Denounces Scheme.

Lord Charles denounces the scheme the system of cramming examinations he considers useless and injurious. Another grave failure of the naval policy, in the opinion of Lord Charles, is the policy in regard to cruisers and torpedo-boat destroyers. Eighty of these vessels, he says, went to the scrap heap in 1904 and they have not been replaced. The result of this was that these classes in 1909 fell from 45 floor of the bathroom at the home of to 30, respectively, while similar classes in Germany rose at the same time from 20 to 40. The refusal the admiralty to construct docks for the biggest battleships is denounced by Lord Charles as a betrayal of public trust. Germany, he says, has built big docks concur-rently with her battleships, but even now the vessels of Great Britain are being left to take chances in case of emergency. The denuding of the great trade routes of protecting cruisers, and the weakening of the defences of the Mediterranean through parsimony, come inder the lash of the writer. The whip descends also on the admiralty's apparent idea that it was building a Dreadnought that would paralyze foreign powers. matter of fact, declares Lord Charles, t has gradually appeared that the American, Japanese and German bat leships are actually superior to the Dreadnought in fighting powers.

Lord Charles is particularly sever on the admiralty's admission in 1909 that it had under-estimated Germany's and over-estimated Great Britain's building capacity. He declares that the admiralty was aware of this fact ong before that time, but had suppressed the knowledge. Lord Charles searchingly criticises the famous admiralty memorandum dealing with a possible invasion by Germany and the provision against such an attack, and alleges that there were grave deficiencies in the coal reerves, supply of stores and docks, as rell as the personnel. Lord Charles concludes by making ne general deduction that, while inividual officers were never more effiient, the fleet as a whole, considering its vastly increased responsibilities, has seldom been less adequate.

IN WHITE HOUSE Great Display of Cotton Dress Goods for Summer Season 1912

The manufacturers of Cotton Dress Goods are each season becoming more formidable rivals to the silk mills in the bid for the summer dress business. Almost every new design shown in Paris is copied or imitated as nearly as possible in the finer cotton dress fabrics, such as Foulards, Voiles, etc., of which the first showing is being made this week in Wash Goods Section.

These highly-finished and perfectly-woven fabrics so closely resemble the sheer fine wool fabrics and pretty summer silks that more than a glance is required to detect the difference. Then, too, these have some advantages such as their excellent wearing qualities and fast-washing colors, which enables the wearer to take great service from a dress of this material, and the prices, too, are moderate for these wide width materials, 27 to 45 inches.

In Asia the turmoil is bound to have a reaction on the western world. The over with misgivings for the Russian approach to India. What is going to happen in Persia? Near at home, the United States is to have a presidential election, one of the most interesting and incalculable since the Civil War. Mighty issues are emerging into clearer shape. The industrial chaos must be remedied, and the American people is through, apparently forever, with its orgy of high protection. Both great parties are now competing with each other in proposals for curbing the power of the trusts and working out a saner fiscal system The Republican President himself now openly recommends the reduction of back-without milk? the tariff, and an insurgent element of his party stands more boldly for a new industrial order.

Perhaps there will be more actual fighting this year by the suffragettes, if their amendment to the new Franchise Bill is not told the unyielding Mr. Harcourt, colcarried. The Welsh Disestablishment onial secretary, that the women would measure, on the other hand, will be work for his discomfort. This will be passed, amidst some commotion and heart-burnings, and much oratory, it is true, but no doubt in perfect peace.

Even Britain must yield to Germany, it is probable, in the possibilities of constitutional development this year. In the first ballot of the recent elections the Socialists cast nearly 5,-000,000 votes ,a far larger popular indorsement than that received by any other party. They will be represented by 110 members in the new Reichstag, and supported in some matters by the Radical and Liberal parties. they will be able ,doubtless, to effect some fiscal and constitutional reforms.

Germany is now in much the same condition as was Britain before the repeal of the Corn Laws (1846), There has been a great development of reaches to that generally held by deurban life and industrialism, which increases the need of foodstuffs. In is no doubt perfectly true, but Dr. the interest of the landholders oppres- Reid is assuming that decent people sive duties have been kept up against are in a minority in the riding. foreign grain and other foods. The success of the Socialists is largely due to exasperation at the rising cost of life's necessities. There is the same uprising now begun in Germany as that led by Cobden in the 1840's.

The Liberals and Radicals will cooperate with the Socialists in the Reichstag to relax the food duties, and they have a majority over the Conservative-Centre government. A reduction of these duties will profit Canada, Our tariff war with Germany is happily over, and our farmers are pressed for a market. The German people will eat wheat bread . when they can afford to buy it.

Another result of the Socialist gain will likely be an approximation of the German system of Government to the British, Liberals, Radicals and Socialists are agreed also to force the complete responsibility of ministers to the Reichstag. There will be a struggle to make Germany more democratic, a struggle in which the Upper House of the Reichstag may come into the limelight. It will be interesting to watch

The resolution passed unanimously by the Carleton Conservative Association, denouncing the coming measure of Home Rule for Ireland (before its terms have been published), is a deplorable example of ignorance and uncivilized prejudice. Medenham bent over the levers and the car danced on through Reigate. Mrs. Devar impressed him as a despicable type of tuft-hunter. His acquaintance with the species was not extensive; he had read of rich Americans to English society, and the thing was not in itself, wholly indefensible; but he felt sure that Cynthia Vanrenen needed no such social sponsor, while the mere bracketing of Count Edouard Marigny with "Jimmy" Devar caused him to regard this unknown frenchman with a suspicion that was already active enough so far as Mrs. Devar was concerned. And the Marchioness of Belfort, too! A decrepit old cadger with

Perhaps this mood communicated itself to the accelerator. At any rate, the Mercury seemed to sympathize, and it was a lucky hazard that kept the glorious. lucky hazard that kept the glorious stretch of road between Reigate and Crawley free of police traps on that memorable Wednesday. Nevertheless, he could not repress a smile when he heard Mrs. Devar's distinctly chilly "Oh, not at all!" in response to Cynthla's polite apology for deserting her until they neared Brighton.

Somehow the car underwent a subtle change when the girl took her seat by his side. From a machine quivering with life side. From a machine quivering with life and power it became a triumphal chariot. The properties of mechanical energy to the same a properties of mechanical energy.

Cynthia did not pout. She nodded appreciation of the weighty if undescribed preciation of the weighty if undescribed business that called Fitzroy and his Merfirst cury back to London, but in her heart she mused on the strangeness of things, and wondered if this smiling land produced many chauffeurs who lauded it in such phrases

50 would be appropriate as a gift from a man in steady employ-ment whose income does not exceed $75 a month. Jewelers suggest nothing less than a stone costing some hundred dollars, and, if this is the usual gift, it is not surprising that marriage with the average man is on the decline. Such an amount will stock a small house with furniture. If I must pay so much, then I must frame up an excuse for deferring my visit and will have to postpone the marriage. I am an orphan and have no female relatives to whom to go for advice in such matters. Can you give me some detailed information as to rings to guide me in getting the best value for my investment? Size and cost of stone, inscription, etc., kinds and quality. A .- $35 to $50, under the circumstances, is quite enough to pay for the ring. Go to some reliable concern and tell them you want as good a stone as possible for the amount and that you simply cannot go over the amount you decide on.

RIGHT CHILDHOOD

The first character of right childhood is that it is modest. A wellbred child does not think that it can teach its parents, or that it knows everything. It may think its father and mother know everything-perthat all grown-up people know everything; very certainly it is sure that it does not. And it is always asking questions, and wanting to. know more. Well, that is the first character of a good and wise man at his work. To know that he knows very little; to perceive that there are many above him wiser than he, and to be always asking questions, wanting to learn, not to teach. No one ever teaches well who wants to teach, or governs well who wants to govern; it is an old saying (Plato's, but I know not if his first), and as wise as

OBEDIENCE IS BEST

By Cynthia Grey.

Beauty is the sign of health that draws all eyes after it. But if a woman makes the end and ambition of her life to be beautiful for the sake of sovereignty over others she will find her cup of bitterness full to overflowing.

All of the rites of religion link personal and spiritual purity in baths and baptism and putting on of clean linen, which are the essentials of health. We have already seen the average of human age raised from 30 to 70 years. The comeliness of youth may easily be preserved even longer than that.

To be charming is as beautifying as the "Girdle of Venus" whose magic was to charm, and without which she was merely a pretty woman. With it she was a queen. Juno without it was faultless, but undesired.

This mythical history is a lesson to be remembered. The woman who is self-centred and anxious to please for her own personal benefit falls short of happiness for herself and others a long way. Beauty does exist without charm, and it is a blessing that charm also exists without

The charm of a woman who is considered plain is shown in every action of her generous heart. She feels it unworthy of her to be dull, stilted, or indifferent, so reads carefully to be "en rapport" with the affairs of the day, alert in conversation and ready with intelligent answers to any question.

She is never indifferent to the appeals of the less fortunate ones, although they may bore her; she is gracious enough to be considerate and kind in voice and manner. It is hardly possible for such a woman to be supercilious, automatic, or dull. She simply goes on the principle of making things pleasant, not because you know someone she wishes to know, but purely for the love of human nature. She is naturally blithe, sunny and

"Strength and practice will make a many-pound figure move as lightly as a rubber ball and glide off like a bicycle."

There are no better examples of good manners before the public than those of the leading actresses of the day. Their grace and manners are those of refinement and good taste. Girls should copy as well as admire their tone of voice, grace of gesture, and manner of walk.

Queens of France used to consult with the actresses of Paris upon toilet and carriage, justly concluding that women whose business it was to please would have something to teach

If you wish to draw men or women toward you take care to display as much charm of manners as is shown by those whose profession it is to please. Remember: Desire is prayer, and prayers are answered.

"I saw the grain being received, I followed it through the various pr cesses, I watched the thin, delicate flakes being placed in the packag And not once was Tillson's touched by human hands.

"I decided right there that I'd aways buy rolled oats in packages.

"I also decided that I'd always buy Tillson's Rolled Oats, because of the care I saw exercised in the selection of the grain; because the flakes are rolled so thin that they cook perfectly in 15 minutes, and because Tillson's exclusive pan-drying process retains the delicious flavor and aroma of the oats.

Now, why do these men seek to locate as the people in excess of services actually the people in excess of services actually near as possible to the old stand? Why do they not move a mile or so away, where land is cheaper? In Toronto a certain corporation has just sold a building on Yonge street. The taxation of land-values is one thing: single-tax is quite another. It would be suicidal for the state to voluntarily restrict its taxing power to one held it about two years.

In Montreal an offer of $2,000,000 is said to have been made for St. James' Methodist Church. This property presumably did not cost more than half a million originally.

It is quite obvious that neither the individual citizen in Winnipeg, nor the corporation in Toronto, nor the corporation in Toronto, nor the corporation in Toronto, nor the hourch in Montreal, had any moral right to these unearned increments of value. They were created by the community; and to the community they should go.

Winnipeg, Jan. 28.—That eleven hundred Orangemen from Ulster, living in the Canadian Northwest, have volunteered to return to Ireland to take up him who gives and him who takes. It is arms against home rule, was reported him who gives and him who takes. It is a millstone about humanity's neck, and makes of wage-labor a slave and a chattel. Briefly stated the profit-system is the sum of all villainies—plus!

I should like to ask Mr. Fels and others the question: What iz our whole profit-system but a tax on business? A tax moreover, which goas into the pockets of private individuals, and every cent of this tax is paid by that unfortunged. OIL WORKS FIRE.

New York, Jan. 27. - A serious fire which necessitated four alarms and a special alarm broke out this morning in the Pratt oil works, of the Standard Oil Company, in the Williamsburg section of Brooklyn. Let it be said there is no truth in the story at all. Gibson will be one of the Pirates' mainstays next season, and it is a safe bet, anyway, that in the event of the Pirates asking waivers, that the other teams in the National League would grab him with both hands. Here is the pipe:

"George Gibson, Pirate backstop, whose splendid work went a long way toward giving Pittsburg the world's championship years ago, may be sold of traded by Barney Drefuss.

"Gibson slowed up greatly last year and gave way to Simon, who caught most of the games. Now that the Pirates have Bill Kelley, the catcher purchased from St. Paul along with Marty O'Toole, it's hard to see where there is any rooom for veteran Gibson to stick. "It wouldn't be surprising, either, If the other National League cities waived on him, and he goes to the minors."

In playing merit they were not noticeably superior to the Blue Shirts, who put up the best exhibition they have shown here this season. Indeed, in the last period of the contest they actually outplayed the locals, and it was only by herculean efforts on the part of the Canadien defence that the lead was maintained.

Wanderers Refused To Go on the Ice if Ottawa Insisted in Breaking the Rules.

Ottawa, Jan. 28.-Wanderers, outolaying the Ottawas in the second and third periods, after being outclassed in the opening period, sprang the biggest surprise of a season of surprises at the Arena on Saturday night, downing the Stanley Cup hold ers by 9 goals to 6. Play was fairly fast throughout, with a lot of rough work thrown in by way of excitement and the defeat of the champions came as a thunderclap, particularly in view of the easy manner in which they had accumulated a lead in the early stages and the rumors that were affoat con cerning an alleged "frame-up" to al low Wanderers to win. The result gave the game a decided setback in the capital and hundreds the rink in the third period under the impression that the Ottawas had played to lose. Such stories. however, were evidently absurd, for the game was a hard-fought one, and Wanderers surely deserved to win. They were way off color in the first period, but came back strong in the second and finished like real hockey ists. Art Ross' sensational work being chiefly responsible for their victory. The Ottawas threatened to use Fred Taylor, but this time the gate receipts were theirs and Wanderers promptly put on the kibosh by refusing to go on the ice until Ottawa had promised to Bricker certainly deserves much of the applied to Ottawa's threat to use seven

Tried Three Doctors and Went to

All skin diseases are more or less occasioned by a bad state of the blood, and no one can expect to be free from some orm or other of skin trouble unless the blood is kept in good shape. All skin diseases can be very easily cured by the wonderful blood cleansing properties of Burdock Blood Bitters.

This is due to the unrivalled purifying action of Burdock Blood Bitters on the blood, coupled with the thorough manner in which it cleanses and expels the impurities from the body.

Mrs. Richard Coutine, White Head, Que, writes:-"I have been bothered with salt rheum, on my hands, for two years, and it itched so I did not know what to do. I tried three doctors, and even went to Montreal to the hospital without getting any relief. I was advised to try Burdock Blood Bitters, so got three bottles, and before I had the second used I found a big change, and now to-day I am cured.'

Burdock Blood Bitters has been on the market for about 35 years and is manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Engineer Wright Will Present Much Information to the Improvement Committee.

At the meeting of the local improvement committee called for this evening, voluminous reports on the ost of various kinds of paving prepared by City Engineer Wright ormer Engineer Van Cleve, will be presented for discussion. It is not expected that any definite conclusion will be reached at this session. It would occupy a whole evening to read the reports, so lengthy are they, and much more time will be required to properly separate the essentials from the non-essentials, so that a definite

A gravelled street would cost about 32 cents a square yard, and would be suitable for certain reside. ial sections, where there is good

COMPLAINT IS MADE OF POLICE STATION

Place is Simply Terrible and Should Be Remedied at Once.

While it may be claimed that little sympathy is due the average man her sudden illness, and is now staying at the home of her sister. Mrs. John Edgar, on Oxford street. a great deal of complaint is being made of late regarding the condition of the Carling street station.

Any person who has occasion to b in police court-not by compulsionmay each day see battalions of vermin marching over the clothing of those who have spent the night in the cells.

It is sometimes the case that a man who has really done nothing excourt at 10 o'clock in the morning, build up his strength. Those who have been there state that it is remarkable what a community omes forth with a man after a few ours. The place has been given no serious attention in a very long time, and as those who are actually incarcerated in the station are not always those who suffer to the greatest extent the matter is one that should be acted upon, it is claimed.

One instance of this was pointed out this morning when a young man was charged with drunkenness. His wife comes of a very respectable famfly, and has had no experience in poice matters till she was unfortunate enough to marry the man who has since cared little for her comfort. Through pity for her the man was dealt with leniently, as after all it is his family that suffers to the greatest extent, as he is likely to carry the vermin to his own house.
