

KING MANUEL OF PORTUGAL IS FIGHTING FOR HIS LIFE HEMMED IN BY REVOLUTIONISTS

Republican Forces Bombarding the Capital With Boy Monarch Besieged in Palace—Great Britain Rushes Strong Squadron to the Scene.

Paris, Oct. 5.—An official communication issued today says: "It is confirmed by information, private, but certain, that an important revolution has broken out in Lisbon; that bombardment of the city has commenced, and that on Tuesday night King Manuel was still in the Royal Palace, resisting the revolutionists."

Gibraltar, Oct. 5.—The British cruisers Newcastle and Minerva sailed from here today, steaming at full speed for Lisbon.

LONDON HEARS OF IT.
London, Oct. 5.—The admiralty today received a brief wireless message confirming the news of a revolution in Lisbon, but giving even fewer details than the press dispatches of last night.

Upon the receipt of this message orders were sent to Gibraltar for the dispatch immediately of two cruisers to watch British interests in the troubled country.

DESERTED BY ARMY.
Paris, Oct. 5.—Portugal, since yesterday, has been isolated from the rest of the world, and circuitous reports declare that the country is in the throes of a violent revolution.

All the Portuguese navy and part of the army are reported to have deserted the monarch, and to have cast their lots with the revolutionists.

SHELLED THE PALACE.
The Portuguese warships shelled the Royal Palace, while land forces, after desperate fighting in the streets, dragged down the royal standard and raised the banner of the Republic.

King Manuel is said to be a prisoner in the palace. The immediate cause of the revolution was the assassination at the capital of Professor Bombarda, the Republican deputy and chief of the Liberal League, by a lieutenant of the army. So intense was the feeling against the throne that this incident, comparatively trivial in itself, was sufficient to start the outbreak. Portugal, following the example of Spain, has been imbued in recent years with a strong anti-clerical sentiment, and the Government programme included a revision of the status of the religious orders.

GATHERING DATA ON TECHNICAL SCHOOLS

To Be Presented to Royal Commission Which Meets Here in Few Days.

The board of education will present London's need of a technical school to the royal commission, which meets here in a few days.

Inspector Edwards and Chairman Gammage have been working on the problem, and the matter will be placed before the commission in a most convincing form.

"We have been obtaining much information on the subject," said Inspector Edwards. "A technical school should minister to the necessities of each community. We have carefully looked over the local situation, and we hope to place before the members of the commission every possible bit of information pertaining to the subject. We need a technical school in London. We will, however, make no demands, simply presenting our case. It will speak for itself."

Members of the board are confident that the ultimate result will be a technical school for this city.

NO MESSAGE TO ROME

But French-Canadian Congress Discussed Bi-Lingual Question.

Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 5.—A special general meeting of the Ontario French-Canadian Educational Association was held here last night under the presidency of Senator Belcourt.

The position of the French language in the schools was discussed in the light of recent developments, and the name of Bishop Fallon, of London, was frequently mentioned.

The members preserve great secrecy as to their deliberations, but it is understood that no resolution was adopted and no message was sent to Rome.

OTIS ARRESTED ON LIBEL CHARGE

More Troubles Come to Owner of Los Angeles Times.

Los Angeles, Oct. 4.—Gen. Harrison Grey Otis, proprietor of the Los Angeles Times, was arrested today on the warrant sworn to some time ago, in San Francisco, charging him with having criminally libelled Andrew Gallagher, a San Francisco labor leader.

SOME NAMES FOR BIG DELEGATION

Prominent Londoners Who May Go to Ottawa Regarding Port Stanley Harbor.

A MEETING ON THURSDAY

No. 1 Committee Will Then Name the Members of the Delegation—Real Estate Barred.

The finance committee of the city council will meet tomorrow to select the delegation to go to Ottawa regarding the improvements to Port Stanley.

There is no hope that Hon. William Pugsley will come to London, and in the meantime active preparations are being made to send a big delegation to the capital.

The selections of No. 1 committee will include many of the big business men of London.

The members of the London and Port Stanley board will go down, also this body will be augmented by a number of citizens from London, St. Thomas, Ingersoll, Port Stanley, the county of Elgin, and the county of Middlesex.

Possible Delegates.

Among those whose names have been mentioned in connection with the delegation are Major Beattie, M. P., Senator Coffey, Mayor Beattie, Dr. Harry T. Reason, Philip Pocock, Col. J. W. Little, Geo. C. Gibbons, K. C., Samuel Stevely, A. B. Greer, T. H. Purdon, K. C., Col. W. M. Garthshore, John McCleary, Arthur W. White, F. E. Leonard, J. G. Duffield, Hon. C. S. Hyman, T. H. Smallman, J. B. Smallman, E. R. Dennis, and many others.

The committee will nominate them, and it is expected that a large majority will go.

Dr. Reason, president of the board of trade, has secured the promise of many to make the trip, and it is expected that little difficulty will be found in sending down a delegation worthy of the city.

Port Stanley's Deputation.

Port Stanley will send down Reeve William Jackson, ex-M. P. Nate Cornell, and possibly one or two others. St. Thomas will send down Mayor Guest, and probably City Solicitor Doherty.

The county of Elgin will send Dr. Luton and Dr. Ling, while it is expected that Mr. S. Frank Glass will represent the county of Middlesex. Mayor Dr. Mackay, of Ingersoll, will go from that place.

Will Limit the Number.

"We will meet tomorrow in all probability to name the deputation," said Mayor Beattie. "We have been assured that the board of trade will send down a number of their members, and we will select others. We will not have fifty men go, but will probably limit the number."

"It was my intention to prove that the city was in earnest in this matter," said Ald. Eckert. "We will not send fifty men, but we will get nearly that number to go. A number of us will pay our own expenses, and then we will see whether or not the council will reimburse us, part or the whole of it. If they do not, all well and good. This is the most important matter the city has had to deal with, and we should deal with it as business men."

The Real Estate Bar.

The real estate bar is not talking in unison so much today, but expect that Ald. Richter will keep the deputation down in numbers.

It is also rumored that none of this famous organization will be asked to form part of the deputation.

EAST END PROPERTY OWNERS LAUNCH A NEW ASSOCIATION

Already 300 Names Have Been Secured to a Petition Which Has Been in Circulation Since Saturday Last.

A new civic association, to be known as the East London Property Owners' and Business Men's Association, is in the process of formation, and since Saturday more than 300 names have been attached to a petition which is in circulation.

A meeting of those who have signed will be called shortly, and the association will be organized and put on a running basis.

The objects of the new body are to guard and advance the interests of East London in every possible way.

The petition states that it is agreed that the association is not for any religious or political purposes, and the association will be organized and put on a running basis.

East side citizens know of a number of matters which are of great importance to them.

Candidates in Field.

If, as is likely, the association decides to place candidates for aldermen in the field at the coming election those selected will be asked to support a proposition to have the street railway build extensions from the terminus of the present Oxford street line near Wolsley Barracks up through the district east of the bar, and then southward to the new C. P. R. station at Quebec street, and on through to Dundas street, making a new belt line.

Real Park.

It is also proposed to ask the council to set aside and maintain a certain portion of Queen's Park as a real park for the use of east end people.

An important proposal also is to acquire possession of land in the southeast end of the city, and in the event of London being in line to secure large new industries sites will be provided.

Under the present laws the city cannot give sites to industries, but the association can acquire the property and give or sell it as they wish.

A large number of those who have signed the petition believe that a great deal can be done to boost London in this way, and they are enthusiastically taking up the work.

It is expected that the initial meeting of the new association will be called very shortly.

MAY BE DISQUALIFIED

Smith's Pals, Ont., Oct. 5.—W. H. Code, a member of the town council, has served a writ of disqualification on Mayor Dr. McCullum. The writ charges Dr. McCullum with an irregularity in selling cement to the town.

FIRE AT UXBIDGE.

Uxbridge, Ont., Oct. 5.—About 3 o'clock this morning fire was discovered in the Arlington Hotel, formerly the Plank House, here. The firemen, by hard work, saved the building, but it is badly damaged throughout. Mr. Wardman, the proprietor and owner of the building, estimates his loss at $3,000, which is covered by insurance.

STOLE FROM CARS.

Toronto, Ont., Oct. 5.—Edward Seaton, a C. P. R. yard foreman, pleaded guilty in the sessions today to breaking into cars and stealing liquor, tobacco, and chocolates. George Merry Weeden, a C. P. R. employee, was found guilty of receiving the stolen goods.

A PERJURY CHARGE.

Toronto, Ont., Oct. 5.—Chris Denno, a Macedonian, who is said to have attempted suicide, and then charged his friend, Trico Sikoff, with attempting to murder him, was committed for trial on a charge of perjury this morning.

Grand Trunk Earnings.

Grand Trunk Railway system traffic earnings from Sept. 22 to 30, 1910, were: 1910, $2,387,013; 1909, $1,179,150. Increase, $57,863.

Mr. Whitesell Better.

The condition of Mr. E. Whitesell, who was seriously injured in the shooting at the house of George White & Sons' factory Monday evening, shows improvement today. The burns are not so serious as his relatives at first thought. "He was better last night," said Dr. Geo. H. Wilson. "I have not seen him today, but I was informed that his eyes are giving him some trouble. I will see him some time today. He will be back at work again, believe, before very long."

Twenty-seven men were called at the assize court this morning before a jury of twelve was selected to try John Prodger on a charge of shooting Miss Elizabeth Frank with intent to kill.

All the jurors are farmers. All gentlemen residing in or about the assize court this morning before a jury of twelve was selected to try John Prodger on a charge of shooting Miss Elizabeth Frank with intent to kill.

While Miss Frank was on the stand Mr. Sidney Smith, the crown prosecutor, questioned her regarding the identity of the prisoner.

She swore positively that Prodger is the man who shot her on April 5 last at her home, after breaking in through a window.

Mr. P. H. Bartlett, who is acting with Mr. Edmund Meredith, K. C., for Prodger, explained to the court that he would not seriously contend that Prodger is not the man.

The courtroom was well filled with spectators.

Prodger went into the box this afternoon, and declared that his mind was a blank on the day of the shooting, and that he has no recollection of the crime, which he does not dispute he committed.

Prisoner in the Cage.

The prisoner was led in, preceded by Constable Northgraves and followed by Constable Paisley. He glanced uneasily about the courtroom as he was brought to the prisoner's box, wiping his lips repeatedly with a handkerchief.

He was dressed in a dark brown suit and wore a small black tie over a white shirt.

His eyes wandered occasionally to the end of the front row, where Miss Frank sat with her sister, Mrs. Rudd, of 175 Horton street, to whose house, a mile away, Miss Frank ran after the shooting.

The aged ladies were dressed in black, the plaintiff's head adorned being a large hat decorated with long ostrich feathers.

She listened attentively while Mr. Sidney Smith, the crown prosecutor, asked the details of the shooting and the route taken into the city by a man answering Prodger's description.

Story of the Shooting.

He told the story of the old lady who resided alone in the rambling residence on Wellington road, a short distance south of the river.

Miss Frank, he said, was seated in her kitchen on the afternoon of April 5 last, when she heard a crash in an adjoining bedroom.

She ran in and found a man, who she claims is the prisoner, standing at the side of the house.

The intruder fired a shot from a revolver at her, and she ran through the back door to the front lawn. A man followed, overtaking her at the front door. There he fired three shots at her, one bullet penetrating her ear.

The other wounding her in the neck. The man then fled back through the house and out into the back yard, which is inclosed by a brick wall. He dropped a black staff hat, which cannot, the prosecutor said, be identified as the property of the prisoner.

The next day a man without a hat was traced along the south river bank to the foot of Smith street, where abutments for a bridge had been erected.

Waded the River.

This man waded through the river near the abutments and proceeded along the north bank back to Adelaide street. He was seen entering the city, walking north on Adelaide.

Near Hill street the man entered the house of Robert Bremner, of 122 Adelaide street, and asked for a hat.

Mr. Bremner procured two and the man selected one.

Bremner claimed the person who got the hat from him was Prodger, and has identified the hat worn by the prisoner when arrested as the headgear he gave Prodger.

Prodger followed the address very closely and appeared somewhat uneasy under the fire of the eyes of the crowd in the courtroom.

The Evidence.

The first witness called was Mr. H. C. McBride, an architect, who made plans of the scene of the shooting and the Frank property, under the orders of the crown attorney. He also provided sketches of the territory south of the river through which the crown claims the prisoner passed in making his detour into the city.

Mr. McBride estimated that it would be about three times as far to go to the prisoner's home on Richmond street, near the postoffice, as to the Vauxhall bridge or Smith street, as it would be Valuable Horse Had To Be Shot as Result of Accident, for Which Street Railway Was Blamed.

The suit of Henry Horne, of Hyde Park, against the London street railway, which commenced yesterday morning at the assizes, monopolized the entire day.

At 6 o'clock in the evening a verdict for $1,100 was brought in by a jury.

Twenty-five dollars was considered enough to pay for the cutter and harness, which were smashed, and the remaining $1,075 was fixed as the value of the horse, Dr. Livingstone, a son of Oro Wilkes. Nothing was allowed the plaintiff for personal injuries.

The evidence taken yesterday afternoon concerned the value of the horse and the condition of the roadway where the accident occurred.

The case was entered in the name of Graydon & Graydon, for the plaintiff, but Mr. George C. Gibbons, K. C., acted with Mr. Marshall Graydon, and addressed the jury.

Mr. I. F. Hellmuth defended the street railway.

The Evidence.

Mr. Malcolm Fowler, a grocer, of Oxford street and Wharfedale road, measured the snow the day after the accident, and found it four inches higher than the rails in the centre of the tracks. It sloped up gradually to a great height at the curb. The "wing plow" of the street railway had piled the snow up at the sides of the rails, leaving room enough for only one vehicle.

GOOD TIMES ARE GIVEN AS REASON

Why There Are Fewer Students in Attendance at the London Collegiate Institute.

BOYS ARE IN DEMAND

As Also Are Girls—Stiff Examination Papers Are Also Partly to Blame, Say Educationalists.

The serious reduction in the number of students at the Collegiate Institute is causing some discussion in London, and many reasons are given for the decrease.

The majority of educationalists blame it on two causes—good times and the difficulty of the entrance examinations.

The first cause means that a large number of young boys and girls leave school to go into business pursuits. There is an increasing demand for them in the business world, and parents, it is charged, very often urge the boys to go to work, rather than spend a year or two in the Collegiate Institute.

The stiff entrance examinations eliminate many prospective students and reduce the attendance.

Two Causes.

"There is no doubt in my mind that the decrease is due to two causes," said Inspector Edwards. "There is a great demand for young boys and girls in business life, and consequently a large proportion cannot resist the temptation to go into this sort of work. This is the history of good times. When business is prospering there is a decrease in the number of Collegiate students. In hard times the schools are well filled as a rule. Of course, if we had a technical school, a difference might be made, as there would be many more attend such a school. Then the entrance examinations are becoming more severe. It is more than probable that a technical school would help us a very great deal."

Good Times.

"Good times and difficult entrance examinations explain the decrease," said Secretary McElhannon. "Good times cause large numbers of boys to leave school, especially those who do not intend to continue for professional reasons."

The reasons I give are the only ones I can advance for the slump," said Principal McCutcheon. "There is nothing else that suggests itself to me."

Traffic Heavy.

Traffic for the month of September was very heavy on the Grand Trunk Railway. In the London yards 21,863 cars in all were handled. Present prospects are exceedingly promising for an excessively heavy fall traffic on all the local lines.

Engine Tested.

The gas engine at the Horton street pumping plant was tested yesterday, and was found to be in first-class shape. The machine ran perfectly, and the test was most satisfactory in every particular. "We are well satisfied," said Engineer Gault.

Thanksgiving Services.

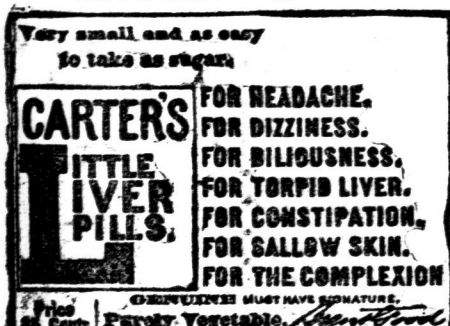

The recent thanksgiving services held in St. George's Church, Sarnia, were very successful. The church is nicely decorated for the occasion. The singing was excellent and the choir maintained its good reputation. The collection amounted to $296. The rector, Rev. Canon Davis, and his faithful workers, are to be congratulated on the successful services.

Principal McCutcheon Reports a Falling Off in Attendance of 81 This Year.

BOYS ARE IN DEMAND

Despite Decrease in Entrance Class There Are Many Boys in the Commercial Department—The Figures.

There will be no necessity for enlarging the Collegiate Institute for some time at least. At the meeting of the board of education yesterday afternoon, Principal McCutcheon reported that the enrollment was 81 less than a year ago, and the average attendance was 74 less.

His report said: The attendance at the Collegiate Institute was as follows:

Second year Gen. Course	208	190

What It Means.

"This means an increase of 1 in the Upper School, and a decrease of 67 in the Lower School general course, and a decrease of 22 in the commercial course. The decrease is confined to the first year, and is due largely to the increased severity of the entrance examinations.

"The decrease may be due in part to the increased business activity in the city. Since the opening of school this term I think I have had at least forty requests for boys to take positions in offices or learn various trades and businesses.

"In spite of the decrease in the entrance class this year I am glad to note that there is an increase in the

MAKING PEOPLE GOOD

Chinese Investigator Says It's a Very Difficult Matter.

London, Oct. 4.—The Hon. Chien Hsu, attorney-general of Peking, Judge Shih Ying Hsu, Chi Chang Shue, Wen Chang Lou and Y. T. Wang have travelled overland from China to England via St. Petersburg, Berlin, Vienna, Milan, Paris and Brussels on an imperial mission to ascertain in their own words "how bad people are made good."

In other words to study the European systems of administering justice and punishment. After inspecting some London jails Mr. Wang, who is the best English scholar of the party, sighed somewhat wearily.

"It is not easy to make bad people good," he said. "In your prisons they are comfortable. Do they ever being bad because you are so kind to them?"

"They look contented. They look too happy. It must do them good. Boys are hard to make good. We are very eager to know how it is done."

"Punishment is not everything. We are told that some old Chinese punishments are bad. So were the English stocks and rack. Not long ago you English used to flog people in the streets and hang thieves. Bad people in China would rather be whipped than imprisoned, so many are whipped every day. But not so many now as formerly. Whipping does not make them good.

"Fine, large prisons are being built in China, and warders are being brought from Europe to manage them. In many Chinese prisons eight or ten men are imprisoned together, and that is bad."

And again Mr. Wang repeated the plaint, which is as old as the world: "It is so hard to make bad people good. How is it to be done?"

The travels of grains of sand have long been a matter of scientific record. Years ago it was established that particles picked up on the coast of Pae de Calais had their origin in the rocks of Brittany, from 120 to 180 miles distant. Another standard fact is the discovery on the coast of Denmark of chalk dust which undoubtedly came from the cliffs of Normandy.

The report was received and filed for reference.

PUBLIC SCHOOL FIGURES

Inspector Edwards' Report Shows an Increase in Attendance—A Resignation Is Presented.

The board of education will present their views before the royal commission on technical education which will meet in this city on Oct. 17 and 18.

At the meeting of the board yesterday afternoon, Dr. Balfour introduced the question, and pointed out that as the board of education were most vitally interested in technical education, that they should name a committee to interview the commissioners. He suggested that Chairman W. W. Gammage, Inspector Edwards, Principal McCutcheon and Trustees C. M. R. Graham, Dr. Wyckoff and J. A. Hunt be the committee. Dr. Balfour's name was also added.

Resignations Tenders. Mr. H. A. Grainger, science master at the Collegiate Institute, tendered his resignation, the effect of the earliest convenience of the board. It was referred to No. 1 committee to deal with.

A communication signed by Mrs. McPherson, Mrs. Irwin and Mrs. Green, on behalf of the London Mothers' Club, urging the board to appoint a medical inspector, was referred to No. 1 committee.

Mrs. A. J. Wyckoff, secretary of the Lorne Avenue Mothers' Club, invited the board to their annual meeting this month. The invitation was accepted.

Inspector Edwards' Report. Inspector Edwards submitted his monthly report. It showed that the enrollment for the month was 5,655, and the average attendance 4,598. In 1909 the enrollment was 4,537, and the average 4,259. In 1908 the enrollment was 4,531, and the average 4,022. The kindergarten has 756 pupils on the roll; average, 573. In 1909 there were 686 on the roll, with an average of 573, and in 1908 there were 739, with an average of 608.

Traut Officer Weir reported that he had served seventeen notices, had one case in police court, and had three more pending. He suggested that when families move from one school district to another that the children be compelled to attend their old school. No. 1 committee will investigate the feasibility of the scheme.

S. K. Davidson asked for an increase of salary. No. 1.

Applications. Miss M. Runians asked for a year's leave of absence, and it was granted her.

Miss Marjorie Nash applied for a position on the kindergarten staff, and her application was sent to No. 1 committee.

E. W. G. Quantz reported that there was a balance of $24 54 remaining from the school concert given in the spring, and on motion of Dr. Wyckoff the money was ordered to be spent for new music books.

The present were: Messrs. W. W. Gammage (chairman), W. T. Strong, J. I. A. Hunt, Dr. Balfour, Dr. Wyckoff, C. M. R. Graham, J. M. Gunn, G. N. Perkins, and J. A. Hunt. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

Mr. Deane, an estimable and well-known Londoner. The store will be an exclusive "Semi-ready," and customers can rely upon getting the genuine, with the guarantee and trade mark woven on the inside pocket of every suit. Mr. Deane is a practical tailor, and his experience is of both assistance and value in giving an exposition of the meaning of Semi-ready.

The store has been completely overhauled and a long lease taken of the premises. The wardrobes are already filled with a magnificent assortment of Fall and Winter clothing. Overcoats and suits in immense variety will be shown. One privilege granted customers is that measures will be taken and a choice of styles given, and a suit will be made exactly as required. Their garments are all guaranteed. Mail order forms are sent to anyone desirous of taking self-measurement. Semi-ready clothes are always sold at a standard price, thereby giving confidence to the purchaser.

Mr. Deane is anxious to have all his friends in the city call on him tomorrow and see one of the choicest stocks of gentlemen's clothing ever shown in this city. "I want to emphasize the fact," said Mr. Deane, "that there is no other store in London where you can buy a genuine Semi-ready garment of this season's style."

TRIUMPH IN NEGATION
Londoner Who Had Special Gift for Doing Nothing.

London, Oct. 4.—John Delacour, who died recently, was the last of the men about town in London. This distinction was claimed for Montague Guest, but incorrectly. Mr. Guest did things. He collected pictures and bric-a-brac and was not unaffected by the bustle and hurry and desires of modern life. Mr. Delacour remained to the end the plain man about town of the seventies. He never went in for anything. He was always thoroughly well groomed.

Blood Humors
Commonly cause pimples, boils, hives, eczema, rheum, or some other form of eruption, but sometimes they exist in the system, indicated by feelings of weakness, languor, loss of appetite, or general debility, without causing any breaking out.

They are expelled and the whole system is renovated, strengthened and toned by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

and although he had no special gift for the occasion, he was thought one of the best dressed men of his time. His special gift was for not doing things. He would go into a billiard-room and spend a pleasant hour, but he never played billiards. He went into the card room, but he never played cards. People liked him because he gave a sense of leisure and of the unimportance of hustle. He was a triumph of negative qualities.

LONDON, WEDNESDAY, OCT. 5.

A NEW FORM OF EMPIRE BUILDING.

There is practical imperialism, without a tincture of partisanship, in the scheme of Mr. Norton Griffiths, M. P. for Wednesbury, Eng. He recently spent some weeks in Canada arranging to found three cities in the west, which will bear the names of English towns—Wednesbury, Tipton, and Darlaston. The resemblance will not end with the names. It is the purpose to establish in the Canadian towns industries similar to those in the English towns, so that men from the latter will find in the former the class of work to which they are accustomed. Tracts of land for agriculture are a part of the plan. Mr. Griffiths reports that his constituents are entering into the project enthusiastically. To the London Daily News he said:

"Already 1,200 applications, principally from Wednesbury people, had been received. About 70 had already gone out and he found them living temporarily in other communities waiting for the completion of negotiations before forming the nucleus of a new township. They were all prospering, and some had already begun to send home subscriptions to the Wednesbury Imperial League. Judging by the extraordinary publicity with which he saw township springing up he should say that the first of the new cities—timber-built, of course—should be going ahead well in twelve months' time."

"No, there won't be any attempt to make the towns an English game preserve. If the scheme is a success the communities will naturally attract settlers from all parts, and we shall be well satisfied if from 15 to 20 per cent of the population are English emigrants. That will be sufficient to prevent Wednesbury men and women from feeling that they are going among a lot of strangers. Of course, there is no idea of charity in all this; we simply want to do a bit of honest empire building. What we say to Englishmen is, 'Seize your opportunity before it is going, for it is going at a terrific rate.'"

Mr. Griffiths is no dreamer. He is the head of the firm of Messrs. Griffiths, Marriott & Co., who recently were given a $200,000 contract by the Government of Chile to build a railway 370 miles long from north to south along the range of the Andes, tunnelling under the mountains for scores of miles. Mr. Griffiths' standing is an assurance that his Canadian enterprise will not suffer from want of financial backing in its initial stages. The "colony" experiments in the west have not been uniformly successful, but the invitation to outsiders to share in the Griffiths undertaking is a reassuring feature.

A CRISIS IN PORTUGAL.

For all the outside world knows a revolution may have been effected in Portugal, and the streets of Lisbon may be running blood. The sudden stoppage of the telegraph service from the capital points to a carefully planned coup d'état. Apparently the political troubles of years have come to the boiling point. The assassination of King Carlos and the crown prince nearly three years ago was intended to be the signal for an insurrection, but the very horror of the crime produced a revulsion of sentiment, favorable to the monarchy. The crisis was postponed, and the youthful king ascended his throne with some promise of tranquillity, especially as he rid himself of the dictator Franco. King Carlos had incurred the enmity of all parties by supporting Franco, who held all parties in subjection, on the pretence of stamping out the corruption in which Portuguese politics has been always steeped, and of curing the financial disorders which threatened national bankruptcy.

King Manuel has been at least offensive. His conduct has been strictly constitutional, and he has submitted even to the anti-clerical policy of his present Government. The recent elections revealed unexpected gains by the Republicans in the cities and towns and gave that party the balance of power in parliament. The Republican leaders have been since outspoken in their predictions of the speedy downfall of the monarchy. They have claimed the sympathy of the army and navy, and the dispatches indicate that they have not counted on it in vain.

PROBABLY A LIBEL.

We look for an emphatic denial of the assertion that Prof. Marshall has been forced to resign from the faculty of Queen's University, because of his opposition to the project of a Canadian navy.

Freedom of thought and speech should find a refuge and stronghold in the seats of higher education. A denominational university may with propriety exclude teachings contrary to the beliefs which it was founded to promote, but Prof. Marshall's case is not in this category. He merely expressed his views in a magazine on a subject which does not touch the life and aims of the university. It is not recorded that he brought his opinions to the classroom. To say that he suffered for exercising the right of free speech in so mild a form is to bring a grave accusation against Queen's, which we believe to be a libel. It is entirely out of keeping with Queen's traditions.

Prof. McCurdy, of Toronto University, has by voice and pen declared against any contribution to Imperial naval defence, but his position in the university has not been prejudiced in the least. Surely there is not more liberty in the state institution than in Queen's, which has prided itself on its keener individualism and less formal atmosphere.

Portugal seems to be one of the unhappy countries not enlightened enough to be fit for constitutional government, and too enlightened to submit to despotism.

Immigration into Canada increased 76 per cent this year over last. The restrictions, about which there has been complaint, have justified themselves. They have improved the quality and have not reduced the quantity.

Sir James Whitney says the eye of England is upon Canada. This is good news, but we hope the ear of England did not mistake the voice of Sir James for that of Canada when he was talking nonsense about the dismemberment of the Empire.

The visit of the technical education commission to London on Oct. 17-18, will be of great importance. It is to be hoped the council, the school board, the university board, the board of trade, will get together so that London's claims will be submitted in the most practical and authoritative shape.

Harry Thurston Peck has been dismissed from the faculty of Columbia University. Mr. Peck wields a breezy pen, and has used it largely in making fun of the foibles of other men. But he made the mistake of airing his literary style in a series of love letters to a young woman, who is now suing him for breach of promise. Other men are now making fun of Professor Peck's foible.

WORNOUT CRIES.

Canada is hearing too much about the French flag, the French language and the French spirit. The church has heard too much about them, and the church is not in the humor to discuss grievances which exist only in the imagination.

RESIGNATION JUSTIFIED.

"So you resigned?"
"Yes, I couldn't stand the way the firm was run."
"What did they do?"
"Took my name off the payroll."

SOUND REASONING.

"Come in late night and tell against the piano."
"Hurt yourself?"
"No, I struck the soft pedal."

HIDDEN VIEW.

Painter's Wife—That's a view of the Alps. Clever, isn't it?
Uncle from Somerset—Well, if it wasn't for all them mountains I might be able to see summits!

MONK AND HIS NEW FRIENDS.

The Conservatives of Quebec appear to have captured the Nationalists, instead of the opposite. Mr. Bourassa hoped, at Montmagny on Sunday the orator was Mr. F. D. Monk, Conservative; Mr. T. C. Casgrain, Conservative; Mr. E. Panquet, Conservative; and Mr. Armand Lavergne, Nationalist. Reading Mr. Monk out of the Opposition has not been very effective. He is still the king-pin of the Quebec wing.

A YEAR'S GAIN OF WEALTH.

In short, the total addition this year to the wealth of the Province of Manitoba, Alberta and Saskatchewan can be little short of $400,000,000, barring what value may have been consumed by the people for sustenance. This would be but a small proportion; and anyway, the produce of the mines, timber and other natural resources has not been taken into account. Is it any wonder that the Dominion is moving along fairly well?

REFORM'S PROGRESS.

With the best system of laws and the drink evil both subjected to determined attack, the work of reform in the old country makes progress. There are better days ahead for the British people.

THOUGHT HE WAS STUCK.

Miss Scribbles—I understand you were stuck on my latest book?
Mr. Crittens—I guess that's right. I paid a dollar for a copy of it.

HOW IT WENT.

The Picture of Misery—Yes, I did, there was a time when I had money to burn, an' where I made the mistake was when I did burn it.
The Old Party—And, pray, what did you burn it with?
The Picture of Misery—With an old flame o' mine.

WHY THE KITTIES CRIED.

Wally, aged 6, found four little kittens in the cellar. A visitor, being told of them, expressed a desire to have a peep at the new baby pussies.
Wally went to fetch them, and soon pitiful mewling was heard below.
"Don't hurt the kitties, Wally," called out his mamma.
"No, mamma," shouted the boy, "I'm bringing them up carefully. I'm carrying them by their stems."

AN ANXIOUS TIME.

Mr. Broughton, the English artist, while sketching in the Alps, was one day in search of a suitable background of dark pines for a picture he had planned. He found at last the precise situation he was seeking, and, best of all, there happened to be a pretty detail in the figure of an old woman in the background.

"I asked the old lady," said Mr. Broughton, "to remain seated until I had made a sketch of her. She assented, but in a few minutes asked me how long I should be. 'Only a quarter of an hour,' I answered, reassuringly.
"Three minutes or so later, she again asked me this time with manifest anxiety—'If I should be much longer.'
"Oh, not long," I answered. 'But why do you ask so anxiously?'
"Oh, it's nothing," she sadly answered, 'only I'm sitting on an ant-hill.'"

A MODERN MOTHER.

"Housekeeper," said little Dorothy, "I want some water to christen my doll."
"No, dear," replied the mother, "it's wrong to make sport of such things."
"Then I want some wax to waxinate her. She's old enough to have something done."

A CONSCIENTIOUS ANSWER.

"Does de white folks dat lib in youah neighborhood keep any chickens, Bruthah Rastus?"
"Well, Bruthah Johnsing"—after considerable deliberation—"dey does keep a few."

NOT MERE TALK.

"I cannot live but a week longer without you."
"Foolish talk, duke. How can you fix on a specific length of time?"
"Ze landlord fix on it, miss, not I."

THE CAUSE.

"I hear his relations with his wife are strained. What caused it?"
"Her relations."

THE SAFE KIND.

Little Willie—Say, pa, what is a safe burglar.
Pa—A safe burglar, my son, is one who is behind the bars.

PACED TOO RAPIDLY.

"Waiter, ask the orchestra to play something different."
"Any particular selection, sir?"
"Something slower, please. I can't chew my food properly in waltz time."

LIVE WIRE BURNS OTTAWA BOY BADLY

Rescued From Horrible Death Only by the Greatest Difficulty.

Ottawa, Oct. 4.—With over a yard of live wire wound about his legs, and screaming with pain, little Peter Anderson, the twelve-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. P. Anderson, Hintonburg, was in a bad plight when rescued by Mr. C. P. R. carpenter, and Mr. F. Cade, who works in the yard. The two men were busy repairing a car, when, hearing screams, they turned and saw young Anderson writing in agony on the ground. They immediately ran to his assistance, and, not understanding the cause of his pain, Mr. Wood grasped him by the legs, and in turn got a shock that nearly knocked him over. He then took hold of the boy by the blouse, and dragged him a distance of twenty feet, the wire still clinging to his legs. Mr. Cade came up, then, slipped off his coat and used it to catch hold of the live wire, and at last succeeded in releasing young Anderson.

It was found that the wire had burned its way right through the boot and deep into young Anderson's foot. His legs also bear deep burns. Although unable to move this morning, it is announced that he will recover and be able to walk again. The wire hung in a dangerous position, right over the path into the C. P. R. yards, where one could hardly help stepping on it. It was the same one that caught three children on Sunday, who were freed by the son of Superintendent Spencer, of the C. P. R. The wire was found yesterday afternoon, when young Anderson was the next victim. Since then the telegraph company has cut it off the pole.

GRAND TRUNK ENGINEERS GET INCREASE IN PAY

Asked for 12 Per Cent and an Agreement Was Reached With the Company.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Montreal, Oct. 5.—For the past few weeks a committee representing the engineers of the Grand Trunk Railway system has been in conference with the superintendent of motive power. So quietly did they carry on their negotiations that although 25 of them were domiciled at a Montreal hotel for weeks, there has been no publicity about the matter. The negotiations were carried on with the best of good feelings, and on Monday a most pleasant to record an agreement has been reached satisfactory to all concerned.

The engineers asked for a substantial increase of pay, and it is understood, to something like 12 per cent. The Grand Trunk was willing from the first to grant them an increase, and the result of friendly negotiations was the agreement concluded last Thursday. The representatives of the engineers left for their homes Friday last, entirely satisfied with the result of their mission to Montreal.

TO FURNISH HEAT FOR BUSINESS HOUSES

Helena Costume Company Will Ask Permission to Lay Pipes.

The Helena Costume Company will run a steam pipe across Richmond street to connect Smallman & Ingram's and other business houses in the block to furnish heat for them. A gang of surveyors are at work today, and when they have their figures prepared application will be made to the board of works for permission to lay the pipes. They will be enclosed in asbestos to prevent injury to the pavement. They will get the pipes down while the streets are torn up.

NEW AVIATION RECORD.

Paris, Oct. 5.—The new world's record for altitude in an aeroplane recently established by Henri Wymaen, at Mourmelon, has been officially recognized by the Aero Club of France. The new figures are a shade better than those originally given out, as Wymaen is now accredited with having reached an altitude of 2,900 metres or 9,186 feet.

CHARGE WAS DISMISSED BY POLICE MAGISTRATE

Grand Opera House Is Declared To Be Perfectly Safe in All Particulars.

The charge laid by City Architect Nutter against Manager Minnick, of the Grand, to the effect that certain arrangements in the opera house were in violation of the building law, was dismissed at the police court this morning. Engineer Graydon stated that the charges were entirely unfounded, the theatre being in first-class condition. He spoke highly in praise of the exits and other arrangements for the safety of theatregoers at the Grand. Mr. Peary, the manager of "The Travelling Salesman" company, declared last night that in point of safety, the local opera house is superior to 75 per cent of the theatres of the United States.

CORONATION PARADE SEATS SELL FOR $50

Though the Royal Ceremony Is Not Held Until Next June, Bookings Are in Full Swing.

London, Oct. 5.—Although no announcement has been made of the official route of next June's coronation procession, from a reliable source comes the information that the pageant will take the following course: From Buckingham Palace, by way of the Mall and the new Trafalgar Arch, through the Strand and Fleet street to Ludgate Circus; thence to Blackfriars Bridge, returning by the Victoria embankment to Westminster Abbey, where the ceremony will be held. South London is making a strong claim for the route of the procession; but the route is not likely to be altered, as the King, it is understood, desires it to be as brief as possible.

Agents are already booking seats along the Strand and Fleet street. Orders for good positions are pouring in, and some seats have been secured for as high as $50 apiece, but these, of course, are for the best places. Office rents along the route have jumped amazingly, and several new buildings are being rushed to completion. Needless to say it is not the British upon whom these enterprising agents depend for the enormous prices, which are secured by the British agents arranged for seats before sailing. Orders are coming in from every branch of the Empire, New Zealand, Australia, India and South America, being represented among the orders received by one agent.

A big feature of the coronation will be a monster exhibition showing the growth of England and her colonies during King Edward's reign. Her people and their handiwork will be shown, and the exhibition is planned to demonstrate the power and infinite resources of the British Empire.

BOARD OF MISSIONS MEETS IN TORONTO

Canon Tucker, Who Is Coming to St. Paul's, Is Now the Secretary.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Toronto, Oct. 5.—The regular meeting of the board of missions of the Church of England in Canada is called for tomorrow next week. As Rev. Dr. Tucker, who is secretary, has been appointed rector of St. Paul's cathedral, London, this may be his last meeting in that capacity.

MANCHESTERS SUED

Doctor Demands Sum for Experimenting in Consumptive Cure.

London, Oct. 5.—There is great interest in both society and medical circles in a suit which will come up for hearing in the Marylebone police court tomorrow, when a Dr. Thomas will appear as suing the Duke and Duchess of Manchester for $500 for professional services.

It seems that some time ago the Duke and Duchess became interested in a consumption cure which was being conducted by Dr. O. E. Miller. The duke introduced several of his Irish proteges to Dr. Miller for treatment, and the results were so satisfactory that the duke took over the establishment, and Dr. Thomas, as the resident physician, was being a properly-qualified practitioner.

The duchess became a most active patron of the establishment, and Dr. Thomas declined to accept any fee for his services in the application of the consumption cure. Dr. Thomas alleges that he was given to understand that it was the intention of the Manchesters to establish sanatoria throughout Ireland and that they had set aside $150,000 for carrying out the scheme. The plan failed to materialize, however, and Dr. Thomas, alleging that this failure changes his relations with the Manchesters, now sues for the $500 for services.

IMMIGRATION FIGURES.

Ottawa, Oct. 4.—During the first quarter of the present fiscal year immigration into Canada shows an increase of 76 per cent, compared with April, May and June of last year. Arrivals at ocean ports increased by 106 per cent, while arrivals from the United States increased by 38 per cent.

The figures are as follows: Total immigration for the three months, 120,331; immigrants arriving at ocean ports, 84,831, an increase of 4,819 over last year; immigrants from the United States, 45,500, an increase of 12,576.

For the month of June the total immigration was 34,580, as against 20,869 in June, 1909, or an increase of 66 per cent.

No coal is mined in this country lower than a depth of 2,200 feet, while several English mines penetrate 3,500 feet down, and the mines in Belgium, 4,000 feet deep. Eight-inch seams of coal are mined commercially abroad, while few veins less than fourteen inches thick are worked in this country.

KING MANUEL OF PORTUGAL

Started at Banquet.

President-elect Fonseca of Brazil recently arrived at Lisbon, and last night a grand banquet was to have been given him by King Manuel. Accordingly, the Brazilian statesman must have been a witness, it is believed, of scenes similar to those of 1889 in Brazil, when the Portuguese Empire was overthrown.

Evidences of the activity of those who aimed at the throne have been found recently of late. On Sept. 20 the police raided a bomb factory and arrested ten persons. This action was said to have followed the discovery of a widespread anti-monarchical plot, with ramifications throughout the kingdom.

El Imparcial, an official organ, at that time declared the Government was prepared to mercilessly crush a revolt.

Found Bomb Factory.

Following the discovery of the bomb factories there have been arrests made daily among medical students, who were members of a secret revolutionary society, with branches in the Lisbon medical school, and the University of Coimbra. The Government's action against the Clericals also complicated the situation. Following the expulsion of the Jesuits from the monastery at Ponte, many Spanish priests, known as "Marlannos," who had settled in various parts of the country, establishing convents and monasteries, were ordered out of the kingdom, and their establishments closed by authority of the king. The foreign office called for the establishment of religious orders only for charitable and educational purposes.

The Portuguese unrest, which had gradually increased since the discovery of plots to overthrow the monarchy, and set up a military dictatorship or a republic, was aggravated by serious strikes among the cork cutters and cooper. More than twenty thousand men stopped work at Carreiros and rioting followed. The strikers seized railroad trains and burned thousands of bales of cork. Municipal guards and regiments of infantry and cavalry were dispatched to Barreiro, and a collision between the strikers and soldiers followed. Fifty strikers were injured. The grievance of the cork cutters was the exportation of foreign ready-made barrels. The Government recognized the strikers, discontinued the exportation of uncorked cork, and placed prohibitive duties upon foreign barrels imported. This caused diplomatic protests on the part of Great Britain and the United States, to which countries uncorked cork had been exported, and from France and Germany, whose merchants had bought enormous quantities of wine in Portugal, which could not be exported because of a lack of barrels.

The Republican Movement.

The republican movement, which found inspiration in the assassination of King Carlos and the Crown Prince Luiz Philippi on Feb. 1, 1902, grew in strength steadily, and the elections of last August added materially to the republican membership in the chamber. In districts where the republicans failed of carrying the elections, their vote showed a marked increase. When the Cortes assembled, the Government saw the danger of the Liberal cabinet being overthrown, and on Sept. 12, in order to keep absolute power in the hands of the cabinet, and tide over a troublesome period, but more particularly because the Government realized that its majority was too small to withstand an attack from the coalition forces.

Madrid, Oct. 5.—The Spanish telegraphic authorities announced this afternoon that they were trying to communicate by wireless with the British fleet supposed to be off Lisbon or near the Portuguese or Spanish coasts.

Paris, Oct. 5.—It was stated at the Brazilian legation here today that King Manuel has taken refuge on the Brazilian battleship Sao Paulo.

Royal Family Impressed.—Rome, Oct. 5.—Grave apprehension is felt here over the news from Portugal. Private reports are to the effect that the royal family have been imprisoned, and a republic proclaimed.

Interest here is intense, especially as the Queen-Dowager Maria Pia of Portugal is an aunt of the Italian king, and the Italian king is anxious over the religious situation and the possible effect it may produce in Spain.

No Word to Madrid.
Madrid, Oct. 5.—There has been no communication between Madrid and the Portuguese capitals since Tuesday morning. The only news of the revolution came by wireless from Santander. It is believed here that the revolutionists are waiting for the telegraph with the intention to restore them only when they are prepared to announce to the world that a republic has been proclaimed.

Completely Cut Off.
London, Oct. 5.—The Portuguese legation here is without official advice. Acting upon news dispatches, however, Marquis De Soveral, Portuguese minister to Great Britain, called at the foreign office early today, and had a long conference with Sir Edward Grey, foreign secretary; Sir Arthur Nicolson, new permanent secretary, and the foreign office. The legation here is without official advice.

London, Oct. 5.—The Portuguese legation here is without official advice. Acting upon news dispatches, however, Marquis De Soveral, Portuguese minister to Great Britain, called at the foreign office early today, and had a long conference with Sir Edward Grey, foreign secretary; Sir Arthur Nicolson, new permanent secretary, and the foreign office. The legation here is without official advice. The foreign office called for the establishment of religious orders only for charitable and educational purposes.

CONCERT WAS HELD AT LONDON JUNCTION

Splendid Affair Carried Out by Members of St. George's Church.

Anniversary services were held last Sunday in St. George's Presbyterian Church, London Junction. The pulpit was occupied by Rev. G. L. Johnston, late of North Bay. The attendance was very large, and the collections without any special appeal being made were the largest in years. On Tuesday evening an anniversary supper and concert were held in the church. A sumptuous and appetizing repast was served by the ladies from 6:30 to 8 p. m., and was thoroughly enjoyed by all present. Afterwards a high-class concert was 8562-A USEFUL APRON.

This practical design for a work apron is the simplest of fragments to make, and will be found a real aid in preserving the dress while engaged about the house. The skirt is wide and full, and furnished with two deep pockets that add considerably to its usefulness. The gathered bib covers the front of the waist, and is attached to a circular yoke that slips on easily over the head. Fluid gingham was used for the making, but percale, linen and cambric are all suitable for reproduction. The medium size requires 3½ yards of 36-inch material. The pattern is cut in sizes small, medium and large. A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10c in silver or stamps.

Health and Beauty

Sugar is a valuable foodstuff for children, but it should be eaten with moderation.

Damp hands are a great source of trouble to their owners. For a dusting powder try equal parts of starch powder and zinc powder.

Roughness round the finger nails is very unsightly. Rub the finger tips every night with some good emollient and sleep in cotton gloves.

Weak eyebrows and eyelashes can be strengthened and darkened by the application of cocoa butter, which should be rubbed on at bedtime.

When the hair begins to turn gray early in life it shows a lack of nutrition and you should massage the scalp once daily for at least ten minutes. Look to the general health and don't worry.

Washing the hair at reasonable intervals, followed by brushing, tends to make it bright. Make a lather of soap and wash the hair thoroughly, rinsing it in plenty of soft water. Then dry, brush the hair well for a quarter of an hour and it will look bright and will be quite easy to dress.

Sometimes one desires to change the air of a room in, as it were, double quick time. To do this an excellent plan is to open the door and swing it backward and forward quickly, making it serve as a sort of fan.

Nothing will better draw out inflammation caused by tears than to soak the eyes in hot water. To do this the cloth should be wet and laid over the lids, renewing as soon as the heat subsides. Ten minutes of this makes the whole face red and as the blood recedes the lids bleach with the rest of the skin.

Many people find that after hot weather their hair falls out considerably. This is often due to excessive perspiration, which rots the hair. It is a good plan in hot weather to keep by one a little bottle of the following lotion: One part distilled water and two parts pure spirit, and rub a little into the scalp at night at any time that one happens to have got very hot during the day.

Dear Miss Grey: 1. What day did April 20, 1896, fall on? 2. What is the latest style in hats for girls of fourteen years old? 3. Should girls of fourteen have beaux? 4. I have a green silk dress and have the material for a coat of the same. How would I have it made, loose or tight-fitting? 5. When your school teacher goes away and asks you to write to her, who would write first? SWEETHEART, 1. Monday, 2. Rather large hats with drooping brims and large crowns. 3. Decidedly not; don't be a little goose. 4. If you are going to have the coat, let it be loose fitting. The idea of a coat like that does not appeal to me. 5. I have no objection to your teacher asking you to write, do so by all means. Don't wait for her to.

Dear Miss Grey: Would you kindly tell me how to clean white fur, and rub a coat with it. MARGARET. Cover with powdered magnesia and roll up in a sheet for several days. Then shake and repeat the treatment. Flour may be used in the same way, or oatmeal first heated in the oven and mixed with cornmeal.

ALL AROUND THE HOME

[CYNTHIA GREY.]

It is said that when postage stamps stick together, they should be laid on a flat surface and pressed lightly with a foot. This is a very good idea, and does not destroy the gum as soaking them will do.

Keep a piece of black velvet to rub a chip hat with. It gives it a new look. A sponging with alcohol will renew black chip hats to their first color.

When making pillow slips add two inches to the usual length. Then if they give out at each corner they can be cut off and sewed over again.

Should the face look shiny rub it with a little cologne, then dust it with oatmeal. Leave this on for a few moments, then wipe with a piece of soft chamois leather.

If the nails are inclined to split, remember that the best time to cut or file them is at night just before getting into bed. After having cut them rub a very little cold cream into them.

Timely Recipes.

Many times during the fall months housekeepers wish for something new with which to supply the family table, and the following recipes will be found tasty:

Brunswick Stew.

Cut a four-pound chicken into pieces as for fricassee and put in a large kettle with a small peeled, sliced onion, quarter pound of lean bacon or a ham bone, cover with boiling water and simmer for one and a half hours; then add one pint of shelled Lima beans, one pint of sweet corn cut from the cob, one tablespoonful of minced, green parsley, and cook one hour longer. Season with salt and pepper to suit and serve with the gravy slightly thickened. If the chicken is tough it must be cooked for two hours before adding the vegetables.

Peach Cobbler.

Line a two-quart pudding dish with a thick baking powder dough and fill the dish with peeled, pitted and sliced peaches; cover with a cupful of granulated sugar mixed with half a teaspoonful of cinnamon and two table-spoonfuls of water and cover with more pastry; bake slowly until the dough is done well enough to slip about the dish, which should be greased. Serve with plain cream.

Housekeeping on a Very Little.

The old saying about "a penny saved" being "a penny gained" is too often forgotten nowadays, and we moderns are much too ready to say, "Oh, I am no good at housekeeping!" I was never taught housekeeping, and so on. And consider that full excuse for not teaching ourselves all these things.

The fact is, that not two married women in a million are so stupid, so dense, that they could not become good economical housekeepers, home dressmakers, and cooks, if they chose to do so. It is not nearly as hard a lesson as the history or German or arithmetic one learns at school. It entails much self-sacrifice, however, and a good many sweet, good wives, who would be perfect treasures on a desert island, would be heroic in a shipwreck, would nurse their husbands through plague or smallpox without a murmur, cannot seem to see that it is just as heroic to energetically force oneself to "make ends meet" on a painfully inadequate income; to move into the small house in the downy street, to go oneself to the shops and pay cash, instead of sitting cozily by the fire and giving orders on credit; to ask one's friends to tea and home-made cake instead of dinner, to make one's own garments with the aid of a dressmaking course and a paper pattern, instead of buying expensive, soon-worn-out, ready-made finery.

Nor can they believe the simple truth that there is more satisfaction in "owing no man anything" than in the most gorgeous home kept up on credit. And the other little fact, that it is silly to "keep up appearances" you cannot pay for, because everybody always sees through them, and laughs at you for it.

CHAPTER II.

Monsieur.

The Wanderers beat Chantilly. One minute before the close of the fourth chukkur, the score stood at 4 all. Both teams were playing with desperation to avoid a decision on tired ponies, when the Wanderers' third man extricated the ball from a tangle of prancing hoofs and clattering sticks, and Alec Delgado got away with it. He thought his pony was good for one last run at top speed, that and no more. Risking it, he sprinted across two hundred yards of green turf with the Chantilly No. 1 in hot chase. His opponent was a stone lighter and better mounted; so Alec's clear start would not save him from being overhauled and ridden off ere he came within a reasonable striking distance of the opposing goal-posts. That was the Chantilly man's supreme occupation—some experts will have it that the ideal No. 1 should not carry a polo stick—and the pursuer knew his work.

A hundred, eighty, sixty, yards in front Alec saw a goal-keeping centaur waiting to intercept him. In another couple of strides a lean, eager head would be straining alongside his own pony's girthing. So he struck hard and clean and raced on, and the goal-keeper judged the flight of the white wooden ball correctly, and smote it back again fair and straight.

It travelled so truly that it would have passed Alec three feet from the ground to drop almost exactly on the spot where he had driven it. But there was more in that last gallop along the smooth lawn than might be realised by anyone present, save Alec himself. It was his farewell to the game. From that day he would cease to be dependent on a regular stipend for the upkeep of his stable, and that meant the end of his polo playing. But he was not made of the stuff that yields before the twelfth hour. His mallet whirled in the air, there was a crack like a pistol shot, and the ball flew over the amazed goal-keeper's head and between the posts.

The yelling and handclapping of the few spectators almost drowned the umpire's whistle.

"By gad, that was a corker!" said he of Chantilly, as the ponies' wild gallop eased to a canter.

"I hope that fourth of mine did not come too close, Beaumanoir," said Alec. "Don't give a tuppenny now," laughed Lord Adair Beaumanoir, "the match is over, and you've won it, and if you play till doomsday you'll never score a better notch."

"It was a lucky, a sheer fluke," "Oh, that be jiggered for a yarn! A fellow flukes with his eyes shut. You meant it."

"Yes, that is right. So would you, Bert, if it was your last knock." "Well, time's up, anyhow," said Beaumanoir, not comprehending.

They trotted off to the group of waiting rooms. Delgado ran the easiest of congratulations, for Paris likes to see Chantilly's flag lowered, and escaped to the dressing-room. The last of the already written and sealed to an attendant, and drove away in his dogcart. Bowling quickly along the drive, he found himself eyeing the parade of fashion in a curiously detached mood.

Yesterday he thought himself part and parcel of that gay throng. Today he was a different being. All that had gone before was merged in "yesterday's seven thousand years."

His cob's pace did not slacken until he drew rein at the plant doorway of a block of flats in the Rue Boissière. It was then about 5 o'clock, and he meant to appear at his mother's tea table. He was far from looking the part of a young man in a hurry. Indeed, it might have taxed the resources of any crack resister in Paris that day to produce his equal in condition. Twenty-four years old, nearly six feet in height, lean and wiry, sound and strong, he should have been straight as a spear, he met the physical requirements, at least, of those classic youths beloved of Joan's favorite goddess.

Usually his clean-cut face, typically American in its high cheekbones, firm chin, mobile mouth, and thoughtful eyes, were a happy-go-lucky expression that was the despair of match-making mamas; but today Alec was serious. He was thinking of the promise that to the soul of fire would be given more fire, to the manly a might more than man.

If he had not been so preoccupied, he could certainly have heard the raucous shouts of newsmen running, frantically along the boulevards. That is to say, he heard, but did not heed, else some shadow of a strange destiny must have dimmed his bright dreams.

Their nature might be guessed from his words to Joan, the question he addressed to the concierge proved that his intent was fixed.

"Où, m'sieur. His Excellency has mounted a little half-hour ago," said the man.

Alec nodded. "Now for it!" he said to himself.

His father, a born fop, a boulevardier by adoption, cultivated habits that seemed to follow the mechanical laws of those clockwork mechanisms in the hands of horologists contrived for the amusement of children, big and little. Whether the clockwork mechanism was a tin-tin or card playing, the whereabouts and occupation of Prince Michael Delgado could be correctly diagnosed at any given hour of the day and night.

Porto delicias at times in tormenting such men with great men, and Prince Michael, standing now with his back to the fireplace in his wife's boudoir, was in a fairly good position to observe the boon for which so many sigh in vain.

Of course, he knew nothing of that. His road, plump, rosy face, at first sight absurdly disproportionate to his dapper and feminine body, wore a frown of annoyance. In fact, he had been obliged to think, and the effort invariably distressed him. Apparently he had a big head, and big-headed men of diminutive frame usually possess brains and enjoy using them. But closer inspection revealed that his highest skull resembled an egg with the narrow end uppermost.

Thus, according to Lavater, he was richly endowed with all the baser qualities that pander to self, and markedly deficient in the higher attributes of humanity. The truth of the matter, however, the cynic, the egoist, were there; but the physiognomist would look in vain for any sign of genius or nobility. Recognition of his undoubted rank had, of course, given him the grand manner.

That was unvarying, and it was his chief asset. He liked to be addressed as "Monsieur," he had a certain reputation for wit, he carried himself with that ease that marks his caste, and he had shown excellent taste in choosing a wife.

The Princess did indeed look the great lady. Her undoubted beauty, added by a touch of Western pleasure, had captivated the Paris salons of an earlier generation, and those same salons repaid their debt by conferring the rank of nobility on a one-sided heredity. Alexis Delgado evidently owed both mind and body to his mother. Looking at the Princess, one saw that such a son of such a father did not become sheepishly impossible.

Shower for the Bride-Elect.

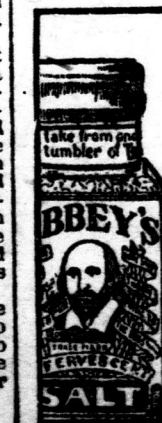

A box shower given to a bride-elect proved a great success. Each guest invited was requested to bring her gift in the shape of some sort of a box or to have the gift done up in a box at least. These boxes were placed in a large store box, which had been neatly papered in white with red hearts pasted here and there over it.

Among the boxes presented was a work box, a button box, a collar box, a handkerchief box containing a half dozen linen handkerchiefs, a glove box, a shirtwaist box, a box of napkins, trash box, manicure box, jewel box, a box of pretty hand-embroidered towels and one containing numerous small tin kitchen utensils, says a writer in the Woman's Home Companion.

Part of the refreshments were served in pretty boxes decorated with red hearts, while heart-shaped boxes held the nuts and bonbons. In the centre of the table was a tower of tiny boxes, as many as there were guests. A red baby ribbon was attached to each box and led to a guest's plate, as well as one to the bride-to-be's plate. Just before leaving the table the hostess told all to pull their ribbons toward them at once. These tiny boxes were found to contain slips of paper on which were written love sentiments or quotations from well-known authors.

COMMERCE OF LAKES SETS A HIGH RECORD

Shipments During August Are Largest On Record for Single Month.

Washington, Oct. 4.—The commerce of the great lakes in August, this year, was the largest on record for a single month. It aggregated 13,966,118 short tons, or about 500,000 tons greater than during the same month in 1909 and about 3,000,000 tons in excess of August, 1908.

The iron ore shipments aggregated 6,872,278 long tons, compared with 6,947,506 long tons shipped during August of the preceding year. The total amount of iron ore shipped by lake to domestic ports during the eight months of the present year, 28,266,358 long tons, is still 27 per cent larger than the 1909 total.

The soft coal shipments during the month, 2,591,544 short tons, while lower than in July, proved, however, about 20 per cent larger than the August, 1909, figures. The total season shipments to the end of August were 11,235,984 short tons. Of the total season receipts to the end of the month, about 55 per cent was taken by Lake Superior ports and slightly more than 40 per cent by Lake Michigan ports.

Hard Coal Shipments Gain.
The August shipments of hard coal, 544,472 short tons, more than 90 per cent of which proceeded from Buffalo, were likewise in excess of the August, 1909, figures of 471,965 short tons. The eight months' shipments of hard coal, 2,665,045 short tons, were more than 20 per cent larger than a year ago. Of the total season receipts, over 62 per cent was unloaded at Lake Michigan ports.

The wheat shipments during the month, chiefly from Chicago and Duluth, totaled 4,775,112 bushels, compared with 3,159,668 bushels shipped in August, 1909. Corn shipments during the month, principally from Chicago, were 4,561,417 bushels. Oats and barley shipments, 1,530,177 and 482,991 bushels, respectively, also show slight increases over last year's figures.

The combined grain shipments for the eight months of the present season, 56,880,206 bushels, show a considerable increase over the corresponding 1909 figures of 44,811,145 bushels, all the principal grains except rye showing in the increase.

Lumber Shipments for the month, 158,382,000 feet, continued heavier than a year ago. Up to the end of August these shipments, 761,095,000 feet, showed a gain of 13 per cent over the corresponding 1909 figures.

Vessel Movement Heavier.
The vessel movement on the great lakes during the month was heavier than a year ago, the departures numbering 11,689 vessels of 16,903,414 net tons, compared with 11,274 vessels of 15,881,680 net tons, which departed in the domestic trade during August, 1909. The departures during the eight months of the season numbered 49,941 vessels of 72,164,198 net tons, an increase over 1909 of about 10 per cent in the number of vessels and almost 20 per cent in the tonnage.

The average size of vessels plying between the domestic ports on the great lakes appears to have increased from 1,331 net tons registered in 1909 to 1,445 net tons during the present year.

RAPHAEL'S TABLET

Removed to Make Way for Tomb of King Humbert.

London, Oct. 4.—Signor Silvio Caterini laments in the Nuova Antologia that the marble tablet in the Pantheon on which Raphael is buried has been removed to make way for the tomb of King Humbert I.

This tablet dates from 1823, when Raphael's body, which had been laid to rest in a cavity of the wall near the third altar to the left in 1520, was dug up, shown in a glass case for six days and then reburied in a marble urn—the gift of Pope Gregory XVI.—under the marble statue of the Madonna executed in accordance with Raphael's will. The Latin inscription on the tablet recorded the finding of the master's body, which for more than 315 years had been lost, and marked the spot where it had been reburied.

Now that the tablet has been removed Raphael's tomb is naturally supposed to be where the bronze statue of the painter is erected, and Cardinal Bembo's well-known epigram.

Living, great Nature feared he might outlive Her works; and dying, fears herself may die leads visitors to believe that the painter's last resting place is there. Signor Caterini found the tablet, badly broken, hidden in a corner, and he was told that as it was useless the authorities had decided to destroy it. When the Pantheon was consecrated as a Christian church in 608 the statues of the heathen gods were removed and 23 wagonloads of the bones of martyrs were carried there from the catacombs. Now that the kings of united Italy are buried in the only ancient edifice of Rome, which is still in perfect preservation the relics of Christian martyrs and the bodies of painters are evidently considered out of place.

REVOLUTION IN WAR BY AEROPLANE

What the Recent Developments in the French Army Manoeuvres
Have Developed.

London, Oct. 4.—Hilaire Belloc, M. P., in an article on the revolution in warfare produced by the aeroplane, says:

The practical object of watching the manoeuvres of an army in time of peace is the discovery of its aptitude for war. The French manoeuvres in Picardy which have just concluded, and which I have witnessed, have discovered in respect to the aptitude of the French army for war a feature at once so novel and so fundamental that it eclipses all others, and must form the chief or only theme of any useful comment upon that force today.

Certain main features with regard to the French service are the common property of all serious students of modern armies. It is designed and used, quick-firing artillery many years before any other service; it has easily maintained its pre-eminence in the quality of this feature, and by the law recently voted it has recovered its numerical advantage as well; in the proportion of sickness, both among men and beasts, under a strain, and in marching power, it is also pre-eminent; and a discussion of these points or a description of them would be a mere reiteration of what is already known. But the change introduced by the art of flying was absolutely untried until this experience of last week.

New Problems.
Would the new arms, at their necessarily high rate of speed, be able to make really effective and useful observations?

Would they be able to take detailed note of what they saw, and report in precise terms to headquarters?

If so, would the advantage be neutralized by the vulnerability of the flying men and their instruments?

Would the officers trained to the new art—to be trained in increasing numbers—be as reliable as the very few professionals who have hitherto mastered it?

No reply to these questions was possible until the experiment had been tried under conditions approaching as nearly as possible actual warfare.

Now, allowing for all the inaccuracy and sensationalism which has surrounded the very rapid development of the art in its connection with warfare, the verdict is final: The appearance of the aeroplane has changed the conduct of war.

It is an accurate verdict, and the future will prove its accuracy. No one can have followed these manoeuvres, have watched the work of the aeroplanes, have estimated—whether by his own common sense or by the expressed opinion of experts—upon the spot—both their efficacy and their vulnerability, without coming to such a conclusion.

The power of discovering what dispositions an opposing force has made of discovering them completely—and immediately and as upon a map, of reporting them in detail, and the consequent power of acting at once upon such a report, has for the first time entered into the art of modern war; and the instruments capable of acquiring and transmitting such information are instruments certainly usable and efficacious under fire, and not only during the simulacrum of manoeuvres.

Tactics Transformed.
That the revolution is very great and very startling does not make it any the less a fact. Careful as one should always be of guarding one's self against exaggeration where new discoveries are concerned, one returns perpetually, as one remembers what one saw in Picardy, to the flying machine defined above; the art of flying has been reached; such a point and is accomplished with instruments of such a character that it has transformed the character of war.

Tactics Transformed.
That the revolution is very great and very startling does not make it any the less a fact. Careful as one should always be of guarding one's self against exaggeration where new discoveries are concerned, one returns perpetually, as one remembers what one saw in Picardy, to the flying machine defined above; the art of flying has been reached; such a point and is accomplished with instruments of such a character that it has transformed the character of war.

ENGLAND FAVORS CANADA STRONGLY

Sir James Whitney Well Pleased With What He Saw On Visit to Old Country.

Toronto, Oct. 4.—"It is difficult to describe the nature and extent of the feeling discovered everywhere in England with relation to Canada and everything connected with this country. Attention is literally focussed upon Canada—and Ontario has a fair share of such attention."

Such was the message Sir James Whitney brought back with him from Britain. The Premier, when interviewed as to his mission, stated that his main purpose in the trip was to see what the exact conditions of the immigration question were in this country. "The fact has been utilized," he observed, "and we now find it very difficult indeed to procure agricultural laborers, for the simple reason that they are wanted in this land. The feeling, however, in favor of strong immigration to this country is general. Besides a great number of inquiries made by correspondence, the personal inquiries at the Ontario agency in London during August exceeded 1,300."

Of the visit of the Queen's Own, the Premier spoke in eulogistic terms. "No occurrence of the kind," he said, "has, in my opinion, done so much toward drawing the attention of the people of England to Canada as the visit of the Queen's Own Regiment."

OPEN PULPITS
Controversy Likely at the Protestant Episcopal Convention.

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 4.—Delegates to the 43rd convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in America began to arrive here today. The gathering which is triennial, will open tomorrow.

The Rev. Henry Anstice, of New York, who has been assistant secretary of the church's house of deputies since 1877, today declared that the convention will be one of the most important in the history of the church. Five amendments to the constitution of the religious body are to come before the delegates, he said.

The so-called "open pulpit" controversy was explained by him as referring to the extent to which the pulpit should be restricted—whether to ordained clergymen or to a larger class approved by the church.

"The term 'open pulpit' is a misnomer," he added.

Dr. Anstice also indicated that there may be discussion over changing the name of the church. A movement has been pushed in the organization for years to make the title "American Catholic Church."

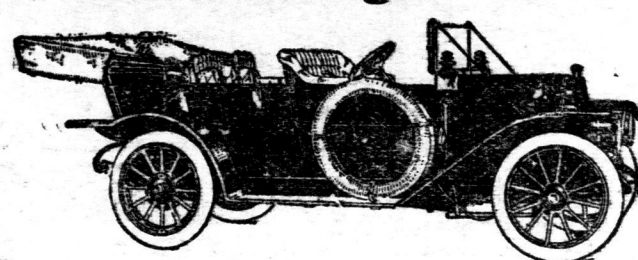

"There are other Protestant churches and other Episcopal churches," said Dr. Anstice, "we wish to get away from both terms. Our church is distinctly American and is catholic in the broadest sense."

There is no reason why the Roman church should have a monopoly of that word, which means simply universal in the sense of being "all-inclusive."

J. Pierpont Morgan will be one of the big figures in the convention.

A MYSTERIOUS RAY

The Ultra Violet Almost a Rival of Radium.

London, Oct. 3.—The ultra violet ray is almost a rival to radium in the mysterious properties and powers which are attributed to it. The famous French scientist Prof. Becquerel has lately pointed out that it destroys the spores of organic life and so prevents the transmission of life from world to world, and the Paris municipal authorities have given it an extended trial as a germicide in purifying Seine water.

Its most curious property, it seems, is its power of causing metals to throw off clouds of tiny particles as if by its impact it could shatter the surface layer of the metal into minute grains of dust. This fact has been utilized by Prof. Svedberg, of the University of Upsala, Sweden, to produce what are known as colloidal solutions—mixtures of solid and liquid not quite so intimate as perfect solutions, like salt and water or sugar and water, and yet more intimate than when the pulverized matter is simply floating or suspended in the liquid, like sawdust or sand and water.

The peculiarity of these colloidal solutions is that the particles when sent by an ultra microscope are seen to be in rapid movement, and they so

FIVE UNDER AUTO, ONE MAN DYING

Port Huron Garage Keeper Dragged From Beneath Burning Machine.

Port Huron, Mich., Oct. 4.—An auto driven by P. C. Greiner, a garage keeper, slewed and plunged down a 20-foot embankment 11 miles north of town early this morning. The machine turned over, Greiner falling beneath. The auto caught fire and Greiner was dragged out, his coat being left behind. The $3,000 auto burned up, and the coat with it. Greiner is in a dying condition. He has a wife and family.

Four other men were in the auto: Philip McQuade, proprietor of the Northwest Hotel, was badly hurt; Michael Holland and James Wenger received lesser injuries, and David Jones escaped injury altogether.

RAIN SPOILED THORNDALE FAIR

Owing to Inclement Weather It Was Necessary to Call Off the Splendid Race Programme.

EXHIBITS WERE GREAT

But People Had No Chance to See Them—Directors Did Excellent Work, However.

Unfavorable weather alone prevented Thorndale fair, which was held yesterday, from being the most successful in years. There was an exceptionally large attendance, but owing to the incessant downpour of rain the crowd kept constantly changing, no one remaining long on the grounds. This year the directors had arranged a much larger prize list than previously, and some especially promising entries had been received for the races, which on account of the inclement weather it was found necessary to call off. The showing of farm stock was unusually good, particularly in sheep and cattle classes. Horses were not so numerous, but made up in quality what they lacked in number. There were also noteworthy exhibitions of swine and poultry.

Roots and vegetables were well above the average, and the apples shown were exceptionally fine. In smaller fruits some choice exhibits were made, some fine grapes and peaches being shown.

The exhibits. There were several good art exhibits. Butter and honey were of a high quality, and the exhibit of fancy work, quilts, and embroidery was meritorious throughout.

The exhibit of grains was extremely good. Among the exhibitors in the various classes were:

A. Bryden, lambs.
 Gilbert Judd, geese, ducks.
 S. Bourne, Rebecca, horses, roots and honey.
 Joseph Cunningham, Durham cattle.
 Robert Judd, poultry and roots.

Rain Spoiled It.
 Everyone crowded into the horticultural hall or took refuge in the village, to get away from the rain. The embryo midway was deserted, and there was practically nothing doing on the grounds. UNION MEETING ON MISSIONS
 Women's Baptist Societies of City Addressed by Returned Missionary.

The regular semi-annual union meeting of the Women's Missionary Circle of the Baptist Churches of this city was held in the Adelaide Street Church on Monday, Oct. 3, Mrs. T. Woodburne, president of the Adelaide Street Circle, presiding, with Miss Edna Gillies at the organ.

The afternoon session was opened with the hymn, "Gospel Bells," Scripture reading and prayer by Mrs. Carow, of the Maitland Street Baptist Church, after which letters from several lady missionaries in India were read by Mrs. Pegler, Mrs. W. H. Watson, Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. C. W. A. Woodburne.

Miss Lida Pratt, of Petrolia, who has just recently returned from India on furlough, was then introduced, the audience standing to welcome her. In a short address she gave glimpses of her work, and told of the devoted lives of several of the native Bible women, who were her helpers.

At the evening session Miss Pratt again addressed the gathering, telling in her own graphic way many incidents of her work in the schools, in the zenanas, and on tour among the villages. She told of the death of workers, and pleaded earnestly for recruits and means to send them.

BOGUS NOBLEMAN WAS INDISCREET

Man Was Member of an International Gang of Card-Sharppers and Swindlers.

Berlin, Oct. 4.—The police since his arrest have gained possession of a remarkable series of letters which Bela Klimm, the pseudo-Marquis de la Ramee, wrote in expansive moments to a Miss M., and in which he gave full details of his misdoings.

Both the lady whom Klimm married and her mother heard of these letters, and tried to buy them. After refusing $5,000 for them, Miss M. handed them to the police for nothing, and is now suffering agonies of remorse.

Even after his marriage Klimm was a member of an international gang of card-sharppers, which included two Englishmen. The gang conducted operations in all the continental capitals, with occasional trips to America. Last year this gang kept a large and luxurious house in the West End of London, where nightly orgies were indulged in and many victims who played cards were robbed unmercifully.

Klimm became engaged to an Egyptian princess, who was more than forty years of age, while he was just twenty-eight, but the marriage was prevented by the woman's relatives.

After this matrimonial plan had been frustrated, Klimm came straight to this city and met his present wife. During his stay in London, Klimm became acquainted at a West End hotel with a foreign countess, whose maid fell ill and had to be removed to a hospital. Klimm offered to find another maid for the countess, and telegraphed to Berlin to Miss M. to take the position. She refused, but Klimm secured another girl, who hastened to London and entered the countess's service. Two days later the countess missed a diamond necklace of great value, and the girl disappeared. Part of the necklace were sold subsequently in London, Paris and Berlin.

Klimm once barely escaped arrest in Cairo, when the police raided a gambling resort, by jumping through a window.

The letters in the possession of the police show that Miss M. lent Klimm $5,000 and pawned all her jewelry to supply him with the money he wanted.

BATTLE PRACTICE OF BRITISH NAVY

Important Maneuvers Held This Year in the Channel. THE TESTS MADE SEVERE

Officers and Crews Are Compelled to Act at a Moment's Notice.

London, Oct. 4.—The ships of the fleet have completed their annual battle practice. The first division of the home fleet, including the ten Dreadnought battleships and cruisers, has completed its firing, which took place this year in the channel, Portland being used as the base. The second division of Sir William May's command had its battle practice in the Moray Firth, while the third division, which is composed of the nucleus crew vessels, was at Lamlash for the same purpose.

This year it has been possible to know more exactly the time and place of the battle practice in the various units of the fleet by the movements of the cruiser set apart for the use of the inspector of target practice and his staff. The innovation of placing an armored ship under the orders of this officer during the battle practice season is a very natural one and has occasioned little comment.

The Sutflej was first selected, but when the unfortunate boiler mishap occurred on board that ship, her sister, the Hogue, was brought forward instead. The rank have been appointed to her temporarily to assist the inspector in superintending the battle practice of the ships.

Practice Conditions Severe.
 The first to finish the test this year were the Atlantic fleet vessels, and although complete results are not available, it is anticipated that the final returns will not be so good as in recent years. The regulations of the practice for 1910, to quote the words of the first lord in his memorandum of March last, were "modified so as still further to assimilate the conditions of this practice to those which may be expected to obtain in action," and much greater efforts are therefore necessary in order to reach the same results on paper as were obtained in 1908 and 1909.

It is significant that, with one exception, each annual memorandum issued by the first lord of the admiralty since the introduction of the new gunnery training system for the navy in 1905 has contained an announcement similar to that just quoted. The exception was in 1909, in which no revision of the rules took place, this being the year following the introduction of towed targets in place of stationary ones, but in each of the other years the battle practice conditions have undergone modification tending to make them more stringent and severe.

The result of this consistent development is that battle practice in the British navy has reached a high state of perfection. Except that the ships' fire is not returned, it may be said that the conditions approximate as closely to the "real thing" as is possible in peace time. The target is not only a moving one, but the gunnery officer controlling the firing has to judge the range, the direction and the speed at which it is being towed, while all the time his own ship, at a high rate of speed, follows an unknown course which has been laid down by the flag officer acting as chief umpire.

Act at Moment's Notice.
 A sketch of the course he is to steer during the firing is handed in a sealed envelope to the navigating officer, who only becomes acquainted with it just before practice actually begins, while as no other officer or man has seen this document, it is not known up to the last minute either which broadside will be brought into action or how and to what extent the range will change.

The battle practice exercise is therefore the supreme test of the whole fighting organism of the ship and the most important item in the year's programme of fleet training, but it does not attract so much attention outside the service as the gunlayers' test, which is held in the early part of the year, or the grand manoeuvres of the summer. The comparative results are compiled at the admiralty by a secret system of "points," and the reports which appear in the papers of records being made on this or that ship in target practice refer not to the annual battle practice, but to its preliminary exercise, which is known as the gunlayers' test. In addition to these two practices squadron flag is now carried out periodically, and night firing has come into greater prominence during the last two or three years.

Await Result of Practice.
 It remains to be seen whether, when all the ships have completed their battle practice, the percentage of points will compare favorably with that obtained last year, even though the conditions have been altered. If rumor is to be believed, the Dreadnoughts in the home fleet have done no better than those ships in the Atlantic fleet, which have been referred to as the King Edward class have not all completed battle practice, these vessels comprising the second division of the home fleet, whose practice only began after the arrival of the Hogue with the inspector of target practice at Invergordon on Sept. 4.

Admiral Peirse will afterward proceed to the Mediterranean to superintend the battle practice of the ships in the middle sea, an arrangement which insures uniformity and accuracy in the marking of the firing. It has not been possible to bring the eastern fleet into this system, and therefore separate committees are formed for the firing of the vessels of the China, East Indies and Australian squadrons.

CORRESPONDENCE

Strayed or Stolen?
 To the Editor of The Advertiser:

I was very much surprised at reading in your columns a statement from High Constable Hughes with regard to the cattle taken from lot 20, concession 2, London Township. He makes an assertion stating that the cattle were not stolen. He claims to have driven around the county search for them, and sends in his bill accordingly. If any reasonably intelligent constable had taken the pains to drive around the county and make proper inquiries he would be of the

Two Minute Talks About PANDORA RANGE for Coal or Wood

THE Pandora Range is for those who desire to make a permanent investment. The high quality of the materials and the superior method of construction assure long life.

The Body of the Pandora is very heavy. The Rods and Bolts are on the outside where they cannot burn or rust out. The Expansion Rings of the cooking section provide ample allowance for extreme expansion and contraction and eliminate the possibility of the metal cracking.

The Cooking Top is Burnished which toughens the surface of the metal and increases its strength. McClary's Oil Cement is used between the joints. Unlike cheap, ordinary cement, it will not dry out and need replacing. The Nickelling will not tarnish and is many times more durable than the single coat of nickel on ordinary ranges.

The Semi-Steel Fire Box Linings are twenty per cent. heavier than cast or gray iron linings. Sulphur fumes, so destructive to cast iron, cannot penetrate the hard, smooth as glass surface of Semi-Steel. The Grates have Three Faces, which allows the wear to be distributed on three sides, insuring triple durability.

If you want a range of guaranteed quality get the Pandora. It's built to give you lasting service.

same opinion as myself. I probably only a short time ago that Mr. Routledge, of Hyde Park, had a fine horse taken from his pasture, and it has never been seen, nor heard of since. I wonder will the high constable venture the opinion that this horse was also not stolen? Yours truly,

LAMBETH FALL FAIR SUCCESSFUL SHOW

Heavy Rains Interfered With the Attendance, But Exhibits Never Better.

A FINE HORSE SHOW

Price Animals Exhibited by Many of Ontario's Best-Known Breeders.

Lambeth, Oct. 4.—Although the heavy rains materially interfered with the attendance at the annual fair of the Westminster Agricultural Society held here today, the exhibition itself was one of the best ever held, and those who came were amply rewarded. Never in the history of the fair has there been a finer show of horses and cattle.

No district in the province has a finer country to draw from, and many breeders who have won prizes at all the big fairs in the province were represented by their choicest stock.

Considering that the year has been a poor one for fruits, the displays were remarkably creditable, and there were unusually fine displays of roots, grains and dairy products.

Fine Horse Show.
"We never had a better show," said Secretary Harry Poole to The Advertiser. "Our exhibits are far more numerous than in former years, and are all of uniformly high quality. We are particularly proud of the horse show, which could not be surpassed at any fair of its size in Canada."

Dr. Routledge, of Lambeth, showed some very fine horses, and was a heavy prize winner. He won first for his high stepper, a magnificent animal, and a host of prizes in other sections. Mr. Archie Blackie, another well known horseman, was also a heavy winner. He won the handsome cup donated by the Home Bank for the best carriage horse on the grounds.

Mr. T. Purdom, of London, won the prize for single roadsters, with a very fine animal.

The competition for lady drivers was most interesting, and the judges finally made their awards as follows: 1 Miss McCartney, 2 Miss Ryckman, 3 Mrs. McVicar.

Owing to the heavy rain all horse and foot races were called off.

As the Lobo team failed to put in an appearance the tug-of-war was awarded to the Westminster team, composed of Joe Wright, captain; R. Jordan, anchor; W. Pearson, C. Wells, J. Rogers, and C. Myers.

It was announced that the Caradoc team had withdrawn from the contest.

During the day the Twenty-sixth Regiment Band was in attendance, and the fine programme they rendered did much to enliven the proceedings.

SAYS FREE TRADE HAS NOT FAILED

Sir Alfred Mond Declares Principle Has Been Making of Britain.

Toronto, Oct. 3.—The Canadian Club was treated to what J. F. MacKay, president, who presided, termed "an antidote" to various tariff reform addresses which have been delivered here and elsewhere in Canada in recent months, when Sir Alfred Mond, M. P. for Swansea, discussed "the economic conditions of Great Britain under free trade."

Sir Alfred proved himself to be no half-hearted advocate of free trade, but declared in most unequivocal terms that it was free trade that had made possible the tremendous commercial advancement of Great Britain since 1840, and denied in equally emphatic terms that there was any change in fiscal policy necessary or advisable. He quoted figures to prove how export trade was advancing, how wages were increasing, how the cost of living was declining, how unemployment was decreasing under this system, declaring that the cry that Britain was in any sense decadent was a false statement.

Under free trade Britain pays the highest wages and gives the lowest cost of living to any nation in Europe, he declared, and the introduction now of protection would be disastrous to British industry.

How It Helped.
He specified three great industries in particular, which had almost disappeared to the system of fiscal policy. These were shipping, shipbuilding and the Lancashire cotton trade, the latter in itself supporting millions of population.

In these three industries Britain's trade equaled all the rest of the world combined.

Free trade had not failed, but in Britain it presented the greatest success of a fiscal system the world had ever seen.

Speaking of the proposed preference on colonial products, Sir Alfred points out that while these products now come into Britain duty free the "imperial" protectionists actually proposed to raise up a duty against them.

This duty would be less than that against foreign countries, but still it would be a barrier. Thus agricultural implements now entering Britain duty free under the protectionists' programme would have to pay 12½ per cent.

As to food, he had no idea that the British could do without the food of the world's wheat, which is now milled in Canada being milled in England.

He foresaw only conflict and disunion on the attempt to put into practice such a policy. Sir Alfred, though he intimated that a protectionist wherever found, when he was off, would be found to consider only his own selfish interest, was warmly applauded.

The club had what the chairman called a "double header." T. P. O'Connor being an unexpected guest, and the meeting was prolonged twenty minutes to hear him. He was in Sir Alfred Mond's shoes, "showing it was, had carried them and an imperialist away above pounds, shillings and pence, he, in all reference to his mis-mark on visiting London after the city to sack." And as he looked at the opulent audience he was impelled to utter a more solid foundation. Mr. O'Connor promised to address the club again at a later date.

BANDITS AMBUSH TROOPS
Notorious Marauders Turn Tables on Would-Be Captors.

Vladikavkas, Ciscaucasia, Oct. 4.—Troops sent in pursuit of the notorious brigand, Zelim Khann, were ambushed by his band, and a rural captain, three officers and twelve soldiers were killed and many others injured.

Reinforcements have been sent against the outlaws, but the absence of roads in the mountain fastness hampers the operations.

The depredations of Zelim have been on such an extended scale that the authorities were compelled to detail three companies of infantry and a company of Cossacks to run down the band to the border of Tiflis province and surrounded its camp, which was pitched in an almost inaccessible gorge.

The soldiers succeeded in capturing Zelim's family, his camel and much booty, but further pursuit of the outlaws resulted in a reverse, when the soldiers fell into an ambush.

NAMES HIS PIG FOR LINA'S PRINCE

John Armstrong Chaloner Plays Joke on Brother Bob at Virginia Fair.

Richmond, Va., Oct. 4.—John Armstrong Chaloner, brother of "Sheriff Bob" Chaloner, of New York, and originator of that query which has set the country laughing: "Who's looney now?" again came into the spotlight of public interest today, by entering his prize pig, which in ridicule he has named Prince Dolgorouski, after the Russian noble who has played a prominent part as the friend of Cavalieri during the recent publicity of the sheriff and his song-bird wife.

The porker's pen is elaborately decorated with banners bearing the name of the Russian prince, and great crowds of the sightseers gathered about it throughout the day.

AMAZED AT HURRY IN AMERICAN LIFE

Former Lord Mayor of London Thinks Money Making the Whole Thing.

New York, Oct. 4.—Sir William Treloar, former lord mayor of London, who has been in this country for about two weeks, came back to the Waldorf today from his dash across the border of Canada, and said he was sorry he had not come to this side 40 years ago.

"By this time," said Sir William, "I might have been either a Tammany boss or the governor of some province, or at least near some job where graft was going on."

"What has impressed me over here especially is the intense energy and working powers of the Americans, who seem to live for nothing but making money. Here money-making seems to be taken up as a man in any other part of the world would take up some sport, like fox hunting. When you have got the fox, your sport is over."

"I have been unfavorably struck with the unsightly buildings that are allowed to be put up in New York about buildings being torn down or being built. In London the builder is compelled to erect a structure that will not offend the eyes. Then the style of advertising in the windows and on the streets that seems to appeal to the people would not be considered dignified in England. For instance, this morning I saw a sign in a window, 'Fine toggery.' Such a sign you would not find in England except in shops of the very lowest class. Here there is a great deal of puffery, which is quite different from publicity."

DISEASED MEAT.
Hamilton, Oct. 4.—A special meeting of the board of health will be held this evening to consider the case of David King, Clappison's Corners, who on Thursday offered for sale diseased meat on Central Market. At the police court this morning King was allowed to go without a fine, as the magistrate was not sure that he knew the meat was bad. Dr. Roberts, the medical health officer, says the case is the most serious in 25 years, as the cow had septic poisoning, which would have communicated itself to any person eating the meat.

FILMS OF ANTARCTIC

Scott's Party to Take Photographs for the Bioscope.

London, Oct. 4.—The world may see some very remarkable photographs and bioscope films if the photographer to Capt. Scott's Antarctic expedition, who left London this week to join the Terra Nova party in New Zealand, has luck. The instruments he has taken with him are of a type never before produced and have been specially designed to deal with long distance photography and cinematography.

In the hope of getting a moving picture of a volcanic eruption Mount Erebus the photographer has taken a number of reflex cameras which will make the crater appear only about a mile away, whereas the actual distance may be ten miles or more. No cinematographs have ever been made with lenses of this pattern and the operator is prepared to deal if necessary on the focus instead of the usual 3-inch focus.

The photographer is taking out 20,000 feet of film and some 7,000 plates and he is hopeful of getting some good photographs of the aurora and color pictures of the ice and snow. All coverings are made of leather and all knobs of ivory, as metal knobs would burn the fingers with the intense cold.

DRANK CARBOLIC IN DESPERATION

Pretty Drumbo Girl Said to Have Attempted Life at Orwell.

WAS WITH TWO MEN

Tragedy Narrowly Averted in Party of Joy Riders From Chatham.

Aylmer, Oct. 4.—A young girl named Kennedy, claiming Drumbo as her home, it is alleged, an unsuccessful attempt to commit suicide by drinking carbolic acid at an Orwell Hotel on Monday evening. It is stated that the girl, who is 19 years old, came to the hotel two days ago in company with another girl and two Chatham men. They travelled in an auto car bearing the number 1968 and owned in Pennsylvania. A passing motorist on Monday evening had occasion to stop at the hotel for a few minutes and his attention was attracted to a couple of men who left the building with a lantern and went over to the corner of a shed, just east of the hotel, where they picked up what looked like a very small human body. The motorist asked the men if they had a drunk and they replied "I guess."

Detected Smell of Carbolic. The motorist, however, had in the meantime detected the smell of carbolic acid and went over to the shed only to find that the object was the body of a girl. Not being able to get any assistance in Orwell he phoned to Aylmer and secured a doctor and constable. By the time they reached Orwell, however, the girl had recovered her senses.

The Chatham men were badly frightened and would have left the place but for the fact that they were detained. The girl said she would have never herself had she been permitted to do so. The reason for her rash act was, she said, the result of her desire to go home. The men, she said, would not allow her to go, and when she insisted they put her out of the hotel. It was then that she took a dose of the carbolic acid, which she carried with her.

The girl was taken to Aylmer and after much difficulty a place was found for her for the night. She had plenty of money and stated that she was paying all the expenses of the party.

A suggestion that the parties get together was made today by Justice Middleton, and was accepted by counsel for the city.

The hearing was allowed to stand over until Thursday to enable them to arrive at a modus vivendi.

BISHOP FALLON AGAIN ATTACKED

Criticised Over the Bilingual Question at French Canadian Congress.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 4.—Bishop Fallon, of London, was the subject of a general attack at the French Canadian Congress of Ontario, which was held here tonight, and at which the bilingual school question came up for discussion. Bishop Fallon was accused by several speakers of being opposed to the teaching of French in the schools. It was admitted that he had denied that this was his attitude, but was affirmed that there was something in the rumor. He was endeavoring to introduce the thin edge of the wedge, and pave the way for the Anglicizing of the French-Canadian schools in the Province. Senator N. A. Belcourt was one of Bishop Fallon's chief critics. The meeting, which took place behind closed doors, was attended by more than two hundred people, the majority of them being members of the clergy.

hicle, and a driver would be compelled to "hug" the rails and drive carefully. He had telephoned City Engineer Graydon two days before the accident, and again on the following day, to complain of the dangerous condition of the street.

Benjamin Lawton, who has a shop above Fowler's grocery, did not see the accident, but noticed that there was a bank of snow at the point where the upset occurred.

Ernest Charlton offered similar evidence.

Former Owner Testified. Mr. Joseph Johnston, the local baker, who owns a number of fine horses, sold the colt to Mr. Horne for $505. He was met by a pure trotter, and showed evidences of extreme speed.

Mr. Johnston would value him at about $2,000. To Mr. Hellmuth he stated that many horses which have never been raced are perhaps worth more than those that have competed in speed tests.

Geo. McCormick was the next witness. He said the horse was bred along very fine lines, and that he had offered $1,000 for him six months before his death.

"We allow that in our church," exclaimed Mr. Gibbons, in explaining the brand of horsemanship to Justice Teetzel.

office of Moore & Henry, swore that a plan of the scene of the accident made by himself the day of the upset was correct.

Inspector Young, of the street railway, said that while none of the snow had been carted away, most of it had been spread back by the wing plow. The weight of the plow itself regulated the slope at which the snow was spread.

Shot the Horse.

Malcolm McRae, a city policeman, who shot Horne's horse, spoke to the plaintiff after the accident. Horne told the witness that he could not tell how the accident occurred, but said he did not strike the snowbank on the outside of the rail.

Fremantle Perkins, a liveryman, formerly a street railway motorman, valued the horse at $400 or $500.

"You have had more experience driving street cars than standard-bred horses," said Mr. Gibbons. "All right; good-bye," he added in dismissing the witness.

The Defence.

Mr. Hellmuth, in addressing the jury, cast reflections upon the evidence of several of the plaintiff's witnesses, particularly Mr. A. O. Graydon, the consulting engineer, who at the time of the accident was city engineer of London.

Mr. Graydon swore that the snow was banked at an almost impossible angle. Mr. Hellmuth claimed, and had also sworn that he had "phoned" the street railway officials, whereas Superintendent Young declared he never heard of it.

He asked the jury to cast off any "unconscious prejudice" against the defendant company.

The Plaintiff's Case.

"The London street railway is permitted to use the streets of the city under certain conditions, and it should be no hardship to carry out these conditions," contended Mr. Gibbons. On the day of the accident, there was but one very narrow track for vehicles, and it was admitted that no snow had been removed. He claimed that it is unreasonable to suppose that Mr. Fowler would have telephoned the city engineer of the dangerous condition of the road had there been no cause for complaint.

SHIP DETAINED AS CHOLERA CARRIER

Sant' Anna, at Quarantine, Gotham, Had Fatal Case On Voyage.

New York, Oct. 4.—The steamship Sant' Anna from French and Italian ports, now detained at quarantine, had a case of cholera aboard. The victim, a man in the steerage, died Sept. 25, and was buried at sea. Two other cases of intestinal trouble are under observation.

Meanwhile the Sant' Anna, carrying 224 first cabin passengers, some of them prominent Americans, and 1,072 in the steerage, is held as a possible "cholera carrier," pending further investigation.

Announcement of the foregoing was made tonight by A. H. Doty, health officer of the port, who has been fighting to keep cholera out of this country during the epidemic abroad. In action of the Sant' Anna he has as a precaution detained at quarantine the steamship Moltke from Genoa and Naples, and the steamship Virginia from Naples. Tomorrow he will hold a conference with Dr. Walter Wyman, surgeon-general of the United States marine hospital service. They will map out a campaign of protection.

MANY LIVES LOST IN TROLLEY CRASH

Collision Due to Failure of Northbound Crew to Obey Orders.

Stanton, Ill., Oct. 4.—Thirty-seven persons were killed and from 16 to 25 injured in a collision on the Illinois Traction system, two miles north of Stanton late today.

Three of the injured and possibly more are not expected to survive. Reports from the wreck, by the present time have been difficult to obtain. Some of the statements received from there make the number of injured as high as 50.

Only three of the dead have been identified, and these are all prominent officials of the traction system. They are:

J. E. Berry, of Springfield, Ill., land commissioner for the Illinois traction system.

W. N. Street, of Stanton, Ill., assistant trainmaster of the traction system.

D. V. Black, of Springfield, assistant superintendent of motive power and equipment.

Crew Disregards Orders.

The collision occurred between a local train, northbound, and an excursion train headed toward St. Louis, and loaded with passengers on their way to view the parade of the Veiled Prophet in St. Louis.

The accident, according to present information, was due entirely to the disregard of orders by the crew of the local, which was in charge of M. A. Leonard, conductor, and John Lierman, of Stanton, the motorman.

The local train had orders to pass the southbound train at Stanton. The latter train was running in two sections, and the orders given to the local were that it should pass both sections of the southbound train at Stanton. The first section had passed when the crew of the local pulled out on the main track, heedless of the second section, and started north. At a sharp turn, called Dickerson's curve, two miles north of Stanton, the two trains came together in a splintering crash.

Curve at Foot of Decline. Dickerson's curve is at the bottom of a decline both from the north and from the south. The local train and the second section of the excursion train were on the main track, heading south, and moving at a speed of 40 miles an hour when they met. The collision occurred right at the bottom of the double decline and at the sharpest part of the curve.

The cars were so close that it was impossible for either of them to stop, or slow down. The crews were able to do nothing except see the brakes of the local, and the crew of the special, which were composed of W. V. Duncan, conductor, and E. J. Young, both of Springfield, Ill., leaped as soon as they saw the trouble was inevitable, and all four men escaped without serious injury.

They were badly shaken up, but were able to lend assistance to the injured. None of the passengers had a chance for safety, as the crash between the cars followed immediately the cries of warning issued by the conductors and motormen, as they jumped from the trains.

The cars came together with a terrific crash and both were demolished and piled in one huge mass of wreckage, through which the bodies of the dead and wounded were scattered. It is not definitely known how many of the passengers escaped uninjured, but it is certain that by far the larger portion of those on both cars were either killed or desperately injured.

The two trains were so closely twisted together that it was a marvel that anybody escaped death or injury. As quickly as possible word of the accident was telephoned to Springfield and Peoria, and a special car was immediately rushed from these points. Other cars also were sent north from Granite City, Ill. These last took many of the injured and hurried them back to Granite City, where they were placed in hospitals.

ALBERTA BY-ELECTIONS

Defeat of E. H. Riley, Former Member for Gleichen.

Edmonton, Alta., Oct. 5.—Final returns in the two by-elections for the Local House yesterday show A. C. McArthur, the Government candidate, elected in Gleichen over E. H. Riley, Independent, with a majority of 204, and Robert Patterson, the farmers' candidate, elected in Macleod, with 47 majority over E. H. Mansell, the Government candidate. There is still one poll to hear from in Macleod, but it will not change the result. The Macleod election means nothing particular, as both candidates were supporters of the Sifton Government.

The by-election in Gleichen was caused by the resignation of Mr. Riley as a protest against the action of Lieutenant-Governor Bulyea in calling upon Hon. Arthur L. Sifton, then chief justice of the province, to form a government on the retirement of Premier Rutherford, without a general appeal to the country. The election in Macleod was caused by the death of Colin Genge, Liberal member for the constituency. Last night, when his election was assured, Mr. Patterson announced his intention of supporting the Sifton Government in all matters that his judgment approved.

HAY.

TORONTO, Oct. 4.—Baled hay and straw—Prices are inclined to be a little higher today in this market, although there is no serious shortage of either. Hay is light, with a fair demand. Local quotations are as follows: Hay—No. 1, Timothy, $12.50; inferior, $11 to $11.50; on track here—Straw—$5.50 to $7.50, on track here.

POTATOES.

TORONTO, Oct. 4.—Plenty of Ontario potatoes are offering on track here, and dealers are quoting them in car lots at 25c to 30c per bush; but store quotations are from 15c to 25c per bush. New Brunswick potatoes are not coming in very freely, as prices are too high for the local market.

LIVE STOCK.

TORONTO, Oct. 4.—Cattle—Trading was somewhat dull on the local live stock market this morning, and for rough, poorly finished cattle the demand was abated and prices were easier. First-class stock, however, found a ready market, although prices were in some instances appreciably lower in sympathy with the unsound tones in the other departments.

The receipts were: 400 head of cattle, 200 sheep and lambs, 40 hogs and 17 calves. Not more than possibly 20 per cent of the offerings of cattle were of a quality suitable for butcher requirements, the butcher was either heavy enough for shipping purposes or of light weight. Contrary to expectations, the supply of sheep and lambs was not too large. The market was steady, the demand active, but prices were a little off. To summarize: The choice cattle sold from $5.00 to $7.50; medium from $3.50 to $5.00, and common from $2.50 to $3.50. Choice hogs sold from $4.25 to $5.00; medium, $3.50 to $4.25, and common, $2.50 to $3.50. The quality of the offerings was on the whole fair.

Brooks-Bengough.

A happy event took place at the Hensall Methodist parsonage on Wednesday at 2:30 p.m., when Miss Myrtle A. Bengough, who for some years has resided with her grandmother, Mrs. Mann, sen., was united in marriage with Frederick W. Brooks, of London, Ont. Rev. J. E. Millyard performed the ceremony. The bride, who was handsomely gowned in a dark blue travelling suit, with hat to match, was attended by Miss Edith Scott, while the bride's brother, W. E. Bengough, performed a like service for the groom. The marriage was attended by the very immediate relatives of the bride. A dinner was served at the residence of the bride's uncle, Fred E. Mann. The happy couple left by automobile for London, where they will in future reside. The bride was the recipient of many handsome presents.

F. G. Myers Fined By P. M. Love
For Offence Committed at Western Fair.

The police court docket was fairly heavy this morning.

Two young men pleaded guilty to being drunk and were discharged.

Frank Stephens, charged with vagrancy, was remanded to jail.

Henry Shoebottom was charged with a breach of the truant act in not sending his adopted son to school. Explanations were given and the case was adjourned till next Saturday.

George Bridge appeared for a like offence. It seems that both Mr. and Mrs. Bridge are at work during the day, and the children play "hooky" from school. The case was adjourned.

Fred Black pleaded guilty to being drunk and disorderly, and was fined $5 with the option of fifteen days.

James Whitelaw failed to appear, and a warrant was issued for his arrest.

P. G. Myers, charged with unlawfully keeping for sale intoxicating liquors on the Western Fair grounds during the fair, pleaded guilty, and his case was settled out of court. He was fined $20 and $25 costs, with the option of one month's imprisonment.

"The Travelling Salesman" was evidently written to prove that drummers are human beings after all, and that down underneath the apparent frivolity and cynicism a warm heart and goodness are to be found. Of course it was not necessary to convince a large number of people that the drummer was a right good sort, but there was evidently a desire that somebody should give the knights of the grip a boost. The play accomplishes this, and incidentally furnishes plenty of fun for the audience. It is of the clean, infectious sort, and pleased the large audience last evening.

There is little plot to the play. A drummer, Bob Blake, is stranded in a small town over Christmas. He meets a lady telegraph operator, and they become quite interested in each other. She owns some property near the junction, and Blake's employer discovers that the railway will pay a big price for this land to make certain improvements. Taxes to the sum of $400 have not been paid on the property, and the employer intends to turn it over to the company for a large sum of money. Bob Blake discovers the plot and pays the taxes. His employer endeavors to buy him off, but he does not succeed. However, the employer got the girl's consent to accept $5,000 for the land, and it looks as if Bob had lost. But before the deed is signed Bob marries the girl, and it is presumed they live happily ever after, as they got big money for the property.

In the unravelling of the plot there are many amusing situations, and the audience is enjoying a game of poker. It is very funny. A touch that made a great hit was when the waiter served "tea" in cups after the hotel had closed, and no drinks were served to be served. More than one traveller laughed at this touch. Mark Smith as Bob Blake, the drummer, was excellent. He is a fine, big fellow, and although fat folks never look heroic, he made the audience forget all about that, and demonstrated that he could act, and act well.

Miss Dallas Tyler is a clever actress, and as Beth Elliott she scored. Her work was always brilliant. Miss Diana Hunter, as Mrs. Habbitt, the large-hearted but rather gossipy old widow, was a treat. The other roles were well taken.

The play, by the way, was written by a Canadian, James Forbes, an old Galt boy. He has written several successes, and in "The Travelling Salesman" has a first-class attraction.

PREFER WORKHOUSE TO A PENSION
Some Paupers in England Who Do Not Take to the New Scheme.

London, Oct. 4.—The danger of rushing into legislation on a theory without ascertaining the facts is illustrated by a human interest discovery which has just been made by the poor law administration. By last year's old age pension act all well-conducted needy British subjects over 70 became entitled to a pension of $1.25 a week from the state. An extension of the act comes into force in January next whereby the disability of paupers to receive a pension is removed.

Political stump orators made a tremendous fuss over the necessity for immediate legislation, and there were, they said, hundreds of brave old men and women in every ward suffering under the compulsory and crushing taint of pauperism. To these, it was said, the old age pension would mean a return to independence and self-respect. They would be pensioners, not paupers.

Now the surprising fact has become patent that the great majority of the workhouse inmates do not want the pension and would rather stay where they are. One of the reasons is that in London it is quite impossible for old people to live on $1.25 a week, and it is barely possible to do so in the country. There are cases of old men who left the workhouse to live on pensions of $3 or $3.50 a week and returned after a few weeks to the greater comfort of the workhouse.

The real problem lies in the attention which old people require more than in the actual cost of living. The difficulty is partly solved when the old people have relatives to whom they can go. But these relatives, as a rule, have their own battles to fight, and will seldom have the enduring patience to give the necessary attention for $1.25 a week, and so the out-standing feature about aged paupers is their solitude.

On an average barely 17 per cent of the almshouse inmates want to leave. The rest are content to remain. Some English almshouses are better appointed than others, and in these not a single application has been made for independence and $1.25 a week. The solitude and infirmity of septuagenarians are problems which $1.25 a week does not touch.

PART OF ABUTMENT FELL INTO THE RIVER

Saunby's Dam Below Blackfriars Bridge Gives Way.

Part of the abutment at the west end of Saunby's dam, below Blackfriars bridge, caved in Tuesday morning. A section about 20 feet long and 10 feet in height toppled into the river.

Mr. Saunby stated to The Advertiser today that the operation of the mill will not be seriously interfered with. He has a force of men at work making repairs and expects them to be completed by tomorrow.

Had the abutments given away at flood time Mr. Saunby states that the whole structure would probably have been swept down the river.

MAN IS ACQUITTED

13-Year-Old Slayer of Godfather Freed Under Unwritten Law.

Pittsburg, Oct. 4.—Katherine Botti, a girl of 13 years, who slew her godfather with an axe and red-hot poker, in avenging his theft of her honor, was cleared of criminal charges late today on the ground that the homicide was justifiable. CHATHAM HEALTHY
Only Three Contagious Cases Reported Since July.

Chatham, Oct. 4.—The report of M. H. O. Hall shows that Chatham is a healthy city, there having been but three contagious cases in the last three months. There was one case of diphtheria in July and two in August. No cases were reported in September.

The city water is now being pumped from the basin and an examination by the health officer shows it to be free from any contamination either of a sedimentary or organic nature.
