

PRESBYTERIAL W. M. S. HOLDS ANNUAL SESSION

Rev. W. Beattie Delivers the Opening Address at Women's Convention.

INCREASE IN GIVINGS

Treasurer Reports Receipts
For Year 1921 To Be $13,006.78.

More than a hundred delegates from outside points in the London Presbytery, in addition to a large representation from the city churches gathered in King Street Presbyterian Church at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon for the opening of the eighth annual meeting of the Presbyterian Women's Missionary Society.

Mrs. D. L. McCrea, who has been president since the amalgamation of the Women's Foreign and Women's Home Missionary Societies, nine years ago, and who will again hold the office during the coming year, was in the chair, presenting her presidential address. Features of the very special interest were an address from Rev. William Beattie, D.D., C.M.G., and a roll call of missionaries of the presbytery representing the W. M. S. in overseas fields.

The remainder of the afternoon was devoted to the reports of presbyterial secretaries and the financial statement of the treasurer, Mrs. Mary B. McEachern, the last most encouraging in the history of the society.

In the past year the givings have been $2,315.70 in advance of the preceding year. The total receipts from auxiliaries, mission bands, young women's auxiliaries, associated societies and bank interest amounted to $13,967.78.

In addition, from the same sources to the presbyterial treasurer came $1,543.34 for the Chinese famine fund, this amount being paid in to the treasurer of the general council in Toronto. Further, the First Presbyterian Church, London, is paying $400 a year for the education of Miss Grace Campbell to be a medical missionary, bringing up the grand total for the year to $14,755.03, not including $195.09 for presbyterial expenses.

Reports Increased Income.
In 1921, when the first annual meeting of the Presbyterian W. M. S. was held, Mrs. McEachern, who was the first treasurer, holding the office ever since, reported the total givings as $5,452.12.

In consequence, the grand total presented by her this year shows an advance of $9,302.91 over the year 1915.

Mrs. F. Ballantyne, presbyterial supply secretary, reported that the usual shipments of mission supplies had been sent to the northwest, bales weighing 2,686 pounds, and valued at $4,243.18. These were consigned to Birle Indian Boarding School, Fort La Prairie School, and Canora Hospital.

Special shipments were also sent to New Ontario, bringing the combined shipments to the west and New Ontario up to a total of 4,216 pounds, valued at $5,317.43. Men of New St. James' Presbyterian Church sent $150 for purchase of a horse for New Ontario, and handed $45 to the W. M. S. to buy shoes. Supplies requested for 1922 were as follows:

For Boys' Home, Vegreville—Partial outfits for 110 boys, ages 7 to 15. No measurements given.
For Birle Indian Boarding School—1 web grey flannel for sheets; 3 pairs flannel for blankets; 6 pairs pillow cases; 20 yards navy serge; 15 yards galatea for aprons; 6 quilts; Curtain scrim, darning yarn, money for shoes.

Membership of 2,000.
While the members of the various organizations that make up the Presbyterian W. M. S. have been most generous in giving money, time and service, the president, Mrs. McCrea, expressed regret that every woman and girl in the various congregations of the presbytery was not identified in some way with the work. During the coming year she urged that special effort be made to increase the membership. The society now includes 55 auxiliaries, 38 mission bands, including two new bands, organized in 1921; two young women's auxiliaries and 11 Canadian Girls, in training groups, which have been added. Forty home helpers have become active members of the auxiliary. The total membership now stands at almost 2,000.

BY A MINOR.

It was a very great treat which Mrs. Charles H. Ivey, otherwise Ethel Jamieson-Ivey, afforded the fortunate who attended her invitational piano recital on Monday evening in St. Andrew's Hall, when, for the first time since coming to make her home in London some years ago, she presented a whole recital program in this city.

She was happy on this occasion in having as an ideally sympathetic accompanist, Mons. Ferdinand Fillon, with whom she is studying. Mrs. Ivey's playing revealed steadiness and authority, a brightness of tone at command unexpected from a woman, a variety of tone to meet all demands of interpretation, a rich endowment of artistic temperament, intellectual appreciation, and quick imagination.

With a possession of unusual dramatic fire, the violinist played with classic dignity and sufficient concession to the traditional in interpretation the Sonata in E Major (Handel), with which she opened her recital, giving the three movements, adagio allegro, largo and allegro.

Like a bit of wonderfully colored and beautifully blended oriental embroidery was the Bruch Concerto in which being given to girls' work, to which a whole session will be devoted on Wednesday.

Gives Survey of Work.

Continuing her address, Mrs. McCrea gave a comprehensive survey of the work of the general council of the Women's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, both at home and overseas. She called attention to the enormous budget for this year, in the neighborhood of $400,000, and what the administration of this involved for work in Canada, in Japan, India, China, Korea.

She urged upon the members of the London Presbytery the importance of getting a big vision of the work and giving loyal support to the splendid program of the general council.

Mrs. J. M. McEvoy, presbyterial corresponding secretary, called the roll of the London Presbytery girls who are now missionaries overseas, Miss Violet Baty, Miss Bertha Hodge, and Miss Minnie Sibbey, in Hong Kong; Miss Irene Stewart, Miss Mary Martin, Dr. Annabelle McEwen, Miss Grace Patterson, Miss Lillian McVicar, in India, and Miss Bessie Baty in South China. Following this Mrs. Carr of West Lorne offered up fervent prayers for them and their work.

Dr. Beattie, who conveyed the greetings and congratulations of the London Presbytery, giving also a message of inspiration, declared that the Women's Missionary Society has achieved a standard of efficiency in organization for foreign work that men well might covet. He emphasized the point that the very difficulties of the work for women in foreign lands has constituted a challenge, and that challenge has become the Christian woman's chance. With this as an inspiration, Canadian Presbyterian women have never ceased to forge ahead.

"Two things have been kept in view by the Women's Missionary Society," said the speaker. "In the first place, that women in Oriental lands can best accomplish a work for women, and, in the second place, that in the homeland an organization of women working for women should and does consolidate the activities of the women of the church."

Dr. Beattie had just one word of criticism to offer, and that was that the women's budget is not yet incorporated in the general budget of the church. He expressed the hope that the time is not far distant when this will be done.

An illuminating survey was given of the world situation with relation to foreign missions, particularly in India, China and Japan, and the effect of the general unrest in these countries.

Mrs. A. E. Silverwood, "Messenger" secretary, expressed the opinion that the figures which she presented, 1,289 subscribers to the official organ of the W. M. S., did not reveal sufficient loyalty to it among a membership of 2,000. She impressed the importance of keeping in touch with the activities of the W. M. S. and the missionaries by whom the society is represented through the "Messenger."

Others who presented reports were Mrs. J. D. Bannatyne, Mission Band secretary; Mrs. E. A. Horton, literature secretary; Miss M. K. Kelson, home helpers secretary; Mrs. Geo. Wood, strangers' secretary; Mrs. J. P. Faulkner, Young Women's Auxiliary secretary; and Mrs. J. H. Chalmers, press secretary.

Following the presentation of the treasurer's statement, the dedicatory prayer was offered by Mrs. W. R. McIntosh. The devotional exercises were conducted by members of Knox Church Auxiliary, St. Thomas, Mrs. David McLaws reading the Scripture lesson, and Mrs. J. L. Coutts offering prayer. Miss Mayme Patterson delighted with a solo, Tuesday evening, Mrs. J. D. Walker, Toronto, provincial president, is to be the speaker, and Mrs. John McEvoy will submit the Presbyterial Society report.

SCORNS BAN ON RACING "TIPS"

but one instance of what the end may mean.

Gambling on the "ponies" a craze that is sweeping the country with gathering impetus is but one of a hundred and one other forms of satisfying the insatiable craving for excitement.

The principle of gambling remains intact whether it is penny ante or bridge, but the iron-clad fact remains nevertheless that as far as hand-books are involved the operation of the same in the province of Ontario is strictly illegal. There is nothing particularly intricate about "bookmaking" to those interested in the mysteries of the business.

Horse races are in progress at some place or other at almost every season of the year. As a general rule, the same quota of steeds are run at the same tracks, being shipped from one center to another as the various meets close.

Consequently animals that raced legally with more or less success at the Windsor track last summer may now be running at "La Juana," Havana.

This means that in time most of them become familiar to racing enthusiasts in the city, despite the fact, however, that in most instances the latter would not be able to distinguish one "nag" from another if they were led up Richmond street with the blankets off.

Banned Sheet Easily Secured.
Their performances are keenly watched, however, by the racing sheets, expressly published for that very purpose.

The famous "Racing Form" of international fame is the most notable of these, and although its entrance is barred not only in Ontario but in Michigan as well, one may see copies of the same being eagerly scanned by local "touts" each day, just before the "ponies go to the post." To all intents and purposes, the new Racing Form is passe in Ontario, but its sale in this district compares favorably with this time a year ago.

As a result almost as keen an interest is taken at the four or five "bookmakers' parlors" in London as when the better actually sees his favorite selection perform at the track down in New Orleans or over the Mexican border line in La Juana. Moreover, it is every particle as easy to lose here as it would be at the latter track itself.

ARCHBISHOP OF PISA FAVORED

coffin would be closed within a few hours, and that thus the usual custom of worshipping the dead, kissing the uncovered foot of the dead pope, would be eliminated. The removal of the body from the throneroom to the Basilica this morning was the occasion of an imposing ceremony. The bier was held shoulder high by ushers clad in costumes of scarlet, flanked by noble guards.

The sacred college followed, headed by the dean, Cardinal Vannutelli, each taking his position according to his rank. Cardinal Gasparri walked a considerable distance behind the dean, although occupying the post of camerlingo, or head of the Roman Church, during the interregnum.

Received by Clergy.
On entering the main door of St. Peter's the general party was received by the clergy of the cortege Basilica, who escorted the cortege down the main central aisle to a position in the center of the church just opposite the statue of St. Peter. There absolute took place.

The bier was then raised aloft, and was passed into the Chapel of the Holy Sacrament, where the public can view the body through the immense iron gates.

The certificate of the pope's death, which was registered today, will be entered in the records of the capital at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow in practically the same manner as for all Roman citizens. In view, however, of the late pope's high rank, the mayor himself will make the entry.

Participation of the American cardinals in the conclave, the date of opening of which has been definitely set as Feb. 2, is still possible, but is regarded as doubtful by the secretaries of state. A cablegram has been received from Cardinal O'Connell of Boston, announcing that he was taking passage tomorrow for Rome.

Must Call Conclave.
Asked concerning the possibility of postponing the conclave to permit overseas cardinals to attend, the secretary replied that the constitution would have to be amended for that purpose, as the conclave must be called within ten days after the death of the pope.

A consistory under the presidency of Cardinal Gasparri, met this evening and decided definitely on Feb. 2. The secretary requested the Associated Press correspondent to set forth the erroneous impression to the effect that once the conclave began its sessions no late arrival could enter.

Inspector Keenleyside Gives Opinion When Requested
by Magistrate.

DECISION IS RESERVED

Proprietor of C. P. R. Hotel
Defends Charge in Court.

Unofficially, Deputy Police Magistrate P. H. Bartlett asked the opinion of License Inspector J. E. Keenleyside as to his interpretation of the law dealing with hotel-keepers as far as the selling of cigarettes, etc., on Sunday was concerned, and was surprised to hear Mr. Keenleyside declare that in his opinion a hotel-keeper could sell cigarettes behind his own bar 24 hours a day and seven days a week if he so desired.

"This was also the contention of Albert Judd, counsel for Samuel Towell, who runs the C. P. R. Hotel, at the corner of Richmond and Mill street, and who was summoned for selling cigarettes to Thomas O'Hara on Sunday, Jan. 15."

Decision was reserved by Mr. Bartlett.

Mr. Towell declared that under his license he was allowed to keep open 24 hours in the year. He ran the hotel from cellar to garret.

"I serve breakfast only," said Mr. Towell. "I made too much money serving other meals, so I quit."

"Selling cigarettes on Sunday is practiced all over Ontario today by hotel-keepers," declared Mr. Judd.

Mr. Bartlett—"Lots of people would like to wipe off the Sunday laws."

Mr. Judd—"A lot could be wiped off the wedge, everybody would soon be at it."

Mr. Judd—"Yes, that's the way the Lord's Day act started, and look at it now."

Mr. Bartlett—"The law of this country says a man can't carry on a business of this kind on Sunday, and be within the law. It has never been the intention that these men should have privileges not enjoyed by merchants, and be allowed to sell goods on Sunday."

Mr. Judd—"Could he sell beer?"

Mr. Bartlett—"Possibly he could, if beer was looked upon as a food. No person would contend that cigarettes were a food."

Mr. Keenleyside agreed with Mr. Judd.

"It looks to me as if when the O. T. A. was put in force that hotel-keepers were allowed to help out on their consequent loss of revenue, by being allowed to keep open on Sunday, and sell those things on Sunday if they wanted to," he declared.

"If the O. T. A. did not mean them to do this, a clause would have been inserted stating that the bars must close at a certain hour on Saturday night and opened at a certain hour on Monday. There is no clause to this effect."

VARIED LIST OF WINTER ASSIZE CASES ENTERED

Nine New Actions Set Down
For Trial On January 30.

When the winter assizes open before Mr. Justice Mowat on Jan. 30 at the courthouse, he will have a large number of cases for disposal on both the jury and non-jury list. Four more jury cases and five non-jury actions were set down for trial at the courthouse Tuesday morning, involving amounts up to $7,000.

Mrs. Martha Hardiman, on behalf of herself and two children, Edward and Gertrude, is suing the Township of North Dorchester for $7,000, of which $3,000 is for herself, and $2,000 for each of the children, as the result of an accident on a road in North Dorchester on Aug. 30, 1921, in which her husband, Joseph Hardiman, was killed.

Mrs. Hardiman in her statement of claim states that the family was driving along the road near Dorchester Station, when the road gave way under the car, causing the death of her husband and injuries to herself and children. She claims that the highway was too narrow, not properly packed and settled, and was not provided with a guard rail or warning of any kind.

Robert McKellar, a farmer of Moss Township, is suing E. R. Mayhail and B. A. Holgate for $1,000 for trespass and damage done to his farm by brine, for the value of gas and oil removed from wells on his farm since a certain lease became null and void; for a declaration that the lease is off and for an injunction restraining the defendants from entering his lands.

APPOINTED ST. KITTS' FIRE CHIEF.
St. Catharines, Jan. 24.—Sidney J. Oram of Toronto was last night appointed chief of the fire department of St. Catharines, at an initial salary of $2,300, from 38 applications.

ISSUES REPORT ON INDUSTRIAL
STATE OF CITYMiss Christie, Department of Labor, Completes Investigation of Metal Trades.

EMPLOYMENT CONSTANT

Points Out Absence of Serious
Accidents in Local Factories.

The report of survey of industrial conditions in London, undertaken through the co-operation of the London Chamber of Commerce and the Social Service Council of Canada, and carried out by Miss H. Christie, department of labor, Toronto, contains the information that in the industry of "Machinery and Metals," of which they have had reports from five out of the seven establishments in London, 2,597 persons are employed, of which 1,228 are men and 1,369 women, and 33 children between the ages of 14 and 16.

According to the report the employment is for the most part constant in this industry, the slack time is generally during the months of March and April, but the staffs are usually retained.

The report contains the number and nature of the accidents sustained by the employees, none of which appear to be serious, and number only about 50, due largely to carelessness.

In one firm only is there any welfare work done, that establishment keeping a trained nurse in attendance all the time.

A cafeteria is operated and a mid-morning lunch provided.

A committee made up of 100 members manage all the welfare activities.

The largest number of male employees receive wages between $20 and $30 a week, while the female help receive from $10 to $20, with a few skilled hands receiving above that amount.

There is only one report of a strike given, while most of the plants are operated on the open shop policy.

The hours of labor for the industry are: For men, 44 to 50 hours a week, and for women, 50 hours.

PROMINENT WOMAN OF LONDON DIES MONDAY

The death took place at her residence, 25 Yale street, Monday of Mrs. Alexander McQueen, wife of Alexander McQueen, principal of Ryerson School.

Besides her husband, Mrs. McQueen is survived by one daughter, Elsie, of this city, and one son, Charles W. McQueen, assistant sporting editor of the Mail and Empire, Toronto, and a former member of the editorial staff of The London Advertiser. Two sisters, Miss Jessie Dunnett of this city and Mrs. W. J. Mackay of Chicago also survive.

The funeral, which will be of a private nature, will be held Wednesday afternoon.

PROVINCE APPROVES
WATERWORKS PLAN

General Manager Buchanan of the public utilities commission announced on Tuesday morning that he was in receipt of a certificate of approval from the Ontario Board of Health with respect to the proposed waterworks extensions for 1922.

A necessary bylaw must now be passed by the city council, following which approval of the same must also be sought from the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board and the Hydro Electric Commission.

Unless a special meeting is held by the council before that date, nothing can now be accomplished until the first week in February.

REPORTS INCREASE OF CONTAGIOUS DISEASES

Whooping cough developed with a rush during the past week in London, 15 new victims having been counted, bringing the total number in London up to 43. Diphtheria also made a slight gain, with three new cases, scarlet fever, with two new cases, reached a total of 17 in the city. There are five cases of chicken-pox still under quarantine, but no new cases.

There are no cases of whooping cough in the city hospitals, and it is interesting to note that the 43 cases reported were in quarantine in 24 houses in the city, or almost two cases to each house.

Majority of Members
On Health Board

IS SOUTH London the most unhealthy part of the city? The above question is being asked, and may be well asked on glancing over the addresses of the appointed members of the board of health.

There are three in number, and all of them live in South London, within a distance of about one mile.

The south section of the city should surely emerge from 1922 as the healthiest part, with such careful nursing, is the opinion expressed by one city official.

Ald. O. I. Cunningham is the council representative on the board. He lives at 1 Belgrave Place, which is off Grand avenue, east of Ridout street. The next nearest member is E. R. Scabrook, former alderman, who lives at 83 Elmwood avenue, and the next is Charles Mitchell, 39 Beaconsfield avenue, superintendent at the Dennis Wire and Iron Works.

There are two other members of the board, who sit on the body by virtue of their office. Mayor Wilson and Dr. W. S. Downham, M.O.H.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

He hath showed thee, O man, what is good; and what doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God?—Micah 6:8.

It is an utterly low view of business to regard it only as a means of getting a living. A man's business is his part of the world's work, his share in the great activities which render society possible. He may like it or dislike it, but it is work, and as such, requires application, self-denial, discipline. (Pall Mall Gazette, London, England.)

MAY ABOLISH SHERIFF'S OFFICE

Toronto, Jan. 24.—The ancient and honorable office of sheriff is due for a change in Ontario. It may pass out of existence altogether, or the sheriffs may simply be given something to do.

Most likely, it is understood, the majority of the more clerical of them will be superannuated.

It is understood that in the next report of the civil service commission there will be the recommendation to amalgamate the office of sheriff and high constable. The suggestion probably will be passed on to the legislature along with numerous other contemplated changes.

The office of sheriff is among the oldest in British administrative customs, dating back to Saxon times. In most sections of the province, however, the sheriff's duties have dwindled to the single responsibility of hanging condemned murderers, and no Ontario sheriff has hanged a murderer since Champlain paddled down to Lake Ontario.

CHICKEN COOP TENANT
DISPOSSESSED BY FIRE

One of London's unemployed was made homeless Tuesday morning when the chicken coop in which he was living was destroyed by fire. The chicken coop was fitted out with a bed and stove. The tenant was absent for a few moments, and upon his return he discovered his home in flames. The fire department was called and extinguished the blaze.

The building was at the rear of the residence of James Noble, 51 Ada street, Chelsea Green. A few minutes after No. 5 department had responded, a second alarm came in from Josephine street, and the central department responded, only to discover that it was the same fire.

MAY PROVIDE LONDON WITH MODERN ARENATecumseh Park Interests May

To Act.

RE-LAYING OUT NEEDED

New Grandstand Would Be Provided If Plans
Materialize.

Interests now in control of Tecumseh Park may be prevailed upon to take steps that will provide the city of London with an arena.

During the past summer the park changed hands, being purchased from the Reid estate by a syndicate of businessmen. It is understood that the property is held by a local trust company.

The tentative plan, when the property was taken over was to provide a stadium for all sports. This would make a re-laying out of the park necessary. A large new grandstand was suggested, and the plan said to have been discussed was one that would make the grandstand one side of the arena. In other words, a part of the arena would be under the grandstand.

Two businessmen interested in the project said that the plans were so indefinite that it was impossible to outline them with any degree of certainty. He, however, admitted that there were hopes that an arena would be one of the benefits that would follow. There will be lots of room provided for the ball club and rugby games, it was stated.

The London arena committee, another organization which has been active in trying to get an arena for the city, is said to be again on the move, and it may be that another year will see the city with an excellent new structure.

CALF COMPETITION
RULES ANNOUNCEDWestern Fair Secretary Issues
Circular of Instructions.

The Western Fair Association is sending out circulars containing the rules and regulations for the boys' and girls' calf and yearling feeding competition for the 1922 exhibition.

The calf competition is open to any boy or girl who is resident in Canada, over 10 years of age, and under 17.

The circular gives full instruction as to what is required for entry, the chief feature being that the boy or girl must take absolute care of the animal for at least two months prior to the date of exhibition, and must exhibit the animal in the show ring when the judging takes place.

The parents or guardians of the child must produce a certificate to the effect that the child is of the age required, and that the calf has been under the personal supervision of the exhibitor since the required length of time. Certificate forms can be secured from the secretary, A. M. Hunt, of the Western Fair Association.

The yearling competition is open to all boys and girls resident in Canada over the age of 10 and under 18.

The competitors in this class must weigh their calf on March 1, and again on Sept. 1, and must keep an accurate account of the kinds, cost and amount of feed, and the gains made from March 1 to Sept. 1. Failure to do this disqualifies a competitor from obtaining a prize.

Cash prizes will be given for the clearest and best prepared record. First prize $20, second $15, third $10, fourth $5.

The competitor in the yearling class must take charge of the animal from July 1. This includes feeding, grooming, training, fitting for show, and showing.

Prizes for both competitions will be very liberal and will be announced later.

Obituaries

S. ISABELLA PEARSON.

The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon of Sarah Isabella, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elijah Pearson, of East Nissouri, who died Sunday.

MRS SARAH HOWLETT.

The funeral of Mrs. Sarah Howlett, who died Sunday, will be held from the residence of her son, Cecil Howlett, lot 11, concession 3, Delaware Township, Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Interment will be made at Woodlawn Cemetery.

MISS CATHERINE O'ROURKE.

The death took place in St. Joseph's Hospital Monday of Miss Catherine O'Rourke. Miss O'Rourke had been a resident of London for a number of years, and formerly resided at the corner of Regent and Talbot streets. She is survived by two brothers, John of Iowa, and Francis of London, and one sister, Mrs. Mary Griffin of Wharmcliffe road, this city.

The funeral will be held Wednesday morning from the residence of her sister, Mrs. Mary Griffin, at 8:30 o'clock. Requiem high mass will be celebrated in St. Martin's Church, South London, at 9 o'clock. Interment will be made at St. Peter's Cemetery.

Police Court Window Proves
Inefficiency of Civic Employees

Charges of inefficiency can now be brought against two civic employees, who early Tuesday morning endeavored to put a pane of glass in one of the police court windows, broken by the heavy winds of Sunday.

The men arrived shortly before 9 o'clock, and carried out their task—too well it would seem, for they not only cracked the glass when putting it in, but broke a nice little hole in it, and then departed in a great hurry.

However, it is not likely that any complaint will be made. The courtroom can stand any amount of fresh air, especially the morning after a cold.

WILL HOLD LAST
OF INAUGURATIONS1922 Civic Bodies To Meet
Tuesday For Final Formations.

The last of the inaugural meetings of the 1922 civic bodies will be held Tuesday, and as quickly as possible afterwards, it is the intention of Mayor Wilson to get the heads of the various departments together with a view of co-ordinating the various civic forces for the purposes of co-operation.

The hospital trust will hold its first meeting Tuesday afternoon, and the first business will be to elect a chairman. The police commission for 1922 will also get under way.

Mayor Wilson wants to get the heads together as soon as possible so that there will be ample time for consideration of his various proposals by the different bodies before the time for getting the estimates under way arrives.

The mayor's greatest hope is that by getting the various departments working together and in harmony the expenditure for the year will be materially curtailed and a tax rate reduction effected.

WILL PROVIDE AID
BY ZONE SYSTEMMinisterial Committee Prepares To Render Relief To Needy.

At the last meeting of the Ministerial Alliance a committee was appointed to subdivide the city into districts or zones for the relief work for the next few months. The committee have divided the city into eleven zones and appointed a convenor in each district to call together the different ministers and officers of the mothers' clubs in the district.

The various zones are comprised as follows:

Zone 1—London South, Rev. N. S. McKee, convenor. Churches—Knox Presbyterian, St. James' Anglican, Wootton Road Baptist, Biddulph Street Methodist, Askin Street Methodist, St. Martin's R. C. Mothers' Clubs—Tecumseh avenue, Wootton road, Victoria, Riverview, Manor Park.

MAKES FRESH
CHARGES ABOUT
CITY ENGINEEREx-Ald. Wenige Claims Men
Paid Whose Names Are Not On Payroll.

DECLARES SYSTEM WRONG

Ridicules Suggestion To Tear
Holes in Walls at City Hall.

That there are men on the engineer's staff, drawing money from the city, and yet whose names do not appear on the payroll, is the latest charge leveled by ex-Ald. G. A. Wenige at the city engineer's department.

Mr. Wenige claims that the money which is now being paid out as salary, and which is charged to the payroll is being charged to upkeep, maintenance or some work.

"For instance, 'John Jones' gets $500 for certain work on a certain job, and it is charged up to the job, not to salaries. How do I know that 'John Jones' is getting that money?" asks Mr. Wenige.

"It's a funny piece of business. If 'John Jones' is getting money from the city for working for the city, 'John Jones' should appear on the payroll. I don't say that there is anything dishonest being done, but I do know the system is wrong from a business standpoint, or any other standpoint, for that matter."

Mr. Wenige also does not see how the proposal to tear holes in the city hall wall will make the workings of that institution more efficient.

"All talk," says Mr. Wenige, "is a term which is becoming quite popular with city fathers. 'Let them see the money. If it will cost $2,000 to change the offices, let them use that money to reduce the taxes. They can get co-ordination without tearing out walls, starting a strike, scattering over several floors, can have it without tearing down partitions or moving offices."

LATIN DOES NOT WORRY PUPILS

Principal Mooney stated this morning that Latin amongst collegiate institute pupils was no more a source of worry than any other subject on the curriculum.

The fact that a large percentage of high school students have failed to pass the matriculation examination in Latin has resulted in an agitation among educationalists to do away with Latin or at least make provisions for it to be an entirely optional subject. However, high school students in London are making no particular effort to discontinue the study of the subject, but attempting to reach the examination standard in Latin just as determinedly as in other subjects necessary for matriculation.

INSPECTOR'S POSITION
REMAINS UNFILLED

In addition to the appointment of a deputy postmaster, an appointment that has been hanging fire for some time, the civil service commission has another position to fill by appointment, that of inspector in the district inspectorate of weights and measures office, a vacancy caused by the death of the late Finlay Marshall.

Many applicants are known to have applied for this government position, while there is a long waiting list who might be chosen through length of service claims.

A. R. KENNEDY SPEAKS ON NEWSPAPER WORK

At the meeting of the Talbot Street Baptist B. Y. P. U. on Monday night, A. R. Kennedy of The Advertiser gave an address on various phases of newspaper work, recounting some of the outstanding Canadian newspapermen, both in the daily and weekly press. During the evening a vocal solo was well rendered by Miss Beryl Wainwright, and selections on the violin by Deliah Peckham were also much enjoyed.

Working On "Tip."

The third man to be arrested but a few days ago as another alleged confederate of Wilson's, one Dace by name, did not appear yesterday. He also, like Herbert Wilson, has assumed an non-committal attitude since his arrest and declines to talk.

Possibility that "Frank" Wilson is Lewis Wilson has apparently not been considered or if actually found to be the fact is being kept a secret by the authorities.

The latter reiterated again today that they were working on the "tip" that Lewis started overland for London to secure the "savage" preparatory to a subsequent flight to Mexico, where another member of the gang, whose name is yet unknown, is said to have gone immediately.

Trustees Will Discuss
Construction of New School Buildings

Whether the new collegiate institute and the new Victoria school have been constructed according to their respective agreements will be the chief topic for discussion at a special meeting of the board of education on Tuesday afternoon.

Several complaints emanating from certain quarters within the past few days, have precipitated this action, and it will be proposed that a committee of the trustees "take over" the schools from the contractors immediately, following which the trustees, together with the school architect, will conduct a special inspection of both buildings.

M'CLARY BENEFIT
SOCIETY TO VOTEWill Hold Election To Appoint
Medical Officer For Members.

At a special meeting of M'Clary's Employees' Benefit Society it was decided to hold an election for medical officer for the society.

There are more than 1,000 members of this society, and the doctor is required to give medical attention to the members and their families. It is the rule of the society that the appointment of the doctor is by a majority vote of the members.

It was found at the meeting that the income of the society was not sufficient to pay expenses, and was prepared for any epidemic, which might mean an extra call on the funds of the society. In order to make some provision for emergencies of this kind, a discussion took place as to the advisability of canceling all benefits, allowances to members who might receive compensation allowances, and increase the benefit to those cases who, through illness, would be entitled to benefits, but would not receive compensation.

In addition to this a resolution was placed before the meeting to increase the dues to provide for increased benefits to those entitled to them.

After considerable discussion this subject was referred to the annual meeting of the society, which will take place early in February.

INSTALL OFFICERS AT COURT ORIENT SESSION

At the regular meeting of Court Orient, No. 331, C. O. F. officers were installed for the year 1922 by the D. D. H. C. R. John McCreary, assisted by Ed. Smith, P. D. H. C. R. who acted as high marshal.

The degree team of the court deserves credit for its aid and assistance in the installation and initiation of the candidates. The following are the officers: J.P.C.R., H. B. Pierce; C.R., James A. Axford; V.C.R., E. A. White; R.S., G. A. Shaw; F.S., J. A. Scott; treasurer, Charles J. Pierce; chaplain, John Metcalfe; S.W., L. P. Nye; J.W., Isaac Walton; S.B., A. C. Wistow; J.B., Bert Pierce; physician, Dr. J. C. Lindsay, M.D.; conductor, C. E. Beaumont; second auditor, G. E. Nye; sick committee, Bros. Nye, H. B. Pierce, Wistow and Metcalfe; finance, Bros. Shaw, Scott and Pierce.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered the visitors for the able manner in which they performed their duties as D. D. H. C. R. Following the business of the court a social hour was enjoyed and refreshments served. G. A. Shaw, recording secretary of the court, has held office every year for the past 24 years.

L. P. S. FIGURES
WERE NOT USEDPhilip Pocock Believes Boosting For Road Would Be Better.

CONSIDERS IT BIG ASSET

Points Out That Report Was Available, But Opportunity Overlooked.

"It seems rather unfortunate that there should be citizens who attack the city's railway and depreciate its value, instead of boosting for their own property," said Philip Pocock, in discussing the statement published in The Advertiser recently referring to the fact that compilers of the city's year book could not secure figures for the standard of the railway since 1914, and consequently repeated the old and incorrect figures year after year.

"The point seems to have been made that the people do not know what is still being paid year after year in taxes to meet the debt of the old railway," said Mr. Pocock. He pointed out that this information is always available, and has been, year after year, printed on the back of all tax notices sent out.

The tax notice for 1921 shows that the charge was $3,262.22.

Mr. Pocock pointed out that the total charge which the city has against the road under the old consolidation was about $1,300,000. What real money the city put into the road was a little under $600,000 in the first place, then $150,000 for bridges, and $40,000 for St. Thomas' interest. The balance was made up of interest compounded from year to year.

Since the road has been electrified, the city has derived a rental of $20,000, instead of $12,000 or $18,000. It has also received about $20,000 yearly for sinking bonds or notes, the investment which it has in plant, etc., and the surplus of about $190,000, which the railway carried.

Mr. Pocock points out that after electrification, $200,000 was spent in new rails that would have to be laid, whether electrified or not, and these rails were paid for out of the revenue money.

Mr. Pocock looks on the railway as a great asset to the city, a boost to its financial position, and believes that all citizens should boost and not knock this enterprise.

JUDGES KNOX CHURCH
WINNERS OF DEBATE

The debate held at Knox Presbyterian Church Monday night, between a team of the First Presbyterian Church and Knox Church, was won by the former. The title of the debate was, "Resolved, that success in life is due to character more than circumstance," and was very well handled by both sides.

Those taking part from the First Church were Miss Craig and Miss McDermid, while the team from Knox Church consisted of Miss Welsh and Mr. R. Dewar.

The judges of the evening were Dr. Beattie, Inspector Greer and R. McEachern.

The winning team will next meet a team from St. Andrew's.

FIND AUTOMOBILE HIDDEN IN SHACK

Toronto Detective Believes
Car Used in Woodstock
Liquor Theft.

[Special to London Advertiser.]
WOODSTOCK, Jan. 24.—A large six-cylinder Paige automobile has been found, carefully concealed, in an old shack on the 12th line of East Zorra, about half a mile south of Tavistock, by Detective Hodgins of Toronto, who had been directed to the spot by a young man arrested in the Queen City a few days ago. The detective states that the car was stolen last October. It seems that the car is closely connected with the theft of liquor which took place here last October, when a local resident's cellar was broken into and a large quantity of goods taken.

When the car was found Saturday the batteries, key and license plates were missing.
The plates were found some time ago concealed in a bag of chop sold in Tavistock by a young man who was connected with the liquor robbery.
Detective Hodgins is said to be in possession of information which may lead to interesting developments.
At the time the car was stolen it was said to have been taken by persons connected with the liquor traffic.

GOLDSBOROUGH TO BE HOME OF PRINCESS MARY

Viscount Lascelles To Take Bride To Mansion in Yorkshire.

SUMMER AT HAREWOOD

Town Residence Will Be Chesterfield House, Completed in 1949.

LONDON, England, Jan. 23.—Interest in the betrothal of Princess Mary to Viscount Lascelles continues to grow in this country, and the general public has been kept in the picture by the future home-making of the royal lady and her non-royal lover with avidity. Plans for wedding gifts have taken possession of the people, and the gifts to be made by the numerous groups of sixers differ in their ideas with regard thereto. London itself will make a gift to the bride. The lord mayor has announced the opening of a fund for this purpose. To the staff married people probably one of the uppermost questions in connection with the coming marriage is, "Where will the couple reside?"
To begin with, the princess and her husband propose to live during the early part of their married life at Goldsborough Hall, Yorkshire. Goldsborough Hall is a red brick early Jacobean mansion standing in a park and gardens which have an area of over 100 acres. The village of Goldsborough is near the old town of Knaresborough.
Prepare for Reception.
Goldsborough Hall is the property of Lord Lascelles' father, Lord Harewood, who himself lived there for fourteen years. For the past 25 years the mansion has been occupied by W. R. Lamb, a Yorkshire magistrate, and his family. Mr. Lamb has arranged to give up possession on April 30, and the hall is to be prepared for the reception of Lord Lascelles and his bride next summer. The future country residence of Princess Mary and her husband will be Harewood House, the home of the Lascelles family. It is a stately, commanding fine view of the natural beauties of Wharfedale. It has many royal associations, and the early Lords of Harewood were of royal descent. The name is said to be derived from Here-wood—the wood of the soldiers—where a battle was fought between Danes and Saxons. The royal castle, which was built in the reign of Edward III, has long since been dismantled, but its ruins and the old church, with its wonderful sculptured tombs, remain. The present mansion was built in 1750 for Edwin Lascelles, who was created the first Baron Harewood in 1790. It took twelve years to build it, at a cost, it is said, of £120,000.
Harewood House was enlarged and improved about sixty years ago, and it was then that the fine Italian garden on the south terrace was planned. The palatial front affords a sweeping view of wooded landscape, and nearer the gardens, which were laid out at a cost of £16,000. The grounds contain a famous "Tokay" vine, 70 feet long and twenty-four feet wide, which was planted in 1783. The state apartments are handsomely decorated and furnished. In Harewood House are wonderful painted ceilings by Rubens, Rose and Zucchi; plasterwork by Knauffman, and portraits by Reynolds, Hopper and Lawrence; also a collection of china—largely Sevres—valued at over £200,000.
The Prince of Wales stayed at Harewood House last summer, the king and queen were entertained there in 1908, when their majesties visited Leeds to open the new university buildings. King Edward and Queen Alexandra were guests at Harewood House, as Queen Victoria had been there before her accession to the throne.
Lord Lascelles' town residence is Chesterfield House, which he bought last year. Until then he lived, when in London, with his brother and sister-in-law, the Hon. Edward and Mrs. Lascelles, in South Street, W. I. Chesterfield House stands at the corner of Audley and Curzon streets. It has a rather gloomy exterior, with a closed courtyard. When Lord Lascelles bought Chesterfield House it was the headquarters of the League of Nations, and it was lent to the government as a residence for the Crown Prince of Japan during his recent visit to this country. The house was built for the fourth Earl of Chesterfield, the author of the famous "Letters to My Son." It was completed in 1749, and has remained practically unchanged.

Fire 300 Constables To Reorganize Police in Essex County.

WINDSOR, Jan. 23.—Announcing a plan to reorganize county police system, Crown Attorney Urquhart this afternoon sent registered letters to all county constables, numbering 300, that they will be removed from office next Monday by Judge Coughlin at Sandwich.
The crown informed the constables that they must appear before the court if they wish to be reinstated. It is also planned to ask each municipality to appoint one or more paid officers to replace the present county officers.
"There has been little co-operation among county officers," the crown attorney explained to The Advertiser.

EAST ELGIN LIBERAL CONVENTION PLANNED

AYLMER, Jan. 23.—The Liberals of East Elgin are making arrangements for a convention to be held early in February. At this meeting delegates will be appointed to attend the provincial convention to be held in Toronto.

Mrs. C. J. McDiarmid, a former resident of Aylmer, died in Toronto Friday. She had been in an invalid for the past two years. The funeral will take place Tuesday on the arrival of the G. T. R. train, to the Aylmer Cemetery.

WOMAN DEFYING COURT ARRESTED

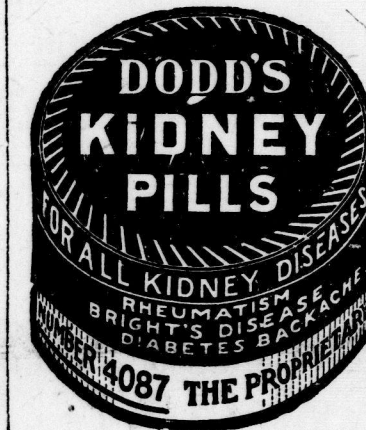

WINDSOR, Jan. 23.—Defying Magistrate Gundy in police court this afternoon, Mrs. Annie Selby, 25 years old, 338 Gleggery avenue, was sent to a cell until an apology was tendered the court.
Mrs. Selby was testifying against her husband, charging assault, when she refused to answer questions put by the husband's counsel, and which the court ordered from the witness box.
"I will kill him if I get the chance," the woman cried.
"Behave yourself or I will ask the chief to take you in charge," commanded the court.
"Do as you please," again screamed Mrs. Selby, and she was arrested as she attempted to run from the court room.

VETERAN INSTRUCTOR AT U. OF T. SUCCUMBS

TORONTO, Jan. 23.—"Prof." Alfred "Casey" Williams, for 20 years physical instructor of the University of Toronto, died this afternoon at the General Hospital, following a two-years' illness of bronchitis, which finally developed into double pneumonia.
"Prof." Williams was born in England, and came to Toronto some 30 years ago. He entered the physical instruction staff of the university and his name became known throughout Canada, the United States, and, in fact, wherever athletes competed. Two years ago he was taken ill, and since then had been on the retired list of the university.
A son, Harold, was killed in France, while serving with the C. M. R., while Mrs. Williams died shortly after news of the son's death reached Toronto.

ADJOURN CHARGES OF PERJURY AT BRANTFORD

BRANTFORD, Jan. 23.—Charges of perjury against two provincial "spotters," Alexander Shepek and Edward Chippin, were adjourned until Friday. No evidence was taken today when the cases were called.
M. M. MacBride, M.L.A., is the complainant against both officers, who testified at the hearing of a charge of selling liquor, upon which Louis Stander was fined $1,500 by Magistrate Massie in December. He has appealed against the conviction.

See For Yourself How Ironized Yeast Clears Complexions

And Grows New Firm Flesh on Thin,
Pale, Nervous and Run-down Folks

Mail Coupon for Famous Three-Day Free
Trial Treatment—Watch the Quick Results

If you are thin and run-down—if your complexion is marred with pimples, blackheads, boils, etc.,—if you are easily tired-out—here is your opportunity to prove to yourself without risking a single penny that you can quickly round out your figure with firm, hard flesh, increase your energy and acquire a clear, fresh, clean-looking skin, the kind you have always longed for.

Simply go to your druggist, get a package of the wonderful IRONIZED YEAST Tablets on our absolute money-back guarantee. Or mail coupon below for the Famous Three-Day Free Trial Treatment. Take these pleasant-tasting tablets—two with each meal. Then get ready for a surprise!

Watch the Results!

You will certainly be amazed at the quick improvement IRONIZED YEAST shows in you. Note how it immediately increases your appetite—how it enables you to get real joy out of every morsel of food you eat. See how quickly it drives away pimples, blackheads, etc.—how rapidly your skin takes on a new freshness and charm. See how your energy increases—how this newly acquired "pep" makes hard work or play a pleasure instead of a task. And as for putting new solid flesh on your bones—not flabby fat, but firm hard flesh—many thin and run-down folks report gaining five pounds and more from the very first package of IRONIZED YEAST!

Yeast Best When Ironized

The reason IRONIZED YEAST brings such splendid results is simply this—IRONIZED YEAST stands forth among its host of imitations as the purest vitamin tonic treatment. It is scientifically correct in every way, containing in highly concentrated form a specially cultured yeast which is grown under the strictest supervision for medicinal purposes—a yeast which is unequalled for its richness in the essential Water Soluble B vitamins. In addition it contains the correct amount of the two other vitamins—Fat Soluble A and Water Soluble C—which are equally important to health.

These three vitamins bring excellent results even if taken alone—but when through a special process they are united as in IRONIZED YEAST, these results are secured often in just half the usual time!

WARNING!

Due to the marked superiority of IRONIZED YEAST it is being widely imitated. IRONIZED YEAST is entirely different from ordinary combinations of yeast and iron—or yeast and iron taken separately. Certain types of yeast and iron have absolutely no value medically. IRONIZED YEAST, on the other hand, means not only specially cultured yeast and other vitamins, but the special process by which these vitamins are ironized. There is only one IRONIZED YEAST. Insist upon it always—for nothing else can be like it.

Money Back Guarantee

IRONIZED YEAST is sold at all drug stores on a positive guarantee that the first package will bring satisfactory results—or your money instantly refunded.

SCHOONER ASHORE ON MUD

Brandon Claims Distinction of Coldest Weather At 47 Below.

BERWICK, N.S., Jan. 23.—A 60-mile gale swept the Annapolis valley last night and today, while the temperature dropped to 10 below zero.

A number of buildings were blown down, but no casualties have been reported.

SCHOONER DRIVEN ASHORE.
YARMOUTH, N.S., Jan. 23.—In the big blow which began here last night and continued today the Gloucester fishing schooner L. A. Dunston, built last year as a possible contender in the international fishermen's race, dragged her anchors in the harbor and went ashore on the mud flats.

The gale was the worst experienced here for years, and as the temperature dropped from 35 degrees above to six below zero in a few hours the severity was keenly felt.

Steamers for St. John, N.B., and most of the fishing fleet were still in port tonight.

LIGHTHOUSE DEMOLISHED.
HARBORVILLE, N.S., Jan. 23.—The lighthouse of the pier here, the veranda of Bozanzon's Hotel and Isaac Spicer's fish-house were all blown down this morning by the big gale, which reached a velocity of 90 miles an hour.

Independent Liberals to War On Lloyd George Government

LONDON, Jan. 23.—The Independent Liberals, at a meeting in Central Hall tonight, definitely placed themselves on record as being opposed to the government of David Lloyd George.

Herbert H. Asquith and Viscount Grey of Faldoon were the principal speakers.

Viscount Gladstone, who presided, declared, amid loud cheers, that "We enter the lists and take the field against Mr. Lloyd George and his coalition government."

Mr. Asquith eulogized Viscount Grey as "the greatest peace-maker of recent times."

"The return of such a man at such a moment as this to our public life," Mr. Asquith declared, "is the restoration to us of a national asset of incalculable value."

Viscount Grey, attacking Mr. Lloyd George's method of transacting foreign affairs by conference, declared that the supreme council of the Allies had destroyed trust and confidence between France and Great Britain, and "lately had been fatal to a French premier."

He said the re-establishment of good relations with France was the most vital thing in European politics today, and that until they were restored no program to reconstruct Europe would succeed.

the winter last night. Calgary at 22 degrees below zero was provided with the highest temperature reported from the three provinces.

Mooselaw and the Pas, Manitoba, went to the other extreme with 44 degrees below, although an unofficial report claims the distinction for Brandon at 47 degrees below.

At Port Arthur it was 23 below, Winnipeg reported 32, Saskatoon 40, Regina 27 and Edmonton 32.

The weather already is moderating in Alberta, and for Manitoba and Saskatchewan somewhat higher temperature is predicted for tomorrow.

SNOW THREE FEET DEEP.
SUDBURY, Jan. 23.—The worst blizzard of the year in point of extent, lasting from 10 o'clock Saturday night until 2 a. m. today, raged over the entire Lake Superior division of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Snow in the north country is three feet deep, a foot and a half of which has fallen since the new year.

Snow plows have been working 24 hours a day, and while they have kept the lines open, all trains are running hours late. Railway cuts at some points resemble tunnels.

Southeast Grey's Member of Extravagance.

AID GRENVILLE BACHELOR

Former Premier Authorized
Expenditure of $735,000
As He Quit Office.

[Special to London Advertiser.]
PRESCOTT, Ont., Jan. 23.—Canada's first lady member of parliament, Miss Agnes C. McPhail, M.P. for Southeast Grey, is one of the United Farmer orators who are stumping Grenville in an effort to defeat Premier Arthur A. Meighen, who seeks to return to parliament from this county, after being defeated at Portage la Prairie.

Hon. T. A. Cresser and Premier Drury are taking no active part in the campaign against Mr. Meighen, nor has J. J. Morrison spoken in the riding, but Miss McPhail is drawing great crowds, many no doubt being attracted by curiosity.

A lady M.P. is something of a novelty, and all the women of the county are flocking to see what she looks like and talks like.

Candidate a Bachelor.
Miss McPhail, accompanied by R. H. Halbert, former president of the U.F.O., spoke in Merrickville Saturday night in the interests of Arthur K. Patterson, the U.F.O. standard bearer, who, by the way, is a bachelor.

Former Premier Meighen had spoken in Merrickville on Thursday, but Miss McPhail was not awed by the earlier presence of greatness.

She admitted frankly that the former premier was a clever man, "but he is clever mostly at making sudden changes of front with regard to matters of public policy," she added. She raked the record of the late Meighen government fore and aft, condemning its tariff policy, its alleged extravagance and its other shortcomings.

Economy, she thought, should be Canada's watchword. She pointed out that the national debt was five hundred times greater now than at Confederation, although the population was but three times greater.

Not the Great White Way.
She advocated the establishment of a block to safeguard the interests of rural Canada, and spoke convincingly of rural depopulation and the measures needed to encourage people to remain on the farms.

"It is not the bright lights that

Claims Pope Benedict's Long Life Was Due To Simple Living

[Special to London Advertiser.]
ROME, Jan. 23.—The vitality that enabled Pope Benedict XV. to resist death so long was the product of rigorous activity and plain living, according to attaches at the Vatican, who watched the pope in daily life.

Summer and winter he rose at 6 a.m., said mass in his private chapel, and then ate a breakfast consisting of an egg beaten up in a cup of milk.

Before 8 o'clock he was hard at work, at scanning articles in Catholic and Italian political newspapers. Although his secretaries aided in sorting the most interesting reading, the pope preferred to read at first hand.

At 9 o'clock the mail was brought in, and this occupied him until 10, when he received the cardinal secretary of state.

Ate In Solitude.
At 10:30 o'clock private and public audiences were held. Although these were limited in number, they usually lasted until mid-day, when Benedict XV. took the principal meal of the day.

The meal was eaten in solitude. It consisted of an Italian soup, with the sum of $735,000 for rails, accessories and car repairs.

The warrant is dated Dec. 21, 1921, shortly before Premier King took over the reins of office, and is based upon an order-in-council of Oct. 6.

Under the latter order authority was given to the management of the Canadian National Railways and the Grand Trunk Railway to order "on next year's account a maximum of 75,000 tons of rails with necessary accessories and to arrange for the rebuilding or repair of 2,000 cars at suitable points at fair and reasonable charges, the expenditure so incurred to be provided for in the supplementary estimates at the next ensuing session of parliament and to be included in the accounts of the railways for next year."

This authority, it is stated, was given with a view to relieving the unemployment situation in Canada during the winter months and to confine rebuilding and repair work as far as possible to "system shops."

The governor-general's warrant covers the purchase of 15,000 tons of rails at $49 per ton or a total of $735,000. For this there is no parliamentary appropriation at present.

Why Don't They Try.
She told of her visit to the tariff commission and of standing for the first time in the presence of a real knight (Sir Henry Drayton, the chairman). She had witnessed Sir Henry's beautiful smile for a couple of days. Manufacturers had demanded protection, declaring agriculture prosperous. If agriculture was so prosperous why didn't they try it? There wasn't a farm today that could be made to pay five per cent interest if run on a business basis.

The people of Southeast Grey were her masters and she was their willing servant. The farmers were not seeking to rule Canada, but were determined the other fellow was not going to tell them what to do. All they wanted was economic justice.

Hurting Meighen.

THE FLARE-UP and die-down in North York gave some of the Conservative papers the short-lived chance they wanted to harpoon fresh Hon. ARTHUR MEIGHEN.

The crime of Hon. ARTHUR MEIGHEN was that he was defeated in 1921.

The Toronto Telegram throws its little jag of fuel on the fire of hatred. It entertains for Mr. MEIGHEN as follows:

If Hon. Arthur Meighen is a master strategist in the art and science of carrying constituencies, why did not Mr. Meighen carry a few constituencies in his own province of Manitoba on December 6, 1921?

Ferguson-Melville's advice to the Conservatives of North York is the Conservatism upon the rights of local sovereignty. The names of the trespassers are not emblazoned with the glory of success in the Meighen-Ferguson spheres of political activity.

Hon. Arthur Meighen and Hon. Howard Ferguson have not proved themselves so successful in the management of their own political affairs that they are entitled to try to teach North York politicians the secrets of victory in activities that are none of Mr. Ferguson's affair.

If Hon. Arthur Meighen cannot stand upright and victorious in Greenville without requiring his followers to desert their principles and lie down in North York, then let Mr. Meighen perish at the polls.

The extracts were written before J. A. M. Armstrong had decided that discretion was the better part of valor in North York, but they show, just the same, the anxiety of certain Tories to be present at the political funeral of Hon. ARTHUR MEIGHEN because he headed a cause that was irrevocably killed and buried by the electors on December 6, 1921.

The Mechanical Age.

TAKING UP a point made in a paper a few days ago regarding the progress made by men who were found in technical classes at night, a mechanic writes to The Advertiser, stating that boys going into the trade of a machinist should do their thinking before they leave school.

"It is a fact that many of our best mechanics, foremen and superintendents have secured their knowledge at the night school, as you say. I can recall a number of cases, where men, after being well along in their trade, wanted to specialize in tool making, but found they needed more mathematics and drawing, and another who, after spending some years in a drafting room, found out he was never going to be much more than a tracer, because he hadn't the education that would allow him to go on and combine initiative with his work, as is required of the designing draftsman. It took, in several cases, a couple of years' hard work at night to remedy the defects in the education of these mechanics, but today they have made good, and they have done so by their own efforts and the assistance they secured in a night school."

No doubt there are many similar cases. There is a tendency to laugh at the advertisements used by some of the correspondence schools, showing a man elated over a promotion, or over his ability to tell his wife that they can go ahead and get the things now they were not able to get before.

Back of it all, every man in the mechanical field today knows that he is up against a proposition that is changing very rapidly. The training that made him a very good man ten years ago is in many cases of very little use today because methods of production have entirely changed. Quantity production is the cry, and the automatic is being fashioned to do things today that were unheard of a few years ago.

There is no short-cut to success in these various lines. Hard work, long hours and constant application—that is the price to be paid for success.

In this mechanical age the man who is master of the machine stands a much better chance than the man whom the machine has mastered.

Should See Canada.

THE SUGGESTION THAT the members of the Dominion government should see Canada before starting on their work has something to commend it. The chances are that many of the men who have been elected to the federal house have never seen the Dominion from east to west—as a matter of fact, remarkably few Canadians have.

When matters come up, and they will, that require to be dealt with in a broad way, it will be found that there are east and west factions in the house, and the easterners will be quite sure that the westerners have not got their viewpoint, and vice versa.

Canada as a whole looks to Ottawa for government, and for the development of national life and national industries.

So it follows that the man who is going to give acceptable service must have the national viewpoint.

Never having seen the Dominion, knowing little of its problems, and of how the east and west can work together, he enters his work with a localized vision, and to that extent

H. H. DEWART'S VIEWS

THE case of Bullock, the colored man who has been living in Hamilton for some months past, has attracted international interest. He is wanted by the authorities of North Carolina, but claims if he is sent back there he will likely be lynched, as it is not possible for a negro to have a fair trial in that state. Ottawa is quite deeply concerned in the case, and so is Washington.

H. H. Dewart of Toronto, writing to The Advertiser about the case, brings up some very interesting points from the legal and humanitarian angle. Mr. Dewart says:

The procedure adopted to deport Bullock, the negro, from Hamilton is utterly indefensible. There is no contempt of court in making this statement. Bullock has the right to a judicial hearing by a court. He has been tried by no court. He must not be sent from Canada on the trumped-up charge of his failure to report as an officer when he entered Canada in March last, because of the mistaken zeal of officials who have too long misused their too extensive powers. Under whose instructions are they undertaking to misrepresent and outrage Canadian principles of justice? It may be time for a change.

If the State of North Carolina, or any other foreign state, has any legal ground on which Bullock should be taken from Canada for trial on a criminal charge in that state, there should be a formal application for his extradition. That is the purpose of our extradition treaties and acts. The safeguards which carefully-considered British treaties have placed around those who even find a foreign state, must be protected under the treaties by the courts, which must deal with every case unless extradition is waived. The right of appeal to the throne represented by the governor-general and the government of Canada must continue.

The immigration board is guilty of an indecent and offensive impropriety in undertaking to deal with a criminal charge, which, as is well known, is none of its business. We tent the development of Canada is hampered.

Of course, this idea would not appeal to those who believe that a man is elected to parliament to have a new postoffice or armories built in the town, or to see that all the boys who helped in the election are provided with jobs, and then there might be some expense entailed.

At the same time, the idea that the men who are going to make laws for Canada, build tariffs for Canada, seek to put desirable immigrants in Canada, should have a pretty thorough knowledge of the country with which they are going to deal. If there is a better way for a legislator to get this broad knowledge than by seeing the country first hand, in company with other legislators, then we would like to see the better plan outlined.

The Town Manager.

THE ANNUAL town meeting of Woodstock, N. B., took place a few days ago, at which it was possible for the town manager, R. F. Armstrong, to announce that he had a credit balance of $8,421, something that is rather unusual in these days of civic finance.

The manager plan of civic government is not generally considered as being applicable to towns, and we believe that Woodstock, N. B., is the smallest place trying it out.

In a recent issue of the Carleton Sentinel, published at Woodstock, is a summary of the business of the town for the year. It goes over each department, shows the financial standing of each, and one peculiar item is that in the estimated receipts for 1921 was an item of $6,000 surplus carried over from 1920.

The town fathers of Woodstock have every confidence in their manager and in the town manager plan. Mayor Mair, in his address, spoke of his experience under the two systems as follows: "I spent two years at this board under the old conditions—I have followed the affairs of the town very closely this year, and I am thoroughly convinced that the town of Woodstock has been losing annually from $2,500 to $4,000 in uncollected taxes and water rates. It was no uncommon thing to carry over a defaulters' list of $3,500 to $4,000 and re-assess the second time the man that had already paid. Year after year bonds were issued for $1,000 and $2,000 to cover payments that should have been paid out of current revenue. The showing made by our manager, both last year, but particularly this year, in the face of adverse conditions, is conclusive proof that the system is right. I feel that had we adopted the manager system years ago, the town of Woodstock would have been many thousands of dollars better off."

And after all a balance on the right side at the bank is a pretty good way to demonstrate the excellence of any system.

Lloyd George's Vision.

LOYD GEORGE has already turned the attention of the world toward the next conference of nations at Genoa.

It is well that, while the chronic war prophets are busy lining up the nations for the next war, some great man shall be busy lining up these same nations for the next conference.

LOYD GEORGE, in a few words, pictures the advantages of the diplomats of the nations and their experts getting together.

"They are cheaper than military experts. Their retinue is smaller. One thousand experts—and we have just concluded an argument conducted between the same nations lasting four and a half horrible years! There were thirty millions of men have no real grievance in Canada against Bullock. He is reported to be "physically sound, without disease, and reads and writes English well." There is no report as to the mental or physical soundness of his inquisitors.

If there is a North Carolina charge that can be supported, it is the business of that state. Why should the immigration officers rush into the breach to determine in a two-hour hearing that Bullock should be not extradited, but deported, by an improper use of an act that was intended for a totally different purpose? We have had too much of this strong-arm police method, both under Dominion and provincial laws. Even a technical offence against the immigration act, where discovered by reason of a serious criminal charge, is no just ground for the officious interference of Canadian petty officials when the life of a man is involved. It is surely the business of the attorney-general to see that justice is done. Why not deal with the more important questions of the life or death of a human being and see (as you can) that the immigration act shall not be used, as it had been too often used in the past, as a short-cut to deport supposed undesirable, who were entitled to the benefit of a fair trial and a fair hearing when charged with a criminal offence, other than a breach of the O. T. A.?

British justice demands fair treatment and a proper hearing for Bullock, and I feel sure that Canadian fair play will see that he gets it. The real issue of the justice of his treatment which have protected in the past the oppressed who turned to Canada and found shelter and protection under different conditions and which are sufficient to give them legal protection today.

There need be no fear that the situation will become "very delicate" and "highly embarrassing" as the New York Times suggests, and "constitute an international episode of no little gravity." LET RIGHT BE DONE.

H. H. DEWART.

Toronto, Jan. 18, 1922.

engaged in that conference. There were ten millions of young men left dead on the debating ground, ten more millions mutilated, fifty billion sterling of expenses. People may better try another conference!"

Well stated!

It is very easy, very simple, and very foolish to lean back and show where the Washington conference is falling down.

It is bravery, courage and wisdom that sees in the gathering there the sowing of the first seeds, perhaps on hard, stony and suspicious ground, but making the start toward a toleration that will take the place of armament, and an understanding that will replace slaughter.

Unemployment.

PREMIER DRURY intimates that unemployment insurance may be investigated with a view to considering its adoption in this province.

Any insurance scheme needs to be under way for some time, and needs the co-operation of those who are going to benefit by its functioning.

In a country the size of Canada, with its small population, there should be very little unemployment in ordinary times.

Right now we are not living in ordinary times, nor will we be until this black winter has recovered. Until that takes place we are going to have unemployment in Canada, although the degree and extent may decrease with the stimulation of industry.

It would do no harm for the government to go ahead and secure information, for it is quite patent that at present we are dealing with unemployment and relief in a spasmodic and highly inefficient way.

LITTLE 'TISERS

New York prefers white eggs, while Boston likes brown ones, and at our little hut we prefer to judge 'em by their age.

If you want to grow hair on a bald head, says Dr. Estes of Chicago, eat raw food. How does this chap take his macaroni? Doesn't he kill it first?

A geological survey shows that United States has oil to last for only 20 years more. But United States has oil stocks enough to last for 200 years. So why worry about the oil?

Down in California they have a murder trial on that has now run about twelve weeks. If they don't hurry it along the verdict of a life sentence may not mean very much in the way of punishment.

Members of the London City Council have an advantage over federal members. After being appointed to cabinet and committee rank they don't have to go back for the electors to have another shot at them.

We always like to take our temperature from what the milkman says. He is up and around early in the night when the frost king is doing his worst bombardments. Hence, he can always say for sure that on a cold day it was 10 below. Folks like to hear another man say it is real cold. It helps to back up their own suspicions.

The law of averages is a queer problem. The British have taken 50,000 troops out of Ireland, and at once Ireland feels the loss of the money that was put in circulation by reason of the troops being there, and finds that new taxes will be necessary to make up the deficit. Still, so far there has been no request on the part of Ireland to have the troops sent back again.

J. L. Lewis, international president of the United Mine Workers, reported as saying the miners will make new demands, and he has high hopes for arbitration. He has one clause in his remarks, "in no event will we consider a compromise on a wage reduction." How are they going to arbitrate?

We listened to a man give a lecture a few months ago, claiming the earth was getting hotter and that gradually winter will be a thing of the past in this country. After making sure the old musket was loaded with rock salt, we started out this morning to look for that lecture taker.

As postmaster-general of United States Mr. Hays received $12,000 a year. In that capacity he handled a business of $500,000,000 a year. He now goes with a moving picture concern that will pay $100,000 a year for his services. Truly, our sense of values and view of proportions is simply knocked in the head.

Along with "blue sky" law to be passed by the Ontario Legislature should come a fresh crop of common sense in the mind of the man who has money to invest. The absence of common sense often goes far to make "blue sky" laws necessary.

NOAH'S POETRY

ONE SMART MAN.

There are some folks that I admire for all they say and do, they seem to always have the edge on common folks like me and you.

There is the man who makes a speech and uses words ten feet in length, and makes the men and women weep in spite of all their age and strength.

And some can stand and sing a song, and soar on up around High C, while others can turn inside out as nimble as a well-trained flea.

Ah, yes, it's nice to hear a man who blows a tune upon a horn, recalling airs about blue sky and long and yellow rows of corn.

But there's one chap I do adore, more so, perhaps, than all the rest, his presence makes a glow of pride come stealin' in beneath my vest—this is the man I long to see, he is the bird that I admire, he eats his oyster soup without a single gurgie or back-fire.

—NOAH.

READ YOUR CHARACTER

[By Digby Phillips.]

NO. 101—WEAK "T."

The weak "t" in the eyes of those who read character in handwriting, is the "t" in which the cross-stroke is but lightly made, and it tells a very definite story of character.

The weak "t" is more often found in women's writing than men's, and it is natural this should be so in view of its significance.

You'll notice what is called a dominating character among either men or women who cross their "t's" in this fashion, for they're not of the gritting-teeth, do-or-die type, no matter what their other virtues may be, though it's only fair to state that in the aggregate these other characteristics may often make them much more desirable citizens and admirable personalities than many of the determined ones.

The woman who crosses a "t" weakly is a woman who can be easily led. She is not very decided in her views, and is not likely to insist very much upon consideration of them. The same is true of a man who shows this trait.

They are people who automatically fit into the surroundings in which they find themselves. In Rome they always "do as the Romans do," not so much because they believe it is good policy to do so, but because it is their natural inclination to be strongly influenced by the people who happen to be around them.

Married to persons of dominant traits, they get along easily with them without friction, for they are content to follow along with the fads and foibles of their acquaintances. They're sociable, and as a rule amiable, but never aggressive or resistant.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

Cockroaches

BY DR. R. H. BISHOP.

COCKROACHES as carriers of disease have not been proved to be more dangerous than flies. Yet there are few people who would not rather have many flies around than one cockroach.

Like flies, however, cockroaches carry germs on their legs. Their legs are not hairy, as those of flies, and in consequence the number of germs on a cockroach is not liable to exceed 10,000, while flies commonly have more than 100,000.

Roaches feed on sputum, where there are germs of pneumonia, tuberculosis and colds, and on filth where reside germs of typhoid fever and summer complaint. Their legs, covered with the germs from one food, are wiped on the next food catch, which may be food ready for human consumption.

All in all, cockroaches are not as capable of spreading disease as are flies, but they are capable enough to warrant reckoning with.

A dark box trap baited with sugar is a fairly good way of catching them. Roach traps are on the market, though poisoning is perhaps the best method of getting rid of these vermin.

Mix equal quantities of powdered borax and powdered sugar thoroughly, and place in small heaps around the floor in cracks and crevices.

25 YEARS AGO TODAY

Here We Have Items of Local and District Interest. As Recorded in The Advertiser of 1897.

TUESDAY, JAN. 24, 1897.

Weather—Partly fair, with sleet or snow.

The new board of health held its inaugural meeting last night, electing a chairman, and received the medical health officer's report of the milk inspection. Those present were: Dr. Campbell (chairman); Mayor Little, ex-Ald. Skinner, John Christie, ex-Ald. John Heuman, D. W. Blackwell, Jas. H. Bowman, Medical Health Officer Hutchinson and James Lutman, assistant health inspector. After reading the minutes of the last regular meeting the new members were installed in their seats. James H. Bowman, whose term of office expired, has been reappointed, and Daniel W. Blackwell to succeed Mr. George White.

Wm. Skinner and John Christie moved to re-elect Dr. Cl. T. Campbell as chairman, and this was unanimously carried.

A jam tart social was held at the Salvation Army citadel Thursday night, when the building was crowded. The meeting was conducted by Adjutant Cass and Captain Dover. Songs were given by Captain Dover, Sisters Howard and Lewis and James Pope. Everybody got a tart and War Cry for 5 cents.

Mr. J. H. McCurdy, Ph.D., LL.D., professor of Oriental Literature, Toronto University, spoke on "Bible Lands and Peoples" in the auditorium last night.

The local market as reported by A. M. Hamilton, Secretary of the Market Association, was as follows:

The Oxford Law Society elected these officers for the present year: President, Judge Finkle; vice-president, F. R. Ball; second vice-president, T. Nells, Ingersoll; treasurer, J. H. Nells; secretary, A. Dicknell.

The South Essex Agricultural Society has elected the following officers for the ensuing year: President, A. H. Woodbridge; vice-president, Hubert Nigle; second vice-president, C. G. Fox; directors, John A. Auld, W. J. Baldwin, Walter McCormick, G. W. Coatsworth, Edmund Rogers, John E. Birch, W. M. Milles, Geo. H. Mills, R. D. Preston, John Richmond, John Drummond.

Evans Davis left Sarnia yesterday to take a position in the office of the firm of T. B. Escott & Company, London.

Rev. J. M. Armstrong of Woodward Avenue Presbyterian Church, Detroit, preached in St. Andrew's Church Sunday morning and evening.

The regular meeting of the hospital trust was held in the city hall yesterday afternoon. After the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting, Mr. Purdon moved, and Mr. Complin seconded, that R. Lewis be elected chairman for the current year. Applications for positions on the nursing staff were received from Bella Scott, Kate Penna, Henrietta Shepley, Margaret Treharne and Henrietta Tressant. Miss Ruth Flory, having proven satisfactory as a probationer, was accepted as a pupil nurse.

Be suspicious of any tenderness or bleeding of the gums. This is usually the first stage of Pyorrhea—an insidious disease of the gums that destroys the teeth and undermines bodily health.

Gradually the gums become spongy. They inflame, then shrink, thus exposing the unenameled tooth-base to the ravages of decay. Tiny openings in the gums form gateways for disease germs to enter the system.

Medical science has traced many ills to these infecting germs in the gums weakened by Pyorrhea.

They are now known to be a frequent cause of indigestion, anaemia, rheumatism and other serious conditions.

So watch carefully for that first tenderness or bleeding of the gums. Try Forhan's immediately. It positively prevents Pyorrhea (Riggs' Disease) if used in time and used consistently.

And in preventing Pyorrhea—it guards against other ills.

Forhan's (For the Gums) cleans teeth scientifically as well. Brush your teeth with it. It keeps them white and clean.

If gum shrinkage has already set in, start using Forhan's and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment. 35c and 60c tubes in Canada and U.S. If your druggist cannot supply you, send price to us direct and we will mail tube postpaid.

HEART WOULD BEAT
LIKE A
TRIP HAMMER

Heart trouble has of late years become very prevalent. Sometimes a pain catches you in the region of the heart, now and then your heart skips beats, palpitations, throbs, or beats with such rapidity and violence you think it is going to burst.

You have weak and dizzy spells, sinking sensations, are nervous, irritable and depressed, and if you attempt to walk upstairs or any distance you get all out of breath.

We know of no remedy that will do so much to make the heart regain strength and vigor, regulate its beat and restore it to a healthy normal condition as will

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS.

Mrs. Chadwick, Delhi, Ont., writes: "I had palpitation of the heart, and the least exercise, such as going upstairs or up a hill, my heart would beat like a trip-hammer and at times I was dizzy-headed and had a sinking sensation as if my time was near."

"A friend suggested I try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, so I procured three boxes, and by the time the first one was used I began to improve. In all I took six boxes, and now although in my 64th year I feel like a young girl; no dizziness or heart-thumping, and can walk miles without fatigue. At time of sickness I weighed 120 lbs., now I weigh 140."

JAPAN AGREES TO WITHDRAW SIBERIAN ARMY

Disclaims Any Intention of Disputing Territorial Integrity of Russia.

WINS FAVOR OF PARLEY

Agreement On All Far Eastern Questions Seen At Early Date.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 23.—A sweeping disclaimer of any claim against the territorial integrity of Russia, coupled with a pledge to withdraw the Japanese troops stationed in Siberia as soon as orderly conditions are restored, was presented to the arms conference Far Eastern committee today by the Japanese delegation, and was received with a general show of satisfaction by the representatives of the other principal powers.

Formal discussion of the Japanese policy was postponed until tomorrow, but there was no indication tonight that any of the "big five" delegations would oppose acceptance of today's declaration at its face value, or seriously dispute the plan for continuing at present Japanese occupation of Russian soil.

The general opinion was that the whole Siberian subject touched upon today for the first time soon would be disposed of on the basis of the Japanese pledges.

Reach Shantung Pact.
At the same time, the long-continued Shantung negotiations also approached their conclusion. At their 31st meeting to discuss the subject the Japanese and Chinese virtually completed an agreement on all of the issues involved, except the central question of the Tsingtao-TsinanFu railroad, and there were signs of impending developments regarding that.

Ma Soe, Washington representative of the unrecognized Chinese government of Canton, announced that railroad settlement already had been reached.

In connection with the Japanese statement regarding Siberia, it was revealed that the American government had addressed a communication on that subject to Tokyo shortly before the arms conference met, and that the Japanese foreign office had replied virtually in the same terms as laid down at today's committee meeting by Baron Shidehara.

Conceal Purpose of Note.
The exact purport of the United States note was not disclosed, but it was said to have pointed out that the United States forces having been withdrawn from Siberia, there was much speculation as to why the Japanese troops remained.

The Chinese declined to reveal their attitude toward the Japanese policy, and the only note of criticism came from outside the conference, in a statement by the delegation sent to Washington by the unrecognized Far Eastern republic of Chita, Siberia.

The Japanese promise of withdrawal from Siberian soil, the statement declared, has been a "chronic statement" of the Tokyo government since August, 1920.

Hays' Biggest Job--To Make Films International Art

BY JAMES W. DEAN.

New York, Jan. 23.—The fight in the motion picture industry on the matter of a protective tariff may be the first thing that Will Hays, former U. S. postmaster-general, will have to settle as the big boss of the movies.

It is really a case of "Commerce vs. Art." Those who are for a high tariff on all imported films say it is needed to protect the industry and the millions now involved in it, as well as the thousands who earn their livelihood in the industry.

Those who are against a high tariff say that art is international, that if the movies are to be elevated to a position equal with the other arts they must not be hampered by commerce.

The weight of logic seems to this writer to rest in the latter argument. The foreign pictures so far exhibited amount to a very small percentage of all the pictures shown and to a very small percentage of the pictures imported.

Those already shown have acted as a spur to producers. It is doubtful if Griffith would have made an historical pageant of the "Two Orphans" story if the foreign historical films had not proved that the public welcomes such films. And this is said in full consideration of the fact that Griffith is responsible for more innovations of the screen than any other person.

I was talking the other day to David P. Howells, the man who sent "Passion" to this country. It was the first of the German pictures to be shown here. J. D. Williams, who was responsible for its exhibition, was with him.

"How did you happen to buy the picture?" I asked Howells.
"Because I realized that art is a masterpiece of art and something of a different nature than anything being shown," he answered.

"THE BRAT" WINS MAJESTIC FAVOR

Popular Players Excel in Delineation of Striking Maude Fulton Play.

Maude Fulton's comedy drama "The Brat," drew a packed house at the Majestic Theatre last night, and the popular players excelled themselves in their delineation of the characters of this striking play.

The theme of the play is well known. A noted author and actor rescues a waif from the tolls of the night court; in her he thinks he sees a needed type for a book he is writing. She is brought into his home, surrounded with an environment such as she has never dreamed could exist, and then when the book is finished he rescues her as a type no longer required, she is forced to go back to her old life or a livelihood.

But fate intervenes. The Brat discovers "she was just crazy about Mac," and that her real love has been given to Steve, the alleged scamp and black sheep of the family, who had been her pal and protected her when the frosty air of society life threatened to freeze her out entirely—and

A scene from the film version of "Lady Godiva," an international picture depicting the daring horseback ride.

I asked Williams what induced him to show the picture at a time when the slogan "Made in Germany" was verboten.
"Because I realized that art is something that transcends wars and racial feelings—and art pays," Williams answered.

all ends well.
Duncan Penwarden as Macmillan, Forrester, the author, again demonstrates his remarkable ability as a Thespian. Too much cannot be said of his acting. The audience was moved to tears of pity for the man who knew enough about women to rank as a genius amongst novelists, but not enough to understand the one woman who loved him.

Miss Gertrude Gustin, in the title role of The Brat, provided an abundance of atmosphere. Her role was such that only remarkable ability could make it effective, and it was proof of Miss Gustin's success that she had her audience weeping in one breath and laughing in the next.

Rickey Seerest displays some splendid emotional acting in his role of Steve, the younger brother of the noted author.

At 7:45 there was not a seat available in the house, a fact which testifies greatly to the popularity of these players amongst London playgoers. Repeated bursts of applause indicated that "The Brat" was a success in every detail. The popular players should draw full houses throughout the remainder of the week.

bench court, on Saturday, in a case against the city of Regina, in which the latter wished to take advantage of the depreciated value of the English pound sterling owing to war conditions. The trusts corporation demanded that the city pay interest on debentures on the pre-war value of the pound of $4.86, the amount of the claim being for $3,494.50, with interest at 5 per cent.

FRIENDLESS MAN DIES IN HOSPITAL

Harry Jones, 56 years old, who was admitted to Victoria Hospital Sept. 13, died Saturday. The body was taken to Ferguson's Sons' undertaking parlors, King street, where it will be held 48 hours, and if not claimed in that time will be turned over to the medical school.

Mr. Jones was taken to the hospital from the county jail, where he was taken ill. He had been picked up by the city police a few days previous and charged with vagrancy. Prior to being arrested, he was boarding on Ridout street, but other than that the authorities have no information concerning him.

SPLENDID "MOVIE" BILL AT GRAND

Eugene O'Brien in "Clay Dollars," a Picture Well Worth Seeing.

A large audience enjoyed an excellent "movie" bill-of-fare at the Grand Opera House Monday night, headed by Eugene O'Brien in one of his best pictures, "Clay Dollars."

London audiences are always partial to a good, clean picture depicting country life.

They appreciate what might be termed "rural humor," and in "Clay Dollars" they have many opportunities to enjoy a good comfortable laugh, especially in the barn-dance scene, where the "platter" is merrily whirled.

It is a picture well worth seeing. The story deals with a youth by the name of Edwards, played by Eugene O'Brien, who has been deprived of his uncle's farm by a scheming village squire who manages to foist a large tract of marshland on the young man.

How young Edwards manages to get his farm back in exchange for the marshland keeps the audience more than interested.

The picture is indeed a relief from the "jealous lover" type of movie, with a lot of gowns, dress suits and ballroom scenes thrown in for good measure.

Buster Keaton heads a comedy called "The Scarecrow," which is unusually good, while something new to Grand patrons was furnished in a picture entitled "Vod-a-Vil." It showed three high-class vaudeville acts, just as they are acted before an audience, and were so much enjoyed that the usual vaudeville was not missed much.

The Pathe Review, color reel, depicting scenes in France, and "Topics of the Day," furnished by the Literary Digest, were also greatly enjoyed and concluded the movie program.

Ernest Hammond, who sang a number of popular songs, has an excellent baritone voice, his numbers being heartily enjoyed.

The bill will be shown tonight for the last time.

To Put On Firm Flesh MASTIN'S YEAST VITAMON TABLETS

Now Used By Millions to Help Increase Weight and Energy, Clear the Skin, Aid Digestion and Correct Constipation

Easy and Economical to Take—Results Quick

Everywhere people are talking about their astonishing improvement in health and appearance since they started taking MASTIN'S YEAST VITAMON TABLETS with every meal. These supply in concentrated form not only the precious yeast vitamins, but all three of the equally important vitamins which Science says you must have to be strong, well and properly developed.

By increasing the nourishing power of what you eat, MASTIN'S VITAMON TABLETS help supply just what your body needs to feed the shrunken tissues, strengthen internal organs, clear the skin and renew shattered nerve force. Under their influence, many embarrassing skin eruptions seem to vanish as if by magic, leaving the skin and complexion fresh, clear and glowing with ruddy health.

MASTIN'S VITAMON TABLETS do not upset the stomach or cause that bloated feeling; but on the contrary are a great aid in correcting indigestion and constipation. By acting in a natural way as a general conditioner of the whole system they usually help to put on firm flesh and increase energy in a remarkably short space of time.

Make This Amazing Test—
If you are thin, undeveloped, lacking in energy and ambition and your face and skin disfigured with unsightly skin eruptions or boils, you should find it well worth while to make this simple test and watch the surprising change in your physical condition and appearance: First weigh and measure yourself. Next take MASTIN'S VITAMON—two tablets with every meal. Then weigh and measure yourself again each week and continue taking MASTIN'S VITAMON TABLETS regularly until you are satisfied with your gain in weight, "pep" and energy. It is not only a question of how much better you look and feel, or what your friends say and think—the scales and tape measure will tell their own story.

"GUNSIGHT PASS"

START THIS STORY IN

The London Advertiser Monday, January 30

WILLIAM MACLEOD RAINE was born in London, England, in 1871, of Scotch parents. At the age of 11 he went to the United States, where his father had a sawmill and cattle ranch. After graduating from Oberlin College in 1894 he took up newspaper work in Denver, Seattle and Vancouver, B. C.

Raine believes in first-hand knowledge of the setting for what he writes. As a youth he rode to the all-night ranch dances, where he picked up local color for his future stories. He went to New Mexico and browsed among the old-timers to get material for his "Gunsight Pass."

Raine has actually lived a part of his romances. He received permission from the governor of Arizona to ride with the Arizona rangers, lived on a ranch near the Galiuros, rode on the round-ups and met many of the men who came to the southwest when that territory was still a country with the bark on.

"GUNSIGHT PASS" is a western story of a new type and a thrilling novel for lovers of swift action, vital men and women, and the glamor of the west. Raine's great novel deals with the coming of oil to the cattle country. The action is stimulated by the white-hot excitement and feverish rivalry which bring out the best and worst in the vital characters who fairly rush through the pages in their splendid enthusiasm for living.

Emphatically, "Gunsight Pass" is Raine at his best. How good his best is, readers of "The Big-Town Round-Up," "Oh, You Tex," and his other stories of western adventure know. In "Gunsight Pass" the turmoil and excitement of the oil era has provided Raine with material for a thrilling human story which he tells in a thrilling and human manner.

MILK FOR SCHOOLS IS GREAT SUCCESS

Mrs. Siegel Tells of Distribution in Toronto.

Mrs. J. Siegel of Toronto, the maker at the birthday banquet of the London Hadassah Chapter this week, spent a part of Monday forenoon visiting Talbot street school in order to see how the system is working out there of providing milk to the children who are undernourished or derelict under par physically.

Mrs. Siegel, as convener of the physical welfare committee of the Toronto Home and School Council, which undertook the supplying of milk to school children just after the opening of the last fall term, is deeply interested in comparing notes with other schools.

It has been a wonderful success in Toronto," she said to the women's department of The Advertiser. "The Home and School Council is now supplying milk to 550 children in schools in Toronto from Sackville in the southeast to St. Clair on the northwest."

Ever since the 'Drink More Milk' campaign in Toronto last spring, the members of the home and school clubs were pretty well convinced with regard to the food value of milk for growing children. The reason this work was taken up, however, in September, was owing to the fact that the trades and labor council had asked the board of education before the summer holidays to do something for the children the next school year, in view of the possibility of widespread unemployment and consequent suffering for the children.

The matter was referred to the Home and School Council and we made a beginning in September. A survey of the schools two weeks later showed that in every school there had been gain in weight on the part of the children. One girl of 10 years, who only weighed 38 pounds, when she started taking the milk, had gained five pounds.

Apart from the gain in weight, a general improvement was noted. "I must say that the success of the plan has been practically all due to the splendid co-operation of teachers and school nurses."

Pay As You Can. request, Mrs. Siegel explained the plan is worked in Toronto: to supply the milk to any school on request of the principal.

BY MARIAN HALE.

London, Jan. 23.—The rolling brim sailor, a hat which makes its appearance in varied mediums with the beginning of every spring, is being shown in bright and delicately tinted silks.

The medium usually chosen is taffeta, because taffeta takes color with a peculiar freshness which makes it decidedly spring-like. These bright taffeta hats are becoming to almost any type. The pink which a brunet wears beautifully looks quite as well on a blond. The material has almost as much to do with the becomingness of a color as the color itself.

The Peggy Hoyt model is done in cyclamen pink taffeta, embroidered in field flowers in pastel tints.

creation president, at one time taught in the London Collegiate. You have made very valuable contributions to the federation work in Ontario already, you see, and I am sure we may expect very fine results from the February convention."

Cynthia Grey's Mail-Box

Dear Miss Grey.—Am very sorry to bother you again as I know you must be busy moving. I did not receive the stocking foot pattern as perhaps you forgot to inclose, it but would like very much to get it. Will send just "A Wee Doch-in-Dorie for Puss & Co." as I don't use it.

I wonder if Wamnetta would like fortune telling by cards? If she would write to me first I will give her directions. I do not know all the meanings with the tea cup.

Inclosed is a mite for the hospital, also a self-addressed envelope. Wishing you and all of the Boxites a very happy and prosperous new year, from SIGNET E.

Am mailing you a pattern this time, and am sorry I neglected doing so before. Thanks for remembering our hospital fund, also for offering to fill Puss and Wamnetta's requests. Don't you find people very much interested in having their fortunes told, even if they protest they don't believe in it at all?

SWEET BRIAR CARRIES OUT PLANS.

Dear Miss Grey.—How often I have planned this letter and also planned sending a great box of flowers, seeds, have mixed poppy, aster, morning glory, cosmos, rose hollyhock. Many little packages of each ready. Will you kindly advise me through your paper if it will be all right to forward them now?

I have not explained the delay. My mother died, and it takes some time to get readjusted to the world after such a severe loss. Also I have a dear sister-in-law, who for several months has been lingering between life and death with pernicious anaemia, and we are all doing what we can for her.

Dear Miss Grey, I have also a nice pattern for a child's hat. I made my little boy a white pique one for summer and a blue velvet for fall. I will cut it off and inclose with the seeds. It may help someone, and incidentally help the hospital fund.

Although January is half gone, I have not had a sleigh ride this winter. I think half the fun of winter is sleigh-riding. I have some recitations reserved from my teaching days. I see they are always in demand, so I will hunt some up and send along.

Inclosed are two plasters for hospital fund. I hope to be more useful next time. I am not an entire stranger as this is my third letter. SWEET BRIAR.

I am so pleased that you have come to us in your trouble. Sweet Briar and hope that we will be able to comfort you. Yes, the seeds would be very acceptable, and we will be looking for them; also the pattern. Thank you for remembering our fund and for the recitations. I, too, love sleigh-riding and haven't had one so far this year, but it would be pretty cold today, wouldn't it?

ENTERTAINS CRUMLIN W. M. S.

Mrs. Frank Quait was the hostess of the Crumlin W. M. S. on January 11 at the regular meeting which was presided over by Mrs. E. J. McMartin.

A missionary topic by Miss Woods, a solo by Alison Cation, and a very interesting sketch of the life of Mary Slessor, by Mrs. W. Thomson, made up a program which was much enjoyed by the ladies present. At the close of the meeting tea was served.

Mail Box Gladdens Hearts of Hospital Committee

Dear Cynthia Grey.—Once more The Advertiser Mail-Box gladdens the hearts of the hospital committee with a nice cheque for $165, making in all $593.10. I am sure all who helped with the quilt were greatly pleased with the nice sum it brought in. The War Memorial Children's Hospital is nearing completion, and each who contributes will be very, very proud when it is open for the relief of suffering children. Many thanks to the boxites. Sincerely yours, L. K. CAMPBELL.

Hon. Treasurer Hospital Fund.

You all remember when we started our quilt last summer, and now it is completed, and we have raised the splendid sum of $124 for the Sick Children's Hospital. This does not include the bid of $35, which one of the boxites made. The quilt is still open for bids. I wish to thank those who worked so splendidly, making blocks and collecting names, but the greatest part of the honor is due Tip, who was so indefatigable in her efforts. She accepted the responsibility and worked hard to make the quilt a success.

Anyone wishing to make a higher bid on the quilt must do so before Feb. 1. "Dearie" has bid $35, which is the highest offer to date. "Tip" reports that the quilt looks lovely, now that it is completed, and I am more than anxious to see it.

What Women Are Accomplishing in London.

RE-ELECT REGENT. Miss Jessie Gillespie was re-elected regent of the Sir John Carling Chapter at the January meeting. The other officers elected were: 1st vice-president, Miss Ruth Robinson; 2nd vice-president, Miss Doris Belton; secretary, Miss Jean Vaughn; treasurer, Miss Gwen Scandrett; and standard bearer, Miss Gwynedd Auden. Excellent reports were given, but nothing definite was decided for the coming year.

MAKE QUILTS FOR NEEDY. Ladies of St. Andrew's Presbyterian congregation are meeting at two o'clock on Thursday to make quilts for some families who are in great need.

LORD ELGIN CHAPTER MEETS. The monthly meeting of the Lord Elgin Chapter was held at the home of Mrs. A. E. Miller, Elmwood avenue, Monday afternoon. The annual meeting will take place in February, and will be held at the home of Mrs. R. B. Blandford. Tea was served at the tea hour by the hostess, Mrs. Miller.

Y. W. C. A. CLUBDOM HAS BUSY WEEK

This week is an interesting one for Y. W. C. A. clubs, Monday evening the Echo Club, made up of employees of Woolworth's, with Mrs. Martin as president, held a very special tea party. The subject for discussion was "He Profits Most Who Serves Best," and several invited guests were present who are particularly interested in making a success in business.

Tuesday evening the Choral Club, led by Mrs. Harmon Westland, is meeting with room still on the enrollment list for those who enjoy singing and improving their musical art. The club is to be divided into two classes, one for girls with good voices and musical training, the other for those who just want to sing for the joy of singing.

Wednesday evening the Nightingale Club takes up amateur dramatics. Thursday evening the Federation of Girls' Clubs continues its course of study on standards for the home. Mrs. Lucas will open the discussion on the furnishing of the home, budgets will be presented of cost for every room in the house, and a member of the Girls' Canadian Club is to give a paper impressing the point that no home need be so plain that beauty is eliminated.

The Count On Me Club continues its study of home nursing Friday evening under the leadership of Miss McDermid, as a part of university extension work.

LOVE GODOWSKY; LEARN FROM HIM

"Why is it that everybody loves Godowsky?" was a question asked one day of Josef Hoffman concerning the world-famous pianist who gives a recital Tuesday evening in the Patricia Theater. The answer of the celebrated fellow-artist was, "Because his character is as true as gold, and his art as pure as crystal."

Leopold Godowsky, it is said, to a remarkable extent enjoys the friendship and admiration of all of his colleagues in the realm of musical endeavor. Josef Hoffman, as a rule a quiet and especially unostentatious individual, waxes enthusiastic when Godowsky is the theme of discussion. He recently wrote: "I doubt if there are many pianists today that have not learned something from him."

If Chopin is regarded as the spirit of piano composition, Godowsky represents the spirit of pianistic expression, although his art aims still higher, since he is not only a reproductive artist, but a creative one as well."

A Better Way Than Diets and Exercise For Reducing

Diets and exercise are sometimes helpful for reducing. But they are inconvenient and unpleasant, and usually produce only temporary results. Then, too, they are merely corrective measures. A better way is to aid the digestive organs to turn food into muscle, bone and sinew, and not into corpulent tissue. This method allows you to eat many kinds of food which others eat and does not require strenuous exercise.

Thousands have found that Marmola Tablets give relief from obesity in just this way. Marmola Tablets are made from the same formula as the famous Marmola Prescription. If taken after meals and at bedtime, they retard the development of fat by helping the digestive system to obtain full nutrition from food. When the accumulation of fat is checked, reduction to normal, healthy weight soon follows.

All good drug stores the world over sell Marmola Tablets at one dollar per box. Ask your druggist for them, or order them direct and they will be sent in plain wrapper, postpaid.

POLLY AND PAUL AND PARIS

CHAPTER III.—THE MOONLIT ROAD

By Zoe Beckley

THEY had known each other more than half a year. Since Paul Dawson's coming, Polly found new joys in the old town that had begun to bore her.

Paul liked her—she saw that the first evening they had talked together at her sister's.

Paul liked her, she would tell herself as she typed old Canby's letters and helped Aunt Sue with the dishes evenings.

Paul liked her, she smiled in the twilight as she waited for him to come whistling down the street that had seemed dull before and now was magical.

Paul liked her—maybe more than liked—she would whisper as she lay in bed, happily sleepless.

And then she would swiftly turn, hiding her hot cheeks in the pillow and murmuring: "Paul—Paul—Paul."

Sometimes at dances it seemed as if he caught her thoughts, for he would close his hand over hers with warmer pressure. Oh, it was all so sweet.

It was such fun, too, to show him about the town—the falls, the river road, the lake where they swam and skated. Even the old movie palace became a happy place.

"Do you know," said Paul there one night, his shoulder touching hers in a new intimacy, "you're the differentest girl I ever knew?"

"Am I—why?" (Polly rejoiced that the seats in the movie theatre were so close together. She had hated them when she went with Charlie Briggs.)

"Oh, gosh, it's so hard to say. Let's see. I remember you didn't say, 'Pleased to meet you' when we first met. Yet I knew you were—were you, Polly? Say yes—Ah!"

"And you talked about things that interested me, or rather you let me talk your arm off—that pretty arm in the rose georgette!"

"And once when I brought you chocolates you scolded me for spending so much. You said some droll thing about young men starting bank accounts and making hits with the boss by economy. It wasn't preachy—just quaint. I loved it."

"Then you lend me books, corking ones. I didn't know girls knew the kind of books fellows like, most girls wouldn't. And—well, you even dress different. Everything you wear has distinction."

"Thanks, kind sir!"

"Oh, well, you know what I mean. Say, Polly, let's get out of this stuffy place. I can't breathe."

The interval had come between the film drama and the comic stunt. Polly and Paul squeezed past the feet and hats and candy boxes and with one mind headed for the moonlit road skirting the river.

They hurried past the scattering houses at the edge of town, and as they came into the silvered scene beyond, both drank in deep breaths of the sweet, cool air, and relaxed to a slow walk.

Polly's soul sang. The familiar countryside seemed changed to fairyland. A sound as of wings beat softly in her ears. It seemed as if the very trees and meadows called out to her in friendliness.

"Happiness, happiness—he loves you, loves you—"

She turned a little and looked at him. He was staring ahead along the white road with eyes that seemed lit from within. She sensed some vague abstraction.

Suddenly he looked down at her, the light in his eyes heightening, a tenderness about his lips. He clasped and unclasped her hand with an endearing nervousness.

"Polly—I must tell you something. You're so wonderful, dear, and so different and fine and lovely—I'm just a chap who wants to do the best that's in him, but hasn't a million dollars or a fleet of cars or a house with nine masters' bedrooms and seven baths—"

"Paul—you absurd old thing—"

"—but who might accomplish wonders if he had a chance. Polly—"

He broke off suddenly, staring down into her face. Then, "Polly, I—I'm going abroad."

Says Beauty Comes From Mental Fitness

ROBERTA ARNOLD.

The London Advertiser asked several of the world's leading beauties how they keep beautiful. Following is what Roberta Arnold gave as her recipe for beauty:

BY ROBERTA ARNOLD.

THERE is beauty and then there is beauty! As many kinds as there are women, but probably only two great classes.

There is that doll loveliness—the kind men say "Oh—O—O!" over and then, once possessed, forget!

And there is that other sort of beauty which shows in the face but is for the greater part mental. That is the beauty which moves the world!

There is a certain mental force of the truly great and beautiful woman, which destroys doll-like loveliness while it constructs a sort of visible soul.

Must Be Mentally Alert.

Woman can cultivate that lasting and magnetic beauty by keeping herself mentally alert and insisting that her mental attitude always be evident in the physical expression.

As for keeping in physical trim—I think the most destructive thing you can do is to retire when you are keyed up to an exhilarated pitch and then expect sleep to be a natural result, just because it is night.

When I go home tired I read until I am relaxed. Then I go to bed and sleep.

I have the utmost faith in regular living. Every morning at 10:30 I start a series of exercises. At 10 minutes of 11 I have finished them and am preparing for breakfast.

My exercises are simple, just the regular college gym things which every girl learns. With knees straight, I bend from the waist until my hands touch the floor—this ten times as I do every one of the others.

For Slow Eating.

Next, standing on one foot, I lift the other foot until it extends straight out. This ten times and then I change feet! Next, my back flat against the floor, I repeat practically the same movement, except that my weight is off of my feet and the muscles of the back are being brought into play instead of those of the legs.

Each one of these ten times every day, mind you!

Two years' of domestic science taught me that slow eating is necessary if one would be fit. I never eat fancy dressings and mixtures which are highly spiced, and I do eat a variety of foods. I never eat potatoes more than once a week. Never have milk more than once a week.

Live regularly, exercise, eat a variety of foods and use plenty of soap and water—and unless you have a temper, you can't help being lovely!

A bad temper is the only thing in the world which really hurts one's skin!

By stirring constantly. Season with salt and pepper. When the sauce boils remove from fire and stir in the well-beaten yolk of an egg. Add lemon juice and parsley, and pour over hot turnips. Serve at once.

The preparation of vegetables for their sauce is important. Put all root vegetables on to cook in rapidly boiling water. Add salt the last half hour of cooking. One teaspoonful of salt being allowed for every four cups of vegetables.

Salt added after the vegetable is cooked does not flavor the finished dish as it does when the salt is cooked in. Do not cover root vegetables during boiling.

Another simple aid in the preparation of vegetables is a vegetable cutter. Turnips cut in neat dice or tiny balls taste much better than the same vegetables cut in "hunks."

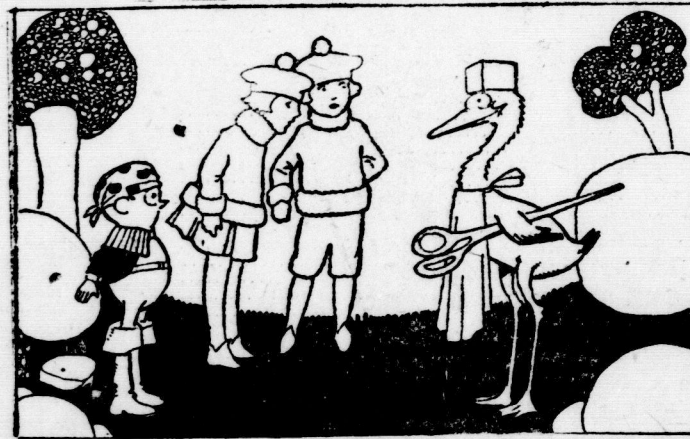

Left-over vegetables can be most attractively worked up in salads if the vegetables are cut in fancy shapes.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS.

"MR. CRAMPLEG CRANE"

[By Olive Roberts Barton.]

MR. CRAMPLEG CRANE made a bow when he saw Nancy and Nick and Buskins. The visitors bowed back, and Buskins presented the Twins.

Mr. Crane apologized for his appearance because he'd just come from the factory, he said, and hadn't had time to change his clothes. He had on a big apron, a workman's cap, and carried a large pair of scissors.

"Factory!" exclaimed Nick. "Up in the sky?"

"Yes," nodded the crane. "Does that surprise you? Why, we have one of the most useful factories in Fairyland. Would you like to see it?"

"Yes, thank you," put in Nancy quickly. "But we came to see where the runaway feathers blow to that come up to the sky, so we'd better go there first with Buskins. Then we can see your factory on our way back."

The crane laughed soberly. "But that's where the runaway feathers go to, my dear," said he. "As soon as they fall out of Davy Duck or Goosey Gander or Chucky Chicken, or Sid Sparrow or any of the birds, or even escape from pillows like your friends, they make a bee-line for our country, the Land-of-Up-in-the-Air. They come because they know that they can still be useful."

"Oh, well, then," said Nancy, "I guess we'd better go with you to once, hadn't we, Buskins?"

Buskins said yes, so off they all started down the road of this queer country up in the sky where they were to see more magic. It seemed to the little boy and girl that such close attention to the crane's one queer point about the murder that the press is bound to pounce on and play up big, and yet I can't see any explanation; I thought perhaps you might have some idea."

"What is that, sir?" Barry's tone was guileless.

"There were no powder marks on the woman's smock, and the medical examiner says that the shot must have been fired from a distance of several feet at least."

Spare Time Jobs for Father—

There has been many a milky splash caused by the common way of opening a milk bottle—attempts to get the cap out with your fingers. Often the cap pushes in instead of out.

This can be avoided through the use of an old button hook. Straighten out the curve end of it and file this to a point. When you want a milk cap out, stick in the sharp end and pry up. Hang this "opener" on a nail by the kitchen sink and it will always be handy.

ASKING TOO MUCH.

"I don't want to eat this egg. It's not a nice egg," protested the 6-year-old daughter of the house at the breakfast table.

"Mary," said her mother, sternly, "you are always complaining of your food. Eat what is placed before you—every bit of it—without another word, or else I'll have to give you a good spanking!"

All was quiet for some minutes. Then from the other end of the table sounded a mournful voice.

"Mother, dear, do I have to eat the egg, too?"

The STEP on the STAIRS

The girl's slender figure did not resemble the splendid, sensuously full lines of the body of Mrs. Vane. In his height, and the face was an indistinguishable blur, but on a sudden inspiration Barry rose, still carrying the picture, and going into the studio he turned on the brilliant light within the reflector. Then he drew from his pocket a small but powerful microscope. It proved of little aid beyond showing that the blurred object by the girl's side was indeed a large dog, for the photograph was too worn and faded, but on the reverse side the distinction between the pencil marks and pen scratches was plainly visible, and three words, written in round, glistening, uniform hand were unmistakably revealed:

"Mopus would move."

Then, standing almost on the same spot which the body of Miriam Vane had occupied in front of the easel, Barry used his microscope to scan every inch of the portrait with meticulous care.

Straitening at length with a very grave expression upon his boyish countenance, he switched off the glaring light in the reflector, leaving only the side brackets in the wall glowing softly, and crossing behind the portrait he passed the model throne and went to the row of windows.

When he raised the shade of one of them the empty house beyond the narrow strip of garden stood out more distinctly than before and a greyish effluence was spreading over the cloudy sky. The sultry summer dawn was at hand.

Dropping the shade once more, Barry turned and reflectively regarded the back of the portrait upon the easel. The huge square of canvas was blank except for some numbers scrawled in charcoal on the upper left hand corner and a small cross in red paint a little below the center. For some minutes these enigmatic characters occupied the chief attention of the sergeant, then he turned off the last of the lights and left the studio, going directly to the outer hall without a second glance toward the boudoir and bedroom.

Big Doane, seated upon the lowest step of the staircase, rose hastily and saluted.

"One of the boys came up, sir, to find out about the light in that studio, but I fixed it with him," he remarked. "Did you find the answer to what was puzzling you, sergeant?"

"If I've found the answer to what was puzzling me, Doane," he replied, "I've stumbled on a bigger mystery yet, and a blacker one."

He found at headquarters that Craig had already turned in his report, and the chief was awaiting his own appearance with ill-concealed impatience.

"What do you think?" the chief asked.

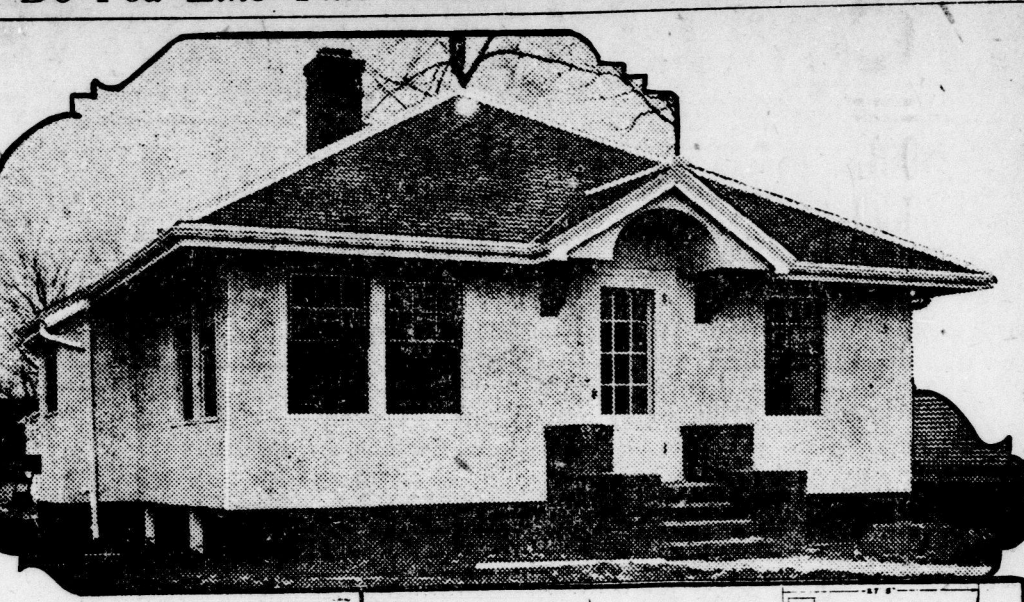

"As to the identity of the murderer, sir?" Barry asked, cautiously. "I'm quite certain that several people who might conceivably have killed Mrs. Vane did not do it, and that lets me out for the moment. However, I took it upon myself to do a little unofficial investigating—"

"Of course! That's what I expected you to do!" the chief interrupted eagerly. "With medical examiner hasn't performed the autopsy yet, naturally, but from his account of the affair as well as the reports of the boys from the local precinct, and Boyle and Craig, it appears that the Vane woman was shot by some visitor, someone she knew well, and that she had no premonition of the attack. There's one queer point about the murder that the press is bound to pounce on and play up big, and yet I can't see any explanation; I thought perhaps you might have some idea."

"What is that, sir?" Barry's tone was guileless.

"There were no powder marks on the woman's smock, and the medical examiner says that the shot must have been fired from a distance of several feet at least."

YOU can build a house just like this for less than $5,000.

For the one shown in the photograph actually has been built in accordance with plans drafted by some of the best architects, concentrating their skill on the problems of the small home builder.

This is the third of a series of house plans The London Advertiser is printing for your guidance in building your home this year.

This house has a stucco exterior, brick fireplace and shingle roof. It contains five rooms, bath and breakfast alcove.

Size is 27.5 by 36.2.

The $5,000 estimate includes installation of lighting and heating equipment. Another house plan tomorrow.

"The ribbon, dried flowers, lace and the hair and the locket—why, I suppose every woman treasures just such things the world over," commented the chief. "That empty cartridge, though. It must have meant something mighty serious to her, and we've got to find out what that something is. The photograph is too faded to be of any use as evidence, and whatever was written on the back has been scratched out long ago—"

"Look at it through this, sir," Barry offered his microscope. "The pencilled words beneath the ink scrawl are 'Mopus WOULD move.' Now, as I make it out, that refers to the blur beside the figure of the girl, which under the glass resolves itself into a large dog of some sort."

Barry laid the little packet of sketches before the chief and took his leave. It was broad daylight.

Sergeant Barry smiled. "The professor and I have a slight difference of opinion about the direction of the sound of those footsteps; he believes that they were coming up, while I am quite as certain that they were descending," he said. "However, that's not the main point. You are wrong, I think, sir, though not in the way you mean. That 'step on the stairs' had everything to do with the murder!"

"What!" The chief sprang from his chair.

"Has anyone given you a description yet of the portrait which Miriam Vane was painting when she met her death, sir?" asked Barry.

"Only that it is a picture of Mrs. Theodore Vansittart—"

"Coming down a staircase," Barry finished. "The THIRD STEP OF THE STAIRS is just on a level with the artist's breast as she sat on a stool before the easel, and there is a bullet hole in the canvas. Miriam Vane was shot through the heart by someone on the other side of the portrait!"

VII.

FOR a moment the chief seemed about to explode with the mingled emotions which consumed him. The next he sank back in his chair and raised his powerful hands, to let them fall with a slam upon his desk.

"A bullet hole through the portrait!" he exclaimed. "And none of those no-account flatfoot dicks, not even the medical examiner himself, had eyes to see it! The reporters would have smoked it out and had a fine laugh on the department if it hadn't been for you, John!"

"No woman deliberately destroys all signs of her former identity unless she has a secret to hide," said Barry, "and I am not certain that a previous tragedy was not linked in some fashion with her life. The shot which killed her was not the first to be involved in her destiny."

"I ought to!" Kedge ejaculated.

when he reached the street, and on reaching the antique shop he found that a crowd collected before its doors. Boyle's temporary successor and the plainclothes men were sharply interrogating a surly individual who was in the act of unlocking the basement door.

At Barry's approach they greeted him and stepped aside.

"Are you the janitor of this building?" he asked.

"I am, Jacob Kedge by name, and what business is it of yours?" the other replied truculently, eyeing the detective sergeant up and down.

"Come inside," Barry drew him within the entrance door, closing it upon the gaping knot of curious sightseers.

"I'm from headquarters, and I suppose you know that one of your tenants has been murdered."

"I ought to!" Kedge ejaculated.

"Your men have been badgering me ever since I got back. It's hard to believe her cold in death! Why it's scarcely twelve hours since I was talking to her!"

"Mrs. Vane knew the other tenants in the house," Barry remarked. "Not that crazy Russian with the whiskers, but she sometimes spoke to the top-floor tenant, Miss Shaw, when she passed her on the stairs. The young gentleman just above was fair crazy about her, as you could see with half an eye, and Mrs. Vane and Mr. Griswold seemed to be old friends, from even before she came here."

"Indeed!" Barry smiled engagingly. "It seems to me now that he said something about that last night when I interviewed him after Mrs. Vane's death was discovered. Didn't they come originally from the same city?"

"I don't know anything about that. All I know is that Mrs. Vane was American, for all she landed here from France like that young Mr. Ladd, and she'd no more than got settled than she sent me upstairs with a note for Mr. Griswold, as formal as you please. Surprised, he was, too."

"Yes, he must have been pleased to find that so charming a neighbor was an old friend." Barry's tone was guileless. "I'll warrant he gave you a big tip!"

"Tip?" The janitor's repetition was as expressive as an oath. "Well, when I gave him that note and he saw the writing on the envelope he jumped and got a little bit more green and then rubbed his chin and smiled in that slow way of his. At last he opened the note and read it, and then he told me, still smiling, to tell Mrs. Vane he would do himself the honor of calling on her in a few minutes. I remembered it because it was such a queer, old-fashioned way of putting it."

"And did he call?" A trace of eagerness had crept into the sergeant's voice, and Kedge became suddenly warm.

"How should I know, sir? I delivered his message to Mrs. Vane, and then went about my business."

Barry rose, left him and ascended to the fifth floor.

Professor Semynov opened the door.

"Did you succeed, sir?" the detective demanded eagerly.

TURNIPS--You Can 'Em Them Tasty

THE housekeeper who must rely on root vegetables during the winter may welcome these recipes.

The winter root vegetables are richer in mineral salts than canned summer vegetables, and every housekeeper should serve them often. Instead of plain boiled turnips for dinner tomorrow, try "turnips au gratin." There is more food value on the second dish than the first, wholly aside from the "tastiness" of the dish.

Turnips au Gratin.

Five cups boiled diced turnips, 2 cups milk, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1-3 cup coarse state bread crumbs, 4 tablespoons melted cheese.

Put cooked turnips in buttered baking dish. Melt butter in saucepan, stir in flour, and slowly add milk. Season with salt and pepper and cook till thick and smooth. Pour over turnips in baking dish, sprinkle with bread crumbs, dot with bits of butter and cover with grated cheese. Bake in a hot oven till the cheese is melted and the whole top is a golden brown. Fifteen minutes should brown the top and melt the cheese. Serve very hot.

Turnips in Lemon Juice.

Three cups diced turnips (boiled), 1 tablespoon butter, 1 tablespoonful flour, 1 cup water, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-2 teaspoon pepper, 1 egg yolk, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 tablespoon minced parsley.

Mince the sauce so it will be ready to pour over the turnips as soon as they are cooked and drained. Melt butter, stir in flour, and water slowly, stirring constantly. Season with salt and pepper. When the sauce boils remove from fire and stir in the well-beaten yolk of an egg. Add lemon juice and parsley, and pour over hot turnips. Serve at once.

The preparation of vegetables for their sauce is important. Put all root vegetables on to cook in rapidly boiling water. Add salt the last half hour of cooking. One teaspoonful of salt being allowed for every four cups of vegetables.

Salt added after the vegetable is cooked does not flavor the finished dish as it does when the salt is cooked in. Do not cover root vegetables during boiling.

Another simple aid in the preparation of vegetables is a vegetable cutter. Turnips cut in neat dice or tiny balls taste much better than the same vegetables cut in "hunks."

Left-over vegetables can be most attractively worked up in salads if the vegetables are cut in fancy shapes.

4,000,000 PEOPLE

Annually use organic Nuxated Iron to build up red blood, strength and endurance.

There are thousands of people who are ageing and breaking down a time of life when they should be enjoying that perfect health which carries defiance to disease simply because they are not awake to the condition of their blood. Without organic iron your blood carries no oxygen, and without oxygen there is nothing to unite with the carbon in your food so what you eat does you no good. It is like putting coal into a stove without fire. You can now obtain organic iron like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach, lentils, and apples from any druggist under the name of Nuxated Iron. Nuxated Iron also contains the principal chemical constituent of active, living nerve force; it is, therefore, a true blood and nerve food. It helps create and rebuild new and stronger red blood cells. It increases the strength and endurance of weak, nervous, rundown men and women in two weeks time. The manufacturers guarantee successful results to every purchaser or they will refund your money.

ALERTS' DEFEAT LEASERS TOO HARD TO SOLVE

Game Scoreless For Nineteen Minutes — McKay, Murray and Gillies Again in Form For Losers — St. Thomas Gave Ingersoll Hard Fight.

GROUP STANDING.

Ingersoll at Tiltsburg. The game was a hard fought affair for two periods. The locals forced to the front in the opening session, the score standing 2-0. For the remaining two periods the locals had no time to stand idle. The visitors displayed a most unusual sample of back checking, at times had the balling-up process down to a science. In this period each team scored, making the standing 2-2.

Murray in Spotlight. Murray, the big London defence man, got into the limelight by his whirlwind rushes, only to lose the puck when he reached the Pan-Frieds' defence. At this point the strain was telling on both teams, and 13 minutes after play began time right into the goal and made it 2-2. For the home team, five minutes before time McKay grabbed a loose puck out of a face-off and immediately shot it into the goal. The period ended with the score of 2-1.

Four Abreast. In the final period the Londoners came on the ice four abreast, but could not fathom the defence work of Snell, Crowder, and the Pan-Frieds' defence, and Barrett, and from a mix in front of the Pan-Frieds' goal, Russell the little center men, took the puck full length for the third and winning shot, and immediately shot it into the goal. The period ended with the score of 2-1.

Thistles Start Warren Thomson Trophy Program Going. The Warren Thomson trophy competition, a set of rules for which have been drafted by the Thistle games committee, will add variation to their program and inspire some splendid competition for the wilders of stane and beam in the north end of the remainder of the season.

The competition has been divided into two sections, and the members have been allotted to the various rinks. The rules follow: Competitions to be played in two sections, each section consisting of six rinks. Each rink to play every other rink in the same section.

Two games to be played each week, except week of the London bursar, or unless it is decided otherwise. Winner of section one to play winner of section two in final.

Games to consist of 14 ends, in case of the games extra end to be played. If a rink is unable to arrange game with any of their opponents by Thursday night they must report to the games committee at once.

If a rink is unable for any reason to form rink out of men allotted to him the games committee will appoint substitutes. Fee will be 10 cents per man for each game he plays, and skips are responsible for same.

In case of ties in each section at end of series, extra game to be played. Any games not played games committee will investigate and decide winners. Prizes to be given to winners and runners-up in the final.

At the games committee, C. Laur, chairman; H. J. McCullum, vice-president; P. B. Fetterley, F. Allen, H. G. Buchanan, T. C. Margrethe, B. N. Sylvester.

The following are the names of rink, skips and members: SECTION 1. English (Methodist) — Bluet, skip; Smallman, Pope, Doherty, Laur and Todd.

Scott (Presbyterian) — Cameron, skip; Dr. Cameron, R. D. McDonald, J. C. McDonald, Shaw, Heaman, skip; Dabour, Gorman, Brink and Cairns.

Other teams — Trick, skip; Anderson, O. C. Barrie, Scheiding, Stewart, Dettler, Hankers — another skip; McLean, Sylvester, Wainwright, Margrethe and Adams.

Printers — Talbot, skip; Hartley, Rhodes, Spry, A. J. Smith and S. Brittain.

SECTION 2. Purnell — Dr. Bryant, skip; G. Gibson, Turnbull, Dr. Grant, Ferguson and Wyatt.

Glants — McCullough, skip; Eddy, F. C. Brown, McIntyre, Clark. Yule — Buchanan, McCullum, Alkenhead, Dr. Smith, Benson.

Superbas — Allen, skip; Willgoose, Jendish, Callard, Chapman, McWhinnie and Betts.

Outlaws — Morren, skip; Mortimer, Stark, Owens, Connors, Purkin. Tecumseh — Keene, skip; McCullum, Struthers, Nightingale, Thomson.

Giants Seek Star Pitcher. MINNERS TO MEET AT KITCHENER. Take Up Schedule, Ball and Salaries Saturday.

President Halligan of the Mint League announces a meeting of the club owners for Saturday. The adoption of the first half schedule will be the first item of business on the program, but the salaries to be paid the ball-players in the circuit next year will probably cause more discussion than the schedule.

Strict adherence to the salary limit is one of the hardest things the new Mint prexy will have to enforce. The last three years the minors have been running wild when it came to paying salaries, and the association of ball players to get down to hard pan on the part of the players.

However, they've had plenty of warning, for the advice sounded by Michael Sexton, president of the association, was passed on to the players persistently at the far end of the season. If the Mint alone were forced to renege, next season's outlook would be bad for the local circuit, but fortunately the M.O. is not alone.

St. Michaels Lose Overtime Game. Holy Name League Now Led by St. Mary's Sextet.

ST. MARYS AND ST. PETERS hooked up in the first game of a double bill at De la Salle rink last night, the former winning by a shutout, 6-0. The play was fast, especially in the first two periods. St. Peters could not stand the terrific pace set by the home team, and in the third stanza, St. Marys raining shots so fast at Dandenoe that it looked like a hailstorm.

The game began with the play evenly divided. Perris scored in the first period, and in the second the pace quickened with St. Marys leading 2-0. Dandenoe scored on a clever piece of stick-handling, McDowell took a pass from Perris and notched the third goal, and the score read four on a lone rush, outwitting the whole of the St. Peters team. Period ended 4-0.

In the second period the pace quickened, and the score read five and six on a rushing attack. St. Marys leading 5-0. The third period was a one-sided affair, with St. Marys leading 6-0. The game ended with St. Marys leading 6-0.

WOODSTOCK GIVES DRUMBO BEATING. Dark Horses Were Kalsomined by 9 to 0.

WOODSTOCK, Jan. 23. — The local juniors displaying the best brand of hockey they have shown this season romped away to a 9-0 victory over Drumbo here tonight in an O. H. A. affair by the kalsomine route, 9-0. It was a decidedly fast game of hockey played on perfect ice. From the first tap of the gong till the finish the home lads showed the way in combination, stickhandling and speed. They traveled at top speed from start to finish and gave Cook the visiting goalie, the busiest time of his young life. Shot after shot was rained in on him, but he stopped all but two in the first period. In the second period he also let two go by.

Beginning the third with the score, 4-0, the visitors tried to make a comeback. The first on a pass from the side, one end of the rink to the other, and after missing his shot landed in a piece from the corner.

The third period had hardly opened when Lynch carried the puck clean through to the mouth of the goal, easily fooling Cook. Sutton accounted for the next two. The first on a pass from the side and the second in a scrimmage in front of the goal. The last counter of the night went to Bond, who backslapped one in from directly in front of the goal.

For Woodstock Lynch in goal was good, while Harrington and Lynch on defence played stellar hockey, both defensively and offensively. Sutton was possibly the star of the forward line. Cook in goal, Binkley and Johnston were best for the visitors.

The line-up: Woodstock — Goal — Cook. Harrington — Defence — Johnson. Sutton — Centre — W. W. Bond. Bond — Centre — Cohan. Roadhouse — W. W. Bond. Bain. Harrington — Subs — Binkley. Johnston — Subs — Johnston. Referee — Reg. Stone, Ingersoll.

St. Andrews hockey team of the Church League defeated the First Methodist six to one in the opening game of the season at Westminster rink last night by the score of 6 to 1. The game was fast throughout, and the Presbyterians didn't have things all their own way.

Hamilton's victory over Granites put them in the running with vengeance, and there are any number of fans who believe that the team from Tigertown will be in the play-off for the O. H. A. championship. From a mediocre aggregation at the beginning of the season the Tigers have developed more rapidly than has any other O. H. A. senior team, and they will be hard to beat in future games. Hamilton team have a habit of doing the unexpected.

Alert As Comedian Pipes Self Off. INTEND TO START ON INGERSOLL SIX. Ooze Confidence After Defeat of Drumbo Friday.

Alert juniors have a long uphill road to climb to group honors, but they've got a chance to turn the trick if they win the remainder of their games, which find them at Ingersoll and with Tiltsburg in two games.

They strike the first pull of the climb tonight when they meet the Ingersoll kids for the first time this year, out at the Lyle street rink. The victory at Drumbo has given the team all kinds of confidence just at a time when they were beginning to think that Lady Luck was a snobbish sort of female.

Same Team. The team that meets Ingersoll this evening will be the same that performed so well at Drumbo Friday night. Powell, a new boy hailing from Lucan, and who played his first game at Drumbo, apparently creating a fine impression, will be the only stranger to the local fans.

Ingersoll's first game was appointed to be a good one in all their games, but which apparently haven't been able to strike their stride. The locals are out to see that they don't get off on the right foot tonight, either.

INGERSOLL SHARING LEAD

Alert As Comedian Pipes Self Off. INTEND TO START ON INGERSOLL SIX. Ooze Confidence After Defeat of Drumbo Friday.

Alert juniors have a long uphill road to climb to group honors, but they've got a chance to turn the trick if they win the remainder of their games, which find them at Ingersoll and with Tiltsburg in two games.

They strike the first pull of the climb tonight when they meet the Ingersoll kids for the first time this year, out at the Lyle street rink. The victory at Drumbo has given the team all kinds of confidence just at a time when they were beginning to think that Lady Luck was a snobbish sort of female.

Same Team. The team that meets Ingersoll this evening will be the same that performed so well at Drumbo Friday night. Powell, a new boy hailing from Lucan, and who played his first game at Drumbo, apparently creating a fine impression, will be the only stranger to the local fans.

Ingersoll's first game was appointed to be a good one in all their games, but which apparently haven't been able to strike their stride. The locals are out to see that they don't get off on the right foot tonight, either.

PLAN ICE CARNIVAL AT POND MILLS. Western Ontario Forest, Fish and Game Association Has Matter in Hand.

The Western Ontario Forest, Fish and Game Protective Association are planning a winter skating carnival on the pond at Pond Mills, which was appointed to be a good one in all their games, but which apparently haven't been able to strike their stride. The locals are out to see that they don't get off on the right foot tonight, either.

WOODSTOCK GIVES DRUMBO BEATING. Dark Horses Were Kalsomined by 9 to 0.

WOODSTOCK, Jan. 23. — The local juniors displaying the best brand of hockey they have shown this season romped away to a 9-0 victory over Drumbo here tonight in an O. H. A. affair by the kalsomine route, 9-0. It was a decidedly fast game of hockey played on perfect ice. From the first tap of the gong till the finish the home lads showed the way in combination, stickhandling and speed. They traveled at top speed from start to finish and gave Cook the visiting goalie, the busiest time of his young life. Shot after shot was rained in on him, but he stopped all but two in the first period. In the second period he also let two go by.

Beginning the third with the score, 4-0, the visitors tried to make a comeback. The first on a pass from the side, one end of the rink to the other, and after missing his shot landed in a piece from the corner.

The third period had hardly opened when Lynch carried the puck clean through to the mouth of the goal, easily fooling Cook. Sutton accounted for the next two. The first on a pass from the side and the second in a scrimmage in front of the goal. The last counter of the night went to Bond, who backslapped one in from directly in front of the goal.

For Woodstock Lynch in goal was good, while Harrington and Lynch on defence played stellar hockey, both defensively and offensively. Sutton was possibly the star of the forward line. Cook in goal, Binkley and Johnston were best for the visitors.

The line-up: Woodstock — Goal — Cook. Harrington — Defence — Johnson. Sutton — Centre — W. W. Bond. Bond — Centre — Cohan. Roadhouse — W. W. Bond. Bain. Harrington — Subs — Binkley. Johnston — Subs — Johnston. Referee — Reg. Stone, Ingersoll.

ST. ANDREWS WIN FIRST CHURCH LEAGUE GAME. St. Andrews hockey team of the Church League defeated the First Methodist six to one in the opening game of the season at Westminster rink last night by the score of 6 to 1. The game was fast throughout, and the Presbyterians didn't have things all their own way.

Hamilton's victory over Granites put them in the running with vengeance, and there are any number of fans who believe that the team from Tigertown will be in the play-off for the O. H. A. championship. From a mediocre aggregation at the beginning of the season the Tigers have developed more rapidly than has any other O. H. A. senior team, and they will be hard to beat in future games. Hamilton team have a habit of doing the unexpected.

MALAYAN TIN MINES RICHEST IN ALL WORLD

Rubber Plantations Are Also Extensive and Industries Expanding Fast.

BRITISH SENTIMENT FIRM

Natives Show Loyalty by Presenting Ships and Airplanes to Crown.

LONDON, England, Jan. 23.—(By Canadian Press).—British Malaya now takes up so much of the city of London's attention that one is apt to forget how very recent is its commercial growth. Though Europeans have lived at one or two points on the western coast for 400 years, some 60 years ago one white man was the sole representative of his race and color in the whole interior between Singapore in the south and Bangkok in the north. The country is so rich and British in sentiment as to estimate the imperial gifts of the peninsula since 1912 at a total of £10,000,000. It presented a battlement to the home government. It contributed 53 airplanes to the British war munitions during the great war. The battlement, if M. S. Malaya cost over £3,000,000, and was voted to the British government in 1912.

The country, which is about the size of England without Wales, consists of the Straits Settlements, a crown colony, embracing Singapore, Penang and Malacca, the Federated Malay States, a protectorate extending over Perak, Selangor, Negri Sembilan and Pahang, the land owned by Malaya rulers and administered, with their good will, by British officials, and a number of states which have not entered the federation. "Singapore," says a correspondent of the Times, "with an enormous transshipment trade, apart from the trade of the colony, is inhabited by a greater variety of races than can be seen in any other city of the world; and this variety is a characteristic of the whole peninsula."

British intervention outside the limits of the Straits Settlements goes back less than fifty years. "Within this period, and more especially since the federation in 1897," says the Times correspondent, such progress has been made as to enable the British to claim that the history of the British Empire cannot show its parallel. There are over 2,000 miles of good metalled roads, carrying all kinds of motor traffic. Motor cars, by the way, are a conspicuous feature of a country which some people fancy is under the sway of the head-hunters. At an important cricket match, sixty or seventy cars may be seen waiting their owners.

The railways built entirely out of revenue, extend over 1,800 miles, and join the Siamese railways, which have been financed by a loan of £4,750,000, and raised out of revenue, from the Federated Malay States. Thus the traveler can go from Singapore to Bangkok; the trains being lighted by electricity and provided with dining accommodation, such as one may get on railways at home.

Tin and rubber furnish the chief industries of Malaya. Nearly one-third of the tin of the world, and about two-thirds of the plantation rubber come from the Federated Malay States. At the end of 1919 the value of the exported rubber was £20,000,000.

Most of the tin mines are in Chinese possession, but the largest are managed by Europeans with the most elaborate of modern machinery. Of the tin mines owned by Europeans the Trehon is the largest in the world. While tin and rubber are the chief industries, the government is fostering every kind of suitable cultivation, and the new trades include china clay and fine pottery.

The climate of the peninsula is hot all the year round, but not unhealthy. European residents play cricket, football and lawn tennis without seasonal interruption.

FLAMES SWEEP TWO MONTREAL BUILDINGS

Montreal, Jan. 24.—The second big fire in less than 48 hours broke out at 12:34 this morning in the Berthe Building, St. Francis Xavier street, and in the Union Building, same street, the roof being destroyed, and the floors badly damaged by fire, and three lower floors sustaining much damage from water before the flames were brought under control at 2:15 a.m.

The buildings which are mainly made up of offices, are separated only by a small building from the Montreal Stock Exchange, which the firemen saved from the flames.

The janitor and his wife, who lived on the top floor, succeeded in escaping in their night attire. The origin of the fire could not be determined this morning. About 40 business firms had offices in the building.

A TONIC ATMOSPHERE.

The efficacy of the tonic atmosphere of Algonquin Park is recognized by all who have enjoyed a few days during the winter months in this wonderful territory. Dry, clear and pure, the air acts as an invigorating prescription and medicines are discarded. Accommodation at the Highland Inn, the Grand Trunk hotel, may be had at reasonable rates. Just the place for those recovering from illness or fatigue. Ask any Grand Trunk agent for booklet, or write to N. T. Clarke, manager "Highland Inn," Algonquin Park Station, Ont.

When British Soldiers Evacuated Dublin Castle!

THIS picture is the first to reach Canada of the first event marking the establishment of the new Irish Free State. It was rushed to Montreal by special messenger for The London Advertiser. It shows the crowds watching the British soldiers unrolling barbed wire and tearing down other defences of Dublin Castle as they left.

BRANTFORD CITY WANTS POLICE PROBE STARTED

Councillors Ask Roney To Appoint Royal Commission At Once.

SEEK RIGHT TO COUNSEL

Appoint William Bailey Auditor and Petition For Court Fines.

[Special To London Advertiser.]
BRANTFORD, Jan. 23.—The city council this evening passed a resolution asking for a royal commission of inquiry into the police force, and the administration of the law in the Brantford police court, and authorizing the mayor to appoint the council to act. The resolution expressed the desire of the people of Brantford to bring about renewed confidence in the administration of justice.

Want Court Fines.
The council appointed William Bailey auditor, and agreed with Hamilton in petitioning the governor-general to have amended the criminal code so that all police court fines would go to the municipality.

In outlining the industrial situation, Mayor Wedlake expressed the opinion that the wage rate here should drop from 50 cents to 40 cents.

HOPE TO PREVENT RUPEE HOARDING

Indian Officials Combat Serious Situation by Opening Banks.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—Lord Chelmsford, former viceroy of India, in a paper read at a recent meeting of the Royal Colonial Institute here on "India and Some Problems," dealt, among other things, with the Indian habit of hoarding the rupee. Incidentally his lordship said he would not discuss the question of reform, but he was as confident that he had been right in his policy as those who differed from him were sure that he was wrong.

MAY LEAVE FOR ROME CONCLAVE

QUEBEC, Jan. 23.—Before leaving for Ottawa today to attend the funeral of the late Archbishop of Ottawa tomorrow morning, Cardinal Beigné definitely stated that should he be advised that he could reach the Vatican in time for the conclave for the selection of a successor to Pope Benedict XV., he would leave Canada immediately, being in no way affected by his advanced age, though now in his 83rd year.

It is understood that in the event of being unable to reach Rome in time for the conclave he will be called upon to pay a visit to the newly-elected pope in May next. He will be officially represented at the funeral of Pope Benedict by Monsignor Cloutier, attached to the cardinal's palace here, but now in Rome.

SIX MOPLAH REBELS ARE KILLED IN INDIA

CALCUTTA, British India, Jan. 23.—The Moplah rebel chief, Boriakumath Kunhammed Hadji, who tried to establish a Moplah kingdom in the district of Ernad during the Moplah revolt last year, was shot and killed yesterday at Malapparam, it was learned here today.
Six others also were killed.

LABOR PARLEY TO PROTECT TOILERS

The International Conference Seeks Unemployment Remedy.

GENEVA, Jan. 23.—A recommendation that an international conference be called to consider remedies for unemployment was adopted by the third international labor conference recently held here. The conference also favored a further consideration of the question of establishing an eight-hour day for farm labor and also of wider adoption of the half holiday on Saturdays, known as the "English week."

Of the seven conventions adopted, three dealt with farm labor. One of these provided that children under 14 can be employed on farms only outside the home, for instruction in scientific agriculture, and the right of organization enjoyed by industrial workers. A third convention would extend to their rights to indemnities for accidents arising out of their employment, as enjoyed by other workers.

Two of the conventions applied to seamen, one forbidding the employment in bunkers and stockholds of boys less than 18 years old, and the other requiring for instruction in scientific agriculture single bills for one hundred million rubles and discusses deficits of trillions of rubles as mere bagatelles.

M. Krassin, Maxim Levinnoff, M. Rokosky and scores of other communist leaders who probably will go to Genoa, argue figures with the same indifference that a professional strongman shows while tossing weights about a stage.

The Versailles conference mustered no such brigades of experts as the Moscow government called into service months ago, and has been training for the communist attack upon capitalist fortresses at Genoa. Every possible brand of political, social, historical and economic expert has been drafted for the occasion, and Russia has a variety of them never dreamed of by the western world.

HOPE TO PREVENT RUPEE HOARDING

Indian Officials Combat Serious Situation by Opening Banks.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—Lord Chelmsford, former viceroy of India, in a paper read at a recent meeting of the Royal Colonial Institute here on "India and Some Problems," dealt, among other things, with the Indian habit of hoarding the rupee. Incidentally his lordship said he would not discuss the question of reform, but he was as confident that he had been right in his policy as those who differed from him were sure that he was wrong.

With regard to the hoarding of the rupee, Lord Chelmsford said that in 1918, the matter was serious, but two years later the problem was solved, to house the millions of rupees which had flowed into the treasuries. The success of the small-note issue, and the foundation of the Imperial Bank, with its obligation to establish new branches throughout the country, he said, were the outstanding features of recent Indian finance. It was to be hoped that the establishment of increased banking facilities throughout the country would diminish the tendency to hoard the precious metals, which was a legacy from anarchy times when there was no security.

Unfortunately, shortly before my time here, Lord Chelmsford continued, there was a large bank failure in the Punjab, which gave a rude shock to the public confidence. The Imperial Bank, now backed by the prestige of the government, should inspire confidence, and if it succeeds only in combatting the hoarding habit it will have done a great service, for it will thus bring into circulation and use the millions of rupees which lie buried and useless for the industrial development of the country. I mention only to regret the failure of my attempt to stabilize the exchange value of the rupee.

The secretary of state took the precaution to appoint a commission of un-doubted expert strength to advise in this matter in which the general public asked for action; and we in India acted on their advice. The result has been to enforce the lesson that it is wise for governments to abstain from attempting to exercise control in matters dependent on factors beyond their control.

BOLSHEVIKS TO PRESENT CLAIM OF REPARATION

Delegates to Genoa Conference Will Ask European Powers for Compensation.

REQUEST LARGE AMOUNT

Allege Great Nations Responsible for Various Russian Upheavals.

MOSCOW, Jan. 23.—Bolshevik delegates to the Genoa conference will present reparation claims there against various European powers and the United States. If these claims are rendered in terms of Bolshevik rubles, new names for large amounts may be necessary for the familiar terms of the decimal system claimed by this country, which is single bills for one hundred million rubles and discusses deficits of trillions of rubles as mere bagatelles.

M. Krassin, Maxim Levinnoff, M. Rokosky and scores of other communist leaders who probably will go to Genoa, argue figures with the same indifference that a professional strongman shows while tossing weights about a stage.

CANADIAN STOCKS

Toronto, Jan. 24.—A. J. Pattison & Co. report the following prices on Canadian stocks in London today:

Brazilian Traction 34 1/2
Canadian General Electric 100 1/2
Canadian Pacific Railway 140 1/2
Canada Steamships, voting trust, 14
Dominion Steel 29
Shawiniga Falls Power 110 1/2

MONTREAL STOCKS

Montreal, Jan. 24.—During the first half hour this morning practically no trading occurred on the local stock exchange. A fractional character, was registered. The few leaders that did appear were quickly traded in at their closing figures.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, Jan. 24.—Mackay was the only stock to show any evidence of strength on the local stock market this morning. The balance of the list closing either unchanged or under last night's close, with the bulk of the trade this morning in Brazilian, Steamships preferred, Smelters, Mackay and Toronto Railway.

Steady. Mackay's closing price was the high point for the morning, and showed a gain of 3/4 over yesterday's close of 7 3/4.

NEW YORK STOCKS

New York, Jan. 24.—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—Stock market continued to feature the stock market in today's early dealings, rising 2 1/2. Electric Storage Battery, another recent favorite, made a similar gain, and Manhattan Elevated recovered part of yesterday's reaction. In general the list was uneven, Mexican Petroleum losing a fraction, while various specialties, including Coca-Cola and Central Leather, were in further demand. Preliminary quotations in the leading foreign exchanges were irregular.

SEVEN NURSES GET DIPLOMAS AT ST. THOMAS

Amasa Wood Hospital Graduates Are Feted in Engineers' Hall.

700 ATTEND FUNCTION
 Convocation Exercises Prove the Season's Most Brilliant Event in Flower City.

[Special to London Advertiser.]
 ST. THOMAS, Jan. 23.—The season's most brilliant event occurred in the Engineers' Hall Monday night, when seven nurses graduating from Amasa Wood Hospital received their diplomas and medals.

The spacious hall was filled to more than its capacity when 700 friends and relatives gathered to greet and congratulate the graduating nurses as they stepped into their chosen profession. The diplomas were presented, amid a profusion of flowers, by Mayor C. E. Raven, while the medals were presented by Ex-Mayor E. A. Horton.

The invocation was asked by Rev. P. N. Harding, and then followed an address by the chairman, W. R. Coulter. Rev. Perry S. Dobson of Alton College, Dr. George H. Jackson and Rev. Father Tolyn also delivered addresses to the graduating class.

Administrators Pledge.
 The Nightingale pledge was administered by Dr. Clarence McKillop, and then followed the presentation of diplomas and medals. Musical selections were given by George C. Carrie and Taylor's orchestra.

A unique and pretty introduction was introduced as the many baskets of flowers were presented to each nurse as they in turn stepped forth to receive the diplomas. Eight white misses carried a colorful array of beautiful flowers from a side room to the platform, which became literally banked with roses, carnations, sweet peas and divers other flowers.

Each address given by the different speakers was fitting to the occasion. In turn they expressed confidence that each of the seven nurses would live true to the splendid ideals of the profession.

Those who received diplomas were: Misses Gwendolyn Birt of Aylmer, Pearl Giles and Katherine Giles of St. Thomas, May Sandison, Hannah King, May Dolson and Annie McLean.

Medals for efficiency and theory awarded by Miss Weldon, the lady superintendent, and Miss Armstrong, head nurse, to Miss McLean and Miss Sandison respectively.

The graduating exercises were followed by a dance.

PROBE ADMINISTRATION OF 'KEEPING FAITH' FUND
 Ottawa, Jan. 24.—A court of investigation to examine into and hear all the complaints that are being lodged against the administration of the Keeping the Faith Fund, was decided upon at a meeting of the Great War Veterans' Association administrators of the fund last night. The court will sit Saturday afternoon, Jan. 28.

Complaints lodged against the administrators of the fund were quite bitter. This fund raised over $25,000 for needy families here at Christmas.

BEAUTY SPECIALIST TELLS SECRET
 A Beauty Specialist Gives Home-Made Recipe To Darken Gray Hair.

Mrs. M. D. Gillespie, a well-known beauty specialist of Kansas City, recently gave out the following statement regarding gray hair:

"Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home that will darken gray hair and make it soft and glossy. To a half-pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Orlex Compound and 4 ounce of glycerine.

These ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off."

PAIN GONE! RUB SORE, RHEUMATIC ACHING JOINTS
 Rub Pain Away With a Small Trial Bottle of Old "St. Jacobs Oil."

Stop "dosing" Rheumatism.
 It's pain only; not disease in itself requires no special treatment. Rub soothing, penetrating "St. Jacobs Oil" right on the "tender spot," and by the time you say Jack Robinson—out comes the rheumatic pain and discomfort. "St. Jacobs Oil" is a harmless rheumatism liniment, which never disappoints and doesn't burn the skin. It takes pain, soreness and stiffness from aching joints, muscles and bones; stops sciatica, lumbago, backache and neuralgia.

Limber up! Get a small trial bottle of old-time, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" from any drug store, and in a moment, you'll be free from pains, aches and stiffness. Don't suffer! Rub rheumatism away.

Mrs. Lilian Taylor Tells How Cuticura Healed Her Baby

"Our baby was two weeks old when his face became very red and terribly itchy, and he was fairly crazy rubbing and scratching till the skin broke and bled. He could not sleep, and did nothing but cry. His face looked as though he might be disfigured for life."

"I thought I would give Cuticura Soap and Ointment a trial. I found the free sample so good that I bought more and two cakes of Cuticura Soap and a fifty-cent box of Cuticura Ointment healed him." (Signed) Lilian M. Taylor, Box 99, Bracebridge, Muskoka, Ont., Dec. 30, '18.

Cuticura Soap to cleanse and purify, Cuticura Ointment to soften and soothe and Cuticura Talcum to powder and perfume are ideal for daily toilet purposes.

CLAIMS PICTURES ARE ONLY COPIES

New York, Jan. 24.—David Rogo, a pearl merchant, yesterday brought suit against Granby Staunton Howard of Ottawa, Canada, alleging that of 87 supposed old masters he recently purchased from him almost all have been discovered to be copies. The purchase price was to have been $150,000, of which $15,000 was paid within ten days after the deal, the remainder being covered by notes.

Were the paintings as represented, Rogo said, the lot would have been worth $1,000,000. Rogo's attorneys say he purchased the paintings for speculation and did not engage experts to make an appraisal.

Experts examined the paintings after they had been shipped to New York from Canada last November, the purchaser's lawyers claim, and declared they believed them to have been painted by students of the masters represented. Attorneys for the seller deny that he misrepresented his collections, declaring that the paintings were not described as "old masters."

NEW YORK COMMISSIONER TO ISOLATE FLU CASES
 New York, Jan. 24.—Health department inspectors are today watching all incoming ships for cases of flu. Dr. Royal S. Copeland, city health commissioner, believes that New York's increasing cases of influenza may be due, in part, to importations from Europe. All ships will be watched from today on, and cases of influenza found on them will be isolated.

BELIEVE BARREN RIDGE CONTAINS RADIUM ORE
 SASKATOON, Jan. 23.—Deposits of pitchblende, the mineral which contains radium, may shortly be located in the country north of The Pas, according to S. S. Reynolds, the mining engineer who located the Mandy Mine.

Mr. Reynolds is awaiting reports from a trapper, regarding a barren ridge in the North Country on which the snow does not lie in the winter.

It was discovered by him that what a similar ridge in Northern Ontario contained a considerable deposit of the precious ore, the radium.

emanations melting the snow that fell on the ridge.

The Ontario samples have already responded actively to a photographic test.

DAILY TOURIST SLEEPING CAR SERVICE
TORONTO-WINNIPEG,
CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAYS.

Effective with change of time January 15, Canadian National Railways are now operating the following daily Tourist Sleeping Car service between Toronto and Winnipeg:

Leave Toronto on the "National" 10:35 p.m. Monday, Wednesday and Friday via Sudbury and Port Arthur; leave Toronto Sunday, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday at 8:45 p.m. via Grand Trunk to North Bay connecting there with Canadian National Railways' train No. 1, "Continental Limited," Montreal-Vancouver, and running via Cochrane.

In the reverse direction Tourist Sleepers will arrive Toronto via Port Arthur on Monday, Thursday and Saturday, and via Cochrane on Tuesday, Wednesday, Friday and Sunday.

A daily Tourist Sleeping Car service is thus provided between Toronto and Winnipeg and offering Canadian National patrons a choice of routes. The cars are comfortable, well heated and ventilated, and are in charge of experienced porters—men who have been trained to give the public service in the "National Way."

HOCKEN REPLIES TO FALLON PLEA FOR EQUALITY

Claims Prelate's Demand Would Force Protestants To Pay For Catholic Teaching.

ASKS EXPLICIT PROPOSAL

Believes Public School System Should Get Benefit of Any Doubt.

TORONTO, Jan. 23.—"Why should Protestants pay for teaching Romanism?" demanded H. C. Hocken, M.P., Orange grand master, in replying today to the long open letter of Bishop Fallon to the boards of education of Toronto and London in regard to the school question.

Mr. Hocken contended that to force Protestants to help pay the teaching of the Catholic religion would be one of the results if the claims of the bishops were conceded, life said:

"It is impossible in a brief statement adequately to reply to the six column article from Bishop Fallon that appeared in the Monday evening edition of 'The London Advertiser.' It is evident that much time was given by the bishop to the preparation of the case. More than two columns of it were given in answering the resolution of the board of education of Toronto. The members of that board are able to take care of themselves, so I will refer only to his claim for amendments to the assessment act that will give the separate schools larger revenues."

Asks Bishop To Explain.

"In this he is not explicit in his statement. He says: 'The amendments to the assessment act that we desire—let them take what form they will—will simply such amendments as will give effect to the main provision of the separate school act.' 'We had a more definite demand from Bishop Fallon in an address that he delivered at Peterboro a couple of months ago, when he said the taxes of incorporated companies should be divided between the public and separate schools on the basis of either of attendance or population. Archbishop McNeil made a statement before the Canadian Club that could be interpreted only in the same way. I take it, therefore, that that is what the bishops want."

"As the law stands at present the separate schools can secure all the school taxes that can be shown to be derived from shares in incorporated companies held by Roman Catholics. There will be found in the office of the city clerk of Toronto a list of companies that desire their taxes to be so divided. And these companies are assessed for separate school purposes in the proportions set out in their notices to the city clerk—some of them 100 per cent, some 75 per cent and some 50 per cent. It is clear, therefore, that the act is not 'inoperative or ineffective.' If the separate schools are not getting all the taxes to which they are entitled from such companies, the fault lies with the Roman Catholic shareholders."

Cites Mowat Precedent.

"As to public utility corporations like street railways it may fairly be argued that as it cannot be shown what is the exact interest that Roman Catholics and public school supporters have in them, the whole tax should go to the public non-sectarian school system that was designed, and is maintained, to educate the children of all creeds upon an absolute equality. At least that seems to have been the opinion of the late Sir Oliver Mowat, who was not unfriendly to the separate schools. He passed a special act in 1891 to give all the taxes of the Toronto Street Railway to the public schools, when the majority of the stock was held by Roman Catholics. That was a condition made by the city council when granting the thirty-year franchise in 1891, and it had the approval of Sir Oliver Mowat and the Legislature of Ontario."

"In the case of such companies as the C. P. R., whose shares are on the market, and changing ownership almost every day, it is, of course, impracticable to say at any date what proportion of the stock is held by people of the different religious faiths. My contention is that in cases where such a complication arises the public non-sectarian school system should get the benefit of the doubt, especially as these are also public utilities."

"But to amend the assessment act as the bishops have suggested and divide the school taxes of all incorporated companies on the basis of population, would be a rank injustice, both to the public schools and to the separate schools."

TELLS DYSPEPTICS WHAT TO EAT

Avoid Indigestion, Sour Acid Stomach, Heartburn, Gas on Stomach, Etc.

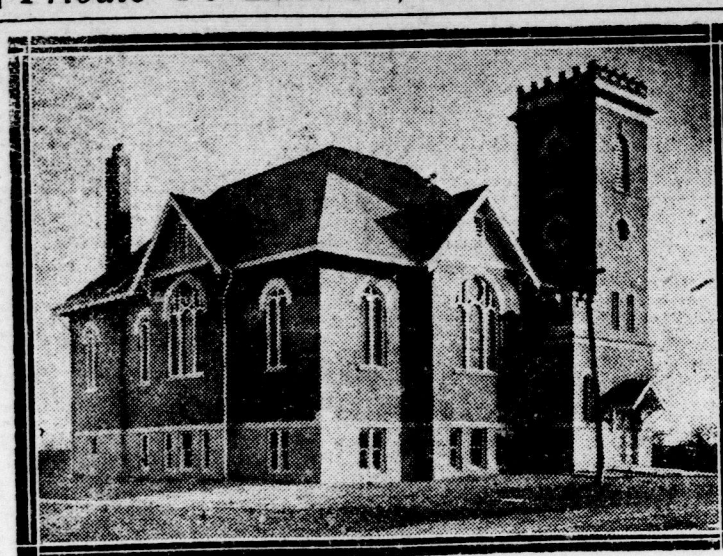

Indigestion and practically all forms of stomach trouble, say medical authorities, are due nine times out of ten to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. Chronic "acid stomach" is exceedingly dangerous and sufferers should do either one of two things.

"Either they can go on a limited and often disagreeable diet avoiding foods that disagree with them, that irritate the stomach and lead to excess acid secretion, or they can eat as they please in reason, and make it a practice to counteract the effect of the harmful acid and prevent the formation of gas, sourness or premature fermentation by the use of a little Bisurated Magnesia at their meals."

There is probably no better, safer or more reliable stomach antacid than Bisurated Magnesia, and it is widely used for this purpose. It has no direct action on the stomach, and is not a laxative. But a teaspoonful of the powder or a couple of five grain tablets taken in a little water with the food will neutralize the excess acidity which may be present and prevent its further formation. This removes the whole cause of the trouble, and the meal digests naturally and healthfully without need of peptic pills or artificial digestants.

Get a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia from any reliable druggist. Ask for either powder or tablets. It never comes as a liquid, milk or citrate, and in the Bisurated form is not a laxative. Try this plan and eat what you want at your next meal and see if this is the best advice you ever had on "what to eat."—Adv.

NEW METHODIST CHURCH, KERWOOD.

and to the Protestant ratepayers. If the law were amended in that way Protestants would be compelled to pay hundreds of thousands of dollars to support separate schools and consequently to pay for the teaching of the Roman Catholic religion. Nobody has suggested that Roman Catholics should pay for the teaching of Protestantism. Why should Protestants pay for teaching Romanism?

A Special Privilege.
"Protestant fathers are not permitted to pay their taxes to the separate schools, although their Roman Catholic wives insist on sending their children to the separate school. The reason for that is that separate schools were granted to Roman Catholics as a special privilege, and one that is denied to all other denominations. The father is the taxpayer, and being a Protestant, is required by law to support the public school. He can send his children to the public school."

"As a matter of fact and law, every ratepayer—Roman Catholic and Protestant—is prima facie a public school supporter, and properly so, because the public school system provides for the education of every child in the province, without endangering its religious faith."

FURTHER PARLEY ON FRENCH PACT

PARIS, Jan. 2.—Premier Poincaré has sent instructions to Ambassador St. Aubert, in London, for continuation of the conversations with Great Britain concerning the proposed Anglo-French pact.

The premier's instructions are known to be directed toward a lengthening of the duration of the pact, probably a period of 25 years, and to the inclusion of reciprocity in military action, so that France would be obliged to go to the aid of Great Britain, thus establishing the basis of equality in the pact which the premier has indicated he desired.

Discussion of the Geneva economic conference has not as yet been taken up by the French foreign office.

STATES SHERIFF HAS FULL POWER

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 23.—Hon. W. E. Roney had no comment to offer today on the dismissal of Deputy Sheriff Watterworth by the new sheriff of Middlesex, Donald A. Graham. The personnel of Mr. Graham's staff was a matter entirely within control of the sheriff and was not within the province of the department in any way, Mr. Roney declared.

As to the statement said to have been made in an interview by Watterworth that he was passed over after 28 years of service in order that patronage might be given Graham, a farmer, and a T. F. O. supporter, it is pointed out that Graham was recommended for the appointment by all members of the legislature for Middlesex, and the department only passed over the deputy sheriff after full consideration of the demands of the office.

One factor which was given consideration was the practical certainty that before long, following upon the investigations of the public service commission, the office of sheriff will be combined with that of high constable in all the counties.

This would considerably add to the duties of the office, now rather light, and call for a young and vigorous man in charge.

TWO PLEADED GUILTY TO THEFT OF AUTOMOBILE

WINDSOR, Jan. 23.—William Bell, 23 years old, Detroit, and Roy Vanatter, 25, Windsor, Monday pleaded guilty to stealing an automobile from the garage of J. Paget, 34 Campbell avenue, Windsor, and breaking into the drygoods store of Queen & Armstrong at Colton, 20 miles east of Windsor. Both were remanded until Saturday for sentence.

Bell and Vanatter were arrested by Constable Frank Brown of Essex after a chase of 12 miles over plowed fields.

FINDS FIREMEN CAME TO DEATH ACCIDENTALLY

Jury Returns Verdict At Quiz Into Montreal Fire Tragedy.

ONE CHINAMAN MISSING

Latest Estimates Place Total Damage At About $400,000.

MONTREAL, Jan. 23.—Verdicts of accidental death were returned at today's inquest into the deaths of Lieut. Napoleon Des L. Goes and Fireman Louis Paul Presseau, who were killed in Sunday night's disastrous fire in Notre Dame De Grace.

Further details regarding the outbreak have now been obtained, one of which is the fact that two firemen, manning the nozzle of a hose in a temperature of five degrees below zero, became so solidly frozen together that a hammer had to be employed before they could be separated.

Many of the tenants had narrow escapes. One, Adam Smith, had to jump over an area of flame three feet wide, with his aged mother in his arms, before he could reach the stairway.

More conservative estimates now place the damage in the immediate vicinity of $400,000.

SUCCESS
consists not so much in sitting up nights as being awake in the day time.

THE only way to have a friend is to be one.

THE only one who should put faith in a rabbit's foot is a rabbit.

WHEN the elevator of success is not running take the stairs.

Hinges of true friendship never grow rusty.

IF you see good in everybody nearly everybody will see good in you.
