the underground work were fighting in France. Labor recognizes that this is the essence of the problem, and many schemes for the gradual withdrawal of this surplus labor to other occupations are being prepared. Meanwhile the government is insisting on the other hand that the owners must reorganize the whole system of mining and that their traditional attitude of taking everything out of the ground and putting nothing back must be changed if the future of the industry is to be assured.

ORGANIZATION CHECKED. The government's organization, which defeated the general strike mainly by its surprisingly efficient transportation system, is being carefully overhauled and checked and the names of all volunteers who assisted in the work are being recorded in case it might be necessary to call upon them again in the future.

DEVON MAN INJURED IN CAR ACCIDENT. FREDERICTON, May 17.—Arthur Stone, son of John Stone, of Devon, was seriously injured Sunday night when the car he was driving left the road between Marysville and Devon and struck a tree. Stone was not severely about the face. A young man named Taylor who was with him escaped serious injury.

A maximum temperature of 74 degrees above zero was registered here Sunday. The temperature is not unusual for this time of the year, but owing to the lateness of the spring was very noticeable. It was the hottest weather of the month so far.

No appreciable difference in the height of the Saint John river has occurred in the last few days.

Her coat was marked with the name of a Buffalo clothier. The body has not been recovered.

N. B. RAILWAY LAND OPTION IS CONSIDERED

Special Meeting of Shareholders in Session Here

For the purpose of considering the authorizing of an option for the possible sale of the forest lands in this province owned by the New Brunswick Railway Company, a special general meeting of the shareholders of the corporation was held at the company's office in this city this afternoon. The meeting was still in session at press time. The directors some time ago considered an offer from large interests for the lands of the New Brunswick Railway Company, and the directors' recommendation was formally laid before the stockholders today. It is said that any action taken at today's meeting does not mean, necessarily, that the immense holdings of the company will be sold.

THE COMPANY'S LANDS. The New Brunswick Railway Company years ago took over one of the corporations which built the system of rail lines from Saint John to McAdam southward to Charlotte county points, northward to Edmundston, and westward to Aroostook county, Me., towns. When the railway to Edmundston was constructed, the New Brunswick government encouraged the enterprise by granting valuable tracts of timber land in the counties of Carleton, Victoria, and Madawaska. The total value of these large blocks of land, many square miles in extent, is not exactly known, but it is said to be in the vicinity of $10,000,000. The Canadian Pacific Railway now owns the rail lines referred to.

OFFICIAL CALL READ. The official call to the stockholders for the special meeting, read at the afternoon's meeting, is as follows: "I beg to notify you that a special general meeting of the shareholders of the New Brunswick Railway Company will be held at the head office of the company, No. 19 Market Square, in the City of Saint John, N. B., on Monday, the seventeenth day of May, 1926, at the hour of three o'clock in the afternoon, to consider a recommendation of the directors concerning the sale of the company's properties and to authorize the directors to sell or dispose of all or any part of the same at such price and on such terms and conditions as they may approve.

"By order of the board, "H. F. Pudington, Secretary."

Fisherman Retrieves Lost Collar Button From Smelt

Canadian Press. FREDERICTON, May 17.—Earl Fraser, York street, a youthful smelt fisherman, has solved the problem of the disappearance of at least one collar button. While fishing from the Canadian National Railway bridge on Saturday Earl caught an unusually fat looking smelt, which, on being opened, revealed one of the long lost collar buttons. It was no small button either, but a large stud, having a shank at least half an inch long, with a base of equal diameter. Exhibiting his find today, Earl said that last year he had opened another smelt to find a ring contained in the stomach. This year's prize package was not quite so valuable, but he still has hopes in the fishy lottery.

Giant Airship Behaved Perfectly During Epic Voyage. Explorers Declare; Journey From Spitzbergen to Teller Uneventful and Made in Approximately Seventy-one Hours.

Canadian Press. NOME, May 17.—Their aerial adventure over, Captain Roald Amundsen and Lincoln Ellsworth, heads of the first expedition over the top of the world, from King's Bay, Spitzbergen, to Alaska, today awaited a steamer from the south to take them to the United States.

Norge Flight Cuts Arctic Area In Two. NEW YORK, May 17.—The flight of the Norge over the North Pole, added 100,000 square miles to the earth's explored area, but leaves between three million and four million square miles as yet unexplored.

The largest area is two million square miles in the Antarctic, which explorers consider uninteresting because the Antarctic continent is known to be covered with ice, 7,000 to 10,000 feet thick. The Amundsen-Ellsworth expedition cut the 1,000,000 mile Arctic circle in two, leaving 600,000 square miles of unexplored territory toward Siberia and 300,000 toward the east. Although no land was discovered by the Norge, explorers point out that islands are found throughout the known Arctic regions and that birds have been seen migrating toward this section.

FAIR WIND AIDS SHIP. A fair wind aided the ship in the southern leg of the flight. The landing at Teller was accomplished with an east, after an anchor had been cast to the frozen harbor. The ice cells were completely deflated in half an hour. Amundsen and Ellsworth had the distinction of being the only two men in the world to have visited both the North and South Poles, Whiting having accompanied Amundsen on his discovery of the South Pole.

The report has caused general rejoice in Norway's annual national holiday became a monster celebration on the east return of Captain Roald Amundsen from his polar flight. Many messages of congratulation were sent to him.

Monsignor Caruana was ordered expelled from the country, allegedly for having entered Mexico in an improper manner in contravention of the clauses of the Mexican constitution dealing with foreign ministers of the gospel. On arriving at Washington, the prelate is expected to receive instructions from Rome as to his future activities. He was allowed six days after notification of his expulsion in which to leave Mexico. Before departing from the capital, Monsignor Caruana, who is a naturalized United States citizen issued a statement in which he said he desired to state publicly and emphatically that he made no religious declarations nor signed any declaration when he came to Mexico.

S., May 17.—The ill-fated fishing schooner Hallgon which grounded on a ledge a few miles from Lunenburg in a fog yesterday afternoon, while being towed to that town by the tug Mary Currie for completion of repairs rendered necessary through previous grounding at Canso a fortnight or so ago, was re-floated this morning by the latter vessel and taken to Lunenburg, where it was discovered that the schooner had not suffered any additional damage. The Richmond grounded Saturday afternoon in the fog near Black Rock.

The Richmond grounded Saturday afternoon in the fog near Black Rock.

Polish Dictator Given Cheers on Birthday

Poland is in a "virtual state of civil war as the result of the action of Marshal Pilsudski, world war hero, in leading a successful revolt to overthrow the government. The president, Stanislas Wojciechowski, was Marshal Pilsudski receiving the cheers of the Poles on the recent occasion of his birthday anniversary and a section of the heart of Warsaw. On the right is the Church of St. Anna.

Marshal Pilsudski Expresses Surprise Over Quick Success of Revolution; "Like Lightning," He Tells Reporters

WARSAW, Poland, May 17.—"I am quite surprised that we succeeded so quickly. Everything went like a stroke of lightning. This declaration was made by Marshal Joseph Pilsudski at the conclusion, late last night, of the first cabinet session of the provisional government. It was the only interview granted by the head of the revolutionary movement since his coup.

When one of the correspondents asked him for an interview, the marshal, with a tired smile, replied: "I am extremely tired; I want nothing but to sleep. You understand I have so many important things to do that I cannot think about an interview now. When I have a free moment, I would like to sleep and sleep again. For three days, I have not seen my wife or children."

APPEARED HAGGARD. Then he hurried to his motor car. Throughout the brief interview, the marshal, who appeared haggard and overworked, showing signs of the great strain he has been under, nervously buttoned and unbuttoned his leather belt. Former premier Witos and the minister in the late cabinet, who were detained at Vilna, have been released and returned to Poland, but a dozen military officers of high rank are still being kept there.

M. Wojciechowski, who was president of Poland until Marshal Pilsudski carried his successful coup d'etat last week and forced him and his cabinet to resign, has been permitted to leave Warsaw for the summer presidential residence at Spala.

CALM IN WARSAW. Complete calm prevails in Warsaw, MODERATES MORE IN CONTROL NOW

So Says Rt. Hon. G. H. Roberts, Speaking of Collapse of Strike in Britain

OTTAWA, May 17.—The collapse of the general strike in Great Britain will probably result in established peace for some in the industrial world there, in the opinion of Right Hon. George H. Roberts, P. C. of Norwich, Engineer Minister of Labor in the British government during 1917-18, and former controller from January, 1919, to February, 1920. Mr. Roberts, who had been visiting here, will return to the old country early in June.

The result of recent happenings will likely be to give the more moderate elements in the labor unions better control over the extremists, Mr. Roberts said. It will all make for peace industrially.

EXTRA BOATS PREPARED FOR PATROL WORK

Fast Cruiser Bought To Guard Miramichi Bay

KEENER VIGILANCE. Excise Officers Also Paying More Attention To Motor Car Smuggling

Special to The Times-Star. MONCTON, May 17.—In consequence of alleged extensive smuggling operations by land and sea during the last three years, the Department of Customs and Excise is making preparations to guard the long coast line along the Northumberland Strait more rigidly than usual during the remainder of the spring and during the summer and fall.

Several extra coast guard boats are being put in readiness to patrol the waters of the strait and of the Gulf of St. Lawrence, with the object of preventing, or at least reducing, the smuggling of contraband liquor.

In 1924 and 1925 cargoes were landed in the night time at various points along the coast, including isolated places in Westmorland and Kent counties, the officials say, the cruizers being unable to patrol the long coast line at all times successfully. Fast motor schooners and motor boats with contraband are said to have been discovered the government vessels. One cargo of liquor is said to have been landed at the Shediac town wharf at three o'clock one morning last summer, automobiles carrying the cargo.

Stewart, in charge of the special customs preventive service in the district from Cape Tormentine to the Bay of St. Lawrence, instructed his men to maintain extra vigilance during the season which has just passed, and at many points men will be night duty.

MOTOR CAR SMUGGLING. Excise Officer Dawes of Saint John, and Stewart, are planning to give much attention to the smuggled motor car traffic, which is said to have reached large proportions in this county, Cumberland, Kent and Northumberland during the past three years.

Recently these two officials seized seven automobiles, two at Bouchette and five at Richibucto. In all, these officials have seized 14 smuggled automobiles this year, including cars in Moncton and Kent county, and one in Northumberland.

Most of the cars seized are presumed to have been brought through the port of Moncton from the United States and later distributed to the Maritime Provinces. One of the smugglers was alleged to be "Blonde" Rosenberg, supposed to be the notorious Jack Rose, New York gangster, who died in jail at Montreal while awaiting trial for the theft of three cars in the United States. It is alleged that gangs of United States car thieves have for several years been stealing automobiles in the United States, running them into Canada without the payment of duty, and selling them secretly to people in Quebec, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia.

AGAIN DISCUSS
SPRINKLERS FOR
WEST END DOCKS

Commissioners Favor Principle But Defer Action For Week

FEAR GREAT LOSS
SHOULD FIRE COME

Commissioner Frink Tells of Bonds Coming Due Few Years Hence

That the Common Council should at an early date consider whether it would not be in the public interest to equip the West End sheds with a sprinkler system and so carry its own risk or do without the sprinkler and continue to insure with the fire insurance companies was the view advanced by His Worship Mayor White this morning at a committee meeting.

LOYALIST DAY

Mayor White referred to the fact that tomorrow was the anniversary of the landing of the Loyalists and made a request that citizens honor the day by flying their flags.

Commissioner Wigmore recommended that the 2-inch main in Chubb street, laid 40 years ago, be renewed with a 6-inch main at an estimated cost of $1,000 to be paid for by bond issue.

He said this bond would not affect the general tax rate as the interest and sinking fund assessment was a charge on water revenue.

Commissioner Bullock asked if the money could be provided from revenue and Commissioner Wigmore said it could not.

Commissioner Frink said that if the people would have a little patience things would be better, insofar as bonds were concerned.

Commissioner Bullock reported that J. M. Martin, federal tackle inspector, had made some complaint about the passenger gangway used at the potato shed, East Side and asserted that unless one suitable to him was provided he could stop the ship from working.

The commissioner said that all the regular lines of steamers had their own passenger gangways and he did not propose to take any notice of the communication.

TOP WHARFAGE CASE
Commissioner Bullock reported that the Canadian Molasses Co. had refused to pay a bill of $766, top wharfage on a cargo of molasses discharged into the tanks on the McLeod wharf and had offered to pay one half the bill, contending the first account was excessive.

Commissioner Frink took exception to the harbor master having committed the city solicitor and took the ground that the commissioner was the one to have seen the solicitor.

Commissioner Bullock's motion to authorize the city solicitor to issue a writ and collect the amount of the bill carried.

SPRINKLER DEBATE
Commissioner Bullock brought up the matter of installing sprinklers in the West Saint John sheds. He said the rates at present paid for insurance were $275 and $375, and the rates if sprinklers were installed would be $1 and $1.25.

The gross amount paid now was $10,761.45, and under the new rate it would be $6,698.06, a saving of $4,163.40. He moved that the city engineer be asked to prepare plans and specifications acceptable to the New Brunswick Board of Fire Underwriters, and an estimate of the cost of installing the sprinkler system and report to the council.

His Worship said he was keenly interested and had given some consideration to this in connection with the proposed installation at the General Public Hospital. Evidence had been submitted by the man who was before the hospital commissioners that of a great number of fires only three had reached up to $100 damage. He also asked if the city was at present carrying 90 per cent of the value of the plant required if sprinklers were installed and a reduction in the rate made.

Commissioner Bullock said he thought the city was carrying about 85 per cent. He thought these matters should be considered before the engineer was asked to prepare plans and specifications.

Commissioner Bullock said the city was paying now what he considered a very high rate and had nothing to prevent fire, which the sprinklers would prevent. Commissioner Frink said that last year he had supported the proposition to install the sprinkler system on the ground that without the port facilities this was hopeless and, and he felt that as a community they were justified in spending a large amount of money to protect the live asset of the city.

Commissioner Wigmore said he was in favor of the sprinkler system because of the fact that a contingency would cause even if no money was saved in insurance premiums. Money could not be taken off as they could not bring back the lost business.

It was decided to defer further consideration for the time being to the question of harbors in the meantime to find out to what extent the sheds were insured at present.

An application from W. T. White for permission to erect a filling station in Douglas Avenue was referred to the Commissioner of Safety for a report.

Fashlight and Gun Figure in Story Told to Officials

Called to the Maritime Nail Co. Ltd. wharf at 1:30 o'clock this morning by telephone, Walter P. Dawes, inland revenue officer, with J. L. Armstrong, customs and excise examiner; Policeman Frank Killen and Provincial Constable Andrew Garnett, seized the motorship Hival, owned by J. H. Laval, at the wharf at the same wharf as the Hival. These men reported having noticed what are alleged to be cases brought ashore. They decided to investigate. On boarding the Hival, they said, a man proffered them a bottle of J. D. McCallum and told them to "beat it and keep quiet." They fled and returned to their motorboat, where they stayed until 6 o'clock replacing their craft.

FLASH AND REVOLVER

At 11 o'clock last night the two men decided to return to the Hival to see what was going on. They were met by the wharf, two men with flashlights and revolvers told them to "keep on moving." Then Mr. Dawes was telephoned.

When Inspector Dawes boarded the Hival, he was met by John and Albert Livingston, two brothers. It later developed that John was carrying a loaded .38 calibre revolver and Albert had a flashlight. Two other men, said to be named Kane and Boyle, were with the Livingstons. These left the scene.

The bottle of whiskey said to have been the informant was sent by Inspector Dawes and the lettering which was on the broken case for the hold corresponded to the label on the bottle. The inspector searched the hold thoroughly but could find no trace of liquor.

Inspector Dawes said this afternoon that John Livingston had been arrested by the police for carrying a revolver without a license and that Albert Livingston had been apprehended on charge of not being able to give a satisfactory account of himself.

The department at Ottawa has been informed of the seizure and Inspector Dawes said that no further action would be taken in the matter until he received word from Ottawa.

SOUTH BAY MAN IS SEVERELY INJURED

A serious automobile accident occurred last evening about 7 o'clock about a mile beyond the Lepreau station, when C. N. Lunney, of South Bay, was badly hurt when his automobile overturned. It was found that one wheel went in the ditch, overturning the car, smashing the top and pinning the driver underneath the steering wheel. Help was secured and Dr. Dalton, of Mace's Bay, gave first aid to the injured man who was found to be suffering from three fractured ribs, injuries to the spine and it was also thought to be the back of his head. Another car came along and the injured man was brought to Saint John and taken to the General Public Hospital.

CADETS TO CHURCH

Attend Service in St. George's, West End; Rev. J. Unsworth Preacher

The cadets and officers, under command of Captain Palin, attended divine service in St. George's church, West Saint John, last evening. About 85 cadets marched from the ferry to the church. They occupied the body of the church and entered heartily into the singing of the hymns. Rev. John Unsworth gave an inspiring address on "Gildred and his army of 32,000 men." He made a strong appeal to the cadets to do their part in fighting the evil of the day, one of which was the cigarette. The choir rendered the Ascension Carol. Miss M. Beatty was the organist. Rev. G. W. Moore, curate of Stone Church, conducted the morning service in St. George's.

FAIRVILLE MAN DIES

With tragic suddenness William T. Hayes passed away at his home, 14 Hayes street, Fairville, last evening, about fifteen minutes after he had eaten his supper at the family table. Some time ago he had been injured in an accident and in January of this year it was necessary to amputate a limb. He had been a member of the operation, but last night he appeared in better health than he had enjoyed for some time.

Mr. Hayes was born in Fairville and had lived there all his life. He was highly regarded and very favorably known throughout the community. In former years he was employed in Cushing mill in Fairville and the original "Loyalist Day" and upon the soldiers from all parts of Canada, who were arrested at war time by St. David's congregation.

On this latter line he read a report, which he had prepared on April 23, 1914, by Rev. Hugh Miller, pastor, and Robert Bell, Sunday school superintendent, occupied seats on the platform.

LARGE FORTUNE IS GIVEN TO CHARITY

New York Man Wills $2,600,000 to Good Cause—Also Helps Relatives

NEW YORK, May 17.—Lionel J. Salomon, president of the American Rattan and Reed Manufacturing Company, left his entire estate, valued at $2,600,000, to charity, it was learned, when schedules of the estate were filed with Surrogate Wingate in Brooklyn.

Mr. Salomon died September 3, 1924, at his home, 9989 Shore Road, Brooklyn. He placed $287,000 of his estate in trust for ten relatives and friends. On their death, however, the principal reverts to charity. All of the money goes to the New York Foundation, 92 Williams street, organized for administering gifts to charity.

The ten legacies, which eventually revert to the charitable fund, were to Miss Sarah Gans, a niece, of 210 West Seventeenth street, Brooklyn, $30,000; Miss Louise Rice, of 60 Bay Thirty-second street, Brooklyn, $30,000; Samuel Salomon, brother, of New South Wales, Australia, $60,000; Moses Hirschfeld, nephew, deceased, $20,000; Hart Hirschfeld, nephew, of Hollywood, Calif., $20,000; Robert Hart, grand-nephew, of Hollywood, $10,000; Lawrence Hart, grand-nephew, of Woodcliff, N. J., $10,000; George Gans, nephew, of 210 West Seventeenth street, $40,000; Miss Helen Saunders, a friend, of 508 West 114th street, $15,000, and Inga Severson, an employe of 9989 Shore Road, Brooklyn, $40,000.

TELLS OF BRYAN'S ATTITUDE IN WAR

Gerard Stopped Visits on Bryan's Order "For Fear of Irritating Germans"

HAMILTON, Ont., May 17.—Breaking silence of what had hitherto been known only within the confines of the American diplomatic service, Hon. James W. Gerard, American ambassador to Germany, during the war, related to the Canadian Club on Saturday for the first time, an incident which showed the attitude of the late Wm. Jennings Bryan, then secretary of state. Mr. Gerard said it was generally known that he was requested by several of the allied powers to interest himself in their prisoners of war in Germany and to visit the prison camps and see that they were treated humanely. He did such work for a time, but his visits to prison camps then ceased for several months. Many prisoners, perhaps, had often wondered why he had stopped visiting them.

WEEK-ENDS AT HOME ENJOYED BY CONVICT

TRENTON, N. J., May 17.—An exhaustive inquiry into conditions at the New Jersey State Prison with respect to treatment accorded wealthy prisoners was ordered when it became known that William Haggerty, serving a sentence of from nine to 14 years for selling worthless stock, had won surprising privileges for one to whom "mercy justice" was meted out.

Joseph S. Hoff, keeper of the prison, declared that while Haggerty, whose home is in Newark, was assigned to the Leeburg camp, he took week-ends off and drove up to his home in his limousine. Who gave Haggerty permission to do this, and what influenced him to grant this permission, will become a matter for inquiry.

Hoff has announced his intention of calling a meeting of the State Board of Prison Managers to take such punitive action as may be necessary against responsible prison camp officials. The Leeburg camp houses 150 convicts, who work on various projects. Only those prisoners who are expected to behave properly are assigned to the camp.

An anonymous message warned Hoff that Haggerty would leave the camp, driving to Newark, and return either late at night or some time on the following day. When Hoff reached the prison camp to investigate, Haggerty was not there. He returned at midnight, and was promptly taken by Hoff to the state prison here and put in solitary confinement.

RUSSELL SCOTT TO FACE EXAMINATION

Attempt to Free Convicted Murderer From Asylum Was Foiled

CHICAGO, May 17.—Russell Scott, who three times escaped the gallows on the eve of his execution, last night faced the shadow of the noose for the fourth time, with the possibility that he may be asked to help send his brother-in-law to death.

INSTRUCTED GERARD

The fact was that Mr. Bryan, the then-secretary of state under President Wilson, sent a communication to Mr. Gerard instructing him that his visits to the prison camps and his efforts to ease the sore plight of many of the prisoners must cease "for fear of irritating the Germans."

Mr. Gerard said he replied with a long letter to Mr. Bryan and contended that he could not be expected to take any interest in the welfare of allied prisoners of war, unless he visited them in person and was able to converse with them, out of earshot of German guards. His visits, however, came to an end for many months.

Beautiful White Hands with Washing Dishes
No more harsh laundry soap for dishwashing. No more red, rough, chapped hands. Lux has done away with all that.

Lux has lightened the labour of dishwashing and made it possible for you to keep your hands as white and soft and your nails as trim and neat as though they had never touched dishwater. You know it isn't the grease from the dishes nor the temperature of the water that reddens the hands. Water itself and hard laundry soaps do the damage.

Lux softens the water and makes it harmless to the skin, hurries the whole operation of dishwashing, and actually keeps the skin in fine soft condition. The vegetable oils in Lux are bland oils—mild and soothing as well as highly efficient.

One tablespoon of Lux in each pan of dish-water is all you need. Really, you should use Lux for the whole family wash—it's so efficient, so safe and reasonably priced—and it prolongs the life of fabrics. Many a garment goes to the cleaners that might better be washed with Lux.

SAINT JOHN, N. B., MAY 17, 1926.

TOMORROW, MAY 18.

On the eve of Loyalist Day it is appropriate to indulge in retrospection and comparison. Read the story of the Loyalists, try to understand the high ideal for which they suffered, picture the enormities inflicted on them by their American fellow colonists, read the hardships they endured before and after they abandoned their holdings, on shipboard and after they landed in the wild and comparatively unknown country.

Follow the story of their rehabilitation by their own unaided efforts. Scan their well-earned success, achieved by the sweat of the brow. Visualize them here on this peninsula at the mouth of the Saint John river, in Nova Scotia and in Upper Canada working out their destiny, founding homes for their families and leaving a heritage for posterity. Visit God's acre where the bones of many a Loyalist lie.

Read their story. Talk about it to your friends and, if amongst the latter you are privileged to number a descendant of those great men and women, give ear to the oral tradition of a worthy breed.

And after this compare all they had not with all you have and give thanks for the blessings of progress and civilization. Ask yourself whether you do not lack much with which they were endowed. Perfid loyalty—can you match them? Endurance, purpose, self-reliance, godliness and faith—are you their peer? Sobriety without fanaticism—how do you compare? Have you the courage of your own convictions; are you prepared to stand shoulder to shoulder with a minority who think with you rather than be swept along with the crowd or cringe before the clamor of the mob? If not, you are less than they.

The Loyalists have set us a high mark at which to aim, yet one attainable by any steadfast man. Let us remember that, while signs and portents promise a bright tomorrow, we have not yet received all that is rightly ours. Let us unite and stand solidly behind the men who have shown their mettle by demanding justice on our behalf. Let us be loyal. Let us join in the celebration of the eighteenth of May with joyous humility and thanksgiving. God Save The King.

FINDING THE POLE.

Having reached the North Pole, how did Amundsen and Commander Byrd know they were at the Pole? The average man does not doubt the truth of their claims but his curiosity is aroused over the science of measurement that enables explorers to calculate their position with accuracy. The sun is the main guide, according to Commander Byrd's own explanation in the New York Times. He says:

"We will have the advantage of a new short-cut in ascertaining our position. We will have the artificial horizon or 'bubble' sextant."
"This carries a bubble in liquid which serves a purpose similar to that of the bubble in the carpenter's level. It enables us to obtain an artificial horizon, even if fog obscures the real horizon. From the sun's position with reference to this artificial horizon we can calculate our own position."
"A few years ago this would have been a long and difficult process, but this year it has been greatly simplified by the genius of G. W. Littlehales of the United States Hydrographic Office."
"He has shown that, if we are at the North Pole, we will be able to tell by the number of degrees the sun is above the horizon. When this altitude equals the declination of the sun, which we can get from the nautical almanac for any given instant, we know we are at or very near the Pole."

TREASURE TROVE.

What a thrill lies in the mere mention of buried treasure! What luck for the people of New Westminster, B. C., to have in their midst—not so much a suspected cache as—Romance.
Instantly the mind flies to Captain Kidd, diving to salvage a Spanish galleon, the search for the jewels of the Rani of Jhansi, the monastery's strong-box buried in the crypt, gold plate walled up in a Royalist manor house or loot from a Belgian chateau, secured by a Death's-head hussar who never returned to profit by his infamy.
That kind of mental flight is the privilege of all. Keen imagination is not essential to its enjoyment. But treasure trove in the home town? That must be exciting beyond words—especially when its existence is still uncertain, for a climax put in unobtainable; nothing equals anticipation.
The most enduring of fiction deals with treasure. R. L. Stevenson's "Treasure Island" is beloved of all from nine to ninety. Dumas' Monte Cristo, too, even after the board of the Spadas is found, because there is all the lavish spending of uncounted wealth, the power of riches to crush the men who pulled Edouard Dantes. If the short story be the most artistic form of fiction, it is the most epicureal also. Comparatively few short stories, outside serials, survive, yet Edgar Allan Poe's "The Gold Bug" is read today and enjoyed by each succeeding generation. The search for a lost mine is an evergreen plot and the mere setting of a mining camp, the atmosphere of man's quest for nature's cache, starts a story with appeal.

Who has not experienced the joy of picking up a dime on the street, and feeling incomparably greater than earning a dollar? Did not hunt-the-phantom render us children breathless with excitement? Wherefore do we envy New Westminster its thrill.

But in case anybody in Saint John conceives the idea of stirring local emotions on Loyalist Day with a yarn about the miser of Massachusetts, who landed at the Market Slip with his beautiful daughter and the wealth of the Indies secreted in a bunch of bananas, of the old man's paralytic seizure when the then Commissioner for Sanitation ordered the fruit to be cast on the dump, and of his unavailing deathbed efforts to tell his secret to his weeping child and her gallant lover, a secret now cleared up by the discovery of a document in crabbled handwriting, which fixes the location of the treasure within a few acres of harbor mud uncovered at low tide—if any native Ananias tries to put this over, even with the corroborative evidence of the eight-day clock wherein the clue was secreted, he may take fair warning that The Times-Star will give him no publicity.

British Columbia is baiting a hook to catch the 1928 Imperial Conference and to land it at Vancouver or Victoria. Good fishing! And some day may Saint John do likewise. Make a note of it, Your Worship, for future use.

Five per cent. tax on all meals costing over one dollar in Quebec hotels and restaurants starting June 1. This is to be calculated on food, beer, wine and other incidentals—but not, one may assume, such incidentals as are carried on the hip.

Saint John is noted for sport in all its branches, but however used we may become to seeing our native sons and daughters in the lead it is always a satisfaction to comment on the fact. Therefore it is recorded with pardonable pride that Miss Marion Belding organized at Amherst the first Nova Scotia girls' amateur athletic club to be affiliated with the Maritime branch of the Women's A. A. F. of Canada of which Miss Belding is president.

Odds and Ends

The Useful Asterisk
(San Francisco Argonaut.)
A writer owned an Asterisk. And kept it in his Den. Where he wrote tales (which had large sales).

Of frail and erring men; And always, when he reached the point Where, carrying Censors' lute, He called upon the Asterisk To do his dirty work.

"This carries a bubble in liquid which serves a purpose similar to that of the bubble in the carpenter's level. It enables us to obtain an artificial horizon, even if fog obscures the real horizon. From the sun's position with reference to this artificial horizon we can calculate our own position."
"A few years ago this would have been a long and difficult process, but this year it has been greatly simplified by the genius of G. W. Littlehales of the United States Hydrographic Office."
"He has shown that, if we are at the North Pole, we will be able to tell by the number of degrees the sun is above the horizon. When this altitude equals the declination of the sun, which we can get from the nautical almanac for any given instant, we know we are at or very near the Pole."

So well the Writer plied his craft, His work became the rage, And, by demand, he turned his hand To writing for the Stage; But there the Censor was so kind, The plane of Art so high, He needed now no Asterisk To get his rough stuff by.

An outcast and a wanderer That Asterisk became, It knew no trade that really paid Excepting that of Shame. Within the playwright's busy Den The fire was warm and bright, As, with a sigh, the Asterisk Went out into the night.

"Dry" Fish Philosophy
(New York Herald-Tribune.)
Sterling Brannen, of Fredericton, New Brunswick, Canada, also a "dry" province, he is he is warranted in issuing the following humorous fish philosophy:
"Ever hear anybody complain that fishing trips are dry affairs?"
"What some anglers use to prevent catching cold prevents their catching fish."
"Too often an angler has a reel in his grip and a fish on his line, but the early worm catches the fish."
"A fish on the hook is worth two in the pool."
"The poor fish that tries to bite off more than it can chew usually gets the hook."
"An angler does not mind how often the line is busy."
"The biggest ones don't get away from the imagination."
"The string of fish is often longer than the string of fish."
"An angler may return with no string, but he'll have some yarn."

WHO'S WHO
IN THE DAYS NEWS
WINSTON CHURCHILL.
PROMINENT in British affairs for a number of years, Winston Churchill, chancellor of the British exchequer, is again in the limelight as publisher of the government "emergency" paper during the war.

He went into the army when he was twenty-one, and saw service in India, Africa and China. He was first a correspondent, then a lecturer, has written several books, all of them excellent, and now he is a member of the House of Commons. He was in 1924, and began in politics as a Tory.

Later he became a Liberal. He was Under Secretary of State for the Colonies after the Boer War and First Lord of the Admiralty at thirty-eight in Herbert Asquith's Liberal government.

Churchill is credited with a very bold stroke in the days just preceding the war, which is said to have insured Alliance and supremacy. He was then First Lord of the Admiralty. The British fleet had just been holding its annual manoeuvres at Spithead late in July, 1914, and was due to disband its various stations on July 29, when it was said, on his own responsibility and without consulting his cabinet colleagues, Churchill secretly ordered the fleet not to disband, but to remain in fact to his war base. At the same time he ordered a general mobilization of all naval units which had not been at manoeuvres.

Later in the war Churchill was the chief inspiration for the ill-fated Dardanelles expedition. The failure of that expedition, followed by the formation of the Conservative Ministry, led to his retirement, but when Mr. Lloyd George took the helm after the retirement of Mr. Asquith he made Churchill Minister of Munitions, in which capacity he served efficiently until the end of the war. In the reorganization of the Lloyd George Cabinet after the war, Churchill became Secretary for War, and as such handed the fall of his leader. He has been Chancellor of the Exchequer since 1924.

A CERTAIN bachelor who "digs" in a quiet square keeps himself fit by donning his running shorts in the evening and going for an hour's trot round several quiet streets.
One night, while attired in this abbreviated athletic garb, he was halted in anguished tones by a woman's voice, and on slowing down he discovered it was his landlady, who gasped out: "Oh, I'm sorry I'm late last week, sir, but if you'll go back home at once I'll promise you your washing tomorrow morning first thing!"

THE new guard was not familiar with a certain regulation in Wales. A station came which rejoiced in the name of Llanfairfechan-willogerch. For a few minutes he stood looking at the signboard in mute helplessness. Then, pointing to the board and waving his other arm toward the carriage, he called out to the passengers: "If there's anybody there for here, this is it!"

POEMS I LOVE

"Sigh No More," by William Shakespeare.
To one thing constant never.
The light not so,
But let them go,
And be you blithe and bonny,
Converting all your sounds of woe
Into Hey nonny, nonny.

ALL through Shakespeare's plays there run these little songs, so simple, apparently, yet to the perfection of art. They are quite as important as the plays themselves, and live apart from them as well as in them. And they all have a fragrance, a grace, a delicacy that cannot be matched. Moreover, they are easily committed to memory, for they sing themselves.

NIETZSCHE'S PHILOSOPHY.
The philosophy of Friedrich Nietzsche cannot, of course, be set forth in so small a space as this, but some few of his teachings, taken from "Thus Spake Zarathustra," may be gleaned from the following passages.

Speaking of his supreme teaching—the Superman—he says: "I teach you the Superman. Man is something that is to be surpassed. What have ye done to surpass man? 'All things hitherto have created something beyond themselves; and ye want to be the ebb of that great tide, and would rather go back to the beast than surpass man?'"

Another aphorism: "Not by wrath, but by laughter do we slay demons, let us slay the spirit of gravity!"

And this one judges Nietzsche for those who feel that although they have tried for the highest they have failed.

"Be of good cheer; what doth it matter? How much is still possible! Learn to laugh at yourselves, as ye ought to laugh!"

"And verily, how much hath already succeeded! How rich is this earth in small, good, perfect things, in well-constituted things!"

But it is trying to obscure essential facts of geography by prolific use of the phrase "all-American," as if that magic term contained some potent patriotic magic when applied to a commercial route. . . . The "all-American" route would be all-American only between Oswego and the sea. A lake steamer at Buffalo, desiring to reach New York, would cross over to the Canadian side of Lake Erie and pass through the neck of Ontario by way of the Welland canal. It could not reach Oswego without this invasion of Canadian territory. . . . Governor Smith and other advocates of an "all-American" canal forget the fact that the only navigable entrance to Lake Ontario from the other Great Lakes is through an all-Canadian waterway.

CENSOR AND CLEANSER
(Detroit Free Press.)
There are writers and publishers, and play producers, mostly, though not exclusively, composers, and trade purveyors of cheap fifth who make a great outcry against any effort to curtail output that is more than the outpourings from a sewer. And though at best censorship is the smaller of the two evils, the makers of dirty literature and sooty or jaundiced journalism force an official restraint of their activities so that an intolerable nuisance may be abated.

U. S. A. AND THE LEAGUE.
(New York Times.)
What happens in Bulgaria has its consequences in Kansas. It is all very fine for us to stand aloof and wash our hands of what may occur, but that does not relieve us either of responsibility or consequences. Put aside the question of moral duty. Possibly if we were in the league we could make it work better. It is highly probable that an American delegate at Geneva would have been able to find some way to induce Brazil to refrain from exercising her veto power. But putting that one side, a merely selfish point of view would dictate that we sympathize heartily with what the League of Nations is doing, and may do, instead of gloating over its mistakes and temporary failures.

Corns

It is the rubbing and prising of shoes against the toes that causes corns. No corn remedy in the world will remove a corn and prevent it from growing again, unless it removes the cause at the same time.

Stop the cause—and the corn disappears. That's exactly what Dr. Scholl's Zino-pads do—and the only corn remedy in existence that does it! For many years Dr. Scholl's Zino-pads were made for the exclusive use of doctors. Today it is the universal home remedy, used by millions of people with wonderful results.

ILL SING you a song of my radio set, if you'll pardon my flats and my sharps. I've picked up most everything everyone gets, so I'll harp like most everyone harps.
I sit there, night and I turn on the juke and I tip back and smoke a cigar. Right shortly a whole flock of music's turned loose and it comes from anear and afar.
A baritone singer sings down in the deep. A soprano floats up to the skies. A lullaby lulls till I neal fall asleep—but a jazz band soon opens my eyes.
And now that due credit is off my mind, there's a peave that I'm mixing about. When I know that I'm treating my radio fine, what the deuce is it squawking bout?

How long has it been since you've written home to the folks?
Why, you ought to be ashamed of yourself!

Just stop and think—every day they're interested in how you are getting along.
And perhaps they wonder if you wonder how they are getting along.
What an easy thing to do—Just write a letter.

How much it means. And yet you neglect it.
You'll find paper and pen wherever you keep them.

205 KILLED AND 900 WOUNDED IS POLISH REVOLUTION TOLL

Many Civilians Are Among Casualties Owing to Curiosity

FORMER PRESIDENT IS GIVEN PASSPORT

Ex-Premier and Most of His Cabinet Interned at Wilanow

CHRAZANOW, Poland, May 16—Official estimates of the casualties in the fighting between Marshal Pilsudski troops and government forces at Warsaw place the killed at 205 and the wounded at 900. Numerous civilians were among the casualties.

Advices from the capital report that former President W. Chaczinski has been given a passport and will retire to political exile to the presidential summer residence at Spala, where his wife and children have been in complete ignorance of his fate.

The former Premier and most of the members of his cabinet are interned at Wilanow, guarded by Pilsudski's troops. A great many of the wounded are being cared for in the hospitals but the deaths are increasing hourly. The civilians received their injuries largely because of their curiosity to witness the fighting between the opposing forces.

NEW CABINET FORMS

WARSAW, Poland, May 16—A new cabinet, headed by Professor Chaczinski, Bartel as Prime Minister, was formed last night.

August Zabalski, former ambassador to Rome, was named temporary minister of foreign affairs. Marshal Pilsudski took over the portfolio of minister of war.

Prime Minister Bartel announced that the Government would remain in office until after the election of a new President for the Republic.

The temporary cabinet is constituted as follows: Premier and Minister of Railways, Charles Bartel.

Interior, Professor Lodzianowski. Foreign, August Zaleski, former ambassador to Rome.

War, Marshal Joseph Pilsudski. Finance, M. Czechowicz. Public Works, Prof. Froniewski.

Labor, Dr. Jurkiewicz. Agriculture and Agricultural Reform, Dr. Raczynski.

Industry and Commerce, Hippolyte Gliwick. Education, Prof. Mikowski-Pomorski.

Justice, Prof. Weyss. The cabinet is made up largely of experts from different government departments.

In a statement issued today Premier Bartel says: "My government has been formed to clear up the situation. It guarantees security and bids the citizens be calm and continue to work. This government will continue only until the election of a president by the National Assembly which will occur with the least possible delay. The government will firmly adhere to the constitution."

M. Rattj, who has assumed the provisional presidency, also issued a statement laying stress on the urgency of reverting to a strictly constitutional order of things as soon as possible.

"I am absolutely convinced," he adds, "that the situation will have a peaceful outcome."

It is learned that General Sikorski, commanding the army corps at Lemberg, has informed Marshal Pilsudski that the corps is at his command. The railroad strike which was declared Wednesday as a protest against the Wilos government ended last night in response to an appeal telegraphed to the leaders by the premier. M. Bartel has ordered the immediate release of M. Chondzynski, former minister of railways under the Wilos government.

TARIFF PROBE ASKED IN STEEL INDUSTRY

Two Applicants Forced to Prove Case Worthy of Further Inquiry

OTTAWA, May 16—Of several appeals already before the Advisory Board on Tariff and Taxation, the first to be considered will be those originating from two Canadian steel companies, the Algoma Steel Corporation and the British Empire Steel Corporation, Limited.

These applications will be taken up by the board at a meeting to be held in Ottawa on Wednesday, May 26, at 10:30 a. m.

The applications from the two companies named are based upon the incidence of tariff on various phases of the Canadian steel industry, with special reference to drawbacks, unequal production costs, depreciated currency and several other factors.

It. Hon. George P. Graham, chairman of the tariff board, has decided, in view of the nature of the brief submitted, that any fuller investigation should be preceded by a preliminary hearing at which will be heard all parties interested in any manner in the proposed tariff alteration affecting the steel or allied industries.

"In brief," stated the chairman, "these two applicants will be asked to state their claim and establish to the satisfaction of the board that they have a case warranting fuller inquiry. The preliminary hearing will be open in the fullest sense of the word and any section of the Canadian public which may feel that it has interests at stake will be given every opportunity to present its views."

"I am absolutely convinced," he adds, "that the situation will have a peaceful outcome."

MEIGHEN AND KING TO SPEAK TUESDAY

Liberals Expecting Budget Resolutions Will Pass by Majority of 10

OTTAWA, May 16—Both Premier King and Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Conservative leader, plan to speak on the last day, Tuesday, of the budget debate.

In Liberal circles, expectation is that the budget resolutions will carry by a majority of about ten. Hon. J. A. Robb, Minister of Finance, will have some amendments to bring down. But these, it has already been announced, will not make any changes in principle. One of them will propose a change in the definition of automobile parts for customs purposes.

How long the session lasts following end of the budget debate will depend upon a large extent on the customs inquiry committee. A large field still remains before the committee and the taking of evidence is not likely to end before the close of the present month. Little supply also has been voted by the House.

SCOUTMASTER GETS FOUNTAIN PEN GIFT

The last of the series of supper meetings of St. Andrew's troop of Boy Scouts was held on Saturday evening, when the members of the troop took the opportunity of presenting a very nice fountain pen to their scoutmaster, Norman G. Smith, as a mark of appreciation of his splendid leadership.

L. J. Johnson, former district secretary of the Boy Scout Association, was the only visitor at the gathering and he made the presentation on behalf of the members of the troop. Mr. Johnson congratulated the troop on having so fine a scoutmaster and on the progress it had made. Mr. Smith made a suitable reply. The supper was served by the boys themselves and was an excellent feast. Mr. Smith presided. Following the supper a very fine Scout program was well carried out and a Scout meeting was then held.

AN INTERESTING article in the local office of the Dominion Archives describes King Square as it was in 1857 and gives a hint of the difference in the mode of living in those early days of the city as compared with now.

The last public execution of a criminal in Saint John took place on Dec. 11, 1857, when Patrick Slavin was hanged for the murder of the Dickson family at Beaver Lake in the Parish of Simonds. As the story of the crime and its consequences has been fully told in "Old Time Tragedies," an extended reference to the event is not necessary here, but it may be interesting to note some of the changes that have taken place in the vicinity of the scene of the execution since that time.

were a cutting 20 or 25 feet wide, which gave a passageway for teams, which were spoken of as going through the rock." On the top of the hill was a fire bell such as is now to be found on Blue Rock, Carleton, while the "big bell" was in the tower on King Square where the Women's Memorial now stands.

"The court house then looked much the same as it does now, except for the doorway. There was a wooden porch with pillars, reached by steps on either side, which was in harmony with the style of the architecture. The steps encroached on the sidewalk, however, and a number of years later they were removed.

J. Hazen, later the Dufferin" (pulled down to make way for the Admiral Beatty hotel) "were the only brick buildings around King Square in 1857. The upper part of the Charlotte street, with the exception of the new Coffey building near Sparrow's Alley, was a row of wooden structures, chiefly small stores and dwellings. The old Saint John Hotel stood at the head of King street on the south side or Stockford's stables

AT ROCKWOOD. Pedestrian traffic, on the road to the animal cages, was seriously impeded by many automobiles that made their way to Rockwood Park yesterday afternoon. Motors are prohibited from the use of this road on Sundays as people walking there are so many on those days. Joseph Tebo, park manager, said yesterday that there had been no official announcement of the opening of any of the park highways for motor traffic up to the present. The new bird sanctuary ponds attracted many to Lily Lake yesterday.

This Brutal Husband Should Make an Abject Apology— Shall He Marry the College Graduate Who is a Whole Harem of Girls in One?—How the Halfway Girl Can be Wholly Worthwhile.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am the father of four children, and two months ago married my second wife, who is seventeen years younger than I am. She is a dear little thing and the sweetest and kindest stepmother in the world, and my children adore her. She has never overstepped my authority until five nights ago. It happened like this:

DOROTHY DIX

I went to my room on a wild party, and when I came home she was sitting with my two older children helping them with their lessons. She started to kiss me, but when she found liquor on my breath she turned around without saying a word and went back to the children. This made me angry, and I spoke harshly to her and she demurred. She replied, "Supper is served at 6, and I am sorry there is nothing left for you." I began to curse, and my temper had got so away with me that I snatched my little daughter and child to whip her brutally. My wife took the child from me by force and said, "You drunken fool, if you lay your hands on one of these children tonight, you have got me to fight," and I hit her in the face. Since then she has refused to have anything to do with me. What must I do? Must I give in to her? I have always said that a woman should never boss me. I hate to think of a skirt getting the better of me, but I am willing to do as you say, for I really am ONE WHO WANTS A PEACEFUL HOME.

ANSWER: Well, for one who wants a peaceful home, you have gone a strange way about attaining your heart's desire. Evidently your idea of making a peaceful home is the one employed by the late Mr. Bluebeard.

And, unfortunately for you, his methods are out of date. No woman in these times is going to submit to being knocked about, and then come crawling to the feet of a brute and apologize for having done the thing that angered him.

Apparently, you have been lucky enough to get a rare and wonderful woman for a wife. A woman who has sweetness and gentleness and dignity and strength of character. And I can tell you right now that you can't brow-beat that kind of a woman, nor bully her, nor cow her. The only way to deal with her is with fairness and justice and kindness.

Your own sense of justice, your own conscience must tell you that she handled a difficult situation with consummate tact. You came home with your teeth rattling and your head aching. You blame your delicate, refined woman for not wanting to kiss you under the circumstances? What is there alluring in a kiss and smelly disgusting? And why should you wife go out and premeditatedly get another supper when you did not think it worth while to come to the one that she had prepared, when you preferred the society of your wild friends to being home with her?

As for striking your little defenseless child just because you were angry—because you were a drunken beast—do you not really admire your wife for having the courage to defy you, and protect the child, instead of standing supinely by and letting you wreak your senseless rage upon it?

And let me tell you, Mr. Man, that it is only a very little-spirited man who is so afraid of being bossed by his wife that he is not willing to be influenced by her when all that she is trying to do is to make him behave like a man instead of like a brute. A big man is not afraid of taking a woman's advice, and being guided by her along the right way.

You are altogether in the wrong, and your wife is altogether in the right in this matter. No apology is too humble for you to make to her, and I hope for your sake that she is generous enough minded to forgive you. DOROTHY DIX

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I am a young man of 25, engaged to marry a girl of 23 years of age. We are both college graduates. She is a wonderful girl. However, she has moods, and I never know how I will find her. Sometimes she is the student, which makes her poor company, as she is thinking of anything but me. Again she will be the musician, which makes her temperamental. Or she may be affectionate, which makes her very loving and sweet; or she may be vindictive, which makes her flirtatious. Or she may be tyrannical, which makes her so bossy, or she may be in a domestic mood, when she will cook all sorts of delicious things for me. Now do you think an ordinary mortal could be happy with such a changeable woman? Should we marry or not? J. J. W.

ANSWER: The reason that is often given for men's philandering is that no one can satisfy them—that they want the different qualities that it takes many women to supply. You seem to have found the girl who combines the charms of a whole harem in one person. She should thus fill a long-felt want of a wife.

I grant you that life with a woman whose moods you can never anticipate in advance may have many difficulties in it, but at any rate it will be grave or gay, lively or severe; whether she will be discarding about the Einstein theory, or make chocolate fudge. You will have to be nimble-witted to keep up with her, and accustomed yourself to making lightning changes in your mental attitude, but you will escape the curse of boredom which is the great blight on most marriages.

I wouldn't take too seriously the young woman's moods. All young girls are faddy, but after they get married and have homes and husbands and children to look after, they generally settle down to a settled interest in being a good housekeeper and wife and mother.

The only moodiness to avoid is that which expresses itself in pessimism and depression. That is generally the result of some physical or mental ailment that grows worse as the woman grows older. And, anyway, a chronic gloom is not a cheerful thing to have about the house. DOROTHY DIX

DEAR MISS DIX—What do you think of a half-way girl? I do everything half-way. I am half-educated because I wouldn't study when I went to school. I swim a little, play tennis and golf a little, sew a little, cook a little, sing and play the piano a little, typewrite a little, but I don't do anything well enough to make a success of it. And now I am going to be married and I am afraid I will be a half-way wife. How can I cure myself? JULY BRIDE.

ANSWER: Easily enough. It is merely a matter of will power. Force yourself to be thorough.

Don't let yourself slight the smallest thing. When you realize that you have skimped a task, make yourself go back and do it over and over again until you are certain it is perfectly done.

If you don't correct this fault, your whole life will be a failure, and you will be a curse to the man you marry.

You will be one of the half-way housekeepers who waste their husband's money, and keep him poor all of his life, and bring dyspepsia on him with bad cooking. You will make the sort of mother whose children die because their bottles were not properly sterilized, or else who grow up into being ill-mannered, ill-taught, ill-controlled little hoodlums.

Don't be a half-wayer. Be efficient, make yourself worth while. DOROTHY DIX

75 Lions Roam In United States Jungle

By DAN THOMAS START out at the centre of El Monte, California, walk for 10 minutes and you are face to face with a jungle as dark as anything Africa can boast. The "jungle" is a two-acre tract of wild land on the edge of town. Here live 75 lions. You can hear their roars as you pass by on the road. But—and here's the point—it's only a kind of sham jungle. It looks the part but that's all. The lions are tame; if not quite as tame as house cats, still tame enough for all practical purposes.

It was six years ago that Charles Gay came here and bought the little strip of wild land. Gay was a retired circus animal trainer, and he had a hunch. He brought with him three lions. Around the "jungle" he built a stout palisade. Then he turned the lions loose inside and announced he had a lion farm.

Like a bunch of playful puppies. Big, wicked-looking lions lope up to him to be petted. But at meal times the animals must be isolated. They pounce on their portions of raw meat with loud roars and bare teeth, and Gray fears they might fight one another if they fed together. And each Monday is rather a difficult day at the farm, as on that day the lions go hungry. One day's fast a week is good for their physical development, although very hard for their dispositions. There are 18 lion cubs now on the farm, and 40 more are expected this year.

THE BLACK DINNER FROCK VOEGLE IS EXPLOITED IN CHIFFON AND LACE

BEHIND THE SCREEN

BY JACK JUNGMEYER

EVERY so often Ronald Colman, one of the foremost screen favorites, indulges in a solemn celebration by eating, no matter what his appetite, a meal of lowly doughnuts. His way of whimsical thanksgiving for the change of fortune which in five years has elevated him from a precariously "coffee-and-sinker" existence in New York to great movie prestige and prosperity.

whipped cream is delicious instead of cottage cheese and mayonnaise.

Baked Meat Balls—One pound of round steak ground, season and make into balls. Sear in suet and butter on both sides and put in baking dish. Make gravy in skillet by adding more butter and one cup of tomatoes or one can tomato soup and one cup water. Bake in closed dish at least an hour in slow oven. More water can be added if gravy gets too thick.

Vegetable Salad—Mix finely sliced cabbage, green peppers, celery and grated carrots and just a tiny bit of onion with mayonnaise dressing made with vinegar. Grate more carrot on top. Garnish with small red radishes.

Rhubarb Lemon Pie—One bunch of rhubarb stewed, sweetened and seasoned with nutmeg; add enough sugar to thicken. Pour into a rich baked crust and let set a few minutes. On top of this pour a lemon custard made with yolks of two eggs and one lemon. Set a few minutes and then top with the whites of the eggs. Set in slow oven to brown for about ten minutes. Do not brown too quickly.

COUNT THEM TONIGHT! Pick up your mirror and count the pimples, and other facial blemishes you have tonight. Instead of plastering on the cream—take Siegel's Syrup as directed on the bottle for just a few days. Hamless, pure, but potent—it removes the cause. You'll breathe it over easy. Any drug store.

It is difficult to associate the debonair Colman and his manner of accustomed ease and good fortune with such privation. But "starving on Broadway" is an experience which many movie actors of note wryly recollect. In the small group on the Paramount "Bessie" set, which Colman is playing a leading role, three other players confessed similar experiences—Nash Grey, William Powell and Neil Hamilton. Hamilton used to get his doughnuts at a bakery—four for a nickel, while Grey was partial to the old free lunch.

IN NEW YORK SEE-SAWING UP and DOWN BROADWAY

SEE-SAWING UP and down Manhattan is an idle, I came upon Arthur Hammerstein, who once turned little plays into great productions, but who now finds it far more fun to turn little buds into giant dahlias down on his Long Island estate. This appearance in the new movie houses blossom as there was not the great Henry W. Savage, whose name flashed across a nation's billboards, who now seemeth content to raise the squirt-me grapefruit in Florida?

Which reminds me that this Hammerstein is most and about the theatre, giving heed that theatres of the drama are tawdry even in appearance, whereas the new movie houses blossom as peacock. Not many years hence, he rumbles, drama producers will be opening cabs for movie houses, or something like that. "The brains of the dramatic crieth. Ah, well, I shall be getting gray hair when this cometh about, so what matters it."

Heigh ho, already the boy forgets the size of the winter coal bills. Two hundred couples per day seek marriage licenses, thus fracturing Manhattan's love records. Even the lonely penguin at the Aquarium hath taken to himself a mate. Ah, note, and yet seemeth not as happy as he might be.

ACCEPTS CALL TO FAIRVILLE CHURCH PULPIT

Rev. H. S. B. Strothard To Begin Duties In July

ANNIVERSARIES IN CHURCHES SUNDAY

Ludlow Street Baptist and Portland United Sunday School Celebrate

Rev. H. S. B. Strothard, field secretary for religious education for the United Church in the Maritime Provinces, has announced his acceptance of the call to be pastor of the Fairville United church and will take up the duties of his pastorate there in July. He occupied the pulpit of the Fairville church yesterday and was warmly greeted. His forceful messages were heard with appreciation by large congregations. In the evening his text was Luke 11-2. "Thy Kingdom Come." He dwelt upon the brotherhood of man and the value of the individual and spoke of the coming of the kingdom of God in the hearts of men as the thing that was needed to quell the disturbances and unrest of today. If men would live out in their lives the teachings of Jesus then there would be a great upheaval in the social, business and industrial life and God's kingdom would truly come. Rev. Mr. Strothard was offered the position of religious education field secretary for the United Church in the Montreal, Ottawa and Newfoundland conferences, but declined as it was his special desire to return to pastoral duties after having been field secretary in the Maritime conference for five years. His ministerial work began in Deer Island, where he was a probationer. He was next stationed at Sunny Brae, where he was ordained in 1908. Since then he has been successively pastor in Alberton, P. E. I., St. Stephen and Chatham. He resigned the Chatham pastorate to become religious education field secretary.

LUDLOW ST. BAPTIST

Ludlow street Baptist church observed its 85th anniversary yesterday. The church was organized on May 16, 1841. Rev. Samuel Robinson, of Germain street Baptist church, was its first pastor. In 1852 the congregation removed from the Temperance Hall, King street, west, to its present location. Since that time many improvements have been made in the building. Many worthy and notable men and women have been numbered among its ministers and workers. The church is now well organized and has 350 members. A large Sunday school, and is raising the largest financial budget in its history. The total offering from January 1 to April 30, was $2,201. Last Sunday the offering amounted to $85. Yesterday there was birthday thank offering and a substantial sum was given. Rev. W. A. Robbins is the present minister.

DR. POOLE HEARD

As Ludlow street church is a daughter church of Germain street Baptist church it was fitting that Rev. Dr. S. S. Poole, pastor of the Germain street church, was chosen as the preacher for the morning service on the anniversary. The evening service was conducted by Rev. C. T. Clark. Dr. Poole speaking in the morning said that the 85 years of history of the Ludlow street church was very interesting. Much had been accomplished for the kingdom of God in that time, and the church had still a glorious future if it adhered to its faith and loyalty which characterized it in the past. He gave an inspiring sermon on the subject, "The Challenge to the Baptist Church." The three things essential for a successful church, he said, were worship, witness and work. To worship God demanded the best in motives and manner. God was to be worshipped in the spirit of holiness. The challenge came to the church today, Dr. Poole said, through Christ's prophets and ministers. He asked what was the meaning of the half filled churches and sparsely attended prayer meetings and held there was ample organization in the churches but not enough religion. He stressed the need of constant prayer and pointed out that destruction had befallen those of the early church who had become self-centred, and he asked those in the congregation to consider whether the charge of being self-centred applied to themselves.

REV. MR. CLARK

Rev. C. T. Clark, B.A., B.D., pastor of Fairville Baptist church, took as his subject, "The Spirit of the Loyalists," and in the first part of his sermon he recalled the founding of the Loyalists in Saint John in 1783. The spirit of the Loyalists, he showed, had been that of devotion, sacrifice and of industry and determination. He said these characteristics had typified the founders of the Ludlow street Baptist church also, and he urged the present day members of the congregation to emulate both. He then reviewed the city and the founders of their church. The special music was furnished by the choir under the direction of S. H. Mayes. In the morning Miss Sadie Burke and Miss Louise Burke sang a duet, "Does Jesus Care?" In the evening a mixed quartette composed of Ralph Rupert, S. H. Mayes, and the Misses Burke sang "Thou Shalt Bless as Scatter" and S. H. Mayes sang the solo, "Face to Face." The choir sang the anthem, "Soldiers of Christ." Miss Stanley Irving was the organist. Large congregations attended all the services.

HAS ANNIVERSARY

The 99th anniversary of the founding of the Portland United Sunday school was fittingly observed yesterday when the school assembled in the church auditorium in the afternoon for special program and there was a large gathering of parents and friends of the scholars also present. About 15 of the smaller children in the school were seated on the platform and the other members occupied the front seats in the church. The full choir led in the hearty singing of the hymns. Prayer was offered by Rev. H. A. Goodwin, the pastor, who gave an address, illustrating his remarks by comparing the departments and members of the Sunday school with the different departments of a business. He showed how the habits would first dim the gleam and finally hide it entirely. The superintendent, gave an inspirational address. Scripture readings were given by Robert H. Maxwell, Miss Stanley Irving, the offering was taken by Miss Greta Baker, Miss Myrtle Barton, Miss Louisa Sargent, Miss Florence London, Miss Mildred Ferguson and Miss Vera Brundage.

Portland Sunday school has a total enrollment of 582. Its missionary contributions in the year amounted to $1,851.95. Its other contributions amounted to $811.95.

DEVOTION TO DUTY

Special reference to the Loyalist founders of the city, the anniversary of whose landing in Saint John is observed on Tuesday, was made by Rev. H. A. Cody in his sermon in St. John (Stone) church last night, when he spoke from the text "I took me two staves, the one I called 'beauty' and the other, 'bande.'" The Loyalists, he said, had shown splendid devotion to duty and he felt that, what was needed in the Maritime Provinces today, was emulation of the Loyalists. Mr. Cody declared he had no sympathy for the attitude of "who's the best" in the Maritime Provinces at the present time. Conditions today could not be compared with those of the Loyalists. He stressed the need of hardships and there were no obstacles today that the same courage, perseverance and hard work, characteristic of the Loyalists, would not be found to cure. Mr. Cody recited one of his own poems on the Loyalists.

GOOD SHEPHERD

The A. Y. P. A. of the Church of the Good Shepherd attended a special service in the church yesterday afternoon. The society entered the church in a body and each member wore the badge of the association. The service was conducted by the young people themselves. The organist, Patrician read the prayers. Arthur Nelson read the lessons. Charles Hill was the usher and Miss Dora Washer was organist. Rev. John Unsworth, rector of St. George's church, gave an address on "Service." Eugene Nelson and Wilbur Armstrong took the offering. Rev. F. J. LeRoy, rector of the church, pronounced the Benediction. The service was impressive throughout. The A. Y. P. A. is planning to close the season's activities by holding a social for the members of the congregation on Tuesday evening.

Deaths

George Richard

Many friends throughout the province will greatly regret to learn of the death of George Richard, son of Serol Richard, of College, Beigo, N. B., which occurred at the Saint John County Hospital on Sunday, at the age of 30 years. Mr. Richard was taken ill only six weeks ago, but his friends and relatives had no realization of the seriousness of his condition. He had only been a patient in the County Hospital for three weeks. He was of a bright and cheerful disposition, and had apparently been in good health. He is survived by his aged father, one brother, Raymond, at home, two sisters, Mrs. Leo Landry and Mrs. Levi Gallant, both of Moncton. Sister Teresa, superior of the convent in Moncton, is an aunt. The funeral will take place on Tuesday at 10 o'clock.

Robert Carlin

As the result of being injured, while engaged in handling cargo on board a ship at West Saint John about three weeks ago, Robert Carlin, of 228 Prince William street, died in the General Public Hospital yesterday. Besides his wife the deceased leaves four sons and one daughter to mourn. Mr. Carlin was a stevedore and well known along the harbor front. His sons are Robert H., president of the Longshoremen's Association; John H., William L. and Percy Gordon, and the daughter, Mrs. Carpenter Ward, all of this city. There is also a brother, Isaac Carlin, of this city.

Miss J. Ratchford

Friends of Miss Johanna Ratchford learned with regret of her death which took place on Saturday at her home, 48 Peters street. The deceased was a daughter of the late Joseph Ratchford, and in addition to a wide circle of friends she leaves to mourn one brother, Richard, and one sister, Catherine, both of this city. The funeral will take place on Tuesday morning from the late residence at 8:45 o'clock to the Cathedral for high mass of requiem.

Dr. David Moore

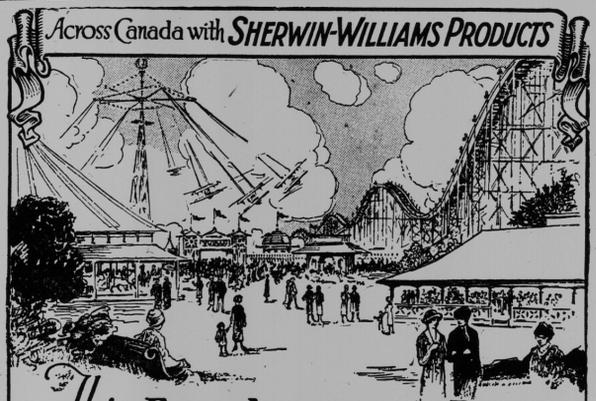

FREDERICTON, May 16.—Many friends in this city learned, with regret, of the death of Dr. David R. Moore in Stanley, today, after a long illness. He was one of the prominent citizens of York county and at one time represented the county in the Legislature. He had been prominently identified with the advancement of the parish of Stanley and was largely instrumental in building the York and Carleton railway. He is survived by a son residing in Stanley, also by a sister, Mrs. Mason, of Fredericton.

NATIONAL HEALTH CONVENTION GIVES PRAISE TO EAST

Scarcity of Smallpox in the Maritimes is Matter of Congratulation

DR. WARWICK HOME, TALKS OF SESSIONS

Speakers Urge More Frequent Vaccination — Affairs Under Discussion

Consequent upon the neglect of vaccination in the United States and some parts of Canada there is today greater danger of a widespread epidemic of smallpox than there has been during the last 50 years. It was asserted by Dr. Fitzgerald, professor of hygiene, at Toronto University, speaking at the National Public Health Convention held in Toronto this month.

Dr. William Warwick, district medical health officer, who attended the convention stated yesterday that New Brunswick and Nova Scotia were warmly congratulated on the small amount of smallpox found in these provinces and were held up as examples to other provinces. In practical complete vaccination of school children, New Brunswick leads all Canada.

Dr. George Vincent, president of the Rockefeller Foundation, in speaking of the several hundred deaths from smallpox in the United States last year declared that the United States was a close second to Soviet Russia in respect to lack of vaccination and prevalence of smallpox, as there are several States where there is no vaccination. The various speakers made strong pleas for more frequent vaccination, every seven years being recommended.

DISEASES REFERRED TO

The discussion of the prevalence of smallpox came up at a very interesting meeting when the control of infectious diseases was the topic. Dr. Warwick said, and other diseases specially referred to were diphtheria, scarlet fever and typhoid. The experts were very enthusiastic regarding the benefits of diphtheria toxoid and scarlet fever toxin, especially in protecting young children against these diseases. In some institutions, where these diseases had formally been quite prevalent, they had been practically abolished by the use of immunization serums.

One startling statement which was made with confidence was that of Dr. Seymour of Saskatchewan, to the effect that about one-half of the charitable funds of the country were spent in alleviating suffering from diseases which had been preventable in the first instance. Great stress was laid upon the fact that it is infinitely better and more economical to bring up healthy people than to care for sick ones.

RICKETTS DISCUSSED

Ricketts in children was another topic given much discussion at the convention. Dr. Warwick said, and experts had stated that as a result of education ricketts is now so rare in Toronto that it is very hard to find enough infants who have not been fed cod liver oil to use as "controls" in research work.

Dr. Warwick referred to the large attendance of public health nurses at the convention and spoke specially of the very interesting address by Mrs. E. L. Smellie, superintendent of the Victorian Order of Nurses, who dealt with diets and hygiene of pregnancy from the nurse's standpoint.

Many very important resolutions were passed by the convention and among these Dr. Warwick mentioned, one which called for the pas-sterilization of all milk supply, both civic and rural, another which recommended that the various provincial governments should supply to every motorist with his license plate a card of warning of the danger of carbon monoxide poisoning from the exhaust gases.

IMPORTANT RESOLUTION

Another resolution reaffirmed belief in the greater desirability of having regular period health examinations of every adult and this subject was the theme of the address by Dr. Haven Emerson, of Columbia University, given at a joint meeting of the Public Health Convention with the Toronto Academy of Medicine.

Another resolution, of which Dr. Warwick spoke, was that asking the Federal Department of Health to consider the development of a plan by which any known indigent case of tuberculosis might be admitted to sanatorium by a medical officer of health. According to the plan proposed the various provinces would agree to allow some central authority to decide as to the place of residence of any indigent tuberculosis patient, who was found wandering from place to place and had no settled abode.

The leading medical authorities of the continent and experts in allied subjects attended the convention and Dr. Warwick found all of the sessions extremely interesting and helpful. The control of food supplies, water supply, sewage disposal and garbage disposal and public health activities were among the special subjects concerning which he gleaned very helpful information.

ACTRESS'S EXTRAVAGANCE

PARIS, May 16 — In a charming little hotel near the Fort Maitouf lives an actress well known on the French stage for her dancing. She gets as much money each month as the majority of people get each year, and so can afford to indulge in a little wanton extravagance. At 7 o'clock each morning those who are up so early, or so late, can see the particular form her luxury takes. A milk float draws up before the door, and the two milk boys seize five 20-litre cans of milk, which they take up to the bathroom and pour into the bath. In this the actress takes her morning tub and thus preserves her beauty and the texture of her skin.

MANY AGAIN MAKE JUBILEE VISITS

Large Number of Cathedral Congregation in Holy Year Exercises Sunday

Members of the Cathedral congregation, fulfilling the requirements of the Holy Year jubilee, continued their series of visits to their own church and to Holy Trinity and St. Peter's yesterday afternoon.

The number was even larger than on the two previous Sundays. The procedure yesterday was the same as on the other occasions. The start was made at the Cathedral at 2:30 o'clock, with His Lordship Bishop LeBlanc and Rev. W. M. Duke, cross bearer and acolytes, leading the procession into the church, where Father Duke led in the jubilee prayers. This also was the procedure at the other churches. The choir of children, boys and girls, was under the direction of Rev. Francis Gillen.

DOG SWIMS MERSEY.

LONDON, May 17—A small fox terrier was picked up exhausted on the shore at Wallasey early in the morning recently, having apparently swum across the Mersey from Liverpool, a distance of a mile and a half.

Boz, the terrier, accompanied his mistress on a shopping expedition to Liverpool, but disappeared while in the city. His mistress returned without him, and Boz followed in the water, battling against a strong tide that would have been too much for powerful men swimmers.

The CARBON Giant Can Ruin Your Motor!

CARBON makes your engine knock and miss; causes excessive wear on piston rings, cylinder walls, wrist pins and bearings; reduces the power and efficiency of your motor; and shortens its life.

You are gambling with carbon trouble every time you fill your crank case with ordinary motor oil, because the amount of carbon deposited by any oil is dependent upon the amount of carbon it contains.

Marvelube, the new process Imperial Motor Oil, successfully combats carbon. It contains only the merest trace of carbon.

Marvelube is the result of four years of diligent research and experiment by Imperial Oil Limited. It is refined from a special grade of Peruvian Crude Oil—lowest in carbon and richest in lubricating value. The Marvelube Process by which it is made, is a new and revolutionary step forward in refining science, because it practically eliminates carbon in the finished oil.

Imperial Oil Limited controls Peruvian Crude Oil—and is sole owner of the Marvelube Process. Hence this marvelous lubricant cannot be duplicated anywhere.

Play safe with your motor. Fill with Marvelube. You will get big returns in motoring satisfaction at once and save money on repairs and re-sale value in the future.

Marvelube is made in six grades—including Marvelube "F" for Ford cars, and is sold at Imperial Oil stations and by good dealers everywhere.

Ostermoor success sweeps Canada

You will agree to this: No one mattress could lead all others, year after year, if it wasn't the best in every way—in comfort, life, economy. The Ostermoor has outsold every other mattress in Canada for over 30 years! Last year far more were bought than ever before! Such a record of success proves that Ostermoor value has no equal—proves that imitators have failed utterly in their attempts to duplicate Ostermoor luxury and economy. You cannot disregard this convincing evidence when you select your mattress. Be sure it bears the Ostermoor label and the tape with the Ostermoor name repeated all around the edge. Ask your merchant to also show you the matchless Slumber King spring, at $12.

SOUTH END TO DECIDE LEAGUE TUESDAY NIGHT

BY tomorrow night, Saint John fans definitely will know whether two or three senior leagues will be in operation here this summer as the executive of the South End will decide then as to its make-up for the season. There is every reason to assume that the South End will be back in the field with a league similar to the one that operated there a few years ago.

CITY LEAGUE

The Saint John's and the Water Department will open the City Baseball League with a game on the East End grounds on the afternoon of May 24. The Trojans, the third team in the league, will begin their schedule the following evening, according to plans laid at a meeting of representatives of the teams in the office of the president, A. W. Covey, on Saturday evening. It was decided to invite Mayor W. W. White to officiate at the opening ceremony.

CITY LEAGUE

The formal sanction for the league has been given by the amateur authorities. The sanction is extended to the three team organization, but it is still possible that fourth team will be added. W. E. Stirling, vice-president of the A. U. of C., went to Moncton yesterday to get a line on baseball prospects in the railway town. He reports that a banner year is expected. The Moncton City League will meet this evening to organize. Hillboro will be allowed to join, thus making it a city and county league. A church league will also function. Mr. Stirling said that there was no talk of professional ball in Moncton.

THOS. HENNESSY DIES AT HOME IN IRISHTOWN

As Long Member of County Council of Westmorland

Special to The Times-Star
 MONCTON, May 17.—In the death of Thomas Hennessy which occurred at an early hour this morning at his home in Irishtown, the parish of Moncton loses one of its oldest and best known residents. "Squire" Hennessy, as he was generally called by the great majority of people in the parish and to very many in the city of Moncton, was born at Irishtown 78 years ago, the son of the late Patrick and Jane Hennessy. He lived on the old homestead and was a successful farmer. There was probably no man better known in the parish of Moncton than "Squire" Hennessy.

LONG IN COUNCIL
 He represented the parish at the Municipal Council for six terms. He was one of the most painstaking and conscientious representatives of the Parish of Moncton ever had at the county council. He was the hero of many municipal battles in his native parish and while at the board he was not only popular with his fellow councillors, but enjoyed their confidence and esteem to a marked degree.

Mr. Hennessy, who had been ailing for the past five months, had only been bedfast about a week. He was survived by his wife, formerly Miss Jane Holesy, three sons, W. P. and C. A., of the C. N. R. Moncton, and J. T., at home, and three daughters, Sister Mary Benedicta of Haverhill, Mass., Mrs. Matthew Logan, Moncton and Miss Mary of the C. N. R.

ALBERT W. HORSMAN IS DEAD, AGED 79

Resident of Titus Mountain Well Known in City and Parish

Special to The Times-Star
 MONCTON, May 17.—Albert W. Horsman, one of the best known and most highly respected residents of Titus Mountain, died at his home on Sunday after an illness of two months. Mr. Horsman was in the 80th year of his age and was a lifelong resident of Titus Mountain, being well known not only in the community in which he lived, but throughout the eastern end of the parish of Moncton, as well as in the city. He was a son of the late Christopher and Christina Horsman, pioneer residents of Titus Mountain. He had been engaged in farming the greater part of his life.

Mr. Horsman leaves his wife, four sons and three daughters.

Preacher Champions Cause of Evolution

OTTAWA, May 17.—Championing the teaching of evolution in schools in churches, Rev. Dr. Robert Milliken, of this city, in a sermon last night viewed with surprise the decision of a big gathering of Canadian and United States "fundamentalists" at a recent meeting in Toronto to do everything in their power to have such teachings banished. "I don't believe evolution ever made any unbelievers, and nearly all great scientists who have delved into the mysteries of world creation and world progress are true believers in Christ," he said.

 "Your triumphal voyage fills the entire Italian nation with emotion and pride. I embrace you and your intrepid companions."
 The airship works where the Norge was built, and of which Commander Nobile is a director, has received the following dispatch from Nobile:
 "To the entire personnel of the establishment, I send my affectionate greetings in this moment when our efforts have been crowned with full success. We are all in excellent shape."

A PERPLEXING PROBLEM and FATE'S SURPRISING ANSWER!

That one of her suitors insisted that she "bob" her hair and another was equally insistent that she leave it long, was only indicative of their respective viewpoints on life. Condemned to escape dishonor at the hands of a fussy aunt who was annoyed at her "irresponsibility."

Her choice through a wild night of adventure in company with a dashing young stranger bored by the conventions of life and possessed of sufficient means to buy the "thrills" he craved, is pictured in the unusual photoplay from the novel by 20 famous authors.

CANTATA IS WELL SUNG AT ST. DAVID'S

"The Daughter of Jairus" Given Excellent Rendering By Church Choir

"The Daughter of Jairus," by Sir John Stainer, one of England's greatest writers of church music, was effectively sung last night by the choir of St. David's church. Bayard Currie, well established in public favor as a soloist and conductor, had his choir in excellent control. The personnel is somewhat changed since the singing of this cantata at Easter, 1925. To many, the work was entirely new, but Mr. Currie blended voices and blended personalities, a conductor's difficult task. Individualities were dropped, sensitive to the desire and unobtrusive authority of the leader. This always results in what was heard last night, ensemble as one voice. Mr. Thomas, bass soloist, a new voice in St. David's, did very commendable work. Mr. Case sang very sweetly in the duet "Love Divine." There are no solo parts in the cantata, but the altos were most efficiently assisted in quartette and chorus work by Mrs. George Moore, and the soprano by Mrs. Godsoe. Mrs. Ferris, dramatic soprano, was never in better voice. In addition to her soprano solo, she sang the tenor number "My hope is in the Everlasting." Her contrasts in the dramatic parts, with the repression of a heavy voice in the pianissimoes, were very delightful. The cantata closed with a grand finale, the beautiful seven part chorus—"To Him."

About 11:10 o'clock on Sunday night employees of the Dominion garage in Charlotte street, notified Policeman Hatt that footsteps could be heard overhead in the Imperial Bowling Alleys. Detective Kilpatrick and Policeman Garter found that a break had been made into the bowling alleys, entrance said to have been gained by means of thieves breaking a pane of glass in a skylight, putting a hand through and unfastening a hook. Some partially filled cartons of cigarettes and some chocolate bars were found by the police in an alleyway off Sydney street which gives access to the rear of the building.

PATROL CUTTER BEGINS DUTY IN LOWER BAY

Arleux Guards Fisheries As Run of Mackerel Is Due

The Canadian Government fishery patrol cutter Arleux has been dispatched to patrol the waters in the lower Bay of Fundy and to the eastward of Cape Sable in order to prevent encroachments upon Canada's fishing grounds within the three mile limit. The annual movement of mackerel schools is in progress, and big schools are expected to be seen in the Bay of Fundy sometime this week, the first fish being usually caught inside the bay by Yarmouth and Shelburne County fishermen. Saint John usually receives a supply of fresh mackerel soon after they are caught off Yarmouth.

The Arleux's duties are twofold, first to prevent the big fleet of New England sarders fishing within the three mile limit, and second, to radio news of the first approach of the wily fish to Nova Scotia stations so that the fishermen down the Bay and along the southwest coast can "get a line" on the situation and start for the mackerel.

If Capt. Cousins of the Arleux finds vessels of the Boston, Portland and Gloucester fishing squadrons within the three mile limit and not fishing, he approaches them, and should a skipper of any craft be saucy he fires a shot across their bow, giving legal warning. If caught fishing within the limit, United States vessels are seized and towed to port, but as many of the New England vessels are manned and captained by Canadians, it is seldom that the Canadian cruisers are obliged to take drastic action.

Capt. Cousins of the Arleux is a Digby man. He succeeded Capt. William Milnes of Shediac, now retired. The Arleux and her captain are well known in Saint John.

BRITISH STRIKE IS TOPIC OF SERMON

Rev. James Dunlop Considers Matter in Central Baptist Pulpit

Rev. James Dunlop, who returned to his own pulpit in Central Baptist yesterday after a fortnight's vacation in Boston and vicinity, gave his hearers considerable to ponder in a religious address last evening based upon the recent general strike in England and reconciling power of the religion of Jesus Christ. Rev. Mr. Dunlop who has made British politics, particularly the Labor movement, a definite study, submitted to his hearers an array of facts and figures dealing with the Labor movement which were illuminating.

He traced the evolution of labor's agitation for better wages and safer legislation and emphatically denied that the movement was one of mass agitation. He asserted the leaders of the Labor party were largely considered as intellectuals and so far as agitations for better terms being immoral or un-Christian, he said that most of the leaders in parliament espousing Labor's cause were officers and lay preachers in their own churches. The aristocracy itself and monied England were divided in their partisanship as between Labor and the older political bodies. Changed conditions in machinery and the introduction of females into the ranks of male workers, even into parliament, the courts and the pulpit, were factors in stirring up the recent strike calling for a general readjustment.
