Germany's Object in Prolonging Protocol Negotiations Is To Secure Revision of Pact-French Delegate Was Offered Document Along This Line Which He Refused.

Paris, Dec. 2.—There is a well-defined conviction in French circles that Germany is seeking to prolong the protocol negotiations and delay the ratification of the treaty in order to secure a revision of the pact.

It is recalled in this connection that a number of the Berlin cabinet offered Gen. Dupont, head of the French mission in Berlin, a memorandum which was, to all intents and purposes, a revised treaty. Gen. Dupont declined to receive the document.

Evangelist At Record-Breaking Meeting of Mission Gives Story of His Life—Sea of Handkerchiefs Wave Farewell—Audience "Cheers For Gipsy."

[By Isabel C. Armstrong.]

The singing of the "Hallelujah Chorus" by a choir of 500 voices, while 6,000 people stood in the armories last night in tribute of fealty to the King of Kings brought to an impressive conclusion the awakening two weeks of the Gipsy Smith mission in London.

Perhaps never before in all the history of London has such a mighty audience been held enthralled by a speaker, responsive to his every mood and every phase of his message, as that which surrounded Gipsy Smith like a sea of humanity. They smiled with joy at a sunshine flash of his irresistible humor; laughed outright at a rapier thrust of his wit; wept over scenes of pathos, of difficulty graphically described; applauded for a noble sentiment which awoke a responsive chord of approval; sat in the hushed silence in which only the voice of the evangelist and their own heartbeats could be heard, as he led them to holy places in the life of his family, where great souls were miraculously converted to God.

evangelist and their own heartbeats could be heard, as he led them to holy places in the life of his family, where great souls were miraculously converted to God.

Good-bye to London.

Gipsy Smith last night said "good-bye" to London by telling the story of himself and his family, of how God had taken an ignorant little gipsy boy and made him an evangelist to five continents, made him the means of preaching the gospel to millions of people all over the world, and made possible the mission in London of the past two weeks.

"His grace takes the beggar from the dunghill and places him among princes," were his closing words, after which, as thousands stood in acknowledgment of help received from him in the campaign, Gipsy Smith, his face tradiant, invoked this blessing:

"O God, our Heavenly Father, we thank Thee for the words we have listened to, for this mission and for the message of Thine evangelist. O God the Father, God the Son and God the Holy Spirit keep all those who tonight have stood up to testify that they see Jesus more fully and their brother man a little nearer. Make us a little more like Jesus. We have pledged ourselves to be more like Him. O God, help us to carry out this redeeming program.

"Abide With Us."

"Abide With Us."

"Abide with us, O Master; abide with us as we separate. Help us all. O Lord, wherever we may be, on land or sea; and keep us true; keep up true in our joy or in our sorrow and our tears until the daybreak and the chardson flea away Little weet in our joy or in our sorrow and our tears until the daybreak and the chardson flea away Little weet in the forces of righteousness, and how would any on like to live in it? And yet a proposal to mission strengths as an evangelist in months later, an illuminating insight was given into gipsy life and character such as only gipsy life and character such as only gipsy leat the most by weet it.

"My people," he said, "have been merdelsyl dealt with by you, slandered, misrepresented. What the novels and plays say of gipsies is wrong, and the

Never Be Afraid.

"Never be afraid to give your pastor the glad hand, and say 'Gee, Pastor, that sermon of yours did me good.' A lot of people say 'Don't pet the pastor or you will spoil him.' I do not know of one pastor that has even been spoilt by a little bit of fussing, but I do know of many that have been discouraged for the want of a little spoiling.

"Some of you ladie do a little less social work and go and ask your pastor what you can do to help him out a little bit. Give up just one dance or one card party and go and visit some one you know who has been brought to Jesus through the mission. Don't let the mission merely touch his emotions, but let it create a spiritual starving for the word of God, and you will be the one helping to feed his soul."

The Christmas Store

Service the Present Need

And this is the store for it. "This is my first visit to a 'dry goods store,' and I want to buy some Christmas presents," a man said rather despairingly. But there was a wide-awake cheerful, intelligent helper to make it all plain to him that he was welcome and that he had found real help at last. No one need be a stranger in this store—if you are addressed it is because we want to be friendly and make you feel at home. You are not a formal guest in our house, for we try to make you "one of our family." It is a good idea to gift shop in such a store.

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nauses, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach, and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestants are not needed in such cases, and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. "Many famous men have had memories in regard to the same subject. The Rev. George Harvest was to have been married to the daughter of Bishop Compton of London, but on the morning fixed for the ceremony he forgot all about it and went fishing. M. BALL CHAMPIONSHIP WON AT MIDNIGHT IN ALASKA

A ball game at midnight, with the championship of the Far North to be determined, makes a big holiday of June 14 for the people of the Yukon.

TAKE A TIP FROM 10,000,000 PEOPLE

The other day I asked a man from Montreal: "What is the car fare in Canada's biggest city?"

"Six cents," he answered.

"We pay seven cents; just the same as Boston," interjected a Pittsburg visitor.

And then we talked car fares with a dozen travellers around the lobby of the Tecumseh.

Down in Brantford the people own the street railway and they find it necessary to charge themselves five cents cash. That is the rate in Fort William; in Edmonton the fare is six cents cash. Both are public ownership railways, too.

SIX CENT FARES in fact are in effect in 86 Can= adian and American cities. Even five cent cash fares are disappearing under stress of high costs of operation.

Today 238 Cities Are Paying More Than Five Cents

Ten million people in these cities have agreed that in the interests of fair wages, good service and their city's prosperity, their street railways should not be strangled by out-of-date fare restrictions.

London, with tickets at 6 or 8 for 25 cents, will still have cheaper fares than any of them, and every one will have a fair deal when you

TOAST TO SCOTLAND

Their Adoption Perhaps As Well As Birthplace.

This night we weave a wreath of fame, With strands of song and giory;
With rev'rent hands and hearts aflame, To crown auid Scotia's glory.
—Malcolm McCormick.
One hundred and fifty Scots gathered at the Tecumseh House last night to celebrate at the banquet table the 60th anniversary of St. Andrew's Society in this city, and incidentally by meeting together to keep allive that spirit of Old Scotland that has been handed down to them by their forefathers.
William Forbes, president of the society, acting as chairman and toastmaster, said that before the war it had been the custom of the society to hold annual banquets, but these had been dispensed with during the war. Last year plans had been made to hold a Victory banquet, but that also had to go by the boards owing to the "flu" endemic Now that a clear road lay was much too large, being the largest was much too large, being the some great power has worked out the history of the country. The spirit of the occasion was put into words by Rev. T. A. Symington in his esponse to the toast "Scotland," and by a speech by Peter McArthur on "Canada."

Scotsmen Love the Land of True To Adopted Country.

"The great thing about the Scotsen." said Rev. Mr. Symington, "is to his native land, he also is true to the land of his adoption, and perhaps loves it with as great a fervor as the land which gave him birth. The names of Scotsmen have been written in the hearts of the darkest countries of the world, in Africa, in India and China."

He said that a home is always judged by the men that come out of it, and that the same is true of the country. The names of sons of Scotland had been written on the pages of the literature. t while he always loves and is true his native land, he also is true to land of his adoption, and perhaps the neges of the literature ritten on the bages of the intracticular consicers and science of the world.

Bigger Business From Better Health

HAT is this notion you have about the health of employes?"

"It is no notion, but a great big idea that I got when on military duty. It is one of the biggest benefits that is going to result from the war. "Well?"

"What set me thinking was the report of the draft board. Forty per cent. of the men examined were turned down as medically unfit. These men were from all classes, and since they were mostly young men it stands to reason that a far larger proportion of our men would be in the 'unfit' class."

"We cannot help that." "That is just it. We must help it if we are going to build bigger business and get the production we are after. What is the use of spending hundreds of thousands of dollars on the extension of buildings and then fill them with men who are not in a condition of health to do a day's work?

"That is true. What was wrong with most of those culled out?"

result they were easily tired and had no reserve force. They would catch cold easily and in fact be easy prey to any germ disease. "What can we do?

"We can see that they get half a day a week for outdoor recreation, and I am going to recommend the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to these men. You know what the Nerve Food did for me when my nerves gave out. If I have my way it is going to have a good try-out among the men, for there is nothing I know of that will build them up so well.'

"You certainly should know after the condition you were in, for I sometimes thought you would never get around."

There are other ways we can help the men by better working conditions, but these are included in these building plans."

"Bigger business from better health" is my motto, and I know Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is going to help me carry out this program."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is so universally "Twenty-five per cent. were incapaci-tated because of nervous disorders. The one idea of the pioneers was to establish a home where they and their children might be free. Nobody knew before the war how completely that ideal had been realized. It was not until the reins of government was felt for the first time that the feeling of unrest was stirred up. The only political platform that appeals to me is that the freedom established by our fathers must be handed down to our sons.

City Council Decided Last Night To Submit Question To Voters.

The city council last night decided to take a plebiscite at the next election to determine whether the citizens favor on. This was an amendment by Aldermen

This was an amendment by Aldermen Holmes and Cunningham to a lengthier me for urged by John Cottam, chairman of the town-planning committee of the chamber of commerce: George Reid, president of the chamber of commerce, and W. J. Ashplant, representing the Advertising Club, with other members of those two organizations.

Mr. Reid said that the city should get a building plan and adhere to it. This would prevent the erection of many unsightly buildings which now occupy the streets.

Mr. Cottam's motion went into the many unsightly buildings which now occupy the streets.

Mr. Cottam's motion went into the details of the plan. He termed the body which would be established "a civic economy commission," and urged its immediate appointment. The new Provincial Government will not be able to get legislation of this kind under way in time for the city to benefit in its building operations of 1920, he stated. If the citizens approved the plan it could be ratified by the Legislature and become effective immediately. The commission would not have spending power, but all building plans would have to be referred to it for approval. No immediate expenditure was intended. It was meant to cover civic building for the next ten or twenty years.

building for the next ten or twenty years.

Urges Vote Be Taken.

Ald. Wilson moved that the matter be approved and sent to the people. Ald. Holmes said he was heartily in accord with this, but wanted more information. He suggested referring it to No. 1 committee. Ald. Drake pointed out that it would be then too late to take a plebiscite. He was sorry the matter had not been laid before the council sooner, but would second the motion to send it to the people.

Mr. Cottam said that the Chamber of Commerce committee had not been able to obtain an interview with the Government until Saturday and for that reason the plan could not be brought before the council sooner. They wanted to bring it up a month ago. The committee, he added further, would be appointed by the council, which would completely control its expenditures. The council was not, therefore, committed to any plan by submitting the matter to the people. It did not need to take action even in the event of a favorable vote. He did not think co-operation with the Government could be obtained until some such plan was in operation. No government would like to lend money to a municipality which had twice voted for a federal square project which had been held up or defeated in some manner.

Government Withdrew Support.

"How do you mean defeated?" asked Mayor Somerville. "The Government withdrew its support and that was all there was to it." The mayor also stated that he thought this work could be dealt with by one of the council committees. "We have more commissions and committees now than we can handle." he said.

Ald. Cunningham said that the matter should be simplified for presentation to the people and that details could be worked out by the council if the general idea was approved by the people.

The council approved the campaign The scouncil approved the campaign to obtain a children's hospital in conjunction with Victoria Hospital.

The purchase of an additional flusher for the city gave rise to a lengthy discussion. On motion of Ald. Keene and Wilson it was decided to purchase a Studebaker flusher at a cost of 310.—875. This was about $300 in advance of another type of flusher recommended by City Engineer Brazier, the cost of it being $3,380. The city has one of this type in use now and the engineer urged that the same make be

So thunderously were they applauded that it was almost impossible to commence the next act. Then there was an exceptionally fine jazz band couple, whose banjo playing was really fine. A rlot of gorgeous gowns and an intensely interesting love story characterizes the feature film, whose scene is laid in the fashionable shop of a modiste on Fifth avenue. This picture is entitled "Lombard!, Limited," after the name of a dressmaker, who, while a genius in the art of creating wonderful gowns for America's smart set, is somewhat of an amateur in the art of making love, while he possesses absolutely no business ability. It is this deficiency in his eccentric make-up that leads him to the brink of financial ruin.

In one of the striking scenes of the production Lombardi displays his mannequins, or models, in evening dress, costly wraps and daring and unusual neellgees.

LET THERE BE LIGHT.

Mr. Hartley Dewart has a reputation for quearthing improper proceedings. He made the bed of the Seven Sleepers hot for them by his revelation of the nickel traffic in the war. His restless energy usually succeeds in opening up dark places to the light, and certainly the defeat of the late unlamented Government was largely his doing, though he gets no political fruit of

It is a hard thing that another should reap where he has faithfully tilled and sown. It can easily be understood that an able man like Mr. Dewart should smart under the unprecedented conditions which prevent his directly shaping the fortunes of this province. He must feel that he has been somewhat rudely thrust to one side in the very victory which he did so much to win. Is not the platform of the Liberal party nearer to the U. F. O. than is that of Labor? The mayor of Brantford has put his finger on the tariff question as a point of possible vital difference between Labor and the U. F. O., a difference not directly pertinent to Ontarlo politics, but so vital for federal policy that it must make provincial co-operation of farmer and laborite difficult though not impossible. Should not the U. F. O. be cordial to Liberalism. its nearest neighbor in the essentials of politics?

Rather vaguely Mr. Dewart hints at improprieties in Premier Drury's course of cabinet making. This may be chagrin on the Liberal leader's part, and then again there may be fire where there is smoke. The public awaits further developments, clearer statements, trust ing that Mr. Drury will have lived up to his own principles of clean, open politics and the high-minded platform of his party.

THE SOFT COAL STRIKE.

There are indications that the struggle between the miners of the soft coal fields and the United States Government is to be a long drawn backed by public opinion, has acted firmly in its moves to have production of bituminous coal reas complete as when the men walked out sevthey were assured protection, but although they guaranteed this with the entire to go back to the pits. They seem inclined to fight it out, so that presently the contest may one of endurance between the miners and the American industrial world. Half a million men on strike will put a tremendous strain on the financial resources of the union. On the other hand factories and mills closing down by the hundreds, which is likely to be the case within a few weeks' time, may cause pressure to be brought on the Government to make further concession to the miners. Meanwhile the outlook is anything but reassuring for the gen-

The strike order issued by the miners' leaders was declared illegal by the federal court of Indiana, as the United States is technically still at war and strikes are forbidden under a special war legislation. The miners' leaders had thus no alternative but to send out orders calling off the strike, but they out-manoeuvred the Government by neglecting to use official stationery. The miners simply refuse to recognize any order that does not carry the official seal. The injunction restraining the miners' leaders, although supported by the courts, has not ended the trouble as was expected. The Government has taken full control of the mines and troops will be present to prevent interferences wherever production is resumed, but the cannot be driven by the bayonet to dig

It is estimated that the production at present is 35 per cent of normal, which will not be sufficient to keep the industries of the United States and Canada going at normal pace for more than another ten days or two weeks.

THE CATTLE EMBARGO.

The old grievance of the embargo on Cana dian cattle has once more been to the fore and once more has it been decided to maintain the embargo. This time the matter came up in the Lords. The embargo was first established years ago with the object of preventing the contamination of English cattle by diseased animals from this country. This excuse, of course, no longer exists, as the disease has long since disappeared from Canadian herds. Recently there has been a tendency in the United Kingdom to recognize this fact and permit the entry of Canadian cattle, but always a stronger influence has been brought to bear to have the bars kept up. In 1917 the Dominion Government made an attempt to have the bars lowered, and it was then believed that the imperial ministry would acquiesce, but a few days ago Lord Lee, minister of agriculture, explained to the Lords that since 1917 the people of the United Kingdom had, through the shortage of meat brought about by the submarine campaign, become much less addicted to meat as a staple food and that the cattle of the old land were more than sufficient to meet consumption. The real reason then for the embargo on Canadian cattle is protection for the English, Irish and Scotch stock raiser. While there will be disappointment in this country at the retention of the embargo there we are standing for it."

will at least be some satisfaction in knowing that Canadian cattle are now advertised in all the old world markets as having a clean bill of health. This bit of justice, if tardy, is welcome.

GIPSY SMITH'S WORK.

The acid test of the evangelist's preaching rests, of course, in the aftermath. If the converted or regenerated carry on after the spurring influence of the evangelist's magnetic presence has been removed, then there is no question as to his sincerity and the truth of his message. The evangelist "makes good" by what he leaves behind in the souls and minds of men and women. Gipsy Smith will be found to have met this test, we think. He was successful because of the simplicity and straightforwardness with which he delivered his message. He did not resort to fads or frills to push home the message. It stood on its own feet, so to speak. The great crowds that nightly packed the Armories did not go there to be amused or entertained. They were there to be helped. That they were helped, invigorated spiritually, is shown by the thousands who returned a second and a third time. It was not Gipsy Smith so much as what he said that held and gripped his hearers. The meetings were not the emotional debauch that too many evangelical drives consist of. And as a consequence there will not be a reaction that would undo the good work. The benefits of his preaching in this city should be deep seated and lasting, the spiritual stimulation he has brought about steadying in these hours of social and religious unrest.

THE TURK PROBLEM.

Turkey is now the only nation officially at war with the British Empire. This is not because the Turk is holding out for better terms. Turkey today is completely at the mercy of the Allies and must submit to any conditions, but the future status of the Ottoman in Europe must be clearly defined, settled once for all, if there is to be any assurance of peace in the Balkans and the Eastern Mediterranean. It is this difficult problem which is delaying ratification. The main issue is, of course, as to whether the Turk shall be ousted from Europe. Rumania, Serbia, Greece and Bulgaria have already declared officially that they cannot consider the Balkan question settled until the Turk is removed to the other side of the Bosphorus. Turkey on the other hand clings to the little strip she holds in Europe, principally because of religious sentiment, and therein lies a great danger. To see holy Constantinople turned over to the Christian would constitute the crowning insult and debasement to the Turk from Sultan to street beggar. The immediate effect might mean bloody insurrections throughout the entire east. The torch of the Jehad sweeping through India, Persia, Palestine, Egypt, Afghanistan and Beluchistan would bring a period of massacre in which millions would perish, and Britain's hold in eastern lands be terribly shaken. Armenia, out and bitter affair. The U. S. administration, | too, must be looked after in whatever arrange- | jack was a huge fellow, and very strong, and in its ment is made. DOGS FOR CHILDREN.

[New Bedford Standard.] An observation of our friend the Farmer, that "I dunno's I ever heard of a child's gettin' lost that had a dog to play with," merits consideration. Sweeping generalizations are unsafe, but there is no question of the value of a dog as a child's playmate and protector. Some dogs have the runaway instinct themselves. The call of the wild stirs within them -they are vagrants by nature. Such a dog would delight to have human company in a runaway journey, and are not safe companions for children. the right kind of dogs, and there are many of them, who have been brought up with children, are quick to assume the role of guardian. With such a dos no child would ever get lost; indeed, would not be allowed to stray beyond bounds. We have in mind a Great Dane, whose temper was such that although we were acquaintances, we never ventured to enter his domain, if he were around, until he had had time to satisfy himself that we could pass muster Once satisfied you were approved by the god he called master and goddess he called mistress, he had an embarrassing way of standing on his hind a caress quite likely, if you were not well braced, to companion of the baby of the family-a boy of four or five-who had a predilection for running away When the youngster started, the Great Dane followed; when the child reached the gate the dog block his way, gently but firmly. For anyone to have touched that child when the Dane was near would have cost him his life—un ss he had first shot, and shot to kill. The intelligence of the dog is a source of constant amazement to those wh know him best and love him most; and of his devotion there is, happily, no question. children had dogs as playmates there would be

AMERICA AND SINN FEIN.

[Edmonton Journal.] The other day Senator John Sharpe Williams of Mississippi told Senator Walsh of Massachusetts whose ideas in regard to foreign affairs seem to be dictated wholly by his sympathies with the Sing Feiners, that it would "become him better if he would try to be American for a little by way of a change." Senator Williams is a very exceptional politician, in that he never seems to be afraid to say what the public interests require should be said, regardless of the voting elements which he offends by doing so. In the Vancouver World, Frank Foster of Seattle publishes a letter which he recently received from the senator. This letter states that the Sinn Feiners and German-Americans are doing all that they can to raise jealousy and distrust between the States and Britain. Their hope, he says, "is to bring about a row, and, if possible, a war between the United States and Great Britain to the benefit of both Germany and Ireland, and they seem to think that we Americans

SOME FISH STORY.

A sportsman tells of a curious incident. From is story, which appears to be authentic, it appears hat a party of fishermen were out in a boat after gudgeon. One of the men, whose horse had become board but was not fishing. As a penalty for wearing spurs he sat in the bow with his feet hanging ver the side of the skiff.

Soon after his entrance into the boat one of the anglers caught a small gudgeon, which he playfully hung on the horseman's projecting spur. ncident was forgotten, and the gudgeon hung there.

AN ANCIENT PALACE. [Hamilton Times.]

Just off the Ringstrasse (known as the most picturesque street in the world) lies the Hofburg. or city palace of the ex-Emperor of Austria. Passing through massive Doric columns, which were constructed by Peter von Hobile in 1821-24, admission is gained to the "Place of Heroes." outside th castle ward. A new wing was here added in 1887-94 and visitors frequent this place at noon and at o'clock in the afternoon, when the soldiers change guard, going through drills at the same time, accompanied by a choice band of music.

The inner walls of this portion are of the Renaissance style, by Ohmann and Baumann, completed as late as 1907. Further on toward the eastern side of the grounds is the Heldenplatz, where two exquisite monuments stand, the largest in the capital The largest, on the left, is of Prince Eugene. The base of the statue is of white marble, and the middle section is carved in niches, with four black marble inscribed slabs between. Above is the figure of Prince Eugene on a rearing horse. Beneath are supporting figures of women holding garlands, with crowns upon their heads. The equestrian monument of Archduke Charles stands opposite. This is a tribute to the man who defeated Napoleon at Aspern, and his dress is strongly significant of that period. A large flag is clenched in the hands of the archduke, and shields and wreaths of iron form a footstool beneath.

A Massive Stoop. Ascending a winding, massive white stoop, the visitor is led to the interior of a section of the palace set aside for visitors. After gaining entrance to the lobby, guards approach with slippers made of carpet material, and each person is expected to protect the floors of the imperial Hofburg by wearing the same over his shoes. This large room is rich in simplicity, and lighted by a chandelier of rare value, which drops very low from the ceiling, suspended by bronze chains attached to protruding claws, while the lights of ingular and innumerable electric candles are held in place by the hands of angels. occupied by Maria Theresa, this enchantng spot takes the visitor back many generations, for the old imperial bed is always an object of close scrutiny. The little footstool at its side is floor, with an equal space between the sleene and the canopy overhead. Along the sides and foot are hung heavy red plush curtains, which can be drawn together so as to completely inclose the bed.

Directly adjoining is an antique room with blue and white color scheme. The treasury is open to the public as well on certain visiting days, but that s a story by itself.

The palace was once an old mill, with no special sportance attached to it, and not until 1570 did Maximilian acquire the spot and have a small cast erected thoreupon, at which period it was used as shooting-box for wild deer in the surroundin orest. This castle was destroyed by the Turks in 1683, and was not rebuilt until the year 1700 by Leopold I. From then on it was used as a summer palace. But to Maria Theresa it may claim its present beauty, for she commissioned Pacassi a

Just beyond, a life-sized lion eposes upon a marble pillar, and white stone arches the entrance. To the westward is the Glorietta, an arched hall with an inclined stairway of 51 meters. It is famous for its mighty attica, or which stand three distinct symbols in bronze.

Next is the Roman ruin, whose origin dates back to 1780. It is characteristic of the Roman conquerors, but is in so dilapidated a condition at the present era that but two or three of the steps leading toward one of the portals remain, the others being nothing but crumbled stone. Perhaps the best preserved part of the ruin is its tall arch. Not far removed is the noted Obelisk, resembling a needle more than most monuments of the kind. Its top is finished in gilt, and the sides bear hieroglyphics of the history of Austria. Near by the glorious Neptune Fountain presents itself, and from Schone

It is possible, almost a certainty, that London boxing fans will have a chance to see Jimmy Wilde, the English flyweight champion-but he'll be the third man in the ring instead of one of the principals. The G. A. C. authorities, who are staging the card here on December 12, have practically made certain of "the Fighting Atom's" appearance in that role here. A 10-Day Tube ree of Pepsodent, to show you how to end film. See below.

Look in the Glass

Look at your teeth in the glass. Then brush them in this new way for ten days and look again.

There is a film on your teeth-a slimy film, It clings to the teeth, enters crevices and stays. The tooth brush does not end it. The ordinary tooth paste does not dissolve it. So it stays between the teeth and elsewhere and may do a ceaseless damage.

That film is what discolors - not the teeth. It is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. Thus most tooth troubles are now traced to film.

Dental science, after years of searching, has found a way to combat it. Able authorities have proved it by many eareful tests. Now the method is embodied in a dentifrice called Pepsodent, and leading dentists everywhere are urging its daily use.

A 10-Day Tube is now supplied to everyone who asks. Test it and see what it means to you.

A Week Will Tell

The results of Pepsodent will be a revelation. A week will show you that there is a way to whiter and safer teeth. For your sake and your children's sake. make this test and see.

Pepsodent is based on pepsin, the digestant of albumin. The film is albuminous matter. The object of Pepsodent is to dissolve it, then to day by day combat it.

But pepsin must be activated. The usual method is an acid harmful to the teeth. So pepsin long seemed barred. Science has now overcome this trouble by discovering a harmless activating method. It is that method which makes possible this efficient film combatant. You can prove the effects, and quickly. Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the slimy film. See how the teeth whiten - how they glisten - as the fixed film disappears. Compare the results with your old methods. Learn what clean teeth mean. Then let your own mirror tell you what is best. This test is most important to you. Make it at once. Cut out the coupon now.

After that she remained at home with her mother, sister and brother until her disappearance about three years ago. Since that time, I have frequently asked Lawton acquaintances concerning the Tabor family. Lawton it the always told me the same story, that Maude disappeared, and was supposed to have died in the west. Lawton seemed in the dark, however, as to the facts concerning the death, and the incident was considered somewhat of a mystery at that time.

Who Is Responsible for Smashing the Treaty?

Jubilation reigned in some quarters when the United States Senate's emphatic rejection of the treaty of Versailles came as a sensational climax of one of the most bitterly fought political battles in our history. It may have been a victory, and the destroyers of the treaty and the League of Nations "may exult in their triumph." but, retorts the Springfield Republican (Ind.), "they will go into history having constructed nothing and selfishly leaving the world to its darkness and woe." Opposing this view, the New York Sun declares that "there never was anything more wrong, more ridiculous, more preposterous, than to maintain that the war-was going on, and must go on until the United States Senate and the American people consented to swallow Mr. Wilson's pernicious league of nations." In fixing the responsibility, the pro-league Rochester Times-Union (Ind.) says that the "United States Senate, under the bankrupt leadership of Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, has killed the peace treaty," but Republican papers like the Philadelphia North American and New York Tribune lay the responsibility for the failure of the treaty at the president's own door, in effect charging him with "infanticide."

Under the heading "The Rejection of the Treaty," THE LITERARY DIGEST in its issue for November 29, prints as its leading article a summary of public opinion in the United States as expressed in newspapers of all shades of opinion. The article covers every phase of the controversy over the treaty and makes very clear how the country regards the Senate's action.
