MEN AND THINGS AT OTTAWA. FROM OF OUR OWN CORRESI ONDENTS OTTAWA, March 20.

A BIG FIGHT. The Grits have at length earned a title to the historic eulogium prondunced upon British soldiers "that they don't know when they are beaten." Notwithstanding Found, For Sale, Removed, or To Let, their first defeat upon the West Peterboro' disputed election case, they appear to have come to the conclusion that they were not "half licked"; and when the report of the Election Committee was presented they took that opportunity of regaining their lost laurels, and lighting the Amusementssame battle over again; and from the grand flourish of trumpets with which The Intercolonial Gauge—Great Mistake of the Government Corrected.

Everybody, certainly every true friend of the present Government of Canada, must be rejoiced to learn that the gross mistake of building the Intercolonial Railway on the broad gauge is to be corrected by the adoption of the continental gauge of 4 ft. 8½ inches. Some time ago this paper broadly stated (and the statement is one of those that is pronounced "reckless" by a patronizing journalistic critic of St. John) that the Government were sorry that the Intercolonial had been begun on the broad gauge system and would change their policy if they could make up their minds to face the sneers, and gibes of the Op. that the Government was doomed. Four-that the Government was doomed. Four-

"Oh, where, tell me where, Have my valiant voters gone? And will they no' come back again To help me ficht Sir John?" Then the nays are called, and the final ceedings in Parliament to have been the exact and simple truth. The gauge is to be narrowed. The expense incurred arready for the wider road bed has been great, and the expense of making the are 36 members absent. Of these, 18 are pledged ministerialists; the other grits and independents, so that if every member were present the majority would have been about the same. So ended the second fight of the session. These two fights have occupied nearly a fortnight of the lime since the House has been in session. There are 47 disputed election cases to be decided. Suppose they were each to be settled after the Grit style, before the whole House, instead of by committees; allowing a week to each case, and what would be the result? A very triffing one fadeed! Parliament would only be in session 329 days out of 365! The remaining 36 days would be quite sufficient to dispose of such unimportant questions as men be appointed, and their pay indispose of such unimportant questions as "Better Terms," a new election law for men be appointed, and their pay in the whole Dominion, and the building of creased. There is no doubt that a larger a Pacific Railway!

LONDON OFFICE OF "THE GLOBE," } 55 Cheapside, E. C., Feb. 29. Knowing the interest manifested in Grand Trunk matters by the people of Canada, and the lack of positive information about the new schemes of that gigantic undertaking, more especially as an application is to be made at the ensuing session of the Dominion Parliament for new powers and a further extension of the well-known Arrangements Act, I have recently sought an interview with Mr. Richard Potter, the President of the

In Canadian affairs he takes a deep interest. I stated that I had called, as reterest. I stated that I had called presenting The Globe, to obtain some information relative to the Grank Trunk and the pending measure for its relief from present difficulties. On this Mr.

Potter remarked: "I look on the Globe as the leading paper in Canada, and by far the best Ca paper in Canada, and by far the best Carnadian newspaper, though unhappily for us, it is not always quite just, and never generous to this concern, but I intend to peruse it thoroughly, as I am desirous of studying Canadian opinion and bringing myself into harmony with Canadian ideas and wants."

I then referred to the universal complaint in Canada, that the road was too closely allied with politicians and their manœuvres. Nothing could be more example: the result to fall the force of the little and the little and the force of the little and t allegation, and without the slightest attempt to beat around the bush, he good naturedly said: "I can assure you that I am most determined that politics shall not in any way interfere with the legitimate business of the road. I am aware that has been made a ground of complaint, and during my recent visit to Canada I was repeatedly pressed to use our influence in different elections. I had pressing telegrams from John A. and Hincks during my journey, but I paid not the slightest attention to them. I dare say we might have influenced eight or nine constituencies; but I care not what Government is in power, I am resolve. Government is in power, I am resolved that no political party shall use the Grand Trunk as a machine to influence elections or in any way divert the attention of its officers from their legitima'e duties to serve politicians."

GLADSTONE AFTER DINNER.

At a banquet given at the Mansion House, London, last night by the Lord Mayor, two hundred were present, including the members of the Cabinet and the Foreign Ambassadors. Mr. Gladstone, in reply to a toast, said that the Ministry had had a fall and a recovery, and were ashamed of neither. He thought they had failed to give Ireland a National University. History would prove that the principle of his measure was indistructible.
