THE FRENCH IN MADAGASCAR. PARIS, March 31.-Gen. Duchesne, in command of the main force of the French expedition in Madagascar, has issued an order to the troops enjoining them to respect the persons and property of natives and the foreign residents, and to treat all those peaceably disposed in a friendly manner, and their enemies, on being disarmed, justly and kindly.

THE SPEAKERSHIP.

LONDON, March 31 .- The Exchange Telegraph Company says that at a Cabinet meeting yesterday it was decided to support Hon. Wm. Court Gully, Q.C., M.P. for Carlisle, to succeed Sir Robert Peel as Speaker of the House of Commons. It can be stated, however, on the best authority, that the above statement is based wholly on the general belief that Mr. Gully will be put forward by the Government as its candidate.

GLADSTONE'S GOOD HEALTH. LONDON, March 31.-The sight of Mr. Gladstone's eye which was operated on is markedly failing. The general health of the ex-Premier is good, and he is amazingly spry. An instance of his endurance is shown in the manner in which he passed Thursday. He paid a visit to the Speaker, after which he spent an hour in the museum of natural history. Leaving the museum ne called upon Sir William Harcourt, and in the evening he dined with a group of friends of his son. Mr. Henry Glad-

DISESTABLISHMENT.

The Tribune's London special cable says: Last week's debates in Parliament dealt chiefly with Welsh disestablishment, on which there was some excellent speaking, but it was purely a harmless gladiatorial display. Nothing will come of the bill. The debate showed the hand of the assailants very clearly in one respect, namely, that a successful attack upon the Welsh Church would be immediately follow-ed by an assault upon the churches of Scotland and England. A SLANDERER'S SENTENCE. AUCKLAND, N. Z., March 31 .- Advices received here from Samoa dated March 23, say that all the Taulet rebels are still threatening disturbances. Chas. Thomas Taylor has been sentenced to three months' imprisonment for accusing the late Robert Louis Stevenson of supplying the rebels with guns and ammunition. The prosecutios was undertaken by the friends of the dead novelist. The chief justice, Henry Ide, exonerated Mr. Stevenson from any blame in the matter. SPARED A SENSATION. LONDON, March 31.-Now that the Duke of York has recovered, it is permitted to be known that he has almost been at death's door with a violent seizure of influenza. If a hint of this had been given at the time the whole country would have worked itself up into a state of excitement over threatened complications in the line of succession. It may be said without the least exaggeration that a great number of people would have had influenza, too, who as it is escaped this curious tendency to imitate unconsciously royalty in diseases. It has often been noted, and was exemplified peculiarly three years ago, when the death of the late Duke of Clarence and the consequent commo-tion and public mourning gave to influenza an immediate and prodigious impetus among the young gentlemen of BISMARCK'S BIRTHDAY CELE-time in the German army for such purposes as guarding the camp, finding the wounded, and carrying dispatches and munitions. For the trial of the last there will be a journey of three miles and back. A number of barriers will be put in the way to tax the ingenuity of the competitors, and, what is harder still, other dogs having nothing to do, will be stationed along the route to tempt them to loiter.

THE SAME OLD STORY. LONDON. March 31.-The report of the Armenian commission of inquiry is expected in May. As skillfully as the expected in May. As skillfully as the atrocity agitation has been worked, the public greatly distrust the sensational stories, which are known to be coming from a common source. There is no proof, says the Standard, that these circumstantial narratives which are becing published one the result of independent. ing published are the result of independent inquiry near the scene of the alleged incidents. The literary garnish LONDON, March 31.—The revenue rediffers only slightly in each case, and different versions of the same old Armenian story.

BAD FOR BEN. LONDON. March 31.—The libel suit of the labor agitator, Ben Tillett, against the Morning has added to the already large volume of discredit attaching to professional labor agitators. It was shown in evidence that out of $33,030 a year received from subscribers by the Dockers' Union of which Tillett is the editor, $21,125 is swallowed up each year in salaries and expenses of management. In 1887 Tillett was earnmanagement. In 1887 Tillett was earning five shillings a day. Now he gets $1,000 a year. The judge in his charge to the jury commented upon the fact that Tillett complained of the morning's assertion that he was living in affluence, while the union dock laborers were starving, yet he (Tillett) did not seem to think it libelous to call his onseem to think it libelous to call his opponents liars, Judases, cut-throats, bigots and the like.

HOME RULE.

A New York Tribune's special says: Friday night's discussion upon Mr. Dalziel's proposal of home rule all round was hardly a serious business. The only English speaker who advocated home rule for England was a Mr. Neville. The most prominent speaker on the Government side in favor of the resolution was Sir George Trevelyan. Mr. Redmond opposed the scheme because it would delay the accomplishment of Irish aspirations. No Cabinet Minsters were present during the de-bate, and though the proposal was carried by a majority of 26 there were only 230 members present, or about one-third of the House. No serious politician has the smallest hope of seeing the little kingdom split up into four separ-

THE SUNKEN YACHT.

LONDON, March 29.—The Court of Appeals has reversed the decision of the lower court in the case of Lord Dunraven against A. B. Clarke for damages through the sinking of the former's yacht, Valkyrie II. by the latter's boat, Satanita, in the Clyde. The court rendered judgment in favor of Clarke, whereupon Lord Dunraven appealed, with the result that the Court of Appeals has ordered Clarke to pay damages according to yachting rules. Before the beginning of the suit Clarke had offered to pay damages on the basis of f8 per ton, according to the Board of Trade rules, but the underwriters demanded the full amount of the damage, according to yachting rules.

The Court of Appeals having decided against him, Clarke will appeal to the House of Lords. STARTLING DISCOVERY!

The New York Sun's London special says: Nothing has so agitated Paris for a long time as the re-ported discovery by M. Grous-sier of scientific means of tracported ing the parents of children who know not their own fathers. It is easy to understand with what alarm the news of such a discovery will be received in a country like France. The announcement may possibly cause tremors of nervousness even in America. The Paris journalists have been interviewing everybody of consequence about the probable truth and effect of the momentous news. M. Groussier affirms with the greatest positiveness that his law is infallible. The Pall Mall Gazette printed the news of the alleged discovery yesterday, and now the subject is overshadowing all others in Lon-don clubs and other places where men congregate. ENGLAND'S FINEST TREES DE-STROYED. LONDON. March 31.-Last Sunday's cyclone, which went diagonally across the Midlands and the south, is said to have done more damage than any previous hurricane in the memory of living men. Some of its destruction is irreparable. All the magnificent cedars of Lebanon at Warwick Castle, which were almost prehistoric, and had been familiar to tourists and writers for centuries, were blown down; Sandringham and the adjoining estates lost together 5,000 trees; the Marquis of Huntley's silver birch plantation in Huntingdon, incomparably the finest in England, and probably in the world, was totally wiped out; the Peterborough Cathedral lost three unique spires, and the newspapers are filled with appeals from country rectors for subscriptions to rebuild ancient churches smashed by the gale.

CHITRAL. LONDON, March 31.-The Chitral campaign attracts more attention than is generally devoted to an Indian frontier war. It has been expected for months, and the Government in anticipation of this and other northwest frontier difficulties has always maintained a substantial army in readiness around Peshawur. Within a fortnight they are able to move 14,000 men into the Pathan hills and to take them straight across the country to the rescue of Robertson and his besieged es-cort. The Chitral region to be pene-trated is a terra incognita. No Englishman has traveled between India and Chitral by the short route. Its passes and defiles have been mapped by a few of the large body of native geographers trained in the India service who for twenty years have traveled in the least known regions of India where a white man or a Christian would not dare to show his face. But the difficulties of the enterprise are not only topographical. The expedition will enter a veritable hornet's nest of the wildest hillmen in Asia. There is no tribe in Afghanistan more fanatical and warlike than the Swatis. The chief ruler of those regions, Umra Khan, whose forces are assisting in the investment of Chitral, is an adventurer who raised himself to his present posiwho raised himself to his present position by the sword. He has enormous influence, and it is not improbable that the British expedition may find itself confronted by 70,000 or 100,000 hillmen at various stages of the journey. The British authorities are naturally exceedingly anyticus at the outcome of SHEATHED THE SWORD. LONDON, March 31.-A special dispatch from Simonoseki says the three weeks' armistice agreed to between Japan and China applies only to the localities of Moukden, the Gulf of Pe Chi Li and the Shan Tung Peninsula.

LONDON. March 31.—A Tokio dispatch to the Central News says that the principal points agreed upon are as follows: The locality of the enforcement of the armistice comprises Feng Tien, Chinli and Shan Tung. The opposing armies are to maintain the positions hitherto occupied, and are not to advance beyond them. Neither Government is precluded from making any new distribution and arrangement of troops not intended to augment the armies actually in the field, but at sea transports conveying troops or material contraband of war are subject to capture.

The term of the armistice is three weeks, and expires without notice at midday on April 20, providing the peace negotiations are not broken off in the meantime. The convention was signed yesterday.

The first conditions of peace named by Japan were the occupation by Japan-ese troops of Shanhakwan, Taku and Tien Tsin, and Japanese control of the Shanhakwan and Tien Tsin Railway also that the forests, arms and ammunition at the places mentioned be given into the possession of the Japanese, and that war contributions necessary for such occupation be paid by China.

Li Hung Chang asked for more moderate conditions, but upon meeting with a refusal he proposed to continue the negotiations without a suspension of nostilities. Matters had progressed thus far at the third conference when the assault on the Chinese viceroy occurred. In view of this untoward event, the Emperor of Japan ordered the plenipotentiaries to consent to a temporary armistice, waiving all the conditions.

FRANCO-BRITISH RELATIONS. LONDON, March 31.-The Cabinet Council which should have been held last Tuesday, took place on Saturday, lasting an hour and a half. The details of the proceedings have not been given out very extensively, but it is derstood that Lord Kimberley made a report upon a long conference which he had held with Baron de Coursol, the French ambassador, on Thursday, just prior to the delivery of Sir Edward Grey's speech in the House. It is also stated that the Foreign Secretary presented dispatches from Lord Dufferin treating of an interview he had had with M. Hanotaux, the French Foreign Minister, at which the latter expressed his sincere desire to maintain the most friendly relations between Great Britain and France. M. Hanotoux made the contention that French extensions of territory in the Hinterland in no way encroached upon British sphere, but deencroached upon British sphere, but de-clined to recognize as British territory that included in the Upper Nile Valley. The whole position pivots upon the accuracy of the information received by the Foreign Office. The French expedition which started from the Upper Mobage last autumn pushed forward 900 miles to the northeast, reaching a point very near to its objective region, Bahr el Ghazal. This information, based upon communications from Uganda, does seem to have the entire confidence of the Foreign Office, and the same may be said of other communications from that quarter. Nothing is definitely known of the exact whereabouts of the French expedition, but reports from the British agent at Wedelai have excited the fears of the Government, and made the Upper Nile question acute and urgent. Instructions which have been sent to Uganda point to the establishment of a British protectorate over Ungore of a British protectorate over Ungore and the equatorial province formerly governed by Emin Pasha, with stations along the Nile to Mado. The British negotiations with France depend upon the latter's repudiating encroachments upon the Upper Nile, and probably M. Honotaux will propose a congress to settle the dispute.

From some unseen cause England

From some unseen cause England shows an unwonted determination to enforce her terms against a great power, while the French seem reluctant to proceed to extremities. The British attitude of resolution, according to talk in dislocation in due to the taik in diplomatic circles, is due to the German and Italian entente in regard to the African Hinterland, their reawakened hostility to France and England's reliance upon her renewed friendship with Design and France upon her renewed friendship with the property of the pro ship with Russia.

The Times has an interview with a leading French statesman which summarizes the French views. "We are not seem to have the entire confidence of ant condition leasts" he said "to quarrel ent condition lasts," he said, "to quarrel with England, but she must not make it too unpleasant for us, nor must she wound our self-love, or we shall cease to be prudent."

Schooner Sunk in the Bay of Fundy-The Crew in the Rigging.

HALIFAX, N. S., March 31.-An unknown two-masted schooner foundered at 9:30 this (Sunday) morning on Trinity Ledge, about fifteen miles off Cape St. Mary, situated near the extremity of Nova Scotia, in the Bay of Fundy.

At 3 p.m. about twenty feet of the masts could be seen out of water and the crew were in the rigging. No means of relief is at hand. An endeavor will be made to obtain a tug boat at Yarmouth, but being Sunday it is very doubtful if this can be accomplished in time to rescue the unfortunate seamen. It is also feared that the tide will have ebbed before relief arrives, in which case little hopes of saving the crew are entertained. The schooner struck on the ledge at low tide.

ANOTHER PLOT

To Overthrow the Hawaiian Govern-

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., March 31.-Information has reached the office of the Hawaiian Consul Wilder of a plot to overthrow the present Government in the island. The leaders of the alleged conspiracy which was hatched in this city, are said by the consul to be C. W. Asford, ex-Attorney-General and others who were deported for complicity in the recent revolutions. The conspirators have been negotiating for the charter of a schooner which was to make an attack upon Honolulu. The plan was to supply the schooner with a crew of men who were willing to take the chances of the expedition, furnish them with arms and ammunition, and a couple of Hotchkiss rapid firing guns and so set sail on a filibustering excursion. The Alexander is lying at the seawall, fitting out for a mysterious cruise to the south seas. That she has fallen under suspicion of the authorities is shown by the fact that the customs inspectors are keeping a close watch upon her. The exiles feel confident that if they could appear in Honolulu harbor with an armed schooner they would have little difficulty in capturing the town.

ment till after the session. MAY OPPOSE DR. MONTAGUE. HAMILTON, March 31.—Mayor Stewart acknowledged that he has been offered the McCarthyite nomination for Haldimand county, to oppose Hon. Dr. Montague. The mayor has not decided if he will accept the nomination, but will give his answer in a few days. NOTES

A Young Liberal Club has been organized at Lowville, with Mr. Jackson Agnew as president.

At a meeting of the Hamilton W. C. T. U., held on Thursday, a motion indorsing the candidature of Mr. W. W. Buchanan was defeated. The members pledged themselves to support any candidate favorable to prohibition, irrespective of party. An Ottawa dispatch says: Mr. J. F. Lister, Q.C., M. P. for West Lambton, one of the Liberal leaders in Parliament, is here attending the Supreme Court. He says the Liberal prospects were never brighter in Western Ontario than at present.

The Electeur ridicules the idea that Mr. Patterson has retired from the Militia Department on account of illhealth. When he was in Quebec a few days ago, it says that the Quebeckers came in contact with him could not help remarking how robust he was in health, what a hearty liver he was, and how long he could sit up in the "wee sma' hours" playing cards.

THE WHEEL.

WOMEN DON BLOOMERS. OAKLAND, Cal., March 31.-The fashionable girls in Oakland, Cal., who ride the wheel, have at last frowned down Mrs. Grundy, and regardless of all criticism have declared themselves in favor of bloomers as the proper costume for women who indulge in the delights of bicycling. There are 500 of these fearless young women, and as they are society girls in good regular standing no doubt exists that the divided skirt will be a "go" in Oakland. Feeling necessity for strength in their somewhat audacious enterprise, and realizing that in union is strength, the girls have formed themselves into a ladies' bicycle club, which will hereafter meet regularly at the Reliance Club Rooms. As for the bloomers, which, by the way, are not to be used solely in the still watches of the night, when timid maidens are being held on their ma-chines by older members of the club, but in "broad daylight and noon," the style of garment is the 1895 pattern, and the material used is usually navy blue serge, or heavy, soft woollen goods, in light shades, so as to avoid showing the dust. Stockings, plain or striped, match the costume, and the jacket is the same litle cutaway affair advocated for women's wear in sporting circles. As soon as all the club costumes are finished, the girls will meet together at the Reliance Club Rooms, and thence

DRIVEN OUT OF CANADA.

Typical Experience of an Enterprising Citizen.

"I have voted for a Conservative Government 30 years, but-if I am going to remain in Canada—this time I would vote for a Liberal one." James Leslie, of 428 St. Paul street, Montreal, the speaker, is leaving Canada for North Carolina. He is leaving this country because the Government gymnastics with the tariff have helped to ruin his business, and he is assured of doing better in the United States.

"My business" he concinued "is almost entirely concerned with supplies for cotton manufacturing machinery, and has, during recent years, become unprofitable. One reason for this is the Dominion Cotton Mills and the Canadian Colored Cotton combines, which together have absorbed apout 30 formerly separate cotton mills. When these latter were separate it did not pay them to send to the old country for supplies. I kept whatever they required in stock, and they purchased from me according to their immediate requirements. Now it is different. The present large companies can afford to buy largely, and are thus enabled to get the goods in which I deal at first hand. It must not be understand that I complain of this," said Mr. Leslie. "I do not blame anyone for buying in the cheapest market. I merely mention this as a fact. My grievance is altogether with the Gov-ernment. If there must be a protective tariff, let it be a fair one. Now you find 2 cents and 25 per cent duty on a yard of cloth that costs 1 1-2 penny in England, but upon any of the goods that I sell 25 per cent is the extreme rate. When the tariff was last revised it was understood that our business would not be disturbed, but in face of this we found that the duties upon our raw materials had been increased, whereas the duties upon the manufactured articles had been reduced. This told against us both ways, and was manifestly unfair. If I had employed 500 men whom I might influence to vote for or against the Government, it would have been different," commented Mr. Leslie, bitterly. "If a business cannot be run upon a 25 per cent tariff it doesn't deserve to exist," was one of Mr. Leslie's observations, but he added, "there should be no discrimination," "The protective tariff of this country is altogether in favor of large combines and against the small manufacturer," was another of Mr. Leslie's experiences. For these reasons, among others, Mr. Leslie is leaving a country where he has toiled hard for over 40 years, but where he finds it impossible any longer to

Mrs. Carlough, of South Casselman, Makes Trial of a Cortain Remedy.

Rear End Accident to a Freight Train-13 Cars Burned-Several Narrow Escapes-An Engine With a History.

The genius of misfortune would appear to hover over the Grand Trunk Railway between Harrisburg and Hamilton. This locality, already prolific with accidents, was the scene of still another during the early Sunday morning hours. This one happened within a mile and a half of Hamilton, and, as in several others that have occurred in that neighborhood, London men figured prominently in it, but this time, luckily, without loss of fe. Junction Cut was the scene of the ac-

It appears that between 3 and 4 o'clock on Sunday morning No. 422, a special freight, was inside the semaphore at the cut, and No. 418, a regular freight from London, was awaiting just outside to get in. While in this Our styles are taken from New York, Paris, and London, came down the grade and rushed into the rear end of No. 418. The wreck then took fire and over a dozen cars were destroyed. There were a number of startlingly narrow escapes from death, and two London men owe their lives to their ability to jump. No. 26 leaves London at 7:20 p.m., and We are showing a large assortment of Jet Ornaments,

Being a way freight, she makes frequent tops to take up and drop off cars, and while doing this No. 418, which did not be a specific property of the spassed of the large spassed of the leave London until 9:30 p.m., passed her at Harrisburg. The latter was drawn by engine 228, and had a Toronto crew, consisting of Conductor Walker, Driver Thompson and Brakemen Barlow and Moore. No. 26 was in charge of Conductor James McMahon, Driver Wm. Allan, Fireman Barney McAteer and Brakemen Tanner and Norris-all of this city. The engine was No. 775, which, by the way, has quite a history. The spot where the accident occurred is on a grade, down which a train will In Untrimmed Hats we though a young man, has established though a young man, has established a reputation for carefulness, and his a reputation for carefulness, and his signals displayed to arrest their progress, and when the men realized their position, they made every effort to stop their train. On any other portion of the line they would have had a chance to do so, but the down grade was against them. Finding it impossible to avert the collision, they both jumped. Allan received some slight scalp wounds and a general shaking up, valuable horse, which would otherwise have perished in the flames that burst out immediately following the crash. The Toronto brakemen, Barlow and Moore, were badly injured, and are being cared for in Hamilton. It is rumored that one will probably die.

The Hamilton fire brigade was summoned, but withal thirteen cars were ourned-seven loaded and six empty. Besides this, probably a dezen cars were wrecked. The fire raged all about No. 775, the engine of No. 26, and when it had burned itself out No. 775 was a glowing mass of useless iron.

It was the second trip of this engine

after a three-months' layup in the shops, during which she had been com-pletely renewed. This is the same engine that was so badly damaged in a collision about four years ago just west of the St. George bridge, when she and the big mogul engine, No. 210, had a dispute over the right of way on a single track. On this occasion Driver James Hutt was in charge, and with him was Fireman McAteer, whose jump yesterday morning from the same engine saved his life. On this occasion Hutt and McAteer crossed the bridge at St. George clinging to the steps of the tender, ready to jump as soon as the other end of the bridge was

TOOK PARIS GREEN FOR SPITE. BATTLE CREEK, Mich., March 21. -On Friday night Mary, the 18-yearold daughter of a farmer named Dado, who lives on the farm of Albert Vary, in the township of Marshall, three miles north of the city, took a dose of paris green, and lir greed until yesterday morning at 2 o'clock, when she died in great agony. She wanted to go to a dance and her parents refused the request, so she took the poison just to frighten her people, not expecting that t would prove fatal. She took a small dose, thinking that it would produce only sickness. The young lady was quite popular in her neighborhood.

BOSTON, March 31.-The steamer Halifax, of the Canada, Atlantic and Plant line, which sailed yesterday, carried freight for the Newfoundland sufferers including 200 barrels of flour, 200 barrels boneless ham, 100 barrels boneless beef,100 gallons molasses, 350 barrels and packages clothing, and about 1 1-2 tons of tea. The goods are consigned to the Episcopal committee at St. Johns, with the understanding that the supplies are to be distributed where the need is greatest in all parts of the island. It is thought that this shipment will relieve about all the suffering there is on the island, and that no further

HARRY STEWART'S ESCAPADE.

Tried to Enter Judge Edward Elliott's House-The Man Charged With Insanity.

"Is the old lady in?" That was the abrupt and ungentlemanly question which Miss Elliott, the daughter of Judge Edward Elliott, was greeted with when she opened the door of her home on Friday evening about 7:30 in response to a ring of the bell. The inquirer was a big, powerfullooking fellow.

"No, Mrs. Elliott is not in," was the

"No, Mrs. Efflott is not in, was reply.
"Well, I am coming in," and the stranger endeavored to push his way through the door. The judge and Mrs. Elliott were away from home at the time, but fortunately Mr. James A. Little, a clerk in the Molsons Bank, was in the house making a call. Miss Elliott interrupted the unknown, and tried to close the door, but it was almost useless. Mr. Little then came to the rescue, and the fellow drew back. Then there was a scuffle, and Little was thrown onto the lawn, but he gathered himself together, and struck his adversary a blow which stunned him and caused him to drop. During this little performance one of the Misses Elliott telephoned for the police, while the other ran across the street for help. Two men were secured, and when they arrived on the scene the offender—who happened to be Henry Stewart—was regaining consciousness. He tried—and hard, at that—to get on his feet, but Little and the two men tried harder still to keep him on the ground. In his struggle he bit Mr, Little in the arm. Ample time had elapsed for the arrival of the hurry-up wagon, but instead of going to Judge Edward Elliott's house, which is on Wellington street north, it had traveled to Judge Wm. Elliot's, at the corner of Colborne street and Dufferin avenue. The mis-take caused a considerable delay, and before the wagon reached the right place a policeman from the Richmond street beat had arrived, and considerably lightened the task of Little and his assistants. Stewart was taken to police headquarters, and on Saturday morning was remanded for a week on a charge of insanity. He has lived in the city for many years with his moth-er, his father having been killed while serving in the American army.

-The asphalt pavements on Eighth street, New York, are to be torn up and replaced with granite blocks. This is how the change is viewed by The Wheel a bicyclist's paper; "Ten thousand bicyclists will read the announcement with a 'pious look of horror.' Twenty-four bicycle agents who have established cycle depots on or at either end of this asphalted stretch will shudder. The stretch is 2 1-2 miles long, and taps a district of 225,000 people. Since it was 'laid' it has practically made from eight to ten thousand new bicycle ri lers in the city of New York. This asphalt has also favorably affected the business of perhaps 400 livery stables, for before it was laid a pleasure vehicle on Eighth avenue was a rare sight, while since it was laid hundreds of pleasure vehicles of all sorts and conditions pass up and down the avenue every day. Altogether, including the great advantage it has been to heavily freighted vehicles, the benefit and pleasure and comfort this asphalt has been is incalculable, and no human being not even a commissioner of public works, can even guess in figures or in hours the money it has earned and saved and the pleasure it has afforded."

From this it would appear that asphalt makes the ideal roadway for wheeling. Is that the material which will be used to make our chief city streets in the future? To our mind, the choice is narrowed to cedar blocks or

DR. BURNS' PROPOSITION. In a letter to the Toronto Globe, Rev. Dr. Burns, of the Hamilton College, strongly recommends the appointment of a commission to consider the Manitoba school question, and to devise, if possible, a scheme of education, including non-sectarian Christian teaching, which should be acceptable to Catholics and Protestants alike. Dr. Burns agrees with us in the belief that the Catholics of Manitoba are quite within their right, under the Imperial Act, through which the territory became a part of Canada, in asking for remedial legislation. He argues that were Protestants in their place they would do the same, and vigorously, too. Here is Dr. Burns' proposition in brief:

"Let Manitoba appoint a mixed commission of moderate men, of Protestants that Catholics can respect, and Catholics that Protestants can respect. Let them take this whole question into consideration, weighing it as Christian patriots should, and, my life for it, they can construct a school system that will suit both parties. Professional agitators would, of course, be excluded: so, also, sectarian gladiators.

"The subjects handled in common schools should give no trouble whatever. Neither science nor morality is sectarian, and the most important lessons in truthfulness, candor and honesty could be impressed upon children without the utterance of a sentence that would offend the creed of anyone. Religious instruction could easily be assigned to certain hours, or relegated entirely to parents and spiritual instructors.

"No other scheme will bring permanent relief. A nation should provide educational advantages for all its children; for Jew and Gentile, for Catholic and Protestant, for all creeds, and for all nationalities that are subject to its laws. Intelligent citizenship should be aimed at. To secure that requires not the discussion of a solitary sectarian

It would be a relief to the country if some agreement satisfactory to all parties could be arrived at, and the threatened Dominion-wide rancour averted.

WHITE AND BLACK.

Does the Toronto Mail and Empire really believe that Sir Adolphe Caron is above reproach, as it pretends, and that Mr. Laurier is not to be trusted by the people of Canada in comparison with him? Or is this merely the most hypocitical of cant on its part, begotten of falsehood and zeal? Surely it must see that it merely excits the contempt and scorn of even its own party when it resorts to such parefaced and shameless misrepresentation. Mail and Empire says that Sir Adolphe Caron does not confess that he used moneys corruptly. If Sir Adolphe's organ means that he denied his corruption it is quite correct, but men of his kind commonly do moke denials. But he, in fact, not only confessed corruption, but he boasted that he would resort to it again, as the Mail and Empire well knows. In Parilament and in the presence of the delegates to the Ottawa convention from all parts of the empire Sir Adolphe confessed that he had raised and spent large sums of money, among the rest $25,000 obtained from a promoter and director of a railway subsidized by the Government of which Sir Adolphe was a member. This fund of over $100,000 was spent among a few constituencies on orders signed by Sir Agolphe Caron. And why was it spent? Because, said Ont., recently. Our Government should Sir Adolphe Caron, the constituencies at once respond to the appeal and let were so divided that it was necessary didates to spend the money. He argued that until there was a redistribution of seats or redivision of the constituencies, in effect a gerrymander, it would be necessary to spend money; before he would do again in order to help his friends. Of the whole amount over $5,000 was spent upon his own constituency, the legitimate expenses of which were sworn by his agent to be $904 46. The corruption of Sir Adolphe Caron is notorious, and the Mail and Empire knows it. Impudently as its fashion is, the Mail and Empire tries to give the impression without actually saying so, that the Witness would hush up the Mercier corruption. How false this is everyone knows. The Witness waged unceasing war against Mr. Mercier's corruption until it was condemned and he was overthrown; and the Liberals responded nooly. But it does object to the Mail and Empire blackening a stainless statesman like Mr. Laurier in order to gain a party advantage. Anything baser or more treasonable to a country than to blacken its white statesmen and whitewash its black, self-seeking politicians, than to make wrong appear right and right appear wrong appear right and right appear wrong simply to serve party ends, we do not know of, and the sail and Em-pire knows that it is guilty of this treason. Canada has become notorious for its corruption, at both Ottawa and Quebec; at Quebec it was overthrown; at Ottawa it is still in power, but soon, we trust, to fall. It is patriotism to desire that and work for it.-Montreal

The old-time Conservatives are feeling, like Mrs. Gummidge, that they are nothing but "poor, lone, lorn critters," and certainly there are property for them to become impressed reasons for them to become impressed by their bereavement and tearfully sit by the fire "thinkin' of the old 'un, really nothing but his wonderful tact personality could now save the and party from disindegration. NEW YORK, Marh 31.-When the corpse of J. G. Gilbert was placed in a hearse today the doors could not be closed. Gilbert was seven feet, eight inches tall. His home was at 287 Elizabeth street. He was a native of Scranton, Pa., and the body was taken there for burial. Gilbert's death occurred this morning.

"All right in a day or two" is the thought that consoles everyone who is suffering from any disposition that does not prostrate him. It was months before I began to realize that it was useless to further force myself to ignore my condition. The backache had become a pain in the back and sides; weak and tired feeling, highly colored urine with obstruction and stoppage, pain in the bladder, palpitation of the heart, poor appetite, indigestion, and a dull, languid feeling, with entire lack of energy." Cream of the Cable News from Old London-Possibilities of War Between England and France—A Novelist Who Refuses to Fight— More Scientific Triumphs—An Inferno for the Paris Exposition—The Latest Fashions -Something About the New Speaker.

The most exciting topic of today ni cable corespondents, is the trouble between Britain and France. While the English press maintains a very discreet tone in discussing the Government's unexpected and somewhat startling statement in the Commons the other night in regard to French aggressions in Africa and French comment has also been surprisingly non-bellicose so far, it is known in well-informed circles that the Government has been keenly alive to the possibilites of war with France, advocating and pressing forward a great increase in the navy was due to representations from Lord Dufferin of a strong war feeling and preparations in Fance. Even the Radical section of the Liberal party, which has always heretofore resisted an increase in either army or navy on the general ground that such increase was the surest way of provoking a conflict, has been almost silent during the debate on the increase of the navy.

ASTOR'S WEEKLY GOES DOWN. William Waldorf Astor's beautifully illustrated Pall Mall Budget, in every respect the best prepared weekly ever pubished in London, suspended this week. There is a good deal of earnest gossip in literary and artistic circles about the millionaire's reason for stopping its publication. One story current among the dismissed employes is that the proprietor resented the Budget's somewhat commonplace obituary of Mrs. Astor, which was cabled at the time. It is certain that notice of suspension was served on all the employes the very day of its publication. Mr. numerous eccentricities, of which many stories are told here, give some basis to the tale of this arbitrary

A SENSIBLE NOVELIST. A subscription has been opened for James McN. Whistler by the Pall Mall Gazette, and a number of artists are contributing to the fund. George Moore, the novelist, who acted as intermediary between Whistler and Sir William Eden, and who was challenged by the artist to fight a duel, says: "I cannot fight an old gentleman. The grounds of the quarrel are too infinitesimal for Whistler to invite me to Belgium. He might as well ask me to dress as a red Indian and parade Piccadilly with a tomahawk.'

ANOTHER TRIUMPH OF SCIENCE. The detection of the gas argon in the atmosphere is being followed by a rapid series of discoveries of great interest. Chemists have long known, theoretically, of the existence of another element which has been called Helium, and which was revealed by the spectroscope, in the sun's rays. It was not known to exist in this planet. Prof. Ramsay, a few days ago, in order to find whether there was some-thing in the world with which argon would keep company, was examining an extremely rare earth found in Norway and known as Cleveite. When this mineral is treated with weak sulphuric acid it gives off a gas which has hitherto been regarded as nitrogen. The professor found by close examination that it was not nitrogen, but argon, and, moreover, there was associated with it another gas which had not yet been separated. He submitted it to Prof. Crookes, and the result is to show that the gas thus found is Helium.

M. Berthelot, continuing his experiments in Paris, has found that in manipulating argon he developed at an or-dinary pressure a magnificent fluorescent substance greenish yellow in color and characterized by a spectrum similiar to that of the Aurora Borealis. From this he deduced that the northern lights are caused by fluorescent matter derived from argon and engendered through the influence of electrical emations developed in the atmosphere. Still another scientific triumph of the week is the liquefaction of hydrogen by Prof. Olszewski, of Cracow, Prof. Dew-ar's rival. He finds that the lightest of all gases liquefies at 243 degrees below zero. A TENNYSON MEMORIAL.

Americans are co-operating generously in the erection of the Tennyson memorial, which will be placed at Seacliffs. close to the poet's old home in the Isle of Wight. Spontaneous offerings are becoming so numerous that the committee decided to make it an international tribute, which will be inscribed: "Erected by His Friends in England and America." Oliver Wendell Holmes was the first American contributor, and now the committee hopes to receive a large number of small donations through Mrs. James T. Feld, of Boston.

AN INFERNO FOR EXHIBITION. Having scaled the heavens at the last exhibition, it is now proposed in Paris to furnish, as the chief attraction in 1900, facilities for descending into the depths of the earth. M. Grousset, member of the Chamber of Deputies for Paris, has submitted a plan for testing the point whether there is a central fire beneath the earth's crust. He finds that in mines the temperature down to a certain depth is practically the average temperature above ground. Descending beyond that point the thermometer rises about 1 1-2 degrees in every 100 feet. He desires to test the thermal law at much greater depth than has yet been reached. Should it be found to remain constant, the boiling point would be reached about 9 .-000 feet below the surface, and the 666 degree point, at which nearly all bodies are in a state of fusion, would be twelve miles down. Of course, M. Grousset would not take Parisians down to the point of fusion, but only until tropical heat is reached. After that he would continue his experiments by borings. The plan of M. Grousset's inferno comprises a series of vertical shafts each 600 feet long and terminating in a vast subterranean gallery. Each shaft would have a couple of passenger elevators. The lowest circle would be at a depth of about 4,-000 feet. Each gallery would be fit-ted in keeping with its special temperature. There would be electric lights throughout, and perfect ventilation would be secured. The cost of the undertaking is estimated at $2,500,000, assuming the lowest gallery depth at 4,500 feet. As a mere spectacle M. Grousset is confident that the venture woul pay, but he hopes to strike upon a fresh source of light, heat and force.

ANOTHER LANDMARK GONE. The house in which John Wilkes, whose name is so closely associated with the liberty of the press, resided at the Tower, has just disappeared, like so many other buildings in and about London which have been associated with historic events. Wilkes' house was one of a dingy row of red brick buildings in Prince's court, off Great George street, Westminster.

As editor of the North Briton, Wilkes denounced the Bute Administration for unduly favoring the Scoth, and on April 23, 1763, the paper contained a charge of falsehood against the king. Three days later a "general warrant" was is-sued and Wilkes was arrested. His committal to the Tower and the burning of the newspaper by the common hang-man in Cheapside led to the wellknown riots. Then the Lord Chief Jus-tice awarded Wilkes $5,000 damages for the seizure of his papers after his arand that its sudden change of front in rest, declaring general warrants to be illegal. After that Wilkes was chosen as lord mayor, and five times was he returned to Parliament, but only allowed to take his seat in 1775, after a great and prolonged fight for liberty. THE NEW SPEAKER.

The selection of William Court Gully as the official candidate for Speaker of the British House of Commons implies foreknowledge that he can be elected. Lord Rosebery has devoted his personal attention to the lobby in Mr. Gully's behalf. Mr. Gully has sat in the House only since 1886. He took no part in any of the intervenig controversies. There is no faction opposition to him. He has voted with the Liberals uniformly, but has made no impression upon the House or the country, and is only moderately well known at the bar. He married a daughter of James Selby, and has strong trade and commercial backing. He is nearly 60 years of age. He has no eccentricities. His deportment in the House has been quiet, colorless and forceless. He is going to be Speaker, if at all, because he has no angles. It is one of the traditions of the House that the Speaker will be a retired member of the Cabinet. In a hundred years it has happened only once before that an unofficial member was elected Spaker. The tradition would not have been broken this time but for another, namely, that it is not best that the Speaker shall be taken out of a Ministry in office, and to the mutual per-sonal antagonisms developed in regard to the vacancy. Sir Arthur Wellesley Peel retires on account of failing health and declining years. The new Speaker will come in April 10, that is, immediately after the holidays.

This being the last business day of the month, there was a sort of closing up process going on in wheat. The market was dull. Corn was in a neglected state. There was a good general trade, the outside and country sending numerous buying orders.

CITY ORANGEMEN RESOLVE. At the regular monthly meeting of Hackett Loyal Orange Benefit Lodge, No. 805, held in Knights of Pythias Castle Hall, Edge Block, on Tuesday, March 19, the following resolutions were unanimously

"Moved by W. Bro. R. D. A. Hillier, D. C. P. M. of East Middlesex, seconded by W. Bro. David Tripp, P.M.: "Whereas, this lodge having learned with regret that action had been taken under the immediate direction and acknowledged authority of the Roman hierarchy to subvert the school laws enacted by the Provincial Legislature of the Province of Manitoba,

"Whereas, the Dominion Government having sanctioned and sustained the Legislature of the Province of Quebec in its sovereign right to enact a law reviving an absolute claim of the Jesuits to an estate which had in a regular and lawful way been escheated to the state half a century before, thereby placing an interpretation upon the supreme power of the Provinces in the control of their affairs, which cannot be ignored; and whereas we view the said agitation to be an encroachment upon Provincial rights and privileges,

"Be it therefore resolved, that we support the act of the Legislature of the Province of Manitoba in adopting a national non-sec-tarian school law, and if necessary will give that Province our moral and material sup-port in maintaining a school system which we hope in the best interests of a common people of a common country may soon become general in this young Dominion; and be it further resolved that in the approaching elections we will not support any candidate for the House of Commons of Canada who is not clearly and distinctly opposed to any interference with the Province of Manitoba in the local control of the education of its people, and that the above resolutions be sent to the local papers and the Sentinel for publication."

rowly Escaped Suffocation

By Coal Gas-A Grey Street Family's Close Call.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Johnston, of 496 Grey street, and their three children, Andrew, Bruce and Pauline, together with Andrew's wife, had a narrow escape from death by suffocation early Saturday morning. As it is, Bruce, jun., is seriously ill, and the father and mother will be unable to be around for

About 11 o'clock on Friday evening the family retired, after seeing that the draughts in the coal stove were closed. They slept soundly during the night, and about 6 o'clock in the morning the son, Bruce, awoke. He was very drowsy, but was astonished at the strong odor of gas in his room, the door of which is but a few feet from the coal stove. Bruce got out of bed, and was going to awaken the rest of the house-hold, when he fell full on his face unconscious. Mr. and Mrs. Johnston, sen., awoke in the meantime. The former was partly dazed from the gas, but dressed himself and sent for a doctor. On his arrival the medical man found the entire family suffering from the effects. Bruce was brought around in about an hour. He is in a very weak condition and is unable to eat. Mr. Johnston, sen., went to work, but was compelled to return. His wife is still sick. Andrew and his wife and Pauline escaped more easily.

The chimney flue had become blocked by the lining falling down.

TO YOUNG MEN

Rev. D. M. Mihell Preaches Particularly -Down on Cigarettes-Church Notes.

Sunday was young people's day at Adelaide Street Baptist Church. In the morning the Sunday school children filled the center seats and listened to a short but very interesting discourse by the pastor, Rev. D. M. Mihell, from Psalm xlv., 1, "Touching the King." The reverend gentleman held the close attention of his youthful audience throughout, and cleverly illustrated his ideas with blackboard sketches. Mr. Saunders, ex-superintendent of the Sunday school, gave a brief address to the parents, and the singing was led by the Sunday school choir, with Miss Rendell at the organ. In the afternoon there was an open session of the Sabbath school, when Mrs. Humphreys, of Parkhill, gave a pointed, practical address on temperance. A feature of the services was the quartet by Miss Nellie Rendell, Miss Daisy Little, Mr. Chas. Maynard and Mr. Chas. Morehead.

Rev. Mr. Mihell preached a sermon last night which had special interest for young men. Among other things he stated that in London there were 6,885 young men from 15 to 40 years of age. Of these 4,850 were unmarried, age. Of these 4,850 were unmarried, and about 1,000 in boarding houses. He pointed out that the majority of boarding houses were not homes in th true sense of the word, and contrasted he difference between such places and the always-open saloon. There were 34 licensed places in the city open 4,760 hours a week, against churches, Y. M. C. A., Mechanics' Institute, and the Young Men's Club, which were open only 356 hours a week. The preacher expressed surprise at the growth of boys' clubs in the city, where the young gathered and smoked, and gambled, and drank. Mr. Mihell also dwelt with the cigarette evil, and stated that of 600 prisoners in a prison on the other side, 500 began their downward career by the use of tobacco. He referred to the unclean manufacture of the article and its effects in nervousness, blindness, stupidity, etc., on the user, to its injurious effect on the lungs, heart trouble, cancer, and a blunting of the moral sensibilities. Another feature was the foul and indecent pictures accompanying the cigarette packages. He mentioned a place in this city, near one of the public schools, where until re-cently, little squares of tobacco were sold to children at 1 cent each. At one place in particular, cigarettes could be bought on Sunday, and one dealer was doing a large business with girls. Band of Hope illustratio nsof the thraldom of the cigarette followed, and then came some suggested remedies. The first was personal purity and good parental example. The second was to make home attractive and provide good, healthy reading. The third was to give sympathy and support to the agencies which are fighting tooth and nail to counteract the evils. Concluding, Mr. Mihell appealed to the boys to shun as they would poison strong drink. He told a very beautiful illustration of a little ragged London (Ont.) boy who belonged to the Band of Hope and worked in a brewery, who refused promotion rather than take a position in which he would have to come in contact with beer. The same boy eventually gave up his job because of principle, and although he was ragged before, he now says he is "in business," and can wear a collar and tie, and sport a natty handkerchief. The sermon was well listened to he was a congress tien. tened to by a very large congregation, in which hildren were in the majority.

NOTES.

The quarterly union meetings of Bap-tist Women's Mission Circles will be held Thursday afternoon and evening in the London South Church. The evening meeting at 8 o'clock is public—everybody is invited.

Owing to the fact that there is a large number of little tots living in the east end who find it difficult to attend the Dundas Center Sunday school in the Collegiate Institute, a class has been opened for them in the residence formerly occupied by Mr. Murray Anderson. Mr. Fred Darch is the teacher. Mr. Wilfrid Blaikie sang Cline's "O Saving Victim" n the Opera House last saving Victim" in the Opera House last evening in a manner that pleased the congregation very much. He is improving greatly since he placed himself under the tuition of Mr. Fetherston. The clarinet obligato written for Mr. Allen by Mr. Fetherston greatly improved the song, and was faultlessly played by him. On Friday next at the meeting of the Hannington Club at Bishoptowe a debate will be held concerning the respective merits of Wellington and Napoleon. For Wellington Bert. Andras and W. said the Honorable Don, as his friends often called him. "Her name's Stella-star of my existence! Don't look so black, Hannington. I'm not going to poach. You should have seen Hannington adoring her to-day at Balmerino, it would teach you a lesson."

"We don't need a lesson," said Lady
Grace. "We all know Mr. Hannington."

They all laughed. They were a merry party, and sufficiently familiar with each other for much jesting and badinage-more, sometimes, than Hannington quite cared for. He took up his position beside Lady Valwho was a cousin of the Esquharts, whom he had known for years. She was a tall handsome woman of six and twenty, with flashing black eyes, a bold haughty face-which yet had something in it that was fine and frank and irresistibly engaging, and a particularly bright and winning smile. "Who is this girl?" she asked him, carelessly, but in a lowered voice. "I think he means a Miss Raeburn whom we met to-day at Balmerino. Several girls

She shot a keen glance at him. "Was Miss Raeburn's name Stella?" "I believe it was," said Hannington examining his cue rather attentively. "I think I heard her called so.'

"You think you heard her called so? Oh, base deceiver! you know it as well as I do, for you told me her name yourself."

Lady Val's eyes flashed their black lightnings at Hannington, but that gentleman only smiled and shrugged his shoulders, which, under the circumstances, was perhaps the best thing to do. "Miss Stella Raeburn is about the prettiest girl I ever saw," Donald went on. "She has got perfect features, golden hair, blue eyes, a rose leaf complexion, and—I her old friend and "the little Dundee girl," She has been abroad for some years—that's ton himself could not be

"I have just heard of a shocking thing," he said, while the company halted in their game and looked at him in surprise. know that I was speaking of that beautiful girl whom we met to-day? Well, this very afternoon-for aught I know, while we were amusing ourselves in the ruins at Balmerino -her father, Matthew Raeburn, shot himself in his own office-blew out his brains with a revolver in, it is supposed, a fit of madness, and was found there dead when his clerk looked in at six o'clock this evening. MacIntyre has just brought the news."

"Oh, that poor girl!" cried Lady Val. and looked to Hannington for sympathy. But he did not reply.

CHAPTER V.

John Hannington felt puzzled as to the course that he should pursue. Ought he to call or write? Should he wait until Stella made some sign? If he had been deeply in love with her, these difficulties would probably have solved themselves. He would have flown to her side, and tried to make himself a comfort and a support to her. But then he was not particularly in love with Stella-only with her pretty face and her fortune. The pretty face would now, he reflected, be disfigured with tears; the eyes would not smile nor the rosy lips return his kisses; he had better stop away. The fortune

-thank Heaven!-was all the more secure because of Matthew Raeburn's death. No father would now be there to interfere, and Stella would not object to his using her money in his own way. Hannington built a good many splendid castles in the air at this time. It seemed to him that his luck was about to change.

He was of course very sorry for Stella. He hoped-and this was a serious consideration—that there was no taint of madness in the blood of the Raeburn family. Not even Stella's fortune—unless it were a very large one indeed—could gild that pill. What but madness would have led Mr. Raeburn to raise his hand against his fown life? There were no reasons for the act; the man was surely solvent, and Stella's million secure.

He pondered over these matters a good deal, and grew somewhat absent-minded in consequence: so that his friend, Lady Valencia Gilderoy, popularly called Lady Val, asked him one day what was wrong. They were in the billiard-room together, for both were passionately fond of billiards: but after a rather perfunctory game, they had estab-lished themselves in a cushioned window. seat, whence they watched the driving rain that had fallen all day as if it would never

"No," he said, slowly, "it's not money

"Then," she said, very decidedly, it's the little Dundee girl." "I do not quite know whom you allude to Lady Val."

"Don't get on your high horse with me, Jack. You know perfectly well. You've not been like yourself ever since we heard of that poor mans death, and Donald says that you were quite smitten by her beaux

"Les beaux yeux de sa cassette" hummed Jack, almost below his breath; then, in a louder voice, "I assure you, Lady Val, that Donald knows nothing about it. I admired the young lady, certainly, but to be 'smitten' in Donald's sense of the term is quite a different thing."

Lady Val gave him one of the very keen looks that Mr. Hannington did not altogether like, and held her peace for a time. Presently she said, more seriously than

"I'm sorry for that girl, She will be having a bad time of it. She has no mother, I hear, and no brothers or sisters-only an old aunt. She must feel uncommon lonely, "Her father is something in jute, I believe poor child. I wish it were the proper thing to go and see her; not that I should be much good as a consolar." And she laughed a little harshly. "Why don't you go, Jack?" "I?" said Hannington. "I-well!-would that be the proper thing?" "Don't know, I'm sure. Never did know what was the proper thing all my life long. I do what I feel inclined, and propriety takes care of itself."

"We are not all so privileged. You do the right thing by instinct, and need not care about conventional views. We poor men toil after you by slow degrees, and make a hundred mistakes to your one.' "I like you least of all, do you know, when you pay compliments," said Lady Val, care-lessly. "Give me that box of caramels off the table, please, and let us mitigate the severity of the Scotch summer by French bon-bons. Do you like caramels?"

"Immensely-when they come from you." "No compliments."

"It is so compliment. It is sober fact, adore everything that comes from you! He dropped on one knee as he spoke, in an attitude of mock adoration. Lady Val, enthroned on the red cushions of the wide window seat, laughed at him, and offered him her box of sweets. He declined, unless she would herself put one into his mouth with her own fingers. At first she refused but consented, after a little persuasion, and laughed to see him reduced to speechlessness by an unusually big caramel. She looked very animated and handsome, her eyes sparkling, the color flashing into her cheeks her white teeth gleaming between those ripe red lips. Hannington heartily admired her. Unfortunately for him Don Vereker heard In fact, he thought her far handsomer than

So "Dick" grew famous. But like many other famous characters, he grew puffed up with pride, got lazy, and began to "lay down on the job." It got to be so easy, this thing of leading wideeyed country cattle up into the chute, that "Dick" didn't seem to care whether he worked for his feed or not. Mr. Armour grew displeased with his apathy. He does not like to have his employes loaf on their jobs. So orders were issued concerning "Dick." day last week the wise old rogue was leading the usual bunch up the gangway, but when he got to the usual jumping-off place there was none. up to the butcher's steel hammer. Probably there never was a beef "critter" that had so wide a celebrity as "Dick." Every visitor who went to see how the packing houses work had to have a look at this steer. Foreign princes and prettey summer girls have marveled at the skill and diplomacy with which he steered the unsuspicious range cattle to the place of death. "Dick's" picture has been printed in the papers many a time and columns have been written about the beast's crafty tricks. "Dick" was just as much one of the sights of the town as the Masonic Temple, or the lake shore drive, or Policeman Steve Rowan. This is the way the creature got his notoriety: the short horns from Missouri come into the stock yards and are unloaded they are naturally exasperated over their rough trip and are full of suspicion. The result is they are rebellious, especially in the matter of going into chutes. Now, unless a steer goes into one of the chutes in the packing house it cannot have its throat cut, and throat cutting is the aim and object of their coming to Chicago. So it is necessary to have a decoy steer,

Many years ago "Dick" arrived at the yards, and being a beast of more than usually sagacious appearance was picked out for the work. "Dick" was carefully trained to the art of walking up a chute at the head of a bunch of cattle and then quietly dodging to one side, leaving the bunch to walk on to the place where the hammers swing. After years of practice the big steer had grown expert at his treacherous work. "Dick" would saunter down into a pen full of new and unsophisticated cattle and scrape an acquaintance with two or three of them. Then the wicked brute would begin to look wise and talk knowingly about the racy sights to be seen in the big white house beyond the fence. When "Dick" offered to lead the way there was a grand stampede to follow. Up the gangway went "Dick" and after clattered the greenhorns. But just before the bunch got a sight of the big butchers waiting inside. "Dick" would unostentatiously shy off through a side passage and Residents in the neighborhood of Wilton Grove, in the township of Westminster, report a very unusual occur-rence on Monday, March 25. Monday is the regulation washday in that vicinity, and after the women had labored over the tubs in the morning they hung out the clothes. After ample time had been given them to dry the clothes were removed. Instead of being as white and clean, as when hung out, however, they were covered with inky spots. The presence of these at first could not be accounted for. It was thought that cinders from a passing en-gine may have done the mischief, but as the same thing happened in more than one place and beyond the reach of the trains, the residents became sat-isfied that a slight shower of inky-colored water had fallen. The washtub manipulators have talked the matter over among themselves. They do not want another shower of the same kind, as it necessitates a double washing. Mr. Thomas Baty, of Wilton Grove, says the water in his cistern on Monday was of an inky hue, but he thought the heavy rain of Sunday had washed some dirt from the roof. On hearing of the second shower however, in which the clothes were discolored, he thinks it was caused by an ink storm. Mr. Baty well remembers a fall of black snow some twenty years ago.

-Nathaniel Anderson, a drayman, who lives on lot 7, con. 1, of London township, did not return home on Saturday night as usual. His non-appearance caused his wife much uneasiness, as Nathaniel was never away at night. Friends made inquiries yesterday, and it was found that Anderson was in the lockup. He had been arrested on Saturday afternoon, charged with cruelty to his horse. The animal had a large sore on its back, and was taken charge of by the Deceased, who was born in England, came to this country 35 years ago, and for a long while was engaged in farming in West Nissouri, but in his declining years he had lived with his son-in-law in the city. Outside the natural decline resulting from old age, death was accelerated by a stroke of paralysis, by which he was prostrated on Wednesday last. Deceased, who had been a widower for eight years, leaves one son, Mr. Thomas Shortt, of London West, and a daughter, Mrs. R. Wigmore. He was a member of the Church of England, and was much esteemed by those who knew him best. The funeral takes place tomorrow afternoon.

-R. W. Bro. A. E. Cooper, grand junior warden of the Masonic Grand Lodge of Canada, entertained about 50 prominent craftsmen at his residence, corner Waterloo street and Princess avenue, Friday night. Progressive whist and pedro were played. W. Bro. C. A. Kingston was the prize winner. The healths of Mr. and Mrs. Cooper were proposed by M. W. Bro. Spry and and W. Bro. Frank Love, and Bro. Cooper replied gracefully. Bros. Mc-Intosh, Stratfold and Love sang songs, and refreshments were served. It was a very pleasant and hospitable event.

-Mrs. Boomer asks permission to acknowledge donations to the bales which, at the last meeting of the Women's Auxiliary, it was proposed to send to Mrs. Bompas, wife of the Bishop of Selkirk, and to Mrs. Reeves, wife of the Bishop of Mackenzie River. The cost of freight being so heavy, the donations in money are very acceptable. Every gift in kind must be in condensed form, such as Leibig, etc., food being very scarce in those lonely regions, starvation often staring those faithful workers in the face. The following branches of the W. A. have already contributed: Old St. Paul's (Woodstock), Watford, Petrolea, Brantford (both Grace Church and St. Lude's). Strathroy. Bort Deven Bort Jude's), Strathroy, Port Dover, Port Burwell, Galt, Walkerton, Windsor, Tyrconnell, Vienna, St. James' (London South), Memorial Church (M. C. L.'s), Thorndale Sunday school (talent money), and other friends in this city. Amongst them Mrs. Niven has thoughtfully sent in quinine, etc. Similar con-tributions of remedies or tonics, not in liquid form, Liebig, etc., were gratefully received within the week at 577 Dundas street.

TAKING CARE OF THE WIDOWS. A bill introduced by Attorney-General Mowat is intended to amend the law so as to secure for widows of persons dying intestate and without children a reasonable share of the husband's estate. Heretofore a childless widow could only claim one-third of her intestate husband's property, his relatives coming in for the lion's share. This has been found to work hardship, and the amending law provides that in such cases where the estate is not worth over $1,000 it shall go to the wid-ow absolutely and exclusively; where the value is over $1,000 she shall be entitled to $1,000 absolutely, and in addition the same interest in the residue as she would have if it had been the whole of the estate and the amending act had not been passed.

AFTER THE EDWARDS MILLIONS. The numerous claimants to the $100,-000,000 estate of the late Robert Edwards in the heart of New York city, are again showing activity towards gaining the big prize. The South Carolina heirs, of whom there are plenty, meet at Columbia on April 5, and it is said they have secured much valuable data. They retained a firm of London (England) solicitors, Messrs. Stollard & Swan, in September, 1893, and several searches have been made to find a certified copy of the original lease of the New York property. A New York gentleman, Mr. G. H. Williams, has searched the public and private docu-ments of the city, and obtained information which may greatly assist in clearing up the mystery surrounding the whereabouts of the original lease. The Carolina heirs notified the English solicitors of this, and they in turn wrote to the Marquis of Ripon. A reply was given that the documents had been sent to the public records office, and news from the deputy keeper of records is awalted. The Ontario heirs to the estate are wide awake, and will hold a meeting in this city on April 12. Among them are Squire Henry Edwards, of Komoka; John Edwards, King street, and E. H. Gustin, Dundas

WORK FOR THE FIREMEN. An old log house in the north end of the city, near the Becher estate was discovered by some sisters at St. Joseph's Hospital to be in flames shortly after midnight last night. It was an uninhabited place and a general resort for tramps and vagrants. The place was evidently set on fire. It was owned by W. D. Buckle. The brigade were called at 11:20 on Saturday night to attend a small blaze at Canon Hill's residence, corner of Grosvenor and George streets. It caught from a defective fireplace.

DROPPED DEAD IN DETROIT. Mrs. Henry B. Ledyard, wife of the president of the Michigan Central Railroad Company, met death without a warning on Saturday. She was walking along Chene street, Detroit, when she fell forward and expired before medical assistance could be summoned. The suddenness of the call is a matter of grief to her many friends in Detroit, for she had a wide circle of acquaintances there to whom she had endeared herself by her estimable character and kindly and worthy acts. Mrs. Ledyard was formerly Miss Mary L'Hommedieu, of Cincinnati, daughter of Stephen L'Hom-medieu, projector and for 25 years presi-dent of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton Railroad. Her marriage to Mr. Ledyard occurred Oct. 15, 1867, at the time when the latter, who was in the regular army, was sent as assistant professor in French to West Point. She has resided in Detroit since 1877. Heart disease was the
